Lord Rosebery, like the Duke of Devonshire, has retired to the continent, and nothing more can be said about the Liberal situation. The government, while stale, has sufficient vitality for the effort of producing complex measures, which can be debated for a season and quietly dropped. Talk about cabinet reconstruction has died out. No cabinet changes are probable this year. Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Balfour are

He had succeeded in living down the prejudice excited by the Jameson raid, and despite his secret connection with the earlier stages of that intrigue against the Boer republics he was not unpopular with the Dutch in the colony. would inevitably have returned to power if he had lived to witness the close of the war, and his influence would have been strongly exerted in race reconciliation. Mr. Rhodes shared with Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Barton the distinction of being a great imperialist among colonial statesmen. He was badly advised by his brother at Johannesburg before the Jameson raid, and was misled by Dr. Jameson himself, who had been infatuated with the story of Clive in India. By the marriage settlements she will be presented with the celebrated jewels of the Chaulnes family. SHOT HIS SWEETHEART AND HIMSELF. London, March 27 .- A shocking tragedy, caused by an unhappy misunderstanding, has been revealed at the coroner's court at Colwyn Bay. A young man named David Richards missed a small box of money belonging to the is disposed to supplant or stand in the shop of which he was manager. He asked his sweetheart, Lillian Keay, who was the only one who saw him put the box of money away, to restore it, thinking she had taken it. She denied any knowledge of the box. He thereupon shot her dead, and turned the revolver upon himself and killed himself too. During the inquest on the two bodies, Richard's employer rushed into the court holding up the missing box, which had been the cause of the tragedy. It had been found near the place where the unhappy murderer and suicide had said he put it.

'PINO LEADER CAPTURED. Manila, March 27 .- Noriel, the only last. insurgent general with the exception of Malvar, still in the field, has been captured by Lieut, Bamford, of the 28th Infantry. A major, captain, lieutenant and five men who were acting as a bodyguard to Noriel were captured with him. They have all been held as prisoners of war. There is some reason to believe that one member of this bodyguard is Malvar in disguise.

Death Due to Two Successive Attacks of Heart Failure.

To Have a Public Funeral—Oom Paul Kruger's Scriptural Comment-Voice of the Public Press.

London, March 27 .- The Amsterdam correspondent of the Daily Express telegraphs that on the news of Cecil Rhodes' death being conveyed to him, Paul Kruger said: "The Lord giveth, the Lord taketh away. Blessed be the name of the Lord."

Cape Town, March 27 .- Mr. Rhodes died peacefully yesterday. He was conscious until 5:55 p.m., when he uttered a few words and sank quietly. The immediate cause of his death was two successive attacks of heart failure. At his bedside were Dr. Jameson. Dr. J. W. Smartt, British commissioner of public works; Col. Elmhurst Rhodes, director of signaling of the South African field force, and Mr. Walton, of Port Elizabeth, a member of the assembly. Mr. Rhodes'

AFRICAN INTERESTS. Up to the last Mr. Rhodes kept a firm grip on all those vast South African interests created and controlled by him. Except that he was more irritable and more dictatorial, there was no outward change in his method of handling men, millions and empires. Toward the social side of life, however, he soured visibly. Once his day's work at the offices of the British Chartered South African Company was over he shut himself up from the curious in an unfrequented London hotel, where he utterly denied himself to all except half a dozen favored intimates.

HIS CONSTANT COMPANION. Dr Jameson was his constant companion. Indeed, none of Dr. Jameson's ndiscretions ever affected the warm friendship existing between the two men. They could be seen in the park in the morning, taking solitary rides on horses, never breaking out from a walk, the cynosure of all eyes, yet severely unobserved of the hundreds of London's political and social leaders who had the right to a bowing acquaintanceship.

How they were invested Mr. Rhodes never knew or cared for months later, as that night he went off on one of his wan-dering tours, and refused to allow himself to be bothered with the details of the investment of his million until he returned to England. PUBLIC FUNERAL. Cape Town, March 26.—The government has decided to give Cecil Rhodes a public funeral. His remains will be brought here from Grooteschur for the burial service which will be held in the cathedral. The body will then be taken to Grooteschur, and will eventually be buried at Mattopo Hills. WHERE HE DIED. The cottage where he died was a simple seaside cabin, small and close to the railway. It was ill-fitted to be a sick chamber, although the utmost was done to improve the ventilation, and make it more comfortable. Dr. Stevenson slept by his patient every night that he might be in readiness to administer oxygen, which practically kept Mr. Rhodes alive. Last Sunday he lost all interest in everything, and since that he dozed the hours away.

The news of his death spread found grief. All places of amusement were immediately closed. An open air concert was stopped and the audience uncovered while the band played the 'Dead March." The people then silently dispersed.

PRESS COMMENT. London, March 27 .- The estimates of the career of Cecil Rhodes and the effect of that career on the history of the British Empire are colored largely by the political views of the papers making them. But the opinion is unanimous in the press here that in spite of the defects and the limitation of his forceful character, few men have more profoundly impressed the placid, and a death mask of them will imagination of their contemporaries, or played a larger part in the world's affairs than Cecil Rhodes, and the empire is poorer by his premature London, March 27.—Whether it was death. the disastrous mistake made in the Jameson raid. The Standard says: "There was a certain largeness and magnanimity even in his failings. He remains an impressive and inspiring figure, and the real lover of his country, who sacrificed much to make England great and powerful." The Daily Chronicle says: "There was nothing in the career of Cecil Rhodes to support the charge that he was a vulgar money grabber. There was nothing small about him. Even his blunders were colossal." The Daily Telegraph says: "If Cecil

Rhodes was guilty of a blunder in 1895

he paid as dearly for it as his most bitter foe could wish. Now that he has passed beyond the reach of malignity or censure, only the magnificent services he rendered the empire he loved will be remembered." The Times says: "With all his undeniable faults and the errors which marred his noble work. Cecil Rhodes stands a heroic figure around which the traditions of imperial history will cling. Considerable curiosity is evinced as to the probable disposal of his property and interests. The general notion is that the bulk of his property will be bequeathed not to an individual, but to public interests in South Africa, and that Dr. Jameson will be designated to succeed, so far as any one can succeed, to the charge of his Rhodesian interests. It is understood that Mr. Rhodes wished to be buried at Mattopo Hills, because this was the scene his historic conference with the Matabele chiefs. A dispatch from Cape Town pubished this morning in the Daily Express says that Dr. Jameson is authority for the statement that Cecil Rhode left Groote Schnur, his residence near Cape Town, to the people of that city, and large sums of money to charities. are half-masted everywhere. Those who attended the sickbed of rowed over the fact that he left so much unaccomplished. "So little done, so much to do," was an expression which he used more than once. During Mr. Rhodes' illness all kinds of novel means were utilized to counteract the trying heat. Boxes of ice were let into the roof of the seaside cottage at Muizenburg where he died yesterday, punkas were continually kept in motion and extra windows were cut in the walls.

London, March 27.—The Rhodeslan section of the colonial exhibition at the royal exchange, has been draped in black. Numerous expressions of regret and condolence have been cabled by members of the stock exchange and others interested in South Africa. DUTCH MINISTERS' ADVICE. London, March 27. - Reports from Brussels and The Hague continue to reveal the anxiety of the Boer delagates to have it understood that peace cannot be made without their knowledge and consent. The dispatches are contradictory, but bellicose, as are the declarations attributed to Dr. Leyds. It may be safely assumed that Kruger has known about Mr. Schalkburger's intentions for several months, and that he has sanctioned the direct appeal to ex-President Steyn and De-wet. The Dutch ministers at The Hague unmistakably are hopeful that peace will be made. They are reported to have warned Mr. Kruger and Dr.Leyds that better terms could be made before than after the coronation, but there is no method of confirming this

SMOTHER A COUGH.

You can smother a cough with your hand but you can't cure it that way. Some medicines only smother coughs.

Scott's Emulsion cures them. Old coughs and deep-rooted coughs can't be cured until the inflammation which causes them has been replaced by healthy tissue.

That is exactly the kind of thorough work Scott's Emulsion does. It changes the entire nature of the throat and lungs so that there is nothing to cough about.

Montreal, March 26 .- The re-election of Mr. George M. Loy in Beauharnois by a majority of 158 is a remarkable tribute to the liberality and generosity of French Canadians. Although they are in a great majority in the riding, It is true the majority was reduced by about 50 since the general election, but this is in a great measure due to a large reduction for non-political reasons in the voters' list of the town of Valleyfield. His opponent, Mr. J. G. H. Bergeron, the "Beauharnois boy," had represented the division for over 20 was a powerful stumper. The chief argument of both himself and his leading supporters was that a Frenchman should represent a French division. Against this racial cry Hon. J. Israel Tarte took a firm stand. He appeared only twice in the county, but on each occasion asked his, fellow-countrymen not to be led away by such an appeal to racial sentiments. The majorities were as follows: For Mr. Loy-Valleyfield 237, St. Cecile 46, St. Stanislas 54, St. Louis 118. For Mr. Bergeron-St. Timothee 21, Sormer president of the Transvaal was St. Clement 96, Beauharnois 149, St.

THE PATRICK MURDER TRIAL

Made for a New Trial—Convicted Man Showed No Emotion.

New York, March 27 .- Albert T. Patrick, lawyer, was convicted yesterday afternoon of the murder of the elderly millionaire recluse, William Marsh Rice, on Sept. 23, 1900. The penalty, the second time an English Protestant. tric chair. A scant three hours of de- Guthrie. liberation at the close of a trial prolonged for nine weeks, and replete with sensational interest, sufficed to enable the jury to reach their verdict. The issue of the trial establishes the charge that Patrick conspired with Rice's valet, Chas. F. Jones, to obtain session of the Texan's estate, estimated at $7,000,000, and that Jones killed his employer by the administration chloroform at the direct instigation of Patrick.

JURY OUT THREE HOURS. At the close of Recorder Goff's charge, which consumed the morning session of the court, the jury retired This was at 1:50 p.m. At 5:55 they notified the officer in charge that they were ready to return to court, rather more than an hour of the intervening time having been devoted to luncheon. In anticipation of a painful scene of excitement in the event of a verdict of guilty, the unusual step was taken of ordering all women to leave the court room. Among them were the prisoner's two sisters and Mrs. Francis, with whom he boarded. With grave faces the jury filed into their places. Some minutes of painful tenon elapsed while messengers were scurrying about in quest of the counsel, who had departed, looking for no verdict for many hours. PATRICK NEVER FLINCHED. Calm and sauve as ever, and with confidence apparently quite unshaken, the prisoner was escorted into the court room. He walked in rapidly, and took his stand facing the jury, with head erect and hands loosely clasped behind his back. At the word "guilty," pronounced by Foreman Machell, in a tone low, but distinct enough to be heard throughout the court, not the slightest change passed across Patrick's imperturbable the company, which he considers a face, and he remained standing in an fair one and he will submit it to the almost listless attitude while the cusface, and he remained standing in an tomary poll of the jury was being taken. His aged father, Capt. There are no new developments in the murder case, but a government detective is hard at work endeavoring to trace the doings of the murdered man during the half hour from the time that he left Ryan in the sitting room of the hotel to the moment he was found on the barn floor. WAS HE DECOYED TO THE BARN? Those who knew Quirk are very strongly of the opinion that he would not have gone to the barn alone at that hour of the night, but would have no hesitation in accompanying some one there to show him the birds, for he was an enthusiastic fancier of game cocks. The theory generally accepted is that Quirk was decoyed to the barn in this way, and that a third person was lying in wait for him in the loft. This third person struck Quirk as he was ascending the ladder.

A Warning

To feel tired after exertion is one thing; to feel tired before is another. Don't say that the latter is laziness—it isn't; but it's a sign that the system lacks vitality, is running down, and needs the tonic effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It's a warning, too—and sufferers should begin taking Hood's at once. Buy a bottle today.

Mr. C. M. Hays, general manager of the G. T. A shortening of the distance by rail between Ottawa and Toronto is to be made by the Canadian Pacific Railway in the building of a branch line from Carleton Place to Sharbot Lake, thus doing away with the necessity of running to Smith's Falls. The distance will be reduced by about 20 A CURED AND GRATEFUL LADY

FLOUR TRUST CAPITAL $400,000,000.

Chicago, March 26. — The final steps in the formation of the National Millers' Federation, representing a total capital of $400,000,000, and an annual flour output of 100,000,000 barrels, were taken at a meeting held here today. The federation is the national organization of the various state associa-tions, and in addition it will include the National Millers' Association and National Winter Wheat Millers' Association. At today's meeting, the following officers were elected: President, Barney A. Eckhart, Chicago; first vice-president, Henry L. Little, Indianapolis; second vice-president, ex-Governor E. O. Stanard, Missouri, treasurer, W. O. Ellis, St. Louis. The first annual meeting will be held in Chicago, June 11 next.

Helen Schwartz, whom he had never met, agreed to assume the role. It was leve at first meeting, and last night when the guests arrived to witness the mock ceremony, Rabbi Edel-man announced that instead of a mock wedding, he would perform a real ceremony, and united Max Friedman and Helen Schwartz in legal marriage. The guests were quick to see the joke was on them.

Spring Wretchedgess, Misery The Wrong Idea and Suffering Permanently Bagished When You Use PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

SAYS:

Not Be Living Today If It Had Not Been for Your Wonderful Remedy."

A few words to weak, brokendown, nervous and sick women at this time, and the persual of Mrs. Charette's letter, will, we trust, kindle hope and inspire fresh confidence in many a home where some loved mother, wife, daughter is hovering between life and death. At this season, thousands are nearing the grave; they can be saved by the prompt use of Paine's Celery Compound. Mrs. Chas. Charette, Chambly, P. Q., writes as follows for the benefit of sick and ailing women: "I can honestly say I would not be living today if it had not been for your wonderful remedy. For a long time I suffered terribly from nervousness, sleeplessness, head and stomach troubles, and never received much benefit from ordinary medical treatment. I heard of your Paine's Celery Compound and was strongly urged to give it a trial, and I have good reason to thank God that I did so.
"I can now eat and sleep soundly, and my nervousness is a thing of the past. I now feel perfectly rested after a night's sleep, which was never the case before using the Compound. My neighbors, who know how I formerly suffered, are surprised at the grand cure made by your medicine, and some of them are using it now. I thank you sincerely for the honest results given by Paine's Celery Compound."

hibitionists were held in To-Tuesday, and definite steps were taken towards organizing for the approaching campaign. The Dominion Alliance executive committee met during the afternoon and evening, while in the afternoon the Ontario section of the standing committee on temperance and moral reform of General Conference of the Methodist Church also held a meeting. The joint meeting was presided over by Dr. J. J. McLaren, K. C. Delegates were present from Hamilton, London, Woodstock, Ingersoll, Collingwood, Walkerton, Klineburg, Trenton, Picton, Mount Forest and Whitby. The greater portion of the meeting was occupied in the consideration of a circular letter to be addressed to prohibitionist voters throughout the prov-ince. The draft presented by Mr. Spence was, after some changes, unanmously passed in the following form:

A CALL TO RALLY. To the Prohibitionists of Ontario: Dear Friends. - In view of the approaching provincial election, we appeal to you to rally for another battle against the terrible drink evil, that is today the prolific cause of physical, social and moral degradation and ruin, and that is seeking more and more to entrench itself in the vantage ground of political methods and institutions, and to control the government, the legislature and legislation, so as to thwart the efforts of earnest and philanthropic citizens for the restraint of its debauching influence and power.

The united and energetic liquor traffic has won a temporary victory. The reasonable requests of the convention of Feb. 25 last have been refused by the government and the legislature, only four members voting for them. Our only hope for success is in such electoral action, untrammeled by partyism, as will give us representatives who will fearlessly stand for our principles, uninfluenced by any subservience to the liquor interests or the dictation of any party machine. A CRITICAL SITUATION.

Your special attention is asked to the following features of the critical traffic. uation which confronts us: The liquor act which has been passed by the legislature, and which is to be voted upon in December next, is such a combination of useful prohibition and unjust requirements concerning voting thereon, that careful discrimination is necessary in discussing it, and careful consideration in planning any action to secure its alteration or enforcement. The second part of this act is a prohibitory law of the most complete and of the Nerves.

The Action of the Heart, Lungs, Stomach, Liver and Kidneys Dependent on the Nerve Force--Extraordinary Results From the

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

There is not a single organ of the human body that can perform its functions without a liberal supply of nerve force—the motive power of the body. The nervous system should never thought of as a separate part of the body. Its branches extend from the brain and the spinal column to the to every nook and corner of the sysforce is just as important to life as is good, rich blood. When the nerve cells are wasted by over-exertion, worry or disease, more rapidly than they are replaced, the action of the heart become slower, the lungs begin to weaken, the stomach fails to do its duty, the liver and kidneys falter in their work as filters, and the excretory organs get feeble and inactive. You may be a sufferer from weakness and exhaustion of the nerves, and may have been attributing the trouble to the stomach, kidneys or other organs. Nervous exhaustion is marked by restlessness, disturbed sleep, languid, weary feelings, headache, dyspepsia and bodily pains, inability to consentrate the thoughts, absent-mindedness, weakened memory, twisting of the muscles and eyelids, sudden startings and jerking of the limbs in sleep, dizziness, irritability and gloomy forebodings.

Through the medium of the nervous system, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food carries new life and energy to every organ of the body. It strengthens the action of the heart, invigorates the stomach, makes the kidneys, liver and bowels more active, and builds up the entire

If you experience any of the symptoms of nervous exhaustion, you can rely absolutely on Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to cure you. It does not stimulate, but thoroughly cures by forming new red corpuscles in the blood and creating nerve force. Mr. E. Rosevear, a retired school teacher, of 2 Markham Place, Toronto, says:

"I am getting up in years, and, as a natural result of severe study, my health has been undermined and my system very much run down. I got so weak and nervous, and suffered so much from dizziness, that I found it ecessary to begin treatment of some kind. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has been so highly spoken of that I decided to give it a trial, and can now speak its merits from personal experience. It has built me up wonderfully, and strengthened and restored my nervous system." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a comprehensive character, that the limits of provincial jurisdiction will permit. It is not fair to compare it with the Scott act or any other measures more local in its nature or less stringent in its provisions. It is an honest attempt to devise the most effective kind of prohibitory law. It was the work of skilled and experienced professional men, who were also earnest advocates of total prohibition, and it is probably the most thorough-going leg-

THE REFERENDUM. The first part of the act makes the coming into operation of the second part conditional upon its being ratified by the majority of the votes cast at a special polling to be held on Dec. 4, next, and upon the total number of votes cast for the act being equal to a majority of the total votes cast at the general provincial election held in 1898. The latter condition we consider exceedingly unjust.

The liquor party may be in a minority as they were in 1894 and in 1898, they may even stay away from the polls, not troubling themselves to vote, and yet be considered as successful in the contest. Prohibition may be counted as defeated, although approved by a large majority of the voting elec-torate. Without questioning the ability of prohibitionists to secure the required vote, we must claim that the conditions are so framed as to make it difficult for them to succeed and easy for the liquor party to win. We must protest emphatically against these conditions as discriminating against temperance voters and being unfair class legislation in the interests of the liquor

We stand on the principle embodied in the unanimous declaration of the convention of February 25th. We cannot consent to the injustice of legislaliquor-favoring minority, and against the demand of the voting majority, that majority being on the patriotic and unselfish side. Prohibition is the right legislative method of dealing with the liquor traffic. It has been emphatically indorsed at the polls, and upon your support as temperance elec-

VOTE FOR PROHIBITIONISTS. It is, therefore, our plain and imperative duty to strive to elect in the approaching campaign such men as can be depended upon to carry out this principle. AS TO INDEPENDENT CANDI-DATES.

The question of which nominated candidate is best entitled to the support of prohibitionists, and of whether or not it is desirable to bring out an independent candidate, must be settled by the workers of each constituency for themselves. Just ing in every constituency of a repre-as the blood is carried by the arteries sentative conference of workers to consider these matters and for vigorous tem, so the nerve force, by means of nerve fibres, is distributed, and nerve rived at.

WILL ACCEPT THE REFERENDUM While we protest against the unjust requirements of the referendum plan, we deem it our duty to stand by the cause we have always supported, and we earnestly urge our people to organize to secure another victory in the in 1899 and 1900, owing to the neglect referendum on Dec. 4.

In union is strength. We earnestly fireplaces. appeal for concentration of effort on the lines of action above stated and on the plan agreed upon in each cality to carry it out. Let your ballot in the coming contest be consecrated to the temperance cause, and your energies devoted to devising how that ballot may be made to count against the liquor traffic.

Every vote is needed and every vote will tell. To the extent that our influence is felt in the coming election, we will be strong to compel respect and fair play from the next legislature. We shall need that strength to compel an enforcement if the referendum brings us prohibition. We shall need it, even if our vote should fall short of the unreasonable referendum requirement, to secure the legislation which our certain majority will fairly demand.

CONVENTIONS TO BE CALLED. Steps are being taken to secure the holding of a convention for each con-stituency at the earliest possible date. Do not fail to attend the one called for your electoral district. It will be the starting point for both the impending campaigns, and upon its character and action will largely depend the value and effect of your own work for our cause in the near future. Urge others to attend. Go prepared to sacrifice, if need be, all party prejudice and your personal convenience in a determined, earnest effort to win the great boon of prohibition for our fair pro-Yours for God and home and coun-

MR. MARTER THANKED. The following resolution was proposed by Rev. Dr. J. S. Ross, seconded by Rev. Dr. W. A. McKay, and passed by a standing vote: "That this execu-tive desires to place on record its high appreciation of the noble efforts made ter, M.P.P., and we hereby convey to Mr. Marter and to the other members who voted with him our hearty thanks for proposing and for voting in the house for the changes desired by the Dominion Alliance in the conditions of the referendum." Directions were given to the secretary with regard to organization work. As indicated in the circular letter, a series of electoral district conventions will be held forthwith.

THE METHODIST COMMITTEE. The Methodist committee, at its meeting, which was presided over by Rev. Wm. Kettlewell, passed the following resolutions: 1. In harmony with the former action of this committee, we express no opinion on the referendum as a means of determining a question relating to the restriction or prohibition of the liquor traffic. 2. That the committee (also in harmony with its former action) does not consider the conditions of the referendum fair to the temperance people of this province and regrets that the leg-islature has not seen fit to modify ELECT PROHIBITIONISTS.

3. The committee feels that it is the duty of all members of the Methodist Church to assist in securing, so far as possible, the election of members to the next legislature who are favorable to prohibitory legislation.

4. The committee would also urge upon all members of the Methodist Church the importance of arousing the public conscience on the evils of the liquor traffic, the necessity of progressive prohibitory legislation, and of se-curing the largest possible vote in favor of the present bill on the 4th of Dcember next.

WORKERS OF WINNIPEG. Winnipeg, Man., March 26.-After a fiercely personal and acrimonious meeting the general convention of temperance workers, which organized last night after the Prohibition League convention dissolved, passed a resolution to the effect that every voter should do as his conscience dictates as regards the referendum, and that there should be no organized effort to influence voters.

Railway Commissions.

Professor S. J. McLean, who, a few months ago, was intrusted with the Important duties of inquiring into railway rate grievances, has presented the report of his investigations to the Min-1ster of Railways. It is in Blue Book form, and contains about 80 pages of instructive matter on the subject of railway commissions, railway rate grievances and regulative legislation.

The writer goes on to state that in The earlier days of railway construction, but little attention was given to the subject of regulation and control. It was thought that any difficulties that might arise would be settled by competitive forces. The crucial point in all discussions pertaining to the subject, is that pertaining to rates. A view has been ventured that railway corporations being analogous to other large business enterprises, should be allowed to adjust themselves through the exercise of competitive forces in a manner similar to that in which the prices of commodities in general are regulated. This position has been found to be fallacious, because, as a matter of fact, there is greater competition among merchants than is pos-Sometimes, as was the case three years ago this spring, there is a keen competition between certain lines of railways: but as a rule rate wars are not Railway companies find It in their interests to come to some agreement as soon as possible. According to the report of Mr. McLean, the chief objections to Government regulation over railway transportation, arise from the assumption that railways are private business organizations. Whereas a railway is a semipublic concern, performing public functions. It is on this latter idea that the investigator bases his argument in favor of railway commissions.

Professor McLean goes on to show That all civilized countries recognize the necessity of some form of legislative control of railways. In France railway companies; the Government has a veto upon these rates. In Ausunder rigorous Government control. In other countries of the continent of Europe. Government ownership is favored. Over $600,000,000 have been ex- supposed to know his subject, one pended in Australia in the construction of about 12,000 miles of railway; only about 500 miles are under private English policy and experience are cited. In one of the earliest railway charters granted, maxima rates were indicated, and it was also provided that when dividends fell below 10 per cent the rates might be raised. As early as 1840 the necessity of a railway commission of some form was felt. The Railways Act of 1873 provided for the appointment of such a commission, with three commissioners and not more than two assistants. Mr. McLean goes at length into the operation of the Commission Law, and also presents a resume of the subject of government regulation.

Then comes the experience of the United States, the early attitude in the United States being that of noninterference with railway corporations. For some considerable time the people were too much taken up with the idea of the extension of railways to concern themselves much about railway regulation and control. Railways were a necessity as a means of communication with the great West. "The period between 1860-70," says the report, "may be classed as a whole as the 'hands off' period." In the year 1870 the problem assumed a different phase. From that year developed the idea of state control, which varies to a greater or lesser extent in the different States. As the interstate traffic is not more than 10 to 20 per cent of the total traffic of the country, an "Interstate Commerce Commission," under the control of the Federal Government, has been found advisable. The definite attempt of the United States Government to deal with the matter dates from the year 1885.

The earliest project for more effective Government control of railways in Canada is contained in a bill introduced in Parliament in the year 1873. Provision was made for equal mileage rates, but no provision was made for a commission. Under the powers conferred by the British North America Act, a general power over the railways of Canada is possessed by the Dominion Parliament. According to the report of Professor McLean, all roads not owned by the Government should be under the control of a non-political commission, whose duties would be as fol-

Mr. Chamberlain and the Canadian Climate.

House of Commons recently asked the warmer climate than Canada, that advice was meant to be limited to South Africa? convenience than for the comfort of her patient, and who kept the bottlenot a medicine bottle-where she could take a little when she felt "dispoged." We can congratulate ourselves that immense strides have been made since then, not only in surgery, and other branches of medicine, but especially in the training of nurses. Many cultured women have devoted themselves with great zeal to this important work as to a sacred vocation. In England the other day there was a discussion in Parliament on a bill which is intended to create a board to frame rules and issue certificates to women who are called to assist their sisters in case of emergencies. Of course, the doctors differed. Some thought that to recognize women in this capacity, a function they have ex- Fourth of the Spring Excursions Start From ercised from time immemorial, would lead the poor to dispense with the service of medical men. It is perhaps natural for the professional medical man to take this view, and we quite agree that in protecting in a proper way the interests of his class, he is also seeking to protect the public. But Dr. Farquharson, on the other hand, urged the House to pass it, as did Sir M. Foster. The bill was recognized by the majority as a modest one, which would render it easy for patients to secure the services of nurses who selves in the far west. could be trusted, and that is surely a desirable end. And so the world moves the whole a disposition to consider the needs and interests of all classes. Perhaps in no department of life has there been more progress within recent years than in this matter of profes-

Like an Overacted Melodrama.

The campaign against the Ontario Government somehow reminds one of an overacted melodrama. The rants are amazing, but they seem to be forced; the indignation is pumped up with infinite pain; the actors grow hoarse, but the audience fails to respond. One cannot but contemplate with sadness the prospect of the actors doing this over and over again in drill halls, opera houses and school houses. Later on they will perform in groves, the ways of men, and wearing that expression of calm wisdom which distinguishes a horse from a man in election time. Let us try to gather strength for these things, knowing full well that they must have an end, and become portions and parcels of the dreadful past.

It is highly suggestive up in the preliminary investigation of if not amusing, for instance, to find an extreme opponent of prohibition like the Toronto World, which has been shouting for Mr. Whitney as its of an anti-prohibition leader, proclaiming at the same time that it is the duty of temperance leaders them all that they asked for-and to all of which the World is bitterly op-posed. If the World could induce the more extreme advocates of prohibition to punish a prohibition premier because he has not felt it his duty, One of the members of the British or believed it possible, to go as far as they wished, it assumes that there would be such a feeling of resentment created in party ranks against those who had helped to defeat the best government this country has ever had, that the vote at the referendum in favor of the Manitoba law would be greatly reduced. The same game of stirring up old time temperance friends and fellow workers of Mr. Ross is going on here, and the game is being worked by the same class of political fakirs. But Mr. Whitney's anti-prohibition supporters and allies will have some in getting prohibitionists to pull their party chestnuts out of the fire. Prohibitionists have more important work on hand than directing their energies against their best friends at the instigation of their worst enemies. They have the opportunity of showing their strength favor of a measure for which they have themselves asked, and on which the whole people of Ontario will have the opportunity of expressing an opinion, free from all political and municipal issues, at a special election next fall. Temperance then are probably not in need of any advice just now, when the path of wisdom is so And it is not difficult to imagine what their opinion is of those opponents who offer them advice

Toronto-400 Ontario People Leave for Manitoba and the Territories.

Toronto, March 27 .- Ontario added to the crowds who have gone to people the western provinces several hundred more when the fourth of the spring excursions to the west left here on Tuesday. In all there were 400 people on the trains which drew out of the Union station throughout the afternoon and evening, and the majority of them were young men and young women who were saying good-bye to their native province to make homes for them-

The greater number of the Ontario settlers came from the western portion of the province, Lambton, Essex, Kent, on, even if it is slowly, and there is on Huron and Middlesex alone supplying nearly one-third of the excursionists. The last train, containing the settlers who were taking live stock with them to the Northwest, left Tuesday night.

Forty cars of settlers' effects, with from 75 to 100 passengers, left the Union station in three sections. Three of these were from Forest, four from Beamsville, and three from Glencoe. The remainder was made up of one and two car lots. Accommodation was provided for eighteen passengers to be taken on at Orillia. Most of these settlers are of the better class. Fires and Saving Lives.

Confessed to Starting Nine Different Conflagrations in the Astor House, New York-Numerous Other Blazes Placed to His Credit.

[New York Sun.] After a rigid investigation into the queer double fire in the Astor House on Wednesday night, Fire Marshal Freel at 3 o'clock yesterday morning ordered the arrest of Edward J. Farley, one of the hotel elevator boys, on a punish Mr. Ross for not giving charge of attempted arson. Later, after having stoutly maintained his innocence for a long time, Farley confessed not only to having set all of the long series of fires in the Astor House, but others as well.

Farley is a son of the head porter at the hotel, is 24 years old, and lives at 176 East Eighty-Eighth street. Throughout the investigation suspicion kept pointing strongly to him as the incendiary. Finally the key to the room in which one of the strange fires occurred was found in his pocket, and then his arrest was decided on.

When locked up in the Church street police station Farley still protested that he had nothing to do with the nine fires which had occurred in the hotel during his employment; but confinement in the cell had the effect of breaking down his stolid demeanor. Just before his arraignment in court he confessed not only to being the perpetrator of every one of the fires in the Astor House, but of four others besides in a flathouse at 117 East 101st street, where he lived with his family four years ago Two of the flathouse fires were set in the night, and women and children had to be carried out in their night clothes by the firemen. On these occasions, and in every instance where a fire was started by him he led in the work of escue and in putting out the blaze In helping to extinguish one of the Astor House fires he even cut his hand. The threatening appearance of the weather this morning did not prevent the farmers from attending the market in considerable numbers. Business was lively and by 11:30 o'clock almost all of the products were sold at prices satisfactory to the holders.

Hay and Straw-About fifteen loads offered today at $8 to $8 50 per ton, mostly at the latter figures.

Butter and Eggs-Butter was in good demand, with prices firm at 18c to 20c per 1b for crocks, and 20c to 22c per 1b for rolls. Eggs are a shade easier. The Eastern markets are overstocked, which affects the local market. Prices today were 11c to 121/2c per dozen by the basket, and lic per single dozen.

Poultry-Was quite plentiful. Prices are unchanged. Turkeys sold as high as 13c per lb wholesale; chickens, 60c to 80c for dressed, and 50c to 65c per pair for live ones.

Dressed Hogs-Quite a few in, selling at $7 60 to $7 75 per cwt.

Vegetables and Roots-There was a light supply on today, with no change in price of any consequence. Potatoes sold at 70c to 75c per bag; turnips, 25c to 30c per bag; rhubarb, 75c per dozen; green onions, 25c to 40c per dozen bunches, and lettuce at 25c per dozen. Apples-Only a few bags and barrels on

Maple Syrup-Not a great deal on sale. The warm weather has started the trees to bud, causing the supply of sap to be light and of an inferior quality. The offering today sold at $1 to $1 10 per gal-

Meats-Were in large supply, particulary veal. A lot of the offerings are only from two to three weeks old, and it is a question whether it is fit for food. Veal, by the carcass sold at 6c to 71/6 per lb; by the quarter it sold at 51/2c to 8c per 1b. Other meats are as quoted. VEGETABLES.

London, March 26.-The second series of the wool auction sales closed today. The offerings numbered 6,757 bales, chief-ly cross-breds from New Zealand. Good grades were in demand, and sold at unchanged rates, but inferior stock was unchanged. When the series opened merinos sold at par to 5 per cent above the February sales, and on this basis proceeded amid uniformly brisk competition throughout. Fine wools were in special demand and fine cross-breds, after opening at part to 5 per cont bishor herdand ing at par to 5 per cent higher, hardened somewhat. Coarse grades opened 5 to somewhat. Coarse grades opened 5 to 7½ per cent higher, but closed weaker. Cape of Good Hope and Natal were in good demand and nearly all were sold. Greasy advanced 5.35 per cent, and snow whites a fraction. The sales closed with a firm tone. American purchases were confined to fine and medium cross-breds, and a few lots of choice greasy merinos. The offerings during the series numbered 163,000 bales, of which 73,600 were taken by the home trade 75,600 by the conti-

Toronto, March 27.-Mr. A. H. Leek. of Ottawa, director of the Macdonald Training Schools, went to Berlin or Tuesday, at Hon. Mr. Harcourt's suggestion, to consult with the school boards of the town. He expressed himself as much impressed with the num-erous industries so firmly established in that busy place. Those present at the conference were much interested in the work of manual training, and were pleased with the information which Mr. Leek was able to give to Hon. Mr. Harcourt said yesterday that in all probability a building, to cost at least $15,000, devoted to manual training and domestic science would at once be erected at Berlin. At their meeting he showed for the first time any emotion, but it quickly passed off, and he regained his composure, which he maintained until the last, walking firmly from the cell to the scaffold, a distance of 50 yards, and in the same way to the drop.

THE COLONIZATION OF THE TROPICS

Europeans May Remain Strong and Healthy

at the Equator. The possibility of Europeans laboring and bringing up children in tropical climates is the question of questions on which colonization of a permanent sort hinges. Is the climate of the tropics fatal, in the long run, to Europeans? Dr. J. Myleus contributed an article to Vom Fels zum Meer in which he argued that tropical climates constitute a barrier not to be surmounted, owing to the high death rate of children among European settlers, the necessity Europeans are under to live without physical labor, and the temptations offered them to spend imnoral lives. In general, as regards India, this is the impression one gets from Kipling's novels and romances. But there are other views of all this which put a very different aspect on

Capt. Fedor Schulze, of Java, who has lived more than 40 years in India and the Malay archipelago, disputes the conclusions of Myleus in a recent letter to the Bulletin of Ethnology. Europeans suffer from fewer diseases in the tropics than at home, owing to their life in the open air, provided they observe certain precautions. To acclimate themselves they have merely to seek first the higher lands, the plateaus and mountains found in almost all the colonies. The earlier settlers loafed because they had an idea that whites should not lower themselves in the eyes of the natives by labor. They fell sick because they did not have hygienic surroundings and indulged in the heavy drinking and eating which was their habit in Europe. They were prolific, and their children would have done well had they cared for them properly and provided good schools Now they drink little, do not overeat themselves, have hygienic homes and protect their children from the ignorance of native help. The consequence is that the whites are thriving. Moreover, they are at work, and according to Capt. Schulze the whites can labor eight hours a day, even in the fields, if they observe the rule to divide the working hours into early morning and late afternoon stints. Capt. Schulze believes that apart from cities, where the natives are crowded together, the healthfulness in the tropics is better than in Europe. Children's diseases are rare and their mental qualities fully equal to those of Europeans under proper instructors. Malaria exists in the rice-growing districts and in swampy regions, but the same is true in Europe. He thinks the tropics have a bad name because the English have been slow to adapt their houses, dress, food and drink, and customs to the tropical and subtropical climates. In Java the Hollanders and White men of other nationalities labor in factories eight hours a day without harm to their health. Taking the Dutch statistics as a basis, he puts different nations in the following rank in the order of ease of acclimation: Chinese, Germans, Portuguese, Spaniards, Frenchmen, Italians, Hollanders

If he is right and Dr. Myleus wrong, Fort Saskatchewan, N. W. T., March ment of Africa and the East Indies by white men does not really exist, unless ishment, (2) rest after exacting labor and (3) a minimum of alcohol.

Moreover, the permanent settlement of the Philippines by settlers from the United States has a much more hopeful look, for conditions of climate in the Philippines are much more favor-able to men of the temperate zone than in India, Java, New Guinea and Borneo, where the British, Dutch and Gerare permanently established. With the results of experience in these places to guide them, it may be that white men can colonize Africa and South America on the equator and the took their stand over-pop lation of the northern temperate zone may cease to be a bugbear as anxious statesmen peer into the future. It does not solve the vexations Southern States, how whites and the dark-skinned races are to co-exist for long periods without unfortunate effects from race antipathies, but it does

When Mr. Archibald received, among numerous other communications of the same nature, Mrs. Walton's letter, applying for the position of housekeeper, he cave vent to an emphatic grunt of satisfaction.

"Well, it strikes me it is, if I'm not mistaken," Mr. Archibald relied, as he entered the hall and glanted keenly about him. "Is Mrs. Walton at home? I want to see her."

"Sure, sor, and she be nowhere else. Poor leddy! sorra a place do she have to go, save to church, now and thin, whin she's able. Whist, now, an' have ye found thim a chance?" the girl early demanded.

"Hum! that remains to be seen," Mr. Archibald answered, looking grave, as it occurred to him that the pretty and ladylike Miss Agnes might recoil from the thought of coming to live with the "crusty old bachelor." "Show me to her room, please."
Biddy turned and led the way up-

'How shall I inter-ro-duce ye?" she "How shall I inter-ro-duce ye?" she whispered, confidentially, as the reached the upper landing, a look of earnest curiosity on her broad face.

"I won't trouble you. I'll introduce myself," her companion curtly responded; and the girl, after knocking upon, then opening the door, with a brief "A gentleman to see yez, mum," turned and retraced her steps to the region below.

Mrs. Walton was alone, Agnes having gone to return the work which they had gone to return the work which they had that day finished, and she arose as Mr. Archibald entered, announcing his name and the errand upon which he had (Grida's you? Why not, madam?" the man briefly inquired.

"Because, as my note informed you, I am something of an invalid, though my health has been slowly improving of late, and I feared that might be an objection. Still, I thought, since your family consisted only of yourself, and you advertised to allow a servant, I could easily direct your household affairs, and that the change of life would also be benencial to me."

"You don't look very rugged, marm." Mr. Archibald returned, as she paused a "I am not strong, and I should not be "I am not strong, and I should not be able to do any hard work at present. I think it best to be perfectly frank with you, sir," Mrs. Walton responded, but an anxious gleam began to creep into her eyes; she did so long to break away from the hard life which she and Agnes were leading.

"That's the talk, give me the facts and truth, always," said her companion, with "As I also stated," she continued, "I have a daughter from whom I cannot be separated; perhaps, however, you would object to having a young lady in your

How does that strike you?"

"That settles it, then, When can you come?" Mr. Archibald questioned, with a note of satisfaction in his tones, denoting his eagerness to put his project into immediate execution.

"Whenever you are ready for me, sir," Mrs. Walton responded, with ready complaisance. "Good. Then one week from today I'll send a carriage for you," said Mr. Archibald, rising to go, and well pleased with the success of his mission. Mrs. Walton also arose, and her delicate face flushed, as, glancing about the room, she remarked:

"The furniture in this room and the one adjoining belongs to me; would you object to having it removed to your house?"

The man glanced rapidly around him.
The apartment was very tastefully, even elegantly furnished, for Mrs. Walton had saved the best of what she possessed when leaving Elgin, in order to make their city home as pleasant as ssible for Agnes.

possible for Agnes.

There was a very pretty carpet upon the floor, and a number of pieces of handsome stuffed furniture were scattered about. A piano, that had been a present from Mrs. Walton's father, who at one than the property of the time had been in good circumstances, stood in one corner. A few fine engravings, and three or four nicely executed pictures in water colors, the latter some of Agnes' work while at school, hung upon the walls, while there were a few odest ornaments upon the mantel and there being no live bird contests.

In the room beyond Mr. Archibald caught sight of a handsome cherry cham-ber set, and dainty draperies at the windows, while there was an air of homeot fail to impart a pleasant impression. "I should be obliged to store all these things if I could not take them with me. and that would be an expense which I could ill afford," Mrs. Walton continued,

The woman shivered slightly.

"Oh, I could not sell them, Mr. Archibald; almost every piece was given to me by my father at the time of my marriage, and they are all very dear me. I cannot part with them while live." she returned, as the tears started "No, no, no; of course not," he quickly responded; "bring the furniture along with you if you want to. It'll save me furnishing two rooms, too, and that'll be a gain in my pocket. You'll put it all in your own rooms, though. You've kept it well." he added, as, examining it critically, he failed to distinguish a scretch or mark upon a single article. scratch or mark upon a single article. His Fine Sense of Humor -- A Most Remarkable Instance of the Dead Bury-

One of the memorable and pitiable sights of the West, as the traveler journeys across the prairies, is the little group of Indians hanging round the lonely railway station. They are not dangerous now, nor are they dignified; they are harmless, poor, abject, shiftless, ready to beg or ready to steal, or to do anything else except work, and the one possession of the past which they still retain is the inventive and instinctive cunning of the savage, who can read the faintest sign like a written language, and knows the surest way of capturing his prey. One never life of fearful wickedness, but is now repair," he kept telling himself, as he wearied himself trotting up stairs and down in his irksome quest. But Saturday night came and he had not found a forgets the squalid figure with some remains of former grandeur in his dress, and the gulf between us and hood. Our savage tramps along our country roads and loafs along our busy streets, he stops us with his whine when no policeman is near, and presents himself upon our doorstep, and when he is a master of his business will make his way into our house. He has his own dress, combining many in its way captivating. What a stroke styles and various periods, though reduced to a harmony by his vagabond personalty. He has his own language, which is unintelligible to strangers, the left, while the man told a mournand a complete system of communica-ful tale of his wife's death, and tion by pictures. living would likely die. Besides his idleness he has many faults, for he is a liar to the bone. he is a drunkard whenever he can get the chance, he steals in small ways when it is safe, he bullies women if they are alone in a country house, he has not a speaking acquaintance with soap and water, and if he has any virtue it is not of a domestic character. He is ungrateful, treacherous, uncleanly, and vicious, to whom it is really wrong to give food, far more money, and to whom it is barely safe to give the shelter of an outhouse, far less of one's roof. And yet he is an adroit, shrewd, clever, entertaining rascal. He carries the geography of countries in his head to the minutest details, which guaranteed that it would not be less than $25,000. The club demands a deposit from the fighters of $2,500 to insure path, every spring where he can get water, and the warmest corner in the wood where he can sleep. He has also another map in his memory of the Society, but that as he had a wife and nouses and the people that dwell therein; which he ought to pass by, which it were a sin to neglect, which are worth trying, and which have changed hands. And he departed with the self-friend the vagrant. Perhaps the struggle for existence has quickened his wits beyond those of his race, but at any rate our vagabond is not fettered by that solid and conventional intellect which persists in doing things as our fathers used to do them, and will not accommodate itself to changing conditions. Our vagabond has certain old lines which he has long practiced and which he is always willing to use, in suitable circumstances, such as the workman out of employment and tramping to another city to get a job because he has not money enough to pay his railway fare, or a

The more I doctored the worse I got until six years passed. I had become so poorly I could only walk in the house by the aid of a chair, and I got so thin I had given up to die, thinking that I could not becured. Then one of my neighbors said, 'Take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and make a new man out of yourself. The first bottle helped me so I thought I would get another, and after I had taken eight bottles I was weighed and found I had gained twenty-seven (27) lbs. in about six weeks. I have done more hard work in the past eleven months than I did in two years before, and I am as stout and healthy to-day, I think, as I ever was."

ing terms: "After enjoying the most perfect health for many years it was a sore trial for me to realize that my health was failing. I had, in the first place, acute pains in the small of my back, and was losing flesh rapidly. Then other complications arose, which so weakened me that it was only with the greatest amount of determination that I could attend to my work. I tried a number of remedies and consulted several physicians without obtaining more than temporary relief, and as a last resort if thought I would try Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. The cis Gaunt, with a sensitive appreciation of the happiness of a wedding day and the grief attending the trying times of war. Mr. Richard G. Williams, as Capt. Turnbull, fills the role of a true military officer with a dignity both becoming and natural." HERMANN THE GREAT. The great and only Hermann will mystify and delight theatergoers at the New Grand, Good Friday, matinee and in this city he brings many new novelties that have never been seen here Several sensational illusions presented by him have set all America talking.

"SHORE ACRES." "Shore Acres" is promised a finished scenic production at the New Grand next Saturday, matinee and evening. Although almost free from climaxes, and not overburdened with a complicated plot, it holds the auditor's attention from beginning to end, and you almost regret to see the final curtain fall. The company appearing in this play this season is virtually the same as appeared in the play last year and contains over twenty capable actors "LOVERS' LANE." Rev. Bradley Giman writes from Unity parsonage, Springfield, Mass., to Clyde Fitch: "After seeing 'Lovers' Lane,' I realize more clearly what a power for good or ill the stage can be. It is excellent, and you have saved the self-respect of my somewhat downtrodden profession." AT THE LONDON TOMORROW. Theatergoers should not confound the "Dainty Paree" Extravaganza Company, which comes to the London We wish you would ask Opera House tomorrow and Saturday for matinee and night performances, with any other company previously seen here this season, as this is the

If it's asthma, bronchitis, which gives the members of the comwhooping-cough, croup, or any such pany a chance to display their talents trouble, the Cresolene vapor touches at singing and dancing. John Horran and 'Pah' Kearney, comedians, received every inflamed place. Relief is quick, well-merited applause. The olio opens with the Lynotti sisters in a clever singing and dancing act. Mlle. La Tosca, lady contortionist, does a very neat act; Honan and Kearney, Irish comedians, make a hit with their jokes and songs; Otis Shattuck and Minnie Bernard, in a one-act comedy, "Don't Leave the Room,' kept the audience in a state of laughter. Louise Carver and Genie Pollard appear in a song and dance act. The hit of the evening is made by Frank and Gracie Graham in their illustrated songs, probably the best act of its kind that has been seen here this season. The show concludes with a burlesque, 'Paris Upside Down,' in which some clever specialties are presented."

Tickets Selling Rapidly.

Miss Jessie Maclachlan, Mr. Harold Jarvis, Mr. H. Ruthven McDonald, and Miss Marietta La Dell, all in one programme, are names to conjure with, as the rapid advance sale of tickets for the concert in the New Grand Opera House, on Tuesday evening, April 1, amply testifies. Seats may be reserved at the Grand Opera House box office on and after Saturday. Mr. Pringle, president of St. Andrew's Society, has been requested to have repeated, "A Hundred Pipers and a' and a'," and also "Rule, Britannia," the powerful rendering of which by Miss McIachlan so stirred the loval enthusiasm of the audience on the occasion of the last concert. Mr. Pringle authorizes us to say that these requests will receive due consideration. The Queen of Scottish Song seems to stir equally all classes, from the humblest loval son of the heather, up to her Majesty the Queen, who, it will be remembered, expressed her delight with Miss Maclachlan's singing by sending her a gold bracelet, which the Princess Louise forwarded with a charming note of compliment and congratulation.
