

PETER SMITH TESTIFIES FOR FORMER DEPUTY

Nickle Refuses To Link Juvenile Court With Police

JUDGE WITH NO SALARY IS SOUGHT

Nickle States He Dislikes Idea of Force in Juvenile Court Issue.

KEEP POLICE OUT

Attorney-General Will Not Link Up Court With Police.

In telephone conversation with The Advertiser this morning, Attorney-General W. F. Nickle expressed disapproval of any change being made in the present status of the juvenile court in London.

Attorney-General Nickle voiced his personal opinion that the court should not be linked up in any way with the police court, as suggested by the city council. He also referred to having received "a great many communications from various organizations of the city, all of which spoke in highest terms of the work done by Rev. Quintin Warner as judge of the court, and opposed any move to change the present system."

Mr. Nickle said that he had instructed the representatives of the city council, who waited upon him last Friday, Ald. Greer and Douglass, to have the council look around for a suitable man in the city to carry on the work as judge without salary.

Such action, however, is only to be taken providing Judge Warner definitely and finally indicates his inability to continue the work without a salary being granted him.

Looking for Man.

"Besides instructing the council to look for a man," remarked Mr. Nickle, "I will myself look for a man who can afford to undertake the work without remuneration."

While admitting that it was within his jurisdiction to compel the council to pay the salary requested by Judge Warner, Mr. Nickle intimated that he did not wish to exert those powers.

"I don't want to compel anyone," he said, "but if at all possible, I feel that the juvenile court should be conducted on its own system, and entirely apart from the police court."

Asked whether in his opinion Judge Warner had ever resigned as judge of the juvenile court, Mr. Nickle replied by pointing out that Judge Warner was acting until some satisfactory settlement of the whole question could be reached.

It would seem from the interview given The Advertiser by Mr. Nickle that if things should actually come to a showdown between himself and the council, he would be inclined to fall back upon the provisions given him under the statutes and require the council to pay the salary of $1,200 asked by Judge Warner to compensate his congregation on account of his services being diverted so largely on behalf of the juvenile court.

Not Looking.

Asked this morning by The Advertiser whether the council was looking for a man to act as judge of the juvenile court without salary, in place of Judge Warner, Ald. Greer replied in the negative.

"It is not up to the council to find and appoint a man," said Ald. Greer. "It is up to Attorney-General Nickle."

Ald. Greer was generally reticent as to what, if any, comment had been made by Mr. Nickle when interviewed last Friday on behalf of the council concerning the resolutions forwarded him by the juvenile court in support of the present juvenile court system.

Stating that he was not in a position to discuss the matter, Ald. Greer said that "There was nothing definite to say, supposing I could talk."

The chief features of the celebration were the ceremonies consequent upon taking the oath of allegiance to the king by some 250,000 black-shirts, most of whom participated in the fascist march on Rome two years ago, and who were later formed into a national militia, becoming an integral part of the nation's armed forces.

The oath-taking ceremonies were scheduled for various centers throughout the country, but the principal gala functions were in Milan, where Premier Mussolini was to attend, and in Rome.

MACDONALD CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

British Premier Issues Final Appeal on the Eve of Election.

VOTING TOMORROW

Bitterest and Shortest Campaign in History Drawing to Close.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Oct. 23.—Premier Macdonald in his final appeal to the nation before voting tomorrow, says: "At the end of the hardest fight I have ever known, the signs of Labor's victory are unmistakable."

Several meetings last night were marked by violent disturbances and the police in some instances were called on to prevent dangerous developments. The worst violence occurred outside a meeting hall in Battersea, where a furious blow aimed at the Conservative candidate, Viscount Curzon, missed him but felled a companion, unconscious.

The tires were ripped from Lord Curzon's automobile and the lamps were smashed. The Russian affair, growing out of publication by the foreign office of the alleged Zinovieff letter to the British communist party, has served to heighten the feeling, but there is nothing to show whether it will have the damaging effect on Labor's chances which the government's opponents predict.

The London newspapers, with the exception of the Labor Daily Herald, comment scorchingly on Premier Macdonald's platform reference to the Russian incident, the chief of several charges being that the premier himself blundered colossal in handling the matter and now seeks to throw the blame on his subordinates in the foreign office, knowing that their position depends on making any reply or explanation. Complaint is also made that the premier leaves the affair very obscure and that their position depends on making any reply or explanation.

Col. Kelly Lands On Disturber

Conservative Candidate in the Claycross Division Staging Exciting Campaign.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Oct. 23.—Ramsay MacDonald was a traitor to the lads at the front in 1917," declared Lieut.-Col. Sherwood Kelly, K.C., Conservative candidate in the Claycross division of Devonshire, at a meeting last night. "Oh, I wish I could have had him in a platoon," the colonel exclaimed.

Lieut.-Col. Kelly at one of his meetings was called a liar by a communist in the audience. The colonel asked the man to withdraw the offensive epithet and when he refused to do so coolly descended from the platform and gave the disturber two rude jolts in the jaw. Then the communist was assisted to the door by some of his companions.

GREAT CANADIAN WRITER PETER M'ARTHUR IS DEAD

Bard of Ekfrid Passes Away in Victoria Hospital Early Today.

KNOWN TO WORLD

Novelist and Poet Has Had Great Career Both Sides of Atlantic.

Peter MacArthur of Ekfrid, a maker of Canadian literature, poet and novelist, beloved in many countries, died early this morning at Victoria Hospital. He was 58 years of age.

On Tuesday of last week Mr. MacArthur underwent a serious operation, which was followed by complications. For two days following the operation his condition was reported to be slightly improved, but on Wednesday he suffered a relapse, and his condition bordered on the critical stage, and little hope was held for his recovery. He died at 6:15 o'clock this morning.

Until the last, Mr. MacArthur maintained the cheery and kindly disposition which has been characteristic of him throughout his life. He has been endowed with an abundance of health and good spirits, and even during his illness worked on his last bit of literature. Only two days ago he furnished paragraphs for a work which was to have been his latest.

Peter MacArthur lived on the farm at Ekfrid on which he was born. He resided there with his family, and it is in this quaint log homestead that many of his greatest poetical works have been created. His little domain at Ekfrid, three miles east from Glenora, has become widely known during the past fifteen years, through the author's accomplishments. To this home, rich and poor alike came and were welcomed and helped. Some perhaps came through curiosity, but the Mr. MacArthur always bore quite patiently, in spite of the fact that he was a shy man essentially, and strongly averse to any form of personal publicity.

Scotch Descent.

Peter MacArthur's parents were both natives of Scotland. His father, Peter MacArthur, emigrated to Canada in 1870, and settled on a farm near Ekfrid. Please See Page 2, Column 5.

AGED MAN KILLED BY C. N. R. TRAIN

David Smith, 80, Bothwell, Had Left His Home About 6:30 for Pope's Farm.

Special to The Advertiser.

Bothwell, Oct. 23.—David Smith, 80, of this town, was instantly killed early this morning when he was struck by a C. N. R. train.

He left his home about 6:30 on his way to the farm of William Pope, a husk corn, and as was his custom, took a short cut by way of the tracks. It is thought that Mr. Smith was struck by the fast east passenger train that passes through the town each morning about 6 o'clock. Residents say that the train was about half an hour late this morning.

The body was found about 7:30 by Del Adkin. Dr. A. D. Graham was called, but pronounced life extinct. An inquest into the fatality will be held by Coroner Stewart of Glenora.

Besides his wife, Mr. Smith leaves two daughters, Mrs. Allan Siler and Mrs. William Sawyer, both of Bothwell.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

W. McSweeney, 27, of Standard Oil Research Laboratory, Dies in Agony.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, Oct. 23.—A third victim of "looney gas" poisoning in the research laboratory of the Bayway, N. J., plant of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, died here today in the reconstruction hospital. He was William McSweeney, 27 years of age, of Elizabeth, N. J.

Despite the ceaseless efforts of physicians, McSweeney became worse. Before his death he was so violent that he had to be placed in a straight jacket. Some of the other victims were affected in the same way. One of the men who died earlier jumped from a second story window while in pain from the gas. McSweeney's death was reported to the medical examiner's office as having been caused by "gas poisoning."

SMITH COMES TO DEFENCE OF MATTHEWS

Justice Mowat Tells Defending Counsel To Drop Word "Honorable."

TRIAL CONTINUES

Alex. Ross, Former Manager of Home Bank Bond Department, Again on Stand.

PETER M'ARTHUR, the bard of Ekfrid, who passed away at an early hour this morning at Victoria hospital.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Oct. 23.—The crown concluded its cases in the charges of conspiring to defraud and fraud against Charles A. Matthews, former assistant provincial treasurer, in the Justice Mowat court this morning before Mr. Justice Mowat. H. H. Gordon, counsel defending Matthews, asked that the case be taken from the jury and the charge dismissed, contending that the crown had failed to show Matthews as being connected with the defraud.

The request was refused, and the defence was started with the calling of Peter Smith, former provincial treasurer, who was called in the same court last week of conspiracy to defraud.

In calling for his witness Mr. Gordon said: "Hon. Peter Smith."

"Drop the honorable," said his lordship. "The title ceases when he is no longer a member of the government."

Mr. Smith swore that Matthews had no right to buy bonds of any kind without an order-in-council from the government or special instructions from the minister. He said that Matthews had never been asked to purchase bonds of the same kind as those involved in the charges for much higher prices than they paid Hart for his, the Matthews had never asked for them.

Mr. Gordon, arguing for a non-suit, said that the only evidence that Matthews ever got from the government was evidence of Ross. He also argued that an indictment of this kind could not be laid after two years had elapsed from the time of the alleged crime.

SEEK NEW TRIAL.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Oct. 23.—Notice of appeal and request for a new trial for Peter Smith, former provincial treasurer, who was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary and a fine of $500,000 last week, was filed in the appellate court today by T. H. Lennox, K.C., counsel for Peter Smith. Copies of this notice were also served on W. N. Tilley, K.C., special prosecuting officer, and the attorney-general. Because of other engagements of counsel, the application for bail was deferred until tomorrow.

The notice of appeal pleads improper admission of the jury by the trial judge, and states that there was no evidence on which the finding arrived at could have been made. Attention is also drawn to the refusal of the trial judge to re-direct the jury.

The appeal is being made on a question of law and not on a question of fact. The Irish free state appeal is not necessary. Notice of appeal must be given before bail can be granted.

A particular exception will be taken to that part of the trial judge's address in which he said: "If it isn't true that Smith received the bonds, Andrew Peppall could prove it. If Andy Peppall could prove it, Smith must go free, but Peter Smith has not given you the benefit of Andrew Peppall's evidence. He has not given any evidence indicating that he did not obtain them."

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—The interim financial statement for the Central Canada Exhibition Association, as presented to the directors last night, shows a surplus for the year of about $2,500. In the hope of getting more favorable weather, the directors favor moving the exhibition dates to come in before the National Exhibition at Toronto, instead of immediately after.

INFANT MORTALITY HERE HITS LOW MARK

Miss Bertha Smith, Welfare Worker, Tells of Plans For New Clinic.

Infant mortality in London is on its way to a new low record, according to Miss Bertha Smith, who is in charge of child welfare work here. When the work was started in the city early in 1922, the rate was cut in half. The rate became less than half of what it had been the previous year. In 1923 the rate was very low too.

This year records for nine months of activities have shown appreciable results, and Miss Smith declares that the infant death rate will be the lowest in history. A new baby clinic will be opened at the new Empress avenue school early in 1925 and work will be divided between that center and Lord Roberts' school.

ST. LUKE'S Y. P.

The young people of St. Luke's church met last night in the Sunday school room, when a very enjoyable evening was spent in Halloween games and pranks. The costumes were also judged, and Mr. William Oke, who was dressed as a girl, won the first prize for the men, while Miss Verna Monfeth, in the costume of a troubadour, was the best girl.

The main feature of the night, however, came at the close, when Miss Monfeth read "A Guesse" and a shrouded ghost clanked his chains. During the tale, different parts of the body were passed among the guests, who were seated in a circle, and the first article, a wet sponge was the brain of the departed one.

Refreshments were served, and there was a good attendance.

An interesting program was given, including a solo by Mrs. Chalmers, a violin solo by Miss Eleanor Egan, a reading by Miss Nora Newman, a piano solo by Miss Eleanor Colvin, and a reading by Marion McLean. Following the games refreshments were served under the conversers of Mrs. Bryant and Mrs. Newman.

CRONYN MEMORIAL W. A.

The members of the women's aid of the Cronyn Memorial church arranged a very delightful military euchre, which was held at the home of Mrs. Charles H. White, Dundas street, last Friday evening. About 160 guests gathered in the ballroom, which was attractive with Halloween decorations and flowers, where 40 tables of euchre were played, the gay flags adding color to the scene. Billiards were also played, and at the conclusion of a very enjoyable evening, refreshments were served. Mrs. Boughner, Richmond street north, is sending her home on Thursday afternoon for a tea and sale of home

RECREATION WILL SAVE PEOPLES

City Playground Supervisor Tells of Big Congress in Atlantic City.

National recognition of the social importance of the recreation movement to the United States and Canada was demonstrated by the attendance of over 600 delegates at the recreation congress, just adjourned in Atlantic City, according to Gerald N. Goodman, chief supervisor of city of London playgrounds, who has just returned to the city after attending the congress.

To make good sportsmen and to learn to play the game was the conception of the objectives of the national recreation movement as expressed by Dr. John H. Finley, associate editor of the New York Times, in opening the congress. "Complete rest, relaxation or entire change of physical action are essential to health, happiness and success," he said. "Scientific sanitation and acceleration are the new trinity. We shall soon be incubating our descendants and will eventually be scientized out of existence, unless we give more heed to the humanizing influence which the recreation movement represents."

The setting aside of a portion of all future real estate subdivisions for playgrounds was advocated by William S. Harmon, nationally known realtor, and president of the Harmon Foundation.

Rural youth needs recreation as much as city youth, according to Henry S. Curtis, director of hygiene and physical education for the state of Missouri. A boy who is riding on a mowing machine does not get any better exercise than the girl who is running a typewriter," he said.

Training classes where parents may learn to play with their children, was advocated by Mrs. A. H. Reeve of Philadelphia, president of the national congress of parents and teachers, as a cure for the present crumbling of home life.

The recreation congress, an annual event, of which the one just ending is the eleventh, is the possible playground and recreation association of America.

FISHERMEN RUSH WORK AS SEASON NEARS CLOSE

The fall fishing season at Port Stanley is nearly over, the last catches being made around the 15th of October. The boats are taking advantage of the mild weather this week and steady catches are being made.

Eight boats are now operating out of the port as the fleet has been increased since the completion of another tug.

The new steel tug belonging to Morgan Brothers of Port Stanley is having the engine and cabin installed and it is expected that she will be fishing before the end of the fall.

The large tug owned by Claire Thomas was launched on Friday, but owing to a defect in the guide rope the tug hit the water stern first. No damage resulted, though it was feared the tug might be damaged.

Work is progressing favorably on the freighter owned by the Charles Finlay Fish Company, the men working both night and day to complete her before the winter.

IMPROVEMENTS ARE MADE TO TRACKS OF PORT LINE

The L. & P. S. tracks near the Richmond street ticket office are undergoing extensive repairs.

Three loads of gravel were hauled in the spaces between the ties to protect the tracks during the winter.

The chief dispatcher stated that he men would be busy all day preparing the roadbed and completing the tracks which had to be removed at this spot.

Other repairs are being made to the tracks along the line and the ties are being replaced where necessary.

DEFENDANT FAILS TO COME, JUDGE CLOSES MISHAP SUIT

After hearing the evidence of the plaintiff, R. S. Adams, who took place on Oct. 22, one mile east of Grimsby, yesterday afternoon, Judge Judd adjourned the case until this morning at 10 o'clock to hear the evidence of the defendant, H. F. Baker, a fruit grower of Lincoln county, whom the plaintiff alleged was to blame for the mishap.

Baker and his counsel, James D. Beasley of Hamilton, failed to make an appearance, and his honor promptly closed the case, stating that he would reserve judgment.

Mr. Adams claimed $489.22 damages, and stated that both cars were without a driver when the defendant's car struck the plaintiff's car.

W. B. Henderson of McEwen & Henderson appeared for the plaintiff.

CROSS WORD PUZZLE NO. 13

Just a song at twilight, a real lullaby. This one should be a mere pleasant moment if you are looking for something easy. However "easy to solve and hard to construct" is the way the song should sometimes go. "One cross word leads to another" is the slogan of this game, and the key to its solution. All the words in these puzzles, across and up and down, horizontal and vertical, interlock. When you find a word crossway, it helps you at the same time to determine the other, up-and-down, word.

Cross word puzzles form ingenious patterns. You will be fascinated in working them out.

The directions for working out the puzzle are printed below.

Each number in the puzzle indicates the position of the first letter of a word.

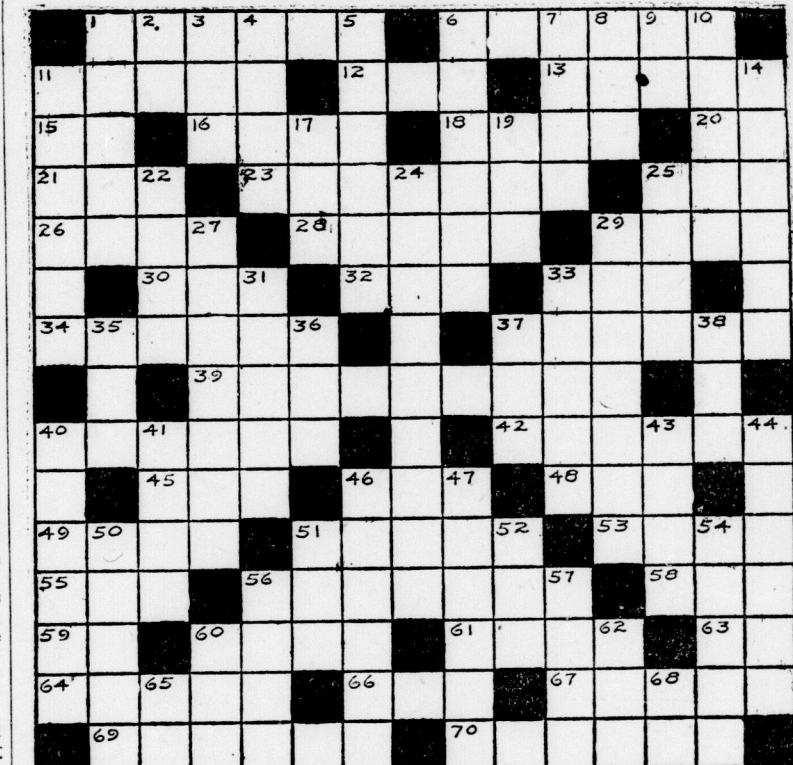

Each word reads from left to right (horizontal) or downward (vertical) according to position. Lettered in correctly, words that cross will interlock.

Each number in the white squares also refers to a definition in the accompanying table.

Each definition suggests a word possessing the exact number of letters to fit the white spaces allotted to it.

Each white space is to receive one letter only. Words start only in numbered squares.

THIEF CLOSELY GUARDED IN MIDDLESEX JAIL

Harry Radel Will Be Asked Before Removal to "Pen" If Appeal Planned.

Harry Radel, sentenced yesterday to three years in Kingston penitentiary for theft, by Magistrate Graydon, is being closely guarded by Sheriff Graham this afternoon as to whether he intends to enter an appeal to the decision of the court. Should the young prisoner decide in the negative, no time will be lost in conveying him to the penitentiary.

Sheriff Graham states that all prisoners convicted of indictable offences will in future be asked their intention of appealing court decisions. This was decided as a result of Fox and Sansone being refused admittance at Kingston by Warden Ponsford.

It is not likely that Radel will enter an appeal as he was not represented by counsel at his trial yesterday.

In view of his escape from a Winnipeg detective en route to Winnipeg, it is expected that Radel will be used on Radel when he is being removed to the penitentiary.

NEIGHBORS OF CONVICTED FARMERS ASK LENIENCY

A petition for leniency in the case of J. E. Bedgood, Nisour township farmer, who pleaded guilty to the theft of $106 worth of grain from Fox brothers, residing in the same township, has been presented to County Magistrate C. W. Hawkshaw, before whom the case was tried last week. Bedgood and his hired man, Edgar Kennedy, who both pleaded guilty to the charge of theft, will appear on Friday for sentence.

The petition, signed by 54 farmers of the township and headed by R. F. Matthews, J.P., is as follows: "Thorndale, Oct. 25.

"Owing to the previous good behaviour and record of J. E. Bedgood who is to appear before your court for sentence, and the undersigned neighbors and residents of West Nisour humbly petition that you exercise the greatest possible leniency inasmuch as the accused has made full restitution to Messrs. Fox brothers, the injured parties."

Thomas Clare, found guilty of manslaughter at the fall assizes two weeks ago, and allowed out on suspended sentence by Mr. Justice Kilduff, presiding judge, is named defendant in a supreme court writ issued today by McEwen & Henderson on behalf of Ernest Alexander Brown, who is suing Clare for unpaid damages.

Brown was a passenger on the motorcycle run down by Clare last June 4, in turning from Waterloo to Hill street. Charles Lane, the driver of the motorcycle, was fatally injured in the accident, which happened at 8 o'clock in the evening.

WOMEN and THE HOME

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

When Sweethearts of Eighteen Are Separated, Does Their Love Change?—When a Wife Discovers Her Husband Unfaithful, Should She Break Up Their Home? How to Treat Man Who Threatens Suicide.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a girl of eighteen years old and am engaged to a boy who is the same age. I am about to start away from the place in which I live to train for a nurse. My sweetheart has promised that he will not go with any other girl while I am gone. Do you think our being separated will cause him to forget me more than if I were to stay near him? Does love wear off when a boy is so young? What age would you advise us to get married? If he stays true until I finish my nursing course, would it indicate that he would make a good, reliable husband, whom I could always depend on loving and caring for me?

IN DOUBT.

Answer:

My dear girl, if you are going away to take a course in nursing, why don't you wait until you get through before you decide the all-important question of a husband? Surely, at eighteen, there is no great hurry in making a final decision.

You are worrying whether this boy will be true to you, and whether he will want you when you come back. How about yourself? You are going away for several years to live in a city among strangers, to acquire city ways, and city points of view, and get city clothes. You will study and improve your mind. You will be thrown with many highly accomplished and educated men of the world. You will meet many fascinating doctors and internes.

By the time you have finished your training course you will be an entirely different girl from the one you are now, and there are a hundred chances to one that you will have outgrown your boy sweetheart and won't want him at any price. So why don't you be a sensible girl and act fairly toward him and yourself and call your engagement off? Then when you come back, if you still love each other, you can renew it.

As to your questions, I think you are asking a good deal of an eighteen-year-old boy to live the life of a hermit while you are gone, and he would be more than human if he did. He will want to go around and have a good time with other young people of his own age.

Certainly, absence is very apt to weaken love, especially in the young, and your sweetheart would be much more liable to be faithful if you were on the ground to look after your fences.

As to what age you should marry, that depends on many things besides the calendar. It largely depends on the young man making enough money to support a family in comfort. No man has a right to marry until he can do that, no matter what age he has attained. And it is always a mistake for very young people to marry because they almost always change and passionately regret marrying the one they did.

Certainly I think that if a boy of eighteen stayed faithful for three or four years while you are away he would almost surely make a devoted husband.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I have been married nine years, and have two darling little children. My husband has always been good to me, but I have just found out that he has been leading the double life ever since we have been married. He confessed to me when one of his women friends was going to squeal on him. He had no cause to treat me, as I have done everything in the world to please him and he admits that I have been a model wife.

I guess I can go on living with him, but I can never love him as I did before. What shall I do?

A HEART-BROKEN WIFE.

Answer:

No one can decide such a vital question as that for you, poor, betrayed, heart-broken wife, but there are many sides to the situation that you should consider.

The first, of course, is your children. Have you an independent fortune of your own, enough money to support them and educate them as their father will do if you stay with him? Or have you some trade or profession by which you can earn a good livelihood for yourself and them?

If not, make the best of your bad bargain for your children's sake, and keep your home together.

Put no faith in trying to make your husband support you and the children if you are divorced from him. Alimony is virtually uncollectible unless a man has real estate. And, anyway, by hook or crook, a man gets out paying it by spending so much money on his vices that he has none left for his children.

Also, as long as you keep your home together you have a living, a settled place in society, and you are that much better off than you would be if you were thrown out on your own resources and had to earn your bread and butter in an office or behind a counter.

Of course, you can never love and trust your husband again as you have done. Possibly he is one of the men who do not have it in them to be faithful to one woman. But even so, can you not put love out of your life and be friends with him, and put matrimony on a business basis, and so find yourself better off than you would be if you were divorced?

I am strongly of the opinion that, as long as a man is kind to his wife and pleasant to live with, she is wise not to break up her home because he is unfaithful to her. It even seems to me that there are worse faults that a husband can have than philandering, which is, after all, a matter of the flesh. He can be spiritually untrue to her. He can be cruel and torment her very soul out of her, and these are the unforgivable sins.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am twenty-three years old and have been keeping steady company with a young man I love very much, but at the least disagreement we have he threatens to take his life if I don't give in. This worries me very much. What would you advise?

MABEL.

Answer:

He is a coward, Mabel. Call his bluff. I knew a woman who had that sort of a husband. For years he tyrannized over her by keeping her terrorized. Finally, when he threatened for the millionth time to commit suicide, she said to him: "Go to it. You will find your razor in the top bureau drawer. A loaded revolver is on the chiffonier, and the rough on rats is on the kitchen shelf. Help yourself!" And that was all of that.

Farmer Brown's Boy Takes Blame When Bobby Coon's Paw Is Caught

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

As soon as Farmer Brown's boy saw the little tin can fast to one of Bobby Coon's forepaws he understood exactly what had happened. He knew all about Bobby Coon's fondness for bright, shiny things. He guessed right away that Bobby had found that little can and had thrust his paw into it to see if there was anything in there. Then somehow the paw had been caught in it, and Bobby had been unable to get rid of that can.

Farmer Brown's boy talked gently and soothingly to Bobby Coon. He told him how sorry he was. "It was all my fault," said Farmer Brown's boy. "I dropped that can in the Laughing Brook. I had it to carry worms in when I was fishing. When I was through fishing I dropped that can in the water. I didn't dream that it could possibly hurt anyone. So I am to blame, Bobby, for all the fright and pain you have suffered. And the least I can do is to get you out of this trouble I got you into. My, I certainly am glad Bowser and I came this way this morning."

As he talked in a low, soothing voice he kept slowly drawing nearer and nearer to Bobby Coon. He made no movements. Finally he knelt down and Bobby, and there he remained for a long time without trying to move. All the time he kept talking gently. He watched and saw the savage, frightened look less and less. He knew that Bobby was beginning to understand that he had nothing to fear.

He slowly put out a hand toward Bobby Coon.

He didn't touch Bobby, but just talked to him. As he talked he was studying to find some way of setting Bobby free from that awful little can. "That leg is pretty badly swollen," said he. "I'm afraid it is useless to try to pull that can off. I guess we will have to cut it off. I mean the can, Bobby, not your leg. I haven't a thing here to do it with, so I guess I will have to take you up to the house. I wish I knew just what you are thinking. I don't want to feel those sharp teeth of yours. If I knew that you knew just what I want to do, I wouldn't hesi-

THE SEA HAWK

By RAFAEL SABATINI.

Sakr-el-Bahr, standing on the poop-deck, shouted his orders to the steersmen in their niches on either side of the stern, and skillfully the vessel was steered through that narrow passage into the calm lagoon whose depths were crystal clear. Here before coming to rest, Sakr-el-Bahr followed the invariable corsair practice of going about, so as to be ready to leave his moorings and make for the open again at a moment's notice. She came at last alongside the rocky buttresses of a gentle slope that was utterly deserted by all save a few wild goats browsing near the summit. There were clumps of broom thick with golden flowers about the base of the hill. Higher, a few gnarled and aged olive trees reared their gray heads, from which the rays of the western sun struck a glint as of silver. Larouque and a couple of sailors went over the bulwarks on the larboard quarter, dropped lightly to the horizontal shafts of the oars, which were rigidly poised, and walking out upon them gained the rocks and proceeded to make fast the vessel by ropes fore and aft.

Sakr-el-Bahr's next task was to set a watch, and he appointed Larouque, sending him to take his station on the summit of the head whence a wide range of view was to be commanded.

Pacing the poop with Marzak the Basha grew reminiscent of former days when roving the seas as a simple corsair he had used this cove both for purposes of ampler repose and of concealment. There were, he said, few harbors in all the Mediterranean so admirably suited to the corsairs' purpose as this; it was a haven of refuge in case of peril, and an unrivaled lurking-place in which to lie in wait for the prey. He remembered once having lain there with his formidable Dragut-Reis, a fleet of six galleys, their presence entirely unsuspected by the Genoese admirals. Doria had passed majestically along with three caravels and seven galleys.

Sakr, pacing beside his father, listened but half-heartedly to these reminiscences. His mind was all upon Sakr-el-Bahr, and his suspicions of that palmetto barked were quickened by the moan in which for the last two hours he had seen the corsair hovering thoughtfully in his neighborhood.

"Unlooked for," he suddenly upon his father's memories with an expression of what was in his mind. "The thanks to Allah," he said, "that thou who commands this expedition, else might this cove's advantages have been neglected."

"Not so," said Asad. "Sakr-el-Bahr knows them as well as I do. He has used this vantage-point before. Yet I blame not thee, but thy Sicilian mother, who has fostered this hostility in thee. Did she not hoodwink me into making this unnecessary voyage?"

"I see thou hast forgot last night and the Frankish slave-girl," said his son.

"Nay, then thou seest wrong. I have not forgot it. But neither have I forgot that since Allah hath exalted me to be Basha of Algiers, He looks to me to deal in justice. Come, Marzak, set an end to all this. Perhaps tomorrow thou shalt see him in battle, and make thy peace with him, and let me see better relations betwixt you hereafter."

And raising his voice he called Sakr-el-Bahr, who immediately turned and came up the gangway. Marzak stood by in a sulky mood, with no notion of doing his father's will by holding out an olive branch to the man who was like to cheat him of his blightright ere all was done. Yet it was he who greeted Sakr-el-Bahr when the corsair set foot upon the poop.

"Does the thought of the coming fight perturb thee, dog of war?" he asked. "Am I perturbed, pup of peace?" was the crisp answer.

"It seems so, Thine aloofness, thine abstractions. 'Are signs of perturbation, dost suppose?'"

"Of what else?" Sakr-el-Bahr laughed.

"Thou'lt tell me next that I am afraid. Yet I should counsel thee to wait until thou hast smelt blood and order, and learned precisely what fear is."

"—slight altercation drew the attitude to pick you up. But I am afraid you don't understand."

He slowly put out a hand toward Bobby Coon. Bobby growled and the look fear leaped up in his eyes again. Farmer Brown's boy shook his head sorrowfully. "I thought it would be this way," said he. "I don't blame you a bit. You can't understand what has happened to you, and of course you can't understand what I want to do for you. I guess there is nothing for it but for me to wrap you up in my coat so that you can't bite, and then take you up to the house."

So Farmer Brown's boy gently threw his coat over Bobby Coon's head and then wrapped him up in such a way that Bobby couldn't bite or struggle. All the time he did his best not to hurt that injured leg. Then he picked Bobby up, and with Bowser the Hound at his heels started for home. Peter Rabbit, watching wide-eyed from the end of a hollow log, saw the boy Peter's curiosity was satisfied. He knew now who it was who had growled at him under the pile of brush. He knew that Bobby Coon was in trouble, but what the trouble was Peter didn't know. And so Peter was glad as he saw Farmer Brown's boy taking Bobby Coon away, for Peter knew that Bobby was in the hands of a friend.

tion of Asad's officers who were idling there. Biskaine and some three others lounged forward to stand behind the Basha, looking on in some amusement, which was shared by him.

"Indeed, indeed," said Asad, laying a hand upon Marzak's shoulder, "his counsel is sound enough. Wait, boy, until thou hast gone aboard the infidel, ere thou judge him easily perturbed."

Petulant Marzak shook off that gnarled old hand.

"Dost thou, O my father, join with him in taunting me upon my lack of knowledge. My youth is a sufficient answer. But at least," he added, prompted by a wicked notion suddenly conceived, "at least you can not taunt me with lack of address with weapons."

"Give him room," said Sakr-el-Bahr, with a cynical good-humor, "and he will show us prodigies."

Marzak looked at him with narrowing, gleaming eyes.

"Give me a crossbow," he roared, "and I'll show thee how to shoot," was his amazing boast.

"Thou'lt show him!" roared Asad. "Thou'lt show him!" And his laugh rang loud and hearty.

"To smear the sun's face with clay, boy."

"Reserve thy judgment, O my father," begged Marzak, with frosty dignity.

"Dost thou not see? Why, Sakr-el-Bahr's quarrel will check a swallow in its flight."

"That is his boast, belike," replied Marzak, with a sneer.

"And what may thine be?" quoth Sakr-el-Bahr. "To hit the island of Formentor at this distance?"

"Dost dare to sneer at me?" cried Marzak, ruffling.

"What darest thou that ask?" wondered Sakr-el-Bahr.

"By Allah! thou shalt learn."

"In all humility I await the lesson."

"And thou shalt have it," was the answer viciously delivered.

Marzak strode to the rail.

"Ho there! Vigileto! A crossbow for me, and another for Sakr-el-Bahr."

Vigileto sprang to obey him, whilst Asad shook his head and laughed again.

"An I were not against the prophet's law, to make a wager—"

he was beginning when Marzak interrupted him.

"Already should I have promised one."

"So that," said Sakr-el-Bahr, "thy purse would come to match thine head for emptiness."

Marzak looked at him and sneered. Then he snatched from Vigileto's hands one of the crossbows that he bore and set a shaft to it.

"I am myself who shall find it, whether his own imagination had led him to suppose it."

"Aye, thou'lt choose invisible marks, and wherever the arrow enters thou'lt say 'twas there! An old trick, O Marzak. Go cozen women with it."

"Then," said Marzak, "we will take instead the slender cord that binds the bullet." And he levelled his bow.

But Sakr-el-Bahr's hand closed

Nerves Gave Little Rest

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Harrowsmith, Ont.—"I took your medicine before my baby was born and it was a great help to me as I was very poorly until I started to take it. I just felt as though I was tired out all the time and would take weak fainting spells. My nerves would bother me until I could get little rest, day or night. I was told by a friend to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I only took a few bottles and it helped me wonderfully. I would recommend it to any woman. I am doing what I can to publish this good medicine. I lend that little book you sent me to any one I can help. You can with the greatest of pleasure use my name in regard to the Vegetable Compound if it will serve to help others."—MRS. HARVEY MILLIGAN, R. R. No. 2, Harrowsmith, Ontario.

In a recent canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over 100,000 replies were received and 98 out of every 100 said they had been helped by its use. This medicine is for sale by all druggists.

upon his arm in an easy yet paralyzing grip.

"Wait," he said. Thou'lt choose another mark for several reasons. For one I'll not have thy shaft blundering through my carmen and haply killing one of them. Most of them are slaves specially chosen for their brawn, and I cannot spare any. Another reason is that the mark is a foolish one. The distance is not more than ten paces. A childish test, which, maybe, is the reason thou hast chosen it."

Marzak lowered his bow, and Sakr-el-Bahr released his arm. They looked at each other, the corsair supreme master of himself and smiling easily, no faintest trace of the terror that was in his soul showing upon his swarthy, bearded countenance or in his hard pale eyes.

NEW YORK WANTS BIG MONEY BOUTS

Mickey Walker's "Bring 'Em On" Attitude Is Increasing Popularity.

By FAIR PLAY. (Copyright, 1924.)

New York, Oct. 25.—Mike McGuire's efforts to hang onto the world's light-heavyweight championship, for which he is entirely too light, have cost him the right to box in New York state for a year. The state boxing commission ruled him out Friday for his failure to accept a challenge from Gene Tunney, the American champion of the class. McGuire, apparently realizing that he hadn't a chance of holding the title against so big and powerful a man as Tunney, has been sidestepping Gene for a long time. It won't be necessary to do any more sidestepping in these parts for the next two months, for Mike can't box any more.

Following Mickey Walker's battle against Jack Malone in Newark on Monday night, he will agree to tackle Dave Shadle for the welter title.

This is a sure attraction for the fall. Most people think it will be a Jersey, but the odds are that New York will be the scene of the encounter.

New York promoters are starving for some big money bouts, and so are the politicians, for one reason or another. It is up to the boxing commission to get to get busy for what use is a commission if there is nothing to commission.

This talk you hear about the great white way of Walker having nothing against the boxing commission, maintaining a smiling silence when Walker is mentioned, is pretty good evidence that underdog wires are being pulled.

Gaining Popularity. The first result of this pulling is Walker's announcement that he certainly will give Shadle a chance at the title, that Shadle deserves it, and that he will sign up as soon as the Malone battle is out of the way.

Walker has a great chance to steal a lot of Benny Leonard's. Walker is willing to fight anyone, and he has the additional incentive of needing the money. He told the writer the other day he would go after them all, from middleweights to the boys who scale just under 170 pounds.

By keeping his hand in this respect, Walker could make the country ring with his praise and be a reigning attraction everywhere.

SPORT SNAPSHOTS

Toronto Star:

Many and varied are the rumors in regard to who will manage St. Pats this season, but it is now known that Eddie Powers, well-known lacrosse and hockey coach, will be found handling the duties of the club, who has run the team on several occasions when they were in the city. He is a man without him, has definitely declared that he is through. Querie, who maps a picture of a man, cannot spare the time to travel to Boston.

Eddie Powers was seen in Pittsburgh the other day, and according to Charlie Schooley he was after Conacher for St. Pats. Powers admitted in the smoky city that he was connected with St. Pats, and so no one need be surprised when he is announced as manager of the club. But Powers, who is a man of the club, has refused to say whether Powers is the man, but this is no wild guess.

Querie states positively that "Babe" Dye will not go to the coast. Dye will be with St. Pats, and he is a man of the club. The annual meeting of the National hockey league will be held in Montreal next Saturday. The season will likely open about Dec. 1 with a schedule calling for 20 home games for each club.

Senor Fuentes, a Mexican heavyweight, won himself a decision over Floyd Johnson, who was shown up by Mr. Jess Willard as a subject for demonstration when he wanted to prove to the world that he was a man, and not too old to fight. Any Mexican caballero who can whip Floyd Johnson must be a man of the club, and he is a man of the club.

The ascension of Senor Fuentes means much to Mexico. If this invader from the south of the Rio Grande eventually takes our Mr. Jack Dempsey it will be hard to explain why Mexico should not be given complete recognition. The heavyweight championship is worth enough to lift the Mexican national debt, and the possession of the heavyweight championship title is one of the proudest jewels that could be set in any national diadem. Mexico seems on the verge of emerging from the darkness at last.

YOUNG WOODSTOCK FIGHTER MAKING GOOD IN GOTHAM

Special to The Advertiser.

Woodstock, Oct. 27.—Reports from New York tell how Jimmie Burns a Woodstock boy is making his way in the city. He scored a victory in his first battle against the veteran Joe Jacobs.

Since going to Gotham, Burns has signed up with the K. of C. centres. While in this city Jimmie showed ability in handling the gloves, and an attempt was made to match him against some young batters from Toronto, but the fight never developed.

DUDLEY HARPER DIES AT ST. CATHARINES

Harper, rector of St. Barnabas church, and a rugby hockey and basketball enthusiast of high repute, died this morning after being in poor health for a year. Win Tomorrow May Mean Group Title For Western Arrangements Being Made For Special Train To Toronto.

BILL JOHNS BACK

Last night it had been practically decided by the faculty and student body of Western university to charter a special train for Wednesday's game in Toronto against St. Michael's, the outcome of which will practically decide the group title in either St. Mike's or Western's favor.

The special would leave here about 8 o'clock in the morning, and would be only one way.

It will be the first time in the history of Western university that the rugby fever has reached a height where special trains have come into the picture. Usually Western teams have had to make their stands on foreign legs alone and unsung.

With their fellow students behind them, Western's chances are still more improved, and it will be unfortunate if something crops up that makes it impossible to carry out the special train stunt. That, however, seems unlikely.

Bill Johns Back.

Last night the squad was out to a man and went through a stiff drill. Bill Johns, captain and quarterback of last year's team, was out last night for the first time this season. His studies have accounted for his absence to date, but he has decided to get into harness, and he'll likely be a handy man in several positions. It's probable, though, that he'll be used in the line. He's studier than ever and totes around nearly 150 pounds of fairly solid avoidoids.

Last night there were two teams out and Coach Fickley had them scrimmaging contently, and in earnest. What the local coach will concentrate on against St. Mike's is a method of breaking through and pulling the Irishmen's end runs to a stop. There is a little fear of St. Mike's developing a passing game, but the team is confident of passing plays most of the season.

Equal in Kicking. Western's booting will stand up against anything St. Mike's has, and there is no question of the superiority on the line. St. Mike's made no trouble against the Irishmen after the first surprise was given when they jockeyed out of their offense than did their plays pulled down to earth.

Fortunately the Western squad is in great shape. They have no casualties to speak of, and every man is fit and in wonderful condition. There was a head-rubbing the night before last. St. Mike's wanted the game played Thursday, but because they could find no field, but Western felt that this would be giving Varsity an unfair advantage here on Saturday. It is not expected that there will be any mix-up over the dates.

On the Side Lines

With C. S. G.

WESTERN'S EDGES.

Western has to win the crucial game against St. Mike's on their own grounds, but there is much encouragement in the dope to date. Unfortunately, the dope goes very far astray in rugby as in other games. There is some early season dope that complicates matters but the fact that it happened so early in the season discounts a good deal of it. St. Mike's defeated Varsity twice, while Varsity defeated Western to open the campaign. Since that time though, Western has beaten Aggies twice by much greater scores than either St. Mike's or Varsity were able to pile up against the Farmers. And the big outstanding fact is that Western has beaten St. Mike's for the Irishmen's only loss of the season. They really beat them 7-0, as St. Mike's try which made the score look close, was rather freakish. It came, too, at a moment when Western had rather let down. There will be no let downs at any stage of the melee Wednesday.

Western's success so far this year is all the more inspiring because it came so unexpectedly. Western had made no attempt to attract players and two days after the drills had been ordered started, the Purple and White were still without Pickley, who if Western wins Wednesday, will be dubbed the Moose that took the local varsity out of the football bondage imposed for so many years by Varsity, St. Mike's and Guelph O.A.C.

PROTESTS.

The local team does not think much of Sarnia's protest, especially the spirit that prompts it. The play happened at the end of the first quarter, yet local officials claim Sarnia's intention to protest was not made known until half-time. Local officials claim that London had as good grounds for several protests as those on which the Tunnellers' protest is based. They claim that the safety touch scored when Balfour was dead five yards out, the line should not have been allowed. The ball was dead five yards out. There were three infractions of the rule governing coaching from the sidelines by Sarnians, yet the Londoners raised no howls.

CARRYING THE BANNER.

"Wossa" rugby has carried the banner of Canadian rugby right into Windsor this year which threatened soon to become a stronghold for the U. S. brand and the Canuck code has caught on. Assumption has always played an American schedule and the Collegiates soon followed suit.

This year, five or six Canadian games have been played and according to reports the players like the Canadian version the best.

Saturday in Toronto, a "rugger game" failed to win many converts, though some splendid features were conceded.

It seems as if a judicious selection of some of the best features of each game might produce something which would meet all critics, but so far there seems to be little unanimity on the best features.

WALTER KNOX LEAVES.

Walter R. Knox, the greatest piece of all-round stuff for his inches and poundage Canada ever turned out, left Saturday for California, and will probably locate there. Knox, who comes from Orillia, weighed only 145-150 pounds when he was in his prime, yet he was met all over the world in all-round track and field champion, and at big pro meets all over the world he could turn a hundred in 10 flat, broad jump, hurdle and pole vault well enough to hold his own in good company, and walked a fair mile. With the weights he asked favor from no man he met in pro competition. He could box and wrestle, too. Knox was coach of the Canadian Olympic team in 1920, and did some excellent work coaching schoolboy athletes for the Ontario athletic commission.

RYAN DEFEATED BY MAYBERRY

Harry Henning Chalks Up
Victory in Making Professional Debut.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Oct. 27.—"Home boys' night," an international production, was staged at the Coliseum tonight before a fair-sized crowd, and was one of the most pleasing fistic bills of the season. The program called for five acts, the first four of six scenes, with the finale being of ten, but two of the principals in the first and second acts forgot their lines, and these were abbreviated, but it turned out that they did not mar the show.

Four of the bouts fought Toronto boys opposed to outsiders, and the four locals won, while in the main bout Howard Mayberry of Hamilton, who took the Canadian bantamweight title from Bobby Eber, faced his most severe test in Tommy Ryan of McKeesport, Pa., one of the contenders for the U. S. title. Despite the fact that the American was a three-pound advantage in weight, Mayberry pulled down the judges' decision. His was a clean-cut victory, although the margin was not any too great.

Two ex-Canadian amateur champions, Doug Lewis, the welterweight, and Harry Henning, the middleweight, made their professional debuts, and both started off in the right manner. Lewis was too heavy and too good for Abe Prince of Rochester, and after having things pretty well his own way in the first round, had Prince in trouble in the second, and the bout was stopped. Phil Rivers, another ex-amateur, met Ted Sawtell of Winnipeg, and won by a technical knockout in the fourth round. Sawtell was holding his own fairly well until just before the end of the third round, when Rivers clipped him on the chin and sent him down. The bell intervened, but Rivers floored him twice in the fourth before the bout was stopped.

Henning Gets Decision.
Jackie Johnston had slightly over five pounds on Jimmy Downey of Syracuse, but found the American a game lad, and while Johnston was on top all the way, he had to go the six rounds to get the decision. Harry Henning showed very little defensive ability against Jimmy Paske of Buffalo, with the exception of a strong offensive, but this proved sufficient to get the verdict.

The Mayberry-Ryan engagement was one of the best battles staged in Toronto in a long time, and had the fans on their toes all the way. Ryan is a clever, shifty, hard-hitting boy, with lots of speed in his hands and feet, and in the early rounds he had the Canadian champion somewhat baffled by his shiftness. Ryan was the better of the two at lightning, and when at his best, Ryan worked on Mayberry's ribs like a triphammer.

Dashing Fighter.
The Canadian titleholder was even better than against Bobby Eber, as he was up against a more dashing style of fighter. He took the Hamilton lad almost six rounds to solve Ryan's style, but from then on he improved his position.

In the sixth Mayberry switched his attack slightly, playing to the body occasionally. Mayberry continued the same tactics in the next three rounds, and while he had a slight margin in each of them, none of them was as great as that of the sixth. He had his left working better, seldom missing the target, and he drove Ryan to the ropes several times. The tenth and last round was almost a repetition of the previous four, although Ryan was more aggressive and Mayberry appeared to be content to hold his head.

CITY FOREIGN COLONIES EVADE INCOME TAX

Collecting Assessments Proves
Arduous Task For London
Officials.

Collecting business and income tax from London's foreign element is one of the hardest tasks of the assessment department, according to assessment Commissioner H. J. Bennett. Going into a Chinese laundry, for instance, the assessor will be greeted by a Chinaman, who will say he is in charge and he will offer to pay income tax for the year.

"But usually it's a good bet to say that there are eleven other Chinamen living at the same place," says Mr. Bennett. "We once were able to use a Chinaman who knew the London colony well. That year we received a lot of taxes from the Chinese, but we cannot afford to keep linguists, so we are bound to miss some."

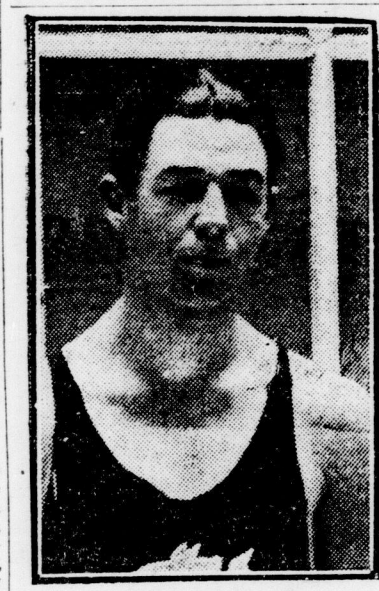

Italian and Hungarian clerks were employed at the assessment office temporarily a year or two ago. One could speak five languages. Their services were found very useful, and many new taxpayers were uncovered. But the department could hold such experts only for a short time.

"Canadian Game Good Enough." Is Opinion
at Varsity.

CONSTANT MILLING

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Oct. 27.—The fact that Varsity and McGill had the intercollegiate honors at stake in English rugby at Varsity stadium on Saturday afternoon did not attract the crowd of 6,000 fans. And because Varsity won 9 to 0, and because they had won at Montreal the week previously, and therefore became champions, did not cause any "churrah" among the student fans. They turned out to see Varsity and McGill play their O.R.C. fixture under the Canadian style. But many, nevertheless, came early to look at this English rugby, which some critics are endeavoring and praising so highly and claim should supplant the Canadian code.

Few Changed Opinion.
Perhaps some devotees of the Canadian style were enamored by the "rugger" style. If so they were very few. But certainly the vast majority said themselves or to their neighbor, "the Canadian code is good enough for us." There are certain features of the "rugger" game that might aid the Canadian, but there are certainly features of the Canadian code that only improve the English style. It was said the "ruggerists" would show how field goals could be kicked, or tries—did not convert a single one. And converts in "rugger" count two points, and a field goal counts four. There are no ruggers on single points.

Possession Non-important.
There are no downs and no yards to gain. Possession of the ball in U. S. football is the great factor. In Canadian football it is important, of course, but much kicking is indulged in. Under the "rugger" possession is much "scrum" (the teams have an equal chance of possession). Certainly the "rugger" style is passing in the "rugger" style, but this is because as said before, possession of the ball is important. Kicking into touch is a great feature of ground gaining, and each team has an equal chance. Kicking was plentiful but did not out-count the "rugger" style. The kicking was of the high kind and kickers were invariably changed into after the kick. The "rugger" style is a "rugger" style of players good sportsmanship was displayed.

A Bomb In British Politics.

Not in years has a letter so stirred a nation as that of M. Zinovieff, of the Russian communists, urging the workers of Britain to revolt for the purpose of overthrowing British institutions. The question as to the bona fides of the letter is doubted in some circles, but Premier MacDonald, in his speech at Cardiff yesterday, was inclined to the view that the letter was genuine, and that it represented the attitude of the Russian communists. The Moscow government is indignant to the point of being hostile, in denying that the government had anything to do with attempting to carry on propaganda of a revolutionary nature in Britain.

The letter comes as welcome political capital, especially to the Conservatives, who have been outspoken in their opposition to dealings or agreements of any nature with the present government of Russia. They can be depended on to make the most out of the epistle in an attempt to discredit the Labor government which has been carrying on negotiations for a trade agreement with the Russian government.

If the letter is not genuine, and has been thrown into the election for political purposes, it shows the length to which some of the political manipulators are prepared to go to bring about the downfall of the Labor government. If the letter is genuine, Premier MacDonald has faced it squarely in a statement that Britain will tolerate no interference from outside countries in spreading propaganda for the purpose of undermining British institutions. The vote on Wednesday will show to what extent the Zinovieff letter has damaged the Labor members in the eyes of their constituents.

If it turns out to be a genuine document issued by the communists of Russia, it is a matter for Britain to take up with that nation. If later developments show the letter to have been a fake, then Britain should deal quickly with the fakirs.

Interpreting the Verdict.

Owing to the manner in which the news was first sent from Toronto, the impression was created that both Hon. Peter Smith and Aemilius Jarvis were to pay a $600,000 fine, whereas it is a joint fine of that amount, and can be paid by mutual arrangement between the two parties.

In this light, instead of the sentence being a confused one, it appears to be one in which justice is handed out in a very subtle way, if such a term can properly be used. The greater prison term is handed to the man who committed a wrong against the public when he was a servant of the people, and the greater amount of the fine can be paid by the man who made most out of it.

The conditions of the sentence, whereby neither Mr. Jarvis, with his six months' term, nor Mr. Smith, with his three years, can be liberated until the total fine is paid, opens the way to some speculation as to how the contribution of each to the total shall be apportioned. On the surface it appears that the weight of financial argument rests with the one with the longer term to serve. Mr. Jarvis' freedom at the end of six months is conditional upon the total fine being paid, and leaves those acting for Mr. Smith, with two and a half years yet to go, in a rather favorable position to name terms.

The Incident At Kingsville.

A fiery cross burned on the streets of Kingsville at a late hour Saturday night. The structure was surmounted by a letter "K," supposed to be emblematic of the K. K. K. It is not possible to state what was behind the demonstration, as those responsible for it did not have the hardihood to stay and explain their actions.

Local comment is to the effect that it was a warning to bootleggers, as a similar sign was given at Royal Oak, Mich., a few weeks ago, followed by a war on the illicit sellers of liquor. That explanation is not sufficient, for the very apparent reason that in this country we have a force for law and order, and it is centered in the state, and not in any irresponsible organization which seeks notoriety through an attempt to supplant the state in this function of law enforcement.

There is no place in Ontario, or in the dominion, for the Ku Klux Klan, and that point ought to be driven home at every indication of its appearance, official or otherwise.

Staying Out of Politics.

An exchange says that many papers years ago became disgusted with political matters, and for that reason are inclined to leave them severely alone.

At best that form of reasoning is lame. If followed to its logical conclusion it would mean that where a defect becomes apparent in an organization or a community, a newspaper must draw off to one side for fear of becoming tainted. Politics, after all, is the science of government. It may take on peculiar forms at times, and strange things may be done in its name, but back of all this is the fact that through this activity the people are being elected who go to the parliaments of the country where our laws are enacted, and the spending of enormous sums of money ratified.

And the disinterested party who holds aloof because methods are not to his liking can depend upon it that others are ready to become mixed up in the process, and the more he stays out the greater the opportunity for the man who has an axe to grind.

16,000 Killed In One Year.

The automobile was never intended to be an instrument of death. It was conceived as a vehicle for pleasure and business, but it is performing a dual role. The Chicago Tribune presents the case as follows:

"Five died Thursday under the wheels of motor cars in Cook county. Two died Wednesday. Two died on Tuesday. Three died Monday. Five died Sunday. The procession marches on without halt. The white gravestones camp on armies on the hillsides. In Cook county 540 have been killed by motor cars bearing a 1924 license. In the United States more than 16,000 lost their lives in 1923 under automobile wheels. "We face an emergency. Cities are not safe and country highways are a risk to life. Barbarous North Africa is safer. Race riots that killed five a day would justify a call to arms. Wars that killed 16,000 a year would be an international concern. A murder now and then or rapes and lynchings arouse terror and anxiety. One kidnapping alarms parents and guns are carried. But the motor car each day kills a child, an old woman, a young businessman, a college girl, with mechanical regularity."

We have not the Chicago situation here—may never have—but we have an increasing amount of traffic, and each new car adds to the possibilities of the accident list.

Drivers in Chicago and Cook county will probably claim they are careful drivers, but the record of 540 dead people and two months yet to go still stands, and no claim of careful driving can wipe it out. Chicago has all manner of regulation—through streets, stop streets, and squads of traffic officers—but the casualty list is emphatic enough to say they have not succeeded.

Cities here must not only study the problem, but they must place more power in the hands of their traffic commissions. What the drivers of cars like or do not like cannot be the deciding factor.

Through College At 15.

The educational prodigy of Columbus university is a boy of 15, a son of one of the professors. He has just graduated from the university, and has mastered a dozen languages, dead and alive.

Perhaps he doesn't need sympathy, but all the same one can't help feeling sorry for this youngster.

He knows a great deal, but he has missed a great deal. It looks as though his young head had been crammed to the roof like a well-filled silo in Middlesex. Can't help wondering if he ever stole green apples and had the colic, if he ever played "chaw raw-beef" at the village swimming hole, or ever had a share in a robber's cave dug in the side of a hill.

He may be a regular walking encyclopedia, but all the same he's missed some happy hours that somehow should be wedged into the life of every normal youngster.

A correspondent suggests that the system of municipal elections is a costly piece of business, and that money could be saved by a contest every two years. The 1923 election cost $2,500, less than five cents per capita. If we get the right class of men as the result it is a good investment.

James Bell, Esq.

In lookin' over estimates for payin' all the city's bills, and countin' up the coin what flows from out the tax collector's tills, I often wondered how it was they balanced up the thing so well, until I watched the workin' in the shop of Jimmie Bell.

It must be great to sit in there, where all the money's stacked about, and holler to this one "Come in!" and to the next one "Hey, get out!" Some job like that I'd like to have, if I sat on the money chest, I'd have a mallet in my hand, brass buttons sewed upon my vest.

And when the mayor come shinin' in with some new scheme just newly born, I'd jump from off that box at once and trample on his worship's corn, and say "Hey, mayor, get out of here, this scheme of yours it can't be did." I'd show the buttons on my vest and once more squat upon the lid.

When aldermen come pryin' in to talk of buildin' road and walk, so at election time they'd go and have somewhat on which to talk, I'd say unto them "Get from here, I ain't now makin' votin' hash, you have no chance around this place to start a raid upon the cash."

How come, James Bell, that you can go and sell your bonds when money's low, you seem to know just when to stop and when to start again and go.

Do you keep squintin' all the time to see just how the markets lay, decidin' next week's goin' to get a better price than yesterday? The men what buy the bonds they think they're hard to drive a bargain with, and that you dicker for a week to find the last red cent they'll give.

It must be great to have a job like what you hold at city hall, a-fururin' in the summer time just how much cash we'll have in fall. The place you've got your office in it is not a show spot in the town, in fact some folks have riz to say there's danger of it tumblin' down. But when we rear a civic pile we'll pen you in a coop that's swell, we'll paint gold letters on the door, "the private office of James Bell."—ARK.

THE MODERN MAID.

Harken to this simple saga on the maiden of today—

Unpretentious little anthem you may warble by the way.

Many things you've read of her
And far too much believed;
Many things are said of her
By which you are deceived.
I'll defend
Till the end,
Spits of an arling churl—
Planet rocking,
Spinster shocking,
Wholly-modern girls.

Let me ask you to consider ere you totally condemn;
Let me urge you use your brains, if you've a modicum of them.

Old-time dame and old-time maid
Were shocked and thought it rude
For one to call a spade a spade,
Or call a nude a nude.
Hence I sing:
"Take your fling—
Have your little whirl,
You're no bit
The hypocrite—
Honest, modern girl."

It is reported Mrs. Jay Gould has decided to collect antiques. She might begin on the Canadian Senate.

A couple of mid-Victorian senators would go well, in fact, with almost any collection that had a fossil department in it.

If young women were as particular about the kind of husbands they collect as they are about the kind of furniture they collect, there wouldn't be so many divorces.

An antique is anything that hasn't got a leg to stand on.

The man with the largest collection of old coins is a cobbler in Virginia. He was too busy collecting coins to collect coin.

All brides do not make good cooks, but they seem to have been born with a knowledge of the junk collecting business.

To be a real antique a table has to be more than just useless. It must be expensive.

It is said the older antiques are the more valuable they are. If you don't believe this, just buy your wife a new dress and see how loath she is to part with her old one.

Our waiter is an antique collector. He serves us one every morning with our bacon.

WAR VICTIMS.

Recently, at Wembley, the splendors of the Empire pageant were dimmed for many by the sight of a row of stretchers placed on the platform of honor in the stadium, supporting over thirty men broken in the Empire's war. They were incurable patients from St. David's home, Ealing, and had been asked to see the pageant by the generosity of Sir William Furse.

The cripples and wrecks of humanity that remain with us are pitiful reminders of the stupidity of mankind in settling its international quarrels by war. The war's front may be splendid enough with the beating of drums, the blare of trumpets and the march of troops. But after war, the spectacle of the maimed, the bruised and broken, leads to the conclusion that there is nothing more terrible than a defeat, except a victory.

It is difficult to see the good that has come out of the late war, with Germany bankrupt, France in a bad way, and England struggling with her high taxes and unemployment. If the people had been consulted, instead of the few leaders, there would have been no war.

It is the people who pay and the spectacle at Wembley was a striking illustration of the terms of their payment.

Death, disease and poverty are widespread and remain to afflict the generations which follow the warriors.

In time the common sense of the human race will devise some other method of settling their disputes.

Most people want to go on and lead their lives reasonably, and this ambition is interrupted by the ambition of the few rulers who are willing to sacrifice the multitude for their own advantage.

If we could always keep before us the picture of those who are broken and wounded by the wars there would never be another one.

EIGHT RUM BOATS AND CARGO SEIZED

Whiskey Row of Cape Cod and Ann Scattered by Prohibition Navy.

VALUED AT $100,000

Associated Press Despatch.
Boston, Oct. 27.—The rum rows off Cape Cod and Cape Ann were scattered today as a result of their first major engagement with the United States prohibition enforcement navy, and eight prizes were tied up at docks here and at Gloucester and New London, Conn., with more than a score of prisoners to show as the spoils of the victors. The coastguard cutter, Tampa, yesterday brought into Boston harbor the Newfoundland two-masted schooner Marjorie E. Bachman, rum laden, and five United States motorboats. Another motorboat was taken into Gloucester and one into New London.

The eight prizes with their crews and contraband liquor valued at $100,000, represented a week's operations of the Tampa, assisted by a squadron of fast rum chasers, off Block Island, Cape Cod and Cape Ann. The captured vessels were taken in a running battle Friday, in which the Tampa authorized her 8-inch guns and pursued a scattering rum fleet for more than an hour near Stellwagen Banks, 20 miles off the coast, at a point half way between Cape Cod and Ann. In the fleet of rum ships were more than a dozen vessels, according to coastguard officers, including several British and French craft. Some of the speedier vessels disregarded warning shots from the Tampa and on these the fast picket boats of the enforcement fleet opened fire with machine guns and rifles. Numerous chases proceeded in the haze of the early morning, the attack having been made at dawn Friday, and one of the rum runners, heading for shore, was made a special target by the coast guardsmen. Bullets from a machine gun shattered the windows in the pilot house of the craft but she escaped. None of the rum vessels returned the coastguard fire. Officers said that more of the rum fleet could have been captured had the coastguard been willing to fire directly at their quarry.

The Marjorie E. Bachman is a new vessel, registered from St. John's, Nfld. She carried $50 cases of liquor valued at $30,000. Captain Harry Ritchey and a crew of eight men were among the prisoners brought here.

POLICE PROBE DEATH FROM ILLEGAL LIQUOR

Three Men Engage in Drinking Bout—One Dies As Result.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Windsor, Oct. 27.—Reports that a foreigner, employed on a farm near Belle River, had met death from the effects of moonshine liquor last week, and later had been buried by two companions without proper notification to the authorities, were being made the subject of a thorough investigation by provincial police officers today.

Meagre information, placed at their disposal by a man whose name is being withheld, is to the effect that the foreigner, a farmhand, was buried in a rough grave by his two companions.

The police were told that his death followed a drinking bout in which all three men engaged. Two recovered and a third, so the report goes, succumbed to the poison which the liquor was said to contain.

C. OF C. COUNCIL

Special to The Advertiser.
Sarnia, Oct. 27.—James Murphy and Harold Moore were committed for trial on a charge of armed robbery of four aliens, Joseph Luptak, Harold Mutka, John Beres, and Nicholas Tomanga, all natives of Czechoslovakia. Murphy and Moore belonged to Ford City. The aliens told of being driven from Ford City to Sarnia on the understanding that they were to be smuggled across the river to Michigan. They were lodged in a cottage at Sarnia, and at 4 a.m. on Sept. 21, they said they were taken to the river, but instead of being rowed over, they were lined up on the bank and robbed. The defence offered no objection to the committal for trial.

NEW WORK NOW SEEN FOR CITY UNEMPLOYED

Western Fair Board Plans
Extensive Improvements to Grounds.

Work for London's unemployed is promised for a short time if recommendations for alterations at the Western Fair grounds are sanctioned by No. 1 committee tomorrow evening. At a gathering of members of the committee and of the buildings and grounds committee of the fair board yesterday afternoon an inspection was made of the work planned.

Early estimates are that some $4,000 worth of work will be undertaken immediately, though later enterprises may run the bill up to $10,000. This would be almost entirely expended in paying for the cost of new sheds and moving them to new locations.

Recommendation was made at yesterday's gathering that the cattle sheds all be segregated at the corner of the fair grounds facing York street. At present the sheds are scattered in different parts of the grounds.

JUDGMENT IS AGAIN HELD IN BOYD LIQUOR CASE

Judgment was reserved for another week by Magistrate Graydon in police court this morning when John Boyd appeared on a charge of having a large quantity of liquor in a place other than a private dwelling. Hundreds of bottles of synthetic whiskey and gin were found by police two weeks ago in a barn at the Western Fair grounds. Boyd, being custodian of the place, was committed but later allowed to go under bond of $500.

The case was heard in court one week ago.

Upon application of Boyd's counsel, judgment has been reserved until next Tuesday. Alfred Henderson of 1002 Dundas street again furnished Boyd's bond.

FAIR IMPROVEMENTS NEED BUT FINANCES LACKING

"There are lots of things the committee would like to do if it had the finances," said W. D. Jackson, secretary of the Western Fair, in referring to the trip through the fair buildings yesterday afternoon by the grounds and buildings committee.

"Some of the improvements will be discussed by a committee headed by President Saunders, who will meet the city council or No. 1 committee in the very near future, possibly tomorrow night."

The south branch of the public library was opened yesterday and the service that was discontinued some time ago through lack of quarters was renewed. During the afternoon Mayor Wenig and Ald. Although the residents of South London have been without a library service for some time the new building just opened assures them continuous library privileges.

annuities. The plan applies to "any Baptist minister, not over 65 years of age at the time of his entry into the scheme."

The presentation of the annual report of the western mission board was given at an address by Dr. C. C. McLaurin, who has served for 23 years with the mission in Alberta and has retired this year.

Dr. McLaurin outlined the progress of missionary work of the church in Western Canada in the last 50 years and pleaded for sympathy and money from the people of Ontario and Quebec toward the western fields.

"Every other denomination," he said, "is laying the foundation of its future and giving for the sake of the future. That is where the majority of the population of Canada is going to be in the years to come. The Presbyterians are doing a large missionary work out there. They have the vision of the future, and they are willing to spend and give for the sake of the future."

As tangible evidence of the progress of the Baptist church in 40 years, there are now 40 German churches in the west, 12 Swedish, 4 Hungarian, and 12 Russian and Ukrainian churches. In connection with the latter, Dr. McLaurin especially commended the Roman Catholic priests who have been willing to bear the hardships of frontier life with these strangers in order to bring them into the church.

In conclusion he stated that while in 1915 the eastern church has contributed $22,000 to western missions that in 1924 this had dwindled to $7,000. He wished to know, "that you could give us at least $24,000 for our work. We have so much that must be done this year. You have the money, but you are not giving it."

At the close of the session at the time appointed for the addresses by fraternal delegates, Rev. G. A. Leichter, formerly of the Adelaide street Baptist church, was recognized as the fraternal delegate from the state of New York to the convention. None of the fraternal delegates gave addresses. Dr. Van Ness of Nashville, Tenn., and Dr. Maine of Philadelphia having already done so at the former sessions. Mr. Leichter did not speak.

The following were elected to membership in the board of western missions: Rev. W. C. Smalley, Dr. B. B. Freeman, Dr. Charles Clark, and Rev. Holland Pettit. The last three will fill the full term of office and Mr. Smalley will fill in a term of one year as his successor leaving the convention.

Service was the theme of the day at yesterday's sessions of the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec. From the reports of the E. Y. P. U., the social service committee, and the board of religious education, to the words of inspiration read by Rev. Dr. J. J. Van Ness of Nashville, Tenn., the service of the church toward the community was the central theme of the day.

At the afternoon session, during the discussion on the annual report of the social service committee, the drafty spirit of the government, enlightening the minds of the government in dealing with the enforcement of the law, were made by O. E. Kendall.

He declared that the federal government would be asked to grant provincial autonomy in the matter of prohibiting the manufacture of liquor, and that a prison term should accompany enforcement of the liquor law of the O. T. A. "If that is done," he said, "I am sure the law will be easily enforced."

Prohibition was declared to be far from a dead issue, and members of the convention were urged to be prepared to give up their lives for another test of strength in the not too distant future. Publicity was stated to be the best means of acquainting the public with the temperance cause, and the speaker advocated by Rev. T. D. McCullough, secretary of the London branch of the League of Nations was congratulated not only for its work in making peace but also for its work in combating the white slave traffic of the world.

On Social Service.
C. V. Farmer, secretary of the social service committee, reported on the report of the committee for the year, explained social service as an aid and an additional help in the general work of the church, and urged that it be substituted for it. He said there had been some misapprehension on this score among members of the church in the past.

He especially stressed the resolution adopted by the committee in regard to the work and activity of the League of Nations. As the militarists have stimulated the will to war in the past, it now becomes our duty to stimulate the will to peace, by the same means which they have employed, namely, propaganda, he declared.

He outlined the following aims of the committee as the basis of its work for the future: (1) The abolition of legalized race-track gambling; (2) provincial censorship of speaking theatres (in Ontario we have a provincial censorship of motion pictures, but the censorship of dramatic and other entertainments is a local matter); (3) increased provision for the care of the mentally defective; (4) protection and help for underprivileged children; (5) the establishment of courts of domestic relations in large centres; (6) amendment of the criminal code so as to make adultery a crime.

Dealing With Liquor.
O. E. Kendall, who seconded the adoption of this report, emphasized the question of dealing with the liquor traffic in view of the recent plebiscite.

"The time is soon coming," he said, "when we will say to the federal government, 'Give us the right to exercise autonomy as far as the suppression of the manufacture of liquor is concerned.' Also we should take immediate means to prohibit the manufacture of native wines in the province.

"One of the weaknesses of the O. T. A. in the past has been the smallness of the fines imposed in connection with it. It is common knowledge that men have been able to pay these fines and still make money. We must demand that a prison term be made part of the punishment in all cases of infringement of the O. T. A. law."

Work in London.

Rev. T. D. McCullough, secretary of the social service council of London, spoke of the progress which had been made by the council in the way of taking care of defective children. A farm had been opened, he said, near Bowmanville at which the delinquent boy will be housed and taken care of.

Things accomplished in recent years by the council included: The mothers' allowance act, the minimum wage for domestic workers, close censorship of movie pictures appearing in the province, the care of the children of unmarried parents. More legislation of this nature had been passed in Ontario in the past five years, he said, than in the preceding 40 years. He paid a tribute to the help which had been given by members of the Baptist church in all work connected with the council.

"In the matter of the O. T. A.," he declared, "the central organization for Ontario was not fully organized or we would put up a much stronger show. However, we have now healed the wound in our ranks, and when we are called on again, as we shall be, to defend the cause of temperance, we shall be ready to meet it."

Harry L. Stark, chairman of the board of religious education, declared that the Sunday school was the most important of the church, and pleaded for a more sympathetic understanding of the work and aims of the school by the church at large.

Father and Son.

The report of the board shows that 40 father and son banquets have been held in the various churches in the past year as part of the social program of the board.

A very real idea is made for an increased time in which religious education can be given to the children, it being felt that the single hour of religious instruction is inadequate to meet the demands of the day. A special committee has been appointed by the board to deal with the problem of religious instruction in some form of religious education in the home.

Mr. Stark asked for a permanent camp site for boys and girls might be maintained by the board. At the present time this is impossible, as the camp has had to be moved every year. It is impossible to erect permanent buildings. Vacation daily Bible schools have been tried out in several churches and found to give the greatest satisfaction in every case.

A resolution was read regretting the resignation of Miss Eunice Whitford, who was formerly secretary of the girls' work branch of the board, and it was announced that the work would be taken over for the remainder of the year by Miss Helen E. Perry, who will also undertake permanently the children's work in the absence of Miss Mary H. Deves, Miss Perry was introduced by the convention by Dr. G. T. Webb, general superintendent of the board.

Elect Officers.

The following were elected as officers of the board of religious education for the full term of three years: Rev. P. K. Root, of Port Colborne; B. W. Merrill of the Walmer road Baptist church, Toronto; and Rev. Somerville of Hamilton. To succeed them for the next year were: Lloyd Holding, director of religious education in the Bloor street Baptist church, Toronto; and Mr. R. Y. P. U., presenting the report of the union, announced the most successful year in the history of the board. The total increase had been 1,535, and 776 members of the union had been baptised into the church, the largest number on record.

Mr. Reynolds, who was allowed only ten minutes in which to make this report, regretted that so little time had been allowed for the presentation of his report, but he considered an essentially vital question before the church, and that no time would be allowed for discussion. He urged the church to extend the time for discussion was put, no seconder could be found.

Advices Union.

Mr. Reynolds advised the union to join the international union formed this year in Stockholm. An interest in view of the large number of young men going into the United States that the name of all such men sent to the principal headquarters so that the church might be able to keep in touch with them.

Rev. D. E. Hett, manager of the Baptist book room, made an earnest appeal to members to adhere to the use of the Sunday school literature issued by the American Baptist Publication society and not to use what he called "bootleg books," which were supplied at a lower price, and which were not denominational or particularly suited to the Baptist churches. As J. J. Perryberry, provincial secretary of the Lord's Day alliance, urged greater support by members of the Baptist churches of the work of the alliance, he quoted the report of the recent plebiscite in Manitoba in May of this year, in which an "Open Sunday" had been part of the program. It was pointed out that he said, and the attorney-general of Manitoba had refused to proceed against the breakers of the Lord's day act. The case was now before the privy council, having been appealed by the alliance, and the decision was expected this week.

The devotional address at the close of the afternoon session was conducted by Rev. W. H. Main of Philadelphia, in the absence of Rev. C. W. Ross of Peterborough. H. W. Macdonald, of Stratford, occupied the chair in the afternoon.

The Evening Lesson.

At the evening session Rev. Dr. J. VanNess, corresponding secretary of the board of religious education of the Southern Baptist church, delivered the address. He made a wonderful inspiring address on the value of the Sunday school to the church and its place in the national welfare. The church, he said, is the only institution in the land, and every nook and corner had its little company of people who were gathered together to hear the word.

Dr. VanNess placed the Sunday school in the van of Christian life today and without hesitation declared it to be the hope of the people of the South. The Baptist church in their work of teaching and expansion.

I make no apology for the fact that these lines of all baptism come from the Sunday schools," he said, "I would be sorry if it were otherwise. Our Sunday schools are organized as far as we are able to make them, but who down in the south are the second largest denomination, place all our faith in the success of our organized Sunday schools."

Theory Is Eliminated.

He combated the idea, that Sunday school training tends to eliminate the theory of the necessity for the second birth.

"That we were trying to educate a child into the Kingdom of God. That is not so. The principle of the Sunday school is to teach the child to believe with Calvin that Redemption and Revelation come from God, but we also believe that man must be saved in through many means, and that teaching and guidance in the Sunday schools may be one of them."

Religious education we mean the presentation of the great truths of the Bible in such a way as to bring in members to the fold of the church, and to increase membership. So I cannot distinguish between the Sunday school and religious education. Again I believe that the Sunday school is the uniform lessons kept religion alive when 20 years ago the universities and colleges allowed it to die.

Three things we teach the little children while they are yet with us will stand by them when perhaps they are far away and all alone to face the trials of life. The first is the foundation of all religion and of all social stability, and clean, wholesome Christian life. It is the very keystone of our whole church system.

Schools Well Organized.

"Then we are well organized in our Sunday school work in the south. Don't be afraid of organization. It alone makes the church a real organization and if it is properly arranged and has the right spirit behind it, it will not destroy evangelism and the personal expression of Christ."

"Let us bridge the gap that exists today between the Sunday school and the B. Y. P. U. by a real program in the church. Let us make the Sunday school the largest force to take care of all the work. My idea of the church is to take charge of the man from the cradle until he is moved out of the church and never to let him go. He should never allow him to get out of touch with his church. In this program the work of the church is to be the greatest single instrument of enlightenment into the church."

Rev. J. E. Newnam of St. Thomas, speaking at the same service, pleaded for the church to take more interest in the youth of the church, with which it was blessed. There is too much fine youth in our church for us to let go by us and be wasted, he declared.

Rev. J. E. Newnam of St. Thomas, speaking at the same service, pleaded for the church to take more interest in the youth of the church, with which it was blessed. There is too much fine youth in our church for us to let go by us and be wasted, he declared.

Elect Officers.

The following were elected as officers of the board of religious education for the full term of three years: Rev. P. K. Root, of Port Colborne; B. W. Merrill of the Walmer road Baptist church, Toronto; and Rev. Somerville of Hamilton. To succeed them for the next year were: Lloyd Holding, director of religious education in the Bloor street Baptist church, Toronto; and Mr. R. Y. P. U., presenting the report of the union, announced the most successful year in the history of the board. The total increase had been 1,535, and 776 members of the union had been baptised into the church, the largest number on record.

Mr. Reynolds, who was allowed only ten minutes in which to make this report, regretted that so little time had been allowed for the presentation of his report, but he considered an essentially vital question before the church, and that no time would be allowed for discussion. He urged the church to extend the time for discussion was put, no seconder could be found.

Advices Union.

Mr. Reynolds advised the union to join the international union formed this year in Stockholm. An interest in view of the large number of young men going into the United States that the name of all such men sent to the principal headquarters so that the church might be able to keep in touch with them.

Rev. D. E. Hett, manager of the Baptist book room, made an earnest appeal to members to adhere to the use of the Sunday school literature issued by the American Baptist Publication society and not to use what he called "bootleg books," which were supplied at a lower price, and which were not denominational or particularly suited to the Baptist churches. As J. J. Perryberry, provincial secretary of the Lord's Day alliance, urged greater support by members of the Baptist churches of the work of the alliance, he quoted the report of the recent plebiscite in Manitoba in May of this year, in which an "Open Sunday" had been part of the program. It was pointed out that he said, and the attorney-general of Manitoba had refused to proceed against the breakers of the Lord's day act. The case was now before the privy council, having been appealed by the alliance, and the decision was expected this week.

SANE HALLOWEEN IS URGED BY POLICE CHIEF

Birrell Instructs Men To Nab
All Who Damage Property
Of Others.

Pure wholesome enjoyment by celebrants of halloween will be tolerated by the police on Friday night, but all constables will receive directions from chief of police Robert Birrell to apprehend all hoodlums who seek pleasure at the discomfort of others.

Chief Birrell this morning announced to the city will be well patrolled on Friday night. He has instructed officers to arrest anyone who makes an attempt to injure or damage other person's property.

"Halloween celebration is all right," Chief Birrell stated today, "and the police will not interfere with any children who observe police regulations. Pleasure, which is sought at the destruction of property, is not the manner in which halloween should be celebrated. We have had too many years, and I do not expect our officers will experience any difficulty this year."

GUARD LOCKED IN CELL AS PRISONERS ESCAPE

Three Men Make Getaway
From County Jail at Burlington, Vt.

Associated Press Despatch.
Burlington, Vt., Oct. 27.—Three prisoners broke away from county jail early today, after having overpowered the guard at the door and locked him in a cell with his own keys.

The three who escaped are Edward St. Aubin of Montreal, held for violation of the immigration act; Arthur Staley of New York, charged with forging money; and Charles Kelly, held for passing a home of clothing valued at $1,000. Mrs. Helen Kelly, wife of the latter, who is held on the same charge as her husband, was also taken into custody.

St. Aubin was arrested several months ago on the international boundary. His automobile contained a quantity of liquor and was found with 10 per cent more than the legal limit. St. Aubin, his sweetheart, from Montreal, was arrested when she came to visit him in New York and cut up for retail sale. Mr. Nash pointed out, "That certainly affected the market, and diamonds were 10 per cent cheaper four months ago than they are now."

Novelists Sell Well.
"We have noticed good sales in novels, though jewel sales have been exceptionally high. I was in New York recently and found the demand there was much greater than usual."

Settlement of the O. T. A. plebiscite had a noticeable effect on trade. People were ready to talk business after the vote was counted.

Tourist traffic is making a wonderful improvement in trade here. If we only had a good hotel in London! Business with tourists picked up from 25 to 50 per cent during last summer."

SANSONE-FOX APPEAL TO BE READY THIS WEEK

Counsel for Sylvadore Sansone and Thomas Fox states that his appeal will be ready at the end of the week. A copy of the evidence has been filed and is expected at any time.

Fox was sentenced to 14 years and 20 lashes in Kingston penitentiary, while Sansone received a sentence of 12 years and 10 lashes from Mr. Justice Riddell a week ago Saturday for offenses against two young girls.

Both men, who were brought back to the county jail after being refused admittance to penitentiary by the warden until the 40-day period of appeal was over, are now in the county jail at Middlesex jail. Fox has made no more attempts to misbehave since he battered his head against prison walls, jail officials declare.

CITY RETAIL TRADE WINS FIGHT WITH DEPRESSION

All Lines Show Trend For Better Business, Merchants
Report.

FOLKS HAVE CASH

Retail trade in London, following depression of the last few years, is on the mend, and merchants report an improvement in sales along various lines of from 10 to 25 per cent over last year.

An improvement in trade all over the country, the settlement of the liquor plebiscite, general trend of public feeling to get back to normal, appear to have influenced citizens to loosen purse strings which have been drawn tightly during recent years, while folk waited for what they thought would be "hard times."

"People have ready cash," one merchant declared today. "We have been in the cash business for years, and we haven't had a season like this for a long time."

"Our volume of business during September was a quarter of what it was for all of 1923," declared Clifford Gray, manager of the London branch of Heintzman & Co. manufacturers and retailers of pianos and dealers in phonographs and other musical instruments.

Farmer Cancels Debt.

An advertiser representative waited for Mr. Gray while a business transaction was being completed with a customer. Here was a farmer who had been owing the firm $300 for three years. Each year he has been unable to pay off no more than the annual interest. Today he is able to tender $300 in cash and wipe off the debt.

"Good crops on farms to northeast and northwest of London are the cause," said Mr. Gray, "in answer to the reporter's query as to why farmers in these districts have shown a remarkable pick up. Debts are being paid that have been hanging over their heads for some time."

Mr. Gray admits that the summer months of this year constituted a season of poor business. The firm lost money. But September and October have shown a marked improvement, more than the natural pick up of business before the Christmas season. Cash is being received from the sale of goods, and the firm is now showing a profit.

"We have had to run our stores on small profits for months and now we are getting better business," declared R. H. Dowler, head of the Dowler men's clothing stores, and president of the London chamber of commerce. "But I think we are in the best of ways in months. I am of the opinion that business generally, not merely the clothing business, is steadily becoming better."

The warm weather has kept back sales of heavy clothing," Mr. Dowler continued. "It has been many months since such a cold snap as we have now in the warm autumn weather. But that is no worry to the bigger businessmen. July and August were good months in business, and each week is getting better now."

"No, we don't expect any great boom in business. But indications are that trade will be steady. I think I can speak for other large business houses, and I know they are expecting a chance for the better."

Retail sales are from 10 to 25 per cent better in the various lines of goods handled by John A. Nash, jeweler. Jewelry sales all over the city are better. Diamonds have gone up 10 per cent since the end of the summer. A while back Russian jewels were brought into New York and cut up for retail sale. Mr. Nash pointed out, "That certainly affected the market, and diamonds were 10 per cent cheaper four months ago than they are now."

Novelists Sell Well.
"We have noticed good sales in novels, though jewel sales have been exceptionally high. I was in New York recently and found the demand there was much greater than usual."

Settlement of the O. T. A. plebiscite had a noticeable effect on trade. People were ready to talk business after the vote was counted.

HERBERT ASQUITH MAY LOSE SEAT IN COMMONS

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Oct. 25.—Mr. Asquith's seat, Paisley, is regarded even by Liberals as in jeopardy in the present election. He has represented Paisley in the house of commons since 1920, and was re-elected last year in a four-cornered contest in which there were two Labor candidates, as well as a Conservative candidate. Labor is not now divided as it was in 1923

MAGGIE AND JIGGS PROVE REAL TREAT

Bringing Up Father in Ireland Depicts Famous Characters in Homeland.

London's theatrical season would not be complete without the annual visit of George McManus' cartoon characters, Jiggs and Maggie.

"Bringing Up Father in Ireland," which is playing at the Grand Opera House for the first three days of this week, is one of the best for some time, and for the simple reason that Jiggs is right at home. Jiggs has appeared in shows depicting him in New York, at Palm Beach, in Paris, London and many other places, but never before in the land of his birth.

Jiggs in Ireland is a pleasant entertainment, containing much of the McManus style of humor. The characters are extremely well portrayed, and look exactly as though they had stepped from the comic page.

The production, which is typical of this class of comedy, is in two acts with a prologue, and the scenes are laid in Ireland and Spain. John Mulgrew wrote the book, and several original numbers were devised by Leo Edwards.

Emma Watton gives a fine performance as Maggie, adhering strictly to the famous character drawn up by the cartoonist, both as to make-up and acting.

Danny Simmons is Jiggs Mahoney to the life, and his pal, Ed Morris as Dinty Moore, worked well together. Patsy, Dinty Moore's nephew, was pleasingly played by Harry Gulliver, who acted the part of the Irish lad most capably. Besides Leonard made a vivacious Kitty Jiggs, and is the possessor of a sweet voice.

The girls of the chorus, although small in number, are the best trained and most accomplished dancers seen here for months.

"Jiggs in Ireland," contains an abundance of comedy and a number of especially written songs of an Irish nature that won favor with last night's large audience.

Altogether, "Bringing Up Father," is refreshing after the usual run of burlesque. It holds interest because Jiggs is a well-known character, probably the most popular of the weekly comic strip. Jiggs is remarkably well portrayed. He is the Jiggs of the cartoon world. He stepped out of his usual page in the weekly supplement last night to provide Londoners with a rare bit of burlesque, which provided rounds of merriment for first nighters at the Grand Theatre.

MR. CLIFF MISKA

Salesman For Skin Cream Learns How To Clear Up Pimply Complexion

Mr. Cliff Miska, of 595 Ninth Avenue, Astoria, L. I., writes: "I was a salesman of creams for healing pimples, blemishes, etc., but when my face broke out with blotches, pimples, and blackheads I tried one salve after another with no permanent results. I found it as impossible to sell skin cream as a bald headed man finds selling hair tonic. Finally I decided I would have to get at the cause—the blood. I was amazed to find that within a few days after taking Carter's Little Liver Pills, my skin took on a new healthy look, blemishes started to disappear, and I felt like a new person all around. Now I know what to do when I have a pimply skin, you bet." This old reliable remedy treats such complaints in a safe way. It has been used all over the world for 67 years. 25c at all good drug stores.

BOOTLEGGERS TO BE JAILED WITHOUT OPTION OF A FINE UNDER GOVERNMENT PLAN

Premier Ferguson Announces Three Important Steps Which in All Probability Will Be Taken To Insure Strict Enforcement of Ontario Temperance Act.

WILL APPEAL TO BREWERS TO OBSERVE LAW

Toronto, Oct. 27.—Three important innovations are contemplated by the Ferguson government as steps toward the more effective enforcement of the Ontario temperance act, which the premier has promised. They are: Direct appeals to the brewers and distillers to obey the law; substantial increase in the provincial police organization, and legislation to amend the Ontario temperance act under the terms of which bootleggers will be jailed without the option of a fine.

Pressed today for some enlightenment on the course his government proposed to pursue to make Ontario "bone dry," the premier stated that it was too soon to go into detail of the matters under consideration, but that a comprehensive plan of operation was being worked out by the government and consideration of the best minds available, and whatever plans for law enforcement were evolved would be carried out equally over the whole province.

PLEASE PROHIBITIONISTS.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Oct. 27.—Attorney-General Nickle today characterized as "precipitate" all questions as to the specific details of his plans for the enforcement of the Ontario temperance act.

Mr. Nickle intimated that he was in process of formulating a policy that would please every prohibitionist, but that it was too soon, much too soon to hand out his details.

In reply to the question: "Are you going to make a drive on Ottawa?" he replied: "We have made many representations to them, but it has been without effect. It has always been Ottawa's practice to permit no incorporation of breweries or distilleries without the consent of the province. Since I assumed office, Ottawa has granted licenses to one brewery and one distillery without taking account of our protest.

"We, for our part, have in no way added to the sources of supply. Ottawa has the final say as to new incorporations."

FIVE ADRIFF ON GREAT LAKES IS MESSAGE CARRIED BY BIRD

Special to The Advertiser.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—A carrier pigeon, trapped here today brought word of five persons afloat somewhere on Lake Michigan, dying, perhaps, as the winds and waves buffet their helplessness.

"Five afloat on Lake Michigan."

This was text of message tied to pigeon's leg. It gave no position, but coastward stations at all points on the lake prepared to send crews out for a systematic search for the victims. Efforts, so far, to trace the identity of Captain White and the name of his vessel were unsuccessful.

Among the veterans of the Salvation army in Canada are Mr. and Mrs. Payne of Toronto, No. 1 division, who have now completed forty years of service together.

Mrs. Lawrence was not injured. The men made their escape.

Obituary JAMES MCKAY.

Special to The Advertiser.

Paris, Oct. 27.—James M. McKay, aged 80, died on Friday. The late Mr. McKay came from Scotland about 50 years ago. He was a member of the Presbyterian church.

Survivors are four daughters, Mrs. (Dr.) Bell of Toronto, Mrs. Bernard Travers, Paris, Mrs. James Sewell of Chicago, N.Y., and Mrs. James Telfer, Paris.

BASHER PRESS SHED IN "STEP-A-LONG"

Vivacious Chorus Proves To Be the Feature of Show.

"Step Along" opened at the Majestic theatre yesterday for matinee and evening performances for the first three days of the week. The show is doing in its originality. Much of the "old hokum" of burlesque has been left behind, and the producers have left a great deal to the chorus.

Time was when the chorus was simply a background for and the butt of many a joke by the principals. There seems to be a tendency in these times to give a thought to the selection of lively girls who find it as easy to shed their thoughtfulness as they do their clothes.

In the "Step Along" show the girls are pretty much in the spotlight. They form one of the strongest choruses seen here this season. They are supple. They are nimble. They have been trained to interpret the popular songs of the day with gesture as well as voice. They found responsive audiences yesterday.

Miss Germaine, advertised as "The Girl With Millions of Dollars' Legs," whatever that means—is the chief entertainer. She sings and dances, and she is never overburdened with bulky clothes.

Max Coleman and Bennie Moore as comedians pass out a lot of new material in the way of humor. Mr. Coleman plays a Jewish role, while Mr. Moore is at home as a droll Italian.

The staging is better than usual. The pirate ship is a pleasant change from the usual run of burlesque settings.

The honeymoon scene is not new but apparently as popular as ever, probably because the "Step-a-Long" people do not allow it to lag.

"Limehouse Blues" provides a nice setting for some good costuming. "The Dance of the Apaches" by Germaine, Coleman, Moore, Stone, Griffin and Greene is one of the wildest burlesques we have ever laid eyes on. It is a riot.

The show finishes strong with some minstrelsy. It is well staged. A quartet with some new versions of the "Old Oaken Bucket" is out for laughs and gets them.

"Step-a-Long" is billed as a girl-quest review. It is chiefly girls, but more than that it is fast moving and spares nothing to show a maximum of girl with a minimum of clothes.

WOODSTOCK ELECTION ADVANCED ONE MONTH

Nomination Day Set For Last Monday In November.

Austin Smith, the youthful prisoner, who last April effected his escape from the county jail here with a suit of clothes belonging to Turnkey Skinner, was killed in Detroit last July, according to a letter received by Chief Morin this morning from the father of the boy.

In county court this afternoon Judge Wallace reserved judgment in the case of John A. Mason, charged to recover $225 as overdue wages from the John A. Miller estate.

After a sudden increase of 50c per cow, for live hogs, two weeks ago, the price dropped just as suddenly this morning on the local market to the old figure of $9.50. Calves went down from six to eight cents a pound.

When the provincial department of highways has the right to order fences erected on city streets is a question to be probed by the city council at the meeting this evening. Objection was being taken to fences being erected on the street on either side of the Ingersoll road crossing on the ground that they narrowed the roadway to 50 feet instead of leaving the 50 feet right-of-way required by the agreement between the city and the railway company.

The council appointed Peter MacDonald a member of the public library board in place of the late W. D. Hobson.

A resolution was passed asking that catching of fish by net be permitted on the Thames river between March 1 and June 1 each year, and that fish runs be constructed on all dams on the Thames river.

The new traffic bylaw as amended by the highways department was finally passed.

MOORE FEATRES FILM AT LOEWS

There have been better films at Loew's than "Dangerous Money," and there has also been much better vaudeville than the patrons were treated to last night. However, no picture with Bebe Daniels and Tom Moore could really be very bad, and "Dangerous Money" is a bit better than the average. In fact, it appealed to a great many people, and being a loyal follower of the pretty Bebe ever since the days she was leading lady for Harold Lloyd, it would be impossible for us to criticize her too severely. Bebe could make almost any kind of a picture good, and she makes good in "Dangerous Money."

The plot is rather threadbare—the old "stuff" about a pretty young penniless girl being left a lot of money and then finding out later on that the cash really belonged to her girlhood sweetheart. The picture gives Miss Daniels a chance to wear a lot of nice clothes, while the scenic beauty of the sets could hardly be improved on.

Tom Moore is a regular "he-man" hero, and his sunny smile was just as sunny as ever. The cast was well chosen.

The Pathe news and a Baby Peggy comedy, "The Flower Girl," completed the movie part of the show. Jack and Eva Arnold opened the vaudeville bill. Jack managed to get a few laughs out of the audience, but Eva was not so good when it came to warbling.

Gordon and Young were an improvement on the first act, the feature being a burlesque on the waltz dance. The burlesque was well done and deserved all the applause it received.

Edwys Green and Company finished off the vaudeville offerings in a song and dance revue, the costumes and scenery being good.

RED RECOGNITION NOT YET CERTAIN

French Premier Worried Over Soviet Letter Received in England.

By CONSTANTINE BROWN.

Special Cable to The Advertiser and the Chicago Daily News.

Paris, Oct. 27.—Although the official message announcing France's recognition of Soviet Russia has been lying on Premier Herriot's desk awaiting his signature since last Tuesday, the French premier has not yet found time to sign it.

Persons in close touch with the premier explain the delay by the publication of the Zinoviev letter showing an attempt of the Soviet to cause a revolution in England.

The document is causing considerable worry to the French premier, who fears that recognition of the Soviet at the present moment may increase his troubles with the senate. He is positive that the chamber of deputies will welcome the decision but the upper house, where his party has only a slight majority, may refuse ratification and so render useless the government's recognition.

Premier Herriot's friends state that he is no longer an enthusiastic advocate of recognition, but that his extreme radical supporters insist on his keeping his electoral pledges, and thus the premier will be forced, despite his better judgment, to recognize a government with whose idea he is in sympathy, but whose methods of working cannot appeal to the large majority of Frenchmen.

TWO WIARTON MEN HURT WHEN AUTO IS SMASHED

Special to The Advertiser.

Palmerston, Oct. 27.—Early this morning Ernie Parks of Wiarton, accompanied by a Wiarton physician, and bound from Wiarton to Woodstock by motor, in a blinding fog failed to see the turn to the town line at the town limits, and plunged over the embankment across the main road, completely destroying the motor, and both men suffered severe injuries.

The corner where the accident occurred is very dangerous, as the road from Harrison, known as Palmerston cemetery road, comes to a dead end at the western end of the Palmerston main street.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief For Acid Stomach.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-ache and inability to retain food are in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Excess of acid in the stomach causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid stimulates and irritates the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of Bisulphate of Magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antacid, such as Bisulphate of Magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist, either in powder or tablet form, enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial stimulants. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisulphate of Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose.—Advt.

DAMAGES FIXED FOR LOSS OF EYE

Former "Y" Director Awarded Six Thousand Dollars by Jury.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, Oct. 27.—A supreme court jury today awarded H. A. McKeracher, former Y. M. C. A. physical director, $6,000, for the loss of an eye. In commenting on the decision Mr. Justice Logie stated that the verdict was fair, and he promptly added all costs to the defendant company, the Standard Paving Ltd., of Ottawa.

The Lutvaks, the other defendants in the action, were exonerated and their costs attached to the plaintiffs' claim against the defendant company.

The jury in the action last fall awarded $5,000 damages, and the decision was appealed. The appellate court ordered a new trial, with the costs of all actions pending the outcome of the new trial.

J. B. Davidson, of the firm of Davidson & Davidson, presented the case for H. A. McKeracher, while T. H. Lennox, K.C., of Toronto, who defended Peter Smith in the conspiracy case just completed at Toronto, acted as counsel for the Standard Paving Company, and C. St. C. Leitch, K.C., for the Lutvaks.

Mr. McKeracher was in a collision with an auto driven by Louis Lutvak and as a result suffered loss of an eye. The paving company became a defendant because of equipment and debris placed in the street while they were doing some work, and it was alleged this caused Lutvak to drive on the wrong side of the street.

Dr. Smith, a specialist, who attended McKeracher, and removed the left eye, was a witness, as were City Engineer Miller, Harry Coulter, A. Newkirk, Victor Purdy, H. H. Holton, Detective McCulley and Louis Lutvak.

Chief Mitralla submitted a lengthy report to No. 3 committee this evening. He reported that the fire alarm system was giving trouble, and asked for several improvements. The report of the expert has not been received as yet. The chief stated that one day the boxes all ring in true, but the next they may be out and no reliance can be placed on them.

He also reported that of 3,200 feet of hose in the department 650 were unfit for use.

He appointed Alec Marshall to the position of captain in the department and recommended that his salary be increased $54 a year. Marshall is taking the place of William Foote, now in charge of the battery department and on station duty only.

The fire loss for the month was $25, six calls being registered. Two improvements will be made on the fire hall at once—the building of new doors to cost $154, and the placing of a new roof at the cost of $338.

The hospital board asked the committee to keep the ambulance at the fire hall and for the firemen to run it until the new hospital was completed and in use and provision made for the care of the ambulance at the hospital.

The services of Dog Catcher E. Tinning will be dispensed with after the end of the month.

FOREST NOW A PARISH OF CATHOLIC CHURCH
Bishop Raises Congregation From the Status of a Mission.
 Forest, Oct. 27.—The announcement was made in St. Christopher's Roman Catholic church on Sunday that Forest has been elevated from the status of a mission church to a parish with a pastor of its own. Rev. Father Foulkes, doctor of canon law in St. Peter's seminary, London, has been named administrator, and will begin his duties next Sunday. Services will now be held each Sunday instead of every second Sunday. For the past 11 years the Forest congregation has been in the charge of Rev. Father Labelle, who also had the parishes of Cornum and Court-right. The congregation, although regretting deeply to lose Father Labelle, welcome the action of His Lordship, Bishop Fallon.

ONE YEAR IN JAIL ON FRAUD CHARGE
 Automobile Dealer Sentenced On Two Counts by Judge Barron.
 Special to The Advertiser.
 Stratford, Oct. 27.—Judge Barron this morning in county court, sentenced W. S. Carter, former automobile dealer, to an indeterminate sentence of not more than 12 months in the Ontario reformatory at Guelph on each of the two charges of fraud. The sentences are to run concurrently. Frank Morris, 249 Douglas street, received a nasty gash on the head, his wife suffered three fractured ribs, and their child nasty cuts about the eye, when an automobile turned turtle in the ditch on the detour off the Shakespeare highway. The Perth county plowing match has been postponed until November 6 because of dry weather. After an illness of only a week, Harwood died at his home, 264 Douro street, at 2:45 Saturday afternoon. He was 45 years of age, and many years fulfilled when they celebrated their golden wedding with the members of their family gathered about. The event was held at the home of their son, William Boulton, 121 Milton street.
