Operation Decided On As Only Means of Relief

But the Writer of This Letter Resolved to Try Dr. Chase's Ointment First and Was Cured.

This is not an isolated case, for we frequently hear from people who have been cured of piles by using Dr. Chase's Ointment. A few physicians had told them nothing short of an operation could bring relief and cure. If you could read these letters, compare them with your own condition, you would realize what a wonderful curative agent Dr. Chase's Ointment really is. Few ailments are more annoying or more painful than piles, and when this suffering is caused by the application of Dr. Chase's Ointment there can be no doubt as to where credit is due. Friends and neighbors are told of the results and as the good word spreads, Dr. Chase's Ointment is becoming known far and wide as the only actual cure for piles or hemorrhoids. Mr. Charles Beauvais, a respected citizen of St. John's, Que., writes: "For 14 years I suffered from chronic piles or hemorrhoids and considered my case very serious. I was treated by a well-known physician who could not help me, and my doctor decided to operate. However, I resolved to try Dr. Chase's Ointment first. The first box brought me great relief, and by the time I had used three boxes, I was completely cured. This is why it gives me such great pleasure to recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to everybody suffering from hemorrhoids as a preparation of the greatest value." The Forest Greeting.

BY THE LATE PAUL LAWRENCE DUNBAR.

Good hunting—eye, good hunting. Wherever the forests call; But ever a heart beats hot with fear. And what of the wounded doe? Good hunting—eye, good hunting. Wherever the North winds blow; But what of the stag that calls for his mate? And what of the wounded doe? Good hunting—eye, good hunting. And, ah! 'tis we bold and strong; But our triumph call through the forest hall. Is a brother's funeral song. For we are brothers ever. Panther and bird and bear, Man and the weakest that fears his fate, Born to the same or lair. Yes, brothers, and who shall judge us? Hunters and game are we; And who shall give the right to us to strike? The forest when we venture there. Good hunting—eye, good hunting. And dim is the forest track. But the sportsman's mouth comes striding on. Brothers, the way is black.

What Helps One Helps the Other.

Loyalty to our country is good, but loyalty to our town and community is just as important. A country town and a farming community surrounding it are brothers, and the one cannot succeed without the co-operation and active assistance of the other.

A farming section without its adjacent railways and market facilities would be a back number with little future ahead. Like farmers would shun it and would have nothing to do with it. A farm adjacent to some live town with up-to-date business houses and shipping facilities is worth double that of a piece of land with equal fertility, located in some obscure section of the country. The relative values of the products of the two farms would be about the same—the one high and the other low.

Therefore the farming community is dependent upon the town and its advantages for much of the rural prosperity and for the high value of land.

Farmers who believe in themselves, who want a prosperous community, should encourage the home town and its industries as much as possible, and should deal with the home merchants as every dollar kept in circulation at home adds that much to the riches of the community. In return the town should make the farmer welcome, and let him feel that he has a personal interest in its welfare. The merchants should make it possible for him to buy his goods at home and should keep reliable goods and sell them at reasonable prices. We believe our merchants have the goods in quantity and quality, and their selling prices compare favorably with the city stores.

The interest of town and community are one—and what helps one helps the other—and as the war continues it will be more and more necessary for the people to work together for the mutual benefit of their town and community.

Another year of big increases in the number of patrons and in the output of the Nova Scotia creameries is the record for 1915. To date the increase in output is about 35 per cent. over that of last year. The number of patrons for 1915 is estimated at 2,800 as against 2,079 in 1914. The output of butter for 1915 is estimated 1,250,000 lbs. as against 913,273 lbs. in 1914. Ten of the older established creameries are showing decided increases this year; such, for instance, the Stellarton Creamery, with 265 patrons and a butter output of 125,000 lbs. for 1915, compared with 130 patrons and a butter output of 38,000 lbs. in 1914, and the Bridgewater creamery with 300 patrons and a butter output of 125,000 lbs. for 1915 compared with 140 patrons and a butter output of 37,000 lbs. for 1914. The re-opened creamery of Selma, Hants county, is producing about 6,000 lbs. per month, and the new creamery at Milbrata, Antigonish county, is producing about 11,000 lbs. per month. Certainly a banner year.

Fell in a Faint.

Mrs. Edwin Martin, Ayer's Cherry Food writer. Before using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was in a terrible condition. Dizzy spells would come over me and I would fall to the floor. I could not sleep without fainting. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has so built up my system that I can wash and do my housework. Your medicine cured me when doctors had failed.

"Dear Clara," wrote the young man, "pardon me, but I'm getting so forgetful. I proposed to you last night but really forgot whether you said yes or no."

"Dear Wm.," she replied by note; "so glad to hear from you. I know I said yes to some one last night, but I had forgotten just who it was."

Sergeant—"Er, Brown, what are you knockin' your 'ores about for?" Brown—"Please, Sergeant, they're always 'ugin' back. If it wasn't for them two bloomin' 'ores we'd be in Berlin months ago."

"Now, Tommy, what mus' we do before our sins can be forgiven?" "We must sin."

A Good Law.

American Tourists in the Maritime Provinces have for years made a business of picking up historical curios and taking them away to enrich museums and private collections across the border. The valley of Annapolis, the south shore of Nova Scotia and P. E. Island have been almost denuded of these evidences of the historic past by relic-seekers. Unfortunately the trade has been taken up by some of our people. There are many decayed tourist families to whom a little ready money is more important than family heirlooms, such as silver, fur, and china, etc., and through ex-pat

Superlative Quality plus the money-back guarantee

WHEN KING COLE TEA first issued its protective guarantee to the purchaser, three years ago, offering to refund the whole of the purchase money for any package of KING COLE returned, there was a very good reason for this radical departure from usual sales methods.

We greatly desired a very general trial of KING COLE TEA. Our faith in its quality was unbounded, for we knew the constant care given to its preparation, but we realized the possible doubt the public might have of a TEA then comparatively new, and so we decided to assume the risk of every trial, and pay back the full purchase price of every package of KING COLE that failed to please.

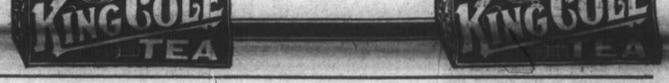

No stronger surety of our good faith could be offered, and we felt confident because of the quality of KING COLE TEA that practically every trial would bring us a permanent customer.

Things have turned out just as we expected. Not one package has been returned. We have never had a request for "Money Back"—we have never heard of a complaint of "King Cole" quality, while "King Cole" sales have been growing steadily larger year by year.

Only exceptional quality could have made such a record, and to-day with more confidence than ever, we invite you to give this tea a test.

The "Money Back" offer is still open; every package is sold on that understanding. What better assurance of Tea value could you have, and what better encouragement to buy your first package of KING COLE TEA?

Advice to Girls.

Be pleasant at all times. A smile does much more good in this world than all the preachings.

Think beautiful thoughts. Beautiful thoughts are angels' bright.

Remember that you are judged by your actions. Do noble things, not dream them all day long.

Be conservative. Your acquaintances do not want your confidences. At all times be womanly. A masculine girl does not retain admiration.

Be careful not to grieve over the wickedness of others; watch yourself lest you grow a few sprigs of ungodliness.

Be quick to believe good. Believe the good until the evil is evident. Do the little things, and then, if you have time do the great things.

Be natural. Remember there are others as lovely as you are.

Some Pursuers.

The Spokers' Patriotic League, Toronto, has issued a large number of new posters inscribed in huge red and blue letters as follows:

"Our boys must face the ravages of war. They need not face the ravages of disease. Help to keep the lads fit by subscribing to Canadian Red Cross."

"Every life saved by efficient medical aid is a blow struck at the heart of the enemy. If you cannot give a life you can save a life."

"How can you cheer for the boys when they come home if you sit on the fence and let them fight your battles for you?"

"You said you would go when you were needed. You are needed now." "Dad's on the line busy fighting. What are you doing for those left behind?"

"The Empire's need—men, munitions, money."

"My dear," he began mildly. "Well," she snapped. "I don't mind your borrowing my Panama hat. But when you return it please remove the veil and hatpins I don't care to wear such equipment downtown again."

Most of the sympathy you get in life is about as sincere as the sad look on the face of the undertaker who is conducting a $500 funeral.

Flirting With Doom.

It would be well to bear in mind that although German armies have had extensive successes on the eastern front and are clinging tenaciously to the territory won in the west, yet the German Empire to-day is confronted with the greatest economic catastrophe the world has seen.

Upon the sole foundation of absolute confidence in the inviolability of the army and the consequent assurance that the German indemnities will be extracted from the entire allies the German authorities have erected a financial structure which has no parallel in history and which dispassionate neutral financial experts characterize as flirting with disaster.

A neutral correspondent of the London Times who has been contributing a series of interesting and instructive articles on "Germany in War Time," recently described the amazing financial reorganization of the empire following the cutting off of German trade.

War credit banks have been established in all the states. Their function is to provide the public with personal credit. Loans are granted upon notes endorsed by two or more persons, and thus personal credit institutes have been set up by all the professions; in

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., SEPT. 24, 1915.

Our Whole Strength.

'Nothing but the exertion of our whole strength will enable us to obtain victory.'

These are the words of Mr. Lloyd George. The answer to them is big with fate for the British Empire and all the world.

What will the answer be—in Britain, in Canada, in every portion of the Empire? What in Nova Scotia, in Wolfville?

'Our whole strength'—that is the phrase. Shall we, then, send a handful of recruits who should send hundreds and thousands?

'The issue'—Mr. Lloyd George goes on, 'is the greatest that any country has been called upon to decide.' The whole strength of the country must be exerted, and if it cannot be done without conscription—who will then protest against this last measure of self preservation? But there should be no need of conscription. The people grow more and more conscious of the danger, as the weeks pass and the Germans continue to be more successful than the Allies in their land operations.

'I have felt driven by the jeopardy of my native land to sound a note of alarm,' says Mr. Lloyd George. He speaks with knowledge and authority. The people cannot in safety disregard the solemn warning. The duty of the hour is plain. Every portion of the Empire must rally to the defence. The call is for men and more men, and they who urge men not to go are traitors to the flag.

'On the Field of Honor.'

The publishers of The Family Herald and Weekly Star, Montreal, are making a strong bid for that beautiful picture, full of pathos, entitled 'On the Field of Honor.' It is assumed the publishers of the Family Herald have in mind using it as a presentation plate. If that is so there is a great treat in store for readers of The Family Herald and Weekly Star this autumn. In past years The Family Herald of Montreal has been noted, not only for the wonderful excellence of that journal, but for many beautiful pictures it has presented to its readers. The Family Herald has a name for succeeding in anything it undertakes, and we feel sure it is humanly possible to secure 'On the Field of Honor' that the publishers will succeed in getting it. 'On the Field of Honor,' is attracting widespread attention in Europe.

Damaging the Fruit.

Ten fruit growers in the vicinity of Thorold, Ontario, have brought suit against the Conlags Production Co., Thorold, asking for damages of various amounts, on the ground that deadly vaporous gas from the company's smelter at Thorold, killed the bees for a radius of many miles about the works. They also contend that the poisonous vapors have killed vegetation, making it almost impossible to conduct farming or fruit growing in the vicinity.

The damages asked for range from $400, to the case of Wm. Selby, of Homer, to $100,000, in the cases of Manford Miles, of Thorold, and John Newhouse, of Homer. The claimants contend that their bees were killed by sucking poison out of the flowers.

Fire.

A fire, which for a short time menaced the town, broke out in one of the barns connected with Mr. H. D. Schofield's livery stables at 10:20 o'clock Wednesday evening.

The alarm was immediately rung in and the firemen at work. The flames, however, spread with great rapidity through the hay-lofts, and fanned by the north-westerly gale which was blowing, had wrapped the building almost as quickly as the alarm could be sounded. The streams of water were, therefore, played on the adjoining buildings, which were another stable, a small office building, the dry-goods store of Chas. H. Porter, and, most important of all, from size and position to the conflagration, the Royal Hotel. 'If that goes the town is doomed,' was remarked by many; and as it stood within a few yards from the starting point of the fire, there seemed little chance of safety. But the firemen's efforts kept the shingles and walls soaked until the barn was leveled to the ground, and the fire under control.

The buildings burned were the barn, owned by Mr. Schofield, with its contents; the office building in connect on, owned by Mr. C. H. Porter, and a small garage belonging to Mr. Sandford. The north end of another barn connected with the stables and owned by C. H. Porter, was on fire also, but the flames were controlled.

Mr. Schofield places his loss at $2,000. Beside the barn his losses are: seven tons of hay, eleven driving carriages for single and double teams, set bob sleds, two sets double harness, single harness and odd pieces. He succeeded in removing the two horses which he had just before stabled. His horses, carriages and grain, which were in the adjoining barn that caught fire, were safely removed.

The fire was caused by a lantern, which fell from Mr. Schofield's hand from the hay-loft to the floor below, and exploded; as he stumbled, while getting down hay for the horses he had just brought in.

Canada and the War.

Including the 10,000 men on home defense duty, the Dominion has approximately 170,000 men under arms. When the 12 new battalions recently authorized reach England there will be roughly 100,000 Canadians in Europe, 50,000 in training in various camps in Canada, 10,000 garrisoning in Halifax, Quebec, Esquimaux and other points; 1,000 at Bermuda and 500 in St. John's, West Indies. With the addition of 50,000 reinforcements Canada would have 210,000 men wearing khaki.

The exact number of casualties suffered by Canadian troops thus far has never been officially announced, but as Dominion regiments have not been heavily engaged since Festubert it is estimated that they are well under 15,000. Of the wounded many have returned to the firing line.

And from the Maritime Provinces to the rolling prairies of the wheat belt the Dominion is responding. Only last week the Duke of Connaught reviewed at Sewell Camp, 130 miles west of Winnipeg, 7,000 men who are ready for the front. He left there for the camps at Calgary, Alta., and Vernon, B. C., where he reviewed more fresh troops. If anyone thinks that the spirit of Canada is daunted, or her resources of men and supplies taxed, he misapprehends the facts. Canada is settling down to a long, grim struggle, and is more determined than ever.

An Open Letter

FROM A WELL KNOWN METHODIST CLERGYMAN, OF INTEREST TO ALL WHO ARE SICK.

One of the best known ministers in the Hamilton conference is the Rev. Chas. E. Stafford, of Elora, Ont., who freely admits that he owes his present good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mr. Stafford writes as follows: 'Some years ago I was severely afflicted for a period of four months. The leading physicians in the town in which I was then stationed diagnosed my case as one of complete nervous prostration brought on by overwork which superinduced intercostal neuralgia and muscular rheumatism, from which I suffered the most excruciating pain night and day for weeks. So weak and helpless did I become that my attendants had to handle me like an infant, raising me up and laying me down with the greatest care, so intense were my sufferings. Acting on the advice of my doctor, and taking his medicine, I did not seem to improve. One afternoon while suffering great pain, the editor of the paper published in the town, and who was a member of the church of which I was then pastor, urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was sceptical as to the medicinal qualities of all proprietary medicines, but on the strong recommendation of the editor, who had great faith in the medicine, I decided to try them. To my great surprise and supreme delight, I soon found that the Pills were giving me relief, and after I had taken seven boxes I was fully restored to health. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, under God, having made me a new man. Ever since I have been better and stronger physically than I had been for a number of years.'

Three years ago, after an active ministry of forty-six years, I asked the Hamilton conference of the Methodist church to grant me superannuation relief, which it did, but for more than two years I have been supplying a charge which necessitates a drive of twenty miles every Sabbath. Today I am strong and hearty, without an ache or pain, and for my present physical condition I am indebted to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and can most heartily recommend them to the afflicted.'

More Than Good Looks
 Taking care of your teeth means better health. Neglect of them leaves acids and hurtful germs of decay that harm not only the teeth but often seriously affect the throat and stomach. Proper care of the teeth means daily cleansing with something that will remove the acids and destroy the germs.

 does these things, we believe, better than any other dentifrice. It not only tends to preserve the teeth and keep them free from tartar and discoloration but it helps insure the health of other parts of the digestive apparatus. Also delightful to use.

ONE DAY ONLY TO GRASP THIS PIANO OPPORTUNITY!

Such enthusiastic interest is being shown in this Display—so many have been delighted at the chance to see some of the Pianos that made our Exhibit noteworthy at the Halifax Exhibition—we would like to continue a week in Wolfville if we could. But we cannot—our plans were laid in advance. The pianos on display must be off again Monday morning. So at 9 sharp Saturday night the opportunity to see and obtain a good piano at a low price ends.

Why Such High Grade Instruments Come to Wolfville

Visitors to the display are astonished at the unusual beauty of the pianos shown and many ask us how such high grade pianos can be brought to Wolfville.

The Provincial Exhibition at Halifax explains it. There four firms put their best on display. To demonstrate decisively our commanding position, it was necessary to assemble the best that Canadian makers had to offer. The Exhibition ended, and another not starting for a fortnight, we sent these pianos to Wolfville—where the presence of so many music lovers insured their welcome.

Now those who see them are anxious to get one at all costs. Several were disappointed because the possession of an old instrument prevented the purchase of a new—until they learned what a high price we pay in exchange for old pianos.

Why the Pianos Are Marked at Such Low Prices

Visitors are even more surprised at the low prices of the pianos than they are at their splendid appearance and tone. Most come to admire the instruments of the well-to-do, and are astonished to find them within their reach.

To sell the most pianos in the Maritime Provinces, as the Phinney Company does, is to be able to buy at the best prices. We could pocket this profit—but instead we pass it on to our customers.

See the plain prices marked on every piano and you will agree with our claim that the purchaser at this Display gets a piano better and for less than ever before. We are the first firm to standardize prices—the result has been such an increase in sales that we can well afford the reductions obtained by every purchaser at the Display.

PIANOS NOW--PAYMENTS LATER.
 It is not necessary to wait for your Piano if you cannot pay cash. Place your order and the Piano enters your parlor at once. You pay by the pleasant monthly plan.

The New Autumn Hat.

The military display of fall hats at Miss Saxton's and the W. C. D. x tr Co., indicate simplicity of shape and trimming. The dominant ideas are expressed in two styles—small, close fitting toques and the sailor. For everyday wear nothing is smarter than the white felt sailor or the little corduroy velvet tam. Soft, white kid, made with underbrim, or trimming of black velvet or satin, forms a new style in sailor shapes, which will be a favorite with the outgoing girl. Novelty shaps in small hats, are the 'position' and 'aeroplane,' belting their name by their dainty and becoming appearance.
Very dressy are the straight, flexible brimmed sailor, and a medium size poke shape hat, also the drooping brim, or Capeline, which are fashioned of velvet, generally, but also of pressed felt and novelty plush.
Fancy ostrich mounts in flower, bow and ball shapes trim many of the smart hat. Flowers, small fruit clusters, cut jet and nickel ornaments, beaded motifs applied on brim or side of crown; small, close leathers with curled spikes; mushroom effects in leathers of two blended colors, and small birds' heads are favorite trimming. Ribbon is used in large, flat bows on some of the toque effects; and narrow, picot-bordered ribbon daintily fastens in place the feather mounts of many larger hats. Hand embroidery and silk fringe are among the newest and most beautiful touches on many of the velvet hats.
The leading color is black; while dark seal brown, rich purple shades, navy blue, greens and grays and pink will be favorite colors.
At Miss Saxton's a capeline shape of black velvet has the edge of the brim embroidered in rose silk; and the mount is one large velvet rose, in gray and rose tones. A poke-shaped hat of black velvet in graceful lines, is effectively trimmed by a feather encircling the crown, held in place by a dark red flower. A dressy flexible brim sailor of black has a soft crown of white kid, with fancy black and white feather trimming. A pretty rolled brim sailor has facing and broad band of checked black and white velvet, and is trimmed with feather mount and arrow ribbon. One of Miss Saxton's most artistic hats of black velvet shows the fringed edge and ostrich flower-mount; another has brim of rose colored felt and a graceful feather trimming.
Among the pretty creations at the W. C. Dexter Co. parlors is a drooped brim effect of purple velvet edged with jet; trimming, an ostrich mount. A dark seal brown velvet sailor has white bead embroidery and small wings. A handsome dress' shape is of white silk, corded, and trimmed with embroidered ribbon; and a turban has leaves applied on the black velvet facing, with jet tassel hanging from the crown.

Life and Death.

So he died for his faith. That is fine. More than most of us do. But stay, can you add to that line, That he lived for it, too? In his death he bore witness at last As a martyr to truth. Did his life do the same in the past From the days of his youth? It is easy to die. Men have died From a wish or a whim— From bravado, or passion or pride, Was it harder for him? But to live; every day to live out All the truth that he dreamt, While his friends met his conduct with doubt And the world with contempt. Was it thus that he plodded ahead, Never turning aside? Then we'll talk of the life that he led— Never mind how he died. —Ernest Howard Crosby.

A Result of Drink.

(From a Chicago Newspaper.) Last night Ralph Maxson Green died of alcoholism in a cheap hotel on State street. Unless relatives are heard from his body will be buried in the potters field. A few hours before his death Greene called for pencil and paper. This is what he wrote: "Six months ago I was earning $300 a month as a civil and general engineer. I had a wife and little daughter and a nice home in Winnipeg, Canada. I did not drink. Then I was employed by the United States Government on the marine barracks at Washington, D. C. One night I took a drink. Since that night I have taken many drinks. "I lost my speed. Then I lost my job. Then I continued to drink, and soon discovered that I couldn't get another job. I felt that I didn't want another job as long as I could get something to drink. I lost my home. Then came Chicago. "I am going to die. I don't care. I

SUFFERED EVERYTHING

For Years, Restored To Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Canadian women are continually writing us such letters as the following, which are heartfelt expressions of gratitude for restored health:

Glanford Station, Ont.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and never found any medicine to compare with it. I had ulcers and falling of womb and doctors did me no good. I suffered dreadfully for years until I began taking your medicine. I also recommend it for nervousness and indigestion." — Mrs. HENRY CLARK, Glanford Station, Ont.

Chesterville, Ont.—"I heard your medicine highly praised, and a year ago I began taking them for falling of womb and various troubles. "My left side pained me all the time and just before my periods which were irregular and painful it would be worse. To sit down caused me pain and suffering and I would be so nervous sometimes that I could not hear to see any one or hear any one speak. Little specks would float before my eyes and I was always constipated. "I cannot say too much for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Live Pills, for there are no medicines like them. I have taken them and I recommend them to all women. You may publish this testimonial." — Mrs. SYDNEY J. MAXSON, Chesterville, Ontario, Canada.

Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria

want to say this before I go. Let booze alone. It can't be whipped. It's too fast for me and it's too fast for you. For booze I gave everything I had, and now that I haven't anything left, booze will take me."

The body of Greene was taken to the country morgue. It was learned from the authorities in Winnipeg that Greene formerly had been one of the best known engineers in Canada. He was one of the engineers of the Broad street depot in Philadelphia and had been superintendent of the Dominion Bridge company and later the Manitoba Bridge and Iron works. Efforts to locate relatives or his wife last night failed.

Tired-out Kidneys.

Kidney troubles are frightfully common because the kidneys are so easily upset by over-work or excesses of eating or drinking. Care is effected not by whipping them on to renewed effort, but by awakening the action of liver and bowels by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This rests the kidneys and makes them well. Backache and urinary disorders then disappear.

Realizing Its Danger.

"During my travels through Europe, recently," says Archbishop Ireland, (Roman Catholic), "I have discovered that the war against alcohol is spreading through every country on that continent. There is not a single country in Europe to day that does not have its annual congress of antialcoholic workers, and these congresses are made up of the best physicians and the leading thinkers of each and every country."

This is to certify that I have used MINARD'S LINIMENT in my family for years, and consider it the best liniment on the market. I have found it excellent for horse flesh. (Signed) W. S. FISHER, Woodlands, Middleton, N. S.

Germany's Drink Bill.

Germany has a population of 60,000,000 and a drink bill of $672,588,000, or something over thirty-seven dollars a year for each person over fifteen years of age. Her army and navy expenditure is considered very heavy, but it is over sixty million dollars less than one third of her liquor bill. And yet people wonder sometimes why it is so many live in poverty and want.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S 25c. CATARRH POWDER is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Chase & Co. Limited, Toronto.

Twelve San Franciscos.

Putting the San Francisco loss at two hundred millions, it is only as much as the loss caused by the liquor business in the United States for one month. Stating it another way twelve cities as valuable as the burned area of San Francisco could be built in a year with the money the liquor traffic costs the nation.

Teach Children the Art of Entertaining Conversation.

We teach our children to eat nicely and walk gracefully, and dress themselves neatly, and all the rest of it but very few take the trouble of teaching them how to talk in a really interesting way, though the art of entertaining conversation is about the most valuable that any man or woman can possess. If you listen to the ordinary gossip in an average family you will notice that the youngsters very generally use the same set of words again and again. They have half a dozen adjectives which they sprinkle their conversation, and they help out their lack of expression by such tags as "Oh, well, you know what I mean," or "it was a sort of what-do-you-call-it" or "all that kind of thing, you know," and so on.

It is a great pity to allow such slovenly habits of speech to be formed. Even when the accent and grammar are quite good—and teachers at school generally see to that—the speech is often very uninteresting just because of the lack of thoughtless style of expression used.

Don't let your children drop into such ways. Take pains to encourage them to say what they really mean in the most expressive words that can be found. When they tell you what they have seen and done during the day praise the one who tells her little tale most simply and clearly, with all the facts in the right order.

Dreaming Again.

Are you the girl who started the day with the intention of making it so full of good service and cheer, and ended it with a dull sense of failure? Perhaps the most lie in dreaming of some one big, glorious service; and while you gazed off in the distance in search of it, you passed by unheeding the little, humble, needful things that would have filled your day with well doing.

Sometimes I think, remarked the timid young man in the earlier scene, that if I—er—had money I would—er—get married. "Well," suggested the dear girl who was occupying the other end of the sofa, why don't you try and—er—borrow some?"

Peep again in your oven. See those loaves, those pleasing loaves you've made. How fat—rounded—substantial. No, they won't fall when colder. Because the Manitoba strength that is in FIVE ROSES will hold them up till eaten. This sturdy elastic gluten has kept them from dropping flat in the oven. No unsightly holes 'twixt crust and crumb—never. All risen evenly—to stay risen. Never heavy—sodden—soggy—indigestible. Yours are the FIVE ROSES loaves—Crinkly and appetizing of crust. Golden brown and tender. Snowy of crumb—light as thistledown. FIVE ROSES helps a lot. Try it soon.

If Britain Were Neutral.

The Italian paper "Secolo" publishes a weighty article answering the question, "What Britain is doing in the war?" The article says that Britain's impetuosity in one sense did her honor. Unlike Germany, which pursued a policy of threatening nobody, while Germany nursed dreams of world domination, the journal goes on to ask whether what Britain has done is not the best guarantee for the triumph of the Allies. She is mistress of the seas, which is not a mere phrase. It is a fact which all the German submarines and German airplanes are unable to controvert, and the best proof of the assured success of the British blockade is the rage of the Germans. Britain's mastery of the sea has bottled Germany's fleet up completely and stopped her sea trade. It prevents her protecting her colonies or exporting her merchandise.

To realize the vastness and complexity of this function performed by Britain it is sufficient to consider what would have happened if Britain had remained neutral. Undoubtedly the war would have ended in six months, and all Europe would have been under the heel of the Kaiser. If the British in the past did not realize the gravity of the situation and were too optimistic they have qualities of resistance, tenacity, untiringness and inflexibility which will be the deciding factors in the end.

The "Secolo," ended by saying "Let us do justice to what Britain has done. Liberating the sea from the Germans is the most noteworthy success so far obtained by the Allies, depriving the enemy is it does of territories which will be of the greatest weight when peace is discussed. Britain has done all that is possible with the forces at her disposal. She has given millions to the needs of her Allies, and has lifted up the spiritual deal of this war, being the first to raise the cry for peace, as against militarism and the principle of nationality as against imperialism."

An Apple 'Stunt'.

When you wish to mystify and amuse one of your friends, try the trick of cutting an apple into quarters without apparently baking the skin. It is so old a trick that it will probably be quite new to many of the people you know. Select a large, red apple. Thread a long slender darning needle with about a yard of strong white linen thread, and beginning near the stem of the apple, take a shallow stitch, an inch or so in length toward the blow end.

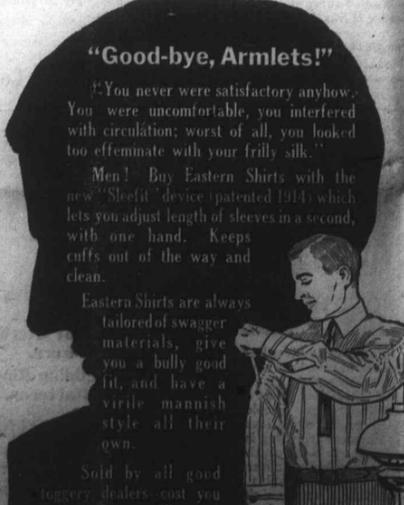

Draw about two thirds of the thread through, and be careful to make the break in the skin as small as possible, and when you take the second stitch, set the needle exactly in the place out of which it came. Sew entirely around the apple to the opposite side of the stem from which you started. Now, hold the apple firmly between your knees, and crossing the ends of your thread, take one in each hand and give a strong, steady pull. The thread will cut its way through the fruit and come free in your hand. Repeat the process, beginning again at the stem, but going at right angles to the first cut. When your friend peels the fruit, she will find it neatly quartered. The small punctures that your needle makes will pass unnoticed, unless the apple is very closely examined.

For a girl to be seen about with some men is as damning as to be seen about without a man at all.

It is sad but true that most things and people cease to be desirable as soon as they cease to be desired.

OLDER BUT STRONGER

To be healthy at seventy, prepare at forty, is sound advice, because in the strength of middle life we too often forget that neglected colds, or careless treatment of slight aches and pains, simply undermine strength and bring chronic weakness for later years. To be stronger when older, keep your blood pure and rich and active with the strength-building and blood-nourishing properties of Scott's Emulsion which is food, a tonic and a medicine to keep your blood rich, alleviate rheumatism and avoid sickness. Soldier's Swagger Cane.

It is one of the regulations of the British Army that every soldier when walking out must carry in his hand a stick, in order to preserve a soldierly appearance and prevent anything like slouching in his gait. The rule applies to all ranks, and should any one seek to evade it he would find his progress barred by the sentry at the barrack gate or entrance to camp. Privates generally carry light canes or "swagger sticks," non-commissioned officers fairly stout sticks, and officers invariably go in for the more expensive kind. It is a question that has often been asked—Who first suggested the idea? But nobody seems to know. From the earliest times drill sergeants and drum majors have carried sticks, and the fashion may have come from the fact. Soldiers as a rule buy their own sticks, but in one or two regiments a recruit is presented with one when he gets his uniform. There is a story told of a soldier one day who couldn't find his cane and knew he would be challenged if he didn't have something in his hand quietly picked up a poker, and passed through the gate all right with it in his fist.
