CHAPTER XXIX

"Give me another," she said. "I—I have worked too long. You were right; a little more of it and I should have been ill. Put it down there where I can get it," and she swung round to the piano and dashed at the masurka again.

Weston went out of the room with a look of deeper gravity on her face than it had worn before.

The masurka rang through the little house and arrested the steps of the passers-by; then suddenly it stopped, for the door opened, and hearing it, Flossie looked up and saw reflected in the round mirror above the piano the face and shoulders of Sir Herrick.

She stopped and stared, motionless, her eyes full on the picture his face made, then a shudder ran through her.

The face was so pale and haggard, so passion-worn and set, that it might have been the ghost of the handsome, health-thrown face she knew and loved. She did not shriek, though the cry trembled on her lips; but a sudden spasm of fear ran through her as he raised his eyes and she saw them in the glass. It was not that they were threatening; it was not that they were angry; but it was the death-like, stony determination in them.

But if no passion shone in them now, there was the remains of the fire that had burnt itself out; dark and lurid, and full of infinite self-scorn as they gazed down at her.

For a moment they stared at each other in that dainty piece of glass which had looked down in some ancient Venetian palace upon many scenes, but never upon a more intense one than this.

Then, with as great an effort as ever she had exerted on the stage, she forced the blood to her cheeks, and a smile to her lips, and turned round to him with both hands held out.

"So you have come back, Rick!" she said, with a pleasant voice which scarcely betrayed a quiver.

"Yes, I have come back," he said, and his voice was very low and grave, but not a touch of anger in it, or reproach.

A wild hope shot up in her bosom, that perhaps after all that girl in the country had not betrayed her, had not told him about the letter, and the hope sent the hectic flush to her face, and a sudden light into her eyes.

"You are like the Wandering Jew, Rick," she said, laughing, and putting back the lace from her arm as she turned a bracelet. "And you look so tired, dear boy. Have you come straight back from—wherever you have been?"

He smiled grimly at her pretence of ignorance as to his whereabouts; but she hurried on:

"Sit down and rest, and have some wine," and she rose and filled him a glass, and held it up to his lips.

He put her hand aside, not roughly, but with a mechanical movement worse to her than the most pronounced harshness.

"No wine—thanks, Flossie."

"Some tea, then—coffee? Say what you will have. You must have something. A cigar?"

And she glided across the room and brought him a cigar-box.

But he shook his head; then, out of pity, he took a cigar and lit it.

The spirit of hope rose still higher. She knew the value of a cigar with an angry man.

"And now sit down, Rick, dear, and—tell me all about it. I mean"—hurriedly—"where you have been, and so on. I wish you had been at the theatre to-night," she ran on, sinking on to the couch, as near him as she dared. "It was quite a triumph—five encores and an ovation at the end."

He looked up, still with the cold, impassive gravity.

"I am glad of it," he said. "You have still something to live for, Flossie."

She laughed, but the colour died away slowly.

"What a speech!" she exclaimed, tossing her short curls. "Of course I have; why, haven't I you to live for, you dear, stupid boy?"

He did not reply.

"Go and finish your piece," he said, quietly.

"Why, you don't want to hear it?" with a pout.

"No," he said, grimly. "I cannot say I do; but I want to give you time, Flossie—and myself, too. Do as I ask you."

There was something in his voice, low and quite as it was, that did not brook disobedience. Besides, she wanted time—to get breath, for the hope had dried up.

So she went to the piano and played; but after a few bars the masurka glided into a sonata—a soft and sad plaint that would have melted the heart of a Nero. She heard him get up and pace the room, and saw him in the glass stop and look at her.

She played the sonata to the end, and then got up.

"Now," she said, with a little catch in her breath, her face pale and wistful, and a tearful look in her eyes, "what is it, Rick? Why do you come like a man who has committed a murder, and wants to tell the people in front how he did it?"

"That is just what I want to do," he said; "but I don't know how to begin, Flossie. You must help me. I have committed a murder!"

She started and swung one hand towards a chair behind her.

He smiled grimly.

"A murder of the worst and cruellest kind. I have slain a human being's happiness. Yes, that is what we have done, you and I, Flossie!"

"I—I—" she faltered.

He looked at her sternly for the first time.

"Don't do that," he said, warningly, "don't act; you are not on the boards, Flossie. Besides, my poor girl, it is of no use, it is thrown away. You asked me just now where I had been; that was acting—it was thrown away; you knew."

She tries to give him the lie, but she cannot, her lips tremble and her eyes droop. A grim kind of pity falls upon him.

"Sit down," he says, and he points to the couch.

Mechanically she obeys him, and leans back on her arms, her eyes downcast, yet watching him.

"You knew. I went to her to whom you wrote the letter that has slain the happiness of a pure, trusting, gentle-hearted girl."

His eyes gleam for a moment, but they are calm again as he goes on:

"It—it was a cruel thing to do, Flossie; cruel and cowardly. It was a devilish deed. Who prompted you?"

The question is so sudden that she sinks back white and breathless.

Easy to Make This Pine Cough Remedy

Thousands of families owe their prompt recovery to its use.

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine is famous for this purpose.

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a 16-oz. bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make 16 ounces—more than you can buy ready-made for $2.50. It is pure, good and very pleasant—children take it eagerly.

You can feel the take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—infamed membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon the throat.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and any other brand name. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

"I—I did it alone!" she gasps.

"Cruel, you call it cruel. You! Haven't you been cruel?"

"Yes," he said, with compressed lips.

"Haven't you been—cowardly?"

"Yes," with grim self-reproach.

"You—you own to it," she says, breathing fast and furiously. "You—you left me here without a word, without so much as a sign, and—went to make love to her, a—a stranger, while I—I had loved and been true to you; before Heaven! true, true to you, Rick!" And the tears welled up to her eyes as she clenched her small hands.

He looks down at her with pale, haggard face.

"Flossie, I remembered that last night," he said, "last night, when I had resolved to come here and kill you, and it stayed my hand."

She trembles, but looks up at him unflinchingly.

"Kill me!" she says, bitterly. "Why didn't you? I shouldn't have cared, I shouldn't have complained. Kill me now if you like," and she opens her arms with a despairing, desperate gesture. "Do you think I should care? No! I thought, when I wrote the note—for I did write it; I would write it again!—that you might do—do something rash. I wish you had; anything rather than this!"

He takes a turn up and down the room to compose himself, then he turns back.

"Forgive me, Flossie. I see now that I—I was too hard upon you. You acted according to your nature."

The crimson rushes to her face.

"You sneer at me! My nature! You—you found no fault with me a little while ago—only a little while ago!"

His head drooped. It was all so true, so true. What could he say to her?

"You are right," he said, hoarsely. "I did not come to reproach you; I did not come to anger you or make you miserable. You acted in self-defence. It was my fault; it was my hand actually that dealt the blow, though yours wrote the accursed letter. I will say no other word of blame or reproach. Believe me, I did not intend to. She taught me a lesson of forbearance—"

"She!" broke from the panting lips. "She is an angel, of course. If you didn't come to browbeat me, don't do worse, and mourn over her to my face. She! Who is she—what is she that you should desert me for her? Is she more beautiful than I am?" and she sprang to her feet and confronted him, her cheeks flushed, her eyes sparkling, her Grecian head thrown back, her whole being a model of graceful loveliness. "Is she cleverer? Can she make a thousand people laugh and cry as I can, and do? Can she make them mad for love of her? Can she do more than I can do? Who is she, and what, that in a few short hours she should snatch you from me? You pity her—her! Who is to pity me—me?" and her arms went out towards him with a wild gesture.

He raised his head and looked at her.

"I," he says, gravely. "I, Flossie, I have my punishment; I have not shrunk from it. Nothing you can say can be more bitter than the reproaches my conscience utters. I could have written my good-bye; it would have been better for both of us; but I would not spare myself, and before I go I want to hear from your own lips the name of the person who prompted that cruel letter. That is why I came. Tell me that, and let us part."

As he speaks, so calmly, with the haggard eyes so full of grim determination, her strength dies away, and she sinks back.

"Good-bye!" she says; "then—then you mean to leave me? You mean to go—forever?"

His eyes answer her.

"Will you tell me, Flossie?"

"No, no," she says, with clenched teeth.

He inclines his head.

"Then I have done. Good-bye, Flossie," and he moves to the door.

But with a spring she is beside him, and, hanging on to his arm, slips to the ground at his feet.

"No, no, Rick! You shall not! You must not go!" she gasps, her eyes dilating, her form trembling. "I—I will tell you, I will do anything if you'll stay. Don't leave me! Don't go! I have been cruel! I see it now—I made her suffer as I suffer—I have been awfully wicked and mean; but it was not me alone! I should not have known, should not have done it but for him. He wanted to stop it. He did, indeed. He said it would ruin you; think of it, ruin you, and I was to save you. And—I—told me what to write, word for word. He did, Rick. Oh, Heaven! don't look like that!" and she covers at his feet and hides her face on his arm.

"Who—who?" he demands, hoarsely.

"The—the major!" she pants, with a shudder.

He doesn't start—perhaps he guessed it from her first words—but his face turns dark with suppressed emotion, and he stands silent and still for a moment.

Then he stops and raises her.

"Get up," he says. "I—I might have guessed it. It was worthy of him. Get up, Flossie; I am not angry now; I will not say another word."

"You—you will not leave me, Rick, you will not go back to her?"

A spasm passes over his face.

"I must leave you, Flossie," he says, almost gently, with a dull, death-like impassiveness. "When I am gone, and you think it over, you will see that it must be. Between us two there can never be even friendship again. If it be hard to say so, I cannot help it. I cannot help it!" he repeats. "You will see that. But"—and his lips quiver—"if the thought be any consolation to you, I am not going back to—I am going to leave England. I start to-morrow when—when I have seen the major."

With a shudder she steps from him and sinks on the couch, and a minute, a full minute, passes in silence.

Then she looks up with a weird change in her face.

"I think I understand," she says in a hollow voice. "Your love for her has put away your—your love for me. I understand. Well! Good-bye," and she points to the door.

He comes and bends over her for a moment and holds out his hand. But she looks up at him with a defiant smile and shakes her head, and after waiting a moment he goes out with the same grim, impassive expression on his haggard face.

As the outer door closes—every sound can be heard in the tiny house—she starts to her feet and throws up her arms.

"Rick! Rick! come back! I want—I want to shake hands! I—"

But as she moves forward she staggers, a quiver runs through her, and covering her mouth with a strange gesture, she falls full length on the floor.

Weston rushes in just too late to catch her, and raises her; she is a feather's weight in her arms.

"Oh, Miss Flossie, Miss Flossie, what is it? What—" Then she breaks off with a wild scream of horror, for her eyes have caught sight of a thin stream of blood that runs from between the thin, white fingers, and stains the dainty, pink dress.

That which the faithful maid has dreaded so long has happened at last. Flossie has broken a blood-vessel.

League Meetings Are Moveable.

Rome Will be Next Itinerary--- Jugo Slavs Given a Chance --- English Exchange Shows Upward Movement --- International Court of Justice Proposed --- Greek Government Dealing With War Traitors.

NOTE TO JUGO-SLAVIA.

LONDON, Feb. 13. The Supreme Council has agreed to a note to Jugo-Slavia regarding Fiume which, it is intimated, plainly informs the Jugo-Slavs that some agreement must be reached soon, if quiet is to be expected in the Adriatic. Premier Nitti of Italy is reported to be satisfied with the note prepared to-day. Although M. Trumbitch, Jugo-Slav Foreign Minister, is in London, he was not called into conference to-day. The Council's note will probably be handed him to-morrow.

WORK OF THE LEAGUE.

LONDON, Feb. 13. The Council of the League of Nations concluded its session to-day. The next meeting of the Council is fixed for March 15th at Rome. The Council agreed to admit Switzerland as an original member of the League of Nations, accepting the Swiss Government's conditions for maintaining Swiss neutrality, and her refusal to participate in any military operations undertaken under the auspices of the League, or to permit the passage of foreign troops through Swiss territory, but agreeing to participate in any pressure applied by the League. Switzerland's admission to the League, however, is dependent upon a Swiss referendum confirming these conditions. The list of distinguished men from various countries, who have been invited to become members of the committee to prepare plans for the constitution of a permanent court of international justice include Baron Phillimore, England, and Elihu Root, of the U. S. The Council appointed Sir Reginald Power, formerly British Minister to Argentine and Paraguay, as High Commissioner to the free city of Danzig.

EXCHANGE IMPROVES.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. Demand bills on English pounds sterling were quoted just before close of market to-day at three-forty-one and a half, a new high record for the present upward movement.

AN INTERNATIONAL TRIBUNAL.

THE HAGUE, Feb. 13. Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland and Holland will be represented at the conference which opens at the Peace Palace here on February 16th, to discuss the formation of an international court of justice. The conference will aim to establish, by comparing and examining plans already drawn by commissions of experts, from other countries, a uniform plan for a permanent tribunal, such as is provided for in Article Fourteen of the Covenant of the League of Nations.

BORDEN RETURNING.

OTTAWA, Feb. 13. Sir Robert Borden will return from England to New York at the end of next week. Lady Borden will go to meet him and will accompany the Premier to the south for an extended visit.

GERMAN LINERS' AUCTION.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. A concurrent resolution directing the Shipping Board not to sell the thirty former German liners, which the Board plans to dispose of at public auction here on Monday, except through regular public bidding after three months' advertising, and then only if proper offers are received, was introduced in the House to-day by Senator Ashurst, of Arizona.

THE WOODSTOCK FIRE.

FREDERICTON, Feb. 13. The Hayden-Gibson theatre block on the main street of the town of Woodstock, N.S., was destroyed by fire, which broke out about three o'clock this morning and threatened to wipe out the entire business section of the town.

ASHTON SUPPORTS COALITION.

LONDON, Feb. 13. In the bye-election for the Ashton Under Lyne constituency, to fill the seat made vacant in the Commons by the elevation of Sir Albert Stanley to the Peerage, the Coalition and Unionist adherents won a victory by a comparatively narrow margin.

SINN FEINERS ARRESTED.

DUBLIN, Feb. 13. Several Sinn Feiners were arrested in the course of a round-up by military forces in this city early to-day.

THE GREGOR'S FLIGHT.

LONDON, Feb. 13. The former German steamer Gregor, with two hundred British refugees from Odessa, broke adrift from a vessel having her in tow, and grounded near Kileel Point on Wednesday, according to a Lloyd's despatch from Constantinople. One hundred and fifty persons have been rescued by the use of breeches buoys. The vessel is reported to be breaking up.

U. S. RAILROAD CONTROVERSY.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. President Wilson has reached a decision in the railroad wage controversy, and will present it to three representatives of the Railroad Brotherhoods at the White House this morning.

LANSING RESIGNS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. Secretary Lansing has resigned and President Wilson has accepted his resignation. The correspondence was given out to-night by the State Department.

TRAITORS DEALT WITH.

LONDON, Feb. 13. A Central News despatch from Athens reports the conclusion of the trial of members of the former Greek General Staff, which had been accused of acting in behalf of German interests during the war. Colonel Metaxis, Chief Assistant to Staff, was convicted of high treason, for surrendering Fort Rupell to the Bulgarians, and was condemned to death. General Doumanis was sentenced to penal servitude for life and two others acquitted.

Sealing Berths for Veterans.

Local Firms Will Be Asked to Relieve Situation—Owners Granted 20 Last Year.

Dr. V. P. Burke presided over the regular meeting of the Civil Re-establishment Committee held yesterday afternoon. Hon. Justice Kent being detained at the Supreme Court Bench. A very large number of cases were considered—including two Canadian and one Imperial application—and 90 per cent. granted; the remainder being ineligible for assistance under the regulations.

Lieut. Pierson Curtis, of the Border Regiment, has assumed temporary charge of the Engineering School, in succession to Mr. A. H. Whitman, who has gone to Canada. Lieut. J. R. Bemister, a very experienced mechanic, will take over the instruction of the students on his arrival in the city.

Seventy-eight applications have been made for sealing berths, but there are not many tickets available this year. It has been suggested by prominent business men that perhaps the shipowners would increase their crews to some extent, as it appears they are now under the allocation permitted by law. Hon. J. M. Kent, Major Wes. March, M.C., and Capt. Leo C. Murphy will interview the various firms next week, and see if they will be willing to help out the situation along the lines suggested.

Matters affecting printers' apprenticeships were discussed and satisfactory arrangements made with the Union; questions as to whether tailors' apprentices, whose terms of service had been interrupted by the war, were also taken up, and in each case assistance will be granted toward the completion of their trade.

All applications for retraining under the committee must be filed by April 1st, and a considerable influx of cases is the result. It is felt, however, that the arrangements now made for engineering, garage mechanics and woodworking courses will be ample to meet the increased claims, and that there will be little if any delay in the training.

With the passing of pay roll, minutes, etc., the meeting adjourned at 7.15 p.m.

EBSARY-LESEMAN.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at Cochrane St. Parsonage on Feb. 11th, when Miss Ada Ebsary and Mr. Walter Leseman were united in Holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. Dr. Bond. Attired in a travelling suit of navy serge, white fox fur and Napoleon hat with veil to match, the bride looked very pretty. Only the immediate friends of the contracting parties were present. After the wedding supper had been partaken of, Mr. and Mrs. Leseman left for Kelligrews, where the honeymoon will be spent. In a few days they will leave for Montreal, where they will in future reside. The Telegram wishes them many years of happy wedded life.

Train Movements.

The incoming express from Millertown Junction, was due this forenoon. An express to Millertown Junction will likely be dispatched to-morrow.

At the Majestic.

Dorothy Dean, who does not believe in marriage, is horrified to learn, when the will of her dead grandfather is read, that to inherit his fortune, she must marry. She instructs her lawyer to advertise for a young man who will enter into marriage in name only, for a monetary consideration. At the lawyer's office she meets a young man who, she assumes, is an applicant for the "position." Don, the young fellow, falls in love with Dorothy and they are married. Then she, to her great dismay, learns that her husband is a very wealthy man and that he has no intention of leaving her. Escaping from him, she is brought to an island, where Don leaves her that she may be brought to her senses. During his absence Dorothy is brought to her senses—and to a realization of the love she bears him. See this splendid picture at the Majestic to-night.

An Impressive Funeral.

The funeral of the late Capt. John Clift, M.C., which took place yesterday afternoon, was an impressive one. The beautiful casket bore many floral tributes to the memory of the dead soldier, while Lt. Col. W. Rendell, Major B. Butler, D.S.O., Capt. G. Byrne, M.C., Capt. J. Nunn, M.C., Capt. L. Stick, and Capt. J. Long, acted as the pall bearers. Under Lieut. Col. E. Bernard, its president, the Great War Veterans' Association representation preceded the hearse. At the grave-side the service was conducted by His Lordship, Bishop White, Rev. Dr. Jones and Rev. (Capt.) Clayton. After the Benediction "The Last Post" was sounded by Bugler Bailey.

The Evangelists
At Gower Street Church.

It is certainly surprising that many whose lives have never been transformed by the spirit and power of Christ, resist such appeals as are made night after night in Gower Street Church, and remain cold and indifferent. But a mighty breaking down of the walls of resistance is looked for before these meetings are over. The singing last night was the best at any of the meetings. The people seem to enjoy the choruses especially, and one can readily tell the favorites by the way they are sung. Rev. Dr. Bond offered the opening prayer. "O Lord, What Might I Not Become," a solo composed by Mrs. Demarest, words of which were written by a consecrated young man, friend of the Evangelists, was sung with remarkable passion and power by Mr. Demarest. It is a cry of the soul for its highest possible attainment in Christ. The solo answer, "Just as I am without one plea," was then sung by the immense congregation. After reading the story of Peter's denial, as recorded in Mark 14:54-66-72 and Luke 22:54-62, Mrs. Demarest spoke in part as follows: "Peter truly loved Christ. When he said he would lay down his life for Him rather than deny Him he meant it, every word. But as yet he loved Christ with a natural love only. Natural love is selfish; spiritual love is sacrificial. It was his natural love crying out when he said, regarding the coming sufferings of Christ, 'Thee, if far from Thee, Lord, This shall not be unto Thee.' He would have held whom he believed to be the Son of God, as he himself confessed, and whom he loved with all his heart, can be traced to three causes:

1. Peter was in the wrong spirit. Peter was in the wrong place. Peter was in wrong companionship.

"First, he was in the wrong spirit. Why? Because of disobedience in the garden of Gethsemane. He failed to give Christ the highest service—that of prayer. Christ warned him. What pathos in those words, 'Watch and pray, lest ye fall into temptation. For the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak.' Peter sought to compensate for his spiritual failure by serving Him in the flesh. How bold he drew his sword and cut off the soldier's ear. This was uncalled for. Again Christ gently reproved him, 'Put up thy sword.' How many of us serve Christ in the flesh, seeking thereby to pacify our conscience which secretly condemns us for disobedience. It is to no avail, for 'obedience is better than sacrifice.' If we fall in our prayer life we shall surely fall sooner or later.

"Peter was in the wrong place. What business had he warming himself while his Master was being spat on and struck in the face? His place was by Jesus' side, sharing His shame and sufferings. He was a shirker. Have you shirked the cross, the shame, the humiliation of the Christian life, and chosen the path of ease and selfish pleasure? If so, you will awaken one day to the realization that your life has been a failure, that you have denied Christ, and missed your destiny.

"Peter was in wrong companionship. He was in the society of scoffers and unbelievers. 'Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful.' 'For what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness, and what communion hath light with darkness, or what part hath he that believeth with an infidel?'"

"Young woman, what business have you in the company of that young man? Can you expect to play with fire and not get burned? You know you would not marry him; why do you then trifle with him? Any good you might do him is counteracted by the mere fact that you keep company with him. Instead of helping him up he is dragging you down. That is the inevitable punishment of keeping bad company.

"Peter was in bondage to fear. Fear has destroyed countless lives. A man in the grip of fear is as good as dead. 'Fear hath torment,' 'bringeth a little servant girl. He is not the only man who has been afraid of a woman. She laughed at him and said, 'We know you. You are one of His disciples.' What an opportunity for Peter to witness! Instead, he cursed and swore, and said, 'I don't know Him.' Fear makes a coward out of the strongest man. It has made cowards of many of you.

"What caused Peter's repentance was not the thought of punishment, but the look on Jesus' face. That look of love, tenderness, reproach, wondrous pity. When you have sinned, love is much harder to bear than harsh, condemning words. What will cause the men and women in the Judgment Day to call upon the mountains and the rocks to fall upon them and hide them, will not be the prospect of hell, but 'the face of Him that sitteth on the throne,' the face of the man Who died for them, and whose heart they have broken. No wonder Peter went out and wept bitterly, blessed, healing, saving tears.—tears of repentance." Mrs. Demarest spoke with wonderful earnestness and unction, and seed was sown which will bear fruit even in eternity. It was announced that a meeting for men only would be held on Sunday afternoon, 8 o'clock, at Wesley Church, subject, 'Is man a god?' and on Sunday morning the Victory Class of Wesley Church will meet for prayer at 9 o'clock, and Mr. Demarest will speak about ten o'clock. On Sunday evening Mrs. Demarest's subject will be the "Two Questions," in Gower Street Church at 8 o'clock.

The Ex-Kaiser.

(From the Montreal Gazette.) The Government of Holland has replied to the demand of the Supreme Council of the allied Powers that the ex-Kaiser shall be handed over to them for trial. The demand is refused. The Dutch Government declared it cannot be bound by a peace treaty to which it was not a party, and that neither the Dutch constitution nor tradition permits such action as was sought. In taking such an attitude the Dutch statesmen have done what appears generally to have been expected. The Hollanders early developed the ideas of a free people, and in many struggles were able to maintain their independence. Their country was for centuries the refuge of the upholders of civil and religious liberty, who for their ideas had to flee from their own lands. Charles II. of England lived there during the Commonwealth, and both England and Scotland. Liberals found it convenient at times to have abiding places there rather than in their own homes. The Dutchman never feared to assert their ideas, and though at times Austria, Syria and France undertook to subjugate them they managed to assert or recover their freedom. They never had against them, however, such a combination as is represented by the Allies in the late war. Even if the country was not invaded by hostile armies, its coasts could be blockaded and its colonial possessions taken from it. It is possible, though, that resort to such measures will not be had. The peoples are somewhat tired of war, and those of Great Britain especially, may not feel like coiding a small people for upholding with their independence ideas that were once held to embody some great theories of English freedom.

Serious Conditions in Western St. Barbe.

The Western Star of January 28 (copy of which was received by some mail arriving in the city to-day), has the following report of conditions along the N. W. Coast: "Mr. Henry, who is amongst the passengers that have been storm bound for ten days at Deer Lake, having travelled from Parsons Pond, reports that in the northern parts the situation is the worst for many winters. There is a serious food shortage owing to the collapse of steamer transport in the fall. Roads are snow bound and at several points real starvation and indications of mild form of smallpox exist. He says merchants and fishermen are furious about the way they are neglected, and the serious breakdown of the unfortunate railway system is trying their patience to the utmost. People expect the new government to immediately attack the numerous evils jeopardizing life and business on the north west coast." It is not apparent that conditions have improved any since that date, therefore patience has ceased to be a virtue with the merchants and fishermen who by now are suffering intense hardships because of the neglect and failure of those responsible for the transportation breakdown. The Government's attack on numerous evils mentioned by the Star does not seem to have been commenced in any noticeable way yet.

THERE IS ONLY ONE GENUINE ASPIRIN

Only Tablets with "Bayer Cross" are Aspirin—No others!

If you don't see the "Bayer Cross" on the tablets, refuse them—they are not Aspirin at all. Your druggist gladly will give you the genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" because genuine Aspirin now is made by Americans and owned by an American Company. There is not a cent's worth of German interest in Aspirin, all rights being purchased from the U. S. Government. During the war, acid imitations were sold as Aspirin in pill boxes and various other containers. But now you can get genuine Aspirin, plainly stamped with the safety "Bayer Cross"—Aspirin proved safe by millions for Headache, Toothache, Earache, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Colds, Neuritis, and Pain generally. Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger "Bayer" packages. Aspirin is the trade mark (Newfoundland Registration No. 761), of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester, Seltzyler, Germany. ## Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

THE REAL HALL MARK OF ARISTOCRACY.

"Did you ever ride in a Ford?" a woman, who has recently come to town, asked a group of us the other night. "I think they must be perfectly terrible."

She made that inquiry with an air of remote interest in a low custom of the lower classes. The inference of her manner and of that "must be," that she had never set her foot inside anything so vulgar, was an escapable as she intended it to be.

I suppose she felt that we were all greatly impressed. She was right as far as I was concerned. I was greatly impressed—with the fact that she wasn't the real thing. For the real thing doesn't try to impress people.

They Aren't Sure of Themselves.

When people are constantly making remarks of that sort you can always tell that they feel an uneasy need of placing themselves.

The same woman later prefaced a remark about something the chambermaid in the hotel had said to her, by explaining, "Of course, I don't usually have anything to do with the help, but this girl had been doing some sending for me so I had more or less conversation with her."

Imagine a real gentleman making that explanation!

You Must Take Things For Granted. The hall-mark of true aristocracy in so far as a country like ours has (by aristocracy) is that it not only has traditions, good manners and refined surroundings, but that it takes all these for granted.

A friend of mine went to call on some new people who had come to town. I asked her what sort of people they were.

"They have a beautiful house," she said, "and lovely clothes and they evidently expect to be invited everywhere. They haven't a Chairman's chance—because they are so impressed with their own possessions. They don't realize that it isn't enough to have a beautiful house and beautiful clothes, but that you've got to learn to take them for granted if you want to travel with people who have always had them."

The Air of Indifference the Final Touch.

Her way of putting it reminded me of a passage in Arnold Bennett's last novel. The hero has arisen from somewhat humble surroundings to a position which brings him the honor of being invited to visit among his employer's friends. During one of these visits he is taken out in her machine by a young lady who, before getting into the machine, slips negligently into a magnificent fur coat. And the hero is more impressed with that air of negligence than by anything else he sees. He decides he will never be happy until he has a wife who has such a coat and who can put it on with that same air of negligent indifference.

Modern Economics.

(From the Detroit Journal.)

Under the old fashioned law of supply and demand, a very large quantity or a surplus of any commodity brought about falling prices. A new law in economics reverses the process. The stocks of petroleum have been increased, more oil had been refined in the last year than in any previous year, more has been imported—and the Standard Oil Company has raised the price of gasoline and kerosene. It remains now for some logically minded economist to lay down the rule that the less there is of anything the less it costs the

Selfishness Regnant.

(From the Montreal Gazette.)

The root causes of the world unrest which is so unsettling and gives grave concern to constituted authority everywhere are found in the disintegration of economic laws, due to the unparalleled struggle in Europe; the impaired respect for human life, inspired by the unceasing hecatombs which the war demanded for four years; the dethronement of the high sanctions which kept society together; and, above all, the non-fulfillment of the large desires engendered by alluring word pictures of a new and better and more enticing world, which did not materialize for the asking. In Ireland the unrest is political, and takes the form of murdering police officials in broad daylight in the city of Dublin; in Britain it is both political and economic; in France, in Germany, in the United States, it is chiefly economic; but, in all countries, its chief expression is violence; and in the United States, it discloses itself in secret plots to overthrow the present system of government, and substitute that of the soviet, of which the genius is that all persons above the "moujik" must be shot at sight as enemies of the state. Governments have used, now verbal persuasives and, again, machine guns. They have tried to find the root cause of the dangerous outbreaks in big centres; they have appointed experts; they have passed laws; but . . . the happy world of the hectic dreams of the workers and the fighters in the war have not been realized. And this is the trouble—that human selfishness is still so regnant in the world that the large and god-like sense of justice has still to be enthroned in the laws of the nations. Humanity demands a new relations in the conduct of its affairs. It demands the extinction of animosity between capital and labor. Apply the spirit, not of cold mathematics, or of the law of supply and demand, but of magnanimous justice, of cordial love in human relations, and the difficulties will vanish like mist before the sun.

The Viceregal Lodge.

(From the London Chronicle.)

The Viceregal Lodge in Phoenix Park, Dublin, which again figures in the news, has had a comparatively eventless history during the century and a half that it has housed the Lord Lieutenant. This is chiefly because Dublin Castle is the home of the Viceroy during the Dublin season, and both socially and politically, the "Castle" attracts most attention. Set in charming grounds of 160 acres, in the heart of the 2,000 acres of Phoenix Park, it has generally been curiously remote from storm and stress. One of its most stirring scenes was in 1821, when a mob followed George IV. there from Dublin. The crowd swarmed into the grounds and the king appeared on the balcony to address them. He declared his affection for the Irish people, and wound up by asking them to go away, and drink his health in Irish whisky, as he was about to drink theirs.

The Tide's Power.

We are accustomed to look upon the tides as representing enormous untapped power. If we could only put them to work, they would run all the machinery in the world. But is this true? Undoubtedly—if we could put them to work on a scale sufficiently great. But that this ever be practicable, economically, is declared doubtful.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

FIGHTING H.C.L.

We've talked a lot about the Cost; no opportunities we've lost to make a few remarks; we've told how we have felt the pinch, and called for hempen ropes to lynch the profiteering sharks. Now comes the gentle spring again, when earnest and thoughtful men will cease to rend their duets, quit yawning by the village pound, and spade up fourteen roods of ground, and plant a lot of spuds. A garden full of useful greens, of sparrowgrass and Lima beans, is much to be desired; a garden where the squashes thrive and beets are seen in blocks of five, will make the Cost look tired. A bed of onions by the fence is better evidence of sense than many frenzied yawns; and nothing finer is in sight than is the gardener's delight, when harvesting his crops. The country's full of fertile earth; all kinds of soil of sterling worth; is strewn around our shacks; and in that soil let's plant some peas and Brussels's sprouts and things like these, and thus get down to tacks. When to their gardens men repair, and gather luscious pumpkins there, and carrots red and fine, and turnips full of wholesome juice, and cabbageheads that beat the duce, the Cost takes in its sign.

Eyes and Illness.

Just as we find the state of the weather by reference to a barometer, so can we tell whether a person is in good health by examining the eyes. This method of diagnosing disease, from the eyes is known as the "Iris science," and, according to Dr. Anderson, of Denmark, is the only reliable method by which the seat of a disease can be discovered.

The science was discovered by a Hungarian. During boyhood he caught an owl which had broken its leg, and noticed that a black spot appeared in a certain part of the iris. Some years later he noticed the same black spot in the iris of a man who had sustained a broken leg. This experience caused him to investigate, and he found that every disease could be read from a certain portion of the iris.

When a disease is cured white lines enclose the dark spot that proclaimed ed the disease. From this the stage of the disease can be ascertained. If the white lines do not entirely surround the dark spot the disease is not completely cured.

Drugs are always clearly shown on the iris—arsenic by white specks on the outer edge, morganic iron by brown marks round the pupil.

Fish Markets Gone to Pieces.

The contents of the letter sent, under instructions, by the Secretary of the Advisory Board to all the fish exporters of the Dominion, reveals a sorry condition of things in the Spanish and Portuguese fish markets. Whatever the cause of the bottom dropping out of these hitherto always open markets to Newfoundland codfish, the outlook is a serious one, and especially as a very large quantity of 1919 fish is being held in stores, without any present prospects for its disposition, and cargoes are en route which were cleared before the actual condition of the Peninsular markets were known. The only hope now is Italy, but so many harsh things have been said recently of the Consorzio that it is doubtful if much business can be done there unless on terms and prices of Consorzio's own making. And that's just what is going to happen. Consorzio now has an opportunity of getting even for all the insults hurled at that concern during the past three months, and the Italian spirit is not a forgiving one when its amour propre is offended or where dollars and cents are involved.

However it is now up to all to make the best of a bad job. Recriminations are useless and condemnation of whatever the Government did, at the instance of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries will not tend to improve the exporters' position, or create any extra demand for our fish in Spain or Portugal. Now is the time—if ever there was—when it is the prime duty of everybody, government, exporters, press and people to work in unison in order that the impairment of our original markets may not have a disastrous effect on the fishing industry during the year ahead. The existing situation is too important, too serious, to be discussed from the party politics point of view. It is now a dominion affair, because the whole dominion is affected, and all differences must be sunk in one supreme effort to solve the exceedingly intricate problem which has now presented itself. The shrewdest brains, the longest heads, the men with the far-seeing vision in matters financial have now to determine a way out of the difficulty, and all the assistance, all the support, all the encouragement that can be given them will be needed. The evil has been done and no amount of carping criticism will undo it. Only concerted action and whole-souled co-operation can assist in the adjustment of our present complications. Sincerity of purpose only and a determination to stand behind whatever is best to be done will carry us through.

The Western Bank Fishery is now at the point of commencement for the year. The Western Shore Winter Fishery has been going on since November, the landed voyage having been bulk salted for drying, and within the next two months, the first of the shore catch of last fall will have been made ready for market, that market being now closed, the advices being that it will not be well to send any further cargoes for the next month or two. With this notice staring us in the face, and with so much of last year's fish on hand, the promise of any extra prices for new fish do not look very alluring, in fact if we are to judge by the conditions now obtaining, it will do well if the current price does not fall away down below present figures. Should such prove to be the case—and we sincerely hope not—the consequences will be most disastrous to fishermen, for it is well known that fish cannot be caught and cured, at the prevalent high cost of living and fishery supplies, with any profit to the fishermen at a price under twelve dollars per quintal. Should there be a decline to six dollars, the ruin of and cessation from the shore fisheries must inevitably follow. For this reason it behoves all to work together for the common good, laying aside all prejudice and animosity engendered of political differences, manfully and unitedly shouldering the responsibilities that are upon us and doing all in our individual and collective power to meet such other situations as may confront us. Early in the year of 1881 the price of fish dropped in one week from $11/6 to 12/6 per quintal. Unless we want history to repeat itself we must work and reason together.

St. Valentine's Day Customs.

The decadence of the fete of St. Valentine—February 14—is one of the most to be regretted signs of the degeneration of the times. It is not of the mandarin sentimentality wrapped in lace-edge paper, or of the hideous vulgarity on cardboard, which swelled the Post Office receipts of nearly half a century ago that this is said. It is of the far more picturesque and antiquated observances with which this festival was observed in "the good old days" that we would write. The notion that one day in the year should be devoted to "bidding and cooing," that an opportunity should be afforded to young men and to maids to choose a partner when the promise of Spring tempts all creatures to find a mate, is both pleasing and practical. Whether the fate of St. Valentine is due to the decadence of young people's standard of affections or whether it is the outcome of the discovery that one day is insufficient for the purpose, the fact remains that the average young lady of to-day would as lief choose a lover on the 1st of April as on the 14th of February, and the observance of the night of the day is only honoured in the breach. But there were many quaint customs indulged in on St. Valentine's Day in earlier days, besides the dropping in to poetry, through the post. In "Pepys' Diary" there are several allusions to the drawing of valentines; and in a peculiar point of view the result of the lottery often caused an enormous outlay in valentines being honoured, not by anonymous verses, but by substantial gifts. When the Duke of York was chosen Miss Stewart's valentine, he gave her a jewel worth £800; and in 1667 Lord Mandeville, being that lady's valentine, presented her with a ring of the value of £300. Some days after Pepys had chosen Martha Batten for his valentine he took her to the Exchange, and there "upon a pair of embroidered, and six pairs of plain white gloves he laid out 40s." A remnant of this custom is kept up in Devonshire, where it is usual for a young woman thus to address the first man she meets on St. Valentine's Day:—

"Good morrow, Valentine, I go to-day to wear for you what you must prize—A pair of gloves next Easter Day"—the person thus invited being expected to send the gloves on the day mentioned.

A Valentine.

In legends we're told
That a poet of old
With trembling soul worshipped a maid,
And the same legends say
That St. Valentine's Day
Came and went—yet his love was unsaid.

And they further proclaim
That that singer of fame,
In that far-away dream-haunted day;
So offended the Saint
By his heart's cold restraint,
That he cursed him with silence for aye.

And now Kitty, dear,
I am stricken with fear
Lest the fate of that bard should be mine:
So I ask, if I may
Call you sweetheart to-day,
Just to please the good St. Valentine.

A Few Milk Facts.

Seven-eighths of milk is nothing but water—all the value and nourishment being in the remaining eighth.
All liquid milk contains bacteria which multiply rapidly unless refrigeration is resorted to. It is the bacteria in milk which caused it to sour.
Bacteria common to milk increase only when moisture is present. No bacterial action can be discovered in milk powder containing a low percentage of moisture.
"KLIM" which is pure, pasteurized, separated milk in powdered form, contains only about two per cent. of moisture.
It sells at all up-to-date grocery stores for 55 cents per tin, which makes a full gallon of delicious rich milk.
The particular advantage lies in the fact that you can make only just what amount of milk you require for immediate use. KLIM is not suitable for infant feeding.

Court Hears Essence Cases.

FORMIDABLE ARRAY OF LEGAL COUNSEL. FOUR K.C.'S ENGAGED.
The much talked of dope, prosecution cases were heard in Court this morning, when Messrs. Albert Soper, A. Joseph and Albert Andrews appeared as defendants. They were charged with a violation of Section 4 of the Intoxicating Liquors Act. Mr. L. E. Emerson, K.C., represented Mr. Soper; Mr. W. J. Higgins, K.C., appeared for Mr. Joseph and Hon. M. P. Gibbs, K.C., for Mr. Andrews. In each case the plea was "not guilty," but each defendant admitted selling the essences. The Inspector General and Mr. H. A. Winter prosecuted. Mr. D. James Davies, Government analyst, was the principal witness called. He testified to having received from Head Constable Byrne samples of "Shirriff's Imperial Vanilla," which, upon analysis, he found to contain 38.4 per cent. of alcohol by volume. This alcohol was the same as that contained in rum, wines and whiskey. It was Ethyl alcohol, whereas wood alcohol is methyl. Ethyl alcohol is the same as found in intoxicating liquors. It is poisonous but not as much so as methyl. In all essences alcohol is used. In all cases the alcohol is the same as used in intoxicating liquors. The only difference in essence and rum is in the flavouring. In rum the flavouring comes while distilling, while in essence the flavouring is added after. Mr. Davies had a sample of vanilla which contained no alcohol, but had not analyzed it. As a rule all essences had to have alcohol, and the more they contained the better grade they were.

Mr. Winter, in examining, asked Mr. Davies' opinion as to whether Shirriff's Vanilla could be called spirituous liquor but upon Mr. Higgins objecting on the grounds that the opinion would be useless, being a matter of law, the question was not permitted by the Court to be answered.
Mr. E. J. Horwood, called by the prosecution, testified that he had, in his store, sold essences for many years. Up to the coming of Prohibition he had never seen bottles of more than 2 ounces. Mostly they ran from a half ounce to 2 ounces. Since, however, they ran to 8 ounces. (Shirriff's essences bottles contain this volume.)
On account of the lawyers for the defendants not being ready to go on with the case, it was postponed until Thursday next.

Shirriff's Essence is sold at $1.50 a bottle. It was stated by Mr. Davies to be "a fairly good grade of essence."
In the course of the examination Mr. Winter stated that the prosecution was prepared to prove that it was sold and used as a beverage and evidence of this fact will be brought in.

Abe and the Baby.

Mr. Patrick Byrne, the hero of the new musical play at the Ambassadors, tells a host of good stage stories. One of the best concerns a Jew and his wife who went one evening to the pantomime, taking the baby with them. The baby (says Mr. Byrne) started crying early in the first act and refused to be comforted. Eventually the manager approached them and whispered: "Look here, sir, I'm sorry, but you'll have to leave, and I'll tell them at the box office to let you have your money back."
But Abe objected. He didn't want to leave, he said, although he would certainly have his money back if he did. Luckily, the baby stopped crying then.

Awarded Big Prize.

The American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals recently awarded the makers of Horse Over-Shoes a prize of Five Hundred Dollars, the only prize of its kind ever awarded. Horse Over-Shoes consist of the principle of the Weed Chain used on Automobile and Motor Truck Tires humanely adapted to Horses' Hoofs. They give secure footing on slippery streets, having forty-eight points of contact, twelve under each foot. The chains are so arranged that they cannot touch the "frog" of the shoe and they also prevent the "balling" of snow and ice under the hoof. On arrival of a large shipment now en route they will be on sale in St. John's when all sizes will be obtainable. Watch the Telegram for selling depots.—Feb 14, 11m

Forward Movement Campaign

TO RAISE $100,000.

At a meeting of St. Andrew's Congregation, held in the Presbyterian Hall last night, what is known as the Forward Movement Campaign was inaugurated. After devotional exercises by Rev. Gordon Dickie, M.A., Mr. D. Baird was moved to the chair to conduct the meeting and delivered an address outlining the objectives of the Forward Movement Campaign. Similar addresses were given by Messrs. Jao. Clouston, Edwin Murray, Alex. Robertson, R. A. Templeton, J. J. McKay, Rev. Gordon Dickie and J. Boyd Baird. The object of the campaign is to raise $25,000 for Church extension purposes, of which $15,000 will be spent locally and $10,000 be given to the mother Church in Canada as a contribution to the $40,000 fund which is to be raised there for foreign and home missions and other church work distinct from local congregations. The $25,000 will be raised immediately as a Peace Offering and is expected to be realized by July next. Besides this amount it is hoped to raise $75,000 over a period of five years on the assumption that the inter-denominational education plans of the Protestant community will become a fact shortly. The drive will start on Tuesday next and is hoped to be finished in four days, or by Friday evening. The workers will report each night at 9 o'clock at the Presbyterian Hall. The general committee consists of Messrs. D. Baird, chairman; J. J. McKay, Secretary-Treasurer; R. A. Templeton, J. Boyd Baird, J. C. Hepburn, J. W. Morris and Rev. Gordon Dickie. The commanders of the four divisions are: A. W. Campbell; B. Dugald Munn; C. Mrs. A. G. Smith and D. Mrs. D. Baird. Each division has two teams, as follows:—

DIVISION A.
Team 1—C. U. Henderson, captain; H. Mitchell, W. Herder, C. C. Oke, J. M. Brown and Lachlan Macpherson.
Team 2—A. Munn, captain; W. Neal, Hugh Anderson, D. McIntosh, C. W. G. Tessier and K. M. Blair.

DIVISION B.
Team 3—John Clouston, captain; W. Watson, P. K. McLeod, Alec Oke, W. G. Martin and Roy Clouston.
Team 4—T. A. McNab, captain; A. G. Gibb, C. E. Jubien, H. A. Ross, D. McLeod and Eric Rankin.

DIVISION C.
Team 5—Mrs. J. J. McKay, captain; Mrs. Boyd Baird, Mrs. J. Clouston, Mrs. D. Johnston, Mrs. T. Curran, and Miss Anna Ledingham.
Team 6—Mrs. Hanlin, captain; Miss Glendinning, Miss MacFarlane, Mrs. McIntosh, Mrs. J. M. Brown, Miss Muir and Miss Nellie McKinlay.

DIVISION D.
Team 7—Mrs. Crawford, captain; Mrs. (Rev.) Dickie, Miss Frew, Miss McLachlan, Miss Stella Robertson, and Miss Crawford.
Team 8—Mrs. Jas. Baird, captain; Mrs. F. Lumsden, Mrs. Hector McNeil, Mrs. W. H. Herder, Mrs. H. Scater and Miss Margaret Clouston.

Great enthusiasm prevailed throughout the meeting and it is confidently felt that though about $60,000 has been subscribed to other educational drives, St. Andrew's congregation will reach the objective aimed at $100,000. The workers will meet at 8 p.m. Monday when pledge cards will be distributed and final instructions given as to the drive which opens on Tuesday. Following the meeting refreshments were served, songs given by Miss Herder and Mrs. Oke, and an instrumental duet by Mrs. (Rev.) Dickie and Mrs. Boyd Baird, the proceedings closing with the National Anthem.

Important Announcement!

We are now ready to announce to the public generally the opening of our Manufacturing Concern of Ladies' Readymades.

This is an enterprise which merchants will hail with joy, as Newfoundland has always been greatly affected by the lack of local made Ladies' Readymades, and at the present time this drawback is more keenly felt than ever before.

The severe rate of exchange, the high duties, freight charges and the uncertainty of safe transportation, which heretofore was a source of worry and trouble to you, we now shift to our shoulders and deliver to you at your door the finished product, in perfect condition, and at prices far cheaper than that of imported merchandise.

Another benefit that you derive from local made goods is that the local manufacturer strives to produce his merchandise to suit the needs and tastes of the Newfoundland people; a thing which foreign manufacturers cannot and do not do. We have made a careful study of the Newfoundland woman's likes and dislikes in the matter of Readymades and we are now producing Costumes, Raglans and Skirts to please your customers.

Advocate local made goods and increase your business. We are now showing samples. If you cannot call, drop us a card and our representative will call.

Notice to Flour Importers.

All Importers of Flour into Newfoundland are required to obtain permits for same from the Newfoundland Food Control Board at their office in the Justice Department.

Written applications for permits must cover the following information:—

1. Quantity of Flour.
2. Quality of Flour, whether pre-war (white) or Canadian Government Standard.
3. Where purchased, and from whom.
4. Date of Shipment.

In cases where the tax of two dollars ($2.00) imposed on January sixth by the Canadian Wheat Board has actually been paid, the Board is prepared to present any claims to the Canadian Wheat Board if any difficulty is met with in the refund of same.

Flour can now be purchased by Importers on terms of shipment within sixty days. Feb 12, 20

Farewell Message to Rev. J. M. Enright.

A memorable event took place in the Star of the Sea Hall, Renewes, Jan. 31st, when notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, a large concourse of people assembled to give a "Farewell Message" to their beloved priest, Rev. J. M. Enright, who after five years of faithful service among them, was promoted to the parish of Salmonier.

The Acolytes and Children of the Sodality of the Holy Infants and Holy Angels having given expression to their feelings of love and regret, the joint Address from the people in general and the Children of Mary, which we give below, was read. Fr. Enright in feeling words, thanked all for the whole-hearted manifestation of their love, and loyalty treasuring it in his memory as an additional magnet to attract his thoughts and heart in future years to the ever endearing scenes of his first missionary labours.

ADDRESS.

Dear Rev. Father.—Being privileged as "Children of Mary," we were selected by the people of Renewes to convey to you their farewell message as well as our own. The duty is a pleasant, yet sad one. Pleasant since we heartily rejoice in your well deserved promotion, and offer you our most sincere and warmest congratulations. Sad because the honour conferred on you means your removal from amongst us. For the past five years we have admired your self-sacrificing devotion to duty, the true Soggarth Aron ever ready to attend to our spiritual needs.

In a particular manner, we, the "Children of Mary," owe you a very deep debt of gratitude for the beautiful name we bear, and which with God's we hope to uphold in all its purity ever remembering that whatever noble fruits spring from our Sodality, in after years must be justly attributed to the dear hand of him who first planted the tree. In a spirit of faith and loyalty to Holy Church, and of sincere love and esteem for your dear self, we beg you to accept the gifts we offer, and which later will be forwarded to your future home. May they remind you to give us that which we prize most, an occasional remembrance in your holy masses and prayers.

God, bless thee! this our fervent prayer That thou indeed mayst be; Made rich by Him in everything That shall be best for thee.

God, bless thee! sure we cannot pray A fuller deeper prayer; And kneeling now we humbly ask That thou wouldst bless all here. THE RENEWES PEOPLE AND CHILDREN OF MARY.

She Was Sick for Over Two Years.

MRS. PORTER GIVES HER EXPERIENCE WITH DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Saskatchewan Lady, When the Doctors Disagreed, Turned to Dodd's Kidney Pills and Found the Remedy She Was Looking For.

Widovisaw, Sask., Feb. 13th.—(Special.)—"Dodd's Kidney Pills not only helped me, they cured me."

This is the enthusiastic statement of Mrs. Charles Porter, a well-known resident of this place. Asked why she was so sure it was Dodd's Kidney Pills that brought about her cure, Mrs. Porter replied:

"I was sick for over two years. One doctor said I had gall stones. Another said I had stomach and kidney troubles.

"I bought six bottles of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They cured me."

Mrs. Porter's troubles were caused by the kidneys. That's why she got such prompt and complete relief from Dodd's Kidney Pills, for they act only on the kidneys. The reason Dodd's Kidney Pills bring new health to so many suffering women is because the kidneys are the cause of nine-tenths of all the ills which women suffer.

If you ask your neighbors about Dodd's Kidney Pills you will find that thousands of women have secured permanent relief from using them.

X-RAY FAILED Mechanic Gives Evidence

There are cases where science in its most profound phases is absolutely balked, yet other help is at hand.

This is proved by the testimony of a mechanic, 35 years of age, who suffered, at times, positive torments from stones in the bladder. After trying many remedies without result, he had an X-ray photograph taken, which also failed to show where the trouble was. Fortunately, just at this juncture, when he almost had given up hope of any relief, Gin Pills were brought to his notice. These famous Pills in a very short time enabled him to pass the stone which was the cause of his trouble. We will give the name of this man on request.

Kidney and Bladder troubles should not be neglected. The first symptoms should be sufficient warning. Pain in the sides or back, constant headaches, neuralgia and sciatic pains, rheumatism, dizziness, constipation, gravel, highly-colored urine, specks before the eyes, all point to derangement. Gin Pills should be obtained without delay. Druggists and dealers carry them.—One your money refunded if not satisfied. Free sample on request.

Raw Furs Auction in Montreal.

Fur interests are much interested in the announcement from Montreal that the Canadian Fur Auction Sales Company, Ltd., has been successfully organized, and powerful interests are subscribing for its $5,000,000 capital.

The purpose of the Company is to hold three or four great Auction Sales of Raw Furs every year, so as to provide in Canada an outlet for Canadian furs, and obviate their being sent to foreign markets, where their identity is often lost, and inferior southern furs are graded with them. The promoters believe that Canadian Furs will benefit greatly from the creation of this important exclusive outlet, and that excellent prices will be obtained—considerably better results being apt to accrue to the shippers of the pelts.

Splendid premises have already been acquired, and are being fitted with cold storage and every facility for handling pelts, and we are advised that the promoters are already able to assure the success of the first sale, which is announced for March.

Lord Shaughnessy, Lorne C. Webster, Sir Herbert Holt, W. A. Black, J. W. McConnell, A. Pierce, R. S. Coltrant, E. E. Cummings, and A. J. Brown—are among the notable financiers and fur agents who are interested in the Canadian Fur Auction Sales Company.

PA AND THE BILLS.
When Ma gets out the monthly bills and sets them all in front of Dad. She makes us children run away because she knows he may get mad. An' then she smiles a bit and says: "I hope you will not fuss and fret—There's nothing here except the things I absolutely had to get!" An' Pa he looks 'em over first. "The things you had to have!" says he; "I s'pose that we'd have died without that twenty dollar longere."

Then he starts in to write the checks for laundry an' for light an' gas. An' never says a word 'bout them, becuz they're small he lets 'em pass. But when he starts to grunt an' groan, an' stops the while his pipe he fills.

We know that he is gettin' down to where Ma's hid the bigger bills. "Just what we had to have," says he; "an' I'm s'posed to pay the tolls. Nine dollars an' a half for—say, what the deuce are camisoles?"

"If you should brenk a leg," says Pa, "an' couldn't get down town to shop, I'll bet the dry goods men would see their business take an awful drop. An' if they missed you for a week, they'd have to fire a dozen clerks. Say, couldn't we have got along without this bunch of Billie Burke's?" But Ma just sits an' grins at him, an' never has a word to say. Becuz she says Pa likes to talk about the bills he has to pay.

The Rainbow.

(From the Book of Wonders.)
The colors of the rainbow, which are always the same, and are shown in this order—red, orange, yellow, green, blue and violet—are sunlight broken up into its original colors. It takes all of these colors in the proportions in which they are mixed in the rainbow to make the pure sunlight. These are known as the prismatic colors. As shown in another answer to one of your puzzling questions, the rainbow is caused by the rays of the sun passing into drops of water in the air and reflected back to us with one part of the drop of water acting on it in such a way as to break up the pure sunlight into these prismatic colors. When a rainbow appears at a time when there is a great deal of sunlight, you will generally see two rainbows. The inner rainbow is formed by the rays of the sun that enter the upper part of the falling rain-drops, and the outer rainbow is formed by the rays that enter the inner or primary bow, as it is called the colors beginning at the outside ring of color are red, orange, yellow, green, blue and violet, and being exactly reversed in the outer or secondary law. The secondary law is also fainter. You may sometimes see smaller rainbows, even if it has not been raining, when looking at a fountain or waterfall. These are caused in exactly the same way.

He'd Cooked 'Em.

An Arctic explorer was once giving an account of his experiences and the ice-fields of the north. "We certainly would have travelled much further," he exclaimed, "had not our dogs given out at a critical time." "But," exclaimed the lady, who had been listening very intently, "I thought the Eskimo dogs were perfectly tireless creatures." The explorer's face wore a whimsically gloomy expression as he replied: "I—or speak in a culinary sense, madam."

Divorce Scandals Involve Ex-Princess.

Berlin, Jan. 24.—The German people are still interested in the doings of former Princes, Counts and Barons, the complete exclusion of social news about the democratic notabilities of the German republic.

The Hohenzollerns came into the spotlight this week with the report that the former Kaiser's fourth and fifth sons, August Wilhelm and Joachim, would both shortly figure in the divorce courts. The scandal appears to be without foundation and probably was launched for political purposes by the anti-monarchists.

Joachim, who is learning farming on his father-in-law's estate, recently visited his brother, August Wilhelm, who is a bank clerk in Berlin, and both of the ex-Kaiser's sons were seen dining democratically at the Hotel Adlon.

A third son, the once "naval Prince" Adelbert, was recently mentioned by a local scandal-loving paper in an unsavory affair. It was hinted that Adelbert's friendship with the wife of a Berlin captain of business had been of such an intimate and notorious character that the latter was bringing divorce proceedings against his wife with Adelbert as co-respondent.

A social event interesting in former court circles was the recent marriage of Prince Schaumburg-Lippe, the former Kaiser's nephew and one of the richest of Germany's former reigning princes, to the divorced Princess Eberwyn zu Barmstein-Steinfurt.

Count Hermann Carl Ostheim has assumed his abandoned name and title of Prince Hermann of Saxony-Weimar "by revolutionary right," the first of the kind since the Kaiser's fall.

Prince Hermann was heir to the throne of Saxony-Weimar, but as a cavalry officer in the Guards and a gay spender in Berlin he ran up debts of 500,000 marks (normally $120,000) with only 13,000 marks (normally $3,120) cash assets. He was forced to undergo bankruptcy leave the German army and renounce his princely title and claim to the succession to the throne. He took the new name of Count Ostheim, went to London, married a "Merry Widow" chorus girl, Wanda Paola

Lottero, went bankrupt again and was divorced.

Origin of "Gone West."

(From the Stratford Beacon.)

The following is given as the origin of the phrase "Gone West." More than 3,000 years ago the ancient Egyptians spoke of the dead as "the westerners," of those who had "gone west." For the abode of the dead was believed to be in the realm of the setting sun, in that Amentu where Osiris reigned. This belief by the ancients in the soul going west has at least a reflection in the customs of some of our own North American Indians, who cherished the belief that their "happy hunting grounds" lay in the west, and who practiced the custom of laying their dead away on well-provisioned platforms facing the west. The belief of the ancients died long, long ago with the religion of that far-distant time—did only to return to earth again during the Great War. So quickly did the phrase become a part of the vocabulary of the soldier in the trenches that to-day it would be difficult to find a reading person in all the earth that does not instantly perceive its affectionate pathos.

A family bulletin board is a great saver of time and trouble. Cerefs should be cleaned, put into a damp napkin on the ice until just before serving.

To soften the crust of bread wrap it, while it is still hot, in several thicknesses of breadcloth.

Is There a Man in the Moon?

The markings which we see on the face of the moon when it is full can by a stretch of the imagination be said to form the face of a man. On some nights this face appears to be quite distinct. If, however, we look at the moon through a telescope, we see distinctly that it is not the face of a man.

Through a very large telescope we can see very plainly that the marks are mountains and craters of extinct volcanoes. It just happens that these marks on the moon, aided by the reflections of the light from the sun, which gives the moon all the light it has, a combination that looks like a face.

Why Does My Hair
Stand on End

WHEN I AM FRIGHTENED!

It does this under certain conditions, because there is a little muscle down at the root of each hair that will make each hair stand up straight when this muscle pulls a certain way. It is difficult to say just how these muscles are caused to act in this way when we are frightened. We know that when thoroughly frightened our hair will sometimes stand straight up, and we know that it is muscle at the root of each hair that makes it possible, but why it is that a big scare will make this muscle act this way we do not as yet know.—From the Book of Wonders.

ONCE MORE TO BE THE Great Raw Fur Market OF AMERICA

With Champlain came the first fur traders on this continent! Away back in 1608, when sent out from France by the great Company of Merchants, they established the first fur trading posts in Canada.

In 1628 the historical Company of One Hundred Associates received a charter from the French Government to operate as fur traders, and they laid the real foundation of the immense fur business of the New World. In the years that followed, the world-famous Hudson's Bay Company, truly the embodiment of the British spirit of adventure and enterprise, still further organized and developed the growing business.

FROM THE VERY BEGINNING ALL OF THE FURS SECURED WERE MARKETED THROUGH MONTREAL

With the establishment in Montreal of the Canadian Fur Auction Sales Company Limited, Canada once more comes into her own as the natural and logical raw fur centre of the continent. Organized and controlled by leading Canadian financiers and business men, the company will create a big, reliable World's Market IN CANADA. For all shippers of raw furs the creation of such a thoroughly satisfactory market will fill a long felt want.

GREAT AUCTION SALES of ten to fourteen days' duration will be held three or four times a year.

The Company's offerings will consist chiefly of fresh, original, unculled Canadian furs, unmixed with cheaper, inferior southern varieties. Consequently they will be so attractive to buyers from all over the world as to be irresistible.

CANADIAN DEALERS, TRAPPERS, TRADERS—
centralise your collections—concentrate your shipments at one point—MONTREAL. Manufacturers from ALL of the great world-distributing centres MUST have your furs. They will come in crowds to bid in genuine, spirited competition on YOUR lots—the best in the world.

The company is prepared to finance the entire Canadian output—and expects to do so. Furs run into big money nowadays—liberal advances will be made, gladly, to any shipper, large or small, on request.

The expense to shippers of selling in the Montreal market is less than in any other real fur centre.

Write us for further information. We will be pleased to place your name on our mailing list for market reports, quotations and other timely literature you will appreciate.

The Trinity Benefit Club.

(By REV. CANON LOCKYER.)

As in the physical world "straws show how the wind blows," so in the Club world the framing and changing of the Club Rules show the immoral and the moral tendencies of the times.

Thus in the twenty-six Rules that were framed when the Club was formed, Rule 6 reads as follows:

"Any member attending a meeting in a state of intoxication or using abusive or upbraiding language thereat, shall be fined toward the general fund, one shilling for the first offence, two shillings and sixpence for the second, and for the third offence shall be expelled."

When the Rules were revised and confirmed in 1869 this Rule was still retained; but when they were revised in 1912 it was eliminated.

The Rule that—because of the drinking habits of the times—was necessary in the earlier years of the Club, became not only unnecessary twenty years ago, but its presence was an insult to every member of the Club—hence it disappeared.

Although in the original Rules of the Club, and frequently in the minutes of the meetings all through its history "the Club Flag" and "the Flag of the Club" is referred to, there is no mention of the design of that Flag. It is, as we know, the Rose, Thistle, and Shamrock on a white field, to indicate the comprehensiveness of Club membership; but when it was authorized, or who designed it are officially unknown.

Whilst eighty per cent. of the charter members were Englishmen, and twenty per cent. were Irishmen, and those parts of the Empire have always been represented, the only Scotchmen whose names appear in the records are Dr. Johnson, in 1848, and Charles MacFarlane, in 1855.

We have always had our local Societies that have stood for various principles, claimed the love and allegiance of our people, and contributed their respective quotas towards the best interests of the community. That principle, however, which to-day is the main thread running through all these Societies, and upon which their very existence largely depends, is the sick and mortality benefits assured to their members.

It was not always so with all the Societies in our midst; but from the beginning it has been the one, Great, Exclusive object of "the Club," and this has won for it the love and respect of its members, in a measure not found elsewhere.

The Trinity Benefit Club has always attracted to its ranks the leading men of the place, men whose one object in becoming members has been to help some one poorer than themselves. All down through its history, and to date, there have been and there are those who, whilst giving freely and generously of their time, money, and talent to advance its interests, would scorn the action of taking from its funds in time of sickness or death, that financial assistance to which they were and are fully entitled.

That spirit of unselfishness is one of the best assets of "the Club" to-day, and that being so it is not surprising to find that it is increasing yearly in membership and funds, and in every other thing that has to do with prosperity.

The following is a list of its Presidents to date:

Rev. Wm. Bullock	1838 to 1841
Dr. Gill	1841 to 1847
Dr. Johnson	1847 to 1856
A. W. Bremner	1856 to 1862
Patrick Murphy	1862 to 1872
Dr. Robert White	1872 to 1912
Dr. Arthur White	1912 to 1913
Edwin Grant	1913

Dr. Robert White died in 1912. During the last year of his life he was prevented by illness from attending the meetings, and when in 1912 he asked "the Club" not to re-elect him as President, he was made the first Honorary President, and his son, Dr. Arthur White, was elected to succeed him as President. Dr. Arthur died in 1913.

Whilst in every period of the history of "the Club," there have been individual members who by their special gifts and talents, have rendered a fine service to the organization, and to whom "the Club" is forever indebted, the names of Dr. Robert White and Dr. Arthur White will ever be held in grateful memory, by the members of this generation, who were privileged to be associated with them in the transaction of business, and in the social work of the Society. Truly, they were men—We may not see their like again. May they rest in peace.

The oldest members of "the Club" to-day are: Mr. Joseph Morris, of Trinity, and Mr. Reginald Mills, of Trinity East.

Mr. Morris has been a member for sixty-three years, and Mr. Mills has been a member for sixty-two years.

During the war "the Club" was represented in the fighting line by twenty of its members, and two gave their lives for the cause of Empire. In recognition of their patriotism, no dues were required of them during the war, and those who were wounded received the regular sick benefits of "the Club" during the time of their illness. The sum of $303 was paid to members in these circumstances.

The present membership is 135. Since its beginning it has paid out in times of sickness and death $17,000, and it has $900 to its credit.

At the annual meeting the President reminded the members that there was only one of their number who was prevented by sickness and the infirmities of age from attending the meeting. At the President's suggestion a voluntary subscription was taken up for him. Twenty dollars was found in the box, together with the names of several young men who promised to supplement the amount by a haul of wood during the coming week.

The officers for the present year are:

Mr. Edwin Grant—President.
Mr. George Gent, Vice-President.
Mr. Walter White, Secretary.
Mr. Wm. McGrath, Treasurer.

The Charter members of "the Club" in 1838, were:

Rev. Wm. Bullock, Thos. Drawbridge, William Kelson, Richard Ash, Jr., Samuel A. Gent, John B. Lurrell, William D. Cross, Patrick Murphy, Geo. S. Field, Thomas Murphy, Daniel Eagen, Jasper Lucas, George Rex, John Rex, Henry Andrews, Jr., John Crocker, sr., John Collins, John Crocker, jr., Lawrence Mullett, Peter Simpson, Edmund Hunt, Edward Eagen, William Wiltshire, Richard Malmont, Thomas Jenkins, George Christian, George Peters, James Dwyer, Jacob Rug, Miles Swadridge, Benj. Pittman, Thomas Carroll, Jas. Devereux, Richard Green, Thomas Green, Jas. Fitzgerald, Stephen Crocker, Aubrey Crocker, Richard Wheeler, Patrick O'Neale, John McLochlan, John Murphy, George White, John Boden, Joseph Brine, John Ainsworth, Samuel Diddam, James Wiseman, John Gallivan, Richard Hibditch, John Eagan, Wm. Hunt, Richard Staple, Maurice Walsh, Adam Rockwood, Robert Grant, Philip Cook, James Tibbs, John Power, Charles Purchase, Wm. Hart, Jacob Christian, Joseph Taverner, Wm. Curtis, Charles Granger, Jonas Jones, Jas. Christian, Wm. Slattery, Aaron Field, John Lucas, Andrew Duffey, Wm. Green, Henry Andrews, Richard Cook, George Old, Mark Bas-

son, George Freeman, Benjamin Beal, Richard Richards (commonly known as "Double Dick.")

Following are the names of the members of "the Club" who enlisted for Military and Naval service during the war:

Those who gave their lives for God, For King, For Country were: Stanley Barbour and Frank Morris. They died that we might live. May they rest in peace.

Household Notes.

Tea should never be allowed to boil. Chicken and veal make white soup stock.

Real lamb chops are always of small bone.

Better bake bread too long than not enough.

Buy the cheapest cuts of meat for soup stock.

Prune stuffing is the proper thing for roast goose.

If your beef shows slight signs of spoiling, corn it.

Grated lemon peel adds a delicious flavor to baked apples.

Never wear out your old street dresses in the kitchen.

A shelved window seat is an excellent place for old magazines.

Onions will skin easily if boiling water is poured over them.

Soups which have in them cream or milk are best for invalids.

Basting threads, if of good quality, can be saved and used again.

A slice of lemon in a cup of tea will counteract any bilious effect.

Dishes which are rinsed in boiling water will require no wiping.

Crackers which are heated will roll better than unheated crackers.

Meringues should be put on puddings after they are slightly cool.

When shoes are hardened by a wetting rub with a little castor oil.

Cut Japanese paper napkins into small squares to use for pen wipers.

Lump sugar rubbed over the surface of an orange is delicious in tea.

Strips of pie-crust, spread with jam, are delicious with afternoon tea.

Any croquette mixture will mold more easily if allowed to cool thoroughly.

Bread should be removed from the pans immediately after coming out of the oven.

A rolled magazine can be made to serve as a sleeve board in an emergency.

The NEW SENSATION HAT-BRITE.

Why not economize in your wearing apparel, as well as in the other methods which you, no doubt, are practising to-day? Make your old hat do you another season.

If you are not ready to buy a new hat, give the one which you had last year a coat of Hat-Brite, and you will be surprised with the results you obtain. You will practically have a new hat for the coming year. Very often you require a second hat in order to save the one which you have just bought, or intend to buy, using last year's old straw hat for ordinary wear, and the new one for special occasions. Pin marks, stains, dirt, finger marks, etc., can be obliterated with Hat-Brite.

Make your old hat a new one by shaping it, then applying a coat of Hat-Brite to the straw. The changing of a shape can easily be accomplished by moistening the straw, and then when it is thoroughly dry, apply Hat-Brite, and you will have a new hat for this season.

Hat-Brite is the result of very careful tests, exhaustive experiments, and expert knowledge in handling the necessary ingredients to make a permanent durable finish for straw hats. The material is put up in attractive bottles, each in a carton with a brush. It is prepared ready for use, and requires very little time to renovate and make an old straw hat into a new one. It penetrates right into the straw, presenting a permanent and durable finish that withstands exposure. It is the most satisfactory hat finish on the market to-day, and anyone can be proud of hat finished with Hat-Brite, and tastefully trimmed.

Hat-Brite also is a superior product for finishing all kinds and classes of straw goods, leather, rattan, wicker, baskets, basketry, wood, metal, glass or similar material, also satin, silk and canvas slippers.

The Battle of St. Vincent

The battle fought off Cape St. Vincent between the British fleet under Sir John Jervis, and the Spanish on February 14, 1797, is best remembered nowadays on account of the great part played by Nelson, then a commodore. But it is noteworthy, besides, as the greatest victory gained at sea up to that date in the great war of a century ago; and it was all the more welcome because it came at a time when, as Jervis said, "England much needed a success." Compared with Nelson's later triumph, the actual loss inflicted on the enemy was not great; but the conflict had several dramatic features, especially the manner in which the only trophies of it—the "San Josef," of 112 guns and the "San Nicolas," of 74 guns, were captured by Nelson, who carried both of them by boarding quite an exceptional incident in fleet actions. Another outstanding feature was the disparity in numbers, twenty-seven Spanish to fifteen British. But the Spanish Navy was far gone in decadence, and though the ships were good, the men lacked skill and spirit. Upon this occasion, when the conditions of the wind separated the fleets, the Spanish admiral, although still superior in number, declined to renew the engagement; and perhaps he was justified by the state of his command. Nevertheless, when due allowance is made for this, Jervis showed much moral courage in attacking against such odds and well deserved his title of Earl St. Vincent and pension of £3,000. For Nelson, inclusion in a promotion of rear-admirals and the Order of the Bath, were deemed sufficient. But before long he was, in his own phrase, "to have a gazette of his own."

Feild College Has New Teacher.

The teaching staff of Bishop Feild College has recently been greatly strengthened by the addition of Mr. H. Rayner Thornley to its number. Mr. Thornley comes from Manchester, England, and holds the degree of Bachelor of Science with Honours from the University of that city. He specializes in scientific and mathematical subjects, and has worked in the Honours Schools of practically every branch of science in Manchester University, including Chemistry, Physics, Geology and many other subjects. His last teaching post was that of second in command of the technical training school, conducted by one of the great engineering firms in Manchester, for the benefit of its apprentices and employees. It is hoped that under Mr. Thornley's management the scientific and mathematical instruction at Bishop Feild College will become second to none in this City.

YOUNG BOB FITZSIMMONS WON AGAIN.

Jersey City, N. J., Jan. 29.—Young Bob Fitzsimmons, son of the former world's heavyweight champion, scored a decisive victory to-night in his second appearance in the ring. His opponent, Eddie West, of Newark, got the seventh round of an eight round match after receiving a continual rain of blows from the start of the bout. Fitzsimmons weighed 171 pounds and West 163.

Young Bob engaged in his first contest almost 20 years from the time his famous father won the middleweight title from Jack Dempsey, the "Nonpareil." The young fighter resembled the former champion in the face and by his clever footwork, but his similarity did not go as far as his father's, which lacked force.

Fitzsimmons, who was in splendid condition, forced the fighting at a terrific pace and sent in blows so quickly that West did not get a chance to start good punches, relying mainly on wild swings. These were easily blocked or dodged. Although Fitzsimmons did not use his right with effect until the sixth round, the referee showed an inclination in the fifth to halt the contest, as West was somewhat groggy. West protested and the bout went on to the seventh, when West retired. The loser's left eye was closed after the third round from hard left jab and hooks.

MINOR ROUTS.

Jackie Clarke, of Allentown, out-fought Tommy Robson, of Boston in very round of an eight round bout. Each weighed 153 pounds.

Gene Tunney of New York, light heavyweight champion of the A. B. F., knocked out Jim Monaghan, of New York in the first round in two minutes and 50 seconds. Each weighed 175 pounds.

ARL ARTHUR MAY COME BACK.

Mexico City, Feb. 2.—Jack Johnson, former heavyweight pugilistic champion of the world, plans to return to the United States at once to face charges pending against him in Chicago, according to a letter shown to the Associated Press recently by Johnson. The former champion is confident he can arrange legal difficulties in time to fight Jack Dempsey before the latter meets George Carpentier of France, and asserts Dempsey must meet him before he can claim the world's championship.

The letter shown by the former champion was written by him to Charles F. Clynne, U. S. District Attorney in Chicago. It said Johnson would go to New York by the way of Havana, arranging through the American Embassy here for federal agents from Mr. Clynne's office to meet him in New York. This step was for the purpose of avoiding complication.

Johnson asserted yesterday that he weighed 213 pounds, but would go into training immediately on entering the United States.

Jack Johnson was tried in Chicago early in 1913 on charges of having violated the Mann white slave law and being convicted was sentenced to a year's imprisonment in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kans. Johnson appealed, but before the case was argued before the higher court, he forfeited his bail bond of $15,000 by fleeing from his home near Chicago to Montreal. Late in June 1913, he sailed for Europe, and has not been on American soil since that time.

Chicago, Feb. 2.—"Unconditional surrender" is the only basis on which local federal officials will treat with Jack Johnson, negro pugilist. This announcement was made to-day by District Attorney Charles F. Clynne, after reading The Associated Press dispatch from Mexico City, to the effect that Johnson planned to return to the United States and face his penitentiary sentence for violation of the Mann Act. Johnson fled to Europe in 1913, while out on bail.

Johnson's indictment was the result of charges that he paid the railroad fare of a woman from Pittsburgh to Chicago and he was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary and fined $1,000.

Johnson asserted yesterday that he weighed 213 pounds, but would go into training immediately on entering the United States.

UNFAIR TREATMENT OF BRITISH BOXERS.

They Don't Get a Square Deal, Says American Writer.

W. B. (Bat) Masterson, veteran New York sporting writer, takes a rap at American boxing fans and critics for their unfair treatment of British boxers who appear in the United States. In discussing the Wilde-Sharkey result in The New Telegraph, he comments as follows: "Wilde might be declared the winner if he knocked his opponent stiff, but he'll not be likely to win a decision on points. And even if he should happen to score by a knockout, it's no sure thing that he wouldn't get disqualified for something or other. Those who are running the fighting game

In this country are not the sort that stand for fair play even among themselves. They'll skin each other every time the opportunity presents itself and don't care what means they employ to do it.

Low Trickery.

"That being the case, what is there in the line of scheming and low trickery they wouldn't do to a foreigner. Nothing that I can think of just now, Sharkey might have out-pointed Wilde at Milwaukee, as the newspaper reporters assert to be the case, and by the same token Wilde might have been entitled to the verdict, as he claims to have deserved. Not being there, I don't know.

"But knowing the inside of the game in this country as well as I do, I'm quite well convinced that Wilde made a lucky escape by not being disqualified or discredited more than he was. And if he fights again he'll indeed be lucky to escape as well as he did at Milwaukee.

"Sharkey was more or less of an outsider himself at Milwaukee. He had only been out there a few months before meeting the British flyweight champion, and for that reason didn't have a well-organized gang or rooters at the ringside to shout and bulldoze for him as would have been the case had he boxed at some club nearer his home, which is on the West Side in this city.

"But wait and see what happens to Wilde if he should make a hook-up with some one of our so-called hantams who will have his gang with him when he fights. Oh boy! Wilde has perhaps learned a few things from his Milwaukee experience that will stand him in good stead if he fights again in this country.

Not Real Americans.

"But the worst thing about our boxing game is that English fighters come over here and get the worst of it, whether merited or not, go back home and tell what a gang of swine the Americans are. And as the English press invariably voices the sentiment expressed by their defeated fighter, so will the better element of English sportsmen. The Americans, therefore, get the blame for everything when, as a matter of fact, the English fighter very likely didn't see a genuine American while he was in the country.

"There are, as a matter of fact, few Americans in the fighting game over here. This is especially true of the fighters, their managers and many of the promoters. All of them are either foreign-born or of the first drop of foreign parents. In any case, they are not Americans and should not be classed as such.

Our fighters showed what they were when their services were needed during the war with Germany.

"Instead of coming to the front and volunteering to defend their country's flag against the enemy, they took to the woods and when cornered employed every mean, cowardly subterfuge to keep out of the war. They showed themselves in nearly every single instance to be low-lived slackers, who knew not the meaning of the word patriotism. This is the sort of cattle our fighters are made up of, and unwittingly called Americans by Englishmen. Perish the thought!"

W. C. T. U.

The regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union took place in the Ladies' Parlor of Gower Street Church on Thursday afternoon, a fair representation of members attending. In the absence of the President, Mrs. Hunter, 1st Vice-President, Mrs. Johnston fulfilled her duties. Mrs. Clouston led the devotional exercises, and several others contributed a portion which made the half hour most enjoyable. Various matters arose for discussion, after which plans were arranged along progressive lines. Before the meeting closed an interesting article was read, which stated that Miss Gordon, President of the U. S. National W. C. T. U., and Miss Deane, editor of its principal publication, would attend the world convention, which is to be held this time in London, in the month of April, and which will be representative of forty nations. It is their intention at a later date to tour several continents, to all of which they have been invited to help as they may in the great task undertaken to release the world from the reproach of drunkenness.

It is hoped that good success may crown their endeavors. Next meeting will be held on the 28th inst., in the usual place.

Shipping Notes.

The tug John Green left yesterday afternoon to tow the barge Gaspe to port. The Gaspe passed Cape Race at 8 a.m. yesterday.

S.S. Melgie was due at Louisbourg to-day.

The S. S. Kyle leaves here to-morrow for North Sydney.

S. S. Eagle will go on dock to receive some repairs before going to the seal factory.

Furness Withy Co. received advices from Liverpool that S.S. Digby sailed from there on Saturday last for this port.

S. S. Clyde sailed to-day for Bay de Verde, Trinity and Port Union, taking freight and passengers. She will bring back a load of fish from the latter place.

St. John's Woman Was Helpless; Almost Gave Up

So Weak Had to be Helped Out of Bed—Gains Thirteen Pounds Taking Tanlac.

"Just to think only a few weeks ago I was so bad off I was almost helpless, but now since taking Tanlac I have gained thirteen pounds in weight and am enjoying the best of health," says Mrs. Leonard Miller, 124 Water St., St. John's, Newfoundland, a few days ago.

"No one knows what I have gone through during the past nine years, for I have suffered from a complication of troubles," she continued. "My digestion was so bad that no matter what I ate it seemed to disagree with me and I would be in misery for hours afterwards. I was troubled a great deal with heartburn and after every meal I would have a stuffy, distressing feeling. My heart palpitated so that I thought I should faint and I became so dizzy I had to catch hold of the nearest thing to me to keep from falling over. My back was weak and lame and at times it pained me so that I was unable to get up and whenever I wanted to get up I always had to have someone help me. Severe headaches often came on me and I was so restless and miserable I could never sleep good at night. My nerves were terribly upset and even the children playing would nearly run me wild, and I was afraid to be alone. In fact, several times I thought I was going to die. Then rheumatism set in and my hands and feet would swell up and pain me so bad I could hardly stand it. I gave up my housework entirely and was so weak that as I now look back over my condition it is hard for me to understand how I held out as long as I did.

"But now, I am happy to say that things are different for Tanlac has overcome all my troubles and I am feeling like a young girl again. I enjoy my meals now because I can eat anything I want and I can sleep all night long as sound as a child. The rheumatism has completely disappeared and I have gone back to doing my house-work all by myself. I feel stronger and better than I have in many years and I am just overjoyed at what Tanlac has done for me."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connor, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative; in Harbor Buffet, by Thomas Wakely & Sons; in Placentia, by James Murphy & Son, and in Topsail by J. K. Bursell.—adv.

Terras Defeat Saints.

Last year's "champs" took the Saints into their camp by a score of 4-2 despite the fact that the Terras played without Bob Stick and Ralph Herder. The ice was in splendid condition and the game was lively all through. At the close of the first period the score Terras, the second period ended with Stick notched up a tally for the Terras, the second period ended with the Terras leading by one goal. In the last period the game was somewhat one-sided and the Terras should have scored more. In this period Chafe scored for the Saints and Ralph Stick did the trick twice for the Terras, the game ended with the score standing 4 to 2.

Mr. Hubert Rendell was referee and the players were:—

Terra Novas.—Goal, Rawlins; defence, Tobin, Ralph Stick, Gus Herder; forwards, Trapnell, Canning, Mews, Coultas, L. Stick.

Saints.—Goal, Volsey; defence, E. Munn, Robertson, forwards; Churchill, L. Munn, Chafe and Clark.

"San Toy."

The fifth performance of San Toy at the Casino Theatre last night scored another signal success, and interest in this delightful Chinese Musical Comedy by Sydney Jones shows no sign of flagging, last night's audience being markedly enthusiastic in its applause. The various parts were excellently sustained, notwithstanding the strain and fatigue of five successive presentations, and several encores were responded to. The incomparable Li (Mr. H. Foster) was again in his element, and ably seconded by Dudley (Miss Ida Howlett) captivated all auditors. Mr. J. M. Darcy gave a realistic portrayal of Wo Hop, a Chinese student and the commander of the Emperor's Own, Ko-Fan (Mrs. C. J. Cahill) was the perfection of military deportment and discipline. The exponents of the art Terpsichorean in the persons of Misses Dorothy Mews and Miss Dorothy Withers were rapturously applauded. During the performance, last night, San Toy (Mrs. E. Ring) was presented with a large box of chocolates in appreciation of her capable acting. Mr. J. C. Pippy announced a matinee for this afternoon and a regular performance (the last one) for to-night, and in doing so paid a tribute to the Winning Team of the Commercial Department of the Academy of Our Lady of Mercy, who carried off the Lord Foley Shield in the International Shorthand Competition. To those who have not yet had the pleasure of seeing San Toy, we suggest that they do not miss the last opportunity offering to-night.
