THE OLD MAN AND JIM.

Old man never had much to say,

"Ceptin' to Jim,"

And Jim was the wildest boy he had—

Never heard him speak but once

In his life, and that first time was

When the army broke out, and Jim he went.

The old man backin' him, for three months

And all 't' he heard the old man say

Was, "Jes as we turned to start away,"

"Well; good-bye, Jim;

Take keer of yourself!"

"Pears-like, he was more satisfied

Jes' lookin' at Jim

And likin' him all to pieces 'fike, see!"

"Cause he was jes' wrapped up in him!"

And over and over 't' mind the day

The old man came and stood round the way

While he was drillin', a watchin' Jim—

And down at the deopot a-cherin' him say—

"Well; good-bye, Jim;

Take keer of yourself!"

Never was nothin' about the farm

Distinguishin' Jim—

Neighbors all not to wonder why

The old man 'peared wrapped up in him;

But when Capt. Biggles, he writ back

"As Jim was the lawest boy he had"

In the whole dern regiment, white or black,

And his fightin' good as his farmin' bad—

"At he had led, with a bullet clean

Bored through his thigh, and carried the flag

Through the bloodiest battle you ever seen—"

The old man wound up a letter to him

"At Cap. read to us, 'at said," "Tell Jim

Good-bye,"

And take keer of him!"

Jim come back 't' long enough

To take the whin'.

"At he'd like to go back in calvary—"

And the old man jes' wrapped up in him!"

"Jim 'lowed 'at he'd had sick luck afore,

Guess he'd tackle her three years more.

And the old man give him a colt he'd raised

And sent him over to camp Ben Wade,

And laid around for a week or so

Watchin' Jim on dress-parade—

Til finally he rid away,

And last he heard was the old man say—

"Well; good-bye, Jim;

Take keer of yourself!"

Think of a private, now, perhaps,

"At he'd clean up to the shoulder-strap—"

And the old man jes' wrapped up in him!

"At he'd had 't' look for years and years—"

And the old man jes' wrapped up in him!

"At he'd had 't' look for years and years—"

And the old man jes' wrapped up in him!

"At he'd had 't' look for years and years—"

And the old man jes' wrapped up in him!

"At he'd had 't' look for years and years—"

And the old man jes' wrapped up in him!

"At he'd had 't' look for years and years—"

And the old man jes' wrapped up in him!

"At he'd had 't' look for years and years—"

And the old man jes' wrapped up in him!

"At he'd had 't' look for years and years—"

And the old man jes' wrapped up in him!

"At he'd had 't' look for years and years—"

And the old man jes' wrapped up in him!

"At he'd had 't' look for years and years—"

And the old man jes' wrapped up in him!

"At he'd had 't' look for years and years—"

And the old man jes' wrapped up in him!

"At he'd had 't' look for years and years—"

And the old man jes' wrapped up in him!

Our party crept quietly into a seat,

and, looking about, discerned through the half-light a few supplicants bowing motionless in prayer in the remote parts of the church. An old negro, trembling and prone, with labor-worn hands devoutly folded, crouched before the altar;

near her a pale-faced lady bent low at the same shrine; half way down the aisle were praying two little creole girls with pretty oval faces, lighted with deep dark eyes.

As I gazed, the busy, bustling world without fell from me, and the shadow of the just folded me as a veil. Far away a sound arose and died verily; some one whispered, it is the choir. Again the wind note breathed above us, and sank away as a dewdrop sinks into the heart of a white rose.

Across the silence came a footstep, and the old negro, clasping the benches for support as she went, tottered past; the pale-faced mourner followed, bearing her unseen cross with a meeker strength, and then the pretty creoles tripped down the aisle and out into the sunlight, and we were left alone.

Let us go, too, I said; this weird old cathedral is haunted! I am sure it is, drawing a free breath as we stepped in to the open air, I feel as though I had seen all the ghosts of the Montalbas.

Do let us visit something of flesh and blood—something we can touch and know to be alive, I cried. Our companion, musing for a moment, said:

I have it! We will visit Margaret!

Who is Margaret? I queried.

A wonderful woman, the very sight of whom will make you better and wiser and happier!

Allons, then, for I have much greater faith in Herbert Spencer than in Calvin!

I believe in happiness as a moral agent much more than I do in misery. But who is this princess, queen or goddess?

She is none of these, only an Irish woman. Shall I tell you her history on the way?

If you please, I assented.

About thirty years ago, began my companion, Margaret was a poor young widow, maintaining herself by selling the milk of one cow. Trundling her cart away about she often discovered in the by-ways desolate little children. Her purse was empty of money, but her heart was filled with pity, and these motherless ones crept unawares beneath the wings of her love.

So Margaret gathered, one after another, seventeen waifs, and gave them shelter.

As she went on her daily rounds she asked for broken food, and cast-off clothes.

She prospered, and presently was the owner of several milk cows—

About twenty-five years ago, she sold these and bought an old shanty where she started a bakery. As we shall soon be there, I will reserve the rest until we reach our destination.

Walking a few squares farther, we halted before a large business house.

Glancing up, I read the sign, Margaret's Bakery. Several delivery wagons were waiting at the open doors. As we entered, an elevator piled with boxes of wreath in this city so vile that he would not lend a helping hand where she to neel it. She is the noblest woman I have ever known, he added reverently.

After making the tour of the building, and testing the hot crisp crackers, as they were swept from the revolving wire bak-room, but as the eye wandered around it could not but look with pleasure upon the Christmas tree upon which hung the prizes, with Christmas cards and confetti for all the pupils, showing that the teacher had not forgotten the little folk on this occasion. At the close the pupils passed a vote of thanks to the teacher for her kindness to them during the term and for remembering them so thoughtfully on that day. I think the trustees deserve credit for obtaining the services of so competent and painstaking a teacher.

A FEMALE VISITOR.

St. John Letter.

St. John, January 9, 1888.
The beginning of 1888 will, I believe, see the beginning of a boom in St. John. This conclusion is not hasty, but the result of a long and intimate acquaintance with the business people and affairs of the city. For the last year or more any observant person who moved daily along our public streets and took an interest in the present and future prospects of the city and people could not help noticing that citizens were disheartened and despondent. And when the great financial blow of some months ago and successive heavy failures of large business houses are remembered no one can deny that they had good reasons for taking a gloomy view of the city's future. The financial funeral of the spring and the gloomy mourning of summer were followed in the fall by a cheerful resignation which, I am glad to say, has now given way to renewed hope and renewed interest in every day affairs. Men do not stalk along the streets wearing that weary look of perplexity, the numerous owners of corrugated brows have disappeared and the white ruin prophet's absence from the street corner may be accounted for by his presence in the coal hole. Everything appears brighter. The men and women of St. John wear a happier look, and a pleasant smile is the rule, the gloomy scowl the exception. Wholesale merchants inform me that their trade is better than it was and retail dealers declare that the people consume more food, fuel and clothing every day. Every body has a better idea of his own and his neighbor's progress and prospects and all the talk I hear convinces me that the people think St. John is over the crisis; that she is going ahead and bound to come out on top. The tendency of the minds of the people has a great influence upon the condition of their affairs. If the people only think they are progressing the chances are ten to one that they will progress. Just in this connection let me refer to the grand encouraging work being done by the Trade Promoting and Forwarding Association, which, composed of some of the largest merchants, the ablest lawyers and most successful manufacturers in our community, has resolved to place St. John in the front rank of Canadian cities and make her, what she has long been called, the Liverpool of America.

I might name some dozen new firms which have sprung up and are doing business on a sound financial basis. Among them let me mention one of recent date, Mr. Alfred Morrissey, 104 King Street, who was for 15 years the leading man in the best book store in the city. Full of energy, ambition and ability and backed by plenty of capital and books of friends he has in the short time he has been established gained a foothold which in years has not been won by some of his competitors. But his success is but one instance in a score. He has arranged a magnificent stock with such taste that his store is closed with the handsome fronts on the street. It is an advantage for people living outside of the commercial centre to know some thoroughly reliable man through whom they can order what books and papers they want. Mr. Morrissey has made a specialty of this department and he informs me that filling his orders from correspondents is a part of his most arduous work. It must be done carefully and it is always done well and correctly. May be and the other young fellows who have started business in this leap year of 1888 be woe and won by success!

What a lack of harmony there is among us! Even our ministers are bickering. For example Rev. Canon Brigstocke of Trinity and Rev. Father Davenport of the Mission Church differed widely upon certain matters, and when the Rev. Father was asked to lend his magnificent tenor to make the rendition of the Messiah in Trinity Church a success, he consented upon the condition that the dignity of an invitation should be extended to him by Trinity's rector. He received the following note from that dignitary:—"It will be agreeable to me if you will attend at Trinity Church, Wednesday evening and sing if you so desire." This exceedingly kind and Christian invitation was of course declined by Father Davenport and the result was that the tenor solos of the Messiah were not taken and a bitter feeling was engendered between the rector and congregation of Trinity and the priest and his followers in the Mission Church.

Then again a shining light in the Presbyterian Church only a short time ago committed the unpardonable crime of dropping in at the Athletic grounds when returning from a funeral and watching a game of base ball. The proper Elders of the Church were shocked and some of them went so far as to ask an explanation of such conduct.

At the recent season of joy nearly every church choir sang special music and in a leading Presbyterian edifice an anthem was sung for the first time. No sooner was the choir fairly started when an aged and respected elder rose slowly from his seat and walked deliberately out of church. His nerves were affected.

Commend me to the policy of the manager of the New Brunswick Railway who, when he found that it was for the Company's present convenience and the employees ultimate good that there should be a reduction in the running expenses for the two months of January and February, sent a letter to each man asking him if he would consent to a reduction of ten per cent for two months. I believe that an unanimous affirmative was the answer. It is better to receive such information in the shape of a request from the manager than from an unexpected shortage at the end of the month.

A subject of Berry Wall, the King of the Ducks, furnished a request that he be admitted to the ranks of the Foresters a short time ago. He paid the necessary dues and had passed the questioning ordeal of the committee in the outer chamber where he was left alone while they reported his fitness in the inner circle. While there alone his imagination ran away with him and when the committee returned he was Non Est. Concocted. And now he wags his initiation fee returned.

General Intelligence.

NEWS FROM EVERYWHERE.

Cholera is raging at Valparaiso; 130 cases daily, 80 to 90 fatal.

Hundreds of thousands of lives have been lost in China by the overflow of the Hoang Ho river and millions are starving. One-third of the garden of China is now a vast lake.

During the month of September, 2,607, 723 rabbits were killed in New South Wales, and the pest is increasing. In South Australia a disease which has attacked the rabbits is killing them off in great numbers.

LONDON, Jan. 3.—The snow storm on the continent continues. Several railways are now blocked, compelling a stoppage of all traffic. At Bruen eight gypsies were found frozen to death, and at Vienna several women perished from the cold.

This has so far been one of the severest winters on record in Vienna. Cases of death from the effects of exposure are reported daily. The water supply is beginning to fail. The ice on the Danube has reached Vienna. Platten Sea is frozen over for the first time in many years.

The brig, J. L. B. from Gaspe for Lisbon with fish, wrecked off the shore at Cape Bald, 15 miles below Shediac, was sold on Thursday, by auctioneer Deacon. The vessel was bid in by H. S. Bell for $900, the cargo 3,750 qts. codfish, being sold in lots at from 73 cents to $1.00 and eventually becoming the property of C. M. Bostwick & Co., St. John.

Allan line checkers have been removed from Portland, Me., to Halifax, both Allan and Dominion lines landing all Canadian freight at Halifax. The Circassian was on Wednesday landing 1,700 tons for the Upper Provinces. The Vancouver landed 2,000 tons last week. The Intercolonial will have all it can do to handle the through freight this winter. There were seven Allan steamers at Halifax on Monday.

Replying to an address at the Vatican yesterday, the Pope said his soul was deeply moved by the manifestations of love and veneration that were reaching him from all the parts of the world. He regarded them as evidence of the power of the papacy, which the enemies of the church vainly endeavored to deny. The shape taken by the sovereigns of the world in the jubilee proved that they justly appreciated the importance of the papacy. He inspected the great array of presents, being followed by 48 cardinals and the whole pontifical court.

MONTREAL, Jan. 3.—The Canadian Pacific has received intelligence of a disastrous railway accident on the C. P. R. a few miles west of White River on the north shore of Lake Superior. Two freight trains, running on a trestle work 90 feet high. Both trains fell from the track into the abyss below and the two engineers, two firemen and two brakemen were instantly killed. All the other hands were seriously injured.

It is now known definitely that the vessel wrecked near Waterford, Ireland, Wednesday, was the American ship Alfred D. Snow, Capt. Wiley, which left San Francisco Aug. 31 for Liverpool. The ship was lost in Herrylock Bay, off Athurtown, at the entrance to Waterford harbor. The bodies of the captain and one of the crew have been recovered. There is no doubt that every member of the crew perished. The ship's papers have been recovered.

Now that the Baie de Chaleur Railroad is fairly started and in all probability will reach Paspébe in about one year's time, let me remind the inhabitants of the County of Gaspe that the time has arrived when they should begin to work the matter up by having petitions signed throughout the County requesting the extension to Gaspe Basin, the only suitable place for the terminus of that railroad. Meantime urge Mr. Jones to do his utmost in this matter, which I have no doubt he is ready to do. I'm not wish to speak against Paspébe as a terminus or as a winter port. Meantime I know quite well that the only chance for that railroad to pay 100 cents on the dollar is to extend at once to Gaspe, thus opening up a large portion of land which is now inaccessible, also by utilizing Gaspe as a port at which ocean vessels might land their mails, passengers and freight and re-ship the same. I have spoken to parties on this subject and while all are anxious to get a railroad, a number think that it had better wait until this is completed to Paspébe and then ask for its extension. This I believe to be a mistake, and the people of Gaspe Basin at least ought to see the necessity of an immediate step in that direction. To say there is nothing to fear a road here, especially in winter, is another mistake, because the amount of business such a project would work up for itself cannot be summed up at present, besides that which the slowest going man can now see and calculate upon. Therefore, I trust that some action will be taken by our influential men of the County to press the matter forward to enable our young men to remain at home if nothing else, unless they can induce an extra number of codfish to visit the shore.

J. J. ANNETT.

SKATED TO HIS DEATH.

HALIFAX, Jan. 8.—On Saturday afternoon, city tax collector W. Clarence Hamilton went by train to Windsor Junction to skate back on the Dartmouth chain of lakes. He was alone and as it was late, he is supposed to have taken a middle course, where the current made the ice on the upper lake very thin. Not returning last night search parties were out everywhere to-day and found skate marks as if a skater, not feeling safe, had been feeling his way cautiously. Near by was a hole and the supposition is that he has fallen in there. There was a squall of snow about six o'clock and this would make it difficult to see his way. A man living on the eastern shore heard cries of help about that time. The sad end of Hamilton, who was 37 years, is regretted by everyone and nothing else is spoken of. He was a good official, a shrewd business man, and will be much missed.

Newcastle, Dec. 19th, 1887.

42 YEARS.

South West Boom Co.

Steadfastly for forty-two years the WEEKLY

Witness has held to principles which have stood the tests of time, ridicule, and opposition, fair and unfair, and the WITNESS to-day speaks to sixty years in 1846 it spoke to one.

Its growth has been both rapid and steady.

Its publishers, clearing of still further increasing its circulation, have this year gone to large expenses to secure a reproduction of THE LATEST MASTERPIECE of Davidson Knowles, (who was selected by Queen Victoria to paint the scene at Prince's Palace wedding), entitled

Summon the Little Children to come unto Me.

It depicts the memorable scene with startling realism, reproducing in oils all the richness of ORIENTAL COLORING. The picture, executed by the greatest art firm in England, would bring $1,200 if sold, but is reserved

EXCLUSIVELY FOR SUBSCRIBERS TO THE WITNESS.

The price of the WEEKLY WITNESS and picture is $1.25; the paper alone $1.00.

In 1860 the DAILY WITNESS was launched, and, like the WEEKLY, to advocate the same principles regardless of cost. The picture of "Summon the Little Children to Come Unto Me," and the DAILY WITNESS, $3.25 a year; the paper alone, $3.00.

The WEEKLY WITNESS still continues to be the favorite in the home circle and Sabbatth School, and commencing with January let with new type, finer paper and other improvements, will be more attractive than ever.

Prizes of books are given to friends who can-
