"THE TARTE GANG" DENOUNCED.

If organs of the Conservative Cabinet at Ottawa are sincere in their protestations that they now wish to see honest management of public affairs, why do they refer in such contemptuous terms to Mr. Tarte, the member of their party who has come out from among them, and determined that the entire race should be laid bare no matter how much he is maligned?

Over a year ago Mr. Tarte went to the Conservative leaders and told them he was prepared to substantiate the grave charges of peculation of public money by millions of dollars, but he was shown the door. The men now ruling at Ottawa, and every one and again exclaiming, "It is a plot of the Tarte gang," were then assured, on the word of honor of this Conservative M.P., that the party was on the verge of ruin through the toleration of wholesale stealing of public money. All that he asked then was a party investigation of the charges, and a promise that if they were sustained the rascals should be turned aside. This was surely a laudable effort, but how was it met? The matter was referred to one of the accused—Sir Hector Langevin. As a matter of course he took no part in the charges; the edict went forth that the rank and file must be kept out, at all events until after a general election could be held. That premature appeal upon a false issue and a 3-year-old voters' list was rushed on, and on every Conservative platform in the land the accusations were denounced as foundations.

The damning evidence of malversation, favoritism and general corruption, laid bare by sworn testimony at Ottawa, shows that Mr. Tarte's allegations were well founded. The state of affairs is even more serious, indeed, than he alleged. The country has been plundered to the tune of hundreds of thousands of dollars—it looks as though it would mount up into the millions. Still, one day protesting there is nothing wrong, the next acknowledging the existence of fraud, and promising to make their friends reform, there is a disposition on the part of many high tax journals to denounce Mr. Tarte for bringing the shocking corruption into publicity. These apologists for wrong-doing can tolerate it without a qualm of conscience; they are willing to stand by and see the country fleeced by the rascals if only the money, or a part of it, is used to carry the elections and help them or their friends to retain office; but they regard it as a perfect disgrace to the thief if he allows himself to be found out. They have no patience with the man who enters public life with patriotic motives. Such a man is Mr. Tarte, who asked the constituency which he represents to send him to Parliament in order that he might accomplish what Sir John Macdonald and the members of the Cabinet from death took him refused on any account to countenance. There would have been no investigation; the robbery would have continued; the proceeds would have been used, as has been the case for years, to fatten the wallets of rascals or to buy up constituencies, if Mr. Tarte had meekly submitted to the rebuff of his party leaders, and had accepted their refusal to investigate as a final disposition of the case.

In the bye-elections that are to come off, provided always the found-out leaders at Ottawa are able to keep their restive followers in line till then, it will be well to remember these facts. Not by the waving of flags or mouthings about their superior loyalty, a quality that, by the way, in the past had only to be tested by party adversity to show the instability of its possessors, can the apologists of wrong-doing lead independent men to believe that those who expose wrong-doing ought to be contemptuously spoken of and assailed, as Mr. Tarte has been, while the rascals take refuge under the old flag. Fancy Sir Hector, Uncle Thomas McGreevy and the directors of the Chateaux Railway as the advance guard of the Patriot Band!

THE SOCIETY OF CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, which sent 15,000 delegates to Minneapolis to celebrate its tenth birthday and to hold its tenth convention, numbers 16,000 societies and over 1,000,000 members. It has spread into every State and Province of America, into Europe generally, and has followed Protestant Christianity into Africa, China and Japan. Its existence dates back to 1881. During that winter there was a revival of religion among the young people in the church of Dr. Francis Clark, in Portland, Me., and the question arose as to how best to hold and mould the Christian character of these young converts. There was a gap between conversion and church membership to be filled, and all these young souls were to be trained and set to work. After much consideration the pastor of the church drew up a constitution of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, which is essentially the same as that adopted by the great majority of Societies of Christian Endeavor at the present day. At its first presentation it gained 57 signatories of active members and six of associate members.

The new society was organized on the strictest business principles. Its aims were laid out with care and distinctness, and stringent regulations were made to keep the young people before the society. The three aims alone before the society. The Lookout Committee is charged to see that every member of the society lives strictly up to his or her pledge. There must be no dead weights in the fire. There are committees on music, temperance, missions, Sunday schools and the like. The poor are visited, hospitals provided with magazines and papers. Practical work is laid out for every member. In their prayer meetings the officers are not the only leaders. Everyone, even the women and girls, takes a turn in directing the work. If any shrink their duty or lose earnestness they are to be reasoned with and regained if possible, otherwise they are dropped from the roll.

Besides this central band of young people pledged to hard work, the society embodies a class of older people called affiliated members, who are scarcely equal to such activity, and of associate members—young people who do not profess Christianity but are willing to put themselves under the influence of the others. In this triple organization lies the strength of the society. To-day there are over 11,000 societies built up on the plan sketched above. The chief element of power in the Society of Christian Endeavor is the care taken to keep its ranks clear of all but sturdy active workers. That is the object of the pledge and the chief work of the Lookout Committee. Most church societies of young people began with lofty aims and purposes have come to grief through under estimation of this principle of concentrated strength and organization. In the Christian Endeavor Society reorganization has been adopted as a way out of such dangers, and the best means of preventing it from becoming clogged with useless members. On being reorganized a new pledge is exacted from each member who does not elect to withdraw.

TOO SHORT HOURS.

The civil servants at Ottawa work from 10 a.m. till 4 p.m., and it is said that many of them have been in the habit of taking an hour, or two for dinner in the middle of this six-hour period. It is also the rule that they shall have a month or more holidays in a year. They are paid more money than they would be able to earn at any other business, and yet we are told that the expenditure of vast sums, which have been paid as "extras" in recent years, while illegal, was perfectly warranted. Can any honest taxpayer credit the explanation? Even if it were all true, however, do not the Ottawa servants of the country have ridiculously short hours? The mass of the people work from nine to twelve hours daily, and have to be contented with a short holiday or no holiday at all, unless they pay for it out of their own pockets. It does not stand to reason that the six-hour day for civil servants is right. Why should it not be extended to eight hours at least?

SOME ACROBATIC FEATS.

Fifteen thousand Patrons of Industry, chiefly composed of farmers in Western Ontario, have petitioned Parliament to take off the duty on binding twine and relieve the agriculturists from the necessity of paying monopolist prices, but so far the dominant party have paid no attention to the petition. On the contrary, at the command of the Government, the members have voted down a motion that voiced the desires of the farmers. Among those who played traitor were Dr. Rooms, of West Middlesex, Mr. Hutchins, of North Middlesex, and Mr. Marshall, of the East Riding, each of whom were found voting for the retaining of the tax, though they were ready enough to condemn it when before the electors a few months previously. We venture to say that in the coming elections the trio will be found earnestly protesting that the tax is maintained for the special benefit of the farmer. In this they will be but following the extraordinary example set by the London Free Press, which is ever arguing that reciprocity in farm products would be injurious to the farmers of Canada, while at the same time expressing its approval of the policy of the present Administration, that is declared to be free trade in natural products, but a continuance of high taxes on manufactured articles. How our contemporary can consistently maintain its diametrically opposed positions is what no one can make out. Its editor might just as well attempt the acrobatic impossibility of standing on his head and his feet at one and the same time.

TOPICS OF TO-DAY.

The press correspondents at Ottawa generally pronounce Mr. Hyman's recent speech on the trade question as an able effort.

The Toronto World, another Conservative organ, calls for Sir Hector's resignation. It might "obliterate a worse disgrace," significantly observes our contemporary.

"The old flag and a contract!" was Uncle Thomas McGreevy's motto. He waved the one, and he got the other for the hoodlums contractors at their own price. But he always claimed a consideration for himself and Sir Hector.

INDEMNITY, the blatant atheist, is a protectionist, and the Belleville Intelligencer takes much comfort from his writings. The infidel orator's great stronghold lies in twisting facts to suit his arguments. He is a model high tax advocate.

PERHAPS the easiest and best solution of the problem will be for Premier Laurier to call Sir Charles Tupper home at the earliest opportunity, because Satan finds some mischief still for idle hands to do. [Hamilton Times.]

Is it not better to keep Satan at as long range as possible?

TRY as it will the Government cannot save Sir Hector Langevin. It must sink itself in an endeavor to keep him aloft.—[Toronto Telegram (Independent Conservative).]

The edict has gone forth that Sir Hector must be saved at all hazards. But even supposing he were drummed out of the Cabinet, would his absence leave the surroundings much purer, while the Carons, the Haggarts, and the Dowsdens remained in control of public affairs?

What the honest men of the country demand is a change that will bring about a better state of affairs. That cannot be effected on the piecemeal principle.

FASHIONS IN BOODLING.

It used to be timber limits. Now it's diamonds or spot cash.

WITHOUT A DOUBT.

[Winnipeg Free Press and Sun.] One of the ablest and best of the Liberal members is borne out by travelers who have visited Hudson Bay stations. We have a great and fertile country but waiting for intelligent and progressive development.

MR. HYMAN'S LATEST SPEECH.

[Toronto News, Conservative.] In the House this afternoon the debate upon the budget was resumed by young Mr. Hyman, before whom John Carling fell in London town. He is a good looking fellow, tall, broad, and straight, always well and quietly dressed. He has a good manner and speaks with a certain directness and rapidity which is fairly refreshing in the arid waste of figures into which this debate has been developed. He was heard with enthusiasm by the Opposition to-day, and with marked attention by both sides of the House. All Ontario knows his record in the tennis field, but as a bye election is supposed to stare him in the face he has left the courts on the white laws of the Hill entirely to those members who have to pass through no such trial. He would have it known in London that the Forest City has lost nothing in the industry, intelligence and integrity of its representative by the rejection of the Minister of Agriculture and the acceptance of himself.

THE MILITIA CAMP "JOB."

[Guelph Mercury.] Not long ago Hon. John Carling unloaded on the Government for a good price a farm adjoining London, which was not very suitable for ordinary purposes, but which came in very handy for a camping-ground for district No. 1. When suspicion of a job in the price given was hinted the reply was that the militia officers of the district said it was the most central and best adapted site. But this year, the Government, though owing ground of their own, have seen fit to get one in St. Thomas and to send the camps there. The St. Thomas Times, the Conservative journal, admits the move is designed for purely political reasons to make capital for Mr. Ingram M.P., whose seat is protested and who will probably have to face a bye-election. Such an action only differs in degree from the tactics of the Public Works Department, now being revealed at Ottawa. The whole executive branches of the Government seem tarred with the same stick.

Three Years Free

The Coming School of Medicine.

The Histogenetic System.

THIS SYSTEM IS COMPLETE, having different medicines for all the different diseases. The theory is entirely different from that of the old schools. The medicines are perfectly pure, containing nothing of a poisonous nature what ever, and are quite tasteless. For three years these medicines have been given away free and thoroughly tested, in the most hopeless cases before being placed on the market. The result has exceeded the most sanguine expectations. Hundreds of cases supposed to be incurable have been cured, and abundance of proof can be produced to convince the most skeptical that Histogenetic Medicines have cured, and are curing to-day DISEASES at a later stage than any other system of medicine, and with scintillas for some time. I decided to try Histogenetic Medicines as a last resort, as nothing seemed to give me any permanent relief. The first week the medicine gave me relief, and in two weeks the relatives disappeared and has not returned. I took the medicines for six weeks, and am cured of the rheumatism. I feel better in every way. I am sixty years of age, and feel quite smart and active. I can cheerfully recommend these medicines to the public, and will be glad to sell any sufferer about my case. It is now nearly two months since I ceased taking the medicines, and the effect is permanent.

International Sunday School Conference.
In accordance with the recommendation of the Executive Committee, approved by the International Convention, held in Pittsburg, Pa., June, 1890, a conference of members of the International Executive Committee, with the officers and members of the Executive Committee of the State, Territorial and Provincial Sunday School Associations will be held at Chautauque, N. Y., Aug. 15 to 18, 1891. In addition to those included in the call it is suggested that the invitation be extended to prominent Sunday school workers who have manifested a special interest in the work of the association, and therefore such persons are invited to attend the general meetings of the conference. Information regarding traveling

Corns and Bunions and Sure Cure.

It is surprising the enormously increasing prevalence of corns and bunions in this generation, and still more so when we remember that for the trifling sum of 25
cents the sure corn cure or sure bunion cure can be obtained. A prominent professional gentleman remarked the other day: "I tried almost every known preparation for corns without avail, and concluded
there was no cure, when a friend recommended the Sure Corn Cure, as a last resort I tried it with the desired effect. My corns have all disappeared, and I am now convinced that there is a sure cure for corns at last, and in justice to the proprietor, W. S. Barkwell, our enterprising young chemist, I gratefully acknowledge the same."

sent 21 passed, and the remainder failed in but one or two subjects. This is understood to be the best record in the city. Its significance is augmented by the fact that Maggie Barry, with 570, and Victor Colwell, with 557 marks, both pupils at Lorne Avenue school, were the two first in the total list of passed pupils. Head Master Eckert will no doubt receive many congratulations.

Hand-in-hand
—Pearline and purity. You can't have one without the other. A good housekeeper will have both. Pearline cleans anything that dirt can settle
on. In the laundry, the bath,
and all work about the house,
it washes thoroughly, easily, safely, and cheaply. You will find there is nothing else like
it. Everybody else is using it.

Beware
Peddlers and some unscrupulous persons are offering imitations which they claim to be Pearline. "It's the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE! PEARLINE is never peddled. JAMES PYLE, New York.
