BEWARE OF TENDER GUMS

Unhealthy soil kills the best of wheat. Unhealthy gums kill the best of teeth. To keep the teeth sound keep the gums well. Watch for tender and bleeding gums. This is a symptom of Pyorrhoea, which affects four out of five people over forty.

Pyorrhoea menaces the body as well as the teeth. Not only do the gums recede and cause the teeth to decay, loosen and fall out, but the infecting Pyorrhoea germs lower the body's vitality and cause many serious ills.

To avoid Pyorrhoea, visit your dentist frequently for tooth and gum inspection. And use Forhan's For the Gums.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhoea or check its progress. If used in time and used consistently, ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's will keep the gums firm and healthy, the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has set in, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

FAVOR DISCUSSIONS OF RENT GRIEVANCE BEFORE ALDERMEN

Action On Alleged Profiteering Urged—Aid To Sick Children Advocated.

A deputation from the high cost of living committee met yesterday afternoon to consider the holding of a public meeting to hear complaints from tenants who pay excessive rent for their homes. After a hot discussion on the matter in which Dr. L. Wood of Western University explained to the committee that action must be taken on this matter at once, it was decided not to hold a public meeting, but instead a meeting before the city council, at which all tenants could state their cases. It was intimated that at a public meeting complaints would not like to tell how much rent they were paying or anything about their financial affairs.

J. F. Thomson, secretary of the high cost of living committee, reported to the council several cases which he has investigated. In many cases the rents were said to be raised too high considering the assessment.

Not in Favor.

After the report of the Wilson congratulated the committee on the splendid work it had done since it was formed. He was not in favor of a public meeting to discuss matters. A communication was received from the Sick Children's Hospital committee. When the amount of money asked for was read, Ald. Wilson immediately took the floor and said that the amount was too small.

"We help the places who are able to help themselves, but we are not giving enough to the little children, who can't help themselves," said Ald. Wilson. "It is beginning to be clearly shown that children in this city need more help, and this is one way we can do it."

What the outcome of this protest will be will have to be decided upon by the council.

It was recommended that the Fair board should have control of the Fair grounds.

DECLARE SYSTEM IS INCONVENIENT

Veterans Sending Protest to Ottawa Regarding Monthly Payments.

F. R. Lavender, secretary of the central veterans' council, has received word from Col. Shannon, assistant director for the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment for Western Ontario, that he would not change the system of payment of money to the ex-C. E. F. patients now in Byron Sanatorium.

At the headquarters of the D. S. C. R. made a ruling that they would pay the patients and their wives once a month instead of semi-monthly. The patients were not notified of this change and as a result forwarded word to J. W. Cunliffe, secretary of the local Great War Veterans, that they were not receiving their money.

Mr. Cunliffe took the question up. Now that Col. Shannon would not change the system, they have informed the prime minister and others that the plan is entirely unsatisfactory and very inconvenient.

"In my opinion the D. S. C. R. does not want to make the change," said Mr. Lavender. "There is no more trouble paying them twice a month than once a month. Col. Shannon gave no reasons for wishing to change the system. The wives of the men are put to much trouble. Before they could get their money, they have to go to the bank and get their accounts overdrawn. They do not realize how much they are waiting until the end of the month, and then their accounts are often overdrawn."

What the outcome of the letter sent to the premier protesting against the present system of payment will be will not be known for at least another week.

Society Getting Back To Activities of Pre-War Days, Stated.

MEN ON EXECUTIVE

This Plan Successful in West—To Aid Public Health Work.

Mrs. Ronald Harris was elected president of the London and Western Ontario branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society at its annual meeting held in the auditorium Wednesday afternoon. All other officers were elected by acclamation as follows: Advisory president, Lady Beck; honorary president, Mrs. H. A. Boomer; honorary vice-president, Mrs. H. Becker; vice-presidents, Mrs. C. G. Zeigler, Mrs. J. M. Slater, Miss A. Shaw-Woods and Mrs. A. P. Edwards; corresponding secretary, Miss Ruth Robinson; recording secretary, Mrs. E. C. Bowker, and treasurer, Mrs. A. E. Cooper.

Several satisfactory reports were read by the officers of the past year. Mrs. E. C. Bowker, the corresponding secretary, gave an epitome of the activities of the organization during the year, touching upon the peace policy of the society and actions taken to effect economy. In her report she stated that the retiring executive recommended the adoption of scholarship for nurses taking the public health course in the Western University.

The retiring president, Mrs. F. E. Leonard, said that the society was busily engaged getting back to pre-war time activities. She reported that the society still had a great amount of supplies on hand, which were to be kept in reserve to meet any emergency which might arise. She touched upon the work that was still being done in the different local hospitals for the returned soldier inmates. She called for public sympathy for the men confined in the Westminster Hospital.

On taking the president's chair to which she had been elected, Mrs. Harris addressed the meeting briefly. She said that the retiring executive had received a communication from the Western University concerning the course for public health nurses. She stated that the executive in a resolution expressed full sympathy for the movement. She also made a suggestion that men be added to the executive body. This, she said, had been done successfully in the Western provinces. At the present time there is a men's advisory board, but it has no voting powers.

Dr. H. W. Hill, public health officer, addressed the meeting on the training of graduate nurses in public health work by a special course in the university. He said that the course run by the Western University is proving every bit as successful as the one put on by the University of Toronto, and that it is as largely attended, although the course was not organized until July and was not advertised until September.

Dr. Hill told of the great need of public health nurses as well as public health officers. He said the 50 who were being trained in Toronto would be absorbed by that city, leaving none available for other towns and districts. He estimated that it would take at least 150 trained nurses to care for the 14 Western Ontario counties.

It was the original intention of the authorities of the university to ask the Red Cross Association for a sum of $5,000 in support of the work, it was felt that the Western University was as worthy of the help as Toronto University. It had been planned to use $5,000 of the sum for scholarships. Because the course was proving successful without the attraction of the scholarship it was decided to use the money in other ways. The $2,000, which would be in the form of a credit fund rather than a gift outright.

A. M. Miller of Toronto spoke on the peace work of the organization. He told in detail of the League of Red Cross Societies, which had been formed in 31 nations as the result of a meeting held in Paris on May 5, 1919. The headquarters of the league was located in Geneva.

So that a program for peace-time work could be drawn up, a conference of the leading medical experts of the world was held in Cannes, France. As the result of the conference the league was formed. Mr. Miller told of the work of the organization in Canada.

The two great functions of the Canadian society would be: First, to continue as a voluntary auxiliary to the militia department until the last soldier-patient was discharged from the hospital; and secondly, to act as a voluntary auxiliary to the department of health.

So that a program for peace-time work could be drawn up, a conference of the leading medical experts of the world was held in Cannes, France. As the result of the conference the league was formed. Mr. Miller told of the work of the organization in Canada.

The Red Cross organizations were planning to co-operate with all other voluntary agencies and to avoid all that tended to create friction. A skeleton organization was to be formed to meet all emergencies such as the recent influenza epidemics. Among other things a juvenile organization was to be formed.

SUGAR BEETS A RECORD CROP

Harvested Under Ideal Conditions and Sugar Content Is Large.

The following is a summary of the weekly reports made by the agricultural representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Sugar beets are reported to be an excellent crop, and they have been harvested under ideal conditions. The sugar content is generally high.

Brant states that at an auction sale last week both sweet clover and mixed hay sold at $22 a ton.

Fall wheat is said to be coming along pretty well, although with hardly as heavy a top as usual. The acreage on the whole will be less than that of last year.

Some farmers in Eastern Ontario are complaining of the scarcity of water in the wells.

More apples are being handled than in recent years, yet the quantity of this and other fruit going to waste in Ontario orchards this season is deplorable. Lack of containers and reliable help are given as the chief reasons.

Since the money must come from the people, explanation is due to them of the need for it. The work of the Navy League is:

- To Continue the Sea-Conscious Spirit in the People and in the Government.
To enlighten people upon the importance of the sea; so that Canadian products may be shipped, through Canadian ports, in Canadian ships, officered and manned by trained Canadians.
- To Continue the Sea-Conscious Spirit in the Schools.
As a Merchant Navy is the first step to sea power in any nation, so is the seed-sowing of fundamental national ideals in the schools, the first step to national greatness.
- To Continue Training 2,000 Canadian Lads for the Sea.
The continuous training of over two thousand Canadian lads, in the Boys' Naval Brigades of the Navy League of Canada, is to-day having an effect upon our maritime future. Since May last, sixty of these lads have completed their training and passed into the Canadian Merchant Navy. Fifty more have gone to England to man the new ships of the re-organized Royal Canadian Navy. Under the guidance of Experienced Sea Minds, it is being planned to give chosen lads from the Boys' Naval Brigades an ocean-going education second to none, so that Canada will have efficient master seamen.
- To Continue Upholding Every Sailors' Home, Institute and Sailors' Welfare Society in Canada.
The Navy League seeks to make life comfortable for our sailors when ashore. After all, Canada is their home; and the home, while they are here, of the sailors of other lands. The Navy League endows, maintains or assists in maintaining every Sailors' Home, Institute and Welfare Society in Canada. And every dollar subscribed for the maintenance of these Homes and Institutes will be money well invested and redound to our national prosperity.
- To Continue Relieving Distress of Canadian Merchant Sailors.
After this year the League expects to cease asking for funds for the relief of the Canadian dependents of Merchant Sailors who were killed on Active Service. With the trust funds now in hand, together with the sum set aside in the Budget, to be raised by public subscription, it should be possible to establish an endowment, the income from which will be sufficient to provide these dependents with a pension equal to that granted to the dependents of Naval men killed on Active Service. As many of these dependents are young children, the endowment must continue for a number of years, until the children become self-supporting.
- To Continue Upholding Every Sailors' Home, Institute and Sailors' Welfare Society in Canada.

Live stock has been doing more thriving in the field than is usual at this time of year. The market for beef cattle has been dull during the week, and ordinary animals of both classes have been going at lower prices at auctions. Prince Edward says that good grade cows were bought at sales last week at from $50 to $50, and that poorer and older cows sold around canners' prices—$20 to $25. York, however, reports good milk cows have recently sold at from $200 to $250, bringing around $150, while Peal states that some first-class grade Holsteins have recently sold at from $200 to $250. Dairy cows are still giving a most encouraging yield of milk. Cheese sold on the Picton board on Friday at 23 1/2 cents a pound. ## PRISON REFORM MEASURES LIKELY TO INCLUDE TOBACCO AND WAGES FOR CONVICTS

[Special to The Advertiser.] KINGSTON, Oct. 27.—The Whig's Ottawa correspondent wired the following this afternoon regarding penitentiary matters: "Warden Ponsford's leave of absence has not been definitely fixed, it was announced at the department of justice today. The warden, it is expected, will leave Kingston after the royal commission has made an inquiry into the conduct of affairs at the penitentiary. "In official circles it is believed that the commission will complete its work within a week. A Canadian Press dispatch published Tuesday was to the effect that the commission would draft new regulations for Canadian penitentiaries. This is incorrect. "It is stated officially that the royal commission will suggest amendments to the regulations now in force. These rules have been adopted after careful study of penitentiary affairs. It is possible that one amendment will be to permit the issuance of tobacco to prisoners. The commissioners may also recognize that prisoners be paid for the work they perform. This is being done in some United States institutions, and the released prisoners go out into the world with a fair amount of money in their possession. The duty of the guards will not be overlooked by the commission."

DUFF CHALLENGES CALDER TO RETRACT OR PROVE CHARGE

Nova Scotia Liberal Demands Retraction of Assertion That Liberal Members Voted in Commons To Prevent Election—Crowds Swarm To Hear Mackenzie King At Saskatoon.

SASKATOON, Sask., Oct. 27.—At the Liberal mass meeting here tonight to welcome Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, the first speaker was William Duff, M. P. for Lunenburg, who paid his respects to Hon. Mr. Calder. Mr. Calder had stated, according to reports, said Mr. Duff, that a general election was undesirable, because the people had not recovered from the strain of the war.

The people were safe and sane enough, said the member for Lunenburg, but the Government were suffering from political hysteria. Mr. Calder had also stated that the Liberals did not want an election, and that several Liberal members last session had offered to absent themselves from the House of Commons when a vote was coming on rather than vote the Government out.

Mr. Duff said that this was wholly untrue, and he challenged Mr. Calder to either withdraw the statement at his Vancouver meeting Friday or else give the names of the members concerned.

Mr. Duff denounced the present tour of the premier and Mr. Calder through the West. "The business of the country demands," said the speaker, "that the premier should remain at his desk in Ottawa, if he knows his business, instead of gallivanting around the country like a distracted hen which has lost its chickens."

PROFITS FROM CHEESE

Candidate Declares the Food Board Acted in Own Interest Only.

[By Staff Reporter.] UNION, Oct. 27.—Despite the inclement weather a large crowd gathered in the Foresters' Hall here tonight to hear the address of W. G. Charlton, Liberal candidate in the East Elgin by-election. Since Mr. Charlton's campaign started never was he listened to by such an interested and attentive audience.

He received loud applause when he declared that he was not the cause of the three-cornered fight in East Elgin. In reply to a statement made by R. W. E. Burnaby, president of the United Farmers of Ontario at the U. F. O. meeting in Aymer on Tuesday, Mr. Charlton expressed surprise that the Liberals should place a candidate in the field in the by-election fight and claimed that their chances were nil.

"The last man to come in was responsible," stated Mr. Charlton, "the last man to be nominated was J. L. Stansell, the Conservative candidate. The speaker again emphasized that he was in the running to stay and from the ovation that he received it is apparent that his followers are firmly behind him.

He continued to disclose the deliberate trickery that has been perpetrated by the Meighen Government, and told of how the members of the Canada Food Board had monopolized the cheese market. He also showed the reason for the condensed milk factories closing their doors. "The food board did this so they could line their own pockets. They saw that they could not do this by refusing the issue of permits for the exportation of condensed milk. That the milk was needed by the people did not worry the members of the food board as long as they could make large profits by controlling the cheese market, declared the speaker, who added that two members of the board were the greatest cheese exporters in the country.

INFLUX OF WORKERS STOPS AT WINDSOR

For First Time in Three Years Men Are Seeking Employment.

Windsor, Oct. 28.—Superintendent Cooper of the local labor bureau reports that the influx of workmen into the Border Cities that has continued for the past two or three years on a large scale, has changed to a movement toward other centres, owing to a growing scarcity of work on the border. As a result, many applicants for work at the local office are being sent out of town to other places, where positions have been found for them. Although the men are reported to be in Detroit, the situation has not as yet become acute in Windsor.

Operating for some time past on a reduced scale, the Canadian Products Limited, a Canadian subsidiary of the General Motors Corporation, will close its local plant down completely for a period of 90 days. Harry E. Blood, general manager, announced today. The shutdown, which affects several thousand employees, is for the purpose of taking the annual inventory. Following the inventory, the plant will reopen, although operations may not be resumed on a 100 per cent basis for some time.

shortly after 3:30, a vast assemblage of citizens, a majority of whom were ladies, was waiting to meet the leader of the Opposition, the reception continuing until 5 o'clock with a steady stream of citizens pouring in and out of the reception chamber. All told, well upwards of 1,000 people met and shook hands with the Hon. Mr. King and his associates during the afternoon.

"The real issue in Canada," declared Mr. King, "is whether we are to have an invisible government by the responsible parliament."

The Liberal leader was severe in his criticism of the Meighen administration in failing to grant a general election.

The Liberal leader said three things were necessary in dealing with the cost of living, from the interests of the consumer. They were: Retrenchment and economy in public affairs; revision downward of the tariff on the necessities of life, and the implement of production, and elimination of profiteering."

After the meeting Mr. King and his party left for Prince Albert.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—(Canadian Associated Press.)—In the House of Commons today it was stated that the proposal to publish an official account of the Battle of Jutland has been abandoned. Information has been received from unofficial German sources throwing considerable light on the battle from a new angle. Any record based on British evidence only would, therefore, it was said, be a one-sided version, and would create a wrong impression of the battle. The whole of the materials prepared by the admiralty will be incorporated in Sir Julius Corbett's work under the authority of the committee of imperial defence, which is to be published next year.

HOW WE ARE GOVERNED.

The people of Canada today must be in some doubt as to how and by whom they are governed. Take two cases which have arisen since Mr. Meighen became prime minister—the railway rates and the regulations in regard to sugar.

The railway companies asked for a tremendous increase in rates. They applied to the board of railway commissioners, who made an increase of 40 per cent on eastern and 35 per cent on western freight rates, and large increases in passenger rates, involving a new burden of many millions of dollars on shippers and ultimately on the people of Canada.

The board assumed to decide large questions of public policy. The chairman, Mr. Carvell, said: "Consider it a national necessity that the C. P. R. at least be kept in a healthy financial condition." Not only so, but he decided the very important question whether the deficit of $47,000,000 on the Canadian National System should be met by railway rates or by new taxes on the people. Surely this was a question which should have been decided by the Government and Parliament of Canada.

An appeal was made to the Government, which decided that a fair and reasonable rate should be arrived at without considering the requirements of the Canadian National System. The railway board was asked to reconsider its decision, in regard to this, and also in regard to the alleged discrimination between eastern and western rates. But the Government did not suspend the board's orders as to increases, and the people using the railways have been paying these ever since the board's order was made.

The board has so far paid no attention to the Government's order or request. The Government says the board is wrong, yet the board governs. The board of commerce, after a troubled existence, has given up the ghost. Before Mr. Murdoch resigned it was really trying to do something for the people. It began an inquiry into the profits of the textile companies, unearthed a good deal of information about the profits of textile manufacturing companies, and was preparing to do more. Mr. Murdoch resigned, and no more was heard about textile profits.

The new board, composed of civil servants, made the famous order forbidding the import of sugar. The order caused such an uproar that the "strong Government" suspended it. The refiners, it is reported, are now after the Government for some other "relief" to save the sugar barons from financial ruin. The board has resigned. What a muddle of governmental action or inaction, and action by board or commissioners, is here displayed.

Boards ought not to be used to relieve the Government from responsibility in regard to large questions of policy. The general lines of policy should be laid down by Government and Parliament. The board of commerce might have performed a useful function in investigating profits on textiles, sugar and other products, as a basis for action. But the Government ought to have a definite policy in regard to these matters, and in regard to the National Railway System.

We have not got very far in discovering the facts as to sugar. There ought to be an inquiry into profits, not only on sugar, but on the by-products, and into the alleged speculation in raw sugar. At present there is virtually nothing before the country but the refiners' case, which is a good bit of special pleading, but necessarily one-sided.

There is too much division of authority, causing perplexity and confusion. Canada needs a return to responsible government.

THE END OF THE ROAD.

The Irish hunger-strikers are dying one by one. Admiration will be felt for the courage, tenacity and loyalty to a cause shown by these men. But what is the cause?

Apparently the Sinn Fein extremists approve the murder of policemen as a means of attaining an independent Irish republic. Most of the police are fellow-Irishmen, hated no doubt for their willingness to serve the Government, but Irishmen acting within their rights and under orders.

The British Government may be assailed as murdering the hunger-strikers. No one in his senses will take seriously such a charge. If the British Government were Prussian it would stamp out ambuscades and sniping by the most ruthless measures, and make a quick job of it, like the Germans in Belgium. And where the Germans had no right at all in Belgium, no one will deny that the British have at least the right of possession for centuries, and of support by a considerable section of the people of Ireland.

The hunger-strike is itself an open confession of the generous and forbearing character of British administration. Who ever thought of hunger-striking against the Germans either in Germany or in occupied lands? The Germans would have laughed at such a thing and shot the strikers. England sorrows with Sinn Fein Ireland for the death of MacSwiney and his confederates, but the responsibility for the tragedy rests squarely and exclusively on the hunger-striker themselves.

J. B. HARD HIT.

Monday was a cold day for John Barleycorn. The most enlightened and most progressive parts of Canada have pronounced a decided verdict with thumbs down. J. B. is not wanted alive any longer on the prairies. Nor in that stronghold of education, enlightenment and Liberalism, the ancient province of Nova Scotia.

Ontario prohibitionists, naturally, will feel greatly encouraged. Since the vote last year there has been a feeling that a bone-dry law will carry in this province, but the extinction of the liquor traffic in adjacent provinces will assure the prospects of enforcement in Ontario. It is clear that the bone-dry idea is no merely local fad or accident, but deepens to a settled conviction and conclusion all over the Dominion, except in the isolated and thinly settled region west of the Rockies, and in the Province of Quebec. With a government selling liquor west of the Rockies, and other limitations in Quebec, the barometer will look decidedly set fair and dry for the rest of the Dominion. Even the two wet spots have a very uncertain future. They may be only a mirage. The solemn pomp of a government stinging measuring out rough stuff to the isolated denizens of British Columbia, and thirty tourists from farther east, the attractiveness of the Pacific province to undesirable immigrants may conceivably pall on that oasis. Even Quebec may tire of a complete isolation amidst the North American desert.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Calder loudly announces that he is a different man. But he is the same old politician.

Now that it is known monkeys' bites are very dangerous wouldn't it be well to muzzle the ex-crown prince of Germany?

A queer state of affairs has arrived in the world when man can fly and a bird is unable to do so. The penguin must feel like advocating race suicide.

Bandits entered a foreigner's house at Thorold to get $3,000 which he had saved. It was Thanksgiving Day, so he was unable to draw it from the bank. That's one holiday that he will always agree was rightly named.

Europe refuses to become excited over the crisis at Athens caused by the death of the youthful king of the Greeks. Nothing more clearly demonstrates how definitely the influence and power of royalty has passed as a result of the great war. Half a dozen years ago the death of a European monarch would have started a wholesale pussy-footing amongst the chancelleries. Secret diplomacy would have kept the world tense with the possibility of war. The world's markets would have become feverishly uncertain. Mighty navies would have been quietly manoeuvred towards the Mediterranean or other strategic points. And the settlement of the matter would have narrowed to half a dozen royal personages and their ministers. Today not a single court has a finger in the pie to any important extent. On the other hand, Venizelos announces that the people will have the final say as to who shall rule, and warns against interference by courts or court influence. Truly, power and dominance in the old world has passed from the purple to the people.

ACCIDENT COMPENSATION.

An interesting suggestion has recently been put forward, to the effect that automobile accidents in which people are killed or injured should be dealt with by a system similar to the workmen's compensation law. That is to say, every owner or user of an automobile would be required to pay a certain sum into a fund which would be used for the care of the injured or of the dependents of the dead, in precisely the same way as a levy is now made upon manufacturers for a similar purpose in connection with machinery.

The scheme of course, would have nothing to do with the insurance of automobiles. This would be left to be handled as it is now, a regular branch of the insurance business. But as persons hurt or killed, the argument is advanced that there will be a certain number of these accidents, no matter how great care is taken. In many cases, moreover, there is left a widow or minor children, and there is no person who can be held for damages because the killer either escapes or has no means.

The plan apparently does not contemplate that damage suits should be abandoned. Suits could still be instituted if anything was thought collectable. This could be done either by the persons aggrieved or by the state board by which the compensation law would be administered. Neither would there be any abrogation of the criminal liability now attaching to careless drivers.

It is contended that if all automobile owners had to pay into such a fund, greater care would be exercised in driving, because the amount of the levy would depend to some extent on the number and character of the accidents. The testimony is conclusive that workmen's compensation acts operate to lessen the number and seriousness of injuries in factories. Would the same effect be produced in regard to automobiles? Would the pedestrian be made safer and joyrides more cautious.

It may be added, that it is not yet assumed any practical shape. The government has got to the stage of giving it a trial. It is just a proposal for people to think about, so that it may perhaps eventually grow into something.

MRS. ASQUITH.

The autobiography of Mrs. Asquith continues to excite the keenest interest. She flashes the epigram; hits off a character with a bon mot; hints the political secret; but, at the same time, her story is free from those pungent situations which most people like to write about—without even waiting for death. Mrs. Asquith is considerate. She is rarely cynical; or, if she is, she is only mildly so. An extraordinarily clever woman, one would fear that her husband must have found her trying at times. There must have been differences. Mrs. Asquith could say brilliant and cutting things. It is a strange and perilous partnership—two geniuses in double harness. Mrs. Jane Carlyle sacrificed what would have been a brilliant career for her gifted husband; but a great genius should always mate with a woman who will be proud to share penicils.

A GRATEFUL TRIBUTE.

Great Britain has done a fine thing in deciding to enter the body of an unselfish soldier in Westminster Abbey alongside of those of her kings, statesmen, poets and distinguished warriors who have found their last earthly resting-place. In no more effective and impressive manner could the debt of the nation be acknowledged, for the grave will stand forever as a memorial to the Empire realized and appreciated the sacrifice of these who died not only in the defence of its liberties, but those of the world as well. Westminster Abbey is the resting-place of those who have contributed in the greatest measure to the well-being of their country. Nevertheless, it contains few memorials which mark the existence of those who died to better purpose than the grave of this unknown soldier, who rests unknown but not unhonored amid the ashes of the elect of the earth.

From Here and There

A WRONG INTERPRETATION.

[Kingston Whig.] In some quarters the "strike" of the penitentiary prisoners the other day has been wrongly interpreted. Generally there is something wrong when men strike. The fact that a convict is not a happy one and to be deprived of one thing or another raises revolt in the breast of any red-blooded man. If a convict is to be treated like a beast, with no consideration of his feelings, he should surprise be expressed if he rebels and endures like one? There is a limit to human endurance, and even the average convict cannot be expected to meekly submit to all modes of deprivations. When an effort is made in penitentiaries to treat law violators as they should be treated, there will be fewer outbreaks. When convicts are properly classified and incarcerated in rebellious manner. This does not apply to the really vicious convict, who by his depravity is unworthy of any consideration. But the average man sent to prison is really not bad at heart, and his faults may be corrected. A little practical Christianity might do more than hard labor at the stone pile or incarceration in a dungeon. If a convict must be treated as a beast, his life might just as well be ended in the manner in which animals' sufferings are ended.

THE JAW-FATIQUING MASTICANT.

[New Orleans Times-Picayune.] Uncle Sam's chewing gum business has grown until a single manufacturer has become the largest consumer of sugar in the world. The statement teases us of thought as to which first in that capacity, but being without that information we content ourselves with wondering over second place. How many openings and shuttings of mouths there must be annually in the chewing of the 3,000,000,000 sticks of gum which the United States sells to the public! Such numbers recall the figures as shown in our astronomer where, after the real numbers, he says "and saying 'plus ten cyphers.'" And all that mastication exercise done in order to coax out of the durable plastic gum the pinch of sugar deftly emulsified within!

A WESTERN QUESTION.

[Kingston Whig.] It is understood that Japan is insisting that among the signatories of the League of Nations, of which she is one, it shall be admitted that all are equal in so far as immigration is concerned, and that equality of all nations shall be recognized. This means that Japanese who may desire to emigrate to Canada shall be received here as freely as emigrants from the United States. The point of view, says the Alberta Farmer, is sure to be combated by Canada if the views of British Columbia representatives are considered. There is, it must be admitted, plenty of good argument content on the side of the British Columbians in this matter, and it is proper that Canada's representatives on the League of Nations council should present the British Columbia view. It is not desirable, neither is it advisable, that there should be free immigration into Western Canada from the Orient. Socially, morally and economically, such an invasion as would follow the removal of the present contentous and disastrous to the western part of the Dominion. Heretofore we have been able to arrange for a limited immigration, which, while not ideal in its results, has been the best that could be had. Representatives of Japan on the League of Nations council are as wise as they should be, they will see that a continuation of this limited immigration will be in the best interests of the Dominion. Rather than we do not want to have to take in too large doses. That would not be good for us, and would be worse for the Dominion. It is a very real problem, and will call for some very careful handling.

POWER RUNNING TO WASTE.

[Financial Post.] While the light users of Ontario are being asked even ordered to put out some of their lamps, and while manufacturers are being burdened with heavy loads of irregular power service, there is 25,000-horsepower now running to waste. This power is denied to the public by Sir Adam Beck practically as though he actually stood with his hand on the switch and refused to turn on the generator.

The charter of the Electrical Development Company calls for the right to develop 125,000 of commercial power. The company has a capacity of 150,000-horsepower. The surplus was delivered to the Hydro. Since the courts have been trying to decide the price. The decisions have favored the company. The Beck commission would not object to the development if they could have confiscated this 25,000 for the commission's use—at Sir Adam's price. Not being able to do this, the commission is sure that his attitude could be justified under the company's charter. Sir Adam, by his usual methods, induced the Legislature to pass a measure by which the entire properties of the Hydro, including the water and charter rights cancelled if so much as one-horsepower of that 25,000 is developed for the power consumers of Ontario.

And in this situation the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, we are informed by press dispatches from London, the home of the chairman, Sir Adam Beck, is organizing to "penalize those who use more than a certain amount of electricity."

BACK TO THE FARM.

[Kingston Whig.] The automobile boom in Akron, Ohio, has collapsed, throwing some 50,000 men out of work. "Where did they go when they quit work?" was the question put to Harry Gildrey, president of the Central Labor Union. His reply was prompt: "Back where they came from—the farms." A year ago the farmers around here were crying their heads off. Now you don't hear a peep. There are no neglected farms around here now. Hundreds of young men in the industrial plants at Oshawa, and hundreds at Toronto, Montreal and other Canadian centres, have been laid off during the past few weeks. It is safe to surmise that they have all gone back to the farms. These workers "back to the farms." A great deal of this labor was recruited from the rural districts. These men flocked to the cities in response to the demand for workers in munitions and other war work, or were attracted by the shorter hours, the better pay and the allurements of life in the larger centres of population. The farms suffered as a consequence, and there is nothing to suggest that the extension of labor to carry on their usual work. This condition is in process of change. Now that big industrial plants are closing down or running only on part time, and with skeleton staffs, the workers are being sent back to the farms. The change may not be altogether bad. It will result in greater production of foodstuffs, of which Canada has the world stands in need. The depletion of the farms is the over-crowding of the cities do not make for national well-being.

SOUTH AFRICA'S FUTURE.

[Manchester Guardian.] The Congress which met in Bloemfontein to try to hammer out a form of union which the followers of General Smuts and those of General Hertzog can unite is of prime importance not only to South Africa, but to the whole British Commonwealth. At no time since the Boer war has there been so much at stake as now. The question is whether the British Commonwealth is to be a union of two peoples, or a union of two nations. A precedent has already been set in the acceding of a Canadian minister to the United States. There is nothing to suggest that the extension of a case be made out. They believe that the Union should have a fleet of her own instead of contributing $50,000 to the British navy, however much such a program might cost. That principle, too, is well established in other dominions, and if the South African voter can be convinced that it is the best means of providing for South African defence the British taxpayer will certainly not grumble.

Poetry and Jest

REMINISCENCE. The Maples stand on Vimy's Height, Just where our treasures lie, In silent, while whispering winds Sing gentle lullaby:

Forgotten? No, my lonely boy, Although you're far from home, Above you spread familiar leaves In getting on the ground. Where incense with our prayer perfect stary sphere of Love, Haloed with your soul above.

For you proud Vimy stands a shrine, To us a cairn of fame, Where dwells our writ in adless blood, To immortalize a name, A name the prostate foe once spoke, But now with chattering teeth, despair Of uttering again.

YE BOLD EDITOR.

[London Punch.] Special Correspondent: When they released me they said that if I showed my face in Ireland again I should be shot. Editor: I'll let these Sinn Feiners see that I'm not to be intimidated. You'll go back by the next train.

AUTUMNAL.

[Anna S. Harlan in New York Times.] I look about me in the faded hillsides And brown fields lately swept of golden grain, I hear the soft-winged partridge sweetly calling From out the leafless border of the day.

Beyond the earth a touch of sunlight Tints the skies like dainty buds in May— A little world that knows not yearnings.

Alone I watch the passing of the day, Ah, it is sweet—where Autumn leaves have fallen, Whilst radiant sunbeams light the distant West in Nature's sweet seclusion, To spend an hour in solitude and yet as I linger, wrapped in wonder, Forgetful that the hours have longer grown, The changing twilight creeps along the meadow And far away I see the lights of home.

RECOMMENDATION.

The wife of a wealthy man had occasion to call in the help of a new floor polisher. "All I ask, madam, is that you inquire your own last situation. On the floor of the large drawing-room alone five persons broke their limbs during the winter, and a lady slipped down the grand staircase. It was I who polished the floor and the stairs."

WOULD BLOCK TRAFFIC.

[Edinburgh Scotsman.] Policemen: How are you standing 'ere for? Loutie-Nuffink: Loutie-Nuffink—Well, just more on. If everybody was to stand in one place, how would the rest get past?

LIFE.

Life is bitter. All the faces of the young are old, are grey with travail and with tears. Must we only wake to toll, to die, to weep? In the sun, among the leaves, upon the slumber, still to dreamy death the heavy hours. . . . Let me sleep.

Riches won but mock the old unable years; Fame's a pearl that hides beneath a sea of tears; Love's a bitter-sweet, or must live alone and weep. In the sunshine, through the leaves, and growing party of embittered Nationalists behind him, has the need for reunion been greater now. At no time has there seemed a better chance that it might be secured. Without it a forward policy for the Union will hardly be possible.

To a Canadian or to a Scotchman, the chances of compromise would seem considerable, for in the older dominions many of the points in dispute would not be passed. The Nationalists demand for South Africa a flag, for the Dominion a flag, willingly as to Canada. They ask for the right to appoint their own governors-general. There is a growing wish for the same right both in Australia and in Canada, and it is not unlikely that they ask to have South African "ambassadors" to other nations. A precedent has already been set in the acceding of a Canadian minister to the United States. There is nothing to suggest that the extension of a case be made out. They believe that the Union should have a fleet of her own instead of contributing $50,000 to the British navy, however much such a program might cost. That principle, too, is well established in other dominions, and if the South African voter can be convinced that it is the best means of providing for South African defence the British taxpayer will certainly not grumble.

WANTED THE LATEST.

The fashionable physician, walked in his breezy way and nodded amiably at his patient, "here am, Mr. Adams, be anxious, what do you think is the matter with you this morn'ing?" "Doctor, I hardly know," murmured the fashionable patient, languidly. "What is new?"

PLAYING THE GAME.

"How much I conduct my campaign?" asked the inexperienced candidate. "Remember them anything," said his manager. "But suppose I promise something

I can't perform and the public holds me to strict accountability." "If you get elected you'll want to run again, won't you?" "Of course." "When your first term is ended you can tell the voters you didn't have time to put through all the great reforms you had set your heart on, and they must send you back to finish the job."

A MEMORY.

[Theodora Garrison.] You came into my life for one brief day, Gave me the laughter of your lips and eyes, Touched your hand in mine, then turned away, Yet left these memories.

Ah, child, you brought strange sunlight to my gloom; you brought me back to life. So carelessly you gave a thing so fair. As though one passed through some closed, haunted room, And dropped a flower there.

HER FATHER'S JOB.

The other day an Irish servant girl asked leave of absence for an hour to consult a fortune-teller. She returned with a dismal expression. "Did she predict some great trouble?" said her mistress, sympathetically. "Oh, no, miss, she didn't," moaned the girl, rocking backwards and forwards, and wringing her hands. "She told me that my father works hard for his coal and 'nadin' for a livin'!" "That's no disgrace nor sorrow," said the lady, a trifle vexed at such an affliction. "Och, miss, me poor father!" sobbed the girl. "What a hard time he must be havin' 'n' he's been dead these noine years!"

Every Man For Himself

BY HOPKINE MOORHOUSE.

He made his plans quickly. He would drop off, walk to the nearest station and catch No. 1 westbound, at midnight. That would take him into the Michigan country by daylight, and he could afford to run the risk of discovery until then. He would leave the train there somewhere, and would find no difficulty in obtaining an outfit and an Indian guide. They would hit southward for Lake Superior, and once there he could find his way across the Michigan side by night and so away.

For more laced his boots rapidly and went through his grip for one or two articles he thought he might need. He took back to the kitchen and put some crackers and cheese in his pockets; it was all he could find that was not under lock and key. Then he slipped the precious envelope buttoned tightly inside his coat he picked his way cautiously to the rear of the dining car, closed the door carefully behind him and climbed over the brass rail.

For a moment he hung there, hesitating. Then he let go his hold and disappeared.

CHAPTER IX.

Conspiring Events. The president's private car pulled into Wardlow at the late of 3:10 a.m., and there a side-tracked upon instructions from Detective Egan and his men. As soon as No. 2 had got away behind a freight engine on the long jump to the division point, Cranston was fully dressed, descended from the car and half an hour later he returned to the car, unaddressed and crawled back into his berth with a grunt of satisfaction.

Podmore's not fool enough to stick to the "Black Book," objected that Wade's gettin' got to where he's got of out. On a damn fool 'd try to face the fact that Wade can get an outfit. "He mightn't last long," said Wade skeptically. "Fish metimes get clean away, remember. What have you done?"

"Wired his description to every section foreman on the division with instructions to notify me here and hold him prisoner till he comes. Fifty dollars reward. We crossed No. 1 half an hour after Huxley jumped. Johnston has special instructions to watch out for him, and there isn't a sharper corner in the service. He'd figure to grab the westbound if everything went well. If he didn't succeed, we'll nab him sure somewhere up the line during the day."

"Unless he's taken to the woods, Podmore's not fool enough to stick to the 'Black Book,'" objected that Wade's gettin' got to where he's got of out. On a damn fool 'd try to face the fact that Wade can get an outfit. "He mightn't last long," said Wade skeptically. "Fish metimes get clean away, remember. What have you done?"

"Well, I'll be gone all day with Foster up the Lone Hollow spur. Back by dark. That's all the time I can give you, Bob. If you haven't lead before No. 2 gets here, I'm afraid I can't wait." He got up from the table.

"That's all right, Mr. Wade. But I'll have a message to show you when you get back this evening," said Cranston confidently.

Nevertheless the only message which he was able to show to the end of his return was a wire from Johnston that there was no trace of Podmore among his passengers, and that the body who had boarded last westbound train on the Wardlow division was accounted for. It was with considerable secret disappointment that the chief of the special service department of the C. L. S. made arrangements for the president's train to continue eastward with No. 2, while he remained behind at Wardlow; for thereby Cranston was lost a valuable opportunity to demonstrate his ability at cross-questioning in the presence of the magistrate. He was only human.

Cranston, however, had been taught by experience that time is never till the last moment. Although his belongings were packed, he left his suitcase aboard the car and long after he had said good-bye to Wade, long after the president was in his berth for the night, the detective sat doggedly on the message of the magistrate. He was only human.

One of those methodical individuals who are born every day, and then with a gift of interesting rags was scheduled would have had no great difficulty in locating "Thorlaxson" in the machine timetable of the Canadian Lake Shores Railway. It takes the form of a little danger mark which, pursued into the fine print of the "explanatory," yields the information that "Thorlaxson" is a flag station. His men, his wife, his children and everything that was his abode in a log shanty on a rise of ground close to the track. The rest of the place consisted of a long siding, a short wooden platform, a tall new standard inclosed water tank and a little whitewashed shed where the handcar and tools were stored. A creek here slipped out of the woods to find fault with a stone culvert ere it flowed beneath the track and resought silence among the encircling spruce trees.

It was a lonesome, insignificant place with nothing to indicate its selection as a bobbin for threads of destiny. He waved his hand as he recognized Wade's sturdy figure and laughed to hear the magistrate's hearty greeting of surprise. "Oh, running here, Mr. Wade," greeted Genna Philip Kendrick was doing away up here in the woods.

assistance the matter had been arranged readily and he had left the same night to join the Rutland party out the line.

The battered old freight covered in which the young engineer lived was moved ahead from siding to siding by passing freight trains as Rutland added the relief of a partner of the work progress. Scarcely a day had passed that had not strung a few interesting beads of incident in the right on the neck of its routine monotony—the squealing, kicking wild rabbit which Anderson, the head chairman, had captured; the wild duck which which Bayley, the marker, had insisted upon decorating with his white paint before he would let go, the occasional mess of speckled trout for which they of the fresh baked pies and cakes were sometimes able to buy from a sectionman's wife; the car tracks and the bodies of wild animals ruled to death by the glare of the powerful headlights on the fast trains at night; the excitement at the great ballast pit where the gangs at work were running an unpopular cook out of camp; the very old Indian who had started at the dragging chain and muttered "Hoop big snake," and the young Englishman who had gone mad from fly-bites and whom the sawmill gang had strapped to a rough litter in preparation for running him to the hospital by the first train they could flag. In spite of the mosquitoes, black flies and midges, which for the greater part of the year were a decided affliction in the country, through which they were working, Kendrick had enjoyed the new experience. Twenty miles average daily working, the magistrate, with an extra ten-mile walk back to the car, already had rounded the eastward-bound train, and was now in this old friend of her girlhood.

"I've been working for the C. L. S. for nearly two weeks now," he explained. "I'm chairman with the Rutland party, out from North Bay on a topographical survey, taking in a new mileage and mapping the right-of-way. Our van on the second siding above here."

This unexpected vacation had come about quite simply. On arrival in North Bay to go fishing with Hilly Thorpe had found that Wade, a young architect so immersed in an important contract that temporary postponement of his duties was imperative. As if provided specially to meet the situation ahead had come Rutland's resignation, which had taken in a new chairman, one of his men having taken sick suddenly. Phil had jumped at the opportunity for the variety of technical survey work, and with Thorpe's

TRAPPER LOSES LIFE

KINGSTON, Oct. 27.—Fred Watts of Wolfe Island, a trapper and hunter who lived alone, was burned to death last night when his house was destroyed by fire. His charred remains were found in the cellar, and it was evident that the bed in which he was sleeping had been precipitated, with him in it, into the cellar when the burned floors collapsed.

WELCOME RELIEF

TO THE DISTRESSING PAROXYSMS OF ASTHMA IS ASSURED BY THE REGULAR USE OF DR. J. D. KELLOGG'S ASTHMA REMEDY

DR. LYNOTT, the Specialist

Offers every man the opportunity of relief from disease—to lift the burden—to increase your earning power—to make you happy and contented and care free. Where is the man who won't take advantage of this opportunity? The sickly, anaemic, weak, disease-burdened man cannot hope to make a success in life—cannot hope to enjoy the pleasures of the healthy man. He cannot hope to earn promotion in his chosen work nor to make as much money as his fellow workman who is free from disease.

Dangers of Bad Blood Overcome

NO MATTER THE MAN, WHETHER YOUNG OR OLD, SINGLE OR MARRIED, HE CAN NEVER FEEL SAFE AS LONG AS HIS BLOOD IS NOT HEALTHY. THE FACE, BODY, BONES, NERVES AND BRAIN MAY BE AFFLICTED BY ANY DANGEROUS AND PAINFUL DISEASE BEFORE THE SYMPTOMS SPRING UP ON YOU LIKE A THIEF IN THE NIGHT. SO, IF SUFFERING, DON'T GROW CARELESS. REMEMBER THE DANGER IS ALWAYS IN THE BEST TREATMENT IS WHAT YOU WANT, AND AT ONCE.

NEGLECT IS DANGEROUS

There is nothing in the world more dangerous than neglect. Nobody is responsible for so much suffering and disaster. Trace the cause of misfortune and you will find that somewhere neglect had a part. Neglect is more dangerous than disease. It is usually years before impure, sluggish blood is the direct cause of a multitude of ailments. Your whole health of body and mind depends on your blood. Any "building process" of the body and mind of the muscles and tissues, formations, of any of the various vital organs, can be accomplished only by working direct through the blood stream.

Thin, Impoverished Blood--General Weakness--Emaciation

BLOOD—it is absolutely impossible to be well and strong, pulsing with life and energy, if the organs and tissues of the body are not properly nourished with pure, rich blood. When you reach the point where nature's building-up process fails to keep pace with the tearing down process, old age begins to set in, even though you may be young in actual years. Impure, sluggish blood is the direct cause of a multitude of ailments. YOUR WHOLE HEALTH OF BODY AND MIND DEPENDS ON YOUR BLOOD. Any "building process" of the body and mind of the muscles and tissues, formations, of any of the various vital organs, can be accomplished only by working direct through the blood stream.

Be a Real Manly Man--Enjoy Life--Health--Happiness

YOU WANT HEALTH—health that knows no aches nor pains whatever—health that gives life a new zest and makes it really worth while. When your nerves are steady. When your mind is at rest. When you sleep soundly all night. When you can work hard, either with brain or muscle, and then enjoy the pleasures of life like other healthy men. WHAT UNSPEAKABLE JOY IT IS TO HAVE HEALTH LIKE THAT! HOW YOU LIVE EVERY MINUTE OF THE DAY! How soundly you sleep at night, and how refreshed you feel in the morning! How keenly you relish your meals! What energy you show in your work, how your eyes sparkle! Why suffer another hour, when sure, quick relief is at hand? Come in today and start on the road to health. FREE CONSULTATION. Daily Hours 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Holidays and Sundays, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Auto-Intoxication--Headaches--Catarrh of the Stomach--Ulcers

STOMACH TROUBLE—You know quickly enough when you have a bad stomach. When you have heartburn and indigestion, sour, gassy stomach. Many people will be surprised to learn that such a long train of ailments can be traced to Auto-Intoxication. The ailing man thinks true to a certain extent, but remember this, that the mere fact that you do suffer this way is a pretty sure sign that something further is wrong with you. YOU WANT TO TELL YOU WHAT YOUR TROUBLE IS. If you are one of those who have tried everything, but still have found no relief, I WANT TO TREAT YOU. I want to show you that you need not suffer longer.

Nerve Shock--Nature Exhausted Need This Help--Easy to Get It

BACKACHE—What a multitude of pain-racking ailments may cause backache. Any of the errors of a man's whole life may be the cause of backache. Any part of the back may ache and pain you, and make your life miserable. Now go on thinking it will get better. When, in fact, that very ache is trying to tell you that there is something seriously wrong with you. You wonder why you are losing ground—you wonder why your nervous energy is low and you worry and wonder if it could be a fatal disease. YOU CAN FIND OUT IN TEN MINUTES IF YOU WILL CALL ON ME FOR AN EXAMINATION. It has been my usual need for years to tell men what was wrong with their health, and to give them treatment. FREE EXAMINATIONS.

"BABES IN THE WOOD" AT THE GRAND TONIGHT.

F. Stuart Whyte's fifth annual English pantomime in Canada is the ever-popular "Babes in the Wood," the most gorgeous and expensive to stage of all the galaxy of pantomime productions.

"The Babes in the Wood" company is probably the most noteworthy aggregation of English artists brought out by Mr. Whyte up to this time.

West Dorothy, of Red Riding Hood fame, will appear as one of the babes. George Summers has the leading comedy role of the Baron, and Miss Mona Misner will be the Robin Hood.

Dorothy is not the only kiddie in the cast this year. Mr. Whyte has brought over six other boys and girls between the ages of twelve and fourteen to play the various children's parts.

The book and lyrics of "Babes in the Wood" are the work of F. Stuart Whyte and Reginald Hincks, while the music was written by Pierre Bayard, Olive Hamilton, B. C. Hilliam and George Bromley.

"Babes in the Wood" will be the offering at the Grand tonight, tomorrow night and twice Saturday matinee and night. Secure your seats early. This is a big treat for the children; in fact, every man, woman and child should see this wonderful attraction.

Secure your seats early, as there is a big demand for same. This attraction should be greeted by London with capacity houses every performance.

REX BEACH'S MIGHTY THRILLING ROMANCE OF THE NORTH AT THE ALLEN.

You'll get the famous Rex Beach smash in every foot of this wonderful story of the gold fields of Alaska, "The North Wind's Malice," which is showing at the Allen today, tomorrow and Saturday.

You'll see two men at death grips in the snow and ice, snarling like wolves, clutching at each other's throats with fingers of steel, rolling over and over to the edge of the glacier. You'll see every man, woman and child in a hundred memorable battles with the wilds; Vera Gordon, the wonderful mother of "hummerqueens" plays the greatest part of her career; Tom Santich, the husky, fearless star of "The Spoilers," in a role that will thrill you to the core. Love, revenge, furious jealousy, superhuman endurance, struggle, triumph--a splendid tale, told by a master story-teller, acted by a flawless cast. To miss "The North Wind's Malice" is to miss one of the big thrills of a lifetime.

An organ solo will be played by Mr. Ireland of the Finlay from the fifth symphony by Widor. You'll have a fifteen-minute trip around the world with the Allen International News, and the best of some of the great screen stars at work and play in home and studio.

As a special feature the big all-star Christie Comedy "Miss Me, Caroline," in which all the artists, the pretty girls and famous principals of the Christie forces contribute their talents and beauty. Bobby Vernon and Dorothy Devore head the cast.

AT LOEW'S. Ethel Clayton's new picture, "Crooked Streets," is the feature attraction at the Loew's Theatre. It is a distinct departure from the series of domestic dramas with which Miss Clayton has been entertaining local picture audiences recently. Her latest vehicle is an exciting adventure-romance, with the scenes laid in the native and European quarters of Shanghai.

The star has the role of Gall Ellis, a resourceful American girl, who becomes secretary to a Professor Griewold on a trip to China, professedly made in the interest of historic antiquities. In Shanghai, Gall, venturing on her own account, is taken by a treacherous rickshaw man to an iniquitous opium den and with difficulty rescued by a handsome Englishman, Rupert O'Hara. Starting disclosures, revealing the real identity of Gall's employer, follow.

"Crooked Streets" was adapted from an original story by Samuel Merwin. It is thoroughly good entertainment, made in the interest of historic antiquities. In Shanghai, Gall, venturing on her own account, is taken by a treacherous rickshaw man to an iniquitous opium den and with difficulty rescued by a handsome Englishman, Rupert O'Hara. Starting disclosures, revealing the real identity of Gall's employer, follow.

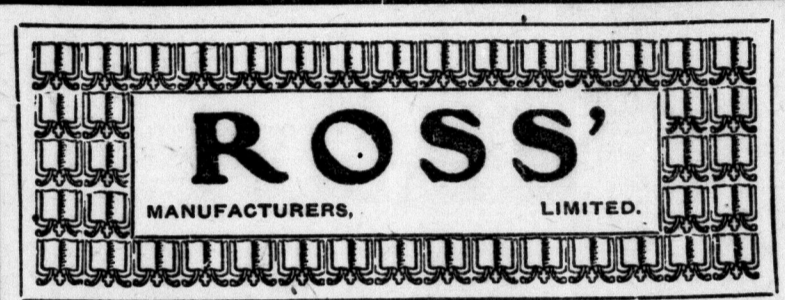

Also Loew's Pictorial News, a screaming Hansel and Gretel, and Loew's supreme vaudeville.

Patricia. In "The Man Who Dared," William Russell's latest William Fox production, one of the finest western pictures ever turned out by Fox Film Corporation--which is noted for great work in this line. It actually breathes the spirit of the west--with its scenes in the great Redwood forests of California. What could be more beautiful for a setting? For nearly three hours, William Russell and his company were in the heart of the redwoods and some of the most picturesque scenes ever taken by a motion picture camera were shot during the time. To make the picture the more convincing as regards atmosphere, genuine lumberjacks, who ply their trade in felling mighty giants of the forest, were used in many of the big scenes. So much for the atmosphere and set-
