THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

The convention was called to order at 2 p.m. by President Dickson.

Rev. C. W. Watch, of Oshawa, opened the session with a Bible reading on "The Holy Spirit and Missions." There were 1,400,000,000 of our fellow beings, he said, without the knowledge of Jesus Christ. But it was a fact that God was arousing the youth of the church and bringing to its touch those heathen lands. If India or Japan and Turkey were to be reached, if those who were followers of Mahomet were to be reached, if the 80,000,000 women of the harems were to be reached, it was not merely necessary to talk about it in conventions, hold our missionary meetings regular, put down our 2 cents every week; but it was necessary for us to be baptized with the Holy Ghost and the Holy Ghost power so that our prayers shall be answered in yonder lands.

Rev. F. T. Tapscott, of Hamilton, spoke on "Personal Missionary Work." He asked his hearers to look at the life of Jesus as a great foreign mission undertaking. They were not prepared to do missionary work unless they recognized that as Jesus Christ was on foreign soil so they were on foreign soil. At present the devil had a mortgage on the earth, but it was their duty every day as citizens of heaven living in the world but not of it.

The tinkle of the bell brought Mr. Tapscott's speech to an abrupt end.

Rev. Mr. Kirby took the solo part of the hymn, "Throw Out the Life Line," the audience singing the chorus.

Rev. A. Gandier, B.A., of Brampton, spoke on "Our Duty to Missions." If Canadians had not large centers of population in which Christians could find work among the godless, they had a vast extent of new territory opening up, and now was the time to plant the Gospel there so that Christianity would grow up with the country. If they let these opportunities pass our west would be like the Western States, filled with godless communities that were a disgrace to their national civilization. The work of home missions was pressing upon the Dominion as at no other time. The whole world was becoming united by the bonds of electricity and steam and the nations of the earth like one family. In a few weeks the missionary could be landed in the remotest part of the earth. Now that Christ had opened up the highways he appealed to them to go forth as one vast army and win these nations over to the cause of God and righteousness. Who would undertake the work if they did not, who represented the youthful Christianity of this land? Some of these rich Christians should do as the crusaders of old—sell everything they had and take out a band of theological students to work among the heathen, like as the barons of that time had taken out armed warriors to fight for their cause. They could not all be leaders but should be content in the rank and file. Leaders were useless unless they had brave soldiers behind them. He hoped the young Christians would prove worthy of the age in which they lived, and of Christ who had trod before them.

The chairman said he had an uneasy conscience, and open confession was good for the soul. He had rung down Mr. Tapscott fifteen minutes too soon, as he was under the impression that each speaker had only 15 minutes, whereas it was 30.

Rev. Mr. Tapscott briefly continued his interrupted remarks after thanking the chairman for his kindness. He would like to plead for this personal work on behalf of the saved ones themselves. May God grant that each one would go from the room with a quiet dependence on God. We enjoyed his presence here, but what a delight to receive the reward above from his hand, his pierced hand.

Mr. H. W. Frost gave his hearers some suggestions on "How to Support a Missionary." He hoped the day would soon come when every Christian Endeavor Society would have a foreign missionary of its own. His first recommendation to a society would be to call all its committees together, hold a solemn meeting and formally sign the death warrant of suppers, socials and fairs. (Applause.) These things might have a place in Endeavor Society work, but not in connection with foreign missions. The China Inland Mission had 550 native workers on the field and never took up a collection nor made a solicitation for the work, and yet not one of these 550 had ever lacked a meal. This illustrated God's sustaining power. The speaker pointed out that a society of 50, by each member paying but 25 cents a week, could support a missionary. In small places the denominations should unite for this purpose. Mr. Frost laid down some excellent suggestions and concluded an excellent address by expressing the hope that by next year many of the societies would have their representatives in the foreign field.

Then came "the pastors' hour," conducted by Rev. Mr. Radcliffe, of St. Catharines, during which the ministers of various denominations discussed the topic, "What the Y. P. S. C. E. has done for my church." The chairman allowed each five minutes, and promptly rang the bell when time was up.

Baptist—Rev. J. F. Barker, of Ingersoll, responded in the absence of Rev. P. K. Dayfoot, of Strathroy. The Christian Endeavor in his church had tested the consecration of his old and young people. When they came to take the pledge many of them staggered. They were not as well prepared as they thought themselves to be for active Christian work, so that it was some weeks before the society was under way. It had resulted in active effort and grand result.

Congregational—Rev. A. F. McGregor, B.A., of Forest. The Christian Endeavor provided an attractive platform, on which the pastor and his young people could stand. For the aloofness which so long characterized their churches inside and outside the Christian Endeavor idea was the grandest specific which God had given. (Applause.) Its platform was attractive, inviting and one of the broadest in the world. From London new to London old and all around the rolling world the marks of its power were seen. The Congregationalists were fourth on the list, it was true, but they fall on that general excuse that what they lack in quantity they made up in quality. (Laughter.)

Disciples—Rev. George Fowler, of Guelph. The speaker said they hailed the Christian Endeavor Society as a means of uniting all Christian denominations upon the only true foundation—the Word of God. It called from all parts of the world the best and noblest and purest of young men and young women.

Episcopalian—Rev. B. Bryan, Toronto. He had many things to thank the society for. He thanked them for inviting him there and for holding the convention in the city of London, which was his birthplace and the scenes of his early boyhood. He thanked the Christian Endeavor Society for the blessing it had wrought in his own congregation. They had four branches of labor in his church, and all were doing grand work in their respective spheres of Christian activity.

Evangelical Association—The president read a letter from Rev. L. H. Wagner, of Stratford, who was to have spoken for his denomination. In Mr. Wagner's church the society had aroused them to take a more active interest in the young people; had shewn them how to organize their young people, and had brought spiritual life in the church circles.

Society of Friends—Rev. H. R. Keates, Toronto. He rejoiced to say that Christian Endeavor had done something for his church. They had a membership of 25, and next year hoped to bring in a report showing great progress.

African Methodist Episcopal—Rev. A. S. Walton, B.A., of Toronto, was unable to be present, but sent a letter, which was read by one of his parishioners. An institution like this society, formed upon so broad and evangelical a basis, could not fail. The pastor related the case of a celebrated New York revivalist who engaged to open services in his (Mr. Walton's church), but when he heard that the name of it was the African Methodist Episcopal he found he had so many engagements that he could not come. Thus was the color line drawn among professing Christians. The letter was eloquently worded and full of glowing Christian sentiment.

Reformed Episcopal—In the absence of Bishop Campbell, of Toronto, Rev. W. Fred Allen replied. He said he was probably the youngest Endeavorer there, as he had only lately left the shores of old England. The work there was not in such an advanced state as here, but it had gained a foothold. The Christian Church had had many agencies at work, but it had never filled the gap between the school and the church, and therefore the flower of young manhood and womanhood had not been drawn to Christ. It seemed that the Christian Endeavor Society came as a special providence to perform this mission.

Methodist—Rev. Joseph Philip, B.A., of East London, told what the society had done for the churches with which he had been connected since its inauguration. They had the honor of organizing the first society in St. Thomas. When he went to Watford in 1888 they established the first one there. When he came to London he found two societies anxious to unite, and he had great pleasure in performing the marriage ceremony. The results had been excellent. His Endeavorers had no time for dances and such exercises. (Applause.) The society promised to raise $200 a year for church purposes. It had surprised itself and raised $400 in thirteen months. (Applause.) It had also engaged to furnish the vestry of the new church.

Presbyterian—Rev. F. H. Larkin, B.A., of Chatham. No denomination had accepted the Christian Endeavor Society more warmly that the cautious, conservative Presbyterian Church. (Applause.) They welcomed it as the right thing in the right place at the right time; they hailed it as a blessed result of this period in which one of the main features was the awakened interest in the religious welfare of the young people. He could testify to its good work in his own congregation.

Convention adjourned at 5 p.m. to reception in the Princess Rink.

A GRAND RECEPTION.

A reception and banquet on a grand scale was tendered the visiting delegates between 5 and 7 p.m. in the Princess Rink. The scene at the rink during that period of time has perhaps never been equaled, save by the Blake banquet. The huge building, ablaze with light, was elaborately decorated, and the entire floor was covered with tastefully-spread tables, upon which was served a feast for the multitude. One thousand bright-faced, happy young people, seated in long rows, were busy devouring the good things that lay before them, making the place resound with laughter and conversation between mouthfuls. Scores of young London Endeavorers scurried hither and thither between the rows attending to the wants of their guests. A veritable reservoir was required to hold the hot tea and coffee asked for and a whole brigade was enlisted in the duty of serving it. The amount of victuals consumed can only be estimated by a calculation of the quantity that served to appease the vigorous appetite of each delegate multiplied by 1,000. Local hospitality was never better exemplified than in this grand gathering, and loud indeed were the praises that were bestowed upon London's Endeavorers by the delighted visitors. The supper was opened with a hymn of grace, which, rendered by so many voices, was swelled to a mighty chorus. When the president, Rev. Dr. Dickson, of Galt, rose at the head of the official table and, with a few glowing remarks, proposed a vote of thanks to their hosts, the came a clapping of hands and waving of handkerchiefs that amply attested to the warm appreciation of the sentiment. The entire entertainment was a voluntary offering from the people of London. The amount of work and preparation it represented must have been enormous. In union there is strength, for the banquet was the result of the united effort and enterprise of all the societies of the city.

THURSDAY EVENING.

There was another grand rally at St. Andrew's Church in the evening. The building held as many as could squeeze into it, and an overflow meeting was held in the First Congregational Church, which was also packed.

Rev. Dr. Dickson was in the chair as usual at St. Andrew's. Before the session was opened the congregation wiled away the time by spontaneous singing of familiar hymns. The president had a batch of questions on his desk, and before commencing the programme answered a number of them. Some of the interesting queries and replies were:

Q.—Should the active members of the society be found at the card table? A.—No.

Q.—How would you get young men into the society? A.—Let the young ladies invite them. (Laughter.)

Q.—Ought a person to be received as an active member if not a church member? A.—Yes.

This answer caused some cross-firing among delegates of different opinions.

The president held that many did not care to take the church communion but desired to join the society. There were many good Christians outside the church.

Rev. W. J. Clark, London, said if they were good Christians they ought to belong to the church.

The president said that many good church members kept others out.

A chorus of "noes" greeted this and several tried to speak at once. The president passed on.

Q.—What would you do with a member who persists in taking up too much time? A.—Intimate to him that the meeting doesn't belong to him. (Laughter.)

Q.—Can a man be a Christian who uses tobacco? A.—Yes; I think so. I knew a minister who said smokers would not go to heaven. A friend told him in that case Rev. Dr. So and So wouldn't be there, and he mentioned several others.

Voice—They won't smoke when they get there. (Laughter.)

The President — My friend evidently knows more about heaven than I do. (Laughter.)

Q.—Can we admit an associate member who is not a Christian? A.—Yes.

Q.—What think you of uniting the weekly Endeavor and prayer meetings? A.—It would be a capital thing for many prayer meetings. (Laughter.) It would put some life into them.

A committee was appointed to consider the advisability of amending the constitution with reference to certain points. One was to determine the relations of or define the distinction between the C. E. Society and the so-called Epworth Leagues of Christian Endeavor.

Mr. Wm. McNeill, of Scotland, brother of the celebrated Scotch divine, Rev. John McNeill, was introduced and proved a witty and effective young orator. He conveyed the greetings from Boston of Mr. Bean to the Ontario convention. The latter had been taken with heart trouble, and he (the speaker) had been performing his duties. "Many of my friends have wished that I was attacked by the same complaint. (Laughter.) I believe that that is a spontaneous trouble, and not one that arises from a sense of duty. (Laughter.) But traveling around this way, stopping only a day at one place, I don't have a chance." (Laughter.) Taking on a more earnest mood the eloquent young Scotchman emphasized with force the necessity of personal endeavor along the line of soul-winning. He would like to spiritualize that immortal ode of Tennyson's, "The Charge of the Light Brigade," and make it apply to the mighty brigade of young Christians going into the battle heavily clad with all the armor that was in the blessed book.

In introducing the bishop of Huron the president referred to the latter as a gentleman beloved over Canada and respected everywhere in England and Scotland.

The bishop, who was received with loud applause, said he would touch upon a topic closest to the Christian—entire consecration to God. It was not more money or more Christians they wanted so much as more fire. It was said that Satan did not care how many Christians there were in a city so long as they were quiet and half hearted. He would briefly bring before them a few points. The first one was that it was the will of God that every one of them should be like Jesus Christ. There were three ways in which they were like Christ Jesus. They were like him when the characteristics of Christ were around them. The first characteristic of a true Christian was that he looked as if he had died, had been buried and had risen again. There were so few of them in whom the old nature was dead, and whenever it cropped up they showed their unlikeness to Jesus Christ. A second characteristic of Christ was that when on earth he was ever going about doing good. To Christian Endeavorers he would say: Let your hands and your feet and your heart be bound in the service of Christ. A third characteristic of Christ was that whatever he did he did in the power of the Eternal Spirit. A good many people expected a mighty inflatus of their hearts or an inrush of some overwhelming feeling, not knowing how God worked. If they followed Christ their motto would no longer be "Endeavor," but "Success"; no longer that which was dubious, but that which was secure. It was not in study and retirement that the soul found its deepest joy, but it was when out with Christ in the storm, and in hazarding life for that blessed Lord who bade us follow him.

When the bishop concluded, applause broke out. "Don't do that," he said, raising his hand, "I don't like it in the house of God."

Rev. S. Rose, D.D., of Montreal, spoke on "The place of Christian Endeavor in Canada's national development." He said he would not discuss the national future development of the country, but he presumed that Canada would work out its own destiny. One idea of its natural development was a large acreage, a fertile territory and a large population. Canada had all except the latter. Yet nations of antiquity that had left their impress upon succeeding years had not been possessed of a large acreage or a large population. It was said the Christian Endeavor Society was not non-denominational, but inter-denominational and international. Because it spanned nations it did not call for the obliteration for national lines. Christian application was needed in the political life of Canada, and it would do something to clarify it if they, as Endeavorers, sought to cultivate in their membership true healthy Christian patriotism. God forbid that the society should descend to the level of a political organization, but there were some lines along which they might work—the preservation of the Sabbath for instance. It was a thing they had a right to demand on behalf of the workingman. The speaker said that his home—Montreal—was a fine city, but they had permitted Sunday street cars to run there and many good people defended it. Yet he thought it had been an opening for other Sabbath desecrations. The temperance movement was another line along which they might work. (Applause.) He hoped that prohibition would soon come.

The Christian Endeavor work in Quebec was largely a missionary one. There were three difficulties in the way there: the dual language difficulty, which separated them into classes; a national prejudice, grown in the soil of ignorance and fostered by religious prejudice; and inverted law, which unduly favored in its principle or administration the dominant church. One effect of the Christian Endeavor movement in Quebec would be to sooner solve the French problem. He urged the cultivation of a national Christian patriotism, for "blessed is that people whose God is the Lord."

The meeting broke up before 10 o'clock, and the president said he hoped to see the church filled again at the sunrise prayer meeting.

Rev. R. Aylward presided at the overflow meeting in the Congregational Church. Special music was rendered by the choir. The addresses were on the same topics and by the some speakers as at St. Andrew's.

CONVENTION NOTES.

The singing at St. Andrew's under Mr. Wheeler's leadership is grand.

Rev. Dr. Dickson is a capital presiding officer. He keeps the speakers within the time limit.

Montrealers are booming their city for the internation convention in 1893. A huge banner presenting its claim is hung in the rear of the gallery.

The banner of badges which Ontario carried off at New York as having the largest number of societies, is hanging in front of the organ. It is an inspiration in itself.

Mr. W. C. Coo and staff are engaged in shorthanding the proceedings, a full report of which will be published.

"I never saw anything like it," was a common remark at the great reception in the rink.

No one can complain of London's hospitality. Billets have been found for every one of the 800 odd delegates, and 70 or 80 more can be accomodated.

Some amusing announcements are handed into the president, as that is the only way in which delegates can be readily communicated with. The following last evening caused a roar of laughter: "Will the young gentleman who was inquiring for Miss —— (giving the name) kindly meet her beneath the Toronto banner at the close of this service."

What with issuing railroad tickets, selling postage stamps and newspapers, billeting delegates, receiving registrations, handing out programmes, answering the telephone, attending to the postoffice box and answering a thousand and one questions, the staff of the bureau of information is a busy one indeed.

Delegates appreciate the cushions in the pews of the church.

That over 800 young people should rise before 6 o'clock to attend the sunrise prayer meeting is a proof of their sincerity.

The present convention is the largest gatherig of young Christians ever held in Canada.

The City of Paris' Quick Trip.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The log of the City of Paris, which arrived here yesterday morning, shows the passage from Queenstown to have been made in 5 days 14 hours 24 minutes. The distance traversed was 2,782 miles. The day's runs were 148, 508, 503, 505, 530, and 288. This beats the record for a westward passage. The record up to this voyage was 5 days 15 hours and 58 minutes, held by the City of Paris.

Many Drowned.

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Oct. 20.—Last night the wind blew a gale. Two small fishing vessels were capsized off this port and ten persons aboard them were drowned. Many small vessels have been wrecked and a number of lives lost.

Kicking Against the Election of Mayor Knill.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—A very noisy meeting was held in London last night to protest against the election of Ald. Knill to the lord mayor's chair on the ground that he is a Roman Catholic. The majority of those present were friendly to Mr. Knill, and an amendment declaring that gentleman to be the proper person for the civic honors was carried amid great confusion.

A Russian Rumor.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—A special from St. Petersburg published in Berlin reports the following extraordinary news: "It is rumored at court that the Ameer of Afghanistan, with an escort of 50 retainers and high dignitaries, will arrive here with the beginning of November to personally consult with the Czar. As the Ameer was to meet Lord Roberts at the time mentioned, the matter is wholly inexplicable. Berlin politicians and diplomats refuse to believe it, and say there must be a mistake somewhere."

Fatal Struggle on a Housetop.

BERLIN, Oct. 20.—On Monday last, while a party of 132 long-term convicts, chained in couples, were being marched through the Nordstrasse, in Dusseldorf, under military escort, two of the prisoners, Carl Becker and Heinrich Mostert, snapped the coupling by which they were united to their companions and bolted into the house No. 44. They were quickly followed by some soldiers, who overtook them on the roof, and in the struggle which ensued the refugees were shot dead. The tragedy took place in full view of thousands of citizens, the streets being crowded at the time.

Almost a Casualty.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The Archduke Charles Louis, oldest surviving brother of the Austrian Emperor, was in a carriage with his wife, the Archduchess Maria Theresa, returning from Wiener-Neustadt. The night was dark and the coachman lost the way. The carriage toppled into a ditch and turned upside down. The Archduke was stunned in the wreck, and the Archduchess was severely injured about the lower limbs. The coachman was badly wounded about the head. The Archduke, as soon as he came to his senses, assisted his wife out of the wreck, and they made their way to a railway station, some distance off, where they received medical attention. The Archduke is the father of Franz Ferdinand, the heir to the Austrian throne.

Posed as a Prince.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The pretended Prince of Teck, who has been personating Queen Victoria's son-in-law in a way that indicated unsoundness of mind, proves to be an American, whose real name is Heidlebourg, and a son of worthy parents in the United States. His swindling has been of such a clumsy character, and his assumption of princely title so obviously bogus and extravagant, that the authorities are inclined to accept the plea of his friends that he is insane. When arraigned on an indictment at the Old Bailey to-day the bogus prince pleaded guilty. He was represented by counsel engaged by his relatives, who suggested that the prisoner was a lunatic and should be treated as such. It was shown by the prosecution that the pretended prince had been previously convicted of fraudulent practices at Liverpool. Sentence was deferred in order to enable further inquiry to be made as to his antecedents and mental condition.

Cream's Last Chance.

LONDON, Oct. 20. — The prosecution closed to-day in the case of Thomas Neil Cream, the alleged poisoner of Matilda Clover and other girls. Mr. Geoghan, in his opening argument for the defense, said that he would not call any witnesses. He commented on the small quantity of strychnine found in the body of Matilda Clover and asserted that the death of the woman was due to her excessive indulgence in drink.

Counsel also commented on the weakness of the identification of Neill Cream as the man who had been with the Clover woman just previous to her fatal seizure, and dilated upon the relationship that had existed between the Clover girl and the man "Fred." Counsel admitted that the prisoner was a blackmailer.

Sir Charles Russell, for the prosecution ridiculed the suggestion that the identity of Cream was incomplete. The two women, Elizabeth Masters and Elizabeth May, had thoroughly established the prisoner's identity. They had seen him enter the house where the Clover woman lived. They knew his appearance perfectly, for they had been several times in his company and were actually waiting for him at the time they saw him go into No. 27 Lambeth road. As to the cause, there could be no possible doubt that it was strychnine. The excessive vomiting of the Clover woman after she had taken the poison explained the smallness of the amount of poison found in the body. After Sir Charles Russell had concluded the court adjourned.

Advices from Milford, Del., state that the fire in Cypress Swamp has destroyed thus far $15,000 worth of cypress shingles and eight small houses. There is no way to quench the flames until rain falls.

Difficult Feat

To walk over Niagara Falls. A Toronto man did it this week. Risks to life and health are too great when women attempt to do washing and cleaning in the old way. You are perfectly safe in using C. W. C., and it will give you every satisfaction without risks.

JUST THE THING

For washing and cleaning clothes, tables, paint, oil cloth, glass, tins, pots, pans, dishes and for all domestic purposes C. W. C. is unequaled.

It disinfects and destroys the germs of all diseases. Dirt of every description disappears before it like magic.

Cottam's New Washing Compound

is the cheapest and the best. Any live grocer can supply a large 5-cent packet of C. W. C. Try it.

The Phair Homicide

Prisoners Wilson and Burke Before the Coroner's Jury.

Interesting Developments of the Inquest.

Three Witnesses Saw Both Men Fire at the Detective — Threats and Oaths Preceded the Fatal Shot— The Inquest Adjourned Till Tuesday Evening.

The announcement that the adjourned inquest into the cause of the death of Detective Harry Phair would be continued at the Police Station yesterday caused a large but orderly crowd to assemble. John Burke and James Wilson, the two prisoners, were brought up from the jail and placed in the dock. They looked clean and tidy—somewhat different to their appearance when dragged out of the patrol wagon last Thursday afternoon. Three armed constables continually guarded the prisoners. The men talked a little, but Wilson was inclined to be quiet. Burke laughed frequently and seemed in much better spirits than his companion. They did not use their privilege of questioning the witnesses. They were represented by Mr. P. McPhillips, and the Crown by Mr. J. B. McKillop. Coroner Flock was on the bench, and all the jury were present.

P. C. ROBERT CRAWFORD identified the body viewed by the coroner's jury yesterday afternoon as that of Detective Phair.

JOHN BIGGS, teamster, Cathcart street, was on Richmond street last Thursday afternoon between 2 and 3 o'clock. He saw Burke in front of Sam Sing's laundry acting indecently. Prisoner first paced north and then east. Witness drove north in search of a policeman and met Mr. Phair and Police Court Clerk Kearey north of Kent street on the east side of Richmond. He said to the former, "There's a job for you down there," and explained the nature. The detective then walked south and crossed the street about opposite Morley's butcher shop. There was a young lad with Burke at the time.

DANIEL M'KEE RICHER, a street car driver, living at 666 King street, was coming down Richmond street about 2:25, having left St. James street at 2:15. He saw a man leaning against a telegraph pole on the west side of the street, somewhere between Kent and Maple. He was acting indecently and standing on the sidewalk facing east. Witness then drove on and did not look back. Witness noticed nobody with the man who he thought was Burke. He supposed him to be drunk.

CHARLES LEWIS, barber, Richmond street, five doors south of Maple, saw both prisoners on Thursday, between 2 and 2:30 o'clock, in front of his shop and on the sidewalk. There was a boy between 13 and 17 years of age with them. They stopped in front of witness' barber shop and Burke leaned his shoulder against the window. Wilson stood facing the street car tracks. A car came along and Wilson went out and got on it and went north. The boy remained with Burke and asked him to go to the hotel to get a bed. The latter appeared to be intoxicated. After they had stood there three or four minutes they moved north. Witness next saw the same two men in Victoria Park between fifteen and twenty minutes afterward when the police were endeavoring to arrest them. They stood there with their revolvers leveled at Crawford as he approached them. He did not hear them make any remarks. Crawford first struck Wilson and then Burke. While he was running to the park he heard the report of a revolver.

CHAS. A. MORLEY, butcher, 517 Richmond street, was in his shop on Thursday afternoon. Detective Phair came along and asked him through the window to call the patrol wagon by telephone. He did so and then went to the door and looked down the street. In front of Leigh's shop he saw Detective Phair with his hands on a man who he would not say was one of the prisoners. A minute or so afterwards he saw the man endeavoring to get away, but he was at once thrown. Both fell on the sidewalk, but Phair was on top and kneeling on his prisoner. Some person else kneeled with Phair across the man's legs. Another man came walking north along the outer edge of the sidewalk to where the scuffle was going on. He appeared either to strike or push Phair. Two seconds later one man got up and witness thought it was the prisoner. Phair, however, was still struggling with his man on the sidewalk. Witness then saw the man who had come to the scene last step back and pull out a revolver. Phair was kneeling on the prisoner and five or six feet from him stood the man with the revolver. The latter then fired and shot Phair. Witness was too far away to hear anything that was said. The wounded man got up, and putting both hands up to his side staggered away. The man who had been his prisoner got up immediately after him, and running back a few paces towards the middle of the street pulled his revolver and fired at Phair. Both men then ran away, holding their revolvers in the air. Witness did not see that Phair had any handcuffs. The men ran across in front of St. Peter's Cathedral, and both leveled their revolvers at P. C. John Boyd and one fired. Witness did not see the men after that; when he went to Mr. Phair the latter was trying to pull his clothing up so that he could see the wound, and said, "Lord, have mercy on me, I am shot." He asked witness to send for Rev. Ira Smith and a doctor. The wounded man was carried into Mr. Morley's shop, where he remained for half or three-quarters of an hour.

MRS. CATHARINE SMITH lives at 129 Mill street, and was on Richmond street last Thursday afternoon between 2 and 3 o'clock. She was on the west side, going south. She saw two men down on the pavement near the sidewalk. They were near Pudney's tin shop, and one was kneeling on the other. Another man came from the south who she thought was Wilson. He said something to the man who was lying on the ground; she could not hear him. He then ran a few steps out on the road and took something out of his pocket. It was rolled in a cloth, which he took off. Witness thought it was a sling-shot. She ran forward, and when she came near him she saw that it was a revolver. He then came forward and shoved the man who was on top over and pointed the revolver at him at the same time saying, "—— —— your soul, if you don't throw down them handcuffs I'll shoot you." He said a second time with some other oaths that he would shoot him if he did not throw down the handcuffs. Just as he uttered the last word he fired. At this time he was not over five or six feet away. The man who was down jumped up and ran away. He was the prisoner Burke. Not until after all this had happened did witness recognize Mr. Phair. She knew he was the same man who was shot at. When she came up there were other men there. She saw no handcuffs. The two prisoners ran across the road and witness saw one of them shoot at a policeman.

A juryman—Did the prisoner who was under Mr. Phair fire at him after he got up? Answer—I don't think so. I did not hear him.

Witness also heard Mr. Phair say that he was shot.

Mr. McPhillips—When you got up to where Mr. Phair and the other man were were there other men there? Ans.—Yes, there were, but I was so frightened that I did not know who they were.

Mrs. Smith saw a pair of handcuffs in Morley's butcher shop, and also saw Mr. Morley with a revolver. This was when the prisoners were over on St. Peter's Cathedral grounds, and before they had been captured. She did not know to whom the revolver belonged. She heard Mr. Phair make no remark as to how he had been shot or why he had arrested Burke.

Mr. Morley was recalled and stated that the revolver which Mrs. Smith had seen was his own. He did not see the handcuffs. If they were there they were not his.

JOHN LEWIS, JUN., was at his father's hotel, the Huron House, on Oct. 13. Wilson came into the bar-room and went through to the wash-room. He returned to the bar-room and walked out on the street. About three minutes after this the patrol wagon came up Richmond street. Witness walked out to the sidewalk and Phair and Burke were scuffling on the pavement. The former was kneeling on the latter. This was just a little north of Pudney's door. Burke's shoulders and head were raised up. Wilson was approaching them and was facing Phair with a revolver in his hand. Witness did not hear any of them say anything. He did not see Wilson touch Phair, but was four or five feet away when he fired. Phair straightened up and then fell back on the sidewalk. Burke and Wilson ran out on the road and the former fired at either P. C. Boyd or Phair. He did not hear either of them say anything as he was too far away. Phair was then nearly in front of Leigh's store. Boyd was facing the prisoners. Burke fired very quickly and seemed to take no aim. Burke and Wilson ran down the east side of Richmond street and when near the corner of Dufferin avenue Burke fired a shot at P. C. Boyd. Either he or Wilson then fired another shot at Boyd. They then ran along Dufferin avenue to the east side of the cathedral and when near the palace three more shots were fired, but by whom he did not know. Wilson seemed to be under the influence of liquor, but witness did not get near enough to Burke to say whether or not he was drunk. Wilson knew well what he was doing. When Phair was shot either he had hold of Burke or Burke had hold of Phair. The handcuffs were hanging down between them. He did not see Phair have a revolver.

JOHN M'GRORY, blacksmith, Richmond street, next door to Leigh's, saw Phair pass his door running. Witness went to the door and watched him go up to Burke six or eight feet south of Pudney's door. Phair spoke to Burke, but witness could not hear what was said. Burke seemed to wish to proceed on his way and not listen to Phair. There was also a boy carrying a coat. All three then walked north until opposite Leigh's door. Two young men were walking close behind them. When Phair arrested Burke, who was drunk, these men stopped also. Phair placed Burke's two hands behind his (Burke's) back and stood there a minute and a half holding Burke by the cuffs of his coat sleeves. Phair tried to get his handcuffs from behind under his coat, but they caught and he could not get them. When Burke saw this he wrenched himself away, but in an instant was caught and thrown in the gutter. Phair called on one of the young men standing near by to help him to handcuff Burke. He did not do so and was asked again. He then went and threw himself across Burke's thigh. By this time Wilson had come up and after saying something to Burke asked either Phair or the young man who was helping him what they were trying to do with his comrade. The man who had been aiding Phair then got up and walked towards witness' door. Wilson then drew his revolver and shot Phair after catching hold of him and turning him off Burke. He then turned and ran. Phair got up and said: "I'm shot, I'm done; God have mercy on me." He went in a northerly direction and witness saw that he was shot. Burke got up and ran eighteen or twenty feet south towards the street car track and turning around shot at Phair. This was the bullet that went through Leigh's window. Phair walked into witness' shop, and the latter's father accompanied him to Morley's shop. Witness saw the prisoners fire more shots, but could not say at whom they were fired.

P. C. JOHN BOYD was on station duty on Oct. 13. He went up Richmond street in the patrol wagon in response to a call by telephone. When he arrived where he was needed he saw Phair stooping over a man near the sidewalk. The man was Burke. Wilson drew a revolver and stood close by. He fired and Phair jumped up and said, "I'm shot!" The revolver would not be more than a couple of feet from Phair's body. Burke jumped up, and running away fired directly at Phair. Witness then got out of the patrol wagon and chased Burke and Wilson down Richmond street to Dufferin avenue. Both then turned around and fired at him. They then went along Dufferin avenue, across St. Peter's Cathedral grounds and out on Park avenue. Here each man fired two more shots at him. They then ran around the palace again and over into Victoria Park. Here they were faced by P. C. Crawford, and they both snapped their revolvers at him. Crawford knocked them both down with his baton.

The inquest then adjourned until Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the Police Station.

A HAPPY MAN.

J. W. Arnold, the Alleged Elgin Forger, Discharged.

PORT HURON, Mich., Oct. 21.—James W. Arnold, the Detroit music salesman who has been under arrest for alleged forgeries committed in Elgin county, Ont., seventeen years ago, was discharged yesterday afternoon. Judge Vance decided that the evidence did not show him guilty of forging or uttering the notes, and moreover that the charge would have been outlawed by the statute of limitations. Arnold left for home yesterday evening a very happy man. He was defended by Fred S. Warren, of Detroit.

ELGIN.

O. Sovey, M. C. R. yard brakeman, had an arm broken while coupling on Wednesday at St. Thomas.

On Tuesday evening, while two farmers from South Dorchester were driving in a lumber wagon across the M. C. R., just north of Yarmouth Center, they were struck by an M. C. R. freight train, and both horses were killed. The men saved there lives by jumping, but the wagon was broken to splinters.

An evangelical meeting held at Salem, in West Elgin, by Rev. E. H. Bean, was broken up the other evening by two drunken rowdies, who used profane and threatening language.

At a special meeting of the board of directors of the St. Thomas Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday it was decided to open up a gymnasium in connection with the association, over 70 young men having promised to pay $2 per year for membership in that department. It was also decided to supply a reading room at Montross and Windsor with reading matter for the men laying over at these points.

The grape harvest in Essex is over, and has been a phenomenal one. Not less than 1,500 tons were shipped, and fully 1,000 made into wine. Grapes were shipped as far west as Calgary, Alberta, and east to Campbellton, N. B.

HURON.

At Blyth on Wednesday Miss Nan Shane, youngest daughter of Mr. Wm. Shane, was married to Robt. Stanley Hayes, barrister, Seaforth. Miss Birdie Hayes, sister of the groom, and Miss Fanny Rance, cousin of the bride, were the bridesmaids, while C. M. Shane, of Windsor, and Dr. J. Shaw, of Clinton, attended the groom. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. Higley, pastor, at Trinity Church, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion. After the ceremony the party, numbering about 50 invited guests, returned to the residence, where a pleasant hour or two was spent over a bridal luncheon and congratulations, after which the happy couple left for New York, Buffalo and other American cities. The presents were numerous and well selected.

OXFORD.

Mr. and Mrs. Longmore, Woodstock, have had their cup of bitterness full to overflowing recently. That dread disease diphtheria carried off a bright little boy recently, and on Tuesday night their only daughter, a sweet girl of 6 years, died. She had been ill since Saturday.

During the last two weeks several robberies have occured in the vicinity of Culloden. On Sunday afternoon, while the family were attending church, the residence of Levi Haines was entered by some sneak thief, who secured over $50 in cash and a gold watch. No trace of the thief has yet been found.

Mrs. Curtis, fancy drygoods, Ingersoll, made an assignment Wednesday in trust to William Ewart for the benefit of her creditors. She had carried on a successful business for over twenty years.

PERTH.

At Toronto Judge McDougall heard the trial of Mrs. Mary Ann Cosgrove's suit against her husband, William Cosgrove, of Berlin, for an annuity of $400 a year he agreed to pay when they separated in 1887 in St. Marys. They were married on July 12, 1865. Mrs. Cosgrove, with her five children, now lives in Toronto. Cosgrove owns the British Hotel of St. Marys and alleges that the allowance was to be paid out of the rents of that alone, and not out of any of the other property. The agreement was so drawn by the lawyers that he was bound to pay it, no matter from what property, and he wishes to escape from that general liability. He is in arrears since Jan. 1 of this year.

The town of Strathroy some time ago granted a bonus of $10,000 to the Strathroy Canning Company. Since the granting of the bonus some of the promoters have dropped out of the company and now there is trouble about whom the money should be paid to. A motion was made in the case before Master Winchester at Toronto, but it was enlarged for a week.

WELLINGTON.

James O'Connor was tried at the Guelph Assizes and convicted of criminally assaulting Florence Mariott, a girl of 6 years of age, though some half a dozen witnesses swore that the prisoner was not at the place where the crime was committed at the time stated. The jury took the other view. O'Connor felt confident even to the last moment that he would be acquitted, and was perfectly staggered by the verdict and sentence of seven years in Kingston Penitentiary. He protested his innocence when sentence was pronounced. His mother, from a bed of sickness, came into court just in time to hear the verdict. Robert Field, jun., was sentenced to 23 months in the Central Prison. He was convicted of stealing a watch.

TWO BRIDEGROOMS FAINT AWAY

One Has a Fit and the Other is Overcome by the Occasion.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 20.—Judge Moril, of the Second City Court, was tying the matrimonial knot for George Rabiliah and Miss Laura Cook when the bridegroom fell to the floor in a fit. The incident broke up the ceremony for the time being, but Rabiliah was bought to and went home.

An hour later the judge was called on to unite Juan D. Talazar and Miss Felicia Lasano, children of sunny Italy. Talazar could not stand the strain of getting married and swooned away. After he had recovered he explained that he had never been through the mill before, and that the impressiveness of the occasion, coupled with the oppressiveness of the weather, had brought on the fainting spell.

WHAT THE DOCTOR SAID.

Experience Proves It.

A Montreal physician said, the other day that he was attending a large number of people who were suffering from sore throat, coughs and affections of the bronchial tubes. The well-known physician remarked: "This is just the season when these troubles come on. The sudden changes in temperature; the cold and damp days are productive of serious results."

When spoken to regarding Harvard Bronchial Syrup, the physician said: "It is a grand remedy and I frequently prescribe it in my practice; and I know of other doctors who are recommending it."

This king of cough remedies is worthy of a place in every home in case of emergencies. It always gives instant relief and can be used by the young as well as the old, as it contains no injurious ingredients.

Thousands of men and women in Canada are aware of the wonderful properties of Harvard Bronchial Syrup and recommend it to their friends. We earnestly advise every reader who suffers from sore throat, cough, hoarseness or enlargement of the tonsils to go at one and purchase a bottle; every druggist sells it.

Pure Gold Flavoring Extracts are the best. Your money will be refunded if they are not found to be as represented. i

CHICAGO'S GALA DAY.

Nearly 100,000 Persons Take Part in the Procession.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—All Chicago was up with the lark this morning. In fact tens of thousands of people were bestirring themselves ahead of the feathered songsters to fecure advantageous positions for witnessing the Columbian celebration and parade. The early risers were wise in their day and generation, although their wisdom involved a tedious wait of something like six hours; for the route of the parade was less than three miles in length, and the head of the column had got back to the starting place and disbanded long before the center had begun to move. The extraordinary shortness of the route naturally produced a congestion of the sight-seeing populace on the sidewalks and cross streets, and those who got into the center of the city, even two or three hours before the time fixed for the head of the column to move, found themselves barely able to get within sighting distance of the largest flag poles carried by the processionists.

Although the route of the parade was less than three miles long the procession was fully 40 miles in length. Rough estimates of the number of men in line varied from 80,000 to 90,000. It was an imposing demonstration, but so complete had been the preparations that the vast body of marchers was handled with but comparatively little confusion. The members of the various organizations saluted Vice-President Morton and the distinguished guests as they passed the reviewing stand at the Government Building.

A Sad Anniversary.

THE CRIME OF MURDER.

As a consequence of recent tragedies, a good deal of discussion has arisen with regard to the question of carrying dangerous weapons and as to what constitutes murder.

It is unlawful for any person—except officers of the law or individuals who have procured certificates of exemption from a justice of the peace—to carry a pistol or air gun elsewhere than in his own dwelling-house, shop, warehouse or counting-house. The penalty for this offense is a fine of not more than $25 or less than $5, or imprisonment for one month, and invariably the weapon is confiscated. An interesting case under this law was decided in Hamilton a few years since. A Buffalo man came over to that city at a time when a disturbance was threatened about the lecturing of Wm. O'Brien, the Irish M. P. He was followed into a hotel and arrested by a detective on a charge of carrying a revolver which was found in his pocket. The magistrate dismissed the charge, holding that a man's hotel is his "dwelling house" for the time being. From the frequency with which tramps and rowdies resort to revolvers when they find themselves in a tight box, one is forced to the conclusion that the penalty is not stringent enough. Any man found with a loaded revolver in his possession, and unable to show a reasonable cause for his preparedness, should be sent to the penitentiary for a long term. Such a one is a murderer in his heart, and will not scruple to shoot down any one who opposes him.

Any one is criminally guilty of the murder of another if death takes place within one year and a day of the cause of death, and culpable homicide becomes murder in each of the following cases:

1. If the offender means to cause the death of the person killed.

2. If the offender means to cause the person killed any bodily injury which is known to the offender to be likely to cause death, and is reckless whether death ensues or not.

3. If the offender means to cause death, or being so reckless as aforesaid, means to cause such bodily injury as aforesaid to one person, and by accident or mistake kills another person, though he does not mean to hurt the person killed.

4. If the offender, for any unlawful object, does an act which he knows, or ought to have known, to be likely to cause death, and thereby kills any person, though he may have desired that his object should be effected without hurting any one.

It has been asked whether or not a person is also guilty of murder who counsels another to commit the crime. The Canadian criminal code is clear on that point. It stipulates that every one is a party to and guilty of an offense who (1) actually commits it; or (2), does or omits an act for the purpose of aiding any person to commit the offense; or (3), abets any person in commission of the offense; or (4), counsels or procures any persons to commit the offense. There is no mistaking that explanation of the responsibility of the accessory to crime.

In some instances, culpable homicide, which would otherwise be murder, may be reduced to manslaughter if the person who causes death does so in the heat of passion caused by sudden provocation. Any wrongful act or insult of such a nature as to be sufficient to deprive an ordinary person of the power of self-control, may be provocation if the offender acts upon it on the sudden and before there has been any time for his passion to cool. These, however, are questions of fact that shall be decided by the evidence. No one can be held to give provocation to another by doing that which he had a legal right to do, or by doing anything which the offender incited him to do in order to provide the offender with an excuse for killing or doing bodily harm to any person. An arrest does not necessarily reduce the offense from murder to manslaughter because the arrest was illegal, but if the illegality was known to the offender it may be evidence of provocation.

These points in the law governing murder come up in connection with the slaying of Detective Phair, but for the obvious reason that the accused men will have to stand their trial in due course, the ADVERTISER does not at this time propose to apply them to that unfortunate tragedy. However, the reader who is seized of the facts, as chronicled by us from day to day, and which will come out at the inquest, may find it convenient to have this statement of the law at hand.

PREMIER TWENTY-ONE YEARS.

Oliver Mowat celebrated the 21st anniversary of his Premiership of this Province to-day. Ontario's Grand Old Man has unique distinction in his record as the chief executive officer in the government of his native Province. He has been Premier of Ontario for so long a period that a parallel to his experience is not to be found in the government of English-speaking countries. Sir John Macdonald was a member of a number of governments in Canada, but his longest continuous stretch of power was only thirteen years, and no other Canadian premier has ever held sway continuously for so long a term. In Great Britain, Walpole served his country as Premier from 1721 to 1742, 20 years and 10 months—the elder Pitt was Premier from 1783 to 1801, a period of 17 years and 84 days; and the Earl of Liverpool was head of the Government from 1812 to 1827—in all 14 years and 319 days—when death cut his career short. No other British statesman who has headed governments in the last 100 years ever enjoyed a continuous term of office extending into double figures.

There are various reasons for Sir Oliver's uniform success. Chief among these is the fact that the people have faith in the honesty of his administration. No scandal has been developed under his regime, and though some of us believe that he moves a little slow in some matters, it has generally happened that he has advanced quite as fast as the people were willing to give effective support to his legislative measures.

Sir Oliver, though well up in years, enjoys physical and intellectual vigor superior to many who are his juniors. That he may live to equal the age of Gladstone, and continue to serve his Province in the capacity in which he has done her such good service in the past, is a wish that will be indorsed by the large majority of the electorate.

THE Toronto World says the question of the future of Canada should not be discussed if those who discuss it believe that honorable political union with the United States would be the best destiny for the people. Still, the World keeps on discussing the subject. Our contemporary has a streak of humor in its make-up.

A RIGHTEOUS VERDICT.

The notorious murderer, Dr. Cream, alias Neill, has met the fate he richly deserved. A London jury did not hesitate many minutes to convict him of the murder of one of his numerous victims, and this afternoon he was sentenced to be hanged.

While the rascal temporarily sojourned in this city, some 15 or 16 years ago, a girl that came under his care died, and the newspaper men who investigated the affair had little doubt that he murdered her; but legal evidence was wanting and he escaped. Since that time, this utterly unscrupulous scoundrel is believed to have killed at least a dozen women. For many years he escaped his just deserts, but he has been enmeshed at last. His exposure and conviction give small comfort to those who may be tempted to follow in his footsteps. At the time when he thought himself most secure, a righteous retribution overtook him, and his misspent life must end in ignominy.

THE Toronto Empire and its twin in Toryism, the World, daily breathe out threatenings and slaughter. The effect may be described by omitting the "lower case" s in the last word of the previous sentence. One might easily imagine old George the Third as editor of the one paper and Claverhouse of the other.

SLAPPING ON THE HEAD.

"Constant Reader" (London) sends a letter to the editor couched in these terms:

"Would you kindly give me a little advice on school matters? Do you think a teacher is allowed to slap a child about the head because she is not able to accomplish the hard lessons she gives them, which are a great deal too many for a child 11 years old? And when a note is sent by the parents, do you think she has a right to read it to the whole class? I sent her a note asking her not to give the children so many lessons, as they were not strong and not able to get up so many. I told her I would not send them till I got an answer from her. She has not sent me one yet."

No; we certainly do not think that a teacher should be allowed to slap a pupil about the head, no matter what the offense of the child may be. Slapping on the head is always dangerous, and has been known to cause deafness, brain complaints and other physical diseases. On no account should the habit be allowed, and if the facts are as stated by our correspondent the case should be reported to the headmaster, inspector or one of the ward trustees for investigation and action. Nor do we think that a teacher is justified in reading the explanatory note of any parent to the pupils. Such an act may, in some instances, tend to bring a citizen into ridicule, and help to produce irregularity on the part of a pupil rather than cause improvement. Too much discretion cannot be exercised by a teacher, nor should patience be wanting. The occupation is an exacting and oftentimes worrying one, but the situation is not improved by unnecessarily antagonizing parents. As to the lesson question, our opinion is that an attempt is made to teach the average child too much, and to keep the young brains exercised night and day. If fewer subjects were taken up and greater thoroughness demanded the system would be improved; but the teacher is not to blame for that, though we should suppose that at the desire of a parent, and on account of the bad health of a pupil, a teacher would be able to accede to such a request as in this instance is said to have been refused.

The system of forcing pupils forward is largely due to parents who are anxious to have it demonstrated that their offspring are bright, and to school board authorities who rate the teacher alone successful who can make his charge "grind" up for examinations to the full pitch of their ability, developed not only in school but in the hours when the little ones should be at play.

GAMBLING AT FAIRS.

It is reported from Toronto that the Ontario Government will hereafter make its grants to agricultural societies conditional to their keeping all kind of fakirs and gambling games off their grounds. The stand will meet with the approbation of the public generally. It does not affect the Western Fair, as the directors some time since took effective action to prevent the plying of games of chance at their great annual gathering.

THE City of Paris, in beating the ocean steamship record kept up steam by burning at the rate of 325 tons of coal every day. When electricity is fully developed, it is believed that the bill for fuel on ocean steamers will be very much decreased.

THE West Huron Liberals apparently take it for granted that the constituency will be opened as a result of the forthcoming trial. They will meet in convention at Goderich, on Friday next, to take the necessary action. There will doubtless be a large attendance.

The extent to which musicians have used Lord Tennyson's verses is shown by a recent competition, which took place in the Musical Herald. A prize was offered for the most complete list of musical settings of Tennyson's words, and it was won by Mr. F. G. Edwards, of Hampstead, who produced a list of no less than 400. Mr. Edwards has since amplified the list, which may be published. It embraces every variety of musical setting.

GREAT DAY FOR SIR OLIVER.

[Toronto Telegram of Thursday.]

Oliver Mowat completes to-morrow, Oct. 21, 21 years of service as Premier of this Province. The anniversary is one that may not be formally observed, but which still has a significance of its own. The little Premier has been freely criticised; his errors have not been few. He has been something of an opportunist, and something of a time server, but the truth is, that he has been as good as a Canadian politician can be and hold office.

Ontario never had and never will have a truer servant. It has been no easy task to retain office through these years. All the power of the Dominion Government has been thrown against the Grits, but their own invincible Oliver has triumphed always. With Oliver Mowat at their head, the Liberals have given Ontario a Government that is conspicuously honest as governments go. His partisans may rejoice in their grand old man's attainment of his majority as Premier, and Canadians, irrespective of party, can afford to honor a stalwart fellow Canadian.

Came to Canada TO BE CURED

418 Pall Mall Street, London, Sept. 15, 1892.
To the Histogenetic Medicine Association:

GENTLEMEN,—Permit me the pleasure of humbly adding one more leaf to the wreath you so richly deserve, and as an evidence of my heartfelt gratitude, I beg to state my condition before and after receiving your treatment. You have my permission to make this testimonial public, if so disposed. Trusting that a discerning public, who are afflicted as I was, will have the scales removed from their doubting eyes, and avail themselves of the benefit your treatment will assuredly bring to them.

Am a farmer aged 25 years, and a resident of Sand Beach, Michigan, U. S.; was taken ill about the 11th of November, 1891, with a cold from exposure, and about two weeks thereafter visited Dr. ——, a well-known medical practitioner of Sand Beach, who treated me for about three months, calling my disease Pneumonia, stating that both my lungs were diseased badly. I had chills for a long time with bloody expectoration, sluggish liver and bad digestion, bowels costive and a bad cough, also sleeplessness. Receiving no benefit from the doctor's treatment I then visited Dr. ——, of the same place, who examined and prescribed for me, and stated I had bronchitis, with consolidation of the lungs. The treatment benefited me only for a while. I then went to Detroit and visited a doctor, a lung specialist, who prescribed for me, and said my case was hopeless and advised me to go west to a warmer climate. I started, lost flesh, dropping from 168 pounds to 130 pounds, and I became despondent, but by the grace to the Great Architect of the Universe I heard of famed success of your plan of treatment, and decided to visit your London branch, arriving here on the 18th of last month; was carefully examined by the Association's physicians, who gave me so much encouragement that I took treatment patiently and carefully followed his directions, and am now almost well; eat heartily, no cough, and gained rapidly in flesh—exceeding four pounds in three weeks—and the happy result costing me only $12 for the Histogenetic Medicine used. Consultations free. My wife and family are placed under obligations to the Histogenetic Medicine Association never to be forgotten. Yours truly,

Tug-of-war with the asylum team—Won after a 45 minutes' struggle by the asylum men. This was a spirited pull. It is claimed that the military men were reinforced by a trio of outside experts, but in spite of every effort they were outpulled by their muscular civilian opponents, who, with one exception, have defeated the school in every contest. In the present instance the barracks allowed the second pull to go by default. The names of the asylum team are as follows: John Pumphrey (anchor), Geo. Taylor, A. Sippi, D. Mooney, H. Donnelly, F. Monshead, W. Kitchen, M. Bowers, Geo. Angus (captain).

Owing to darkness the last sport—catching the greased pig—was "indefinitely postponed."

Altogether an extremely enjoyable afternoon was spent by the military men and their friends. The committee in charge of the proceedings were Major B. T. Vidal, Surgeon M. J. Hanavan, Capt. R. Cartwright, Capt. S. J. A. Denison, and Lieut. A. Carpenter, the sub-committee being Lance-Corporal Gibling, Private J. Cockburn, Private B. Burnard, and Private H. Millie, with Col.-Sergt. E. D. Griffiths, treasurer, and Private H. Millie, secretary.

The two other pairs are to be Bob Fitzsimmons and Jim Hall, middle weights, and Jack McAuliffe, light weight champion of America, against Dick Burge, light weight champion of England.

QUOITING.

R. Errington and J. S. Bell played the second match for the London Quoiting Club medal, and the former won by a score of 51 to 46 points. A week from to-morrow Errington and M. Brown will play their first match for it.

FASTEST FIVE HEATS ON RECORD.

NASHVILLE, Oct. 20.—At the Cumberland Park to-day in the postponed 2:19 stake race Martha Wilkes was again the favorite, but after leading into the home stretch Hamlin's Nightingale beat her home in 2:10½. In the fifth heat Greenleaf took the lead on the back stretch and was not again headed, Nightingale finishing second. Time, 2:11¼. It stands as the fastest five heats trotting on record. The team, Belle Hamlin and Globe, failed to beat the record, but trotted a mile in 2:14½.

The track record of Belmont Driving Park, Philadelphia, for either trotting or pacing was broken Thursday by the stallion Saladin, which paced a mile in 2:11¼, at the same time breaking his own record 2½ seconds.

THE PHAIR TRADEGY.

The Charge Against the Prisoners, Burke and Wilson.

Both Remanded by the Police Magistrate Until October 28.

The City Council at a meeting held last evening decided to attend the funeral in a body.

A beautiful floral design, "Gates Ajar," has been procured by the members of the police force. It stands about three feet in height and is made of white, yellow and pink rosee, smilax and carnations. The inscription, made also in flowers, is "Our Comrade," and on the attached card, "In loving remembrance of Harry Phair, from the chief and members of the London police force."

The following telegram of condolence was received yesterday by the bereaved family: "To the family of the late Detective Phair: "The Hamilton police department console with you over the death of your father. He was a brave and good man, who lost his life in the faithful performance of his duty. "H. McKINNON, chief of police."

Much sorrow is shown in St. Thomas over the death of Detective Phair. He was well-known there and highly respected.

The Band of No. 1 Company, C. R. I., will attend the Funeral of the late Detective Phair.

The body has been embalmed.

The family of deceased will derive from the Police Benefit Fund a sum of money, it is believed, amounting to about $1,400.

"Having feloniously, willfully and of malice aforethought, killed and murdered Henry Phair" was the charge on which John Burke and Thomas Wilson were remanded until Oct. 28 by the Police magistrate this morning.

The hour for the funeral on Sunday afternoon has been set at 2:30.

John Phair, of San Francisco, Col., son of deceased, arrived in this city this morning.

THE BAPTISTS.

Resolution in Re Bible Teaching in the Schools.

BRANTFORD, Oct. 20.—At yesterday's session of the Baptist convention a resolution passed with reference to giving the Bible a more prominent position in the educational institutions of the country. The resolution contained the following clause:

"At the same time it is our conviction that the people of our land must depend upon the churches of the country for Bible teaching rather than upon our public schools. Those being supported by all should not have any text book forced upon the children to which any would conscientiously object. Unless, therefore, all the patrons of our schools should agree to have the Bible introduced, we cannot feel ourselves justified in assisting in any way to bring pressure on our Government to force it upon them."

A resolution was passed urging upon the members of the churches "to cultivate more earnestly the Christian grace of self-denial in every possible way, that the means may be forthcoming for meeting the increasing demands of the work to which God calls us." Resolutions passed heartily approving of the efforts of the Prisoners' Aid Association of Canada, and a delegate was appointed to attend the conference in Toronto on Dec. 1892; urging the necessity of more attention to family worship, and asking churches to give a regular and generous place to the ministerial educational fund.

Obituaries were presented with reference to the deaths of Benjamin Bell, St. George; Hon. A. Mackenzie, W. H. Hutton, M.A., and the great Christian worker, Dr. Crawford.

The publication board reported a gratifying increase in the Sunday school department, with total business for the year of $13,062 23. The liabilities have been reduced to $264 81. The circulation of the Canadian Baptist is reported to be about the same with a profit of $508 79. Total profits to book room department, $811 21, divided among missionaries. A new board was elected as follows: Messrs. Godspeed, Scott, Bentley, Blue, McKay, Wassen, Wallace, Trotter, McNaught, Moore, Copp, Lugsdin.

A motion to have the Baptist run as a private enterprise was defeated.

The home mission board reported a deficit of $3,000 and asked for $26,000 for next year. The foreign mission board asked for $30,000. Both were adopted. A letter was read asking for more funds to carry on the missionary work in the Northwest. On motion $6,000 additional was pledged for the work there this year.

The evening session was largely attended, a number of papers being read on practical subjects.

Rev. Ernest Greig, a missionary who leaves for work in the foreign fields, was called on for a few words and received a hearty welcome by the entire audience. He has been pastor at Perth for the past few years. He and his wife go to labor in Burmah and India under the American Mission Board.

At to-day's session the report of the Grand Ligne mission in Quebec was received. The report showed the mission to be doing most successful work.

The Sabbath school report shows 402 schools, 32,915 scholars—an increase of 2,214 over last year. The attendance at Bible classes, 3,590; amount raised by schools, $16,902 81; of this $2,225 81 went to home missions, $2,192 65 to foreign missions; school purposes, $12,602 41.

The New York customs officers have turned over to Luiz Pardon, a representative of the Paul family, of Venezuela, the $25,000 worth of jewelry stolen from them by their colored servant, Carlos Wiggins, who fled to the States.

A Grand Affair.

FRIDAY MORNING.

While the majority of the people of London were still peacefully slumbering hundreds of enthusiastic young Endeavorers had risen and where wending their way in the brisk air of early morn to St. Andrew's Church, and again was presented the remarkable spectacle of the building completely filled at half past 6 o'clock. Under such circumstances the sunrise prayer meeting could not be but an interesting and impressive one. It was conducted by Rev. H. W. McTavish, of Shelburne, and the delegates entered into the devotional exercises with all their heart and soul.

DENOMINATIONAL RALLIES.

The hour from 8:45 to 9:45 a.m. was devoted to denominational rallies. The young people had just time to hurry home from the sunrise gathering, get breakfast and hie off again to the churches of their respective denominations. The following were the churches selected and the leaders at each:

Baptist—Talbot Street Baptist Church, Rev. C. C. McLaurin, Sarnia.

Congregationalist—First Congregational Church, Dundas street, Rev. R. Aylward, B.A., London.

Disciples—Rooms, Clarence street, Mr. A. McMillan, Alvinston.

Episcopal—Memorial Church, Queen's avenue, Rev. Canon Richardson, M.A., London.

Methodist—Dundas Street Center Methodist Church, Mr. Thos. Morris, jun., Hamilton.

Presbyterian—St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Rev. R. J. Beattie, Guelph.

AT ST. ANDREW'S AGAIN.

At 10 a.m. they all united at St. Andrew's, where President Dickson opened the ninth session.

The special committee appointed to amend the constitution brought in these recommendations: That the officers of the society be a president, four vice-presidents, a secretary, a treasurer, a superintendent of junior work, an editor and three councilors; that any Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor and every denominational young people's society taking the name of Christian Endeavor in addition and being in conformity to the constitution shall be elegible for membership in the society. The report was adopted as an amendment to the constitution.

A FREE PARLIAMENT.

Mr. G. Tower Ferguson, of Toronto, opened a free parliament on the work of officers and committees.

Some excellent ideas were adduced by the opinions thrown out by the delegates. A good deal of discussion took place as to the manner of holding socials. One member said in his society the name of each member was printed on his or her badge so that they knew each other.

Short reports were heard from the music, literary, flower and visiting and other committees illustrative of the methods adopted by them. The duties of a corresponding secretary were defined and the chairman took occasion to impress upon the corresponding secretaries present the necessity of sending in their returns promptly to the provincial secretary.

The question as to whether presidents should be elected yearly or semi-annually seemed to result in favor of the six months plan.

"Should our Endeavor socials be free, or should there be a charge?" was a question asked.

"Free!" came a chorus of replies.

"Yes," said President Dickson, "people like everything free."

BOOMING MONTREAL IN '93.

Rev. Dr. Rose, of Montreal, spoke on "Montreal, '93," where he hoped to see them all at the convention in June, 1893. Already applications had come from 10,000 or 12,000 people for homes, most of them from across the border, and they expected that between 25,000 or 30,000 would be present. He trusted it would be an object lesson to the dominant church that would not be lost in all the ages to come. They would see united Protestantism confronting the Latin Church in its outward unity. The speaker told of the enormous expense and work entailed by the preparations for the monster gathering. The convention committee of Montreal intended paying one-half the cost, and they looked to Ontario for the other half, as in Quebec he had told them before the society was a missionary organization. They required $8 on an average from each of the 851 societies in this Province. He felt anxious about the convention. If it was made what it should be it would be the grandest evangelical force ever brought before the Roman Catholic Church. The reverend gentleman made a most effective plea for support.

THE OFFICERS FOR 1893.

The report of the nominating committee was presented. The first clause recommended that the following be the officers for 1893:

President—Mr. Thomas Morris, jun., of Hamilton.

Vice-presidents—Rev. Canon Richardson, M.A., London; Mr. T. G. Ferguson, Toronto; Rev. A. M. Phillips, Toronto; Rev. A. F. McGregor, of Forest.

Secretary—Mr. E. A. Hardy, Lindsay.

Treasurer—Rev. H. W. Barker, Toronto.

Superintendent of junior work—Mr. C. J. Ferguson, of Toronto.

Editor—Miss E. M. Carson, London.

Councilors—Rev. J. A. R. Dickson, of Galt; Rev. R. J. Boville, of Hamilton; Rev. G. H. Cobbledick, of Dundalk.

This clause of the report carried.

THE BILLETING PROBLEM.

The second clause recommended that the incoming executives recommend that St. Catharines be chosen as the next place of meeting, on the understanding that the billeting be limited to one representative delegate from each society.

This caused some discussion. Some of the delegates took exception to the billet limitation.

Rev. Mr. Shearer, of Hamilton, thought the convention should be held in Kingston or some eastern place where Endeavor work was not in so advanced a state as in the west.

On a division it was decided to leave the matter of the billeting in the hands of the executive.

Another vote was taken on Rev. Mr. Shearer's motion that the question of the next place of meeting be left open to the executive, and was carried.

The third clause of the report, recommending a paid assistant to the secretary, was adopted.

Rev. Mr. Ball, of Vanneck, and Rev. Mr. Holmes, of Stratford, offered up prayer that God's blessing might rest upon the executive.

Adjourned until 2 p.m.

SUNDAY FUNERALS.

Discussed by the Ministerial Association—Text of a Resolution Adopted—They Will Abide by Their Agreement.

On Sept. 16, 1889, 28 clergymen, 5 undertakers and the trustees of Woodland and Mount Pleasant Cemeteries signed a document the text of which was as follows:

"We, the undersigned ministers and undertakers of the city of London and vicinity, agree to discontinue attendance of Sabbath funerals, except in cases of extreme necessity, such as where there is danger of contagion or infection, and then only upon a certificate from the medical health officer of the district, certifying that there is absolute necessity that the interment should take place."

The family of the late Detective Phair decided on the day of his death that the funeral should take place on Sunday in order that his son John should arrive from San Francisco before the burial. Deceased was a leading member of Talbot Street Baptist Church, and Rev. Ira Smith, the pastor was requested to officiate.

Rev. W. J. Clark called a meeting of the London Ministerial Association this morning, and in the Y. M. C. A. parlors the matter of Sunday funerals was discussed for nearly two hours by Rev. Messrs. R. Aylward, W. J. Clark, J. A. Murray, Stephen Bond, Ira Smith, W. Rigsby, J. R. Gundy, W. M. Roger and W. M. Walker. Some members argued that if the association allowed Mr. Smith to attend the funeral the agreement entered into might just as well be declared null and void, while others threatened to withdraw from the Ministerial Association. Finally the following resolution was passed:

"As an association we most deeply sympathize with the family of the late Detective Phair, and admire the devotion of our police force, who have been robbed of a brother officer while in the discharge of his duty. We respectfully draw attention of all parties concerned to the known action of the Ministerial Association and the other ministers of the city, as well as the undertakers and cemetery authorities. We would most respectfully remind all parties concerned that we are only anxious to preserve the sanctity of the Lord's Day and its proper observance in relation to this matter."

This ended the discussion, and the association adjourned without having taken any definite action on the matter for which the meeting was called.

Christians and Turks Fighting.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Advices from the Island of Crete state that serious affrays have occurred there between the Christians and the Turks. In the encounters reported four Christians were killed, and fourteen Turkish soldiers lost their lives, besides twenty being wounded. The bishop of Spahakia obtained a promise from the Turkish Governor, Chevket Pasha, that the Cretans who had taken part in the riot would not be molested, if they were willing to act peaceably hereafter. In violation of this promise, it is reported, eight Cretans were seized and sent to Tripoli, and the Christians were arming themselves to demand their release.

Thrown Into the Water.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Yesterday nine men, some of whom were attempting to get ashore from the Inman Line steamer City of New York, while the others while trying to board the vessel, were thrown into the water and one of them was drowned. The steamer had just gone into her dock at Birkenhead, across the river from Liverpool, and a plank was thrown out from her main deck forward to the wharf to allow her crew to pass ashore and aboard. As soon as the plank was thrown out several customs officers started to board the steamer and at the same time a number of seamen and firemen started ashore. The men met midway between the steamer and the dock and in attempting to pass each other the plank tilted and all of them were thrown into the water. Few of them could swim and had it not been for timely assistance most of them would have been drowned.

Live Stock Markets.

EAST BUFFALO, N. Y.

EAST BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Cattle—The fresh arrivals the last 24 hours were all consigned through with the exception of one load of common old cows of 810 lbs weight that sold at $1 85, and about three loads of ends peddled out to city butchers at the average values of Monday.

Sheep and Lambs—The market opened very dull and slow; Thursday is usually a slow day in the sheep department and to-day was no exception to the rule. Three cars of fresh Canada lambs came in and four cars held over; about eight cars of native sheep and lambs were on sale. Up to noon only one load that weighed 76 to 79 lbs had changed hands at $5 60 per cwt. A few loads of native lambs, weighing from 65 to 77 lbs, sold at $5 15 to $5 40 to feeders, and a peddling trade of light ends; common lambs sold to butchers at from $2 50 to $4 50 as to quality. Only a few small bunches of sheep changed hands at yesterday's prices. The eastern markets were reported very bad again to-day; 22 cars at New York with good lambs at $5 60 to $5 75, and slow at Jersey with 13 cars on sale.

Hogs—There was another very light supply to-day, only 8 cars. The market ruled irregular, but at about steady prices with yesterday. Yorkers paid from $5 80 to $5 90 for what few they bought, taking in the light weights, and all but strictly pigs and roughs. Medium weights sold at $5 80 to $5 90, and an odd load of choice brought $6 00 on an order. Pigs were selling at $5 50 to $5 65 as to quality; roughs, $4 50 to $5 50; stags, $4 to $5.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Oct. 20.—There were about 600 head of butchers' cattle, 25 calves and 700 mutton critters offered at the East End abattoir to-day. The butchers were present in large numbers, but as there were more cattle on the market than were needed, trade was slow and prices continue very unsatisfactory to the drovers. A few beeves sold at from 3½c to 4c per lb, but not many were sold at more than 3¼c, do, with common dry cows and rough steers at from 2½c to 3c, and the leaner beasts at about 2c per lb. A lot of good, large Manitoba steers were bought at 3½c per lb to be sent to Prescott for feeding at the distillery there. $3 was paid for a superior calf and $18 for 3 others. Old sheep are very difficult to sell at any price. Good lambs sell in lots at 4c per lb, with common lambs at about 3½c. Fat hogs are rather scarce to-day and prices are higher, or about 5½c per lb. A lot of 480 head of very fine bullocks arrived at the C. P. R. yards last night from the High River Ranch, Alberta. They are a remarkably fine lot and averaged 1,320 lbs weight when unloaded from the cars after a journey of about 2,000 miles. They will be shipped for the British market.

The Dairy Markets.

LISTOWEL.

LISTOWEL, Oct. 20.—At the cheese market here to-day the attendance of buyers and salesmen was very large. Over 28,000 boxes were offered by 43 factories, representing 2200,000. Buyers bid freely at from 10 3-16c to 10 3-8c; one lot sold at the latter figure, but salesmen generally held for higher figures, mostly for 10½c. A keen competition took place for the well known factories of Bluevale and Elma; 1,100 boxes of the former went at 11c, and 1,600 boxes of the latter at 11c, both white. The annual banquet of the board was held afterwards.

Ohio's New Mason's Home.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, Oct. 21.—The Grand Lodge of Ohio, Free and Accepted Masons, met yesterday in the 83rd annual session, Levi C. Goodale, of Cincinnati, presiding. Mayor Burnett welcomed the visitors for the city, and John W. Parsons for the local Masons. There was a parade, in which there were fully 8,000 men before the corner stone of the Mason's new home was laid by Grand Master Goodale in the afternoon. Barton Smith, of Toledo, delivered the oration. The building, which will cost $75,000 will be completed by this time next year. Grand Master Goodale made Gen. A. S. Bushnell, who subscribed $10,000 to the Masonic Home fund, a Mason at sight last night. It is the second time in the history of the order that such a thing has been done.

It is learned that Knott spent some time in Monterey, where he passed himself off as an English lord, receiving every attention from the English and American people of that city.

Brutal Policemen.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—A Chicago special to the World says: Brutality such as has never before been witnessed in Chicago was the distinguishing feature of police work during the parade yesterday. Women, men, and even children were unmercifully clubbed, and at times when even the slightest severity was unnecessary to enforce order. Little three-year-olds were snatched from their mother's side and thrown backwards or forwards as the sweet will of a brute in blue dictated. Eminent citizens were seized and beaten with clubs back into the almost panic-stricken crowd. In almost every case the action of the police was accompanied by a torrent of shocking abuse. Women fell fainting by the score in the densely packed throngs. Many were injured in the crush and more become hysterical and were borne away in ambulance wagons. One woman was seriously and perhaps fatally hurt.

The World's Fair Dedicated.

Great Prairie Fires in the Northwest.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 21.—Calgary advices say that prairie fires have done immense damage in that neighborhood during the past few days. The country has been fire-swept, from the Bow River to Red Deer, in the north, and from Dog Pond, in the west, to the Calgary and Edmonton railway in the east. Thousands of tons of hay, many buildings, cattle, and probably a number of lives have been lost in the flames. Men hauling hay had to unhitch their horses and ride for their lives. The best hay districts in the Northwest have been burned over. The fire is supposed to have originated in a hunter's camp.

The Unfortunate "Thirteenth."

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The men belonging to the Thirteenth Company of the Army Service Corps at Portsmouth, who were arrested for participating in the meeting that took place there Oct. 13, have been sentenced each to one year's imprisonment and to be ignominously cashiered.

Conversion of New South Wales' Debt.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Oct. 21.—Sir George Dibbs has made an important statement. He says it is proposed to arrange a conversion of the colonial debt into consols of a single denomination, bearing a uniform rate of interest. He further states that his consultation with London financiers has resulted as follows: Twenty-eight million pounds of stock are to be issued in the name of New South Wales, and it is proposed to set aside for their redemption 1 per cent. annually, equal to £280,000 per year.

After the Verdict.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—After the verdict of "Guilty" was announced Neill was asked if he had anything to say why sentence of death should not be pronounced against him. He shook his head in the negative, but did not open his lips. In sentencing the prisoner, Justice Hawkins said the murder of which Neill stood convicted was one of diabolical and unparalleled atrocity. He did not dare to trust himself to speak regarding the details of the crime—the law knew but one penalty, and that was death.

The Trouble in the Guards.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—As a result of inquiries Truth says it is able to assert that the recent trouble in the Life Guards is part of a serious concerted display of insubordination that has been fomenting since the Egyptian campaign. "The splendid equipment of the guards," says Truth, "enables any officers so disposed to make the men's lives miserable by excessive inspections. No remedy is possible until the real offenders among the officers are discovered and the individual responsibility fixed."

Examining Gen. Booth's Accounts.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The Earl of Onslow, formerly Governor of New Zealand, is engaged in forming a committee of five to examine the books of Gen. Booth, showing the receipts and expenditures of the Salvation Army. This is done in answer to the recent challenge for such an examination, which Booth accepted. The committee will make a most thorough and searching investigation. Gen. Booth defies them to find that he has spent even a half-penny wrongfully. The examination will take place next week.

The Prince Was in Peril.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The Pall Mall Gazette says: While Lady Brooke, at whose residence the Prince of Wales had been staying for several days, was driving him to the station, the horse reared, and it looked for a time as though the wheels of the carriage would be crushed and the outfit overturned. A policeman seeing the trouble seized the horse by the head and quieted him, thus avoiding what might have proved a serious accident. During the exciting few minutes while the horse was prancing about neither the Prince nor Lady Brooke seemed to be alarmed. A fresh horse was procured, and the Prince and his hostess continued their journey to the station, where the former boarded a train.

MY PYTHAGOREAN FRIEND.

"A good word," I interjected, a very good word. Is she a Girton girl, I wonder?"

"'Well,' said I, 'I shall not vex you again at present with such a point-blank declaration. There is plenty of time for that. But permit me to say that this persuasion, or fancy, or monomania—call it what you will—has had the profoundest influence upon my life. There is not an action, habit, thought or feeling that has more swayed my nature for these three years, refining and elevating it. You have been my Muse, my Themis, my Madonna. You have made my house a shrine. If I have good thoughts, you have inspired them. I do not say I am good—no man dare say that—but I have striven to be good, knowing that I must ultimately come in contact with your goodness, and be supremely happy or profoundly miserable, so that touchstone shall try me. But oh! how pale these words are! Were I your lover, madam, one glance, one tone, would tell all that and more, and convince the most modest incredulity.'

"'Alas! sir,' she said, with a look of abashed distress, 'it pains me to hear you speak thus. I have many faults if my portrait has none.' Then after a pause she resumed, 'May I ask if you know French?"

"'Passably,' I replied. She then spoke a few words to her attendant, who nodded briskly, and then addressed me as follows, with a good deal of unction and self-importance—'Monsieur, permet-tez-moi de m'offrir comme intermediaire dans cette affaire —'"

"Excuse me, Maurice," I interposed; "if you must use another language, translate what she said into Latin. I received my education at a grammar-school, where we had so much trouble in getting up the mascu ines in is of the third declension, and suchlike things, that we had no time to learn French. Moreover, why should we learn French? Kikero (as they call the poor man nowadays) didn't know French. Of course I have a bowing acquaintance with the language, and I could follow a Frenchman if only, when he speaks, he would insert the apostrophies and the accents, and put little pauses between the words. But I need not tell you that he makes a mere bouillon of his language. Of couse I catch a word here and there, and it is very stimulating to the imagination to conjecture from these stray words what he was driving at. I may well say driving; if he would walk or even amble, all would be well; if he would even drive heavily, like one of Pharoah's chariots, I would not mind. But on he drives, and doesn't take time to pick up passenges. I a so read French, as many Englishmen eat cherry-tart—to wit, chewing the soft parts and swallowing the stones. When I come to a hard word—and there are many such—I swallow it, and continue my mastication of the easy bits."

"Are you nearly done?' asked my friend, wearily.

"Yes, yes: go on, and give me as little French as you can," I replied.

Maurice resumed:

"The purport of what the Frenchwoman said was this: It had not escaped her that I was deeply interested in mademoiselle. 'Je suis nerspicase dans ces matieres-la,' she said. Unfortunately, however, for monsieur, mademoiselle was already engaged, and consequently the homages of monsieur were out of place. Monsieur would understand a demi-mot, would he not? He would not afflict mademoiselle with importunities which are disloyal. 'Monsieur trouvera ailleurs des de dommagements.'"

"'Very good,' I remarked. 'One word for mademoiselle, and perhaps two for herself. I'll be bound she was quite ready to serve as a lightning conductor. Well?'

"'I won't deny,' continued my friend, 'that I was terribly cast down by the announcement that she was engaged.'

"'Bouleverse is the word—local co oring,' I muttered.

"'I was indeed cast down; but I soon recovered myself, and turning to the Frenchwoman I said slowly, for I have to filter my French through English, 'Pray tell mademoiselle that whatever her destiny may be, whatever her purposes and hopes, I pray that God may hear my prayers for her happiness. I rejoice to have waited for her, to have seen her, to have known her. Perhaps in the distant future we may remember this interview. My claim is deferred, but not abandoned. I say to her from a full heart, 'A Dieu et a revoir, ame belle et bienvieillante.'"

Here my friend's voice faltered, and he covered his face with his hands. I respected his silence for a while, but I am not sentimental, the gods be thanked! and I thought it high time to temper his extravagance with a little common-sense. If in such conjectures common-sense looks remarkably like want of sympathy, that is the fault of common-sense.

"Very well, Maurice," said I, after a discreet pause. "The situation is now clearly defined. Possibly you know the Lady Ernestine when she was called Lalage and was a Kanephorus at the Panathenæa. Very good; that is all you are likely to know about her. She is engaged — it is an awfully English expression, but it represents a hard fact. She is practically dead to you."

He shook his head.

"Don't shake your head," I said, indignantly. "It's immoral. She is another's. Of course you did not know that at the time or you would not have stuffed your Pythagorean fantasies into her head. You seem to have made an impression on her susceptible mind. Otherwise she would have risen in virtuous wrath, and left the room with an inmelodious twang of indignant scorn, and an odor of Ess-bouquet."

"She is gentle and sweet," said my friend, "and knew instinctively that I worshipped her I am very sad, and yet very glad, that I have seen her."

"That's the worst of it," I remarked. "Before this you were an Ixion embracing a cloud; now you have tackled flesh and blood. You had better take to prayers and fasting at once."

"Why should I? I shall always love her."

"Even when she is married?"

"Even when she is married," repeated Maurice, firmly.

"Isn't that rather strong for a moral man like you?" I asked, cuttingly.

"You don't understand, my good friend," said Maurice, indulgently. "My love can have no vulgar denouement. Mine is a love which 'burns frore,' if the fates so decree. It is rooted in my heart, not my senses. I love her, indeed, but I also love womanhood in her. 'Das Ewigweibliche zeight mich heran.'"

"Very fine," said I, "but hopelessly unpractical. And if a woman were content to be loved in a metaphysical way, she might as well be a blessed ghost at once. Well, but how did you part? What was the end of the interview?"

"After my little bit of French, to which she listened with profound attention, she said gently, 'All this has been so unconventional that I am at a loss what to say. I am honored by your homage, though I do not understand it. You cannot expect me to take your mystical view, I am a Christian and I believe that we have a short term of life allotted us for holy and good ends. And if, as I fervently believe, our soul is immortal, its future life will be more worthily employed than in the experience of feelings which are of the earth earthly, and only noble as the reflection and faint image of noble as the reflection and faint image of what is nobler and better, as helping us to understand the infinite love of which, in God's mercy, we are the unworthy objects. Ah, my friend, how good she is! I listened to her with deep emotion, for indeed I could easily interpret what she said though with a wider scope."

"Well, and so you shook hands and parted, I suppose?"

"Yes," replied my friend, dreamily. "She slipped off her glove and gave me her hand—a soft, white, firm hand, its contract thrilled me. I took it and pressed it reverently to my lips. She smiled faintly, blushed a little, and said good-bye."

My friend settled himself back in his chair, and a luxurious inward smile began to dawn upon his lips. I watched him in silence. I knew he would tell me his thought directly; indeed if he had not had me to to confide in, I don't know what he would have done. Conceive the agony of suppressed speech when a man is as garrulous as a magpie by a nature; and my friend is that, though his magpiety is of an elevated sort. He leaned forward and said in a mysteriously exultant whisper:

"When she was gone I found her glove on the floor. As I told you, she had drawn it off—bless her gentle courtesy!—and she had dropped it. Who knows? perhaps she wished me to keep it."

"Well, it is a poor treasure-trove," I said. "One of Dent's best, no doubt, but that's no great matter."

"Is it not? That glove shall be buried with me. It shall lie upon my mouldering breast."

Then his face grew pale as ashes and he faltered out:

"Oh, my friend, I am exquisitely and inexpressibly miserable." And he covered his face with his hands.

"This will never do, Maurice," I said firmly, and tapped him on the shoulder. But all the time I mentally saw a vision of distress at which I shuddered. He had received the deadly thrust—hoc habel. If the empress of his soul depresses her thumb, he is a gone man; I felt it, I was convinced of it. To be a chaste ephebe, a continent man, and then such a woman!—ah, what alternatives are involved! Rapture or despair, the trophy or the tomb. Virtue has its martyrs as vice has its victims.

Threw Away His Crutches—A True Account of a Remarkable Event.

STATEMENT OF MR. M'NEE.

For eight years I was troubled with a sore on my leg which resulted from having it broken. The doctors kept me in bed five months trying to heal it up, but all to no purpose. I tried all sorts of salves, liniments, ointments, pills and blood medicines, but with no benefit. In 1883 it became so bad that I had to sit on one chair and keep my foot on another for four months. I could not put my foot on the ground or the blood would rush out in a stream, and my leg swelled to twice its natural size. Eleven running sores developed on it, which reduced me to a living skeleton (I lost 70 lbs in four months). Friends advised me to go to the hospital, but I would not, for I knew they would take my leg off. The doctor then wanted to split it open and scrape the bone, but I was too weak to stand the operation. One old lady said it had turned to black erysipelas and could never be cured. I had never heard of Burdock Blood Bitters then, but I read of a minister, Rev. Mr. Stout, who had been cured of a severe abscess on the neck by B. B. B., after medical aid had failed, and I thought I would try it. I washed the leg with the Bitters and took them according to directions. After using one bottle I could walk on crutches, after taking three, I threw away the crutches, took a scythe and went to work in the field. At the end of the sixth bottle my leg was entirely healed up: pieces of loose bone had worked out of it and the cords came back to their natural places again. That was nine years ago and it has never broken out since. I can walk five miles to-day as fast as any one, and all this I owe to B. B. B., which certainly saved my leg if not my life. I cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers. Give B. B. B. a trial, and it will cure you as it did me. Yours truly. WM. MCNEE, St. Ives P.O., Ont.

Mr. F. C. Sanderson, the druggist of St. Marys, Ont., certifies to the entire truthfulness of the remarkable statement made by Mr. McNee, and says that several other wonderful cures have been made in his district by this unrivaled remedy for bad blood, dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and blood.

At Death's Door.—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph. GENTLEMEN,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live, when I commenced the use of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 pounds. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over 30 dozen VEGETABLE DISCOVERY since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life, as I never expected to recover when I first commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for Dyspepsia. JOKED OUT OF HIS JOB.

How Operator Barker Sent 2,000 Santa Fe Telegraphers on Strike for Fun.

TOPEKA, Oct. 20.—The strike of the operators on the Santa Fe System Monday was the outcome of a practical joke upon Manager Sweet. An operator named Barker wrote a message, declaring a strike on the whole system, signed the name of Chief Ramsey and laid it on the desk of the manager. When Manager Sweet found the message he repeated it to all the offices. The result was that 2,000 operators employed on the system struck.

This completely demoralized the road. Orders were sent out, notifying agents that no freight could be handled, and the officials of the system directed their efforts to keeping the passenger trains moving on the time-card schedule. In this they were fairly successful.

When Chief Ramsey was reached in St. Louis he declared the dispatch a forgery, and the men were ordered back to work. Every man was at his desk within a half an hour after the chief had been communicated with. Barker has been discharged.

About 500 operators on the Atlantic and Pacific branch, who went out on the hoax, refused to return. It is est mated that the joke cost the road about $15,000.

When we are young we waste a great deal of time in imagining what we will do when we grow older; and when we are old we waste an equal amount of time in wondering why we waited so long before we began to do anything.

Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil, is ear ache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, in which the young are specially subject.

THE WEATHER.

TORONTO, Oct. 20—11 p.m.—The depression which was over the Maritime Provinces last night has been absorbed by the storm near Newfoundland, which has moved seaward, beyond this the pressure changes in the Dominion have been unpronounced. Fair weather has prevailed generally with slight changes in temperature.

Minimum and maximum temperatures: Esquimalt, 44°—52°; Calgary, 22°—54°; Edmonton, 38°—56°; Prince Albert, 34°—50°; Qu'Appelle, 32°—50°; Winnipeg, 26°—50°; Toronto, 36°—56°; Montreal, 40°—52°; Quebec, 38°—48°; Halifax, 44°—52°.

TO-DAY'S PROBABILITIES.

TORONTO, Oct. 21—1 a. m.—Probabilities for the next 24 hours for the lower lakes region (covering the peninsula and as far east as Belleville) are: Moderate winds; generally fair with little change in temperature; light showers at a few points.

MR. MERCIER'S TRIAL.

The Ex-Premier's Eloquent Plea for a Speedy Hearing Ignored.

QUEBEC, Oct. 20.—A large number of citizens were in the court to hear the Mercier trial. Mr. Dunbar, Q.C., moved that the case of Queen vs. Alfred Morrissette, charged with forgery, be proceeded with. Mr. Greenshields, Q.C., in behalf of Hon. Mr. Mercier, insisted that the case of the Queen vs. the Hon. Mr. Mercier and Ernest Pacaud take precedence. Mr. Dunbar said the crown considered it their duty to first proceed with the trial of those in jail. Hon. Mr. Mercier addressed the court, asking that his case be proceeded with at once. Let the consequence be what it may, he felt entitled to the right, as a lawyer and ex-Premier of the Province of Quebec. He had his honor to defend and the honor of his family. "If my title as a father of a family is not enough my title as a British subject you cannot take away from me," said the honorable gentleman. He concluded an eloquent appeal by saying he would stay in court day after day and if he was not accorded his trial then he would say there was no justice in this country.

Judge Blanchet said it was not a political case and he was obliged to follow the regular practice of the court. He ruled that the case of the Queen vs. Morrissette be proceeded with.

An expression of gratitude, volunteered from a sense of duty, is to be found in the following statement: "18 Hill street, San Francisco, Cal., U. S. A., April 23, 1890. Gentlemen: Having been sorely afflicted with rheumatism myself, my mother predisposed to bronchitis and my daughter to chronic sore throat, by the external use of St. Jacobs Oil they immediately found relief, and are at present cured by your wonderful remedy. I am constrained to say it gave me almost immediate relief, and I have not felt the slightest twinge of the disease since adopting its use. LOUIS IMHAUS, with the Equitable Life Assurance Society."

He who is false to present duty breaks a thread in the loom, and will find the flaw when he may have forgotten its cause.

A man's wife should always be the same especially to her husband; but if she is weak and nervous, and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they will make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so too.

Nocturnal Musicians.

Jones—My wife and I suffer from alternate insomnia.

Brown—Alternate insomnia! What is that?

Jones—Whichever gets to sleep first keeps the other awake all night.

Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular antidote to pain, throat and lung remedy and general corrective, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It may be used without the slightest apprehension of any other than salutary consequences. Coughs, rheumatism, earache, bruises, cuts and sores succumb to its action.

Scrofula, whether hereditary or acquired, is thoroughly expelled from the blood by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier.

There is one place where there is good shooting, and that is up among the stars. They have a regular sky lark this month.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—It is necessary that copy for changes of advertisements (to be sure of insertion) must be handed in on the day previous to that on which their appearance is desired.

—R. W. Smylie, of Detroit, formerly of London, is in the city.

—The Court of Revision met last evening and confirmed the measurements of the Emery street drain.

—Mrs. R. Robb, of Chiselhurst, has arrived in the city and accepted a position as nurse in the hospital.

—The attending physicians report that Miss Henderson, shot on Saturday last at St. Thomas, is still improving.

—Government Inspector Christie is inspecting the London Asylum. Government Architect Tully is also looking after the additions to the institution.

—Mrs. Robert Carfrae, Mrs. Samuel Screaton, Mrs. John Moule and Miss Minnie Dixon, of this city, attended the funeral of Morton Dixon at Glencoe.

—In the Police Court report of last Saturday it was stated that James Springer was charged with non-support of his wife. It appears that such was not the case, the reporter having been misinformed.

—Andrew Denholm, editor and proprietor of the Blenheim News, was married on Wednesday to Miss Tena McDonald, third daughter of Mr. Alex. McDonald, Stratford. They were married quietly by Rev. M. L. Leitch and left for a trip to New York.

—The Chicago Herald says Mr. Murray Anderson has just closed an important real estate transaction in that city. The property is situated on the corner of Cottage Grove and Indiana avenue, 110 feet by 297. Mr. Anderson, as trustee for the heirs—Mrs. Isaac Anderson and Mrs. J. Robertson—has leased the estate to Mr. H. Tillotson for 99 years. The rental is at the rate of $13,000 per annum, or 5 per cent. on $260,000. The building to be erected is to be four stories high, and to cost not less than $250,000.

—Wednesday, Nov. 2, Robert Downing, the foremost American tragedian, will come to London with a grand scenic production of "Virginius," and the following night he will be seen in "The Gladiator." Mr. Downing's engagement, following so closely that of the eminent English actor, Mr. E. S. Willard, is notable, as showing that London is able to secure and appreciate that which is the very best in the drama. Mr. Downing's company is a powerful organization, consisting of 21 of the best actors in the legitimate field.

—Yesterday afternoon Bro. John Sara, of Lorne Lodge, A. F. and A. M., Glencoe, was buried under Masonic auspices at Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The Transcript says of deceased: "Mr. Sara was a man well-known and highly respected, having been elected a member of the village council last January. He formerly resided in London, and was the last surviving member of the family. The remains were taken to London for interment yesterday afternoon, and were accompanied to the train by a large number of our citizens, including the members of the Masonic and Foresters' lodges, to which deceased belonged. Mr. Sara was in his 34th year, and leaves a wife and two children."

—No. 2 committee of the council met last evening, and there were present Ald. Garratt (in the chair), Jones, Shaw, O'Meara, Bartlett, R. Ironside and Secretary Bell. G. C. Robb, chief engineer, and boiler inspector for insurance companies, reported that he had inspected the steam boilers in the City Hall and found them all sound and in good condition. Filed. The city engineer called attention to the wretched manner in which the city was placed in regard to names of streets. In many cases no signs were up at all. Laid over. The communication of A. Hagett, asking the committee to compel R. Hall to remove a fence erected on a public highway, and the petition of E. H. Hayne et al. for compensation for taking up and relaying the tile drain on St. James street between George and Talbot streets, made necessary by the city having Talbot street graded and the frost penetrating to and destroying the tile, were referred to the engineer to report. The communication of Geo. S. Weir for damages on account of injury to vehicle, caused by defective street, was filed, the city not being liable. The pay-sheet of $210 83 was passed and the committee adjourned.

—Messrs. J. B. Cook (chairman), J. S. Dewar, W. J. Craig, Anderson, D. W. Blackwell, J. Tanton, A. O. Jeffery and Inspector Carson were at a meeting of No. 2 committee of the Board of Education last evening. James Jury, janitor at the Collegiate Institute, applied for help, as the new rooms greatly increased the work. The committee will recommend that Mr. Jury be authorized to employ a boy at not more than $3 per week until otherwise directed. Mr. Gray appeared in reference to his account for cleaning closets at Maple avenue school of $51, and the committee decided to recommend $40. Mr. Perry, inspector of buildings, will start work on Monday, Oct. 24. He was requested to report on desirability of additional double windows at the Collegiate Institute. Some additional blackboards will be ordered. The matter of ventilation at Freeman school was referred to J. S. Dewar with power. New plans for the Quebec and Wortley road schools were amended and approved of. The kindergarten on Rectory street will be located near the corner of York and Rectory.

A Masonic Event.

Last night Rt. Wor. Bro. Alex. Hess, D. D. G. M. of London District, No. 3, A., F. and A. M., G. R. C., paid an official visit to Kilwinning Lodge, No. 64, this city. Among those present in the east were: Rt. Wor. Bros. R. W. Barker, G. S. W.; A. B. Munson, P. D. D. G. M.; Wor. Bros. J. Smith, W. G. McMillan, W. Thornton, R. Bonney and A. G. McWhinney, also Bros. G. S. Wills, of Chicago, J. Weil, Philadelphia, and C. F. New, of Camlachie. The third degree was exemplified in a creditable manner by Wor. Bro. A. A. Campbell and officers of the lodge, after which an adjournment was made to the banqueting room, where all partook of coffee and light refreshments, and a pleasant hour was spent in singing and speech-making.

A Rare Bill at the Grand.

The Grand Opera House offers its patrons a rare bill of fare to-night and Saturday afternoon and evening. Friday night and Saturday matinee will be presented Don "Cæsar de Bazan." Saturday night a double bill, Shakespeare's delightful comedy, "The Taming of the Shrew," preceded by a modern comedy, "A Regular Fix." These will be presented by the celebrated Players' Stock Company, headed by the young romantic actor, Mr. Edward Vroom. Says the Ottawa Journal of "Don Cæsar De Bazan": "The piece is well staged with new and appropriate scenery, and the cast, with scarcely an exception, was a superior one. In fact a smoother or more agreeable rendition of this charming play has seldom been witnessed here. Mr. Vroom, as the dashing and impecunious Don Cæsar, infused such an amount of vim and energy into his part as to call forth frequent and spontaneous applause. He has a fine stage presence, and in his picturesque costumes looked the gay Spanish cavaliero to the life. He was ably supported by Miss Coggswell, who, as Maritana, fully enlisted the sympathies of the audience, which found vent in the usual manner. Miss Gifford played the minor character of Lazarillo most acceptably. Mr. Arbuckle, as Don Jose, was all that could be desired.

THAT AGREEMENT AGAIN.

The Aldermen Once More Discuss Street Railway Matters.

The City Solicitor Advises About Forty Changes, but the Council Amend Only One Clause—The Proposal to be Submitted to the Old Company.

Clause 25 of the proposal of the new street railway company reads as follows:

"Subject to the powers of the corporation of the city of London in that behalf, and subject to the rights, if any, of the London Street Railway Company, the corporation shall not for a period of twenty years from the passing of the necessary by-law giving effect to this agreement, grant to any other person, corporation or firm the right to construct and operate a surface street railway by electricity as a motive power unless the proposers shall neglect or refuse to commence the construction of any new line in the city upon any street or streets after being requested by a two-thirds vote of the City Council to construct such line, or having been so requested shall fail to complete such line within one year from the request; then, and in such event only, the city shall be at liberty to grant to any other company or persons the right to build such line and to operate a street railway by electricity as a motive power thereon. It being understood and agreed that in the event of an amalgamation of the said proposers with the London Street Railway Company, or in the event of the London Street Railway Company accepting this agreement, neither the proposers nor the London Street Railway Company shall be understood to have acquired any right to operate an electric street railway upon the streets now occupied by the London Street Railway Company."

To this clause the city solicitor objected at a special meeting of the City Council last evening as not being in the city's interests. He suggested that the clause should be changed so as to read as follows:

"Subject to the powers of the corporation of the city of London in that behalf and subject to the rights, if any, of the London Street Railway Company, the corporation shall not, for a period of twenty years from the passing of the necessary by-law giving effect to this proposal, grant to any other person, firm or corporation the right to construct and operate a surface street railway by electricity as a motive power; provided, however, that, in case the proposers shall neglect or refuse to build and operate any line or part of a line upon any of the streets mentioned in paragraph 2 of this proposal within the time limited by paragraph 7 of this proposal, the corporation of the city of London shall be at liberty to grant to any other person, firm or corporation the right to build and operate such line or lines, crossing where necessary, and to use electricity as the motive power thereon. Provided also that in case the proposers should refuse or neglect to build or operate any new line within the city upon any street or streets not mentioned in this proposal after being requested by a two-thirds vote of the council of the said corporation to construct such line, which request the said council, by a two-thirds vote as aforesaid, may from time to time make, or, having been so requested, shall fail to complete such new line within one year from the making of such request, then, and in such cases also the corporation of the city of London shall be at liberty to grant to any other person firm or corporation the right to build and operate such line or lines, crossing where necessary, and to use electricity as the motive power thereon. This shall not be taken to justify a refusal by the proposers to build the lines upon the streets mentioned in paragraph 2 hereof within the time limited therefor by paragraph 7 hereof. It being understood and agreed that in the event of an amalgamation, etc."

Mr. Ivey at first objected to this, as he thought that the whole proposal would have to be gone into again from beginning to end, and to this he would agree under no circumstances. He would agree to striking out the word "new" after the words "to commence the construction of any" and inserting after the words "upon any street or streets" the words "whether mentioned in this agreement or not." He finally, however, agreed to Mr. Meredith's clause provided the remainder of the proposal remain unchanged.

The city solicitor had written a lengthy letter suggesting several changes (about 42 in number), but Mr. Ivey would not, under any consideration, submit to this.

Ald. Judd asked why the letters had been kept back. He had not heard of them before.

Ald. Gartshore said the meeting referred to resolved itself into a conference between the two solicitors. He had thought that Mr. Ivey and the city solicitor arranged matters satisfactorily.

Ald. Judd charged that things had been rushed, and condemned Ald. Gartshore.

The city clerk said the letter was before the council on the night that Ald. Parnell's resolution was moved.

The council finally decided to consider the whole agreement again, acting on Mr. Meredith's suggestions.

It was then moved that Mr. Meredith's clause 25 be adopted.

A motion to consider the agreement taking into consideration Mr. Meredith's 42 suggestions was lost.

It was moved that the agreement as amended by the adoption of the amended clause 25 be adopted. The vote was a tie. Ald. O'Meara had not voted before but voted yea and the matter was settled.

Mr. Ivey accepted the agreement as amended and signified his willingness to sign it.

Ald. Gartshore moved that the amended proposal be submitted to the present street railway company. Carried.

Mayor Spencer, Ald. J. Heaman, Yates, O'Meara, Moule, Jones, W. Heaman, Gartshore, Hannah, Bartlett, Dreaney, Fitzgerald, Judd, Shaw, Parnell, City Clerk Kingston and Sergeant-at-Arms Merritt were present.

WHY NOT?
You have corns, warts, bunions, moles or cancers? Why are they not cured? You ask a reasonable question. It demands a candid answer. You have it here: You bought a corn cure. You thought you had Barkwell's, but it was not the genuine; you got a counterfeit. It was no more use than water. We missed the sale of what you wanted. So far, it is your money gone; our money is gone too. You get another and think it is the genuine. You have made a mistake and we are in disgrace. More of your money gone; more of our money is gone. Your corns are no better; our reputation no better. You make up your mind they cannot be cured. We have lost a customer. You have got hold of the wrong end of the fact. You have got hold of the wrong bottle. Both our moneys are gone. Not only our moneys are gone but our opinions of one another are wrong. We don't know you by sight or name. You don't know us. We think "how dull you are to get an imitation when you might as well get Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure." And you think "what fools the manufacturers of that corn cure are to cheat so." Let's get acquainted with one another. Let's get acquainted with Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure. The manufacturer is not the unhandsome name you call him by. And you can't help it. Come on. Nobody deals more handsomely. Nobody ever loses a cent by getting Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure, but they always lose a corn. We never had any trouble except by these infernal counterfeiters. Neither do you with Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure. v
