Canada's Need For Thrift.

These may be abnormal times and thus suggest extra cause for thrift. A return to what in comparison may be termed a normal period, however, seems to prove that there was then nearly as much reason for the same mission. In the Report of the Commission on the Cost of Living in Canada it is shown that the price of food in this country rose from 100 in 1900 to 145 in 1913, and of food and coal combined from 100 to 130.6. In the United Kingdom the rise in the same period was from 100 to 118.8 for food and from 100 to 109.3 for coal. This being on the whole a colder climate and coal not being so accessible, it would hardly be expected that the combined increase would be proportionately less than for the single necessities, food, yet it seems to be the case. The one deduction appears possible, that greater thrift, comparatively speaking, is exercised in the use of fuel than in the consumption of food.

Why should the increase of the cost of food in Canada have been greater in the fourteen years than in Britain? That is a question worthy of answer and of thought. We are not only self contained in most articles of food but in the more common run have a surplus for export. Britain, on the other hand, is an importer of at least fourteen of the sixteen articles reckoned with in the computation, namely, beef, mutton, pork, bacon, eggs, butter, cheese, flour, oatmeal, rice, sugar, coffee, potatoes and tea. In addition the investigation of the Cost of Living Commission would seem to indicate that Canada is rapidly becoming one of the most expensive to live in of all the affiliated countries of the empire. In such circumstances it is apparent that it is up to us, people to go in for thrift and to consider in what way the situation can be remedied and improved. We have not the large poverty-stricken class to lessen the percentage that Great Britain unhappily possessed, but home production and home industry should outweigh that possible reason for some of the difference. There are and are not other causes for the difference, and those here set forth appear to be the main ones. If every Canadian would consider that every dollar, every cent, saved and judiciously invested, and that every ounce of food produced, meant so much added to the country's capital and wealth, it is not difficult to believe that there would soon be a decrease in the proportional increase of the cost of the necessities of life along with a speedy diminution in household expenses.

She Gained 36 lbs

Mrs. George Bradshaw, Harlow, Ont. writes: "I was troubled for many years with weak watery blood and dizziness. I had nervous headaches, dizziness and sinking spells, and was in fact, a semi-invalid. Doctors told me my heart and kidneys were diseased and gave me up. By using 10 boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I have been cured of my all my ailments and gained 36 pounds in weight."

American Yarns

Stories have been diligently circulated in the United States to the effect that Americans have been conscripted in Canada, that Americans are liable to be examined and searched even to the lining of their clothing, that this country is choked with spies, and that a luckless American fails to have his passport on exhibition he need not expect to be able to return. It is, perhaps, not hard to judge the authorship of these stories, of which there is no reason whatever. If a man is a citizen of a belligerent country and is not known in Canada he should have his identification papers with him, but ordinary travellers can journey where they like and feel as free in Canada as Canadian citizens may feel in any part of the United States.

Girls Are Soon Widows.

One of the most poignant of the many tragedies in the grim, sordid drama which the last two weeks have seen enacted in Ireland is revealed by the announcement in the "Births, Marriages and Deaths" column of the Irish Times of the marriage of Joseph Plunkett and Grace Gifford. Behind the announcement lies the story of a well known and honored Dublin family brought to sorrow and tribulation by the crime of the Sinn Féin and of two refined, artistic girls, well known in Dublin society, whose lives have been wrecked by the insane folly of two men. Behind all looms the strange mysterious figure of the Countess Markievicz, who played so prominent a part in the tragic events, and who has flitted through all the dark pages of Irish discontent and treason of recent years.

Joseph Plunkett was a rebel leader, one of the seven signatories to the proclamation of the republic, who was shot last Thursday morning. His bride, Grace Gifford, is a daughter of Frederick Gifford, a prominent Dublin solicitor. In the gloomy precincts of Richmond barracks, where the rebel leaders have been imprisoned, the marriage ceremony was performed

When Dreamers Die.

A few days ago a captain of industry, a man of millions, died in New York. His name was John A. Hill, and he was the publisher of "The Engineering News," "The Mining Journal," "The Coal Age" and other trade publications. A quarter of a century ago, or a bit more, he was engineer of a freight train in the Colorado Mountains. One day, while the train waited on a siding, both he and his fireman leaned from the cab and gazed dreamily at the distant mountain tops. The fireman spoke first.

"What are you dreaming about, John?" he asked.

"I was dreaming that I'm going to have a million dollars some day," answered the engineer. "What were you dreaming about?"

"Oh, I was dreaming that I'll write a book some day," answered the fireman.

The story is true. The fireman told it. His name was Cy Worman, and he published his books—several of them, in fact—and reached the hearts of millions by his songs. Thus the dreams of those young dreamers came true. The young workers who have followed them have the same dreams and others. And do not laugh at them; most of the things accomplished in history have been accomplished by the dreamers.

The dreamer lives forever, but the toiler dies in a day; and "all this broken world, what else endures, save only dream?"—The "Boston Herald."

Everything is good in its place. The bile, which, under certain conditions, causes so much distress, is of the greatest value as an antiseptic and cathartic when it is properly handled by the liver.

The chief function of the liver seems to be the filtering of bile from the blood, where it acts as a poison, and pouring it into the intestines, where it hastens the course of the food mass through the alimentary canal, and by its antiseptic influence prevents fermentation of the food.

When you suffer from biliousness and indigestion and have a coated tongue, bitter taste in the mouth, headaches and loss of appetite, you will do well to look to the condition of the liver. Other symptoms are wind or the stomach, which causes belching, and the formation of gas, which gives rise to dizziness and pains about the heart.

Because the liver has failed, the food in the alimentary canal is fermenting instead of being digested, looseness and constipation of the bowels alternate, the whole digestive system is thrown out of order and the blood is poisoned.

By immediately awakening the action of the liver and bowels, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills affords relief for this condition most promptly. On this account they are generally recognized as the most effective cure for biliousness, liver complaint, indigestion, constipation, and the pains and aches which arise from poisons in the blood. The benefits are lasting because this medicine removes the cause of trouble.

One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations disappoint.

If Britain "Went Dry."

New York Independent: Their (the British) drink bill for last year was $79,750,000, and probably they are now spending a billion dollars a year on something which many people in the United States and England manage to get along without. The war has cost Great Britain about $7,500,000,000. If we subtract from this the loans for other countries, which will presumably be repaid, and the money spent on feeding the soldiers, who would have had to be fed and clothed anyhow, though no so well in time of peace, we should have left, using the estimate of Sir George Paish, a net loss to the country of about $2,500,000,000. If then, Great Britain should go dry as Russia has, its total war losses could be paid up within the next three years not allowing anything for the gain in industrial efficiency and the saving which incidentally results from the consumption of a billion dollars worth of liquor a year.

For Mother.

He was only a mite of a boy, dirty and ragged; and he stopped for a little while in one of the city's free playgrounds to watch a game of ball between boys of his own and a rival neighborhood. Tatters and grime were painfully in evidence on every side; but the little fellow attracted the attention of a group of visitors, and one of them, reaching over the child's shoulder as he sat on the ground, gave him a luscious golden pear. The boy's eyes sparkled; but the eyes were the only thanks as he looked back to see from whence the gift had come and then turned his face away to shoo or too much astonished to speak.

But from that time on his attention was divided between the game and his new treasure. He patted the pear; he looked at it; and, at last, as if to assure himself that it was as delicious as it appeared, he lifted it to his lips and cautiously bit out a tiny piece near the stem. Then, with a long sigh of satisfaction and assurance, he tucked the pear safely inside his blouse.

"Why don't you eat it, Tony?" demanded a watchful acquaintance.

"Eat it? all myself? Ain't I savin' it for mother?"

The tone with its mingling of resentment and loyalty, made further speech unnecessary. Whatever Tony lacked—and it seemed to be nearly everything—he had learned human life's loftiest lesson. He had another dearer than self, and knew the joy of sacrifice.—Exchange.

A Great Difference.

I'm so tired of terms and names, for the ordinary standards of life and death before the war have been emptied of their meaning.

And who's to diagnose that difference to the satisfaction of the layman? It will need a new sort of observation to do it—a new kind of politician made by a new kind of journalist, and a new kind of citizen with a new kind of soul and daughter. Man was made out of the slime, and will be re-made out of it here.

There's a Truth on the Trenches. And tell every one who has influence that it's not inspiring to us soldiers to read of drunken men and women at home, and Russia (a country with a soul) letting no vodka pass her lips. My legged land! Politicians, who willing to have Germany, pter out before the public! Vates versus vodka—that ignoble cry is not heard in Petrograd.

While the Canadian troops are doing their part at the front and the Canadian business man is doing his part at home, it remains for the Canadian citizen also to do his part. It is patriotic and it is good business to buy goods first that are made in our country, second, in our country, and third, in our British Empire.

Premier Murray was presented with a silver tea service by the Liberal members of the Assembly and Council, the event being the completion of twenty years as Premier of Nova Scotia. Mr. Murray has had the longest term as Premier of any man in the history of the British Empire except the late Sir Oliver Mowat of Ontario.

If your neighbor is prosperous, let him prosper. Don't grudge, growl or grumble. Say a good word for him and let it go at that. Don't be a knocker. Your turn will come. No man is the whole show. If you see that the town is moving in a good way, feel good about it. Help things along, shove a little. Try to get some of the benefit yourself. Don't stand around like a chilly old cadaver, don't waste your time feeling sore because some fellow has a little more sand than you have. Do a little bustling yourself.

Your home paper is really a tireless letter writer. If nothing more, week after week we prepare this printed letter for those living here and for those who have moved to some other locality, telling of marriages, births, deaths, the coming and going of people, of business efforts and progress, accidents, crops, improvements, meetings and so on. If you should understand to write a letter to an all friend every week telling him all the news, you would get a faint idea of the task in preparing a newspaper. Many of our townspeople recognize this and take pleasure in giving items of news. It helps us and is appreciated.

Baby's Welfare.

The welfare of the baby is the first mother's greatest aim. No mother wants to see her little ones suffering from colds, constipation, colic or any other of the many ills that so often afflict little ones. Thousands of mothers have learned that by giving an occasional dose of Baby's Own Tablets to their children they can keep them well. Concerning the Tablets Mrs. Richard Boston, Pembroke, Ont., says: "Baby's Own Tablets saved my little girl when nothing else appeared to help her. I would not attempt to raise a baby without keeping the Tablets in the house." They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Our Heroes.

How often do our people endeavor to visualize that scene on the battle front in France and Belgium where Canadian soldiers rise each day with the consciousness that before the following sunrise some of their comrades will have gone from them, and more white crosses will be erected in memory of a life given for Canada? It is to be feared we do not think enough on this subject or there would be a more ready response to the appeal for recruits, and the mails would be carrying more messages of love and more parcels with little comforts for the men who stand between us and the grinding heel of Prussian militarism. It would seem that we have become somewhat hardened, and go about our pleasures with less thought than they deserve for the splendid fellows who are facing death as brave men have faced it since the world began. They are our heroes, these stern faced men and boys—for some are scarcely more than boys—who have seen the vision and embraced the task, and stand unflinching amid the tornado of death along the shell swept fields of France and Flanders. Their face is to the foe but their thoughts are of the homeland and its dear ones, and if we fail to give them constant tokens of remembrance we are selfish and unworthy.

New Report on Water-Works of Canada.

A new edition of "Water-works and Sewerage Systems of Canada," by L. G. Denis, has just been issued by the Commission of Conservation. In the present report the various physical and financial data respecting water-works have been brought up to date and a new section on sewerage systems has been added. The book is a royal octavo volume, handsomely bound in cloth, contains 176 pages of text and is well illustrated with 25 half-tones and 5 diagrams.

In the year of Confederation there were only 7 water works plants in Canada, to-day there are 528. These have been built at a total cost of $123,725,643 and entail an annual maintenance charge of $4,558,539. The total daily consumption is 426,877,000 imperial gallons, which gives an average daily consumption per capita of 113 gallons, ranging from 59 gallons in Manitoba to 143 in New Brunswick.

There are 206 plants supplied from springs or wells and 322 from lakes or streams. In 72 plants the water is filtered and in 21 plants it is treated with hypochlorite. The municipally owned plants number 476. As to rates, where specified, it is shown that flat rates are used in 209 cases, meters 83, and both flat and meter in 141. There are 279 sewerage systems in Canada, having an aggregate mileage of 4,223 and which have been built at a total cost of $74,544,418. In only 75 municipalities is the sewerage treated. Proportionally to population, the West, with 28 treatment plants, makes a much better showing than the East, with 47. The total cost of the treatment plants is $3,218,935.

Beef Cattle And Economy.

Big Falling Off In Beef Cattle a significant heading on page 108 of the Agricultural War Book for 1916. On page 97 there is this paragraph: "It is in the interests of the Empire that everything possible should be done to foster the Canadian livestock industry. In Canada, the number of cattle is about 6,000,000, headed 2,500,000 sheep—a total which, having regard to the population of the Dominion, does not at present leave a very large margin for export. With the probability of preferential trade in food within the Empire there are great possibilities in the expansion of Canadian live stock production."

There was once an English Bishop who, being called upon to preach a sermon in aid of an orphan asylum for boys and girls, pointed to the children arranged in full sight of the congregation, and saying, "They're there," left the pulpit. The quotation of the two foregoing paragraphs should in like manner almost be sufficient to indicate to Canadians the opportunity and duty that lie before them. There is, however, so much matter of similar import, and pointing in the same direction, in the book, that it is well worth while to look further into it. As to the falling off, the statistics show that the decrease of beef cattle during the years extending from 1910 to 1914, totalled 922,662, or 7,338 fewer than a million, or upwards of 23 per cent. Meantime the population increased and people went on eating as much beef as ever. The decline in numbers of cattle by provinces was: Nova Scotia 31,920; New Brunswick 11,133; Ontario 658,919; Manitoba 62,999; Alberta 293,908; and British Columbia 6,139. Against these decreases there has to be reckoned an increase of 25,681 in Quebec, of 43,272 in Saskatchewan and of 3,400 in Prince Edward Island. It will be noticed that the decline was in those provinces nearest to the United States and where packers are most in evidence.

Two morals are to be gathered from the foregoing figures considered in conjunction with existing conditions. One is that we must produce more, and, the other, that we must eat less beef, that is if we have any desire to take rank as overseas exporters of live stock or live stock products of any importance. To accomplish the first farmers will need to pay additional attention to their breeding cows and to prize them to a greater extent than official returns would imply they have been doing. In connection with the other, it will be necessary

Acacia Villa Closing.

The Closing Exercises of Acacia Villa School, Hortonville, Kings Co., took place in the Assembly Hall of this school on Tuesday evening, May 23rd. The audience was large and the programme long, but the former was very appreciative and the latter of splendid quality, so a most enjoyable evening was the result. The boys of the school gave Recays, and Readings, in a most creditable style. The latter were memorized perfectly, and the whole six numbers were given with fine feeling and enunciation, seldom so noticeable in boys under sixteen. The Recays were interesting and well constructed.

The piano numbers were very creditable indeed for beginners, as they nearly all were, and reflected much credit on their teacher, Miss Hocking, of Grand Pre. The Kinderfest March for six hands on the piano, in which the boys were assisted by the latter of splendid quality, so a most enjoyable evening was the result. The boys of the school gave Recays, and Readings, in a most creditable style. The latter were memorized perfectly, and the whole six numbers were given with fine feeling and enunciation, seldom so noticeable in boys under sixteen. The Recays were interesting and well constructed.

The students were assisted by Miss Minnie Miller, violinist, of Canby, and Mrs. Stewart Trenholm and the Misses Stuart, Eaton and Kennedy, of Grand Pre. Miss Miller's violin numbers were a special feature of the evening and gave great pleasure to all. The vocal solos by the other ladies were of a high order, and encores were insisted upon. The Quartette—The Goblins 'I Get You, was rendered very sweetly and with much dramatic fervor. It was received so enthusiastically that the last verse had to be repeated. Miss Hocking accompanied the soloists in her usual pleasing manner.

The Principal, Mr. A. H. Patterson, reported that the year just ended had been an exceptionally satisfactory one, judged from the quality of the work done, the health of the students and their general deportment.

There has been enrolled thirty-one boys, twenty of whom had been boarders. Five of this year's students had enlisted. Of the boys who had been at Acacia Villa during the past eight years, over fifty are either at the front or in training for active service. Previous to that time, it is impossible to get an accurate estimate of those who have answered their country's call, but former teachers and old students by the score are serving in all ranks from privates to commanding officers.

Mr. Patterson spoke in very commendatory terms of the work of the Assistant Master, Mr. McHardy, of Pictou county, who has most faithfully and efficiently filled his position during the year and who, also, plans in the near future to enter the service in our country's defence. He expressed for himself, Mrs. Patterson and the members of the school sincere thanks to the ladies who had contributed so generously to the evening programme.

The Rev. M. Hocking and Dr. Woodworth, of Kentville, followed with words of congratulation on the success of the evening's entertainment, and confidence in the school, which is one of the exceedingly few Private Boarding Schools in the Maritime Provinces. It was a matter of keen regret to Mr. and Mrs. Patterson and the students that owing to professional engagements, Dr. Chipman, who has been the school's physician for over forty years, was unable to be present. For at least twenty consecutive years the doctor has never missed a closing and the evening seemed to lack an essential to its complete success.

The proceeds from the sale of tickets is to be contributed to Patriotic purposes. God Save the King, sung with fervor and reverence, followed by a vociferous rendition of the School Tell brought to a close one of the most enjoyable programmes in the history of this old school.

Uric Acid Suffering Uric acid is an accumulation of poison which finds lodgment in the system when the kidneys fail to remove it from the blood. In the kidneys and bladder it forms stones, in the joints and muscles it causes rheumatism. In any case the pain and suffering is almost beyond human endurance. Uric acid is promptly removed from system when the kidneys are kept healthy and active by using Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills.
