Last Ceremonies Connected With Inauguration of King Edward's Reign Took Place Sunday.

QUEEN SMILED BEHIND AN UMBRELLA

Royal Progress Thru London on Saturday Marked by Two Unusual Incidents.

London, Oct. 26.—The last ceremonies connected with the inauguration of the reign of King Edward VII occurred to-day, when the King, accompanied by Queen Alexandra, the Prince of Wales and almost all the members of the royal family, drove to St. Paul's Cathedral and offered up thanks for the recovery of his health.

The weather was rainy, and small crowds marked the royal progress thru the metropolis. At Temple Place the Lord Mayor of London and the corporation met the King and escorted him to the cathedral, where in the nave were gathered several thousand persons, including Premier Balfour, leading members of the nobility, almost all the members of the cabinet and the foreign ambassadors to Great Britain, among whom was Mr. Choate.

The Honorable Artillery Company formed an imposing line, but before the service was over several of the artillery-men had fainted as a result of long standing.

The choir, the chapter and the Bishop of London, the Right Rev. Arthur Ingram, escorted the King and the Queen to the throne under the rood.

There was a full service of the Eucharist followed by a sermon from the Bishop of London, who laid special stress upon the fact that this was the second time in His Majesty's life that he had entered St. Paul's to give thanks for his recovery from a serious illness. At the conclusion of the service the King and Queen were conducted to the altar.

The royal party then returned to the cathedral, where the choir sang a cantata, and the King and Queen were presented with a sword and a banner
by the Lord Mayor.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra made on Saturday the triumphal procession thru London, which was postponed at the time of the coronation owing to the King's illness. The event was marked by two untoward incidents.

A fanatical clergyman was arrested for having a quantity of gunpowder in his possession, with a view to making a bomb attack on the King and Queen as they passed the cathedral.

The second incident was the breaking out of a fire in the choir of the cathedral just after the royal party left the building, which, several firemen declare, had been kindled by while the King was at mass.

FOR THE MASSES.

London, Oct. 26.—To-day's fête was for the benefit of the masses, rather than the display of pomp and show, which was the case at the coronation.

HAZLETON DISTRICT NINE THOUSAND MEN REFUSE TO RETURN TO WORK.

In the Hazleton District Nine Thousand Men Refuse to Return to Work.

SIX THOUSAND MORE MAY GO OUT

President Mitchell Presented With a Gold Badge and Gold Watch By Foreign Element.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Oct. 26.—The situation in the Hazleton, Panther Creek and Mahanoy City districts of the anthracite field is so critical that another large strike is not improbable unless the operators recede from their position. In the Hazleton district nine thousand men refuse to return to work. Near Mahanoy City 800 went on strike Saturday and nine hundred threatened to strike on Monday, while in the Panther Creek Valley the locals are yet to determine whether they shall ask the Executive Board to order a strike of the six thousand men of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company.

The correspondence of The Daily Mail, who is with the force under Col. Swayne, says in a communication to this paper that the Mad Mullah's original idea to hold and fortify Muduz, where he would command the only wells available and compel Col. Swayne to attack him at enormous disadvantage, was a good one, but was spoiled by an unexpected drought and terrible heat, which dried up the wells and killed the Mullah's live stock and ponies by the thousands.

SEUM FOR WHOOPING COUGH.

Brussels Doctor Says He Can Cure the Disease in 10 Days.

London, Oct. 26.—A young Brussels physician says he has discovered the serum of whooping cough, which is injected under the skin in the abdominal region. From the experiments which he has conducted he is confident the injection appears to be quite harmless.

The first effects are apparent about forty-eight hours after the inoculation. The serum produces an early cessation of the coughing fits and a considerable diminution of the normal stage of the illness. If the injection is made immediately on the manifestation of the usual symptoms, the malady can be cured in eight or ten days. The usual course is from six to eight weeks.

HARD COAL $6.50 A TON.

Freshly-Mined Anthracite Sold in New York for That Amount.

New York, Oct. 26.—The first of the freshly mined coal reached New York yesterday and was sold to the public at $6.50 a ton. It came over the Ontario and Western from their mines in Lackawanna County, Pa. It consisted of two trainloads, with a total of 1700 tons. It was split up into 150-ton lots and immediately distributed among the trade.

The man who got the first consignment was Henry Berghorn, a Harlem dealer. He was selected by Dickson & Edley, sales agent of the Ontario and Western, because they considered him a man who would not overcharge. He respected their confidence by making the retail price $6.50 a ton.

ICILY UNDER WATER.

Peasants on Roofs of Houses Firing Pistols in Dismissal.

Catania, Sicily, Oct. 26.—There have been heavy rains and floods between Catania and Syracuse. The railroad was partly destroyed near Blocca, and great damage has been done to the property. In many places the water has attained a depth of 15 feet; the peasants have taken refuge on the roofs of the houses and are firing pistols as signals of distress.

SEVERAL LIVES LOST.

Rome, Oct. 26.—There have been floods in the province of Calabria, in which several persons were drowned. There have also been renewed earthquake shocks at Rieti, Umbria.

OCEAN LINER IN DANGER.

Narrowly Escaped Going on the Rocks as Did Hannoverian.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 26.—Two more schooners were reported to-day to have been lost on the north coast. The crews of these vessels, however, are said to have been saved.

The Labrador mail boat, which is here, reports much distress among the fisher folk on the Labrador coast. The wreck of a recent schooner and the destruction of fishery outfits.

A large ocean liner, outward bound, barely escaped disaster near Cape Race Saturday. The vessel was actually inside of Port Antonio, where the steamer Hannoverian was wrecked, when she exploded, a flaming boat that she reversed her engines and escaped.

Chamberlain Will Go to South Africa A Precursor of Other Colonial Visits

Starts Toward the End of November and Will Return in the Early Part of March—
London Papers Think He May Later Visit Canada and Australia.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—It is officially announced that Colonial Secretary Chamberlain has decided personally to visit South Africa and examine on the spot the problems presented by the termination of the war and the settlement of affairs in the new colonies. King Edward has given his approval to this plan.

Mr. Chamberlain proposes to start for South Africa toward the end of November and to return in the early part of March. His visit will embrace the Cape, Natal, the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal.

The striking precedent to be established by Colonial Secretary Chamberlain in visiting a colony during his term of office is a subject of universal and approving comment this morning. The "Daily Telegraph" thinks that this step will be the precursor of similar visits to Canada and Australia. Various references are made to the "new di-

TUBERCULAR BACILLI LATE

Dr. Koch Holds to His Theory That Animal Tuberculosis is Not Communicated to Man.

INFECTION THRU MILK NOT PROVEN

Better Dwellings and Workshop Should Be Established to Fight Consumption.

Berlin, Oct. 26.—The sensation of yesterday's session of the International Tuberculosis Congress came toward the end of the sitting in the form of a paper by Prof. Koch, in which he maintained all his former positions regarding the non-transferability of animal tuberculosis to man. Prof. Koch began by stating that he spoke at the desire of the central committee. He wished it to be understood, he said, that his statements referred exclusively to the transmission of bovine tuberculosis to human beings. He asserted that statistics on the subject of intestinal tuberculosis were too incomplete to establish the frequency of that disease. Some authorities claim, said the professor, that intestinal tuberculosis is very common in the United States and in England, while other authorities hold contrary views. Cases of the disease are not frequent in Germany. An inquiry instituted by the government has proved the rarity of such cases.

Skin Lesion.

Taking up the alleged proofs that human beings may be infected with bovine tuberculosis thru skin lesions, Prof. Koch admitted that cases of tuberculosis do occur among butchers and other persons who handle animals, but he asserted that the percentage of such cases is equally as high as among handlers of animals and meat. He could not see, he declared, any connection between tuberculosis and the handling of animals, ending in death, like the case alleged of a certain workman who scratched his hand and finally died from consumption. The experiments on monkeys, which were inoculated with bovine bacilli and died subsequently, are, according to Prof. Koch, only indirect proof of the transferability of animal tuberculosis.

Wants Positive Proof.

"If," said the professor, "infection is so frequent thru milk, positive proof of this could be obtained. If a community widespread effects follow. How is it that no general infection follows the eating of tuberculous meat or the drinking of milk from a tuberculous cow? Experts assert that large amounts of tuberculous meat are consumed daily, and that not only the flesh, but even tuberculous organs are made use of for food, yet no widespread infection follows. In view of the quality of tuberculous meat eaten and the rarity of intestinal tuberculosis, the question must be asked why a general infection is not more frequent. If tuberculous meat is apparently so harmless, why is it not the same with milk? People think that boiled, milk is harmless, but boiling does not exterminate tubercular bacilli, and sterilizing milk impairs its quality. Why is it that the public is so nervous about milk, but yet will eat butter, in which bacilli are equally nurtured, without hesitation? The fact is that most people have eaten tubercular bacilli. Why is not the infection widespread?"

Extremely Rare.

Prof. Koch declared that only two cases of alleged general infection were known to him and these two were not proved. He did not affirm, he said, that

AN UNACCEPTABLE CONDITION OF RECIPROCITY.

Reciprocity with Canada is a question to which considerable attention has of late been devoted in Massachusetts and other states of the American union. The Democrats have been agitating in favor of free trade relations with this country, and Mr. Gaston, the Democratic candidate for the governorship of Massachusetts, has advocated that if the claims of the United States on the Alaska boundary question are the only obstacles that stand in the way of reciprocity, such claims should be abandoned.

These reported conciliatory expressions from the Democratic candidate have drawn the fire of at least one of his Republican opponents. Speaking in Massachusetts on Oct. 16 Senator Lodge took Mr. Gaston to task. To begin with he showed that since the termination of the Elgin treaty in 1893 no Democratic president had attempted to secure reciprocity with Canada. Every effort made had been made by a Republican administration. President Grant had moved in that direction in 1874, President Harrison in 1892, President McKinley in 1897, and President Roosevelt in 1901.

Referring to the negotiations of ten years ago, Senator Lodge said: "In 1892, under President Harrison, a conference was held by Mr. Blaine with the British Minister and the representatives of Canada at Washington, with a view to making a treaty of reciprocity. The conference developed the fact that the Canadian government was only prepared to offer to the United States in exchange for the concessions asked the admission of natural products. The statement was frankly made that favored rates could not be given to the United States as against the Mother Country. This admission, which was foreseen, necessarily terminated the conference upon this question. It will be observed that the conference failed because Canada wanted us to give her great advantages and would give us nothing in return. She wanted our markets for her products, but would not open her market to our manufactures. The attitude of Canada reminds one of George Canning's verses in the Anti-Jacobin."

In the making of treaties the fault of the Dutch is giving too little and asking too much. Senator Lodge next proceeded to make exception to the proposed free admission of Canadian lumber, fish, hay, potatoes, etc., because such free admission would damage the timber, fishing and agricultural interests of certain northern states, and he wanted to know what benefits Canada could grant in return for such concessions. Then the Republican Senator went on to discuss the failure of the latest international negotiations in these words:

There were many questions before the commission of 1898. There was the question of damages to the English sealing vessels on the northeastern fisheries, on the bonding question on reciprocity and on the Alaska boundary. On every question but the last the negotiators had reached a practical agreement. The negotiations failed because Canada made claims in regard to the Alaska boundary which the United States could not accept, and which no nation with an ounce of self-respect could have admitted. In 1825 Russia made a treaty with England which secured her the Alaska coast and a belt 30 miles wide, following the indentations of the coast through its entire length. England recognized the Russian possession of the territory by leasing the right of crossing the strip and fishing on the coast. The Russian map of 1827 showed the line as I have described it. The English map followed that of Russia and gave the same line.

In 1867 we bought Alaska, and the Russian title vested in us. For 70 years, in round numbers, that title was never questioned. Then gold was discovered. Then England set up a claim to the contrary to the treaty of 1825, which had been recognized for 70 years, and a more manufacture and baseless claim was never set up. If we should yield to it there is not a portion of the Alaska boundary which England could not attack. President McKinley refused, as a matter of course, to admit any such claim, and the negotiations failed.

When an attempt was made to revive negotiations last spring, Alaska came forward again with her claim, and President Roosevelt refused to recognize it, as any patriotic American would. Mr. Gaston, the Democratic candidate for governor, says that strip of "frigid territory" should not be allowed to interfere with reciprocal arrangements. This is the first time within my knowledge that any American public man has proposed to surrender the soil of the United States to Great Britain for any reason whatever. If it were only a strip of "frigid territory" the principle would remain the same. No nation can afford to surrender its territory on business claims. The maintenance of the national honor is far more important than reciprocal trade arrangements with anybody.

But look for a moment at that frigid strip of territory. American towns have grown up upon it—large towns. American miners have been working there and are working there. They are our fellow-citizens. They have gone there under the belief that we owned the soil and that the United States would protect them and the land. The Democratic party in our state propose to surrender them and the territory in which they live to Great Britain.

is in Maine, there will be no reciprocity treaty made with her. Let her abandon this preposterous claim and the Republican party, in pursuance of their policy of many years, will make a reciprocity treaty with her at once. But it is owing to Canada that the negotiation has failed, and if Mr. Gaston and his friends want to have reciprocity with Canada they should get their Canadian friends to withdraw this demand for American territory.

The above extracts from this Republican leader's speech are interesting to Canadians because they emanate from a man prominent in the dominant party in the United States. According to Senator Lodge the reciprocity convention of 1892 failed because (1) Canada wanted concessions on her products, but would not open her market to United States manufactures; (2) because Canada would not give the United States a preference in her markets over the Mother Land.

In other words the United States proposed that Canada should go back to primitive conditions; that she should strangle her own manufacturing industries; shut up her numerous factories, and throw her thousands of operatives out of work. And in return for all this national sacrifice the Canadians were to have the privilege of sending their products into the United States. In short if Uncle Sam's suggestion had been accepted, we should all have become hewers of wood and drawers of water for the benefit of the wide-awake capitalists across the line. Under such circumstances Johnny Canuck would have figured in the world's directory of nations as Brother Jonathan's muscular hired man. Well, Johnny Canuck did not take kindly to the idea, but kept on working for himself, and so far he has been doing pretty well, thank you!

And Canada's refusal to favor United States as against British manufactures is spoken of by Mr. Lodge as another reason why the negotiations of 1892 fell thru. This is a perfectly clear statement. "Washington refused to do business with Ottawa because Ottawa refused to deal a blow to British trade."

Then, coming down to the fulfillment of the latest conference at Quebec and Washington, Mr. Lodge shows that the whole negotiations on reciprocity and the inability of the negotiators to agree upon the Alaska boundary matter. The Senator is very courteous of the righteousness of the United States claims on this question, and forgets that the Canadian contentions are probably just as capable of proof as those of the United States.

In a contemporary review article, Dr. Hodgins makes it clear that the dogmatic contentions of the United States have not been based, and States have not been based on the course of the United States in the controversy has been somewhat devious. To begin with, Senator Lodge bases the United States case on the British-Russian treaty of 1825, but we think he has been fairly answered before. Dr. Hodgins says: "The learned doctor quotes clauses from the treaty in question, and elucidates them by excerpts from the correspondence between the British and Russian governments bearing upon and preceding the signing of that treaty. He particularly points out the Russian boundary line placed by the Russian government ten miles from the 'sea,' the completed and signed treaty fixed said boundary ten miles back from the 'ocean.' The word 'sea' is used in international law to signify the waters adjacent to the coast line of the neighboring land, and the word 'ocean' is taken to signify the open waters beyond. The use of 'ocean' in the treaty should alone be sufficient to establish the Canadian contention that the right boundary line should follow the general line of the coast line, and all the indentations of the shore. Senator Lodge says: 'In 1847 we bought Alaska and the Russian title vested in us. For 70 years, in round numbers, that title was never questioned. Then gold was discovered. Then England set up a claim to the contrary to the treaty of 1825, which had been recognized for 70 years, and a more manufacture and baseless claim was never set up. If we should yield to it there is not a portion of the Alaska boundary which England could not attack. President McKinley refused, as a matter of course, to admit any such claim, and the negotiations failed.'

When an attempt was made to revive negotiations last spring, Alaska came forward again with her claim, and President Roosevelt refused to recognize it, as any patriotic American would. Mr. Gaston, the Democratic candidate for governor, says that strip of "frigid territory" should not be allowed to interfere with reciprocal arrangements. This is the first time within my knowledge that any American public man has proposed to surrender the soil of the United States to Great Britain for any reason whatever. If it were only a strip of "frigid territory" the principle would remain the same. No nation can afford to surrender its territory on business claims. The maintenance of the national honor is far more important than reciprocal trade arrangements with anybody.

But look for a moment at that frigid strip of territory. American towns have grown up upon it—large towns. American miners have been working there and are working there. They are our fellow-citizens. They have gone there under the belief that we owned the soil and that the United States would protect them and the land. The Democratic party in our state propose to surrender them and the territory in which they live to Great Britain.

No American President could ever be found, in my opinion, who would nullify the objects of arbitration, and since then the United States has not shown any willingness to fairly arbitrate the case.

bound by the national honor of its sovereignty not to agree to occupy territory the title to which is disputed with some show of treaty right by another nation. And it is maintained that a nation which refuses to refer such a dispute to fair arbitration attempts a denial of international justice, and thereby disgraces its national honor. Mr. Hodgins concludes by saying if the United States will continue to refuse to give effect to their compact with the nations, as expressed in the Hague convention.

Senator Lodge is quoted as asserting that if Canada wants reciprocity, "she must withdraw her preposterous claims for American territory," and Canadians beg to remark, in reply, that they are making no "preposterous claims," that the Alaska boundary question is a fair one for arbitration, that the Ottawa government is ready to go to work with such arbitration, and that until the United States is of the same mind this country can worry along without "reciprocity."

CANADIAN CATTLE FOR EUROPE.
Live cattle raised in the Northwest Territories are being driven across the international boundary line and shipped to the Atlantic seaboard over the Great Northern Railway, and, on arriving at Boston, are there put on board ship for Europe.

The question naturally arises: Why are these cattle not shipped over a Canadian railway, and via a Canadian port such as Montreal, instead of a United States road, and via a United States port? In certain quarters the blame is placed on the C.P.R., which is accused of charging such rates as drive the cattle shippers to the United States. The Canadian Pacific office, in an article printed in another column this morning, and in this denial they are backed up by the cattle shippers themselves, who allege lack of ships at Montreal as the reason why they send their animals to Boston.

Another reason mentioned as influencing the Western Canadian cattle shippers in preferring Boston to Montreal, is found in the fact that if prices happen to be ruling high in Chicago, when the animals reach that market, they can be sold there instead of being sent on to Europe. If the last named circumstance is the genuine reason, it raises the old question as to why Chicago prices should rule higher than Toronto or Montreal quotations?

Again, if the Canadian Pacific is to blame, it would surely be in the interests of that company to see an end put to the business tributary to its own lines. And, still again, if the root of the matter is in the shortage of ships at Montreal, surely Canadian enterprise ought to prove equal to filling the breach.

HEAR PACT, BERNIER.
In Massey Hall to-night, citizens will have an opportunity of seeing and hearing Capt. Bernier, the Canadian, who is bent on discovering the North Pole for Canada, and those who attend will be convinced that he is no visionary, but a practical man, capable of making a good try at the job he has undertaken.

CATTLE SHIPPING ON UPPER LAKES.
Editor World: I am not a cattleman, but can you tell me why live cattle are carried across the ocean from Montreal to Liverpool and not by boat on the upper lakes? It seems strange to me that thousands of head of cattle are carried by water between Port Arthur and Collingwood and not cattle, I should think it would be a great relief to the animals to be on a boat with good fresh air and plenty of water, rather than packed tightly in a railroad car for hundreds of miles. The animals could rest at Port Arthur for a few days, and then be shipped by boat to Liverpool. It would be an improved condition. There may be difficulties in the way, but I think the subject is worthy of your attention, and some of your readers may have the solution. Let us have the opinion of shippers on this point, and oblige.

CANADIAN SHIPPERS AROUSED.
Winnipeg Telegram: A statement from the west that cattle are being driven from Calgary to the line of the Great Northern Railroad and shipped in box cars to Boston has caused great concern here.

The shipping agents, when interviewed, stated that the Pacific coast cattle are being shipped via the Great Northern Railroad to Boston, and that they are shipping via Boston because they cannot get cattle tonnage in the west. G. M. Bosworth, fourth vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railroad, stated that the Canadian Pacific Railroad is making lower rates for cattle than the Great Northern, and that the Canadian Pacific is making lower rates for cattle than the Great Northern, and that the Canadian Pacific is making lower rates for cattle than the Great Northern.

SENDING IN THE BILL.
New York Herald: The coal operators have promptly "sent in their bill" for the cost of the strike in an advance of fifty cents per ton in the price of coal. As a result of their being organized the miners have carried their point and their claims are to be arbitrated, and the operators, who have agreed to charge more for their product.

And the public, having no organization, has been severely punished during the strike and is now coolly called upon by the operators to foot the bill. There is nothing left for the people but to organize in turn for the effective regulation of these matters in future.

LIVES WITH BRAIN EXPOSED

John Daley of Chicago is to Have Silver Skull in Lieu of His Old One.

MEMBRANE OF BRAIN RUPTURED

But It Has Been Sewn Up, and the Patient is Rational and Bright.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 26.—"I believe there is not in medical records a case exactly like that of John Daley of this city, who is living and happy with the right side of his skull gone and the brain exposed so that the pulsations are visible at every beat of the man's heart," said Dr. J. C. Hepburn to-day.

"It is not correct, as reported, that half of the patient's brain has been removed, but the case is a most remarkable one for all that. Two weeks ago Daley fell four stories and his head struck on an iron beam. The blow was such that the frontal, parietal, occipital and parietal bones were all fractured and splintered. The bones were in such shattered condition that they were used as a protection for the brain, and those that were not already cleft away by the blow itself were removed, leaving practically no brain matter exposed, but the case still more remarkable was that the membrane which covers the brain was badly ruptured, leaving the delicate tissues exposed and hanging out. Ordinarily death would have ensued almost instantly, but Daley was very much alive when he landed on the operating table.

Cleaning of the Brain.
"The operation performed consisted of removal of the bone particles and sewing up of the broken membrane. Many stitches were necessary to bring the several edges together, the brain having been thoroughly cleansed of foreign matter.

"I was greatly surprised at the rapid recovery of the patient. Daley is perfectly conscious and in jovial spirits, and there seems no reason why he should not be out of the hospital before long with a partially artificial skull and fit to earn his own living again.

"Daley is twenty-four years old, with a strong physique and healthy blood. The break in the brain covering the brain matter was a victim of cerebral meningitis. Strange to say, there have been no symptoms of that disease since the operation, and I have no anxiety about that score now.

Substitute for the Skull.
"A secondary operation will now be performed. This will consist of the fitting of an artificial plate in lieu of skull, as a protection of the brain. It is a practical matter, and the operation will be quite as successful as the first.

"What shall have been demonstrated we will give to the medical world the full particulars of the case, and the condition of the patient at the various stages and the features that have made the case a striking one from a professional viewpoint. The artificial skull will have to be exercised in the substitution of the artificial skull for the natural skull. It goes without saying that there must not be any undue pressure on the surface of the brain, and it should result in affecting the mental faculties, as often occurs in cases of concussion."

GIFT FROM 70,000 SHOWMEN.
Pretty Ladies and Combs Awaited Royal Children's Coming Home.
London, Oct. 26.—A very pretty and curious gift awaited the children of the Prince and Princess of Wales when they returned to Marlborough House Saturday. It came from the traveling showmen of the United Kingdom and consisted of a very handsome miniature of the Queen, in Queen Anne style, of the period of 1704, and standing about five feet high, a beautiful pair of royal children, the Queen Victoria and Prince of Wales, and a small set of silver plated harness. The request was first made some time ago, and the traveling showmen, that they might make this gift to the royal children. The Queen's Highnesses to accept of this nature, the Prince and Princess of Wales, with the consent of the King, expressed themselves as glad to make an exception on this occasion. The pretty miniature and harness were taken into Marlborough House on Thursday morning.

WHISPER CAUSED A RIOT.

Panic in a Dublin Church Followed a Sermon.

Dublin, Oct. 26.—An extraordinary scene occurred in a Dublin church during the service on Sunday. The preacher had made a severe remark on the subject of the "whisper" in front of the altar, and the result was a riot. The congregation was so excited that the speaker was unable to continue his sermon. The riot was caused by the fact that the speaker had said that the "whisper" was a sin, and that it was a sin to whisper to one's neighbor. The congregation was so excited that they began to shout and sing, and the speaker was unable to continue his sermon.

HAS LOST AN EYE.

London, Oct. 26.—Almerich Hugh Paget, who married Miss Pauline Whitney of New York, has been accidentally shot by a friend while shooting in the country. The accident occurred on Sunday. Mr. Paget was shot in the eye, and he is now in a hospital. It is believed that he will lose the eye.

CHARGED WITH ARSON.

Grand Jurors, B.C., Oct. 25.—John A. Manley, former Mayor of this place, and one of its most prominent citizens, and chief engineer of the Ketchikan Valley lines, was arrested at his home on a charge of complicity in the burning of the Seattle Hotel at Columbia, B.C., about three years ago. He was released on $15,000 bail. Five men were charged with the arson. The case is now before the grand jury.

TEACHERS HOME FROM DETROIT.

The 400 Toronto school teachers returned from Detroit on Saturday night and Sunday morning on two special trains on the Grand Trunk and C.P.R. Saturday was spent in sight seeing, the morning being given over to a visit to the eastern High School, and the afternoon to a visit to Belle Isle and other interesting points in and around the city. The last batch of teachers left the Wolvrene City at 11:35 Saturday evening. Every one in the party was delighted with the trip, and with the splendid reception given them by the teachers of Detroit.

Greatest on the Map

Canada is the greatest fur-producing country on the map. It is the world's hunting ground for costly and useful furs. Do you appreciate that? Do you appreciate the fact that you can get better furs at a more reasonable price in our showrooms than in any other store on this or any other continent. Remember, we buy our furs direct and do the entire manufacturing of them in our large workrooms. We employ only experts and the best of tailors.

Our Alaska Seal garments are known the country over for good quality and finish.

SECULARISM AND CHRISTIANITY.

Claims of Each Compared by Speaker at Grand Opera House.

A fairly full house greeted Charles Watts last night at the Grand Opera House. The subject of his lecture was "Christianity and Secularism: Their Claims Compared." The lecturer said it was to be regretted that most of the great religious systems of the world had been misrepresented, both by their adherents and by their opponents. Christianity was no exception. Christians were termed "Secularists," and the terms had been coupled by the gentleman who was said to be answering his lecture at the Grand Opera House. But Secularists only differed from Christians in regarding Christianity as a system of superstition, and not as a system of life. It was founded upon three principles: 1. That this life was governed by laws. 2. That human effort was indispensable to all human progress. Secularism was not a mere negation; for all systems were necessarily negative to those they opposed. Christianity had pretended to do for the world for two thousand years, but the world was no better. In concluding his address, he challenged any of the ministers of Toronto to debate the questions involved in a set debate, and said he would be willing to debate with half a dozen of them, one each night for a week.

Mr. Watts Answered.

Several hundred persons on Sunday evening were present in the Toronto Opera House when Dr. Watts, a lecturer on religious subjects, replied to Charles Watts, the English Secularist, who spoke in the Princess Theatre last Sunday evening. Dr. Watts dealt at some length with the ten principal objections Mr. Watts raised to Christianity. Firstly, he did not object to Mr. Watts saying his ancestors were monkeys, but he did object to his (the speaker's) being called monkeys.

TO SOLVE TURBINE PROBLEM.

London, Oct. 26.—Great interest is being displayed in the turbine being built to order for Sir Christopher Furness, has been launched at Glasgow. The vessel is expected to solve some of the problems which confront marine engineers in this new mode of applying power.

LADY MINTO'S MARKSMANSHIP.

In its report of Dr. Webb's pleasant drive at Burlington, Vt., The New York Herald says: Luncheon over, the gunners again repaired to the preserves, this time being accompanied by Lady Minto and Miss Frederica Webb, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. Seward Webb, both of whom entered into the sport with much zest, and each of whom brought down her fair share of game. Lady Minto is a first-class sportsman, and from the manner in which the pheasants came down at her feet she seemed to be quite at home with a gun.

Russian Censorship.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 26.—A despatch announced that a complete and partial prohibition still binding on the publication of news, concerning school and other matters, relating to the empire's foreign position, mobilization or dislocation of the army or navy, credits for war purposes, construction of strategic roads or railways, and will make additions sufficient to keep the furnaces going.

Foreign Children Aboard.

Washington, Oct. 26.—The Census Office has issued a statement giving a compilation of figures regarding illiteracy among children of immigrants and children of natives. The statement shows that the comparison to children between the ages of 10 and 14 years in the United States, as a whole, 65.6 per cent. of the native white children of native parents and 61.1 per cent. of the native white children of foreign-born parents are able to read and write.

Will Do Some Good.

Manila, Oct. 26.—It is believed here that President Roosevelt's order permitting for the Philippine Islands will relieve immediately the inter-island freight situation, as well as improve the supply and lessen the cost of rice, in which article a famine is threatened.

Annual Field Day and Athletic Games of Junction Public Schools on Saturday.

CARLTON WON CHAMPIONSHIP FLAG

Theft of an Overcoat—Contract Awarded for Addition to Ruddy Harness Factory.

Toronto Junction, Oct. 26.—The annual field day and athletic games of Toronto Junction Public Schools was held yesterday afternoon on the Western-avenue grounds, in the presence of about 2,000 people, and under most favorable auspices. The drill companies and physical culture classes, headed by the band of the Mimico Industrial School, marched via Annette-street, High Park-avenue, Dundas-street, and Western-avenue to the school grounds where the drill competition for the championship flag, which for two years was held by No. 1 Co. Annette-street school, Capt. John Rose and Major Thompson awarded the trophy to Carlton school. Miss Lulu Charlton, instructor in physical culture, presented five silver medals to the girls making the most progress in physical culture during the term.

Plenty to Eat on With.

Mr. Jones says there is plenty of coal and wood in the yards to go on with at present, and from what is in sight he believes the civic fuel business will now go along smoothly.

Municipal Ownership.

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 25.—Municipal ownership received a big boost at the special election yesterday when the voters of the city declared themselves in one in favor of purchasing the West Duluth water plant and the gas works of the company. The downpour of rain, which continued through the day, kept many away from the polls, and the vote was very light, even considering the small registration. The purchase of the water and gas plant will be confirmed by a four-sevenths majority of the votes cast, which resulted favorably by 1337 to 144 votes.

PERSONALS.

Mr. A. Gomez-Fonseca of New York, author of the popular song, "He Rode Up All Good-Bye," and the new, "Judge, Judge," is in the city for a short visit. Gomez-Fonseca was formerly a resident of Winnipeg.

North Toronto.

Reeve Duncan and Councillors Syme and Sylvester inspected the proposed extension of East Eglinton-avenue on Friday last, and will present a report to the Township Council. The committee were entertained by W. F. Macdonald, M.P., at his residence on "Don Lands" during the afternoon.

Harvest Thanksgiving services were held Sunday at the Davisville Methodist Church. Appropriate selections were provided by the choir, and suitable addresses were delivered by the pastor, Rev. A. J. Hudson, at morning and evening services respectively.

Death of Thomas Dunnett.

Many will regret to learn of the death on Saturday evening of a prominent citizen of Toronto, in the person of Thomas Dunnett of 97 Huntley-street, well-known in connection with the manufacturing interests of the city. He was senior partner in the firm of Dunnett, Crean & Co. before entering upon a retired life some years ago.

LIGHT SALES OF CIVIC FUEL

Yards Opened on Saturday, and the Rush of Customers Was Not Very Large.

COAL 30 TONS—WOOD 54 CORDS

Total of First Day's Sales—Buyers Take Small Quantities—Business Continues To-Day.

That the alarm over the fuel famine has greatly subsided since the announcement of the settlement of the coal strike was proven when the first civic fuel yards in the history of Toronto were opened on Saturday morning. The stock on hand totalled 250 tons of Hocking Valley coal and 60 cords of wood at three distributing places. There was coal for sale at the waterworks, coal and wood at the western yards and wood at the eastern yards. There was no rush of customers, and many who enquired were dissatisfied with the prices quoted and decided to wait for a while before ordering. The fact that local dealers have reduced their prices considerably in competition with the city is generally conceded that the opening of the municipal fuel yards has resulted in cheaper fuel all round, no matter where the citizens purchase it.

Sales for the First Day.

Street Commissioner Jones reports that the total sales for the day were: Western yards, coal, 23 1/2 tons; hard-wood, 7 3/4 cords; Birch, 1 1/2 cords; pine, 6 1/4 cords. Waterworks yards: Coal, 6 3/4 tons. Eastern yards: hardwood, 11 cords; birch, 1 1/2 cords; pine, 2 3/4 cords. The orders were mostly for coal by the half ton and wood by the quarter of a cord.

Prices are the same as were quoted on Saturday.

Mr. Jones says there is plenty of coal and wood in the yards to go on with at present, and from what is in sight he believes the civic fuel business will now go along smoothly.
