GIVE THE CHILDREN PLENTY OF FRUIT

It Helps to Keep Them Well.

In a growing, active child the cells of which the body is composed are being worn out—and replaced—very rapidly. This wear and tear must be gotten rid of somehow, and the danger is that the eliminating organs—the bowels, kidneys and skin—may not do their work well enough. There the blood becomes poisoned and the child does not thrive.

Nothing has such an invigorating effect on these organs as ripe fruit juices. The difficulty is that to get these effects a great deal of fruit must be eaten, and the excess of pulp and woody matter may upset the delicate mechanism of the bowels; others stir up the glands of the skin to throw off more waste matter.

Fruit-Trimmed has promised to have the trouble solved. The whole animal is pressed into service, as in this instance, the pulp being so arranged on one side of the crown. The saws and brush are arranged to the back, with the end of the brush hanging over the brim. With these juicy fruit juices, indeed, with the inebriate has wrecked his life, squandered his sustenance, he may, if dangerous to himself or to the state, be sent to hospitals for the insane. And it is quite remarkable how many recover permanently after a course in the asylums.

Dr. Ryan believed, with many of the best authorities, that state institutions should be available for the treatment of inebriates. No cure could be consummated unless the victim were under absolute control. The patient must be separated from his former life temptations and associations, and treated scientifically and systematically.

In Ontario there is no machinery to which such a plan of treatment might be applied; there is no institution in this province for such a purpose. Private sanitariums and so-called hospitals for the insane are not available, and the patient so long as his financial condition makes it probable, but the state affords no protection to the individual or to the public against this common and most fatal epidemic doing its deadly work.

The time was opportune for a forward movement, he said in conclusion. It was the duty of the state to maintain institutions for the treatment of inebriates, and he duty of the medical profession to show the way.

Startling Conditions Which Exist in Ontario—Fifty Per Cent of All the Patients in Toronto Insane Hospital Are Foreigners and Most of Them Recent Arrivals—Alcoholism and Drugs Another Fruitful Cause of Insanity.

(Toronto Telegram)

"Fifty per cent of all the insane patients in the Toronto hospital for the insane at the present time are foreign born, and most of them recent arrivals. Sixty-five per cent of those afflicted with dementia praecox. If the people of the province have to care for these in addition to the provision that must be made for the care of the original class, we have a very serious problem. The present population of the asylum is 859."

This was the statement of Dr. C. K. Clarke, superintendent of the Toronto Hospital for the Insane at the Canadian Conference of Charities and Correction, which opened in the theatre of the Normal school this morning in connection with the paper on "Modern Hospital Methods for the Care of the Insane."

Dr. Clarke thought that while Ontario had done its noble work for the unfortunate class, there was a big field yet to be worked in the care of the acute cases.

Pathological investigation and provision for assisting in the prevention could not accomplish all that was really a necessity, and he urged the creation of a psychiatric department. A resolution to that effect was carried and the Ontario government will be memorialized to take some action.

Dr. Bruce Smith, the retiring president, said in part:

"During the past year over $3,000,000 was spent in the province of Ontario in the care of the defective, dependents and delinquents."

Canada is deplorably behind other countries in methods of dealing with prisoners, and seeking the reformation of first offenders. We may well ask ourselves the question, what prevents us having the legislation that will give a probation system, and the system of indeterminate sentences?

"For many years we have clung to the methods of penal administration that prevailed in older countries. The torture of the indeterminate sentence, while it encourages a first offender to reform, prevents society by preventing the discharge of the habitual offender."

"Indiscriminate relief-giving undoubtedly is a more potent factor in creating and perpetuating pauperism than anything else carried on in the name of charity. Every city and large town should have a charity organization society, and every applicant for aid should be referred thereto."

"A successful local organized charitable organization must have:

(1) An executive committee composed of some of the best and most influential people in the place.

(2) It must have an executive head, with training efficiency, business ability, patience, and an intense love for the work.

(3) It must insist on better care of our neglected children by parents and guardians.

(4) It must have a large number of friendly visitors who are not only a part of their daily lives for the personal benefit of those who need them.

Royston, through he had watched the transformation of rock and arid earth may a time with kindling eyes, small head to the dream-land of nature as he scanned the splendid prospect for sign of further attack by the Hadendowas. He found none, but he happened to note the furtive manner of some among the Arab escort who were hastening toward a small hollow enclosed by the Seven Hills.

Then he remembered why this solitary place had become a Golgotha. The hapless von Kerber was disinterred the treasure when the Hadendowas assault began. In all likelihood, had the free-booters ridden up in the first instance, the fight would have ended in less minutes than it had occupied hours. And those other ghoul, before they were driven off by a hail of lead, had learnt what store of wealth was buried there beneath the sand.

"Chaytor," said Royston, addressing one of the crew who had acted as quartermaster on board the yacht, "take three men and mount guard over any trench or other excavation you may find in the valley between those mounds. Let no Arab even approach the place. Use force if necessary, but try and avoid any shooting. I shall join you there before sundown."

"Ay, ay, sir," said Chaytor. He named three men, and the four hurried to their post. Holding the other two saloons help him Royston turned to carry out a disagreeable task. Von Kerber, Alfieri, and the rest may be buried while they were yet light. He meant to make a rough inventory of documents and letters found in the pockets of the Europeans. The Arabs would scoop shallow graves where the sand was deepest, and pile heavy stones over the bodies to protect them from jackals. Such was the simple economy of the desert. And it demanded haste.

But a distressing sight awaited him. Mrs. Haxton was kneeling by von Kerber's side, and weeping in a broken way. He went to her, and said, almost as a whisper:

"You can do no good by remaining here. Won't you go to the tent that is fixed in the oasis, and wait there until I join you? I shall not be long. You understand—"

She raised her streaming eyes, and he had never before seen such a grief-stricken face.

"Mr. Royston," she murmured dully, "let me pray yet a little while."

"Indeed I am very sorry for you," he said. "Yet I must urge you to go. We have not a moment to lose."

"To lose! What else can happen?"

"The night is coming. We cannot leave the bodies here. It would be too horrible."

"Ah," she sighed, "there is no horror to equal mine. I have the blood of three men on my soul."

She suffered him to lead her away. He tried to console her by throwing all the responsibility on the Italian. But he felt that this paled woman scarce believed to his words. He was almost glad to leave her alone with her mournful thoughts. In active work he could find distraction from the sad influences of this fatal treasure-hunt. There were still many things he did not comprehend, but he resolutely dismissed all self-questioning. Perhaps, when the first paroxysm of we had exhausted itself, Mrs. Haxton might explain; meanwhile, he must endeavor to hide the chief features of the tragedy ere Irene arrived.

When he moved Alfieri's body in order to examine his clothing, he saw that the man's coat was torn at the breast, the cloth having caught a jagged rock as its wearer fell from the saddle. Through this rent a pocketbook and some papers had slipped out. They were resting on a little sand drift at the base of the rock that had caused the damage. The pocketbook was open. Some of the sand had entered its compartments. And, in one of them were the papers. Leaves found in the tomb of Demetriades, the Greek, whose mortal eyes were the last that had gazed on the treasure of Shalala. In truth, here was one of the worst dramas, with its scenes divided by two thousand years, yet the parched desert was content to wait there placidly, in sure and certain knowledge that the curtain would rise again on that grim play, whether the years were ten or many between the acts. How little changed was the stage. But what of the actors? Did the modern troupe differ so greatly from the two-thousand-year-old cast—the men-chant in ivory and skins who quitted his quiet business at Alexandria to seek adventure and gold, the Romans who went to kill and plunder an inoffensive people, the Nubians who waylaid them, and left their bones to bleach? Assembled, looking at the dozen or more dead bodies stretched in a row at his feet, Royston deemed mankind as unchangeable as the desert.

At two o'clock, when the stars and a new moon were dimly lighting the circle of hills, an Arab vedette reported the approach of a large kafla from the west. Soon the jingle of accoutrements and the cries of camels who scented the oasis heralded the arrival of the main body. When Dick lifted a weary Irene from the saddle he made no pretense of shyness, but kissed her heartily.

Yet Dick's tidings caused grave faces in the small circle round the campfire. Mr. Fenshawe, as responsible leader of the expedition, felt the weight of this added burden of death. There was no gain-saying the fact that he had been dragged into an unlawful enterprise. He was in Italian territory against the will of the authorities, and though he had no control over the guerrillas of actual wrongdoing, it was exceedingly unfortunate that Alfieri had lived long enough to make a deposition. The treasure-seekers must now depend on the testimony of the wounded Hadendowas, four of whom had surrendered voluntarily, for the one great principle which the East had learned from the West is that Europeans usually show humanity to a disabled foe.

Dick, too, assured the millionaire that the Italian officer who accompanied Alfieri from Masowah warned the latter against any act of violence, and would have restrained him from undertaking an apparently needless search if the reasons received from Rome had not directed that "every assistance was to be given to Signor Giuseppe Alfieri."

There could be no manner of doubt that the Italian had begun an unprovoked attack on the smaller kafla. His only messengers were bullets, and the latter issued to the Hadendowas were decisive. The whole party was to be exterminated, with the exception of Mrs. Haxton, who was to be taken alive if possible. Again, there was direct evidence of his duplicity with regard to the meeting arranged for that morning. A friendly letter was found among his papers, so he had hurried from his camp on the Sulaiman Well route with the deliberate intention of wiping out the man who was his sworn enemy. Still, the affair wore an ugly look, and it tired though he, Mrs. Haxton had no thought of rest until the contradictory elements of a most perplexing business were sifted.

He was seated near the fire with Royston and Stump. Irene had gone to Mrs. Haxton the instant she heard Dick's tragic story.

"Has Mrs. Haxton thrown any light on 'feverish'?" Fenshawe asked. "I don't say she was completely broken down. Did you gather from her words that von Kerber brought her here knowing that this case was the place described by the Greek?"

"She did not even mention the treasure. Perhaps she could have induced her to speak, but—"

"You forbore. I am glad of it. Has any of the loot been discovered?"

"It was dark when I visited the trench von Kerber was cutting. Alfieri sent a volley at him, and stopped the work before much was done, but the Arabs knew that some leather wallets are visible. The men who were here this morning know that the contents are valuable, so I have stationed an armed guard there."

"I wish I could destroy every vestige of the cursed stuff. There is a curse on it."

Fenshawe's tone revealed how deeply he was moved.

GETTING AFTER A BIG CORPORATION

Montreal Light Heat and Power Company Fined for Obstructing the Street.

Montreal, Nov. 30.—(Special)—The Montreal Light, Heat & Power Company, which has a monopoly in lighting in and about Montreal was today fined $5 by Recorder Dupuis for obstructing the street with a pile of dirt. This action is part of the city's campaign to assert control over the streets. In the past corporations have taken their own time in clearing up debris made in putting down pipes or raising poles, or other works on the streets. Recently the city authorities advised the council that companies could be fined for such proceedings and consequently this action was instituted.

NEW PARIS SWINDLE

Architect Robbed Small Land-holders By Clever Business Trap.

Paris, Nov. 30.—The newest swindle, in which many Parisians and provincials have been caught, is that invented by an architect, who engaged two offices, one in Paris and one in a provincial town, where he offered to build cheap houses for owners of small plots of ground in the suburbs, which were to be paid for by instalments. The architect accepted anything from $200 up, the rest to be paid at different dates spread over a period as long as the customer chose to make it. The proposed houses were to be immediately built and exceedingly cheap. Any number of small land holders fell into the trap, and paid their first instalments, but the promised building of their houses was never begun. The architect, in nearly every instance, told his customers that their title was not clear or the ground too small, and simply pocketed the money. Some of the victims, however, lost patience, and lodged a complaint against him with the result that the crafty architect is now lodged in prison.

Rev. T. J. Deinstadt delivered an interesting address on Canadian immigration before the Epworth League of Queen Square church last night. The attendance was large. Rev. Mr. Deinstadt spoke of the growth of the movement of new settlers into Canada. He pointed out the needs of the country in that direction and the moral obligation all were under to see that the new comers were given every opportunity to become good citizens. The pastor, Rev. H. D. Marr, was in the chair.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT THE WINTER FAIR

Amherst Fair Opened Last Evening Promises to be Most Successful Yet Held.

Amherst, Nov. 30.—The eighth and what promises to be the most successful of all the winter fairs held in Amherst opened today. The town is filled with visitors from many points of the maritime provinces. The attendance today has beaten all opening records. The morning and afternoon was taken up with judging of beef cattle and sheep. At 6 o'clock the commissioners of the Maritime Stock Breeders Association entertained about 100 delegates at a banquet given by the Ladies' Hospital Aid Society, President Elderton presiding. At the table of honor were: Gov. Treadwell, of New Brunswick; Judge Langtry, of St. John, N.S.; W. B. Dickson, M. P. P., Principal Canning, of the Agricultural College, Truro. The toast was taken up with President Elderton, master of ceremonies. The speaker welcomed all the assembled guests, especially Governor Treadwell, who, despite his ill-health, was present at the fair. In response to toast excellent addresses were given by Governor Treadwell, E. M. MacDonald, Judge Langtry, Hon. J. S. Macdonald, and others. The public meeting was opened at 8 o'clock sharp with a brief address from President Elderton, who, when he arose to speak, made an excellent speech. He spoke relative to the increasing interest in agriculture and alluded to the forward step taken by the management in offering increased inducements to this line of exhibitors. Governor Treadwell spoke eloquently.

SKIN DISEASES.

A diseased or disfigured skin will always leave its stamp on the mind of the individual. Many people suffering from disfiguring skin diseases avoid society and lose all pride in their personal appearance. When the skin breaks out in eruptions and sores it is due entirely to an impure condition of the blood.

In all such cases Burdock Blood Bitters will quickly purify the blood and drive all the impurities out of the system.

Mrs. J. J. Magee, Jr., Kinnmount, N.S., writes: "I was troubled with Sores on my face and finally became so bad I had to go to the doctor about it, but he could do nothing to help me."

"I thought about Burdock Blood Bitters and decided to try a bottle. I cannot recommend B.B.B. enough, as I had not taken all the bottle before my face was cured."

WHY CARE SHOULD BE SHOWN IN PERMITTING IMMIGRANTS TO COME INTO THE DOMINION

Startling Conditions Which Exist in Ontario—Fifty Per Cent of All the Patients in Toronto Insane Hospital Are Foreigners and Most of Them Recent Arrivals—Alcoholism and Drugs Another Fruitful Cause of Insanity.

(Toronto Telegram)

"Fifty per cent of all the insane patients in the Toronto hospital for the insane at the present time are foreign born, and most of them recent arrivals. Sixty-five per cent of those afflicted with dementia praecox. If the people of the province have to care for these in addition to the provision that must be made for the care of the original class, we have a very serious problem. The present population of the asylum is 859."

This was the statement of Dr. C. K. Clarke, superintendent of the Toronto Hospital for the Insane at the Canadian Conference of Charities and Correction, which opened in the theatre of the Normal school this morning in connection with the paper on "Modern Hospital Methods for the Care of the Insane."

Dr. Clarke thought that while Ontario had done its noble work for the unfortunate class, there was a big field yet to be worked in the care of the acute cases.

Pathological investigation and provision for assisting in the prevention could not accomplish all that was really a necessity, and he urged the creation of a psychiatric department. A resolution to that effect was carried and the Ontario government will be memorialized to take some action.

Dr. Bruce Smith, the retiring president, said in part:

"During the past year over $3,000,000 was spent in the province of Ontario in the care of the defective, dependents and delinquents."

Canada is deplorably behind other countries in methods of dealing with prisoners, and seeking the reformation of first offenders. We may well ask ourselves the question, what prevents us having the legislation that will give a probation system, and the system of indeterminate sentences?

"For many years we have clung to the methods of penal administration that prevailed in older countries. The torture of the indeterminate sentence, while it encourages a first offender to reform, prevents society by preventing the discharge of the habitual offender."

"Indiscriminate relief-giving undoubtedly is a more potent factor in creating and perpetuating pauperism than anything else carried on in the name of charity. Every city and large town should have a charity organization society, and every applicant for aid should be referred thereto."

"A successful local organized charitable organization must have:

(1) An executive committee composed of some of the best and most influential people in the place.

(2) It must have an executive head, with training efficiency, business ability, patience, and an intense love for the work.

(3) It must insist on better care of our neglected children by parents and guardians.

(4) It must have a large number of friendly visitors who are not only a part of their daily lives for the personal benefit of those who need them.

COL. CLINCH'S TROOP

Somewhere below the Mason and Dixon line, but headed northward from their Old Kentucky Home toward Canada, are three thoroughbred stallions and fourteen thoroughbred mares, the property of the New Brunswick government.

But the forward event occurred. It came in the form of an embargo. Foot and mouth disease is prevalent in Uncle Sam's territory, and an unrelenting government at Ottawa headed off the gallant equerry and his gallant troop of equine wanderers.

Now what is to be done? In the days of the civil war, slaves from the south came to Canada by the "underground route."

It Premier Hazen frowns upon both of these alternatives, what is to be done? Can Col. Clinch—accomplished equestrian that he is—give exhibitions enough to pay for the keep of the animals until Ottawa relents and permits them to leave American territory?

The above quotation, from the Toronto News, is of interest and value to all Canada. It indicates the introduction into this country of a new and novel system of dealing with prisoners who are now kept in the common jails.

WARD PROHIBITION It was decided last evening to carry the campaign for prohibition into three more wards in this city, making four in all.

The result of this contest will be a fair evidence of public sentiment. There has been for a year or so a continuous discussion of the question, and temperance speakers have asserted that if voters were taken their views would prevail.

A FORWARD STEP Indeterminate sentences. A reformatory for first offenders. Jail farms.

These were some of the conclusions reached at the sessions of the Canadian Conference on Charities and Correction as a result of addresses that were in the main brilliant and suggestive.

FOUR WARDS WILL TRY TO BANISH THE SALOON

Lorne, Lansdowne and Victoria Will Join Dukes Ward in the Fight for Ward Prohibition.

Three more of the city wards decided Monday to enter the campaign for the local veto inaugurated in Dukes ward.

The fight for ward prohibition will be carried into Victoria ward. At a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting in the Tabernacle Hall last evening, more than twenty volunteers were secured to circulate petitions for signature in that ward.

The Sydney meeting held in Carmarthen street church, was well attended. It was decided, however, that it would be inadvisable at the present time to start the campaign in the ward.

HOW MRS. CLARK FOUND RELIEF After Years of Suffering Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Her.

Pleasant Point Matron Tells Her Suffering Sisters How to be Free From the Terrible Pains that Make Life a Burden.

Pleasant Point, Ont., Nov. 30 (Special)—That most of the ills that the suffering women of Canada have to bear are due to disordered kidneys, and that the natural cure for them is Dodd's Kidney Pills, is once more shown in the case of Mrs. Merrill C. Clarke, a well-known resident of this place and a prominent member of the Salvation Army.

Every suffering woman should use Dodd's Kidney Pills. They make strong healthy kidneys, and the woman who has good kidneys is safeguarded against those terrible pains that make miserable the lives of so many women.

AMERICAN CATTLE WILL NOT BE SHIPPED THROUGH ST. JOHN
C. P. R. Decides Not to Take Any Chances With the English Market—Canadian Cattle Only Will be Handled.

Montreal, Nov. 30.—The effect of the embargo declared against cattle from the United States entering Canada from the states of New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Delaware, Maryland and New Jersey on the export cattle trade from the port of St. John, will be that shipments of United States cattle from that port during the present winter will be impossible.

The embargo, as it stands at present, shuts off all cattle from the United States with the exception of those from the New England states, from which the exports are practically nil.

It is understood that it will be impossible for western ranch cattle to reach St. John via Winnipeg, as the C. P. R. has come to the conclusion that any attempt to secure traffic via this route might lead to difficulties in Great Britain which would have the effect of shutting North-west cattle out of that country and thus nullify the Canadian export trade from the Northwest. Any cattle shipments from St. John this winter will, therefore, be entirely Canadian. In regard to dead meats, the department has decided to allow them to pass through Canada from low than to pass through Canada from United States points subject to certain regulations.

ONONETTE COTTAGE BURNED LAST NIGHT
Summer House Owned by J. A. Likely Reduced to Ashes Last Evening.

One of Joseph A. Likely's two summer cottages at Ononette, on the C. P. R., a few miles from the city, was totally destroyed by fire Monday night. It is understood there is some insurance on the building. The contents, which were the property of H. G. Weeks, manager of the Lake of the Woods Milling Company, were lost in the flames. They were not insured.

Mr. Weeks, who occupied the cottage last summer, spent Sunday last there with some friends but he said last night that on leaving yesterday no fire was left behind. Unless the blaze was started by the burning of brush in clearing up the grove, which had been going on, he could not account for the start of the fire.

MONCTON NEWS
Improved Water Supply Will Cost Much Money—New Pumping Station to be Built at Once.

Moncton, N. B., Nov. 30.—At a meeting of the city water and light department committee tonight, a report was submitted showing that the department in the near future would find it necessary to issue new bonds to amount to $200,000 to retire maturing bonds, wipe out $40,000 overdraft and provide for proposed new work.

The committee are preparing to install an additional pumping plant to comply with the insurance underwriters' request, and have an electrical pump under consideration.

An important report on Moncton's future water supply, prepared by the city engineer, was submitted. A second reservoir, it was stated, will be necessary in the near future, the cost being estimated at $200,000. The project was considered too large to grapple with at present.

WINTER PORT MATTERS
The C. P. R. steamer Lake Erie, which was expected in port Sunday or Monday, will not be in until this afternoon.

The steamer was 105 miles east of Cape Sable at 12:35 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The first winter port cargo, which went forward by the Furness line steamship Almeria, for Glasgow, was valued at $17,000. Among her cargo were 2,350 cases of canned apples.

Manifests for 30 cars of United States goods were received at the customs house yesterday.

Furness steamship Rappahannock, Capt. Buckingham, sailed from St. John on Sunday for London via Halifax.

WHY AM I ILL? HOW TO TELL.
Does every cold affect your back, and cause a feeling of chilliness, followed by disturbance of the kidney action. Does the use of spirits, tea or beer excite the kidneys? Are you easily worried and annoyed over trifles? Do the feet and legs swell? Is there puffiness under the eyes? Do you have rheumatism, poor eyesight, headaches and backaches? Is there gravel or any unusual action of the kidneys?

If you have any of the above symptoms your kidneys are either weak or diseased, and these symptoms are warnings of more serious troubles to follow. Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Dropsy.

Whatever you do, whatever you think your disease is, look well to your kidneys as the first sign of anything wrong. Give them just the aid they require in Doan's Kidney Pills, the Great Quaker Kidney Pills. Doan's Kidney Pills are sold at all drug stores, and see how well and fit you feel after even a few doses.

Mrs. O. Warren, Radisson, Sask., writes: "I was troubled with very severe pains in my back for years. I tried everything I could think of but they did me no good. A friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills. I bought a box and after taking two boxes, I have not been troubled since."

Price 50 cents per box, or 2 boxes for $1.00. For all dealers or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto.

In ordering specify "Doan's."

HALIFAX BUSINESS MEN GOT AN EXTRA TEN PER CENT FOR MARINE DEPARTMENT GOODS

W. G. Robertson, of Big Hardware Firm, Who Did $55,000 Worth of Business With Marine and Fisheries Department in Three Years Admits That Department Was Charged Ten Per Cent More Than Ordinary Retail Prices.

Halifax, Nov. 30.—The Casella inquiry developed one striking fact this morning. This was the payment of fees to Captain Peter Johnson, then master of the government steamer Lady Laurier. Johnson says these payments were legitimate and that the government knew about them.

In the afternoon it was shown that two firms supplying hardware to the department of marine made a practice of charging ten per cent above the ordinary retail prices. These firms were William Robertson & Son and A. Melvin & Co.

Mr. Robertson said he never gave a bribe to officials. Melvin's books showed unpaid accounts due by G. R. MacNamara, the dockyard storekeeper, payment of which had never been asked and never received.

O. C. Longard, of Longard Bros., was asked to explain entries on their books showing long overdue accounts of Jonathan Parsons, agent of the marine department. One item of $200 had been unpaid since 1904 and yet Longard Bros. had done further work for him. Mr. Longard said he had been against his advice and he could not explain it.

A Big Account.
W. G. Robertson, of William Robertson & Son, hardware merchants, was the first witness called in the afternoon.

"We find that the sales by you to the department during three years amounted to $55,000, so that the marine and fisheries departments are buyers of very large customer," said Mr. Watson.

"Correct."

"Is there any other customer that purchases as large an amount?"

"There is not."

"What class of goods do you sell?"

"All classes of hardware and ships chandlery."

"There has been no written contract for these goods?"

"No."

"Have you any knowledge of any other tendering for orders?"

"There must have been but I don't know. About one-third went without tender at all."

"Upon the whole, the goods sold by your firm to the department have been disposed of to the department at about ten per cent above the ordinary retail prices?"

"I will not deny this."

"Will you deny that fifteen per cent?"

"I will deny that."

"Do you think this calls for any explanation from you?"

"I have no explanation to make."

"Were these prices fixed beforehand?"

"No, with whom?"

"They were never fixed with anybody."

"To whom were the accounts sent?"

"To the agency here, and we received a check from the agent in Ottawa."

Charged Government More.
When you charged the extra price to the government were you selling to the government?"

"That is about what it comes to."

"You give three months credit?"

"Yes."

"And on an average the government pays his bills within three months. How can you account for the agent, Mr. Parsons, passing your accounts at these excessive prices?"

"I have no account for it. I have not seen Mr. Parsons a dozen times in twelve months."

"When did this excessive scale of prices begin?"

"I have no idea."

"It's a part of the system?"

"I don't acknowledge any system."

"Why has been managing the department here?"

"Mr. Tremaine, the accountant, as much as anyone, so far as I could learn."

"Now let me understand—the members recommended certain names for the patronage list. Your name was on many years ago?"

"I believe so. Our orders come for the most part because we were on the patronage list. Occasionally for special orders we went to the members, Roche and Carney, for their influence."

"What would they do?"

"I don't know. Sometimes we got the order and sometimes not."

"Did you communicate to the members the prices you were charging?"

"We did not. The direction of the placing of the orders only was with the members. They said who would get them."

"Then I understand that if you wanted an order you would go to one of the members?"

"That occurred sometimes, but it was the exception."

"Is it a fact that practically for the past eight or ten years the agent, Mr. Parsons, has not been in it?"

"I would say, no."

"Is it not a fact that so far as giving orders was concerned, Mr. Parsons was not in it?"

"We have not been in contact with him."

"What discretion has been exercised by Mr. Tremaine in the giving of orders?"

"I do not know of any."

"I know of none on his part."

"What do you do with the extra profits you make out of the government?"

"I keep them."

"The officials never get a dollar of it."

"You know that Agent Parsons signed a certificate that the goods delivered were at a fair and honest price?"

"If you had been, would you have sold the goods to the government at the advanced price you mention?"

"Mr. Watson did not press for an answer to this question."

No Official Got a Dollar.
Mr. Robertson repeated the statement that no one in the department got a dollar directly or indirectly as a result of the department's orders.

"You are under considerable compulsion for the orders you get. Is there any compensation to any one for this?"

"None whatever."

"What other information can you give here in respect to other matters that might have been the subject of comment in respect to other transactions with the department within the department in four years?"

"I have no knowledge."

"I would like you to think it over. Some of your accounts are certified by C. Thompson Schmidt. Can you tell me if he is now engaged in the department?"

"I do not know."

"I see a great many accounts certified by him. Has he seen any present on that account? I think in my life."

"I did not."

"Did you ever offer a present to anyone?"

"I did not."

"I have never been solicited?"

"I have not."

"Judge Parnell—in regard to goods sold to the government at wholesale prices, did you charge ten per cent?"

IMPORTANT TO PIANO BUYERS

Certain piano manufacturers whose pianos appear not to be as saleable as some others, are in the habit of employing high-priced salesmen to go around and help the dealers retail their pianos. Their claim is, "I am direct from the factory." The impression sought to be conveyed, if not directly stated, is that the purchaser would do better in ordering from them. We know for a fact that these travellers get a better price than the local dealers. We have known cases where the customer was charged $100 more for an upright piano than a fair market price. It is quite evident that as the traveller's salary and hotel bills are to be paid, as well as the local dealer's profit, it adds to the cost of the piano to the purchaser.

WHY THE DOBSON CASE WAS SETTLED

Recorder Informed Safety Board Last Night That Mr. Dobson's Arrest Was Illegal—Chf of Clark Heard.

At the regular meeting of the safety board last evening a report from the recorder to the effect that, owing to the discovery that the arrest was illegal, the city had suffered a loss of $125 and costs in the Dobson case, was referred to the council. Ald. Vanwart occupied the chair and Ald. Spruell, Hann, Elkin, Holder, Scully, Frank, Kelley and Baskin were present with Chief Clark, Chief Kerr and the common clerk.

A request from the Carleton Cornet Band for a key of the Carleton City Hall, so that access could be had to the band room, was granted. The chairman was asked to refer to the matter of providing a separate entrance for the band.

Chief Kerr said Mr. Brown was "thoroughly incapable as a fireman and absolutely incompetent as a fireman." He had taken the step in the interests of the department.

It was decided to take no action on Mr. Brown's communication and that the fire alarm, had been seriously ill since last Monday. He had arranged for C. W. Pierce, engineer of No. 4, to do duty in Mr. Green's place. He also reported that H. B. Alford, driver of No. 1, was ill and that his place was being supplied.

The communication from the recorder on the Dobson case and that there followed, he reported, had been decided on because on investigation it was found that without warrant and that there was no power to make the arrest.

Chief Clark said that, on going through the statistics he found the law had been repealed. He hoped he might be pardoned for the error made, especially as the lawyers did not know the law had been repealed until he told them. He was sure the magistrate had no knowledge regarding this particular law and Mr. Henderson had informed him that he was also ignorant of it.

Chief Clark said he understood the costs would not amount to more than $20 or $25. Ald. Baxter, who was associated with the recorder, had given his services free and he appreciated the fact.

It was decided to refer the matter to the council.

Chief Clark intimated that he personally would not be able to pay the judgment and that he had a hard time, he said.

To make good meet as it was.

Renewal warrants were recommended to Miss Mary Ann Hale for a lot in Elliott row, to Wellington Ward for a lot in Brooks ward, and to Miss Elizabeth Elliot and others for a lot in Prince ward.

Ald. Kelley complained that many of the city lots could not be found, and moved that when the new plans were available a descriptive booklet should be issued under the supervision of the director. The motion was carried.

HOWE'S DEATH WAS DUE TO FOUL PLAY

Coroner's Jury So Decided After Hearing More Evidence Last Night.

The coroner's jury last night returned a verdict that Harry Howe's death was caused by foul play. Five witnesses were examined at the inquest last night. Harry Howe, 34, was found dead in the back seat of a car on the tracks when going to work.

Chief Clerk said that, on going through the statistics he found the law had been repealed. He hoped he might be pardoned for the error made, especially as the lawyers did not know the law had been repealed until he told them. DYKEMAN'S A Handkerchief Event

OVER 3,000 HANDKERCHIEFS have been purchased at less than half their regular price and are now placed on sale before the regular Xmas rush in order that they might not interfere with the sale of our regular stock.

They are mostly all manufacturers' samples, but many of them are regular stock. These handkerchiefs are so cheap that we have decided not to sell them singly, but to bunch them in 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 in a bunch and mark them by the bunch at almost the price of a single handkerchief.

There are LADIES' HANDKERCHIEFS of every description from the finest plain white linen to the cheapest cotton lawn. The ladies' handkerchiefs run as low as 4 FOR 10 CENTS and the better ones are THREE IN A BUNCH FOR 25 CENTS, handkerchiefs that are worth 25 cents each.

CHILDREN'S HANDKERCHIEFS, FOUR OR FIVE IN A BUNCH, FOR TEN CENTS. From this price up to 25 cents for a half dozen in a bunch.

SWEETENED WHISKEY WENT TO HIS HEAD

William Smith, accused of the theft of two watches and a pair of trousers from William Ingraham, last Thursday, was committed for trial by Judge Ritchie this morning, after the preliminary examination had been concluded.

Ingraham, the complainant, testified that on Thursday afternoon Smith was replacing windows in the apartments of witness. Both were examining two watches of his which were in a receptacle lying on the bed. Ingraham retired from the bedroom where Smith was employed, and when he returned he found the whiskey which Smith had procured on behalf of the witness in a neighboring room. His recollection of events that transpired was very hazy and he attributed the lapses of memory to the sugar that he secured in the kitchen, after procuring it, he remembered Smith.

He did not miss the watches until night, when he was unable to find them. He conferred with Detective Killen, and as he expressed it, secured "a warrant" for Smith's arrest, which elicited the favorable comment from his honor, "you got one of those stolen warrants, did you, one of those that work quickly."

He said he was neither intoxicated or sober on the night previous to the alleged theft. He missed an overcoat and the trousers at that time when he was returning into his present abode. On Thursday night he ejected Smith from the premises for misbehavior.

The silver watch was a gift from a dear friend. He has not recovered that yet. It is an open-face timepiece, with Elgin movement. He was confused in the dates and most of his queries were irrelevant.

Detective Killen, in his testimony, stated that in consequence of information received, he arrested Smith in a shoe shining shop on Dock street, and a subsequent search revealed the cheap watch.

Smith was thereupon committed for trial in January.

It is understood that a petition is in circulation and will be forwarded to the council asking that both the Leifvick and the Western Extension be used for the conveyance of teams across the harbor during the hours of the day. The repairs and repainting on the Leifvick are about completed and it is expected that the big boat will be placed on the route in about a week's time.
