popular and colloquial idiom.

"Deuteronomy, a copy of which I believe to have been put in the foundations of Solomon's Temple, certainly bears the character of the last words of Moses, the character of a time when the people were in the sight of Canaan, when they could see better in what country they were going to settle and what were the inhabitants and their customs. "If the Pentateuch is the work of Moses, as his-ginning of Genesis, from those which were to form a tory and the contents of the books seem to prove, it cannot have been written in Hebrew, which, if it existed at all at that time, was only a spoken idiom and not a book language; it must have been written in Babylonian cuneiform.

"The first transformation it went through was to be put into Aramaic, and this I attribute to Ezra. Such an enterprise seems to be in accordance with the character of Ezra as described in his book, and more especially in that of Nehemiah, and also with rabbinical tradition concerning him.

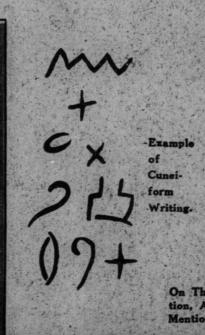

"That was the epoch when cuneiform was more and more being abandoned for the popular language. Aramaic was the language in which Ezra conversed with the King; the King's letters and decrees were in Aramaic, as was also the law of the King, which was to be obeyed like the les & Con (Bzra, VII.: 24.)

"Although Ezra Carried in the Books of Mass, a guite possible that, as the tradition of the rabbis alleges, he also settled the canon of Scripture of the Old Testament; he perhaps collected and sifted the writings which were to form the sacred volume. As it came out of his hands, the volume was entirely Aramaic."

Thus, Dr. Naville essays to prove that the actual words of Moses were written in Babylonian, which is a Semitic language, very much like the Hebrew, and he explains at the same time why Moses took two tables of stone to inscribe the Ten Commandments on them in the cuneiform character, for it was a custom among the Babylonians to use stone in this way for laws, while ordinary matter was inscribed upon clay tablets.

About twenty years ago, following experiments that had been successful in the United States, the Doinion government founded its first

It was looked upon as more or less an experiment, but the mere fact that since that time fifty additional hatcheries have been built and are in operation under the supervision of the department of fisheries, is sufficient proof that the propagation of fry for distribution in Canadian waters has been successful.

It has been recognized that the preservation of the natural game and fish of the country is the duty of the national government, and that good sport opportunities bring into Canada many millions of money each year.

A live moose in the forest is worth $500 as an attraction to the hunter, according to a well-known government authority, while a dead moose is worth but a small fraction of that amount.

Depletion of the waters of Canada gave rise to the problem of How shall the government provide sport and food for the nation? It became evident that action must be taken at once, and, while the breeding of fish and game, both for sporting and commercial purposes, was at once suggested, it is only in recent years that concerted efforts have been made to assist nature to replenish the stocks drawn upon by the ardent sportsman and native. Contrary to popular opinion, it is not the sportsman from across the line that has been responsible for the dearth of fish in many of the streams of the dominion, but rather the ruthless ravages that have been made by unthinking and careless residents. In a recent government report the necessity for ceoperation of every part of the country if the natural fish and game are to be conserved has been emphatically emphasized.

Attracting the Tourist By Growing Black Bass

By far the greatest attraction that Canada offers to the soprtsman is the small-mouthed black bass. and, strange to say, this fish is about the only one that cannot be raised by ordinary artificial methods. The ever-increasing scarcity of this fighting fish urged the Ontario government to experiment, and it was found that the only successful way of restocking streams was by encouraging breeding in "broodpools." The result is that the natural enemies of the fish too numerous to overcome. The fish are then compelled to resort to cannibalism for existence. Dominion Government

Raises Commercial Fish

By far the greatest efforts of the Dominion Government have been devoted to the commercial fish. In fact in Ontario the federal authorities have left the replenishing of the sporting waters entirely to the prov-ince. Whitefish, pickerel, salmon, sturgeon and lobster have been distributed by the billions in the various lakes and rivers during recent years and the efforts to assist nature to maintain the fish food supply have been eminently successful

The methods used to produce the fry turned loose have now been standardized and the little fishes, a few millimeters in length, are planted by the million to fight their own battles after they have been given a start in the hatchery. Fish eggs are considered a great delicacy by nearly all the members of the piscatorial tribe, large and small, and it is on account of this peculiar taste and because of the comparatively small percentage of eggs fertilized under natural conditions that the hatching jar has become almost a necessity.

Pickerel, whitefish and lobsters respond most readily to artificial

The eggs of the whitefish are gathered in November and those of the pickerel in May and from the gathering of the spawn till the fry are planted, some eight months later, the hatching fish must have constant attention. No enterprise in the world is so dependent upon the skill, faithfulness, and the enthusrear as the result of the tourist has been found useless to indising of fish. The Bay of Quinte and criminately stock a river with the Killarney fishing grounds in the

As the fish are taken from the nets the females are deftly grasped in the gloved hand held against the body of the operator while with the other hand he skilfully presses out the eggs which are temporarily deposited in a pail or tub. They are then fertilized by the milk of the male fish and the mass stirred up with a bunch of stiff feathers.

35,000 Eggs From Fish

The number of eggs taken from each fish varies, but from the whitefish and pickerel it is in the neighborhood of 35,000, while from the sturgeon it is much larger.

After the catch for the day has been completed the eggs are treated to a number of washings and then transferred to glass jars in the hatchery. These jars have a capacity of 150,000 whitefish or 250,000 pickerel eggs and are placed on shelves where they may be continually watched. Each jar has a bellbottom thru which fresh water is kept running constantly.

This water is first pumped into an overhead tank and falls from there into each of the jars, entering at the bottom and escaping at the top, keeping the eggs constantly in motion. If the water was to cease running for even an hour the eggs would merge into a solid mass and be ruined. The eggs are watched night and day by attendants who, with a syphon and a feather, remove the spoiled eggs from the jar; these are easily discovered by their whit-

After about five months, in the case of whitefish, the fry break from their tiny shells and are placed in a larger tank, where they are allowed to sport for a week or ten days or until there is an opportunity of 'planting' them in the lake. Pickerel eggs take only six weeks to hatch and they are cared for exactly as the whitefish.

The aim of the fish culturist in 'planting' the fry is to give them the enemies and at the same time promouthed glass tube reaching to the vide them with a good food supply.

where they find the greatest protection from their numerous enemies. Eighty Per Cent. of Eggs

Returned As Fish Of the eggs gathered from the adult fishes by the culturists, from 80 to 85 per cent. are returned to the lake as fry, while under natural conditions it is doubtful if more than a small fraction of one per cent. of the eggs fertilized ever hatch, while only a very small proportion of the eggs laid by the fish are even ferti-

The number of fish incubated at the fifty hatcheries of the Dominion government is enormous. While the exact number deposited is, of course, not kept, a fair estimate may be made and it is well over one billlon a year, From the Port Edward hatchery alone last year 150 .-000,000 pickerel and 90,000,000 whitefish were planted while the other.

portion to their size. The hatchery on Prince Edward Island planted 130,000,000 young lobsters as well as some 25,000,000 other fry. The extent to which lobster breeding is successful can be estimated from the increased number of lobster that have been caught in the vicinit of the planting beds during the last Lobster hatching is carried out en the same principle as used for other fish except that the berried or spawning lobsters are purchased from the fishermen instead of being caught by the government boats. They are then placed in ponds and allowed to deposit their spawn.

If every fish deposited was to reach maturity the lakes of the Deminion would soon be overstocked but altho artificial aids to propagation are able to bridge over very many of the dangers of destruction only a comparatively small percentage of the fish that are started on the highroad to success ever take Forsyth announces a piano recital in the Margaret Eaton Hall on Thursday evening, May 14 when the following pupils will be heard in solo playing: Geraldine Allison, Fannie Singer, Norma Mitchell, Rosa Goldberg, Evelyn Sinkins, Birdle Christie, Edna Bickle, and Vernon Rudolf. Those interested can obtain invitations from Mr. Forsyth at his studio at Nordheimers.

Mrs. Emerson Reid, soprano, pupil of Jas. Quarington, is now making a successful tour of New York State under the direction of Thos. Baker, the well-known impressario of New York.

Dr. A. S. Vogt left on Friday evening for the Pacific coast on duties connected with the Toronto Conservatory of Music, returning to Toronto about June 1. On May 19, 20 and 21 he acts as adjudicator, in the Alberta Musical his departure for England and the departure for England and the lambet tiers at Edmanton and on May

H. Ethel Shepherd announces a recital for May 8 at the Toronto Conservatory of Music, in which the following pupils will take part: Mrs. Stanbury, Mrs. Carl Ahrens, Mrs. Denison Dana, Miss O'Connor, Cosie Wood, Jean McMichael, Stelia Lamb, Gertrude Seldon, Nan Gunn, Joy Ryan, Sydna Aird, Aileen Kemp, Mrs. Edward Byrne, Mildred Graydon, Muriel Bruce, Ethel Armour and Lottie Annable. The composers whose songs make up the program are: Brahms, Schumann, Meyerbeer, Massenet, Raff, Donizetti, Rossini, Bizet, Tschaikowsky and Saint-Saens. Miss Shepherd has given sweral recitals this season, but this, the final one, promises to be the best of all.

David Ross, the well-known vocal teacher, is giving an evening of song in which a number of his pupils will appear on Thursday evening, May 7, in the Columbus Hall. All those who are familiar with Mr. Ross' studio work are looking forward to this recital with a good deal of pleasure.

An event of unusual interest, says
The Buffalo Evening News, was the appearance of Ruth Ashley-Lewis at the Twentieth Century Hall for the first time since her return from several years' study and a brilliant success as an operatic singer in Germany.
Miss Ashley's program was of great scope, covering as it did examples from the German, lieder, songs in French, English, and some old Irish oallads of the most charming character, Her group of German songs of Brahms, Schubert, Schumann, Wolf and Berger, in which the Finnish Sibelius must be classed, was admirably chosen for its intrinsic value and every number was sung with a warmth of feeling and a labor of leve. The number was sung with a warmth of feeling and a labor of love. The taxing, but inimitable songs of Wolf and the fine number by Sibelius were given with specially good effect, both being encored.

Announcements are out for a recital by pupils of Arthur Blight, to take place at Foresters' Hall next Monday night. Those contributing to the program are: Ethel Mae Tobin, Inez Douglas, Winifred Sharpe, Olive Shields, Lila Sloan, W. J. A. Lytle, A. A. Bowman, Harry Skitch, Arthur Lees and Austin Douglas. FRANK E. BLACHFORD, THE WELL-KNOWN CONCERT MASTER OF THE TORONTO SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA AND LEADER OF THE TORONTO STRING QUARTET.

ROMILLY BOYS AT MASSEY HALL

Welsh Choir Warmly Received and Invited to Return at an Early Date.

The Romilly Boys' Choir were given a most hearty reception at Massey Hall last Monday night, by an audience numbering about three thousand. The choruses rendered were "The Angelus," Baife; "The Bails of Aberdovy," "Aderyn Pur," "All Thru the Night," arranged by W. M. Williams, the leader, and "Our Band," In all of these the tonal quality and blending of the voices was delightful, and the audience demonstrated its appreciation of the excellence of the choral work all thru by indulging in unstinted applause, and giving the boys numerous recalls. They also sang "Sleep Baby, Sleep," and "Sweet and Low." Master Willie Fivans brought forth great applause by his beautiful singing of "The Gates of Light," as did Blodwen Norton in "The Enchantress, the latter revealing a contrait voice of fine quality. Others assisting wer Gertrude Lathey and Marchant Herbert. The concert closed with a must cal pageant entitled "Dame Wales an Her Neighbors."

Music lovers thruout Canada will have the opportunity next season of hearing a really great violinist, John Dunn, of the London Philharmonic; Queen's Hall Concerts; Bradford Subscription Concerts; Leeds Philharmonic; Hull Subscription Concerts; Scottish Orchestra Concerts; Esposito's Concerts, Dublin, and others Acclaimed by critics to be England's greatest violin virtuoso. John Dunn will visit the more important musical centres between Halifax and Vancouver, commencing at the former place early in October, prior to his appearance in the United States as soloist with a number of the large orchestras and musical societies. The Musical Times, January 1, 1918, commenting on his appearance at the Birmingham Symphony concert, says: The re-appearance of John Dunn, the celebrated English violinist, gave to the concert a distinct cachet of its own. He gave a magnificent performance of the Tschalkowsky "Concerto," his executive skill being quite phenomenal.

TORONTO SYMPHONY

Mr. Welsman Arranging to Make Next Season Longer Than the One Just Closed.

The management of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra in making its preliminary announcement for next season publishes the hames of five season publishes the hames of five artists with whom contracts are already signed. They are Johanna Gadski, the Wagnerian soprano; Alma Gluck, the popular Metropolitan soprano; Ernestine Schumann-Heink, the world-famed contralto; Efrem Zimbalist, the celebrated Russian violinist, and Carl Flesch, violinist, who only last mouth created a furore at Massey Hall, and who was pronounced by everone to be in the same rank as Kreisler. This certainly is an excellent beginning as all the artists announced have been here before, and have proved their worth. In subscribing early for the full season, patrons of the orchestra are taking no risk, as five of the world's very greatest artists are already engaged. Next season should be the biggest on record for Mr. Welsman and his band of instrumentalists.

THE FIELD OF ART

Many Magnificent Studies in Camera Exhibition But Much of Their Good Effect Is Lost in Defective Methods of Hanging-News of Canadian Artists and Collectors.

By Irene B. Wrenshall.

Artistic photography has a particular charm for the amateur, for it is a goal to which he can imagine himself striving without a previous knowledge of technique such as is required in the arts of painting or sculpture, but a new ideal presented to him in the international exhibits now being shown in the annual salon of the Toshown in the strong characteristic of the work of Edward Weston, whose "Abandon," was awarded a bronze in Fairies," is a charmingly idealistic genre picture of his.

Up to the present the exhibits of the work of Canadians, have been confined to canvases by one or two artists at one time, and tho these have won high praise from the critics, the effect of a collective exhibit would be more impressive it a wise selection were made. Even if Canadian artists who reside in the Dominion were not to send exhibits, a good show should be made. Between Rome and London, there are a score of Canadian artists whose work has won Continental approval. In Paris at the present time some of their work is ranked among the best. Mr. John Russell of Hamilton, is showing three pictures at the Salon de la Societe Nationale des Beaux Arts; Mr. Clarence Gagnon of Quebec, is exhibiting two of the Canadian snow scenes which won approval in London, and leaves, starts forth new ones, and soon has its floral decorations ready.

Liverwort and liver-leaf are other names given to this plant, partly because its lobed leaves may bear some resemblance to the lobing of the liver, and partly because it is the origin of a medicine (sal hepatica), which is pestillate flowers on others. As a whole the plant has a feathery appearance

AN EXPERIENCED SPEED MERCHANT

CALEB BRAGG, winner of the 1912 Vanderbilt Cup, at the wheel of the Mercer he will drive in the next five hundred-mile sweepstakes at Indianapolis. Bragg is some expert when it comes to handling benzing buggles, his racing record being about as long as his arm, tho he drives for fun and not for money. During the next contest he will team with Spencer Wishart and Eddie Pullen, a combination that promises Ernie Moross, the numbers of the cars being 8, 25 and 32. It will be remembered that "32" was the number used by Ray Harroun when he won the 500-mile race in 1911, and that it was also the number of his car when he won the Wheeler and Schebler trophy in 1910 at Indianapolis. The figure "8" was the number Joe Dawson had on his National at the time of his victory in the 500-mile race of 1912. From this it will be seen that the Maxwell Company will be represented by a combination of lucky numbers.

Bob Burman, who has entered his two personally made cars at Indianapolis and who has also entered the Keeton car he drove last year and which he now owns thru purchase, it is reported, has not announced his driver for the other Burman car in the 500 nor the Keeton. It is news that comes from Chicago and from a reliable source that Louis Chevrolet of the Wolverine Automobile Club, Detroit, and formerly of the Chevrolet Motor Company, may drive the other Burman creation and so return to racing in which he was always a star. Chevrolet for some time has been experimenting upon an invention at his laboratory.

It is figured that it will cost the Maxwell Motor Company $30,000 to enter the three cars of the company in the Indianapolis 500-mile race. Walter Cithens of Cithens Brothers of Chicago is authority for the figures.

It is more and more evident every day that the American drivers with American cars are going to have their work cut out for them in the great Indianapolis 500-mile race, for Europe is sending its very best men. One young driver, and he is the younger in the race Arthur Klein, who will is sending its very best men. One young driver, and he is the youngest in the race, Arthur Klein, who will drive the King car, says that he is satisfied and that American cars will make a good showing. Klein displays no fear whatsoever of the European force that is coming and is confident that he will make a good showing. Klein, while a youth, has had a driver's license or four years and having driven fast on half-mile tracks of the south, has little fear of the 21-2 mile speedway course. He has no intention of making the mistake of Burman, but will go out to drive at a steady gait thruout and trust to the finish to tell the tale. His car has the power, has the weight in its favor and he has not the slightest doubt of its reliability, for the car was personally looked after in its construction, by himself. The use of many features that have made the King car famous, including the full cantilever spring, and the use of the same thoro workmanship which has made the King touring car a success, has served to inspire the utmost confidence of Klein in his mount. fidence of Klein in his mount.

How the "Flicker" Was Cut From Moving Pictures

The cinematograph machines of today have been brought to such a state of perfection that a rock-steady, flickerless picture is being regarded by the general public as quite a common, everyday event, writes S. E. Austing in The Biograph. In fact, many patrons, who discern anything approaching flicker on pictures shown at an "upto-date" theatre, not only withdraw their patronage, but endeavors o dissuade their friends from attending, no matter how good the program may be.

The elimination of flicker has entailed many hours of study and experiments innumerable, and the history and description of the work will, no doubt, be interesting to all interested in the trade, who have given this subject but little thought, altho it is of paramount importance to all concerned.

The man who thinks only of himself—who doesn't care what happens after he's gone —forces his wife to assume too great a risk. His death is likely to mean a slavish, wage-earning career for his widow.

Of course, if abject poverty befall her, some charitable institution may appeal to a kindly public for money with which to keep her and her children alive.

But how different is the prospect for a woman whose husband, by means of life assurance, has made provision for her support in the event of his death.

What prospect has your wife if you should die tomorrow? The choice rests with you. Let an Imperial Life policy be the answer. It will provide her with a regular monthly income to begin at your death and continue so long as she lives.

been crazes like this. The directorate of France was marked by an absolute orgy of dancing. The latest dancing delirium recorded reached its height in 1884, and even at camp meetings they got up from the mourners' bench and danced. The present excitement will subside; it must, for it is approximating hysteria. People who cheat on the fine things of life and shirk their natural duties seek no excuses to escape the dancing floor. A beautiful art (perhaps the most beautiful we have) is being cheapened and coarsened by over-indulgence. Dancing should be ceremonious, aesthetic and exquisitely rhythmic, not a higgledy piggledy affair for the mere sake of moving over a floor with some one of the opposite sex.

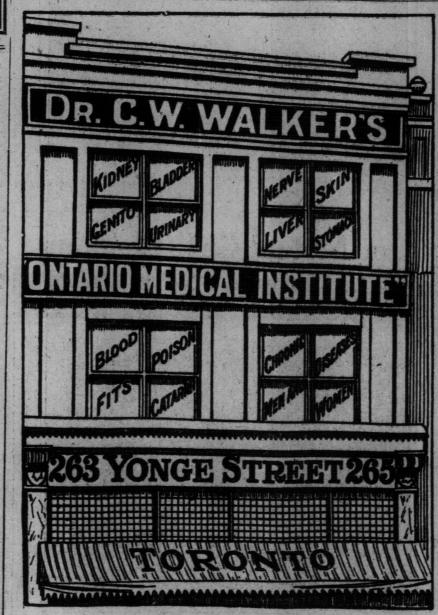

"Modern dancing is here to stay. This is the first time that a dance delirium has been accompanied by natural rhythm, and for that reason the present craze will be followed by a reasonable and long continued enjoyment of the ballroom.

"The folk who hurt dancing are those who dance immodestly. I hate them. Such people have the instincts of swine. It behooves every one who has the interest of modern dancing at heart to frown upon anything suggestive or indecent. Do not be afraid to stand up and declare yourself when they gat up from the mourners' bench to stand up and declare yourself when some lecher and his simpleton partner start immodest dancing. It's the only way. The cheap vulgarians who seek to defile modern dancing are cowards anyway, and a sharp rebuke puts them where they belong. Again I repeat

He later returned to the Olympic where he offered his wares at $1 and lower. lower. The public did not seem to care much for "Damaged Goods," to use her. They had renewed her contract under the belief that "The Belle of Bond Street" was to be produced. On account of a misunder-standing with Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Mr. Bennett has done exceedingly well with "Damaged Goods." While uplifting the drama and shocking the prudish he has made a small fortune. Gaby Grabs the Coin. Mile. Deslys, foreseeing this predicament, telegraphed her agent to meet her and advise her. He was away at the time, and did not respond. Then Mile. Deslys consulted an attorney who examined her contract, pronounced it good and charged her $100.

Two weeks later, in making a settle-ment with her agent for his commissions, Gaby deducted $100 on the grounds that she had paid out that sum in his absence, when it was a part of his duty to advise and guide her. Gaby a one-dollar house, but where are the stood pat on the matter and the agent people? It was the near reformers paid the $100.

Marcus Loew are looking over sites in several Canadian cities with a view to locating new playhouses on the order of the Toronto Yonge Street Theatre and Winter Garden. Montreal Ottawa and Hamilton are possibilities, and it is probable that steps will be taken before the autumn season begins. Marcus Loew, as a builder of theatres, has a reputation for quicker action than perhaps any other manager in the theatrical business. One of his newest theatre buildings under construction in New York, found its origin in the fact that he was born in the house which formerly occupied the same site. He happened to be passing it in his motorcar one day when he noticed that it was vacant and up for sale. Within 24 hours he had closed a contract to purchase the property and he had architects figuring on plans for a palatial vaudeville house, which is now nearing com-

Of the two plays in which Mary associated with the name and fame partly, no doubt, because it was in martin, and oubt, because it was in "The Only Way" that Martin Harvey first established his position in the very forefront of his profession something like a dozen years ago. The play is a dramatization of Dickens' immortal novel, "A Tale of Two Cittles." It tells the story of how Sidney Carton, an English advocate, went to the guillotine in the place of an "emigrant" French aristocrat, giving his life to save that of his rival in love, for the sake of the fair Jucie Manette. The part of Carton is exactly suited to the gifts and genius of Martin Harvey. Probably no character in fiction has ever become so closely identified in the popular imagination with a living man as has Dickens' noble but always human hero with the personality of Martin Harvey. There is another character in the play who has always shared the affection in which Carton is held by British playgoers, and that is the girl "Mimi," as delineated by Miss N. De Silva. Canadian theatregoers have now the opportunity of experiencing for themselves the wonderful fascination of this famous play, which has been played to more than two million people in the old country, since its first production at the Lyceum.

It would be an interesting matter to determine, if any method were available, which of the two characters closely associated with the name and tame of Martin Harvey, has made the late of Martin Harvey. artly, no doubt, because it was in to determine, if any method were available, which of the two characters closely associated with the name and fame of Martin Harvey, has made the strongest appeal to the affections of the public. The two characters in question are Sidney Carton, the story of whose supreme sacrifice is told in "The Only Way," and Reresby the Rat, the gay and debonair hero of John Rutherfords delightful play, "The Breed of the Treshams." Each character presents a distinct side of the British temperament. Carton is known to all readers of Dickens as the embodiment of altruism in a nature which is nevertheless ouly too human in its failures and weaknesses. Reresby is of another age and another mould; but, all the same, he stands for certain universal characteristics of the British race. The action of "The Breed of the Treshams" takes place in the disturbed and bellicose atmosphere of seventeenth-century England, when the great civil war had called out that mixture of noble and evil passions which a consist for certain universal constitution of Mis' Hazy has proven a perfectly fitting vis-a-vis to that of Hiram phasions which a consist for certain universal constitution of Mis' Hazy has proven a perfectly fitting vis-a-vis to that of Hiram phasions which a consist for certain universal constitution of the British race. it has been constantly in commission as one of the greatest attractions in the distinguished actor-manager's repertory. That surely is sufficient tribute to the genuine humanity of the work, and of the supreme art with which it has been interpreted. Another constant feature in its success has been the impersonation of the boy Batty, by Miss N. De Silva. Batty is a bright young scamp, a typical child of his age, and yet in all essentials the "human boy" of all ages, who attaches himself to the Rat as a very unconventional esquire recently had its initial performances in Chicago where its triumph was conclusive. For the week the repertoire is arranged as follows: Monday and Tuesday nights, "If I Were King"; Wednesday night, "Hamlet"; Thursday matinee, "Lord Dundreary"; Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights and at the Saturday matinee, "Charlemange."

Three of these offerings are familiar to theatregrers. Concerning Mr. Sothern's Hamlet, it is unnecessary to indulge in laudatory detail at this time. It is the most notable and the most popular of his Shaksperean characterizations. His Dundreary, a whimstcal character in which his father achieved celebrity before him, is a highly diverting demonstration in eccentric comedy, while his Francois Villon, the roystering poet of the Paris underworld, is a splendidly firished portrait in the romantic field Aglow with power, humor and fascination, Mr. Sothern has had no more congenial role than this central figure in "If I Were King."

To those who have never witnessed the entertainment as provided by "The College Girls" it might be well to impart the fact that this show, while masquerading under the title of burlesque, is, in reality, a farce comedy with a plot, that is visible thruout the entire performance. This season's with a plot, that is visible thruout the entire performance. Philadelphia and the Athletics. HILDA—Why no, you saw the game between the Athletics and the Giants.

TOM—Oh yes, a little discrepancy on my part. HILDA—Well tell me something about the game TOM-Well the game started, and right off the reel the Philadelphia fellows had three men on pillows—HILDA—Why no, three men on bases—not pillows. TOM-That's right. Come to think of it, some one did call them bases. Three of the bases were occupied. HILDA—Occupied?

TOM-Yes, there was a man on each individual base. They accused one of the fellows of dishonesty.

HILDA—Dishonesty, why?

TOM—Well, they said he stole the second base. Then a fellow who played for Philadelphia walked right up to the dish.

HILDA—Right up to the what? TOM—The dish.

HILDA-Why there are no dishes in baseball. What you mean is the plate.

TOM-Well isn't that a bloomin' dish? HILDA-Well have it your way.

TOM—I noticed one thing in particular. The moment the Philadelphia player stepped on the home plate as you call it, one of the New York players, for some reason or other, walked to the extreme end of the ground. I didn't know why, so I asked the gentleman sitting next to me. I said, 'Pardon me, old top, what in the world is that fellow doing out there?' And what do you think he told me?

HILDA-What did he tell you?

TOM-He told me that the fellow was out there catching flies!
HILDA—Well that's right.

TOM-Oh tommy-rot! Whoever heard of anybody running round after insects in a baseball game? HILDA—Why he was not running after insects.

TOM-Well that's what I told the gentleman, and he turned round and said 'Sit down, you're rockin' the vessel.* Then the pitcher got the ball, and the moment he delivered it, the umpire shouted out 'Strike one!' HILDA-Strike one?

TOM-So I hit the fellow standin' next to me a crack in the eye.

HILDA—Yes, I'll bet you did.
TOM—The game was almost over, and the pitcher got the ball and threw it down to the fellow who was olding the bat, and he hit the ball a tremendous clout. He almost knocked it over the fence, and the moment he hit it, he started to run around the ring, like a confounded ostrich—for no reason whatsoever. HILDA-No reason whatever? TOM—No, I couldn't see why. Nobody was chasing him. He passed the third pillow with lightning rapidity, jumped up in the air, fell down in the mud, and started to slide to the home-plate. When he got there, the idiotic umpire yelled at the top of his voice

'You're safe!' HILDA—That's right. The man was safe.

TOM—Safe?

HILDA—Why certainly.
TOM—Huh! safe—why the poor fellow almost killed himself.

The Most Exciting Moment of My Life Was When---

Have you ever had an exciting experience that you could relate? One that lives in your memory and could be put on paper in a few words?

A Dearth of Beauties Or a Critical Public?

LONDON, May 2.—The search for twenty beautiful girls for the chorus of the new revues, "The Passing Show," at the Palace Theatre, resulted in only sixteen being chosen from 880 applicants.

"To add to our trouble," said Mr. Alfred Butt, "we couldn't find a girl to play a small, but in some respects, important part in one of the scenes. This girl must be very good looking, about 5 feet 6 in. in height, and a perfect example of the beautiful blonde. Stage experience is not necessary. I will have her taught to act if I can find her."

Miss Elsie Janis, a famous United States "star," who is to make her first appearance in England in this revue, has arrived in London. Miss Janis is stated to draw a larger salary in the United States than any acrtess on the English stage.

An Unintentional Solo.

Several years ago I was singing in chorus choir at Christmas time. We were singing the "Hallelujah Chorus." There are a number of hallelujahs in succession that are to be sung very loudly. These are followed by an imloudly. These are followed by an impressive measure of absolute silence. Thinking I knew the piece very well, I was not watching the music as carefully as I should have been. I therefore not only sang all of the hallelujahs that were written to be sung, but added a very loud one all by myself in the measure of rests.

My little solo was so lustily given that the audience began to titter. That was more than I could stand, so I was compelled to sit down to hide my burning face.—H. P.

The World Window

Canada's Breathing Time

Canada's last boom period was of exceptionally long duration. The flowing tide of immigration and the consequent rapid expansion of western settlement, had to be accompanied by large expenditures for railways, and for city and town building.

Perhaps the railroad development has been more extensive than was justified, by actual or immediately prospective necessities. It may be some years before the earnings will meet the burdens imposed by their construction, but the roads are there, ready for the next forward movement. This year immigration promises to be less particularly from the countries whence it is preferred. For the eight months ending November 30 last, altho the total immgration showed an increase of 6 per other property, this means quite a noticeable drop in capital. It is significant of the reaction that is inevitable after unwonted prosperity, and it has been aggravated by unsettled international conditions. Nevertheless, the note of optimism is distinct, and is warranted by the magnitude of the national resources. When the international outleast clears and uncertainty gives place to restored international outlook clears, and uncertainty gives place to restored confidence, another time of advance will come, but it will be better safeguarded and marked by much less of the speculative element.

Prevention is better than cure, is an old motto, which like many other condensations of the wisdom of the many and the wit of one, has been generally disregarded. Perhaps this attitude should rather be attributed to ignorance than to deliberate neglect. When the true causes of disease were unknown, prevention, except by some fortunate accident, was impossible. Even today with all the advance made in medical science, it is hard to get the mass of the people to adopt the most simple precautions, and still more difficult to continue the practice until it becomes a habit. Last week Toronto had a clean up day, excellent in itself but of comparatively little permanent value, until it learned that it is as necessary to keep a city clean as to make it so. Dr. Hastings, as medical officer of heath, has done excellent service since he assumed charge of that important department, and if he can induce every householder to follow up this general cleansing by maintaining his own premises in proper shape, the general health of the community will benefit.

Health Almanacs and Health Grams

Two of the States composing the neighboring republic prosecute a unique plan to improve sanitary conditions within their borders. Three years ago, the Virginia State Board or Health issued its first Health Almanac, and has yearly continued to do this. Other States have followed its example, and have vied with each other, in not only making their almanacs attractive in appearance, but combining with this much valuable and pithy information on scientific matters and disease problems. In this year's Virginia almanac, for example, January is devoted to smallpox. February to pneumonia, March to typhoid fever, April to malaria, May to infantile mortality, June to flies, July to typhoid, August to hookworm, September to diphtheria, October to scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough, November to colds and December to tuberculosis. Additional pages contain information about the care and feeding of infants, typhoid vaccine and typhus anti-toxin, and birth and death registration. The North Carolina almanac follows the same general plan, but adds proverbs, admonitions and suggestions, all of the nature of "healthgrams."

Here are a few: "Ventilate, don't hibernate;" "An open window is better than an open grave;" "Sunshine is God's best germ destroyer;" "Fresh air, rest and good food, are the only cures for consumption;" "The only bad air is last night's air;" "A city's most valuable asset is wholesome water;" "The only good fly is a dead fly." The almanac idea is all right, and the provincial health department might do worse than take a leaf from these Health did generosity, it is regarded as economically indefensible by others, and to a third section, the act is explained as a shrewd advertising proposition. Perhaps the weakest part of the scheme is that which has taken the form of a sociological department in his Detroit works, whose duty it is to keep an eye on the men, and to "eliminate as beneficiaries, under the plan, any who are using the extra amount in such a way as is considered improper for right living." Espionage of this kind is likely to provoke resentment, and it is said that the majority of employees have made, as yet, no evident change in their previous manner of life. Possibly it may prove their wiser course to save the increase until they find whether the betterment of their conditions is going

> Ontario's Fire

During the three years from 1911 to 1913, Ontario's average yearly loss from fire amounted to $8,876,640. With the cost of insurance protection in excess of the losses paid, and the cost of municipal and private fire protection, the total burden on the province reached the huge sum of $18,760,740, according to the figures quoted by Mr. J. Grove Smith in the April number of the Toronto Board of Trade Bulletin. They are ample to iustify his claim that Ontario's fire loss demands immediate attention, and that it should take the shape of a better fire protection. In this connection he strongly supports the proposal to establish a fire marshall's department, that will organize an inspection service thruout the province, receive reports on the safety of buildings, suggest improvements and authorize the removal of all existing dangers to life and property. The chief need is the constant pressure of public opinion, which has hitherto been too spasmodic PEACE OR WAR?

Mexico and the A.B.C. States

In its conflict with the Mexican dictator the United States has already undergone a somewhat humiliating experience. In ordering the occupation of Vera Cruz; President Wilson overlooked the fact that he was not dealing with a civilized government, obedient to the requirements of international law. The immediate effect of the occupation was imminent danger to the liberties and lives of American citizens, and even to European residents. Had it not been for the prompt intervention of the British representative and the activity shown by the British and German naval officers at Tampico, there can be no doubt but that many Americans and Europeans would have suffered violence at the hands of the Mexican masses, infuriated as these were by untrue reports that their fellow citizens at Vera Cruz were subjected to ill treatment by the United States invaders.

Out of the embroglio, has come as a first consequence, the tender of the good offices of the A. B. C. countries of South America, as Argentina, Brazil and Chile, have been designated. This President Wilson has welcomed as an inauguration of his policy, that Central and South America should be conjoined in the effort to maintain order on the continent. But it may, and probably will, lead to developments, which are little dreamed of at the moment. It promotes the South American States from a presumed position of dependence, to a position of equality, and to that extent affects the underlying ground of the Monroe doctrine. Argentina, Brazil and Chile have escaped from a condition of tutelage, and will be less inclined than ever to accept domination, even in the mildest form. If, by any chance, any one of them should desire to enter into closer relations with a European pation, or to resume its connection with the nation of which it was once a part, it would no longer admit the validity of the Monroe doc-

The situation also will tend to bring the United Kingdom into closer connection with South American affairs. Britain has a very large stake in Argentina and Chile, and the relations of the governments are close. Without ostentation Britain will be able to exercise marked influence in shaping the course of these States, and in removing them from the United States' sphere, to that of the international. To that, as still further emphazing their independence of control, they will themselves be inclined. Looked at broadly, the results of the occupation of Vera Cruz, will be highly interesting, from this point of view, and will still further draw the United States into the field of international affairs, upon which it entered when it accepted responsibility for the future of the Philippines, removed as the islands were from its continental

British Public Trustee

Of late, considerable interest has been taken in the Public Trustee system of the United Kingdom. The World recently commented upon the view, expressed in the Dominion House of Commons, that a similar department would be of advantage in Canada. Doubt however exists whether its establishment is within the competency of the Federal government, or falls more properly within provincial jurisdiction. Whatever may be the decision, the matter is too important to be set aside indefinitely, and the fact that the United States Government has been making enquiry into the administration of the British Public Trustee, must still further concentrate attention on the remarkable figures just presented to Parliament. They are contained in the sixth general report of Mr. C. J. Stewart, who has been in control since January 1, 1908, and it covers the twelve months ending March

The report shows that the aggregate of the estates and trusts placed under the administration of the Public Trustee Department of the Government totals roundly $250,000,000, new trusts having a value of $67,000,000 having been accepted during the fiscal year under review, as compared with $60,000,000 in the previous twelve months. Large as these figures are, they do not indicate fully the general acceptance which the statute has obtained. From wills brought under the notice of the Public Trustee in order to ascertain his willingness to act further. prospective business has been disclosed with an estimated value of over $290,000,000. This value may undergo later modification, or the appointment may be revoked, but past experience has also shown that 75 per cent. of the wills which have already taken effect, had not been previously submitted to the Department. The total of $550,000,000 within the knowledge of the Public Trustee, does not therefore show the full extent of the confidence placed by the public in the Official Trustee.

In framing the British Act, the principle kept in view was that the fees to be charged should not be profit earning. These are mainly of two kinds, one levied upon capital in two instalments, payable respectively at the commencement and termination of the trust, and the other on the income drawn and distributed. Both are extremely moderate, and no doubt this and the benefit of disinterested advice accounts in part, for the popularity of the British Public Trustee.

and it follows that some disagreements must arise over the awards. It is tho he may honestly believe his entry has been unfairly treated, should Authorities Were Issuing not make an issue of it. Any man who owns show horses realises that he must occasionally be a victim of a decision which is perhaps unfair, but it is the tradition of the sport that such an occurrence must be accepted in a sportsmanlike and gentlemanly way. If this tradition is not to be observed, it means the end of all horse shows. It would be impossible to conduct these highly necessary and entertaining exhibitions if any exhibi tor who thinks he has been unfairly dealt with has the privilege of re ARE SATISFACTORY fusing the judge's award and making a fuss over the matter.

The man who cannot take a licking in the horse show ring, whether deserved or otherwise, should go out of the horse show business. Ninety nine times out of a hundred, at big horse shows, the judges are honorable men who do their best to be fair. No one can blame the management of our horse show in refusing further entries from individuals who have shown themselves to be bad sportsmen. Every game must be played according to the rules and smiling acceptance of defeat is the primary rule of the equine arena.

LONDON. May 2.-What has struck observers from other countries most during the recent remarkable episode in Ulster is the unconcerned demeanor of the British public. The roll of party drums, the threats of civil war, the stage-set gun running, the dramatic journeys to and fro across the turbulent Irish Sea of "King" Carson and the "unmasking of the diabolical plot to goad Ulster into rebellion," have left the man in the street absolutely unmoved. It is difficult to judge the reason for this apathetic attitude. unless it be the invincible confidence that it is part of the everlasting political battle and is as real, or, rather, unreal as the rest of the parliamentary and platform performances.

Compromise Conferences. No progress has been made with the ompromise conferences. MANY PROBLEMS BEFORE THE CITY

Hocken Majority in Council Will Aid in Their Solution

EXTEND WATER SUPPLY

Present Sewage Disposal System May Be Abandoned Because of Odor

This is Toronto's busy year for solving big problems in civic government. The Hocken administration, however, has good working majorities in the poard of control and city council, and the problems will be solved, one after

The biggest problem is the extension of the plant for water supply. It is fore advisable to henceforth place filration beds on the mainland than to now construct additional filtration plant on the island? is the problem. If the decision is for the mainland, the present filtration plant at the island would have to be scrapped, inasmuch as the tunnel under the bay is the only connection between the mainland and the intake pipes. Fitration plant would then have to be placed at the foot of John street. The pressing need for filtration plant extension is for less chlorination during the summer months. To adopt the mainland proposition is to not only scrap a filtration plant at the island that cost a million dollars, but to construct a two-million dollar plant on the mainland. The objection to enlarging the filtration plant at the island is that the water has to pass thru the tunnel under the bay and may there be contaminated by leakage of bay water.

Relive Insanitary Conditions.

Another big problem is the unsanitary condition of the congested territory immediately beyond the city limits. Toronto is held responsible for the overflow of her population, and is under compulsion to provide a supply of water. This hurries decision as between annexing a large area or establishing a metropolitan county. It also hastens the construction of the projected waterworks plant at Victoria Park. now construct additional filtration

ected waterworks plant at Victoria

Housing Congestion.

Another big problem is the housing congestion. The only solution is thru congestion. The only solution is thru extension of rapid transit service, and this has practically been arranged, not-withstanding the extraordinary opposition from the foes of municipal ownership. There are several men in the city council who are eager for the municipalizing of the street railway system, so that the city may purchase land in the suburbs and build model villages within a half hour run from downtown. There are thousands of downtown. There are thousands of families in the city eager to break away from enforced living in one or Another big problem is sewage disporal. Incinerators will soon stop the dumping of garbage in residential sections, but the sewage disposal works at Ashbridge's Bay, and ones to be constructed, must be made odorless or be abandoned.

JEWS VICTIMS OF ANOTHER CRUSADE

Families to Leave City at Once

CHICAGO, May 2.—That a fresh Anti-Jewish crusade has been inaugurated at Kiev, Russia, whereby 580 Hebrew families have been ordered to leave the city despite the petition of many Christians, is contained in a cable received yesterday by the Chicago Daily News. The despatch, which is dated Klev, May 1, says:

"After the closing here of three private high schools for girls, 580 Jewish families have been ordered to leave the city. Christian householders petitioned the government in vain, to revoke the order, as the expulsion of Jews would mean the ruin of many house owners. Notable citizens called on the local governor, General Sokozkin to get his help for the Jews and the community, but they received a curt refusal."

ORDHEIMER "Quality Tone" PIANO

The Artistic Standard of Canada

PIANO may be high grade without being artistic, but it can never be artistic without being high grade.

It requires genius to build an artistic piano. The secret of the success of Nordheimer Pianos is, first, the result of an ideal as to tone quality in the mind of the builder, and, secondly, the ability to reproduce that ideal in a piano.

A Nordheimer Piano will costyou a little more, but the increased cost is made up in satisfaction and pleasure.

Thousands of people who do not own Hups shift from car to car. Dealers everywhere will tell you that Hupmobile owners "stay put." Stop and think a moment—consult your personal experience.

Hup Owners "Repeat" Year After Year

Isn't it a fact that your next-door neighbor has had two or three or four Hups?

If they change at all—and scores of them drive the same Hup year after year—isn't it a fact that they simply change to another Hup?

If this is a fact—and you can satisfy yourself it is—isn't it a mighty important fact?

Why are so many owners of other cars merely negative in their loyalty to these carswhile Hupmobile owners are uniformly enthusiastic?

Why does the Hupmobile owner go out of his way to expatiate about the joys of his ownership?

Why does he take it upon himself to urge others to buy the Hupmobile? You must know why it is, without being told.

It can't be anything else but supreme satisfaction and continuous service at a lesser cost. If you think we are overly-enthusiastic—put it to the test.

COUNCIL TO TALK

It Seems to Be Most Popular of Three Filtration Styles Submitted

RECENTLY SHORTAGE AGGREGATED 20,000

Three-Year-Olds Bought in the Open Market and Systematically Trained.

Two conferences between the city ouncil. Commissioner Harris, Dr. Nasmith and the chief engineer of the John ver Mehr Company over the system of filtration to be adopted for the etxension of the plant at the island have brought out these points strongly:

Of the three systems of filtration in the tenders submitted, one, the ver Mehr, has the best guarantee of bacteriological efficiency and economy in operation. The other two will not operation. The other two will not guarantee the necessary bacteriological efficiency. For that and other reasons Commissioner Harris recommends the acceptance of the ver Mehr tender. The ver Mehr Company installed and operated, at a cost to themselves of $40,000, a test plant out on the lake shore road, and all last winter West Toronto was supplied with water from that plant. Dr. Nasmith conducted the test and reports it most satisfactory. Dr. Hastings, M.O.H., Engineer Milne and Commissioner Harris adopted Dr. Nasmith's report.

An English bonding company has guaranteed the city $250,000. or a quarter of the cost of the plant if the ver Mehr system is not satisfactory.

When half the plant is built it is to be operated. That means the city will have paid out $400,000 then for the work, twenty per cent of the cost being held back. If the half of the plant does not show bacteriological efficiency when filtering $0,000,000 gallons daily, then the other half would not be constructed, and the bonding company would repay the city $250,000.

The tender of the ver Mehr Company is the lowest, and the operation of its plant will cost $29,000 less annually than would the operation of other plants tendered for.

At the council meeting on Monday the recommendation of the board of control that the ver Mehr tender be accepted will be further debated.

tion-Hurland Merry's Plucky Riding

Excitement reached a high pitch when the "little pony" championship came up for decision. The ponies competing had to be under 12 hands high and ridden by a boy or girl under 12 years of age. When Harland Merry, who has to see several summers be who has to see several summers be-fore his 12th birthda arrives, rode in attired in pink, and all the accoutrement of a member of the hunt, he cap-tured the hearts of the multitude. His mount, one of the handsomest in the animals of the show. "Gray Light" standing but 11.2 became the immediate envy of every boy and girl specta-tor. The boy rider's pink and the pony's roan afforded a striking and captivating color scheme. A lesson in manners was also afforded, as manners counted 60 per cent. against but 10 per cent, for conformation. It is satisfactory to state that both "Gray Light." the winner, and "Nipper," second, well ridden by C. Schiller, behaved like perfect gentlemen, and each received full points for manners. A slightly different story has to be

The disease is all the time inclined to work its way from he nose back into the head-down into the throat-into the conchial tubes and lungs. Herein is its greatest danger.

While engaged in the general practice of medicine Dr. Blosser had many patients suffering from Catarrh whom he was unable to cure, although he prescribed for them by the rules taught in medical books and colleges. Hesaaw that the methods of treatment were wrong, and reasoned that as catarrh is produced by breathing cold and damp air, so it should he cured by breathing a warm medicated vapor.

After nine years of investigation he discovered a combination of healing herbs, leaves and flowers (containing no tobacco or habit-forming drugs) which, when placed in an ordinary clean pipe—made into medicated cigareties or burned on a plate and by drawing the medicated smoke into the mouth and inhaling into the lungs, or by sending it out through the nostrils in a perfectly natural way, would speedily relieve all catarrhal diseases. As shown in the accompanying illustration the warm, healing vapor is carried directly to the very parts affected. This remedy fights and kills Catarrh where liquids, sprays, douches, solves and needicated creams cannot possibly go. It is a most reliable treatment, and as solves and needicated creams cannot possibly go. It is a most reliable treatment, and at home by man, woman or child.

Exemption From Taxation of Land Owned by Small Peasants One Feature

Special by Cable to The Sunday World.
MEXICO CITY, May 2.—The project of land taxation submitted to con gress by the ministers of finance and agriculture is a noteworthy document, and at any other time would deserve extended notice. The main features of the project are: First, the creation of a federal land tax; second, graduation of taxation according to the value of land; third, exemption from taxes granted to small tenants.

In presenting the bill the ministers say small landowner have been taxed to the limit owing to the facility with which his property can be valued, whereas the owner of large estates has been able to get off with light taxes owing to the lack of methodical system of land valuation and the difficulty attending the survey and valuation of large properties.

ROYAL MARRIAGE BLIGHTED HOPES OF DUKE OF ARGYLE

Queen Victoria's Ambition to Marry Her Daughter to Nobleman Cut Off His Chances of Career

NOW LYING ILL OF DOUBLE PNEUMONIA

Special to The Sunday World. (Copyright 1914, Press Publishing Co.) LONDON, May 2.- The Duke of Argyle, who is lying gravely ill of double oneumonia on the Isle of Wight, in his 70th year is a man of uncommo abilities, whose chances of a distinguished public career were blighted by his marriage to a royal princess, as the story is told. Queen Victoria was determined to marry Princess Louise, her handsomest daughter, to an English nobleman, and she first made overtures to the late Duke of Devonshire, then the Marquis of Hartlington. His reply was to start right away on a two year round the world trip. She then proposed for the late Duke of Hamilton, who immediately announced his engagement to another lady.

There was no escape for the Marquis of Lorne, as he was then, altho his mother, an intimate friend of the mother, an intimate friend of the Queen, warned him that the disabilities and restrictions of being allied to the royal family would hamper him thru life. He was never able to give free play to his opinion, because he was always liable to compromise the royal family. royal family. He is an speaker, a good organizer, widely read and writes brilliantly. He contributed special articles to The New York special articles to The New York World on several occasions, notably on Queen Victoria's funeral, King Edward's and King George's coronations. Personally quiet and unpretentious, hating display, he always kept in the background on ceremonial occasions, tho holding several hereditary offices entitling him to a prominent position. OPPONENT TO DUEL

PARIS, May 2 .- Joseph Caillaux, who was re-elected to the chamber of deputies in the general election, held last week, has challenged Fernand D'Aillieres, the Liberal candidate to the chamber against him in the Mamers district, to fight a duel. M. Caillaux was involved in the Gaston Calmette affair, and he resigned the ministry of finance after the killing to Calmette, editor of Le Figaro, by his wife last March. The it is explained here, because M. A'Aillieres insulted the Mamers voters by posting bills saying clean electors would refuse to become "accomplices in crime." M. Caillaux sent his seconds, Gen-

A Little Journey to BUFFALO

By Elbert Hubbard

I first arrived in Buffalo on May 10th, 1875. I was nineteen years of age, and had been earning my own living since I was twelve.

In my own mind I was considerable of a man. I wore spring-bottom pants, a warm vest, a dinky derby, and had a fairly good opinion of myself. Looking at myself as I then existed, I can perceive that I might have been something worse. I did not use tobacco, I never touched a strong drink, and my Baptist environment had made the pasteboard proclivity strictly pasteboard proclivity strictly taboo. I had lived in the outof-doors, and I prized my health.

Buffalo at that time had a population of about one hundred thousand.

Buffalo, to this second day of May, 1914, I have never been sick a day, never consulted a physician, never lost a meal, and life on the whole has been one delightful little journey. Erie County has been good to me.

In fact, Erie County is good to every one who will get out and hustle.

In Buffalo there are over a thousand factories, representing over two hundred lines of manufacture—peculiar, separate, useful commodities. Soaps, linseed oil, automobiles, railroad cars, furniture, paper, the packing industries. paper, the packing industries, the biggest horse market in the world, a great grain mar-ket, railroad industries mag-nus and steamboating super-

The point is that with such a diversity of industries, business in Buffalo never suffers a slump. If things are a little dull in one line, the others are booming; so the money flows and the Pay Envelope is pink and pudgy.

And this means progress and prosperity.
In 1890, '91 and '92 Buffalo had a real estate boom. We all went land fluffy in the alfalfa.

Since then things have been getting back to normal. Buffalo real estate now is right down to the limestone. The moisture is all out of it. Buffalo is ripe for a boom.

I've watched Buffalo grow for thirty-nine years. I've seen big fortunes made by men who bought and held on. And it seems to me that, of all times, now is the time for Buffalo folks to hold on to their real estate holdings, and if convenient add a little to Electric Clothes May Be Possibility—Press the Button, and Presto-Warmth.

PARIS, May 2.-We may soon hope o see on the market apparel which warming the body of the person who wears it. Some time ago Dr. Carnichael, professor of physics at the University of Toulouse, hit upon the idea of inventing electric clothes in an effort to devise a cure for rheumatism. The garments which he designed however, while theoretically all right, were in many ways entirely impracticable to wear. For one thing, the wiring made them too heavy and altogether too stiff to allow any freedom of movement, and quickly wore thru the clothes. Furthermore, after the fabric had been wet a few times, the heating apparatus rusted and was Ultimately, however, another French Ultimately, however, another French scientist, Professor Herrgott, of Belfort, took up the experiments, and it is said has at last succeeded in producing suits made from electrically-wired fabric which meets all practical tests. In the suits made by Professor Harrgott the wiring is woven into the cloth so that only an expert would know it was there. It does not in the least affect the appearance of the fabric, or its suppleness and wearing qualities. The metal used is an alloy which is very light and will not rust, and the construction is such that a short-circuit with the consequent shock or burn to the wearer is practically impossible.

shock or burn to the wearer is practically impossible.

One of these electric suits can be connected to any electric current of ordinary voltage, just as you do an electric iron or a fan or lamp. Storage batteries carried in the pockets will be sufficient to keep the suits heated for short periods, and automobilists can make connection with powerful batteries in their cars when they feel the air is too cold.

The value of such an invention is obvious. However heavy the clothes we put on, they do not produce heat. All they can do is to keep a small percentage of the tremendous amount of heat which every healthy body is continually gathering. We are forever taking off our coats and putting them on because we are too hot or too cold—and most of us are forever "taking cold" as a result of these unscientific methods of keeping our bodies at the Electrically-heated garments, however, remove all these difficulties.

Clothed in them, a man or woman, the moment they feel the slightest chill, have only to press a button, and, like magic, they will be warm from the tips of the toes to the top of the head, and as comfortable out of doors in the severest weather as they would be by their own fireside.

Bad Situation in Western Town-Mounted Police to Scene.

CALGARY, Alta. May 2.—Word has been received by C.P.R. officials here that 150 men employed on grade work at Monitor, situated on the company's new Lacombe line, 140 miles east of this city, have gone on strike and are in an ugly and dangerous mood. The strikers have threatened to murder the men who have remained on the job and also to destroy property belonging to also to destroy property belonging to the company. Mounted police have been informed, and several officers are now on duty at the scene of the trouble. I. W. W. agitators are said to be responsible for the men quitting work. Their demand is for more wages.

I OWE MY LIFE TO "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

They Did Me More Good Than All Other Treatments Combined

MRS. H. S. WILLIAMS.

PALMERSTON, Ont. June 20, 1913.

"I really believe that I owe my life to Fruit-a-tives,' Ever since childhood I have been under the care of physicians and have been paying doctors' bills. I was so sick and worn out that people on the street often asked me if I thought I could get along without help. The same old stomach trouble and distressing headaches nearly drove me wild. Some time ago I got a box of 'Fruit-a-tives' and the first box did me good. My husband was delighted and advised a continuation of their use. 'Fruit-a-tives' completely cured me. Today i am feeling fine, and a physician meeting me on the street noticed my improved appearance and asked me the reason. I replied, 'I am taking Fruit-a-tives.' He said, 'Well, if Fruit-a-tives' are making you look so well. at the immediate purchase of 1200 horses for service in Mexico. There were only 700 head on hand at the depot, which compels Capt. William S. Valentine, the commandant, to enter the open market for raw, undisciplined horses which will have to be trained in the field, a handicap which the remount depot was intended to overcome.

Difficulties are added to the situation by the fact that the light type of horse for cavalry service is rapidly disappearing in this country. In time of pearing in this country. In time of covercome.

are traveling constantly in sections where the light type horse is found. Preferably untrained horses are bought They are ready for service when four Forty or fifty experienced men, mostly farmers and former cowboys, are employed in "gentling" the horses. The purpose is not to train them in military evolutions, this is done after the horses reach the different troops and horses reach the different troops and regiments. The gentling consists in rein-checking the horse, teaching it to obey implicitly when commanded to move or to stand still, and to be mounted from behind or from either side. Harshness or cruelty in any form is strictly forbidden, and trainers are discharged for violation of this rule.

The trainers are hardy, patient men and they handle their horses as they would a child. Most horses respond quickly to this method and show much affection for their trainers. The trainers at the start were mostly civilians; now enlisted men are doing the work. A hospital and a comfortable living place are provided for them.

Not Yet Solved. But these remount depots have not solved the problem of the remount. The right type of horse must be bred. In European countries, especial-Prussia, they breed horses for army uposes, but congress has nct yet onsented to establishing a breeding

This has been largely offset by the action of the Chilian Government in deciding to keep its foreign gold reserve against its home note issue at London instead of in Germany. "Out of £7,000,000 to be thus transferred £2,500,000 has already been remitted, with a resultant easing of this week's London money market. The balance will come in two instalments, during July and September respectively, and the operation favors continued ease in money. kets seems to depend mainly on the Ulster matter. Actual settlement of that crisis on the lines of federal units, as intimated in parliament this week, or on any other satisfactory, basis, would necessarily mean recovery in home securities.

"It would hardly be more than a moderate rise, however, for it is not thought that prices could advance far in the face of the large output of new securities now again impending. Moreover, despite the week's peaceful overtures by Carson and Balfour for an Ulster compromise, doubt over the price is may not yet be over.

"A complete settlement of the Mexican difficulty would have great effect on all European markets, but only if the settlement made for internal peace in Mexico, and of this we are as yet unable to discover convincing indications."

$200,000 and the Red Cross $40,000 in bringing American refugees out of Mexico. Congress recently appropriated $500,000, which is now being used to bring out those who remain.

During 1913, under the direction of the state department, co-operating with the Red Cross, the work of relieving American destitute or stranded in Mexico was in the hands of Charles Jenkinson, who for years was in the service of the department specializing in Mexican affairs. Recently he has joined the permanent force of the Red Cross, and he is the director of the Atlantic Division, comprising all that portion of the United States lying east of the Mississippi River.

Elaborate plans have been formulated by the Red Cross for operations in Mexico should mediation fail and war ensue. In that event Jenkinson will be at the front with the fighting line. It will be his task to keep track of the ill, the injured and the dead, also to inform the families of the dead and injured. This work of information, in addition to caring for the sick and wounded is made mandatory upon the Red Cross by the federal law incorporating the society and placing it under the direction of the war debringing American refugees out of corporating the society and placing it under the direction of the war de-

OTTAWA, May 2.—When your member of parliament takes his seat at three o'clock in the afternoon, after listening to "prayers," in French or English, as the case may be, he glances over a little booklet upon his desk entitled "Orders of the Day." This booklet corresponds to a menu card, and informs him of what parliament may be asked to swallow and digest. Like most menu cards it is slightly altered from day to day, but there is a general sameness in the bill of fare. Now that we are approaching the end of the session it may not be without interest, this parliamentary menu.

Let us take yesterday's order paper and see what it forecasts or professes to forecast for the balance of the session. At the start we must admit that it resembles many a bill of fare presented by the ordinary hotel, because some of the dishes will never be served, and are never intended to be cooked, altho announced day after day. First in order we have the announcement of bills that may be introduced. Here is the list on yesterday's order paper, none of which were, in fact presented to the house:

Bill entitled: "An Act to Consolidate and Amend the Rallway Act."—Mr. Reid (Grenville).

get thru by agreement, but all in the least contentious or of much importance may stand over, except Mr. White's bill to amend the Tariff Act. Fnally we have that parliamentary boneyard entitled: "Public Bills and Orders." To this boneyard are consigned various subjects of more or less importance, upon which the government does not care to commit itself. The funeral arrangements are conducted by some member of the government, who moves to adjourn the debate. Here are some of the subjects which were before the house, but will not be heard of again this session:

(1). Capital punishment.
(2). Cold storage regulation.
(3). The eight hour day.
(4). Repeal of the naval service bill.
(5). Pollution of navigable waters.
(6). Subsidizing steamers to carry.

None of these measures, important as they may be, are likely to pass parliament at the present session. The new railway act, for example, has been introduced in the senate, and will be considered by a joint committee of the two houses, but Mr. Borden more than intimated that it would not become law at this session.

Next come government notices of lifty years of confederation. (8). The Georgian Bay Canal.
(9). The old age pension.
(10). The proposed World's Fair at Montreal in 1917, to commemorate

Next after Mr. Foster's notice above quoted comes the piece de resistance of the parliamentary menu card, to wit; the prime minister's notice of the resolutions dealing with the Canadian Northern Railway. That occupies no less than fifteen pages, and the prudent boarder will order some of that dish because little else will be given him to chew or digest from the parliamentary kitchen. It is a complicated product which Chef Borden, assisted by Mr. Meighen, has prepared, and some people claim that it will prove highly indigestible. In the meantime there it is occupying nearly all the space on the menu, and destined to occupy almost to the exclusion of everything else, the attention of parliament.

A good tasty dish which many large vote was due to the number of "party workers" in attendance.

"But were all these Conservatives?" someone asked.

"No," was the ingenious response; "but in Ottawa we have many 'party workers' who are always for the government."

Apropos of this was a discussion in the house the other night about a contractor at Valleyfield in the electoral district of Beauharnois.

"I did not know that the man was a Conservative," protested Hon. Dr. Reid, who was leading the house.

"Well," said Mr. Robb of Huntingdon, "he was a great supporter of Sir Wilfrid Laurier up to September 22, 1911, but since then he has been no less zealous in supporting Mr. Borden. I would not call him a Liberal nor would respect to the number of parliament."

MINING MARKET CLAIMS ATTENTION Peterson Lake has now had a ten-point advance, and on ordinary market principles a reaction may occur. We cannot promise this, but if it happens, we urge the purchase of the stock. Awaiting the appearance of the annual statement, we advise holders to refrain from selling, as we think this will be better than expected. We are looking for a rise in Timiskaming, as the company's position warrants a much better price for the shares. From a speculative or investment standpoint the mining market will claim more attention in the near future.

Bad Feeling Shown in Charity Competition Characteristic in England

Special to The Sunday World.
LONDON. May 2.—A swimming competition in aid of a charity, with Lady Diana Manners, Lady Constance Richardson, Miss Tree and Mrs. Raymond Asquith as the stars, was announced to be held this week at the Marylebone Baths. The prospect of seeing Lady Diana in a skintight bathing costume drew a crowd of discerning men, for she has the reputation of possessing the most perfect figure in England. But Mrs. Raymond Asquith was the only one of the quartet to appear, the others, being ardent Tories, refusing even to enter the water with the Liberal prime min-

That fixture, founded by Arthur Balfour 14 years ago, has never before been interfered with by any political controversy, with by any political controversy, because of commons have been given up since Opposition Leader Bonar Law has taken to impugning Mr. Asquith's veracity.

On the terrace and in the smoking-rooms where usually the members mingle irrespective of party they no longer mix. Even since peace has begun to be once more discussed they remain apart, for each party has the sum of the other.

The drilling displays staged by a class taged by an object of about 80 junior volunteer girls from the Toronto Public Schools, elicited the most applause from 300 people present at the Arena Saturday afternoon. The junior girls were the first to take the floor. For a few minutes they went thru physical drill without one girl making a mistake, and in conclusion they danced for a few minutes.

At intervals James Moore of Augusta Avenue School, dressed in Highland uniform, marched around the Arena playing the bagpipes. He always received a rousing welcome.

Saturday was one of the best mornings
the trainers have had at the Woodbine so far this spring. The track had dried out considerably, and the going was good over most of it. The back stretch was particularly fast, and some right smart work was indulged in.

Philo Lamb's string, trained by Henry
Bondy, were out, and worked 'nicely.
Tony, br.h. 3, by Otis-Sure Shot, worked three-eighths under wraps in .37 1-5. His stable-mate, Jimmie Gorman, by Otis-Belle Ward, worked the same distance, but he is a bit of a loafer; he worked three-eighths in .29. Bon Rose, by Bannockburn-Woodland Rose, breezed a quarter thru the stretch in .28 easily. Song of Rocks will not be ready for the spring meetings. She is a little bad on her underplinning and will be got ready for later racing. Philo Lamb's string, trained by Henry work was indulged in.

Wm. Walker's string were all out and were breezed from one quarter to three-eighths at a two-minute clip. They have all freshened up considerably, and seem fulls of run. "Red" should have a good winning string at this meeting if nothing happens.

Trainer McDaniel gave several of his string stiff work. The balance were just galloped. Calgary and First Sight worked a nice, easy mile in 1.52, and fighting for his head all the time. The string looks in grand condition.

Canny G. and Caper Sauce, in Banty Rogers' string, worked three-eighths in .33 1.5. Luckola, from the same stable, was breezed at a two-minute clip.

Brynlimah, from T. J. Bird's stable, worked a handy three-quarters in 1.17 2-5.

Murray is his fighting name, and fight he can. They call him the "Ketchel of 1914.' He's had two "big" professional fights already, that stamp him as a championship possibility in the class that the unfortunate Ketchel made as famous as did the equally unfortunate Jack Dempsey.

In his first big fight of twenty rounds, Murray startled the fistic world by stopping tough Leo Houck in 15 rounds. Houck was considered a hard man for even the top-notchers to beat, and when the swarthy Californian ended his championship aspirations, they began to look around for a man who would give "Billy" a real fight. Southern California had settled on Jimmy Clabby as the world's best 158pounder, and he was signed to meet the bristling Portuguese. It looked like they were rushing the side believed that Clabby was entitled to the decision, but Griffin said that, in his opinion, Murray more than offset Clabby's early lead by making a wonderful rally in the last six rounds.

They fought, and the bout went limit, Referee Jim Griffin declaring it a draw. The Portuguese boy came thru with colors flying. Many experts at the ring-

The fifteenth round almost saw the end of Clabby. He was going along nicely, with Murray trying to land his justly-celebrated left behind Clabby's ear. Clabby was hurt, but he tried to show his mastery of the situation by jauntily dancing around the Petaluma boy. Murray bored in and landed a corking right flush on Clabby's jaw. The Indianian's knees sagged, and he fell into a clinch that the referee was unable to break. The crowd yelled frantically for him to pry Clabby off of the now infurlated Portuguese, but by the time Griffin got them separated, Clabby's head had cleared, and the danger was over.

Murray gave him an awful battle from then on, and had it not been for the tangle into which Clabby tied them both after Murray landed, he might have knocked him out.

He was fighting several years before Champion Joe Thomas bumped into him in the little town of Maryville, in California. Murray is the roughest kind of a fellow when his fighting spirit is up. AUSTRALIAN BIKE RIDERS ON WAY

NEW YORK. May 2.—There are more Australian bike riders on their way here from the antipodes to seek fame and fortune on the tracks of America. According to a message to Gordon Walker, which has been received here, there are five in this latest party of invaders from the land of the kangaroo. The riders are little known even to the Australians who are here but that is due to the fact that they have come into prominence during the past two years while Walker, Grenda, Clark, Spears and Goullet have been busily engaged here and in Europe. The best of the boys who will join the Australian colony here are Crook, Henry and Erskine, all sprinters. Frank Corry's brother, a trainer, is with the party and will train them here.

It is, indeed, said that a prince of Roumania is about to wed the czar's daughter, and the chancelleries are agog with the political possibilities of such a union. If, perchance, it should connote a Russo-Roumanian rapproachment, or, what is more likely, an independent Roumania, holding the balance evenly between Russia and Austria, the displomatic chess-board in Eastern Europe will have undergone a decided change. When, in 1878, Russia cynically despoiled Rouamnia of Bessarabia, after having been saved by her from annihilation in the trenches of Plevna, Roumania turned for solace and projection to Austria, So close became the relations of the two states that in course of time Roumania was accounted an outpost of the triple alliance. M. Brifaut will tour Eastern Europe, preaching in all the large towns.

Further, he says, that the present Young Turk Government of Turkey is Masonic and that Masons, by their anti-religious and anti-patriotic sentiments, have brought Turkey to her present state. Russia has many lodges, which, of course, are working in se-cret, being illegal in that country. GIANTS IN THOSE DAYS.

LONDON, May 2.—Two men digging in the foundations for laborers' cot-tages at Dysart. County Louth, unn the foundations for laborers' earthed three human skeletons in sep-arate graves. The skull of one skele-ton was whole and entire, and measton was whole and entire, and measured eighteen inches from the crown to the chin. The leg bones were abnormally large, and altogether the skeleton appeared to be that of a person ten feet high. The remains are supposed to be prehistoric.

Ireland's Year.

Two Scassors ago Ireland was threatened with a disruption in football circles almost identical with that which is at present threatened constitutionally, but England and Scotland came to her aid.

They stood by the ruling body and would in no sense recognize the disruptionis's.

These countries even decided to play their international games in the Emerald Isle, altho they were due to be played on English and Scotlish soil. What was the result? Ireland is new stronger than ever, and are a united nation so far for the country gained this season for the first time in history the honor of being champion of the nations. The other countries do not grudge them this honor, for it spells success for all. When honors so round the better it is for all concerned, Monopely does not pay in football as it does commercially.

The Only Deublers.

Glazgow Celtic have the honor of being the enly club to win a double crown this season, they having captured both the Scotlish. Cup and Scotlish League championship. They have done this before and are the only club in Britain one occasion. It was at one time thought that Blackburn Rovers would bring off dual honers in England, but that nasty blow they got from Sheffleid in the cup tile upset all, and they had to be content with the league championship only.

New that players are free in pour parier with other clubs, we are likely to hear of some sensational transfers. There are many runors of big things coming off, and the greatest of all is that New-crestle United have offered $11.940 for the Unasser of Cunningham (Kilmar-nock). The club, it is said, old country. Thursday last saw the closure applied and from now till Aug. 15 in Scotland and Sept. 1 in England no official games can be piayed unless specially sanctioned for charitable purposes. The games played during midweek were few and the result in no way affected the various championships, all of which had been previously determined.

The players will now have a well-carned holiday. Some teams wfil, however,go on tour on the Continong and here I may state that the football association have decided to send on the continent two touring teams during the early part of the close season, one for "full strength" of amateurs and processionals, and the other for amateura. As the exursions almost overlap it may be taken for granted that the party for Austria and Hungary will be made up almost entirely of paid players.

The Schedule.

The latter four will no doubt be a great attraction, three matches having been arranged as under:

May 20—v. eleven of Hungary (venue to be selected).

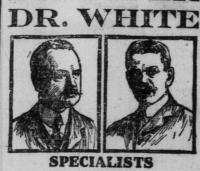

Yeure 1—v. Hungary, at Buda-Pesth.

The amateurs will leave for Scandinavia just before the other tourists return, their engagements belong as follows:

By James J. Corbett.
Former Heavyweight Champion of the NEW YORK, May 2—(Special to The Sunday World.)—Funny what a few weeks will sometimes make in the plans and demands of a boxer. Take the case of Al McCoy, the latest claimant of the middleweight title. Until he landed flush on George Chip's jaw, knocking Klaus' conqueror cold in less than a round, McCoy was satisfied to box any old dub for anything promoters would pay him. But since that time Als estimation of the value of his services has taken a sharp upward jump.

Possibly the suddenness of the whole affair has turned Jack Dougherty's head. The veteran trainer is McCoy's manager, and it is now his boast that he is a "union" manager, and that he wants the union scale for his fighter—whatever that scale may be Jack was up to see a theatrical friend of mine recently about getting some dates for his boy—it seems the new "champion" didn't turn out to be the sensation banked on in his first venture, and unless a new deal can be arranged it will be a case of having to fight for the money instead of getting it via the softer method of stage exhibitions.

I understand Jim Coffrorh asked Dougherty for his terms to bring Mc-

MACK PREDICTS YANKS CONTENDERS

Says Frank Chance Has Good Club and That They Will Be There.

PHILADELPHIA, May 2.—Connie Mack predicts that the Yankees will be up with the pacemakers in the American League a greater part of this season. Mack figures that, if Caldwell, Keating, Cole and Fisher can pitch as well as Marty McHale, Chance would begin each game with a 50 per cent break.

Mack discussed the Yanks from every point of view. He said that Maisel, Peckinpaugh, Walsh, and Sweeney were finished ball players, who would add strength to any club. He seemed to like the looks of Holden and Cook, and declared that Williams would develop into a high-class first baseman.

After everything Freddy's manager has said about Willie, and his fear of meeting the English champion, it is hardly thought that Welch will balk at the proposition.

It would make a great match, and local fans would willingly contribute the prices it would be necessary to ask for the meeting between these two stars of the lightweight division. American sports appreciate that Welch is about the only serious obstacle in Ritchie's path, and the sooner the question of American or English lightweight superiority is settled the better they will be pleased. Naturally they want Ritchie to win, but if Welch should come out on top the fans would take their hats off to the clever little Briton. Of course, there is that "no decision" ruling in the way of a decisive verdict, but ten rounds ought to be enough to furnish a pretty good line on the result of a bout over a longer course.

line on the result of a bout over a longer course.

Ritchie wrote me recently, stating that he would likely box in New York within the next few months, and as I know he doesn't believe in playing favorites, and is willing to box anyone a promoter who pays his price selects for him, there is a splendid chance of the match being made.

Look the following epistle over carefully, friend reader, and tell me what you think of the rabid individual who mailed to me last week. The "gent" claims Sacramento, Cal., as his home, which explains his admiration for Billy Murray:

claims Sacramento, Cai., as his nome, which explains his admiration for Billy Murray:

"Dear Sir: As a native Californian you ought to boost California fighters more than you do. You are a native son, and ought to boost for other native sons. I read your article in The Enquirer every week, and I am surprised that you have so little to say about Californians. Billy Murray, the best middleweight fighter since Stanley Ketchel, is a native and yet you haven't had a word in his favor since he won the championship of the world by beating Jimmy Clabby, which he did, altho the referee called it a draw. Clabby was the recognized champion, and Murray made him pack up and go to Australia right after the match, which proved that Clabby would go to the other end of the world to dodge a return fight. I suppose you are like others from California who have left home and lived in the east—you have no use for the place where you made no use for the place where you made your reputation."

Now, what do you think of that? True, I have had little to say about Mr. Murray. Not having ever had the pleasure of seeing the young man box. I have to take everything regarding his skill second-hand. However, I am inclined to take issue with my correspondent regarding Murray's championship claims. The San Francisco papers panned Referee Jim Griffin for calling the Clabby-Murray bout a draw, claiming that the verdict rightfully was Clabby's. However, I was not there, and cannot say whether Griffin was right or wrong—according to my way of figuring points in a boxing match. But I knew Griffin very well, and have respect for his judgment, and the chances are the battle must have been a pretty eyen thing when he called it a draw.

But my correspondent errs in saying that I "have no use for California." I still have a fondness for the place of my birth and boyhood days, and make it a point to visit the coast at least every year or two. At the same time my Sacramento friend must remember that I have lived in the east for nearly a quarter of a century, and have a few friends in this section also. However, I have always prided myself on my impartiality in the matter of expressing my opinion of boxers and their skill. It makes no difference where a boxer halls from. If he has the goods, I am always only to happy to give him the credit due. Naturally it pleases me to learn that a California boy has made good in the prize ring. I would be less than human if it didn't, but at the same time I will never allow prejudice to meke me unfair in my criticism of his opponents at any time.

Be fair, old pal, even if it hurts. Billy Murray is no doubt a great young at any time.

Be fair, old pal, even if it hurts.

Billy Murray is no doubt a great young fighter. Time will prove whether he is all what you claim for him. And I will root for him to make good just as hard as you will, take it from me.

Jim Coffey, a young heavyweight, of whom I have had occasion to speak favorably several times. knocked out Jim Flynn in four rounds at the favorably several times. Allocked out. Jim Flynn in four rounds at the Stadium A. C. last week. Coffey had every advantage over his adversary, and would probably have won the fight to unfair tactics several times, which did not make him any new friends or admirers. Several local critics have censured Coffey for his rough work, but it seems to me the referee was the one who should have been put on the one who should have been put on the grill. It was his duty to see that the men lived up to the rules, or if not to disqualify the offender.

Billy Gibson is Coffey's manager, and has aranged a match for his fighter with Bombardier Wells, to take place in England next month. If it were not for the fact that Wells has proved in several bouts in this country he is physically unable to take any great amount of punishment, I would surely pick him as the winner over Coffey. pick him as the winner over Coffey who as yet is hardly out of the novice class, altho a youth of considerable natural ability.

Wells is far and away the clever-
