

PREPARE FATHERLAND FOR REVERSE IN WEST

German Correspondents With Troops in France Magnify Horrors of Fighting Against Allied Artillery.

A despatch from Rotterdam says: Max Osborne in a despatch from the front to The Vossische Zeitung, says: "Day and night the British and French guns continuously hurl their murderous lead. Shells burst all around, many exploding before positions where masses of dead are lying. They fling sand and stone splinters over the defenders. They fling, too, torn-off limbs, so when day comes and the men are able to eat the very sight of meat is horrible to them. "The noise tears to pieces all nerves and senses. It continually drums in one's ears. Not a few find their hearing completely gone. The worst of all is the effect of the heavy mines. True, they can be seen coming and one can get out of the way, but if one runs to the right there is a hostile flyer above the trenches who directs the fire of the guns so one has to run to the left. "So it goes on, and one is hunted up and down like a wild beast. There are times when our men curse and are homesick, but in the moment of fighting all their feelings disappear. The sense of duty and discipline holds them together and they are ready with iron decision and bitter courage. "George Wagener, in a despatch to The Koelnische Zeitung, says: "The present line held by the Germans consists only of a chain of shell holes instead of the grille of strongly-built and fortified trenches. Immobile men crouch in these holes with no cover from the sun or rain and not the slightest protection against the shells from above. "Hostile flyers cover the positions at a low height. They see the men in the holes and direct the Anglo-French fire with a deadly certainty upon them or else they fire themselves with machine guns. "Everything has to be done at night; the bringing up of reinforcements, removing the wounded and burying the dead. To procure warm food for the men lying out in those horrible conditions is seldom possible. The want of drinking water is leading the men to drink dirty water out of the shell holes where there are human bodies and other things. "When an attack begins the terrors of these places are beyond description. Like the fire rain in Gomorrah from heaven. The little shelter that there is in the trenches or holes is quickly flattened out. With thundering mine shells from the gigantic mine wipe out everything in the neighborhood with their explosion. At the same time a rain of shrapnel falls and poisonous gases roll forward."

NO OVERTURES ON BEHALF OF PEACE OPEN HUNGER RIOTS IN HAMBURG PORT

Such Proposals Would Have People There Also Clamor for Peace—"Those at the Top Need War."

A despatch from London says: No peace overtures have been made to Great Britain, Lord Robert Cecil, Minister of War Trade and Parliamentary Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, stated in the House of Commons on Wednesday. Lord Robert's statement was made in response to a question by Sir James Henry Dalziel, in regard to "peace rumors," and the situation in the Balkans. "No overtures have been made for peace," said Lord Robert. "There is only one way in which overtures for peace could be made, and that is from an enemy to the Government of this country. If any such overtures were made the first thing we would do would be to consult with our allies, but no communication of the kind has been made." As to the Balkans, Lord Robert said the most important factor consisted of the operations from Salonica. The allies' relation with the new Greek Government, he stated, were thoroughly satisfactory.

A despatch to The London Chronicle from Amsterdam says: "For a week past the port of Hamburg has been in a state of revolution. One who has just returned," as he expressed it, tells an extraordinary story of the gradually rising exasperation of the population, until early last week they broke out into open hunger riots and peace demonstrations. The authorities appear to have been taken by surprise, for the police were unable and perhaps unwilling to quell the disturbances. They were completely overpowered, and before the soldiers could arrive angry crowds had forced their way through several of the principal streets and smashed every shop and business house window. Only vigorous military measures were able to restore order. The utmost severity is shown to all who venture outdoors, except during strictly limited daylight hours."

NEW CANADIAN LOAN AROUSES MUCH INTEREST.

Terms to be Announced About the Middle of September. A despatch from Ottawa says: Already numerous inquiries are being made as to the date and terms of the new Canadian war loan to be floated by Sir Thomas White within the next two months. The terms, etc., cannot of course be announced until the prospectus is ready for publication, about the middle of September. In the meantime the Minister and his department are giving the question painstaking consideration, market conditions are being studied and advice from experts in the financial and investment world.

ALBERTA WILL YIELD 38 BUSHELS TO THE ACRE

The Crop is Almost Equal to bumper One of 1915. A despatch from Calgary, Alberta, says: "The wheat fields of southern Alberta will average thirty-eight bushels to the acre. Along the lines of the Canadian Northern Railway the yield will be better than forty bushels to the acre. In other parts the yield will be well over thirty bushels to the acre for all Alberta." This was the opinion expressed on Thursday morning by a prominent official of the United Farmers of Alberta and the Farmers' Elevator Company of this Province.

GERMAN MILITARY WORKS ARE HEAVILY DAMAGED.

A despatch from Amsterdam says: German military works at Lichtenvelde Ardoye and Thiel were heavily damaged in the recent air raid of the allies over West Flanders, says The Echo de Belge. It is estimated that 200,000 people from the United States annually visit the Canadian National Exhibition.

DISMISS FROM ARMY GORIZIA'S DEFENDER

Gen. Riedel, Who Was in Command of Austrians, Loses His Rank. A despatch from Berne, Switzerland, says: A wireless despatch received from Austria says that a court-martial sitting at Klagenfurt has sentenced General Riedel, who was in command at Gorizia when the city was captured by the Italians, to dismissal from the army and loss of his rank and pension.

MONSTER SUPER-ZEPPELINS TO HAVE LENGTH OF 780 FEET

Baron Montagu Says New Machines Germany is Building Capable of Carrying Five Tons of Bombs.

A despatch from London says: In a speech delivered at Bury St. Edmunds on Wednesday night, Baron Montagu of Beaulieu, former vice-chairman of the joint Naval and Military Board, told of new monster super-Zeppelins which Germany is building. "We have obtained some details of the super-Zeppelins which Germany is now building," said Baron Montagu. "The principal features of the craft are: a capacity of two million cubic feet, a length of 780 feet, a beam of 80 feet, a maximum speed of 80 miles an hour, a cruising speed of 35 miles an hour and a radius of action of 3,000 miles. The engines, six or seven in number, have a total of 15,000 horsepower. "The airships can carry a load of bombs of five tons. They are able to ascend 17,000 feet. They are armed with machine guns at bow and stern and on top of the envelope. They carry a crew of 35 men. "These particulars show how largely the Germans are relying on Zeppelins as a means for harassing us. Two of these new craft have already been completed, and four will be available in October."

STORY OF A FRENCH HERO.
Captured One Hundred Prussians by Good Bluff. The recent death of the Duke de Rohan in the Somme offensive recalls the story of how one of France's heroes won the medal of the Legion of Honor by a daring ruse. At the beginning of the war the duke and his orderly rode, unaccompanied, to a French farmhouse which had been occupied by one hundred Prussians. A peasant warned them that the enemy was in possession but the duke hoped that a squadron of French cavalry would soon reinforce him. The duke left his orderly in the stone-paved court of the farm with orders to gallop his horse back and forth and make as much noise as possible. He then pressed on into the house. The Prussians were refreshing themselves in the dining-room. The duke strode in boldly, crying: "You are surrounded. Surrender at once." The Prussians leaped to their feet in alarm and surrendered their arms, herding them into a corner of the room. Fortunately for the Duke de Rohan, the squadron of cavalry soon appeared to make good his bluff.

The maximum amount of meat provided for under the new card system will be 250 grams (slightly more than half a pound) weekly.

WHAT THE WESTERN PEOPLE ARE DOING. Progress of the Great West Told in a Few Pointed Paragraphs. Honey crop of B.C. will not be as heavy as expected earlier in the season. Vancouver Island is improving in an industrial sense to a marked degree. No deer may be exposed for sale this year in Victoria, says a recently made law. The death of Mrs. Julia O'Connor, aged 96, occurred recently at New Westminster. Partridge shooting is to be allowed on the Delta, Vancouver, for two days only this season. Nearly 800 Italians who have been called back to serve will soon leave Vancouver for the front. Fishing has improved of late at Maple, B.C., grilse and a few salmon being caught just now. Vancouver wholesale dealers announce an increase of 30 cents per barrel in all grades of flour. Between 800 and 900 people enjoyed the Vancouver Grocers' picnic at Bowen Island last week. The West Saanich Women's Institute held a flower show last week which netted $214 for the Red Cross. The province has arranged for a course of six free lectures on domestic science to be held in Vancouver. The Vernon, B.C., concentration camp is nearly depleted of soldiers, who are at work in the harvest fields. A bargain in hay was secured by the city of Victoria recently, when three carloads were bought at $21.50 a ton. In response to the call for harvesters in Saskatchewan, 1,051 men have registered in the Vancouver employment offices. The school for military engineers opened at the Sixth Engineers' Drill Hall in North Vancouver, with a class of 35. It is said that mineral discoveries at Herb Lake, Beaver and Flim Flam Lakes, and the area between, may yet rival Nevada. The Sovereign Lumber Co., of Brenton, near Ladysmith, has reorganized and moved the mill into the Morrison property. A refining plant for making beet sugar may be established in the New Westminster valley if co-operation of farmers can be secured. Potatoes in large quantities are being evaporated at the packing plant, Ladner. The price paid is between $10 and $12 a ton. A decision to have a pheasant season of one month on the mainland of B.C. is contained in an order-in-council passed at Victoria. The season begins Oct. 18. During the month of July the total amount of bright sunshine in Nanaimo was 173 hours and 30 minutes, rain 1.33 inches, highest temperature 77 on the 30th, lowest 46 on the 26th.

ALL THAT REMAINS TO GERMANY IS ARTIFICIAL NATIONAL UNITY

The Allies Are in Twofold Superiority to the Teutons, Japanese Admiral Says—German Advantage No Longer Exists. A despatch from Paris says: Admiral Akiyama, who as aide to Admiral Togo, planned the Battle of Tsushima, is on the way to New York after visiting all of the allied countries. "I am thoroughly convinced that the allies are in twofold superiority to the Germans," said the Admiral before sailing. "To be perfectly truthful, the Germans were a nation much stronger than we ever imagined. What they have done in the last two years will remain a marvelous monument in the history of the world. "But what has made them so strong is their organization and preparation in military matters. Their advantage no longer exists. The allies by practice and experience have accomplished all the Germans had perfected. "All that remains to Germany today is her national unity, which is the fundamental element of her strength. But I have come to wonder how long such unity can withstand the strain of the dangers which threaten. German unity is artificial rather than natural. Their discipline lacks elasticity, and cannot last. Anyway, the development of the war is entirely favorable to the allies."

BRITAIN AND SWEDEN NEARING THE BRINK?

Latter Persisted in Blocking Parcels to Russia. A despatch from London says: The British Government, following the lead of Sweden, has made public the entire correspondence with Sweden concerning British seizures of the Swedish parcel-post with the United States and British retaliation in stopping all British parcels in transit to Russia. The correspondence disclosed that the situation has not yet been satisfactorily adjusted. Some of the letters and notes seem to indicate the relations of the two countries at one time approached the breaking point. As a result of the negotiations Sweden recently released 60,000 parcels to Russia under agreement with the British Government to submit the matter to arbitration after the war. AUTO JUMPED BRIDGE FOUR PERSONS DROWN. A respatch from Digby, N.S., says: Four were drowned at Metighan River, forty miles west of here, late Wednesday night when an automobile ran amuck on the bridge and plunged with its occupants into the water. Names of the dead: Mr. and Mrs. Leo Amiro, both of Saulnierville; Mary Lombard, 25, of Metighan River, and Monique Comeau, 20, Saulnierville. Frank Saulnier, driver of the car, managed to escape, though badly injured. He says he lost control of the car while on the bridge. All bodies were recovered. FRENCH TO CALL KAISER TO ACCOUNT. Chamber Will Discuss Measures to be Taken Against Him. A despatch from Paris says:—What measures can be taken at the proper time against the Emperor of Germany and other persons held to be answerable for compelling inhabitants of the invaded cities of Northern France to work in the fields, and the immediate steps which France might take in behalf of these people, are questions to be raised in the approaching session of the Chamber of Deputies. Deputy Bouyssou, in a letter to Premier Briand, in which he severely criticized the acts of the Germans toward the population of the invaded region, gave notice that he would interpellate the Premier on these subjects. BOYS LIKE "WAR BOOTS." Wooden-soled Shoes Fail to Suit German Girls, However. Berlin women and girls are reported as not being over-enthusiastic about the wooden soled shoes which German shoe manufacturers are said to have produced to fill the gap in foot-wear due to the scarcity of leather caused by the war, but the boys are taking to them more kindly. The Berlin Lokal-Anzeiger declares that new shoes with wooden soles are so comfortable that "they can be worn even by persons afflicted with flat feet or varicose veins." The authorities of Charlottenburg, one of the largest and wealthiest of Berlin's residential suburbs, have decided that in view of the necessity of using practically all the leather in the country for military purposes, the use of the wooden-soled boots and shoes must be popularized, so they have started to fit out the poorer residents with these "war boots."

MUSH RETAKEN BY THE RUSSIANS

Previously Captured by the Grand Duke, but Lost to Enemy on Aug. 8. A despatch from London says: The armies of the Grand Duke Nicholas have scored two important successes in the Caucasus. Forces operating in Southern Turkish Armenia have re-occupied Mush, which was captured by the Turks on Aug. 8, and in the direction of Mosul part of a Turkish division was surrounded and 2,800 prisoners taken. The Russian official report reads: "Caucasus front: Our troops, pressing the enemy in the region to the west of Lake Van, entered Mush, where they took some prisoners. "In the direction of Mosul our gallant troops defeated four Turkish divisions in the region of the village of Bacht. We surrounded portions of the division, and took prisoner the whole of the 11th Turkish Regiment, consisting of its commander, 56 officers and 1,600 of the rank and file, as well as nearly all of the remnants of the 10th Turkish Regiment, consisting of two staff officers, several other officers and 650 Askaris. We also captured in this battle three cannon and three machine guns. "The repulse of a Russian attack on the Turkish positions along the Caucasus front with a loss of 3,400 Russian troops, is reported in the Turkish official statement of Thursday. The announcement follows: "Caucasus front: On our right wing, separate attacks on the Turkish advanced positions were repulsed by counter attacks, with considerable enemy loss. In the Ogot sector alone the Russians lost 3,000 men, and in front of the Turkish position at Mighi we counted 400 killed."

Fevre, of the 221st Regiment of French infantry, who was killed in that locality during the French offensive of 1914. A German aviator, flying over the French lines, dropped the curate's answer saying that the favor had been accomplished. Enemy Airman Answers Saying That Favor Had Been Accomplished.

Why "Anuric" is an INSURANCE Against Sudden Death.

Before an Insurance Company will take a risk on your life the examining physician will test the urine and report whether you are a good risk. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you suffer from backache, sick-headache, dizzy spells, or the twinges and pains of lumbago, rheumatism and gout. The urine is often cloudy, full of sediment; channels often get sore and sleep is disturbed two or three times a night. This is the time you should consult some physician of wide experience—such as Dr. Pierce of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. Send him 10 cents for sample package of his new discovery, "Anuric." Write him your symptoms and send a sample of urine for test. Experience has taught Dr. Pierce that "Anuric" is the most powerful agent in dissolving uric acid, as hot water melts sugar; besides being absolutely harmless it is endowed with other properties, for it preserves the kidneys in a healthy condition by thoroughly cleansing them. Being so many times more active than lithia, it clears the heart valves of any sandy substances which may clog them and checks the degeneration of the blood-vessels, as well as regulating blood pressure. "Anuric" is a regular insurance and life-saver for all big meat-eaters and those who deposit lime-salts in their joints. Ask the druggist for "Anuric" put up by Dr. Pierce, in 50-cent packages.

STRENGTH AND BEAUTY
Come with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This is a blood-cleansing and alternative that starts the liver and stomach into vigorous action. It thus assists the body to manufacture rich red blood which feeds the heart, nerves, brain and organs of the body. The organs work smoothly like machinery running in oil. You feel clean, strong and vigorous instead of tired, weak and faint.

Speaking of the great increase in the price of paper, the Guelph Herald says: "The public does not realize what such an increase in price means to the publisher. It simply means absolutely necessary drastic actions in every direction. Increases in subscription rates, in advertising rates and a reduction in the size of newspapers are likely to be general. In some cases the increase in the cost of paper will force suspension."

Recently a shipment of hogs by C.N.R. from Winnipeg arrived in Toronto in an awful shape. Some passengers riding in a single car at the rear of the freight train refused to go any further as there was a frightful odor. It is alleged that, upon investigation, about 100 hogs were found dead, and many had been partly devoured by the living animals. A witness stated that the cars were a ghastly sight, with legs and pieces of dead pigs trailing out of the sides, and that the intense heat made conditions horrible. The legal case is still pending.

Miscellaneous Recipes.

For a new dessert, try this: Take sponge cake and cut it into squares. Pare, halve and core some large pears. Boll in a syrup colored with half a cupful of cranberry or other red fruit juice. When tender remove from the syrup and place one of the halves on each sponge square. Decorate with cranberry jelly and serve with plain or whipped cream or with a sauce.

Here is a Belgian recipe for vegetable soup: Take four celeries, four leeks, two turnips, a cabbage, two onions, a few bones, pepper and salt and five quarts of water. Boll for about three hours keeping the vegetable always well covered with the water. Take up and rub the vegetable through a sieve or cloth and let them boil again for at least an hour.

White Ginger Bread.—One pound dry, sifted flour, one-half pound fresh butter, one-half pound granulated sugar, grated rind of one lemon, one ounce new ground ginger root, one-half grated nutmeg, one-half teaspoon soda, one gill milk. Rub flour and butter together, add sugar, lemon rind, ginger and nutmeg. Warm milk slightly, stir in soda and mix to smooth paste. Shape according to fancy and bake fifteen minutes.

To make croquettes of boiled meat, mince your meat and put it into a thick, white sauce well spiced with pepper, salt and nutmeg, and let it remain for two hours. Then prepare your croquettes by rolling the mixture in white of egg and fine bread crumbs. Put a piece of butter in the saucepan, sufficient to take all the croquettes, and let them brown in it for about 10 minutes. A white sauce served with them is a good addition.

Egg Salad.—Cover the eggs with boiling water and reduce the heat at once, cooking the eggs slowly from 25 to 28 minutes over the simmer burner of the gas stove. When the eggs are done, cover them with cold water. Prepare mayonnaise, when thick, add four or five sardines that have been skinned, boned and pounded to a paste. Cut the egg lengthwise, lay on chilled lettuce and serve the dressing.

Pickling Brine.—A "universal" pickle—that is, a pickling liquid that may be used with nearly all kinds of vegetables and fruits—is made like this: A cupful of sugar added to four quarts of vinegar, two dozen whole black peppers and a handful of cloves, a few blades of mace and 18 whole allspice. Boll all the ingredients for five minutes and pour over the fruit.

Cream of Spinach Soup.—Two quarts spinach, six cupfuls cold water, two cupfuls milk, one clove garlic or two tablespoonfuls chopped onion, bit of bay leaf, one teaspoonful salt, cayenne pepper and celery salt, three tablespoonfuls each butter and flour, one-half cupful cream. Cook spinach in water thirty minutes. Press through sieve, scald milk with onion and bay leaf, add butter and flour, cooked together, strain, add seasonings and spinach mixture. Cook five minutes, and serve, garnished with beaten cream.

Baked Apple Pudding.—Butter an agate baking dish. Slice into this tart apples enough to fill the dish; sprinkle with salt and pour in two or three tablespoonfuls of water. Sift together a cup and a half of flour, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-fourth teaspoonful of salt. Into this work with the tips of the fingers three tablespoonfuls of butter. Beat an egg, add three-fourths of a cup of milk (scant measure), and stir into the dry ingredients. When thoroughly mixed spread over the apples. Bake in a quick oven about 25 minutes. Invert the dish so as to have the apples on the top. Serve hot with butter and sugar or syrup.

Mixed Conserve.—Six pounds of the large blue plums, measured after the pits are removed and the plums halved. Four pounds of granulated sugar. Two pounds of English walnut meats, chopped fine. Juice of one orange. Skins of four oranges, chopped and parboiled fifteen to twenty minutes. Pour boiling water on the raisins and let stand two minutes. Mix all the ingredients and let simmer fifteen minutes. Add sugar and cook ten minutes in double boiler or until jelly-like. Pour into hot sterilized jars and when cool cover with paraffin. Do not peel the plums, as the skins give the conserve a pretty color. Do not stir the plums to pieces; keep them in halves. When done the mixture will thicken on a cold plate.

Beef Stew.—Use two pounds of round steak cut from one to one and a half inches thick. The steak may be left whole or cut into pieces two inches square. Heat an iron frying pan, rub over the surface with a bit of fat from the meat, put in the steak and cook, first on one side, then on the other, to harden the meat on the outside and thus keep in the juices. Put the meat into the casserole with a dozen and a half pieces each of carrot and turnip, cut in similar shaped slices, cubes or triangles. Add a dozen very small peeled onions, one tablespoonful kitchen bouquet and a generous pint of brown stock or boiling water. Cover and let cook gently in the oven about an hour and a half. After cooking an hour add salt and more stock, if needed. Serve from the casserole. The vegetables may be browned in one-fourth cupful of drippings before being put into the casserole. For this style of cooking round steak gives a richer dish than does a sirloin steak.

Useful Hints.

Celery and pineapple make a delicious salad.

It is better to cook carrots whole and then skin them.

After a whiskbroom has become ragged, trim off evenly and use as a sink brush.

Prick the small end of a potato before putting it in the oven and it will not burst.

A salad of onions, sardines, tomatoes and peppers is properly served with brown bread.

Never hoard old clothing or household articles—give them to somebody who can use them.

Yellow will light up the gloomiest of rooms, just as green will cool and soften the most garish.

Skim milk used instead of water in the cooking of cereals adds to their nutritive value.

Pushing screws in common soap before using will cause them to enter the wood more easily.

It's always more economical to measure materials in cooking than it is to guess at them.

It is the greatest economy to purchase the best spices; poor ones are usually adulterated.

If a small piece of velvet is glued inside the heel of a shoe, stockings will not wear out so fast.

Split a clothespin down the centre, and you have a good tool for scraping pans and kettles.

Always rinse black stockings in blue water, and they will keep a good color right on to the end.

If sugar is too high-priced to preserve fruit, then dry it. You can't starve to death very well on dried fruit.

Before cleaning knives on a knifeboard, damp them slightly. They clean more quickly and gain a better polish.

A few drops of ammonia in the water in which silver is washed will keep it bright for a long time without cleaning.

To prevent carpet from unraveling, when cut, run two rows of machine stitching with the machine where it is to be cut.

Grind a handful of sunflower seeds and give them to the canary. The birds relish the little tender pieces that are found among the seeds.

Stains in table linen are easily removed by plunging the articles in pure boiling water. The addition of soap or soda would have the effect of fixing the stain.

If new enamel pans are placed in a pan of water and allowed to come to the boil and then cool, they will be found to last much longer without burning or cracking.

Watering Boston ferns with weak tea instead of water will cause them to thrive wonderfully. When lice appear on ferns, stick some sulphur matches head down in soil.

For waterproofing boots and shoes, equal quantities of white wax, olive oil, and dectified lard, melted down make an excellent mixture but a little oil of turpentine should also be added.

To wash brushes and combs, put a teaspoonful of ammonia into a basin of hot water and dip the brush up and down in it letting the comb remain in the water for a few minutes. Afterward rinse in cold water.

REMARKABLE CONSCIENCE.

Memory of Stealing an Apple Anything But Pleasant.

A little knowledge, one recalls, is a dangerous thing. So, too, may be an apple which you may have innocently purloined in your earliest years. It may cause you to feel the prick of conscience for many decades. That, at least, has been the experience of an Edinburgh denizen. Once, in the remote and shadowy past, he took that which was not his—to wit, one apple—from a stand in the Cowgate. The fruit was enjoyed, but the memory of the furtive meal proved to be anything but pleasant. The consumer left the Scottish capital and in time fate carried him across the Atlantic. Fresh scenes and activities engaged him, but the thought of that apple dogged him everywhere. He might have been a second Eve. At last his overloaded conscience could bear the strain no longer. Nothing short of written confession to the Lord Provost of Edinburgh would appease the gnawing at his heart. So—40 years after the dark deed had been done—the letter was written and conscience money to the extent of one dollar paid.

A Slight Matter.

"I don't see you at Miss Golder's receptions any more, old man."
"No; she and I had a little difference of opinion."
"Nothing serious, I hope."
"Oh, no; only I thought I was the man she ought to marry and she thought I wasn't."

THE SUNDAY LESSON

INTERNATIONAL LESSON
SEPTEMBER 3.

Third Quarter.—Lesson V.—Paul's Sorrows and Comforts.—2 Cor. 11.21 to 12. 10. Golden Text 2 Cor. 12. 9.

Verse 21. Paul wants to make it clear that the braggarts must not be taken at their own valuation: he is obliged to explain—and the parenthesis here and in verse 23 shows how distasteful it was—that he could not honestly admit their superiority on any account.

22. Hebrews, as speakers of the sacred language; Israelites, as members of the sacred nation. Similarly in Phil. 3, 5 Paul claims to be "of the Israel" and "a Hebrew of Hebrew descent." Abraham's seed is best illustrated by John 8, 33, 37.

23. We can see how acutely Paul felt the necessity of actually recounting the sufferings and toils he had undergone for his Master: the very preciousness of them was in their unconsciousness. The catalogue thus wrung from him vividly illustrates the gaps in Luke's narrative regarded as a biography. One beating (Acts 16, 22) and one stoning (Acts 14, 19) are chronicled there; a fourth shipwreck (Acts 27) was yet to come. Prisons—Paul's familiarity with prison life is abundantly illustrated in the Acts, where two periods of two years are recorded subsequent to the time of this letter. What waste of unseparably precious time! Yet God saw that the time was not lost after all. Deaths—The plural implies different forms of deadly peril.

24. Jews.—The name of his own loved countrymen stands in reproachful emphasis, as in Acts 26, 2. Forty stripes save one—In Deut. 25, 3 forty was named as the maximum; the punctilious Jew was so careful not to exceed that he made thirty-nine the limit—he could take it out in quality where desired! Jesus took his disciples they should be scourged in synagogues, as breakers of divine law.

25. Sudden floods in dry riverbeds are familiar in countries, where the rain comes in mass. We may conjecture that peril from highwaymen was especially serious when crossing the mountain passes in the first journey, the point at which John Mark's heart failed him. Note the climax at the end—human treachery is worse than all.

27. The trials of this verse are arranged in three groups. First comes the weariness of physical and mental toil, with frequent denial of the sleep that would restore energy. Then the long waits for food and drink, often ending in failure of an expected supply. (We may be sure Paul is not thinking of useless austerities: he had quite enough unavoidable fasts without imposing mere ritual fasts on himself! And we may well doubt whether a man so emancipated from the ritual law found fasting a means of grace, which is its only justification.) Then comes the necessity of traveling in all weathers, and often without clothes enough to withstand the cold.

28. From things that are without, which touched his bodily comfort or even threatened his life, Paul comes to that which alone found an entry to his soul. How does this confession of daily "worrying" square with Paul's own precept "In nothing be anxious" (Phil. 4, 6), or the Master's own commands about anxiety? (Matt. 6, 25, 34.) We find that the forbidden anxiety is purely selfish; anxiety for others is an essential part of love's burden. The New Testament takes us far beyond the message given to Ezekiel. Those who "watch on behalf of souls" may "deliver their own soul" by faithfully warning the sinner of backsliding; but that cannot mean washing one's hands of an unworthy man as soon as he has been adequately admonished.

29. Weak—How this colossal strong man "bore the infirmities of the weak" appears in many of Paul's chapters. He felt for them so deeply that he truly put himself in their place. Caused to stumble—There is good reason to believe that this word would be more exactly rendered "ensnared, entrapped, tempted so as to fall. Just as to the Old Testament prophet the undelivered message was "as a fire in his bones," so is the news of a Christian's fall to the apostle.

30. Weakness—In quotation marks, as it were. The world might scoff at a saint's tears over the "sinners against their own selves" (Heb. 12, 3, as it should be read). God does not count them effeminate! So again, men do not boast of their prison record or judicial or flogging! Paul's humility puts aside all those splendors—so razzingly clear to us—which would have prompted any small man to boastfulness had he possessed a fragment of them. He declares (as in 2 Cor. 12, 6) that his appeal will be to the most rigid standard of truth, attested by God himself.

31. God is named first as "the God and Father" of the Lord for whose sake Paul boiled and suffered. Then—as constantly in the language of pious Jews (and others)—see Mark 14, 61)—he is the recipient of eternal thanksgiving from grateful mankind.

32. A typical instance of his hairbreadth escapes is added as an afterthought. Aretas—Father-in-law of Herod Antipas, who divorced his wife to marry Herodias, and, thus brought down on Galilee the armies of the outraged Arab king. Aretas was specially friendly to the Jews, which explains Saul's commission to arrest Christians in Damascus.

33. Here is a close link with Acts (9, 24, 25). The words there through the wall, lowering him, are identical (except for the passive) with Paul's own "I was lowered through the wall" here; the words for basket differ. Luke had heard Paul tell of it, but did not preserve the exact form. The window would be in a house overhanging the wall, like that of Rahab in Josh. 2, 15.

THE FASHIONS

Popularity of Georgette Frocks

The white Russian frock of Georgette, with perhaps a touch of contrasting color on cuffs or collar, is one of the favored designs for afternoon and evening wear. Georgette is delightfully cool and graceful and lends itself particularly well to the season's styles, both for daytime and for evening wear. It is one of the sheer materials which really washes and wears very well, making it practical for the modish transparent sleeve, the costume blouse and the dance dress.

For dance dresses, the printed Georgettes are youthful and pretty; some of these have printed borders, and plain white or colored grounds, and then again the softly tinted rose or conventionalized design is scattered over the material, on a ground of white, or stripes. It is most effective and satisfactory for many purposes.

One-Piece Frocks

Although many cling to the tailored suit with its contrasting blouse, even in the warmest weather, the one-piece dress is becoming more and more of a favorite. One of the most attractive of simple serges noticed recently, was made of two straight widths, belted in loosely with a belt of the material embroidered in a dark red satche. The armholes were cut out deeply and bound. With this frock was worn a white Georgette underblouse with loose flowing sleeves, the lower edges bound with rose color; the wide collar was also bound with the rose. It was a charming little model because of its simplicity, and very youthful in its straight lines.

The heavy linens, too, are effective for street wear. Ivory white, French blue, the soft pale grays, and cool looking greens are among the favored shades in these linens. Many of them are cut along the straight lines of the serges being pleated often on to a shoulder yoke, and belted in loosely with a belt or sash of the same

CHRIST IN FLANDERS

We had forgotten You or very nearly. You did not seem to touch us very nearly. Of course we thought about You now and then. Especially in any time of trouble. We knew that You were good in time of trouble. But we are very ordinary men.

And there were always other things to think of; There's lots of things a man has got to think of; His work, his home, his pleasure, and his wife; And so we only thought of You on Sunday. Sometimes, perhaps, not even on a Sunday. Because there's always lots to fill one's life.

And all the while, in street or lane or byway, In country lane, in city street or byway, You walked among us and we did not see. Your feet were bleeding as You walked our pavements. How did we miss Your footprints on our pavements? Can there be other folk as blind as we?

Now we remember over here in Flanders (It isn't strange to think of You in Flanders); This hideous warfare seems to make things clear. We never thought about You much in England, But now that we are far away from England We have no doubts, we know that You are here.

You helped us pass the jest along the trenches, Where in cold blood we waited in the trenches. You touched its ribaldry and made it fine. You stood beside us in our pain and weakness, We're glad to think You understand our weakness, Somehow it seems to help us not to whine.

We think about You kneeling in the garden, Ah, God! the agony of that dread garden; We know You prayed for us upon the cross; If anything could make us glad to bear it, 'Twould be the knowledge that You will to bear it, Pain—death—the uttermost of human loss.

Though we forgot You, You will not forget us; We feel so sure that You will not forget us; But stay with us until this dream is past; And so we ask for courage, strength, and pardon, Especially, I think, we ask for pardon, And that You'll stand beside us to the last.

material as the frock. An especially pretty white linen on this order. was made with a touch of black on the collar and sash.

The sash is quite smart just now on all types of dresses, from the simple serge to the afternoon taffeta or pongee. It is usually narrow, and made of the material of the dress, or of satin, when the frock is serge; generally a motif is embroidered on the ends, in colored beads or wool.

Many of these sashes cross in front and are knotted in the back loosely and gracefully.

Serge and Silk Combinations

Many of the favored silk frocks are combined effectively with a wool material, serge, gabardine or cloth. This is an idea which appeals to many and which is being used considerably in the ready-made garments. The lower portion of the skirt, the sleeveless jumper, wide cuffs and collar are generally made of the serge, and the body of the frock of the silk, taffeta, satin, or one of the Japanese silks, as the case may be.

CHINA'S GREAT CANAL.

Its Total Length is Very Nearly 850 Miles.

China is reported to be considering the restoration of the old canal system, of which there were at one time 60,000 miles within the empire. Centuries before the Christian era the great rivers of China were diverted from their natural courses, the waters of one turned into another's bed, and the waterways carried along in the direction of desired traffic. The ancient Grand Canal extends from Hangchow to Tientsin, traversing the Provinces of Chekiang, Kiangsu, Shantung and Chili, the total length of the canal being about 850 miles. China is in desperate need of transportation, and it has been estimated by engineers that less cost than that which would be involved in the building of the necessary railways. With the canals again in operation the railway building can go on at greater leisure.—Christian Herald.

FORBEAR, FORGIVE, FORGET

We Are Too Often Angry and Resentful Unnecessarily and Unrighteously.

"He is forbearing and of abundant mercy."—Exodus, xxxv., 6.

Forbear, forgive, forget. Three little words that help to build great happiness.

Three little words that mean great victory.

Three little words that prove us worthy of great privilege.

The great happiness which these simple words build is the happiness of peace. The victory they mean is victory over one's self. And the great privilege which they gain for us is the privilege of being through our conduct adjudged worthy sons and daughters of the Heavenly Father of us all.

Men anger us. We are human and therefore we resent. But every time we resent we lower ourselves to the level of him who offends us; we lose our own self-respect, which is a valuable asset; we raise the offender to the opinion that he is worth noticing, which he may desire but which we are frequently unwilling to concede; we provoke by our act or word of resentment future or further offence, which will only mean more anger or resentment on our part; we fail to convince the offender that he has wronged us, and our failure to do so means possibly our mortification and certainly a loss of our nervous energy wasted upon one who is not worthy of the expenditure.

To Quick to Take Offence.

Like most human emotions, anger or resentment can be holy or unholy. It is holy when directed against wrong that perils life in serious directions. For such wrong may mean grave consequences.

There is such a thing as righteous anger. Witness the anger which directed the extermination of the Canaanite nations so persistently guilty of the grossest immoralities, which, under the guise of worship, meant man's physical, mental and moral deterioration and death. But we speak of ordinary life as we ordinary human beings live it. We are too quick to take offence. We resent angrily when a "soft answer" would "turn aside the wrath," and we thereby de-

Forbear, forgive and forget. Who has not felt all the better for doing so?

And forgetting that we prove ourselves worthy of high privilege, worthy of our privilege of being sons and daughters of the good Father of all of us. For He is forbearing and forgiving and graciously forgets.

If He finds that our faults, whereby we offend him, are just human weaknesses that we honestly try to correct; if He finds that we are sincerely trying for a "change of heart," He will forbear, forgive and forget. He only desires that we shall return to the right way. He takes no delight in punishing or inflicting penalty. "In our sorrows He sorrows," as the prophet teaches us.

Let us therefore try to lead those who offend us to a change of heart. Let us try to correct the causes of their offending us. We can do so by tactful response, by soft answer, instead of by angry word or by angry bone, which is even worse!

It is only when truth, righteousness and honor are involved that our anger becomes righteous anger and our resentment becomes excusable.—Rev. H. Pereira Mendes, D. D. monstrate that "anger resteth in the bosom of fools," among whom there is no need for us to be numbered. It all means our annoyance. Any annoyance, even when caused by a pinprick, means a disturbance of our happiness.

If we can overcome our pride, conquer our anger, subdue our resentment, it means that we gain a great victory over the less worthy self and that the more worthy self, the "better self" within us, is mightier. That will mean our peace of mind and therefore our happiness.

After all, no man is infallible. And we are only men. Offence is oft the child of our own fault—or folly.

"In Our Sorrows He Sorrows."

He is a wise man that recognizes when he is foolish. He is a wise man that applies to himself Job's saw, "Wisdom will die with you!" and give credit to his offender for at least a little wisdom and possibly more right!

AN ANXIOUS TIME FOR ALL PARENTS

Children Often Seem to Pine Away and Ordinary Medicine Does Not Help Them.

The health of children between the ages of twelve and eighteen years, particularly in the case of girls, is a source of serious worry to nearly every mother. The growth and development takes so much of their strength that in many cases they actually seem to be going into a decline. The appetite is fickle, brightness gives way to depression, there are headaches, fits of dizziness, palpitation of the heart at the least exertion, and sometimes fainting. The blood has become thin and watery and the sufferer must have something that will bring back the blood to its normal condition. At this stage no other medicine can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Their whole mission is to make new, rich blood, which reaches every part of the body, bringing back health, strength and energy. Miss Helena Taylor, West Toronto, says: "Two years ago I was so badly run down with anaemia that some of my friends did not believe I would get better. I could not go upstairs without stopping to rest, suffered from headaches, loss of appetite, and for two months of the time was confined to the house. I was under the care of a doctor, but the medicine I took did not help me in the least. A friend advised my mother to give me Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and although I did not expect they would help me after the doctor's medicine had failed, I thought they might be worth trying. After taking two boxes there was such a marked change for the better that people asked me if I had changed doctors, and I readily told them the medicine that was helping me. I continued taking the pills until I had used eight boxes, when my health was fully restored, and I have since enjoyed the best of health. I hope my experience may be the means of convincing some sickly person that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can restore them to health."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

KEEP ON THE SUNNY SIDE.

Pick Out a Gleam of Light From the Dark Paths.

Since we all have more or less misfortune to meet, let us strive to meet it in the right way. Why sit down and bewail the ill luck that is ours? Why turn our sorrow over and over in our minds, seeing in it ever new phases of misfortune? No! Let us stand up beneath its weight, no matter how heavy the load may seem, and with our eyes fixed on the glimmer of light, let us walk swiftly out of the dark paths into the sunlight. Once we have learned to walk on the sunny side of life, darkness will have no further terrors for us, for we will carry our sunshine around with us in the depths of our hearts. The sunshine of the mind is far warmer and brighter than the sunshine which we see and feel with our physical senses. Once we have gained the true sense of real mental sunshine we will have the means to pull ourselves out of every slough of despond without any outside aid. For just as Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" was mental, so it is with all of our journeys through life. What we really accomplish must first be worked out in mind. Learning to pick out the gleam of light from the dark path, learning how to avoid the sloughs of despond and how to walk in the sunshine is not easy, but even the attempt at learning these lessons brings its reward of happiness and peace. Every little effort in the right direction brings such beautiful returns that the only wonder is that so few of us make the effort.

Star of a Feather.

"Some stars are so far away that the light from them hasn't reached us yet. But it will arrive eventually."

"Reminds me of my hired man coming from the post office," commented Farmer Heck.

The Manufacturers' Building at the Canadian National Exhibition has 72,500 square feet of exhibit space and the Annex 73,000 square feet.

THE CULTURED ARE THE BRAVEST

YEARS OF REFINEMENT BRING COURAGE.

Abbe Moreaux Believes War Developed All Latent Fortitude of Race.

The discussion of courage as developed by the war and as manifested by individual soldiers under fire has drawn some interesting contributions from Dr. Charles Richet of the French Institute and the Abbe Moreaux, director of the Bourges Observatory.

Dr. Richet is of the opinion that fear and courage must be considered separately; that the former exists in certain temperaments alongside the latter; that a man may be unable to control the terrifying effect of a dangerous situation upon his physical faculties and yet stand his ground in the face of almost certain death through the exercise of his will. These men he considers the bravest of all.

Among the soldiers who hold their ground under murderous fire there are always some who are afraid and others who are not, says Dr. Richet, but all prove their bravery by still being there; the cowards have fled.

Considering the whole war, taking into account the atrocious features that have developed here and there with all allowance made for occasional weaknesses, Dr. Richet considers that the soldiers have shown heroism that justifies a great deal of pride on the part of the present generation, in spite of the belief that seemed to prevail before the great conflict that intellectual development, with progress in science, letters and arts, while ennobling the mind, had diminished personal courage.

Most Refined Are Bravest.

The question was frequently discussed as to whether the delicate and subtle culture of later years was not going to produce a tame spirited and effeminate generation, preferring well being to arduous effort and incapable of comprehending the beauty of sacrifice. It is exactly the contrary that has been demonstrated, according to Dr. Richet; the most cultivated and refined of the young men of France and Great Britain having been those who have shown the greatest bravery. Students of the Sorbonne and other French universities, students of Eton, Oxford and Cambridge set the example.

These are the men, Dr. Richet says, who have shown most courage in its simplest form; that is to say, by supreme contempt for death, and that contempt, he concludes, is not the result of philosophical reflection, but is simply the spontaneous manifestation of inherent bravery.

Never, even among the heroes of antiquity, in the times of Leonidas, Spartacus, or Hannibal, according to Dr. Richet, was there shown so much of this kind of abnegation and so much tranquil self-sacrifice—supreme courage—as in the present conflict.

As to the men who are naturally brave and take supreme risks without requiring an effort of the will to overcome fear, Dr. Richet gives different reasons, the first of which is that some of them do not believe in danger; they imagine that they are invulnerable—that they have a lucky star; they are surrounded by a sort of optimistic fatality that gives them a feeling of security. In other cases these naturally brave men, even when they believe in danger, are not intimidated by it because they have in their own minds already made the sacrifice of their life; once that conclusion reached—to die or to be wounded is something that does not torment them.

Other Impelling Influences.

Others, and perhaps the great majority, are neither those that are indifferent to death nor those who believe in their lucky star; they are men who see before them other more powerful images than that of death, such as the fatherland, sense of duty, of honor, renown of the regiment, ambition to earn praise or promotion, pride at being admired by one's comrades, and shame at being taken for a coward.

In nearly all these cases the idea of death and danger disappear and the soldier is brave without effort. He forgets every risk that he is taking in the presence of the image that he has in his mind.

The number of these naturally brave men is notably larger in daylight and in the presence of commanding officers and comrades than at night on sentry duty or on solitary mission that no witness will be able to recount. Men who acquit themselves on such missions without finching Dr. Richet considers the bravest of all.

Habit Overcomes Fear.

In the constant habit of it all notion of danger finally disappears, as in the case of aviators, most of whom the first time they are up in the air have a sensation of fear in spite of all reasoning. After a certain number of ascensions the physical manifestations of apprehension disappear; to be supported in the air by the speed of the motor seems to them to be the simplest thing possible, and certain pilots have declared that they felt themselves in greater safety seated in their aeroplanes in the air than when riding in an automobile.

The hardened warriors of African campaigns, habituated to all the risks of war, were naturally more stolid under fire than young recruits who had seen nothing of military life but the barracks and the manoeuvres, and yet according to the Abbe Moreaux even those seasoned men in presence of the new and formidable dangers of scientific warfare showed no more fortitude than the young recruits who had had only a few months of preparation before facing the enemy.

Abbe Moreaux is of the opinion that the war itself has developed all the latent fortitude of the race, and he expects that the generation that has suffered this war will find itself with new resources created by it. The sentiment of union of common interest and patriotism will have been reawakened, he thinks, and many a pusillanimous creature both in the army and out of it will have a new courage born of the virtue that makes heroes. The entire nation, he thinks, will participate in this reawakening of latent forces.

BRITAIN'S ENEMY ALIENS.

How the Government Handles the Many Cases.

Whipping the enemy in the field of battle and sinking his ships on the sea constitute, of course, the main problem of a war; but there is another part about going to war that is almost as intricate and vexatious and as hard in its own way to deal with. It concerns spies and aliens—the capture of the spy and the control of thousands of full liberty, except reporting now and then at police stations. The British Government now interns, unless some very good reason for not doing so is shown, all enemy aliens of military age, and some others.

Every German in Great Britain was considered a spy until proved otherwise. And probably every German was a spy, in the sense that if he had the opportunity of obtaining and then transmitting information to his Government, he would do so. Those who were spies were arrested and tried; a dozen or so have been shot in the Tower of London. Those who have been suspected but not proved to have been spies have usually been sent into internment camps, out of harm's way, and where their spying propensities have no outlet. The task of combing out the "bad uns" has been enormous. There is no telling how many investigations the police have had to make—it runs into the hundreds of thousands.

Not a rumor goes unheeded by Scotland Yard. Every report against any person, whether it comes from a newspaper, maid servant or householder, is investigated. It is astonishing how many people have been accused of espionage in this view. Conversations in the privacy of homes have been repeated by patriotic servants. A Scotland Yard man furnishes the next chapter.

Foreigners have learned to be very careful in what they say and where they say it. Every Britisher enjoys the privilege of roasting his own government; but let a foreigner do it and if any one overhears there is likely to follow a denunciation at Scotland Yard.

"The Yard" never overlooks a thing. Every report thus received, whether it seems important or not, is investigated. Of the large number of people placed under arrest on suspicion probably one per cent, according to information an expert has given, are found guilty. Many of these have done nothing serious that can be proved against them, and are crunched into internment camps. A very small number compared to the total of arrests have been found guilty after trial.

Grape-Nuts

Everybody needs it—stored for emergency in a well-developed, well-preserved, well-nourished body and brain.

Grape-Nuts food stands preeminent as a builder of this kind of energy. It is made of the entire nutriment of whole wheat and barley, two of the richest sources of food strength.

Grape-Nuts also includes the vital mineral elements of the grain, so much emphasized in these days of investigation of real food values.

Crisp, ready to eat, easy to digest, wonderfully nourishing and delicious.

Lachute, Que., 25th Sept., 1908. Minard's Liniment Co., Limited. Gentlemen—Ever since coming home from the Boer war I have been bothered with running fever sores on my legs. I tried many salves and liniments; also doctored continuously for the blood, but got no permanent relief, till last winter when my mother got me to try MINARD'S LINIMENT. The effect of which was almost magical. Two bottles completely cured me and I have worked every working day since.

WHITE OAK VALUABLE. Used for Many Purposes, and Valuable as Mahogany.

The white oak has served for more useful purposes than perhaps any other tree, and its wood to-day is worth as much as mahogany. Says "Outing," Furniture of "solid oak" is now a rarity, for the wood has become so expensive that it is used in the form of a veneer over baser woods. So used it loses none of its beauty, and even the thin veneer resists wear for an incredibly long time. This wood was a useful one to the early agriculturists as well as to those of the present day. It was durable when exposed to the elements, and was also durable in contact with the soil. It was and is still used in fencing, and much of the second growth white oak timber in America is being cut for railroad cross ties. Ties of this timber bring the highest price, and some of the larger roads will accept nothing else.

KAMLOOPS AND IRRIGATION.

The Leading Inland City of British Columbia.

The Western Canada Irrigation Association held its Tenth Annual Convention at the City of Kamloops the last week in July. The picturesque little city takes its name from the Indian equivalent "Meeting of the Waters," where the sun shines every day and good fellowship, health and happiness radiate from all, and opens wide in hospitality its doors to you. Away back over a hundred years ago the North West Fur Trading Co., with keen appreciation of the advantages of the location, established a post on the present site of Kamloops—the junction of the now called North and South Thompson Rivers. Its excellent water communications; its central position in a wide open stretch of splendid grazing country and its healthy, growing climate, attracted Indians and traders from all parts, and soon the little trading-post grew in importance and population. Seventy-five years afterwards the Canadian Pacific Railway thrust its steel rails through the main street of the aspiring little community, and it was but an endorsement of the opinion of the old trading company, that Kamloops was indeed, "The Place in the Sun."

There are irrefutable reasons why Kamloops claims the distinction of being the leading inland city of the Province of British Columbia. Its geographical position marks it as serving a very large area; 250 miles from Vancouver, 390 miles from Calgary and 540 from Edmonton, it sees no possible rival. With a population of some 5,000, it points with pardonable pride to its splendid streets and pavements, to its modern electric lights, power, water and telephone systems, and to its uninterrupted steady progress. With abundance of water, continuous bright sunshine and undisputed soil-fertility, it contains all the attributes necessary to future commercial and agricultural developments.

YOUR BLOOD CAN'T RUN COLD.

Will Not Do So as Long as You Are Alive and Well.

"My blood runs cold at the very thought" is not a novel expression. You often either hear some one else say it or aver it yourself. Your blood cannot "run cold" as long as you are alive and well. If the blood really becomes cooler than "blood heat" something serious happens to your health.

When you feel cold it is a sensation, not necessarily the temperature of the tissues. Often with the blood feverish or way above its normal warmth you feel chilly. So much of the superheated blood is then at the surface of the skin that an extra normal amount of heat leaves too quickly.

On the other hand, men and women who drink beer, gin, whisky, and similar alcoholic beverages "feel the glow of warmth" and believe they are hot when as a matter of course their blood is a trifle below blood heat temperature—at times manifestly a dangerous thing.

True enough the blood has a lot to do with how you feel. This, however, is not because "it blows hot or blows cold," but because that part of it in the skin where the sensations of heat and cold are located reflects the outward surroundings according to the previous experience and habits of each individual's skin.

If a stoker and an employee of a refrigerator plant are put in a cold draught or before an open grate fire each will feel chilly or hot according to his previous experience and habits. The stoker will "catch cold" in the draught which will have no effect whatsoever upon the man used to cold storage temperatures.

NEW MODEL SALOON.

British Government Opens One at Carlisle, Eng.

Carlisle, Eng. is very proud of being the city selected to pioneer this movement, and already the Gretina is drawing a large clientele. Six public houses here were closed in consequence of the war and the necessity arose to find a suitable substitute.

The new saloon is more than a mere bar and lounge. The building is a fine stone structure in a prominent thoroughfare, and resembles neither the German beer hall nor the British public house. The invasion of the neighborhood by the creation of a colossal munitions factory in the neighborhood of Carlisle was the origin of the idea of a kind of workman's club saloon. The rural beer houses were too small and too local for the class of people who had come into the locality. So the Control Board took over several of these rural inns, and have made a single building of them, with kitchens, dining-rooms, library and cinema shows.

Forests cover one-sixth of the entire surface of Switzerland.

Roumania is the 14th nation to enter the great war. This nation has about 900,000 men to put in the field and the advance guard has already clashed with Austrian troops. Roumanian statesmen make no bones about it in stating that one main reason that country is in the war on the side of the Allies is that the Central Powers will be defeated and Roumania wants the fertile province of Transylvania from Hungary when the day of settlement comes. The entry of another nation on the side of the Allies will hasten the end of the war.
