

SHOP EARLY

Advertiser readers will find many timely hints on early shopping for Christmas gifts in the advertisements of the following up-to-date stores. Take advantage of the Club Plan offered by these merchants.

Outlines Advantages of "Shopping Early"

Every year at this time there is the same admonition and the same resolution to "shop early." While this may seem to be out of place, still there is some sound logic in it, and all those purchasers of Christmas remembrances (and who is there that does not observe this time-honored custom?) would do well to give some thought to the suggestion.

Away back in the summer, when most of us are away from the city seeking relief from the torrid heat, Mr. Merchant is even then anticipating our Christmas wants; when it is farthest from our thoughts he is busy planning for us, making selections to suit our wants. Early in the fall this merchandise arrives fresh, new, bright and appealing, complete in every way for us to inspect and choose from.

The early shopper has the distinct advantage of this complete stock from which to acquire gifts for all, at a time when the salespeople in the stores are enthusiastic and have ample time in which to assist in the pleasurable task of Christmas shopping.

Here, then, is the main advantage. But there are others. For instance, how many of us have left till the last week all our buying? We rush downtown with our shopping list, hurry from store to store, take this or that with the remark, "Oh, that will do for him" or "she will have to be satisfied with this," when if we had given a little thought to the question, and we knew all along we had the situation to face sooner or later, we could have bought just what would suit mother, something she has wanted for a long time; could have given father what he, in an unthinking moment, way back in the summer, expressed a wish for; and best of all, in all the time in which to assist in the pleasurable task of Christmas shopping.

Forethought, then, is worth while. Why not try this year to get started early and finished early? Can you imagine how good you would feel about the fifteenth of December to sit back and say, "Well, my shopping is all finished, the parcels tied up with the cards inside, with real greetings on them, all waiting for the day." Here, then, is the secret or solution—get started now.

Special To The Advertiser.
Thamesville, Nov. 10.—The Kent County Motor League held its regular monthly meeting here tonight, with representatives present from Chatham and Thamesville. President Arnold occupied the chair.

Col. H. D. Smith gave a most interesting address on safety in traveling. His address covered the following subjects: Danger to pedestrians; safety zones; accidents which have resulted in two deaths in Kent County due to simple misjudgments of drivers of cars; increasing of speed limits in country to a rate any driver may wish to go, but to be always able to control his car; warning to bicyclists to refrain from zig-zagging across the highways; all vehicles should carry lights at night; every driver, whether young or old, should undergo an examination and given license if capable of driving properly.

The next meeting of the club will probably be held in Chatham.

STUDENTS CELEBRATE SIGNING OF ARMISTICE

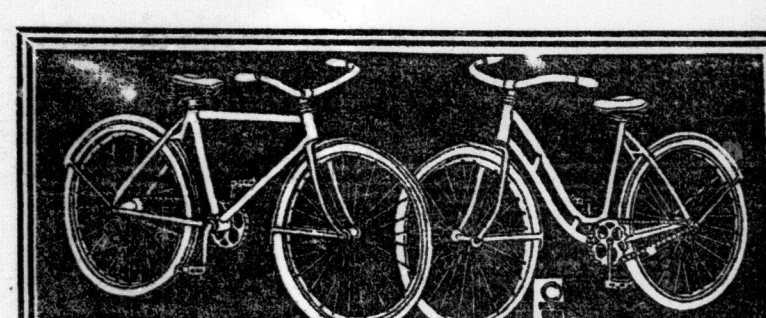

A celebration of Armistice Day of such a character as to impress its significance upon the minds of the growing-up young citizens-to-be was held Friday afternoon in the London South Collegiate. The students were massed in the auditorium, where the old songs, so familiar in war days, "Tipperary," "The Long, Long Trail," "Pack Up Your Troubles," etc., were sung with spirit and enthusiasm, led by E. W. G. Quantz, who has recently been appointed supervisor of music of the school.

An address followed from Rev. W. Leslie Armitage, who, for boys and girls, in many cases too young to understand at the time, reviewed the history of the war, its causes and outstanding events in its long, tedious years, particularly engagements with which the Canadians were associated. A copy of the treaty, broken when war began, the "scrap of paper," was exhibited to the deeply interested young audience. Orville Edie, in an appropriate speech, thanked the speaker, Ruth Tanton seconding the resolution.

WANT SOLUTION ON COLLEGIATE

Trustees Urge Tangle Be Cleared Up Before Christmas.

Although the Central Collegiate Institute legal entanglements between the Kingston Construction Company and the local contractors was briefly discussed at No. 3 committee meeting of the board of education Friday afternoon, none of the trustees present could offer any suggestions as to a probable solution of the existing difficulties between the construction company and the London board of education. As yet the college has not been formally accepted by the board, and $10,000 owing to the company is being held back pending settlement with the sub-contractors in the city.

Trustee A. E. Silverwood declared that the matter should be settled by the end of the year, and while all present were unanimous in this view, suggestions as to how that feat could be accomplished were not forthcoming.

Solution in Sight.

He stated that, in his opinion, if Mr. Wright, who represents the company, could be communicated with a solution would be in sight. That gentleman, however, has vanished at least as far as the trustees are concerned, and his present address is not known.

Pointing out the fact that the contract between the Kingston Construction Company and the London contractors will come up during the latter part of November, Chairman Edgerton stated that representative whom the board could arrange to meet would surely be in the city by that time.

Seek New Piano.

In his monthly report, Principal Miller pointed out the need of a new piano for the school auditorium. Among those who would benefit by the purchase of a new instrument would be the Literary Society, the Glee Club and the school orchestra, he said. Two hundred and fifty dollars has already been raised through the Mothers' Club and other organizations in that section of the city. It was decided that supervisor of music be asked to bring a report on the cost of a new instrument.

Night Classes Increase.

The report of Principal W. H. T. Mooney of the Central Collegiate Institute showed that the number of night classes was entirely satisfactory. This year have increased. Mr. Mooney considered this very encouraging, and said that the progress of the night classes was entirely satisfactory.

King of Cigarettes

Supreme quality and proven excellence. The flavor is delightfully mild, yet soundly satisfying.

10 for 15¢
25 " 35¢

IMPERIAL TOBACCO COMPANY OF CANADA, LIMITED.

To the Electors of London:

At the request of thousands of citizens and taxpayers in general, including people in all walks of life, which includes working men and women, professional men, merchants, manufacturers, business men, financial men, from the humblest citizen up, I have definitely decided to stand as a candidate for the Mayor's chair for 1923, and I think it is only fair to you that I make this announcement far enough in advance (and not wait until the 11th hour), so it will give you plenty of time to look up by record, my reputation and my qualifications, and satisfy yourself that I will be able to carry out my platform and plan.

Building a City

is not different from building a house, or building a business—all that is necessary is to have a definite plan and then work to the plan.

I have been asked what my platform will be, and I can assure you that it has not changed from last year—no influences or special favors have or will change my views—and this platform and plan will positively be carried out—IF YOU SAY SO!

1—Commission Form of Government.

An immediate move to secure a commission form of government, with a City Manager, a Finance Director, and a Purchasing Agent, who will be responsible for all city purchases—together with a small board of directors elected by the people, who will, in turn, be responsible for the appointments they make. The Ontario Municipal Act permits this, and you have already voted in favor of it.

2—Service In All Civic Departments

This will be insisted upon, and 100 per cent courtesy and efficiency will have to be given by all employees. A complaint department will be opened, where EVERY citizen will be invited to make just complaints, or suggestions, and where they will receive attention promptly.

3—Civic Work

All jobs must be given on competitive basis, and the engineer will be compelled to tender along with others and made to do the work within his tender. And any contract let out will have the FAIR or MINIMUM wage clause inserted.

4—London Citizens

only will be employed in the works department—no importations, as it is not necessary; we have plenty of men here to do all our work.

5—No Reduction In Wages

but an increase where it is found necessary.

6—City Hall Salary Reductions

(Yes) Some of them and a more equitable adjustment of salaries where required.

7—A Show-Down from the Street Railway Company

And no purchase of the company at the present time. We will wait. There will be a more favorable time shortly to buy the outfit, if we decide to buy at all. But we will insist that the company live up to Bylaw No. 916, which is a contract they made with the city. Every street intersection where the company has held up work will be paved, and if the company does not pay it voluntarily we will do it, and charge it to them, and then collect it. (Paving accounts have been collected before from them when some of the wise ones said it couldn't be done.)

8—City of London Bill will be used only for the purpose for which it was intended—EMERGENCY CASES—and not used in putting things over on the citizens against their will.

9—A Pay-As-You-Go Policy

will be adhered to, the amount of work to be undertaken MUST be within our income. No unnecessary debentures will be issued. Our debt must be reduced, and this will reduce taxes.

10—Large Expenditures of Money must be voted on by the people.

11—No Married Women

employed by the city in cases where the husband is already employed.

12—Settlement of the Gas Question

Will insist on the return to the citizens of the $65,000.00 illegally collected, which the judge said they had no legal right to collect and no moral right to retain. This is a matter for the civic authorities to collect for the citizens, and it can and will be collected.

13—North-End Fire Hall

must and will be reopened.

14—Southeastern Part of the City will receive better and more street lights, and the city generally will be better lighted. London is the home of Hydro, and is one of the poorest lighted cities in Ontario.

15—Front Street and Wellington Road will get the proper sewers and drainage that it is entitled to and has been promised for years, and other improvements that are necessary.

16—London West

will get the pavements that they have petitioned for and are entitled to—this is a part of the city that has been neglected too long.

17—The City Hall Question

This has been settled by the citizens on three previous votes, that the building is to be built on the Federal Square, and that is where it will be built the coming year if you will VOTE NO on the proposition that you are asked to vote on at the coming election, as it is unnecessary to have you vote again. The requests of the taxpayers must be carried out. A large portion of the money is already provided for.

18—Reorganization of the Western Fair

This liability will be turned into an asset.

Now, fellow citizens, you are going to ask this question: How can the Mayor carry out this plan and platform without a Council in favor of it, even if it is the wish of the citizens? The answer is: If this proposition is in accordance with your wishes, then elect only the aldermen in your respective wards who will sign this plan and platform, and thereby give you your assurance and definite promise to carry out your wishes, the same as I have done. And then watch their action throughout the year.

I assure you that, should you elect me to the Mayor's chair, you will have a positive chance to know which way each and every alderman votes on each and every item that comes before the Council, as the YEAS and NAYS will be insisted upon, and not merely a show of hands, as has been the habit in the past, and the same will be printed in the daily press after each meeting.

BIANCHI TO PAY DEATH PENALTY

Slayer of William Fraser Will Be Hanged On January 25.

Special to The Advertiser. Windsor, Nov. 10.—Frank Bianchi, convicted of murdering William Fraser here on Oct. 1, was today sentenced to be hanged at Sandwich jail, Jan. 25. Mr. Justice Lennox passed sentence.

Bianchi, still weak from the effects of a wound, which he inflicted on himself last week, took his sentence calmly, but had to be assisted from the courtroom.

Mr. Justice Lennox, in passing sentence, stated that there might be a chance of executive clemency in the case. He declared that, in addressing the jury, he had hinted at manslaughter verdict being possible, and that he probably would not have censured the jury had such a verdict been brought in, but he declared they had been justified in bringing in the verdict rendered.

Frank W. Wilson, counsel for Bianchi, declared immediately after the passing of sentence that he would move at once in an attempt to have the sentence reduced to a prison term.

Bianchi sat through the court session this morning with eyes lowered, while several other prisoners, convicted earlier in the court session, were sentenced. When the judge began to address him, however, he fixed his eyes on the bench and held them there, without winking, even when the fatal sentence was pronounced. It is doubtful if he gleaned the full purpose of the judge's address, however, due to his limited command of the English language.

At first the judge asked him to stand up, but noting his weakened condition, he told him that he might remain seated. Justice Lennox did not don the black cap in pronouncing sentence, that practice having now been made optional.

The judge's voice faltered and almost broke when he came to the fateful words which condemned Bianchi to pay with his life for the crime which he had committed.

LORD BIRKENHEAD CREATED AN EARL

List of Honors For Members of Coalition Party Issued.

London, Nov. 10.—Viscount Birkenhead is created an earl by the honors list of former Prime Minister Lloyd George, issued today, and Earl Lee of Fareham is made a viscount.

Viscount Farquhar is created an earl and Baron Overstone becomes viscount. The following are made peers: Sir John Bethell, Sir Joseph MacLay and Lieut.-Col. Francis Milnamy. Sir Edward Gouding, barrister and member of parliament for Worcester, was also raised to the peerage.

In the long list of political honors for services rendered the coalition government, Winston Spencer Churchill, former secretary of state for the colonies, is made a member of the Order of the Companions of Honor, which was created by King George in June, 1917, and is restricted to twenty members. The order carries with it no title and is conferred for "conspicuous service of national importance." It ranks next to, and immediately after, the first class of the Order of the British Empire.

TRY TO POISON HEAD OF SCOTLAND YARD

Unknown Persons Sought For by Lesser Officials of Organization.

London, Nov. 10.—Sir William Horwood, chief of Scotland Yard, and commissioner of metropolitan police, is suffering from the effects of an insidious attempt on his life, it became known today. Last night he was seized with what was thought to be a heart attack, but today it became definitely established that he was the victim of malicious administration of poison, the origin of which is unknown.

All the subordinate officials of Scotland Yard have been called to headquarters to assist in the investigation. It appears that the chief had luncheon at a club yesterday, and in the afternoon was attacked with a severe vomiting spell, which brought on a heart attack. This caused complete collapse. Only drastic remedies, including the administration of oxygen, enabled him to survive the night. This morning he was removed to a hospital, where he still remains in a critical condition.

POINTS OUT DANGER OF FIRES IN FUTURE

Marshal E. P. Heaton Urges Greater Precautions in North Country.

Special to The Advertiser. North Bay, Nov. 10.—History in the form of devastating fires may repeat itself in the country north of Cochrane unless precautions are taken, according to views expanded at the final out-of-town session of the fire probe here today.

Fire Marshal E. P. Heaton made the statement after S. B. Clement, chief engineer of the T. N. O. had stated that conditions north of Cochrane led themselves to disastrous fires. Mr. Clement concurred in the views of the fire marshal.

The duties of the railroad in regard to fires in the territory through which the T. N. O. is laid formed the theme for the examination of Mr. Clement and W. A. Griffin, superintendent. These two officials inclined to the opinion that the responsibility of the railroad lay only in preventing fires on its right-of-way and station properties. There was considerable discussion on the value of cleared areas as fire guards, and at one point Mr. Heaton reminded witnesses that there was even a menace in clearings. "For instance," he said, "spectators might acquire cleared areas around towns for the extension of their industries, this forming a greater hazard, unless steps were taken to prevent such action."

Jails Not Strong Enough To Hold Pretty 16-Year-Old Girl Said To Be Horse Thief

Special to The Advertiser. Parkersburg, W. Va., Nov. 10.—Parkersburg authorities refused to pursue Venelda Smith, pretty 16-year-old girl, an alleged horse thief and jail breaker, into her mountain hiding places today. The high sheriff and his deputies opined, "There ain't no jail that will hold her," following the last escape, when she sawed the bars of her cell window with a tiny blade of steel smuggled into the jail.

Sliding to the ground on a rope made with bedclothes, the "Holy Terror tomboy," as she is known to authorities, evaded pursuit to out-skirts of the town, where she secured her pony and galloped away in the direction of Cairo.

Venelda is the veteran of a long string of jail breaks, according to authorities. Once she wrecked her cell with an iron bar because the sheriff refused to give her cigars to smoke. Previously she had broken out of reform school, and numerous efforts of social workers to reform her, were met with this reply, "The devil got me into it, let him take me out."

Parkersburg authorities describe the girl as "pretty as a picture, wild as a deer, hardy as a mountain goat, as hard as nails and able to care for herself anywhere."

An Able Leader Quits.

HON. T. A. CREER has made a definite announcement regarding his future in the political world. He is out of it as far as being the leader of the Progressives is concerned.

Mr. CREER cannot agree with the policy of J. J. MORRISON in Ontario, nor can he assent to the belief of H. W. WOOD in Alberta.

There may be some reasons why Quebec and Ontario should not get along well side by side, but there are many more reasons why they should be very excellent neighbors.

It is a good thing that now and then we find an apostle carrying this doctrine along with him in his journeys from one province to the other.

By H. Addington Bruce, Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc. (Copyright, 1922, by The Associated Newspapers.)

WITH the progress of medical research, steadily increasing emphasis is being put upon the importance of preventing and repairing dental decay in the early years of life.

Quebec has its problems, it has its language, and so has Ontario. There are points on which Ontario and Quebec will differ now, and on which they will continue to differ, but these do not create a barrier that should be built high enough to allow prejudice and ignorance to do their deadly work without a very serious attempt being made by the fair-minded people of each province to stop it.

Four Years Ago and Now. Four years ago today Canadians were a hilariously happy people. The signal to "cease firing" had gone forth, and the signatures of the warring parties had been placed on a document that stopped war until a permanent treaty was arranged.

LITTLE 'TISERS

Tax dodgers are not numerous locally, but taxi dodgers are. The poor are always with us, but the rich are generally against us.

When a man's bigger than you are don't call him a liar. You might intimate that he's mistaken.

In a few weeks we'll be looking for that old blanket we used to put over the soft water pump.

Things get out of order now and then. Here we have VILLA in Mexico reported dead, when it was LEXINE's turn to be dead man.

Soviet government and governed in Russia is fifty years old, and, like all youngsters of that age, never seem to get enough to eat.

Chinese alphabet has been pulled down from 8,000 to 39 characters. No doubt you've noticed how simple it is now to read the laundry tickets.

Ald. May says it is going to cost a lot of money to have a temporary city hall while the old one is being torn down. This could be done in the summer, and the aldermen could make use of the benches in the park.

Galt is determined to keep in the limelight, and just now comes to the front with the announcement that a professional rat catcher is in the city, to work in co-operation with the folks there to make Galt ratless.

THE ADVERTISER has carried the announcement, stating that it has secured the exclusive rights in this district for the LLOYD GEORGE memorials, the greatest piece of modern history that has ever been written.

THE RUNAWAY. (Copyright, 1922, by W. Werner). Lucy Thurber sat up in bed. The long-continued habit of arising promptly at 5:30 each morning had awakened her. She glanced at her watch. It was 5:30 and her niece, Bernice, would not arise until near noon! "I can't stand it another day," Lucy thought.

The house was perfectly still. It was far from the car lines and other traffic rackets. The people who lived in the flat below were away. There was nobody in the house but Lucy and Bernice. The latter had been up until 12. She had gone to a dance with her husband. At 3, after barely two hours and a half sleep, Merwin had gone out on his route—he was a street-car conductor—and he would not be back until noon.

"It wasn't the way I was brought up," Lucy said to herself. "I'm not used to this turning night into day. I hate it. I simply can't stay in bed until noon today. I've already had my necessary eight hours' sleep and I feel as fresh as a daisy. I don't then I didn't go to a dance last night. I sat at home and knit. Oh, hum!" Lucy yawned. In the mirror on the bureau opposite she saw a tiny, small, gray, bright-eyed little person of sixty in a flannel night-gown. The great circassian walnut bed made her look like a baby on a rat's back as she peered out from such corners. She yearned for her four-poster at home, with its pieced quilts and old-fashioned wood sheets.

In fact, she yearned for everything that meant home to her. It was very fine at Bernice's. The flat was charming, but Lucy never saw a flower in the little white house with its rug and stove. She wanted to go back to it, but neither Merwin nor Bernice would hear of such a thing. "You're here and we're going to keep you here all winter, Aunt Lucy. There's no sense in your going back to Nineveh to live alone," the latter had said. "All winter! And it was only just November! Lucy shuddered. "I can't stand it another day," she thought to herself, and her lips tightened. "I hate still sitting in this room with jazz and vaudeville, and the smell of gas takes my appetite away. I haven't eaten as much in the last two days as I would eat on a single breakfast at home. I can't eat. I'm getting sick."

Her eyes filled with tears. She would not own herself even that what she had was homesickness. For the first time in her life she had stayed four weeks away from home, novelty, like any other, had worn off, and now she longed to be back in her own accustomed environment.

"At home," she sighed, "Lotty Pratt will be baking her cakes for Jim's early breakfast, and she will stand at her kitchen window and look toward mine—and I shan't be there! I am so fool to come to Bernice's house, and I thought I could hold out." She blinked back the troublesome tears. Should she do down again and keep still for an hour or two? She sighed again and suddenly she crept from her bed. She stole to the window and looked out. In the scant space between that house and the next she saw snow. Snow had fallen in the night. "Good luck!" she gasped. "Who will feed my birds? They'll be coming round the door, look hungry and there won't be any crumbs or set for them! I must go home and see about it."

Her eyes filled with tears. She would not own herself even that what she had was homesickness. For the first time in her life she had stayed four weeks away from home, novelty, like any other, had worn off, and now she longed to be back in her own accustomed environment.

LORD DURHAM'S REPORT. Q.—What was Lord Durham's report? A.—Lord Durham's report, made to the imperial parliament in 1839, was based upon the rebellions or uprisings of Lower and Upper Canada in 1837-8 as a protest against existing political conditions and resulting many reforms and the establishment of the united parliaments of the two provinces under a union act.

Efforts of Kitchener Seniors To Strengthen Causes Rift

OTHER TEAMS WANT TO KEEP PLAYERS

Senior Ex-Champs Issue Statement To Fans.

Kitchener, Nov. 10. — The hockey situation took a new turn here today, when the senior team handed out a prepared statement following a meeting of the players Thursday night, in which they practically ask for the stars of the intermediate and junior teams to help them out this coming winter. The juniors and intermediates have built up formidable sextets, while the seniors have little new material, and this has been causing a little friction between the managements of the three teams.

The senior statement is as follows: "It was agreed that a good senior team could be had with the support of the juniors and intermediates. It seems each of these teams want to hold its team instead of bolstering up the old senior team that brought glory to the city in 1918.

"If support cannot be obtained, we are considering entering an intermediate team. The opinion was unanimous that a hockey player fit for senior company should go up.

"What do the fans think?" The local teams will get down to training work next week in the auditorium. Fred McAvoy, who trained the intermediate champions last year, will be with that team this winter, he having thrown in his lot with the juniors.

Secretary Purshouse of the Kitchener Hockey Association has resigned from that office owing to press of business. The latter organization will ask the O. H. A. to appoint a new secretary. Preston, Stratford and Kitchener intermediates are grouping.

The Eastern College team has written the Kitchener intermediate champions asking for a game here in Christmas week. The game depends upon how much guarantee the visitors would require.

POSTPONED CAGE LEAGUE MEETING
The meeting of the promoters of the new industrial basketball league, scheduled for the 7th M. C. A. last night, had to be postponed on account of poor attendance.

Another meeting will be held next week, and all those who showed an interest in this project at first are urgently requested to attend the next meeting, as their failure to do so may jeopardize the progress of the league.

FOUGHT UPHILL
Providence, R. I., Nov. 10. — After fighting a losing battle for the first five rounds in a scheduled twelve-round bout at Marienville last night, Irish Johnny Curtin, Jersey City bantamweight, fought to the front and won a decision over Al Friedman of Boston.

If there is any soccer organization in Western Ontario today deserving encouragement and worthy of praise it is the Army and Navy Veterans of London who since the "dribbling code" was resurrected there in 1920 have, despite many hard jolts and innumerable obstacles placed in their path, come "smiling it through" and hoisted the game along with a determination characteristic of the true fighter and true sportsman. The various obstacles they have had to contend against since their inception as a soccer club would have sent any ordinary team to the wall.

Every time they received a set-back they would tighten up their sporting spirit and enter the fray with greater determination. You cannot beat that spirit. It is one that cannot be downed.

As another raw deal example they quote the following: They had a game advertised against Grand Trunk for Sept. 6 according to schedule. On the afternoon of the 8th Army and Navy Vets were notified that the schedule had been revised and that they had to play the Wasps on the 7th instead. It was too late to notify all their players, whereas the G. T. R. team had practically all their team working in the shops and therefore could very easily be reached. Consequently the Wasps never turned up on the 7th, but the Red, White and Blue did turn up, they got peeved at being fooled so often and only a few of them turned up on the 7th, when G. T. R. claimed the points and got them.

The funny part about the whole bunched up thing was the fact that there was no referee appointed for the game.

Had No Referee.
In four of their last five league games they have had no referee appointed, they claim, and they have had to utilize the services of outsiders so that the games could be played.

The above is only an example or two of what has been meted out to them, and if it were not for their loyalty to the game they would have withdrawn, but true to their slogan "Never say die," the vets are "smiling it through," being all the better respected for it. In Montreal the Army and Navy Veterans give the overseas game great support and all the officials and chasers of the spherical leather thoroughly appreciate that that particular organization is doing for the game there.

What the Army and Navy Vets are doing in the Royal City on behalf of the game, the same thing is being done by the same organization in London, the only difference being (and it is quite a contrast) that whereas that particular organization's efforts in Montreal is appreciated the same thing, taking it on the whole, cannot be said of the Army and Navy Vets' activities in the Forest City. However, being good fighters and excellent losers they have gained many admirers and supporters and that in itself is some consolation for the rather lukewarm support they have received from the local soccer administering bodies. Next season the Red, White and Blue thoroughly expect to see the aspect of things change in more ways than one.

Meantime they are plugging along and smiling it through. One cannot help but admire such a spirit.

DODGE BROTHERS MOTOR CAR

The evenness of performance so often remarked in Dodge Brothers Motor Cars is due, in no small part, to the thoroughness with which each unit is inspected during the process of manufacture and assembly.

A trained staff of 800 experts is employed in this work alone, and approximately 5285 individual inspections are made on each car.

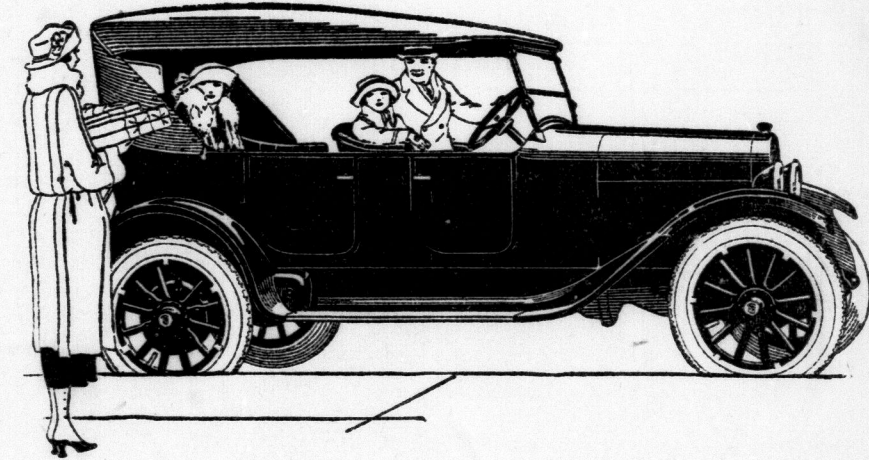

So exacting and rigid are the standards applied to these inspections that the slightest variation either in workmanship or material is instantly discovered and rejected.

Dodge Brothers are almost over-scrupulous in their constant aim to make each car as sound and perfect as is humanly possible.

87.6 per cent. of jurors agree on verdict

A CUSTOMER comes into your store where two similar articles are for sale at the same price. One of them is a nationally advertised article, the other is not. Which does he buy? The National Retailers' Association found the answer to be:

87.6 times he buys the advertised goods.
3.6 times he buys the unadvertised goods.
8.8 times he does not have a preference.

When the unadvertised article is the lower priced of the two, which does the customer buy? On the same authority the answer is:

60.6 times he buys the advertised goods.
24.2 times he buys unadvertised goods.
15.2 times he does not have a preference.

Branded and trade-marked, goods nationally advertised in the columns of your Daily Newspaper, are most quickly turned over and most profitable. That is because manufacturing prestige has been tied up to local friendship and reputation for honest merchandizing:

ST. BRIGIDS-H.R.C. TILTS ARE NOW CANCELLED

Ottawa, Nov. 10. — St. Brigids' rugby schedule is over. Following a wire received last night from the G. R. P. U. officials, the local management decided to cancel their remaining fixtures, which were scheduled with the Hamilton Rowing Club. The oarsmen are desirous of meeting the Tigers in a city championship fixture immediately, and in view of the fact that the two games have no important bearing on the championship race, they were cancelled. The Saints, in their second year of senior football, have been up against great odds.

The PLAYHOUSE and the MOVIE THEATRE

Big Dramatic Success, "The Bat," Opens At Grand Theatre Monday

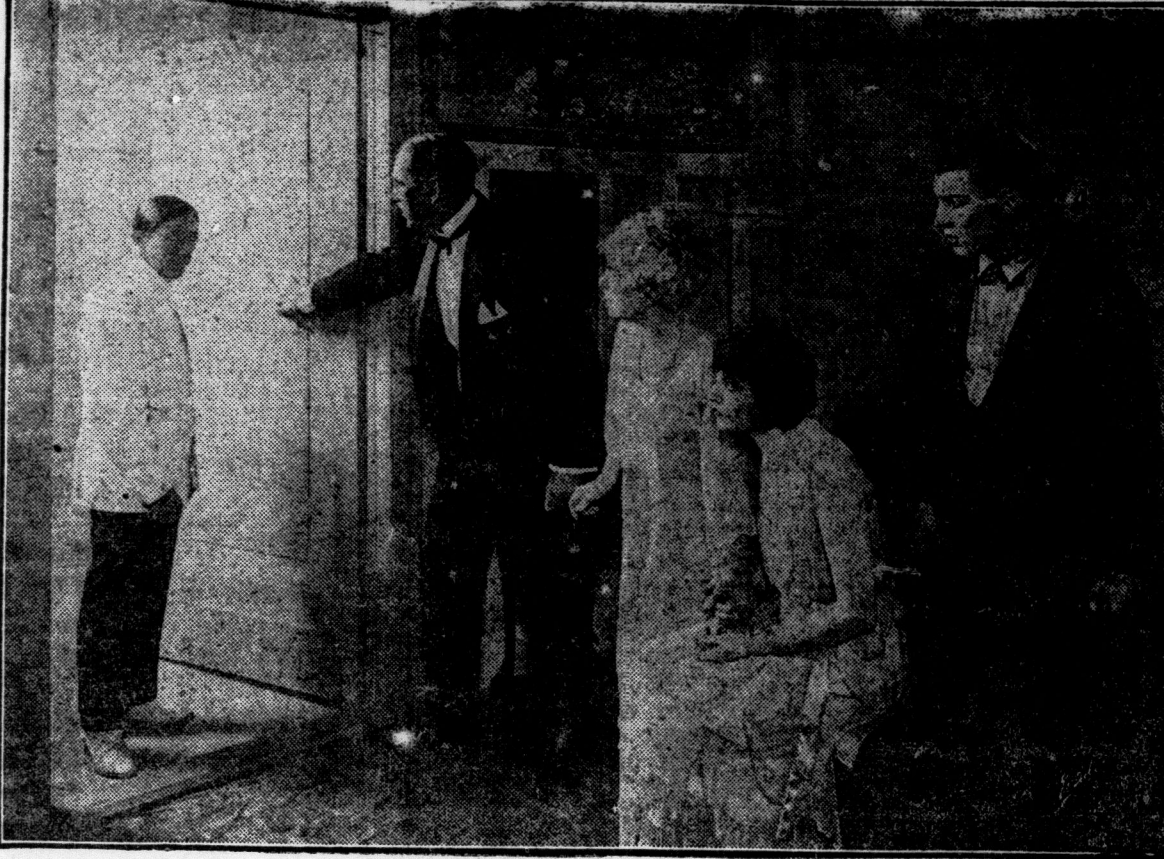

Mystery Play and Comedy Combined—Played For Two Years In New York Theatre.

WAGENHALS AND KEMPER, two of the most successful theatrical managers in the country, bring the greatest dramatic success of all years "The Bat," by Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood, to the Grand Opera House for three days, commencing Monday.

FRIEDA HEMPEL. COMES to Winter Gardens, November 16, to sing her famous Jenny Lind program.

"The Bat," which is thrilling, mysterious, and at the same time screamingly funny, stands out sharp and clear above all dramatic plays offered during the past generation. "The Bat" played for more than two years at the Morosco Theatre, New York, and, in addition, another company, with a run of over one year at Chicago, broke all records for popularity in that city. It's a triumph in London also, capacity audiences having been the rule since it opened nearly a year ago. On its present triumphant tour "The Bat" is now playing to absolute capacity at the Royal Alexandra, Toronto, and there is every indication that its performance here will establish new records for the Grand Theatre as well.

SCENE from "The Bat," admittedly the world's greatest mystery play, which comes direct from the Royal Alexandra, Toronto, to the Grand Opera House for a three-nights' engagement, commencing Monday, with Wednesday matinee. "The Bat" has broken all attendance records wherever it has played.

"The Bat" is in identical the same manner as it was played in New York and Chicago, and the cast is exceptionally strong. There will be a popular matinee Wednesday, Nov. 15. Seats are now on sale.

Come To Church Tomorrow

"YES, I know all the excuses. I know that one can worship the Creator in a grove of trees or by a running brook, or in a man's own house, just as well as in a church. But I also know as a matter of cold fact the average man does not thus worship."
Here are a few benefits to be derived from church attendance:

"You will listen to and take part in reading some beautiful passages from the Bible. And if you are not familiar with the Bible, you have suffered loss."
"You will take part in singing some good hymns."
"You will meet and nod or speak to good neighbors. You will come away feeling a little more charitably inclined toward all the world, even toward those excessively foolish young men who regard church-going as a soft performance."

"Join in church work for the sake of showing your faith in your work."
Make your start in church service tomorrow. A fair trial of church attendance will convince you it's well worth while.

St. James' Anglican Church Nears Year of Jubilee

CHANGE and advance have marked St. James' Church, South London, each step of its journey since the parish was established and the congregation organized 49 years ago. Sunday, Nov. 12, the 49th anniversary of the church, will be celebrated with special services, a backward glance over the years that have been, and a forward look to the year of Jubilee, just 12 months away.

November, 1873, was a time of rejoicing for the Church of England in the city, and a group of people which formed a new parish across the river in Westminster township. The original St. James' Church, built on the site of the present Sunday School, was opened and dedicated, with an earnest young rector in charge, Rev. Evans Davis. The light which streams into the church at the morning service, Sunday, will filter through one beautifully designed, richly hued window, erected in loving memory of the Very Rev. Dean Evans Davis, who, through all the years of his ministry subsequent to 1873, served St. James' Church.

In 1876 more land was acquired and a new church built to meet the growing needs, this building forming the nave of the church as it stands today. In 1877 the old church was converted into a Sunday School.

The next big forward step, in a material way, was the erection of a more modern Sunday School building in 1893. In 1897, 20 years after the first church was erected, important extension was effected, through the addition of chancel and transepts.

The past few years have witnessed marked improvements in the rectory, and in the church itself, the latter including the memorial window for Dean Davis, and a memorial tablet and sounding board, in honor of the men of the church who laid down their lives in the war.

The Sunday school and church chancel have been re-wired, and a generous gift of a few weeks ago was that of a set of dosels in the church colors and communion table veils from the Chancel Guild.

Since Rev. W. L. Armitage was appointed to succeed Very Rev. Dean Davis four and a half years ago, 116 have been confirmed in the church and 184 baptized, making a total of 1,936 baptisms in the 49 years.

The Women's Auxiliary has doubled its membership in that period, and the organized classes in the Sunday School have doubled their numbers. New organizations that have sprung into activity are the Men's Club, C. G. I. T., the Tuxis Boys, Teachers' Training Class, Chancel Chapter, Girls' Auxiliary, while all the longer established societies have continued to do excellent work.

Rev. Principal C. C. Waller of Huron College, who performed most acceptably the duties of acting rector from October, 1917, to April, 1918, will preach at the morning service, the rector, Rev. W. Leslie Armitage himself taking the pulpit in the evening.

TORONTO MAYOR HURT IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

Toronto, Nov. 10.—Mayor C. A. Maguire was injured, but not seriously, in an accident about midnight when his motor car was crashed into by another automobile.
The mayor was taken to the general hospital, where it was found he had been cut behind the left ear, his shoulder, injured and a finger lacerated.
There were several other passengers in the mayor's car, but apparently they escaped unhurt, as did also the occupants of the other car.

BANK ROBBERS SENT TO PRISON FOR FIVE YEARS

Vancouver, Nov. 10.—Harry Blackburn and Clarence Miller, convicted bank robbers, were today sentenced to five years in the penitentiary by Justice Macdonald. The men were found guilty in assize court of entering a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada during business hours, holding up the staff, and escaping with more than $4,000 of the bank's funds.

TRAVERSSES SENTENCE ON TORONTO WAR HERO

Toronto, Nov. 10.—Trevor Maguire, the war veteran, who was found guilty by a jury in the assizes of sedition in connection with a May Day speech, when he referred to the British Empire as the British "vampire," was given his freedom by Mr. Justice Riddell, when he came up for sentence in the assizes at 10 o'clock this morning. Maguire is released for sentence when called on. The judge pointed out that there was no object in sending him to prison, except to prevent repetition of the language used.

WILL SELECT SUCCESSOR TO CRERAR TODAY

Progressives Discuss Organization and Fusion With Liberals.
QUIT COMMONS SEAT
Leader of Party Tells Followers Decision to Resign Is Irrevocable.

Winnipeg, Nov. 10.—(By Canadian Press).—Not until tomorrow will the Progressive parliamentarians, now in conference in the city, choose a successor to Hon. T. A. Crerar, who resigned today from the national leadership, and there is as yet nothing to indicate that the calling together of the House of Commons, where he represents Marquette, Manitoba. The opinion persists in well-informed quarters that a house leader will be selected, rather than a national leader, and it is believed that there will be some discussion of the advisability of calling a national convention, which could be expected to confer the mantle of leadership, create a national organization, and adopt a revised platform. It is pointed out that Progressives have never met in Dominion-wide convention, and it is declared that the calling together of a body of delegates representative of all provinces, and most of the constituencies for free discussion of political issues is an important and inevitable step in the development of the third party.

Decision Irrevocable.

Mr. Crerar made it plain this afternoon that his decision to resign was irrevocable, and a committee was appointed to draft a resolution of appreciation of his service.

Members expressed freely their regret at this course, while recognizing the strength of his reasons. There was a lengthy discussion of party organization, and of alleged negotiations looking toward a fusion with the Liberal Party, and Mr. Crerar told the members that there had been no discussion with members of the Liberal Party, and that since he left Ottawa at the close of the last session of parliament.

After the close of the session a letter from the caucus reviewing in considerable detail the argument during the afternoon. It is learned definitely that there is no sentiment in favor of any closer association with the Liberal Party for the present than "honorable co-operation" which Mr. Crerar in his letter of resignation suggested as the proper course of action at this time.

The caucus is expected to issue a statement of policy before the session closes, in which the government stands on this matter would be made plain. Members were in conference for six hours during the day, and returned to their deliberations at 10 o'clock this evening. There will be a session tomorrow morning and possibly in the afternoon.

The following is the statement in part as issued by the press committee of the caucus:
On presenting his resignation, Mr. Crerar was asked by the members if there was any possibility of his reconsidering his decision, whereupon the leader declared that he had given the matter his most earnest consideration, and could come to no other conclusion. He has not, he stated, any misgivings about the course which the movement was greater than any one man in it.

"I am profoundly anxious that this movement," he added, "originating among the people themselves should become the greatest power for good that Canada has ever had, and I believe that it is possible."
The matter was discussed, but the resignation was then taken up.

"I think we should refuse it," declared the speaker (Provencher). Robert Forke (Burlington) protesting the necessity of acquiescing to Mr. Crerar's resignation, declared that the resignation would be noted with regret throughout the country. Andrew Knox and A. J. Lewis spoke in the same strain, moving the appointment of a committee to draft a resolution of thanks and appreciation.

Mr. Crerar offered to retire while the matter was discussed, but the suggestion was greeted with shouts of "No."
R. H. Halbert referred to the early development of the farmers' movement in Ontario, which he stated had suffered severely in its early stages through lack of real leadership. A national leader had developed, who had the confidence of the whole country, and his loss would be deeply felt.

He had given generously of his time and efforts while the company, which he had brought to its present high standard in the commercial world, had been attacked simply because of Mr. Crerar's public services.

The meeting then resolved into a discussion of general organization. Mr. Shaw felt with some question of organization as it affected his own constituency, and the city of Calgary generally. In West Calgary, where 5,000 in the constituency were about organized. In the city itself about 150 people, tired of the old parties, got together and organized among themselves. The labor people were also organized among themselves, and each group heard the various candidates offered for action, the Farmers and Labor deciding to support the candidate of the third group, which latter was not organized on class, or any other lines, but rather on the settlement of political conditions. The result was that he was elected.

R. H. Halbert asked if this was the "broadening-out policy" and asked if Mr. Shaw favored the "broadening-out" policy.
Mr. Shaw replied that the matter of electing members was one for the constituents to decide. In Alberta they were willing to co-operate with anyone willing to co-operate on the principles they stood for. A Speaker (Red Deer) was also queried by members in the same respect, and stated that the method of election was up to the constituents, but that he considered himself charged with the interests of the whole constituency, and not merely of the people who nominated and elected him.

The question of the present platform and the needs of its revision was also discussed, members considering the method of bringing about this revision and the responsibility for it. The original plan had been drawn up by the Canadian Council of Agriculture, embodying resolutions passed by the provincial organizations, but the council has declared it was out of political expediency some method of bringing about the revision should be devised.

JUDGES TO PROBE SLAYING OF GIRL

Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec Signs Order Naming Commission of Inquiry.
Special to The Advertiser.

Quebec, Nov. 10.—Acting Chief Justice Archibald and retired Justice Joseph Emery Robitoux, both of the superior court of the Province of Quebec were this morning named by order of the lieutenant-governor, to forthwith commence an inquiry into the Blanche Gagnon murder case. The order-in-council was passed at a meeting of the provincial cabinet this morning and read to the Legislature in the afternoon.

It recites that whereas a young girl named Blanche Gagnon was murdered in the city of Quebec, under particularly atrocious circumstances, in July, 1920, which caused public feeling; whereas rumors spread among the people that the authorities charged with the administration of justice had not done all that was possible to discover and bring to the courts the authors of the murder, and that they wished to protect some persons and did not arrest the true or supposed murderers; and whereas they believe useful to create a certain unrest among our people and are of a nature to throw discredit on the administration of justice in the province, it is well, in the circumstances, to name co-members from among the tried judges of this province to inquire into the facts mentioned above, and to ascertain if:

(a) If, following the murder of the said Blanche Gagnon, the authorities charged with the administration of justice in this province used all effort, and all possible diligence to discover the authors of the murder.
(b) If the authorities thought to avoid, or did avoid, anything whatever to ensure that justice was done.
(c) If the same authorities failed in any manner to follow or verify all clues furnished to them.

The commissioners are charged to commence their inquiry, to hear all the persons who wish to go before them to give evidence, subpoena all the witnesses whom they believe useful for their investigation, to permit any person whatsoever to be represented by counsel, to exercise all powers provided for by articles 554 and following of the revised statutes of Quebec, 1909, and to make their report on or before the first day of January, 1923. The cost of the commission is not to exceed the sum of $10,000.

Canada's Standard Remedy for Pain

T.R.C.'s Made to "Get" Rheumatism Most other pains are easy.

The simple fact is this: there is nothing quite so good for pains and aches as Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules. The medicinal power they contain is absorbed by the blood and so carried to the seat of the pain. T.R.C.'s contain no habit-forming drugs. Their action is to remove the cause of the pain. USING T.R.C.'s is not an experiment, many thousands of Canadians have proved the effectiveness of T.R.C.'s. The best test you can make is to get a dollar box from your druggist, or for free sample write J. G. Templeton & Co., Toronto. A postal card will bring it.

AUTO WRECKING COMPANY SUPPLIES ALL CAR PARTS

Prepared to Replace Any Portion of Auto From Small Nut to Chassis.

It is astonishing to note the wonderful development of the automobile business in the last fifteen years. At first the auto was regarded as nothing short of a fad which would be but short-lived; but, as we can see today, such is not the case. This particular phase of commerce has become one of the country's leading industries.
 From the time a car emerges from the factory it must have continual service to insure its longevity, and one of the most important factors of this service is the supplying of parts to replace broken or worn-out ones. The London Auto Wreckers, of 254 Horton street, are organized to supply parts for almost every car. This type of business is somewhat new to the average layman, and few people know just what the auto-wrecking business is. A glance at the interior of this company's warehouse shows shelves and bins replete with parts of every description. Whether it is a small nut or a complete chassis, this firm has it in stock. The plant is "The House of a Million Parts."
 As subsidiary lines they conduct a used car department, and sell gas, oil and a complete line of all accessories for every make of machine.
 R. M. O'Byrne, the manager of this progressive concern, is a man who has spent his entire working career in the automobile game, and his range of knowledge in this sphere is appreciated by the public.

CITY MANUFACTURER GETS ORDERS FROM YOKOHAMA

Dennis Wire and Iron Works Extends Trade Connection to Far-Off Japan.

The Dennis Wire and Iron Works Company, Limited, is one of London's really outstanding and most important industries. Started about fifty years ago as a small concern, it has so developed until today its products are known all over Canada, and throughout many foreign countries.
 This company manufactures all manner of wire and wire goods, and every type of steel and metal work, including shelving, partitions, cabinets, window sash and all other metal fixtures for factories, schools, churches—in fact, for every type of building.
 The products of this firm are held on a high plane by builders, contractors and architects in every part of Canada, and of late the Dennis Wire and Iron Works has entered the Far Eastern field to create new markets for their goods.
 They recently sent a man to Japan to seek new outlets for Canadian merchandise, and the results from this enterprise have been gratifying in the extreme. Already orders for steel partitions, lockers, school desks and many other of their specialties have been received from the Orient.
 Mr. Dennis is certain that this Eastern market will remain a fixture, as the Japanese people seem very enthusiastic over the high grade of work turned out by his plant.
 One of the largest industrial concerns in Yokohama—the Sankai Shokai Company, Limited—has sent orders to the Dennis factory for the entire steel and metal equipment to be used in a new school they are building for the higher education of their employees.
 Mr. Dennis is gratified with this particular development, and is quite certain that other Canadian manufacturers and find markets in the far East if they only exploit the situation.

Automobile production last month was 20,000 above that of July.

First Japanese automobile has just been completed in Tokyo.

Succeed In London

THE manufacturers of Canada are optimistic regarding the future of Canadian foreign trade, and as an indication of this faith eight of the more prominent ones clubbed together about a year ago to defray the expense of sending a trade emissary to the Orient to boom Canadian products and advertise Canadian-made goods.

This venture has proven an unqualified success as orders of no small magnitude are coming to these concerns daily from Japan and China. Two local firms report orders from this source, which is a favorable sign of the high esteem London-made goods are enjoying in far-away Japan. This is only the pioneer exploitation of Oriental markets by local manufacturers, but this particular field is a very promising one and all local men desirous of increasing their trade in this direction should make plans at once to advertise their wares in the eastern countries.

The diversity of London-made products is one that is worthy of attention anywhere, and when local firms can gain the admiration of consumers in the far-off Orient surely we as Londoners should boom our city and the trade of these manufacturers who have set the ball rolling to advertise the city of London throughout the length and breadth of Japan, China and the rest of the Far East.

This inspection of the exportation of local products to markets heretofore unexploited is a step forward in the progress of London, and every loyal citizen of this city should take an interest in all such ventures as this as a means to the worthy end of making the name of London, Ontario, known at the ends of the earth as a community that is going forward steadily to a bigger and greater future.

SELLS AND RENTS TENTS IN ALL WESTERN ONTARIO

Raymond Bros. Does Big Business in All Parts of Peninsula.

Raymond Bros. of 172 King street, a firm established in the city for nineteen years, has so expanded its business to such an extent that today its products are to be found all over Western Ontario from Windsor to Niagara Falls and from Port Stanley to Georgian Bay.
 This company manufactures tents of all sizes and types, awnings, coal bags, waterproof horse and wagon covers, and everything else of this class.
 When Raymond Bros. first opened in London in 1903 their staff consisted of only three men, but today it numbers fifteen.
 An important sideline of this firm is the renting of tents. This part of their trade is a very large one, and is a service which is greatly appreciated by people who do not wish to purchase tents for permanent use.
 The business of this concern is increasing yearly with noticeable strides, and the owners look forward to even better things next season. They consider that they have always tried to do the best work possible in all their branches, and they are willing to let the work speak for itself.

BANNER'S BARBER SHOP PLEASURES WITH QUALITY

Give Unexcelled Service in Shaving, Hair Cutting and Razor Honing.

When one man inquires of another where he gets his hair cut, he is prompted to do so by one of two things—either the haircut has been done in a slovenly manner, or otherwise detracts from the appearance of his friend, or it reflects quality which at once commands favorable attention.

The proprietor of Banner's Barber Shop at 417 Talbot street is proud of the fact that the workmanship of his staff is beyond criticism, and provides a satisfaction which serves to retain his growing clientele. No apprentices are employed at this shop. The five chairs are operated by men experienced in the trade. The shop itself is one of the most up-to-date in London, with cleanliness and sanitation predominating.
 The excellent service provided by Banner is not confined to hair-cutting. His customers know that they can drop in at any time during business hours and obtain an unexcelled shave, and that promptness is one of the maxims always observed in this shop.

The modern electrical equipment which has been installed adds materially to the standard of service accorded his patrons. It invites the man dissatisfied with his barber to give him a trial. He guarantees absolute satisfaction to even the most fastidious.

To those who wish to shave at home, it is pointed out that a keen razor is essential before they can start out in the morning with a smile. At Banner's Barber Shop the staff has perfected a process of honing razors which renders the utmost satisfaction to the owner. Behind razors honed by Banner stands a solid guarantee of safety unless the job proves satisfactory.
 It is under these ideal conditions that Banner's Barber Shop is succeeding with London.

CHAPMAN CO. SPECIALIZES HIGH-GRADE BOOKBINDING

Local Firm Enjoys Wide Reputation For Work of Best Quality.

The Charles Chapman Company of 91 Dundas street is one of the oldest in this city, having been founded by the late Charles Chapman in 1855. This company does all classes of bookbinding, such as binding Bibles, music, magazines, etc., and makes a specialty of leather binding. In this line they do most of the work of the local libraries, and that of many others throughout Western Ontario. Among their other clients are the banks, banks and corporations, not only in this city, but also in larger centres. This firm also does trade binding for many local printers and lithographing houses, as well as for printers in other parts of Western Ontario.

The Charles Chapman Company manufactures all manner of loose-leaf filing and accounting systems, as well as making loose-leaf binders in leather and canvas, and special ruled and printed blank books.
 They are publishers of a system of loose-leaf note books for schools, which is very widely and favorably known throughout Canada as the "Books for Better Work."

Another important line of this firm is the gold embossing of names or initials on all kinds of leather goods, purses, Bibles, bags, etc. They do individual names or quantities of gold lettering at very moderate prices, and have a well-earned reputation for turning out work of the highest quality.

ROOSTERS GET BETTER FOOD THAN CHILDREN?

Algers Victory Bread Contains All Natural Elements Denied Babies.

The prize rooster crowing his lungs out at the poultry show is never fed on polished rice, degenerated cornmeal, denatured cream of wheat, or devalitized white bread.
 The mineral salts are taken out of these refined goods. That's why they kill pigeons, white rats, guinea pigs, monkeys and chickens in from seven to nine weeks.
 Yet children are expected to thrive on such dead foods. Nature put into the wheat berry most of the vital substances that we must have to sustain bodily health and strength.
 Algers' Victory Bread is a great natural food, made with 100 per cent whole wheat flour. In such bread, prospective mothers will find a blessing, and nursing mothers will discover why, without such bread, motherhood so often becomes a tragedy, and why, with it, motherhood becomes the greatest thing in the world.

WOMEN'S HOME and MAGAZINE PAGE

Says Order of Eastern Star Is Largest Women's Organization in World

Which is the largest woman's organization in the world? With a number of other "household word" organizations in mind, the women's department of The Advertiser received a big surprise on Friday, when the worthy grand matron of Ontario of the Order of the Eastern Star, Mrs. E. E. Rockwood of Toronto, claimed this distinction for her organization, in a little interview granted while paying a visit of inspection to the Forest City Chapter.

"We have 1,250,000 members in our General Grand Chapter, which meets this month in Washington," she continued, "and 98 chapters in the Province of Ontario, where the movement is only 12 years old, and the Grand Chapter was inaugurated just seven years ago."

"Our membership is limited. Only wives, mothers, daughters, widows and sisters of Master Masons are eligible to belong to the Order of the Eastern Star."

"What is the aim of the order? It was founded 75 years ago in Kentucky by Robert Morris for benevolent purposes. Our order in Ontario has made a splendid response to the call for fire relief in Northern Ontario, where the sufferers, indeed, include several who belong to the Order of the Eastern Star. A number of Eastern Star women have lost seriously in Halleybury, and one in Cobalt."

"The Ontario Chapter as a whole is bending its efforts towards the erection and endowment of a 'Florence Nightingale Home,' for needy dependents of O. E. S. members and Masons, be they children, aged people, or others incapable of supporting themselves. In the seven years since the Grand Chapter was formed, we have raised $20,000 towards the cause."

"I was struck by the announcement made at the Forest City Chapter meeting of a series of entertainments to be given this winter towards a fund for an O. E. S. building here. In my opinion, this is most commendable, and I would like to pay tribute to the excellence of the work which the chapter is doing in every respect. All the work for my inspection was well done, the officers exemplifying the degrees beautifully, and the worthy matron, Mrs. Cousins, proving herself a most able presiding officer."

"I had a delightful visit with Trinity Chapter a few weeks ago, and am looking forward with interest to my return to the city, with Ruth Chapter as my excuse."

The grand matron, who was about to leave for Sarnia on an official visit, proudly drew attention to a handsome silver basket presented to her by Forest City Chapter, and the gift of Trinity Chapter on her previous visit, a beautiful pearl necklace.

She is looking forward to attending as grand matron of Ontario, the General Grand Chapter in Washington, at which Grand Patron Alex. Munroe of Ottawa, and Mrs. Mary Ralston of Toronto, a past grand matron, will also represent the province. Mrs. Ralston has the honor of being Grand Adah of the General Grand Chapter.

Mothers and Their Children

New Ways To Serve Eggs.

Children who take a dislike to eggs for breakfast will often eat them if served in novel ways. To make "dx-eyes," which my little girl likes, cut bread into rings with biscuit cutters of two sizes and toast lightly; dip moisten the rings with milk; put an egg in the center, and set in the oven until firm and brown. To make "birds' nests" separate the yolk and white of an egg and beat the latter until stiff; arrange as a nest on a slice of toast, place the yolk in the center, salt, and put in the oven till the egg is lightly browned. Rose colored mums were tastefully arranged, and rose candles held in silver sticks were used on the mantel. Something New In Corset Covers.

A trim corset cover like the one shown has much to do toward making your outer garments set well. Correct undergarments that fit well create that well-groomed appearance so much coveted by all women. You could make this corset cover of linen, batiste, lawn or silk and trim it with a touch of hand work as shown or with lace edging and insertion.

Any woman who sews could make a corset cover like this in a few hours and embroider it at odd moments. If batiste at 35c per yard were used, the completed garment would only cost 35c.

The pattern No. 1586 cuts in sizes 36, 40, 44 and 48 inches bust measure. Eliza 36 requires 1 yard 38-inch material. Price 15c, stamps in coin (coin preferred).

Episode Twelve.
Her Highness Intervenes.

CHAPTER
TOWARD noon the wind changed, and about one o'clock it began to snow.

Eve, exhausted, lay on the sofa in her bedroom. Her stepfather lay on a table in the dance hall below, covered by a sheet from his own bed. And beside him sat Trooper Stormont, waiting.

It was snowing heavily when Mr. Lyken, the little undertaker from Ghost Lake, arrived with several assistants, a casket, and what he called "well-trimmed".

Long ago Mike Clinch had selected his own mortuary site and had driven a section of iron pipe into the ground on a ferny knoll overlooking Star Pond.

In explanation he grimly remarked to Eve that after death he preferred to be planted where he could see that old Harrod's ghost didn't trespass.

Here two of Mr. Lyken's able assistants dug a grave while the digging was still going on, Mike Clinch was to be underground that season there might be need of haste—no weather prophet ever having successfully forecast Adirondack weather.

Eve, exhausted by shock and a sleepless night, was spared the more harrowing details of the coroner's visit and the subsequent jaunty activities of Mr. Lyken and his efficient assistants.

She had managed to dress herself.

The Fall Weather Hard on Little Ones

Canadian fall weather is extremely hard on little ones. One day is warm and bright, and the next is cold and cold. These sudden changes bring on colds, cramps and colic, and unless baby's little stomach is kept right the result may be serious. There is nothing to equal Baby's Own Tablets in keeping the little ones well. They sweeten the stomach, regulate the bowels, break up colds and make baby thrive. The tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

D. D. D. for Eczema

Used in hospitals and prescribed by doctors. A supervising nurse (name of nurse and institution on application) writes regarding a patient: "The disease had set on her eyebrows, away. Her nose and lips had become discolored. Since the use of D. D. D. her eyebrows are growing and her lips have assumed their natural expression." Doctors, too, use D. D. D. in private practice. Dr. G. T. Richardson writes: "D. D. D. is superior to anything I have ever found. Sore and soothing, yet a powerful tonic."

IF BACK HURTS FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat, Also Take Glass of Salts Before Breakfast Occasionally. Too much meat may form uric acid, which excites the kidneys; they become overworked; get sluggish, ache and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog your urine must flush out the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region; you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to help neutralize the acids in urine, so that it no longer is a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in correcting kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Advt.

In a black wool gown, intending to watch by Mike, but Stormont's blunt authority prevailed and she lay down for an hour's rest.

The hour lengthened into many hours; the girl slept heavily on her sofa under blankets laid over her by Stormont. All that dark, moony day she slept, mercifully unconscious of the proceedings below.

In his own mysterious way the new penetrated the wilderness; and out of the desolation of forest and swamp and mountain drifted there—a few shy, half wild young girls, a dozen silent, lank men, two or three of Clinch's own people, who stood silently about in the falling snow and lent a hand whenever requested.

One long-shanked youth cut hemlock to line the grave; others erected a little fence of silver birch around it, making of the inclosure a "plot."

A quaint old woman aided Mr. Lyken at intervals; a pretty, sulky-eyed girl with her slovenly, red-headed sister cooked for anybody who desired a morsel.

When Mike was ready to hold the inevitable reception everybody fled into the dance hall. Mr. Lyken was master of ceremonies; Trooper Stormont stood very tall and straight by the head of the casket.

Clinch wore a vague indefinable smile and his best clothes—that same smile which had so troubled Jose Quintana.

Light was fading fast in the room when the last visitor took silent leave of Clinch and rejoined the groups in the kitchen, where were the funeral baked meats.

Eve still slept. Descending again from his reconnaissance, Trooper Stormont encountered Trooper Lannis below.

"Has anybody picked up Quintana's tracks?" inquired the former.

"Not so far. An inspector and two state game protectors are out beyond Owl Marsh. The troopers from Five Lakes are on the job, and we have enforcement men along Drowned Valley from The Scaur to Harrod Place."

"Does Darrah know?" "He's in there with Mike. He brought a lot of flowers from Harrod Place."

The two troopers went into the dance hall where Darrah was arranging the flowers from his greenhouse.

Stormont said quietly: "All right, Jim, but Eve must not know that they came from Harrod's."

Darrah nodded: "How is she, Jack?" "All in."

"Do you know the story?" "Yes. Mike went into Drowned Valley early last evening after Quintana. He didn't come back. Before dawn this morning Eve located Quintana, set a bear-trap for him, and caught him with the goods."

"What goods?" demanded Darrah sharply.

"Well, she got his pack and found Mike's watch and jewelry in it."

"What jewelry?" "The jewels Quintana was after. But that was after she'd arrived at the Dump, here, leaving Quintana to get free of the trap and bear it."

"That's how I met her—half crazed, going to find Quintana again. We'd found Mike in Drowned Valley and were bringing him out when I ran into Eve. She brought her back here and called Ghost Lake. They haven't picked up Quintana's tracks so far."

After a silence: "Too bad this snow came so late," remarked Trooper Lannis. "But we ought to get Quintana's tracks."

Darrah went over and looked silently at Mike Clinch.

"I like you," he said under his breath. "It wasn't your fault. And it wasn't mine, Mike. . . I'll try to square things. Don't worry."

He came back slowly to where Stormont was standing near the door: "Jack," he said, "you can't marry Eve on a trooper's pay. Why not quit and take over the Harrod estate? . . . You and I can go into business together later if you like."

After a pause: "That's rather wonderful of you, Jim," said Stormont, "but you don't know what sort of businessman I'd make."

"I know what sort of officer you make. . . I'm taking no chance. Eve—or somebody will do it for me. . . It is settled then?" "Thanks," said Trooper Stormont, "but I don't want to get into any more of this. They clapped hands. Then Stormont went about and lighted the candles in the room. Clinch's face, again revealed, was still faintly amused at something or other. The death had done much to amuse at. As Darrah was about to go Stormont said: "We're burying Clinch at eleven tomorrow morning. The Ghost Lake Pilot officiates."

"I'll come if it won't upset Eve," said Darrah.

"She won't notice anybody, I fancy," remarked Stormont.

He stood by the veranda and watched Darrah take the Long Trail through the snow. Finally the glimmer of his swinging lantern was lost in the woods, and Stormont mounted the stairs once more, stood silently by Eve's open door, realized she was still heavily asleep, and seated himself on a chair outside her door to watch and wait.

All night long it snowed hard over the Star Pond country, and the late gray light of morning revealed a blinding storm pelting a white robed world.

Toward ten o'clock, Stormont, on guard, noticed that Eve was growing restless.

Downstairs the flotsam of the forest had gathered again; Mr. Lyken was there in black gloves, the Rev. Laomi Smatter had arrived in a sleigh from Ghost Lake. Both were breakfasting heavily.

The pretty, sulky-faced girl fetched a tray and placed Eve's breakfast on it, and Trooper Stormont carried

OYSTER SOUP

BY BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH.

1 quart or 4 dozen oysters	1 teaspoon salt
1 slice onion	3 tablespoons lard or butter
1 sprig parsley	1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup celery	Few gratings of nutmegs
1/4 cup flour	2 cups rich milk or cream

PICK over, to free from shell, the oysters, and then chop them finely. Add one cup of cold water and cook twenty minutes, having kettle closely covered. Strain through a fine strainer and cook with the onion, celery, parsley and flour which have cooked in the lard until slightly brown. When thickened add salt, pepper, nutmeg and cream. Bring to boiling point. Season more to taste and serve.

to her room. She was awake when he entered. He set the tray on the table. She put both arms around his neck. "Black," she murmured, her eyes tremulous with tears. "Everything has been done," he said. "Will you be ready by eleven? I'll come for you."

She clung to him in silence for a while. At eleven he knocked on her door. She opened it. She wore her black wool gown and a black fur turban. Some of her pallor remained—traces of tears and bluish smears under both eyes. But her voice was steady.

"Could I see Dad a moment alone?" "Of course."

She took his arm; they descended the stairs. There seemed to be many people about but she did not lift her eyes until her lover led her into the dance hall where Clinch lay smiling his mysterious smile.

Then Stormont left her alone there and closed the door. The terrible snow-storm they buried Mike Clinch on the spot he had selected, in order that he might keep a watchful eye upon the trespassing ghost of old man Harrod.

It blew and stormed and stormed, and the thin, nasal voice of "Tev Smatter" was utterly lost in the wind. The stinging lances of snow drove down on the casket, building a white mound over the flowers, blotting the hemlock boughs from sight.

There was no time to be lost now, the ground was freezing under a veering, metallic jar across the lake, where snow already blotted the new forming film of ice; the human denizens of the wilderness filtered back into it one by one; "Rev. Smatter" got into his sleigh, plainly concerned about the road; Mr. Lyken betrayed unprofessional haste in loading his wagon with his talented assistants and starting for Ghost Lake.

LARGE-FIGURED PRINTS.

Brilliantly-colored prints in silk and cotton are to be very popular this winter and spring. They were used extensively at Deauville last summer and are a pleasant contrast from staid, one-toned goods.

SEPARATE SKIRTS.

Many attractive separate skirts are shown in large checks and plaids in heavy, blanket materials. Brown and tan or grey is the most popular color combination.

FOR SERGERS OR TWILLS.

Narrow futed ribbons, usually of the black corded variety, is applied on the new serge dresses like braid, and is an eye-catching trimming. Open-work braiding is also popular, and so are large eyes.

FOR THEATRE OR OPERA.

Motels and capes lined with gorgeous silks and satins and trimmed with money fur are quite popular for evening wear as the more conventional velvet wraps.

Radio Radiations

STEEL CAR NO BAR TO RADIO. The steel of the club car on a Pennsylvania railroad train caused no interference when a radio receiving set was installed. With an aerial the receiver picked up concerts from distant cities while the train was speeding from New York to Chicago.

Automobile clubs in the future will become centers of advice to traveling motorists.

They are such aids now, but the future will see them sending out advice as to roads and directions while motorists are speeding along the highways. It will be done by radio.

Some time ago there came a suggestion from an automobile inventor concerning this form of aid. He had designed an instrument for the automobile by which the driver could keep on the right track to whatever town he wanted to reach by means of a method of radio signaling. Wires strung along the roads would carry the message which could be caught by the instrument on the dashboard while the car traveled ahead.

This is only a crude beginning to what automobile manufacturers eventually expect to install in their cars. A radio receiving and telephone transmitting set, compactly set on the right side below the dash, could be made to carry on conversation with the nearest automobile club. From the auto club, in this way, the driver could learn the way to his destination or he could get aid in event of breakdown.

In such cases the radio will be supreme. The telephone cannot reach into the out-of-the-way places from which a person can flash his call for help by wireless.

Elaborate Set on Jap Ship. The feature of an elaborate radio set in the world are given to the Kamoi, fuel ship for the Japanese navy. When the Kamoi left New York on her maiden voyage to Japan she was equipped with three different kinds of transmission equipment and four kinds of receiving apparatus.

The feature of her equipment is her radio telephone exchange, the first of its kind in the world. By means of this exchange system the radio operator may transfer the control of the receiving and transmission instruments to any one of several stations on the ship. The stations are located in the commander's room, his office, the senior officer's wardrobe, the bridge and other important points.

The exchange board, under control of the wireless operator, is little different from the regular line telephone switchboard. A red light shows the receiver has been taken from the telephone hook. The operator throws a switch and the officer connected to the radio instrument.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

The young Fox, who was Farmer Brown's boy, was a prisoner, had a new interest in life. He spent most of his time watching the two geese which Farmer Brown's boy had brought home. For several days they were kept in the henyard. All day long the young Fox would watch them and dream dreams of catching one of them. How he did wish that Farmer Brown's boy would let those geese out!

At last he did. It happened one afternoon when Farmer Brown's boy opened the henyard gate, and out came all the hens for exercise. Finally the two geese came out. The young Fox hid in his house as he had done so many times before when the hens were out. He no longer was interested in the hens. All his interest was in those two geese and not once did he take his eyes from them. Farmer Brown's boy sat down where he could keep watch of the head of the gander, with his neck stretched out full length and with his wings half lifted. The young Fox said he would not move for his eyes. Yes, sir, that was where he made a bad mistake. He found it out. He found it out almost at once.

Just what happened next he didn't know, and doesn't know to this day. There was a terrible hissing sound, and then he was pounded and battered and knocked this way and that, so that he couldn't get on his feet long enough to run back to his house. My, my, such a thumping as he did receive! It seemed to him that the air was full of great wings and great bills that hurt every time they hit. That gander had met the young Fox half way, and he wasn't the least bit afraid. He struck with his bill and he pointed with his wings, and those big, stout wings could strike a hard blow.

PROBLEMS IN HISTORY.

Do You Know—
How slavery originated?
Do You Know—
How the traders of ancient days "kept books" before books as we know them existed?
Do You Know—
Why slaves made better soldiers than free men in the days of the early conquerors?
Do You Know—
Where the Pharaohs of Egypt obtained slaves for their Syrian expeditions?

Answers in Monday's installment of H. G. Wells' "Outline of History."

The Beginning of the Peasant. How far the patch he cultivated was his own was never very clear to him. In ancient Assyria the land seems to have been held as a sort of fief, and the occupier paid taxes; in Babylonia the land was the god's and he permitted the cultivator to work thereon. In Egypt the temples of Pharaoh-the-God or the nobles under Pharaoh were the owners and rent receivers.

But the cultivator was not a slave; he was a peasant, and only bound to the land in so far that there was nothing else for him to do but cultivate, and nowhere else for him to go. He lived in a village or town, and went out to his work. The village, to begin with, was often merely a big household of related people under a patriarchal headman, the early town a group of householders under its elders.

There was no process of enslavement as civilization grew, but the headmen and leaders grew in power, and authority, and the common men did not keep pace with them and fell into a tradition of dependence and subordination. On the whole, the common men were probably well content to live under king or god and obey their bidding. It was safer. It was easier. All the same—and man is no exception—hard life as dependents. Most men never shake themselves loose from the desire for leading and protection.

LISTOWEL CITIZENS WILL OBSERVE ARMISTICE DAY

Special to The Advertiser. Listowel, Nov. 10.—Armistice Day will be observed here on Saturday. A public meeting is called for 10:30 a.m. at the public square, at the corner of Main and Wallace streets. The two minutes' silence will be observed; suitable hymns sung by the school children, and a five minutes' address given by Capt. Edwards of the Methodist Church, an overseas chaplain. Members of the G. W. V. A. will attend in a body.

At the regular meeting of the Wallace branch of the Women's Missionary Society, held at the home of Mrs. Duncan Calder this afternoon, it was decided to make Mrs. Donald Menzies a life member.

Rev. John Griffith of Honan, China, who is home on furlough, is spending the week with his mother.

AGED BLACKSMITH DIES AT CEDAR SPRINGS HOME

Special to The Advertiser. Chatham, Nov. 10.—James Campbell, a well-known blacksmith of Cedar Springs, in South Kent, passed away to his reward on Wednesday of this week at the age of 89 years.

He commenced to learn his trade when eight years of age, and it was his habit that he had never had a day off for a holiday or sickness, except Sundays, until his retirement from business in January of this year.

Even when prices of material and labor soared during and after the war the aged blacksmith refused to increase his price, and the efficient work he has performed for the low price he charged has been the subject of much comment by those who solicited his help, particularly among American tourists.

He is survived by an adopted daughter, Myrtle. His wife predeceased him some years ago.

A man isn't necessarily a coward because he is afraid to argue with a woman. Perhaps he has sense.

SULTAN TO ASK PROTECTION OF ALLIED POWERS
Fears Kemalists Will Make Descent in Force On Palace.
SITUATION UNCHANGED

Constantinople, Nov. 10.—The Turkish Sultan is virtually at the mercy of the Nationalists, should they decide to make a descent in force on his palace and attempt to carry him off, as is feared. His own guard has gone over to the Kemalists, and only nominal protection on the part of Allied troops seems so far to have been accorded him.
The correspondent in a visit to the palace yesterday afternoon found only two guards on duty. Within the palace the monarch is surrounded by seven trusted eunuchs who remain at his side, day and night.
The Sultan, it is said, may formally appeal to the Allies for protection, but it is believed they could prevent a possible Nationalist coup only if martial law were declared.
Sir Horace George M. Rumbold, the British commissioner, and Gen. Pele, high commissioner of France, have been the only visitors at the palace since the decision of the Ankara government last week not to recognize the Sultan's temporal authority. The Sultan has refused to comment publicly on the present crisis or reveal his plans. To friends, however, he has expressed the determination to remain in the throne unless removed by force. He insists that the National Assembly is not representative of the sentiment of the Moslem world and therefore is without authority to modify the status of the successors to Mohammed, who have enjoyed full temporal and spiritual power for more than a thousand years.
The greatest consternation prevails among the members of the Sultan's household. The Caliph's numerous wives and attendants are engaged in constant prayer that their sovereign be spared. The most devoted of them all is the wife he married two months ago, a youthful Circassian beauty, daughter of the palace gardener.
Owing to the Sultan's depleted fortune he is faced with a difficult problem to provide sufficient food and clothing for the members of his household, some of whom receive a salary equivalent to only two dollars a month.
ALLIES AWAIT REPLY.
London, Nov. 10.—Telegraphic communication between London and Constantinople continues interrupted. The only news that is coming is reaching London slowly and through devious routes.
Dispatches dated Wednesday, received by the foreign and war offices today by naval wireless, indicates that the allied commissioners were then still awaiting a definite reply from the Ankara government to their demand that the Turks recede from their attitude, which the allies regard as out of accord with the Mudros and Mudania conventions.
It is shown that the allied representatives also had lodged a strong protest with Rafet Pasha, the Nationalist governor, against the execution of Kemal Bey, editor of Sabah, an anti-nationalist organ.
That the situation continues strained is shown by the fact that the Earl of Derby, secretary of state for war, was compelled to cancel a political engagement he had in the north tonight. He explained that things were in such shape as to make his presence at the war office absolutely imperative.
Four days are continuing between the allies regarding the date for the Lausanne conference on Near East affairs. Although no date has yet been set for the meeting, the conference originally set for next Saturday, it is believed here that an adjournment will be taken until Nov. 20.

PREMIER REGRETS ACTION OF CRERAR
Declares Progressive Leader Will Be Hard To Replace.
Toronto, Nov. 10.—Premier Mackenzie King, who is here to attend a private function in his honor at the York club, told the Canadian Press today he regretted the resignation of Hon. T. A. Crerar from the leadership of the Progressive Party. He stated that strong leadership of parties opposed to the government helped to make for good government, and Mr. Crerar would be hard to replace in that capacity.
"Politics and business will never mix," said the prime minister commenting on Mr. Crerar's given reasons for quitting the Progressive leadership. "That is what we have been saying right along. Co-operative or any other kind of business is one thing, and the economics of good government another. You cannot successfully merge them."
The premier said that he expected no political upheaval or any very startling change in the line-up of the parties as a result of the change in leadership of the Progressives.
"The government expects to be strengthened and go onward in any event," he asserted.
Mr. King spent the morning on private business and lunched with Senator Hardy of Brockville, president of the Ontario Reform Association.

FORMER LONDON WOMAN PASSES IN CALIFORNIA
Long Beach, Cal., Nov. 10.—Thirty-five years a resident of Long Beach is the record of Mrs. M. A. Talbot, who passed away Tuesday, Oct. 31, at 3:15 p.m., at 1325-A East Third street, where she had resided since coming to the city.
Mrs. Talbot was born in London, Canada, June 29, 1835, and was twice married. Coming to Long Beach in 1887 she lived to see the city grow from a little village to its present size and importance. She was always kindly and philanthropically inclined toward all those who were unfortunate. Mrs. Talbot was active in the management of her own affairs until a short time ago.
On Tuesday of last week, when taking some plants to a neighbor she fell, breaking her right leg at the hip. Physicians and kind friends did all in their power to relieve the sufferer, but the nervous shock was too great for one of 88, and she could not survive.
Mrs. Talbot is survived by a niece, Miss Margaret Allan, of Santa Ana. Funeral services for Mrs. Talbot will be held at the Comer & Co. funeral parlors Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Oliver J. Fairfield will officiate, and interment will be at Sunnyside.
