Suffered by Mr. Thomas Harrison of St. Mary's, N. B.

Stone in the Bladder Brought Him to the Point of Death—Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Him After All Else Had Failed.

FREDERICTON, N. B., May 15.—All residents of the village of St. Mary's, a suburb of this city, will remember the recent narrow escape of Mr. Thomas Harrison, who was so seriously ill with Stone in the Bladder.

It will be remembered that Mr. Harrison had become so ill that many of his friends thought he could never recover. All medical treatment failed to relieve him; his urine was thick and bloody, and his chances seemed gone.

At this period Mr. Harrison was persuaded to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial.

He had no faith in them, nor hope that they would afford him either relief or cure, but he nevertheless agreed to give them a trial.

After having used one box he passed a large stone that had formed in his bladder as a result of defective kidney action.

All the pain vanished with the passing of this stone. He "mended" rapidly, gaining health, strength and flesh, rapidly.

Mr. Harrison continued the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills for a time, till his kidneys were perfectly restored and all danger of another stone forming had passed.

To-day he is strong and healthy, and no man in Canada is louder in praise of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have had the same result in every case of Kidney Disease for which they have ever been used. They have always cured.

Victims of Kidney Disease—in any form—may be absolutely certain of a thorough and permanent cure, if they use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

University of New Brunswick.

FREDERICTON, N. B., May 1st, 1899.

DEAR SIR: The members of the class of 1900 who will graduate on the hundredth anniversary of the founding of the University, desire to celebrate the occasion by doing something towards a distinct advancement in its work and influence.

The most pressing need of the University at the present time is a new building for the departments of Physics and Civil and Electrical Engineering. The increase of students in those departments makes such a building an absolute necessity. Plans have been prepared for a suitable building, the cost of which is $200,000.

Feeling that the erection of such a building would be the most fitting method of celebrating the University Centennial, the class of 1900 has decided to appeal for assistance to the graduates and friends of the University. We intend to raise $10,000 by a loan, and the remainder by direct contributions; and we ask your assistance either in the form of an annual or direct subscription. The members of the class of 1900 have already subscribed $500 towards the Building Fund, to be paid six years after graduation.

We ask your careful consideration of our request; if you decide favorably, contributions should be sent to W. H. Harrison, Secretary of the Class at the University. The accompanying circular contains further information as to the details of the building and the work of the University in the Engineering Department.

We remain,

Yours very truly,

(W. H. CLAWSON, Pres. Committee on behalf of the Class.

G. F. McNALLY, G. F. McNALLY, W. J. R. WILSON, W. H. HARRISON, Sec.

The following statement concerning the present courses in the University will show the need of greater accommodations.

The University has now a Civil and an Electrical Engineering Course. The present draughting room is overcrowded with the seventeen students now taking the Civil Engineering Course. Only one student graduates this year, and many applications have already been received from students who are intending to enter. Under the present circumstances it will be impossible to accommodate this increased number. The lecture room connected with the Course is also too small, and there is no room whatever for a Museum in which to keep models of apparatus, illustrating sanitary and railway work. The lecture rooms of the Art Professors take up all the remaining space in the present building; indeed for the Professor of Literature there is no regular lecture room. The Physics Laboratory is small, and situated as it is, in the Upper part of the building, is unfitted as a room in which to conduct delicate experiments. In the Electrical Engineering Course rooms are badly needed to accommodate the apparatus of the Department, especially the heavier machinery such as dynamos, recently presented by the Canadian General Electric Company. Engines to work the machinery cannot at present be purchased as there is no place in which to set them up. The cement tester being purchased by former graduates for the Engineering Department, will, with the apparatus connected with it, require a small Laboratory also.

The accommodations required can be given only by constructing a new building. The University has not a cent of debt, and there is every prospect of a steady advance, especially in connection with technical work. Circumstances require and justify the construction of a new building before 1900.

The building will be substantially constructed of Stone. It will be about 90x50 feet; the roof and inside framing will be of steel. The dynamo will supply a current for electrical work, and for lighting both buildings. On the first floor will be a Cement Testing Room, Civil Engineering Library, Reading Rooms and Physical Laboratory. The second floor will contain a large, well-lighted Draughting Room, Instrument Rooms and Museum. In the basement the engines, dynamo and heavier machinery will be fitted up. By the construction of such a building, not only will there be room for the courses mentioned, but in the old building much needed room will be available for the Arts Course.

The estimated cost of the building is $20,000. It will be situated on the University grounds below the Gymnasium, where connection can be made with the city water supply. The building will probably be started in June, and ready for students about Christmas, 1899.

COOK'S ANODYNE LINIMENT.

G. D., S. O. T.

MONROE, May 10.—The Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance met here today in semi-annual session. The attendance is good.

Major Armstrong, grand scribe, submitted his report for the past six months. Never despair division, No. 46, had been organized at Weldville; and Frances Willard, No. 373, at Sussex; and Crystal Stream, No. 191, at Salisbury, reconstituted. Following is the G. S.'s statistical statement:

To Dec. 31, 1898.	To Mar. 31, 1899.
Initiated.....	294
Joined.....	187
Reinstated.....	2

The grand worthy patriarch, Rev. Jas. Crisp, in the course of his report had this to say:

"Our members are not only a law-abiding people, but they desire that all persons should abide by and keep the laws of the land. My clear vision and experience have led me to the conclusion that in the execution and enforcement of the Scott Act in various localities our order has taken a significant and very important part. My clear and distinct vision is to see the Scott Act enforced in every locality where it is not enforced. We understand and appreciate the value of the vote that was obtained as a result of the effort that was put forth. Although the order stands today as a result of a few months ago has been succeeded by a fall, yet the order stands ready for any good work in days to come.

"Progress, advancement, improvement, proficiency, these are the things on which we ought to think and speak, and these are the things on which we ought to be united. In fighting the great battle of prohibition in the future we may be called upon to fight on very different lines from any upon which we have fought in the past. This seeming fall may be the stillness before the storm—a stillness that may be felt before the coming of a storm that shall shake the political earth upon which many of our representatives stand, and purify the moral atmosphere in which many are living. Here I would remind you of the great disintegration and grave disappointment which have come to those who have taken a leading part in the councils of our order.

"To obtain oneness of aim, we have as a body of organization in New Brunswick followed the lead of the Dominion Alliance. This has been good up to a certain point. Has it not given us room for grave doubt as to the propriety of following it any further? We have no right to be a party to suggest to the government anything short of prohibition. Sometime before this session is over resolutions will be introduced and a line of action marked out. Although we all hope for a better outlook on the temperance question we must realize that there never was greater need of vigilance and firmness.

The report of the treasurer, Thomas H. Lawson, showed a balance on hand on Oct. 26, 1898, of $109.85; the receipts since that date were $335.44; total receipts, $445.29; paid out, $396.54; balance on hand, $48.75.

The grand scribe's report showed a small falling off in membership.

The afternoon was taken up with reports and the business of the session will be concluded tomorrow morning, when a presentation will be made on the question of prohibition.

A public meeting was held in the Central Methodist church this evening. E. M. McCarthy presided and speeches were made by Rev. Jas. W. Crisp, G. W. P., J. R. Woodburn, P. G. W. P., Rev. G. W. Fisher, M. W. C., and Major A. J. Armstrong, G. S. The dominion government's attitude in regard to prohibition was touched upon by the speakers and Mr. Woodburn aroused the ire of J. T. Hawke of the Transcript to such an extent by showing up the alleged fraudulent voting on the plebiscite in Quebec, that the chairman had to interfere and order Hawke to subside, much to the latter's discomfort and to the enjoyment of the audience.

Success Must Follow

THE FAIR USE OF DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS FOR PALE PEOPLE.

That is the Experience of Mrs. Sydney Bruce, of Deseronto, Who Had Suffered for Many Years with Rheumatism and Catarrh of the Bowels.

From the Tribune, Deseronto.

Our attention was lately directed to the wonderful cure effected upon a resident of Deseronto, which illustrates in a very marked way the merits of that widely known health restorer "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills." We refer to the cure of Mrs. Bruce, wife of Sydney Bruce, caretaker of the High School building. Being desirous of giving our readers the facts, a reporter of the Tribune called at Mrs. Bruce's residence, and is therefore enabled to present our readers with the following facts, which can be vouched for by many neighbors and friends of the family. Mrs. Bruce had from the early age of ten years been a sufferer from rheumatism and had endured an untold amount of suffering from this dire disease. She had tried scores of different medicines to dispel the malady but in vain. Doctors told her it was impossible to eradicate the disease from her system and she had at last become resigned to the belief that rheumatism was incurable. In addition to rheumatism, about seven years ago she began to suffer with catarrh of the bowels with its attendant headaches and depression of spirits.

The pain of the rheumatism and constant headaches were her lot. The doctors prescribed opiates which only dulled the pain, but did not repel the disease. The two diseases continued to make steady headway and at times she felt such pain that she could not even allow her husband to raise or move her. The neighbors thought she would never get up again. All kinds of remedies were suggested and many of them tried, but in vain. Provisionally, as Mrs. Bruce expressed it, the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills was mentioned. It was not until the end of the second box that she realized any benefit. She then began to realize that she was regaining strength. Before she mentioned this to others her husband also observed the change, for he remarked one day "those pills are doing you some good, you look livelier than you have for some time."

She continued the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills until she had taken fourteen boxes, with the gratifying and almost remarkable results that she was completely cured of the rheumatism and catarrh, not a solitary symptom of either trouble remaining. Mr. Bruce was present during the interview and confirmed, all that his wife had said and was as delighted as she in praising the virtues of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mrs. Bruce said that she cut of gratitude for this wonderful restoration to health she had told scores of other sufferers from different diseases of the virtues of the medicine which had been the undoubted means of prolonging her life. She hoped that others would follow her plan of giving the pills a fair and prolonged trial as she was confident that in the end success would surely follow as in her own case.

Three Men Dead.

OKOLANA, Miss., May 9.—Dr. Wm. Murphy became involved in a dispute to-night with Charles D. Clarke over a bill which Dr. Murphy claimed Clarke owed him. A fight was precipitated and Clarke, with a knife, slashed Dr. Murphy and cut his jugular vein. Howard Murphy, son of the physician, then shot Clarke dead. Walter Clarke, brother of Charles D. Clarke, and Howard Murphy then began a duel to settle the matter. Pistols were used, the men fought viciously and both were killed.

More Mob Violence.

LEBANON, Tenn., May 10.—A mob of fifty masked men terrorized this place yesterday. First the jail was visited, and Ewing Hodge, who is charged with attempting to murder a white woman, was demanded. Being assured by a search of the jail that Hodge had been spirited away to safety, the members turned their attention to the city work-house. There Bill Dibble and Leslie Hodgins, two negroes charged with attempting to force themselves into Mrs. Mace's house were confined, and they were soon in the mob's hands. Others attempted to interfere and in the mixup Hodgins escaped. Then Dibble was hustled into a wagon and started to the county. Nothing further is definitely known, but it is rumored that the negro escaped with a severe beating.

Poetry.

THE TROUT IS AN ARISTOCRAT.

The trout he is an aristocrat
He scorns all humble fry.
From the haunts of the pike, the perch and "cut"
Forever does he fight shy.
The stream's wild course,
Where it gathers force,
Or the deep transparent lake,
Or the waters cool of the shaded pool,
He his home is want to make.

The pickered is a fish very game,
But his morals they are dark;
And folks speak justly when they claim
That he's much like Captain Shark.

For all tackle fry, that he may spy,
Like that pike he'll assault;
Yes, all he does twig, that are not too big,
Does he swallow head and tail.

But the trout he is an aristocrat,
The King Salmon is he allied,
His blood is blue, just remember that,
And false (?) never! was his pride.
That a swell is he so must all agree.
For his dress is loud and fine,
But he earns his fame and you'll find him game,
When you get him on your line.

Like the pickered, a fish quite game's the bass,
But they both keep company low,
With the shiny eel 'mid the water grass,
Both in quest of prey will go.
True they fish touch not that in net are caught,
As does that vile slippery sneak,
Put round they'll hang a real hard, tough gang,
And none good of them can speak.

But the trout he is an aristocrat,
No mauling knife is he,
He's a high spawned fish you can bet
your hat,
And he's e'er on his dignity.
To the sportsman's fly, when it takes his eye,
Will he freeze like flash of flame,
Then with main and might, will he tug and fight
For freedom, and e'er die game.

WOODVILLE.

BART'S ROBIN.

"It's time to wake up now you sleepy old thing!"
I fancied I heard the bright sun loudly
crying,
As he looked on the earth which the whole winter long
Asleep 'neath her blanket of snow had been lying.

"Do you hear me? It's getting quite late in the day!
And if you won't rouse why I'll just have to shake you,
I'll pull off your covering, and if that won't do
Dash water right into your face and wake you.

"Here! Wake up! Look alive! Would you sleep there all year?
And no response coming, as good as his word,
Methought he sent April to sprinkle her freely.
When all her soft covering had quite disappeared.

Indignant the earth at this treatment so shabby
At last roused to find herself cold, wet and bare
"With what can I clothe myself, now I am awakened?
My old dress is gone, and I've nothing to wear!"

But the sun dried her tears and said
"wait just a jiffy,
Instead of the old russet gown you last wore,
I am making a new one of soft tints and tender,
"Twill be most becoming to you I am sure."

So the earth being "she" thus was comforted quickly
At sight of her robe, a most exquisite
thing,
And the sweet face of nature still smiles
and is happy,
When each year she puts on her new dress in the spring.

KINDLY JUDGE ANOTHER.

Al! pause and think, before you seek
To harshly judge another.
You cannot probe the inner life,
You cannot note the soul's dark strive,
Temptations, nor its dangerous rife,
Then do not judge another.

Al! me, and who should seek to be
The one to judge another?
Perchance a woman's fairest fame
May be her pure, unsullied name,
Yet slender drapes her oft in shame,
Thus cruelly we judge her.

It costs so little, e'er to speak
In kindness to another,
Had you the same temptation seen,
Had life withheld her golden sheen,
Perhaps less stainless you had been,
So do not judge another.

Al! life is sad enough it would seem,
So kindly judge another,
God help us when His face we'll see,
And Death reveals its mystery,
If He shall judge as cruelly
As oft we judge another.

IT ALL WILL COME OUT RIGHT.

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Whatever is a cruel wrong,
The honest years that speed along
Will triumph in the dust.
In restless youth I railed at fate
With all my puny might;
But now I know if I but wait
It all will come out right.

Though vice may don the judge's gown
And play the censor's part,
And fact be covered by falsehood's frown,
Anc. nature ruled by art,
Though labor duels through blinding tears,
And idle wealth is might,
I know the honest, earnest years,
Will bring it out all right.

Though poor and loveless creeds may pass
For Poor Religion's gold,
Though ignorance may rule the mass
While truth meets glances cold,
I know a law, complete, sublime,
Controls us with its might,
And in God's own appointed time,
It all will come out right.

SOUL INTUITION.

BY SUSIE M. BEST.

"Somebody rapped on the window-pane—
Did you not hear it? 'Twas very plain."
"It was only the beat of the bitter rain."

Somebody spoke to me; did you hear
That low, lone call as it smote the ear?
"Twas the wind that rattled the casement, dear."

"There is somebody there, just back of you,
Beckoning me." "Nay it is not true,
There is nobody here but just us two."

Say, was she right? Was there one that cried?
Was there one that rapped on the pane outside?
Was there one that beckoned her as she died?

REV. EDWARD A. WILSON,
33-1st,
Brooklyn, New York.

In Case of Fire.

The chief of the New York fire department, Mr. Hugh Bopier, has recently given some hints as to what ought to be done by people to save the chances of loss of human life by fire.

Should you hear a cry of "fire," and columns of smoke fill the rooms, above all KEEP COOL.

Keep the doors of rooms shut.
Open windows from the top.
Wet a towel, stuff it in the mouth, breath through it instead of the nose, so as not to inhale smoke.
Stand at a window and get benefit of outside air.
If room fills with smoke keep close to floor and crawl along by the wall to the window.
Do not jump unless the blaze behind is scorching you. Do not even then if the firemen with scaling ladders are coming up the building or are near.
Never go to the roof, unless as a last

Farm and Household.

Food Value of an Egg.

Six large eggs will weigh about one pound. As a flesh producer, one pound of eggs is equal to one pound of beef. About one third of the weight of an egg is solid nutriment, which is more than can be said of meat. There are no bones and tough pieces that have to be laid aside. Practically an animal food, and yet there is none of the disagreeable work of the butcher necessary to obtain it. Eggs at average prices are among the cheapest and most nutritious articles of diet. Like milk, an egg is complete food in itself, containing everything that is necessary for the development of a perfect animal. It is also easily digested, if not damaged in cooking.—'The Hygienic Banner.

Skim Milk for Chickens.

A test of the value of skim milk for chickens was made last year at the Indiana Experimental Station with two lots containing ten Plymouth Rocks and ten Houdans. Each lot was given all they would eat of a mixture of crushed corn, bran and ground oats, 2:1:1. Both lots were also fed cracked bone, cabbage and lettuce and had access to water. The amount of these articles consumed is not recorded. The two lots received the same treatment in every respect except that Lot 2 was given all the skim milk they would eat in addition to the grain ration. The test began July 11 and closed September 5. During the test one chick in Lot 1 died. Lot 1 consumed 179.9 pounds of grain and the average weekly gain per chicken was 2.62 oz. Lot 2 consumed 217.3 pounds grain and 30.4 pounds 'skim milk and the weekly average gain per chicken was 4.46 oz. The following conclusions were drawn: "If skim milk be added to the ration fed to the young chickens it will increase the consumption of the other foods given. The great increase in average gain was coincident with the periods when the greatest amount of skim milk was consumed. Skim milk is especially valuable as a food for young chickens during the hot, dry weather and becomes of great importance as the chickens grow older and the weather becomes cooler."

Timely Dairy Notes.

A cow that can fill the milk pail is all right provided the milk pail is big enough. It takes all kinds of people to make a world, but it does not take all kinds of cows to make up a dairy. Good dairy-men select the best. The man who believes in sheltering pigs, calves and poultry in the same stable with cows is only one step in advance of the peasant who keeps his live stock in a section of his dwelling house. The term "good milk" signifies a great deal. It means that it comes from healthy cows and healthy, nourishing food, and that it is not contaminated by the hands of the milkier, or from other sources after it leaves the udder. If you have a cow that coughs, and tends towards emaciation on good feed, regard her with suspicion, and at once isolate her from the rest of the herd till she can be tested for tuberculosis.

Seed Bed For Onions.

Land where onions are to be grown should always be fall ploughed after at least one year's cultivation since it has been in sod. This will enable the sod to rot, and if it has been top dressed with manure, will turn both the rotted sod and manure to the surface, where repeated freezing and thawing will bring both to fine tilth. It is impossible to grow onions on a newly turned sod, no matter how rich it may be. The seed will start to grow all right, but the rotting of the sod beneath it, will cause the soil above to fall away leaving it full of crevices, letting in air to the tender roots. There should be no deep cultivation in spring where onion seed is to be sown. The finer the soil two or three inches below the surface the better for the crop. That will cause the roots to spread horizontally, growing large, fat onions. If the soil is deep and rich below the seed bed the roots will run down and produce a crop of scallions.

Keep Only First-Class Cows.

The chief difficulty in making dairy farming successful is the great number of cows that do not pay their keep and whose products are always sold at a loss. If one-third of all the cows owned were fattened at once and sold for beef it would remove from the market the surplus butter and cheese, which are now keeping prices too low for profit. Prices might be temporarily a little higher until the stock of the best cows can be made large enough to supply the demand. Then, with prices no higher than they have been and perhaps not so high, all dairymen would make money. Getting rid of the poorest cows will also do away with most of the inferior butter. When a farmer knows that his cows are not paying he grows careless and often uncleanly in the dairy. When his butter is found to be inferior he is apt to blame it all to his luck, and thus, instead of trying to improve, making matters worse. The best way to arouse such farmers to better method is to increase the milk and butter capacity of their cows. When they secure cows that they can feel some pride in they will be likely to take pride in every part of their business. Early Work on Strawberries.

When a mulch is not used on strawberries and especially if the land has not been properly treated the first year, it sometimes becomes necessary to work the ground in the spring, in order to keep it free from weeds. In this case the Michigan station advises that the cultivation should be kept up after the plants are in blossom. Where the hill plants have not been mulched there will be even greater necessity for spring cultivation. Some growers dispense entirely with the mulch, but even though it is not used in the fall the best fruit will only be secured when the plants are mulched in the winter it should be applied in the spring before the fruit has set. It will not only keep the berries clean, but it will be of great value in conserving moisture if the season is dry. Many growers who mulch in the fall find it advisable to cultivate their plants, however, in the spring, and to do this the mulch must be taken off and again replaced after the cultivation has been given. By throwing four or five rows together it can be done with little labor.

Garden Gatherings.

When immature seed is sown the tendency is to produce an earlier and more prolific product, as has frequently been done with tomatoes, but this is carried out at the expense of the ultimate vitality of the stock.

The garden should be ploughed in the spring as soon as the ground is warm enough and pulverized till free from lumps. Do not plough when too wet, as it causes clods. Mark out in rows in order to cultivate with horse; plants should not be hoed.

Farmers should make it an object to have a good garden, one that will supply the family with choice, fresh vegetables from early in the spring until frost. The health of the family will be better, and living expenses less, as the vegetables take the place of less wholesome food, that otherwise would have to be bought with products of the farm.

For early cabbage and tomatoes, the seed should be sown in boxes, and when large enough to transplant, put into pastebord boxes, and these put into the ground. The damp earth will soon rot pastebord. So it will not hinder the growth of the plants, for later use the seeds may be sown out of doors, in a small bed by themselves, and when the garden is put in good shape, may be put in their proper places.

To distribute shrubs singly through a lawn is a mistake. Commonly the effect is bad; the labor of cultivating a space about each shrub is so great that it is rarely continued. A large bed or group of shrubs can be better and more easily cared for; while a single shrub is often interesting for a brief period, a group of shrubs is interesting for months together. If a considerable variety is planted there will be continuous bloom during the season. While the foliage lasts, plants with golden or purple foliage give a continuous effect.

If you want a rhubarb bed that will last, dig a trench 18 inches wide and two feet deep, nearly filling same with well-rotted manure. Get what is commonly known as the medium or wine plant, and set it in the trench with sufficient soil for the bed and covering. Do not let it produce over one seed stock to each root and that not oftener than once in four years. This much seeding seems to improve the stalks after the following year, but if more is allowed the roots will soon decay. A neighbor set his rhubarb 18 years ago, and it is fine every season. The above was his plan. Small roots of horseradish set out top end up, will produce large, solid roots the next spring, never set more than will be used, as the second season's crop will be tough and hollow.—Montreal Witness.

The Old Woman's Sermon.

A carping old woman once said to her pastor: "Dear me, ministers mak' muckle ado about their hard work; but what's two bits of sermons in the week ta' mak' up! I could do it myself."

"Weel, Janet," said the minister, good humoredly, "let's hear you try it."

"Come awa' in a text then," quoth she.

He repeated with emphasis, "It is better to dwell in the corner of the housetop than with a brawling woman and in a wide house."

Janet fired up in a minute. "What's that ye say, sir? Dae ye intend anything personal?"

"Stop! stop!" broke in her pastor, 'you would never do for a minister.'

"And what for no?" said she. "Because, Janet, you come over soon to the application."—Christian Budget.

ST. JOHN LETTER.

A little more than a week ago a nephew of King Humbert of Italy made his will, bade his friends good bye, and started for Norway and the polar regions, promising his friends that he would meet them in Rome, June 1, 1900, with relics of Andree, the Arctic explorer.

It is gratifying to know that the St. John Relief and Aid Society is still able to pay its officers salaries out of the money sent to the fire sufferers twenty-two years ago.

A good many weddings are on the tapis and H. S. Cruickshank, the florist, is flooded with orders for bridal bouquets.

Sweet peas and nasturtiums in the old burial ground are well advanced; the former are four or five inches high.

Fred Smiler, an employe of the Electric Co., while adjusting a street light last Wednesday, fell to the ground, a distance of thirty feet, and is expected to recover from his injuries.

Joseph Sentill, formerly of this city, died at Victoria, B. C., a few days ago aged 92 years. He left here for the Pacific coast alone about 12 years ago, his family having preceded him, and on the day of his departure, the writer published a sketch of his life in a local newspaper.

The largest cargo of lumber, 3,487,170 feet, ever shipped from this port was taken by the steamer Bavaria which sailed for Liverpool last Saturday.

A weakening in the London tea market is reported and it is thought that normal prices will be the result in a short time. Molasses is stronger and is quoted to-day at prices ranging from 28 to 34 cents.

Sugars are also stronger having advanced yesterday 10 cents per 100 pounds. Broom corn is still going up and another advance of 25 cents per doz. on broms is anticipated. New cheese is quoted at 12 cents.

George S. DeForest & Sons have received from Germany a large invoice of scrubbing, blacking and stove brushes which they are able to sell at prices much below those charged for goods of domestic manufacture.

EDWARD EDWARDS. St. John, May 13.

Railway Horror.

READING, Pa., May 12.—Shortly before 10 o'clock tonight a collision of passenger trains occurred in the Philadelphia and Reading station, six miles below Reading. The express train which should have left here at 3.30 p. m. from Philadelphia was behind schedule time in leaving and stopped at Exeter for orders. A special from Harrisburg bearing excursionists who had attended the Hantraft monument unveiling at the capital, left here twenty minutes later than the express train, and at Exeter, while proceeding at a rapid speed, crashed into the express. Several cars of the express train were wrecked, and a number of persons are reported killed.

The number of dead is fully 25 and the injured 50. The first train ploughed through three cars of the forward train, completely wrecking them. Eight dead were brought here at 1 a. m. A score are under the debris. A train load of wounded were brought to the hospitals here. Great excitement prevails throughout the city. The railroad officials offer no explanation of the accident. The coroner will institute investigations at once. Returning passengers at 1.30 a. m. say the scenes around the wreck are of the most fearful description.

Because it Cures.

"Yes," said Mrs. John McKeen who keeps a general store at Kingsthorpe, Y. Co., "we sell more of Cook's Sure Cough Cure than all our other cough balsams combined; in fact we can only sell it, after a person once purchases a bottle. It has got the name in this locality of giving relief to a cough or cold where nothing else will." This old English Remedy is sold by all dealers at 25 cents per bottle. Large Bottle.

That Book Agent.

The Pastor. "Good morning, Bro. Roberts, what makes you look so sad this morning?"

Bro. R. "I have come to say goodbye, Mr. Brown, for I am out of employment, and must go back to England."

The Pastor. "Go back to England to get employment, what nonsense! I can get lots of work for a young man like you in this country."

Bro. R. "Well, I have hunted high and low and can get nothing, so what am I to do?"

The Pastor. "I tell you what you can do, Bro. Roberts, take an agency for a good book, for there is money in canvassing."

Bro. R. "Do you think I would stoop to book canvassing?"

The Pastor. (Smile what warmly.) "Stoop to canvassing? Better men than you have canvassed. I put myself through College with a book prospectus, and I know many successful men who got their start in life as canvassers. My youngest son is canvassing now, and he makes enough at the business to pay his way at the University. I induced a man who failed in business, to take up canvassing, and he made enough money to start business again. I gave the same advice to a young mechanic, who was out of employment, and he is now a prosperous Publisher. Why some of the biggest men in history have been book agents! 'Stoop to canvassing,' you are very fortunate that you can step up to it. I advise you to write to the Bradley-Garretson Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. for this firm publishes fast selling books, and I know many who are doing well in its employ."

Bro. R. "I am sorry for speaking as I did for I was certainly wrong. I will write the Bradley-Garretson Company and see what they have to offer, and will postpone my departure in the meantime."

Ten Dollars for a Life.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 11.—Judge Robertson, of the Superior Court, has handed down an interesting decision in the case of the estate of Antonio Petrillo against New York, New Haven, and Hartford.

Petrillo was a laborer, who was killed while at work on the road near Thomaston. His estate sued to recover $5,000, the maximum damages which can be recovered for a death in this State. The attorneys for the railroad set up the claim that Petrillo was killed instantly, and, as there was no suffering between the time he was struck by the train and his death, that only nominal damages could be recovered according to the Connecticut statute.

As Petrillo was dead when assistance reached him the plaintiff could not prove that he suffered pain. Judge Robinson therefore awarded Petrillo's estate $10, which is the smallest amount of damages ever paid for a human life in this State.

Peace Conference.

BERLIN, May, May 11.—The Tageblatt to-day publishes the result of an investigation among a number of leading German professors, relative to the subject of the peace conference which begins next week at the Hague. The majority of those interviewed, express the belief that the conference will be without practical importance.

Prof. Mommsen, the jurist and historian, and Professor Kuno Fischer, professor of philosophy in Heidelberg University, ridicule the conference. Prof. Laband says that he expects no material results. Prof. Wedekamp expresses the opinion that such conferences can have no results before public opinion the world over. He endorses the principle of arbitration.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were unharmed and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and with two bottles has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Latz." Thus writes W. C. Haunick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Sold by all Druggists at 50 cents and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

Bloodthirsty Michigan Man.

HOWARD CITY, Mich., May 11.—Joseph Harvey last night killed his wife, his uncle, Robert Pierson, and his grandmother. He also fatally wounded his three months' baby and his father-in-law, John Loganslayer, and finally shot himself, inflicting a wound which is expected to prove fatal. Harvey's uncle and grandmother live a mile north of town. The murderer went there last evening. He asserts that Pierson, his uncle, was quarreling with his grandmother and that he interfered; that thereupon Pierson stabbed and killed the old lady, aged 70, and that he (Harvey) retaliated by shooting his uncle dead. After shooting Pierson, Harvey stabbed him three times. Harvey then returned to his home two miles southwest of the town. Arriving there, he shot his wife twice, killing her. He then fired at his three months' old baby, the ball going into its arm. Next Harvey entered his father-in-law's room and shot him twice, inflicting, however, no fatal injuries. He then turned the revolver on himself, shooting himself in the neck. Harvey's wife, when attacked, was sitting up with the body of her mother, who died yesterday. The Pierson home presents a horrible appearance. Pierson's body was found in a chair and that of the old lady on the floor, clad in a night dress. There were signs of a desperate struggle between Harvey and his grandmother, but no signs of a fight between the two men. Harvey, himself to-day informed the sheriff of the murders at Pierson house. He was then arrested for murdering his wife. He has nothing to say about the tragedy at his own home. There are strong threats of lynching.

It transpires that Harvey on reaching the house of his late mother-in-law, said nothing about his terrible acts at Pierson's house. He offered to sit up by the corpse of his wife's mother. Accordingly, the others retired. It was four o'clock this morning when Harvey went to his wife's room and killed her, and attempted to slay his baby and his father-in-law. He also fired at Miss Labor, a teacher who boarded in the house, but without effect. Harvey's wound is serious, but he is certain to recover. The cause of his horrible work has not been determined.

Russia Breaks Faith.

PEKIN, May 12.—The Chinese Government, in acknowledging the receipt of a communication regarding the Anglo-Russian agreement as to spheres of interest in China, expressly declares that the acknowledgment in nowise implies acquiescence. Immediately after communicating the agreement, the Russian Minister, M. de Giers, demanded the right to build a railway connecting the Manchurian system with Peking. This is regarded as the utmost importance.

Pure and Clean Temples.

Now is the Time to Cleanse and Tone the Body.

Paine's Celery Compound Rebuilds and Strengthens Broken-down and Weakened Physical Frames.

On the street, in assemblies and where men and women do most congregate, the quick and critical eye can discern weakness, decay and disease.

The cruel signs of disease and death are not confined to any particular class or age. There are prominent victims in youth and full age, and this is truly the season when the army of diseased people shows up in full strength.

The faces of men and women in the month of May are the true indicators of health and disease. Pale, sallow faces, cheeks bloated and full of pimples and nasty eruptions, nervous twitchings of the limbs and unsteady gait, all tell of weakness and growing disease.

In the great majority of cases poisoned blood is the prime cause of trouble. For such as suffer from blood and skin diseases, Paine's Celery Compound is their true restorer—their only salvation. It is the greatest of all blood purifiers known to medical men; its marvellous cures are the truest and best proof of its efficacy.

For nervousness, dyspepsia, headaches, biliousness and liver complaint that so quickly wear out nervous energy and life, Paine's Celery Compound stands far ahead of all other medicines as a curative agent.

It is just now that Paine's Celery Compound can best show its power over disease and weakness. A bottle or two used before the hot weather comes on, will certainly effect a most blessed change for every man and woman whose blood is foul, impure and sluggish.

A Brutal Affair.

HALIFAX, May 12.—Two naval deserters were detected boarding a steamer yesterday bound for New York by the military police, who handed them over to the naval authorities. One of the deserters is eighteen years old and the other nineteen. The younger was sentenced to twelve lashes with the birch and the other to twenty-four lashes. The birch had been stepped for twenty-four hours and was in excellent order when the boys were ordered on deck. The second stroke of the lash brought blood from the younger lad, and not withstanding that the boy suffered great pain he received the full sentence. The older boy also got his full complement. His back was covered with blood before the last stroke of the birch had been administered. Those who witnessed the lashing say it was one of the most brutal affairs that ever had been witnessed on a war vessel in Halifax.

Terrible Tornado.

EAGLE PASS, Texas, May 12.—A tornado struck the mining town of Hondo, in the Salinas Valley, Mexico. Lawrence McKinnon, one of the mine superintendents, was killed and ten men were severely injured. A large boarding house, railroad station, store and buildings connected with the mines were almost entirely demolished. A string of freight cars were carried several hundred yards out on the prairie. Eight bodies have been recovered and others are supposed to be in the ruins. General Manager Johnson and Superintendent of Transportation Dickey, of the International, have gone to the scene of the disaster with a relief train. Full particulars are expected on their return.

Hondo is about 75 miles southwest of Eagle Pass. It is the centre of C. P. Huntington's Mexican coal and coke industries.

Local Happenings.

Items of Local Interest Carefully Prepared by the Gazette's "Man About Town."

SCHOOL, BLANKS.—Mr. Angus Deagle Chapman, has for sale District School Assessment Lists and School Tax Notices.

NOTICE.—Probate Court, Queens County, will be held on the 2nd Wednesday in each month until further notice.

BARN BURNED.—A barn owned by Wm. J. Farris of Waterborough, Queens Co., was burned a few days ago, along with four head of cattle and a quantity of hay. The property was not insured.

NOT GUILTY.—The case of the Queen vs. John Gurrell for killing cattle was tried before Judge McLeod at the Sanitary Circuit Court on Tuesday. The Jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

FOUND DEAD.—The people of Oranmore were startled on Saturday morning when it was stated that a man was found dead on the road side. It proved to be Ed. Kington an Englishman 74 years of age, and death resulted from natural causes.

A GOOD INDUCEMENT.—The Farm Journal is chock full of gumption and it has the largest circulation of any farm paper in the world. It is good everywhere. We offer it for a short time as a prize to advance-paying subscribers to the QUEENS COUNTY GAZETTE a year ahead and the Farm Journal five years, all for the price of our paper alone.

INTERRED AT PETERSVILLE.—The body of Mrs. J. Conly was conveyed to Petersville, Queens Co., on the C. P. R. Tuesday afternoon for interment at that place. Before the remains left St. John they were taken to Holy Trinity church, where the burial service was said by Rev. J. J. Walsh. A number of friends and relatives followed the hearse to the Union depot.—Sun.

GOOD PRICE FOR LOGS.—Logs seem to be in brisk demand at Springhill just now, says the Fredericton Herald. Already quite a number of rafts have been brought down and were quickly disposed of by the owners at prices ranging from $7.50 to $8.10 per thousand for spruce. Last year spruce logs sold at Springhill as low as $6.50 per thousand. Hemlock logs are now worth from $3.50 to $4.—Sun.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—While at work with Walsh's drive on the Miramichi on the 29th of April, Woodbury Smith, of Burton met with a very painful accident. It seems he was struck by a brov of logs, and remained unconscious for more than two hours. His jaw bone was broken by the shock and blood oozed from his ears and nostrils. It took two days to get the injured man out of the woods during which time he suffered terribly from his injuries.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.—War or no war I am still in the front rank in fitting trim, having lately secured the services of Mr. J. A. McKinnon, a late graduate of Mr. J. Mitchell's cutting school of New York. I am now fully prepared to give my numerous customers a first class fit, workmanship unexcelled, style perfect, and prices that will astonish you. I respectfully invite you to call and inspect my large stock, no trouble to show goods and give you quotations at Joseph Walker's, Merchant Tailor, second door above People's Bank, Queen Street, Fredericton, West End.

AT INDIANTOWN.—Indiantown is beginning to look as it did four weeks ago. The water is down below the May Queen wharf and by Monday morning the Star Line wharf will be dry. The total fall since the height of the freshet is now three feet and a few inches. Immense cargoes of freight are going up river, especially to Woodstock. The freight consists chiefly of meal, flour, seed and hardware. The Aberdeen has been making regular trips from Fredericton to Woodstock and it is expected that she will be able to travel the route much longer than for many years past.—Globe.

For good substantial Tea value Union Blend stands first.

WATER FALLING.—The water in the Creek is falling very fast. It has fallen over four feet during the past week.

RAIN WANTED.—The farmers are in great need of a rain. The ground is quite dry and the crops that are in are suffering on account of the drought.

CIRCUIT COURT.—The Circuit Court met on Tuesday afternoon. Judge Landry presided. There was no business before the court so it adjourned.

SERVICES IN THE R. C. CHURCH.—Rev. Father McDermott will hold service in the R. C. Church, Mill Road, on Sunday morning, May 21st., at 10 o'clock.

ROMULES JR.—The stallion Romuleus Jr. will travel through the Parishes of Cambridge, Waterborough, Chipman, Johnson, Hampton and Gagetown during the present season.

A NICE PAIR.—Daniel Brooks was surprised the other morning when going to the barn to find that one of his cows had two calves during the night. They are marked exactly the same.

A COLD WAVE.—On Sunday the weather turned quite cold and Sunday night there was quite a heavy frost. The frost did considerable damage to gardens and where the fruit trees were in blossom have blighted them.

LAD TO REST.—The funeral of the late John Benoit took place from his late residence to the Methodist Cemetery, on Wednesday afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock. Rev. Neil McLaughlin held service at the home of the deceased and at the grave. A large funeral procession followed the remains to their last resting place. The ball-bearers were Messrs. C. S. Babbit, James Allingham, John Law, jr., Geo. McDermott, Russia Williams and Charles Brooks.

PROBATE COURT.—Wednesday was a busy day at Judge Ebbett's court. The will of John J. Camp, late of the parish of Cambridge, was probated. Wellington Camp and Geo. N. Camp are the Executors. The will of Hazen Starkey, late of the Parish of Johnson, was probated. C. F. Cody, Executor. Letters of administration were granted to Robert F. Davis in the estate of William Bates, late of Cambridge and Henry J. DuVernet, late of Gagetown.

MISSIONARY WORK.—Miss Crombie, under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society, gave a very entertaining and enthusiastic address in the Methodist church, here, on Thursday night last. Miss Crombie has been in Japan for several years and her address was on the method of their work there. She reports that the work is advancing very rapidly and that Christianity is gaining ground in Japan. The choir of the Methodist church rendered some selections during the evening. The Rev. Neil McLaughlin occupied the chair.

THE DRIVES.—Word comes from Boiestown to-day that the main South West Miramichi drives are coming along splendidly; logs are running steadily and thickly past Boiestown; that the water is at a good pitch, and lots of snow yet in the woods, and that the probabilities are that the Miramichi drives will all be brought out early and without difficulty. On the Nashwaak, Gibson's drives are now down to the settlement, and in two days more will be in the booms. This is said to have been an exceptionally favorable season for stream driving on the Nashwaak, and never before have Gibson's logs been brought out in so short a time and at so little expense.—The Star and the Gleaser.

BURGLARY AT MONCTON.—Between Saturday night and Monday morning the Parishes of the First Baptist Church, Moncton, was burglarized, and it is reported that $100 in cash and other articles were stolen. Besides the money some clothing and a gun valued by Rev. Mr. Hinson as a relic, were stolen. Officer Miller arrested George Cameron and Jack Watson, and Officer Scott arrested Pat Elliott. They were later released, but on Wednesday two young men Jack Hurley and Anthony Gallant, were arrested at the home of Gallant's mother, where a lot of stolen goods were found stored, including some of the articles stolen from the Baptist parsonage. Hurley has made a confession accusing Charles Seath and Ned Howe with burglarizing the parsonage and stealing $150. He says they skipped to St. John and lost the money there.

A SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT.—One of the most distressing accidents imaginable occurred Friday afternoon between two and three o'clock at Upper Woodstock. Two sons of Colby Henderson were fishing at the mouth of Lane's Creek from a very steep bank. Russell, aged eight, lost the grip on his pole, and in trying to reach it again fell into the creek, which is very deep at that point. Ray, aged ten, jumped in to save his brother. A little chap named Milton Brown was with them. He tried to reach one of the boys with his pole, but seeing he could do nothing ran for help. As soon as the residents heard the news they rushed to the spot, but both boys had sunk. They began dragging for the remains, and those of Russell were found about seven Friday evening. They are dragging for the other. Mr. Henderson is working in New York. His wife and three children are living here.

SHAD.—The first shad seen here this season were caught by Richard Reid, on Monday night in Hart's Lake.

COUNTY COURT.—The May term of the Queens County Court will meet at the Court House, here, on Tuesday next, the 23rd inst. It is expected that the Court will adjourn from Tuesday to Thursday as Wednesday is the Queen's Birthday and there are two cases, from the Lake, to come before the court.

HORSE NOTES.—We have been favored lately by some fine horses travelling around. The Laird is on the road again and is looking fine. His three and four year old colts have made him famous. Most of his colts have sold at high rates—none less than $100, and as high as $125. Some are asking $150. The Laird's colts are all good sized, with good action and splendid spirits.

MARRIED AT ORANMORE.—A quiet but a very pleasant wedding took place at Oranmore on Monday evening, May 8th, when Mr. Parker McMin and Miss Annie Kimball were united in the bonds of wedlock. A goodly company of the nearest relatives were present to witness the ceremony which took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Marvin Nason. After the marriage service a bounteous repast was enjoyed by those present. It is needless to say that the groom looked very happy and the bride charming. The young couple are very popular wherever well known. The ceremony was conducted by their pastor Rev. N. McLaughlin.

SERVICE AT OTTAWA.—On Sunday afternoon last the Rev. N. McLaughlin of this place accompanied by R. T. Babbit, Esq., drove down to Ottawa and preached to the colored congregation there. Several of the young folk from here also drove down to attend the service. Mr. McLaughlin took for his discourse the parable of the prodigal son which was listened to with intense interest and with hearty response. At the close of the regular preaching service several of those present spoke with a great deal of fervor, and evidently knew experimentally the vital truths of the Christian religion. Mr. McLaughlin says that as regards melody and business in singing his colored congregation surpasses any congregation of white people he has ever preached to.

MARRIED.—McMIN-KIMBALL.—Marrried at the residence of Mrs. Marvin Nason, Oranmore, Sunbury Co., May 8th, by the Rev. N. A. McMin, Mr. Parker A. McMin to Miss Annie Kimball, both of the above places.

JOHN BROWN, OF A Voice from the Sea.

BY HARRIETTE MURRAY.

WRITTEN FOR THE QUEENS COUNTY GAZETTE.

In the year 184— a lad about eleven years of age left his home in London, and worked his way to Liverpool. Friendless, homeless and hungry, he wandered about the docks, sometimes receiving a few pence for some service rendered. With this money he would buy a bun or a piece of bread, and in this way he kept himself from starvation. At night he crept into some sheltered corner, and gathered his ragged and shivering limbs, slept the sweet sleep of childhood.

The boy's forlorn appearance attracted the attention of Captain Love, as kind hearted a man as ever commanded a vessel.

"Well, my lad," he said one day, when he came across John Brown, (as we will call him), "do you like to look at ships? I have noticed you around here for some days."

John looked up into the pleasant face of the old captain, pulled off his cap, and replied: "Yes, sir; I like to look at the ships."

"Would you like to sail in one?" asked the captain.

"Yes, sir; if I could get a chance," was the reply.

"Where is your home?" "I have none, sir."

"Are your father and mother living?" "My father died two years ago; my mother is married again, sir."

"What made you leave your mother?" "The tears rushed to the boy's eyes; he drew his sleeve across his face and brushed them quickly away."

"Because, sir, they thought I was old enough to make my own living, and there were other little ones to feed."

"Did you tell your mother you were going?" "I did, sir, and she gave me this," he pulled a small Bible from his pocket, "and made me promise to read some in it every night before I went to sleep."

"And have you kept your promise?" "No, sir. I have had no light to read by; but, I always kiss it, because my mother gave it to me."

The captain's blue eyes became moist, and he said, huskily: "She gave you a good compass to steer by, my lad."

His thoughts flew back to a similar promise given to his mother, who now sleeps beneath the green sod in a lonely graveyard in the Highlands of Scotland.

He walked away a few steps, then came back.

"Well, my lad, I will take you on board my ship, as cabin boy, if you will promise me to steer your life by that book in your hand."

John's grim face brightened.

"Indeed, I will promise anything you may ask, sir, if you will let me go with you."

"Well, come along, lad."

When they reached the ship, the captain ordered the cook to give the lad something to eat.

"In the name of our Neptun," exclaimed the cook, looking at the boy, "what is the Captain going to do with such a dirty landlubber as yourself?"

John's eyes twinkled in his dirty face.

"I didn't ask him," he answered.

"Well, go and wash, you young spalpeen, or you will never find the way to your mouth, through so much dirt."

"Where will I wash? Will I go to the big wash tub?" asked John, with a comical look upon his face.

"Where is the big wash tub, you spalpeen?" and the cook eyed him with astonishment.

"The one the ship sails in," replied the boy, without a smile.

It struck the ludicrous side of Pat's nature. He could appreciate a joke, and had the warm heart of his nation under a rough exterior. A broad smile spread over his pock-marked face, and looking at John, he said: "You deserve your dinner for that."

From that time John Brown had a good friend in Pat Mahony.

"I wonder what the captain meant when he said this was a good compass to steer by, he thought to himself."

He opened the Book and the first words his eyes rested upon were these: "My son, if sinners entice thee, consent thou not, 'for their feet run to do evil.' He closed the Book, put it back into his pocket, undressed and crept into the berth, repeating: "If sinners entice thee, consent thou not."

"I wonder who it was that said that. How did he know that Sam Perkins coaxed me to steal apples for him. I am glad I didn't do it, for that would have been a sin. I do not know what use they make of a compass. I will find out and then I will know what the captain meant."

Thus his thoughts ran on until drowsiness overpowered him, and he fell into a profound slumber.

How long he slept he did not know. The bustle and tramping of feet on deck awoke him. Starting up he rubbed his eyes and tried to collect his drowsy senses.

Springing out of the berth he looked around for his clothes. They were nowhere to be seen. His first thought was that someone had stolen them. He sat down, feeling very much as if he would like to cry. Presently the rough face of a cook appeared.

"Are ye awake, ye spalpeen; or, are ye going to slape till the day of judgment?"

"Oh! Pat, someone has stolen my clothes."

"Be gorra! he was a decent thafe, thin, for he left ye bether ones, and ye bether get into the new togs as quick as ye can, if ye want to say good bye to our old England, for the ship is on its way across the big wash tub."

"Where are my clothes, Pat? Please tell me."

"And shure it was meself that threw them overboard for the mermaids to dress their babies in."

"Oh! Pat, did you take my Bible out of the pocket of my coat?"

"I did; and you will find it under the new togs. What do ye think the mermaids and sharks would do with the blessed Book, without a priest to teach them?"

Pat disappeared, and John dressed as quickly as he could. Kissing the Bible, he put it into a clean pocket. In another he stowed all his worldly goods, consisting of a one-blade jack knife, a rusty screw, a piece of slate pencil, some twine, a marble, and a small mouth organ.

These articles comprised John Brown's stock in trade, when he started to cross the Atlantic to seek his fortune in the new world.

When John presented himself upon the quarter deck, dressed in a sailor's suit of navy blue, and holding the new cap in his hand, the captain smiled, and said, kindly: "Aye, my lad, now you are sailing under the right colors. Go and look around the ship, until I get out through these vessels."

Everything was new and novel to our young sailor. The tall masts, with their sails outlined against the sky, and the sailors up in the rigging, shaking out or shortening sail, fascinated him. He longed to climb up and stand beside them.

Before many weeks had passed he could climb the rigging, splice a rope, or tie a bailing, as fast as any sailor on the vessel.

The crew were a nice crowd of men. Captain Love would not employ men of bad habits. He treated his men well, and in return expected every man to obey his orders cheerfully.

He gave them no grog, but supplied them with plenty of hot coffee with their hard tack. If his men didn't like his treatment, they could seek employment elsewhere. Very few of his men, after making one voyage, were willing to leave him.

He treated John with all the tenderness of a father—always ready to answer the questions that John was constantly plying him with. The boy's thirst for knowledge, especially navigation, pleased the captain.

When the captain was examining the charts, he had a habit of speaking his thoughts aloud. John would stand beside him while he went over the latitudes and longitudes, capes, rocks, etc.

Occasionally he would stop with his finger upon some place, and, looking into the boys eager face, would ask: "Aye, my lad, can you get the soundings?"

"It is deep, but I think I can, sir," the boy would reply.

Then the captain would turn to the chart again, and after a while ask the same questions over again.

In this way, John soon got quite a knowledge of navigation. His duties were light and he devoted all his leisure moments to study.

In those days vessels were not built for speed as they are now. It was four weeks before Captain Love, with his good ship Flora, reached her destination, St. John, where the owners of the ship resided.

Mr. W— one of the owners, became very much interested in our young hero, and would like to have adopted him, for he had no son of his own.

One day Mr. W— said to the captain: "Let me have that boy," pointing with his cane to John, who was going up the rigging with the agility of a cat.

"Na, na," replied the captain, "I would any like to lose the lad."

"I can do better for the boy than you can," replied Mr. W—

"I doubt it, Mr. W—" said the captain. "He is a real, born sailor, and you would only spoil his life, if you tried to make anything else out of him. But when I set the lad taught, you can give him a ship to sail, Mr. W—" and a broad smile overspread the captain's kindly face.

CHAPTER II.

St. John, at that time, was a busy, stirring little, city. It had not begun to spread out into the suburbs, as it is now. Shipbuilding was carried on quite extensively, and some very fine vessels were launched from the yards.

Captain Love discharged the ballast, took in a load of timber, and was again ready for sea.

John had received many flattering offers to remain in the busy little city. He refused them all, and again sailed away with Captain Love.

In fact the captain could not part with him. The boy's friendly condition had first touched his sympathy; then his cheerful, sunny disposition, together with his strict honesty and truthfulness, had won his heart. Or it might be that he saw something in the lad's face that reminded him of his own dear son—now lying somewhere in the trackless ocean. But be that as it may, his interest in John increased. He made Jack, as he sometimes called him, study navigation with him as a tutor.

Upon one occasion, after they had spent some time in talking and the captain had been explaining the uses of the charts and compass, John suddenly asked: "Will you please explain to me, sir, how my Bible is like these charts?"

The old captain leaned back in his chair, rested one elbow upon the table, and his head upon his hand. A look of tenderness came into his eyes, and he said slowly: "I don't know, lad, that I can explain it to you, so that you can get the soundings, for I have not studied that line of navigation as much as I should. This," laying his hand upon the charts, "you see, shows the islands, reefs, rocks, shoals and head lands. They are all marked so plain, we cannot make a mistake, if we study them well. The compass points due north, and by it we can steer our vessel across a trackless sea. That, my lad, is one line of navigation. This," taking up the Bible, "is another line. Every child, when it is born, is launched out upon the sea of life, and without a chart or compass to guide them, they would soon be shipwrecked upon some dangerous place along the coast. God, our own great Captain, has a bill of sale of every vessel that crosses the sea of life; and feels a deep interest in their welfare. So He gave the human race this Book for their chart and compass with His sailing orders wrote out plain. Some of them He wrote with His own finger. He tells us what freight to take on board, and to see that the goods are stamped with blood red, for that is His color. Can you get the soundings of what I am saying, lad?"

"Aye, aye, sir. Are there many dangerous places?"

"Aye, lad; the coast is full of them. Men go on without studying the chart until they are stranded upon some shoal or dashed to pieces upon some rock, and their souls go to perdition."

"Have the rocks a name, sir?"

"Aye, the names are all wrote out plain in this Bible-chart."

"What is the name of the most dangerous one, sir?"

"It is called 'Intemperance'. There are more wrecks upon that rock every year than any other upon this voyage of life. It sparkles and gleams and looks beautiful. People shout and sing in their glee until they are caught in the breakers and dashed on the rocks—every wave beating on every timber of manhood, until demons clutch them, and they sink into hell."

The boy shivered.

"Steer away from that rock lad," resumed the captain. "I came very near being shipwrecked upon it myself, once. I did not study the Bible chart in my young days, and like many foolish people, thought I could steer my own vessel. So I sailed madly on, without taking any reckoning, until I heard the roar of the breakers, the shrieks and cries of the wrecked creatures, as they were being dashed to pieces."

"And what did you do, sir?"

"Aye, lad; I brought my ship about, and made a tack off shore, and since then I have studied the Bible chart often, and keep my vessel in the middle of the channel where the tide runs straight into the port of Heaven."

"And what becomes of the vessels after they reach port, sir? Do they ever come back?"

"Na, na, my lad. Not one ever returns to tell, but the Bible chart has it all down plain. The great Captain examines the papers and invoices to see if they are the goods He ordered, and to see if the captain has obeyed His sailing instructions."

"And if they have not obeyed them, what will He do to them?"

The captain looked into the boy's eager, questioning face a moment, then said, sadly: "The great Captain, with a wave of His hand, will say, 'Depart from Me; you would not obey My sailing orders.' Then they are launched out upon a sea of fire, where there are no soundings, no harbors, no shores."

"And what does the great Captain do with the vessels that have the right kind of goods on board, sir?"

The captain's face brightened.

"It is wrote down in this chart book. I will read it: 'Well done, good and faithful servant. Thou hast obeyed My orders. Enter into thy rest.' Then the vessel is changed, and becomes pure white with riggings of wrought gold, and launched out upon a sea, the waters of which are clear as crystal, where there are no dead seeking to be taken. Where the bright and morning Star is always in view; no vapor to obscure the sight; no storms, no hurricane sweep across that sea."

"I am sixty years old, my lad, and will soon reach the great Captain's Harbor. I think my papers are good, for they are stamped with His blood red seal. You are just beginning the voyage across life's dangerous sea. Study well the Bible chart, my lad, and steer your vessel by the directions wrote down, therein. Keep out from land for the coast is strewn with wreckage."

"Aye, aye, sir," said the boy, with his eyes full of tears. "I will do the best I can, sir."

The ship reached Liverpool and discharging the lumber took in freight for the West Indies; reached that port in safety and discharging took in a cargo for St. John. Thus they continued to sail from port to port until five years had passed.

John had grown tall and broad shouldered, and as leathery as a young sapling. The captain had always treated him as a son, and under his tuition, he had made rapid progress in the study of navigation, until he knew quite as much as his teacher, and the old captain felt proud of his tall, handsome pupil.

John often looked back to those five years. They ever remained a green spot in his memory. Under the captain's untiring energy, he learned to sail a ship across trackless oceans. He learned to navigate his own life over a more dangerous sea.

One day, upon their return voyage to St. John, when they had been looking over the charts for some time, the captain looked up into John's face with a smile, and said: "Jock, you know quite as much as your master. I am going to retire and give the command of the ship to you."

"I would not care to sail in the ship, sir, if you were not master, for you have been both father and friend to me, sir, always."

A broad smile overspread the captain's face.

"Aye, aye, lad, and when we get into port, you shall have the place of first mate. How would you like that?"

"A thousand thanks, sir," replied John, his face all aglow with pleasure. "It has been my highest ambition to fill the place of mate under you, sir."

"Aye, aye, lad," and the captain looked pleased.

Upon arriving in St. John, the captain's first care was to have John duly installed first mate of the ship Flora.

They took in a load of lumber and again set sail for England. The captain took his wife and daughter, a girl of thirteen, and the idol of her father's heart. She was small for her age, and had an abundance of long, brown curls, that rejoiced in their freedom, large, blue eyes that were ever changing in expression. A well shaped mouth, with an even set of white teeth. She possessed her father's determined will, as well as his kind heart.

Follower as a young kitten, ever upon the watch for some new object to tease, finding the opportunities on shipboard limited, she tried to work off her jubilant feelings upon her doting old father, who submitted to her pranks with the patience of a martyr.

She would like to have victimized the handsome, young mate, but he paid no attention, whatever, to her advances, going on with his work, and taking no notice of her, until her piqued feelings could stand it no longer.

She jumped into her father's lap one day, knocked off his hat, ruffled his hair with her fingers and at length burst out in an indignant tone: "Who is your lordly mate, papa? He puts on as many airs as if he owned the ship and everyone on board."

The captain threw back his head, and laughed merrily.

"He is my adopted son, and, therefore, he is your brother."

(To be Continued.)

Hobson will be appalled when he hears that Miss Marguerite Lindley has said: "I hope to see the day when kissing is entirely unknown. I wish it could be made illegal. It is not a clean thing to do. It should be discontinued by every thinking woman."

Rise up ye Women that are at Ease
NO WINE AT CALIFORNIA'S INADULT.

In the California senate a bill recently passed by the assembly to give the inaugural ball committee the use of the capital buildings for that function, came up for consideration, and Senator Catter, of Yuba, proposed an amendment providing that no liquor should be used in connection with the ball. Senator Catter's speech is reported by the papers as follows:

"Four years ago I stood upon one of the stairways of the capital and witnessed scenes that would cause any one to blush. Some of the waiters were tipsy, part of the men and women were also tipsy, and the actions of some of them were shameful. Similar scenes occurred in the senate and assembly chambers, which were used by some of the present as drinking booths. These scenes were a disgrace to the state. I understand that $500 is to be expended in the purchase of champagne."

"No," broke in Senator Bettman, of San Francisco, "not champagne, but still wine."

"Well," continued Senator Catter, "$500 worth of 'still wine' would be sufficient to intoxicate every one at the ball. Such scenes of intoxication as those I have mentioned have always occurred at the inaugural balls, and this report should be stopped."

The amendment was carried without a vote in the opposition, and when the ball was given on Jan. 9, nothing stronger than lemonade was served.

WOOLLEY IN THE WEST.

John G. Woolley has just completed a series of thirty-four addresses in Nebraska. With the exception of one, every minister of the Gospel of all denominations has cooperated and made the meetings "union." Churches have been opened and open houses have only been secured on account of the seating capacity being greater. Large audiences greeted Mr. Woolley everywhere. At Crab Orchard, a place of two hundred population, people came for miles until the little M. E. church was filled with five hundred people.

The plan now is to give each state a specified month in which to arrange for Mr. Woolley. "The first to apply will be the first to be served." Iowa is to have February. Mr. Woolley will return to Nebraska in March, and probably give the month of April to Kansas. White-ribboners of the above named states will please note these appointments and take time by the forelock.

THE LIQUOR PARTY AND LOCAL OPTION IN NORWAY.

By Agnes E. Slack.

Almost every day furnishes fresh evidences of the energy and cleverness with which the pro-liquor propaganda is carried on. So great is this energy that within the last few years the propaganda has developed into an international affair, and is worked for the promotion of the interests of the trade throughout the world. Carefully concocted misstatements regarding, say, America or Canada, are largely used, not only in this country, but throughout the whole of our civilized empire, as well as in all the leading countries of the continent of Europe.

What the pro-liquor papers have been calling "the overwhelming victory" of the propaganda everywhere save in Canada. The conditions as to sobriety of the people of France, who "are not driven to drunkenness by your humbugging temperance legislation," is lied about in England, the United States, Canada, Australia and Northern Europe, with complete success and with a triumphant success. The latest bit of falsehood "sent around" by the propaganda is from Norway. Now I have been in Norway, and have a good many friends there, and they are kind enough to keep me posted up with respect to facts connected with the temperance reform in that country.

Temperance people know that two or three years ago a law was passed in Norway which gives to the people of the towns the power to suppress the sale of spirits in their respective municipalities. The communes of Norway have possessed a similar power for half a century, and have prohibited the sale of spirits almost everywhere throughout the rural districts. There are thirty-three municipalities in Norway, and in eight of them the people have already exercised to the fullest extent the option of prohibition which the law allows them. The Gothenburg system was not good enough for them, so they suppressed the saluaries. This was an awkward fact for the liquor people, one of those ill-grounded arguments is that a veto law would be valueless, because it would not be brought into operation; so the edge of the fact, with respect to the action of the municipalities of Norway, had to be turned. The liquor people could hardly deny that the prohibitory law had been extensively adopted, but they saw a way in which it could be made to appear that it had been a failure as regards the mitigation of intemperance. Indeed, they asserted that "its effect was to cause the immediate increase of drunkenness."

Now there may either have been an increase of drunkenness, or there may only have been an increase in the number of arrests for that offense, since the sale of spirits was prohibited. It is, I believe, a fact that in some of the municipalities in which the saluaries have been abolished, this latter has been the case. But it is also a fact that in Christiania, Bergen, and other towns in which the saluaries have not been suppressed, a much greater increase in the number of arrests for drunkenness has taken place than in those in which the saluaries—or spirit-selling companies—have not been permitted to exist. The truth is that throughout the country generally the police were ordered to be much stricter with inebriates than they used to be, and in most places they have been much stricter. Wine and beer continue to be sold freely in those towns of Norway where the spirit companies are prohibited. The suppression of the sale of spirits is a long way short of total prohibition of the liquor trade—which is what the friends of temperance in Norway are working for.

Another part of the assertion of the enemies of prohibition is that what has been done has led to the establishment of "illicit stills," but no proof is ever offered that it has done anything of the kind. What is usually said is that a heavily alcoholized wine, called "ladderin," has been substituted for the prohibited spirits. How, then, should there be such an increased demand for spirits as to lead to the setting up of illicit stills? The outlet for spirits has been diminished, other drinks have been substituted, and the old manufacturers cannot supply an adequate quantity! Such is the theory, and it is so grossly improbable that some evidence of the detection of such stills is surely necessary. It looks effective in a newspaper paragraph to say that illicit stills have been set up in consequence of the prohibition of the sale of spirits. But it is not true. My Norwegian correspondents—who are most careful and accurate people—assure me that diligent inquiries about such illicit stills have been made, and that no trace whatever of them has been found. The statements about them are fragments of the pro-liquor propaganda.

Humorous.

An Appropriate Text.

A little girl who lives up town went to church last Sunday. She is a bright little maiden, and considering her tender age, only 6, she is decidedly intelligent. Her mother has been suffering from the grip and didn't accompany her, and as her father was away from home she went alone.

Whether it was the loneliness of the big pew, or whether the church was poorly heated, mamma wasn't quite sure, but anyway, the little maid came home and declared she was very chilly.

"Tues got so cold while I was sitting there, mamma," she declared. "And so did my fingers and my nose. I don't believe there was hardly a speck of fire in the furnace."

"That was too bad," said mamma; "did the other people seem to suffer, too?"

"Oh, yes, they did," cried the little maid. "They just shivered!"

Then mamma thought she would divert the little maid's attention.

"What was the text, dear?" she asked.

"Can you remember it?"

"I should think I could," was the quick answer; "I can 'member every word of it."

The little maid put her head on one side, and screwing up her face, shrilly intoned:

"Many are cold, but few are frozen!"

And mamma had to admit that it seemed remarkably appropriate.—Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

Ability Recognized.

He was courting the farmer's daughter, but one night he was very forcibly ejected from the house. Later on he made another call.

"Well, sir," said the old farmer indignantly, "what are you doing here again?"

"I thought that the delicate hint I gave you as you left my front door last night would cure you."

And the speaker looked at his caller in a reminiscent way.

"It did," said the young man, as a look of mingled pain and admiration came over his face; "but I thought I would come and ask you if you would like to join our football club."

Useless Extravagance.

They were on their way home from a visit to relatives, when the husband was taken ill, and they had to leave the train and go to a hotel.

"I think I shall die," gasped the husband, as he lay groaning in bed, but his wife was not exactly sympathetic.

"Of all the extravagant, shiftless men!" she said, angrily. "Why can't you wait till you get home to die? Don't you know it will cost a good ten pounds extra if you die here? Don't you let me catch you a-doing it. That's all!" And he didn't.

"What shall I get you for a birthday present?" asked a fond father of his little daughter, who was suffering from tooth-ache.

"I want some teeth like mamma's, that you can take out when they ache," replied the small afflicted one.

Farming in the Maritime Provinces

Differs materially from farming in Ontario and the West. Conditions are different and our markets not the same. A product profitable in those sections would not pay the tillage here, and a suggestion valuable to a westerner, would prove disastrous if followed by our farmers. In subscribing for an agricultural publication it is well to bear this in mind. There's only one paper that treats of farming from a Maritime Province standpoint. It is the last person to choose DASTEL in preference to NOLA. The former was a master of Rhetoric, but his dictionaries will never increase, either in magnitude or weight, the burden which has been laid on the badly galled back of poor "Sufferer."

Now, sir, I think you will agree with me as to the gravity of the charge which, through a misunderstanding on the part of my newly found sister, has been made against me. This is a matter of no small moment to me. It has caused me a great deal of worry. For a few days after reading Miss Alice's communication, I found myself like the Israelites in the time of King Ahab, "halting between two opinions."

Now, Mr. Editor, one word more about "Subscriber" and "Sufferer," and then I will follow the example of my sister, who manifested such an aversion to prolixity. Both of these poets (?) hail from Douglas Harbor. The people of Scotchtown and Douglas Harbor do not believe that either of them belongs here at all. I hope they do not, but if they write again, (which the gods forbid,) they will date their doggerel from their true places.

In conclusion, let me say that I hope my sister Alice will not think hardly of me for writing this disavowal; and, I do not see how she can, especially since I have not been unkind of the injunctive which she laid down and have strictly confined myself to prose.

Thanking you, for space, Mr. Editor, I am, Very respectfully yours, BLACK-HAWK, Scotchtown, May 13th, 1899. Cole's Island.

took a business trip to St. John on Saturday. The J. A. Wholley C. Ltd., which lately received incorporation, have had a meeting of directors and resolved to go on with the business. Their new venture of churn making is being pushed forward and the churns will be on the market in a short time.

The Liberal Conservative Club, of which such great things were predicted, has about given up holding its meetings as has also a far more beneficial organization, the G. F. Hill, of Lowell, Mass., arrived at her cottage on Beulah Camp Grounds on Saturday and will remain through the summer.

Ernest Gorham, while walking through a pasture owned by S. R. Short, of Brown's Flats, found a fox den containing four young foxes, which he left undisturbed. Other parties, hearing of it and wishing to make a capture, went to the place, but found that they had taken their departure.

Nine Drowned. SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., May 14.—The scho. Nelson, deeply laden with a cargo of coal, foundered in Lake Superior, off Grand Marais, last evening and carried down all hands. So far as known here, no one escaped from this, the first disaster of the season, except the captain, a report from Deer Island, Mich., stating the captain was saved.

The Nelson, which is owned by the Mitchell Transportation Co., of Bay City, Mich., was in tow of the steamer A. Folsom, which had the sch. Mary B. Mitchell as a consort. The Folsom and Mitchell turned back and arrived here this afternoon without serious damage. Capt. A. E. White, master of the steamer, at once reported the disaster to the owners. At the time of the disaster the wind was blowing a gale of 50 miles an hour and freezing hard, and the three boats were being coasted with ice, and this, added to their cargo of coal made them ride very low in the water.

The beach at Grand Marais was but four miles under the lee of the boats and the dangerous expedient of turning the tow in the sea and running before the wind for Whitefish Point. Before the turn was finished the Nelson was seen to turn toward the shore and it became evident that the line had parted under the strain or had been cut. Soon it became apparent that she was sinking. There was no chance of rendering any assistance however. The crew of the Folsom had their hands full in taking care of their own craft and the Mitchell. In a few minutes the Nelson threw her stern into the air and sank in 300 feet of water.

The sinking ship disappeared so suddenly that her crew had no time even to lower their yawl boat, which hung on the deck of the steamer. The Folsom and Mitchell show marks of the heavy weather through which they passed. The crew consisted of the following: Capt. Anthony Haghney of Toledo; captain's wife, two-year-old child of Capt. Haghney, Fred Haas, sailor, residence unknown; six sailors, unknown.

The Nelson was formerly one of the creek vessels of the lake fleet and when she first came out in 1866 was considered an extremely large schooner. She measured 766 gross tons and 163 feet long and 32 feet beam.

Papal Bay. WASHINGTON, May 14.—The papal bull issued in Rome within the last few days that the year 1900 shall be a jubilee year throughout the church, is expected here shortly, and will be announced in all churches throughout the country. The issuance of a bull on the subject gives it a special solemnity. It has been the custom to hold jubilees of the church every 25 years, and at one time these were the occasion for the gathering of a great concourse of people at Rome to receive the special dispensations and indulgences allowed during jubilee years. It is expected, however, by the church authorities here that the jubilee next year will be quite generally celebrated throughout the world, thus giving it a more universal aspect, instead of being confined to the gathering there of distinguished churchmen. The jubilee next year is considered more important than that held every 25 years, as it occurs in a new century and comes at a time when Pope Leo is old and very feeble, his ninetieth year having been completed in March.

Another Railway Accident. UTAICA, N. Y., May 13.—The special American express west-bound train crushed into the rear of the south-western special in the Central Hudson yard at 2.50. The Wagner car Paksanket, two express cars and the engine of the moving train were telescoped, derailed and smashed. There were three passengers in the Wagner car. Two escaped, but Mark Nest, assistant superintendent of the Wagner Company, a resident of Buffalo, was badly injured, he died about eight o'clock. Other injuries to persons were confined to bruises and shock from the force of the crash. The wreck immediately caught fire, but the Utica fire department was summoned and prevented conflagration. An investigation is being held as to the responsibility for the accident.

Correspondence. Spicy News Items Gathered by Gazette Correspondents

To EDITOR OF QUEENS COUNTY GAZETTE Sir: A copy of your issue of 25th April has just been sent me. Will you kindly permit me to correct the astonishing and miscellaneous falsehood contained in a paragraph, re. L. J. King and clerk of Baptist church. The facts are these: Lewis J. King who had already forfeited his membership by studiously absenting himself from the church was for this and other reasons justly expelled. His so called license which was merely a kind word in his behalf to sister churches—either to preach or to teach was there and then annulled. Hence, it is needless to say, he has neither countenance or membership here. The letter we gave him and of which he has proved himself quite unworthy, we have notified him to return. It is no longer of any value even should he presume to make use of it.

Respectfully yours, G. A. HAMMOND, Clerk 2nd Kingsclear Church, Hammondville, May 10th, 1899.

Botestown.

May 10.—The very commodious school building which has served the town for many years was completely destroyed by fire on Saturday afternoon. The wind was blowing a gale, and it is supposed that a spark from some quarter alighted upon the roof, as it was there the fire originated. Every effort was made to save the building but to no avail. Some very valuable apparatus, including an excellent library and a good chemical outfit, was saved, but the remainder of the fixtures were destroyed.

Steps are being taken to erect a first class building which will be ready for occupancy in August. In the meantime, Mr. Thorne and his scholars are comfortably located in one of the large rooms in the Forester's Hall.

Boston News.

May 10.—We are having beautiful weather here. Miss Dany Higgins spent last Sunday with Miss Maud Higgins. The members of the I. O. G. T. Lodge will give a concert next Thursday evening in the Independence Hall, Union Square.

The "grippe" seems to have disappeared but smallpox is taking its place as a few cases have been found in this locality.

By. Mrs. E. H. Elliott and Miss Maude Higgins spent last Wednesday in Roxbury, Mass. Miss Lizzie McIntyre was the guest of Miss Florence Tule last evening. Mrs. Johnstone who has been spending a few months in California is expected home soon.

Glorious News Comes from Dr. D. E. Cargile, of Washin, I. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, but her cure is complete and her health is excellent. This shows what thousands have proved,—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys, and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by all Druggists, every bottle guaranteed."

St. John.

May 8.—Your correspondent has had the pleasure of visiting Mr. N. C. Scott's farm on Mahogany Road, and has found that it is a beautiful farm—having all modern conveniences. There is water in all his buildings. It is, without doubt, one of the prettiest farms on Mahogany Road, and being so near the city, it is well worth any one's while to go and see it.

Though the spring is very backward for farming, Mr. James E. Owens, who is foreman for Mr. Scott, tells me he has 45 bushels of oats now sown.

Owing to the fog and rust very few potatoes are grown by the farmers of this place.

Mr. James H. Gallagher, of "Summer Neath," has gone to Boston.

It is expected that this will be a very good summer in St. John.

Your readers are surprised to hear nothing from the Cross Creek gold fields of York, this spring.

The water is very high at Indiantown—the people of Indiantown say the highest since the high freshet. Mr. William Gallagher, of Petersville, is engaged with Mr. Barnhill, of Fairville.

To EDITOR QUEENS COUNTY GAZETTE.

Sir: I trust you will not charge me with any infringement of the rules of courtesy which require us to deal more gently with the weaker sex if I ask for space in the columns of your paper to publicly disclaim the authorship with which I am credited by Alice D.

Let me acknowledge at the outset, however, that her article in the GAZETTE of the 10th inst. was very cleverly done. Were it not that I really expect that she is a lady of the highest order, I would say to her, "Bully for you!"

I read her letter to a number of persons who were gathered together at Douglas Harbor awaiting the arrival of the "May Queen," the other day, and they all laughed loudly at my expense. I heartily congratulate her. But while I can very readily imagine "Subscriber's" amusement at seeing me exasperated for his work, yet the serious disparagement occasioned by Miss Alice's egregious error in believing me to be the author of his hideous rhyme, and still more hideous metres, (argumentum ad ignominiam,) very naturally detracted from my own enjoyment. Mr. Editor, I do not at all object to being called "brother Jack" by your talented lady correspondent. Far from it. I have not the slightest acquaintance with her, have never seen her even in my dreams, but willingly and gladly accept of the relationship which she has very generously thrust upon me, without the slightest misgivings as to the consequences involved therein. Nor do I particularly resent being designated as "Wind-maker, the Big Chief of Indian Point."

I do not feel the least aversion to, but the strongest commiseration for, the poor Indians. I think they have been hardly dealt with at the hands of our more highly favored race. I firmly believe in the grand doctrine of the Brotherhood of Man, and really love a good, honest Indian; for, although his complexion may be a little darker than mine—a fact, for which he is not at all to blame—yet he is my brother, and, if Miss Alice will pardon me, here, also. But, Mr. Editor, when it comes to being charged with conducting the great statesman, orator, and lawyer, with the eminent philologist, I find it more difficult to regain my equanimity. This is more than I can stand. Biographies of both of the great Websters have laid on my table for years, and being interested in the wonderful talents of these men who were so utterly unlike in character and temperament, even though my heart was so hardened (which God forbid) that I wished to crush with a deadfall of dictionaries one whose very name indicated that his punishment exceeded his offense. I would be the very
