Nurses Will Be Prepared There for Graduation.

Innovation Established by Superintendent MacCallum.

Dr. G. A. MacCallum, assisted by his able staff, Drs. Buchan, Bell, Mac-Naughton and the clinical assistant, Mr. MacLay, has opened a training school for nurses in connection with the asylum. The object is to give the patients the benefit of trained nurses, which nowadays is considered necessary in all forms of illness, and it will be especially useful at the asylum. The large infirmary there is shortly to be finished and such an innovation as has been instituted must be for the good of the institute. It is understood that Drs. MacCallum and Stevenson, of this city, have very kindly agreed to lecture to the nurses during the term. nurses will be granted a diploma after two years of lectures and training, and they bind themselves to stay at the institution until they graduate. Remarkable Recovery From Nervous Collapse

A Methodist Minister Tells How He Was Rescued From a Helpless Condition by

That Dr. Chase's Nerve Food pos-esses unusual control over the nerves and rekindles nervous energy when all other means fail is well illustrated in the case described below. Mr. Brown was forced to give up his ministerial work, and so far exhausted that for a time he was positively helpless. Doctors were consulted and many remedies were resorted to, in vain. Every effort to build up the system semed in vain, and it is little wonder that the sufferer was losing hope of recovery, when he began to use Dr. Chase's Nerve

Rev. T. Brown, Methodist minister, of Omemee, and late of Bethany, Ont., writes: "A year ago last November I was overtaken with nervous exhaustion. For six months I did no work, during that time I had to be waited on, not being able to help my-Nervous collapse was complete, and though I was in the physician's hands for months, I did not seem to improve. At any little exertion my strength would leave me, and I would tremble with nervousness.

"From the first I used a great many most lost hope of recovery, when I heard of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and began to use it. As my system became stronger I began to do a little work, and have gradually increased in nerve force and vigor, until now I am about in my normal condition again. I consider Dr. Chase's Nerve Food the best medicine I ever used. Not only has it proven its wonderful restorative powers in my own case, but in several others where I have recommended it.'

Her daughter, Florence, is a child by a farmer marriage. Florence is 17 years old. During the girl's recent theatrical trip in Pennsylvania she several times drew on her mother for funds, and telegrams asking for money were found in Mrs. Morton's rooms. So far as could be learned, Willing had known Mrs. Morton about six weeks. He made her acquaintance while she was living in a rooming-house on Clinton street, and it was at his suggestion the two moved to the flat at No. 145 Eagle street. Willing at that time had several hundred dollars in the bank. He drew that and paid for furnishing the flat. Willing came to this city from Detroit, Mich. His brother, H. L. Willing, is a clothing merchant in that city. He has other relatives there. Willing has lived in Buffalo off and on for the last six years. He is unmarried and 38 years old.

Distilling of Spirits From By-Product of Sugar Beet Factories.

Toronto, Oct. 21.-The General Distilling Company, Limited, with a capital of $600,000, has been recently formed for distilling spirits from the byproduct of the beet sugar factories now being opened throughout Canada. The incorporators are Gooderham & Worts, Toronto, and the Walkers, of Walker-Building operations have already been commenced on property adjoining the Gooderham & Worts' distillery in Toronto.

The industry is essentially a new one in Canada, and owes its establishment solely to the beet sugar industry, in the manufacture of which a by-product similar to molasses is accumulated. This syrup will be shipped in tank cars to the new distillery, and there distilled into alcohol for mechanical and art purposes only. purposes only.

Boston, Oct. 20 .- National President John F. Finerty, of Chicago, was the principal speaker at the opening of the United Irish League convention in this city yesterday.

The Anglo-Norman feudal system, he said, "was paramount in Ireland until Parnell, supported by the land league, of which the United Irish League is the lineal successor, made a breach in its brazen shield. Catholics and Protestants alike were persecuted, and the outrages forced them to emigrate to the American colonies, where they took their part in the war for Independence. Hot Speeches in the Irish

The meeting, said Finerty, was to express the sentiments of the American Irish on the Irish question and to welcome Ireland's chief and his fellowdelegates. A year has not yet elapsed since the United Irish League of America was temporarily organized. In spite of senseless opposition in some quarters and unmanly apathy in others, it has increased and multiplied throughout the American continent, and has furnished the true men in Ireland with a respectable amount of sinews of war to carry in a manly manner the noble struggle for land and The Protestants of the north and the Catholics of the south have joined hands for the salvation of their country, which presages a long day of glory and prosperity.

Ireland's foes were denounced by speakers at two big meetings in Symphony Hall and the Hollis street theater Sunday night where receptions were tendered by the United Irish League to John E. Redmond M. P., Michael Davitt, John Dillon, M. P., and Hon. Edward Blake, M. P., envoys to the national convention.

Redmond said words would not portray the importance of these meetings and the convention to Ireland's cause. He said that all the power and wealth of the English nation is being used in a reckless attempt to crush the spirit of freedom in Ireland.

"We are near the end of the con-test," said Redmond, "the violence of the attacks of the British Government on the Irish Land League portends this end, and every assistance should be given to those across the water who are fighting the cause of Ireland with such magnificent courage, selfsacrifice and generosity."

London, Oct. 21 .- The Irish Nationalists were much in evidence at question time in the House of Commons yesterday. They bombarded Irish Secretary Wyndham with all kinds of queries, interruptions and contradictions of his statements anent the imprisonment of Irish memoers.

Mr. Wyndham's replies, though given derisive cheers, mingled with hisses, and the speaker was kept busy suppressing demonstrations which threatened to develop into disorderliness. ment of the House to discuss questions arising from the case of former Police Sergeant Sullivan, now in America, who is alleged to have obtained the conviction of innocent persons through perjury.

The Liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, cordially joined the Irish in supporting their demand that the government fix a day to discuss the state of Ireland, but declined to make the Liberal opposition responsible for the demand.

O'BRIEN HEARD FROM. The galleries of the House were crowded at night in anticipation of a sensational debate on Wm. O'Brien's motion. In outlining the Sullivan matter, Mr. O'Brien declared that Patrick Nolan, one of the Government's witnesses in a certain prosecution in Dublin and Sligo, though he swore at one trial that a letter purporting to have been written by Mr. MacHale, president of the United Revolutionary League, arranging for a murderous outrage, was in Sullivan's handwriting, yet the same witness afterward avowed that he had been employed to shield Sullivan from justice by discrediting the evidence of other witnesses, and that Sullivan was guilty of forgeries. Describing the Sligo trial as an eyewitness, Mr. O'Brien declared that a more dishonest or revolting trial had never been held. He said the Irish members feared that Dublin Castle was trying to hush the Sullivan matter up, but that it was a case of greater gravity than that of Sheriff Sheridan, because the plot Sullivan had organized against the Irish League was of the same character as "the Pigott forgeries" against Parnell. Mr. O'Brien charged that the Government had packed the jury to acquit Sullivan and had spent an enormous sum to shelter him from justice. "The greater the scoundrel in the Irish constabulary," said the speaker, "the surer he is of being shielded and pro-"WITHDRAW!" The attorney-general for Ireland Atkinson, replying to Mr. O'Brien, charged that the facts of the case had been strangely misrepresented, and he taunted Mr. O'Brien with being too cowardly to bring this case openly in

The speaker of the House replied that he did not take the remark as calling Mr. O'Brien a "coward," but as applying to the course he had

The attorney-general then withdrew his expression and proceeded with the contention that he did not have the power to try a man a second time for a crime of which he had been acquitted. He scored Mr. O'Brien for bringing infamous charges against the crown without proof.

MR. WYNDHAM. Mr. Wyndham declared that Mr. O'Brien's charge had been completely disposed of, and he ridiculed the idea that the matter was one of urgent public importance. T. P. O'Connor said the present debate filled him with more despair than any he had ever before heard in the House, and reiterated the charge that the government had packed the Sulliyan jury with Protestants and Union-Mr. O'Brien's motion for an adjournment of the House was rejected by 215 votes to 117.

Mr. Wyndham then explained that it was impossible to pass the Irish Land Purchase Bill this session, and said he hoped, in the course of the next session, to introduce a new bill for voluntary arrangements between the parties concerned. He moved the withdrawal of the Land Purchase Bill. which was agreed to and the House

I have no samples, because any medicine that can affect Rheumatism quickly must be drugged to the verge of danger. I use no such drugs, and it is folly to take them. You must get the disease out of the blood. My remedy does that, even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. No matter how impossible this seems to you, I know it and I take the risk.

I have cured tens of thousands of cases in this way, and my records show that 39 out of 40 who get those six bottles pay gladly.

Explanations Anent Imprisonment Seeks Direct Relations With Cabul-British Government Has Something to Say.

London, Oct. 21.-The engagement of Mr. Hanbury, minister of agriculture, to receive on Thursday a deputation urging the withdrawal of the ban against the importation of Argentine cattle, has given a fresh spurt to the Scottish graziers' movement to free in a conciliatory tone, evoked storms of Canadian cattle from the existing embargo. The Scottish M. P.'s will get the Scottish agriculturists in conference at London on Thursday, when Wm. O'Brien moved the adjourn- it is hoped that further pressure will be brought on Mr. Hanbury. Certainly it would be most unfair if Argentine cattle were admitted while Canadian stock was denied the same treatment, especially seeing that time has abundantly proven the freedom of Canadian herds from disease. London butchers when reproached for the present high prices of meat, replied:
"Open the ports and we will soon out down the prices." The statement issued from the Canadian High Commissioner's office admits that Canada

RUSSIAN AIMS.

London, Oct. 21 .- That the recent reports of Russia's desire to establish direct relations between St. Petersburg and Cabul (Afghanstan) was well founded was admitted by Under Foreign Secretary Cranborne in the House of Commons yesterday.

Replying to a question of Sir Seymour King (Con.) Lord Cranborne said the British Government had received a communication from the Russian Government proposing that direct relations be astablished between Russia and Afghanistan in regard to frontier matters. Russia set forth that the relations would not have a political character, as the Russian Government maintained its former engagements and continued to leave Afghanistan outside of the sphere of Russian influence. The British Government replied that it was impossible to consider any change in the existing arrangements without more precise information regarding the proposed relations. the limitations to be placed on them and the means for insuring the observation of such limitations. Lord Cranborne added that no answer had yet been received to Great Britain's

The Transvaal Education Department, says the London Times correspondent at Pretoria, has to cope with the problem of providing schools for a large number of children living on farms at a distance from towns and villages. No final plan has yet been adopted, but it has been found possible to start five farm schools in the Transvaal, groups of farms having guaranteed from 20 to 30 pupils for each school. Two teachers are sent to the farm indicated as most suitable for holding the school, taking with them a marquee, furniture, rations, etc. In cases where it is impossible to collect more than a dozen children some system of pupil-teachers will have to be introduced, and at the same time efforts will be made to attract children towards schools where they can be boarded. The correspondent says that though the expenditure for education is not productive pecunarily, it is to be hoped a generous policy will be pursued, as education must be regarded as the means for the ultimate pacification of

DENOUNCED TRADES UNIONS.

The tenth annual congress of the Free Labor Association London on Monday. The delegates re-presented 400,000 workmen. President John Chandler made a virulent attack on trades unionism. He claimed that the growth of industrial freedom greatly tended towards the diminution of strikes, and declared that trades union excesses in violation of personal freedom were a disgrace to labor in this country. Nothing could more forcibly llustrate the intolerance which vaded trades unionism than the statement said to have been made to the Rev. Charles Edwards, a Pennsylvania clergyman, some time ago by a non-unionist, that striking coal miners had threatened to cut off the ears of every man returning to work. "If British trades unionists do not sympathize with those abominable atrocities," the speaker asked "why do they vote £1,000 in aid of the strikers of American who made such an infamous threat."

To Fight Prohibition.

Windsor, Oct. 21.-Windsor hotelmen held two meetings on Friday for the purpose of hearing addresses from James Haverson, K.C., Toronto, legal adviser of the Ontario Licensed Victuallers' Association, and Edward Freysinger, the Toronto organizer of the association, regarding organizing for the referendum vote. The Windsor hotelmen are divided on the question of organization. While a number are willing to do their share towards defeating prohibition, others are opposed to doing any work, and say that if the people of the Province wish temperance the owners of hotels can abide by the decision the same as other business men. The majority, however, want to fight

Woman's Wealth Is Health.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Gives Vitality, Vigor and Strength to Debilitated and Rundown Wømen.

It is maintained by many writers that the greatness of a nation depends much upon the physical condition of its women. The general conditions which contribute to health and long life, are those which do not imply a rapid and unequal exhaustion of those powers by which life is maintained While we assert that the women of our land stand peerless for beauty and the virtues that make them lovable, we cannot hide the fact that there are thousands in our midst, who, owing to overwork, worry, household cares, and an unequal exhaustion of life-power, have become weak, nervous, sleepless and debilitated. We bring to the attention of weary, despondent, hopless and sickly women earth's great rescuer and health-builder, Paine's Celery Compound. Thousands of healthy women around us owe their present vigor, activity and robustness to Paine's Celery Compound. No other medicine has done such a work for women, and no other has ever received such strong and grateful letters of testimony. Mrs. W. B. Phelps, of Philipsville, Ont., says:

"For two years I was in a miserable state of health, and so nervous that sleep went from me. In my anxious condition it was no pleasure to live. After use of Paine's Celery Compound for ten lays I found myself very much improved, and I was enjoying rest and sleep. I have since taken Paine's Compound from time to time, and find that it keeps me well and strong. I recommend Paine's Celery Compound at every opportunity."

A Sign of the Times.

The Minister of Railways and Canals, besides putting vigor into the management of the Intercolonial Railway, has shown a commendable degree of independence in dealing with the great railway corporations. Until he took hold of the system the Intercolonial was not in any sense a rival of the other trunk roads. One end of It was little better than a stub line for the C. P. R. Mr. Blair has proved that the country has a genuine asset in the Intercolonial, and that the benefits of Government ownership and control of railways may exist in practice as well as theory. His recent speech on this subject at Vancouver has drawn some criticism. It is too progressive to please everyone, even in his own party, but it is in accord with the tendency of the times, and with a growing public sentiment in Canada. Mr. Blair said:

"There are young men, and perhaps middle-aged men, who are listening to me, who will see three or four transcontinental lines running through Canada. And they will be burdened with the numerous products which the earth will yield, and in order that the best results may follow from that, it is unquestionably necessary that the rates which obtain for the transport of these products should be as low as possible. The ideal condition for Canada from a railway point of view would have been that the Government should have traversed man." this continent with a Government railway. I am not so sure that the idea is fanciful or chimerical even row. I sometimes dream dreams. dream sometimes of a prolongation by water and rail of the Government system which we now know by the name of the Intercolonial Railway. "I dream that with the extension of the rail and water line, nothing would prove so fruitful of magnificent realization to the people of this great west than to run the railway right through to the Pacific coast and operate it upon, I will not say merely onomical rates, but upon rates sufficient to pay working expenses, without dividend, for the Government or anyone else. That has been my dream. I dream that still, and I be-lieve that it would be of no disadvantage, even from a financial standpoint, to the people of this Dominion, either east or west. I believe we would not feel the burden. I believe we would not know we had a road resting upon our shoulders."

The Oppression of the Jews.

Oppression in Eastern Europe is driving hordes of destitute Jews to Great Britain and the United States. The American Secretary of State has appealed to the great powers to intervene on behalf of the Jews in Roumania, but his entreaty is likely to find sympathy only from the British Government. Major Evans Gordon, M. P., a member of the British royal commission on alien immigration, declares that the influx into England of Jewish refugees from the continent has become a menace, socially and industrially. Great Britain may be comable series of letters from the anthrapelled to depart from her traditional policy of the open door, and impose some tests or restrictions to stay the tide of pauper immigration. She has more than a sentimental reason for strengthening the hand of the United States in the present situation. Article XLIV. of the Berlin treaty lays down that "in Roumania the difference of religions, creeds, and confessions shall forces, there would have been an area not be alleged against any person as of acute suffering as wide as half the a ground for exclusion or incapacity in matters relating to the enjoyment of civil and political rights, admission to public employments, functions and honors, or the exercise of various professions and industries in any locality whatsoever," while Article XLIII. declares the recognition of Roumanian independence to be conditional on the acceptance of these terms. Roumanian independence has been acknowledged by all the powers, and yet the Jews, or "aliens," as they are called - for there is no specific legislation against in a recent report by the United States the Jews - remain virtually excluded from civil and political rights, from manufacture and use of briquettes. public employments-not to speak of These briquettes, made from brown honors-and from almost all professions and industries. It is true that, In deference to the representation of mestic fuel in Berlin and other large the powers, Article VII. of the constitution, which forbade the naturaliza- ployed by the railways for their locotion of Jews, was modified, but the attainment of citizenship has been fettered by so many formalities and restrictions that, out of a resident Jewish population estimated at 400,000, only some hundreds have now the right | no smoke, in addition to all of which to call themselves Roumanians. It is they have shown themselves to be, for difficult to avoid the conclustion that most purposes, the cheapest form of the underlying intention of these en- fuel. Last year 1,643,416 tons were actments is to compel the Jews to em- | made. igrate. Many of the humbler walks of life are now closed to them; they cannot now serve as employes in pub-Uc offices or on the railways; they are forbidden to trade as itinerant hawkers or as rural innkeepers, and are practically prevented from acquiring land, or even from cultivating it for others. While excluded from the rights of citizenship, they are compelled to undergo all its burdens; they are sublected, for instance, to military ser-

in the army. The unfortunate position of the Jews in Roumania is due far less to religtous prejudice than to the jealous national spirit of the Roumanians. A small nation, encompassed by hostile races, the Roumanians are possessed velt will kindly take Canada into his to an abnormal degree by the instinct confidence and allow that Alaskan races, the Roumanians are possessed of self-preservation. hostility to aliens is strongly develop- Refusal to do so implies fear that the ed in all the young Balkan States, but United States case is not a strong one. Life. Roumania alone possesses a large Jewish population. The miserable condition of the Russian Jews is an important factor in the question, for it is feared that a relaxation of the existing laws would induce a great immigration from Poland and Bessarabia. The admission of the Jews to the ownership of land is a question of vital import to the economic future of the country. The disasters which followed the failure of the harvest of 1899 brought into prominence the need for the regeneration of agriculture, as well as the unwisdom of allowing vast tracts of state land to lie waste, while thousands of potential cultivators are shut up in the towns.

The agricultural problem can be solved only by the settlement of the Jews on the land. It is believed that the indolent and thriftless Roumanian peasant would succumb before the quick-witted, parsimonious and industrious ly become master of his labor and his crops, though debarred by law from taking possession of his land. There is something "uncanny" in the energy and acquisitiveness of the Jew, which revolts and alarms the Roumanian mind.

The best hope for the Jew lies in the [New York Times.] Bishop Brewster, of Connecticut, tells this story illustrative of his wife's cleverness. One day they visited a mission school, and in kindly catechising the children he asked:

"Who is your neighbor?" A dead silence followed the question. Finally one little girl raised her hand and made the most unexpected and amazing reply, "God."

On the way home the bishop said to Death of Dr. Selwyn.

Ottawa, Oct. 20.-A telegram received in the city yesterday announced the death at Vancouver, B. C., of Dr. Alfred Richard Cecil Selwyn, for twentyfive years director of the Canadian Geological Survey. He was superture. "The coal strike," he says, "has demonstrated that the evil effects of annuated several years ago, and has since lived in the West. Death was due to the effects of a paralytic stroke. The staff of the geological survey met tinued, had no third party stepped in this morning and passed a resolution of sympathy with the family of the between the stubbornly contending late Dr. Selwyn. The resolution was telegraphed to Miss Selwyn at Van-

"In the spring of 1900 I became very ill," writes Mrs. Alviena Scholtz, of Lake Washington, Lesueur Co., Minn., "my back was very weak and ached so that I could do no work at all, so I was obliged to take to my bed. I felt a constant desire to urinate and the pains in abdomen were almost unbearable. I wrote to Dr. Pierce, who sent me a very kind letter, and advised me to take his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I took six bottles of each and am a well woman now. I cannot say enough in favor of Dr. Pierce's medicines."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wenders for weak women. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most desirable laxative for delicate Every Woman Should Know.

That Prof. W. Hodgson Ellis, Official Analyst to the Dominion Government, has recently made a number of analyses of soaps, and reports that Sunlight Soap contains that high "percentage of oils or fats necessary to a good laundry soap."

What every woman does not know is that in common soaps she frequently pays for adulterations at the price of oils and fats. Try Sunlight Soap-Octagon Bar-next wash day, and you will see that Prof. Ellis is right. He should know. 206

Lifeless Body of a Young Man Picked Up on G. T. R. Track Near Port Hope.

Toronto, Oct. 21.-Charles Oliver, aged 23 years, who lived at 274 Carlton street, was killed yesterday morning by a street car. He was wheeling east, and when in front of 185 Carlton street was warned to look out, as a large tree was being felled there. Oliver turned his wheel, only to get in front of a car going east. He was knocked down, run over and immediately killed. His brother was on a car coming east, and identified the remains.

FOUND DEAD. Port Hope, Ont., Oct. 21.-The body of a young man of 18 or 20 years, subsea young man of 18 or 20 years, subsequently identified as a son of Mr. Wannamaker, of Clarke Township, was found alongside the G. T. R. track, about three miles west of here, early Sunday morning. The coroner was notified and he brought the body to town on a handcar. It is supposed that some time during Saturday night the young man was either stealing a ride and fell off, or was in the act of boarding a moving train, when he was struck. The coroner has decided an inquest unnecessary.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 21.—The body of an unknown man, about 35 years of age, was found in the bushes near Pembyne school, Fort Rouge, yesterday afternoon. The man is of fair complexion, and with mustache. The body was found by Ben Weedlark, a well-known milkman. Deceased was first seen last Thursday in the same place by Mrs. Weedlark, who thought the man was sleeping. An inquest will be held.

CHURCH FLOOR DROPPED.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 21.—A serious catastrophe was narrowly averted at the First Christian Church on Sunday, when the 500 people who gathered to hear Rev. Allan Wilson, of Irvington, Ind., barely escaped being thrown into the basement, 25 feet below, by the giving way of timbers in the floor. The vast audlence passed out quietly, however, upon being notified of their peril, and all escaped unhurt. The audlence did not know of their peril until all were out of the building, when it was learned that the floor had settled five inches, and that the gallery was in a tottering condition. The church, which was an old building, was rendered useless, and it will probably have to be rebuilt.

BRIDGE FELL, FIVE DROWNED. Constantinople, Oct. 21.—Fifteen people were immersed and five of them drowned as the result of the collapse of a the bridge over the Golden Horn connecting Constantinople with the suburb of Galata.

Capture of a Whisky Boat.

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 21.-A sheriff's posse, reinforced by a Gatling gun squad, yesterday afternoon captured U. G. Hull, his son, R. G. Hull, and his daughter, Mrs. Vaughan, of Arkansas, aboard the shanty boat Hazel, said to be a whisky boat, from which shots were fired on the sheriff, Frank Strong, and his posse of Chicot County, Arkansas, resulting in the wounding of the sheriff and three of his men.

A CLEAR HEALTHY SKIN .- Erup-A CLEAR HEALTHY SKIN.—Eruptions of the skin and the blotches which blemish beauty are the result of impure blood caused by unhealthy action of the Liver and Kidneys. In correcting this unhealthy action and restoring the organs to their normal condition, Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will at the same time cleanse the blood, and the blotches and eruptions will disappear Since 1858 the number of lunatics in Scotland has increased by 180 per cent, while the population increases

THE BIG COAL STRIKE THAT LASTED FIVE MONTHS UNANIMOUSLY DECLARED OFF

Wilkesbarre, Oct. 21 .- With the prospect that President Roosevelt's proposal of arbitration would be accepted by a good majority, the convention of United Mine Workers resumed its work today in the Nesbitt Theater. While a final vote of the delegates on the motion before them at adjournment yesterday-the acceptance of the settlement proposal embodied in President Mitchell's speech-may possibly be reached early in the afternoon, it is believed that the delegates of the steam men who are opposing any resumption of work unless they get their places back at once with the rest of the strikers, have not had their full say, and may delay the final vote. Nor have the leaders, except Mr. Mitchell, spoken to any extent, For this reason the entire first session today may be devoted to speeches, and the final polling of the delegates will not be proceeded with until the latter part of the afternoon.

A formal announcement to the public, prepared last night by the resolutions committee (which includes Mr. Mitchell and other high officers of the mine workers), awaits the result of the vote on President Roosevelt's proposal. There is almost no doubt that this announcement anticipates a setlement of the strike. It was evident when the delegates assembled today that they were in a most hopeful mood. opposition of the steam men is neither nor exaggerated by Mr.

MONDAY AFTERNOON'S PROCEEDINGS. Wilkesbarre, Oct. 21.-The opening address of President Mitchell at the miners' convention yesterday was followed with the closest attention by the delegates. Those who expected him to tell all he knew of the situation with reference to the arbitration commission and the question of having all the men obtain their former positions were dis-appointed, as he reserved this for his later remarks, when the question was actually brought before the delegates. At various stages of the reading of the address Mr. Mitchell was applaud-ed, but when he urged the delegates to adopt the recommendations of the executive boards to call off the strike positions they occupied before the strike was inaugurated, tremen applause greeted the remark The moment he finished a Wilkesbarre delegate was on his feet, and moved that the recommendations contained in President Mitchell's address be adopted.

and all men are then to work in the

If this had been acted upon at once the strike would have been off and the convention's work done, but those in opposition would not have it that way. They wanted to, and did, debate the matter until the adjournment, after 5 o'clock.

OPPOSITION DEVELOPED.

A Panther Creek engineer was the first to take the floor in opposition to accepting the plan until he and his colleagues had some assurance they would be reinstated in their old positions. "The companies have declared," he said, "that they will not dismiss the men now employed by them and place strikers in their positions."

A number of other delegates spoke along the same line, and then more confusion resulted over the presence of persons who were not delegates. One delegate took the ground that many of those in the hall were stran-"We do not know whether Baer, Oliphant or John Markle is in the hal ready to vote on the proposition to come before the men," and moved that the convention adjourn.

After some speechmaking, President Mitchell again straightened out matters, by requesting all those, excepting newspaper, men, who did not have credentials, to leave the hall. About half of those present retired.

The question then reverted to the motion to adopt the recommendations of the officers to call off the strike and asked why it was that there are so many "blood purifiers," "nerve tonics," were ever won in the world. If it apand remedies for every ill, except one peals to your judgment to accept the of the most common and annoying, viz., piles. He replied. There are two principal reasons. First, physicians and people in general have thought that the only permanent cure for piles was a surgical operation, that medicinal preparations were simply palliative. Another reason is that piles is in no sense of the word an imaginary disease; the sufferer from piles is very much aware of the fact, and for this reason, the few so-called pile salves, ointments, etc., have been shortlived. The patient very soon discovers their inefficiency.

He says further, fortunately, however, there is a new remedy for piles, which judging from its rapidly growing popularity, will soon take the place of all other treatment; it has certainly made astonishing cures in this obstinate disease and its merit has made it famous among physicians and wherever it has been introduced. This remedy is sold by all druggists under the name of Pyramid Pile Cure. From the immediate relief which the Pyramid Pile Cure gives in all forms of piles, many physicians sup-posed it contained opium, cocaine or some similar substance, but upon analysis it was found to be perfectly free from anything of the kind, and that the instant relief and cure which follows its use is rather the result of its remarkable healing, soothing action on the parts affected. The Pyramid Pile Cure is the only refer all questions at issue to President Roosevelt's commission. The debate was resumed, the steam men leading, but before the discussion had proceeded many minutes, a dele-gate demanded that the credentials of all those in the building be examined to see that no one was in the place not entitled to admission. This was done, and then a motion was made to reconsider the vote by which the newspaper men were permitted to remain in the hall. The motion was defeated. President Mitchell then requested the correspondents not to mention the name of any delegate in his report, on the ground that it might injure him in obtaining work. I mis ended the debate on the correspondents. QUESTION OF REINSTATEMENT. The question again reverted to that of reinstatement of men, and there was no further interruption in the discussion on this phase of the situation. A dozen speeches were made for and against the question of some specific action for assurance that the men would get back their places if they returned to work. It was argued by one delegate that the calling out of the engineers, firemen and pumpmen was a mistake, but as good union men they obeyed. He wanted the union to stand by those men now and not turn its back on them. Another delegate from the southern district declared that the or-ganization should not send the together."

The only delegate in the conthat something be done for the men Mitchell. He simply maintains that mer positions. "The positions for minthis question of dissatisfaction will be ers and mine laborers are numerous who may fail to get back their forers and mine laborers are numerous enough to give nearly all of them employment," he said, "but those for engineers, firemen and pump runners are not so numerous. At this point a delegate arose and asked Mr. Mitchell to express his views on the subject. He immediately responded, and made one of the most important addresses he has been called on to make during the past five months. He spoke slowly and clearly, arbitration plan as it now stands. In and every word was listened to with the deepest interest. It proved to be the real speech of the day.

of the Miners' Association Makes an Important Speech.

The leader of the miners then spoke as follows:

Gentlemen of the Convention,-I desire to inform you that the president of your organization has done all he can to learn the attitude of the companies towards the men who are now on strike. As you know, the companies refuse direct negotiations with us. Through intermediaries we have received assurance that the companies are to meet the issues fairly; that they are not disposed to blacklist the men; that they do not propose to be vindictive; that as far as possible men are to be returned to their old places. It may take some time before that can be brought about, and it may be that some few men will not be restored to their former positions at all. When you vote on this proposition you must do it with as full knowledge of the situation as I can give you. "Now let me emphasize this pointthat the poorest boy that worked in a breaker is as dear to us as the men who ran the engines; that while we shall try with all the power we have to get every man that struck back to his old job, we will make special efforts for none, and show special favor to none. We want the engineers and the firemen, and the pumpmen, and the inspectors, and the bosses to go back; but we do not want them to go back one bit more than we want the little breaker boys to go back. PROTECTION TO EVERY MAN.

"There was no single class of workmen who went out on a sympathetic strike. Every man who struck, struck for wages; he struck for exactly the same thing the miners and mine laborers struck for. As far as it is within the power of the union we shall afford protection to every man, union or non-union, who went out on strike with us. But, gen-There Are Patent Medicines and tlemen, it may be true that some will be sacrificed, and much as we shall regret that, I desire to say that no battle was ever fought, no victory was ever won, that did not carry with it some victims. Lives have been lost to recommendations of your officers, if you decide to defer judgment of the President of your country, if you wish to be guided by the advice of your friends all over the land, and decide to return to work, the United Mine Workers of America will protect the man who happens to be left out of his job. In our pledge to the President of the United States, in which we notified him that we would recommend to you a resumption of work, we said to him that we should recommend a return of our people to their old jobs; and if the coal companies fail to give to treat them reasonably, we shall carry the question to the tribunal named by the President, and ask that tribunal to decide that we are entitled to the work we left when we went on strike. "Now, gentlemen, those are my views. I have no assurance that if you return to work on Wednesday all of you will be given back your old places, I do believe, however, that the coal companies will gradually displace the men who have your jobs, and give you your old places again. I dare say that thousands of men who were brought here from the cities and from the farms to take your places will re-turn to the cities and farms when you go back. I have no doubt at all that before two or three weeks have rolled by there will be no question about the reinstatement of the men. However, remember this, that when your votes are cast I want you to cast them with manently cures every form of piles.

THE ARBITRATION PLAN.

Another delegate made a speech against ending the strike without definite assurance of reinstatement, and Mr. Mitchell was again called upon for an explanation of the status of the response to this request he said:

"We have not adopted their proposition as they made it. The proposition would never, with my consent have been adopted as they made it. When the coal companies thought to practically name the arbitrators we ob-jected and secured a modification of their proposition. That modification enabled the President to select men outside of the class suggested by the sented on the commission. I do not. however, assume that either the capitalists or the trade unionist who are on the commission will permit their special interests to influence their judgment in making their decisions: sion and it is there because the President of the United States wanted it there and because we would not agree to the proposition unless it was there.

DEBATE RESUMED.

Then the delegates again took up the debate. Many spoke with great earnestness. Three of them were willing to return to work and trust to the union to do justice to them. Another was willing to leave the whole matter in the hands of President Roosevelt's commission, and another said: "If I con't get my job I can look for another one; therefore let us return to work and give the American people some coal." The sentiment of the last speaker was loudly applauded. After further debate on both sides it was decided to let the question go over until the morning. A committee on resolutions was then appointed, and at 5:18 p.m. the committee adjourned. The resolutions committee met and

Hon. George W. Ross, in a speech of un-usual eloquence, hearily indorsed the policy of the league. Hon. J. Israel Tarte was present as a member of the league, and delivered a humorous speech, in which he referred to the position of a cabinet minister as being an exceedingly temporary occupa-tion. The question, "Am I a Minister?" he had diplomatically declined to answer in Ottawa earlier in the day.

"To Young Women: - I suffered for six years with dysmenorrhea (painful periods), so much so that I dreaded every month, as I knew it meant three or four days of intense pain. The doctor said this was due to an inflamed condition of the uterine appendages caused by repeated and neglected colds.

"If young girls only realized how dangerous it is to take cold at this critical time, much suffering would be spared them. Thank God for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that was the only medicine which helped me any. Within three weeks after I started to take it, I noticed a marked improvement in my general health, and at the time of my next monthly period the pain had diminished considerably. I kept up the treatment, and was cured a month later. I am like another person since. I am in perfect health, my eyes are brighter, I have added 12 pounds to my weight, my color is good, and I feel light and happy."-MISS AGNES MILLER, 25 Potomac Ave., Chicago, Ill.

The county convention of the W. C. Robert Pemberton Miss Julia Gifford T. U. at Glencoe is being attended by Mrs. Thornley, Mrs. Heaman, Mrs. J. Darch, Mrs. (Dr.) Weeks, Mrs. Robert Marsh, Mrs. McPherson, Mrs. Wantten and Mrs. Bartram, of this city. THE CORONATION CHOIR.

The Coronation Choir concert at St. Paul's Cathedral this evening should be liberally patronized by lovers of music. The company is composed of all the prominent singers who officiated at the coronation of the King and Queen on Aug. 9, at Westminster Abbey. HARVEST HOME SERVICES.

Successful harvest home services were held in the Hamilton Road Methodist Church, on Sunday, Rev. R. D. Hamilton preached to a large congregation in the morning. In the evening the pastor was assisted by Evangelist Collacott. The choir, under the management of Mr. Fred. Fitzgerald, was assisted by Mr. Smith, Mr. Galpin, and Mr. E. Gardiner. The music was very fine and much appreciated. On Monday evening the ladies of the church served their annual "Devonshire Tea," which was thoroughly enjoyed by a large company of people. The Devonshire cream was a great treat to many, and relished by all. The entertainment that followed was presided over by the pastor, Rev. S. J. Allin. The ministers present were: Revs. George Jackson, George J. Bishop, W. McDon-agh, W. Ayers, and L. W. Wickett.

Difficult as it is for a Canadian audience to enter into the thoroughly American spirit which permeates Home," it is nevertheless an easy matter to perceive that Fred C. Whitney has added another winner to the long line of successful operatic productions with which he has been identified, from the days of "Rob Roy" down to "Dolly Varden." The fact that the play attracted to the Grand last night the biggest audience of the season, and the second largest in the history of the house, is but an augury of the crowded theaters which will greet the play wherever it will be presented. That it will live long enough to be produced from end to end of the United States, there can be little doubt, for so skillful has been its compounding that it must appeal with equal effectiveness to both north and south. There is nothing in it to arouse the slightest shade of resentment from either the citizen of the Sunny South or the gallant North. A portion of the public expected the production to be of the ordinary comic opera or musical comedy stamp, but in this they were mistaken. It is not claimed on behalf of the piece that it is a comic opera. "A spectacular military opera" is what it is designated, and a spectacular military opera it certainly is. No finer specimen of a military production has ever appeared in London.

Julian Edwards, the composer, has done his work well. He has taken the familiar and ringing tunes which were the product of the stirring times before and during the war, and has interwoven with other and kindred melodies. The result is a score which exhales perfectly the genuine war-time flavor as no similar American work has yet succeeded in doing. Mr. Edwards has done more than this. He has avoided the banal and showy, and has approached at times to the level The librettist, Mr. Stainslaus Stange, the level of Mr. Edwards' music. The plot is none too strong, but quite as good as dozens of other operas which have scored success. Where Mr. Stange are genuinely so, and never fail to excite the appreciative laugh which tells of a successful and intelligent appeal to the highest sense of humor. The good lines have been impartially dealt around, instead of being monopolized by one or two principals. In this respect the opera is a pleasant change from the general run of its kind What few defects were noticeable were mainly such as will be remedied as the opera's run progresses. It will for instance, require to be shortened at least half an hour in order to bring within a resonable time limit. The scenery and accessories have been built with the expectation of long night in one or two unavoidable defects in the staging.

One feature that should not pass without unfavorable comment is the introducing of Canadian and British flags in the balcony hangings of the first act. This was a palpable absurdity, and Canadian audiences are not so ignorant as to expect such a supposed concession to their national gether half a dozen vocalists, any one of whom might head his or her own company, and more than one of them has done so or will do so within a short time. W. G. Stewart, the tenor who makes such a stalwart and handsome hero, fully sustained the high reputation he has won in the field of light opera. Mr. Stewart's easy delivery and round tones make his singing a delight to the hearer. His best numbers were "My Own United States," and "Katy, You're My Southern Rose.". Homer Lind, who has won success on the vaudeville stages of both England and America with his operetta "Gringoire, the Street Singer," sang well as Gen. William Allan. Mr. Albert McGuckin made a distinct impression in his rendition of the role of Felix Graham. Mr. George Backus, who deserts dramatic work for comedy, made a hit as Jonathan Phoenix. Mr. Will H. Bray was acceptable in the black face role of Uncle Tom, while his singing of "Mah Honeysuckle Girl," disclosed his possession of a well cul-tivated voice and a delightfully distinct enunciation. Mr. Maurice Darcey as Geoffrey Martin, sang pleasingly. The vocal honors in the female contingent fell easily to Lucille Saunders, whose wonderfully rich, pure, contralto voice won instant recognition for her talent. Her finest number was her

Miss Maude Lambert, remembered for her appearance in "Florodora," gave a winning interpretation of the When Johnny Comes Marching showed to advantage in the several numbers allotted to her. Some of its members had evidently chosen rather for their musical abilities than for their good looks. The orchestral work was well performed under the direction of Mr. William Maquinn. It is a tribute to Mr. Maquinn's efficiency as a conductor that Mr. Edward, the composer, instead of himself conducting the orchestra at the initial performances, allowed Mr. Maquinn to do

Mr. Tarte has handed in his resignation and it has been accepted by the Premier. The statement by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, published in another coiumn, covers the ground completely. Liberal journals have pointed out, since Mr. Tarte began his recent crusade, that he was violating the principle of Cabinet responsibility, which holds the Ministry accountable for the public actions and utterances of its individual members. Sir Wilfrid Laurier also has taken the view that Mr. Tarte has disregarded constitutional usage and has made his continuance in the Ministry impossible. It is to Mr Tarte's credit that he now sees the logic of the situation, and has volunteered to step out, rather than em-

RINK IS ASSURED

Very Generous Offer Makes Local Curlers Happy.

A $2,000 Gift Toward Erection of New Quarters.

The idea of building a new and larger curling rink in this city has been very favorably received by the players here, and there is every prospect that it will be done.

A number of the players have taken up the suggestion. One of the most active is Mr. G. de C. O'Grady, manager of the Bank of Commerce. The location favored is at the Chapter House property on Piccadilly street. Mr. O'Grady has opened negotiations towards purchasing this land for $4,000. Arrangements are still in embryo, but there is a possibility that the purchase will be made and a rink erected there. It is proposed to pay for it by subscription. It is likely that 30 members would subscribe $100 each. A very generous offer has been made to the curlers by Mr. Lind, of the corner of Dufferin avenue and Colborne streets. Mr. Lind is himself an enthusiastic curler, having been caught by the game while in the Klondike, and he has offered $2,000 towards the erection of a new rink. Needless to say the members greatly appreciate Mr Lind's generosity, which practically assures the construction of a building which shall be good enough even for the grand old Scottish pastime. Should it finally be erected it is likely that the membership fee would be made $10 and every member would be expected to take a share of the stock.

"I guess I do, if you'll excuse my contradicting you," answered Mr. Starkey, befrenely. "According to my way of thinking, there an't anything too good for that girl of our'n, and she's going to have the best there is. I know she loves flowers better'n anything else that grows, and I want her to have a lot of 'em, and a nice place to keep 'em in; and—well, to make a long story short, you just take this and use it as if you knew there was plenty more where it came from—for there is—and you build that house just as it ought to be built—in shipshape."

He pulled a folded paper from his breast pocket as he spoke, and laid it before Rich.

to be a cheek for an amount that astonished him.

He flushed and appeared considerably embarrassed. Mr. Sarkey, observing it, testimed, in an explanatory way:

"You see, if I'd been like most other men, I suppose I should have got married long ago, and maybe had children of, may own, but I didn't, and so there's only Marthy Ann and me in the family, and the Lord only knows who'd gobble up our money after we're gone, if we didn't do something with it beforehand. Well, we've settled it between us that that child is going to have the most of it; but I've a notion that I'd like to see a little of it spent by somebody who knows how to make things shine, so I want this house to be—a—well, a regular stunner—such a one as you'd make it if you was worth, say a hundred and fifty thousand—perhaps more—and you thought there wasn't anything too good for your lick was astounded there wasn't anything too good for your bride that is to be."

Rich was astounded.
He had had no thought of building in any such elaborate way as this; a modest, convenient, comfortable little house was all he had aspired to, and all that he deemed his means would allow.
Mr. Starkey had given the land, and he had supposed that would be the extent of his contribution toward Annie's wedding outfit.

But this check, and the hint as to almost unlimited means, and the suggestions regarding finish and ornamentation, convinced him that Annie's guardians would not be satisfied with anything so simple as he had contemplated.

"Very well," he said, after considering the matter awhile; "I will do as you desire, Mr. Starkey, but I shall insist, upon the completion of the house that the the completion of the house that the property be made over unconditionally to Annie."

Mr. Starkey chuckled amusedly.

"Well, I shan't object to that," he said;

you can do as you please, though I guess it won't make no great sight of difference whichever name it stands in. you can do as you please though I ruess it won't make no great sight of difference whichever name it stands in. All I'm particular about is that there shan't be any outs about it, for I'm bound to show Marthy Ann that I can do the handsome thing as well as she, and I don't want her to know, neither, till it's done, that 'twas my idea."

So the lovely house grew, and Rich but his whole heart into it, until it came to be the "dearest spot on earth" to him, for around it clustered the most sacred hopes of his life.

Mr. Hamilton had become a frequent visitor at the Campbells' home during these months, and many a Samaritan errand was planned by him and Grace and Miss Campbell seemed to be changed greatly in some respects. The look of sadness and pain had almost disappeared from her eyes; the old color had returned to her face, and she seemed once more like the beautiful girl whom Rich had so admired that evening when he had first been invited to her home.

Spring succeeded winter, and when April came the Starkeys were preparing to filt to their country home.

Rich grew rather sober as the time of separation drew nigh, and on the evening before Annie's departure he was almost tempted to say that he could not let her go.

She bantered him upon it with a forced

She bantered him upon it with a forced gayety, which, however, did not deceive him in the least, for her eyes were dewy and her lips quivered with almost every her sentence.

"If I do not run away from you I shall "If I do not run away from you I shall never to ready to occupy that lovely house with you next fall," she said, with a charming blush. "Just think," she added, severely, "what idle hands these have been all these winter months, and such piles of sewing to be done!"

Rich gathered those same "idle hands" into his and kissed them tenderly.

"I call them very busy hands when I think of all that they have done in the past," he said, fondly: "and I want to exact a promise that they shall not do more than is good for their owner while think of all that they have done in the past, he said, fondly: "and I want to exact a promise that they shall not do more than is good for their owner while she is where I cannot look after her."

"Oh, Aunt Martha has taken care to provide for that already, and—isn't it lovely of her. Rich—has engaged Mary Forsyth to go to Maine with us to spend the summer and help do the sewing. It will not only give the poor girl employment, but help to build her up. The country air and living are just what she needs."
"Are you sure that Aunt Martha deserves all the credit for the arrangement?" asked Rich.
"Oh, well, of course, when I knew that we must have someone to help, I suggested Mary." Annie admitted, flushing. "I thought so," Rich remarked, quietly." Aunt Martha is a dear old soul and a true sister of charity; but she isn't the only whole-hearted woman in the universe, by any means."

CHAPTER XXXV.

So the middle of April found the Starkeys back in their old home—a large, well-preserved, old-fashioned mansion, having great square rooms, with wide old fireplaces all over the house, and a great hall running through the middle of it.

It was furnished with rich, substantial furniture, as ancient as itself—heirlooms.

It was furnished with rich, substantial urniture, as ancient as itself—heirlooms f three generations; and every nook and corner of the place was home-like. The buildings outside were as spotless as a coat of new paint, administered every other year, could make them, and the wide-sweeping lawn, dotted here and there with magnificent elms, whose graceful branches almost swept the green turf, was a perfect delight to the "What a lovely place! and this was my mother's home?" Annie exclaimed, as she alighted before the open door and glanc-ed about her with unmistakable delight. "Yes, always, after her father and mother died, until she was married," answered Miss Starkey, well pleased with her appreciation. "Annie Hunting played day after day under these old trees; she roamed over the hills yonder, picking berries in the summer and nuts in the fall; she loved those meadows down there where you see that little running brook, and where she used to find and bring home violets, strawbells and cowslips by the apronful; your mother was as fond of flowers as you are, Annie," concluded the spinster, quietly, wiping a tear from her cheek cheek.

"Yes, and I've got the last ones she ever brought home," softly murmured her brother, as if talking to himself.

"George Washington! what do you mean?" sharply questioned Miss Starkey, for something unusual in his manner startled her.

He looked up surprised and as if her for something unusual in his manner startled her.

He looked up surprised, and as if her words had suddenly brought him to his senses; rubbed his hard hand once or twice across his forehead, while a dusky red flushed his whole face.

Then he deliberately took an old wallet from one of his pockets and drew from it a folded paper.

Carefully opening it, he showed to his astonished sister and Annie a few faded flowers—violets, strawbells and cowslips.

But his face had now lost its ruddy hue; his lips were drawn tight together; there was a look of wistful sadness in his eyes, while the hand that held the paper trembled visibly.

Annie, half blinded by tender tears, bent close to look at the flowers that had been gathered by her mother's fingers, and did not appear to heed the old man's unusual emotion; but Miss Starkey stood as if transfixed, regarding him with wide eyes, a perplexed and astonished look on her face.

PEDAGOGUES AND PRIVATES PLAY ANOTHER TIE GAME

Score Was I to I in Match Be- they won in the game. In the last tween Normalites and Wolseley Barracks Teams.

A football match at Wolseley Barracks grounds on Monday afternoon, between the pedagogues and the lusty soldiers of the King, resulted in a tie, the final score standing 1 to 1. The Barracks team made a much better showing than in their last match, and put up a good combination. During the first half the soldiers had the benefit of a penalty kick, and the refered ruled that it be kicked off eight yards from the goal. This proved an easy goal for them, it being the only one a neat kick from McCarten, and the game was uneventful afterwards. The last ten minutes of the game were played almost in the dark. Mr. J. W. Couse, of London, acted as referee, his decisions being generally satisfactory, except in the matter of the penalty kick, which, according to the new rules the Normalites claim, should have been made twelve yards from the goal. New York, Oct. 21 .- A correspondent of the Herald writes from Valencia, Venezuela, saying: Marching with President Castro's army, I had the opportunity of observing and studying one of the curiosities of Venezuelan military life. I refer to the woman soldier, who follows the army either through duty or love of vocation.

Duty leads her to adopt this course when she is the wife of a husband who has been impelled by politics to enroll himself under a banner and to abandon his hearth for the soldier's life.

Dreadful Complaint Accompanied by Headache, Sickness of the Stomach, Vomiting-Promptly Cured by

FERROZONE,

Some persons have attacks of Bilious Dyspepsia very frequently, and feel as if they were about to die. The whole system seems to collapse. The tongue becomes coated, the face a sal-low pallor, and a bitter taste is al-ways noticeable in the mouth. At times the bowels are very constipated, but occasionally acute diarrhea is caused by the accumulation of bile in the system.

It is highly dangerous to allow such surest remedy is Ferrozone. It digests every particle of food eaten, and prevents the waste products from clogging up the system.

Ferrozone restores all deranged or-gans to a healthy, vigorous condition. It keeps the bowels well regulated, makes the kidneys eliminate all poisons from the blood, and supplies the necessary elements to build up and strengthen the entire body.

Mr. Louis Meehan, one of Peterboro's most enterprising and well-known business men, during the past three years was an unceasing sufferer from Bilious Dyspepsia. He was cured permanently by Ferrozone and is so anxious that others may profit by his experience that he gives the following testimonial:

"About three years ago," says Mr. Meehan, "I had the Grippe, which left me in a very run-down condition that finally developed into Dyspepsia. I was unable to eat but a few things, and had a craving for acid. I gave up treating with the doctors because they did not help me, and on the advice of a friend used Ferrozone. It not only cured me of Dyspepsia and Biliousness but has built up my strength to what it was before I had the Grippe. I can recommend Ferrozone as an ideal re-

Appetite is a thing to be thankful for. What is appetite, anyway? How is it produced? If we were to analyze it, we should say that its original foundation is an empty stomach. The next important thing is something that tastes good, or something that we feel certain will go "right to the spot." The healthy appetite is very positive in its demand for satisfaction, very equally pleased, and knows when it has had enough. There are doubtless people in the world who never experience the delights of appetite. In many these unfortunate beings probably the stomach is never completely emptied. The mater-ials taken in at a meal linger for days, ill-digested, in the stomach and upper bowel. These patients are never ready for dinner, because breakfast has not been satisfactorily disposed of; supper is loathsome, because breakfast and dinner still linger. Many such cases are found among wealthy and indolent persons. Among such are those boarders in summer hotels, who for months never go beyond the hotel porch, where they sit, idly exchanging complaints about the abominable fare of the table, or taking doses (big or little, as fancy leads), of medicine to relieve indigestion. These medicines do not act because they do not move the bowels. Celery King moves the bowels, strengthens the nerves. It's a natural remedy. It's good for the bowels. At your druggist's, 25 cents.

AN IDEAL MEDICINE

A New Discovery Which Cures All

Forms of Catarrh. The tablet is the ideal form in which to administer medicine, but until recently no successful catarrh tablet had ever been attempted. There is now, however, an excellent and palatable remedy for catarrh in tablet form, known as Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and sold The meeting was opened with deby druggists, composed of the most recent discoveries in medicine for the Bishop, and the report of Miss Florence cure of catarrh and results from their use which have been highly gratifying.
The old time treatment of catarrh was in the form of inhalers, washes, douches, sprays, etc. Later on inter-nal remedies were used with greater success, but being in liquid or pow-der form were inconvenient to use, and like all medicine in liquid or powder form, lose their medicinal properties when opened or exposed to the air. Stuart's Catarrh Tablets contain highly concentrated antiseptics, Hydrastin, Blood Root and Red Gum, which kills the catarrh germs in the blood and mucous membrane, and in this respect are strictly scientific and modern, because all authorities are now agreed that catarrh is a constitutional blood disease, and local applications can have only a transitory effect. The use of inhalers, douches and sprays is a nuisance and inconvenience, and can in no wise compare favorably with the same antiseptics given in tablet form internally, where they can reach the stomach and blood and kill catarrh germs right where they are produced, A prominent lawyer and public speaker of Pittsburg says. "I have been troubled with catarrh of the head and throat for twelve years. In this cli-mate it seems impossible to get rid of it. The continual dropping of mucous from the nose into the throat caused irritation and hoarseness, seriously interfering with my public speaking. It took me an hour or more of coughing, gagging, expectorating and sneezing, every morning, before I could settle down to work, and this condition gradually brought on catarr of stomach, causing loss of appetite, poor digestion and a foul breath, which annoyed me exceedingly. My physicians advised me to try Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and I took them for two months, and was astonished to find how quckly they cleared my head, throat and stomach, and I have no hesitation in recommending them. They are not only pleasant to take, but they seem to get at the very root of the trouble, be-cause since using them I have had

Home Complete 28th Year.

Finances of Work in Good Shape and Outlook Is Bright.

The board of the Protestant Orphans' Home held its annual meeting at the home yesterday afternoon and received reports which showed 1902 to have been one of the most successful years every enjoyed by this excellently managed institution. The meeting was well attended, and the president, Mrs. McCallum, who was elected to office

The meeting was opened with devotional exercises, led by Rev. George McNamara, secretary, who has been most zealous in her work, was next received. It was a very satisfactory report, being a practical outline of the work done during the year. It said that the home had reason to feel grateful for the satisfactory manner in which the year's work had been carried on, and for the many kindnesses which had been bestowed upon them. The boys and girls of the home had had the best of health, only one serious case, which unfortunately resulted fatally, coming under the attention of the physicians, Drs. Niven and Stevenson, who had so kindly proffered their services. On Oct. 1, 1901, there were in the home 22 boys and 19 girls. Since that time 13 boys and 7 girls had been brought in, making a total of 35 boys and 26 girls, who in the past year had at any time been inmates of the home. In the course of the year, however, 14 boys and 16 girls had been given homes, so that at present there are 20 boys and 16 girls in the home. The foster homes secured for the children had been sat-isfactory, good reports of them being frequently frequently received. Miss Auld, the matron, and her assistants, has performed their duties efficiently and deserved much thanks. Improvements to the building during the year were quite material, halls and several rooms having been kalsomined and put in good order. A new roof was nearly completed. The education of the children was being carried on under the careful training of Miss Oliphant, and the home's school had been highly praised by the inspector of jails and charities. In closing her report, the secretary desired to express gratitude to those who had advanced the interests of the home in any way. Mrs. Gregsten's report as treasurer showed a balance on the right side.

Fuel for the year had not been bought, however, and this surplus would probably be spent for that purpose. The principal items of the year's receipts was made up as follows: Balceipts was made up as follows: Balance from last year, $31 54; income from endowment fund, $1,053 10; Government grant, $296 00; city council grant, $350; city collections, $582 06; payment of board, $649 70; legacy of late Mrs. Urkell, $50; interest on Mr. Abbott's bequest, $30 77; donation from Adam Beck, $100. The balance was made up of smaller donations. The total receipts for the year were $3,206, the disbursements being $2,911 89, a balance of $284 11 being left.

The estimated assets of the institution totaled $39,172 15.

The growing value of the endowment fund was shown as follows: 1897, $35,-200 54: 1898, $36.072 54: 1899, $36.924 95; 1900, $37,747 11: 1901, $38,096 15; 1902, $39,-172 15. The increase from 1897 was $100 Reward-$100, The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that their is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it falls to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

SHOT HER SISTER

Route Home.

Alpena, Mich., Oct. 21.-Mr. and Mrs. John Monteck and Mrs. Monteck's young sister, Miss Rosa Pines, all of Metz, were returning home Sunday afternoon from a visit with relatives on a farm a few miles distant, when about four miles from home Monteck asked his wife to hold his gun, a 22-caliber rifle, while he lighted a cigar. Seeing a bird in the bush, Mrs. Mon-teck raised the rifle, and pulling the trigger, shot full into the face of her sister, who at that instant stepped in front of the gun. Her jaw was completely shattered, and her face burned and torn into shreds. It is not ex-
