STONE IN BLADDER REMOVED WITHOUT SURGICAL OPERATION

In the Spring of 1904, I was confined to my bed with kidney trouble and such that I would never recover. I took a lot of medicine but did not realize any benefit from anything. I finally saw Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, advertisement and sent for a sample bottle and thought the same bottle helped me, so I bought more of the medicine from my Druggist, and after using a few bottles discharged a very large stone from my bladder.

After passing this stone my health was very much improved, and I have been able to continue my business without any serious sickness.

DR. KILMER'S SWAMP-ROOT,
Hillsdale, Ala.

Personally I appreciate this my 8th day of Sobriety. I have made a statement and made oath that the above is true in substance and in fact.

NEED OUTSIDE HELP

Bangor, Me., May 1—Those who lost their lives in yesterday's fire were John Serben, an aged cobbler who was crushed to death by a falling wall, and George Allen, a fireman, who was killed by a toppling chimney.

The mayor made a statement today in which he said: "Bangor will get its breath and courage and then we will go right at building again. I have received offers of help from other cities, but we shall not accept any until we find out that it is absolutely necessary."

Piles Cured in 14 Days

Your druggist will recommend Pile Ointment fails to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days. 30c.

When John E. Harris of Lynn, a special railroad officer, opened a can of hay consigned to a firm in that city, he was surprised to hear a weak cackle and a flutter of feathers. Peering in between two bales of hay he saw a hen so tightly wedged in that she could not move and on the floor nearby was an egg which she had evidently laid en route from Bangor, whence the hay had been shipped. The hen was so weak she could hardly stand on her feet when released, but under the care of Mr. Harris she soon recovered her strength and is now rearing young with an egg a day.

She will complete her academic course in two more years.

The Evening Chit-Chat
By RUTH CAMERON

"I N quiet country places one may be poor, very poor, without much conscious suffering. But in a city, if one knows anything at all of the possibilities of civilized life, of the joys and comforts of good food, clothing and shelter, of theatre and concert and excursion, of entertaining and being entertained, of the more comfortable kind of city folk, at their love of money, their incessant dwelling upon it, their reverses for those who have it, their painful flight from those who have it not, let them be careful how they judge. If you discover any human being anywhere acting as you think a human being should not, investigate all the circumstances, look thoroughly into all the causes of his or her conduct before you condemn him or her as inhuman, unworthy of your kinship and your sympathy."

—David Graham Phillips.

The above passage from David Graham Phillips' new novel, "The Grain of Dust," I recommend to every one who thinks himself a lover of fair play and the square deal to read three times and then think about it.

Especially the last sentence of the foregoing.

I think that sentence would make an excellent working motto for any of us who are inclined to be critical of others to paste up on our desks, or better still, in our hearts.

Only I'd like to add a little to it. Investigate all in his or her conduct before you condemn him or her—and then, with the obstacles of circumstance and environment which I handicapped you, with the entangled body and mind and will bequeathed from generations of un-uncle fathers that I gave you, you struggled with, and to the most highly respected member of the community, of the healthy body and brain and will power that I bestowed upon you, you have made but what you should?

Nobody.

Isn't it wisest, then, "if you discover a human being anywhere acting as you think a human being should not, to investigate all the circumstances, look thoroughly into all the causes of his conduct" before you condemn him, and then remembering that there are yet other factors in the equation you can not find out, to still fall to condemn?

MOTHER'S DAY

Appeal for Observance on the Second Sunday of This Month

A movement which has proved a very popular one, is that of observing the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day, by wearing a white carnation. Although only started last year already it has spread widely. In Canada the movement is W. G. Rook, of Toronto, president of Canadian Home Journal, has received the assistance from the press and the public.

In the -- issue of Canadian Home Journal there is a strong appeal for the observance:

"The small boy with his cut finger, the tiny girl with her torn frock, make an immediate appeal for 'Mother'—sure of a wisdom that will repair the injury even if some wholesome advice be thrown in about 'not doing it again.' Then come the impatient half-grown years when the exclamation 'Mother is so old-fashioned,' and 'Mother doesn't understand that things are different now,' are constantly heard. But the years, those unbalancing years, march steadily by, and we hear the man and the woman, with their own stern problems to solve, admitting regretfully, 'I believe Mother was right,' and 'I wish I'd done as Mother advised me.'"

So, on the breath of a white carnation, on the second Sunday of May, will come back the old-time memories with their childish joy and pain. It may mean the honest sorrow in remembering happier things, or it may be but a badge in honor of the living mother.

A very touching little episode occurred last May in a well-known and prominent Toronto family. On the Tuesday morning after Mother's Day, the postman brought a letter from a member of the family who had been a wanderer and rather a blunderer for many years, addressed to the mother of the group. As that dear old person had been with the angels for some time, the letter was opened by a daughter, who read as follows: "Dear Mother—The nurse in the hospital where I am has been telling me about Mother's Sunday, and I have made up my mind to write to you. I am not long for this life, being far gone in illness, but if you are still alive, I want you to know I am thinking of you on Mother's Day. I enclose the white dove

CHIEF PAUL ON RECIPROcity

Much Disturbed by Rumors of Annexation, He Puts on The War Paint

(The Maritime Merchant)

Chief Paul, from the Stewiacke Reservation, with a knife in his belt and a most sinister expression of countenance, glided into the "Merchant" office and came to attention with military precision.

"You want some Injun scouts?" he demanded.

"Thank you," said the man at the desk, "our subscribers are sending in their remittances with commendable promptness, and Pro Bono Publico hasn't been around since a week before Christmas. We don't even need a boy scout."

"What about them Yankees?" demanded the chief. "Oh, it's too soon for summer travel. You won't see them here till July. What's your scheme? Do you think you can get more out of them than the hotels and guides make them give up?"

Chief Paul frowned so darkly at this pleasantry that the man at the desk felt a chill in the atmosphere. He eyed the chief with a keen interest, and a little more venturing another remark.

"My," he said, "but you look fierce this morning. Have you joined some Canada? Have the pale faces been putting more sawdust in the trout streams around Stewiacke? Or has Muskatar followed Glooscap and Hiawatha into the Land of the Hereafter?"

Chief Paul gazed fixedly at the young man before replying. He seemed at a loss to understand the cheerful humor of the scribe. Presently he jerked out the startling query:—

"Ain't them Yankees comin' here right away to take this country?"

"I had not heard it," said the man at the desk.

"Ain't they gonin' bring what you call annexation?" persisted the chief.

"Oh!" said the young man, "Annexation. Who told you that story?"

"In Stewiacke," replied the chief. "I hear men talk about the Yankees comin' right away to take this country 'way from us. He said they had big smoke-talk up in Washington—six 'em up—don't give us no chance. I come here. If you want to fight them Yankees, as Injuns is called."

Whereupon Chief Paul drew his knife, emitted a blood-curdling whoop, and went through the motions of a hideous scalping an enemy. The men at the desk hastily drew his chair a little farther away.

"My," he ejaculated, "you frightened me. The chief's grim features relaxed a little, and he returned the knife to its sheath.

"You needn't be 'fraid," he said, "but if I see any Pitt Avenue Injuns round here, I'll let 'em know I ain't gone yet."

"But I don't understand," said the man at the desk, "how you can be so sure that we must have been seeing things. The Yankees can't get us unless we want them. And we don't. All we want is a little more of their money. It's good money."

"But that man said," broke in the red man, "that if we take their money we'll soon get so we want to be Yankees, too?"

"I don't see why," said the man at the desk, "if we take their money we'll soon get so we want to be Yankees, too?"

"We belong to the Six Nations, why should we withdraw and tie up with the little tribe of the Big Chief at Wascana? If I come out to Stewiacke and trade more gin for baskets, does that make me a Yankee? I don't care for good friends, and do business together every day in the week, but you can't trade with me unless you trade with me. The red man spent some time in reflection before venturing another observation.

"At least he's got a right to his money."

"You don't think, then, them Yankees want to get this country?"

"I don't care a hang what they want," said the man at the desk. "What they want and what they'll get are two different things. They'll get a nothing."

"And if we're such a punky sort that we don't know whether we want the Union Jack or the Stars and Stripes, I would suggest that we get a cyclone to wipe us off the face of the earth. Look you, Mr. Paul, Canada is as much a part of the British Empire as England is. There is no more danger of the Union Jack being hauled down in Halifax or Ottawa than in London. You may go back to your friend in Stewiacke, and tell him that he need not sell a dollar's worth of goods to Uncle Sam or buy a dollar's worth, if he doesn't want to. This is a free country, and there's no compulsion. But if he, or any other man, tells you that there's any relation between trade and love for the flag, or that the Canadian people will ever drop out of the big British empire to hitch up

The Luxury of Good Cloths

Too many otherwise shrewd and sensible people think of really good clothes as an extravagance. If they stopped to reason it out they would reverse their judgment. Good clothes are a luxury, but not an extravagance. As we sell them they are really ECONOMICAL—far more so than clothing of commonplace character.

CAUCUS AGREEMENT HOLDS (Continued from page 1.) It was necessary, His Worship said, that a ferry boat be purchased and this matter would have to receive attention at every caucus date. The Hydro Electric Power Company bill has been passed and it was suggested that the recorder be advised as to the city's attitude in connection with the new supply of better power. There was need of cheaper power at a fixed rate, but the city's interests should be guarded in every way. His Worship in closing referred to the good work done by the members who were retiring. In reply to have Russell, His Worship said he had not received a reply from Baugor as to the situation there. On the other hand, J. B. Jones, a committee consisting of Ald. J. B. Jones, Wigmore, Kierstead and Green, was appointed to bring in a report at the next council meeting on several matters touched on in the mayor's address. The meeting then adjourned.

YOUNG VANDALS PUT FISHING PRIVILEGE AT LAKE IN DANGER. The Times is informed that among those who were to take to the lake yesterday were many rough boys who went without rods but cut down poles and thus destroyed property. They are said to have shown an utter disregard for the pretty shrubbery and young trees around the lake. It is pointed out that if any such spirit in this is manifested, the privilege of fishing will be withdrawn, which would be a great pity.

THE EVENING TIMES THE DAILY TELEGRAPH

New Brunswick's Independent newspapers. These papers advocate: British connection. Honesty in public life. Measures for the material progress and moral advancement of our great Dominion. No graft! No deals! "The Shamrock, Thistle, Rose entwines The Maple Leaf forever."

CONSERVATIVES NOT UNITED

It must not be assumed that Conservatives are unanimous in support of the obstructive tactics adopted by Mr. Borden and his leading followers at Ottawa, in relation to the reciprocity agreement. The Ottawa Citizen is a Conservative newspaper, but it does not approve of the course pursued. Observing that there have been times when obstruction was justified, the Citizen goes on to declare that this is not such an occasion. It says: "The government has announced a definite policy on a most important public question. Its supporters, who are in the great majority, are practically united in favor of that policy. It requires an immense stock of optimism to believe that a government in such a position will allow itself to be coerced into changing that policy. The opposition may obstruct the estimates for months, but will the situation be any better at the bitter end than it is now? If the majority of the people of Canada are opposed to reciprocity they will vote the government out of power at the next election, which is only about a year hence. If the majority of the people of Canada are not opposed to reciprocity they will return the government to power. Will weeks or months of obstruction at the present time sensibly affect the result when the election comes? It certainly will not change the position to which the government has definitely committed itself."

The Citizen is right. The government will not allow itself to be coerced, nor will the opposition gain anything by obstruction. If Mr. Borden insists upon obstruction, and in effect repudiates the principle of responsible government, his party must suffer the consequences. A minority will not be permitted to dictate the country's policy. Sir Wilfrid may be supposed from attending the imperial conference and a minority to rule in Canada. There can be but one answer.

A NOTABLE MEETING

St. John people will have an opportunity next Monday evening to hear reciprocity discussed by members of parliament who are in favor of the agreement. Those who hear them will not be listening to men who fear for the future of Canada, or who see any vital connection between national ideals and agreements relating to an exchange of products. These speakers will be men convinced that a favorable trade arrangement with a neighbor whose people have so much in common with Canadians will be good for Canada and therefore good for the British empire. They will not be men of that class who fear that their party may be annexed by another, but who take for granted the integrity of the British empire. They will present clearly and fairly the reasons why Canada may expect increased prosperity as a result of the reciprocity agreement, and why there is no danger to national pride, national transportation lines, or national interests of any sort.

These gentlemen will address a sympathetic audience, for nothing but the most hopeless partisanship could blind people in these provinces to the advantage to them of this reciprocity agreement. Mr. Ames and Prof. Leacock may be assumed to have made the best of the case against reciprocity, and their chief arguments were based on assumptions which time will show to have been unfounded, such as that of Mr. Ames about the winter port trade of St. John, and that of Prof. Leacock about the east and west falling apart.

It will do the people good to hear a vigorous assertion of the ability of Canada to look after herself and at the same time take care of imperial interests.

The city council yesterday revived the market question, but after a long discussion gave it another kick into the uncertain future. The question of the repairs to the old ferry steamer was also discussed at length, and a number of the aldermen were shocked at the waste of money which shows how much more insight than foresight is often displayed by governing bodies meeting once a month, and

THE SPRING MAID

April, half-clothed in flowers and showers,
Willows like a blossom, o'er the land;
She smiles at May, and, laughing, takes
The rain and sunshine hand-in-hand.

So gay the dancing of her feet,
So like a garden her soft breath,
So sweet the smile upon her face,
She charms the very heart of death.

The young moon in a trance she holds
Captive in clouds of orchard bloom,
She snags her fingers at the grave,
And laughs into the face of doom.

Yet in her glances lurks a fear,
In all her mirth there breathes a sigh,
So soon her pretty flowers are gone—
And ah! she is too young to die!

—Richard Le Gallienne.

LOSING SHIP ENDS CAREER OF CAPTAIN

May Not Lose Certificate But Rarely Gets a Command

SOME NOTABLE EXAMPLES

Sealby of the Republic, Though Held Blameless, Was Dismissed—Fate of Captain Who Obligated the Ladies and His Vessel Went Ashore

In the case of shipwreck or collision at sea the general rule of the big steamship lines has been that the captain who is at fault not only loses his place in the service but frequently has his certificate suspended by the licensing authority.

Some Examples Capt. Inman Sealby, who commanded the Republic when she sank after a collision with the Italian liner Florida on Jan. 22, 1909, although no blame was attached to him for faulty navigation or seamanship in handling his vessel, was dismissed from the service and is now studying admiralty law at the University of Michigan.

Another example is the case of Capt. E. Prehn of the North German Lloyd Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm, backing out of the harbor of Bremen last September, went two-thirds of the way across the river and collided with the out-bound French liner Lorraine, smashing in her bows and doing considerable damage to her plates.

Obbliging Captain Fickle Passengers

A peculiar case where a captain lost his certificate as well as his ship, was that of the stranding of the cruising steamer yacht Norse King in April, 1882, on the coast of Zante when she had about 250 tourists on board.

Another example is the case of Capt. Dunning, in command of the Cunard liner Slavonia, when she struck on Flomøe island on June 11, 1908, and became a total loss, was reprimanded severely by the court of inquiry, but his certificate was not suspended.

Another example is the case of Capt. Le Horn, formerly commander of the Peninsular and Oriental Navigation company, stranded his vessel, the China, off Pevin island in the Red sea in 1897. It cost the company about $100,000 to get her off.

Another example is the case of Capt. Le Horn, formerly commander of the Peninsular and Oriental Navigation company, stranded his vessel, the China, off Pevin island in the Red sea in 1897.

FERRY MATTER GOES OVER TO NEW COUNCIL

Special Committee Harshly Criticized by Aldermen Yesterday - Clerk Dunham to Continue in Market

The common council of 1910-11 put up lively fight in its dying hours yesterday afternoon and the meeting was marked by several heated discussions. The topics which occupied the most time were the reports of the market committee recommending the retirement of Clerk Dunham, and the ferry committee dealing with the work on the steamer Western Extension. In dealing with Clerk Dunham's case the members stirred up the bones of the market investigation, and after a long and decided to continue Mr. Dunham for another month, and in the meantime call for applications for the job. The ferry report gave Alderman Potts, who has been deposed by Alderman Smith, an opportunity to say what he thought of his successor, and Ald. Smith replied in kind. The matter of repairing the Western Extension and future action in this regard will be dealt with at a special meeting of the general committee of the council. The Early Closing act passed by the legislature will also be dealt with at the same meeting.

I got so bad that I could not sleep in or out of bed. I began to write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. In a short time I had gained my average weight and am now strong and well. Mrs. SALLIE STEVENS, R. The court declared Edmund Edwin Earle, a son born of a second marriage, legitimate.

WITNESSES TELL OF LIFE IN THE JAIL

Evidence of Inside Conditions and Chain Gang Matters at Inquest Into Wm. McArthur's Death

Edema of the lungs which followed an attack of acute inflammation of the kidneys was given by Dr. Warwick, pathologist for the General Public Hospital, as the direct cause of the death of William McArthur, the hard labor prisoner, a few days ago. The inquest into the death of the prisoner was resumed in the police court last evening. The doctor also gave it as his opinion that the fatal disease was not directly brought on by exposure. The hearing last evening, which lasted for nearly three hours, was interesting, and some sensational evidence was brought out. Harry Merriam, Robert King and Harry McDonald, three members of the chain gang, were on the stand. King made the starting statement that he was kept in the cold and rain for nearly six hours and from breakfast until supper time, was denied the taste of food. The hearing was presided over by Coroner Berryman and there were also present D. Mullin, K. C., who appeared in the interests of the deceased prisoner's parents, J. King Kelley, in the interests of the county, and councillor Donovan. There was also a large crowd of spectators in court and the hearing was followed closely. Adjournment was made until Wednesday evening at 7.30.

CANADIANS IN ENGLAND They Joined the Easter Rush to the Continent - Canada Much in Public Notice

London, April 10 - The rush of Canadians from London to the continent for the Easter holidays was extremely heavy. Although the weather in England was exceedingly fine, prominent Canadians in England followed the usual fashion and went with English society leaders to enjoy the pleasures of Nice, Monte Carlo, Biarritz and Cannes. Among those who left London on Saturday were: Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McHugh, of Calgary; G. Killam, of Winnipeg; Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Barlow, of Montreal; A. O. Beardsmore, of Toronto; A. J. Lee, of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Cherry of Winnipeg; H. A. Neal, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Tregent and Miss V. Fisher, of Vancouver. Major Saunders and his family passed through London on his way home on Saturday. Mrs. Saunders and their family expects to return to London in June for the coronation. It will be remembered that the major was one of the Canadian representatives who followed the coming visit of the Canadian parliamentary delegates in being stopped, and personalities enquired into; it is pointed out that Ralph Smith, M.P., is a native of Newcastle, and worked in the mines at eleven years of age. After a residence of less than twenty years in England he has attained greater prominence than was likely to come to him in his own land. In fact, the man in the street, and the man in the country house are now all the time asking questions about Canada, and in a friendly, not a contemptuous manner.

When the Odds Are Against You

You Can Depend on DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LIMESEED AND TURPENTINE to help you, if You Get the Genuine

What a fight goes on during the winter season against coughs and colds. The children are careless about keeping dry and warm, and the parents are worried to hear them cough. The best insurance against serious results is the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Limeseed and Turpentine. So universally used that we need scarcely say of its efficacy. One who knows that there are at least four imitations of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Limeseed and Turpentine on the market, you are not to let any dealer talk you into accepting anything but the genuine. On each bottle of this syrup is the portrait and signature of Dr. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Brooklyn, N.Y., author. Imitations are based on the reputation of this great medicine, and not on their own merits, or they should not have a name of their own. With the genuine Dr. Chase's Syrup of Limeseed and Turpentine you can readily overcome cough, bronchitis, whooping cough, throat irritation, and the most serious coughs and colds. 25 cents a bottle, family size, 60 cents; all dealers or Edmundson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

I. CHESTER BROWN 32 and 36 King Square, St. John, N. B.

Mr. Kelley - "You don't like Mr. Beckett, do you?" Witness - "You are going too far. I didn't come here to say what I thought of Beckett."

Robert King

Robert King, who was confined in the common jail during the month of March, was next called. He testified that during the time he served in the chain gang while working out at the Rock Candy Mine on the afternoon of March 22, McArthur, he said, was kept chained to a post. He was chained by Constable Boves under orders from Constable Beckett. McArthur was kept chained from 2.15 p.m. until 2 p.m. Witness here remarked that on one occasion Constable Beckett kept him (witness) out in the cold for about six hours without anything to eat. Beckett wanted to handcuff him on this occasion, but Constable Boves interfered. From 9 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, witness said, he was kept out in the rain and refused anything to eat. Witness had seen McArthur handcuffed to a post on two occasions. Besides himself and McArthur, witness never saw any of the other prisoners being chained. He heard McArthur complaining of being in ill health. He found the bedding in the jail filled with vermin. During his two months' confinement he never saw any of the bedding getting washed.

Examined by Mr. Mullin, witness said he only to Mr. Kelley, witness said he was serving in the chain gang at the time the prisoner was shot out at the cemetery gate. Witness denied "blowing" that he was going to make trouble on that occasion. The reason why he was disciplined by Beckett was because he had asked permission to go into the shanty and get warm.

James O'Brien

James O'Brien, a prisoner in the county jail, was next called. He testified that he was in the jail on the evening of March 22, when McArthur became seriously ill. He visited McArthur in his cell on that occasion and the latter complained of being did not know what the trouble was that led to McArthur's being chained to the post. McArthur had often accused Beckett of "picking" on him. Witness remembered seeing the father of McArthur in the jail when he came to visit his son. He told Mr. McArthur on that occasion that his son had been tied to a post. To Mr. Kelley witness said he had had trouble with Mr. Beckett. There was a feeling among the men that McArthur in being kept chained to a post was not being treated right. Witness considered that McArthur was the best worker in the gang. The prisoner never offered any resistance on being handcuffed. In answer to the witness said he was given four months for drunks and cursing, two months on each charge.

EXCELLENT COMPANY AT THE OPERA HOUSE Helen Grayce and Supporting Players Give Fine Presentation of When Knighthood Was in Flower.

Before a large and fashionable audience the Helen Grayce Company opened a two weeks' engagement in the Opera House last night. In spite of the inclemency of the weather, the house was packed and the company, which is entirely new to St. John theatre goers, was well received.

The role of Miss Tuder found an able exponent in Miss Helen Grayce who portrayed in the part was almost beyond criticism. The possession of a charming stage appearance coupled with a clear, musical voice. She also possesses much acting ability, and it may well be said that she is one of the best leading ladies that a St. John audience has had the privilege of seeing for some time.

Three Master Foundered Last Night on Voyage From New York Here With Coal Cargo—Schooner Uninsured, Cargo is Covered

During a heavy blow in the bay last night the three masted American schooner Manuel R. Cuza, Captain Gaston, foundered at Black Point, about ten miles from this city. The vessel was coal laden and bound from New York to St. John, N. B. The schooner sailed from here about March 6 with a cargo of plank and scantling for Elizabethtown, shipped by Alex. Watson. She left New York on April 17, with 425 tons of anthracite coal for the City Fuel Company here. On Sunday night in a thick fog she got close in on Black Point and was not more than 100 feet from shore when Captain Gaston realized his position. Anchors were lowered and the big schooner rode it out in her dangerous position. As the captain and crew feared for the worst, they left the vessel late on Sunday night, and a man was sent to the city yesterday about noon for assistance, but no tug could be then secured. Last night's wind however, kicked up a bad sea, and during the night the gun foundered. Peter McIntyre, of Main street, North End, is the agent of the vessel and from his office this morning it was learned that she would be a total loss, as there was no insurance. The value placed on her was between $1000 and $1500. The coal cargo, including the freight, would entail a loss, according to the City Fuel Co., of about $2500, which was covered by insurance. The vessel was built at Port Jefferson, N. Y., in 1875, and hails from Boston. She was of 225 tons.

He seemed to appreciate his arrest as a huge joke, even in the face of misfortune, for the smile he wore today was sufficient to bring another to the faces of those who saw it. He was remanded.

North End Grocer, Retiring After Thirty Years, Recalls Old Customs

A. S. Sprague, after having conducted a grocery business at the same stand in Main street for thirty years, has sold out to Messrs. Robinson. In company with the late John Southern, Mr. Sprague first started in business, and has been very successful. Speaking of the early days of his business experience yesterday, Mr. Sprague recalled the old-time customs, and contrasted them with the modern methods of selling goods, and particularly groceries. "In those days," said Mr. Sprague, "there was no such thing as receiving a call over the telephone, for such instructions were not to be found about the city, and it was an unusual occurrence for a delivery wagon to be used for the distributing of groceries in small orders. It was really the only vehicle employed by dealers, and then it was only large orders, or heavy goods, which were taken to the houses in this way. The grocers did the business just the same, however, and the people were content to carry home their own groceries." Mr. Sprague was about the first grocer in north end to institute the use of a light delivery wagon in addition to a sloven for the delivery of orders, although in the city proper at the time there were several such employed.

PAINTING IS PRESENTED TO THE ART CLUB

Latest From J. C. Miles' Brush Acquired by Subscription—Loan Exhibition on May 11

The executive of the St. John Art Club met last evening. There was a large attendance, the president, W. Shives Fisher, in the chair. The secretary, J. Clawson, reported that, having recently conceived the idea that it would be a very proper thing for the art club to hold a good specimen of the work of its honorary member, John C. Miles, he consulted on April 21 with T. H. Estabrook, in the absence of the president, and Mrs. Estabrook agreeing and cooperating heartily, he at once entered on the pleasant task, and had succeeded in getting nineteen gentlemen to give $10 each, four to give $5 each, and three $2 each, in all $230 for this purpose.

On behalf of these gentlemen he had purchased from Mr. Miles his latest oil painting entitled "A Passing Shower," Gaspereaux Lake and Douglas Mountain, and in their name now had pleasure in presenting it to the St. John Art Club to hold in trust for the public, with the understanding that it be exhibited from time to time and finally placed in an art gallery belonging to the city or the club, which it was hoped might be erected within a reasonable time.

Mr. Miles values the picture at $250, but sells it for the purpose stated for the sum of $230; Messrs. E. E. Holman & Co. framed it at the special price of $16, making in all $246, the amount collected.

The list of subscribers is given below. Mr. Clawson also said that he had insured this picture at a value of $250, and also the Estabrook picture, now in the Public Library, at a value of $300.

The executive agreed that the cost of this insurance be paid by the club.

On motion of J. R. Jack, seconded by Miss C. O. McGivern, it was resolved to accept this picture on the conditions stated, and to thank Mr. Clawson for his thoughtfulness and energy in the procuring of the objects for which the club exists.

A committee was appointed to obtain from citizens the loan of certain pictures to be exhibited at the club's convocation on the 11th instant, and for several following days, the pictures to be insured.

It is proposed to exhibit as many of the paintings of the late Mr. W. W. a famous St. John artist, as can be secured. Mr. Miles' new picture will also then be shown. Meanwhile it may be seen at the rooms of Messrs. Holman, King street.

Charles McGivern paid over to the treasurer $213.50, being proceeds of the entertainment and lectures during the season.
