

LAST BIG BALKAN FIGHT IS NOW BEING WAGED AT THE CAPITAL'S DOOR

Reported That Turks Have Evacuated Saloniki But Scutari and Adrianople Are Still Holding Out.

POWERS PREPARING TO PROTECT FOREIGNERS AT CONSTANTINOPLE

[Canadian Press.]
London, Nov. 7.—Only five little districts now remain in the possession of Turkey out of the vast territory in Europe which she has ruled for centuries. Even these five districts, comprising Constantinople, Adrianople, Saloniki, Monastir and Scutari, are seriously menaced.

SALONIKI EVACUATED.
It is reported that the great stronghold of Saloniki has been evacuated, and that the Turkish army stationed in the city has been withdrawn, but no confirmation of this has yet been received.

Which direction the retreating army is supposed to have taken was not mentioned in the report, but it is true that the Turks have abandoned the city they must sooner or later come into contact with one of the armies investing the fortress whichever way they take.

MONASTIR OCCUPIED.
Monastir also, where Fethi Pasha has a large Turkish army under him, is said to have been occupied by the allied Balkan troops, but this report too lacks confirmation.

Between the Bulgarian army and Constantinople now stand only the Tchatalja forts, which are held by an army that has suffered a series of crushing defeats, and that this rendered, it is believed in military circles, incapable of making any sustained defence against a vigorous assault. Some villages in the vicinity of this last line of defence are reported already to be in the hands of the Bulgarians. The commanders of the Bulgarian invaders are said to have fixed Sunday next as the day on which they will enter the Turkish capital with their troops, and hold a service of thanksgiving in the Mosque of St. Sophia.

FORTRESSES HOLD OUT.
The Turkish fortress of Scutari near the Montenegrin frontier, and that of Adrianople, in the eastern sphere of operations, are still making a stubborn resistance against the efforts of the besiegers. Military critics who know the country well, utter the warning not to expect the early fall of Adrianople promised by the optimistic Bulgarians. The critics point out that the invaders have not yet reached the principal line of forts around that city.

The defenders of Scutari, too, have repeatedly and successfully assumed the offensive, and have managed to keep the line open by which they can supply Tarajosh, the other Turkish fortress on Lake Scutari, with provisions and ammunition.

The antagonism of the Mallisgort tribesmen is said to have checked the army of Crown Prince Danilo, of Montenegro, which has made several attacks on Tarajosh.

Confirmation of the occupation of the Turkish town of Alessio and the port of San Giovanni di Medua, on the Adriatic Sea, has now been received.

LAST BATTLE ON.
News is very meagre today from the line of forts at Tchatalja, as well as from Constantinople, and at the present of foreign ambassadors' entrenchments have been thrown up at San Stefano and at Kladikane, so that if the rout that occurred after previous battles should be repeated the mob of fleeing soldiery can be checked.

LATER.
Paris, Nov. 7.—Turkey has decided to give the powers complete liberty of action in arranging conditions of peace, according to a dispatch from Constantinople to the Journal des Debats.

City Council Asks Members to Vote for Grant to the Fair

London Is Leaving No Stone Unturned to Secure Financial Assistance for the Big Annual Exhibition in This City.

The Western Fair Association are going to make a strong bid for a Government grant for the fair. Word has been received here that the Dominion Fair grant of $50,000 is not available for 1912, so a different method will have to be adopted. It is the intention to obtain an annual grant, of say, $5,000 or more, a year, for a term of years. The board will ask $10,000, and will endeavor to secure that amount.

The city council of London has written to all the members of the Dominion House of Commons residing in Western Ontario, and have received replies from the majority. All are perfectly willing to do what they possible can to secure a grant.

"We have received a number of replies," said City Clerk Baker. "All are enthusiastic apparently for the Western, and are willing to assist."

Secretary A. M. Hunt of the Western Fair Board is also communicating with the members, and is endeavoring to secure their assistance.

"A grant of from $5,000 to $10,000 a year is what we need," he stated to The Advertiser. "I think we should get it."

STRANDED LINER WILL NOT BE LOSS

The Royal George Is Not in Danger of Breaking Up.

STUCK FAST IN SAND

Four Hundred Passengers Taken Off Steamer, But Many Are Still Aboard.

[Canadian Press.]

Quebec, Nov. 7.—About four hundred of the passengers from the Royal George, the Canadian Northern Railway Company's liner, which went ashore one mile east of Point St. Lawrence, Isle of Orleans, last evening, arrived here on board a tender this morning. They were sent to Montreal on special trains later in the morning.

Captain Belanger, of the steamer Savoy, who passed the Royal George this morning, does not think the liner is in a dangerous position. She went ashore on a bottom of sand and gravel, it seems, and there is no fear of her breaking in two like the ill-fated Bavarian did some years ago. The front part only of the Royal George struck the bottom.

Some Still Aboard.
This morning the "North," an old

ferryboat, which carried the passengers to this city last week, went back to the Royal George, but the strong wind blowing north prevented her from getting to the wrecked liner to get the rest of the passengers off.

The captain of the vessel said this morning that the waves were rolling so high that it was dangerous for them to try and go alongside the liner, and they said there were several hundred stowaway passengers still on board.

At this time of the season the channel gets narrower, it seems, and the hydrographic maps tell that steamers must not run at more than 4½ miles an hour. The Royal George, it is claimed, was running at 13 knots in order to get into Quebec before the immigration offices closed.

Saloon Passengers.
The saloon passengers on the Royal George were:

Mrs. R. C. Andrew, Rev. P. Coyle, Dr. M. V. Dee, Mrs. A. Gibbs, Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Greville Harston, Col. and Mrs. Landry, Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Miss Maunsell, Capt. C. M. Merritt, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, Col. and Mrs. E. W. Morrison, Major Robertson, H. Arnold, E. M. Carr, C. W. Francis, S. Lines, H. H. Martin, S. J. McGriffin, W. T. O'Kenna, J. Morgan, R. H. Millen, A. C. Pratt, H. E. Pratt, R. R. Ryan, F. R. Striker, M. H. Thurlsey, S. E. Tidy, W. B. and Mrs. Wilkins, Miss V. Williams, and Mr. Hyamson.

The vessel also carried a large contingent of young women going to the west under Miss Winifred Leal, of the Salvation Army. In all she has 914 passengers on board.

No Panic.

WEST LONDON WALL WILL NOT STAND ANOTHER FLOOD

Ald. Ashplant Notifies City Engineer of Dangerous Condition of Embankment.

SPECIAL MEETING OF BOARD OF WORKS

Immediate Action Is Necessary If the People of the Suburb Are To Be Protected.

The flood in the river has revealed the bad condition of the West London embankment and the city council may hold a special session to deal with the matter. This morning Ald. Ashplant and others visited the breakwater and discovered that it was in a far from satisfactory condition.

Ald. Ashplant called the attention of Acting Mayor Spittal to the wall, and the latter will confer with the engineering department this afternoon to make arrangements to protect the people of the suburbs.

Some time ago, early in October, 60 feet of the wall fell in south of the Oxford street bridge. At this point the embankment is rather narrow, and it was materially weakened by the collapse of this portion. Since that time, nothing has been done to strengthen it, and the sudden rise in the river Wednesday alarmed many of the residents of that portion of the city.

Must Act at Once.
"The board of works should act at once," said Ald. Ashplant. "The breakwater there is very weak, and if a big flood should come along, the lives of scores of citizens would be put in jeopardy. I inspected the embankment today, and I was surprised at the conditions existing. As it is at present it will never withstand a big flood in the spring. We want to act immediately."

City Engineer Brazier will put in a number of piles at this point. The Advertiser was informed, and will board it up to prevent a flood. The groynes already erected further up the river will be strengthened also, and at least $900 expended in making it strong.

"We will make it as strong as we possibly can, and that at once," said Mr. Brazier. "The unexpected flood caught us unprepared, but it will hold up easily."

Six feet of water is going over the dam at Springbank at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The highest mark was 6 feet 2 inches early this morning, showing that the flood is not receding a great deal. However experts say the worst is over, unless another heavy rain comes.

WHISKEY BURNED.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Whiskey valued at $100,000, was destroyed early today in a fire that burned out the two upper floors of the Waken & McLoughlin five-story warehouse on east North Water street.

THE WEATHER.

Boys and Girls Under Sixteen Must Attend Day or Night School

A Special Meeting of the Board of Education Will Be Held on Friday Night to Consider the Putting in Force in London of the Adolescents Act.

A special meeting of the board of education will be held on Friday evening to consider the adolescents law, likely to be introduced by the board.

Some time ago the trustees decided to experiment with the act, and according to the rule governing this matter it had to be advertised for five weeks. That period expires on Friday, and it is expected that the board will meet to take final action.

It is proposed to raise the age when children can be compelled to attend school from 14 to 16 years. Between these two periods, boys and girls may be allowed to go to work, but they will have to attend night school for a time, in order to take lessons in manual training and domestic science.

Some Misapprehensions on.
"Some misapprehension has existed regarding the act," said Trustee E. R. Dennis. "We do not intend taking boys away from work after 14 years, but we want them to attend industrial classes one or two nights a week, in order that they should be better equipped for their work. The idle class of boys, youngsters who are not working nor attending school, we want to get out of the community. I think it will work out advantageously, although the board will have to exercise discretion in its operation."

FLOODED CELLARS AND YARDS RESULT OF SEWER SYSTEM
Cheapside Street Man Got to Work By Walking on Tops of Fences.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE IN MANY DISTRICTS

A Storm Sewer System Is Only Remedy—Interswitching Line Flooded.

Flooded cellars by the hundred, water standing on the streets in miniature lakes, backyards buried out of sight, and other evidences of flood demonstrated that the present sewerage system of London is totally inadequate to handle more than the ordinary rainfall. As is usually the case, following a big rain, the city engineer's department had a busy night, and the water has not even yet been taken off the streets.

Scores of complaints have been registered with City Engineer Brazier, and it is expected that claims for damages amounting to several thousands of dollars will be sent to the council before a week is passed.

The downtown districts suffered greatly, as is the general rule. The sewers backed up into the cellars, and in some places on Richmond and Dundas streets, two and three feet of water was standing in the basements this morning. At noon, it was going away gradually, leaving a trail of filth behind it.

Fighting the Flood.
The ward foremen were out late into the night, endeavoring to relieve some of the districts. In South London, the men worked until midnight, while Ward Foreman R. Logan in East London kept his men going even later. Sewer Foreman Sid Loveless looked after the downtown district, doing what he could to get the water away, but they accomplished little owing to the fact that the sewer accommodation was inadequate. They could not estimate how much damage was done, but it was estimated in the thousands of dollars.

Along the interswitching line in East London, the water was five feet deep, according to the statement of Mr. John M. Moore. The drainage there was not sufficient to carry away the water.

A River.
Cheapside street, where the London Street Railway Company is building its extension, was a regular river. Much damage was done to the company's works there, but a large gang of men soon restored some of the work.

"The usual thing happened," said City Engineer Brazier. "I have been worried by scores of complaints, and had the men out late last night and early this morning endeavoring to relieve the situation. We have known for a long time that the sewer system was totally inadequate to carry the water away. It is a sanitary sewer only, and was never intended to carry storm water. We did what we could, but it is impossible to carry it away in a pipe at least four times too small. I expect that there will be many more complaints."

THAMES, ON A RAMPAGE, ROSE SIX FEET, BUT THE WATER IS GOING DOWN

Motor Boat Left High and Dry on Bank Went Down Stream—Local Men Saved a Large Number of Others—The Greatest Fall Flood Since 1883.

But for the watchfulness of three members of the Thames Motor-Boat Club during Wednesday night the other members of the association would be facing a financial loss as great if not greater than that which they incurred last spring, when a number of the launches broke loose from their moorings and were swept over the dam.

During the late afternoon and early evening of Wednesday the river gradually rose as a result of the continuous rain, but it was not until nearly 11 o'clock at night that the height of the water caused alarm.

Several members of the club visited the docks at the foot of Dundas street during the evening, but the majority left, thinking that there was no cause for remaining there.

About 11 o'clock two boat-owners noticed that the river was rapidly rising, and immediately called a number of others to the scene. Among those who answered the call for assistance were Messrs. Harry Morris, William Thorne and John Bennenatt, and these three remained until after noon today assisting other owners in rescuing their property from severe if not total loss.

Held By Cables.
The club dock was fastened to the shore by means of two heavy rope cables, and but for this protection, the whole fleet would have been lost. About 1 o'clock in the morning the dock broke away from its moorings and was carried out into the middle of the river, but was held in this position by the cables.

One of the launches, the Blues, owned by Mr. Clarke, became loose and was carried as far as Wonderland, where it was recovered by the "Black Knight" under the command of Captain George Smythe and tied to the landing there. The reliever boat was unable to combat the current at the Cove bridge and it was necessary to leave the launch there until the current abated.

During the morning the river rose steadily, and at 10 o'clock the authorities at the pump-house reported that the water was passing over the dam at a depth of 8 feet 2 inches, but is now going down. The splash-boards cannot be removed until the water is somewhat lower. The current this morning was estimated at a rate of between six and seven miles per hour.

NINE PEOPLE HURT IN MONTREAL CRASH

Car Runs Away on Down Grade and Collides Broad-side With Another—Two Seriously Injured With Cuts and Bruises.

[Canadian Press.]
Montreal, Nov. 7.—With the motor-man hanging out of the vestibule shrieking a vain warning, a single truck from car whizzed down a five per cent grade on St. Lawrence Boulevard this morning, and smashed into another car standing at the corner of Ontario street. Nine people, taken into hospitals in ambulances, of whom two are seriously injured and a score of others shaken up, is the toll of the latest addition to the long list of accidents to Montreal street cars.

EXCLUSIVE CLUB FOR LONDON RIDOUT ST. HOUSE IS BOUGHT

Scheme Is To Establish a Club That Will Practically Be a Millionaires' Social Home—Membership Will Be Select.

An exclusive club for the city is being planned at the present time, and the property formerly owned by the late Dr. Anderson on Ridout street has been purchased for this purpose. The sum paid is said to be $11,000.

There are three clubs in London at the present time, the London Club, the Travellers' Club, and the Kennels, or Country Club.

A score of smaller clubs also exist.

The idea of the new club is to limit the membership to the most exclusive set in the city. It will be a millionaires' club, to all intents and purposes, it is stated.

The people behind the venture would not discuss their plans today.

SCORCHING FOR CODERRE FROM HENRI BOURASSA

Le Devoir Makes Scathing Attack On the New Cabinet Minister.

Montreal, Nov. 6.—In a lengthy editorial in Le Devoir tonight, Henri Bourassa makes a bitter attack on the Hon. Louis Coderre, accusing the new secretary of state of betraying the principles to which he subscribed at St. Eustache, St. Henri and other places. Bourassa states that the navy was denounced, and Coderre supported the resolutions condemning any participation in Britain's naval wars. The article concludes with a scathing denunciation of the minister. Bourassa states that Coderre is a giant neither in physique nor morals, and he quotes a statement which shows that Coderre was an ardent Nationalist and that he subscribed fully to all the Nationalist's doctrines, especially in regard to the navy. Bourassa states that Coderre asked him to hold a meeting in his own constituency at St. Henri at this meeting, and that the only term that properly describes him is the word "snak."

BABY DIED AFTER EATING TABLETS

Funeral at Parkhill Was Interrupted By Order to Hold Body.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Toronto, Nov. 7.—It developed at the inquest conducted by Coroner L. Pickering at the city morgue last night inquiring into the circumstances of the death of 21-months-old Stanley Lionel Marks, that although Sub-Registrar of Vital Statistics Frederick Murch, for the district of East Toronto, possessed a book of instructions as to his duties, he had never taken the trouble to read it through. This fact was brought out by questions put to him by acting Crown Attorney R. P. Saunders. The jury returned a verdict of purely accidental death, but added a note to the effect that "in this particular case the registrar of vital statistics, by his sub-officer, was not well served in issuing a permit to bury upon a physician's certificate of death from strychnia poisoning and without the proper authorities being notified."

According to the evidence presented last night, the 21-months-old son of Samuel Marks, of 128 Erie Terrace, took from a table a bottle of tablets containing strychnia on the morning of Oct. 21. A few moments later the child was found writing on the door with convulsions. The father hurriedly summoned Dr. John H. Downing, informing him that the child had swallowed some of the tablets. The child died in a few moments and the physician issued a certificate of death due to strychnia poisoning.

The certificate was filed in the regular way and a burial permit issued. The funeral was held and the body was taken to Parkhill for burial. As the procession was about to leave for the Parkhill cemetery word was received from Toronto directing that the body be brought back here for investigation. The inquest was then opened that the

RAILWAY BOARD TO HEAR FRUIT GROWERS

Question of Alleged Discrimination by Railways To Be Considered. Toronto, Nov. 6.—The Fruit Growers' Association of Ontario, secured from the Dominion railway board today an assurance that the question of discrimination in the shipment of fruit, as against the Ontario growers, and in favor of the British Columbia growers, would be investigated. The assurance resulted from the application, pressed by G. E. McIntosh, of Forest, for an order compelling the railway companies to accept and forward part carloads of fruit at the carload rate, subject to the carload minimum weight, from the original shipping point to the final destination, to be stopped in transit for completion of the carload at an additional charge of $3 per car for each such stop.

TORONTO CHINAMAN HAD TWO WIVES

The Late Ing Quong Left an Estate Valued at $13,756. Toronto, Nov. 7.—By the filing of the will yesterday of the late Ing Quong, who for nearly twenty years conducted a thriving business on Queen street, the fact became known that he had a wife in China and two sons, in addition to a wife and one son in Toronto. In his will he bequeaths his estate, real and personal, equally among his two wives, and three sons. Ing Quong was one of the best-known Chinamen in the city, and his funeral in September was one of the largest of its kind ever seen in the city. He left an estate of $13,756, consisting chiefly of realty, as follows: 190 York street, $4,614; 192 York street, $3,750, and 465 College street, $1,900. His interest in the business of the Quong Yan Ho Company, 30 Queen street west, is valued at $3,384. The five beneficiaries of the will receive $2,731 each. John H. Cameron, of Toronto, is the executor, and the will was witnessed by A. A. Adam and J. Cohen, J. P.

ON ROAD TO MONSTIRA

Servians Capture the Town of Krushevo. Belgrade, Nov. 6.—The Servians continue their successful march on Monastir. After capturing several minor towns they today captured the town of Krushevo, 20 miles north of Monastir, after a short resistance. The Turkish army defeated by the Servians at Kumanova took up positions in the mountainous districts between Kuprili and Perlepe, where the roads are practically impassable. As the Servian artillery was unable to follow them, the infantry was ordered to advance, and in spite of a murderous artillery fire from the Turks took position after position. The last ones were carried at the point of the bayonet.

LORD ROBERTS EXPLAINS MANCHESTER SPEECH

Says That He Only Intended to Emphasize Unpreparedness of Great Britain.

London, Nov. 6.—Lord Roberts breaks the silence he has maintained since his famous Manchester speech by a vigorous letter to the Manchester Guardian today. He explains he is not much accustomed to adverse criticism in efforts to arouse the nation to a sense of its unpreparedness for war, or to present in any way the attacks of opponents, but nevertheless, he feels bound to answer what he described as a complete misconstruction by the Guardian of a salient passage in his speech. "It is true I pointed out the striking process by which Germany developed from a conglomerate of petty federated states to a united empire which arouses the admiration of the world today, but to suggest I was urging upon England that it should be her policy first to arm herself better than Germany and then make war on Germany, with or without just cause or even quarrel, simply because England thinks herself at that moment able to win a war, is a suggestion so strange and so repugnant to my mind that I am utterly at a loss to understand how it could be attributed to me or elicited from my speech. "My whole speech was directed, as are all my efforts, to impressing upon my fellow-countrymen the terrible danger involved in the present situation, in which we find ourselves as a nation, untrained, unorganized and unarmed, amid a Europe in which every people—not only great powers like Russia, Germany and France, but smaller states like Bulgaria, Serbia, Greece, Norway, Sweden and Denmark—stand as armed nations, providing a balance of force which, while it strengthens each one of them physically, industrially makes for peace with honor or for the triumph of right."

AMUSEMENTS

"Ben-Hur" Company Arrives in Town.

The "Ben-Hur" Company and scenic effects in two trains, were landed in London from Hamilton, two of the largest engines in the Grand Trunk service. When the engineer shut off the steam it seemed as though the big locomotives gave relief to their feelings by a long prolonged groan, and were happy that they had so successfully contributed to bringing this organization to town. A force of fifty stage-hands with grips were on hand with uncloud with every available car. Reaching the Grand Opera House the scenery was taken into the front door, through the window, down the cellar entrance, and the stage door. It seemed as though every available entrance to the theatre was seized upon by the anxious staff of the "Ben-Hur" Company to get their effects into the theatre and commence plating and hanging the enormous equipment. It was a sight to behold the manner in which everything moved, the regularity equalling the ticking of the clock marked every movement. Men with trucks dodged between big pieces of scenery in a way that almost called for applause. The whole affair made a feature performance in direct contrast with what will make the presentation of the play tonight. A large force of stage help was kept at their work this week, and "Ben-Hur" will be given in just as complete a manner as the which first performance at the Grand Broadway Theatre, New York, on Nov. 26, 1899.

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." Millions of delighted readers know June, the primitive, ever charming mountain girl of the Virginia hills, the heroine of the famous novel by John Fox, jun., "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." These same readers have received with acclaim the announcement of the dramatization of the novel by a famous dramatist, Eugene Walter, and are just waiting to see June and John Hale in the flesh. Not one of the many who have followed June from her cabin in the hills through all the vicissitudes of her fight for love over feudalism, can afford to miss actually seeing what their imaginations have pictured. The dramatist has faithfully mirrored the delightful scenes of the book. Long runs and the greatest business of late years made the play in Boston, New York and Chicago. "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" appears at the Grand Monday night. Seats on sale tomorrow morning.

BYLAW CARRIED

Sarnia Will Spend $500,000 on New Waterworks System.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Sarnia, Nov. 6.—By a vote of 183 for and 267 against, Sarnia ratepayers today carried the waterworks bylaw. As a result, the city will spend nearly one-half million dollars to get pure water from the shore of Lake Huron, about two miles distant, and that the old intake in the river below the bay will be discarded. For years Sarnia has held a record for the number of cases of typhoid, of which over eighty resulted in death during the past ten years. Last winter a very serious outbreak occurred and was traced to bad water entering through the broken intake. A market bylaw also carried with a big majority.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL ON MURDER CHARGE AT GUELPH

Young Italian Held for Shooting—Part of Evidence Heard Behind Closed Doors for Fear of Further Trouble.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Guelph, Nov. 7.—On a charge of having murdered Michele Fazzari on the night of Oct. 26, Giuseppe Potelli, a New York Italian, was sent for trial by Magistrate Saunders today, after having been given his preliminary hearing. J. J. Drew, K. C., counsel for prisoner, reserved pleading. The evidence was taken of Matthew Adams, who first found the deceased. Dr. W. O. Stewart, Constable Greenway and the uncle of the deceased. The latter testified he found his nephew and Joe Veroni, the other injured man, quarrelling. He could not say what the trouble was. They were close together, and he got his nephew away and partly shoved him into another room in the house. Then Veroni said: "Come on out, you coward," and with that his nephew pulled his gun, and followed Veroni towards the front door of the house. The visitor thought Veroni fired first. Then his nephew fired at Veroni. There were several shots. Rocco, who was with Veroni, ran out of the side door of Joe Carrere's house and ran up the sidewalk, followed by the witness. Rocco began to fire as his nephew was running away, and fired several shots. The public was excluded from the morning session of the court because, the crown alleged, one witness was in fear of being shot should Italians be admitted. In the afternoon, however, the doors were open. Conservative candidates nominated yesterday, Mr. Lowe, has withdrawn, leaving Mr. Armstrong the only man in the field, the Opposition having failed to bring out a candidate. Mr. Armstrong gets the seat by acclamation.

APPLE SHIPMENTS BREAK ALL RECORDS

Thousands of Barrels of Fine Fruit Are Going to Europe.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—Arrivals of apples in Liverpool for the week ending Oct. 26 amounted to 67,222 barrels, according to Woodall & Co., of Liverpool, that made the total for the season up to date 183,311 barrels, against 144,841 a year ago at that time. The bulk arrived during the middle and end of the week, causing some little congestion, and all growths were well represented. The quality and condition generally were satisfactory. A cargo of Nova Scotians, mostly consisting of Kings, realized disappointing prices, which tends to show that in large quantities the Baldwin gets the preference, which is difficult to account for, a possible reason being that the former ripens too quickly. At today's sales the demand was quite active, but closing prices show a decline of fully one shilling on last week's sales. California boxes have met with a poor demand, which is accounted for in consequence of their unattractive quality, and do not command the high-class trade. It is quite to be expected that further arrivals will come up to the standard of requirements, when it is possible that a better range of prices will be maintained. Canadian—Kings, 17s 9d to 21s 6d; Snows, 17s to 19s 9d; Greenings, 13s 6d to 15s; Baldwins, 15s to 17s 6d; Ribston, 14s to 15s; Wealthy, 11s; Blenheim, 13s 9d to 15s 6d; Fallwater, 15s to 16s. Boston (firsts)—Baldwins, 12s to 16s 3d; Ben Davis, 12s 6d to 13s 6d; Kings, 15s to 17s.

ALPHA BROTHERHOOD WILL HOLD BANQUET

Over 250 Invitations Have Been Issued For a Complimentary Affair.

The Alpha Brotherhood of First Methodist Church will hold a complimentary banquet on Friday evening, at which representatives from all the societies of the churches in the city will be present. Over 250 invitations have been issued by the committee, and it is expected that the brotherhood will be able to commence their season's work with a large meeting. Among those that will respond to the toast is Mr. Robert Eaton, of Toronto, who is one of the workers in the men's movement in that city. The Ladies' Aid Society of the church will provide the menu, and an orchestra will be present during the evening.

A Page of Interesting News for Women

Mrs. Taft as a Woman Sees Her

BY IDA H. McGLONE GIBSON.

[Written for The Advertiser.]

The vacation home of the Taft family is very beautiful, I thought as I approached the doorway where I was ushered into the great living hall with its tapestry covered walls, its beautiful old furniture, its open fireplace in which a fire was burning. This hallway has about it a balcony from which a stairway comes down into the room. Through an open door I caught a glimpse of a music room all in white woodwork, before the mistress of the house entered.

Mrs. Taft shows the wear and tear of the last few years to a greater degree than her husband. She never had a "famous smile," however, so the tired lines which have made her appearance about her mouth may not be noticed by the casual acquaintance. But it is an open secret among her friends that the social strain of the White House regime has been too much for Mrs. Taft's physical strength.

She has not the poise of Mrs. Roosevelt, the sympathetic tolerance of Mrs. Wilson, nor that courage to silently bear that seems the abiding force of Mrs. Debs' character; therefore she does not take with equanimity the newspaper criticism that has been given her husband.

Mrs. Taft's soft white skin, which was her greatest beauty and which gave her a singularly youthful appearance when she entered the white house four years ago, has lost its translucent quality and there is a faint network of wrinkles about the gray-blue eyes which seem to have grown too weary to express the alertness of comprehension which was their greatest charm four years ago. She never talked much and she is now more silent than ever.

If you should say "Aren't the flowers glorious at Beverly this fall?" she would answer "Yes" with a slight—very slight—smile, and you would have to fish about in the recesses of your brain for another subject of conversation. Her silences, however, do not impress you as the silence of a dull mind, but those of a woman naturally reserved and physically weary. But through these very silences you come to know that she is an ambitious woman, who is not to be swayed from her purpose by physical ills. It was she that persuaded her husband to accept the presidency when he rather leaned toward the supreme bench. She has enjoyed being the first lady in the land and the ceremonious functions that she has provided at the White House have been perfect in appointments.

It is said that when Mrs. Taft was with her husband in the Philippines the natives adored her. "She learned their language the better to be able to understand their point of view, but I think, however," said a friend who was trying to describe her, "that her great hold on them was her quick understanding of all their forms and ceremonials of which the Filipinos have thousands and by which they are so great stores."

The wife of ex-President Taft is a great stickler for etiquette, and one of her friends tells a story that throws a light on her ideas about this. When her husband was a member of the cabinet a very wealthy woman came to the city. She was an acquaintance of Mrs. Taft and waited for her to call, not knowing that according to the official etiquette she should first call upon Mrs. Taft. When she found out her blunder she informally apologized and said that she depended upon the knowledge of her social secretary. Mrs. Taft, however, would not take that as an excuse because she believed that no woman in official circles should depend wholly on the word of a social secretary.

Mrs. Taft's social secretary has no questions of this kind to decide. She has to do the clerical work, but Mrs. Taft herself decides who shall come to her functions and who shall stay away.

The ex-President's wife likes elaborate functions, and is a devotee of bridge whist. Mrs. Taft is not generally given credit for her wit, among her other accomplishments, but at a dinner in Washington just before the family left for Beverly, she carried off the honors. The movement of all the guests toward her was so absorbed in boasting about the present. A countryman that he failed to catch the bored expression that spread over the faces of those around him. "Ze French," he drawled, "are ze politest people in ze world. Zat is acknowledged everywhere. You Americans are remarkable, but you cannot excel ze French in politeness. Surely you must admit zat." He continued his line of conversation for some time until Mrs. Taft took it upon herself to rescue her guests from boredom, so she said significantly, as she smiled sweetly: "Certainly, we admit it. Our politeness requires us to."

WHAT THE VICTORIAN ORDER ACCOMPLISHED IN LONDON

A SHORT SYNOPSIS OF THE WORK IN THIS CITY.

In London there is an organization which is doing much to alleviate the sufferings of the extremely poor and of those people of very moderate means. It is the Victorian Order of Nurses, established in this city in a small way, some five years ago, but which has grown to such an extent that the two nurses now employed are kept constantly busy. Mrs. Dooner is the energetic president of the board, and the work of the order is very near to her heart.

The Victorian Order of Nurses in Canada was founded by the Countess of Aberdeen, and as its name implies, is called after that great woman whom we love to think of as "Victoria the Good."

In London the work is carried on not only among those born Canadians, but help is extended equally to English, Irish, Scotch, Italians, Russians and Poles. In fact, to any person requiring nursing and medical attendance. Yet the Victorian Order should not be accused of pauperizing the people. Small sums, varying from 5 cents to 50 cents are charged per visit, according to the advice of the physician in attendance, yet, where it is absolutely impossible to pay, assistance is cheerfully given.

The Daughters of the Empire and a number of the local church organizations assist materially in the work of the Victorian Order by making garments for sick ones, raising funds and rendering relief in other ways.

The "Stranger's Friend." A new departure of the Order within the last year is the instituting of a "Stranger's Friend," whose office is to follow up the nurses in their work, and render not only material aid where necessary, but also to be by kindness and sympathy just what the name "Stranger's Friend" implies. Mrs. T. C. Duncan, an energetic member of the board is the volunteer for this difficult work, and in the past year has made numerous visits, in cases where milk is needed, Mrs. Duncan provides this from a special milk fund, contributed to by kind friends.

The two nurses, Misses Edwards and Johnston, are well equipped for their work both by training and experience, and they possess the essential qualities of a successful nurse, energy, willingness and devotion to duty. In many homes the Victorian nurse's mission is two-fold. She not only ministers to the needs of the body, but to the mind as well. She not only relieves pain, but tries to instruct in matters of diet, cleanliness and sanitation, thus teaching the most desirable of things, the art of self-help.

The Order an Asset. The fame of the Victorian Order of Nurses is world-wide. In Canada there are branches of the Order and hospitals scattered from coast to coast, and it is impossible to estimate the amount of good done among the poor in the different localities. When it is pointed out that for hospital is saved an expense of $1.50 per day, it is readily seen that the Victorian Order is an asset to any city, and a benefit to any community.

Like Abba Bon Adhem, the Victorian Order should be placed at the head of those who love their fellowmen, for surely love is never better expressed than by the help that soothes the sufferer's pillow, or the lips that speak the cheery word to those weary with life's burdens.

The Nomad Where "Tea Fuddles" Are in Vogue.

The "tea fuddle" is still in vogue in New South Wales and Queensland, writes a correspondent. The term has nothing in common with "fuddling" in the sense in which that word is used in England.

A "tea fuddle" in Australia is a means of raising money, usually at a bazaar in aid of a church or chapel. Those who enter their names as subscribers to the "fuddle" each subscribe a shilling. Their names are pasted onto tea-cups which are jumbled together on a table. Each subscriber, after being blindfolded, picks up a cup. Should he happen to pick up the one bearing his own name he gets a prize. As there are usually about 100 entries this very seldom happens and the money, of course, goes to the bazaar funds.—London Chronicle.

Some Apple Recipes

Apple Slump. Pare, core and quarter a dozen tart, juicy apples and place in a saucepan which has a close cover. Pour over them a pint of hot water and set on the back of the stove for 8 minutes. Then add 2 cups of molasses. Make a soft bubble of dough and roll out half an inch thick, so that it will make a cover for the apples. Place this paste-cover on the apples and put the lid on the saucepan tight. Cook without removing cover. Serve this with a sweet sauce. If preferred it can be first set in oven for a few minutes to brown.

Apple Pudding. Chop a cupful of suet to a coarse powder and stir into it 3 cupfuls of flour, twice sifted with a teaspoonful of baking powder. Add enough milk to make a dough that can be rolled out. Roll into a square sheet in the center of the sheet lay 3 cupfuls of peeled and minced apples, strewn with sugar. Bring the four corners of the sheet over the fruit, and pinch the corners together in the middle. Tie up firmly with a piece of broad white tape passed twice around the pudding. Lay in a steamer and cook for 2½ hours. Remove the tape and serve the pudding with a hard sauce flavored with lemon juice and powdered cinnamon.

Indian Pudding. Pare and core a dozen apples. Have ready a quart of milk heated. Add a quart of Indian meal, mixing and cooking carefully a few minutes. Add salt to taste, a cup each of molasses and chopped suet. Pour over the apples. Place in baking dish and bake 2 hours. Some people prefer to boil it. Then it should be securely fastened in pudding cloth and boiled for 3 hours.

Apple and Cress. Pare and cut into small pieces a medium sized apple. Pour over it a French dressing. Pick carefully the leaves from a bunch of cress. Arrange around the outside of the salad dish and heap the apples in the centre of the dish.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS—SAFEGUARDS

(By a Physician.) Should children come to school from homes where some one of the inmates has infantile paralysis?

Is the disease contagious or not? Do you think homes in which there is a case of this disease should be quarantined?

Such questions as these are frequently being asked and the purpose of this talk is to give some few suggestions regarding the disease itself and safeguards against its spread.

Well people as well as the sick ones can communicate the disease. For instance, there is greater danger that a milk wagon driver will spread infantile paralysis than that one will spread scarlet fever when a child has that disease, since scarlet fever is seldom spread by well people, while infantile paralysis frequently is.

Infantile paralysis is a disease of small cities, towns and country neighborhoods. It is worse where there are many horses and cows. First, to curb it, infantile paralysis should be made a quarantinable disease. The quarantine should be enforced and no one in contact with the sick person should be allowed out of the quarantine. Only the softest, most delicate color tones are allowable; pale pink, tender blues and the faintest lavenders are alone in good taste. Either these shades or all-white are seen in infants' layettes, and when either color is chosen it is adhered to in the entire outfit.

A pretty little saque of white cashmere embroidered with pink or blue makes a charming gift for an infant. Patterns for these small garments can be bought for a few cents, and after the material has been cut, the embroidery design is stamped around the edge and on the cuffs that finish each little sleeve.

A lining of soft Japanese silk should be cut with the cashmere and basted firmly around the edge, so that when the scallops that edge the saque are worked the lining will be caught in with the outside.

Before the embroidery is started the saque is joined at the under-arm and shoulder seams, which are finished with feather stitching to keep them flat. This done, the design on the saque is worked after it has been padded slightly with soft darning cotton. The sleeves are sewed in with the seam about an inch in front of the under-arm seam. Silk tape is used to bind the armholes.

A pretty vine design or one showing very small flowers is best to choose for these garments, and they should be worked in the satin stitch, using fine silk floss and a fine needle. The saque is fastened at the neck with a bow of inch-wide wash ribbon the color of the embroidery silk used.

A cape hood is another very useful garment for the young baby. This is made from square yard of white cashmere or flannel lined with china silk, either white or in a delicate shade of pink or blue. One corner of the square is rounded off, the lining basted firmly to the edge all around, then buttonholed in the center.

Give them a chance to make you proud of yourself. A little practice will do it. Watch yourself!

When you sit do you lean forward as though your waist were a joint? Do you "top down" in a soft sort of way when you are talking to a person you stop to speak to a person on the street or when you slip into a chair to rest?

Do you walk with your shoulders back and your head in its proper place, or do they droop miserably as if you had lost every vestige of energy and your last friend, too?

The muscles of the body are wonderfully pliable and seem almost anxious to follow your bidding. Give them a chance to make you proud of yourself. A little practice will do it. Watch yourself!

Do you have a shade of golden brown silk would make a very becoming dress for you. Trim it with cream lace and a touch of coral velvet.

At a Golden Wedding. Dear Miss Grey: Am a reader of your paper and take much delight in it. May I bother you with a number of queries? 1. What is the birthday sign or omen for the "loneliest girl"? You are both very young yet, and will probably discover that you are entirely unsuited to each other. So I would advise you to make the best of it. Continue to be friendly with him, but do not deny yourself any of the good times that are rightfully yours. Moping certainly will not help matters. Accept other men's attentions, and if your friend really desires you for his wife, he will not be long in letting you know.

Problems of the Fair Sex Solved by Cynthia Grey

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn as they are received. No letters can be answered privately.]

Cooking Split Peas.

Dear Miss Grey: Can you spare me a few minutes of your valuable time? Can you tell me how to cook split peas? I have tried five or six times and have soaked them in hot and cold water, and then cooked them for six and seven hours, but they always lose their color, and will not soften at all.

Thinking you.....OLIVE. A—I think you will like this way: Wash and soak one quart of peas in lukewarm water overnight. In the morning, drain, cover with fresh cold water; boil one hour; drain again and just cover with fresh boiling water, adding a quarter of a teaspoon of bi-carbonate of soda. Pound of ham, cut in pieces, a bay-leaf and a small onion. Boil all together until they mash easily under light pressure. Remove the ham and press the peas through a colander, removing the outer skins. Return them to the kettle add a little butter, milk, thickened slightly with flour, pepper and salt to taste, and let boil up once. Place the ham in the centre of a dish and pour the peas around.

Hints For Christmas Gifts. Dear Miss Grey: Would you please answer these questions for me if possible? 1. I have a pale green dress piped with black velvet. When washed the black ran. What will remove the stains? 2. What will whiten good handkerchiefs that have become dark when used for a while? 3. What will remove orange stain on handkerchiefs? 4. What will remove peach stains? 5. Would you suggest some dainty inexpensive Christmas presents for girl friends that I could make at home?

PANSY. A.—1. As the black is practically a dye, I fear that nothing will remove the stain. 2. Let the handkerchiefs lie for 5 minutes in a solution made of a teaspoonful of chloride of lime dissolved in a quart of water. Then wash and hang out in the sun to bleach. 3. and 4. The same treatment as above should remove the stains. 5. If you can crochet, why not make up several of the little crocheted bows which are so popular? Or, if you are skilful at embroidering, there are heaps of pretty things you can make. A linen pin-cushion top, little jabots, or a centerpiece would all make good gifts. One girl purchases plain hemstitched linen handkerchiefs and works an initial in one corner with a dainty wreath surrounding it. A cushion-top, a brooch, a small colored handkerchief, would be appreciated, and a guest towel or two, hemstitched by yourself, would doubtless be acceptable to a housewife. Little bags for fancy work, big bags for soiled clothing, fancy aprons and those of the more sensible type are also on the list of home-made gifts that find favor.

Moping Won't Help. Dear Miss Grey: I am a young girl of twenty-one. I have gone with a fellow for five years. He often spoke of when we would have a little home of our own. Now he has moved to the city and the last time I saw him he told me about his girls in the city. What shall I do? Shall I get new friends, or be true to him? 2. What do you think of my writing? 3. What style of a party dress will I get? I have brown hair, brown eyes, red cheeks, about five feet, four inches tall, rather plump in figure, although not stout.

Thanking you in advance, sincerely, COLLIER BROWN. A.—I am sorry for you. It surely must be disappointing to lose faith in a friend of so long standing. But there is one redeeming feature about him—he has told you about his city girl friends, and has not allowed you to go on believing your self to be "the loneliest girl." You are both very young yet, and will probably discover that you are entirely unsuited to each other. So I would advise you to make the best of it. Continue to be friendly with him, but do not deny yourself any of the good times that are rightfully yours. Moping certainly will not help matters. Accept other men's attentions, and if your friend really desires you for his wife, he will not be long in letting you know.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE FOR FOUR STATES

Michigan, Kansas, Oregon and Arizona Vote for Amendment. [Canadian Press.]

New York, Nov. 6.—Woman suffrage is likely to become part of the organic law of four more states as one result of the presidential election if present indications hold good when all the returns are in. Michigan, Kansas, Oregon and Arizona have voted favorably to such an amendment, though in Oregon the vote is in doubt. Wisconsin defeated it decisively.

Suffragists exerted themselves to have the question submitted to the voters in as many states as possible. Substantial majorities for the amendment were returned in Arizona and Kansas. In Michigan indications are that the measure will be adopted by a small majority.

CONNAUGHTS AT OPERA. Montreal, Nov. 6.—The first event of outstanding importance in the grand opera season, which opens here on Monday night, was the appearance last evening of the Canadian prima donna Mme. X. Edvina in the title role of Louise. The occasion was made more important by reason of the fact that their royal highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and the Princess Patricia came down from Ottawa to be present at the first appearance in Canada of Mme. Edvina, who scored a great triumph.

CRITICIZES NEW STYLES. Woman Horrified at Fashion After Years of Blindness. After four years of blindness, Mrs. W. X. Edvina, a society woman of Columbus, Ohio, regained her sight the other day, and got her first glimpse of the latest fashions. The hobble skirt, the sheath gown, and other freakish styles, have all been created since Mrs. Edvina became blind, and were severely criticized by her. When she took her first walk upon the street she remarked after gazing around, "What awful frights women are making of themselves in the new styles."

HOW TO BECOME A NEURASTHENIC According to a recent issue of the "Critic and Guide," here's how. Eat no breakfast. Indulge in but one meal daily; at any rate not more than two. Eat no meat. Eat freak cereals, vegetables, nuts and fruit. Masturbate every month 268 times—267 times won't do. Take a cold bath every morning.

Are you one of those to whom every meal is another source of suffering?

Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets will help your disordered stomach to digest any reasonable meals, and will soon restore it to such perfect condition that you'll never feel that you have a stomach. Take one after each meal. 50c. a Box at your Druggist's. Made by the National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited.

THE BLESSING OF MOTHERHOOD

Healthy Mothers and Children Make Happy Homes

Motherhood is woman's highest sphere in life. It is the fruition of her dearest hopes and greatest desires; yet thousands of noble women through some derangement have been denied this blessing.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong. This is evidenced by the following letters which are genuine and truthful:

London, Ont.—"I wish to thank you for the benefit I received by taking your famous medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before my baby was born I was so ill I could not stand long or walk any distance. I had to lie down nearly all the time. After I took your medicine I felt like a new woman. I could work from morning till night and was happy and well. I certainly think it relieves pain at childbirth and recommend it to every woman who is pregnant. You may use this testimonial if you like. It may help some other woman."—Mrs. FRANK CORBIN, 182 Adelaide St., London, Ont.

Brooklyn, N.Y.—"I was ailing all the time and did not know what the matter was. I wanted a baby but my health would not permit it. I was nervous, my side ached and I was all run down. I heard that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was good and took the medicine. I have now a beautiful baby and your Compound has helped me in every way."—Mrs. J. J. STEWART, 299 Humboldt St., Brooklyn, N.Y.

WILSON WILL HAVE 290 IN THE NEXT CONGRESS

Latest Returns From United States Elections Increase the Lead of Woodrow Wilson—The Standing By States.

New York, Nov. 6.—The revised returns received today brought little change in those compiled for the House of Representatives on election night. A few gains by the Bull Moose candidates in the districts where the vote was close and a small number of changes in favor of Republicans brought the Democratic total down a little, but the Democratic majority remains overwhelming.

The returns show that the next House will have 290 Democrats, 129 Republicans and 16 Bull Moose. This gives the Democrats an impressive plurality of 161 over the Republicans in the House and a clear majority of 145 over the combined Republican and Bull Moose strength.

The Democratic margin over the Republicans in the present House is only 71.

The Democratic gains were general in the country over, but were greater, of course, in states where the Bull Moose were running on the Congress ticket. As indicated in the figures on election night many old-time Republicans went down in the landslide. It looked most of the day as if Uncle Joe Cannon was to be numbered among the fallen. Late tonight, though, the old Republican warrior contended that he carried his district, the 18th, of Illinois, by about 100 plurality.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—Will President Woodrow Wilson put the emergency brakes on the speedy high cost living problem in the United States by an early application of free trade for products of Canada? That is the question which is being asked in some quarters. It is the opinion of prominent fiscal experts attached to Government departments that he will, and this feeling is backed up by the fact that the strongly Democratic Congress will be overwhelmingly free trade. During the campaign Mr. Wilson and his supporters have avoided discussing Canadian reciprocity, fearing antagonizing the United States farmers. It is known here, however, that many leading Democrats in the new Government will consider it no humiliation to the United States to take the duties off Canadian products if it will tend to lessen the cost of living.

BRYAN CERTAIN TO BE NAMED FOR WILSON'S CABINET

Rumor Already Busy With the Names of Those Likely to Run New Administration.

CHAMP CLARK TO STAY IN CONGRESS

Can Give Better Service There in Expected Battle Over the Tariff.

[Canadian Press.]
Washington, Nov. 7.—Cabinet-makers are already busy conjuring with names of those who will share the duties of the new administration. The policy of the next administration.

Necessarily this is purely gossip, but the cabinet-builders are none the less active in pointing out the persons and the elements available as cabinet material.

One of the available elements embraces those who were conspicuous party figures at the Baltimore convention, including Speaker Clark, Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee, Governor Foss of Massachusetts, Governor Harmon of Ohio, and some others.

It is generally assumed, however, that Speaker Clark and Chairman Underwood would prefer to continue their work in Congress, especially now that the legislative program on the tariff and other questions is likely to meet with fewer obstacles. As to Mr. Bryan, one of the Democratic senators is quoted during the campaign as definitely assigning Mr. Bryan to a cabinet place in case of Wilson's election, although the latter stated about the same time that no consideration had been given to the personnel of the cabinet. None the less speculation is active as to whether the Nebraska will have a portfolio.

Cabinet Timber.
Another element from which cabinet material is being suggested embraces those who have been prominently identified with the Wilson campaign, notably Chairman McComb of the Democratic national committee, Representative Burleson of Texas, Representative Palmer of Pennsylvania, Assistant Chairman McAdoo, and a number of others who bore the brunt of the conflict at Baltimore and during the campaign.

Still another available element is made up of prominent party figures in the various states, who were not conspicuously identified with the recent national convention and campaign, while another includes some of the veterans of the last Democratic administration.

Outside of these elements from which cabinets are constructed, many foresee the entry of a considerable new element in public affairs, made up of men like Mr. Wilson, who have been identified with collegiate, educational and the economic study of public questions. This opens a wide field of available material.

All of this activity of the cabinet-

RESERVES DECISION IN RAILWAY CASE

Berlin Wants to Impose a Tax on Its Street Car Line.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Berlin, Nov. 7.—Chancellor Sir John Balfour, presiding in the navy high court sittings yesterday, reserved judgment on the point of law raised by City Solicitor H. J. Sims in the action brought by Waterloo against Berlin to determine whether Berlin can tax its street railway and whether such taxes are not a portion of the profits of which Waterloo should receive one-fourth, according to an order made by the railway board.

The contention of the defendant was that the railway board had the exclusive jurisdiction to determine such matters. The claim of the plaintiff was that Berlin could not tax the railway, it owned, and that this was a point of law outside of which the railway board had jurisdiction.

The remaining case on the docket, a medical lien action brought by L. Soltzman and others against the Berlin Robe and Clothing Company, was referred to Judge Barron, of Stratford.

FRISKY CALF CAUSED PAINFUL INJURY

Hurled W. P. Forshee, of Florence, Against a Sharp Spike.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Florence, Nov. 7.—Mr. W. P. Forshee was very painfully injured at his home yesterday in a peculiar manner. He was feeding a calf, when the animal became frightened and bunted him against a sharp spike, which struck him in the eye and tore the ball badly. It is not thought that the sight is injured.

PETROLEA TO VOTE ON LOCAL OPTION

Money Loan Bylaw Will Also Go to the Electors.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Petrolia, Nov. 6.—At the regular meeting of the council a largely signed local option petition was presented, and the council decided to prepare a bylaw for submission in January. The local temperance people are waging a very vigorous campaign and expect to win. A request was presented to the council, asking it to aid the Motor Car Company by loaning which will enable the firm to greatly increase its plant. A bylaw will be submitted.

NEVER RECOVERED

Mrs. Thomas Morkin, of Biddulph, Underwent an Operation Recently.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Lucan, Nov. 6.—Mrs. Thos. Morkin, of the Roman line, Biddulph, was buried yesterday at St. Patrick's Church. Mrs. Morkin, who had been ill for some two months, underwent an operation some time ago in St. Joseph's Hospital. She is survived by her husband, Mr. Thomas Morkin, and five sons—James, of Winnipeg; William, of the Swamp line, Biddulph; John, of Mount Carmel; Hubert and Thomas, of the Roman line, and four daughters, Mrs. Nagle, of St. Mary's; Mrs. Joseph Kelly, of the Proof Line road, and Bridget and Lena, at home.

DIED AT SEAFORTH

Mrs. Gabriel Reeves Never Rallied From Heart Trouble.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Seaforth, Nov. 6.—The funeral of Mrs. Gabriel Reeves was held this afternoon from the family residence to Matilda's Cemetery. She died on Monday after a short illness with heart trouble.

She had been ill with bronchitis some time ago, but had recovered and been in very fair health until Sunday morning, when she suffered an attack of heart trouble, followed in the evening by a similar attack. She rallied and felt much better until early Monday morning, when a violent attack caused her death.

She was in her 58th year, was a daughter of the late Abram Worth, and leaves a husband and grown-up family of sons, Thomas, of Stratford, and Fred, George and Manson, of Seaforth.

HAD A CLOSE CALL

Hurled From Wagon and Just Missed Street Hydrant.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Seaforth, Nov. 7.—Mr. Frank Sills was in a narrow escape from being killed. When he was taking a furnace and other hardware from the freight shed to the store the rig was struck and overturned by a runaway team belonging to Mr. Calder, of McKillop Township.

The furnace was strewn over the street, and Mr. Sills pitched headlong to the pavement, just grazing a water hydrant. He was considerably bruised and had his knee wrenched, but was able to resume his work shortly afterwards. The runaway was caused by the tongue breaking and allowing the wagon to run up on the horses.

YOUTHS WERE FINED.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Lucan, Nov. 7.—The funeral of John McIlhargey, of the town line between London Township and Biddulph, which took place to St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, was one of the largest ever seen in this district.

High mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Arnold, who also preached a very impressive sermon.

Mr. McIlhargey is survived by his wife, eight sons—Archie, of the sixteenth, of London Township; Andrew, of Stratford; Charles and Daniel, of Lucan; Harvey, of London; Arthur, Austin and Frederick, at home and two daughters, Mrs. Wm. Carrigan, and Lizzie, at home. Mr. McIlhargey's wife is a sister of Mrs. Flynn, 21 Picton street, London.

TALK ON DAIRYING

T. B. Whale Gave a Practical Address at Yarmouth.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
St. Thomas, Nov. 7.—T. B. Whale, of London, gave a fine paper on "Dairying" at the meeting of the Forth and Rosedale in North Yarmouth Tuesday evening.

There were three very important things to consider, said Mr. Whale: Breeding, Weeding and Feeding, and then proper attention to details such as keeping records. A careful attention to weighing the milk night and morning took but very little time and paid well because a poor cow could be detected in that way and be disposed of, making room for one that would pay its way.

The program included readings by George Curtis and solos by W. Rawson, who was ably assisted by Miss Bradish, of Gleanworth.

How to Make Better Cough Syrup than You Can Buy

A Family Supply, Saving $2 and Fully Guaranteed.

Sixteen ounces of cough syrup—as much as you could buy for $2.50—can easily be made at home. You will find nothing that takes hold of an obstinate cough more quickly, usually ending it inside of 24 hours. Excellent, too, for croup, whooping cough, sore lungs, asthma, hoarseness and other throat troubles.

Mix two cups of granulated sugar with one cup of warm water, and stir for two minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (city-cent) in a glass and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe is now used by thousands of housewives throughout the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, but the successful formula has never been equalled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

WHEN A LAXATIVE IS NEEDED—"CASCAETS"

Gently Clean Your Liver and Constipated Bowels While You Sleep.

Take a Cascaret tonight and thoroughly cleanse your Liver, Stomach and Bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. All men and women who have headache, coated tongue, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salt, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

SURRENDER OF SALONIKI A MATTER OF HOURS

Balkan Allies Closing In For Assault on City—Adrianople Still Holding Out, But Turk Line Is Pushed Back to Last Point.

London, Nov. 6.—Reports received here show that the situation for the Turkish garrison at Salonika is most desperate. The army itself is slowly disintegrating, and it is fear of punishment for desertion that holds the rest of it together. Some of the officers, in order to flee without detection, are disguising themselves as old women, and are hobnobbing out of the city with their faces hidden by veils. The army authorities have tried to check the wholesale desertions, without effect, and have shot four officers and twenty men whom they caught.

TROOPS IN RAGS.

The troops are in rags, and are selling even their arms to obtain bread. Mutineers seized two guns and threatened to fire on the loyal troops unless the town surrendered. They were overpowered. The Greek army operating in the vicinity of Salonika has almost accomplished its object as the investment of the fortress is nearly complete. Negotiations for the surrender of Salonika were opened on Friday last between the foreign consuls and the military authorities, but the Turkish commander demanded that his troops be allowed to march out with their arms and with all the honors of war, so that negotiations fell through. The civil governor is said to have committed suicide.

CLOSE TO SALONIKA.

The Greek troops today began the passage of the Vardar River, only a few miles from Salonika. The crown prince telegraphs from headquarters that the Turks are retreating towards Salonika, after destroying the bridges over the Vardar. Large quantities of war material abandoned by the Turks have been found between Yenidje and the river.

An Athens dispatch states that the Greek crown prince has telegraphed for disinfectants for the Turkish barracks in Salonika, indicating that the fall of the city is at hand.

SCUTARI NEXT.

With Salonika almost gone, Scutari, to the west; Veles, in the centre, and Yanina, far to the south, are the only towns left the Turks. Scutari is being hard pressed, but the commander of the garrison defending it refuses to believe the news of the Bulgarian victories in the east, and has announced his intention of fighting to the last gasp.

Adrianople Still Holding Out.

In the east, Adrianople is still standing out, but, with that exception, the Bulgarians have forced the Turks back to the last line of resistance. There is much criticism of the Turkish military department, which is blamed for the terrible defeats of the past three weeks, the soldiers being too weak from hunger to fight with effect. This department is now hurrying bread across the peninsula, in an effort to put an end to the panic of the soldiers. Bulgaria is giving the broken Turkish army no time to recuperate. In accordance with the tactics adopted throughout the war the Bulgarians are following up the defeated Turks with extraordinary energy. Flying columns are pushing along the sea coast towards the Thracian line, and it is believed that the main attack will be delivered today or Friday.

Hope Lost.

Constantinople appears to have lost hope of stemming the Turkish advance, even at Thracian, and the Turkish court is ready to cross into Asia. Apparently, however, the Bulgarian Government has no aspirations on Constantinople itself, and would be ready to conclude peace, provided Turkey will agree to surrender Adrianople and some other positions in the western theatre of war and give a guarantee to bring no more reinforcements from Asia.

The Porte shows no disposition as yet to treat for peace direct with the allies, and still the big Thracian battle has been fought, the diplomatic situation is not likely to be changed. Warn the Kurds. Constantinople, Nov. 6.—The military government of Constantinople today notified the leaders of the Kurds that if their followers were in any way concerned in starting violence in the capital, they themselves will be held responsible. This word was sent to a meeting of the Kurds held at St. Sophia, at which the war was the theme of discussion. It was suggested that the Kurds form a regiment of volunteers and send it to the front.

LATER.

London, Nov. 7.—The Turkish garrison has been withdrawn from Saloniki, after destroying a number of bridges forming the approaches to the city, according to a news agency dispatch from Athens.

He exhibited cured patients and declared that he had treated 682 cases by his method with invariable improvement and almost invariably complete cures. Prominent physicians testified to successes by this method in their own practice.

FEDERATION OF LABOUR MAY ENTER POLITICS

The Question To Be Discussed During Annual Conference at Rochester.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 7.—The first of the two weeks' sessions of the American Federation of Labor and its five departments opened today at 10 o'clock, with meetings of the metal trades and union labor departments. Each of the department gatherings is presided over by one of the workers representing the thousands of workers in the United States and Canada, and will pass upon matters to be laid before the convention when it convenes on Monday.

The meeting of the metal trades department was opened by an address by President James O'Connell, of Washington. John Tobin, of Boston, the president of the union labor department, opened that meeting. One of the questions that will be discussed in each of the departments is whether it would be advisable for the workers to organize a political party, which will embody their desire for legislation. The American Federation of Labor has never taken part in a political campaign and has a rule forbidding political discussions at its meetings.

LAMBTON HIGHWAYS WILL BE IMPROVED

Keen Interest Taken in New Association Formed at Petrolia.

Petrolia, Nov. 6.—There was a largely attended meeting here today to formulate plans for the improvement of roads throughout the County of Lambton, every municipality being represented. The organization was formed, to be known as the Lambton Good Roads Association, and the following officers were elected: President, Dr. C. O. Fairbank; vice-president, Dr. A. V. Arvill; secretary, A. B. Roca. The executive committee will consist of the representatives of all the municipalities of the county. A grant will be asked from the province to cover the expenses. The meeting was addressed by Mr. McLean, of Toronto, the provincial good roads engineer. Mr. McLean showed the immense advantages which resulted to everyone if a system of good roads was maintained. It would, he declared, mean the saving to the farmers of this county of many thousands of dollars annually, as well as a big increase in the value of farm lands if good roads were built everywhere. Since, he declared, has constructed over 300 miles of good roads, and many counties in Ontario are going in for improvements. He urged that all road construction be done in the right way, as it was not only to do poor road work, but time and money. Reeve Darvel, of Brooke, thought the county grant plan of doing road improvement work was unsatisfactory, and favored a policy by which the Government would make a grant to each municipality.

An open discussion of questions of interest in road building was held, and Engineer McLean's suggestions and information proved of the greatest value. At the conclusion of the meeting a very hearty vote of thanks.

LIGHTS "WENT OUT" TO TAKE A WALK

"Bert" Hayes and "Tom" Pinch Had a Talk, and Dug Up Matches.

CANDLES LAID A WAY

For Use Upon Some Dreary Day Were Used as Lunch By Little Mice—'Twasn't Nice.

Fifteen, intermittent flashes served the men of dots and dashes, directing speedily Grand Trunk trains through Wednesday's torrential rains, for lack of power unsuspected, doused the gills and resurrected smoky lamps and candleabra.

Bert Hayes' men were stamping "ducats," as water fell in 12-quart buckets, pedestrians rushed to and fro, scarcely knowing where to go, while some well soused the shelter sought, though roofs like those small comfort brought, on such a juicy day.

Express had just gone through, their customers were rather few, but ticket men can 'live' times by fingering the filthy dimes. Suddenly illumination was cut off from the ancient station, and darkness' gloom prevailed. Dispatchers searching through the store, found railway lamps, but needed more, to read the darkness of the night and help to make their labors light. The great American elections could cast as many strong reflections, as this all gleam.

Tom Pinch, who hands out reading "dope," expanded, filled with joyous hope; for in his memory clear and bright, he saw a way to bring the light. "I'll build my own white way," he said, "and make those clusters, hydro, and look poor and mean." Lighting patent burnless matches, after many futile scratches, Tom beneath his counters bent, and then a roar to heaven sent. Four candles he had bought before, but now those candles were no more, some rodents, feeling stomachs cracking, had filled the gaps with waxy packing—an awful blow.

The ticket men continued counting piles of bills that kept on mounting; but while they had the coin to spare they used a rather shrewdly secured by rubbing sulphur sticks upon the rough time-honored bricks, laid centuries ago.

At times, some patriots bethought the trouble dire with glees was fraught; for in less careful hands has often started burning brands, and London's claims for a depot fine might thus be ushered into line, and rendered a necessity. With inflamed eyes, though flameless lights, the clerks cursed loud with all attaches to assist in sending rush dispatches. At last some sleuthing line-man found, the trouble simply was "a ground," and joy again was thronged.

SENDS WIFE AND BABE INTO LONELY EXILE

To Winter in Manitoba Wilds in Order to Retain Homestead Rights.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 7.—Wednesday afternoon a woman named Saunders, with her 2-year-old babe, left for a homestead situated 60 miles north of this city and three miles from the nearest neighbor to spend the winter alone, while her husband, a Turpinite, Winnipeg. The immigration officials did their best to dissuade the woman from the undertaking, but their efforts proved fruitless. The husband is most anxious to put in the necessary time to this is by having his wife spend the winter there in lonely exile. The nearest neighbor to spend the winter alone, mostly Galicians. It has been pointed out to the man that he is taking a great risk in sending his wife with a small child to such a spot at this season of the year. The woman came to Canada last spring, and is entirely ignorant of the rigors of the Manitoba winter.

IRISH MEMBERS FOR WESTMINSTER

London, Nov. 6.—Only one amendment to clause 13 of the home rule bill, which provides that Ireland shall be represented at Westminster after the measure becomes law, by 42 members, was discussed in the House of Commons today. The amendment, which was proposed by Mr. O'Donnell, was defeated by a majority of 115. The amendment provided that the members should be elected by the people of Ireland, and not by the landlords and the British Government.

WILSON PLANS REFORMS FOR N.J.

Will Be Active in Legislative Work Until He Goes to Washington.

BACKED BY THE HOUSE

Program in State May Give Clue to His Policies With the Nation.

[Canadian Press.] Princeton, N. J., Nov. 7.—Just because Woodrow Wilson is the President-elect of the United States, he does not, he asserts, intend to retire from the fight he has waged for two years for a program of progressive legislation in New Jersey. Mr. Wilson said today that he would "stay on the job" at Trenton until he had carried out his reforms, but with a Democratic Legislature behind him this is likely to be a smooth process when the Legislature convenes on Jan. 1.

Though campaigning vigorously for the presidency, Governor Wilson concentrated earnest appeals in New Jersey. Nothing gives him more satisfaction than the fact that not only is New Jersey to be represented by two Democrats in the United States Senate, but for the first time in his administration as governor, both Houses of the State Legislature will be Democratic. A year ago he stumped the state to obtain a Democratic Legislature, but was beaten.

Reform Program. The President-elect admitted today that the program of reform he had in mind for the state would be advanced by the fact that as the future executive of the country, nation-wide attention probably would be attracted by his policy in the New Jersey Legislature. "Whatever we do in New Jersey," he said, "will have the force of the whole country behind it."

The governor has announced his program for the next session of the Legislature, which meets on Jan. 1, but it is likely that within a short time, as soon as he takes a brief vacation, he will call a conference of state leaders and a legislative program will be mapped out. The Democratic state platform recommends a constitutional convention.

CRASHED INTO CABOOSE

One Man Killed and Another Missing in Wreck at Brandon.

[Canadian Press.] Brandon, Man., Nov. 7.—The crash of eastbound freight train into a caboose and cattle truck in the C. P. R. yards here last evening, resulted in the death of one man, and it is feared that another, whose body has not yet been discovered, is still in the debris. The collision was followed by fire, which destroyed a cattle car filled with valuable live stock. A body was found, charred and disfigured as to make identification impossible, but it is believed that two men, the owner of the cattle and a brakeman were in the caboose when the collision occurred. The caboose, with the cattle car attached, was standing on the tracks, when the engine of the freight train crashed into them, telescoping the caboose and causing the cattle truck to rise on top of the engine, knocking the stack off.

When Governor Wilson resigns, in accordance with the state constitution, the president-elect of the state will become governor until the next regular election, which is due next fall. James H. Fielder, senator from Hudson County, and Democratic minority leader of the Upper House, it is said, will be elevated to the presidency of the body and therefore may be Governor Wilson's successor.

The President-elect, however, will not take hold of New Jersey affairs until after his vacation. This he expects to spend on the Bermuda Islands, leaving here on the morning of Nov. 16.

GRIEVES—Ayr.
The marriage of Miss Cora Ayr and Mr. James Grievies, a London Junction couple, took place in Ingersoll last week. The couple were unattended.

At 7:30 o'clock on Wednesday evening a quiet wedding took place at the Memorial Methodist Church parsonage, Richmond street north, when Miss Ethel May Chiverton became the bride of Mr. Gordon L. Player. Rev. S. A. Anderson performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate friends of the contracting parties. The young couple were unattended. Mr. and Mrs. Player will reside at 31 Empress avenue.

Baptist Ministers Meet.
The London Baptist Ministers' Association held their regular monthly meeting in the Talbot Street Baptist Church. In addition to the members of the local clergy, Rev. Thomas Meldrum, of Alisa Craig, and Rev. John Elder, of Poplar Hill, were present. After the business of the meeting was concluded, the company adjourned to Smallman & Ingram's lunch rooms, where a farewell luncheon was given in honor of Rev. C. M. Carew, of Maitland Street Baptist Church, who leaves in the near future for Toronto to accept another charge. Mr. Carew was presented with a splendid lot of books, as a token of esteem from the association.

RIOT PLANT BURNED.
Beaumont, Texas, Nov. 7. — The plant of the Galloway Lumber Company at Grabow, La., the scene of labor riots last July, was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin last night. There was an almost simultaneous outbreak of flames in every part of the plant, shortly after the mill closed for the day. The loss is estimated at $100,000. Since the riots the mill has changed ownership. The murder trial growing out of the riots recently resulted in a verdict of acquittal.

RADIAL ROADS IN WESTERN ONTARIO

Municipal Electric Association Will Meet to Consider Them.
Chairman Philip Pocock of the water commission will be a delegate to the meeting of the representatives of the Municipal Electric Association to be held in Toronto on Nov. 14. It is possible that Mayor Graham will also attend.
The scheme of the association for radial systems throughout the province is somewhat nebulous as yet, although the men behind the deal are working quietly to perfect the details.
Among the projects mentioned are lines from London to St. Marys, and from St. Thomas to Windsor.
Other roads, such as a line to Sarnia direct from this city, another to Grand Bend and on to Goderich, still another to Brussels and that county to Owen Sound are projected, but nothing definite about them has been decided.
It is the intention to ask the municipalities through which these lines run to furnish a right-of-way.

W. F. M. S. MEETING
Members of Lobo Branch Gave Mrs. D. W. Campbell Life Certificate.

The 25th anniversary of the Auxiliary of the W. F. M. S. of the Melville Presbyterian Church, Lobo, was a great success. Rev. J. Argo, president, and after a solo rendered very acceptably by Miss Cora Lindsay, Mrs. (Dr.) McCrae, of Westminster, gave a very interesting address on the work which the W. F. M. S. is doing, not only for the mission field of Canada, but for foreign fields as well. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. McCrae. The vice-president, Mrs. D. W. Campbell was called forward, and while Miss L. McLean read an address, Miss M. C. Campbell presented her with a life membership certificate in recognition of her faithful service in the past years in the society at Lobo. Mrs. Campbell replied in a suitable manner, thanking the Auxiliary for their kindness.

AN ARTIST'S STRUGGLE
Mr. Bell-Smith's Address in St. Andrew's Hall Last Evening.

It was an account of the early struggles and delayed successes of a youthful artist, mingled with delightful reminiscences and amusing incidents, that Mr. F. Bell-Smith favored the members of the London Art Association with in his lecture at St. Andrew's Hall last evening. His story is related with a modesty that becomes the speaker very well, and perhaps not one of his hearers failed to be moved as he told of his boyhood spent in a factory in London, England, and of how his chance to become an artist came through a doctor who attended him during a prolonged illness.
After coming to Canada, when quite a young man, Mr. Bell-Smith met with a series of discouragements as an artist, and for 12 years was obliged to take up the work of re-touching for a photographer in Montreal. "Those 12 years of drudgery as a photographer's assistant I shall never forget," said Mr. Bell-Smith. "They make a sort of gap which seems apart from the rest of my life."
With the establishing of the Royal Canadian Academy during the regime of the Marquis of Lorne in Canada, Mr. Bell-Smith determined to devote himself to painting, although he also taught for a time in St. Thomas and London.
The artist spoke of the years which he spent in this city as being among the happiest of his life. His well-known picture, "The Return from School," portrays the faces of many children then attending the Colborne street school, who used to sit for Mr. Bell-Smith during noon hour.
Among Mr. Bell-Smith's achievements is the painting of Queen Victoria's portrait with the special sanction of the royal lady, and he has also traveled widely on this continent and in Europe. The artist urged those art students before him to throw individuality into their work, and to endeavor to make their painting tell a story. In this connection he also discussed the work of such famous painters as Landseer, Alma Tadema, Poussin, John Sargent, and others.

"I have had a long experience in treating horses, and I can safely say that I know of no liniment for strains, sprains, and swelling that is so useful around the stable as Nerviline." Thus writes Mr. J. E. Murchison, from his home, Crofts Hill P. O. "I had a fine young mare that wrenched her right foreleg, and from the shoulder down she was stiff, sore, and swollen. I applied Nerviline, and it worked like a charm; in fact, that mare was in shape to work a day after I used Nerviline."
"We have used Nerviline on our farm for twenty-five years, and never found it wanting. For man or beast it is a wonder of a liniment."
Five thousand letters recommend Nerviline as a general household liniment, as an all-round cure for aches and pains. Try it yourself.

THE T. AND L. COUNCIL INDORSE THE STRIKE
Decide to Give Their "Moral Support to the Grand Opera Stage Workers."

The members of the Trades and Labor Council, having heard the strikers' version of the Grand Opera House trouble outlined to them by Fourth Vice-President O'Donnell, of the International Stageworkers' Union, last evening, decided to give their "moral support" to the stagehands' union.
Vice-President O'Donnell, who arrived in London Wednesday morning, and will probably remain here for a few days. The labor men also discussed vigorously the action of a local physician, who, they claim, refused to give his services to Mrs. A. Davis, of Eleanor street, whose death occurred before another medical man could be secured. The secretary was instructed on a vote of the council to communicate with the Attorney-General's department requesting that the matter be taken up officially. The members condemned the action of the physician in question.

A COLORED PLAYWRIGHT
Professor McGirt Appeared in a Local Church and Was Well Received.

Professor J. E. McGirt, a noted colored playwright and dramatic reader from Philadelphia, appeared last evening in the Bethanuel Church on Grey street before a large number of members of the congregation and their friends.
Professor McGirt rendered a number of poems and writings of his own composition, complete with descriptive detail, and marked with the typical native dialect and pathos. All the numbers were well received by his audience, but particularly was this true of the recital of the drama, entitled "Stronger Than Death," which involved four characters, a pair of sweethearts, a devil and an angel. It was the old story of love over again, but the interpretation of the piece was given in a new light.
A graduate of Bennett College, Georgia, Professor McGirt is a well-known writer of several books and poems. The congregation were so well pleased with Wednesday evening's recital that they have asked the professor to remain for another evening.

BUSINESS INCREASES

G. T. R. Handles Over 200 More Cars in October Than in Same Month of a Year Ago.

An indication of the growth of business in London is told by the substantial increase of freight cars handled by the Grand Trunk during the month of October last, in comparison with the number of cars used by the company for the same month in 1911. There is an increase of 1,481 loaded cars handled by the local crews for October, 1912, over the same period of time last year. The decrease in empty cars for the same time is 130.
The following tabulated figures speak for themselves:

	1911.	1912.
Number of loaded cars received	8,299	9,067
Number of empty cars received	3,355	2,498
Number of empty cars sent out	7,793	3,350
Number of loaded cars sent out	3,721	4,834
Totals	23,168	23,349

"It's difficult for a man to be a candidate and a political boss at the same time." "No," replied Senator Sorghum; "the methods are different. The candidate is supposed to get votes by shaking hands with people, and the boss is supposed to get them by shaking his fist at them."—Washington Star.
