THE Fourth Number of the NOVA-SCOTIA ALMANACK is presented with confidence to its Patrons, the Public. This confidence is occasioned by the very flattering approval which former Numbers have met with, and by the consciousness that care has been taken to deserve a continuance of this approval. This Number contains many useful Tables, New Chronological Series, the requisite Lists, Answers to Questions of 1836, New Questions, and many interesting features which need not be detailed in this place.

THOUGHTS ON ASTRONOMY.

There dwells a noble pathos in the skies,
Which warms our passions, proselytes our hearts.

Night Thoughts.

OF the various studies which arrest the attention of man, there is no one better calculated to bring into exercise the noblest powers of his mind than the sublime science which forms the subject of this essay; it imparts, or strengthens in him a devotional taste, refines and elevates his sentiments, and enlarges his conceptions of that great and glorious Being "in whom life, light, and truth combine;" who hath spread out the heavens, "and set in them a tabernacle for the sun. The heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament showeth His handy-work. Day unto day uttereth speech, and night unto night sheweth knowledge."

Who can, with a meditative eye, contemplate the firmament glowing with countless myriads of living fires without yielding to its sweet and soothing influence,—feeling his bosom divested of all those ruder passions that militate against its peace, and impair its tranquility,—and his very nature experiencing that change which the placid beauty of such a scene is well fitted to produce? From this state of mind, which may aptly be denominated "The soul's calm sunshine and the heart felt joy," he gradually rises to that of wonder and astonishment at the stupendous works of the Divine Architect who first upreared the vast and beautiful fabric, and by whose omnipotent hand it is still sustained; viewing these, man yields the ready homage of sincere, reverential adoration,

And to his God.
Feeling a sense of his own littleness,
Is as a child in meek simplicity.

Well may he, reflecting upon the inconsiderable space he occupies in the universe, exclaim with the royal poet, "When I consider thy heavens, even the works of thy fingers, the moon and the stars which Thou hast ordained,—Lord, what is man that Thou art mindful of him? or the son of man that Thou visitest him?"

The science we are considering teaches us that this globe, on which we live, is itself a planetary body, forming a part of that great system, which it has presented to our admiring eyes, in such a magnificent point of view; that the earth comes under the influence of those laws by which the whole creation is governed—is connected, and has companionship with the radiant orbs of light by which it is surrounded, and, being itself a luminous body, imparts light to them in proportion to the degree which it receives. Thus is "the whole universe one system of society;"

NOVA-SCOTIA (4) ALMANACK.

nothing is made wholly for itself, nor yet wholly for another, but all are ruled by the principles of mutual dependence and harmonious union:

All served, all serving: nothing stands alone;
The chain holds on, and where it ends, unknown.

But further; from the discoveries which have lately been made, or rather, from a theory lately advanced, we are led to suppose that the other planets are formed of nearly such materials as compose this: on this hypothesis, the following questions naturally suggest themselves. Are those spheres inhabited? If so, by whom; a class of intelligencies as far superior to us in their powers and capacities as their blessed abode is removed from this on which our lot is cast, or moral, accountable beings like us, and, like us, as fleeting as the meteor that vanishes ere it can well appear? Are they possessed of the same exalted religious privileges which we enjoy, and has a like grand and lofty scheme for their redemption been designed to result in their final salvation?

We ask these questions, and what is the reply? Mortal tongue cannot unfold the secrets of those worlds, but the answer comes home to the heart with a deep and solemn import. The ways of God are unsearchable and past finding out; yet, benevolent as He is incomprehensible, He has revealed enough of Himself to enable us to understand and do His will; be it ours then to improve the means put into our hands for the attainment of our everlasting good, rather than waste our time in idle speculation, or fruitless attempts to discover what, in all probability, will never come within the limits of our knowledge.

It is now fully proved, that these planets, with the earth which we inhabit, and also the moon, revolve round the sun, which is fixed in the centre of the system. There are two kinds of planets, primary and secondary. The first moves round the sun, and respect him only as the centre of their motions. The secondary planets, called also satellites or moons, are smaller planets, revolving round the primary; while they, with the primary planets, about which they move, are carried round the sun. The planets move round the sun at various distances, some being much nearer to him than our earth, and others being much farther off.

Those wandering or moving stars are called planets.

If we examine the heavens in a clear night, we shall discover some stars which have brighter and steadier light than the rest; and if we continue to observe these for several nights, we shall find that they do not appear in the same place among the rest of the stars every night, but that they have motions peculiar to themselves. All the rest of the stars, rising and setting exactly in the same place, are called fixed stars.

It is now fully proved, that these planets, with the earth which we inhabit, and also the moon, revolve round the sun, which is fixed in the centre of the system. There are two kinds of planets, primary and secondary. The first move round the sun, and respect him only as the centre of their motions. NOVA-SCOTIA (11) ALMANACK.

He who first flung the globe thro' fields of space,
 Now bids it recommence its annual race;
 Sends it in orbit vast, with sister spheres,
 Round glowing Sol, who rules the varying years;
 Singing His praise, to well-taught ears, it flies,
 With all its hills, and dales, its seas, and "skies."

Thro' the hush'd air the whitening shower descends,
At first thin wavering; till at last the flakes
Fall broad, and wide, and fast, dimming the day,
With a continual flow. The cherish'd fields
Put on their winter-robs of purest white.
'Tis bightness all; save where the new snow melts
Along the mazy current.

NOVA-SCOTIA (15) ALMANACK.

And hark! the lengthening roar continuous runs
 Athwart the rifted deep: at once it bursts,
 And piles a thousand mountains to the clouds,
 Ill fares the bark with trembling wretches charg'd,
 That, tost amid the floating fragments, moors
 Beneath the shelter of an icy isle.
 While night o'erwhelms the sea, and horror looks
 More horrible.

NOVA-SCOTIA (17) ALMANACK.

Forth fly the tepid airs and unconfin'd,
 Unbinding earth, the moving softness strays.
 Joyous, th' impatient husbandman perceives
 Relenting Nature, and his lusty steers
 Drives from their stalls, to where the well-us'd plough
 Lies in the furrow, loosened from the frost.

NOVA-SCOTIA (19) ALMANACK.

Now thro' the neighbouring fields the sower stalks,
 With measur'd step, and liberal throws the grain
 Into the faithful bosom of the ground :
 The harrow follows harsh, and shuts the scene.
 Be gracious HEAVEN! for now laborious man
 Has done his part. Ye fostering breezes blow
 Ye softening dews, ye tender showers descend !
 And temper all, thou world-reviving sun,
 Into the perfect year !

NOVA-SCOTIA (21) ALMANACK.

Here their delicious task the fervent bees,
 In swarming millions tend; around, athwart,
 Thro' the soft air, the busy nations fly,
 Cling to the bud, and, with inserted tube,
 Suck its pure essence, its ethereal soul;
 And oft with bolder wing, they soaring dare
 The purple heath, or where the wild thyme grows,
 And yellow load them with the luscious spoil.

NOVA-SCOTIA (23) ALMANACK.

Thrice happy he ! who on the sunless side
Of a romantic mountain, forest crown'd,
Beneath the whole collected shade reclines :
Or in the gelid caverns, woodbine-wrought,
And fresh bedew'd with ever-spouting streams,
Sits coolly calm ; while all the world without,
Unsatisfied, and sick, tosses in noon.

NOVA-SCOTIA (25) ALMANACK.

Invited from the cliff, to whose dark brow
 He clings, the steep-ascending eagle soars,
 With upward pinions thro' the flood of day;
 And giving fell his bosom to the blaze,
 Gains on the sun; while all the tuneful race,
 Smit by afflictive noon, disordered droop,
 Deep in the thicket; or, from bower to bower
 Responsive, force an interrupted strain,

NOVA-SCOTIA (27) ALMANACK.

Soon as the morning trembles o'er the sky,
And, unperceiv'd unfolds the spreading day,
Before the ripen'd field the reapers stand,
In fair array; each by the lass he loves,
To bear the rougher part, and mitigate
By nameless gentle offices her toil.

But see the fading many colour'd woods,
 Shade deepening over shade, the country round
 Imbrown; a crowded umbrage dusk and dun,
 Of every hue, from wan declining green
 To sooty dark. These now the lonesome muse
 Low-whispering, lead into their leaf-strown walks,
 And give the Season in its latest view.

NOVA-SCOTIA (31) ALMANACK.

The lengthen'd night elaps'd, the morning shines
 Serene in all her dewy beauty bright,
 Unfolding fair the last autumnal day.
 And now the mounting sun dispels the fog ;
 The rigid hoar frost melts before his beam ;
 And hung on every spray, on every blade
 Of grass, the myriad dew-drops twinkle round.

Then comes the father of the tempest forth,
 Wrapt in black glooms. First joyless rains obscure
 Drive thro' the mingling skies with vapour foul,
 Dash on the mountain's brow, and shake the woods
 That grumbling wave below. The unsightly plain
 Lies a brown deluge, as the low-bent clouds
 Pour flood on flood.

Answers

TO THE QUESTIONS IN LAST YEAR'S ALMANACK.

From our Correspondent A.

1st. The Privateer will overtake the other vessel in 7 hours, 32 2-9 minutes.

2d. 30 dollars the cost of the Flour, 9 dollars being equal to 30 per cent on the cost.

3d. 18 children, 36 women and 108 men.

4th. The flock of Plover consisted of 72.

5th. He was six days idle.

6th. As 360lbs : 65lbs : 33 1/4 lbs—6lbs. the wt. of the wedge.
As £100: £120 :: £2 15s.—£3 6s., the selling price of the cheese.

As 65lbs: £3 6s. :: 6lbs—5s. 11 1/4d. the price of the wedge sold, omitting fractions.

NEW QUESTIONS.

1st. A farmer has 15 cows more than horses, and as many scores of sheep as horses and cows together, the number of all is 651. How many has he of each kind?

2d. The paving of a square court at 3d. per square yard, cost as much as the enclosing of it at 5s. the yard, What is its extent?

3d. The diameter of the Moon is 2180 miles. Now supposing her a perfect sphere, required her superficial measurement in square miles.

4th. Required the number of cubic miles in the moon, taking her diameter as in the former question.

5th. The shadow of an upright stick 9 inches high is 15 1/2 inches, required the height of a tower whose shadow at the same time is 114 3/4 feet?

6th. A person asked the time of day, he was answered it is between 6 and 7 o'clock, and the two hands are exactly together, required the true time?

7th. How many 3-inch cubes may be cut out of a 12-inch cube?

8th. On April 1st the Sun's Declination at noon at Greenwich, will be 4° 34' 32" N, in what latitude will he rise at 8 o'clock in the morning of that day?

From our Correspondent B.

10th. A certain Coal-pit of a conical form, measured as follows, viz:—the diameter at the bottom 22 feet, the perpendicular height in the centre 7 ft. 4 inch. the slant height to a certain point called G, 5 ft., and the slant height from G to the top 8 ft. 6 inch. Required the diameter G by Trigonometry, and the exact content of the whole in cords by dividing it into two parts, viz: by finding the diameter G which will become the base of the top part.

11th. Divide 9 into two cubes exclusive of 1 and 8 by double false position.

S. E. M.

[NOTE.—S. E. M. will please accept our thanks for his answers to questions of 1836. We received answers from two other quarters which appeared more suited to our space, and to generality of readers. Almanacks are intended for all who can read, write, and compute by Arithmetical figures. Where questions can be given by common Arithmetic, we prefer them to those in the less known department of Algebra. Of five questions sent by S. E. M. we insert three. His first would not seem of much practical utility to many of our readers. His fourth—respecting souls in purgatory—we consider disgraceful to S. E. M.'s character as an Arithmetician and a Christian. As regards Arithmetic, it is an old absurd quibble, which a lover of pure science ought not to intrude on young students even in jest. As regards Christianity, the spirit of Christianity is one of forbearance and charity and humility—not of insult, self-sufficiency, and misrepresentation.] Ed. Almnk.

	ANSWER, 6lbs. 1-288 weight of wedge.
As £100 :	55s.	:: £20 to gain on cheese.—11s.

Then As 65lbs : 6lbs 1-288 :: £3 6 0 to price of wedge

ANSWER, Cs. 1d. 2808-18720.

(NOTE. We have not thought it necessary to give C's results of 2d, 3rd, 4th and 5th questions as in these he agrees with A.)—Ed. Alk.

NOTE.—The Almanack Office being deficient in figures for fractions, we have been forced to adopt the following mode: we place the numerator and denominator in a line with a hyphen between. Thus we express four fifths by 4-5.

NOVA-SCOTIA (86) ALMANACK.

QUESTIONS BY C.

To Young Arithmeticians.

12th. Suppose a "Pound Cake," to be worth 15s. and that it be divided into 5 parts. John, we will suppose, gets 2 of these parts; James  $\frac{3}{4}$  of a part; Ann  $\frac{1}{4}$ ; Mary  $\frac{1}{2}$ , and Edward one sixth of a part. Ellen wishes to purchase the remainder of the Cake, and William offers to buy, at the proper value,  $\frac{3}{4}$  of John's share. Required,—what is the value of each of the original shares—and what Ellen and William should pay: with mode of work and Proof, —by Vulgar Fractions.

13th. Suppose a board to be 6 feet 4 inches 3 seconds in length, and 4 feet 3 inches 6 seconds broad, tell the superficial extent. Multiply by Vulgar Fractions, not by "Duodecimals." Mode of working and answer required?

14th. Suppose 3 travellers, A, B, C sit down to refresh themselves, A and B had provisions, C had not, but proposed to pay his proportion. A produced 5 loaves, and B 3; of equal value each, C paid 3 equal pieces of money, as the value of his share. How should the money be shared between A and B?

15. Suppose 2 Houses, the gable of one 64 feet high, and the other 50, stand opposite to each other. In a line with the centre of both gables, stands a fountain; the summit of the ornamental work of the fountain, is 97 feet from the higher house top, and 86 from the lower house top; the base of the lower house is 76 feet from the centre of the base of the fountain work. Required,—(with mode of working) the length of a line which would reach from one gable top to the other, and the height of the fountain's ornamental work?—

16th. Suppose that A and B share a sum of money. A gets eighteen twenty ninths of the money, and B fifteen thirty fourths. A's share was £80 5s. more than B's.—Tell the amount divided?

Charade.

My first includes whate'er is said or sung,
My second soonest marks the baby's tongue,
My third is useful tho' by science scorned,
My whole by truth and fancy is adorned.

Required—a Solution in Verse.

NOTE.—We regret that solutions and questions by Master G. F. Killam, Yarmouth, and an accompanying explanatory letter, came too late for to be available in this year's Almanack. We are much pleased at the interest which this department has excited, and hope to see a continuance and an increase.
