EXHIBITION FLYING ABOVE RESIDENTIAL DISTRICTS TO BE STRICTLY FORBIDDEN

Privy Council Approves Regulations Recommended by the Canadian Air Board—Heavy Penalties Provided For the Violation of Measures Relating To Air Navigation.

Ottawa, July 16.—On the recommendation of the air board the privy council has approved of regulations forbidding dangerous flying. Trick or exhibition flying over residence areas is absolutely prohibited, as is also such flying at regattas or other public assemblies, except where specially arranged for by the promoters. Dangerous low flying is forbidden everywhere and any flying over cities or towns must be at a height which permits the machine to land outside in the event of engine failure. Nothing dangerous must be dropped under any circumstances from a flying machine. The penalties provided are six months' imprisonment or a fine of $1,000, or both, and not only the pilot but the owner of the machine is liable. The air board has under consideration a full code of regulations relating to air navigation, but does not propose to recommend these for adoption until a technical administrative staff has been secured. Notices will be given within a few days of the positions to be filled. The appointments will be made with the assistance of the civil service commission.

DISCHARGES HIS VOW BY GETTING HIS FIRST HAIRCUT IN 48 YEARS

Montreal, July 16.—For the first time in 48 years J. A. Cholley, a veteran of the Franco-Prussian war of 1870, sat in a barber's chair last week for the cutting of a crop of hair nearly a half century old, and the trimming of a beard that was more than patriarchal. After a sitting of less than half an hour he emerged from the chair with a close clipped head and an imperial after the style of Napoleon III., the last emperor of France. Mr. Cholley had discharged his vow, made in 1871, of never having his hair cut or beard trimmed until France had taken her revenge on Germany.

U. S. SOLDIERS WILL LEAD VICTORY MARCH IN BRITISH CAPITAL

Allied Troops To Parade in Alphabetical Order.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICES

Will Be Conducted At Cathedrals Following the March.

London, July 16.—A composite regiment of U. S. soldiers, 350 strong, headed by General Pershing, will lead the great victory march through London on Saturday, July 19, according to the completed program announced last night. The decision to have the Allied troops march in alphabetical order as to nations resulted in the place of honor going to the Americans. The parade will take an unusual route, starting from Hyde Park chiefly, and proceeding along the south side of the Thames.

After the Belgian contingent, the French, a thousand strong, will follow, then a rather smaller body of Italians, all led by generals; then a detachment of Japanese and other Allies' representatives. The forces of the British Empire will march behind the Allied contingents. Admiral Sir David Beatty, head of the navy and Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig and other generals will lead the British army, in which all arms will participate, including the women's corps and nurses, all with their massed standards and their colors and bands and pipes. The Australians, South Africans and Indian troops will also march in the pageant.

Impressive Services.

One of the most impressive moments will be in Whitehall, where the procession will salute the stately memorial to the dead designed by Sir Edwin Luytens. Special provision and accommodation has been made for four thousand female relatives and children of the officers and men killed in the war and also for the wounded.

The London celebrations promise to equal those held in Paris in their great scale and heartiness. Services have been organized in cathedrals and churches, and school children will also participate in open air festivities in parks, and entertainments will include old English dances. The metropolis is crowded in unprecedented manner and accommodation is difficult to obtain.

Steamer Forced To Unload Cargo Of Ammunition

Naples Workmen Compel Ship From London To Discharge War Supplies.

Naples, July 15.—The steamer Cablons arrived here from London today, but was stopped by workmen in the harbor, who refused to allow her to continue her voyage because she carried ammunition. The crew of the Cablons was forced to unload the cargo, after which the ship was allowed to proceed.

TRIPLE ALLIANCE TO DISCUSS QUESTION RUSS INTERVENTION

Action To Be Considered Soon, Says Miners' President.

London, July 16.—At the annual conference of the Miners' Federation, President Smillie said action in regard to intervention in Russia would be discussed by the triple alliance, in conference at London next week. He hoped it would rectify matters without further action being necessary. He declared that the miners did not believe it necessary to include the price of coal by six shillings. The federation was as anxious as anybody to have the fullest possible output of coal, and he denied absolutely that the miners were to blame for any decrease in the output, which would be enormously increased if the men were given an opportunity of producing all they could. If it were found after full inquiry that the miners were to blame the federation would use its whole power to rectify matters.

President Smillie said the capitalists were combining to endeavor to prevent the present Government from carrying out the recommendations of the coal companies. The coal miners would pledge themselves to strike, if necessary, in order to assist the Government to bring to light any combination of employers. The conference adopted a resolution promising the Government its fullest support in carrying out the recommendations in the majority report of the coal commission.

American Soldier Not As Well Paid As Many Others

Washington, July 16.—Popular belief in the United States that the American soldier is higher paid than that of any other country is erroneous, according to an official table issued today by the general staff. This shows that the three British dominions — Canada, Australia and New Zealand—allow materially higher prices for each grade than does the United States. For instance, in the Australian army a corporal earns $72.90 per month, as compared to $36 in the American army.

ST. CATHARINES BAKERS' STRIKE IS SETTLED

St. Catharines, July 16.—The bakers' strike was settled this morning, and all bakers will return to work tonight, and the drivers tomorrow. While the schedule accepted is not up to the maximum demanded, it is in excess of what the master bakers offered and carries with it recognition of the union. The increase in wages averages about eight per cent.

FORD ADMITS HE IS "IGNORANT IDEALIST," THEN RETRACTS IT

Describes Benedict Arnold As Writer, in Answer To Lawyer's Question.

IS CLOSELY EXAMINED

Asked To Define the Words "Traitor and Idealist."

Mount Clemens, Mich., July 16.—In a moment of petulance while on the witness stand today, Henry Ford, plaintiff in a one million dollar libel suit against the Chicago Daily Tribune, admitted that he was "an ignorant idealist." Subsequently he reversed his statement.

This was one of the alleged libellous charges made against him in the Tribune editorial. Attorney Stevenson, for the Tribune, had been asking questions to establish, if possible, that Mr. Ford, as a matter of fact, was ignorant. The witness said that he made the admission merely to stop the examination. Later when formally asked to admit that he was an "ignorant idealist" he declined to do so.

In the course of the examination Mr. Ford defined a traitor as "one who works against the government," an idealist as one "who helps others to make a profit," and, evidently with Arnold Bennett vaguely in mind, described Benedict Arnold as a "writer."

Much time was consumed in reading President Wilson's preparedness speeches of 1916.

Mr. Stevenson quoted the phrase "same old scarecrow talk," and asked whom was meant. Mr. Ford returned his familiar reply: "Delavigne wrote that." He added that the "scarecrows" were the professional agitators for preparedness. "Your position was that they were advocating preparedness in order to profit by munitions?"

"Over-preparedness. Yes."

"Oh, you are still talking of 'over-preparedness.' I think you defined that yesterday as a sign in addition to what we had in 1915 or 1916," reminded the lawyer. He then referred to the use of the word "murderer" as applied by Mr. Ford to professional soldiers, and those who make money out of war.

"Well, you were a murderer in 1917," suggested Mr. Stevenson.

"Oh, no," replied the witness quickly. "That was during the war."

In the course of one of the Delavigne articles, for which Mr. Ford takes full responsibility, the term "bally-ho" was used. Mr. Ford, being questioned, hazarded the guess that it meant "blackguard."

Mr. Stevenson elucidated: "It means a shouter advertising a show or exhibition," said he.

"It means a 'barker,'" put in Alfred Lucking, senior counsel for Mr. Ford. "Have it your way. Mr. Lucking," said Mr. Stevenson. "It's all the same."

WILSON TO INVITE SENATORS TO TALK OVER PEACE TREATY

Will Request Members of the Upper House To Confer With Him.

Washington, July 16.—President Wilson has decided to invite Republican senators to call at the White House to discuss the peace treaty and the league of nations, Secretary Tumulty announced today. Senator Lodge, chairman of the foreign relations committee, was understood to be one of fifteen Republican senators with whom the president desired especially to confer.

FREED BY EFFORTS OF FRIENDS AND PRESS, VETERANS MARCH OUT OF JAIL TO CELEBRATE PEACE

Visit Office To Express Gratitude For Assistance and Sympathy Given Them—Only Drawback To It All Is That Officials Miss Their Mulligan Kings.

Free to celebrate on Saturday the peace which they did their bit to bring about, the five veterans who have been in jail here on account of having transgressed the O. T. A., walked out of the castle by the Thames this morning at 9:45 o'clock, and were met and escorted up town by W. Blathwayt and A. P. Alford, who had been appointed by the Army and Navy Veterans' League to welcome them back to liberty.

Thankful.

One of the first acts of the men, whose release was ordered by Premier Hearst by wire to Deputy Sheriff B. Watterworth last night, was to visit The Advertiser office and express their heartfelt thanks for the interest shown in them, and the work done on their behalf by the press. They asked also that their thanks be conveyed to the general public, the Army and Navy Veterans' League and the G. W. V. A for efforts made to free them in time for Peace Day.

The Freed.

Those who are "out" today are: Norman Chapman, who served for one month; Tom Murray, who did the same time; Charles Woods, who was in for 17 days; John Dunn, who had five weeks to his credit, and George Gibson, who had only four days to go of his three-months' sentence.

Tom Murray explained to The Advertiser how the idea of obtaining a release before Saturday sprang into being. He said: The plan originated in a conversation between The Advertiser reporter and myself at the jail one day. I talked to him about the peace celebration and it was suggested that we should be allowed out for that day. He went away and wrote up the idea in The Advertiser, and it was taken up enthusiastically by the Army and Navy Veterans and the G. W. V. A., with the present good results. We are all mighty glad he took action in time."

The Only Regrets.

Another of the quintette expressed his good feeling towards Inspector J. E. Keenleyside and added: "The only regrets felt are those of the jail officials, who are glad for our sakes but sorry that their staff of help has been so far reduced, with the leaving of the "Five Mulligan Kings."

The following letter to The Advertiser expresses the feelings of the A. and N. V. League for assistance rendered by the paper:

League's Thanks.

To the Editor of The Advertiser.

At the usual weekly meeting of the Army and Navy Veterans, in their clubrooms, last evening a resolution was passed by the members present, viz.: That we, the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, London Unit, No. 23, desire to express our sincere thanks to The Advertiser for the able assistance given to us in helping to secure the release of our comrades who were convicted under the O. T. A. for a slight misdemeanor and sentenced to three months' imprisonment in the county jail.

The publicity given was well worthy of the highest praise.

Thanking you on behalf of the association, yours sincerely,

F. McKELLAR, Secretary.

The Telegram.

Toronto, Ont., July 15, 1919.

The Sheriff, London, Ont.:

Order-in-council passed today releasing all soldiers convicted of offences against the Ontario temperance act. Understand the following are in London jail: George Gibson, John Dunn, Thomas Murray, Norman Chapman and Charles Wood. If any additional, see that all are released.

I. B. LUCAS, Attorney-General.

This is the telegram containing the welcome words that opened the gates of the local jail to the above-named returned soldiers this morning. It was received by Deputy Sheriff B. F. Watterworth, late last night. Immediately on receiving it, he telephoned Governor James Carter at the jail, who in turn informed the men. After having been told to prepare to leave in the morning, the men were content to remain until daybreak.

On their arrival at the courthouse door, which led to the great outdoors, they were met by some of their comrades, who as someone put it had not been "the victims of the unfair O. T. A."

Missed Chance.

All the way along the streets their comrades met them and congratulated them on their release.

One veteran could have saved $50 a day if he had gone to jail a few days ago and waited for the release order, but he paid $200, although advised to follow the former course.

Besides the soldiers who were let out, three other prisoners left Castle Carter and will be able to celebrate peace. Two of these were allowed out because their time had expired, and the other because a friend deposited $13, which was the amount of a fine imposed because of intoxication.

MOROCCAN BANDIT INFLICTS LOSSES ON SPANISH FORCE

Raisuli Reported To Be in Flight Into Mountains.

Madrid, July 16.—Spanish losses in the fighting with Raisuli, the Moroccan bandit, who attacked the Spanish position at El Arish on July 12, were 4 officers and 34 men killed, and a lieutenant-colonel and 85 men wounded. This announcement was made today in the chamber of deputies by the minister of foreign affairs, in replying to questions by a member on the affair. The foreign minister said he had no other information. The Spanish officers killed were two commanders, one captain and one lieutenant.

The bandit Raisuli, according to advices from Madrid last night, also had heavy losses. An official report issued at Madrid was that the Spanish troops had cut Raisuli's line of communications, and that the bandit had fled into the mountains, leaving many dead and wounded behind. Another report was that Raisuli's attack had been repulsed, but that Raisuli was conducting the attack with extraordinary violence.

SAM BLUMENBURG REFUSES TO REPLY

Alien Socialist Leader Acts On Advice of Counsel.

Winnipeg, July 6.—Sam Blumenburg, alien socialist leader, charged with sedition, refused to answer questions directed by the crown prosecutor and the chairman of the immigration board yesterday. His action was based on the advice of counsel. His own lawyers were refused the right to cross-examine, Magistrate R. M. Noble ruling that while the questions remained unanswered the board's examination was incomplete. The only other witness at the session was Sergt.-Major J. Langdale, military intelligence operative.

The proceedings were featured by repeated clashes between counsel, A. J. Andrews, K.C., for the crown, and T. J. Murray, M.P. (Manitoba), and C. J. Murray, for the defence. In regard to Blumenburg's attitude, Mr. Andrews said: "We will probably leave him until he is prepared to answer."

Bail was again refused in the cases of all four aliens held by the immigration authorities. Blumenburg's case is proceeding.

GOVERNMENT TO FIX MINIMUM WHEAT PRICE

Sir Thomas White Confirms Report of Guarantee.

PRICE IS UNSTATED

Fixing of Lowest Figure Will Facilitate Marketing of Crop.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, July 16.—Confirmation was given by Sir Thomas White this morning of the report that a minimum price for wheat will be guaranteed in all probability by the Government. What this price is to be, Sir Thomas would not say.

The intention is to give commercial and financial stability to the marketing of the crop.

In view of unsettled world conditions the unique situation created by the United States fixed price, and the uncertainty as to how world demand would react to the queer conditions now obtaining, capital has been timed in dealing with wheat. The fixing of a price gives a guarantee which will facilitate the placing of the crop, it is hoped.

64TH GRAND LODGE OF ONTARIO MASONS OPENS AT TORONTO

Grand Master W. H. Wardrope Absent Because of Illness.

1,100 ARE ATTENDING

Proceedings in Charge of F. W. Harcourt, K. C.

Toronto, July 16.—The 64th annual communication of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Canada in the Province of Ontario opened in the new temple this morning, approximately eleven hundred delegates attending. Owing to the illness of Grand Master W. H. Wardrope, the proceedings were in charge of F. W. Harcourt, K. C., who also read the grand master's address.

Previous to the actual opening of the grand lodge a civic welcome was tendered the delegates by Mayor Church, who was introduced by Hon. W. D. McPherson, K. C., M. P. P. The acting grand master in replying paid a tribute to the work of his worship as mayor of the city.

At the commencement of his address the grand master made special reference to the war, thanking God for the triumph of the allied nations and praying that we may be worthy of the success which has crowned our efforts. Sorrow at the loss of many members of the Masonic Order was also expressed, and this section of the address concluded "instead of spending our time hurling anathemas at the nation which has caused all our misery, may we buckle on our armor and show that we are of the higher type and now that war is over we are going to camp on the battlefield of life and gain moral victories as decisive as those gained on the fields of France."

Finances Are Good.

The grandmaster stated that there are now on the register of the grand lodge, 468 lodges, of which 455 are warranted and 13 under dispensation.

At the close of the special report on his visit to England, the grandmaster suggests that to show appreciation of the attentions he received during the trip the grand lodge should elect Lord Ampthill (pro-grandmaster of the United Grand Lodge of England) a past grandmaster of the Grand Lodge of Canada in the province of Ontario.

The financial statement submitted for the year ending May 31 showed that receipts on general account exceeded those of the previous year by $9,706.75. During the year grants were made totaling $38,705, or $2,980 less than the previous year.

TO REVISE 1839 TREATY.

Paris, July 16.—July 29 has been fixed as the date upon which representatives of Holland and Belgium will meet delegates of the five great powers in Paris and begin work on the revision of the treaty of 1839.

WILHELM CEASES TO SAW WOOD ON ACCOUNT OF COLD

Amerongen, July 15.—The former German emperor refrained today from sawing trees for the first time in several months. It is understood that he is suffering from a cold. The former empress has experienced a recurrence of her heart affection. Both the former emperor and his wife remain in their apartments today.

Dr. Forster, the personal physician of the former emperor, was called to the castle late on Monday, and remained there all night. It is probable that the recent bad weather is responsible for the sickness of the Hohenzollerns.

BERLIN FOOD PRICES TAKE SUDDEN DROP AS A RESULT OF LIFTING OF BLOCKADE

Huge Supplies of Concealed Stocks Brought Out by Dealers Anxious To Unload Before Goods Are Brought In From Other Countries.

Berlin, July 15.—Prices on all foodstuffs have fallen with a crash in Berlin as a result of the lifting of the blockade. They began to show weakness when it was rumored that the embargo would be lifted, but the real drop came only when illicit dealers with huge concealed stocks brought them out in a virtual panic to unload before competing supplies entering Germany. Tons of provisons are being shipped in from occupied territories, while everywhere in the city great stores of coffee, cocoa, butter, sausages and other supplies have made their appearance. Coffee prices fell an average of forty marks to below twenty yesterday, and the product could easily be bought for fifteen. Other food prices were correspondingly cut. Restaurants, however, still maintained absurdly high prices, and apparently intend to continue to do so as long as possible.

CROPS ARE FAILURE IN ONE-FIFTH OF SASKATCHEWAN

Provisions Will Have To Be Made To Supply Feed For Stock and Seed For Next Spring—C. P. R. Will Provide Work For Farmers in Affected Area.

Regina, Sask., July 16.—In about one-fifth of Saskatchewan the crop is a failure, and many of the people in the affected area will need feed for themselves and their stock and seed next spring. The attention of the Provincial Government is concentrated on the problem, which has many angles.

T. M. Molloy, commissioner of labor, left last night for Winnipeg to see railway officials respecting cheap rates for farmers who seek work in other parts of Saskatchewan and Manitoba. It is hoped to put the live stock sales and purchase acts of Saskatchewan and Manitoba to work to buy some of the stock and to secure feed for more, but it is admitted that there will need to be a lot of live stock unloaded from this province, and it is certain that there is not enough feed in the province, even if distributed scientifically, to feed all the stock in Saskatchewan. The northern ranges accessible to stock are pretty well filled up now, one packing firm having ten thousand grazing north of Prince Albert. Grant Hall, vice-president of the C. P. R., on Monday assured the minister of agriculture that the C. P. R. contractors will be asked to favor farmers when hiring men and teams for grading, which will start right away.

Pershing Bestows American Honors On British Officials

Viscount Milner and Winston Spencer Churchill Among Recipients.

London, July 16.—General Pershing, the American commander-in-chief, who is in London to participate in the Victory Parade Saturday, went to the British war office today and presented the distinguished service medals to a number of prominent British governmental officers. Those who received the medals were Viscount Milner, secretary for the colonies; Winston Spencer Churchill, secretary for war; Viscount Peel, Baron Weir, director general of aircraft production; Baron Loverforth, (Andrew Weir), former minister of munitions, and Felix Cassel, judge advocate general.

In presenting the medals, General Pershing said they were a token of the appreciation of the American Government for services rendered by the recipients.

TWELVE KILLED IN EXPLOSION ABOARD BRITISH TANKER

Ship Was Undergoing Repairs At Cardiff, Wales.

Cardiff, Wales, July 16.—Twelve persons were killed in the explosion on board the British tank steamer Roseleaf here yesterday. The explosion was caused by an accumulation of gas. The ship was undergoing repairs here at the time of the accident.

GERMANS FORBIDDEN TO ACCEPT TITLES FROM FOREIGN GOVTS.

Weimar Government Plans To Increase Luxury Tax.

Weimar, Tuesday, July 15.—It is reported that the government's new tax bill will include a surplus assessment on capital amounting to 30 per cent, and also a drastic imperial income tax, the receipts from which will be apportioned among the federated states, according to their needs.

Mathias Erzberger, minister of finance, is understood to be planning to centralize the nation's tax assessments, obviating the necessity for an individual tax in financing part of the federated states. An increase in the general trading tax, especially on articles of luxury, is also planned. It includes a 10 per cent levy on advertising.

Erzberger declared in favor of a constitution declaring equality of all men and women, and refusing to recognize special rights or privileges based on birth or social station. The new constitution prohibits a German citizen from accepting a title or decoration from a foreign government.

RAILWAYMEN OPPOSE STRIKE.

Paris, July 16.—The Southern France railroad union has passed a resolution opposing the proposed general strike on Monday, July 21, as "injurious to professional aims and inspired solely by political objects."

RETURNED SOLDIER IS SHOT BY FARMER NEAR COLLINGWOOD

Jack Mooney Dies As Result of Gunshot Wounds.

INQUEST BEING HELD

Amos Sherrick Is Detained by Police Pending Outcome.

Collingwood, July 16.—Early this morning Jack Mooney, a man about 30 years of age, was shot by a farmer named Amos Sherrick, and died about fifteen minutes later. The tragedy occurred on Sherrick's farm, about two miles from town.

It appears Sherrick found Mooney in his pigsty, and when the latter attempted to escape the former fired a shotgun, the contents lodging under Mooney's right shoulder. Mooney is a returned soldier, and Sherrick is a respected farmer about 60 years of age, who has lived in this vicinity for many years. The body of the victim has been removed to Collingwood, and is being held pending a coroner's inquest. Sherrick is detained by the Collingwood police, no charge having as yet been registered against him.

"Fresh-Air Camp" At Springbank Giving Holiday To Kiddies Who Need and Thoroughly Enjoy It

Twelve Have Returned From Country Home and Another Party Has Gone To Occup y Movable Houses—It Is a Godsend To Many.

How many of the citizens are aware that London has achieved the distinction of having a "fresh air camp," where little boys and girls who couldn't possibly get a holiday otherwise, have a joyful two weeks, learning all sorts of interesting things about the country and storing up health?

This forenoon, the first "batch" of twelve kiddies was brought back to the city, the youngsters sunburnt and chattering happily of all they had done and seen. Tomorrow another party of fourteen will take its place down at the fresh air camp, conducted under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. on the north bank of the Thames, directly across the river from waterworks park at Springbank. Mrs. Harrison and Miss Hossack are the camp fairy godmothers, who see that everyone is well looked after, from the tot of five to the almost grown-up of thirteen "going on fourteen." The godmothers have a wonderful way, too, of making things happen, such as picnics and parties.

New Experience.

Most of the children have never before known anything at all about country life and their surprise and pleasure know no bounds as they race about at will on the green grass. Then there is the thrill of "going in swimming," and the never-ceasing delight of "paddling."

Almost daily there is some kind of an excursion to a nearby farm, which means all the cherries and berries that can be stuffed under little belts just for the eating right off trees or bush. The fruit growers take a great deal of interest in the little folks.

Going for the milk and seeing how cows are milked is another diversion which is also an education, particularly when all the process is witnessed of seeing milk separated and made into butter.

The other day there was a "bed-making contest" at the camp, with exceedingly keen competition for the prize offered.

Real Picnic.

Then there was a never-to-be-forgotten experience, a real picnic in Springbank Park.

One young girl, fourteen years old, had never been at a party in all her life before. But this wasn't the only right of childhood that she had missed. Never in all her life had she owned a doily.

The two weeks in the fresh air camp has been the first real holiday time she has ever known.

One family of little children in the first house party lost their daddy with the flu, and since then mother has been obliged to go out and earn their living, which makes it pretty hard for little folks in holiday time, and pretty hard for mother, too, when she doesn't know what may be happening while she is away from home.

Tending the Fatherless.

The father of another little family didn't come back from the war. But the children are having a holiday just the same, because the King's Daughters, W. C. T. U., Social Service Club Inasmuch Circle of the First Methodist Church, and other kind friends of the children are making it possible.

Out at the camp, two portable houses are used for dormitories, and it is all kinds of fun to eat in a big dining-room tent all the time.

If you want to get to the fresh air camp, you get off the car at the pump house and you go down to the brink of the river, just to the west, and "Hoo-hoo" like a night owl till somebody comes down from the camp to pull you across in a wonderfully-contrived cable ferry. You have to know the right password, or be able to prove you are quite a desirable visitor, otherwise it isn't likely you will cross the river at that point by cable.

Looking For a House

By F. E. St. Austell.

The returned soldier, who has been discharged, has fitted himself out with civilian duds and has got a job, is apt to think that his troubles are over for a time at least. I thought so myself; but now, alas! I know differently, and can count an additional crop of grey hairs. I have been looking for a house. I entered on that undertaking with a light heart; but now my heart is nearly broken, and the soles of my nine dollar shoes have proved unequal to the task.

It all sounded beautiful at first. We would have a house, not a big one, just one of those nice little houses, you know the kind, just right for a small family. Living in rooms gets so monotonous; and everybody else in the house seems to boil cabbage every day. Cabbages are all very well in their place and that is on the table, nice and green and ready to eat. The boiling process ought to be conducted on a desert island, when the wind blows more towards the desert, than the island. I think it was a cabbage that first drove me house-hunting. Of course cabbages are useful sometimes for political purposes; but I have never heard before of a cabbage serving as an advertisement for a house.

Decision Made.

However, we decided we would take a house. I smile when I think of our innocence. I have since found out that the best way to get a house, is to take possession of the first vacant one that seems about the thing, and then settle down to fight ejectment proceedings.

Some authority on political economy, once laid down a rule to the effect that nobody should pay more than one-fourth of his income for rent. That was our first guide when we started house-hunting. I think the political economist mentioned above is dead. I sincerely hope so.

After viewing, that is the correct term, many houses, I have come to the conclusion that, if I am only to pay one-fourth of my income in rent, I had better move into somebody's back shed, or have a decent-sized dog kennel built.

We did not want to be near the centre of the city, of course, so we went to the other extreme. We saw lots of houses and inquired the rent of one. When the rent was mentioned asked whether I was expected to take the house home with me or could it be delivered. One-quarter of my income, indeed! I do hope that economist is safely buried.

Saw, and Wondered.

We saw houses, we did not view them. We just stood about outside, in an unconcerned manner, and wondered what the rent would be, and whether the water was laid on.

Talking about water, we found a lot of houses in which water was "laid in"; but there did not seem to be any arrangements for laying it out again, and there were the taps with the water running merrily; I tried them, but there was no drainage. I am still wondering what happened to the water after it was turned on. We decided that we needed water laid both "in" and "out." I thought water in houses was always sort of double-tracked, in and out; more ignorance.

In our innocence we imagined that a workingman could rent a house large enough for a small family, for a sum not exceeding one-quarter—Oh! D——, that economist. It can't be done, unless one's income can be multiplied by two or three.

No Children.

I think everybody who has a house to rent must be a bachelor, or a childless member of the other persuasion. Whenever we found a house that suited us, with a rental that we could face without starvation, the question, "Have you any children?" put an abrupt termination to the transaction. I like being asked if I have children. I have one little girl and want everybody to know it. Why she's the sweetest and dearest little thing you ever saw. She's nearly four years old, and, say, can't she talk. I have a fine picture of her, just look at that! What? You won't rent me your house because I have a child. Good Lord! what is the matter with this place.

Do soldiers have more children than other people? Why can't we have children: why can't we have houses for them to live in. I saw an advertisement the other day, containing the words—"One small child not objected to." I can't keep my child small, and I certainly can't change houses every year to keep pace with her changing size.

Many Hunters.

There are a large number of weary hunters in this part of the world. There are lots of houses marked "For Sale"; but few for rent; most of those for rent, make me want to rise in salary; a lot of them give me the impression that I should be just as comfortable in the backyard, and as for buying a house, without expending more than one-fourth of my income—that doesn't sound just right, but it's just as possible as the proposition of my economist enemy. A man who will deliberately write such a rule for the guidance of poor people, who have never had the chance of doing him any harm, should be punished—he should be brought here and then be sent out day after day for a whole month, looking for a house.

Cobblers---Menders Of Souls---Decide To Stick To Lasts

Ecclesiastics Find That Kitchen Work Is Beyond Their Powers.

"Canning! Say, don't ever talk to me about canning and preserving fruit and making jelly and things like that," said a London ecclesiastic to a friend yesterday, whom he caught in the act of carrying home several boxes of berries from market.

"I'm taking home some berries myself," he admitted, "but they are to eat with cream. No more preserving at our house, if I have to do anything about it. What do I know about it? Why, we got twenty quarts or so of currants, and as I hadn't any special work to do, I offered to help clean them. If you take my advice, you will never try currants. They are such miserable little things, and it takes such a plagued lot to make anything.

Nearly Killed Him.

"I'm a pretty strong man, but it almost killed me. My eyes ached, my neck ached, I got stiff all over. If there had been one more box I don't think I could have lived through it. A man has to do that kind of thing himself to appreciate what the women have to do."

The ecclesiastic's experience evoked the telling of another of a similar nature. The other man in the case happens to be exceedingly fond of cherries, and when he appeared with a couple of baskets one Saturday evening, naturally the lady of the house was dismayed, because they simply wouldn't keep till Monday.

"That's all right," said the man of the house. "Where's that pitter I bought you last year? Just like a woman to forget to use a 'first aid' like that. Here, let me at them."

It Didn't Fit.

But the pitter wasn't a man sized fit, and he sawed his fingers and squashed the cherries, and altogether put in about the most disagreeable couple of hours of his life.

"Don't try cherries," is his counter-advice to the ecclesiastic.

The lady of one of the households ironically suggests that the two men might like to help with pumpkins preserved whole.

KNOLLWOOD PARK S. S. HAS ENJOYABLE PICNIC

At 1:30 Tuesday afternoon a special car left the corner of Oxford and Adelaide streets, loaded with scholars, parents, teachers and officers of Knollwood Park Presbyterian Sunday school for their annual picnic at Springbank Park.

On arriving at the picnic grounds a fine program of sports was carried out. The following novelty races, Shoe race, peanut push, and soda biscuit race, afforded much amusement to the spectators. Another feature of the program was the married ladies' race, two special prizes being donated. First prize was won by Mrs. W. Wooding and second by Mrs. A. W. Jones.

After the races special treats were provided by the school for all present and were much enjoyed.

Supper was served at 5 p.m., at which an abundance of good things was partaken of by everyone.

The afternoon was much enjoyed by all.

ENGINEER ORDERED TO REPORT ON BEST CITY SEWER SYSTEM

Provincial Board of Health Advises City to Install Disposal Plant.

The question of sewage disposal was discussed by No. 2 committee of the city council at its regular meeting last evening, and the city engineer was instructed to report on the best system for London. Mayor C. R. Somerville said this matter had been in abeyance since five years ago, when the provincial board of health, deciing to order the installation of a disposal plant, had nevertheless advised the city to instal one. The matter was brought to a head last night by a report from the board of health, stating that Dr. Downham had been instructed to look into the matter of sewage emptying into the river.

The problem of preventing traffic congestion at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets, referred to the committee by the council at its last meeting, was left in the hands of a special committee composed of Aldermen Drake, Wilson and Seabrook. Ald. Wilson expressed the opinion that the traffic bylaw should be amended to compel vehicles moving south on Richmond street to keep straight on instead of turning to the east. He thought that allowing automobiles to turn east at the corner constituted a serious danger.

A deputation was present to ask that something be done in the matter of a sewer system for Knollwood Park. Ald. C. G. Moorhead moved, and the committee resolved, to have the engineer call for tenders for the beginning of the system asked for on Quebec street. It was left to the engineer's discretion to determine whether the figure was reasonable, and if so to proceed with the work this year, otherwise leaving it over for the present.

A suggestion from the board of health that the sweeping of dusty streets before oiling should be discontinued, on the ground that it constituted a nuisance, was answered by City Engineer H. A. Brazier with the statement that there was no alternative. To sprinkle the streets first would prevent the work being so effective.

Referring to the matter of oiling, the engineer reported that 39 miles had been completed this year, and that the work was easily four or five weeks ahead of the average for other years.

Sleeping Sickness Affects Car; Crowd Enjoys Free Show

Cranking Starts At 9:30 and Ends At 11:15 At Night.

Downtown pedestrians were amused free of charge on Dundas street by a Ford car taking the sleeping disease last night. About 9:30 o'clock the owner emerged from a store and started the usual stunt of cranking up, but he did not get so much as a groan from the unruly car. He lifted the hood and exposed the beast's innards and then he proceeded to get busy.

He burned his fingers and, while gently caressing them, he received a jolt off a spark plug. This drew a better laugh than a minstrel show and a flow of language from the irate owner which would make a company sergeant-major green with envy. After jacking up the wheels and various other oojiboos and hoojaws the car departed at the hour of 11:15, to the disgust of the highly amused crowd.

BRIDES FROM OLD LAND MISS HUBBIES; MANY DISAPPOINTED

Uncertainity of G. T. R. Train Arrival Delays Expected Meetings at Station.

The uncertainty yesterday in regard to the time homeward-bound people from overseas would arrive by the G. T. R. was responsible for the fact that there were some very much disappointed folks who stepped off the 5:30 o'clock train from Toronto.

Bride Here; Husband in Toronto.

Mrs. Gordon Calhoun, a young Irish bride, had traveled all the way from the old land to London to join her husband, Sergt. Gordon Calhoun, only to find that he had gone to Toronto to meet her and that, somehow, they had missed one another there. She was met by Mr. Calhoun's mother and her husband's brother-in-law, J. Doherty, the former having come down from her summer home at Ipperwash Beach to welcome her daughter-in-law.

Searching for Husband.

Another young wife, a slender girl, with big, pathetic dark eyes, Mrs. E. Emery, accompanied by her plump and jolly-looking little four-year-old daughter, Elsie, was taken in charge by the representatives of the Soldiers' Wives' League until they could get in touch with her husband. Her husband, who was with the cycle corps, had returned home at Christmas time. She hadn't heard from him since the end of March and had become so anxious she had come over to see if anything had happened to him. She had sent a telegram to his address after arriving in Canada, announcing that she was on her way to London.

A complete stranger, she appreciated the kindly welcome extended to her by the travelers' aid secretary and the members of the Soldiers' Wives' League reception committee. She was taken to the welcome hostel, on King street.

Later in the evening it was learned that Mr. Emery's parents, of 565 Dufferin avenue, were expecting their daughter-in-law to arrive yesterday, and made all preparations for her arrival. They had intended to meet her themselves, in the absence from the city of her husband, but did not know she was coming in at that time.

Husband Disappointed.

Keen disappointment was written upon the face of Corp. Merrill of Welland, after he had scanned the platform in vain for his wife.

Even the explanation in regard to the great uncertainty of time of arrival and the information given out shortly before, that only one soldier was coming in on that train, failed to cheer him up. He had gone overseas with the 135th Battalion, given a year in France with a labor battalion, was hungering for a sight of the home folks, and anxious to go on home last night. Sergt. Leslie Meyers of the A. M. C., who went overseas with the 142nd Battalion, was immediately surrounded by a group of relatives.

One returned man, accompanied by his English bride, hurried across the platform to catch the Owen Sound train, which was waiting to pull out.

PEACE CELEBRATION AND DRESS CARNIVAL AT ERIE LAKESIDE

Arrangements Have Been Completed To Make July 19 Day of Days at Port.

London's eagerness to comply with the proclamation of King George calling upon the people of the whole empire to devote Saturday next to celebration of peace and victory, will find an outlet in a fancy dress carnival, and brilliant demonstration to be held in Port Stanley.

Arrangements for the festival, in which the whole of Western Ontario is expected to join, were completed yesterday, in response to appeals from many who were numbered among the record-smashing throngs at Port Stanley at the impromptu celebration held on Dominion Day.

The band of the Great War Veterans' Association of London has been engaged for two concerts, one to be held in the afternoon and the other in the evening.

Numerous other special attractions are being provided, the fete to be marked by a fancy dress carnival on the board walk. There will be magnificent prizes for the best dressed celebrators in costume, and ticklers and confetti will go with the sort of demonstration the people of London and Western Ontario feel is fitting, in response to the message of the King.

The grand finale of the celebration will be the greatest fireworks demonstration ever shown in Port Stanley. The Hiand Fireworks Company of Hamilton, having been given sufficient notice, is building several special set pieces, and expectations are that there will be a program of fireworks to last an hour and a half.

The London and Port Stanley Railway is redoubling its efforts to furnish a fast, frequent service and numerous special trains will be provided.

ASSESSMENT APPEALS HEARD BY REVISION COURT LAST NIGHT

In Most Instances Cases Were Disallowed—About 150 Appeals Up.

Between one hundred and one hundred and fifty appeals against assessments and taxes in Ward 3 were heard last night by a court of revision sitting in the council chamber at the city hall. The largest amount appealed was the assessment of the Michigan Central property, which aggregated $33,200. The appeal was taken on the mistaken assumption that this was not the proper year for revision of railway property assessment, which is done only every five years. The mistake was pointed out by the court, and the assessment confirmed.

In most intances the appeals against assessment were disallowed, and in those cases where revision was made downward the amount deducted from the assessors' valuation were generally small. A few people appealed against business tax, claiming that they had not been in business for the whole of the year for which they were taxed. The court, however, pointed out that under the bylaw these taxes must be paid even if business were carried on for only part of the year in which the assessment was made, and the court therefore had no jurisdiction to grant the appeals.

In two instances income tax appeals were granted on the ground that the parties taxed, although employed in London, were not resident in the city. Several others appealed against income tax, declaring that they had married and become householders. These also were granted their appeals.

A number of those present were appealing against school taxes, but the court advised them that, in order to systematize consideration of these appeals, they would be considered from all wards together at a special court of revision to be called for the purpose at a date to be announced later.

DEMOBILIZATION OF MEN AT HEIGHTS IS TO START AT ONCE

Many Will Be Released From Service.

C. G. R. WILL DISAPPEAR

Only Unit To Be Strengthened Is Medical Corps, Say Orders.

According to information received at military headquarters here today, a great number of soldiers on duty at Carling Heights are to be demobilized this month. By August 1st, No. 1. Detachment Canadian Garrison Regiment, with a strength of about 250, and commanded by Major F. G. Stanbury, will be a thing of the past, authority having been received here from militia headquarters, Ottawa, for the complete demobilization of this unit, medical boards to begin the work in a few days.

Cut Numbers.

The strength of the Army Service Corps detachment stationed at Carling Heights will be cut down to one half the present number, and the Canadian Engineers staff will be reduced to a minimum working strength, necessary to keep in repair the many buildings at Carling Heights.

The strength of the Canadian Ordance Corps will be cut down the half during this month, and this branch of the service will be placed upon a permanent basis. The Military Police Corps will not be diminished in strength.

Increase Medical Corps.

On the other hand the Army Medical Corps will be strengthened in this district, with the exception of a few surplus medical officers who will be permitted to resign their appointments in the service. No nursing sisters will be dispersed, and non-commissioned officers and men will be added to this corps. The Canadian Army Dental Corps will carry on as usual, as every available hour until September 1st is booked for duty in dental treatment, most of the military patients being returned soldiers.

Pats Coming.

In all probability one company of the Princess Patricia Regiment, which is a unit of the Canadian Permanent Force, will arrive in this city by August 1st, to take over garrison duties such as guards etc., now performed by members of the Canadian Garrison Regiment, which is to be demobilized When this company arrives in London it will be quartered permanently on Carling Heights, as there are no available quarters for all ranks of the permanent force in Wolseley Barracks at the present time.

Dundas Street In Afternoon Proves Fine Ball Ground

Youngsters Try Experiment and Law Passes by Sympathetically.

The Forest City may be regarded as speedy, but pedestrians on Dundas street, near Richmond, about 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, hale from Missouri. Local citizens are, as a rule, firm in their convictions, but the scenes of yesterday on the main street have caused their opinion to swerve. It was all caused by two small boys, one of whom grasped in his hands a baseball bat, while his companion tossed a baseball to him, and he bunted the sphere down the road heedless of the traffic.

Fielding Perfect.

It was not a momentary impulse on the part of the youths, the game continuing in full swing for several minutes, with the pavement as an excellent substitute for Tecumseh Park, and Ty Cobb at the bat. The bunts were fielded perfectly with no errors recorded. However, as a motor car briskly glided by witnesses expected to see a hit which would prove a home run, or the cue for an inquest.

Blind Justice.

Inspector Robert Birrell of the local police force, vamped his way down Dundas street at the time, glancing neither to right or left, hence the ball team escaped unnoticed and the participants unpinched. Perhaps he was afraid to stop lest he be called upon to umpire the game. It is said that he viewed the performance from the corner of his eye, and without hesitating remembered when he was a boy himself.

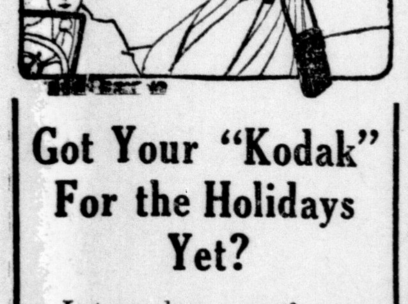

SOME memory!

SOLDIER SUSPECTED OF HAVING DIPHTHERIA

As Result, the C. G. R. Has Been Quarantined.

One member of the Canadian Garrison Regiment stationed at Carling Heights here reported sick on medical parade this morning, and upon examination by Capt. Simpkins, medical officer of the above unit, he was found to be suffering from a sore throat. Diphtheria is suspected, and members of the regiment have been placed under quarantine as a result.

As a precautionary measure, these soldiers are having their throats swabbed this afternoon, but the medical officers on duty at Carling Heights state that there is no danger of an outbreak of diphtheria among the soldiers here.

Autos Blamed For Forcing Up Covers Of Street Manholes

Police Doubt Theory of Anyone Doing It Intentionally.

Local police do not think that the covers of manholes in the roads were taken off by persons who were seeking to cause accidents, but that autos in passing over the covers forced them to bounce up, leaving the holes open.

M. Charlton of the Blue Bonnet taxis service declared that he narrowly escaped running his auto into one of the holes last night. As it was he struck the manhole cover, which was lying on the road and which caused his car to run into the curb. Fortunately the vehicle did not overturn.

There was a report to the effect that two men were seen to alight from an auto, remove a cover and speed away. Persons who declared that they saw these men thought that they were city inspectors and did not pay much attention to their actions.

UTILITIES COMMISSION'S COAL BUSINESS PROVES SUCCESS; 300 TONS SOLD

No Less Than 17 Cars Ready in Yards For Unloading.

The utilities commission's venture in the coal business is proving highly satisfactory up to the present. Since its inception two or three hundred tons of coal have been sold to citizens at a price 50 cents a ton cheaper than the regular dealers have been charging and the supply so far has been easily equal to the demand. At present seventeen cars of coal are waiting in the yards to be unloaded.

General Manager E. V. Buchanan pointed out this morning that the commission, unlike the dealers, was unable to buy direct from the mines and was compelled to deal with a jobber, which meant paying a higher price. Under these circumstances, and in view of the fact that the commission is underselling the dealers by half a dollar a ton, he thought the commission would have to do some pretty close figuring to show a profit on the venture. However, by the fact that the citizens were being benefitted and that the commission's operators probably tendered to keep prices down, he thought that the movement had justified itself.

SOLDIERS RELEASE PAL FROM CLUTCHES OF LAW, SAYS SPRINGBANK TALE

Drastic measures to release a comrade who had fallen into the hands of the police were said to have been taken by returned soldiers at Springbank on Tuesday night. According to reports the soldier who was intoxicated had been making himself objectionable around the dance hall, when someone in authority there, took him away from the building. Then it is said, two policemen arrived on the scene, and after handcuffing him, proceeded to take him to jail.

Soon a number of returned soldiers followed in their wake. The trio still continued on their way to the lock-up They had not gone far though, before the angry veterans attacked them and after rushing the policemen in Douglas Fairbanks' fashion, took their prey away from them. The prisoner was not re-arrested for before many minutes had elapsed, his pals had disappeared with him.

MINISTERS PROMISE SERVICES. —City Clerk S. Baker is busy over details of next Saturday's peace celebration. The band arrangements have been completed, and some of the ministers have already promised their services for the sacred meetings to be held in the parks. Mr. Baker expects to be able to complete the full program ready for printing by tomorrow.

NO MILITARY CELEBRATION.—There will be no military celebration of Peace Day in London on Saturday, according to Lieut.-Col. W. J. Brown, A. A. C., of this military district, at Wolseley Barracks today. However, the Canadian Garrison Regiment Band will participate in the local civil celebration, and Lieut.-Col. Emsley and Capt. Hugh McFarlane, chaplains on the strength of this military district, will deliver addresses in local parks during the celebration here.

BRIDGE CLOSED—Wellington street bridge is being re-floored and as a result all the traffic that usually came that way has been diverted to the Chelsea Green and the Ridout street bridges. It is not known definitely how long the repair work will take, but it is expected that it will occupy at least several days. Last night a driver of a coal wagon who was late with his delivery arrived at the bridge only to find that he would have to retrace his steps. Talking loudly in a language other than the King's English, he set out for Ridout street bridge.

PICNIC THURSDAY.—The annual utilities commission picnic will be held tomorrow at Port Stanley. Employees to the number of one hundred and fifty and their wives and families are expected to take part in the outing. They will leave at 3 p.m. A sufficient staff to conduct the hydro shop will remain behind until 4 o'clock, at which time the shop will close for the day. An excellent program of sports has been arranged, and with an abundance of "eats" assured the picnic promises to be an unqualified success, provided the weatherman is in good humor.

LAWN SOCIAL HELD.—The Ladies' Home Circle of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, West London held a lawn social in the grounds of the church on Tuesday evening. Booths were arranged prettily on the lawn, where refreshments of all sorts were dispensed. A musical program with several fancy dances interspersed was given by Mrs. A. Henderson's juvenile kilties. Miss Kathleen England and Master Sam Munroe sang solos and Miss Sells, pianist added to the evening's program by giving two instrumentals. J. D. Revans also contributed to the program. The proceeds, which amounted to $45.00 will be used in the work of the Ladies' Home Circle.

MATCHES DID IT.

Fire, believed to have received its origin by boys playing with matches, resulted in the fire brigade having a call to Kernohan's lumber yard about 5:30 last night. The damage was slight.

VETERANS TO WEAR UNIFORM SATURDAY IF THEY SO DESIRE

Permission Given by Brig.-General L. W. Shannon.

It was announced at military headquarters here today, that by permission of Brig.-Gen. L. W. Shannon, C. M. G., officer commanding Military District No. 1, all discharged returned soldiers in Western Ontario will be allowed to wear their uniforms during the Peace Day celebrations throughout the district on Saturday next.

In response to many inquiries from various commands of the Great War Veterans' Association in Western Ontario, a circular letter authorizing the wearing of uniforms as above was today sent out from Wolseley Barracks to the various centres in this military district.

INSURANCE GRANTS MADE AND REFUSED

Committee Smiles On Two Applications, Frowns On Others.

The special grants committee of the city council, consisting of the mayor, city clerk, city treasurer and the chairmen of Nos. 1 and 2 committee, met last evening to consider claims for civic insurance by dependents of soldiers killed in action. The city, it will be remembered, instituted an insurance sinking fund from which grants of $500 were made to dependents of local soldiers not otherwise insured, who were killed in the war and who had resided in the city for one year or more before enlisting.

Only four claims were considered yesterday. Two were allowed and two disallowed. Those refused grants were J. T. Wakefield and A. W. Fox, each of whom had resided in London only a few months at the time their soldier sons enlisted.

Although at the time her son George, on whose account she claimed a grant, enlisted here, Mrs. Marsden had lived in the city only ten months, the committee unanimously decided to make the grant to her. It was shown that every one of her five sons had served in the war and two of them had been killed. George enlisted directly war broke out, and the other boy, who was killed, joined two months later. The latter was insured in a regular company. The committee felt that to penalize the mother because her son had answered the call of duty two months two early to qualify for civic insurance would be grossly unfair.

Several contensious claims are still awaiting consideration by the committee.

LONDON NURSE SHOWN BEING DECORATED BY THE PRINCE OF WALES

Miss Lily Gregory Honored for Fine Service Overseas.

A copy of the South Wales Weekly News, received recently by a local lady, who is a native of Wales, contains a picture showing Miss Lily Gregory, who for two years was organist at St. George's Church in this city, being invested by the Prince of Wales with the special service medal for her work as a nurse in France.

Miss Gregory came to London about seven years ago to visit an aunt, Mrs. Thomas Fowler, with whom she remained for two years. During her stay here she made a great many friends, who have followed with interest her career as a war nurse. She returned to her home in Wales shortly before the outbreak of war, and almost immediately after war was declared was accepted for nursing duty and sent to France, where she remained on duty until hostilities ceased.

MAJ. HORACE BAKER WON M. C. BEFORE HIS FATAL WOUND

City Clerk Hears Details From Friend Returned.

City Clerk S. Baker received a visit yesterday from Sergt. E. Best, who served in the same regiment with Mr. Baker's son, Major Horace Baker, who was killed in action in August, 1917. From Sergt. Best Mr. Baker learned for the first time that on May 29, 1917, his soldier son was decorated with the Military Cross for an act of gallantry performed on May 9 of that year.

How It Was Won.

Major Baker went overseas as a corporal with the 46th Battalion from Saskatoon, and Sergt. Best joined the same unit in Moose Jaw. The latter's description of the incident which resulted in Major Baker's decoration and his own, was as follows:

On the night of May 9, Major Baker, Sergt. Best and a runner went out from the Canadian lines to try to locate a machine gun which had been doing great damage earlier in the day. They knew only its general direction, but after proceeding for some distance the light from a flare disclosed the fact that they were almost on top of it. They stood perfectly still and were undetected by the enemy. Meanwhile they laid their plans and were ready for the next flare.

Ruse Worked.

The sergeant was sent back a short distance, and the runner still farther back. Then Major Baker called out to the sergeant to bring up his men, and the sergeant repeated to the runner in a shout instructions to bring up the whole company. The ruse worked. The Huns, believing that a whole company had surprised them, ran out with their hands up in token of surrender, and the whole gun crew was taken prisoners and compelled to carry its own gun back to the Canadian lines.

BEAUTIFUL WEATHER ATTRACTS CROWD TO ENGLISHMEN'S PICNIC

Hundreds Journey to Port for the Day.

Favored by fine weather the Englishmen's picnic promises to surpass all those of previous years. This morning hundreds of sons of old Albion journeyed to the lakeside to take part in the doings of the day. Some of them marched to the station, headed by the band of the Great War Veterans' Association.

An excellent program of sports and novelties has been arranged, and everything possible has been done in order to add to the enjoyment of the picnickers.

TURN IN ALL EXCESS WAR PROFITS TO GOVERNMENT DEMAND OF A. AND N. V. L.

Veterans Also Want Every Man Who Got Overseas Training to Get Pension.

Army and Navy Veterans at a meeting held in their clubrooms on Tuesday night decided to send a representative committee from the organization to meet the returned soldier prisoners on their release from the county jail to give them the first congratulations on receiving their freedom.

Sergt. Fred Young, president of the local Army and Navy eVterans, occupied the chair, and several resolutions were passed to be brought before the Army and Navy Veterans' Dominion convention to be held at Montreal by Sergt. Young, and H. M. Stevenson, the local delegates, who leave for that city on Monday next.

A resolution urging that all excess war profits be turned in to the Government was passed last night, and a second motion that all men receiving overseas training during the war be paid a pension was also adopted.

If possible, the meeting decided last night that arrangements should be made with the Western Fair Board for an exhibition of war trophies gathered by members of the Army and Navy Veterans, and steps to further this proposal will be taken in the near future. The delegates to Montreal were instructed last night to take up the $2,000 war service gratuity movement at the Dominion convention, and to register their approval of this proposal, on behalf of the local branch.

A resolution passed last night to be brought before the convention by the London delegates is one requesting that returned men be properly housed upon their arrival in Canada, and that the Government advance sufficient funds to veterans of the war for them to obtain proper housing facilities. There was a good attendance at last night's meeting of the Army and Navy Veterans.

STRIKE RESULTS IN ACCUMULATION OF ATLANTIC FREIGHT

Three Hundred Coastwise Vessels Tied Up by Marine Workers' Walkout.

New York, July 16.—Failure of coastwise steamers to leave port on schedule time, owing to the strike of firemen, oilers and water tenders, has resulted in a great accumulation of freight on the piers on the lines affected. It was estimated that 300 vessels engaged in coastwise trade were tied up here by the strike. Capt. Frank S. Ferris, managing agent of the United States Shipping Board prepared lists which showed that 186 vessels were tied up, although, he declared that 76 of this number were awaiting repairs.

DR. H. W. HILL ONE OF PRINCIPALS IN DUEL WITH GERMS

Challenges Doctor Who Denies They Cause Disease.

BOTH TO HAVE TESTS

Will Have Cultures Injected and Then Treat According to Beliefs.

After getting people all worried to death for years past about the menace of disease germs, medical scientists are coming forward to claim that "there ain't no such animile."

Dr. J. B. Fraser of Sherbourne street, Toronto, is so convinced that diseases are not contracted by germs that he has issued a challenge to engage in a duel with germs, so to speak, in order to prove his point to the scientific world.

He is offering the supreme proof of his own confidence in this respect by presenting himself as a subject for experiment.

His own body will be the battling ground, and the scene of the contest, St. Paul, Minn., Local interest is added to the test from the fact that the "director of operations" is none other than Dr. H. W. Hill, executive secretary of the Minnesota Public Health Association, who was formerly medical officer of health of London, and director of the Institute of Public Health.

The Challenge.

In an article entitled "Do Germs Cause Disease," which appeared in Physical Culture for May, 1919, Dr. John B. Fraser of Toronto challenged any board of health in the United States or Canada to test out the danger of typhoid, diphtheria, tuberculosis, meningitis or pneumonia germs in air, food, water or milk. He gave, what Dr. Hill terms, "several disjointed arguments in support of his belief that germs do not cause disease."

Dr. Hill took up the challenge, replying in part, as follows:

"Dr. Fraser goes on to quote certain observations, 150 in all, made 'by a small group of citizens' spread over five years or more.

"He offers these observations to offset the hundreds of thousands of experiments made by the greatest scientists in the whole world, spread over the last 70 years, since the first germ of disease (anthrax) was discovered in 1850. He ignores the fact that all modern surgery, with its enormous triumphs in the great war, the result of this experimental work, is put into daily practice by every hospital, every surgeon, every physician, every nurse, in every civilized community in the world, and its accuracy has been and is daily checked and confirmed, not only by scientific experiment, but by these actual results.

What is Missing.

"Our author gives no details of his experiments; he does not state where he obtained his germs (bacteriologists of standing would not give these deadly cultures to miscellaneous citizens for reckless experimentation); he does not state that he knew them to be virulent; he does not state what persons were subjected to his experiments —in fact his whole experiment so far as he stated it, is worthless as a scientific record; it would not be accepted as evidence in a police magistrate's "morning-after" court—yet he offers it as conclusive against the whole scientific world.

"Allowing, however, that he did secure virulent germs, did administer them as he states, and in such a way as to meet the necessary conditions of infection, and did obtain the negative results he offers, he has proved nothing. We know definitely that only one in ten of adults (we presume he did not experiment on children) are susceptible to diphtheria. We know how to pick out the susceptible ones by a simple test (the Schick test); and we find that nine out of every ten adults will not contract diphtheria, however much exposed to it they may be. It is quite likely his 'small group of citizens' was never tested to see whether or not they were susceptible to diphtheria, the very first step that should have been taken to make his experiment of any weight whatever. If they had been so tested, he would certainly not have omitted to mention it.

Most Immune.

"In typhoid fever also, we know that where a miscellaneous population is all exposed to infection, hardly ever will one in ten, usually not more than one in twenty, contract the disease. In the famous Mankato, Minnesota, typhoid epidemic of 1908 about 10,000 people received the germs, but only 511 contracted the disease, just 5 per cent. How did our Dr. Fraser know that his 'small group of citizens' contained even one person who could have contracted the disease under any circumstances?

"Regarding pneumonia, we admit our knowledge is not so conclusive. We do know, however, that pneumonia and influenza are diseases which it was very unfortunate for our author to introduce into the discussion at all—since everyone knows that these diseases do not affect only the weakling! Everyone, lay as well as medical, knows only too well that it was the strong and vigorous of middle age who succumbed to them in the recent epidemic—that children, the aged, and the tuberculosis, relatively escaped! How does this jibe with escaping disease by keeping up the physical condition?

"Most challenges such as those offered by Dr. Fraser are based on the idea that no one will bother to accept. We call his bluff—we accept—and if he will send us his acceptance we will proceed to arrange the details."

Another Offer.

Since the challenge was made by Dr. Fraser, Dr. H. A. Zettel of St. Paul has come forward with a challenge to similar combat. The edict of Dr. Hill, the referee, is that Dr. Zettel's offer will not be considered while Dr. Fraser is in the field for the test.

"The original challenge was issued to Dr. Fraser," states Dr. Hill, "and if he accepts there are a multitude of details to be worked out to that may take a month."

According to a dispatch from St. Paul, "Disinterested physicians will examine the subjects to determine if they are immune to certain diseases. Tests will be made to see what disease both will react to in nearly the same manner. The germs of that disease will then be made into a culture, injected or otherwise introduced into the bodies of both men. Dr. Hill will then use an anti-toxin, while Dr. Fraser is expected to rely on what he terms 'natural therapeutics,' fresh air, exercise and selected foods, to throw off the disease."

From the foregoing it would appear that Dr. Hill is also to submit himself to the test, to give further proof to the germ theory, through making use of anti-toxins to nullify the effect of the disease germs.

One London doctor, who for years has taken a deep interest in bacteriology, commenting upon the proposed tests, today said: "The experiments are made so frequently on animals that I do not see why it should be necessary to submit human beings to such a test. Skeptics in regard to the germ theory of disease, like Dr. Fraser, are not found among bacteriologists, and the men who have experimented on animals."

SPANISH CABINET MEMBERS RESIGN

SCHOOL MA'AM SAID TO HAVE "BUNCOED" BIG TORONTO FIRM

Ingenious and Daring Methods Alleged To Have Been Used.

PLAN OF OPERATION

Complained Of Goods Never Received and Demanded Return of Money.

Fredericton, July 15.—One of Canada's biggest mail order houses in Toronto has been victimized, not once but no less than sixteen times, by a young woman who, during the past year, attended the New Brunswick Normal School here, and whose daring and ingenuity for some time completely baffled the management of the wealthy corporations with whom she operated.

Like most crooked games this one eventually came to grief simply because everything seemed to be so easy that she overstepped. Now a representative of the Toronto company is hot on her trail, and it is believed that today will see her arrest at Sussex, N. B., where she is attending a summer school for teachers.

The charge upon which the young woman's arrest will be sought is that of obtaining money under false pretences. It is declared she not only carried on her operations while at school here, but also from her home on the North Shore.

The young woman's plan of operation was to write a letter to the mail order house, complaining that goods which she falsely declared she had received were unsatisfactory, saying she was returning the goods and asking them to return her money. In this way she took advantage of a loophole in the company's system, for on comparatively small orders it was not deemed worth while to check back on the books and the company merely sent her a money order for the amount named in her letter without waiting to find out whether the money was coming to her or not.

In this way, by writing varied letters and using different names, the young woman, it is claimed, was able to victimize the Toronto house on no less than sixteen occasions. "It seems a most remarkable thing to us that a young woman possessed of so much initiative, ingenuity and daring as to make it possible for her to victimize one of Canada's biggest business houses should be spending her time studying to be a teacher in some little country place," commented the agent of the Toronto concern.

BOLSHEVIKI HAVE CAPTURED TOWN OF EKATERINBURG

Place Is Reported To Have Been Occupied On Monday.

London, July 16.—Ekaterinburg, 160 miles southeast of Perm, has been captured by the Bolsheviki, according to a Russian wireless dispatch received here today. The town was occupied on Monday.

"Tragedy" Proves to Be a Movie Stunt

Four Unknown Victims of the Trenton Accident Were Dummy Figures.

Toronto, July 16.—A dispatch was sent out from Trenton, Ont., last night and appeared on the front page of a Toronto morning paper, to the effect that four unknown men had been killed there when a big touring car went over a cliff at that place. The story referred to the bodies of the men being found at the bottom of a ravine, and their having been viewed by hundreds of people.

Inquiry over telephone from Trenton this morning failed to confirm the tragic part of the tale. "The accident" was a moving picture stunt, and the four men were dummy figures. A moving picture company has for several seasons been operating at Trenton, which is considered a particularly good locality for securing motion pictures, and yesterday's act was part of their program.

DEPOSITORS ARE IN FAVOR OF ACCEPTING LIQUIDATOR'S PLAN

Claims Against Vancouver Trust Company Likely To Be Wound Up Soon.

Vancouver, B. C., July 16.—It appears that, subject to the approval of the winding-up judge, Justice Murphy, the legal controversy with regard to the standing of the Dominion Trust depositors in the liquidation is at an end.

Some time ago the liquidator, J. C. Gwynn, circularized some six thousand depositors, asking their vote on his proposal to give the depositors full rights as creditors. At Mr. Gwynn's office it was stated that replies are coming in fast, and that the majority are in favor of accepting the settlement. It was reported that good progress is being made in settling outstanding claims against the liquidation, and that the liquidator hoped to have a good showing toward winding up by autumn.

COUNCIL OF FIVE DISCUSSES BLOCKADE OF RUSSIAN PORTS

Proposal Made That Allies Allow Ships to Enter Russian Ports.

Paris, Tuesday, July 15.—The Council of Five met this afternoon, its chief topic of discussion being the Russian blockade. There have been proposals that the powers should allow ships to enter Russian ports under special permits. It has been suggested that most of the Black Sea ports could be blockaded by the Denekine government, which is friendly to the Allies, but the supreme council has not decided to ask him to declare such a blockade.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE OF FRENCH SENATE WILL STUDY TREATY

Leon Bourgeois will draw up a general report, and also a special labor report on the labor, political, military, naval, reparation, financial, economic, Alsace Lorraine, Sarre, colonies and punishment clauses.

TORONTO-LONDON RADIAL MAY GET UNDER WAY SOON

Mayor Church Makes Significant Remark After Private Meeting.

WILL SIGN AGREEMENT

Two Members of Board of Control Kick, But Are in Minority.

TORONTO, July 15.—At a private conference today, attended by Mayor Church, Sir Adam Beck, the members of the board of control, Corporation Counsel Geary, Commissioner of Works Harris and other civic officials, the mayor was instructed by the board of control to sign the hydro-radial agreement, as authorized by bylaw No. 7540, passed in 1916.

Under this agreement the city agrees "to make no agreement or arrangement with, and to grant no bonus or other inducement to any other railway or transpuortation company without the consent of the commission" (hydro-electric commission).

The agreement with Toronto and other municipalities was made for the construction and operation of an electric railway from Toronto to London under the hydro electric railway act of 1914. It has been signed by all but 10 per cent of the municipalities affected.

Mayor Church, Controller Maguire and Controller Robbins voted to sign the agreement and Controllers McBride and Cameron opposed it.

Controller McBride emerged from the meeting before the others, indignant at the proceedings. He declared that the whole thing had been done without first obtaining the opinion of the city's legal department.

"The whole business," he asserted, "was railroaded through by the mayor, who was supported by Controller Robbins and Controller Maguire. I was strongly opposed to it, but it was rushed through by them."

Mayor Church, at the conclusion of the session, stated that the signing of the agreement had been decided upon so that the hydro-electric commission could go ahead with the work.

HY. FORD WANTS ANOTHER WAR IF LEAGUE FAILS

Wants To See Situation Thoroughly Cleaned Up.

MAKES MANY ADMISSIONS

Much of His Pacifist Literature Written by Publicity Agent.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., July 15.—Henry Ford made many frank admissions in the course of his testimony today in his $1,000,000 libel suit against The Chicago Daily Tribune. Examination was by Attorney Elliott G. Stevenson, representing The Tribune.

Mr. Ford admitted ignorance of history and said that more than ever he considered it "bunk" growing out of tradition; nor had he any personal use for music or other forms of art.

He reaffirmed his belief that professional soldiers are murderers, nor would he exempt Gen. Pershing or Gen. Grant from this category.

He said that this present view is for the "fullest preparedness, unless there is a league of nations," and that if the war just concluded in Europe does not result in such a league, he favors another great war, without delay, in order to clean up the situation so thoroughly that universal peace would be had.

It developed that Theodore De Lavigne, a publicity agent for Mr. Ford, wrote practically all of Mr. Ford's pacifist literature and that much of it was circulated broadcast without Mr. Ford having read it.

"I will accept full responsibility for it, however," Mr. Ford testified repeatedly.

LIBERAL-FARMER IS NOMINATED BY SOUTH BRUCE ASSOCIATION

Meeting Applauds Dewart's Vigorous Leadership.

FRANK RENNIE CANDIDATE

Enthusiastic Indorsation Is Given Provincial Liberal Platform.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

FORMOSA, July 15.—Members of the South Bruce Liberal Association tonight adopted a resolution indorsing the platform planned at the Liberal provincial convention at Toronto.

The meeting applauded Mr. Dewart's vigorous leadership and excellent qualities as candidate.

Mr. Dewart scored the Government unmercifully for its "messing around" with Ontario's agricultural problems, and said that out of the situation thus created the new farmers' party was formed.

He enthused the gathering by declaring that the policies of the United Farmers and Liberals were almost identical, and that there were no grounds on which they could not unite.

Frank Rennie of Walkerton, himself a practical farmer, was chosen by the meeting as candidate to contest the riding at the next provincial election. His only opponent on the ballot after several nominees had withdrawn was Thomas Purdy of Greenock, who boldly announced himself as a United Farmer, who was willing to follow the new leader. At the final count the ballot stood 87 against 21.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, W. A. Rowand, Walkerton; vice-president, S. R. Brill, Teeswater; Secretary, J. A. Johnston, Mildmay; treasurer, B. Beingessmer, Formosa.

MRS. STOCKTON INJURED.

BLENHEIM, July 15. — Mrs. John Stockton and her two small children were slightly injured today when they were thrown from a buggy in a runaway.

The horse took fright, and ran down the street, upsetting the vehicle and afterward ditched another rig.

FORD CONCERN INCREASES CAPITAL FROM $100,000 TO A HUNDRED MILLIONS

WILMINGTON, Del., July 15. — By certificate filed at Dover today, the Eastern Holding Company changed its name to Ford Motor Company, and increased the capital from $100,000 to $100,000,000.

The Eastern Holding Company was chartered July 9, 1919, with a capital of $100,000 to deal in investments. The amending certificate filed today did not disclose any reason for using "Ford Motor" in the name of the company, merely stating that the change was authorized at a meeting of the board of directors, held in New York yesterday. No reason for the change was known at the office of the secretary of state.

DETROIT OFFICIALS QUIET.

DETROIT, July 15.—Action of the Eastern Holding Company in changing its name to Ford Motor Company and increasing its capital stock to $100,000,000 follows the announcement authorized here July 11, the recapitalization of the Ford Company would be undertaken with the purchase by Edsel Ford, of very near all the minority stock of the corporation. The officials of the Ford company here this afternoon declined to discuss the action taken in Delaware. When asked whether the eastern company would take over the shares of the present Ford company and issue its own shares to the stockholders, they declared that a statement at this time would be premature.

Directors of the Ford Motor Company some years ago voted to increase the capital to $100,000,000 because the investment in the business was much greater than its capital. It was found, however, that the Michigan laws did not permit corporaitons to capitalize for more than $25,000,000.

URGE ALL NATIONS TO OPPOSE ACT OF HUNGARIAN SOVIET

Funds From Sale of Securities Might Be Used For Propaganda.

PARIS, July 15.—(Havas Agency).—The inter-Allied council today asked all nations to oppose the sale in their countries of the securities held in Hungary and which the Hungarian soviet government has ordered the banks to deliver. It was said that the delivery of these securities was being made.

The council directed the attention of Allied and neutral governments, as well as Germany and Austria, to the danger that might follow the use of these funds for propaganda. The seizure of the securities was declared to be illegal confiscation.

The council of five, it was said in a Paris dispatch on July 9, was considering sending a note to Bela Kun, head of the Hungarian soviet government, disapproving his plan to sell securities held in Hungary and also a note to all nations advising that these securities be not purchased.

Brockdorf-Rantzau Becomes Germany's Minister to Austria

VIENNA, July 15.—(By the Associated Press).—Count Von Ulrich Brockdorff-Rantzau has been accepted by the government as German minister to Austria.

This is the first intimation of the appointment of Count Von Brockdorff-Rantzau as Germany's minister to Austria. The count, who headed the first German peace delegation at Versailles, was superseded by Herman Mueller as German minister of foreign affairs late in June.

WOMEN IN BUSINESS

Woman's power in America is well illustrated by the thousands of women who entered almost every line of business to replace men who were drafted during the war. Health proves their strongest asset. Many women, however, developed weak, nervous conditions and could not stand the strain of a business life. Such women should remember there is one tried and true remedy in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for forty-five years has been restoring health and strength to the women of America.

Tan, Red or Freckled Skin Is Easily Shed.

To free your summer-soiled skin of its muddiness, freckles, blotches or tan the best thing to do is to free yourself of the skin itself. This is easily accomplished by the use of ordinary mercolized wax, which of course can be had at any drug store. Use at night as you use cold cream, washing it off in the morning. Immediately the offending surface skin begins to come off in fine powder-like particles. Gradually the entire outer scarf skin is absorbed, without the least harm or inconvenience. The second layer of skin now in evidence presents a spotless whiteness and sparkling beauty obtainable in no other way. One ounce of mercolized wax usually is sufficient to completely renovate a bad complexion. —Advt.

IF THIN AND NERVOUS, TRY PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

When one stops to consider the host of thin people who are searching continually for some method by which they may increase their flesh to normal proportions by the filling out of ugly hollows, the rounding off of protruding angles, with the attendant bloom of health and attractiveness, it is no wonder that many and varied suggestions along this line appear from time to time in public print.

While excessive thinness might be attributed to various and subtle causes in different individuals, it is a well-known fact that the lack of sufficient phosphorus in the human system is very largely responsible for this condition. Experiments on humans and animals by many scientists have demonstrated beyond question of doubt that a body deficient in phosphorus becomes nervous, sickly and thin. A noted author and professor, in his book, "Chemistry and Food Nutrition," published in 1918, says: " . . . that the amount of phosphorus required for the normal nutrition of man is seriously underestimated in many of our standard textbooks."

It seems to be well established that this deficiency in phosphorus may now be met by the use of an organic phosphate known throughout English-speaking countries as Bitro-Phosphate. Through the assimilation of this phosphate by the nerve tissue the phosphoric content when absorbed in the amount normally required by nature soon produces a welcome change in our body and mind. Nerve tension disappears, vigor and strength replace weakness and lack of energy, and the whole body soon loses its ugly hollows and abrupt angles, becoming enveloped in a glow of perfect health and beauty, and the will and strength to be up and doing.

CAUTION: While Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Advt.

WITH FRIEND ROWELL IT IS A CASE OF "RULE OR RUIN," SAYS DEWART AT FORMOSA

Provincial Liberal Leader Hot ly Replies to Attack of Former Leader—Would Sacrific e Liberal Party For His Own Gain.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

FORMOSA, July 15.—"I never had, nor have I now, any understanding, expressed or implied, with any interest or any individual in any way connected with the liquor traffic. I have no obligations to any corporate or other interests that would prevent me from doing my full and plain duty affecting the will of the people," declared H. H. Dewart, K.C., leader of the South Bruce Liberal Association here tonight, answering charges made against him by his former colleague, Hon. N. W. Rowell.

The speech was made amid the cheers and applause from an audience which packed to the doors Formosa's historic red stone school house.

"Mr. Rowell must be hard driven that he stoops to the methods he has adopted and libelously states what he knows to be untrue," he said.

A Call To Battle.

The message was a clarion call to battle and to victory in the cause of Liberalism, and a clean-voiced story of his stand on certain matters upon which his unexpected opponent, Mr. Rowell, had thrown doubt.

"I notice," said Mr. Dewart at the opening of his remarks, "that some helpful observations have been handed out to the press by the Hon. N. W. Rowell, M.P., master of publicity, a publicity which he has assiduously used for the advancement of every detail of a Union Government. That temporary expedient he now desires to make permanent, because upon its continuance his own political life depends.

"He learned the value of publicity when he cultivated it, the chief force to aid his own personal advancement and ambitions. For of no other public man in Canada who has achieved political eminence can it so fully and truly be said as of Mr. Rowell, that he is A NEWSPAPER-MADE POLITICIAN."

Created Information Bureau.

"More recently," the speaker continued, "he has had the advantage of a portfolio as a member of the Government, in which he created a bureau of public information, and this is the official weekly record which has disseminated much useful and valuable information—and at the public expense sounded the praises of the minister who has created it.

"Apparently he realizes that in the coming provincial campaign he cannot reach the public ear through his personal Government-owned organ. So he has fallen back upon the newspaper press to add his unconscious tribute to my selection as leader of the party which he once led.

"It is the first public inkling we have had of any dregs of interest in the party of which he was once my loyally supported leader in Ontario.

Would Make Party a Pawn.

"I always welcome criticism from a loyal friend. But Mr. Rowell, I think, is neither. In January, 1918, after Mr. Rowell had joined the Union Government, I was foolish enough to believe and accept the assurances of Mr. Rowell's support of the provincial Liberal party. Mr. Proudfoot was chosen leader. We can now understand how he, perhaps unconsciously, played Mr. Rowell's game, which was to make the Liberal party in Ontario a pawn on the Unionist political chessboard.

"By a foolish, and, as I contend, an unconstitutional agreement, the result of Mr. Proudfoot's own suggestion, the Liberal party in the Ontario House was tied hand and foot. It is easy in the light of subsequent events to trace the fine Italian hand of Mr. Rowell, the president of the council.

"You all know the result that has followed. For the past year we have not had responsible government in Ontario. Mr. Hearst has hung on without any mandate from the people. A small coterie of overholding political tenants rule the province from Queen's Park. We are back to the old days of the executive council.

"Our great resources are not conserved.

Patronage and Favoritism.

"Patronage, favoritism and neglect of public interests prevail. But the splendid convention at Toronto has shown that we have preserved the saving element of democratic Liberalism.

"Mr. Rowell advises his friends to support the Union Government in Ontario, but we have no union government in Ontario. We have never had one during the war. When the Hearst-Proudfoot bargain was made in the session of 1918 I suggested in the House that if Mr. Hearst wanted to be consistent with his Unionist professions he should form a union government and take Liberals into the cabinet. But he spurned the suggestion. Yet his attorney-general, Mr. Lucas, who usually acts as advance agent for the Provincial Government—the gentleman who had his ear to the ground in Southwest Toronto—had spoken on January 12, 1918." At this point Mr. Dewart read an extract from a speech by Hon. I. B. Lucas at the East York Conservative annual meeting, to the effect that—"the realignment of party lines in Ontario which enabled the province to give almost solid support to a unionist win-the-war government will prove not temporary, but permanent, and like those who found themselves working together in the recent election, will, either in the Dominion or the Provincial House, virtually coalesce."

Wanted to Absorb.

"That statement was most significant," continued Mr. Dewart. "He wanted to absorb, not to unite. The reason is not far to seek. A general election had then been planned. It was during the summer of 1918. Even overseas, the announcement was made to the soldiers.

"While others were going overseas to fill the gaps, Major Hartt, M. P. P. for Simcoe, the Orange organizer, had been brought back from his duty at the front to take his seat in the Legislature, at an expense of nearly $800 to the country, to organize for the election campaign the Orange lodges of Ontario, of which he is now grand master.

"In such a position of vantage the Government accepted the olive branch, but qualmed to the flesh-pots of office. The suggestion of a provincial union government was not considered by Mr. Hearst in 1918, when the war was on, and when many Liberals were honestly supporting a "union" government at Ottawa from patriotic motives. While now, when the war is over, demobilization almost complete, and peace declared, does Mr. Rowell make this suggestion to help his friend, Mr. Hearst?" the speaker asked.

"The idea is absurd," he hastened to state.

It is Rule or Ruin.

"I am afraid that with my friend, Mr. Rowell, it is a case of rule or ruin. When he cannot control the party which he deserted he is joining hands with Premier Hearst to compass its defeat. (Tremendous applause.)

"Liberal and democratic principles under the system of orders-in-council have already suffered too much at Mr. Rowell's hands at Ottawa. The Liberals of Ontario will not allow division and strife at any man's dictation, but will be supported by thousands of Conservatives at the polls who desire to protest against the reign of the autocrat, and who stand for the right of the people to govern."

Speaking of the suggestions of "an intolerant and illiberal attitude" and division of one section of the party at the convention, Mr. Dewart said:

"This statement was unfair and untrue. There was no hostility to honest Liberal-Unionists at the convention. We worked in harmony. But there was a protest against the forces that would stifle Liberalism. It was not the result of an illiberal and intolerant attitude toward Mr. Proudfoot that he was not chosen as leader. It was not because he was a Unionist. But there was an unmistakable declaration for more virility in the Liberal council. (Applause.)

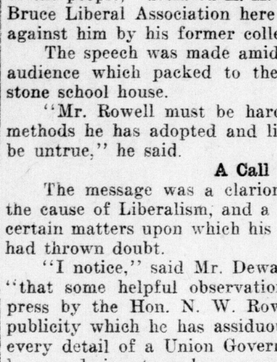

Old Story of Shrine-Makers.

"This Unionist cry will deceive no one. It is the old story of the shrine-makers of Ephesus; a repetition of the old story, "great is Diana of the Ephesians!" and, for the same reason, their craft is in danger.

"The policies of Liberalism have been formulated and supported by a reunited Liberal party. With renewed vigor and determination we will set ourselves to the great task of reconstruction and provincial development, and the re-establishment of democratic and popular government."

Mr. Dewart declared that it was his determination as leader of the Liberal party to treat the liquor question as entirely out of politics, and let the people themselves decide it.

CARSON'S THREAT TO CALL ON VOLUNTEERS RAISES BRITISH IRE

Many Friends To Ulster Have Been Lost As Result.

PRESS IS AROUSED

The Manchester Guardian Demands Punishment Under Defence of Realm Act.

LONDON, July 15.—(By Canadian Associated Press.)—Sir Edward Carson's speech condemning a dominion home rule scheme for Ireland and threatening in extremity to call out the Ulster volunteers, has aroused the British press, and has killed most of the sympathy that existed for Ulster. Newspapers generally consider that it will force the Government to declare its Irish policy. The speech was mentioned in the Commons, but the Ulster leader is unrepentant, and has made another speech attacking his adversaries in the press. He is again subject to newspaper comment.

The Times calls upon the Government to do something for Ireland, and says that Carson has conferred a charter of lawlessness upon others who dislike the present state of things.

The Daily Express says Carson must know that Great Britain does not dream of inflicting injustice on Ulster. It is perilous in these times to talk of revolt, and it is amazing that such talk should come from Sir Edward Carson, the paper concludes.

"Punish," Says Guardian.

The Manchester Guardian thinks the speech could be heavily punished under the defence of the realm act. It is obvious, it says, that what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander, and if this kind of incendiarism is permitted on one side, it cannot be punished on the other.

The Morning Post, the uncompromising opponent of the separation policy, applauds the speech. It says:

"We know from Carson that dominion home rule is no more acceptable to Ulster than it is among the Sinn Feiners. It is applauded only by those who are utterly discredited either in England or in Ireland and who, if they had the power to impose the scheme, would certainly lack the power to make it work. Dominion home rule has no perceptible advantages over the home rule act now in suspense, and in regard to that act it is impossible to find either among its authors or its beneficiaries any single person to say a word for it."

TRADE WITH GERMANY AGAIN PERMISSIBLE, IS OTTAWA ADVICE

Permits Granted by Trade Commission on Same Terms as Other Countries.

OTTAWA, July 15.—As trading with Germany and German-Austria is now allowed, export permits to these countries can be granted by the Canadian Trade Commission on the same terms as to other countries. A cablegram received today from the Canadian mission states that a "trading with the enemy license" has been issued in Great Britain, and that all goods not on the conservation list are allowed to be shipped without individual export license. This is supplemented by the information from the trade commission at Washington that a general trade license is being issued by the United States Government, enabling all persons to communicated and trade with persons residing in Germany, subject to a few specific limitations. Hungary and Bolshevik Russia are not included in the permission.

Another cable from London to the commission states that the importation of goods into Great Britain from other former enemy countries is permitted, as it was not found possible to establish working machinery for certifying the percentage of German, Austrian or Hungarian manufacturers in importation.

Naval Pageant Is To Be Feature of Peace Celebration

LONDON, July 15.—(Reuter Dispatch).—One of the great features of the peace celebrations will be the naval pageant at South End, which, owing to its propinquity to London would attract tremendous numbers of visitors to the metropolis. The public would be enabled to inspect the fleet for the first time since the outbreak of war. Altogether there will be hundreds of warships arranged in four parallel lines. The leading line will extend from the pier in an unbroken sweep eastwards and will include many of the most famous battleships and battle cruisers of the war.

All competing machines must carry a useful cargo of at least one ton on both outward and homeward flights. Factors to be considered in the award will be the average reliability and airworthiness of the machines.

He served in France for two years and was in much severe fighting. Drummer Strowbridge has the distinction of being with the first Canadian Battalion which marched into Germany. He marched 125 miles immediately after the signing of the armistice and beat his drum with such a triumphant fervor that it was necessary soon after crossing the Rhine to place new heads in it.

Each and All Won the War, Some Had Larger Share

Our American friends now have the chance to say that the British claimed to have won the war. Sir Douglas Haig has made it plain that the work of the British army in the last two years of conflict meant that by no other means could the Germans have been withstood and finally defeated. It is true, too. The thing admits of two constructions. Any nation, Belgium, France, even Russia, and in the climax of the fighting, the Americans, might establish a case for a contribution of effort without which the Huns would have at one time or another reached their objectives. It may be said that any nation won the war. The Canadians, if they saw fit, can quote Lloyd George to prove they "saved the day" and kept the Germans from the channel ports. But so far the Canadians have not joined in the controversy. They realize too well that by themselves they could not have defeated Germany; neither could France, Britain, or Russia, or the United States. This is not equivalent to an admission that Germany could have beaten any one of these nations, but the evidence goes to show that no one nation had sufficient military equipment to meet the Germans at their own game, the land game. At sea Britain could have won the war hands down, as is attested by the inglorious surrender of the Hun navy. The German navy by defeating the British navy could have won the war or the Allies could have resisted to the point of extermination.

Each nation in the war having been essential to the final outcome, and we believe most people will admit that all were needed, may claim to have won the war.

The alternative is to agree that all won the war, and let the casualties and the expenditure for the war decide the share which shall be apportioned to each nation. The Chicago Tribune says that it does not forget the bragging the United States has done as to Uncle Sam's part in the war, but it believes no one of Sir Douglas' rank has taken his "tone and attitude." It believes that a debate about which of four quarts makes a gallon would be as sensible as a debate about which of the several forces joined against the central powers won a victory against them. We prefer to regard the matter as a great stock company in which each nation held so many shares. Each share was a life, and as these shares were used to stand the time of stress, so may credit for respective sacrifice and loss be apportioned. It is not quite so much a question of "who won the war?" as "who gave the most?" The question as to who gave most willingly might also be weighed in the balance.

Even Toronto Globe Gives Up Its Erstwhile Favorite Son

Whatever the effect of Mr. Rowell's denunciation upon Leader Dewart and the Liberal convention which chose the member for Northwest Toronto, it is certain that his lettter did not solidify his standing with those elements which brought Mr. Rowell to the front and have fought for him until the present time. The Toronto Globe gives the appearance of reading Mr. Rowell from the Liberal party, and it is now certain that wonders will never cease. If Mr. Rowell has taken it upon himself to draw the circle of the Flavelle-Unionist party around the form of Mr. D. D. McKenzie and to have pronounced the curse of the Committee of One Hundred upon Mr. Dewart, it yet remains to be told that the Toronto Globe loves free trade more than it loves Mr. Rowell. However much the Globe hates Mr. Dewart and mistrusts him, it puts no such ban upon him as that which it reads to Mr. Rowell.

Mr. Rowell has "crossed the floor" to sit with "a high tariff and Big Interests party." He has announced that he stands for the perpetuation of Unionism, and has warned the Liberals of his own ilk that the forthcoming convention of the Liberal party cannot be regarded as representative of Liberal-Unionism. The Globe has not expressed itself as to the status in Liberalism of the coming convention, but is believed to be praying mightily for Mr. Fielding. It loses no time, in any event, to make its position clear to Mr. Rowell. Its understanding of Union Government was that it should exist for the period of the war and that the old-line parties should then put on their old badges and pitch into one another in good old-fashioned fighting style.

Mr. Rowell has gone over, lock, stock and barrel, disgusted with everything that is called Liberal, and making certain to vent his spleen upon the present leaders of the party. As in the case of the provincial convention, he does not choose to put in an appearance at the August convention. He does not expect that moral suasion would have much effect upon these lost Liberals, who, like the Liberals of Ontario, at one time had high hopes of Mr. Rowell, and who saw him supported strongly in his ineffective campaigns in his province. The very men who stood with Mr. Rowell in his campaigns against the Whitney and Hearst governments were among the delegates who chose Mr. Dewart. The Liberalism of these men had not changed. It must have been Mr. Rowell.

The Advertiser believes an intolerant and petulant mood lies at the basis of Mr. Rowell's attack. Those who do not think as Mr. Rowell thinks, or who cannot be forced to think as he thinks, are anathema to him. It is for that reason that, after his unprovoked attacks upon Mr. Dewart and the Liberals in general, he finds only a chorus of groans coming from the country, and a closed door even at that staunch citadel to which he often fled, the Toronto Globe.

Films and the Church

At a centenary celebration of Ohio Methodists held at Columbus moving pictures were introduced to illustrate the progress of the Christian Church. It is astonishing that evangelical Christianity has not long ago adopted the moving picture as a medium of expression. As an aid to personal and public morality it would be hard to beat. A very little reflection will convince one of the value to Sunday school activities of judiciously selected picturings of Biblical history, and few there are who by the spoken work could explain the sorrows of sin, the miseries of intemperance, as eloquently as the moving picture. The great and dramatic Bible stories filmed among the hills and valleys where the originals lived and moved would make a vivid and tremendous appeal to the young and the mature. Reverently treated there is no episode or incident of sacred history that could not be screened even to depiction of Christ's life and its stupendous climax. We have adapted music, vocal and instrumental, to the purposes of spiritual uplift and moral progress, recognizing its emotional value. Why not the moving picture, then, working through another sense?

Hindy As a Rescuer

Marshal Hindenburg is once more protesting that he and not the ex-kaiser was responsible for launching the war. He will find it difficult to convince the world of this. Every public act and word of the ex-emperor from long before he mounted the throne until he was toppled from it shows him arrogantly and aggressively the big boss of his empire. We cannot imagine the greatest of all imperial war lords not having the supreme, the final say, in so vital and so typically Prussian a matter as the making of war. It is certain that at Potsdam a splendid conquest of Europe and Asia was fully expected when the Sarajevo assassination provided the excuse, and it is certain that the German emperor in his stupendous conceit would take upon himself the main responsibility of the glorious hour. No doubt he called in his leading military and civil aides and advisers, but few will believe that the decision to start an unnecessary and dreadful struggle didn't rest finally with the "all highest." Spike-helmetted, goose-stepping Germany, eager for military adventure, loot and glory, was the real and great culprit, but narrowed to individuals the blame for the crime rests on the tyrant who for his own glory and renown signalled for the blow.

The Strap For Mexico

American insistence upon the fullest recognition of the Monroe Doctrine by the league of nations may bring about early American intervention in Mexico. Great Britain and France have just filed protests at Washington over outrageous treatment of British and French citizens by Carranza and his officials. The Mexican president and his friends are persecuting the foreigners who control the oil and many mining industries of Mexico, seeking by unjust commercial regulations and taxation to drive them from the country. Throughout the period of active war, and on many occasions since, the citizens of allied nations have been subjected to insult and physical and financial injury that would have brought prompt display of physical force on the part of their governments were it not for the American ban on demonstrations.

Now, however, there is a distinct sentiment amongst the American people which favors taking Mexico in hand, tackling a task that it is realized must sooner or later fall to Uncle Sam. The American people have been amazingly patient under the nag of Mexican outlawry and insult, but this endurance has its limits, and in the interests of tranquility on this continent, and because of the importance of holding fast the friendships made during the war, it is felt that something must be done to bring the Carranza crowd to order. The British and French protests furnish an opening for American intervention that is very likely to be welcomed by Washington. Should the United States definitely take over Mexico as a mandatory it will be approved by all leading governments, as it will mean assurance of decent treatment for foreigners in Mexico and safety for the millions of foreign dollars invested there.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

"Trotzky is running around in circles."—That man seems to have gone crazy about revolutions.

The ex-crown prince's wail that the Allies will get him only over his dead body should increase the determination of the Allies to get him.

Morgenthau, former American ambassador to Constantinople, says the Turk can never be absorbed by western civilization. The gobbler can't be gobbled.

The ex-kaiser is reported worrying over inability to get a residence that overlooks the sea. If he will wait a while perhaps the Allies will provide him with a villa that opens upon a large view of the South Atlantic.

That grand old pessimist and dean of the newspaper gloom squad at Paris, Dr. Dillon, cables that France is on the "rim of revolution" and cannot be saved. That will reassure France and the rest of the world, as Dillon's reputation as a calamity predictor is surpassed by his record as a poor guesser.

FRIEND BURGLAR.

[By R. Ray Baker.]

A twig snapped and a light flashed.

Inez Lawton jumped. It seemed that she went at least three feet straight up, but she afterward admitted that the distance was probably no more than one.

The snap of the twig was ominous, and the light was weird, casting long, fantastic shadows that cavorted above and around the trees in a way to give one a creepy sensation. Inez experienced chills all over her body and her teeth chattered. She felt herself sinking to the ground, weak from fright, but managed to steady herself by backing against the trunk of a tree.

Her nerves somewhat calmed by the brace, she clasped a weapon in her right hand and waited. The weapon was one of those long, sharp instruments used to keep hats from blowing from heads.

Two more twigs were released from pressure and voiced resentment at being brushed by a foot. The light flashed on again and remained steady, circling round the glen in a menacing manner, as if determined that no object, large or small, should go unrevealed.

But a bush interposed between Inez and the flashlight, which tried in vain to penetrate to the place where she was standing.

Some more noisy twigs indicated the holder of the light was approaching with steady strides. She held her ground, determined to put up a fight.

Presently the brush was pushed back and the sweeping arc of light almost found the girl. A hand reached out in front of the bullseye and pointed a formidable looking object at her—a long, narrow object, that reflected the light.

"Don't dare to move!" warned a harsh masculine voice. "I've got you covered."

The hatpin fell from the girl's nerveless grasp and she trembled again. She was as good as dead, she felt convinced. Even in those moments of what appeared to be dire peril she chided herself for so recklessly venturing into the haunts of the hotel burglar. She should have known he would be lurking somewhere in the Avonshire woods, waiting for night to come so he could ply his trade.

A spirit of adventure, however, had prompted her to accept Bessie Elvridge's dare to walk alone through the woods back to the hotel, and run chances of meeting "friend burglar," as she jocosely called him.

She had started out bravely enough, but as darkness approached and she saw no signs that she was approaching the hotel she became more and more apprehensive.

Finally she was forced to the belief that she was lost, and had wandered about aimlessly until she came across the dark glen in which she was now being obliged to pay for her intrepidity.

"I was a fool!" she told herself, while her teeth rattled. "I'm in the worst plight imaginable. Here I stand, helpless before that desperate man who has terrorized the resort for three weeks."

The light found her and rested on her a few seconds. It showed a slim, light-haired girl, with a small, rather round face, standing at bay, back against a tree. Her big hat was tilted on one side of her head with a rakishness that was not intended.

A laugh came from the man with the light, whom she could not see. Inez shuddered.

"A girl!" exclaimed the harsh voice. "A girl! and by George! it's Inez Lawton!"

She started. Surely this robber could not know her.

"Who are you?" she demanded in as firm tones as she could muster.

He turned the light on his own face. She almost screamed, but she managed to stifle it, so that the sound that came from her throat was more like a gasp or a groan.

"Chester Straight!" she said weakly. "You—you of all men! To think that you—that you——"

The situation was too much for her. The intense fear she had experienced, coupled with the revelation that the man who stood before her was the one she had once promised to marry, overcame her. Inez Lawton, for the first time in her life, knew what it was to faint.

Chester Straight had attended college with her, and while they had not fallen in love at first sight it had not taken them long to become seriously fond of each other. On the day they were graduated they became engaged, and Inez went to her own home to teach music and wait for him to make a name for himself, and some worldly wealth to go with it. A year later Chester wrote her that the proposed marriage could never be, because he had contracted tuberculosis; so he released her from her obligation.

"Don't expect to hear from me again," he wrote. "I must wipe the memory of you from my mind. He insisted that she keep the ring, and she did.

That was the last letter she ever received from him, but she wore the token of their engagement, deciding never to marry, so long as she could not have the one man she cared for. Two years after the last word from Chester, Inez went with her parents on a tour of the West, which brought them to the little resort in the foothills of the Rockies.

When Inez regained consciousness she was lying on her back, a wet handkerchief pressed against her forehead. When the nausea that accompanies a faint had passed she began to take interest in her surroundings and discovered that her head was pillowed in Chester's lap. They were on the shore of a small lake, on which the moonlight was dancing.

"Don't move," cautioned that harsh voice. "You'll soon feel better."

Horrors! Remain passive with her head in a burglar's lap? Never! She struggled to her feet, where she swayed giddily but gradually regaining strength.

"Where's that—that gun?" she asked tremulously.

"Here," he answered, and took something from his pocket. "Mind if I smoke?" And he began filling the "revolver" with tobacco. "I dropped my real gun in the lake while coming over—and just when it seemed I needed it most."

He rose to his feet, suggesting. "If you feel better now we'd better hike to the hotel."

His audacity was actually startling, was her thought; but she could not permit him to place himself in such danger. He had once been her sweetheart—had continued to be, though gone from her life, until now, and—well, she still felt, but—no, she must not think of it! In love with a burglar? Horrible! And then, he must have deceived her by that talk of tuberculosis, just as an excuse to get rid of her. He certainly looked husky enough; still, she could not be instrumental in letting the law get its hands on him.

"I'm not afraid to go alone," she told him. "It's just a little way along the shore."

She started away, but after taking a few steps looked back. He had turned from her and was looking full across the lake, standing as motionless as a statue.

"Good—good night," she called softly.

He turned like a flash and caught up with her.

"When can I see you again?" he said in that harsh voice. "When? I must see you again."

She shook her head, then caught herself. What hurt would it do?

"All right," she agreed. "Tomorrow night, right here, at 9."

She walked rapidly toward the hotel. When the lights of the hostelry flashed into view through the woods she stopped, stepped close to the water and took a ring from her left hand. She extended it over the water, hesitated, sighed, and replaced it on her finger and hurried on.

At the appointed hour the next night she went to the rendezvous and found Chester waiting.

"Hello," he said, and his voice was not as husky as on the previous night. He saw that she noticed the difference, and explained:

"Been taking cough medicine. My cold's getting better."

She smiled. "What was it you wanted."

He pointed toward the sky, which was lighted by Luna, assisted by myriads of stars.

"Isn't it wonderful—that sky, the moon, the stars and—and this air? I love them—and I love those mountains, too. You see, they all helped to make me well. They helped me to fight the white death germs, and we won."

She was looking at him intently, mystified, through the semi-darkness.

"Wouldn't it be terrible to be shut up away from all those things?" he went on. "And think of what I did this afternoon. I shut a man up, and he'll probably stay in prison till he dies."

"Are you out of your mind?" Inez inquired, anxiously. "What are you raving about? Whom did you shut up?"

"Why, of course, you don't know. I mean Slim Sam, the hotel burglar. I've been after him for three weeks." Chester answered. "I forgot to tell you I was sheriff of this county."

BLIND KNITTER'S RECORD.

[Amherstburg Echo.]

Much has been published about the knitting records made throughout the country, but we doubt if any of them equals that made by Miss Margaret Hall of William street, in spite of the fact that Miss Hall suffers from the serious disability of being sightless, during the past 22 months she has knitted 350 pairs of socks.

PROVING THE CASE FOR THE CLASSICS.

[Boston Transcript.]

Ten thousand times ten thousand competent speakers and scholars, taking up the cudgels for the classics, have made the assertion that the study of Latin and Greek is essential to a correct understanding of the English language. Seldom, however, have these disciples of the humanities gone beyond the stage of affirmation and sought out, to support their belief, proofs of the categorical kind which the enemies of classical training would be more or less forced to accept. It is a labor of this sort which Frederic Irland, official reporter of debates in the National House of Representatives, has been at pains to undertake, and it is the substantial nature of the proof offered as a result of this labor which makes Mr. Irland's article in the current Atlantic on "High Schools and the Classics" so valuable and unusual a contribution to the case for retaining Latin and Greek in the curricula of public education.

Mr. Irland began by posing a list of thirty-four words for definition by pupils in the senior year of a Washington high school. The answers were given so much more correctly by the boys and girls who had studied not English alone, but also Latin and Greek, that he determined to carry the inquiry further, and had the lists multigraphed and sent to high schools throughout the country. The same result was brought into evidence. From an inspection of more than twenty-five thousand definitions Mr. Irland finds himself able to say that the pupils who had studied Latin or Greek usually expressed themselves well and understood the words, while those who had studied only English during their eleven years of schooling gave hundreds and hundreds of answers of which these are typical:

Chronic—A malignant illness; a disease; cranky; sudden or sporadic; growlsome or quarrelsome; a skeptic; etc.

Cynical—Pertaining to the centre; pertaining to a moneyed man; conical, long and round; smiling; etc.

Diabolical—Pertaining to the Bible; foolish; standing for something (this must derive from some vague memory of "symbolical"); insane; etc.

Genealogical—The science or study of minerals; a person who is always speaking of what would happen under certain circumstances; familiarity or friendly; relating to geography; to be genial or pleasant; etc.

Genesis—Brilliant, extraordinary person; a chapter in the Bible; etc.

Sarcophagus—Part of the human body; also some animals has it; an Egyptian bug; a sarcastic person; the throat; etc.

Sycophant—One who is always dancing; a melody; a fool or cynic.

Of course, if these were specimens chosen only at random, they would not be very significant. Mr. Irland says, however, that this is not so. In his article he not only supplies hundreds more of such examples as are cited above, but goes bond for the statement that ignorance of the words listed was general among all those who had not studied Latin or Greek. "There is an amazing uniformity in the answers," he says. "Ten per cent of all American high school pupils, seventeen years or over, when they see the word 'phenomena,' think of it as a disease of the lungs; not one in a hundred recognizes it as in the plural number." What seems to us most evident here, as in many of the examples cited above, is the amazing freedom with which the pupils have drawn, for their definitions, upon their memory of words of somewhat similar sound. Thus 'phenomena' evidently associates itself in their minds with 'pneumonia'; 'cynical' with 'conical' and other words picked up in geometry. 'Diabolical' is an acceptable substitute for 'symbolical.' 'Genealogical' is inseparably bound up with 'genial' when it is not associated with geology or almost any other ology. 'Sarcophagus' is 'oesophagus,' when it is not a scarab. 'Sycophant' suggests to high school pupils 'That Syncopated Rag.'"

To this showing of proof Dr. Eliot would doubtless reply that obviously what the children need is more sense-training, a better tuning of ear. It is here that we beg leave to differ. The whole weight of the evidence seems to us to show that high school pupils of today rely and are being accustomed to rely altogether too much on the sound of words, and not on the thought behind the words, nor on that accuracy of mental discipline which insists upon the sharp detection of all differentiations of idea and of meaning. Indeed, it seems to us that the superior understanding of English, possessed by pupils who have studied Latin and Greek, proceeds less from specific retention of the Latin and Greek roots of words in English use, than it does from the fact that their well-disciplined instruction in the classics, far more thorough than any training now given in America in the modern languages, has developed in their minds qualities of accuracy and attention to which the coddled pets of a Flexnerized school can never attain.

Mrs. May Praises Tanlac for Ending Long-Standing Trouble—"It's Wonderful."

The best evidence of the merits of a medicine is what people who have actually taken it have to say about it. And this is true and beyond all question when such statements are made by people of high character and published right in the community where each and every fact can be investigated and verified.

Mrs. Effie May, residing on R. F. D. No. 1, Box 99, Sioux Falls, South Dakota, in relating her experience with Tanlac, recently, said:

"I certainly can say a good word for Tanlac, for it has really and truly made me feel like a new woman. I have had stomach trouble ever since I was fourteen years of age, and as I grew older other troubles kept coming on me. I had rheumatism in my right arm so bad I couldn't sleep for the pain, and would do everything trying to get easy, so I could get a little rest. My back hurt me so bad at times that I could hardly get up when sitting or laying down, and I would often have dizzy spells and nervous, sick headaches. At the time I began taking Tanlac I was suffering with an awful pain in my side, so bad at times as to almost take my breath, and was told I would have to be operated on for appendicitis. I was frantic with pain and nearly worried out of my wits, besides.

"Then I happened to read a testimonial from a Nebraska lady, who had gotten relief from the same kind of troubles by taking Tanlac, and going on the idea that what's good for one is good for another, I got a bottle. Well, it has helped me just like she said it did her, and now I know for myself that it is wonderful. I don't get nervous any more nor have any more headaches, and the stomach trouble and rheumatism have disappeared, too. Tanlac has not only relieved me of my physical suffering, but it has eased my mind, as well, for I fully believe it saved me from an operation, as the pain is gone out of my side entirely. I am just feeling fine and my enthusiasm for Tanlac is unbounded."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, and by an established agency in every town.

Exercise It You'd Beautify Your Neck and Throat

By Lucrezia Bori, The Famous Spanish Prima Donna.

The collarless and low-neck gowns which are so fashionable this season make all of us anxious to have a beautiful neck and throat.

Perfect contour and smooth, unblemished skin are the two requisites for a pretty neck and throat. All of us may not be beautiful, but we can strive to make the most of what Nature has given us, and great beauty frequently requires effort to retain it. There is nothing more fleeting than loveliness disregarded and unappreciated.

Some necks are badly modeled from the bones up. Beauty instead of being "skin deep" is frequently bone deep. But even bones that are not beautifully molded by Nature may be hidden by flesh well padded with the muscles which Nature has given us to build on.

If your neck is too thin, learn to breathe deeply and to exercise. A neck on which the collarbones protrude may be the result of a faulty carriage. Stand sideways before a mirror and look at yourself. If you stoop and hang your shoulders forward, your collarbones are apt to be prominent. Throw your shoulders back and take the correct standing position with your chest properly lifted and you will probably see the hollows in your neck disappear.

Simple Neck Aids.

A neck which is too fat is sometimes more difficult to "model" properly than the overly thin one. Thinness is often an attribute of youth, and fat a sign of age, so it is frequently easier to build up flesh than to tear it down, or youth is a great ally in our fight for beauty.

If your neck is too fat, exercise that part of your body specifically, and massage it as often as you can spare the time and the money—the time for your own nightly massage of fifteen minutes of well-placed strokes with your own fingers, and the money for professional massage.

A good exercise for the development of your neck is gone through with by lying on a couch, preferably a hard one, so as your body is supported only between your feet and your shoulders. Your head if let go would fall backward.

Let your head drop backward as far as it will hang, then lift it until your chin comes as near to touching your chest as you can make it. At first you may not be able to get your chin all the way to your chest. It may seem a long, long road, with your body in this position.

Other Good Exercises.

Go through with this motion from five to ten times, increasing the number as the first soreness of the muscles disappear.

Standing erect, bend your head sideways as far as possible, so that your eyes are looking backward over your shoulder. Then bring your head back to its normal position. Go through this looking backward motion from five to ten times. Then try the other side. Finally, bend your head to the right as far as possible, and then bring it around to the left as far as it will go. Turn it back to your right side and make this half circle from five to ten times.

Another excellent exercise for developing the neck is to go through an imaginary chewing motion. Hold your head well up, and with your mouth empty open it as wide as you can and chew. You will feel the muscles pulling. This exercise is especially good for reducing a double chin, that great enemy of beauty.

After any of these exercises bathe your neck and throat with warm water and apply a good massage cream.

Crystal Gazing Has Again Become a Fad

Most new fashions turn out to be old, and few enthusiasms have greater antiquity than that which seeks in the mystic gleams of a crystal to find prophecies of things to come. Alexandre Dumas in one of his romances has Cagliostro show Archduchess Marie Antoinette, third Queen of France, a glimpse of her terrible future in a decanter which was placed in a dim semi-circular vault. This sort of divination is said to have originated in Persia. "Crystallomancy" is the name given to this sort of self-fortune-telling. In the beginning a sheet of water, a goblet of water, or, as in the Dumas tale, a decanter might be used. Later crystal globes were fashioned as a special means of inviting visions. Remarkable tales of clairvoyance accompany records of the crystal globe. Scientists like Pierre Janet have sat up nights trying to get at the pyschology of the superstition. Frequently it is called self-hypnosis. A self-hypnotized person naturally has some curious experiences and gives out some curious signs, whether or not they see a future husband in the globe.

Quite aside from the interest of the recurring fad of crystal gazing, it is evident it has become fashionable again from the pictorial side. To be photographed with your crystal has become the thing to do in London. Society beauties find the gleaming globe an attractive adjunct in a picture. It gives them something to look at that is more interesting than the photographer, and suggests various striking variations of expression that may range all the way from amused concentration to dramatic astonishment. The globes vary in size from one not much larger than grapefruit to huge globes as large in diameter as a portly watermelon. These often have a teakwood stand, or some contrivance for holding them steady on a stand or table. The professional necromancer who invites you to sit opposite her with the globe between naturally employs an ornamental contrivance of mystical form. For photographic purposes it is desirable to consider delicately how the light falls on the globe and what the reflections may be.

Young women and girl clerks who proved so valuable during the period of war in all the civil service departments in London, England, are now being demobilized to make room for the men returning from the army, navy and air force. It is estimated that there are 30,000 of these women who must give way to the men.

WINIFRED BLACK

Writes About "The Circle."

Copyright, 1919, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Why do I love everything that is round?

The ring upon my finger, the bracelet that lies upon the little tray, the oval mirror, a picture framed in an old-fashioned frame of wood—round as an O.

The bowl of glass that sets upon the shelf, the broken circle of the rainbow—half of its beauty would be gone if it were a straight line—O, the round letter, the beauty symbol of the alphabet.

Why do I love these things as I love the flash of a flame in the fireplace, the glitter of the stars in the brilliant skies, the radiant silver of the argent moon, the sound of the wind in the trees and the plash of waves upon a pebbly beach?

How deep within us lie the roots of these deep likes and determined fancies of ours.

Square, oblong, straight up and down—the straight and narrow path, the door with no mystery behind it—all very useful, these things, no doubt, but I don't care for them.

The circle is the symbol of completeness, satisfaction, the thing ended that was begun, and ended fortuitously.

"I hate the people who begin things and do not end them," said a friend of mine the other day. "They make me nervous.

"I hate songs that have no true beginning and no proper ending; I hate writers who start anywhere and finish when they happen to feel like it.

Things She Hates.

"I hate women who have homes and who don't stay in them.

"Men who have businesses and don't attend to them.

"Children who are wise and not innocent. Dogs that will not obey; cats that pretend they have a real affection for you, and are not just looking for something for themselves.

"I hate violets that have no perfume, birds that will not sing, salads without a spice of garlic.

"People with no sense of humor, preachers who are not serious, actors who are serious.

"Musicians who want to be painters, and painters who would like to be musicians, doctors who hate the smell of medicine, nurses who are always trying to get out of the sick room.

"Office boys who watch the clock, stenographers who wear bracelets and too many rings.

"Chauffeurs who get so interested thinking about the fun it would be to sail an airplane that they run their own machine off into the ditch.

"School teachers who are not fond of children, mothers who have no patience, fathers who have no kindness, cooks who don't know how to season the soup.

"Waiters who put their thumbs in the soup, bellboys who can't remember your name.

"Policemen who don't know the names of the streets, street car conductors who can't call street names so you will understand them.

"Singers who won't open their mouths, speakers who will never keep theirs closed.

"Chairmen at meetings who let people maunder on without regard to time, roses that try to look like lilies, lilies that some florist tries to make look like lilacs.

"Camouflage, pretence, over-ambition, under-ambition—cake that isn't done, a tenderloin that is burned, strawberries that are too ripe, raspberries that are not ripe enough.

It's What It Pretends.

"Men who aren't enough in love with their wives, women who are too much in love with their husbands, dancers with heavy feet—all the things that are unfinished and unbalanced and ill-tuned, I do not like."

And for all these reasons I think I love the circle.

It is what it pretends to be.

It starts and it gets to the place for which it starts.

It begins and it ends.

There is something soothing and harmonious and mildly satisfying about everything that is really round.

When I start a new religion, some day, I'm going to make the circle the symbol of it.

I think that would be interesting—don't you?

THREE-MINUTE JOURNEYS

Where Suspension Bridges Are Found In Primitive Places.

Many of us who first gathered our idea of a suspension bridge from pictures of the famous Brooklyn Bridge—which spans the East River between the Borough of Manhattan and the Borough of Brooklyn, New York—may believe that the suspension bridge idea was originated in this country. Our illustration of this suspension bridge over a turbulent river in India proves the contrary.

It is a far cry from this primitive bridge of three ropes to the wonderful steel cable, stone and wood bridge that spans the East River. But the fundamental principle is the same.

When a native of this section of India wishes to cross the river, he goes to the top of the bank from which the bridge is suspended and says a prayer to Allah before he ventures across. One cannot be careless or the least bit unsteady to manage this crossing. For there's only one rope that lies between safety and death in the wild waters growling below.

To cross this bridge one must really be a tight-rope—rather a slack-rope—walker. But there's the advantage of two stout ropes to lean upon and to pull to help in the crossing. Stayed out by infrequent wooden stretchers, the guide ropes are conveniently placed at the height best calculated to help in walking. Should one make a misstep and lose footing he can cling to these ropes until he is able to gain the foot rope again.

Crude as the bridge is, it's a most useful and popular aid in this section. It saves a long, circuitous route to a ford, and not only is a speedy means of crossing this river, but is a sure and dry road to the other side.

New Twirler Pitcher Fine Game, But His Mates Were Not Doing Any Hitting— Bay City Made It Two Out of Three.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

BAY CITY, July 15.—The Bay City Wolves made it two out of three from the fast-going Tecumsehs by taking today's pitchers' battle, 2 to 0. Frank Matuzak, a local boy, pitched his first game of professional ball and held the Stewart crew to four hits, all of which were bunched in the third and fourth innings, but sharp fielding behind him kept London from crossing the plate. Marry, late of the Southern League, worked on the mound for London, and but for a couple of bad plays, with himself the main offender, might have won the game. He had a world of speed and all kinds of breakers, the local swatsmiths gleaning but five hits off his delivery, one of them a scratch, but the breaks of the game were against him. Umpire Strowger gave a very poor exhibition and was in continual disfavor with players on both teams, as well as the fans.

A First Inning Attempt.

Marry got into trouble in the first inning. Owens slammed the first ball pitched for two bases, and Wenger sacrificed him to third. Byrne flew out to Mitchell, and then Owens tried to score on the squeeze play, Whaley failing to connect with a wild ball, which Matteson dropped, and, although Owens appeared safe, Strowger called him out. The locals also got to third in the second inning, Whaley walking and stealing second, and Briger sacrificing him, but Marry simply tightened up and he got no farther.

A Hitless Period.

The locals didn't get anything that looked like a hit from the first until the seventh. In this inning Byrne singled to start things, and Whaley sacrificed him. Then Marry walked Briger purposely to get at Shaw, but he couldn't get them over and Shaw also walked, filling the bases. Friedman then singled through short, scoring Byrne. The other run came in the eighth, when Owens hit safely, stole second and came in when Byrne sent one at Marry a mile a minute, the pitcher knocking it down and throwing wild to third to get Owens.

London's Unavailing Efforts.

London didn't get a semblance of a hit until the third, when Matteson singled to start the inning, but he was forced out at second. In the fourth Newman singled to centre and was out when he tried to stretch the hit into a two-bagger. Then Stewart singled through short, and Fernley struck out. Hagle singled over second, Stewart going to second, but Command forced Hagle at second on his infield tap. The game was easily the best seen on the local lot this year. The score:

MANY OUT-OF-TOWN RINKS WILL PLAY IN W. O. B. A. TOURNEY

Entries Close on Thursday Evening — Limit of 64 Rink This Year.

The W. O. B. A. tournament, the bowling classic of Western Ontario, will commence on Monday next at the London Rowing Club greens. This tournament is one of the oldest bowling events in Canada, and every year it is growing in popularity. In past seasons the entry has been over the hundred mark, but the officials have set a limit on the number of rinks this year, and only 64 are needed. Already 54 entries have been received by Secretary John Macpherson. The other ten will be easily secured. The entry list does not close until Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The draw will then be made.

There are three events in the W. O. B. A. The Labatt trophy is the premier trophy event, while the McNee trophy goes to the winner of the association event. The Shea trophy goes to the winner of the consolation event. All three trophy events include other valuable prizes.

Of the entries already received this season 26 are from out-of-town rinks, seven coming from Toronto.

BEAVERS BEAT NATIONALS.

SAGINAW, Mich., July 15.—Saginaw won the final game of the series from Hamilton today, 4 to 2. One inning of amateurish fielding gave the home team three runs on a clean hit and a bunt. Two Aces scored at the plate because the Hamilton infield was too slow to head them off, while big Herman Schwartje and Pike pulled off the double steal for the third run of the inning. Hamilton hit Schwartje for three singles and a double and was aided by a wild pitch, but scored only one run in the fourth. Carlin was thrown out trying to score from first on Zinn's double and two were left on the sacks. Score:

WOODSTOCK TIES STRATFORD AND WINS THE CHAMPIONSHIP

Winners Are Now Qualified To Enter Semi-Finals—Teams Well Well Matched.

WOODSTOCK, July 15.—The Woodstock and Stratford senior played to a two to two tie here tonight, and the local aggregation thereby won the championship of Senior Group 2 in the W. F. A. and qualifies to enter the semi-finals. The game was a good one and was witnessed by a large crowd.

The teams appeared evenly matched, both playing good combination. In this respect the visitors were slightly superior. L. Coles of Woodstock was the best man on the field. His checking and kicking were factors in Woodstock's victory. The scoring was all done in the first period, the locals getting both their counters on penalties. Kicks which were converted into goals by Anderson, Stratford, pushed matters in the opening stages of the game. But Woodstock kept them from breaking through finally. A penalty gave Woodstock their first goal.

Kilgour evened matters soon after breaking through and beating Harrington a good shot. Stratford soon scored again from a scrimmage on the side. Just before the period closed another penalty gave the locals the goal which evened the score and incidentally won the series.

In the second frame both teams tried hard, but the locals played defensively, and the visitors were unable to tally. The line-up:

Belle Alcantara was picked to win the 2:05 pace, but South Bend Girl took the event handily.

The 2:12 trot, raced on the half-mile track, was stubbornly fought and went four heats before being decided. It turned out to be another upset for the favorite, Miss Woodbine, was never dangerous, and Peter Billiken won the first, third and fourth heats.

ONE BISLEY MARKER SIGNALLED ALL BULLS INSTEAD OF MAGPIES

Disciplinary Measures Had To Be Taken Before King's Prize Shoot.

London, July 16.—Owing to the unrest among the markers at Bisley, there was a certain fear last night that the firing in the first stage of the king's prize yesterday would be seriously incommoded. The rifle association council issued an order for the removal of rifle bolts overnight. One marker was discovered signaling all bulls, when a marksman was actually making magpies. Disciplinary measures were taken. The firing then proceeded normally. There were 1,093 entries for the king's prize at the first stage of ten shots at 200 yards and seven at 500 yards, against 982 in 1914, including one lady, Miss Gertrude Preston of the nursing service. The conditions at 200 yards were excellent at the opening, but the wind freshened considerably later.

Sir Edward Kemp, Dominion overseas minister, Gen. Turner and Paymaster Ross visited the ranges yesterday.

The former conditions at 500 yards have again been restored in the king's prize, first stage, ten shots being taken. The Canadian scores at this range were:

Alexander 39, aggregate for first stage 78; Balfour, 43, 86; Chanter, 96, 66; Francis, 40, 75; Gering, 38,76; Hutchison, 42, 84; Johnson, 38, 73; Kaufman, 39, 71; Martin, 38, 75; Mortimer, 38, 80; W. Morris, 42, 83; Mills, 34, 72; Neale, 35, 71; Rae, 23, 57; Richardson, 48, 68; Spalding, 43, 81; V. Spanding, 32, 69; Spearing, 29, 59; Smetzer, 34, 71; Litton, 43, 83; Vincent, 45, 87; Waterman, 32, 65; Brace, 29, 67; Faulkner, 39, 76; Goodhouse, 38, 81; Hay, 32, 54; Hatch, 39, 75; Lucas, 34,73; R. Morris, 34, 64; McInnis, 38, 81; Newman, 42, 79; Daunt, 44, 81; Phillips, 35, 68; Roberts, 29, 65; W. Wood, 36, 72; C. Wood, 32,72; Wyse, 7, 64.

The winners in the Prince of Wales' prize were cabled incorrectly as the winners of the Alexandra prize. The winner of the Prince of Wales' prize was C. F. Smith, School of Musketry, 93. The first Canadian among the prize money winners in this competition was Richardson, with a score of 87. The winner of the Alexandra was Bell of Australia, with a score of 79; Martin of Canada was fifth, with 77.

SEAMEN STRIKE TO EQUALIZE ALL WAGES ON THE HIGH SEAS

Crews Quit Work on Dozen Ships of Foreign Registry.

NEW YORK, July 15.—The strike of American seamen assumed an international aspect tonight, when Gus. H. Brown, secretary of the eastern and gulf division of the International Seamen's Association, announced that crews of a dozen ships of foreign registry had quit their vessels in New York harbor. They declared, Mr. Brown said, that their strike was not only in sympathy with the American seamen, but for the purpose of equalizing all wages on the high seas.

Tonight reports were received from Norfolk, Philadelphia, Washington, Port Arthur, Galveston, Mobile, Boston, Newport News and New Orleans declaring ships are being tied up in those ports as fast as they dock.

Thomas Conway, business agent of the marine firemen's local at Buffalo, reported by telegraph that the crews of several ships leaving the Great Lakes, bound for European ports through the St. Lawrence, have refused to sign on for further than Montreal.

It was stated tonight that several companies have met the union's demands.

METHOD OF APPLYING CIVIL SERVICE BONUS

OTTAWA, July 15.—The civil service commission announces the signing of an order-in-council determining the methods by which the civil service bonus of $10,000,000 is to be applied. Regulations based on recommendations made by Arthur Young & Co. provide that heads of households receiving less than $1,200 per year will receive a bonus of $420. This amount decreases in steps of $24 for each $120 increase in salary up to $3,000.

Single employees over 21 years of age, with a salary less than $960 per year, receive $252, the amount decreasing as the salary increases up to $1,800. Single persons between 18 and 21 years, with salaries less than $1,200 per year, receive $150. Bonus will be paid in monthly installments, and is retroactive to April 1, 1919.

"ALL OR NOTHING," SAY WINDSOR CARMEN TO MUNICIPAL BOARD

Men May Ask Injunction To Restrain Officials From Revoking Certificates.

WINDSOR, July 15.—Striking street car conductors and motormen on the Sandwich, Windsor and Amherstburg Company again today refused to accept the offer of the Dominion Railway and Municipal Board of 40 to 50 cents an hour, and through their union officers announced that they would "get all or nothing."

This leaves the situation perhaps more clearly defined that at any time since trouble began. The board is now certain that it is waste of time to attempt to negotiate further with the strikers and will make other plans. Incidentally, Mr. A. B. Ingram, a member of the railway board, and who is at present acting manager of the street railway lines, stated that it lies within the power of the commission to revoke licenses of motormen and conductors, and this step may be resorted to. The loss of the certificates, Mr. Ingram states, would make it impossible for the strikers to obtain similar employment on any of the street car lines of the province. The men say they would like to see the board take the step, and talk of asking for an injunction to prevent such a move.

FARMERS OF ALBERTA PREPARE FOR ACTION IN POLITICAL FIELD

Will Contest Seat Held by Late Speaker Charles Fisher.

INQUIRIES RECEIVED OVER CHEESE PRICES OF EXPORT SURPLUS

OTTAWA, July 15.—Inquiries are being received by the Government as to the drop in prices of export cheese. During 1917 and 1918 the British Government purchased the exportable surplus of Canadian cheese, payment being provided from funds furnished by the Dominion Government for the purpose. This year the British Government decided not to purchase the cheese, but allow it to be traded in by private dealers, as before the war. The same course has been followed with bacon and many other foodstuffs which, during the war, were purchased by the British Government, and are now subject to trading in the open market under world competitive conditions. Any fixing of price in Great Britain will necessarily affect imported commodities whose prices are so fixed.

It is pointed out here that all European countries where the cost of living is so high will naturally endeavor to purchase foodstugs from abroad at as favorable prices as possible.

GRAIN.

Chicago, July 16.—Favorable weather and bearish crop reports led to sharp declines today in the corn market. At first, however, the transient scarcity of offerings made prices harden somewhat. On the bulge, commission houses became conspicuous sellers. Opening quotations, which varied from unchanged figures to ⅜c up, with September at $1 95½@1 96, and December at $1 63@1 63½, were followed by a slight additional gain and then by a setback all around to well below yesterday's finish.

Oats swayed with corn. After opening ⅛c off to ¼c advance, including September at 79@79⅛c, the market scored moderate general gains, and then underwent a sag.

Winnipeg, July 16.—Opening: Oats—Unchanged for July at 89½c; October, ⅛c lower at 84½; December, ¼c lower at 82⅜c.

Barley 1⅛c higher for October at $1 22.

Flax 2c higher for July at $5 95.

WOOL.

London, July 16.—There were 8,500 bales offered at the wool auction sales yesterday. The tone was easy, good merinos and cross-breds selling 5 per cent lower, while other grades were 7½ to 10 per cent down. The wool sales will remain closed on Saturday and Monday.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating, are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis, accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of foily to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation, and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people, who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Advt.

IN MEMORIAM.

MORGAN—In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Richard H. Morgan, who passed away one year ago today, July 16, 1918.
From our happy home and circle,
God has taken one we loved;
He is borne away from sin and sorrow
To a nobler rest above.
No one knows how much we miss him,
None but aching hearts can tell;
Lost on earth, but found in heaven,
Jesus doeth all things well.
—From his wife and children. b

SMITH—In loving memory of William Levi Smith, who fell asleep in Jesus one year ago yesterday, July 15, 1918.
One year ago we saw him fade and gently pass away,
We watched him with the tenderest care, yet could not make him stay;
Around his bed we silent stood, with hearts all crushed and sore,
While softly the watchers said, "Not lost, but gone before."

One year has passed, our hearts still sore,
As time goes on we miss him more;
His memory is as dear today

DAYLIGHT-SAVING MAY BE ANNULLED AFTER BRIEF SPELL

Mandamus To Be Issued To Make Council Pass Bylaw.

BRANTFORD, July 15.—That a mandamus will be issued here to make the city council give a third reading to the Industrial Realty Company bylaw, carried here yesterday, in the event of the council refusing to ratify the same, was the announcement made here today by supporters of the bylaw. Mayor MacBride has intimated to the aldermen that, owing to the small vote cast, the bylaw should not be given a third reading, and has some support in his contention. A bitter fight will be waged, however, in the council to have the measure approved.

It was also announced today by Ald. Ryerson, father of the daylight-saving resolution in this city, that daylight saving may be annulled at once, although it has only under the civic ordinance until September 1 to go.

Today's Fashion

By MME. FRANCES

Street Model of Tricotine Suitable for Other Fabrics.

This smart street frock of beige tricotine displays lines which could be charmingly developed in natural or old blue linen. Pongee would also lend itself to the simplicity of this design, which features both comfort and style.

The blouse is a peplum that buttons down the back through the applied strap that continues down the back in a loose turned under panel. This strap is faced with black taffeta and carries a row of self-covered buttons.

The rounded neck and open sleeves are trimmed with ivory batiste, hand embroidered. Knife plaited organdie ruffles, picot edged, would also make a becomingly appropriate neck finish. The peplum and sleeves are faced with black taffeta, and the long looped under strap is also faced with black.

With this frock is worn a smart hat of black straw trimmed with feathers.

To-morrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

THURSDAY, JULY 17.

The basis for any kind of an interesting astrological forecast for this day seems to be entirely nil, as there is but a single mild lunar aspect and a mutual aspect of singular though not pronounced import. The lunar transit of Jupiter is not encouraging for gain or advantage in a financial way and warns against the extravagant or hazardous use of moneys in any direction. The mutual aspect between Venus and Neptune, its octave expression, brings idealistic and inspirational emphasis to the things of art, music, literature and romance. It is a beautiful augury for these and all emotional expression.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a quiet and peaceful year, with the finer feelings under stimulus. They should safeguard money. A child born on this day will be extravagant, but have an idealistic and peaceful life.

Any motion to quash or set aside the same or any part thereof must be made within three months after the first publication of this notice, and cannot be made thereafter.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

How Cocoa and Chocolate Differ From Each Other

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University).

DR. HIRSHBERG

Most persons either are ignorant or confused about the fine distinctions between coca, cocoa, or cacao and chocolate.

The seeds of the overgrown bush, called theobroma cacao, or the cooked seeds from which a good part of the oils and fats are removed, are what you buy as cocoa.

Chocolate, on the other hand, is the mushed, pasty kernels of the roasted seeds of the same little tree, from which none of the fat has been separated.

Chocolate is thus finely ground kernels, and is bitter. Sugar and flavors are added to it to make it the delectable thing you crave.

Chocolate, or preferably cacao kernels and seeds ground into a fine putty, was originally an American contribution to Europe. Tobacco made more of an ado, but the Indians, Incas and Aztecs, used it as a wonderful beverage, which early Spanish explorers had difficulty to prove to Europeans was almost a gift of the gods. They took preferably to tobacco.

Pharmacologically or physiologically, chocolate and cocoa are foods, the former, to be sure, much more nutritious because of the fat in it.

There is much more to chocolate, however, than this. For many persons it is a tonic to the flesh, and it is said to have cured many cases of malnutrition and emaciation. Moveover, chocolate and cocoa contain some of the virtues and less of the iniquities of tea and coffee. The caffeine or theine, which are powerful alkaloids of coffee and tea, are present in chocolate as theobromine.

Caffeine or theobromine has been tested in the psychological laboratories as well as in the laboratories of physiology, pharmacology and the clinics. The unanimously confirmed results prove that chocolate with its alkaloid increase endurance, add to precision, improve muscular skill, strengthen the memory and intellectual processes, and add to steadiness and the power of concentration. Phosphate of potash and other mineral fertilizers are present sufficiently to keep the blood and tissue well supplied with this much-needed salt.

It is hardly necessary to say that there is another plant, entirely different and really dangerous, called the coca plant, from which the habit-forming drug cocaine is obtained.

Answers to Health Questions

Q.—What can I do for epilepsy?

A.—Epilepsy of a special kind is cured by surgical measures. Much help comes to others at times from the use of bromides, especially the effervescent bromide tabloids in water. Plenty of water should be drunk, three quarts a day. The intestines should be always kept active. No muscular work or housework may be done, and no meat usually eaten. The diet is not essential other than the avoidance of gluttony and excesses, or the artificial stimulation of tobacco and other drugs.

Dr. Hirshberg will answer questions for readers of this paper on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. He cannot always undertake to prescribe or offer advice for individual cases. Where the subject is not of general interest letters will be answered personally if a stamped and addressed envelope is inclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. L. K. Hirshberg, in care of this office.

MY HEART AND MY HUSBAND

ADELE GARRISON'S NEW PHASE OF

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

What "The Lady" Said As Lillian Faced Her.

For a long moment there was silence in the room where Allen Drake and Lillian Underwood faced the woman whom they had successfully tracked to her apartment. From my aperture in the heavy curtains of the alcove I breathlessly watched the silent drama.

For drama it was that was being enacted there before my eyes. I sensed it in every breath of the heavily-scented atmosphere, heard it in the quickened respiration of the woman who stood glaring at Allen Drake, trying to preserve her fiction of contemptuous surprised anger.

She was evidently determined not to speak again until he had answered her reference to the rogue's gallery. But both Allen Drake and Lillian Underwood knew too well the value of continued silence to spoil the advantage they had.

I do not understand how she could have remained silent as long as she did. She must instantly have realized that the intruders were no burglars, that in the parlance she no doubt best understood, they "had something on her." She must have been tortured with suspense as to the exact nature of their business with her, yet for a long time her composure equalled that of Lillian Underwood herself, and that is the last word concerning poise.

Self-Control Lost.

Dicky often says of Lillian that she has a most wonderful "poker face." The phrase came back to me as I watched the face of the woman whom I had such reason to dread. Its lines had settled into an expressionless mask in which her eyes glowed like live coals. She was almost facing me, but her eyes were fixed on Allen Drake, something for which I was grateful. I have not Lillian's iron nerve, and I am afraid I should have been perilously near screaming if she had turned that basilisk glare toward the aperture through which I was peeping.

But mistress of many perilous situations as she must have been, she had met a will power stronger than hers at last. She held herself in firm leash, but strand after strand of her rope of self-control loosened, unravelled and fell away as we watched her. And when only the last fragile thread was left she took refuge in snarling bravado.

"Better Stop—"

"Say, I've had just about enough of this!" she exclaimed. "You've got the drop on me, so there's no use doing the baby act over my diamonds and mazume. But I'll be d——d if I'll stand around and watch you pick 'em up. All I've got in the world is in a strong box under the couch in the alcove. You're welcome to the information as I reckon giving it to you saves me being strung up by the thumbs or some such little pleasantry as that. And now if you'll excuse me, I'll just vamoose from here."

She had been almost imperceptibly edging toward the door as she spoke, although she must have known that her chances of reaching it were small indeed. But Allen Drake permitted her to get within three steps of it before he spoke. I involuntarily thought of a cat playing with a mouse, and in my resentment at what I mentally termed his cold-bloodedness, felt for an instant a throb of sympathetic admiration for the woman battling so shrewdly against the menace the nature of which she had not yet fathomed.

The next instant a revulsion of feeling shook me as I remembered all the suffering this woman had caused my little mother, and the slow torture she was dealing out to my infirm father. And I am afraid I gloated at the effect of Mr. Drake's drawling words.

"Better stop and talk things over," he said. "Don't make any mistake about us. We've got the goods, straight all wool and a yard wide, so can the chatter about your mazume. You'll have it all when we leave here—and—you'll need it," he added significantly.

She took her hand from the knob of the door against which she had backed. Evidently something in his manner had convinced her that she would better obey him.

"All right, spill whatever you have," she said with defiant sullenness.

Mr. Drake made a slight gesture toward Lillian. The woman whirled toward her.

"Noth—ing do—ing!" she snarled. "Anything that's said to me is said by a man. I'll take no dressing down at the hands of a woman."

THE GREY TRAP

Jimmy Coon loves to play, and he knows a trap when he sees one, and he is so clever that he even knows how to be careful when he is not quite sure. Too many of the little animals have been caught in traps, and he has seen too much of the world to be careless; but Jimmy loved to play almost as much as he loved to eat!

Now this soft, grey thing he was playing with, was hanging by a cord to the branch of an old stump of a tree. Jimmy was hitting it with his paw so that it swung harder. Teddy Possum was trying to get his turn, to give it a bat; but Jimmy called out, "Look out, Teddy; this is one of Farmer Jones' worst traps, and if you aren't careful you will be caught in it."

Little Peter Rabbit was sitting straight up and trembling with excitement, for he thought every minute that trap would spring and somebody would be caught!

Oh, what a good time they had! After a while Jimmy let Teddy Possum hit that soft, grey thing and make it swing. But Jimmy soon found the hidden trap, and as he jumped over it, he slapped it with his little black hand.

By this time Cousin Bruin had eaten all the nuts on the tree—with the help of the Chipmunk and the Squirrel families—so he backed down that tree, for he wanted to see what all the fun was about, and what all the jumping was for. "Well," said Cousin Bruin, "I know just what that grey thing is, and I am going to make one bite of him, so get out of the way."

"Look out, look out! That is a trap," called out Jimmy Coon, "and you will be caught in it, Cousin Bruin. I have a cousin who lost his left hind foot in just such a trap!"

"I love Owls, and that is an awl," said Cousin Bruin, as he stepped backwards on to the ground, "so get out of the way, all of you, and I will get him, and I will also look out for the trap." So Cousin Bruin drew back and with one blow of his mighty paw he hit that grey owl; the string broke, and Cousin Bruin caught that bunch of grey feathers and was just about to stuff it into his mouth, when there was the most awful noise you ever head—the most dreadful smell! The trap had been sprung, and a gun, set there to shoot Cousin Bruin, had gone off, and the smell of the powder was dreadful!

With One Blow of His Mighty Paw He Hit That Grey Owl.

But there was a sharp scream, too, and what do you think that could have been?

Tomorrow—Teddy Possum Caught.

THE EAST AND WEST BROUGHT CLOSER TOGETHER.

Western Canada and the Pacific Coast have now been brought within much quicker reach of the East by "The Trans-Canada Limited," the new popular all-sleeping car train operated by the Canadian Pacific Railway from Toronto and Montreal to Vancouver. It makes the fastest time between terminals of any transcontinental train in America. Leaving Toronto at 7:15 p.m. daily, Fort William is reached in 26 hours, Winnipeg in 39, Regina in 50, Calgary in 64, and Vancouver in 90. By this means a business day is saved—great convenience to the large number of businessmen who travel between Eastern and Western Canada. Leaving Toronto on the evening of Monday, for instance, it is possible to spend a full business day in Winnipeg, and be back in Toronto by Friday afternoon. Tourists to the famous resorts of the Canadian Pacific at Banff, Lake Louise, Glacier, Vancouver and Victoria will also find this train particularly convenient. It consists of standard sleeping cars, dining car, and compartment observation car, and sleeping car passengers only are carried. Further particulars from Canadian Pacific ticket agents or W. B. IRON FOR STRENGTH

You need iron in the blood! Every healthy man or woman should have about as much iron in his or her body as there is in an ordinary railroad spike. To gain this iron, the best way is to take Tonal-Iron Capsules, a combination of iron in its most soluble form, recently discovered, and now having a marvelous sale. Tonal-Iron Capsules are a form of iron readily taken up by the blood. The blood cells get round, rich red in color, the cheeks are pink, the appetite improves, and one feels full of "snap" —"pep"—"vigor"—instead of tired before the day is half done. The eyes take on a lustre and the body feels that tingle which one gets from a cold bath.

For sale and guaranteed by all good druggists, or sent by mail on receipt of $1. Tonal-Iron Laboratories, Box 184, London, Ont. zxv

Mr. Harris would like to meet every London customer at the Tip Top Store, 205 Dundas street. He wants to make sure that the company's patrons are satisfied in every way with their dealings with Tip Top Tailors, for he is a practical tailor and has been with them for a number of years. If it should happen that any are not perfectly satisfied, he wants an opportunity to make good.

MITCHELL LEWIS IN DRAMA OF YUKON AT GRAND TODAY

Frank Browne, Clever Xylophonist, in Vaudeville.

Mitchell Lewis, the new Select star, will be seen in his first Select picture, "Code of the Yukon," at the Grand again today at 1:45, 6:30 and 8:30. Mr. Lewis has the role of Jean Dubois, a French-Canadian prospector, who for a number of years has been living in the lonely Northwoods, seeking gold. His main object in life is to discover the man who wronged his sister, and to make him pay. Suddenly the peace of the Northwoods is broken by a gang of gold seekers, who have heard of the find that Jean has made, through "Paro" Telford, a renegade gambler, whom Jean befriended when he found him hurt in the woods and in need of aid.

Jean is forced out of his quiet existence, and is unwillingly dragged into the life of the mining camp. He meets the daughter of a poor prospector, whom he later marries upon the death of her father. But Jean's wife does not remain happy with him for long.

A gang of mining crooks intest the village. They try to steal Jean's mine and they persuade Jean's wife to run away with one of the members of their gang. Cregan, a promoter of vice in all its forms, is leader of the gang. Jean later finds out that Cregan is the man who wronged his sister. Cregan and Jean finally meet to fight for the wrongdoing of the dead girl. Jean is about to kill Cregan, when a higher power takes things in His own hands, and Cregan is killed by lightning. Jean's wife returns to him. He forgives her, and they are once again made happy.

Frank Browne, the clever young xylophonist, will be the vaudeville feature of today's bill.

A comedy film, the Grand screen magazine, and an overture by the orchestra, will be other features.

KITTY GORDON AT THE PATRICIA AGAIN TODAY IN "ADELE"

Fascinating Film Story Is Based On Popular Novel.

Magnificent, magnetic Kitty Gordon, popular favorite of stage and screen, is appearing at the Patricia Theatre today for the last time, in the most sumptuous super-picture offering of her career. In "Adele," the superlative picturization of the famous romance, "The Nurse's Story," which was written by the well-known American author, Adele Blencau, Miss Gordon portrays a role affording a splendid opportunity for her talent and artistry, while the super-picture is replete with a sumptuousness of detail and richness of production surpassing even the lavishness already associated with this popular star's stage and screen appearances.

The fascinating story of "Adele" reveals in thrilling fashion the great romance of a woman's choice between love and duty, and tells with tense human note a Red Cross nurse's startling adventures in France.

FOUND "NOT GUILTY."

KITCHENER, July 15.—Peter Bruder of Breslau pleaded not guilty to having liquor in his house for sale, in the court here this afternoon.

Crown Attorney Bowlby maintained that the onus of proof rested on the defendant, according to the O. T. A. George Bray, solicitor for the defendant, claimed this only applied to hotels.

Magistrate Weir, in delivering his decision, stated there was no suspicions attached to the defendant and dismissed the case. License Inspector Winterhall declared he would appeal the case.
