McFADDEN AND HOTRUM EXPIATE CRIME ON GALLOWS

MINISTER OF JUSTICE HOPES DUAL EXECUTION WILL PROVE A LESSON

Hon. C. J. Doherty Points Out That Both McFadden and Hotrum Were Equally Guilty of Murder—Declares That Criminals Implicated in Robberies That End in Murder Cannot Look For Clemency—Considers the Exercise of Leniency in Such Cases As Breach of Sacred Trust Held by Government for Protection of Lives of Citizens.

Ottawa, Aug. 3.—By Canadian Press.—Right Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice, this morning issued a statement emphasizing the fact that a government must exercise every care to protect the lives of the people. The statement is an outcome of queries which have been received in regard to the Hotrum-McFadden murder case in Toronto, for which the two men, Roy Hotrum and William McFadden, this morning paid the death penalty. The minister of justice makes it clear that the question of the guilt of each of these men does not depend on which of them fired the shot which killed Leonard Cecil Sabine. He quotes the law governing the case, and then goes on to state that criminals who have become increasingly audacious with modern facilities, must be checked. The statement is as follows:

"There apparently exists in the public mind in regard to this case a widespread impression that the guilt of each of these men of the crime of murder depended upon whether or not he had fired the fatal shot. This impression, it is to be pointed out, is entirely erroneous. The provision of the law governing the case reads as follows:

How Law Reads.

"'If several persons form a common intention to prosecute any unlawful purpose and to assist each other therein, each of them is a party to every offence committed by any one of them in the prosecution of such common purpose, the commission of which offence was, or ought to have been known to be a probable consequence of the prosecution of such common purpose.'

"To recommend the exercise of clemency in cases where persons have brought themselves within the terms of this statutory disposition in the face of existing conditions would be a breach of one of the most sacred trusts a Government holds, that is, the protection of the lives of the people.

"Modern methods and means of transportation have supplied the criminal with greater facilities; robberies are carefully planned by gangs and carried out with surprising audacity and an absolute disregard for human life. Everything possible should be done to check this, and criminals should have unmistakably brought home to them that when they engage in such expeditions, culminating in murder, each and every one, whether he fired the fatal shot or not, is liable to be found guilty of murder and executed. Such criminals should further be made fully aware that they are not to delude themselves with the idea that they are proper subjects for the exercise of the crown clemency. It is hoped that today's double execution may be a striking and salutary lesson to the criminal world and serve to make it thoroughly understood that the participant in holdups where arms are used cannot shield himself from the extreme penalty when murder ensues by the mere claim that he did not personally fire the shot that killed."

NO CONFESSION IS MADE BY EITHER HOTRUM OR M'FADDEN

Executions Are Carried Out in Toronto Jailyard This Morning.

BOTH CLUNG TO STORIES

Hamilton Youth, Contrary to Expectations, Made No Admissions.

Toronto, Aug. 3.—Roy Hotrum and William McFadden were hanged at the jail at one minute to 9 o'clock this morning (Toronto time), for the shooting of Leonard C. Sabine in March last. No statement nor confession, and, in fact, no word was spoken by either man before the hanging. They each walked to their death with the utmost coolness, while Hotrum appeared to smile before he left the death cell. They partook of breakfast at 7 o'clock, consisting of fried eggs, tea, toast, bread and butter. They slept well during the night and were awake early. Chaplain Brydges arrived at 7 o'clock and was present while they ate breakfast. Executioner Arthur Ellis carried out the dual hanging in less than four minutes.

At five minutes to 9 o'clock Executioner Ellis informed the governor, Major C. Hedley Basher, just outside the governor's office, that the execution should commence. Sheriff Mowat was in the governor's office.

Governor Basher, followed by Executioner Ellis, guards, representatives of the Toronto police force, Chaplain Rev. Mr. Brydges and officers from the sheriff's office, walked from the main corridor up the first flight of stairs in the east wing. The jail was quiet, all the prisoners having been confined to their cells.

McFadden Remains Silent.

Hotrum and McFadden had been confined in cells directly at the top of the first flight of stairs. McFadden in the cell around to the right of the top of the stairs, and Hotrum in a cell to the north about 20 feet. A gloominess was over the corridor, while the flicker of a low-burning candle could be seen

A common sight in Dublin now. Crowds fraternizing with the troops.

CARUSO LEFT FORTUNE OF $6,000,000

All Italy Pays Tribute to the Memory of Great Tenor.

REALIZED END AT HAND

Told His Son He Did Not Think He Could Recover From Last Attack.

Naples, Aug. 3.—Sorrowing Naples and Italy today paid tribute to the memory of Enrico Caruso, the great tenor, who died here early yesterday morning. Thousands gathered at a solemn requiem mass celebrated at the Church of Madonna Della Gracia, or stood uncovered along the streets leading to that edifice while the funeral cortege passed. In the choir which assisted in the impressive ceremonies were many men and women who have played stellar roles on the operatic stage.

The body was clad in evening clothes and over it was shed the mellow light of four candles, two at the head and two at the feet. At the dead tenor's side were garlands of roses arranged personally by Mrs. Caruso.

The master singer, who had for nearly a quarter of a century enacted roles in which death was an unseen player, apparently was cognizant of his critical condition, following his sudden illness on Monday. Just before he sank into the coma which was the prelude to the end, he said to his son, Rodolfo:

"I feel very ill. This time it will be difficult to escape."

Caruso, according to estimates in the newspapers, left a fortune of about 30,000,000 lire. At the normal value of the lire, this would represent about the sum of $6,000,000.

MARTINELLI LIKELY TO SUCCEED CARUSO

London, Aug. 3.—A Milan dispatch to the Daily News today says it is authoritatively stated there that Giovanni Martinelli will succeed Enrico Caruso as the leading tenor at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York.

"SENTENCED" TO ATTEND CHURCH FOR ONE YEAR

Washington, N. C., Aug. 3.—Five young men of this city are under sentence to attend church regularly for one year. They were convicted of stealing automobile supplies, and Judge Horton gave them their choice of going to the county roads for one year or attending church regularly for the same length of time.

Winnipeg Police Warning Banks Against Bandits

Winnipeg, Aug 3.—As a precautionary measure and partly as the result of an epidemic of bank robberies and hold-ups that have for the past few weeks been prevalent throughout the Middle Western States and in some sections of Eastern Canada, warnings to be fully prepared for the visit of hold-up men have been issued by the police to all banks and financial institutions in Winnipeg, with the request that it be passed along to their various branches.

MUST NOT TAKE LAW INTO HER OWN HANDS

Magistrate Warns Woman — Narrowly Escaped Charge of Theft.

Martha Brown, a petite French girl, owed Lizzie Metron, an older women, a few dollars. Lizzie had sold Martha a coat and was paid in full for it, but as security for another small debt she seized the coat. Martha charged her with theft, and in police court this morning she was ordered to hand back the coat. Although it was decided not to convict her of theft, she was given a lecture on the wrong of taking the law into her own hands.

After Martha had explained the case Crown Attorney James B. McKillop, K.C., stated that he was satisfied as to the facts. Lizzie, however, was not satisfied, and wanted to explain her side of the affair. She talked and talked until she had to be quieted by court officials. When the case was concluded the little French girl left with a smile on her face and the coat under her arm. Lizzie left the court appearing more perplexed than when she entered. Martha says that she is going to work tomorrow and will pay the debt.

HOME AFFAIRS ARE SADLY NEGLECTED IN PREMIER'S ABSENCE

Meighen Will Have Plenty To Do When He Arrives in Capital.

BY-ELECTIONS PENDING

"Buy in Canada" Is Real Solution of Unemployment Situation.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Aug. 3.—Canada's participation in international affairs promises to bedevil domestic politics. While Premier Meighen has been absent arrears of pressing local business have been accomulating, and the prime minister on his return will be faced with problems the solution of which might cause the strongest man backed by the strongest cabinet to quail. Since his departure nothing has been done at the capital. Sir George Foster, acting premier, has been engaged in the unpopular job of firing civil servants from the postoffice and customs department, in accordance with the recommendations of the Griffenhagen Associates, and of reinstating them in accordance with the dictation of politicians.

Railway Problems.

In the meantime more serious problems are pressing for solution. The Canadian National Railways must be consolidated, and a decision must be reached as to whether headquarters will be at Montreal, Toronto, or, as a compromise, Ottawa. The consolidation involves the reorganization of the directorate, a task which in itself is difficult enough. The public is becoming tired of paying deficits through income tax imposistions and new confidence must be revived. The premier will return to find that most of his colleagues are tired with the game and pessimistic as to the future. There are many vacant jobs in the Senate.

Canada talks about taking part in the Washington conference, but Canada has been informed that as she has no ambassador, she is not entitled to a separate invitation provision for the appointment of an ambassador was made by Parliament two years ago, but the man for the job has not yet been found. Most of the aspirants for vacant positions are in the Commons. It is freely rumored that at least three of the members of the cabinet, Sir G. Foster, Hon. Dr. Reid and Hon. J. A. Calder are anxious for the sanctuary, and in the meantime are marking time and doing little to increase the prestige of the Government or dissipate prejudice. But to fill outside vacancies from the Commons means by-elections.

Five By-Elections Pending.

And there are five by-elections pending already, and the results are not at all certain from present indications. The result in Medicine Hat may be duplicated elsewhere. Unemployment looms on the autumn horizon as probably the most serious problem for the consideration of the premier. So far the only solution suggested by the colleagues of Mr. Meighen is summed up in the slogan, "Buy Made in Canada Goods." Opponents of the Government inquire how the face of the Canadian tariff plus a 12 per cent adverse exchange it is possible for American goods to come to Canada at all, and why in the circumstances Canadian manufcturers cannot hold the home market without advice to the public. It is further pointed out that if the farmers had followed the example of the manufacturers and had "closed down" on a failing market the one hope of a three million dollar crop as an afleviation of Canada's trouble would not exist today.

There is talk of an election, but from present indications there will be no election until after another session and redistribution.

The rank and file of the premier's following are opposed to an early election, and they have some say as to the decision on such a question. Altogether the general feeling at the capital today is that however pressing are international problems, there are domestic problems which call for immediate attention.

PURCHASERS REFUSE TO PAY CITY TILL DEFECTS OF HOUSES ARE REMEDIED

Building Inspector Piper To Make Report On All Commission Built Houses To City Council—Solicitor of the Housing Commission Hands in Letters Complaining of Bad Workmanship—Free "Bill of Health" Given by Visiting Architect Over Two Months Old.

Building Inspector A. M. Piper this morning began his inspection of the 58 houses erected for the London Housing Commission, and the result of his inspection, will have an important bearing upon future payments to the contractors who have erected same.

G. N. Weekes, solicitor for the London Housing Commission, reports trouble in collecting payments due on some of the houses, because of defects in their construction, which the purchasers complain about. Regarding the Neeley home he reports:

G. N. Weekes states that in response to his letter demanding the signature to contract of purchase and payment of $150 still owing for the initial payment therein. Mr. Neely came into his office and left the inclosed letter. He has translated it into readable English and sends herewith the original and the translation thereof:

"Your Mr. Weekes has written me demanding payment of $150, the balance of my initial payment. I have the money to pay as soon as the house is made reasonably good. Your Building Inspector Piper and two members of the commission visited the place and found it defective, as follows: 1. The stucco is all checked. 2. The roof leaks. 3. The water pipes are leaking."

Refuses To Sign.

This report was laid over by the commissioners.

Another purchaser, named Goodwin, has refused to sign a second mortgage in favor of the commission on his home because of certain defects. Regarding this case, Mr. Weekes reports:

"As I promised the commission yesterday, I went up to Mr. Goodwin's house last night with some confidence that he would sign the necessary additional papers and close this matter through, so that I could report it finished. On arriving there I found matters in such condition that I could not ask him to sign the second mortgage. A number of the Brantford shingles had been blown off and one-third of the ceiling of the rear bedroom was wet, and the mattress saturated. Wet spots appeared also in the kitchen and dining-room. On examining the shingles blown off, I found that they had been nailed on with ordinary shingle nails instead of broad headed nails required for the purpose. The result was that the nail-heads pulled through and the shingles blew off. I am of the opinion that this will not be a good roof until it is all relaid with proper nails; that is, if shingle nails have been used throughout, as appears likely.

The plumbing work is also done in an unworkmanlike manner in several places.

The sidewalk appears to have been made too lean in cement. The surface is scaling, and two or three of the sections are broken into pieces.

Woodwork Splitting.

The outside woodwork appears to have been made of hemlock, and not sufficiently dried, with the result that it is already splitting badly in places. Little pools of water lie in the depression in the cellar floor.

"Under these circumstances and the price, which appears to be large enough, which Mr. Goodwin is paying, I could not ask him to sign his mortgage to

ULSTER'S ATTITUDE HOLDING UP PLANS FOR IRISH PEACE

Every Effort Is Being Made To Bring About Combination Before Negotiations With Lloyd George Are Resumed—Republicans Must Decide Whether They Will Accept the Responsibility for Other 26 Counties If Ulster Plan Fails

Dublin, Aug. 3.—The sole reason for the delay in the Sinn Fein's reply to the Government's Irish peace proposals, it is authoritatively stated, is the attempt being made to secure the adhesion of Ulster to the peace plan before returning to negotiations with Mr. Lloyd George, so he could be met by a United Ireland.

It is felt that there is no use even to consider the terms, it is said, until it is settled who are the real parties to the bargain.

Every effort is being made behind the scenes, it is declared, to induce Ulster to accept a share in the powerful body which it is planned to make the all-Ireland parliament, while retaining her own local autonomy. So far these efforts, although benevolently regarded by the Government, have been unsuccessful.

The expectation of an arrangement with Ulster has not yet been abandoned, however. Should it fail to be brought about, the Republicans, it is pointed out, must consider whether they will accept for the twenty-six counties outside Ulster the terms offered, or renew the revolt. Some of the Republican leaders express the view that eventually unity would be more speedily reached by such acceptance.

TWO AUTO THIEVES SENTENCED TO ONE YEAR IN PRISON

Same Men To Face Second Similar Charge in County Court.

Orville Restorick and George Langridge, two of the gang of alleged auto thieves which the police have rounded up, were sentenced to one year each in the common jail by Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon in police court this morning. They have to face a second similar charge, along with three other young men, and will be tried before Judge Talbot Macbeth today. Magistrate Graydon informed the pair that according to an amendment to the criminal code he could not do otherwise than sentence them to one year, that being the minimum penalty for the offence.

TRAIN WRECK WAS DUE TO TAMPERING; TWO UNDER ARREST

Detroit, Aug. 3. — Officials of the Michigan Central Railway announced last night that investigation had convinced them the all-Pullman train No. 7 was wrecked at Inkster, near here, early yesterday, as a result of deliberate tampering with the rails. A reward was offered for the arrest of the guilty persons and police are holding two men for investigation.

BRITISH LICENSING MEASURE IS PASSED

Amendment to Bill Exempts Two Per Cent Beer From Restrictions.

London, Aug. 3.—(By Canadian Press).—After an all-night sitting of the House of Commons gave a third reading to the much-discussed licensing bill regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors in England and Scotland. A new clause was added, providing that certain liquor not containing more than two per cent of proof spirits should not be treated as intoxicating, if an excise license was not required for its sale. The attorney-general did not object to this clause. He gave it as his opinion that the making of light beers should be encouraged. Despite considerable opposition an amendment was passed fixing the number of hours for the sale of intoxicating liquors under the bill at eight, outside of the city of London.

THREE WORKMEN KILLED.

Paterson, N. J., Aug. 3.—Three men were killed and three seriously injured early today in the Standard Silk Dyeing Company's plant, when a centrifugal extractor or "whizz machine" used in drying silk flew to pieces. MONTREAL STREET CAR MEN WILL TAKE VOTE ON WAGES REDUCTION

Montreal, Aug. 3.—A referendum vote of the 3,500 members of the Montreal Tramways Employees' Union will be held tomorrow to decide on what action shall be taken in the dispute which has arisen over the proposed wage cut of 20 per cent, which is slated to come into effect on August 10.

The three alternatives that will be proposed to the members are: First, to accept a reduction in wage of 12½ per cent; second, to accept a reduction of 15 per cent, or, third, to submit the dispute to a board of arbitration appointed under the authority of the department of labor.

LONDON-TO-LAMBETH HIGHWAY COMPLETED AS FAR AS BRICK ST.

Contractors Are Six Weeks Ahead of Time — Organization Includes Provision of Sleeping and Feeding Accommodation For Workers—No Accident Has Marred Job—Records in Work Are Feature—One Hundred Men Are Employed.

The London to Lambeth concrete highway, in course of construction by the Lumsden Construction and Transport Company, has been opened from the city limits to Brick street, and the entire 4½ miles of new road will be completed by the end of this month. This was announced today by W. W. Smith, engineer in charge of the job, but owing to the fact that the concrete must be allowed to set, the road will not be open to traffic until September 15.

The contract with the Government requires that this section of highway be completed by November 1, and aided by favorable weather and other conditions the contractors are now six weeks ahead of time on this job. Approximately 100 men are employed by the construction company, with skilled labor recruited from local ranks. The majority of the employees, reside at the construction camp maintained by the contractors at Lambeth, where all supplies are purchased. Here excellent meals and sleeping quarters are provided at cost, the expenses being deducted from each employee's pay.

Made Canadian Record.

Last week 2,463 feet of pavement were laid, which is almost half a mile, and three-fourths of a mile has been laid during the last ten days. The contractors established a new Canadian record during this period, when in one day they completed 563 feet of pavement, utilizing 600 tons of material, including almost two cars of cement. As the work nears Lambeth, with a shorter haul for gravel, this record will be surpassed.

The new highway is to be 30 feet in width, 20 feet of which is of concrete, with a five-foot gravel shoulder on either side. John Sears, provincial highways inspector, is constantly on the job in the interest of the Government, and he informed The Advertiser today that the Lumsden Company has the most up-to-date equipment for this work. This equipment is worth $135,000, and the contract will net the company $175,000.

Seven Eight-Ton Motor Trucks.

Included in the equipment are seven motor trucks, each holding five cubic yards of gravel and sand, and carrying eight-ton loads. One other truck hauls cement from London night and day. The concrete mixer on the job is the largest in Canada, and is operated by one man, and when laid the concrete is finished by a belt and roller. The mixer has caterpillar tread wheels.

This morning the second line intersection with the proposed highway was closed, and will be opened again, completed, in four days. Up until noon today 200 feet of completed highway, which is eight and a half inches in depth at the center, and six inches at the sides, was laid.

Water for the job is piped two miles under 175 pounds pressure. The sand and gravel for the work are obtained from the mammoth Government gravel pit at Lambeth, the huge amounts drawn leaving a miniature lake twelve feet in depth at places. Here a dragline excavator, newly introduced in the trade, hauls the scoops of gravel 500

LIBERAL LEADER FOR STRATHROY

With Dr. Beland Will Address Political Gathering On August 27.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal Opposition in the Dominion Parliament, Dr. Beland, Duncan C. Ross, M. P., and others will deliver addresses at a great rally to be held at Strathroy on August 27. This meeting will be a part of Mr. King's Ontario tour. The great success scored at Aurora, Brampton, Tillsonburg and Hamilton will no doubt be repeated at Strathroy. The Liberal leader's views on the political situation and economic and social crisis in Canada have made a deep impression wherever he has spoken.

HALIFAX WILL RAISE PUBLIC FUND TO AID CITY'S UNEMPLOYED

Halifax, Aug. 3.—Funds toward the relief of the unemployment situation in this city will be raised, it is hoped, by popular subscription. At last night's meeting of the city council a committee of four aldermen was appointed to act as a permanent unemployment committee.

Mayor John S. Parker announced that he had issued to social service workers checks chargeable to his own account of a sufficient amount to cover immediately any cases of actual want among the unemployed, but expressed the hope that a public fund would be raised to look after the matter.

GREATER DEMAND IN GREAT BRITAIN FOR CANADIAN LIVESTOCK

Ottawa, Aug. 3.—(By Canadian Press).—A more active demand for Canadian live stock in England is reported in the weekly cable from London to the Dominion live stock branch. The weather in England is colder, the cables state, and the condition of the stock received during the week was good.

He was born in 1877 and came to Canada as a small boy from England, and lived and was educated in Toronto. In 1908 he was appointed to the position in the local board of trade, which he held to the time of his death.

APPLICATION MADE TO GAS REFEREE

Special Committee Asks That Price Be Set On Product.

City Clerk S. Baker this morning addressed a communication to G. Henderson of Ottawa, provincial gas referee, requesting him to take the necessary action in setting a fair price on natural gas to be delivered to the city limits here from the Saul wells near Crumlin. This action is in accordance with the wishes of the special gas committee selected from the city council, and chamber of commerce, to consider natural gas for the city of London, which met Tuesday night.

The Saul wells are controlled by the Progressive Gas and Oil Company of Hamilton, officials of which offered to supply 500,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily delivered to the city limits, at 65 cents per thousand. Members of the committee, of which Ald. W. A. Wilson is chairman, felt that this price does not compare favorably with other municipalities, and hence decided to solicit the services of the gas referee whom it is understood will act at once.

Officials of the City Gas Company have offered to distribute natural gas to their mains for 35 cents per thousand bringing the total price to local consumers up to one dollar per thousand cubic feet. This price is also regarded as high, but will be dealt with by the committee later.

L. AND P. S. BARBED WIRE FENCE IS NOT LOVED BY TALL MEN

Chicken Wire Inclosure Hard On Fat Men in Crowd.

GET SLIM SYMPATHY

Holiday Crowds Find Much Amusement at Expense of the Victims.

Much has been said in words more expressive than eloquent about the new inclosure of barbed-wire and chicken-netting which constitutes the latest alleged improvement made by the Port Stanley railway commission at the lake-side jumping-off place. This much has been chiefly said by the more impatient and less restrained members of crowds struggling to reach a train returning to London.

Some people forget about the barbed-wire stockade after they finally do get back to London, but others have a better memory, a more vindictive and unforgiving memory, and so they button-hole newspaper writers on the streets and say: "Why don't you write up the barbed-wire entanglements down at Port Stanley depot?"

Pity the Tall Man.

Of course it is only an unusually tall man who gets his hard hat punctured by the four or five strands of barbed-wire which slant outwards from the station inclosure, presumably to discourage athletically-inclined people from climbing over the chicken-netting. And very tall men are hated with a malicious kind of invious hate, just because they are able to see over the heads of a crowd. By the same taken, a tall man is a better target for the throwers of brickbats and empty pop bottles in time of a riot. Just as a fat man has to be peaceful, because he cannot run away, a tall man has to be diplomatic, because he can be easily spotted or "spotted" in a crowd. Nobody seems to have any real sympathy either for very tall men or very fat men, but whereas the meshes of the chicken-netting are sufficiently close to obviate any suggestion of discrimination against fat men, inasmuch as not even a rabbit could crawl through the netting, the barbed-wire is just placed low enough to castigate a tall man's headgear.

Psychologically Obnoxious.

There is something psychologically obnoxious about barbed-wire anyhow. It's use has been pretty generally abandoned by farmers, as a result of many fine animals being lost through blood-poisoning resulting from barbed-wire cuts. But whereas more urban styles of fencing are coming into use on the back concessions, the barbed-wire market has been encouraged by the erection of the new Port Stanley stockades, and even in London one notices its use, on top of the board fence surrounding a convent, for instance; and there used to be a few strands of it strung across St. Paul's churchyard to discourage trespassers. But enough about barbed-wire. To the sensitively inclined, it's sheer barbarous barbarity.

Why Not Both Ends?

As for the inclosure itself, nobody has ever tried to show that the number of people coming into London is so very much greater than the number going out. If barbed-wire and chicken-netting are not necessary at the London end of the line, why should they be necessary at the Port Stanley end? To keep free-ride grafters from using the city-owned road as a Port Stanley street car, may be one answer. But the number of people who rode back from the beach to the uptown station can scarcely have been so great as to constitute a real problem. It ought to have been a desirable thing, in that the cars after leaving Port Stanley uptown would not be overcrowded when the free-ride grafters got off. As it is, complaints today are fairly numerous about women and children being crushed in the crowds that battled to get through the gates, and about families getting separated and children lost by their parents.

One must admit, however, that it adds a metropolitan touch to Port Stanley to see so many uniformed officials opening and shutting gates and turning turnstiles at one time.

Why Not Escalators?

The next step will probably be to extend the fencing all around the city property and charge an admission fee to anybody who doesn't ride down to the park on the Port Stanley Railroad. Spikes, pickets and thorn-busites could be scattered or planted along the foot of the cliffs also to discourage people from jumping over or rolling down the embankment. But possibly, if an up-to-date pair of escalators were installed to replace the antiquated inclined railroad, which cannot be boarded without delay on crowded occasions, more people would be willing to pay a nickel for riding up or down.

GENERAL INSPECTION OF G. T. R. OFFICES AND PROPERTY THURSDAY

Montreal and Toronto Officials Will Pay Visit to London.

Several well-known Grand Trunk officials of Montreal and Toronto will arrive in the city this evening to inspect the city station, roundhouse and carshops. Among them will be Joseph Frezell, chairman of the railway board; Howard G. Kelly, president of the Grand Trunk, and C. G. Bowker, Toronto, general superintendent of the Ontario division.

The party will leave Toronto today noon on a special train made up of five coaches, and will go to Stratford, where they will inspect the new carshops now under erection. Leaving there they will conduct a general inspection of the railway offices and lines in Sarnia and district.

The party is expected to arrive in this city tonight, and will inspect the local shops and G. T. R. terminal tomorrow morning, after which they will return to Toronto. The officials are making a complete tour of the Canadian division of the G. T. R.

USED CAR SALE AT THE FAIR GROUNDS

Western Ontario Car Owners Have Unusual chance to Get Big Values.

The sale of used cars which is being held at the Western Fair grounds all this week offers an unusual opportunity to the people all over Western Ontario to obtain some really excellent cars at prices which mean a big saving. The sale now being conducted at the fair grounds markes another step in London's increasing importance as an automobile centre. It is a result of the auto dealers of London pooling their used cars and offering them at greatly reduced prices. There are more than 100 autos to choose from, and the London auto dealers are offering car owners of London and district an opportunity to trade in their present cars and obtain better ones. Wilfrid Hodgins is president of the London Automotive Dealers' Association, under whose direction the big sale of used cars was arranged. The sale is in charge of A. W. Farewell, who has had a wide experience in conducting used car sales.

NO CONFESSION

through a screen directly at the top of the landing. Behind the screen Chaplain Brydges had made a resting-place during his administrations to the two men. The landing was nearly filled with sheriff's officers and officials of the jail.

Executioner Ellis went immediately into the cell of McFadden, where McFadden was standing, awaiting his arrival. He made no movement, nor spoke while the pinion straps were placed, fastening his hands behind his back. Chaplain Brydges, Major Basher and other officials stood near by. As soon as the straps were placed Ellis doubled across the short space from McFadden's cell to Hotrum's cell.

Hotrum, in the light thrown into his cell through two windows, stood with his feet far apart, his arms swinging at his sides, as a man would brace himself to withstand a blow. He was pale. But he appeared to smile—it was a smile. He stood there momentarily, the cell door was opened, and then Hotrum walked forward just outside the cell door. He turned. Governor Basher stood in front of him, patted Hotrum on the shoulder, with the words: "Be brave, my boy." Hotrum again smiled.

The straps were quickly adjusted, fastening Hotrum's hands behind his back. Executioner Ellis moved outside the cell.

It took less than half a minute to prepare Hotrum, and in the meantime McFadden remained in his cell, accompanied by Chaplain Brydges. He stood calmly and without saying a word. A short, shrill blast of a whistle followed from Executioner Ellis, standing close beside Hotrum's cell door and near the door to the corridor leading to the death chamber. A guard ordered McFadden forward. McFadden, slightly pale, but much stouter than when he stood his trial, commenced his march to the death chamber. He wore a white shirt, a pair of trousers and boots. Hotrum was dressed the same.

McFadden seemed to hold his breath as he walked, and held his mouth open in the same manner he had when he sat in the prisoners' box in the assizes.

Did Not Face Each Other.

His head was well up, and he almost pounded along with firm steps, walking directly toward Hotrum, who stood about twelve feet away at the entrance to the death chamber. Big, massive, eyes straight ahead, he walked toward Hotrum, his steps echoing through the corridor. Two guards walked at his side.

Hotrum had stood quietly, only a wan smile about his mouth, and at the direction of Executioner Ellis he turned sharply, with two guards at his side, and commenced the twenty-pace march east along the corridor to the death chamber.

Chaplain Brydges led the procession at a brisk walk, followed by Governor Basher and the jail physician, Dr. Parry. Four or five sheriff's officers were in the party.

As Hotrum turned along the corridor McFadden had, at a well-timed interval, marched from his cell to the door. Hotrum fell in two paces behind, and the two men, who had each blamed the other for the shooting of Sabine, continued their march to the death chamber, hands strapped, but only a step apart. Guards walked on both sides.

They turned into the death chamber, stepped on the trap, but did not face each other. Straps were quickly fastened about their ankles by Ellis. Hotrum faced east and McFadden faced west, with their backs about three feet apart. Black caps covered their heads. Chaplain Brydges commenced the Lord's Prayer, and he had hardly said the first few words when Executioner Ellis sprung the trap. Not a word was uttered by either man.

The bodies were cut down by Executioner Ellis in less than ten minutes, and death was pronounced instantaneous by Dr. Parry.

The juries were empanelled and brought in their verdicts of death by execution. The executions were over at 9:15, and the bodies will be handed over to private undertakers for burial. Hotrum in Hamilton and McFadden in London.

McFadden's cell was an improvised affair, in order to have him near the regular death cell, in which Hotrum was placed, and also to have the proceedings carried out with as much expediency as was possible. The ordinary jail bed, with covers and uniform, was at one end of the cell, a chair near the bed, and at the top a table. The Bible, with two other volumes, lay on a bench, while on the table was a bag containing a number of chocolates. A piece of bread, some more books and papers lay on the table, just as McFadden had left them.

Stuck to His Story.

Hotrum's cell across the corridor was practically the same, with the Bible and a number of books lying on a table and on a bench.

Chaplain Brydges, on instruction, made no statement regarding the conduct of the men during the night.

"McFadden stuck to his story till the end," said Fletcher Kerr, his counsel, this morning. All along Mr. Kerr was expecting that some statement would be made by Hotrum that might warrant the application for a stay of the sentence against his client, but when last night came and no confession was made, nothing that he could do would have prevented sentence being carried out, although he left word with Governor Basher to send him word in this event up to the end.

Mr. Murphy, counsel for Hotrum, early this morning believed that there was no chance of any stay of execution, as no statement had been made by his client last night. Hotrum protested his innocence so far as firing the shot was concerned.

Fearing that the big crowd around the jail during the executions would cause trouble, Chief Inspector Beatty of the Toronto police force, was asked to provide a special guard during the morning. He came himself, bringing Inspector Guthrie, four plainclothesmen and sixteen uniformed constable. There were no demonstrations by the crowd, however.

PHANTOM SHIPS MAY BE BOATS OF RUM-RUNNERS

Conspiracy Charges Likely To Involve Many Prominent Persons.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Federal officials tonight claimed to have evidence of a rum-running conspiracy involving prominent persons in various cities along the Atlantic seaboard, which go far to clearing up the mystery of the phantom ships for several months reported bobbing up outside the three-mile limit.

This claim was made after the liquor-laden schooner Henry L. Marshall had been seized off Atlantic City and brought into this port with four of her crew, by the cost guard cutter Seneca. Her captain and mate escaped in a swift motor boat.

Federal agents declined to reveal the nature of the evidence at their command, but intimated that more than one vessel was engaged in landing liquor along the coast from Maine to Florida. Firm belief was expressed that these were the lightless craft which mariners had declared on reaching port had been sighted at sea, but had refused to answer signals.

No specific complaint thus far has been lodged against the schooner Marshall, which with her cargo of more than 1,500 cases of liquor, is being held by armed guards pending further investigation. Her cook and three seamen are being detained as material witnesses.

Captain Aaron L. Gamble of the Seneca has made an official report of the seizure to Collector of Customs Aldridge. United States Attorney Hayward also has been called into conference.

Although the schooner was outside the three-mile limit and was flying the British flag when she was seized, federal officials asserted they were justified in taking charge of her by the evidence of conspiracy in their possession.

Reports of transfer to British registry of the vessel, a former Gloucester fisherman, are being investigated. One of her crew said this transfer had been made, but federal agents said no supporting evidence had been offered.

WILL SPEND $300,000 TO REBUILD RAILWAY

City of Toronto To Put Metropolitan Line in Shape.

TORONTO, Aug. 2. — Following a conference between Sir Adam Beck and the Toronto Board of Control today it was announced that the city would spend $300,000 of its own money to rehabilitate the Metropolitan Railway, which enters the city on Yonge street and is one of the radials to be taken over from the MacKenzie interests. The city's financing will be in the form of a loan pending government sanction of special financing by the hydro commission.

The question of the franchise rights of York County on Yonge street was also taken up, and it was decided to have the lawyers of the three interested parties get together and draft an agreement making it clear that the county's franchise requires the Metropolitan Railway to handle only package freight and express. The city is determined that freight cars shall no longer be operated on Yonge street. Under the agreement proposed, the city could discharge its obligations to the county by operating special express cars with variable gauge, so that they could be switched to the city lines and thus obviate the expense of transshipping at the city's limits.

The reply of the MacKenzie people to a request for assurance of a supply of power to operate the street cars after September 1, under civic control in case the "clean-up" deal falls through, is unsatisfactory, according to Sir Adam Beck, who announces that the car system will be linked up with the hydro current at a cost of a million dollars. Only four weeks remain in which to make the connection, and in case the deal for the transfer of the MacKenzie power and radial interests to the hydro and the city is consummated in the meantime, this huge outlay will have been entirely wasted.

The "clean-up" deal, however, is still at an uncertain stage, and the city, says Sir Adam Beck, cannot afford to take chances.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION TO PROBE CHARGES

Citizens Allege County Constables Wait Specially To "Get Them."

Dr. H. A. Stevenson, M.L.A. for London, stated to The Advertiser last evening that the public service commission will be asked to come to London and investigate charges of citizens who allege that some county constables make it a special business to wait and "get them" for speeding while motoring in the country.

SOCIETY HAILS PEACE MEETING

Capital Expected To Rival Gay Paree During Disarmament Conference.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. — World politics and history and Washsington society will be more closely allied than ever when the conference on the limitation of armaments and on problems involving the Pacific is held here next fall. It will mean that world figures like the British premier, Lloyd George, perhaps, and Premier Briand of France and other notables will gather here and all circles in society, official, diplomatic and residential, will be vieing with one anotner to entertain them and to see who can give the most brilliant party. There will be entertainments at the White House and Washington will be gay indeed.

It will rival Paris during the peace conference, will be even gayer, for the clouds of war are more a thing of the past now than they were then. Washington is sure to be crowded too, for each delegation to the conference will have its own suite with it, and then every one who can will flock to the capital to be "in" on the gayety and excitement. The summer wanderers will return early to get their houses and their wardrobes ready. Judging from all signs now Washington will have a social season this fall that will long be remembered.

Italian Visitors Here.

But even the summer season is not without its special interests. There always is some foreign notable in Washington to be entertained. Every week can claim at least one.

General Pietro Badoglio, formeriy chief of staff of the Italian army, and Colonel Domenico Sigilini, his aide, arrived here the middle of the week and were received as guests of the government. Secretary of War John W. Weeks and General Pershing have led in doing the honors. General Badoglio plans to visit many parts of the country before he goes home.

A Japanese visitor of note also was entertained this week, Baron Kanda of the house of peers of Japan, and one of the leading men of affairs and wealth of that country. The baron, who has been traveling in Europe and now is touring this country before sailing for home, was received by the president Wednesday, when he was accompanied by his son and daughter and a number of official folk. Wednesday evening a group of representatives who recently toured Japan and were shown various courtesies by this distinguished Japanese, entertained in his honor at dinner. Baron Kanda attended Amherst College at the same time as the vice-president and the speaker of the house, Frederick Gillett.

Slav Leader at Capital.

Major-General Count Cherep-Spiridovitch, president of the Anglo-Latin-Slav League of Paris, Rome, Lisbon and other European capitals, is in Washington and is staying at the Army and Navy Club. He has written several books on political, historical and economic subjects and has made an exhaustive study of what he calls the "science of political foresight." Many of his political prophesies have come true, and he has gained wide fame by his statements regarding the trend of affairs in Europe.

The Princess Fatima, sultana of Kabul, who is in New York, where she went from San Francisco, is expected in Washington next week to call on President Harding. An immense white sapphire set in the left side of her nose attracts attention wherever she goes.

Not only do history and society go hand in hand in Washington but sanctity and society. One of the most interesting dinner parties of the week was given by Canon P. Townsend Russell and Mrs. Russell for the presiding bishop and the council of the American Protestant Episcopal Church, the governing body of the church, which held its meetings here Thursday and Friday in Whitney Hall.

Press Club Entertained.

The Russells have that beautiful home Beauvoir in Woodley Lane, which the former secretary of war and Mrs. Newton D. Baker occupied for about a year. Thursday the bishops and council were received at the White House by the president.

The Women's Press Club was entertained by Mrs. Harding, Thursday afternoon, for a cruise down the Potomac aboard the presidential yacht, the Mayflower. It was a charming party and the second which the first lady has given for women correspondents in Washington. The first was a cozy tea party at the executive mansion. In the party were Mrs. Coolidge, Mrs. McLean, Mrs. George Christian, the wives of several senators and others of note.

The Hardings are thoroughly enjoying the Mayflower. Again last week they passed the week-end aboard with a congenial company, and are off again this week-end.

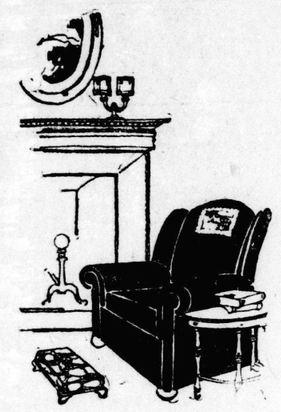

The president spent part of several mornings last week sitting for his portrait, which is being painted by Philip de Lazzio. The artist has a studio fitted up in a corner of the Corican Art Gallery, where the great and some not so great are flocking to have their portraits done by the distinguished artist who painted kings and queens, royalty and nobility the world over. He is putting the finishing touches to a portrait of General Pershing, whom the artist says makes a wonderful subject. He has painted him with his army overcoat thrown back from his stalwart shoulders and a pair of binoculars in his hand.

Depicts War Hero.

The face of the portrait is a bit stern, with just the faintest touch of humor around the corners of his mouth and lurking in the depths of the steady eyes. It is the war hero, not the gallant gentleman who dances so exquisitely and plays around so nicely that de Lazzio has pictured. After the portrait is exhibited here it is to be presented to the city of Philadelphia.

OAT YIELD IS DISAPPOINTING

Complaints of Rust Are Common All Through the Province.

Following is a summary of reports made by the agricultural representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Farmers are busy harvesting their grain, although many have practically finished with spring wheat and barley, which have been cut unusually early this season. Oats are now being handled, and are rather disappointing on the whole, the heads being comparatively light in the filling and the straw short. Complaints of rust are also common.

Reports regarding potatoes are not encouraging, as very few fields have a good appearance.

Corn and hoed crops are doing very well since the rains of the last two weeks.

Welland says that alsike is proving to be a fair sample in the threshing.

Brant states that the catch of young clover has been very satisfactory.

Lincoln reports considerable scab on apples, even in well-sprayed orchards. Norfolk says that buyers are already going through that county buying apples on the trees, and that prices are better than those paid a year ago.

Lincoln also reports that some Greenboro and Triumph peaches are being offered in limited quantities.

Hay is quoted at prices ranging from $18 a ton for bailing in Oxford to $25 in Glengary. Leeds says that some farmers in that county are bringing in hay at prices ranging from $27 to $30, according to the point of destination.

Owing to the early harvest a good deal of land already has been plowed for fall wheat. The soil has been working nicely. It looks also as if more summer fallowing than usual will be done.

Peterboro reyports that many wells have gone dry, and that some farmers have difficulty in watering their stock.

Recent rains have revived pastures considerably and caused an improvement in the milk flow.

Brant says that there is an agitation on foot in some parts of the county to have the old cheese factories start up again, as the price of cheese is relatively better than that of whole milk. Cheese sold on the Perth Board on Friday at from 24 to 24 3-8 cents a pound.

Bruce reports a demand for stockers for winter feeding. Grey also thinks that as many cattle as usual will be fed. Peterboro says: The cattle going to market are for the most part in thin condition. Three mixed cars were marketed during the week. Cattle sold around 5 cents a pound; lambs, $10.20 per cwt., and hogs, $12.25 per cwt. Waterloo says that one drover near Galt has brought in a carload of cattle which cost him 3½ cents per pound in Winnipeg. Simcoe is of the opinion that farmers are taking more interest in the hog business, and are making an effort to increase their breeding stock in this line.

NO SECTIONAL MEETING.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—There will be no sectional meeting of the Dail Eireann to consider the British proposals for an Irish peace conference, and these proposals will only be considered by a full meeting of that body, according to advices received tonight by the Westminster Gazette.

The Dail Eireann is making no direct application either to the British or Irish for the release of its imprisoned members, it was said, but will follow the procedure of issuing notices for convening the meeting to all members, including those in custody. These notices will be addressed to the prisons where they are held, and it will then be for the authorities to decide whether the prisoners are released. It is anticipated that this will promptly be done.

BICYCLE STEALING EPIDEMIC IN CITY

Two Small Boys Face Police Magistrate—Handed to Parents.

Bicycle thefts have again become numerous in the city. Hardly a day passes but one or two missing bicycles are reported to the police. A large majority of the thefts are taking place on Clarence street, just north of Dundas street, where a thief, or thieves, seems to be reaping a rich harvest. Two bicycles were stolen from this vicinity last night, one a Red Bird, No. 66840, the property of Mrs. J. Bell, 286 Dufferin avenue, and the other a Brantford bicycle, No. 41024, the property of John McCabe of Byron.

This morning two juveniles faced Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon in his office on a charge of stealing two bicycles. The evidence was that these two boys, who appeared to be about 16 years old, were seen with three bicycles locked together. They picked the locks and took the two best of the three vehicles. They were held until their parents arrived to take charge of them. Later they may come before the magistrate.

LONDON-TO-LAMBETH

feet to the top of a gravel screen 55 feet in height.

Gravel Is Washed.

This machine separates the larger stones from the gravel, which is then washed, and sand isolated from it. The products then drop into bins, under which motor trucks are driven to receive exact proportions of sand and gravel. Each motor truck is provided with five compartments, into which exact proportions of sand and gravel are dumped from separate bins by the manipulation of a lever, and each compartment holds just enough sand and gravel to fill the bin in the huge cement mixer.

Gasoline equipment is maintained throughout by the contractors, with the exception of the steam roller and gravel hoist. The latter can work within a radius of 500 feet by shifting the mast to which cables are attached. This 75-foot mast equipment is oiled daily. A near-by blacksmith shop maintains repairs, within a stone's throw of the cement storehouse, which holds five tons continually in reserve.

Sleeping Quarters.

Sleeping quarters and offices are also in the vicinity of the gravel pit, and water for domestic purposes is pumped from a spring on the grounds. All employees are paid by check, and all work on a time basis, there being no day labor. It is expected that when the present contract, which extends to the limits of Lambeth, expires, the Lumsden Construction and Transport Company will be awarded an extension with orders to proceed further south.

With the exception of two, all culverts and bridges on the highway have been completed and are 30 feet in width. Workmen are busily engaged on the stretch of completed pavement from the city limits to Brick street, constructing ditches. A section of the road, south of Glendale, now being scarified, was closed to traffic today, a detour being now necessary at this point.

CREEKS ARE WARNED AGAINST AN ADVANCE ON CONSTANTINOPLE

Allies Notify Athens Government Such a Move Will Be Opposed.

London, Aug. 3.—The Allies have warned Greece that an advance on Constantinople by her troops, which are now engaged in war with the Turkish nationalists, will not be tolerated, it was authoritatively stated here today. No ground exists, however, it is stated, for believing that Greece contemplates any such advance which would bring her into conflict with the allied army of occupation. Reports from Athens that Great Britain favors a Greek advance on Constantinople were characterized as absurd—the exact reverse of the truth. Great Britain, it was stated, is maintaining strict neutrality between Turkey and Greece.

ARREST EXPECTED SOON.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—With the trail of Warren C. Spurgin, missing president of the closed Michigan Avenue Trust company, leading into Mexico, and the authorities apparently close on his trail, local authorities, as well as those financially interested in the bank, today considered his apprehension imminent.

It is also hoped that the bank's shortage of $1,124,368, as announced by bank examiners, may be materially lessened by the determination of the value of loans, bonds and stocks that are now listed as doubtful.

A reward of $2,500 has been offered for his capture.

FRAME HOUSE BURNED.—A frame house in the rear of 286½ York street took fire last night about 5 o'clock. The fire department was summoned, and although two streams were played on the flames the building was totally destroyed. The house was being moved by contractors, and the cause of the fire is a mystery. The loss will not amount to more than $25, according to Chief John Aitken.

SHOW BOYS FIND FRIEND.—Harry Harris, Charles Evans and Gilmore Wilkes, three American "show boys," as they dubbed themselves, who played on the police court circuit Tuesday, have discovered that it pays to write for money. They were supposed to have stayed in jail a few days longer, but they communicated with a show manager in Ingersoll and he sent them enough money to get there.

LITTLE GIRL INJURED.—Marjorie Cadman of Toronto, who is visiting her grandfather, A. E. Cadman, 795 York street, was struck by a motor car while crossing the road in front of the above address last night. STRINGING NEW CABLE. — A gang of men have been at work for several days stringing about 1,500 feet of new cable on the G. T. R. lines between East London station and the St. Marys branch, to replace the old line, which has seen service for a great number of years. A temporary cable was erected so as to prevent any hitch in connections, and this will be taken down as the erection of the new one proceeds. The new cable, a 30-wire conductor, will be in use on Thursday.

FINED FOR SWEARING. — William Hanson and Edward Clarke were fined $5 and costs in police court this morning for swearing while they were playing poker on the street. Thomas Saville, who was younger than the other two boys, admitted that he had been playing also. He was taken into the magistrate's office and given a lecture. David Smith and Lancelly Norris, who were charged in a similar manner, were allowed to go after they pleaded not guilty.

INSPECTING HOME GARDENS.—Roscoe A. Finn, B.S.A., agricultural representative for the county of Middlesex, is inspecting the home gardening plots in Adelaide Township and Strathroy today. The results of the home gardening competition for that district will be announced at the time of the Strathroy fair, when prizes will also be awarded for the best produce grown by competitors and exhibited at the fair, and also for canned produce exhibited.

OFF TO A GOOD START.—Building permits for August have gotten away to a good start here, work totalling $17,735 being authorized in two days by Building Inspector A. M. Piper. The principal permits issued Tuesday are for cupolas on the roof and extensions to the foundry of E. Leonard & Sons' plant on York street, costing $10,000; a 1½-story brick veneer dwelling for Edward Payne on Carlton avenue, to cost $3,200; a 1-story stucco dwelling at Berbrook Place for F. Fishbein at $2,300, and a 1-story cement block garage on Maple street for T. H. McCallum estimated to cost $1,000.

Obituary

BURIED AT MARR'S HILL.

Following a brief illness, the death of George Lee, Sen., took place at his residence, lot 16, concession 11, McGillivray Township, on Thursday, July 21, in his 71st year. He was born at Richmond Hill, near Toronto, in 1851, and with his parents came to McGillivray when 9 years old, where he has resided till the time of his death.

In June, 1872, Mr. Lee married Miss Mary Ann Craven, who, with four sons, George, Linwood, Chester and Tom, and two daughters, Mrs. Mary Carter and Mrs. Scott Trevethish, and one brother, Wm. Lee, all of McGillivray, survive him.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. R. A. Brooks, pastor of the Methodist Church, and interment was made at Marr's Hill Cemetery. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends.

WEALTHY NEW YORKERS MAY BE IMPLICATED IN LIQUOR SMUGGLING

New York, Aug. 3.—Arrests of several wealthy and prominent men on charges of conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition law was promised by federal authorities here today as a sequel to the capture of the schooner Henry L. Marshall off the Atlantic City shore Monday night, with a cargo of liquor on board.

Members of the crew, it was intimated, had given the authorities important "leads" concerning the financial sponsors of the Marshall and other rum runners which are said to have plied between the Bahama Islands and the United States coastal three-mile limit. The captain and mate of the Marshall escaped in a swift motorboat, leaving four members of the crew on board.

RETURNED SOLDIER IS CHOSEN AS CHAIRMAN OF ARBITRATION BOARD

Ottawa, Aug. 3.—S. Larose, a returned soldier, has been chosen as chairman of the board of arbitration to settle the dispute over wages ebetween the Hull firefighters and the city. Larose's name has been submitted to the minister of labor of Quebec, and if the choice is acceptable to the minister he will set a date for the hearing.

HAS NO KNOWLEDGE OF COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE HERE

E. A. Pocock, Local Member, Declares County Fee System Should Be Abolished.

In a brief interview today, E. A. Pocock, labor member of the public service commission, stated that he had no knowledge of the intention of the commission to come to London to investigate the many complaints made by motorists against the methods adopted by the county police in connection with the securing of alleged evidence of speeding on the country roads and especially at blind corners.

These complaints are more or less common from all parts of the province, and the commission is taking the whole matter under advisement, said Mr. Pocock.

Asked what action the commission would probably take in the matter, he replied to the effect that all the commissioners would do would be to make recommendations. At the present time these were likely to suggest to the Government that county high or chief constables be placed upon salary instead of payment by fees, as now prevails. A similar recommendation would also be made in regard to county magistrates. It is also proposed to suggest that justices of the peace be no longer allowed to try cases involving prison sentences. They would, however, still be allowed to take informations, and to deal with minor offences in their immediate vicinity, on the fee basis.

Mr. Pocock stated that he returns to Toronto on Monday next, and that the next work to be undertaken by the commission will be a study of Osgoode Hall and law procedure there.

20,000,000 RUSSIANS FACING STARVATION

Appeal Is Sent Out To All Parts of World by Soviet Committee.

London, Aug. 3.—The appeal sent out by the executive committee of the Third Internationale to the world proletariat that plots against Russia be frustrated, and that foreign governments be not permitted to make conditions for granting aid, declares that 20,000,000 people in Russia are threatened with hunger and death this year and next.

"Soviet Russia fought and suffered for the entire international proletariat," continues the appeal, "and received her bleeding wounds fighting the world's capitalism, not alone for the Russian revolutionary proletariat, but also for the world's workers."

The appeal charges that "the governments of England and the United States desire the Russian working classes to permit them to exchange a piece of bread for the opportunity of organizing counter-revolutions on Russian soil."

FAMINE IN VOLGA AREAS.

London, Aug. 3.—Famine conditions in the Volga provinces of Russia are very serious, George Chitcherin, Bolshevik minister of foreign affairs, has declared in a wireless dispatch to Vienna, says the Daily Herald.

The Petrograd region is declared not to have been seriously affected by the famine, its northern situation having saved crops from the ruin which overtook farm products in the southern parts of the country.

WILL RENDER RELIEF.

Riga, Aug. 3. — An international committee has been organized here to render relief to the starving of Russia. This committee, with the International Red Cross organization in Riga, which is looking after the transport to Russia of former prisoners of war, will maintain relations with regard to relief work between Moscow and Western Europe, it is announced. A conference is to be convened by all the great international and national benevolent organizations in this connection, the announcement states.

PEERS DEFEAT PLAN TO FORCE AUTUMN SESSION OF HOUSE

Marquis of Crewe Led Party of Malcontents.

London, Aug. 3.—Canadian Press.—Many members of the House of Lords had to forsake the recent yacht racing at Cowes to assist the government to resist the motion by a body of malcontent peers, led by the Marquis of Crewe, designed to force an autumn session of the British Parliament. The motion embodies a new ancient grievance against the government in throwing so much legislation upon the House of Lords in the closing days of the session. It was only defeated by 25, despite a large attendance on the government side of the House.

This malcontent movement on the part of the Upper House meets with some sympathy today in the newspapers not ufriendly to the government. The Daily Telegraph declares that a plain principle is raised for every citizen who is a believer in the two-chamber system of legislation, and who asks himself whether the principles should continue or be openly disregarded, with the inevitable result of progressive weakening of the position of the second chamber.

The Times remarks that a measure of federal devolution might relieve the growing evil of congestion of public business, but until such measure is enacted the House of Lords will remain the only bulwark of the country against the very present danger of hasty and ill-considered legislation.

The Daily Chronicle, chief governmental mouthpiece, remarks that the fact is that while the Lords might have some genuine ground for resenting the practice, it is a practice in which all government must at present indulge from sheer necessity. The only remedy, says the Chronicle, is devolution.

POLICE TRAPS KEEP COUNTY MAN FROM DRIVING TO LONDON

Took Train To Avoid Being a Possible Victim of the County "Cops."

Are the county police traps preventing motorists who reside in the surrounding district from coming to London? It appears so, for James Poole, who was dismissed by Squire W. H. Chittick this afternoon on a charge of violating the motor vehicles act, told the court that he came to London from Glencoe by train rather than risk the perils of the road.

He was charged with speeding on a certain section of the county roads, and the information was laid by County Constables Alex. Shaver and William Fifield. Shaver, it was claimed, was busy serving summonses on more motorists and so was not in court.

"What is your occupation, Mr. Poole?" inquired Constable Fifield.

"County constable," re replied.

"What do you do in connection with your occupation?" was the next question.

The officer stated that he acted when people were "bothered" by thieves or murderers.

"Aren't you known as an automobile trapper?" continued the defendant.

The constable indignantly denied that he was.

Squire Chittick apparently thought that Mr. Poole said "crapper," for he told the constable that if there was an information that he was playing "crap" that he would look into the matter.

Mr. Poole wanted to know if he could be given his expenses.

The squire stated that he had no authority to do such a thing.

The squire also added that the constable could lay an information for abuse for the way Mr. Poole had spoken to him during the examination. Mr. Poole remarked that he only asked him a question regarding being a "trapper," and did not make any statement to that effect during the examination.

Mr. Poole and his wife both swore that their car was in the garage on Sunday, July 17, the date on which the offence was alleged to have been committed, and on every other Sunday in the year except one.

The constable did admit that he might maek a mistake, but in the next breath said that the department of highways at Toronto might make a mistake in the number.

SAW MISSING MAN WORKING AT GUELPH ABOUT 2 YEARS AGO

Father of Abraham Brown May Be Located Through His Uncle.

In answer to an inquiry as to the whereabouts of the father of Abraham Broom, published in Tuesday's Advertiser, Thomas Pestrick of this city has written to this office stating that he was talking to the missing man two years ago, and that he was then employed in Guelph.

Mr. Pestrick states further that the missing man has an uncle residing near Seaforth, who, in his opinion, will likely be able to furnish information as to his present whereabouts.

SQUIRE CHITTICK CALLS DR. H. A. STEVENSON A JOKE

Laughs at Reported Visit Here of Public Service Commission.

When it was drawn to the attention of Squire W. H. Chittick, who presides over the county police court in motor vehicle cases, that Dr. H. A. Stevenson, member of the Ontario Legislature for London, was going to have a commission investigate the charges that county constables were out "trapping" motorists indiscriminately, the county official laughed.

"Did you ever hear of Joe Rymall, who was a member at Toronto?" the squire asked the reporter. "Well," he continued, "he was known as 'Joe the Joker.' This fellow is regarded as the 'joke.'"

And so the discussion on the matter ended.

U. S. PRISONERS IN RUSSIA LIBERATED

No Information as to Number of Persons Released.

Riga, Aug. 3.—United States prisoners in Russia already have been released from confinement, according to unofficial reports at the Bolshevik legation press bureau here today, but there was no word as to the number released or when, how or where they will be delivered across the border.

RAILWAY CONFERENCE TO DISCUSS QUESTION OF WAGE REDUCTIONS

New York, Aug. 3.—The questions of wage reductions and working conditions were taken up at a conference here today between heads of the four big railroad brotherhoods, the Switchmen's Union of North America, and a committee of the Association of Railway Executives.

The meeting, requested by the brotherhoods, is said to have been asked to "clearly place the railroads on record as to whether they will request further decreases in wages and the elimination of time and one-half for overtime."

After today's conference the brotherhood chiefs will report to their memberships which then will take a referendum vote on the 12 per cent wage reduction recommended by the United States labor board on July 1.

SET RATE OF EXCHANGE.

Ottawa, Aug. 3.—The rate of exchange in connection with shipments of freight between points in Canada and the United States from August 1 to 14, inclusive, will be 12¼ per cent; the surcharge on international freight shipments will be seven per cent. The rate of surcharge on international passenger business will be based on 12 per cent exchange.

CLUB LIFE IS NOT WHAT IT USED TO BE

Organizations Where "Good Fellows Get Together" Change With Time.

FATHER IS JANITOR NOW

New Business Clubs Have Innings, But Mothers' Clubs Sway Politics.

"London's Clubs" is a subject which requires a considerable amount of brain-cudgeling for nice handling? Ought London's clubs to be handled with gloves on or off? Ought they to be boldly juggled after the fashion of a vaudeville entertainer, or nicely twirled with the expert finesse of one of London's own bobbies twirling his nightstick, or a retired army colonel playing with his moustache?

The favorite club of a lot of Londoners used to be Walker's "Canadian Club." The proper method for handling this was to throw a full tumbler between one's solar plexus and backbone at five-minute intervals from 7:30 until midnight in the broad daylight of crystalled chandeliers in well-known club-houses to be found anywhere in the down town district.

Then and Now.

Trouble started when an economy wave of sentiment, unwisely promoted by the landlords and white-aproned attendants, resulted in reducing the size of the tumblers. It was heaps less amusement practicing with the smaller size. One used to get three throws for two bits, then somebody made it 10 cents straight, then two for a quarter, fifteen cents straight, until finally at 25 cents a throw, the club-houses having made a fortune, retired from buiness.

Now, there are still a few cellars and holes-in-the-wall where one may still practice at 50 cents and $1 a whisper, but the majority of former devotees limber their gullet muscles in their own coal bins at home. The result has been that poor students can no longer earn their way through college attending furnaces. Henceforth, in well-regulated families, "nobody works but father"—in the furnace room. Over-heated houses resulted in an influenza epidemic, and increasing demands for coal, quite naturally resulted in the dealers boosting their prices. In the old days, according to the dry agitators, a lot of paterfamilias didn't care whether there was any coal in the cellar at home. Score one for prohibition—the full coal bin, and usually a full janitor!

Oratory Limps.

Now every so often on lunch days at the old Tecumseh House, they have a Spielers' Canadian Club. Where Johnny Walker once passed blithely around the table, oratory limps on no stronger inspiration than cafe-noir. Poor little Johnny Walker got thumped in the solar plexus with the heavy head of a hat-pin. The pin proper went clear through and penetrated his backbone. "The woman tempted" and Johnny only has a wishbone now—he wishes the good old times were back again. The subtle temptation of "the female of the species" was deadlier than the mail of hatpins, hatchets and the lead of pencils used in marking ballot paper against which Johnny struggled in his last mortal combat.

The woman promised friend hubby that if he would forsake Johnny Walker she would stay home from the meetings of the Wild Caucasian Tea-Users and cook hubby's meals the way mother used to do. The woman hasn't kept her promise—but what's the use of blaming a woman for anything; the woman still babbles over the teacups about the most efficacious methods for shutting off hubby's supply of corncob pipes. She has already boycotted into submission the corner grocer who used to sell corncob pipes, and the grocer has promised not to sell tobacco—after the tobacco stores are closed.

Poor Man's Club.

The poor man's club today is the park. Only the poor man's wife can afford to pay ten or fifteen cents a glass for coco-cola. But in the park the overburdened taxpayer may drink freely of aqua pura from the bubbling fountain, while he discusses politics, and throws pebbles at the squirrels in self-defence.

From speaking of clubs, it would be very easy to frisk over to a playful reference to the Knut Club, but that intellectual enterprise is worthy of a special article in itself.

The city editor in giving this assignment probably expected a serious recountal of the organization and activities of the more exclusive clubs of London, but that is a much too heavy assignment for a democratic reporter in hot weather. Only people who own automobiles belong to the exclusive clubs.

Automobiles are so thick in London that autoists keep mildly intoxicated all the time from inhaling gasoline fumes. Charged with drunkenness in police court, they quite truthfully plead that they are not traveling on beer, whiskey, 2-per-cent or any other alcoholic motive power. Gasoline is not alcoholic. It is a much stronger stimulant. It is so strong, in fact, that the ordinary motorist can park his car, eat a 75-cent plate of cold ham and creamed potatoes, and listen for two hours to a dry symposium without taking a drink. They don't have to take a drink. They have evolved from the fish stage to the higher plane of dry, undiluted air-breathers. The Camels' Club is a pure fake. The Camels go without a drink because they don't need a drink. They draw their spiritual nourishment from the garage-impregnated atmosphere.

Nut Brew.

Of course, there is a small group of vestigial creatures whose lungs have not sufficiently developed to breathe unmoistened air. Nor are they well enough entrenched in vested interests of lands and chattels to offer the security for purchasing motor cars. Or, perhaps, they could get the motor cars, only gasoline is high-priced and usually sold for cash. What chips they do win they squander in secret places never yet photographed for the movie patronage of infidels, and receive in exchange full and accredited membership in an organization of tree-climbers, known as the Ourang-Utang Club. How they get it is a mystery, but Inspector Keenleyside has stationed spotters in Victoria and other parks to watch the squirrels. They are suspected of having stills in the tree trunks, where they make a kind of nut brew, about half-way in strength between pure alcohol and Rockefeller's Standard gasoline.

The theory that squirrels live on nuts is about ready for exploding. Squirrels eat peanut shells and chewing-gum wrappers. They make money out of the nuts they gather together.

Latter-Day Zoologists.

While still on the exposition of the Latter-Day Zoologists of London, it would be fitting to refer to the Lion's Club, which roars every Thursday, and also to sing a requiem over the defunct Moose and Elk Clubs, which at one time tried to horn into local prominence. The Lions are fed weekly at the Tecumseh House. They are still carnivorous, but sufficiently civilized to eat cooked meat on special occasions. They are ardently patriotic, and strong for law, order and charity. In the old days when the only charity that a man expected was a drink in turn, the Elks and the Moose made a better showing at the popular saltlicks and pretzel-counters. They were a good-hearted aggregation, the Elks and Moose, but they low no more at the Great Saltlick of the London, Ont., Sahara. In their place has come the hay-eating buffalo (and baled hay, at that) in Springbank Zoo.

Jolly Good Fellows.

The Rotary Club is a bunch of wise guys. They picked on blue Monday, the family wash-day, as the weekly festive occasion for staying away from home and singing "Pretty Katy" and "Liza Jane" at luncheon at the hosteiry down by the railroad tracks. It's a well-regulated, ultra-exclusive club, pursuing the safe and sane policy of not admitting to membership more than two plumbers, or two doctors, or two lawyers at one time. They do a lot of charity work, too—that is the club in general does. And they all have automobiles.

The Kiwanis are a bunch of good Indians. Their name in old Indian used to mean "I trade," but it sounded too businesslike; so they revised it to mean "Service," but everybody who talks loudly about "Service" isn't necessarily a Kiwanis or a Rotarian. This is an age of service, and it serves most people right: most of them get just what they are looking for, sooner or later.

The Hermitage Club, the Forest City, the Alerts Club, the Brunswick Club, and a lot of other clubs are recreation centres in their ideal, whereas the Rotarians, Kiwanis and Lions make a kind of glorified business or trade consciousness, their ideal.

Clubs Galore.

The London Club and the Country Club still survive to tell the history of the old original aristocratic clubs of other days. The Travelers' Club, a centre of many a joyous evening in departed years, was the original middle-class, or bourgeois rendezvous, for men whose blood had taken on a paler tinge of blue through the crude necessity of having to earn a living in trade or business. Some of the best-hearted and most public spirited men London ever had were members of the old Travelers' Club.

Now there are clubs galore, boys' clubs, girls' clubs, mothers' clubs, father-and-son clubs, bird clubs, and gardening clubs. The club-man is passing away and the club-woman, the club-family is taking his place in public life.

One shouldn't quite forget the Round Table Club, a small group of imperialists who meet regularly to discuss problems of extending and safeguarding the British Empire, nor the Baconian Club, an exclusive highbrow organization, which has persisted in its fortnightly pow-wows of pure logic and Aristolian philosophy nearly as long as the Baconian theory itself.

There used to be a Radical Club, whose alleged Bolshevistic discussions disturbed the peace of quiet Sunday evenings in London, and excited horrified comment in Hamilton and Toronto. It disbanded, but it is said a Wobbly Club has been lately organized in Victoria Park.

PURCHASERS REFUSE

Hayman & WDillis until these defects are made right.

"It is a question for the commission to consider whether they should make payment to Mr. Willis of the balance of their loan before he has put things right with the purchaser. Of course, the house is probably worth all the commisison is proposing to put into it, but we should have difficulty in getting Goodwin to start payment unless the place is made right."

Upon motion the clerk was instructed by the commission to furnish the contractors with a copy of Mr. Weekes' letter.

Watch for Fireworks.

That Architect Crowley from Manchester, England, who is reported to have inspected the Pine Lawn houses on hise own hook and found them all right, was here about two months ago, before the present conditions were found out," D. J. Tallant, a member of the housing commission informed The Advertiser today.

"We do not need any experts from England to pass the work, but will await the result of Building Inspector Piper's tour, which ought to be concluded in three days' time. This will settle the matter, and if there is anything wrong watch out for fireworks. We must protect the workingmen, returned soldiers and widows who have purchased these houses, and all contractors involved will be compelled to live right up to specifications, if we have to fire Architect McBride and get a man on the job who will enforce things fairly to the letter."

FRANCE NEGOTIATING WITH BOLSHEVIKI REGARDING DEBT

Paris, Aug. 3.—Negotiations relative to the recognition of the Russian debt to France were commenced last night. Before the collapse of the czarist regime in Russia, that Government had contracted a debt to France approximating $5,000,000,000. When the Soviet Administration of Russia was established the Bolsheviki refused to acknowledge this debt.

LISBON THREATENED BY REVOLUTIONISTS

London, Aug. 3.—A Reuter's dispatch filed in Madrid yesterday states that following rumors from Vigo that a revolution had broken out in Lisbon, a telegram received direct from the Portuguese capital said extensive precautionary measures had been taken in that city. Troops had been brought in from the provinces, the dispatch added, but all was quiet in Lisbon and throughout the country.

BRITISH INSTITUTIONS VISITED BY TEACHERS

London, Aug. 3.—(By Canadian Press).—Canadian and New Zealand school teachers touring the mother country under the auspices of the Overseas Education League yesterday spent a busy day, visiting the British Museum and the National Gallery. They were afterwards entertained at tea at the Colonial Institute. Sir Charles Lucas, chairman of the imperial studies committee, gave a cordial address of welcome, wherein he remarked on the wonderfully beneficial effect which would be produced for Britons if they were able to fly to Canada.

Miss Hendry, representing Ontario in the delegation from Canada, eulogized the work of the institute. She promised that the Canadian teachers would exert their utmost power to impress upon their pupils the dignity and honor pertaining to British citizenship.

The party will leave for France and Belgium next week.

GUELPH MAN MAY TAKE PLACE OF GREAT CARUSO

Ed. Johnston, Who Sang in London Last Winter, Is Mentioned As the World's Greatest Living Tenor—Former Canadian Is Now in Chicago.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

GUELPH, Aug. 2.—Friends of Ed Johnston, the famous Canadian singer, who has won a world-wide reputation for his magnificent voice, believe that he will, as a result of the death of Caruso, be acclaimed as the world's greatest tenor. Johnston has frequently been mentioned as the only man living with a voice comparable to that of Caruso.

Johnston spent twelve years training in Italy, and everywhere his singing won the highest praise of the greatest critics. Johnston is at present in Chicago. A few months ago he sang in London, Ontario, and while there took occasion to visit his parents here. He is 42 years old.

Those who know him most intimately declare that the rigorous training he has undergone in Italy and in America would scarcely be credited, amounting at times to almost hardship in the way of self-denial of all luxuries in the way of eatables and a good time. While in Italy it is stated that he frequently practiced almost continually for eight hours at a time.

HOPED FOR RECOVERY.

NAPLES, Aug. 2.—Caruso died today. The great singer, whose ultimate recovery had been hoped for under the benign influence of his own Italy, passed away at 9 o'clock this morning at the Hotel Vesuvius in this city. He had been brought here hurriedly from Sorrento, on the Bay of Naples, where less than a week ago he avowed his returning strength, and expressed the conviction that he would sing again as in the days of old.

Caruso had been able to visit the famous sanctuary of Our Lady of Pompeii, giving thanks for his recovery. He went also to the wonderful island of Capri, where he attended a luncheon in his honor. But soon afterwards unfavorable symptoms, in the form of a high fever, manifested themselves, and his wife telegraphed to a Rome specialist to come to Sorrento. It was then discovered that a new internal abscess had developed.

Was Very Weak.

Caruso's removal to Rome for an operation was advised, but he showed such weakness that it was impossible to transfer him further than Naples, where he arrived by sea early Sunday evening.

Physicians were called into consultation, and their examination showed the presence of a sub-phrenic abscess, accompanied by severe peritonitis.

An operation at noon today was decided upon, but the patient's condition became suddenly worse at 4:30 in the morning, and he died soon afterwards. Prior to this heart stimulation was resorted to hourly.

In order that Caruso should not tire himself his attending physicians ordered him not to speak, so during the last night he did not utter a word. Among those present at the bedside the most pathetic figure was his mother, who had always clung obstinately to her little home, despite her son's efforts to accustom her to the material comforts of life.

Wife With Him.

Present also at the bedside were his wife, who was Dorothy, daughter of Park Benjamin, of New York; Caruso's little daughter Gloria, and his son, Rodolof, his brother Giovanni, several nephews and the composers Vincenzo Bellezza and Paolo Longone.

For a time, after his arrival in Italy, Caruso showed improvement, his native air having a beneficial effect. Nevertheless, he conserved his strength, and for this reason was obliged to refuse a request to sing at a reception given by the admiralty to Crown Prince Hirohito of Japan. That his voice remained strong and clear was evidenced when he recently sang before the soprano Hildago and the baritone Montesane, who expressed their delight. There was grave anxiety, however, when Caruso, only a few days ago, began to show signs of depression. The rising temperature, which had characterized previous attacks, recurred and steadily his condition grew worse until Saturday, when he suffered from violent pains in the abdominal region. The medical consultation followed and it was apparent that the patient was not only suffering acute physical pain, but that his heart was weakening rapidly. Oxygen was administered and other measures were taken to prolong his vitality.

Caruso himself wanted to proceed immediately to Rome, but he was dissuaded from this because such a journey, it was pointed out, might prove fatal.

At his own request Caruso's body will be embalmed, and the funeral services will be held tomorrow.

Thousand Railwaymen Will See Monster Demonstration Today

Delegates To Big Convention of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers Hear Fine Address From W. L. Best—Accommodation of City Is Being Taxed by Big Meeting.

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 2.—The convention of the B. of L. F. and E. is still growing towards larger proportions, and the green and yellow colorings of the order are becoming more conspicuous on the streets. The delegates are now arriving in droves. A couple of trains of 27 Pullmans with 300 members from the New England States will arrive in time for Wednesday's demonstration. Pitcairn, a suburb of Pittsburg, and a terminal of the Pennsylvania R. R., sends a few dozen delegates.

The hotels and private apartments have a full quota of visitors. London is assisting in mitigating the crowded conditions by returning to their homes nightly. Over 1,200 delegates are looked for before the convention closes, and by that time the brotherhood will have representatives from the Arctic Circle to the Gulf, and the area between the two oceans.

Many Women Present.

The lady visitors are the guests of the auxiliaries of the four railways in the city, and the visitors were given a luncheon at the Y. M. C. A. Building this afternoon.

Grand President W. G. Lee, L. E. Shepherd, grand chief of the O. R. C., and others addressed a men's meeting in the Engineers' Auditorium today, with a large number of the brotherhoods in attendance.

The Shriners, Elks and Knights of Columbus have opened their rooms to the respective members of the orders. The sessions during the morning and afternoon were given over to business directly connected with the order.

Several of the visitors from over the border went to the lakeside yesterday, and the amusement conditions there, its situation as a lakeside resort, the lovely surroundings, and the crowds, were a revelation. So pleased were they with the appearance and many attractions of the port, that a number of them went down again today and had an enjoyable time of it.

W. L. Best Speaks.

William L. Best, Canadian legislative representative at Ottawa of the brotherhood, addressed the members today, taking for topic the words: "Go Forward."

"We cannot hope," he said, "to establish an ideal society or build up an entirely perfect social order in our day and generation no more than the individual can hope to succeed in living the ideal life; but the exercise of greater love and devotion to more unselfish service will, in a very practical way, contribute something worth while to the wholesome progress and uplift of discouraged humanity and thus afford a worthy place in co-operation with those who are zealous to go forward

"Like Moses, who realized his own weakness and underestimated his own possibilities, national and industrial leaders today are still human, and therefore find it difficult to always discern the right course to take. Encouragement and closer co-operation from the rank and file would serve as an incentive to renewed efforts, and would undoubtedly insure greater achievement. The supreme test of wisdom and statesmanship comes in periods of industrial and national reconstruction. Economic conditions intensify and frequently are causes of pronounced discontent and often dissension. Reforms come slowly. In such periods events are equally slow and disappointing." Asking his hearers to respect and tolerate the views of their fellow workers, the speaker said: "It is perhaps more particularly in the industrial field where many of our most acute problems originate. Men in the rank and file frequently do not view matters which vitally concern them as do their leaders. In such circumstances the greatest patience and sympathy should be exercised, even though the 'other fellow' does not see eye to eye with us."

Largely Attended.

The ball tendered the delegates in the auditorium tonight had a record crowd, the guests including many hundreds of prominent local people, and a big representation of the railway folk. An excellent orchestra and a list of modern dances, as well as other features of enjoyment, made the night and early morning a feature of the week's doings a very pleasant memory to the guests of the railwaymen.

IS LOOKING FOR IMPROVEMENT IN CONDITIONS

Secretary, However, Will Not Say When Factory May Start.

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 2.—E. H. Eckart, secretary of the Edison phonograph works, Orange, N.J., who has been looking over the company's property in the city, would not say when St. Thomas might expect that the proposed factory here would be a working possibility. The business situation, in both Canada and the United States, shows a tendency to slowly return to normal and Mr. Eckart saw in the near future the branch of the company in the city a going concern.

Elevator Falls Three Floors.

J. W. White, son-in-law of Mrs. G. W. Wilson, 89 Gladstone avenue, had his leg broken and three ladies were badly bruised when the Sterling Bank building elevator at Brandon, in which they were descending, fell three floors to the basement recently.

Murphies Scarce.

West Elgin is suffering from a famine in new potatoes, because of the torrid season. Where in the past a hill of spuds was sufficient for the day, several mounds are now necessary to produce a respectable dimensioned meal. The crop, it is feared, will be the worst in years.

The corn-borer, too, is geting in his work on the plants in both Aldborough and Dunwich. About 25 per cent of the cornfields are damaged in South Yarmouth.

To Accommodate the Crowd.

The street cars will run one way only tomorrow afternoon, west on Talbot street, and no transfers will be needed to reach the park. This change in the operation of the system is done to expedite the service and give greater accommodation to the patrons of the road who will be with the railwaymen at their big outing in Pinafore Park on Wednesday.

One Side In the Air.

Speeding at a gait of 50 miles an hour as alleged by a witness, John T. Johnston, Hamilton, was fined $10 and costs today. The offence was committed at the corner of Southwick and Talbot streets, and according to a fireman, who saw the flying turn, the wheels of one side of the car were in the air and the other left some rubber on the curbing. Mr. Johnston did not appear, but he left his fine with Chief Armstrong.

Chose a Quiet Hour.

William McAlpine acknowledged taking too much during a quiet hour last evening and was fined, with costs, $30.50 or three months today. McAlpine promising to join a harvester excursion for the West, the magistrate was lenient.

Death of Mrs. Plunkett.

A life-long resident of the city, Mrs. Ellen Plunkett, died yesterday at her home in her 85th year. She had been married twice, her first husband, Samuel Doan, predeceased her about 30 years ago, and the demise of J. G. Plunkett, her late husband, took place ten years ago in New York. J. E. Ostrander, city, is a nephew, and Catherine O'Neil, St. Thomas, a sister-in-law. The interment will be in St. Thomas Cemetery tomorrow afternoon.

Only Seven Died.

There were only seven deaths in the city during the past month, against 23 for a year ago. The births were 29, sixteen boys and thirteen girls, and there were twelve marriages.

Visit the Old Town.

Kenneth E. Finlay, Richmond, Va., Mrs. Finlay and Mr. and Mrs. William Snead, Charlotte, N. C., have been the guests of Mr. Finlay's parents, 1 East avenue. Mr. Finlay, who is proprietor of the Broadway Theatre, Richmond, is on a motor trip and he and party have left for Toronto, Montreal and down the Atlantic Maine coast.

GOOD GRAIN YIELD AROUND GRANTON

More Rain Is Needed To Help Potato Crop in the District.

GRANTON, Aug. 2.—The farmers all through this district have made excellent progress with their harvesting, and those who have threshed wheat state that it is a splendid yield. The recent rain has helped things for those who wanted to begin their plowing, as it has softened up the ground, which in many places was baked so hard that plowing was impossible. The rain has also helped the potato crop.

Many fine fields of corn are in evidence, and corn promises to be not only an unusually heavy yield, but of the best quality for many years.

McBRIEN IS HELD ON THEFT CHARGE

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 2.—Sydney McBrien was arrested in Toronto today for the local police on warrants charging him with theft of $1,000 and $500 from Oxford County farmers. The warrants were issued two years ago, although a third warrant was issued recently. The case had to do with the disposal of stock for which, it is alleged, he received the money but forgot to deliver the stock or make returns for the stock. A constable will go to Toronto for McBrien tomorrow.

GAS BOOM AT MERTON.

MILTON, Aug. 2.—Merton, nine miles east of Milton, has a gas boom. Within the last week, while operators were boring for oil on the farm of Archie Speers, they struck a flow of gas at a depth of 200 feet, and at 500 feet the pressure became so strong that a controlling gauge had to be affixed.

ILLEGAL SALE COSTLY FOR PT. DOVER MEN

Liquor Spotters From Toronto Star Witnesses For the Prosecution.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

SIMCOE, Aug. 2.—Fines and costs totalling $916 for illegally selling liquor were imposed upon four Port Dover men by Magistrate Gunton today after trials lasting all day. A fifth man, Carl Kurz, was allowed out, as the crown did not offer evidence, and conviction was not pressed.

The four men are: Albert Faulkner, liveryman, $200 and $28 costs; E. L. Nichols, proprietor of the Dominion Hotel, $200 and $28 costs; William Kurz, garageman, $200 and $28 costs; Dan McLeod, fisherman, $200 and $28 costs. T. J. Agar of Toronto, acting for Nichols, Faulkner and Kurz, bent all his efforts to secure the acquittal of Faulkner, who was the first placed on trial. When Faulkner was found guilty he advised both his other clients to plead guilty, which they did.

Spotters' Evidence.

Two Toronto liquor spotters, John Parish and Charles Watson, were the star witnesses for the prosecution. The defence alleged that the two men's evidence should not be takes, as Magistrate Livingstone of Brantford, and Magistrate Jelfs of Hamilton, declared their evidence to be unreliable in the liquor cases in those two centers. The magistrate ruled that evidence of unreliability in Brantford and Hamilton was not irrelevant to the case.

"Watson and I went down to Port Dover to secure convictions under the O. T. A. on July 1," said Parish. "I saw Faulkner in his backyard, and asked him if he had any liquor to sell. He said that he had only one bottle left, and asked me to come to the back of the livery stable. There I told him that I didn't have a cent with me, but that I would get a friend, and we would buy the bottle. I went down the street and got Watson, who was wearing a coat. He paid $7 for the bottle, after Faukner had gone in his house and brought out a bottle."

Took It To Hotel.

"What did you do with the bottle?" asked Mr. Agar.

"We took it to the hotel and sampled it," replied Parish.

The bottle was exhibited, and showed about three fingers of whiskey in the bottom.

"What did you sample it for?"

"Because we wanted to be sure that we hadn't bought cold tea."

"You and Watson drank nearly all of that bottle?"

"Yes."

"In spite of the fact that the Government label was intact on the bottle?"

"Yes. They can very easily steam off the label and put it back on again."

"Is it so, that on July 1 you were so drunk in the Dominion Hotel that the waitresses refused to wait on you?"

"No."

"Is it true that you then lurched out into the hotel kitchen?"

"No."

"Were you so drunk that you leaned up against the Sterling Bank for a considerable portion of the night?"

"No."

Acted as Agent.

McLeod, in his trial, admitted that he acted as an agent of the two license officers in buying a bottle of liquor, but denied that he sold them liquor. Both license officers stated that they asked McLeod to buy them a bottle of liquor, and gave him $7. He came back to them in a short time.

They then asked License Inspector Richard Edmonds to charge him with illegally selling liquor. The magistrate ruled that whether McLeod received payment for the liquor before it was delivered or after made no difference, and that he was guilty of selling.

Another Charge.

William Kurz, one of the defendants, is facing a charge of shooting at Robert Leitch of Port Dover, with intent to maim. His case was laid over for a week today by the magistrate. Two former bondsmen, Lorne Roberts, and Charlton D. Woolley, both of Woodhouse, refused to renew their sureties of $1,000 each. Karl Kurz, William's brother, and Thomas Lowe of Port Dover, renewed the sureties. Kurz in addition, put up $2,000 bail.

The courtroom all day was crowded to capacity, and farmers from all over the county crowded the hotels.

WOODSTOCK MAY SECURE $150,000 MILK FACTORY

Dairymen of Oxford County Are Planning Big Plant.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 2.—This city is in line for a new milk products industry. A company, to be known as the Oxford Milk Products Company Limited, with a capital of $150,000, has been organized, and is now preparing to locate here. The company includes many prominent farmers and dairymen of Woodstock and Oxford County, and all have subscribed liberally to the capital stock. The formation of the company is the outcome of the decision of the dairymen in the vicinity of Beechville to market their own milk and products. The right to manufacture by the American process "whole milk powder," known as the "economic process," has been secured. It is expected that the city will grant the company a free site for a factory, and that the plant will be running by December 1.

Cannot Export Corn.

No less than six townships of Oxford County have been in quarantine, so far as exporting corn in the stalks is concerned. This action was taken as a result of the ravages of the cornborer in these parts. According to local authorities, the adjoining townships will also be quarantined as soon as the Dominion inspection is finished. The quarantine does not affect the exporting of shelled corn.

NO CONTEST ARRANGED.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Georges Carpentier, says the Daily Mail today, has not arranged to fight Tom Gibbons, or for any other contest in the United States, and it is extremely improbable that he ever will be seen in the ring in the United States again.

CLAIM AUTO WAS OBTAINED UNDER FALSE PRETENCES

Complications Develop in Connection With Case At Ingersoll.

INGERSOLL, Aug. 2.—An adjournment till Tuesday next at Woodstock was made today in a police case in which N. W. Willoughby, who, after an unsuccessful attempt to conduct the Daily Chronicle, made an assignment a week ago, was charged with obtaining an automobile under false pretences. The auto, which was the chief prize in a subscription contest, was purchased from Archie Clarke and awarded to Mrs. C. Davis of West Oxford.

Willoughby gave a note, which has not yet matured, and a check in payment. The check was never honored, there being insufficient funds in the bank each time it was presented. Clark purchased the car from a Windsor man and made a cash payment and gave a note for the balance.

In disposing of the car to Willoughby, however, it developed in the hearing that he did not mention that there was a lien on the car. Because of the complications the case has created wide interest in the district. Magistrate Ball of Woodstock presided. W. T. McMullen prosecuted, and S. G. McKay appeared for Willoughby.

LIQUOR DECISION IS AGAIN POSTPONED

Counsel Promises To Produce the Original Order Sent To Montreal.

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 2.—At the request of J. M. McEvoy, London, this morning the deliverance of the judgment in the Jones liquor prosecution was again postponed for a week.

The $1,500 in booze of various brands will still remain locked up in the strong room of the police department until Mr. McEvoy produces such additional evidence as will satisfy the magistrate that the consignment of liquor is the property of J. E. Jones, South Yarmouth.

Mr. McEvoy promises to produce the original order, sent by Jones to Montreal in care of Mr. Cosley, Port Stanley. When it is expected that the relationship between John H. Jones and John E. Jones, will be cleared up.

The order for the liquor was sent by John E. Jones, according to Mr. Jones' testimony, but the consignment found in the M. C. R. freight house was directed to John H. Jones. The accused, John E., swore the goods were intended for him. In case of an adverse finding Mr. McEvoy will possibly appeal.

BUILDING CONTINUES BRISK AT SARNIA

Figures Are Well Ahead of Same Period Last Year.

SARNIA, Aug 2.—Sarnia's building record, which passed the million mark for the first time in the city's history earlier in the month, held up well during July, and closed with a total of $83,438. This compares well with the $72,150 recorded in July, 1920.

At today's luncheon club meeting at the chamber of commerce the question of joining the international picnic at Tashmoo Park on August 12 was discussed, and from the attitude of the greater number of members it looks as if Sarnia will be represented by a large delegation. Many members had the floor during the discussion, and not a dissenting voice was heard. The idea seemed to prevail that it would hardly be right to have Sarnia not represented at this gathering of the people of Port Huron and Marysville.

FRUSTRATED PLAN TO DYNAMITE FURNACES

Police Are Investigating Peculiar Story Told by Hobo.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

DETROIT, Aug. 2.—The quick wit of Jacob Cinckney, colored, probably prevented the dynamiting of the Ford Blast Furnaces at River Rouge, and the home of Charles E. Sorenson, general superintendent of the plant, by two Italians about midnight.

Cinckney, who told Springwells police that he was "just a bum," was sleeping beside a pile of railroad ties a short distance from the United Petroleum Company's plant. He was awakened by a conversation between two men, who he said were Italians, and who were making plans to dynamite Ford's plant as well as the home of the general manager.

The colored man noticed a small box lying nearby which the men referred to as dynamite. Realizing that if discovered he probably would be beaten or killed, Cinckney decided to eradicate the source of his danger. Creeping up behind the men he grabbed the box containing the explosive and ran with the men in hot pursuit.

Near the United Petroleum's plant was a big pond. Into this he plunged still clinging to the dynamite. The two men followed for some distance into the water, then turned back and escaped.

There were seven sticks of dynamite in the box. Each stick contained 40 per cent nitro-glycerin. No other explosives were found.

SEES NO PROSPECT OF PROVINCIAL ELECTION

MONTREAL, Aug. 2.—Hon. L. A. Taschereau, premier of Quebec, stated today that there was no present idea of having a general provincial election, and pointed out that since the present Quebec Legislature was elected in 1919 it has yet two years more to run.

He further intimated that it was not the present intention of the Government to hold a session of the Legislature this fall.

GOVERNOR MILLER WILL WELCOME NOTED CHEMISTS

British Chemists To Hold Annual Meeting At Niagara Falls.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(By Canadian Press).—Governor Miller of New York State will go on Labor Day to Niagara Falls to welcome officially the delegates of the British Society of Chemical Industry, who will visit the United States to hold a joint meeting with the American Chemical Society. The exceptional courtesy is due to the fact that the noted scientists are coming for the first meeting of the British society which has ever been held in North America.

At the head of the overseas delegation will be Sir William J. Pope, K. B.E., F.R.S., president of the Society of Chemical Industry, who, two years ago was knighted for his valuable services in the production of mustard gas for the war against Germany.

Among other prominent members will be Dr. Louis A. Jordan, chevalier of the crown of Italy, who was sent to aid the Italian Government in the making of explosives; Dr. Frederick William Atack, whose principal work has been the chemistry of dyes; Dr. Andrew McWilliams, one of the best-known steel metallurgists in Great Britain, and Dr. Andrew Smith, an explosives engineer of international reputation.

To Meet Canadians.

The British visitors are coming to meet with the Canadian branches of their society. The principal sessions are to be held at Montreal and Toronto, after which they and the Canadian members will make a tour of chemical industries in the Dominion before crossing the international border.

Some of the eminent Canadian chemists will be Dr. R. F. Ruttan, past president of the Canadian section of the society, chairman of the advisory council of scientific research and formerly vice-president of the parent society; Dr. Milton L. Hersey, one of the founders and past chairman of the Canadian section, and Dr. C. R. Hazen, chairman of the Montreal section.

After having had luncheon on the Canadian side of the falls the party will be taken in automobiles to the American side, where they will be met by Governor Miller and a reception committee. This committee will be: S. R. Church, chairman of the American section of the Society of Chemical Industry; Professor Edgar F. Smith, president of the American Chemical Society; Dr. David Wesson, president of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers; Dr. Acheson Smith, president of the Electro-Chemical Society, and Professors Charles F. Chandler, Ira Remsen and M. T. Bogert, and Dr. William H. Nichols, all past presidents of the Society of Chemical Industry.

Going To Buffalo.

Following the reception at Niagara Falls, the party will be taken through some of the power plants and then proceed to Buffalo. They will then go in a special train of sleeping cars, after dinner at Buffalo, and journey to Syracuse, where they will be entertained at luncheon and inspect the Solvay process factories there. They will start to Albany, from which point they will embark on the night boat on the Hudson River for New York City.

Their arrival here will be signalized by a series of receptions and entertainments, and by joint sessions and social functions with the American Chemical Society, which holds its fall meeting here from September 6 to 10, inclusive.

It is estimated that there will be between three and four thousand participating in this notable gathering of Anglo-Saxon chemists. The total membership of the American Chemical Society is 15,500, of which 2,500 are in the New York section alone. The local section of the Society of Chemical Industry has several hundred members, and the visiting delegation from Great Britain and Canada will number three or four hundred.

Will Open Tuesday.

According to the preliminary program of the American Chemical Society, made public today, registration begins at the Chemists' Club, 52 East 41st street, on Tuesday, September 6. The dinner of the council will also be held at the club. The general meeting will convene at ten o'clock on the following day, Wednesday, September 7, at Columbia University, and at half past twelve o'clock the Society of Chemical Industry's luncheon to British and Canadian visitors will take place. There will be a reception and lawn party for the members of all societies concerned, to be held on the campus of Columbia University, and in the evening comity will be drawn closer at a smoker in the Waldorf-Astoria. A joint meeting of the American Chemical Society and of the Society of Chemical Industry of Great Britain has been arranged for four o'clock on Thursday afternoon, September 8, and in the evening will be held a banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria. The various divisional and sectional meetings are scheduled at Columbia University.

The sessions will conclude with a public meeting, at which the president, Dr. Smith, will deliver his annual address. The last day will be given to excursions to various chemical plants and other points of interest in the city.

Great Welsh Literary Festival Is Attracting Record Crowds.

CARNARVON, Wales, Aug. 2.—The annual Eisteddford, or musical and literary festival, opened today with large throngs in attendance. ALL ARE PLAYING A WAITING GAME IN NORTH OXFORD

United Farmers Are Likely To Hold a Convention Shortly.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 2.—The Conservatives of North Oxford will hold a convention in September to decide on what action will be taken in the by-election for the legislature to fill the seat made vacant by the death of John Calder. Already the names of H. L. Neely and E. A. Rea have been mentioned in connection with the Conservative nomination, but neither has as yet given decided answer to whether or not they will be candidates at the convention.

It now looks like a three-cornered contest with the U. F. O., the Liberals and Conservatives having candidates. The U. F. O. will hold a convention shortly, when it is expected J. J. Morrison and a number of the Ontario Cabinet ministers will be present.

Prominent among the farmers nominated to go before this convention are W. E. Thompson and J. F. McDonald, both of East Zorra Township. The Liberal names now being mentioned are ex-Mayor Gahagan and G. F. Mahon and Dr. Sinclair. The parties are, however, playing a waiting game, keeping watch on the other fellow to see what he is going to do.

PRESIDENT OUTLINES EXPANSION OF D. F. A.

Tour of Scottish Football Team Was Entirely Satisfactory.

TORONTO, Aug. 3.—President Dan McNeil, in his address at the meeting of the Dominion Football Association tonight outlined the expansion of the D. F. A. during his term of office, during which time the associations in the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Nova Scotia have become affiliated. In speaking of the tour of the Scottish team he said that it was a success in every way, although the trip to the United States was not a financial success, and the D. F. A. has been involved in an outlay which it is expected they will recover from the S. F. A. soon. The Scottish team were greatly pleased with their treatment on the trip, and already arrangements have been practically completed for the visit of another prominent club next summer.

WANT RESTRICTIONS ON PULP REMOVED

Americans Have Leased Large Areas of Canadian Land.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(Canadian Press.)—Under a joint resolution just passed by both Houses, President Harding will soon appoint a commission to confer with the Canadian authorities for the purpose of removing restrictions on pulpwood cut on crown lands. United States paper manufacturers have leased large areas of crown lands, but the pulpwood cut thereon must be manufactured in Canada. Representative Mann, in discussing the resolution, credited the Canadians with being "wider awake than we were when we passed the tariff bill the other day." He thought it probable Canadians would not only forbid exportation of pulpwood, but also of wood pulp, and said it would be a sad day for United States paper manufacturers and newspaper owners if they did.

BIG TORONTO FIRM IS CLOSING DOWN

Massey-Harris Works To Reopen When Conditions Justify.

TORONTO, Aug. 2.—General Manager Thomas Bradshaw of the Massey-Harris Company, in a statement issued tonight, announced the closing of the works, which will be reopened "as soon as conditions justify."

The statement declares that the company has been greatly affected by the sudden and heavy drop in the value of farm produce.

"Wages must come down," reads the statement, "but great hardships would be caused by too sudden a drop, and we think the consumer should recognize this and give labor time to adjust itself to new conditions."

Mr. Bradshaw advised the members of the industrial council that before reopening there would have to be a downward adjustment of wages, "as it will be impossible next season to sell goods without a substantial reduction in the cost and price." As to the amount of the reduction no definite statement could be made. The management will be guided by conditions as they prevail at the time of reopening.

The company is reported to have been decreasing its staff for some weeks, but the definite closing of the works means lack of employment for over 1,000 workers.

Splash! Splash! Oh don't you wish you were here too! These balmy lake breezes fairly intoxicate me. My fur reel, and my head reels, and now I'm reeling this off to you. But really, this is a real place!

Yesterday I sparkled around like an honest-to-goodness fish. But my real ambition now is to dash around like a pollywog! Don't you think that is romantic?

But mind you, that horrid old sun went and burned me all up! However, I fooled him just the same — for I ran right home and rubbed on some Campana's Italian Balm, and all the pain and redness went away. If you don't believe me, try it yourself!

Britisher Talks Optimistically At Winnipeg of Improved Conditions.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 2.—Bringing with him an optimistic message of improved business conditions in the old country, Lord Northcliffe and his party reached Winnipeg this afternoon. After a brief stay during which the party was entertained by a drive around the city, Lord Northcliffe left for Vancouver, where he expects to arrive on August 6, sailing from the Pacific coast for the Antipodes and the Orient.

Interviewed here Lord Northcliffe reiterated his previous statement that he was here on a purely pleasure trip and declined to discuss matters of recent issue. On the political situation in Great Britain, however, the visitor expressed the opinion that a general election would take place by next spring.

Asked as to the possibility of the Labor party coming into power in England, Lord Northcliffe's reply was evasive.

"We have," he said, "been rather disappointed with our Labor party. They have not been as active in the House of Commons as expected. Perhaps it is because they are inexperienced in parliamentary life. Some of them showed statesmanship in the settlement of the great coal strike. It is possible, that before I return to England after my trip around the world, next spring, there will be a general election at home. There is really only one question in home politics today, presuming that the Irish negotiations go well. That question is national economy."

CONFERENCE TO BE RESUMED TODAY

Premiers Will Go Into Questions of Aviation At Length.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(Reuters.)—Contrary to expectations, the imperial conference has not yet concluded its labors and resumes tomorrow. It is understood the conference will now be engaged in framing its various decisions in the form of resolutions. The question of utilization of airships has given rise to considerable debate, and it is declared on reliable authority that the decision favors the utilization of the present airship fleet and expert personnel for the purpose of carrying out experimental flights for a period of two years. It is considered that a two-year period would prove whether airships, apart from their imperial value, can be made a commercial success.

OFFICIALS CONFIRM SILVESTRE'S DEATH

Former Commander of Spanish Forces in Morocco Suicided.

MADRID, Aug. 2.—Rumors circulated yesterday that Gen. Fernandez Silvestre, former commander of Spanish forces in Morocco, was not dead, were officially denied here today.

It was reported last week that Gen. Silvestre had committed suicide after severe military reverses in Morocco.

Aeroplanes today continued to drop food, arms and munitions for positions surrounded by Arab forces, the official statement said. The Arabs attacked without causing losses to the Spanish forces.

Groups of soldiers daily are arriving at Melilla, the statement says, having crossed the enemy lines in constant peril. The spirit of the surrounded forces at Zeluan, Nador and Mount Arruit is said to be considerably improved since food is being received daily.

ALL GAMES OF CHANCE CLOSED BY THE POLICE

Veterans' Associations Lodged Complaints, and Mayor Took Prompt Action.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

BRANTFORD, Aug. 2. — Following complaint that the wheels of fortune in booths on the market square brought as a part of the Old Home Week celebration, were in violation of the act of the council in barring carnivals, the Old Home Week committee investigated this afternoon. At the same time the police acted, and every game of chance which was going was closed.

There was considerable ill-feeling over the presence of the booths, as local veterans associations had been refused permission to bring carnivals here because of the objection to gambling booths, and it was felt that it was unfair to them to allow the booths to remain open during the Old Home Week celebration.

Following the filing of complaints to this end, and also from the market men that they could not occupy their usual stalls on the market, Mayor Wedlake investigated, and then ordered the police to do their duty in closing all the booths running gambling games. This was done, but there was no interference with booths offering games of skill of any kind.

The Brantford Old Home Week today meant a real reunion for the sons and daughters of Charles Penfold, a score of whom gathered at the home of Charles Norris, 105 George street, for the week. The family is represented from various parts of the United States and Canada. Toronto was well represented, while United States cities included were Cleveland and Warren, Ohio, and Chelsea, Mich. This evening a community dance was staged on West street, from Brant avenue to Darling street, with the Dufferin Rifles Band offering the music. The attendance was large, and the community gathering was much enjoyed.

WESTERN CROPS WILL BE GOOD

Fair Average Yield Is Expected in All the Provinces.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 2.—The West will probably produce this season a grain crop which will be as good as the average, or perhaps better according to the forecast of the Canadian Pacific Railway crop report issued today. On the whole, it is stated, crops are better in the northern parts of the provinces than in the southern districts. The last week has been somewhat more favorable from the weather standpoint, with rains more general. Hail has destroyed many good crops, yet on the whole the damage from this source is said to have been not abnormal. Red and black rust are reported in many localities, but the damage is not extensive.

Earlier expectation of a bumper crop in Manitoba will not materialize, but present expectations point to an average yield, it is stated.

F. H. Auld, deputy minister of agriculture for Saskatchewan, is quoted as telegraphing that rains have freshened everything, but that officials cannot indorse reports of a large crop from that province.

In Alberta general rains benefitted particularly the southern districts, and much grain that was badly burned is likely to revive. In central and northern areas crops continue to do well. Wheat cutting will be general in most districts within another week or ten days.

CUTTING WAGES OF CHIPPEWA LABORERS

Will Not Be Effective Immediately, Hydro Officials State.

TORONTO, Aug. 2.—A cut of wages for common laborers on the Chippewa development work was decided on to take effect August 1, but at a conference with representatives of the men today the hydro commission undertook to postpone the date for a few days. The question of the amount of the cut is also a matter for further consideration. Sir Adam Beck stated definitely to the labor representatives, however, that a cut would be made. Work on the big ditch is now confined to day operations, the last of the night shift having been let out last Saturday.

The legislative assembly is made up of 65 single-seat constituencies, with a total adult vote enrolled of 816,172. There is an Upper House, somewhat answering to the Canadian Senate, but elective, consisting of 34 members, being two members each from the seventeen provinces of the state. Half of these retire every third year, being elected for a six-year term.

This is the first official news of this action received in London since Zinovieff's reported resignation.

TERCENTENARY OF PENETANGUISHENE BEING CELEBRATED

Unveiling of Tablets and Monuments To Proneers On First Day.

PENETANGUISHENE, Aug. 2.—The celebration of the tercentenary of Penetanguishene was featured today by the unveiling of tablets and monuments to the pioneers. French and English, whose struggles, triumphs and deeds have made Huronia one of the richest regions in the whole of Eastern Canada, in point of historical associations and the presence of representatives of the Governments of Ontario and Quebec.

With dedication of a magnificent statue of Pere Joseph Lecaron was commemorated the landing of the first white man on the shores of Georgian Bay, and the first white man to take up his residence in what is now known as Ontario.

Statue Unveiled.

This morning's unveiling of his statue was carried out with all the pomp and display befitting the man and his record, while the life-sized figure stands immediately in front of the Jesuit Memorial Church overlooking the harbor where he made his landing.

The memorial was uncovered by Archbishop McNeil and Very Rev. Dean Harris of Toronto, a band of Ojibway Indians in full regalia, from Christian Island, watched the proceedings with stolid indifference from one flank. Facing them stood Ontario's premier and attorney-general; Right Rev. Father M. Filion, superior-general of the Jesuit Order for Canada; Right Hon. Father Doyon, superior-general of the Dominion of Canada; Mgr. Kidd, St. Augustine Seminary, and other well-known dignitaries of the Roman Catholic Church. Others Dedicated.

A fitting background and a picturesque touch was provided in the unveiling by the two ministers of the Bonne Entente statues, two identical bronze figures, symbolic of Ontario and Quebec.

THE PASSING OF CARUSO.

The death of Enrico Caruso, the world's greatest tenor, will create a blank in the musical world which it will take time to fill. There is no sweet singer snatched by death but whose loss is regretted with much the same feelings as those which are stirred by the departure of a cherished friend. No matter what the personal characteristics of the minstrel may have been, his voice lingers with those who have listened to its thrill, and they think of him as one who has not altogether passed from the earthly stage, but whose presence lingers. The world can ill afford to lose men like Caruso; the earth is not overcrowded with such, and their advent seems to be as rare as that of some star whose rays have been trying to pierce the infinite space for untold centuries.

The passing of Caruso will be still more acutely felt by all lovers of song by the circumstance that it is somewhat in the nature of a surprise. The last impression which the great singer left in America was that he was gradually gaining renewed health and vigor, and expected to appear again at no very distant date, with his vocal powers unimpaired.

Enrico Caruso was born in Naples 48 years ago. He received no special musical education, but early attracted the attention of experts by the purity and power of his voice. From the time of his first appearance in grand opera he has held the foremost place as a tenor, and stood alone in the roles which he assumed. He will best be remembered as Edgardo in "Lucia," Des Grieux in "Manon Lescaut," Pagliacci the duke in "Rigoletto, "Lohengrin," and a host of other famous compositions. He was known as the singer with "the golden voice," and has charmed the inhabitants of almost every capital in Europe, as well as delighting the most fastidious of musical critics on this side of the Atlantic.

The end came in his native city, to which he had returned in search of health, which he found not after his long journeyings in search of the fame which has been his in generous measure.

MR. MEIGHEN AS MOSES.

In the course of his Hamilton speech the Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King said that judging from the inspired dispatches which the correspondent, the Hon. Arthur Meighen, took with him to England, had been supplying the press, one would assume that the Canadian premier was the Moses who was leading the English and the Irish out of their age-long controversy, and the Americans and the Japanese out of their possible future conflict.

In his physical characteristics, Premier Meighen does not in the slightest degree resemble the great Hebrew prophet and administrator, for, if we are to take Michel Angelo's magnificent conception of Moses as our model, there could be no type of manhood more unlike it than that represented by Mr. Meighen; but if we are to base our verdict on the visions of Mr. Meighen's activities conjured up by the pen of his chief scribe, we have no hesitation in saying that the Canadian premier has left no stone unturned to qualify himself as the successor of the great lawgiver.

There is this notable difference, however, between Moses and Mr. Meighen, even in the capacity of lawgiver: Whereas the leader of the Israelites derived his powers from a source that no man dare question. Mr. Meighen derives his from nowhere and from nobody. Therefore, his assumption of the mantle of Moses is akin to the action of that quadruped mentioned by Aesop which put on the skin of a lion and went out into the world to try and convince all and sundry that it was the king of beasts, but miserably failed.

If he is ambitious to appear in the role of Moses, Mr. Meighen has unlimited scope for his talents in leading the people of Canada out of the wilderness of trouble into which his own extravagance and recklessness has drawn them. But they look to him in vain for the calling down of the manna of good government or the striking of the rock which is to provide the waters of contentment. The people of the Dominion are eagerly awaiting the opportunity of choosing someone who is capable of directing them into the promised land of renewed prosperity, a task which Mr. Meighen has proved himself utterly incapable of fulfilling.

A SHORT LIFE AND A MERRY ONE.

...s pressed to the wall, the Meighen Gov...give the greatest variety of reasons why ...tinue to hold on to power despite its ...ate, and its loss of public confidence, ...eason why an election is deferred is the ... there will be no Meighen government ...try is once permitted to vote.

... of copies of the official bulletin of the ... out from Ottawa weekly, aimed to cheer ... spirits of the workers throughout the ...he Government press carries inspired ...he yard, but once in a while the truth ... in the newspapers that back Premier ... hit. A special dispatch from Ottawa ...med Montreal Gazette says that immediately premier's return the whole political ...e laid before him by his colleagues, ... asked to make a decision whether ...n election now or a further holding off, with the prospect of defeat on the floor of the House. The situation is made more interesting by the prospect of pending by-elections. As the Gazette says:

> "To continue in power the Government must carry seven of the ten proposed by-elections, and considering the Government's success in recent contests it would appear that this is improbable, and that an election before Christmas is very probable."

Analyzing the situation fully, the Gazette correspondent is unable to see a single ray of hope for the Government. Defeat, pure and simple, faces them. Even Ontario, once a bulwark of Toryism, offers only a small measure of hope for the party, while the outlook in the west is dark, with the Maritimes doubtful, and Quebec hopeless. Where the Tory party is to get any real following at all is doubtful. Possibly we shall see the disappearance of the Tory party in federal politics as it has tended of late to disappear in provincial elections, both in Ontario and in far greater measure in the west.

Before going out of power the Meighen Government evidently intends to make one last parting gift to its high protection friends, and give some of the country's "infant industries" enough pap to carry them through the next decade. The Gazette points out that for ten years Conservative and Unionist governments, notwithstanding the fact that their main support comes from the east, have been trying to placate the west by lower tariffs, radical nationalizations schemes, advanced labor legislation and uplift experiments. But the west has not been satisfied, so that now "the Government tariff revision, if there is one, will be upward, and not downward, as expected." In other words, the west is to be told to go and hang itself. This is exceedingly interesting news for the consumers of the country, who see the protected interests of the country adding yet another line of trenches to their defence. For we have today in this country, first of all, a high tariff; then a sales tax on foreign goods that adds 4 per cent to the tariff against American goods; then an adverse exchange that is also counted in for tariff purposes, and the exchange itself, equivalent of 12 to 15 per cent additional protection. There must be innumerable items today on which there is in reality a tariff of from 50 to 60 per cent prevailing, and still we hear the lament that there is not enough protection. The Meighen Government evidently intends to get the tariff up another 5 per cent or more.

If ever there was a government in this country that was in the hands of greedy protected interests it is the administration that holds power at the present time. The gentry who contributed to make up that mammoth money chest from which a golden stream flows every time there is a by-election did not give their money without expecting to have a hand in dictating Government policies. They are doing it with a high hand these days. "After us the deluge" may well be the cry of the Meighen forces at Ottawa. Their actions cannot be interpreted in any other way.

ACQUISITIVENESS.

Someone recently says that a reason for enhanced acquisitiveness in our times is the greater security of life. Infant mortality in former days was so high, plague and other diseases so prevalent and ever-present, that there was less motive for piling up wealth. You might not have a child survive to inherit your pile. You might not live yourself to enjoy it. A defective banking system made savings insecure, supposing disease let you alone. Highway robbery was the common thing, and safes were not invented in the "good old days." So neither life nor pelf was secure.

There may be something in this argument. Other reasons for modern grab may, however, be imagined. More ways of ostentatiously exhibiting wealth have been invented. Cornering the market by combination of resources is a lure to the high financier. The power of mere money is no longer countered to any extent by the prestige of birth and family. Respect for traditions and standards has evaporated, and men find themselves free to launch out unrestricted. Rapid locomotion speeds up every aggressive faculty.

But, after all, acquisitiveness is as old as the hills, and in some ways it is hard to improve on the exploits of early profiteers. Look at Joseph, for example. Chaucer's characters in the Canterbury Tales were the most unblushing pirates, some of them, within or without the law (quite loose then as now). Dr. Johnson says a man can hardly be more harmlessly employed than in making money, and Benjamin Franklin held that it was as easy for an empty sack to stand upright as for a poor man to be honest! Thus it seems to have always been the sensible thing to store up treasure, fight off the moth, the rust, the robber and death, and keep clear of the courts.

LETTERS

CONCERNING SWIMMING.

In a recent issue, I was very pleased to read an article advocating compulsory lessons in the art of swimming for the school children of the city. It was in this manner many years ago that I gained my experience in the art. Twice a week a batch of us were taken by the teacher to the public baths, where a properly qualified instructor taught us to swim.

This was one of the subjects in the school that I attended, and was compulsory for all pupils who were fit. At the end of the season a medal and certificate were awarded to each pupil who could swim a certain measured distance; this encouraged the boys, and they were proud to possess them.

Now this is nothing more than should be done, not only in this city, but in every town and city of a reasonable size. It is a remarkable, but never the less well-known fact, that for some unaccountable reason the governing bodies of towns and cities in this country do not, or will not advocate public swimming baths to be open, not only in summer, but all the year round, the water being slightly heated in the winter months.

There is not the slightest doubt that in a city the size of London, two such baths would well repay eventually, any investment made. Every year we are making improvements in the city in the way of pavements, local improvements, etc., but to advocate a public swimming bath in the city would probably be considered a most outrageous waste of money. I will likely be informed that we already have two public swimming camps, holes, or whatever you like to call them, in the city, at present, and I am informed that there is one outside of the city called the north end camp. These, however, are practically useless to people living within a half-mile radius of Dundas and Richmond, on account of the distance, and they are absolutely useless to anyone during the period from October to April, as the water is too cold. We must bathe in the winter as well as in the summer if we are to keep fit.

Now, another thing I want to draw your attention to. In regards to the sulphur baths, there has been a lot written lately in your columns, but after the experience of a friend and myself this evening, it is a wonder they are patronized at all. We went down there at 5:40 p.m., having walked in the heat for a considerable distance and were refused admittance, although a ten-foot signboard proclaimed the bath open from 9:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. I inquired of the man in charge why we could not get a swim, and he informed me that the "other fellow" had gone to supper, and that he was going also, and would not be back until 7 p.m. We could either wait or get out. Now, Mr. Editor, there must be something wrong with the management when they allow two men to go to supper at once, or else the signboard is a liar. I, for one, would like to know why the public is invited to use the bath between the aforementioned hours, and then turned away when they show up, no matter how far they have walked to get there.

A state of affairs like this would give visitors to our city, and there are a lot just at present, a very bad impression, and the sooner it is corrected the better; no one likes to be fooled in this manner. Respectfully yours,

WALTER P. HARPUR,

OTHERS' VIEWS

A NEW STAR.

[The Villager.]

A new name is rising in the world. We have long heard of Gen. Smuts, but he has heretofore been merely an important national figure. He may never be anything more. But he is a young man yet, and in the past year his prestige has been mounting with that inexplicable acceleration which often prefaces the coming of genius into its own; there is no particular reason for it, but of late Gen. Smuts' name is found on every other page, he is mentioned for every other embassy, and men in many places are considering how to harness up his influence to their plans. It may be only a little wave, soon to break upon the shore of Time. But it is alluring to think that after a silence of more than twenty centuries, another world figure may come out of Africa. Hannibal, too, was the son of a colony planted by world-famous traders.

PREACHINGS AND PERFORMANCES.

[Hong Kong Press.]

Urged, no doubt, by the Anti-Opium organizations and the attention which is given to the questions by the League of Nations, the president of China issues from time to time fulminations against the recrudescence of the traffic. A mandate was issued last year, and another about ten days ago. This last one says that owing to local disorganization the former mandate has not been faithfully observed in some parts of the country, and it emphasizes the Government's determination to see that it is strictly carried into effect in future. The mandate adds that special commissioners will be sent to the provinces to inquire into cultivation of poppy and the traffic in drugs, and threatens severe punishment for local officials who do not observe the anti-opium measures already introduced. These threats are not new, and experience gives us little reason to hope that the latest fulmination will prove a whit more effective than its predecessors.

THE COCOA-PALM.

[Herman Melville, in "Omoo."]

The cocoa-palm is by far the most important tree in the tropics. To the Polynesian it is emphatically the tree of life; transcending even the bread-fruit in the multifarious uses to which it is applied. Its very aspect is imposing. Asserting its supremacy by an erect and lofty bearing, it may be said to compare with other trees as a man compares with all other creatures. The blessings it confers are incalculable. Year after year, the islander reposes beneath its shade, both eating and drinking of its fruit; he thatches his hut with its boughs, and weaves them into baskets to carry his food; he cools himself with a fan platted from the young leaflets, and shields his head from the sun by a bonnet of the leaves; sometimes he clothes himself with the cloth-like substance which enwraps the base of the stalks, whose elastic rods, strung with filberts, are used as a taper; the larger nuts, thinned and polished, furnish him with beautiful goblets; the smaller ones, with bowls for his pipes: the dry husks kindle his fires; their fibres are twisted into fishing lines and cords for his canoes. he heals his wounds with a balsam compounded from the juice of the nut; and with the oil extracted from its meat, embalms the bodies of the dead.

The noble trunk is sawn into posts to uphold the islander's dwelling; converted into charcoal, it cooks his food; and supported on blocks of stone, fences his land. He impels his canoe with a paddle of the wood, and goes to battle with clubs and spears of the same hard material.

The cocoanut is thus planted: Selecting a suitable place, you drop into the ground a fully ripe nut. In a few days a thin, lance-like shoot forces itself through a minute hole in the shell, pierces the husk, and soon unfolds three pale-green leaves in the air; while originating, in the same soft white sponge which now fills the nut, a pair of fibrous roots, pushing away the stoppers which close two holes in an opposite direction, penetrate the shell and strike vertically into the earth. A day or two more, and the shell and husk, which in the last and germinating stage of the nut, are so hard as to resist a knife, spontaneously burst open; henceforth the hardy young plant thrives apace; and needing no culture, pruning or attention of any kind, rapidly matures. In four or five years it bears; in about ten years it begins to lift its head among the groves, where, waxing strong, it flourishes for almost a century. Its fruitfulness is remarkable. As long as it lives, it bears; and without intermission. Two hundred nuts, besides innumerable white blossoms of others, may be seen upon it at one time; and though a whole year is required to bring a blossom to germination, no two, perhaps, are at one time in precisely the same stage of growth.

JAPAN AND THE CONFERENCE.

[New York Evening Post.]

It may very well be that Tokio wants preliminary assurances in regard to the general program, just as it has been suggested from London that opinion there favors preliminary discussion. But this much is obvious: If Japan should enter the conference with a caveat against extending the armament question into a Far Eastern question, she would find herself at a distinct disadvantage. Great Britain has accepted the call unreservedly. So has China. We have, therefore, only to imagine the United States, England and China sitting down to discuss the Pacific and the Far East out of the conference, she has seen that this would mean Japanese isolation, an almost certain rupture of the alliance with Great Britain, and its replacement by an Anglo-American understanding, with China as the lesser partner. If it is really Japan's intention to keep the Far East out of the conference, she has already been outmanoeuvred. No matter with what purpose she enters the discussions on the Far East, enter she obviously must.

A NAVY FOR DEFENCE.

[Boston Transcript.]

The British determination to continue the construction of capital ships has an especial significance in view of the coming conference at Washington. It proves that the English Government not only considers that the capital ship is still necessary to an up-to-date navy, but that it holds equally firmly to the belief that the British Empire will need a modern navy for some time to come

FALSE TEACHERS.

[London Morning Post.]

The strength of countries like France and Italy in the end depends upon their peasant populations, and the soil is the great disciplinarian of the world. But in an industrial country like ours great masses of the people never get near the soil, so they have to depend for their souls' health on other teachers. But what if the teachers are teaching false doctrine, if they are enervating instead of fortifying their pupils, if their gospel is the gospel of flabbiness and not of virility? The people of this country have been told to be audacious. Well, beggars are audacious. They have been told that they are heroes. The popular idea of a hero is a gentleman who swaggers and does nothing. These are not the cries by which we can be inspired to overcome the crisis. For we are living in a time of crisis. We won the war, but at a terrible price, and it will require all the traditional spirit of the English race, all the discipline so carefully bequeathed to us by our forefathers, all the energy and resolution of which we are capable, to rise above the ills which beset us.

POETRY

GOLDEN BIRDS.

[Harry Lee in The Forum.]

I know a flight
Of golden birds
Attends me
Everywhere I go,
The air is golden
With their wings,
Their songs
Like golden rivers
Flow.

My golden birds
Are golden prayers
That little children
Say for me.
They send them
From their hearts
To God;
He knows my need
And sets them free.

And so I care not
What the road,
Nor how the winds
Of heaven blow.
I know a flight
Of golden birds
Attends me
Everywhere I go.

PALS.

[J. E. Chrisman in New York Times.]

She used to be a pal o' mine,
Then—
She sighed and dropped her lashes
When
I called her "little partner";
We were turning home one day
And my hand fell on her shoulder
In a friendly sort of way;
I felt her sort o' tremble,
And I thought, "Oh, little gal,
Sure, and now I've got a sweetheart—
But you were a dandy pal."
And that's a girl for you!

He was nothing but a pal to me,
Then—
He had to go and spoil it all
When
He just happened, like to touch me,
And I sighed—for—then I knew
From the way I felt him tremble
That our "pally" days were through;
Then the next I knew—he kissed me!
And he whispered, "Little gal"—
Sure—it's nice to know he loves me,
But—he was the best old pal,
And that's a man for you!

WHO'LL BUY MY DREAMS?

[J. Lewis Milligan in The Graphic.]

I go from door to door,
Peddling my fancy rhymes.
Some look them critically oe'r,
Saying, "We've seen such stuff before,
Write something for the times."

But some, with eager eyes,
Read them, and read again,
With growing wonder and surprise,
Till visions of the soul arise,
Up-conjured by the strain.

A peddler of dreams am I
Along the world's highway;
From door to door my trade I ply,
Crying aloud "Who'll buy? Who'll buy?
Who'll buy my dreams today?"

HAYMAKING.

[Louise Driscoll in New York Times.]

Arabia never offered
Finer, cleaner sweet
Than grass and clover falling
About the reaper's feet.
I heard the sharp scythes singing
Early in the day,
And wind brought to my window
The scent of hay.

It is a pleasant saying
That man shall die as grass
With Death the strong-armed reaper,
Let it come to pass.
Let me go as clover,
Sweet in wind and sun,
A good thing to remember
When the day is done.

THERE SHALL BE NO MORE SEA.

[Anne Atwood Dodge.]

There shall be no more sea!
Then presently
We shall turn listless eyes
On Paradise,
And carelessly behold
Jasper and beaten gold.
Aimlessly up and down
The streets of God's tall town
That was not built by hands,
Throughout untroubled lands
Where glassy rivers flow.
Our restless feet will go;
And to the crystal walls,
Whence the sight falls
And falters in the bright
Incredible light,
We shall come wistfully
Straining our eyes to see,
Wonderfully small and far,
Our sea-enameled star.

How shall we sing
God's praises, wearying
For the wind and the fog and the brave
Thunder of wave upon wave,
For salt upon lips,
And the excellent beauty of ships
For sound and sight
Of all our old delight?

God, whom our fathers wrought
Out of their trailing thought,
Deal with us generously—
Give us our sea!

SAY NOT, THE STRUGGLE NAUGHT AVAILETH.

Say not the struggle naught availeth,
The labor and the wounds are vain,
The enemy faints not, nor faileth,
And as things have been they remain.

If hopes were dupes, fears may be liars;
It may be in yon smoke concealed.
Your comrades chase e'en now the fliers,
And, but for you, possess the field.

For while the tired waves, vainly breaking,
Seem here no painful inch to gain,
Far back, through creeks and inlets making,
Comes silent, flooding in, the main.

And not by eastern windows only,
When day light comes, comes in the light;
In front, the sun climbs slow, how slowly,
But westward look, the land is bright.
—Arthur Hugh Clough.

THE SILVER LINING

By Fullerton Waldo.

WHY I LOVE THE MOVIES.

"I don't like the movies," said a man to me just now, and I was at once on the bristling defensive.

"The moving pictures now and then
Are relished by the best of men."

And by women and children, too.

Who says they're perfect? Nobody. Least of all the folks that make them. But I doubt if anybody works harder to put before the public a satisfactory finished product than the moving picture companies. And mostly they succeed.

Every art and every science must collaborate to evolve a film. The resources of the earth from the mountain summit to the sea deeps are ransacked. Lives are in pawn, fortunes are risked, armies and civilian multitudes are mobilized, ships and trains and savage animals succumb—that you and I may sit as in a throne room while the panorama smoothly glides upon the undercurrent of the music.

I like to go to the movies because I am translated from a world I know too well—a world of familiar walls and furniture and persons—to a realm of make-believe, of idyll and of romance.

I know that behind the scene is all the apparatus of realism and materialism, but I yield willingly to the illusion. I'm old enough to know that I shall always be a child when it comes to honest, simple sentiment. I can still laugh even at the old and threadbare antics of the custard pie; the side-shoe waddle of Charlie is as funny as when I saw it first; the smile of Mary has not lost its wistful charm.

When I cease to care for the movies I shall be ready for a shroud.

SIR GEORGE PERLEY RETURNS TO OTTAWA

Canadian High Commissioner to Britain Soon to Retire.

Ottawa, Aug. 2.—Hon. Sir George H. Perley, K. C. M. G., Canadian high commissioner to Britain, who some time ago announced his impending retirement from that position, arrived in Ottawa yesterday, accompanied by Lady Perley.

Sir George stated that there was no public significance in his trip, and that he had returned to attend to his own business for a time, which had been more or less neglected by him through his continued absence in the old country, and also to visit his relations here.

Speaking of recent events in Britain, Sir George said: "In my opinion the prime minister, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, has created a very good impression in London. He stood strongly for all Canadian interests in the negotiations there, and at the same time he impressed the British people with his fairness and his desire to settle all these knotty problems in the best interests of and to the satisfaction of the various parts of the Empire. His speeches and public utterances in Britain have been on a very high plane, and showed the same ability in that direction that all of us Canadians know he possessed in such full measure."

Sir George did not care to comment on other questions of the day.

BANK OFFICIALS ARE ARRESTED; COMPLICITY IN ROBBERIES ALLEGED

Chicago, Aug. 2.—A score of indictments returned Saturday and disclosed yesterday by the arrest of two of the indicted men are declared by John V. Clinnin, assistant United States district attorney, to clear up mail robberies throughout the country aggregating nearly six million dollars. Names of the other eighteen are withheld pending their apprehension. The men arrested were John W. Worthington, president, and Owen T. Evans, vice-president of the Central Securities Company of Chicago. This securities company, it is charged by Government authorities, was used for the disposal of securities obtained in robberies, including liberty bonds, which, it is alleged, were altered to make them saleable.

CENSUS RETURNS TO BE READY IN MONTH

Ottawa, Aug. 2.—The first bulletin on census returns should be ready in about ten days, according to the Dominion census commissioner, R. H. Coats. Just what figures will be given out first is as yet uncertain, but census branch officials intimated this morning that they hoped to be able to make some of the figures public by that time. Returns are coming in well from all centres, it was stated.

Asked if requests had been received from Western Canadian cities for revision or amendment of the census returns, as suggested this morning by a news dispatch from Prince Albert, Sask., the dominion statistician said this was the first he had heard of the matter. Saskatoon's application, if made, had not yet reached him. In any case the census returns must be accepted as final when they are officially announced, and will not likely be amended because of assertions that different sections have not been completely covered. A careful check is made on all returns when they are received, so that there is little likelihood of errors or omissions escaping notice.

ANTI KU KLUX KLAN ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED

Waco, Texas, Aug. 2.—A local newspaper yesterday received notice of the organization of McLennan (this county) Anti Ku Klux Klan Association, Chapter No. 34, state of Texas, warning "to the Ku Klux Klan that three of their number would be "gotten for every member of the anti-organization molested," was contained in the announcement.

BRITISH RAILWAYS USE MOTOR BUSSES

Big Development in Connection With Road Transportation.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—British railways wish to develop road transportation, which means the use of motor buses, according to a proposal presented to a meeting of seventy members of the House of Commons by Gen. Harry Thornton, general manager of the Great Eastern Railway Company. He explained that he wished a clause added to the railway bill empowering railways not now in such a position to develop subsidiary service. He argued that under the grouping system an impossible position would arise if some railways had the power to use road transport while others had not. He asserted that the railways had no intention of undercutting rates or destroying competitive road transport, but were anxious to enter into agreements with existing organizations.

The appeal is taken to mean that the railroads are worried over the competition of roads with automobile service, which has grown so amazingly in linking railroad services in England, Scotland and Wales that the roads realize they cannot compete unless they do the same thing. The members of Parliament are convinced of the logic of the railway clause, and it will be added to the railway bill.

AERIAL SERVICES TO GO OWING TO HIGH MAINTENANCE COSTS

London, Aug. 2.—Via Reuter's.—While emphasizing the eminently satisfactory results achieved by the conference of the premiers of the British Empire, the newspapers strike a note of regret in regard to the fact, as it appears at present, that there is little hope of saving the British and dominion airship service, which, it was announced in the House of Commons yesterday, would be discontinued, failing a decision to the contrary by the imperial conference.

This presumably is on account of the heavy cost entailed, clashing with the present necessity for economy.

The Chronicle learns that the inner circles of the conference are confident of an agreement being reached which will make possible an early meeting of the statesmen of the British Empire with those of the United States and Japan, thus making the disarmament conference a certain success. Otherwise it is felt that there is danger of the representatives from the far dominions dispersing and becoming absorbed in domestic problems, without assimilation of views on this important matter. The result of this would be that the conference might degenerate into an endless series of discussions between secondary delegates, without the accomplishment of anything.

The Chronicle understands that Premiers Lloyd George, Meighen of Canada, Hughes of Australia and Massey of New Zealand are willing to proceed at once to a convenient spot in the United States if the authorities in Washington and Tokio are agreeable.

TRIANON PACT MADE A LAW IN HUNGARY

Budapest, Aug. 2. — The Trianon treaty, by which peace between Hungary and the Allied nations was established, became a law in Hungary yesterday by the publication of the text of the convention. The treaty was printed in a special edition of the official gazette, which bore black borders, and was accompanied by a map showing the present boundaries of Hungary, as compared with those of before the war.

The bridal bouquet was of Ophelia roses and white sweet peas. Miss Cane also wore the groom's gift, a gold wrist watch.

Miss Medora Tradiss of Oakville acted as bridesmaid, gowned in buttercup satin, the loose panels being lined with mauve georgette. She wore a black tulle hat, and carried yellow chrysanthemums. Mr. Arthur Brown attended the groom, and sang "Love's Coronation." Roy and Vern Cane, brothers of the bride, acted as ushers.

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a silver vanity case, to the best man, a silver cigarette case, and to the ushers, pearl and silver shirt studs.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home, where a buffet luncheon was served to over a hundred guests.

The young couple left later in the evening for a honeymoon in Algonquin Park. The bride's going-away costume was of blue tricotine, with blue moire hat to match, and she wore brown fox furs, the gift of her father.

HOME ECONOMICS

MRS. ELIZABETH KENT, MacDONALD COLLEGE.

CARING FOR AND CLEANING THE REFRIGERATOR.

Daily do's and dont's for the refrigerator are as follows: Do: Look over contents and plan to use all leftovers while still perfectly fresh, keep all food in covered containers, clean inside and out; keep all food in the compartment meant for that kind of food; cover bowls with waxed paper, if they contain cracked eggs, mayonnaise, left-over jelly or the like; keep lettuce, parsley, and the like, washed but not standing in water, wrapped in clean cheesecloth or in glass jars; cover unbroken egg yolks with clean, cold water, but change the water after twelve hours. Don't wrap the ice in cloth or paper, for it must melt if it is to keep the refrigerator cold; nor put food into the refrigerator in dining-room china.

Weekly: Wipe off the outside of the refrigerator with a wet cloth, then with a dry one, wash all the inside food compartments with cold water in which either a few drops of ammonia or a little soda has been dissolved; remove ice rack, scrub with small brush, wash in solution of soda, rinse in clear, cold water, dry in the sun.

In general: Keep the doors of the refrigerator closed tight; use cold water ordinarily to clean it, not to raise the temperature, but hot once in a while, throughout, to sterilize it. Do not use strong-smelling soaps in cleaning the refrigerator, they taint the food even after some time. Don't allow the drains to clog and never neglect a suspicious odor for an hour. If a refrigerator smells bad, it is bad, and it is necessary to find out what the trouble is and get rid of it.

THE BANDIT DOGS.
Part Nine.

Now, it must be told right here that the four bandit dogs and their new comrade, Billy the goat, were not bad at heart, and did their thieving more for fun and to get something to eat than for any other reason. How else could they eat? For they were all high-spirited dogs and Billy was an aristocratic goat, and so the scraps that satisfied wanderers would not do for them. Of course if the scraps were clean scraps and not ones mixed with dirt and ashes, they would not have minded—but where were such scraps to be found?

There were such scraps to be found as they soon discovered. Their wandering brought them to a large camp of soldiers. What dainty scraps were thrown away by the cooks, and what a number of them there were. Their quest for food was at an end as long as the camp lasted, for there was plenty for them; indeed there was plnty for the dozen or so other dogs that congregated there and for Billy, too. Rolf, Riggles, Tige, little Cha and old Billy were quite wonders in the eyes of the strange dogs, for they had all traveled far. Nothing would do but the new dogs should join the band. At first Riggles hadn't wanted them—but finally he got to like the other dogs and took them into his band.

Disaster soon overtook the new band. One by one the new members mysteriously disappeared. What had happened to them? The four original bandits and the goat stayed together, but the other members of the band wandered about the city as had been their custom. Stories of a dog-catcher began to come to the dog band. So that was what was happening to the dogs who disappeared! Riggles cautioned the remaining members of his band to beware of the dog catcher, but one by one the band lessened until the dogs, save Rolf, Tige, Riggles and little Cha had fallen victims to the dog-catcher and had been carried off to be shut up.

What if one of the four fast friends should be caught next? The affair had become alarming. Riggles called his three faithful dog-followers and their friend the goat together.

"We will have to make war on the dog-catcher," he declared. "Our next adventure will be to free our friends, the dogs, who have been caught. So straightway they started to hatch a plan, in true bandit-like fashion.

To Be Continued.

AT CUPID'S CALL

BY MAY CHRISTIE.

XLII.—The 'Phone Fiend.

"So sorry!" came floating airily along the wires. "There's nothing I can do! You'd better hang up the receiver, and the party may possibly ring you up again!"

Mary's heart sank. But there was nothing for it but to obey. She placed the receiver on its hook and drearily regarded the now silent instrument.

A minute passed away. Two minutes. Five.

The door of the parlor "suite" opened and an elderly gentleman came out.

"Excuse me, Miss Drew, I wish to use the telephone!"

"I—I'm waiting for a 'phone call. The operator cut me eoff!" faltered the girl.

"Oh, I won't be more than a few minutes. My business is rather urgent." The Grey-haired gentleman spoke firmly. Mary had to rise.

He took her chair beside the instrument. With a deliberation that was maddening he perused the 'phone book, seeking some address.

Difficulties arose in finding it. He called on Mary to assist him. And then he rang up "Information," engaging in a voluble discussion with the operator there.

Finally switched back to the operator; he got "wrong number." This didn't daunt him in the least. Calm and unruffled, he got "information" once again, and told the department what he thought of it—which wasn't flattering!

Poor Mary was on tenter-hooks.

Dick couldn't possibly get his call with all this arguing on the wire!

After ten minutes the grey-haired gentleman found his "party." A long-winded conversation then took place.

And—when at long last it was concluded the grey-haired gentleman rang up another "friend."

Mary could bear the strain no longer. She went back to her room, disconsolate.

Then, after ten minutes more, the click of the receiver on the hook announced that the conversation was concluded, the wire once more "free."

Mary brightened.

"Surely Dick will ring up now—I'll get his message." It was seven—the hour of the boarding-house supper. She couldn't eat, though—under all this suspense.

Mechanically she began to fix her hair before the looking-glass. One must kill time.

Dick—up in town again—oh! had he come because he couldn't keep away from her?

She hoped so—timidly. Mary wasn't in the least conceited.

That dreadful telephone. The suspense of waiting for a faint, ghostly voice that didn't come.

Well, life was full of disappointments. One must be philosophical.

Was Dick sitting—even now—in some stuffy railway 'phone-booth, with three nickels in his hand—being perpetually told, "the line was busy"?

The tinkle of a bicycle bell out in the street caused Miss Mary to cease her own adorning at the mirror and to dart out to the landing, listening. Silence. It had only been a false alarm.

Crestfallen, she returned to her own room.

Dick—small wonder to it—had grown discouraged, and had ceased his efforts! Hope was over.

The sharp ting! ting! of the 'phone bell sounded in the hall, clear, unmistakable. In three seconds Mary had the receiver off its hook and pressed against her ear. Some careless person had left the front door open, and the hall was very cold.

"Hello! Hello! Is that you, Dick?" The operator's voice came briskly.

"Is this Chelsea 0202?"

"Yes—yes," cried Mary, eagerly.

"Hold on a minute—someone is ringing you from a call office."

A faint, humming sound came drifting on the wire.

Then a man's voice:

"Can I speak to Kate O'Shaughnessy?"

Kate! The little Irish maid! Kate's sweetheart! It wasn't Dick at all!

"Wait a minute!" With lips that trembled oddly, Mary rose. A gust of cold night air came sweeping from the open door behind her. She wrapped her faded blue kimono tighter round her, turned to close the door, and—

A beloved, well-known face was smiling down on her!

"Dick! Dick! It's really you!" The cry escaped her as Dick caught her in his arms. "Oh, Dick—this wretched telephone—"

"Sweetheart! The instant I was 'cut off' I got a taxi from the railway station and came straight on here! Get on your gladdest rags—we're going out to dinner!"

Monday—Dinner for Two.

Wants Addresses.

Dear Miss Grey,—Here I am again so soon. I saw in the paper where Rustic Youth would like to correspond with me. Well, I sure would love to correspond with him; also Fox Trot, if they will write first, for I am bashful. They can get my address from Miss Grey, and will answer all letters. It's so lonesome sometimes I don't know what to do with myself. I am musical and can dance and enjoy all outdoor sports, and love motoring and driving, boating and nearly everything you can mention. Some games I can't play, but am willing to learn, and enjoy them even if I don't play.

I am going to a baseball game tonight. Our boys' team and another team are playing. I yelled so much the last time they played that I had a sore throat for days. Oh, dear, I wished our Boxites could of all been there, for we had a grand time.

Thanks very much for the sachet you sent me. I haven't recovered it yet, but I will soon if you could tell me what is in them. I might make a few as I have lots of silks and a sewing machine. The poppy seeds are lovely. I had some out in flower and they are lovely, and thanks ever so much for all your trouble. I have lots of songs I will copy some of these fine days and send them in. Such as "Miami Shore," "Oh By Jingo," "Let the Rest of the World Go By," "Feather Your Nest" and etc.

Well I must run or I'll be writing a book. I must get dinner now. Hoping to hear from Rustic Youth and Fox Trot soon. Please send me their addresses. I am sending addressed envelope.

What do you think of my writing, for being a country gal? Don't think this is the best of my writing, as I have written so fast, so I could have longer to stay. But now I must go, or Miss Grey will no doubt use me like Maggie uses Jiggs. I am as before and always, A FUN-MAKER.

Ans.—Am mailing your addresses. I don't know what Thistle put in her sachet, but one boxite tells us that water mint is a good substitute for lanvender. You write a very good hand.

A Generous Gift.

Dear Miss Grey,—Isn't this the most glorious weather we are having just now? If it wouldn't get any warmer than this I think it would be perfect. I have just come home from a visit on my daughter's farm. It is a fruit farm, and their berry season was on while I was there, but I had to hurry home to do my own preserving, for I have six hungry mouths to feed next winter, when it is hard to get to town to buy sweets. Well, Miss Grey, I must hurry out or you will be saying when will she ever go. I am inclosing a hospital mite and trust it will be of some help. Here is a hint: Put a pinch of salt or bicarbonate of soda into the milk as soon as it arrives, and it will keep sweet longer.

A PEBBLE.

Ans.—Thank you, Pebble, for the generous gift for our hospital fund, as every contribution helps to swell our fund, which is practically at a standstill at present.

Seven White Sox Ball Players Are Acquitted of Defrauding Public

Delotelle Sees Only 28 Batters in Blanking the Aces 3--0 For Third Win

Turned Late Bidders For First Rung Back in Trios For 8 Frames—Brooks, Sandlotter, Holds Tecs To Six Hits.

The Aces dropped their third straight of the series plumb in a pail of whitewash yesterday afternoon over the thrickle, said pail being lugged through nine innings by Old Twenty Delotelle. The score was 3 to 0. To go still further into the sordid details, Dee allowed but two moth-eaten swats to the guests now and led further and further away by Johnny Murphy, one striking unexpectedly in the ear in the second, and the other twin along about the ninth. The most sordid detail of all, however, was that only 28 men faced the London lobber. For the short breezy chapters, Delotelle didn't have more than three faces per batter to remember, and then a perfect book was spoiled in the ninth by Brooks, the pitcher hurler of the visiting gents, poling out a hot smash through the infield to the center field. Shaw, batting for Pike, who with Murphy had just been waved down by the ump, further got an inky finger in the blotch by knocking into a double play on the ground by the umps, further got an inky finger in the blotch by knocking down a choice which forced the play to be made at second on Brooks.

Brooks himself was only touched up for six hits, and he was getting along with quite a bit less than either Shriver or Schwartje would have been using under the same circumstances, and probably getting roughly used for their pains. And that was true of Delotelle also, for he nursed himself along gently with only a real fast one now and again to clear the air, but he got by and the Aces fanged with their knocks to "where they was," putting the reverse American to Josh Devore's oft repeated admonition about hitting them "where they ain't."

Aid Was Good.

Both supporting casts turned in an errorless afternoon and several strikingly plays. Schaefer made a marathon over Murphy's long fly in the seventh that took like a jaunt, and Pike, after going into foul territory in the same frame, made Shay's high foul, made a fine peg to second to get Vandyke at that station.

Stutz pulled up at third in the fifth inning after one of the most amazing stabs ever exposed to the view of London fans, scoring Vandyke ahead of him with London's last run. The shortstock went toward Kirby's territory, who came for it, hoping for the bounce, which never came. Murphy circled Kirby to retrieve the ball and Stutz was circling first, headed for second and was still going when the Ace leader legged the ball to short. Dodson worked fast, but his peg, while not bad, was low and Pike fussed with it just a fraction too long. George Wash. succumbed there when Schaefer filed for the third out.

Brooks can blame his inability to send the plate and sacrifice flies for the other two runs. In the first canto Vandyke drew a pass, was singled along by Shay, sacrificed to third by Stutz and home by Schaefer's high fly to left.

The procedure was but slightly altered in the second, when Kuna, first up, drew a pass, was moved on by Connelly's single and with Burman out on a fly, came in on Delotelle's fly to Kirby.

WOLVES HAND HAMS ANOTHER BEATING

Beavers Beat Hurons and Brants Defeat Vehics.

HAMILTON, Aug. 2.—Bay City took the third game of the series this afternoon by bunching hits of "Lefty" Gullman in the fourth and fifth innings. Matte, the new Hamilton pitcher, secured from the Boston Red Sox, relieved him in the sixth, but it was too late then, as the Wolves had collected four runs to win.

Olde started to pitch for the Wolves, but was nicked hard in the early innings. He uncorked a wild streak in the fourth and was taken out in favor of Left Fielder Bill Whaley. Bill was scored on thrice in that inning, but was airtight from then until the finish.

Hamilton had five errors, four of which were costly. They were sandwiched in between hits by the visitors. Sauer, the Wolves' second baseman, had three hits in four times up and handled nine chances without an error. Karpus made the only Bay City error. It was a wild chuck that paved the way for two Hamilton runs in the third inning. Box score:

KITCHENER, Aug. 2.—The Beavers won their fourth consecutive game from the Port Huron team here this evening by a score of 7 to 3. Matt Kirley pitched a steady game for the winners, holding the Hurons down to two hits up to the eighth inning. Worth was hit in bunches during the early stages of the game, allowing Calbert's crew to gain an early lead. An unusual incident of the game was that both pitchers were credited with a balk. BRANTFORD, Aug. 2.—Home surroundings are good for the Brants. They made it three straight from the Flint Vehics this afternoon in a heavy hitting spree. The London quoiters who journeyed to the Acton tourney were: J. Happer, G. Bolton, J. Ollney and J. Jameson.

JUST BETWEEN US

(BY SEE S. GEE)

If there was any tendency on the part of the London team to let down for the second series, or on the part of the London Club to go through the season without strengthening further, it has disappeared entirely under the spur of Crichlow's suspension. The London Club is out to get any players at large, who will strengthen up the team, and while the addition of Bob Donnelly and Burman will permit of Kuhn and Briger's switch to Kitchener, and really do not come under the head of reinforcements, the arrival of an outfielder and a new hurler shortly will.

An added incentive for the team to get the second series is that the fact that if London wins this, there'll be no play-off, and consequently no percentage for the Mint treasury. It offers one way of retaliation at Mint headquarters, and one way they'll appreciate the most.

* * *

The transfer of Kuhn and Briger offers another example of the sportsmanship of the local club. The pair will be greatly missed, no matter how good the new help turns out to be, but they were the men Cal needed most, and Kitchener's position demanded that some aid be given them. The London Club might have been shortsighted enough to refuse to help Kitchener out, but Harry Tolton and his associates have been fine sportsmen in the face of great difficulties, and it looks as if the London officials were appreciative of that fact. And it's not by any means a philanthropic work either, to look at it in another way, for the old adage that a chain is no stronger than its weakest link applies to baseball as well as anything else.

* * * *

The fistic world will hardly accep .....

The fistic world will hardly accept Bryan Downey as middleweight champion through a commission's decision, nor will it heap favors on Wilson as champion of the world at his weight, but the return match, for which Tex Rickard has already opened negotiations for Labor Day, will attract a certain amount of interest.

Unpopular as Wilson was when he won the title on a questionable decision to give him credit, he gained another decision over O'Dowd which was unquestioned. He may do the same with Downey. At any rate, he can't back out of any reasonable offer to fight Downey within a reasonably short time.

* * * *

Johnny Coulon was married on July 27 in Chicago. Johnny has been defying the strongest men to lift him off the floor, if they give him a certain grip. It'll be the first grip on the rolling-pin that will win this.

Hilton Belyea, the Bluenose sculler who beat Bob Dibble at the Henley, is popularly supposed to be the one who came on as youth when it was about to be served, but, as a matter of fact, is 37 years of age. He is oddly put together, with small arms and legs, and almost a hump on his shoulder, as a result of a broken collarbone. He was a big contrast to the other scullers physically, and he and his home-made shell drew smiles. He is a cyclist and a speed skater. His one ambition is to break that three-mile dash so hard it will never be put together again. He didn't take up rowing until 1917, and then laid off for a year during 1918.

MINT PATTER —By C. S. G.

Johnny Murphy managed to restrain his bubbling argument ativeness until yesterday. He has started for the umps several times, but thought better. Yesterday he was crabbing from the bench with Pike, when Cavanaugh pointed the way out.

* * *

Boehn will be the probable choice of the Aces today, and there'll be little left on him at the finish with the Tecs in their present mood.

* * * *

The Wolf Pack continue to be the sunken reef of the Mint. If they slip back to last place, they'll still be dangerous to the top notch teams.

* * * *

The end of the week should see London well away, as Flint Vehics have been tramped into the dirt pretty thoroughly all through the second series. They are another team though that always manage to play first division ball at Tecumseh Park.

* * * *

MINT PATTER—SPORT

When the Tecs can make the Aces look as easy as they have the last three games, they are back at something like their real form.

* * * *

Donnelly and Burman, the recent additions, certainly look good in their respective stands. Donnelly has even improved over his 1919 form, and likes the London team, which was a surprise for him. He was still thinking two years back.

* * * *

Burman had a trial with the Washington Senators this spring. There was a thick field of them, with a longer call on experience.

* * * *

"Tiny" Nessor, who came out and roared during the afternoon of the holiday, which amused the small fans mightily, made a mistake yesterday and roared at Umps Cavanaugh and aroused the umps' Italian Ire.

* * * *

Incidentally, the big fellow isn't all roar, either, for in the afternoon Monday he stretched one move on a single right to the home plate from second. Yesterday he stuck out his chest after making a barehanded catch in the coaching box, and it looked like a crowd.

* * * *

Dickie Dodson made a nice stab of Burman's fast, wicked bounder down by second in the sixth. Dodson does everything for the Aces except carry the bats, and makes rather a good stab at every job he's shoved into.

* * * *

It is understood that the London Club has an offer for Vandyke from an International League club somewhere near Rochester.

WILLARD ASKED FOR TERMS TO FIGHT DEMPSEY

Will Take Matter Up At Once —Rickard the Promoter.

TOPEKA, Kas., Aug. 2.—Jesse Willard, who is in Topeka today on business, said he received a telegram from Tex Rickard today asking for terms for a bout with Dempsey, and will take the matter up with Rickard at once.

"I will wire my answer today, but probably no definite terms will be named until we have had some negotiations back and forth," said Willard. "I will want four or five months for training. I am anxious to fight Dempsey, and Rickard is my choice for promoter. As to terms, I am not ready to announce now what offer I will make Rickard.

"I probably will do some training at my home near Lawrence, in case I enter into a contract to fight Dempsey, and may do most of it on the coast—at Los Angeles, probably."

Willard said he would also wire his former manager, Ray D. Archer, to open negotiations with Rickard, and indicated that Archer will act as his agent in drawing a contract for the proposed bout.

YANK WINS CANADIAN OPEN GOLF TITLE

Americans Show Up Well At Canadian Tournament.

TORONTO, Aug. 2.—W. H. Trovinger of the Bloomfield Hill Country Club, Birmingham, Michigan, won the Canadian open golf championship at the Toronto Golf Club today. He captured the title with a score of 293 for the 72 holes, just nosing out Mike Brady of Detroit, who turned in a card of 296. Trovinger played magnificent golf throughout the day, finishing the morning round in 71, and though he took 73 for afternoon's play, he was five holes better than his old rival, Brady, who made the afternoon round in 78.

Brady's play up to the last three holes made him appear a certain winner, but he ran into bad luck at the sixteenth green, taking five to hole out. At the seventeenth he again fell down, making a six on a hole that should have required only three. Five more on the last hole sealed his fate. In the morning the Detroit professional made the round in 70.

Bob MacDonald of the Bob O'Link Club, Chicago, yesterday's leader, took third place with a score of 298.

An amateur, T. D. Armour, of the Lothian Burn Club, Edinburgh, Scotland, was fourth on the list with 299. He wins the gold medal presented by the Canadian Golf Association for the leading amateur score in the tournament. One of the old-time professionals, George Cumming, of the Toronto Club, a past Canadian open champion, was fifth with 300.

Joe Kirkwood, he famous Australian professional, with 301, landed in sixth place. One point behind him came Frank Thompson, the young amateur of the Mississauga Club, Toronto, and he led the Canadian amateurs. Thompson played splendidly. Charles Murray, Montreal, took eighth place with a card of 303, while Willie Freeman of Lambton, and Nicol Thompson of Hamilton, came next with scores of 304.

Ideal golfing weather prevailed throughout the two sessions, and large galleries following the play of Mike Brady, who up to the last moment was confidently expected to turn in the winning score.

At the close of play, George S. Lyon, vice-president of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, presented the prizes to the various winners.

Scores made by Western Ontario players were: A. Campbell, Sarnia, 96-96, gross total 377; J. N. Hunt, Sarnia, 88-92, gross total 361; H. Keeling, Sandwich, 77-78, gross total 319; W. T. Brazier, Stratford, 84-87, 333; R. M. Hayes, Sarnia, 88-84, 342.

CHICAGO BALL PLAYERS ARE FOUND "NOT GUILTY"

Jury Reaches Verdict After Two Hours and Forty-Seven Minutes of Deliberation.

CHICAGO, August 2.—The seven former Chicago White Sox baseball players and two others on trial for alleged conspiracy to defraud the public through throwing of the 1919 world series games tonight were found not guilty by a jury.

The verdict was reached after 2 hours and 47 minutes of deliberation, but was not returned until 40 minutes later, Judge Friend being out of court when the decision was reached.

Cheers Greet Verdict.

The defendants were: "Buck" Weaver, third baseman; Oscar Felch, outfielder; Charles Riseberg, shortstop; Arnold Gandil, first baseman; Claude Williams, pitcher, and Eddie Cicotte, pitcher; Joe Jackson, outfielder—all former White Sox players—and Carl Zork of St. Louis and David Zelcer of DesMoines.

Announcement of the verdict was greeted by cheers from the several hundred persons who remained in court for the final decision, and shouts of "Hoorah for the clean Sox."

Judge Friend congratulated the jury, saying he thought it was a just verdict.

Eddie Cicotte was the first of the defendants to reach the jury box. He grabbed William Barrett by both hands, shouting his thanks.

Joe Jackson Claude Williams and the others were close behind, and the jurors lifted them onto their shoulders while flashlight photographs were taken.

Bailiffs Join In.

Bailiffs vainly pounded for order, and finally noticing Judge Friend's smiles, joined in the whistling and cheering. Hats sailed high in the air, papers were thrown around, and the court room was the scene of the wildest confusion in any recent Cook County criminal case.

As the jurors filed out of the room they were slapped on the back and shouted congratulations by the spectators.

Visiting New York's Great Literary Shrine

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—New Yorkers are noted for their indifference to the attractions of their own city and its environs. Gothamites return from other states and sigtseeing trips abroad and declare that "little old New York" is the best of all, but they seldom explain in what respect it rivals other states and cities. The fact is they can't. Frequently one hears people say in almost bragging tones that their country cousins know more about "sight places" in New York than they do themselves. Many others are driven to observe some handsome building, nearby bit of scenery or historical spot because some foreigner has written in praise of it.

Perhaps the reason for this is that so many things are brought to our attention every day the old interests are neglected for the new. That is why every once in a while we read with consternation that another city landmark whose chronicles simply teem with historical sentiment has been pulled down to make room for a new office building, factory or public institution.

New York can boast of the greatest literary shrine in America; and yet it is a deplorable fact that any gardener employed in Sleepy Hollow Cemetery, immortalized by Washington Irving, will tell you that more pilgrims to the grave of the beloved author come from Idaho and the State of Washington than from New York. I know an Irving enthusiast who read every line of the great author 25 years ago and promised himself an early visit to the sacred spots in Tarrytown and Irvington. Although he has lived in New York and passed Tarrytown by boat and train countless times not until quite recently did he set foot upon the land made famous by Irving.

Wealthy New Yorkers, however, have shown appreciation of Irving's land by buying and converting into estates practically all of the surrounding countryside. In fact, the only spot left to the public is Sunnyside Lane, which runs fro mthe Albany Post road, or Broadway, as it is now called, to Sunnyside, the house in which Irving wrote "The Life of Washington" and many of the legends and in which the gentle spirit of America's greatest author passed away on November 28, 1859.

Sunnyside Lane most closely resembles some of the lanes in rural England. It is full of curves and delightfully shaded, although the sun pops through the trees at unexpected places as if it were playing hide-and-seek. And then suddenly you hear the brook, the thrilling brook, still "babbling down the ravine and throwing itself into the little cove where of yore the water guard harbored their whaleboats."

More than half-way down the lane one comes to the big iron gate that guards Sunnyside, which Irving has described in "Wolfert's Roost." The pilgrim may follow the lane until it brings him to a spot where a splendid view of Tappan Zee may be obtained.

By walking a hundred feet along the railroad track one may get a fairly good peep through the trees and shrubs at Sunnyside, the "little old-fashioned stone mansion, all gable ends, and as full of angles and corners as an old cocked hat."

Every inch of this locality teems with historical traditions and legendary lore. While gazing over the waters of Tappan Zee, celebrated in New York's history, one's mind reverts to the doings there of other days when "stout galleys armed with 18-pounders and navigated with sails and oars cruised about like hawks." And then he is suddenly brought back to the present by a striking contrast when an excursion boat gives a sociable squeak as it passes peacefully up the river.

One wonders what old Wolfert Eckers, who built "Wolfert's Roost," and whose motto, placed over the door, was "Lust in Rust," which being interpreted means "Pleasure in Quiet," would think of the noise made by the passenger trains that tear past the Roost every few minutes, to say nothing of a fifty-car feright train, with its locomotive belching fire and smoke and its chains and rusty joints rattling, creaking and gliding around he curves like a giant dragon.

There is in Sleepy Hollow Cemetery a headstone that proclaims the resting place of Wolfert Eckers. Only the noise of the automobiles passing along Broadway reach the spot, and what remains of Wolfert may still find "Lust in Rust."

In visiting Sunnyside one should leave the New York Central train at Irvington and walk a few blocks up the main street to Broadway. Then turn to the left and follow Broadway until a little blue sign attached to a post indicates Sunnyside Lane.

PASSION PLAY WILL BE STAGED AGAIN

Thirty Performances Are Scheduled For the Next Season.

OBERAMMERGAU, Bavaria, Aug. 2.—Thirty performances of the Passion Play have been scheduled for 1922 by the committee of 21 which is directing the spectacle, but this number will be increased if the attendance demands, as was the case both in 1900 and 1910.

It will require an outlay of 1,500,000 marks to stage the Oberammergau play, and the villagers are extremely plague in 1633 take part in the Passion situation, lest conditions be such that foregners will not attend.

The 360 burghers who constitute the descendants of the original peasants who made the vow to produce the play decennially, personally assume the responsibility for this expenditure, and the failure to attract sufficient visitors to meet the cost would result in the bankruptcy of practically the entire village, as the Oberammergau folk have slight resources.

Most of the burghers are wood carvers, potters, painters, sculptors, farmers, merchants and small shopkeepers. Only the descendants of the villagers who were saved from the plague in 1633 take part in the Pasison Play and assume responsibility for its production.

Next October will be a fateful month, for then the names of the villagers who are to have the leading roles in the spectacle will be announced.

To be selected to enact the role of Jesus Christ or one of the Apostles is a far greater honor to an Oberammergau man than election to the presidency of Germany or any other office within the gift of the entire German people.

And any women would far rather be chosen to play the role of Mary or Martha or Mary Magdalene than to be in the position of Frau Ebert as mistress of the president's palace in Berlin.

Many of the actors in the Passion Play next year will doubtless be the same as those in the cast when the play was last produced in 1910. Anton Lang, who enacted the role of Jesus Christ in 1900 and 1910, will probably be chosen for the part again, as he is still young enough to undertake the arduous task, and looks the part so well that younger espirants are not likely to displace him.

Ottilie Zwink, who played the role of Mary in 1910, has married since that time. No married woman can play a role. Consequently all the young women of Oberammergau with ability and experience as actors are eagerly trying to qualify for the highly important part. Paula Rendl, daughter of Peter Rendl, the sculptor, who was Joseph of Arimathea in the play of 1910, and enacted the role of St. John 21 years ago. Fraulein Rendl has shown great ability in minor religious plays which are produced constantly by the Oberammergau folk as a means of training actors for the Passion Play.

Marie Mayr, who played the role of Mary Magdalene in the 1910 production, has also married and is living in Chicago. Marie Schmid, who was the Veronica in the last production, has also married.

Eight-two of the Oberammergau men died during the war, and many of the older actors of the last production will be disqualified by age for important roles. Consequently there are scores of places in the cast to which young men with ability as actors may aspire. They have begun to let their hair grow. Wigs and makeup are not permitted by the directors of the Passion Play.

Practically all the older men who had important parts in the last production have never cut their hair. Many of them have retained their long beards, and pride themselves on their resemblance to the Biblical characters they have depicted.

POPULATION IS INCREASING.

IMPROVIDENCE IS BESETTING SIN OF MANY RUSSIANS

Seem To Have Little Idea of the Value of Money.

Constantinople, Aug. 2.—The Russian temperament is proving a serious obstacle to American and other relief and charitable organizations here. Individual Americans trying to help Russian refugees often give up in despair.

The Russian may be described as money-blind. He is careless with his own money and with that of others. Thousands of Russian refugees arrived here with plenty of gold money, furs, jewels and portable valuables. Without a thought for the morrow they lived for a time in the best hotels until the money was exhausted and the valuables pawned.

Then the hotel proprietors asked them to leave, and they went cheerfully to live in a squalid by-street, not only expectant but confident the Americans or some other good souls would care for them. And often it is done.

One of the tragedy-comedies of the foreign colony here is the story of the attempts of a Russian general to get his seven daughters to Paris. Dozens of persons have spent much time and money in his effort, and so far three of the daughters are here and starving. The father has himself spent 75,000 francs trying. The general, a good and capable father, got himself as far as Paris through the kind offices of United States Consul-General Moser, then in Tiflis.

In Paris the father mortgaged his estates for 100,000 francs, and sent 25,000 francs to his wife and seven daughters to join him. They got as far as Constantinople, bought a lot of new dresses, attended the season's dances, loaned the rest of their money to needy friends and asked father for more.

The general sent another 25,000 francs, and after various difficulties about passports, the mother and four of the daughters departed. New loans and expenditures made it impossible to take three of the daughters. Another 25,000 francs was sent to the three daughters by the father through a Russian general, who pocketed it, or thoughtlessly spent it, and the daughters are still here, their clothes held for board and lodgings, and they and their family in Paris are cheerfully waiting until the American relief organizations do something about it.

A certain baron, member of the Imperial Guard, eleven times wounded during the war, was all but adopted by a Chicago dentist, who met him in Russia. The latter arranged for his passage to the United States, sent funds for travel expenses, and waited. The handsome baron pocketed the funds and turned up at the American embassy within a few days describing how his pocket had been picked. A cable was sent the dentist and fresh funds arrived. These funds were dissipated, and still the baron did not sail. He is now awaiting more funds from Chicago.

An American navy officer on station here was told by his Russian friends of their difficulties with the cruel landlord, who was about to eject them. The officer gave them the needed money and was invited to dine with them. The dinner was splendidly served, including champagne. The landlord had to renew his threats, but in vain. The rent money had paid for the dinner.

All Americans here love the Russians and do much to help them, but those with experiences have ceased making heavy sacrifices to do so. The incurable optimism of the Russian leads him to build air castles and into foolish acts that have to be paid for in cold cash. When his optimism is exhausted the Russian is so pessimistic he takes to the river. Many young men have committed suicide here. Their families in France and England and Italy send them money to join them: they spend the money for champagne or silk socks, or what not, and when the money is exhausted they shoot or drown themselves.

The devotion and the childlike cheerfulness of the Russian women here is a source of constant wonder to Americans. Many of them have forgotten they were countesses or princesses and gone to work. Their charity to one another surpasses belief. They will pawn their last jewel to help a friend. The correspondent found one woman selling her eyeglasses to help a friend, and doing it without thought of making a special sacrifice.

TWO SUPREME BIOGRAPHIES OF ALL LITERATURE

Palm Awarded to Plutarch's "Lives" and Boswell's "Johnson."

PICTURE OF ANTIQUITY

One of World's Greatest Books Written by Man Who Was "Bore, Toady and Fool."

Montreal, Aug. 2. — If twenty well-read men and women were asked to name the greatest biography in ancient and then in modern literature, nineteen of them would reply off-hand—Why, Plutarch's "Lives" and Boswell's "Johnson." Everybody has read these two books from their earliest days; and the highest authorities since Montaigne. Henry IV., Shakespeare, Macaulay, and Carlyle, have agreed that these two are the supreme masters of the fascinating and popular art of writing lives of famous men.

Montaigne tells us that the "Parallel Lives" alone might form a good education; Henry IV. said, Plutarch was his very conscience to guide him in his public duty; to Shakespeare, in his three ancient plays, Plutarch was what Holinshed was for his "Histories." A French critic calls the "Lives" one of the noblest books of which humanity has to boast; it offers us "an encyclopaedia of the ancient world." And it has been said of old—if all other books were destroyed, we could still recover some picture of antiquity provided Plutarch survived.

And as to Boswell's "Johnson," similar praises are lavished. "Boswell," said Macaulay, "is the first of biographers. He has no second. He has distanced all his competitors." Again he adds, though he was a bore, a toady, and a fool, he has written "one of the best books in the world." And Carlyle, who understood Bozzy much better than Macaulay, says that his portrait of Johnson "is a more free, perfect, sunlit and spirit-speaking likeness than for many centuries had been drawn by man of man. Scarcely since the days of Homer has the feat been equalled; indeed, in many senses, this also is a kind of Heroic Poem." And Carlyle does not scruple to say of what he calls the "Johnsoniad," that Boswell's book, though it is but a memoir of the conversation of one man, will give us more real insight into the History of England than twenty books of professed historians. And much the same has been often said—and is more truly said of Plutarch's "Parallel Lives."

That being so, says some reader in a hurry (all readers nowadays are in a hurry), why talk about Plutarch and Boswell? Have you anything now to tell us about them? Certainly not! I reply; for I have no pretension to be either scholar, or critic, or professor, on one having authority in things of the mind. All that I have to say about Plutarch or Boswell, or any one else I mention in these stray papers is: Read them, read them again! My tachydromic and polymathic friend says: I have read them, read them years ago!

Well! we know that everyone has read them in early days; but have you not forgotten all but a few anecdotes, canons of judgment, pregnant maxims of Plutarch the just moralist, and of Johnson the downright judge? Of course everyone remembers the story of Aristides writing his own name on the shell, or of Alcibiades cutting off the tail of his pedigree hound, in order to get into the Daily Mail of Athens, or of Alexander and Bucephalus, or of Alexander and Diogenes in his tub, just as everyone knows about Alfred's cakes. But the point I am asking is this: Have you read Plutarch since your school-days? Do you really know all his thousand and one pictures of the antique world so well, that you never turn to him now in later life. I strongly suspect that few persons could honestly say as much.—"Among My Books," Frederic Harrison.

FINLAND MAY JOIN NEW BALTIC ALLIANCE

Coalition Includes All Lettish Parties Except Radicals.

Riga, Aug. 2.—Rapid steps toward the formation of a new Baltic triple alliance, embracing Latvia, Esthonia and Lithuania, which may later take in Finland, are expected by political leaders here to result from the formation of a new Lettish coalition cabinet headed by Sigmund Meyerovitch, as premier and minister for foreign affairs, which latter post he held under the old government.

The new coalition includes almost all the numerous Lettish parties except the most radical left wings.

K. Ulmanis, formerly an instructor at the University of Nebraska, who headed the old regime, is left out, as is also A. Berg, whose prosecutions of the Communist and Socialistic elements as minister of the interior led to the downfall of the old cabinet. Berg has been succeeded by A. Quesis of the Farmers' Union, which forms the Meyerovitch party.

PLAN TO SLAUGHTER 30,000 ARMY HORSES

Too Costly To Bring Them Home Is Government's Plea.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Horse lovers throughout the country have been shocked by Colonial Secretary Winston Churchill's announcement in the House of Commons that 30,000 army horses in Mesopotamia are to be killed because it is too expensive to bring them home.

It was explained that they are mainly heavy draft horses, for which there is no local use, and that they had to be fed on imported fodder. The nearest possible markets are India or Egypt, but the difficulties and cost of transportation thence are said to be prohibitive.

Shipping men say it costs £40 to £50 to bring a horse from the east to England, not counting horsemen's wages.

The war office view is that it is better for the horses to be killed scientifically and humanely than to be left in the hands of natives, who would not care for them properly, and no one would suggest turning them adrift in the desert.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

LIVE HOGS ON UP-GRADE, $12.50 CWT.

No Oats Offered On the Local Market—Wheat Is Slow.

A few thimbleberries were offered by dealers this morning at 25c a quart retail and 21c and 22c wholesale.

Cherries were conspicuous by their absence, and it is thought they are nearly done.

About a dozen baskets of peaches were on sale at unchanged figures, $1 50 to $1 65 for 11-quart baskets.

The butter and egg market is firm and unchanged. Eggs are a little scarcer than last week.

New potatoes remain firm at $2 25 and $2 50 a bushel, and old stock at $1 75 a bag retail. A fair offering is expected tomorrow.

Live hogs are slightly on the upgrade, selling at $12 50 per cwt. They formerly sold at $12 25 to $12 50.

Montreal, Aug. 3.—The local stock exchange was quiet during the first half hour this morning. The general tone, however, was strong. Abitibi was up ½ point at 32, and Brazilian was ¼ higher at 23¼. Brompton was not among the strong issues this morning, dropping ½ point to 21¼. Laurentide, too, was fractionally weaker at 70¾, but National Breweries was stronger by ⅛ at 54.

Corn—Sept. 59⅛c; Dec., 59½c.

Oats—Sept., 38½c; Dec., 41¼c.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Wheat displayed some firmness today, chiefly as a result of continued shrinkage of rural offerings. Export demand, however, appeared to be lacking. General trade was light and the market easily influenced. Opening quitations, which varied from ½c decline to 1c advance, were followed by slight general gains and then something of a reaction.

Corn remained easy, owing to the better supply of moisture. After opening unchanged to ¼c to ⅜c lower, the market hardened a trifle and then sagged again.

Oats were strengthened by bullish estimates of yield. Prices opened unchanged to ⅛c to ¼c off, but then scored a general upturn.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

New York, Aug. 3—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Traders bid up railroad shares again today at the outset in an effort to revive the flugging bull speculation elsewhere. Canadian Pacific, Soo, and St. Louis and San Francisco preferred advanced 1½, Great Northern and Norfolk and Western 1, and other representative issues substantial fractions. Buying back of stocks became quite general in other portions of the list later, with the oil, tobacco, gas, sugar, steel and motor groups rising ½ to 2 points. United Drug was again liquidated, falling 2 points, while Alcohol lost half as much.

NEW TARIFF CAUSES DECREASE IN EXPORTS OF MANY PRODUCTS

Government Bulletin Names Japan As Best Market For East.

The forthcoming number of the Weekly Bulletin of the Commercial Intelligence Service, dated August 1, carries a table which shows, as far as these are given separately in Canadian statistical records: (1) articles which Canada has been exporting to the United States affected by the emergency tariff act, with the respective rates of duty; and (2) quantities and values exported in June, 1920, as compared with those in June, 1921—the first full month of the operation of the emergency tariff act.

Decreased Exports.

The following are among the commodities which show decreases for the month of June of this year as compared with the corresponding period of last year: Butter and substitutes thereof, 14,767 lbs., valued at $4,759, against 716,973 lbs., valued at $381,122; fresh or frozen beef, veal, mutton, lamb and pork, 1,411,800 lbs., calued at $183,418, pork, 1,411,800 lbs., valued at $183,418, milk, preserved, condensed or sterilized, 231,598 lbs., valued at $58,627, against 2,008,056 lbs., valued at $283,790; potatoes 26,709 bushels, valued at $10,021, against 199,444 bushels, valued at $706,698; cattle, 3,059 head, valued at $57,267, against 14,240 head, valued at $576,083; and wheat flour and semolina, 6,359 barrels, valued at $42,192, against 40,047 barrels, valued at $473,421.

Increased Exports.

Among the commodities which show increases in exports are: Flaxseed, 156,276 bushels, valued at $281,895, against 24,550 bushels, valued at $101,093; wheat, 552,233 bushels, valued at $947,024, against 41,253 bushels, valued at $99,535; and meats of all kinds, prepared or preserved; milk (fresh); and cream.

Japan Good Customer.

Japan is Canada's chief market in the Far East. The principal purchaser of Canadian supplies in the Orient is Japan. The trade returns of the commodities exported to that country for the last fiscal year, ending March 31, 1921, shows a wide variety in the classes of goods exported. The principal items include a million dollars' worth of sulphite woodpulp, unbleached, and three-quarters of a million dollars bleached; over half a million dollars' value of fine nickel, and nearly the same amount of zinc spelter, and 7,549 tons of bars and rods from Canadian rolling mills valued at $462,905. Among other exports ranging in value from $100,000 to $400,000, the following are the most important, Douglas fir square timber, dry salted herring, asbestos, ammonium sulphate, rails, lead in pigs, wrapping paper, etc.

Summary for June, 1921.

The summary of the trade of Canada for the month of June, this year, although not comparing favorably with that of last June (the peak month of 1920), is, when all factors are taken into consideration, by no mean so unfavorable as might at first sight appear. The actual decrease, owing to the diminished values, is not as significant as it would be if quantities had been given. The falling off in Canada's export figures, from a value of $106,537,835 in last June to $58,576,299 this June, does not represent a corresponding decrease in quantities. Similar reduction in trade returns are to be found in the case of all the larger manufacturing countries, due to the general stagnation in trade after the first period of excessive buying that followed the armistice.

It is perhaps not only a just but a conservative estimate that the present figures, although lower than last year's, form a striking confirmation of Canada's permanent expansion in export trade since the pre-war period in 1914. For June of that year the exports were valued at about $28,000,000.

English Crops.

The drought in England, which has lasted for five months, is reported by Mr. Harrison Watson, trade commissioner in London, as leaving all previous records behind. The apearance of the crops in England and Wales on the first of July indicated probable yields per acre, expressing the average crop by 100, as follows: Wheat, 100; barley, 87; oats, 89; beans, 94; peas, 93; potatoes, 90; mangolds, 91; seeds hay, 90; meadow hay, 77; and hops, 96.

Shipbuilding Depression.

Recent quarterly reports of Lloyd's register of shipping have chronicled a distinct setback in shipbuilding in the United Kingdom, and the position disclosed in the returns for the quarter ended June 30, 1921, is so bad that with the cessation of labor troubles there seems a hope that the bottom has been reached. Merchant tonnage returned as under construction in the United Kingdom at the end of June amounted to 3,530,047 tons. But, as this estimate includes 735,000 tons of which work had been suspended owing to bad times, and in addition 440,000 tons delayed in completion owing to labor troubles, there must be a deduction of 1,175,000 or about one-third of the total, in order to arrive at the real position. There was a reduction of about 104,000 tons in the tonnage launched during the March quarter.

Market for Lumber.

Mr. A. E. Bryan, Canadian trade commissioner in Yokohama, reports that it is difficult at present to interest either foreign houses or Japanese in many Canadian lines. There appear to be good stocks of all imported materials on hand, and importers do not wish to place new business until present supplies have been almost exhausted. But many inquires for Canadian lumber have been received. For the first few months of this year there have been heavy decreases noted in every material imported into Japan with exception of lumber. There is also s market for wood pulp, because though there are big stocks of pulp Japan at present owing to the that Japanese mills are only operat at 80 per cent capacity, many firms to Canada as the future source of sup and want to make connections which they can do business just as s as there is a demand.

WILL PAY NOMADS TO MAINTAIN PEA

Peculiar Problem Is Solved British Government in Arabia.

London, Aug. 2. — A novel work arrangement on the "no peace, no pa principle has been entered into by British Government with the Waha a powerful Arabian desert tribe. T Wahabi are Nomads and belong to sect which Colonial Secretary W ston Churchill described in the Ho of Commons as "bearing the same re tion to orthodox Islam as the most n tant forms of Calvinism would h borne to Rome in the fiercest times the religious wars."

They are, he said, austere, intolera well-armed and bloodthirsty, and th regard it as an article of duty as w as of faith to kill all who do not sh their opinions. Moreover, they are v dangerous to the holy cities of Me and Medina and the whole institut of the pilgrimage.

The finances of the shereef of Mec who enjoys British protection, ha suffered grievously by the interrupt of the pilgrimages. Therefore, assist him and King Hussein of Hedjaz, who has been in constant w fare with the "Arabian Calvinists," latter are to receive £60,000 cash a nually, so long as they refrain fr annoying their neighbors and do interfere with the candidacy of H sein's son, the Emir Feisul, for rulership of the new Mesopotam state.

Colonel Lawrence of the colonial fice, who has lived among the Waha for years, told an interviewer that th were indeed a most violent people. Th are, he said, fanatically Mohammed. and would kill their men and women smoking even a cigarette. The w they correct their women is to tie th up in bags and beat them unmer fully with palm canes.

Each man has three wives. Sho any of them go out of doors the co allows him to have her put to dea This is because they believe that any other man looks at her she is co taminated, and that if a women go outside her home she is certain to wrong. Wearing a silk dress of a costly finery, precious stones or met is also a penal offence.

"In no sense are they a decade people," Colonel Lawrence conclud "They are virile and as austere they are bloodthirsty and brave. should be cheap at £60,000 a year buy their goodwill and to keep the quiet."

The latter view, however, does meet with universal acception. Ma taxpayers would prefer to see the e of all British commitments in Mesop tamia.

OKE'S REMEDIES
One morning, Mrs. Sam Scoop
Found her hens sick with the roop.
Did she worry or croak?
No, she gave the "Dick Oke's";
It knocks the sneeze in a jiffy.

And even Daddy Rooster
Crowed a lot louder
Than he uster.

COLLYER'S COMMENT on the SPORT of KINGS

BY BERT E. COLLYER

Dodge. The old boy never will be any better than he is right now, and mud is his leather. Only has to have a boy strong enough to hold his head up in order to cop the winner's portion of the purse today. One word more, don't let the price scare you off. Sandy Beal is liked by the clockers because of some recent good trials. Does ook like the contender. Sir Grafton about holds the balance safe. All this happens in the fifth at Windsor.

Viola G. is sent along by the boys who nurse the split second watches as a steepler in the day's opener, has a chance to cop the jack with anything like decent racing luck. Carry On and Norma J. should be fighting it out for what is left. Peace Pal, if sent to the post, will take a world of beating in the second. He revels in the sticky going and the farther they go the better he likes it. Hysteria and Bumpety Bumps have the rest of the purse between them.

All over but the shouting in the third. It's here that the hard boots from Kaintucky grab get-away money. The good is Old Cap, and if he's only half as good as they think he'll be on the bill daily all the way. Nuff sed. Tarantula has been working like a house on fire and will bear watching. Judge Burrow was bet on in China the other day, but didn't run up to expectations. Kinburn for mine in the fourth. The spot seems to have been well selected, for the Gallagher boys are always trying. That's good enough for muh. Hadrian will take some beating and should be a bang-up second, with Judge Ellsworth grabbing the short end.

It's a toss up between Speedster and Hackamore in the sixth. Personally, I fancy the latter's chances slightly best. Nothing but a world of tuff luck will keep Huen from being third.

ONE BEST BET OF THE DAY—Dodge.
BEST TAKE A CHANCE BET—Gain De Cause.
BEST PARLEY—Hysteria, Judge Budrow. Sandy Beal to show.

The last is at the mercy of Gain De Cause. Is a mud-running fool, and the distance is just made to order. It's the spot to get the vacation jack. Young Adam and Goldine for what is left.

WINDSOR SELECTIONS.

FIRST RACE—Viola G., Carry On, Norma J.
SECOND RACE—Peace Pal, Hysteria, Bumpety Bumps.
THIRD RACE—Old Chap, Tarantula, Judge Budrow.
FOURTH RACE—Kinburn, Hadrian, Judge Ellsworth.

BEST BET—Last One.

SARATOGA SELECTIONS.

FIRST RACE—Pohaska, Arrowhead, Snare.

Personal Health Service

(By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D., Noted Physician and Author.)

Neuritis.

One of the requests appearing most frequently in my daily mail is: "Please suggest something good for neuritis."

Long ago women whose husbands beat them and dragged them around the washtub on Saturday night developed nervous prostration. Then some genius conceived the idea of making the ailment more fashionable, which he did by re-christening it neurasthenia. For years it was all the rage, this neurasthenia. Sounded so exclusive—something only the idle rich could afford. Thus old N. P. became popular. And now this fancy of exclusiveness—and such fancies do prevail regarding diseases—has fastened itself on neuritis, and victims of all kinds of aches and pains of an indefinite character are delighted and flattered when some healer or near-healer calls the trouble neuritis.

Please do not misunderstand me, victims of neuritis. I am not trying to place you in the category with victims of rheumatism and victims of catarrh. Let those deluded folks enjoy their rheumatism and their catarrh. Your neuritis is neuritis—nerve inflammation—in about one-fourth of the cases so designated. Far be it from me to imply that there is nothing the matter with a neuritis subject or with the victim of rheumatiz or the victim of catarrh, for that matter. I merely emphasize the fact that whereas the diagnosis of "rheumatism" is a bad guess in 97.8 per cent of the cases, and that of "catarrh" is a bad guess in 100 per cent of the cases, the diagnosis of neuritis is a mistake in only 75 per cent of the cases. And in at least 90 per cent of the 75 per cent of mistaken diagnoses of neuritis, it is not the physician, but someone else, who has suggested neuritis.

There is nothing I can say to correspondents who ask me to suggest something good for neuritis. I am quite as much at loss to do that as I would be to suggest something good for a run-down condition, an indefinite ache or pain, or a tired businessman. The mere word neuritis conveys no tangible idea of the nature of the trouble. Too many easy-going folks have learned to call every ache or pain which formerly passed as neuralgia (nerve ache), by the more classy, up-to-date and impressive name of neuritis—keeping always in the back of the mind a hazy notion that it is somehow related with rheumatism—which it is, both terms being meaningless as popularly employed.

A feature of neuritis (nerve inflammation) which is practically essential to a correct diagnosis is atrophy or wasting of the muscle or muscle group supplied by the nerve trunk involved in the inflammation. Without such wasting and weakening there is little on which to hinge the diagnosis of neuritis. Another feature is the long duration of the trouble—always many weeks or months.

Common causative factors of inflammation of one or more of the nerves are alcohol, arsenic, lead, injury, infection through wounds, or from adjacent lesions (such as the facial neuritis sometimes appearing as a complication of middle ear disease.)

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Glasses Do Not Weaken Eyes.

Please state in your column whether glasses weaken the eyes. My left eye is 20-20, while my right eye is 8-20. Do I need glasses? (L. R. L.)

Ans.—You need only a monocle, or glasses with the correction over the defective eye and plain lens or none over the sound eye. Wearing glasses when there is a defect of vision never weakens the eyesight, but often conserves it. That is, provided the glasses are accurately fitted and properly supported before the eyes. Many are not.

Shiny Nose.

Please, oh, please, print something for my shiny greasy nose. (Miss F. D. W.)

Ans.—
Zinc sulphate ....1 dram
Potassium sulphurated ....1 dram
Rose water ....4 ounces

Shake well and daub on nose and allow to dry on overnight.

Hot Water and Salt Water.

Please give your opinion of the practice of drinking hot water taken half an hour before breakfast and using salt water to bathe the eyes when they feel sore or inflamed. (L. L. T.)

Ans.—Many persons find that a cupful or two of hot water taken half an hour before breakfast has a laxative effect and aids digestion. It can do no harm in any case, provided it be taken not less than fifteen minutes before eating. Hot water at meal time tends to decrease the secretion of the gastric juice and slow down or delay digestion; cold water at meal time stimulates secretion and tends to improve digestion. Plain water irritates the eyes, but the addition of a rounded teaspoonful of salt to the pint of boiled water cooled to body warmth, renders the water about the saline strength of the tears, and that makes it nonirritating for bathing the eyes. Stronger salt water should not be used. This "physiological" or "normal" salt solution is all right for such purpose, though it is not advisable to bathe the eyes as a constant practice.

MAUD GOING BACK TO FORMER OWNER

Horse Trade At Simcoe Is Aired Before Magistrate.

SIMCOE, Aug. 2.—This is the tale of a horse. Her name is Maud. Maud won't travel with a Dutch collar. She was traded for Jim, an 18-year-old skate who "looks like a pumpkin seed." Just $70 went with Jim for Maud. Maud didn't like leaving her old master, Nelson Force, 82 years old, a market gardener in Towsend and balked and kicked every time her new owner, Lewis J. Sherman of Waterford, hitched her to the mail wagon to take R. R. 3, Waterford. Mrs. Sherman took the horse in hand and delivered on the route for weeks. Maud lived up to her name. Sherman told Attorney Kelly that Force said there wasn't a bad trik in Maud. A charge of false pretense was laid against Force. It was aired in Simcoe police court with Town Treasurer Frank Reid representing Force. Force said Sherman put a Dutch collar on the nag after he had warned him not to do so.

Magistrate Gunton decided police court was no place to settle Maud's hash and suggested that the parties get ogether and "trade back." Force was adverse, but at last consented. As a result, Jim is going back to his old stable with a place on his majesty's mail routes. Maud's war is ended as far as Sherman is concerned and Sherman said war is hell.

ACQUITTED PLAYERS NOT TO GET CHANCE TO RETURN TO GAME

Chicago, Aug. 3.—None of the American League players who were acquitted last night of an alleged criminal conspiracy to throw the 1919 world's series has any immediate prospect of being restored to organized baseball, according to a statement issued today by Judge K. M. Landis, National baseball commissioner.

"Regardless of the verdict of juries," said the statement, "no player that throws a ball game, no player that entertains proposals or promises to throw a game, no player that sits in a conference with a bunch of crooked players and gamblers where the ways and means of throwing games are discussed and dares not tell his club about it, will ever play professional baseball."

FOURTEEN IN FAVOR OF PERMANENT COURT

GENEVA, Aug. 2.—Official notifications from Great Britain and Norway, received by the secretariat of the league of nations today, brings the total number of ratifications of the permanent court of international justice to fourteen. It was stated in the British note that King George had signed a special act providing for adherence.

The council of the league has proposed to Poland and Lithuania that they settle the Vilna controversy at a meeting at Geneva on August 25, the allied military commission to be maintained meanwhile.

RECORD CROPS IN RUTHVEN DISTRICT

Tomato Growers May Erect a Big Co-operative Cannery.

RUTHVEN, Aug. 2.—The past two months of almost steady hot weather has worked wonders with crops in this district, and the result is that the corn, potato, wheat, oats and tobacco will be the best yield in twenty years. Better tomatoes were never shipped from here. Thousands of baskets leave the two stations daily. Corn and tobacco are both prize winners, and although the tobacco crop in acreage is not nearly as large as the 1920 crop, the extra large leaves will almost make up in weight to last year's crop.

The root crop has seldom shown up to better advantage. The heavy showers which covered this whole district on Tuesday and thoroughly soaked the ground to a depth of five inches, were most beneficial. Everything is fast coming to maturity and will soon all be harvested.

Miss Bruce Fox, who underwent two operations at the hospital a few months ago, has now almost completely regained her health.

Miss Myrtle Walters, who has been the guest of friends and relatives at West Lorne for two weeks, has returned to her duties as assistant in the postoffice.

Many of the farmers in this district are strongly advocating the building of a large co-operative canning factory here. Hundreds of bushels of the very finest tomatoes go to waste every year, and this year will be a record-breaker. There will only be one or two factories opened up this season.

Fishermen all along the shore are getting their twine mended and everything in shape for the fall fishing, which will open up about the middle of next month.

Charles Eaton, who resided at Union for many years, and conducted a hothouse business, and who sold his stand to the Sanatorium and moved to Eagle, near West Lorne, is here this week.

Mrs. T. H. Wigle, who had a light paralytic stroke and who was so seriously ill, has almost completely recovered.

LOSS IS $75,000 IN OWEN SOUND BLAZE

Thirteen Autos Burn When Big Garage Goes Up in Smoke.

OWEN SOUND, Aug. 2.—Fire broke out in Dean's garage this morning and caused a loss of $75,000. Thirteen automobiles and two trucks were damaged to the extent of $20,000, and Sound Whitewear, Limited, whose factory is over the garage, were also heavy losers. The fire started in a corner of the garage, where some barrels of oil were stored, but the origin in unknown.

FOUR IN ONE FAMILY ILL WITH TYPHOID

Neighbors Care For Blenheim Children—Civic Holiday August 15.

BLENHEIM, Aug. 2.—All work on the concrete paving was delayed today owing to the rain which fell here steadily nearly all day, but not in large quantities. Good progress has been made of late by the contractors, and it was expected that within a few days they would have completed the south half of the street from one end of the town to the other. Yesterday 43 loads of gravel were hauled from the lakeshore for the work. The contractors have used as many as 1,500 sacks of cement on the job in one day. From all appearances no town will have a better pavement.

Civic holiday is set for Monday, August 15, and already plans are under way for a day of sport. Various committees have the arrangements in hand. Lacrosse and baseball games are scheduled for the morning and afternoon respectively. Outside teams will be brought here to meet the locals. There will also be horse and automobile races and a firemen's water fight in the afternoon.

A local man appeared before Police Magistrate Whittington today to answer to a charge of non-support of his wife and family.

Frank Thomas, an east end resident, is in the Chatham Hospital suffering with typhoid fever. Three of his children lie ill at his home with the same disease. Neighbors and friends are lending assistance to the family and taking care of his crop on his lots.

REVOLT IS QUELLED

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The revolt of the military, which recently occurred in Lisbon has been quelled, according to a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Madrid. The Government is control of the situation.

WILL INVESTIGATE JAIL.

TORONTO, Aug. 2.—The board of control voted today for an inquiry by Judge Heuson into the management of the Toronto jail farm. Affidavits were recently sent to Mayor T. L. Church, alleging that a prisoner named Cunningham had been beating by guards. Cunningham died soon after being released.

WINDSOR GRANTS AN ADDITIONAL $60,000 TO GRACE HOSPITAL

Salvation Army Has Now Received $160,000 From Border City.

The Salvaion Army officials have been granted an additional $60,000 by the Windsor city council to enlarge the new wing which was added to the Grace Hospital last year. This application was put before the council three times before it was submitted to the people for approval, and was passed with a majority of 265.

This is the second largest vote ever polled in the city of Windsor, being 979. The largest vote was taken when the Windsor Street Railway was taken over by the hydro commission two years ago.

This second grant makes a total of $160,000 set aside for the improvement and additional building to the hospital in the last year.

Sports' Day on Ipperwash Beach is always looked forward to with great interest, and this year was no exception to the rule. BICYCLE THIEVING INCREASING IN CITY

W. A. Casson of the Soldiers' Aid Commission had his wheel stolen from in front of the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday night between 9 and 10 o'clock. Mr. Casson had returned from the boys' camp at Sage's farm, where he was representing the Soldiers' Aid Commission, and went into the "Y" to leave some papers with the secretary. When he returned a short time afterwards the wheel has disappeared.

That there is a gang of bicycle thieves at work in the city is evidenced by the fact that Fred Taylor, an official of the Y. M. C. A., had his bicycle stolen on the same night from practically the same spot, and over a dozen reports have reached the police to the effect that bicycles have been stolen in the last two or three weeks.

The bicycle Mr. Casson lost is a Massey-Harris, and the serial number is 40413. Mr. Taylor's is a Humphrey's make, No. 78965.

CORN-BORER FOUND IN NORMAL SCHOOL PLOT

Professor Dearness reports finding the much-talked-about corn-borer in the Normal School experimental garden. He says that it is just as likely to be in any other corn patch in the city as where he found it, and that it ought to be sought out and destroyed. Its work is usually detected by the drooping of flowering branches in the tassel. Small round holes in the stalk, accompanied with sawdust-like castings, also indicate where the larvae are at work.

TOWNSHIP COUNCIL AWAITS HYDRO FORMS

Purely routine business was done by Westminster Township Council during a meeting at the County Buildings on Tuesday afternoon. The question of installing hydro in the homes and villages of the township is hanging fire, as contract forms to be supplied by hydro-electric power commission engineers are awaited. Nothing new has developed in the gas situation in the township.

LAKESIDE PASTOR TO RECEIVE $1,700 SALARY

LAKESIDE, Aug. 2.—The meeting of the quarterly official board of the Kintore Methodist Circuit was held last evening in the church, and the pastor, Rev. G. W. Butt, presided. The recommendations on evangelism of the annual conference were considered. The minister's salary for the ensuing year was placed at $1,700. The hours of services were changed between Brown's and Lakeside appointments. For the next three months Lakeside will have regular afternoon services at 3 o'clock. During the month of August, while Mr. Butt is on his holidays, the pulpit will be supplied by Rev. Dr. McDonald of the Presbyterian Church, Kintore, and later on Mr. Butt will take the work in the Presbyterian Church, during Dr. McDonald's vacation.

The annual Sunday school picnic of the Lakeside Methodist Church will be held on August 11 in Lakeside Park.

A meeting for the discussion of hydro will be held on Wednesday night in the hall. A large number are expected to be present.

WILL CALL REFEREE TO DETERMINE FAIR PRICE FOR GAS DISTRIBUTION

Rate of $1 Per 1,000 Cubic Feet For Supply of a Mixture of Artificial and Natural Gas Is Regarded by Council As Still Too High.

The provincial gas referee will be called in to determine a fair price per thousand feet for natural gas delivered from the Saul wells near Crumlin, to the eastern city limits of London. This action was decided upon by the special gas committee, selected from members of the city council and chamber of commerce Tuesday night, following a consultation with officials of the City Gas Company. Ald. W. A. Wilson, chairman of the meeting; Mayor E. S. Little and Philip Pocock were appointed a committee to take this action.

The City Gas Company officials announced that they will be willing to distribute natural gas through their mains to local consumers for 35 cents per thousand cubic feet. As the Progressive Gas and Oil Company, which controls the Saul wells, has offered to deliver natural gas to the city limits for 65 cents per thousand cubic feet, this would bring the total cost of the product to Londoners to $1.00 per thousand cubic feet. The present price for artificial gas here is $1.25 per thousand.

Proportional Basis.

As only residents of East London will consume natural gas, due to the fact that 500,000 cubic feet daily is the limit of the Crumlin supply, Colin Duffield, managing director of the City Gas Company, suggested that cost for gas be figured to all citizens on a proportional basis. That is, if one-half the city's daily consumption is natural gas, and the remainder artificial, fifty per cent of the gas consumed monthly by each citizen would be charged according to the delivery cost of the natural product, with the other half billed at the artificial gas rate.

This scheme, he stated, has been worked out satisfactorily in Hamilton, where mixed gas is supplied to householders. It places every consumer upon the same basis, although some districts will use natural gas exclusively, while others similarly will consume artificial gas entirely. Ald. W. A. Wilson, chairman of the meeting, quoting the former gas commissioner for the province, informed those present that natural gas is twice as strong as the artificial product.

Pay Lowest Taxes.

"You are giving the east-enders the benefit, and they pay the lowest taxes," commented Philip Pocock, a member of the committee.

When the local gas officials announced thirty-five cents as their price for delivering natural gas, Ald. W. A. Wilson declared it to be out of the question for citizens to pay $1.00 per thousand, with natural gas in the mains. Colin Duffield explained that ten per cent of the gas in the company's mains is lost through leakage, and that by paying for it at the city limits there would be such a loss in natural gas. He pointed out that natural gas is delivered to houses in Chatham for fifty cents per thousand.

"I think 65c is out of all reason," commented Mayor Little.

"What do you say about 35c for delivery alone?" asked the chairman.

"That is the same," interjected Ald. Cameron Wilson.

A Peculiar Figure.

"That is a peculiar figure," added the mayor.

During the discussion on a comparison of the efficiency of the two types of gas, Ald. Cameron Wilson said, "The City Gas Company does not pay any attention to the British thermal unit."

"If we don't we are hauled up in court and fined," replied Manager Duffield, who explained that the Government tests gas here daily.

"This natural gas is odorless and ahead of any gas I know," opined Ald. W. A. Wilson.

Mr. Duffield pointed out that despite the supply of natural gas, the artifical plant would have to be maintained here to create a reserve supply in case of emergency, and this would keep the price up.

Both Too High.

"My candid opinion is that the price of both companies is too high," ventured Ald. W. A. Wilson, "and there is not much use proceeding when they are both that way. You have no perpetual franchise."

"Well, we want to make what we can while we have," replied A. M. Smart on behalf of the City Gas Company. Manager Duffield stated that in Hamilton the consumers pay $1.25 and 75c per thousand feet for artificial and natural gas, respectively. William Duffield stated further that the increased consumption in Hamilton over London cuts down distribution expenses greater there.

Ald. W. A. Wilson: "We have a chance for cheap gas for the city and ought to take it. The City Gas Company wants the good will of the people."

C. Duffield: "The cheaper we can sell the gas the better we will be pleased."

"How do you gentlemen figure this out to satisfy the citizens of London?" queried Chairman Wilson.

"By giving them 75c gas," opined E. V. Buchanan, representing the chamber of commerce on the special committee.

"George Wenige included," specified Mayor Little.

Has Other Consumers.

"It is ridiculous to consider this 65-cent offer when the commission ordered 50 cents at Chatham," declared Ald. John Bridge. "This company has other consumers ready to take its gas, they say. I presume they are manufacturers. All we have to do if this is meant as a club over our heads is to call in the commission."

J. J. Foote of the chamber of commerce stated that in his opinion the natural gas is worth 40 cents a thousand feet at the city limits. He further stated that the promoters may have a loophole, in that perhaps they could feed their product at 65 cents a thousand to the Southern Gas Company mains south of London.

Wants the Goodwill.

"Let us get back to a pre-war basis," pleaded Ald. G. A. Wenige, "have 90-cent gas and the goodwill of the people. It is in their minds and has been in their bills for years. Both prices are too high. If the natural gas is better, a man spending 90 cents now may only use 65 cents' worth."

Mayor Little then moved that the gas referee by called in to decide the price for the natural gas. Officials of the City Gas Company were informed that their price of 35 cents a thousand for distribution is too high, and that a reduction will be discussed at a future meeting. Those present at the meeting were Ald. W. A. Wilson, chairman, Ald. Cameron Wilson, Ald. G. A. Wenige, Ald. John Bridge and Mayor Little, representing the city; J. J. Foote, Philip Pocock and E. V. Buchanan, representing the chamber of commerce; and Colin Duffield, William Duffield and A. M. Smart, on behalf of the City Gas Company.

LAW IS TOO LENIENT, DECLARES MAGISTRATE

[Special To The Advertiser.]

WINDSOR, Aug. 8.—Found guilty of having lured young girls in his automobile and then by threats and cajolery induced them to enter Chinese resorts in different parts of the city, where they were subjected to repeated abuse, Arthur Bastien, 28 years old, Windsor taxi driver, was this afternoon sentenced by Police Magistrate Gundy to two years in Kingston penitentiary. Two of the girls gave evidence against the prisoner.

In passing sentence, the magistrate bitterly scored Bastien, regretting he was unable to prescribe a more fitting punishment to fit his crime.

REPAIRS TO SCHOOL TO BEGIN AT ONCE

Necessary Sanction of Board Will Be Obtained Later.

Repairs to Simcoe Street School, costing approximately $2,000, will be proceeded with at once, in order that they may be completed by September, when school opens for the fall term. This was decided upon by five members of the board of education Tuesday afternoon after waiting in vain 30 minutes for a quorum.

In view of the fact that these repairs, including replacement of fifteen beams in six rooms on the ground floor, which are now in a state of dry rot deterioration, are absolutely necessary to make thes chool safe, those present decided that the work must proceed. Architect L. A. Carrothers has so advised and states that work must be begun at once to complete the repairs by September.

Under these circumstances the trustees present decided to start at once and obtain the necessary sanction of the board of education later. These repairs will mean an overdraft, as no funds have been provided in the estimates for them as recommended by No. 2 committee.

Another recommendation adopted is that in future the Thames River will be designated as the boundary between Empress Avenue and Talbot Street Public Schools zones on recommendation of Public School Inspector V. K. Freer. The meeting Tuesday afternoon lasted for three minutes, although it was started a half-hour late. Those present were: Chairman Thomas Coleridge and Trustees Mrs. Hunt, Udy, Hayman and Langford.

When you want your entertainment to be successful, you must let the people know where it is going to be held, and what entertainment you intend to provide. $1.50 is the cheapest rate for an advertisement under the heading of "Amusements."
