Victoria Woodhull Martin's Case.

London, Feb. 25 .- The trial of the action of Mrs. Victoria Woodhull Martin against the trustees of the British Museum for holding in their possession books libeling her character, was resumed in the High Court of Justice yesterday. Mrs. Martin took the witness stand and retold in her vindication the story of her relations to the Beecher-Tilton scandal.

Mr. John Biddulph Martin, the husband of the plaintiff, said that before making Mrs. Woodhull his wife he was well acquainted with her speeches and writings, and had closely followed her career long before she came to England. He had never seen one word indorsing the views expressed in the articles attributed to her, but which she explicitly repudiated-views which he believed to be distinctly contrary to hers. After further testimony the case was adjourned.

War on the Peers.

London, Feb. 25 .- The Daily News enumerates in a leader thirteen charges against the House of Lords. All these concern the mutilation or rejection of reform proposals during the present Parlia-

The News says that Lord Salisbury will advise the Lords not to insist upon any critical amendments to the Parish Councils Bill, except those relating to the affairs of the various charities. Many Liberals favor the immediate dissolution of Parliament in case the Lords adhere to their amendments of the Parish, Councils Bill. The Daily News deprecates such a course as virtually giving the victory to the Peers.

The Daily Chronicle enthusiastically clamors for this line of action, and says: "Mr. Gladstone, let us go on! Lead us if you can; but anyhow, let us advance !"

British Parliamentary Programme. London, Feb. 25. -The Cabinet prepared at its meeting the Queen's speech, and decided at the same time on the order in which the Government measures will be introduced at the next session. This sequence of bills was determined on: Registration reform, Irish evicted tenants, Welsh disestablishment and local option.

The difficult financial question which will arise from the budget deficit and simultaneous increase of naval expenditure will fill out the programme, which bids fair to be voluminous enough to protract the session far beyond the usual limits. The retreat of the Peers will undoubtedly moderate the popular movement to abolish them. Nevertheless, the whole Liberal party, while not sharing the eagerness of the Radicals for immediate action, have now determined that the power of the Peers to control Parliamentary legislation must cease. Out of deference to Mr. Gladstone, the Liberal party may continue to give home rule the first place on its programme, but the question of the Peers will be regarded as the most vital and

The Speaker has broached a plan which was suggested by several Cabinet Ministers, and is approved by many Liberal Commoners. The plan is as ollows: The power of the House of Lords to veto bills passed by the House of Commons shall cease. The House of Lords may continue its revisory and suggestive functions, may even initiate legislation, but when a bill once amended shall be returned by them to the Commons the decision of the Lower House shall be final. In the event that the peers about Bathurst express the opinion that absolutely reject a bill sent up by the Commons, the Lower House may re-affirm the | stoved. The soldiers and marines still in Anarchist of letters, was tried yesterday measure by resolution, and thus override the objection of the Upper House. There are five peers in Mr. Gladstone's Cabinet. and none of them would support a measure to overthrow the Upper House. Three of them, however, while prepared to stand by their class, are known to be willing to reform the Peers. The Ministers in question are the Earl of Rosebery, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs; Lord Herschell, Lord High Chancellor, and the Earl of Kimberley, Secretary of State for India. The leaders of the movement against the Lords have arranged for two popular demonstrations in Hyde Park. The Trades Council will hold meetings there on March 18, and the House of Lords Abolition League will have processions and meetings on Easter Monday. The Chronicle is authority for the statement that Lord Salisbury's attitude in regard to the Employers' Liability and Local Government bills has aroused a strong feeling of opposition to his course on the part of the Queen and the Prince of Wales. The reigning family, the Chronicle adds, has always taken a common-sense view of its own interest, and more than once has exerted its influence to prevent the Peers from engaging in a conflict which might have its end in totally readjusting he constitution. British Reverses in Africa.

LONDON, Feb. 25 .- The rumors in circulation based on dispatches from Bathurst, West Africa, that a number of British officers and sailors had been killed in battle with slave dealers on the west coast, are confirmed by official dispatches. The cruiser Raleigh, the flagship of the British squadron on the West African coast, commanded by Rear Admiral Frederick C. D. Bedford. and the screw gunboat Widgeon, commanded by Lieut .- Commander William J. Scullard, arrived on Friday at Bathurst, capital of the British West African colony of Gambia, and the rumor soon spread that the sailors had been badly handled in an encounter with the slavers.

Later it was stated that landing parties from the ships had been sent ashore in order to punish Chief Fodisilah, a notorious slave dealer, who has been carrying off into bondage a d severely ill-treating the helpless native of a number of villages along that part of the coast which he rules over. The British sailors are said to have landed in force and to have marched inland, where they met with a severe reverse, losing three officers and ten men killed and 40 wounded.

Further details of the disaster to the sailors leaked out. It appears that the force of British blue-jackets which landed near Bathurst was composed of men from the flagship Raleigh and from the gunboat Widgeon. The landing parties went Evicted Tenants' Association of Cork re- ashore fully equipped for a march inland and for remaining ashore some time. Several machine guns were taken ashore and the landing parties carried provisions for four days and an ample supply of ammunition. A reserve force was left ashore at the landing place, which was thoroughly protected by the guns of the cruiser and the gunboat. After the blue-jackets and marines had landed the column began its march inland. But owing to the nature of. the country-swampy land, thick bushwood and forest-the advance and flanking parties were soon compelled to practically fall back upon the main column, which pushed forward in this manner for the interior.

For a long time after commencing the march inland little or no signs of natives were to be seen; in fact the coast in the neighborhood seemed to have been deserted. But when the British force had advanced well inland, and were surrounded by a thickly wooded country with rising land on both sides, the natives who had been hired to carry the spare ammunition, provisions and water began to desert and eventually the whole lot of them disappeared. The British force, however, seems to have continued its march inland and to have been eventually led into an ambush, for fire was suddenly opened upon it from all sides and the sailors were routed before | death" at Balaklava. they were able to make any effective use of the machine guns. Chief Fodisilah is a notorious and desperate slave owner, well known on the western coast of Africa. "The rapid growth of the popular agi-tation against the House of Lords," it in numbers and to have been only armed comments, "is evidenced by daily meet- with primitive rifles. Consequently the R ings. We are now face to face with one British landing parties were thought to be sage from Admiral Bedford at Bathurst, practically confirming all the stories circulated in regard to the disaster to the British force. Admiral Bedford said that the landing force was under command of Capt. Edward H. Gamble, and that the carriers, by their desertion, caused the loss of all the spare ammunition taken ashore for the use of the landing parties, and in addition the carriers caused the loss of all water supply which had been taken inland. Continuing, Admiral Bedford reported that the sailors, upon reaching signs of a native habitation, pushed forward and captured two villages which were defended by stockades. The sailors occupied these two villages throughout the following night, placing the machine guns at points of vantage and thus making themselves practically secure from attack. But the loss of the water supply and spare ammunition made Capt. Gamble decide to return to the shore with the intention of re-embarking his force. This movement was commenced early the next morning, and the column was on its way back when the sailors were suddenly attacked on all sides. The fire was so severe and the slavers were so well concealed in the bush that the blue jackets fell on all sides and began to retreat hastily, while carrying their wounded and dead along with them | Lord Salisbury in the House of Lords Friso far as possible. Lieut. Wm. M. Arnold, of the navy, and Lieutenant of Marines Francis Hervey were the first two officers bination. Assuming that Mr. Gladstone killed, and Sub-Lieut. Francis W. Meister and ten men soon shared their fate. Lieut. the Hon. Robert F. Boyle was dangerously wounded, and Lieut. Herbert J. Saville was seriously wounded. Capt. Gamble, Surgeon W. R. White, Midshipman Arthur

Chambers and 40 blue-jackets were slightly wounded during the retreat. A dispatch from Bathurst, received late last evening, seems to intimate that the news of a still greater disaster to the British arms may shortly be expected. It is stated that a detachment of a West India regiment, as well as the detachment of marines landed from the British ships, are still away inland, and grave fears are entertained for their safety. The West India regiment detachment is commanded by Col. Corbett, and Capt. Westmoreland is in command of the marines. The natives the entire missing force has been dethe bush are said to number about 200 men. Other reports place the number of men at a much higher figure. Admiral Bedford is said to believe that the soldiers and marines are in strong enough force to take the offensive against the slavers, and that Col. Corbett has probably engaged the forces of Chief Fodisilah and is pursuing them. The British admiral, however, is said to be taking steps to send reinforcements in the direction followed by the British column. LONDON, Feb 25 .- Late dispatches from Bathurst, West Africa, say that the parties warships Widgeon and Raleigh lost a field piece and 6,000 rounds of ammunition in their encounter with Chief Fodisilah and his warriors. The Alectro, a small special service vessel tried afterward to land a party of marines at Gonjor. but was driven off by the natives.

SANDOW OVERPOWERED.

The Modern Sampson Succumbs to the Nineteenth Century Delilah, Hypnotism.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26. - Sandow, the mighty, who is thought to have more strength than any man living, was made absolutely helpless Friday by a young man who weighs less than 140 pounds. The man of muscle was hypnotized, and so successfully that he not only obeyed every command of the physician while he was in the hypnotic sleep, but also carried out injunctions after he came out of the sleep. The seance took place at Sandow's rooms before a number of students of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and the hypnotizer was Dr. C. H. Mersereau. of No. 160 East One Hundred and Sixty-Fifth street. Sandow was hypnotized in less than 30 seconds. he sank deeper into the hypnotic sleep he was told to wave his hands about, making them move faster or slower, at the will of his master. At the command of "Stop!" his arms came to a tense position with a jerk. He was then told that his arms and legs were paralyzed, and although half a dozen men tried to move them they were unable to do so. He was then told that he was a prize fighter, and in a trice was transformed into a Corbett. The most remarkable test of the hypnotic state was, perhaps, making the giant eat salt. This he did, and apparently appreciated it, and asked for more when he had finished what was given him. Before the hypnotist finished he made the giant think that a dumbbell weighing 300 pounds weighed two pounds, and vice versa.

Grave Consequences of Her Ruin May Be Felt Throughout Europe.

Mr. Astor Loses $200,000 the First Year on His Newspaper.

Telegraphing Without Wires - New Political Combinations Prophesied-Carnegie's English Home-Expenses of the Queen's Trip.

London, Feb. 26.-This week will probably settle the question of the general election and the retirement of Mr. Gladstone. Everybody expects a crisis of some sort, and some surprising rumors are current. The most interesting one, and it comes from a high Unionist source, is that the Duke of Devonshire's opposition to day is the first step toward a new comwill retire, Lord Rosebery is to detach himself from the Radicals and join Chamberlain and the Duke of Devonshire in reorganizing the Liberal party. This would mean three parties in the House-Conservatives, Liberals, and probably a combination of Radicals and Home Rulers. It is probable.

The political situation is more critical than it has been since Chamberlain's last desertion of Gladstone, and the developments are pretty sure to include big sur-

Bankrupt Italy.

Italy's official confession of bankruptcy this week had a disquieting effect in the European capitals. Signor Sonnino's cry, "God help our country," with which he completed the announcement of the deficit of $35,000,000, with worse evils impending, finds an echo in the despair with which Europe regards the situation. Many believe it will be impossible to prevent the grave consequences of the country's ruin from soon being felt in general European politics. There is little confidence in the ability of the present or any other Government to save Italy from a great calamity. A Newspaper Costs Money.

Mr. Astor is finding it fully as expensive to indulge in the luxury of publishing a good newspaper as to maintain the finest steam yacht. The financial result of his first year's experience as proprietor of the Pall Mail Gazette, Budget and Magazine was recently put before him, A friend of Mr. Astor tells me that the balance on the wrong side of the account amounted to about $200,000. When he had examined the balance sheet a few minutes it is said that Mr. Astor remarked:

"If the balance against us next year exceeds $50,000 I shall think there is bad management somewhere.'

Carnegie's English Home.

Buckhurst Park, Earl Delaware's place in Sussex, which Andrew Carnegie has taken for the season, is a charming spot near the south coast, only an hour by rail from London. The house, although modern, has many associations of antiquity. It stands in the midst of beautifully timbered grounds, and the vast park is stocked with red deer. Mr. Carnegie will probably find the estate a pleasant change from his usual retreat in the far north of Scotland. He may prolong his stay if he finds the new quarters to his taste.

The Princess in Society Yet. The Princess of Wales has this week formally contradicted the reports as to her intention to retire from fashionable life by attending a performance of "Twelfth Night" at a theater here, accompanied by her husband. She appears to be in good spirits, and bore no trace of her recent illness. It is scarcely complimentary to the royal couple that most of the newspaper chroniclers thought it necessary to lay stress upon the fact that "the Prince showed his wife marked attentions."

A certain factitious interest in Anarchist doings in London has been nursed recently by the newspapers, but most of it has evaporated. After infinite fuss, the police more than 200 London Anarchists are under police surveillance and that great quantities of compromising literature and powerful explosives have been seized in Anarchist haunts. All this is news to the British public, and is received with incredulity by all Londoners.

Telegraphing Without Wires. Genuine progress is being made toward the next great electrical triumph-telegraphing and telephoning without wires. The latest results of English experiments were described in a lecture before the Society of Arts on Thursday by W. H. was hung on poles on the coast near Cardiff, the earth completing the circuit. Six hundred yards away another wire, 600 yards long, and parallel with the original line, was buried in the sand at the low water mark. More than three miles off, on Flat Holme Island, another wire, also 600 yards and parallel, was laid down. An alternating current, controlled by a Morse key, was sent through the first wire. The signals were reproduced in the wire on the island and read by a pair of telephones. Messages were easily sent. Similar experiments at five and a half miles were similarly an interesting scheme, possible, but hardly successful. The human voice was easily transmitted by the same means one and a quarter miles. Preece's critics contend that the results were due to conduction through the earth. He maintains that the results were due to electro-magnetic induction of the rapidly-alternating current in the primary circuit, throwing the surrounding ether into oscillations, and the energy was radiated in electric waves. These waves, he says, spread out like waves of light, and if they fall on conductors properly placed and sympathetically prepared are reconverted into an alternate current in the secondary circuit. Enthusiasts on the subject argue that we are fast getting on the track of the secret which, when secured, will enable

MR. WIMAN IS FREE.

Charles H. Deere Deposits $25,000 in Greenbacks as Bail.

A Letter from Gen. Tracey in Relation to the Charges.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 .- Deputy Sheriff Dalrymple brought Erastus Wiman from the Tombs to the district attorney's office shortly before noon yesterday, arrangements for bail having been perfected. Mr. Charles H. Deere produced $25,000 in greenbacks, deposited it and received a certificate of deposit. Recorder Smith then entered a formal order for the release of Mr. Wiman, who at once went to his home on Staten Island.

Mr. Chas. H. Deere, who bailed Mr. Wiman, is a rich manufacturer at Moline, Ill., and is the father-in-law of young Wm. Wiman, who is lying dangerously ill. The following letter in relation to the charges against Erastus Wiman is sent out by his counsel, Gen. Benjamin F. Tracy, exsecretary of the navy, in vindication of that gentleman:

"I have seen for the first time this morning the indictment against Mr. Wiman and have learned the history of the case and the facts upon which the indictments are founded. I am entirely satisfied, after county. much examination, that Mr. Wiman has committed no crime, and unless I am greatly misinformed the trial will develop a state of facts which will show that Mr. Wiman not only not a criminal, but that he has done nothing that can seriously reflect upon his honor or integrity as a man. I am not in the habit of trying my cases in the newspapers, but in view of the extent to which this course has been taken by Mr. Wiman's enemies and a certain part of his supposed friends, I think it only just to him that I should make this statement." The last paragraph of Mr. Wiman's book, "Chances of Success," to which he called attention in the morning reads: "An impress of one's active life on the community in which he resides for its great and lasting benefit, in a locality so plastic and so promising, is not an unhappy thing to look upon. In achieving a work of magnitude as is here going forward. mistakes and follies have been committed. But it is the rounded life of a man that must form the basis of the estimate of his success or failure. At the final accounting, perhaps, it will be what he has done, or tried to do for his fellow man, rather than what he has done for himself, by which he will be judged. By that standard on Staten Island, as elsewhere, the writer of these lines will be content to abide the WIMAN DEFENDED.

verdict." NEW YORK, Feb. 26 .- Mr. Boardman, one of Mr. Wiman's counsel, has given out a statement of Wiman's case, in which he says that for years Wiman has not only been a member of the firm of R. G. Dun & Co., but in the conduct of the business has been the responsible head of the concern. Ninety per cent. of all the checks drawn by R. G. Dun & Jo. during the past ten years have been signed by Wiman. Probably he has made the same percentage of all the firm's important contracts. 'I have for many years acted as Mr. Wiman's private counsel and am familiar with all his important outside business ventures. THE CRIME. Matthew Johnson, who was electrocuted to day for the murder of Emile Kuckelhorn, on Dec. 9, 1892, made a full confession of every detail of his crime and the causes which led to it. Johnson's lawyer paid him a visit last Friday, and during the conversation Johnson made the confession in the presence of two keepers. He said that he visited the electrotyping establishment where the murder was committed for the purpose of stealing some tools to pawn. He went into the place at 6 a.m. and hid in a loft until the afternoon. Then, believing that everybody had left the building, he went down the stairs to the cellar, where he was confronted by Kuckelhorn. The engineer had an iron poker in his hand and struck at him with it. He dodged the blow and struck Kuckelhorn on the head with an iron bar, felling him to the ground. The engineer staggered to his feet and over to the work-bench, where he seized a saw and attempted to defend himself, but was beaten down and struck until he died.

Johnson had no relatives in this country. He was a West Indian negro. His only visitor yesterday was the Rev. Mr. Wisher, a colored clergyman from New York.

A COLD DIP.

The Mercury Tries to Bore Its Way Through the Bottom of the Eulb. TORONTO, Feb. 25 .- The nights of Friday and Saturday were, from all accounts, the coldest of the season, the mercury registering many degrees below zero, as shown below:

Below Be New York, Feb. 25.—There is quite a severe storm traveling northward from the south Atlantic coast, attended by northeasterly winds and heavy snow. The weather bureau has issued a special bulletin, warning all railroads and common carriers of all kinds that the snow is likely to be heavy to-night and early to-morrow morning.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 25.—Another great snowstorm has been raging in the Mississippi Valley to-day. The ground is covered with snow from one foot to fourteen inches on the level. Such a thing as a snow plow is unknown in this latitude, and as a consequence traffic on many of the railroads is almost entirely suspended.

THEY TURNED BACK.

Two Persons Burned to Death Who

Might Have Been Rescued. VINELAND, N. J., Feb. 25 .- At 2:45 clock this morning the Robinson memorial cottage at the New Jersey Training School for Feeble Minded was destroyed by fire. J. H. Sage, the engineer, and his wife were burned to death, but the other inmates, sixteen in number, were rescued in their night clothes. Mr. Sage and wife appeared at one of the upstairs windows and could have been saved, but they turned back. Their charred remains were found at the foot of the stairs this afternoon. The cottage cost $15,000, and was insured for $8,000.

JUST LITTLE ONES.

Toronto Claims to Have Been the Scene of Several Earthquakes

Recently. Toronto, Feb. 25.—Several distinct shocks of earthquake have been felt in the east end of the city during the last day or The shocks seem to have covered but a limited area, or to have escaped general notice on account of their slightness. Rev. Wm. Frizzell is among those who distinctly felt the shocks. The last was noticed yesterday morning, but several slight shocks are said to have been felt on Friday.

BURNED OUT. A Church at Lindsay Scorched-Fires at Various Other Points. LINDSAY, Feb. 25 .- The Baptist Church here was badly schorched inside this morning by fire and only for the prompt action of the fire department would have been ruined. The loss will amount to several hundred dollars.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 25.—Three fourths of the business portion of McDonald, an oil town on the Panhandle Railroad, were burned yesterday. Loss $100,000; insurance $14,000.

New York, Feb. 25.—A special from Somerville, N. J., says: The Bound Brook Electric Power Transmission E. de la Hooke, Agent Standard Paint Company's works were burned Friday. Loss $200,000. burned Friday. Loss $200,000. ANANDAIGUA, N. Y., Feb. 25.—The N. Y. C. freight house at this place was totally destroyed by fire yesterday. All the vouchers and similar documents were lost. The loss to the Central road exclusive of freight in store is $3,000. Kaslo, B. C., Feb. 25.-Fire last night destroyed all the buildings on Front street between Third and Fourth streets excepting three stores. Thirty buildings were consumed. The loss will reach $200,000. BOWMANVILLE, Ont., Feb. 25 .- A fire occurred here this morning in the Misses Dingman's millinery store. Nothing could be saved, and the family who resided over the shop only woke in time to escape with their lives. Mr. Manning's hardware store adjoining was also badly damaged.

Death of Mackaye. LA JUNTA, Col., Feb. 25.—Steele Mackaye, author and dramatist, aged 47, died this morning near Timpas, on board a Santa Fe Railroad train, en route to San Diege, Cal., where it was hoped that he would build up his health. Mr. Mackaye was born at Fort Porter, now a portion of Buffalo.

The Natural Death. The natural death is no utopian dream. Both longevity and euthanasia are within the reach of mankind. Not a few have already secured both, while many more may find them. I have seen the man. He was old; he had neither pain, anger nor sorrow. Finally his intellect began to loose its power; his ambition changed to a desire for repose; his ideas of space, time and duty lingered for a moment-then passed away. Step by step his powers waned. Happily, painlessly, carelessly, the moments flew. The merry sounds of youth at play and the hum of the busy world only rocked him gently to sleep. On and on he passed, until at length his intellect ceased and consciousness was no more. This is the true euthanasia. It suggests no terror, it inflicts no pain, it brings no agony .- [Dr. J. Hobart Egbert, in the Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette. W. C. Carrothers, of Kingston, while delirious Saturday night, endeavored to go down a fire escape from his bedroom window but fell and died two hours later,

Mr. Gladstone is devoting any spare time which he has from his duty of managing the affairs of the British Empire, to an enthusiastic study of the Basque languages, the dialect of the strange people who inhabit the slopes of the Pyrenees. Michael Sitka was instantly killed, and Hon. James Collins, an ex-member of the Pennsylvania Legislature, fatally injured by an explosion of dynamite at Jeansville, Pa., on Saturday. "On the other hand, Pond's Extract, recommended, indorsed, prescribed by the most eminent members of the medical faculty, has grown and grown into public favor, ever onward; its reputation worldwide and well established; its virtues in-disputable. The verdict of the people, the experience of every household, have awarded it the highest rank in the list of curative agencies, because of its inherent worth, and that it does all it proposes to do."-[New York Graphic.

A hen is a very superior creature, but she could never lay a corner-stone. The man who is waiting for his ship to come in usually finds it a tug. The union industries in Alabama are reviving.

Among the pains and aches cured with may velous rapidity with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is earache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of City Office, 395 Richmond street this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, to which the young are specially subject.

A NOTED NOVA SCOTIAN DEAD.

Demise of Norman L. Munro, the Publisher and Yachtsman.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 .- Norman L. Munro, the yachtsman and publisher, died last night at the Hoffman House. The cause of death was heart failure. Mr. Munro had undergone an operation for appendicitis, but it was afterwards found that the patient was not suffering from the disease and that the operation was not necessary. Mr. Munro recovered from the effects of the ether and conversed with his physicians half an hour after the operation, but during the night and early morning his condition grew rapidly worse. His family was present when he died. Death was attributed to heart failure. The deceased was born in Middlebrook, N. S., 51 years ago. He came to New York when 25 years of age, obtained employment when 25 years of age, obtained employment as a clerk and saved his money. In 1872, with his brother George, he began the publication of the Family Story Paper. The business prospered, other publications were issued and larger quarters were obtained. POINTERS ON THE GRIP.

A Description of the Disease by One Who Has Suffered.

Ever had the grip? I will give you a few pointers. You will imagine you had a bad cold and you can wear it out, but you need not try it. The grip has fastened its fangs onto you and will not let go. You have got to give up, go home and go to bed. In a short time you will feel like the Chicago drummer who took the Keeley cure at

You will feel like an Anarchist and want to bomb. You will realize Beecher's dream of hell. You will think your head has been removed and an old beehive with the empty comb left in its place. Your mouth will taste like a pail of sauerkraut. You have the grip.

Your pulse is going at a 2:40 gait, and your temperature is away up to 103 or 104 in the shade, while pains of every variety and style shoot through your tired-out frame unceasingly. Now, you get to bed as soon as you can; the enemy must be routed at its first attack, if possible, so take three of Radway's Pills immediately, and then swallow a teaspoonful of Radway's Ready Relief diluted with half a tumbler of water. Then have your chest, throat and back rubbed with with the Ready Relief, cover up well with blankets and get into a good sweat. If the throat is already sore, tie a piece of flannel saturated with the Ready Relief around it. Ease and comfort will now take the place of distressful pain and aching limbs, and sleep-nature's sweet restorer-will be calm and restful, and when the morning breaks you will awake feeling refreshed and better.

This treatment, used before in similar epidemics, has cured thousands, and warded off pneumonia and other fatal diseases which are so ready to step in.

There is no better treatment than this for driving out a cold. Physicians are not always within call, and it is jeopardizing human life to be without such valuable | after six months' probation, during which

Crusade Against Smoking Begun in

New York Schools. YORK, Feb. 25. - The crusade against eigarette smoking in the public schools of New York has been formally begun by the distribution in all the grammar schools of copies of the constitution and pledges of the Anti-Cigarette League. The object of the league is to suppress the smoking of cigarettes by all the boys in the public schools and by all the other boys in the city. It is intended to carry out this reform through the boys themselves. There is to be a league organized in each grammar school, its members signing a pledge to retrain from smoking cigarettes till they are 21. The organizations are to be governed by the boys themselves. The constitution provides that any member who violates the agreement shall be dropped from the rolls and shall be required to surrender his button or badge to the council of ten, before whom he is tried. But any member who has been dropped has a chance to reform, and he must refrain from smoking eigarettes, he may be reinstated, and have his button returned to him.

-A dispatch says that New Orleans society is shocked because the mayor's daughter married his worship's bookkeeper. If the young woman had married a titled pauper who thrashed her after the honeymoon, society would not be half so shocked.

-Our city contemporary for the time being patronizes the Patrons. The Free Press has use for the Patrons just in proportion as they help to elect Conservative nominees and help to defeat Liberals. It is antagonistic, as we all know, to the chief planks in the Patrons platform.

-The Ontario mutual fire underwriters are so well satisfied that many fires are caused by incendiary means that they offer to pay the expenses of a fire coroner if the Government will appoint him. In all probability some steps in that direction will soon be taken. Altogether too many fires in this country occur under suspicious circumstances,

-The London Free Press gives Mr. W. R. Meredith a severe kick. It announces that the day has gone by when Toronto could foist its lawyer candidates upon outside constituencies. Mr. W. R. Meredith has been for four years a resident of Toronto, and he shows that he means to remain there by building for himself a magaificent residence at Rosedale, its most fashionable subnrb. Our city contemporary is rough on an old friend.

-The Toronto Empire pitches into the Patrons of Industry for objecting to Mr. Angers, the Quebec lawyer, as Minister of griculture. Is it not a reflection on the arming community of Canada that Sir John Thompson should select this man, who never had anything to do with the practical work of agriculture, to preside over a department charged with the expenditure of a vast amount of public money, when we have so many eminent agriculturists-even in the Conservative ranks -- any one of whom could have been shosen for the position? Sir Oliver Mowat made no such mistake when he selected alleges, that they untruthfully assail her Hon. John Dryden.

Judge Elliot, through the editorial columns of the London Free Press, essays to correct certain alleged misstatements regarding the Canadian tariff, made by Mr. D. C. Barker, an Englishman, who formerly did business in Montreal, but who now is an agent for British houses in New York city. The political judge-editor heads his piece, "Lies About Canada," and in the course of his argument thus adheres to the legend which he places over his editorial; Now, before I go further, I must premise that I am not concerned to discuss the question of protection and free trade. My object is simply to deal with statements made by the writer. After mentioning this duty of 70 per cent. on iron articles, he gives, as another instance of an enormous duty, 'the duty on rice is 70 per cent.' Now, in the Canadian tariff of duties per cent. The highest duty in that tariff is 50 per cent., and this is confined to less than half a dozen articles. This is sufficient to show how inaccurate this writer is." It is evident from this series of misrepresentations that the judge is more eager to defend the tax law which he has so often championed in the columns of our contemporary than to set Mr. Barker right. In one of these illustrations Judge Elliot tells half the truth, and in the others he simply misrepresents the facts, as inquiry of any reputable wholesale dealer will prove. It is true that the duty on unhulled rice is 17½ per cent.; but no merchant imports unhulled rice. The duty on rice ready for could not take exception to the form which table use is as near 70 per cent. as possible. Ordinary rice in England is worth about 8s. 6d. per cwt., which is equal to $1 82 per 100 pounds, and the duty on rice ready for table use is $1 25 per 100 pounds, that is equal to 70 per cent. Mr. Barker is right; the judge-editor is wrong.

As to iron Judge Elliot is also astray. The Dominion Government takes $2 of public money and pays it for every ton of Canadian iron which is produced. Pig iron can be bought in the foreign market for $10 50 per ton. The duty is 40 per cent. Thus the Canadian iron man has an advantage of 59 per cent. On puddled bar iron there is a duty of $9 per ton. The iron can be bought for about $15 per ton at Pittsburg. This is equal to 60 per cent. duty. On bar iron the duty is $13 per ton on a product worth $22 50 per ton in Liverpool-60 per cent. duty.

That Judge Elliot writes nonsense when he gives forth that the highest duty in the Canadian tariff is 50 per cent. is further shown by a reference to the duty placed against articles manufactured chiefly from iron. The duty on barbed wire fencing, for example, is 75 per cent. This product or twenty factories that begin work early can be bought in the United States for $2 and are so situated as to cover the whole per 100 pounds, and the duty is 11 cents per pound. Take screws of the higher grade as another example. On 11 inch screws the duty is 89 per cent. The cost of the goods is 18 cents per gross; the duty is 16 cents per gross. On scythes the duty is 70 per cent.; on steel forks, 80 per cent.; on skates, 110 per cent.; or iron shovels, 70 per cent.; on starch, 80 per cent., and so

Before the judge-editor again goes forth to defend the Canadian high-tax policy and to denounce what he is pleased to term "Lies About Canada," he should take an elementary course of instruction in regard to the subject-matter in hand. It does not look well for a judge to descend into the political arena to fight the battles of his party, and to win victories for them, as occasion may arise, only to find himself tripped up every time that his identity is disclosed. Any policy that cannot stand on its own merits, and without crafty misrepresentation, must be discredited in the eyes of all honest men.

IMPORTED CHILDREN.

Dr. Russell, medical superintendent of the Hamilton Asylum for the Insane, has discovered that a considerable percentage of the assisted child immigration finds its way to the insane asylums. This bears out the testimony submitted at various points in this Province to the prison commission. It is the misfortune of these waifs that, for the most part, they are the children of parents who have led irregular lives, and have transmitted to them bodies and minds none too vigorous. No doubt numbers of them do well in this country, but in view of the undoubted facts we have always questioned the policy of spending public money to bring them here. Young though Canada is, we all know that there are enough children of Canadians requiring care and training and the Dominion Government should be cognizant of this fact. If the people of Great Britain were made to face the problem of properly rearing these waifs and strays there would be little need for poor law authorities to urge the Dominion Government to aid in providing for

AN OLD SCANDAL REVIVED. It would be interesting to know why the authorities of the British Museum should, at this late date, resolve to put on their book shelves two books containing what purports to be a true account of the Beecher-Tilton scandal of nearly 30 years ago. Right in England, they have had far more odorous scandals in high life within the last decade, and most people have been contented with the newspaper details. As Mrs. Martin, formerly Victoria Woodhull, objects to the books, on the ground, as she garbage from Brooklyn deposited in the metropolis, unless the museum authorities have the good sense to throw the books in

A DISCREDITED SYSTEM At its recent meeting the Dominion Frange indorsed the Liberal tax policy of a ariff for revenue only. The Patrons of Industry have taken a similar stand, while the representatives of the workingmen, in the Dominion Labor Congress, go a step farther and demand entire free trade. No one but the monopolists and the needy politicians that gather the crumbs from their table now take kindly to the "N. P." It is thoroughly discredited.

-We agree with our contemporary, the Toronto Week, that the students of the Provincial University could have better honored Lord and Lady Aberdeen, when they visited Toronto than by reviving the custom of "putting themselves in the place of the beasts of burden in conveying their vice-regal visitors from one part of the grounds to another." We do not know, adds the Week, the origin of this custom, but we have never been able to attach any meaning to it which is not quite too suggestive of oriental servility and so quite phere of this Western world. We cannot conceive of it as pleasing to those in whose

-The Toronto Empire pitches into the Patrons of Industry for objecting to Mr. Angers, the Quebec lawyer, as Minister of griculture. Sir Oliver Mowat made no such mistake when he selected alleges, that they untruthfully assail her Hon. John Dryden.

JUDGE ELLIOT ON "LIES ABOUT CANADA."

Judge Elliot, through the editorial columns of the London Free Press, essays to correct certain alleged misstatements regarding the Canadian tariff, made by Mr. D. C. Barker, an Englishman, who formerly did business in Montreal, but who now is an agent for British houses in New York city. The political judge-editor heads his piece, "Lies About Canada," and in the course of his argument thus adheres to the legend which he places over his editorial: "Now, before I go further, I must premise that I am not concerned to discuss the question of protection and free trade. My object is simply to deal with statements made by the writer. After mentioning this duty of 70 per cent. on iron articles, he gives, as another instance of an enormous duty, 'the duty on rice is 70 per cent.' Now, in the Canadian tariff of duties there are none so high as 53 per cent., and the duty on rice is 171 per cent., not 70 per cent. The highest duty in that tariff is 50 per cent., and this is confined to less than half a dozen articles. This is sufficient to show how inaccurate this writer is."

It is evident from this series of misrepresentations that the judge is more eager to defend the tax law which he has so often championed in the columns of our contemporary than to set Mr. Barker right. In one of these illustrations Judge Elliot tells half the truth, and in the others he simply misrepresents the facts, as inquiry of any reputable wholesale dealer will prove.

It is true that the duty on unhulled rice is 171 per cent.; but no merchant imports unhulled rice. The duty on rice ready for table use is as near 70 per cent. as possible. Ordinary rice in England is worth about 8s. 6d. per cwt., which is equal to $1 82 per 100 pounds, and the duty on rice ready for table use is $1 25 per 100 pounds, that is equal to 70 per cent. Mr. Barker is right; the judge-editor is wrong.

As to iron Judge Elliot is also astray. The Dominion Government takes $2 of public money and pays it for every ton of Canadian iron which is produced. Pig iron can be bought in the foreign market for $10 50 per ton. The duty is 40 per cent. Thus the Canadian iron man has an advantage of 59 per cent. On puddled bar iron there is a duty of $9 per ton. The iron can be bought for about $15 per ton at Pittsburg. This is equal to 60 per cent. on a product worth $22 50 per ton in Liverpool-60 per cent. duty.

That Judge Elliot writes nonsense when he gives forth that the highest duty in the Canadian tariff is 50 per cent. is further shown by a reference to the duty placed against articles manufactured chiefly from iron. The duty on barbed wire fencing, for example, is 75 per cent. This product can be bought in the United States for $2 per 100 pounds, and the duty is 11 cents per pound. Take screws of the higher grade as another example. On 11 inch screws the duty is 89 per cent. The cost of the goods is 18 cents per gross; the duty is 16 cents per gross. On scythes the duty is 70 per cent.; on steel forks, 80 per cent.; on skates, 110 per cent.; or iron shovels, 70 per cent.; on starch, 80 per cent., and so

Before the judge-editor again goes forth to defend the Canadian high-tax policy and to denounce what he is pleased to term "Lies About Canada," he should take an elementary course of instruction in regard to the subject-matter in hand. It does not look well for a judge to descend into the political arena to fight the battles of his party, and to win victories for them, as occasion may arise, only to find himself tripped up every time that his identity is disclosed. Any policy that cannot stand on its own merits, and without crafty misrepresentation, must be discredited in the eyes of all honest men.

IMPORTED CHILDREN. Dr. Russell, medical superintendent of the Hamilton Asylum for the Insane, has discovered that a considerable percentage of the assisted child immigration finds its way to the insane asylums. This bears out the testimony submitted at various points in this Province to the prison commission. It is the misfortune of these waifs that, for the most part, they are the children of parents who have led irregular lives, and have transmitted to them bodies and minds none too vigorous. No doubt numbers of them do well in this country, but in view of the undoubted facts we have always questioned the policy of spending public money to bring them here. Young though Canada is, we all know that there are enough children of Canadians requiring care and training and the Dominion Government should be cognizant of this fact. If the people of Great Britain were made to face the problem of properly rearing these waifs and strays there would be little need for poor law authorities to urge the Dominion Government to aid in providing for

AN OLD SCANDAL REVIVED. It would be interesting to know why the uthorities of the British Museum should, at this late date, resolve to put on their book shelves two books containing what purports to be a true account of the Beecher-Tilton scandal of nearly 30 years ago. Right in England, they have had far more odorous scandals in high life within the last decade, and most people have been contented with the newspaper details. As Mrs. Martin, formerly Victoria Woodhull, Mrs. Martin, formerly Victoria Woodhull, objects to the books, on the ground, as she alleges, that they untruthfully assail her reputation, there is a danger that the reputation, there is a danger that the

A DISCREDITED SYSTEM.

At its recent meeting the Dominion Grange indorsed the Liberal tax policy of a ariff for revenue only. The Patrons of Industry have taken a similar stand, while the representatives of the workingmen, in the Dominion Labor Congress, go a step farther and demand entire free trade. No one but the monopolists and the needy politicians that gather the crumbs from their table now take kindly to the "N. P." It is thoroughly discredited.

-We agree with our contemporary, the Toronto Week, that the students of the Provincial University could have better honored Lord and Lady Aberdeen, when they visited Toronto than by reviving the custom of "putting themselves in the place of the beasts of burden in conveying their vice-regal visitors from one part of the grounds to another." We do not know, adds the Week, the origin of this custom, but we have never been able to attach any meaning to it which is not quite too suggestive of oriental servility and so quite out of place in the free, democratic atmosphere of this Western world. We cannot conceive of it as pleasing to those in whose honor it was done, though, of course, they could not take exception to the form which any compliment paid to them might assume. We had hoped that this mode of honoring public men had become obsolete in Canada.

DAIRYING INTERESTS.

Meeting of the W. D. A. Executive Committee.

Arrangements for Instruction and Inspection at the Cheese Factories During the Approaching Season.

The executive committee of the Western Dairymen's Association met on Saturday, in the secretary's office, this city. The members present were: President Pattullo, Woodstock; John Geary, London; A. F. MacLaren, Windsor; and J. S. Pearce, London.

Arrangements were completed for the work of instruction and inspection at the cheese factories during the coming season, The services of Mr. T. B. Millar, who has so ably filled the position of instructor and inspector for the association during the past three years, will be retained for the coming season. Instead of giving instruction in making early spring cheese in four factories as was done last year, arrangements will be made to have Mr. Millar or twenty factories that begin work early and are so situated as to cover the whole of Western Ontario. This plan will give the makers in every district an opportunity, before beginning work in their own factories, of getting practical instruction in the best methods of making early cheese and of operating the Babcock milk tester. This work will continue till the first of June, when Mr. Millar will begin his work as traveling instructor and inspector.

The secretary of the association will be available to render assistance to the secretaries and makers of factories where the system of paying for milk by the percentage of butter fat is adopted in operating the Babcock milk tester and in making up the patrons' accounts. There will be no grant to the Industrial

Fair, Toronto, this year, The association will continue its grant of $100 to the Western Fair, London, as usual. At the close of the cheese markets last year committees were appointed by the various cheese markets in the west to meet in conjunction during the convention at Ingersoll to discuss rules, regulations and best methods of controlling the sales of cheese on the different markets in Western Ontario. This joint meeting did not take place at that time. Consequently the executive of the association, being desirous of furthering the general interests of dairying in Western Ontario, decided to take the matter up and arrange for a joint meeting to be composed of the president and secretary of the different cheese markets and some of the cheese buyers. This joint committee will meet in the secretary's office, London, on Monday, March 26, and the various parties will be notified accordingly.

The dairy school will not be continued at Tavistock during the coming season. Its place has been in a large measure taken by the Provincial Dairy School, Guelph, and the necessity of such a school is not so much felt now as a few years back. Its place will be filled largely by the system of traveling instruction during the summer. Arrangements were made for an additional local convention to those already arranged for at Harrow, Essex county, on Tuesday, March 13. The Secretary will issue a circular shortly setting forth in detail the different branches of the work to be carried on during the year. This will be sent to all the cheese factories in operation in Western Ontaric.

In using medicines to stop pain, we should avoid such as inflict injury on the system, Orium, Morphine, Chloroform, Ether. Cocaine and Chloral stop pain by destroying the sense of perception, the patient losing the power of feeling. This is a most destructive practice: it masks the symptoms, shuts up, and, instead of removing trouble, breaks down the stomach, liver and bowels, and, if continued for a length of time, kills the nerves and produces local or general paralysis.

There is no necessity for using these uncertain agents when a positive remedy like Radway's Ready Reliei will stop the most excruciating pain quicker, without entailing the least danger, in either infant or adult.

The Toronto shoe workers' strike is not at an end. A settlement had nearly been arrived at in the men's case, and after a consultation between the men and the girls it was decided that the girls should agree to a reduction of 10 per cent., which they understood would be satisfactory to the firm. When the girls made the offer, however, the firm refused, and the men have resolved not to ratify the terms of their own settlement till an understanding Passaic, N. J., Feb. 25 .- The girls employed in the measuring department of Reid & Barry's print works are on strike for an increase in wages. They claim their wages have been reduced from $5 to $3 50 week. Besides reducing their wages, one of the pretty strikers says Superintendent Bryce has interfered with what they call their natural rights. "We used to be allowed the freedom of the shop, and when we weren't busy could go about and chat with the young men, but, pshaw! Mr. Bruce has stopped all that now. NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The crisis in the fight between the union steamfitters and their helpers was reached yesterday, when the board of walking delegates ordered a strike of 400 men on two buildings. Three unions represented in the board refused to obey orders, and their men are still at work. They are the United Order of Carpenters and Joiners, the Elevator Constructors Union and the Enterprise Association of Steamfitters. These unions will be suspended from the board at its meeting on Monday unless they order their

FINAL NOTICE.

To-morrow, at 10 a.m., the city assessment commissioner will receive all affidavits by citizens entitled to be on the voters' lists, but whose names have been omitted in the preliminary list.

Voters have only until to-night to hand their names to the secretary of the Liberal Association at the rooms, Oddfellows' Block, and subscribe to the necessary declaration, a process which costs nothing.

Every citizen of Liberal proclivities whether old or young-should examine the lists to-night, and make sure that his name is on the lists. Many citizens of long residence have found that their names have been omitted. Are you sure yours is on? Examine the lists now and make certain.

The only qualifications are:

1. You are a British subject.

2. You are 21 years of age or upwards. 3. You reside in the city. A little time spent on this important county judge, or disappointment on election day. OTHER NAMES OMITTED. The following well-known citizens find, on examination of the voters' lists, that their names have been dropped from the Jas. Williams, 354 Dundas street.

The Draper Disappearance.

No word has been had of Thomas Draper, the London West market gardener, who left his home on Wednesday last to come to this city. While Mrs. Draper is naturally very much worried over the affair, no suspicion of foul play is entertained. Mr. S. J. Draper, the missing man's brother, thinks that his brother took it into his head to go visiting and went, and that he will be heard from in a few days.

The Cannom Mystery.

Matthias Cannom, the missing South Londoner, has not returned and fear is expressed that he will not return alive. Arrangements were made last night at the home of the family on the Wortley road, to institute a thorough search, commencing this morning. The opinion prevails that Cannom has been drowned in the Thames above Hunt's dam. He was in the habit of taking a short cut to the city across the ice, and as this part of the river is very dangerous it is possible that he might have slipped through an airhole into deep water. The nervous strain on the family is very severe, and a reward will be offered for information throwing any light on the affair.

SIR WILLIAM MEREDITH DEAD. The Distinguished Jurist of Quebec-

His Career. . QUEEEC, Feb. 26 .- Sir William Meredith, ex-chief justice of the Superior Court of the Province of Quebec, died this morning, aged 81.

Sir William Meredith was born in Dublin, Ireland, in 1812. He came to this country in 1824 with his step-father, the Rev. Edward Burton, who settled in Rawdon, near Montreal, where Mr. Burton had a mission under the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. Young Meredith studied law in the offices of the late S. De Bieury and J. C. Grant, Q.C., Montreal, and was admitted to the bar in 1836 and made Queen's Counsel in 1848. In 1849 he was raised to the Superior Court bench by the Lafontain-Baldwin Government, and retired from one of the largest legal practices in Montreal, which he had conducted with the late Mr. Bethune and Judge Dunkine. He was subsequently appointed to the Queen's Bench, on and the death of Chief Justice Bowen in 1886 Sir William was appointed to that high office which he held until 1884, when he retired owing so failing health. In 1886 the honor of

Col. Wheate Does Not Appear Meet the Court.

Col. Meagher to Remain in the Debtor's Cell Until Bailed.

Says He Re used to Leave the City-An Adjournment of the Case-A Legal Dialegue.

For the third time since the instigation of proceedings the case against Col. John R. Wheate and Col. E. J. Meagher came up for trial at the court house this morning. The charge was that of obtaining under false pretenses $150 from Dr. Gray, of Lobo, whom they were treating for the cocaine habit. The court was opened at 11 o'clock by Squire Smyth. Messrs. McEvoy and Wilson appeared for Dr. Gray and Messrs. Graydon and Toothe for the colonels. The constable first called upon Col. Meagher to appear and save his own recognizances. Meagher was present and responded to his name; but when Wheate's name was called what had been rumored for three or four days was proven beyond doubt. He had skipped the country and left his partner in the lurch. After calling on Wheate in vain, N. P. Graydon, his bondman, was called upon 'to produce the body of John Rue Wheate and save his recog-nizances." This created considerable laughter. Mr. Gradon asked, as bondsman, for Wheate, that an objection be noted. It was that at the previous sitting the adjournment had been made till 10 o'clock, whereas the court did not commence until 11. He did so for his own security, and claimed that under the form of the bond he was not

Owing to the absence of Wheate Acting Crown Attorney McKillop informed the court that he was not ready to proceed. He said the same charges were preferred against both, and he did not propose to go on until Wheate was brought back.

Mr. Graydon for the defendants, in reply to Mr. McKillop, said that Meagher was in a peculiar position. In the absence of Wheate it would be almost impossible to get bail. It was unfortunate that he should have been associated with Wheate. "Were it not for Dean Innes," said Mr. Graydon, "Meagher would be in jail now."

And so the cross-firing proceeded, Mr. Toothe stating that the contract entered into by Dr. Gray and over which the trouble arose, was not between Wheate, Meagher and Gray, but between Wheate

Squire Smyth was inclined to grant the request for an adjournment.

Mr. McEvoy—We say that these two men were here and jointly committed the offense. You (turning to Mr. Graydon) by your argument here this morning have shown that you think the stronger case is against Wheate. You get him out of the country by securing yourself for his bail. Mr. Graydon, angrily-You are a liar. When you know that you can say it.

Mr. Wilson-We will not take that expression down. Mr. Gravdon-You This is the second list of prominent like bloodhounds in this case from the be-

This little set-to, though occurring after the adjournment had been granted, somewhat enlivened things, and after it had finished, the lawyers and Col. Meagher had a conversation in which they discussed the best course to pursue. Meagher finally decided to go to jail until the return to the city of Doan Innes, when it is expected bail will be furnished.

WHERE WHEATE WENT. Last Tuesday night about 11 o'clock a hack was seen to drive up to the door of the German Remedy Institute on Clarence street. In a few moments a man emerged, carrying only a small hand satchel. He stepped into the carriage and was driven to the C. P. R. station, where he boarded the train for Detroit. Before leaving Wheate informed Meagher that he would be back on Friday, and as he had been to Chicago the previous week nothing was thought of it. Mr. McEvoy heard of Wheate's departure and telephoned to Windsor to the chief of police; but it was too late, and Mr. Wheate is now resting easily under the Stars and Stripes.

MRS. WHEAT ALSO DEPARTS. The wife of Col. Wheat, who came here with her husband, was a very sociable lady and was highly respected by the patients in the institute. Mrs. Wheate remained in the city after her husband left, and on Wednesday was seen very little around the house. This created no suspicion among the inmates at the house, and in the evening all connected with the house (save Mrs. Wheate) went to the opera. On returning one of the patients met her as she was coming out of the door. All Mrs. Wheate said was "Good-bye, doctor," and she jumped into the carriage, was driven to the C. P. R. station, boarded the train for Detroit and was seen no more. It is believed she was joined in that city by her husband. She took all the latter's baggage with her.

COL. MEAGHER'S POSITION. Col. Meagher was seen by a reporter before being removed to the debtor's cell. He was in no way downcast over his going to jail, but was greatly disappointed at the course pursued by his partner and said that he was fully convinced he would have returned. He said he had received a telegram from Detroit wiring him $25 and asking him to leave the city. This he declined

Jacob and David Dodd had fallen out a long time ago, so long ago, in fact, that the neighbors no longer talked and wondered about the matter.

"They hed a furse," was the explanation vouchsafed to the inquiring stranger who showed a mild desire to know while the two old bachelor brothers lived apart; but the why and wherefore of the "furse" were un-

"There wa'n't nary one of 'em good at cookin'," said a voluble female neighbor, and I reckon wen they onct got to jawin'. the wa'n't nothin' fer to keep em together.' The old brothers each owned a little wooden house and a few acres of land in the vicinity of the town of Slippin. Whatever had been the nature of the "furse," the breach, after seven years, remained un-healed. Occasionally these two old men would pass each other on the public road, but they passed without speaking. Now and then they found themselves together at the store or the blacksmith's shop, but neither appeared aware of the other's pres-"They's the plaguedest, coldest pair o'old fellows I ever come acrost," said the good-hearted blacksmith, shaking his head in disapproval and distress. "I'd a heap sooner fer to see men fight a thing out, and git shed o'the hard feelin'. My old woman's mighty down on the fightin' principle, but I ay to the youngsters to-day, and I'll say it to 'em to-morrow—better a sight fer 'em to fight and git the thing over than fer to let it settle on 'em like it's done settled on the Dodds. One own brother not a-lettin' on wen t'other's round! Blamed ef I was t'other'n ef I'd stand no sech capers!" Then the blacksmith burst into a loud

"Plague it," he said, "ef in this case both of 'em ain't t'other'n! Jacob Dodd a leanin' yer 'ginst the doo'll let on that David Dodd ain't got his hoss's head clost to the winder, and David, talking through the winder, 'il see everybody but Jacob leanin' 'ginst the door. Don't tell me 'taint better fer the lads to fight it out!"

It seemed still more unpardonable that the two old brothers, in this unfriendly frame of mind, should walk side by side as mourners in a funeral procession. Never-theless that, too, came to be.

Walking side by side behind the pine coffin containing all that remained of Uriah Dodd's widow, each formed the resolution that he "would do fer Uriah's gal." They told her so separately after they got back to her home. It was out in the little yard that Jacob Dodd laid his hand kindly on her shoulder, and said in a voice that trembled somewhat:

"I want you fer to come home along with me w'en you's ready to travel." To which invitation Clarissa tearfully answered,

That same afternoon David Dodd loomed before her in the little kitchen, where she stood by the forsaken safe trying to dry her

'Uriah's darter'll find a welcome, a warm welcome, to my plact," he said, his white old face working. And Clarissa Dodd had answered yes this time, too.

She came into the living-room the next morning as the two old men sat there, the one reading the county paper, the other gazing out of the window. They were patiently waiting for her to say when she was ready

She was a good-sized, strong-looking girl, with a mass of pretty brown hair coiled about her head. She had honest brown eves, and her cheeks were round and red. The one old man let his paper fall to the floor, the other turned from the window. "Uncles," Clarissa asked, standing be-tween them, "w'en we alls goin' hum?"

overspread Uncle Jacob's face: Uncle David coughed. Could it be possible that Clarissa Dodd wasn't aware of the "furse?" Evidently not, for she came a little nearer and repeated her question: "Uncles, w'en we alls goin' hum?"

It was an awkward moment. Jacob Dodd was the first to find his voice. "You's goin' ack with me, Clarissy," he

"You give ye mise fer to go along with me. Clarissy," same David, earnestly.

The look of surprise deepened in Clarissa's brown eyes. "Why, ain't you both a-livin' over to Sippin?" she gasped.
"Tas. Clarissy, I'm a-livin over to Slippin," responded Jacob Dodd, solemnly. I'm a-livin' over to Slippin alone."

"I'm a-livin to myself over to Slippin, Clarissy," said David Dodd, in even tones. The surprise in Clarissa's brown eyes changed to distress. "What on earth am I fer to do?" cried Uriah's daughter. "She said as you alls lived together over to Slippin. She told me as I wuz to go and do fer you. I promised I would do fer you the same as I was yourn

'stead o' pap's."

Jacob Dodd stooped and picked up the county paper, uncurled the corners, and flattened the sheet upon his knee. He had made up his mind, as he walked among the mourners that he would "do for Uriah's gal;" and now this young thing, with her honest eyes and strong frame and her pretty coil of hair, was telling about a promise made to the dead Clarissa to do for himself and David, too.

He believed very much in keeping a promise made to the dying-made to the dead, as most folks called it; but in this ininstance the thing was impossible.

He realized, too, that Clarissa was right in saving that she was to do. She would make a big bit of difference in the lonely little house over at Slippin. She would tidy it considerable; she would, very likely, put some flower-pots in the windows,

"I ain't got much fer to offer you, Clar-issy," he said, with a catch in his voice.
"The plact ain't noways fine, nor 'tain't ben 'tended to as it ought. But it's sort o' com-fortable, and could be made humlike. "I'll see that the winders is fixed in tight, and I'll get a man fer to make a neater job o' the floor. Ef them pine boards ain't jest to yer notion, why, maybe by spring we might lay off fer a carpet." His face brightened a little when he mentioned the carpet. 'Yes, we'll manage fer to buy a carpet somehow," he concluded. "Clariss," said David Dodd, "w'en I asked you fer to come along hum with me, and you said that you wuz willin', I didn't know wot kind o' gal you wuz I didn't know you wuz as big as you is. I got you sort o' mixed up with the other time I wuz yer the time I traveled over fer to 'tend Uriah's burial." Here he caught his breath and burial." Here he caught his breath and paused.

"I ought fer to seen you wuz a good-sized gal," he went on, "some'n that 'ud be a heap o' ust in a house; but I didn't. I says to myself, 'I'll do fer Uriah's gal till she's big and strong and able to do fer herself.' You's big and strong a'ready. You's able fer to do fer vourself a'ready ef you wuz pushed. You'll make a powerful difference in my place over to Slippin. But I'll give up the place over to Slippin. But I'll give up the chickens to you, and with the young spring chickens and the eggs, you'll be able fer to lay by a little some'n'."

HOW DEATH FEELS.

An Indiana Man Who Came Back From the Grave.

Returned to Lie When Students Began to Dissect Him_He | Describes the Sensations.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 24,-It remained for an Indiana man to first tell the world how it really feels to die. Levin P. Otis, of Hammond, Ind., was stricken with pneumonia a few days ago in Chicago, and was taken to a hospital. After a prolonged illness he was pronounced dead and in due time buried. He had been permitted to rest for but one day and part of a night. when several medical students dug him up. They shipped him back to Chicago and chalk that contains 10,000,000 minute placed him in the dissecting room in the college of which they were students, and after getting out their knives and rolling up their sleeves were about to proceed to cut him up after the most scientific mode, when he opened his eyes and asked them for a drink of water. The stuc nts, in spite of their calloused nerves, were horrorstruck and fled from the room, leaving Mr. Otis in full possession. He in a moment sank again into insensibility, and would no doubt have died in earnest in a short time had the frightened students not recovered themselves and returned to apply restora-

> In speaking of his horrible experiences and sensations while sinking into the grave and from thence to the dissecting table, where he so narrowly and miraculously escaped the keen and eager knives of the > students, Mr. Otis said: "I was sick and in great pain. Once I thought that I might die, and then, fearing to invite death, I dismissed the idea. But my suffering increased, and I knew that I was becoming weaker and weaker day by day. Oh, the dreariness of the long nights ! I lay sketching plans for future work, and I looked back upon the skeletons of good resolutions. But my life, my misdeeds, did not pass before me in review. I simply pronounced myself a failure in the aggregate, and regretted it, and I am now constrained to think that, no matter how much a man may have accomplished, he must, as death draws nigh, regard himself as a "One night all pain suddenly ceased. This was hopeful, and I thought I'd tell my attendant about it, but when I attempted to speak I found that I could not. This, however, did not worry me any. But why should so heavy a weight be placed upon my breast? I looked down to see what it was, but could see nothing. Oh, how tired I was, but I suffered no pain. It was the rest that must come after so long and exhaustive a fight. I attempted to raise my hand and couldn't. I couldn't raise even a finger. This was strange, but not alarming. What was that I heard? The doctor had said that I could last but a few moments longer. That was nonsense. would show him. How quiet were my nerves, and I had been so nervous! What a relief! The heaviness was gone, but I couldn't move.

"Why had they put out the light? What was that? Someone said: "Pull down the shade; the sun is shining in my face. Sun shining in my face! Why, the sun has gone down hours ago. Oh, how the human family persisted in lying! What was that drop? They had taken the pillow from 'How he must suffer!' Suffer. I wasn't suffering at all. But I couldn't remain much longer in this condition. And I mused that if I could only turn over I would go to sleep. I couldn't move, though, and I lay there thinking. "Suddenly I thought: 'This is death, Why didn't I think of it before? When did I begin dying? Oh, it must have been years ago! Why, I have been dying all my life.' Well, I was glad it was all over. Then I mused: 'I wonder if I am dead now. How am I to know when I am d'ad? I will put it all aside. I will sleep.'

"The next thing I knew was a feeling of thirst, and that was when I asked those carvers for a drink of water. And I want to say that they may call it suspended animation and all that sort of thing, but I know that I have been dead."

The surgeon may be very sedate, but he is a great hand to cut up. The bright side of a situation is hard to see when one is underneath it.

cers may give you some poor imitation of it, which pays them a larger profit but which it will not pay you to use. It isn't enough to order Pearline. See that you get it. It has grown into favor so rapidly that it has not only brought out a host of imitations, but it has led people to call any powdered soap, washing-powder, or so-called washing compound-anything in the way of a powder for cleansing purposes-Pearline. This is all very flattering to Pearline, but if it's these imitations that you've used, you can't be enthusiastic. 402 JAMES PYLE, N. Y.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium. morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves.' A parlor social under the auspices of the young people of King Street Presbyterian Church will be held on Friday night at the residence of Mr. Grant, King street east. The elders of the King Street Presbyterian Church are seriously considering the advisability of enlarging the structure by the addition of a gallery. The congregation has grown rapidly since the induction of the new pastor, Rev. Mr. Robertson. Rev. A. Findlay, "the missionary bishop" of the Algoma district, presented the claims of that region Sunday morning and evening at the Park Avenue and St. Andrew's Presbyterian Churches respec-

on the dollar, and as will be seen in the The Jesuit fathers, O'Brien and Dorothy, advertising columns of this issue they intend running the stock off as soon as opened their mission in St. Peter's Cathepossible. The store will be open in the dral Sunday, the church being crowded at each service. High mass was held in the morning. This week the mission is supposed to be for women. Next week it will morning for the general public, and no be for men. At this morning's 9 o'clock service the cathedral was filled.

Mr. Peter McGregor, of St. Andrews, Que., a young student from McMaster Hall, preached an excellent sermon in Adelaide Street Baptist Church Sunday evening. Rev. D. M. Mihell, the pastor, occupying the pulpit in the morning. On Sunday next Rev. Thomas S. Johnson, a former pastor, will conduct the anniversary services at this church, while Mr. Mihell will preach in Brantford.
