Italians Send Ultimatum On New Crisis In Fiume District

GERMANS UNITED ON REPARATIONS

JUGO-SLAVIA ASKED FOR A DECISION

Alleged Government of Belgrade is Delaying Action, is Charge.

PRESS INDIGNANT

Premier is Urged to Carry Out His Programme to Electors.

(Canadian Press.)

Rome, Aug. 24.—The Italian Government has sent an ultimatum to Jugoslavia asking that a definite decision be reached concerning the status of Fiume.

It is alleged here that the government at Belgrade is constantly delaying a settlement of the situation.

The Italian press says that Premier Mussolini proposed first that Fiume be governed by a mixed Italo-Jugoslav commission, second that this commission entrust the Italian government with the political and administrative management of the city.

Final indication. Even the provision for maintenance work, it was said, would be only the final indication that lines had been drawn for the endurance test of a strike. Though all the men who have participated in the joint meetings of employers' representatives and employees' spokesmen were still in the city, there was no change in either side's position.

Employers, offering arbitration of every disputed point, were said to be solid in the determination to allow no wage increases except by the possible arbitration award. John L. Lewis, the union's president, stood out on the assertion that the men would not work unless given wage increases and a negotiated contract.

REPORTS DENIED ON HARVESTERS

English Press Says There Was No Break-Down in C. P. R. Plans.

London, Aug. 24.—The English news papers generally give prominence to details made through the offices of the Canadian High Commissioner and the Canadian Pacific Railway to reports of a serious breakdown in the arrangements for the men who migrated from Great Britain to work in the harvest fields of western Canada.

The Daily Mail, whose reports of the situation first raised the question of trouble among the British who were harvesting in obtaining work, while printing the denials, says it was obvious that some of the immigrants in the Canadian west were not employed.

While the Canadian High Commissioner's office states that the men lack funds to take them to Winnipeg, according to the Daily Mail, the vice-president of the C. P. R. blames the weather for the men's difficulties.

The Mail also gives prominence to a letter from a young Scotsman who says the new arrivals in the Canadian west find work only at low wages.

"Over ten thousand men from eastern Canada have come out here to make matters worse."

AVERAGE LIFE LENGTHENED 3-1/2 YEARS IN U. S. IN 1921

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—Latest statistics of the United States Census Bureau show a gain of 3 1/2 years in average length of human life during 1921, according to a statement by the National Health Council. The council calls attention to a prophecy at the annual meeting of the American Public Health Association last year that the average span of life could be lengthened by twenty years in half a century, and says developments are bearing out the prophecy.

DEAD PREMIER

PREMIER KING IS ON ONTARIO TOUR

Charge of Carleton County Sportsmen Preserve on Miramichi.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Right Hon. W. L. M. King, Premier of Canada, is in the city today accompanied by Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works. Dr. King's visit is somewhat in the nature of a surprise, and it is understood that he will inspect the harbor improvements and other public works, probably in the afternoon.

The Premier will on Saturday evening attend a garden party given in the country home of Chief Justice Sir Wm. Mulock, near New Market. On Tuesday the Premier will assist Sir William in the laying of a corner stone of a new public school in New Market.

After that ceremony the premier will attend the Toronto gathering of Ontario members of the House of Commons and the Senate, for the purpose of organization.

Final indication. Even the provision for maintenance work, it was said, would be only the final indication that lines had been drawn for the endurance test of a strike. Though all the men who have participated in the joint meetings of employers' representatives and employees' spokesmen were still in the city, there was no change in either side's position.

PREMIER OF JAPAN DIES AT TOKIO

News Given Out Officially Several Hours After Leader's Death.

HAD LONG ILLNESS

His Retirement From Post Had Been Expected for Several Months.

(Canadian Press.)

Tokio, Aug. 24.—Baron Tomosaburo Kato, Premier of Japan, died today. It was allowed to become known officially.

While Premier Kato had been ill for several months, it was not generally known that his condition was not dangerous. It was added, however, that his retirement could be expected in the near future.

Early this afternoon the announcement was made that the Premier was seriously ill. Following this came an unofficial report that he had died.

Owing to the not unusual custom in Japan of not officially announcing immediately the death of an important official, it was several hours before this report could be confirmed.

Several Mentions. Among those mentioned prominently by the press are Count Gomi, former prime minister, and Count Gomi, former prime minister, and Count Gomi, former prime minister.

Baron Nobusaki Koki, a member of the house of peers, who has held cabinet portfolios and diplomatic posts.

Premier Kato's illness was of long duration, but until recently it was not regarded as serious. It was said officially that his health would not necessitate his retirement, but a few days ago it was learned authoritatively that his condition was such that he could not continue in office long.

His death, however, it was not generally believed that his life was in danger.

One culmination of the premier's long career of public service was recorded formally but a few days before his death when the five powers subscribed to the treaty for the reduction of naval armaments exchanged ratifications in Washington. The treaty was a consummation in which Baron Kato was deeply interested and he had said repeatedly that he regarded it as establishing a new era of peace.

As a delegate to the Washington conference he was one of the foremost advocates of the pact.

Prominent in War. Premier Kato first came into prominence in the Russo-Japanese war, which he entered as a captain in the navy and emerged as a hero.

The exact cause of death was not announced but the Japanese press, with some show of authority has been stating that Baron Kato was suffering from cancer. The attending physicians, however, reported stomach trouble and issued reassuring bulletins to the last, even that of noon today, saying simply that his condition had grown worse since midnight with some signs of exhaustion. It was added, though, that little improvement had been shown since midnight and the patient's heart was causing anxiety.

Later the cabinet, which was considering British proposals for a new railway guard in China, received an urgent message. It was said that oxygen had been administered, but that the premier at the time was in a comatose state and death was expected any moment.

It is understood that Foreign Minister Uchida will act as premier until after the funeral. The entire cabinet then will resign and a new one will be chosen.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Aug. 24.—Major Shearer of the R. C. A. F., addressing the Rotary Club here, said that he was inquiring into the question of carrying mails by sea-plane between Sackville and Charlottetown.

He hoped that two machines could be put in commission, each to carry from 400 to 500 pounds of mail, first and second class. This would mean the elimination of the mail car between Sackville and the island.

He hoped that one air trip a day could be carried out. Landing could be made in the water in summer and on the ice in winter.

GEDDES DISCUSSES TRADE REVIVAL

England, Worst Hit, Emerging, is Opinion of Sir Eric.

London, Aug. 24.—Sir Eric Geddes, president of the Federation of British Industries, at the annual meeting of its Bradford branch, discussed the position of the world's trade.

"I am a mild optimist," he said, "so far as I can see, in spite of the handicaps which the aftermath of the war has left us, we are emerging from the bottom of a cycle."

"We, as a great exporting country, are worst hit of all by the present state of affairs in Europe. Our unemployment is caused by that and is not, as is often thought, the result of the banking community of the country, but too insistently being before His Majesty's government, the conviction which I feel—and which I believe is generally felt—that the great problems of the world must be met by the sun if a stabilized condition could be brought about in Europe."

"I do not doubt that there is still room for the economy axe in our public services; that there is still room for reduction and curtailment of national and local expenditure, and that also would help trade."

"The recovery of British railways, since the war has been remarked upon in every one of the great countries, and has evoked the admiration of our friends in the United States. The smoothness with which the amalgamation has been carried through is a credit to the railway companies, and that also would help trade."

"The recovery of British railways, since the war has been remarked upon in every one of the great countries, and has evoked the admiration of our friends in the United States. The smoothness with which the amalgamation has been carried through is a credit to the railway companies, and that also would help trade."

"We must have reasonably prosperous railways if our business is to prosper. We must have friendly and cordial relationships with the railways if mutual advantage is our aim, and speaking personally, would indeed be most disappointed then if I can say if the Federation of British Industries and the railway companies find that the good feeling engendered during the passage of the act should fail us."

"In many industries of which I am able to obtain intimate knowledge to-day, the great difficulty is that we are killed by the weight of overhead charges. The volume of the trade is insufficient to carry the overhead charges in competition with great countries which, like the United States, are producing in volume, and therefore spreading their overhead charges."

"We have somehow or other got to get the cost of production down if we are going to compete in the markets of the world, and that is not unduly high, but where the standard of output per man-hour is unduly low. This is emphasized by the fact that in the United States, where the great improvement in efficiency—that is to say, in output per man-hour—according to information received at the United States."

Engineer At Ottawa To Modify Weather Conditions In St. John

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—Dimitrie Joanowicz, a Romanian engineer, has arrived in Ottawa for the purpose of presenting to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries a scheme to modify weather conditions in eastern Canada and keep the St. Lawrence river open for navigation during the winter by building a dam across the Strait of Bellefleur.

He has already discussed his project with officials of the department and will place his plans and theories before the minister.

Joanowicz proposes that Newfoundland and Canada should join in the work, which would consist of a dam 15 miles long and three-quarters of a mile wide at its base, which would block the Strait of Bellefleur and prevent the ice floes and cold currents from entering the gulf. Inward and outward navigation would be permitted through two locks.

In discussing the project the Romanian engineer dilates upon the effects exercised by tides, ice and cold currents, upon the climate and upon navigation.

"For the liberation of German soil, for the maintenance of our sovereignty and for the consolidation of our situation," the Chancellor declared, "it would not be too great a sacrifice to offer part of the German economic system as a productive pledge for carrying out Germany's reparation obligations."

London Labor Paper Makes Hard Struggle

London, Aug. 24.—The Daily Herald, official organ of the Labor party, which has the support of the big British labor organizations, announces today that as a result of the report of a committee which has investigated its position a recommendation that it cease publication on September 30 will be submitted to the Trades Union Congress next month.

The newspaper has already died one death as a labor publication. It was resuscitated three or four years ago, but by its own repeated admission has had a hard struggle to keep alive. It attributes its present position to the fact that millions of members of the Labor party and members of the trades unions have miserably failed to respond to appeals for support.

SAYS INTERFERENCE CASES IN CITY WIRE LINES ARE EASILY REMEDIED

Toronto Engineer on Stand in Power Company's Action.

The injunction case of the New Brunswick Power Co. vs. the City of St. John was continued this morning before Mr. Justice White. Charles Schwenger was the only witness. He said of conditions in Toronto and examining the cases of alleged interference in this city and testified that for a small expenditure these could be remedied, as had been done in Toronto. He said that at one point the interference complained of was remedied by the construction of a new line, but that this was not a permanent solution. He said that the interference was caused by the proximity of the power lines to the telephone lines. He said that the power lines were not properly spaced and that this was the cause of the interference. He said that the power company was not doing its duty to properly maintain its lines. He said that the city was not doing its duty to properly regulate the power company. He said that the power company was not doing its duty to properly maintain its lines. He said that the city was not doing its duty to properly regulate the power company. He said that the power company was not doing its duty to properly maintain its lines. He said that the city was not doing its duty to properly regulate the power company.

Mr. Schwenger is an engineer of distribution with the Toronto hydro system. Prior to 1910, he said, there were three electric light companies operating in Toronto, but only one in the business section of the city. The poles of the system were carried on one side of the street, and the poles of the telephone company were on the opposite side. When construction was begun for the hydro system the poles were placed in the same place as the poles of the telephone company. This was a mistake, he said, and it was this mistake that caused the interference. He said that the power company was not doing its duty to properly maintain its lines. He said that the city was not doing its duty to properly regulate the power company. He said that the power company was not doing its duty to properly maintain its lines. He said that the city was not doing its duty to properly regulate the power company.

He said the results obtained in preventing interference were good, and he would recall any complaint to him. The Toronto Hydro Electric system was the last in the field in all these respects. The hydro system had the space they used the standard cross-arm, giving 30-inch space. Where their poles passed through the wires of the other company brackets and cross arms were used to preserve the climbing space. The hydro system served 120,000 customers, they had about 80,000 poles of which 45,000 were wood. The private company was not now operating, having been taken over by the hydro the first of this year. Grounded System.

The original hydro system had about four miles of underground distribution system. The witness said there was no additional danger to the public from the 4,000 volt main and brackets. The system over the 2,200 volt underground system. In Toronto both systems were used, but the majority of the system was grounded. There was no difference in danger between the two systems. The witness said he was being used more largely than the underground and from reports of the American Electric Light Association he knew they were recommending a change from ungrounded to grounded systems. He had gone over the 42 cases of alleged interference, accompanied by Mr. Yates, Mr. Lang and Barry Wilson, for a part of the time. He had found conditions in each case as stated in the complaint and recommended that standard cross arms and brackets be placed on poles and the wires of the company attached to the arms. He found in some places that the poles of the company were raked both sides and this made it hard for the city to erect its system. In one case he found the pole interference had broken a contact between the primary and street lighting wire of the company and loosened the danger which previously existed there. At

DAME RUMOR HITS BROADWAY

The Gay White may hear Mildred Harris, former wife of Charlie Chaplin, is engaged to an eastern millionaire. From California she refused to confirm the rumors and positively will not help out by mentioning the name of the lucky one.

A RICH MAN'S MONEY. (Philadelphia Public Ledger.) When a rich man comes to die, the whole world reads his will. It is so hard to earn dollars that a certain man, Mr. Bowler, who has made millions. "What would I do with a million?" unlocks the gates of reverie to the least imaginative or mercenary. The day's news tells what William Rockefeller died with not one million but a hundred times one million. Death has inventoried his possessions, so vast that the inheritance taxes alone would max sixteen millionaires.

In long lines of figures, each amazing, his executors have spread out the story of one man's wealth. Therein may be learned how a multi-millionaire invests his money; how he makes it labor for him; even to some extent how much he spends on the routine business of living and dying. Perhaps most of us have thought that we were keeping a goodly part of our day-dream wealth where it would be handy, so that a little matter of a hundred thousands or six could be checked out with a flourish of the fountain-pen. Mr. Rockefeller, however, had a bank balance of $70,257,888. When he needed money he lowered the curtain on that national bank, three millions owed to a trust company, and 500 million to his bankers, and he was done with his fortune. Like other rich men, he found it safer and cheaper to turn a million and earn a profit. He was not singular in that; most great fortunes have been earned with dollars owned by men of less courage and foresight.

There is a shrewd instruction in his choice of securities. His largest holdings, more than $46,000,000, were in United States, State and municipal tax-free First Liberty Loan bonds, but only $110,000 worth of Third and fourth 400 bond. He held no stocks and paid a tax. Curiously, he was not greatly interested in oil, holding but $800,000 worth of stock. Though his other stock holdings were numerous and choice, the amounts were small for so rich a man. His real estate came to less than $600,000, and the furnishings of his houses and his other personal effects only half a million. When he died he had checked outstanding for $11,000 and owed $48,000 on bills just fallen due. His funeral cost $18,000.

A very rich, shrewd, careful man, not given unduly to luxury or display, whose funeral possibly was the most lavish single personal expenditure of his career. He left only $100,000 life insurance—not sufficient to bury him.

"In America, since 1921, there has been an all-over improvement of 15 per cent. In the industrial efficiency of the world, it is in the General Public that this is because America is dry—because talking from the point of view of industrial workers, America is practically dry, and all we hear about the bootleggers and the ease with which the industrial workers are being organized, or whether it is due to a better organization of industry and a higher standard of factory management and efficiency.

"Without optimism and hope, this world would be a poor place, and we should expect little, but, as I see it, the principal cause of the world's troubles is that which are very undesirable—lack of accurate knowledge as to what the world can consume. It would be idealistic to hope that in this imperfect and competitive world we could estimate exactly what we could sell, porting the demands for the various products, but I feel sure much can be done by the collection and collection of information by the great trade and industrial organizations, to enable their members to forecast more accurately what the demand will be and what production will be."

WHEN TO SAY "NO." Want a recipe for handling a big job? Take this, from Colonel William M. Haskell, the man who fed Russia. "The first thing I do on any job is to try to see the finish."

This is Colonel Haskell's theory of work: "Get a clear-cut idea of what you want to do. Then be loyal to your work and your chief's conception of what it means. Be fearless, and fair."

Men's greatest weakness, he says, is inability to say "no." "Say 'no,'" he advises, "to the man who thinks himself entitled to special consideration in his work; to the man who wants to use your influence, or your resources. Say 'no' to your friends and to enemies, always with absolute fairness—and, if possible, without hurting feelings."

An additional 165 that were not registered. Duncan shot from the sixteen-yard mark in making his records. In addition he broke 45 targets out of 25 pairs at doubles shooting and smashed 93 out of 100 from the twenty-three-yard mark.

WHAT THEY THINK OF US

What the neighbors think of us is always more or less interesting. Sometimes it furnishes useful suggestions, sometimes amusement; sometimes it awakes wonder that near neighbors understand one another so little.

The news says, by way of introduction: "Many Americans think of Canada as a small country to be patronized rather than respected."

That trading comparison cannot be too often repeated in the United States. Due recognition of its meaning will have some effect in Washington.

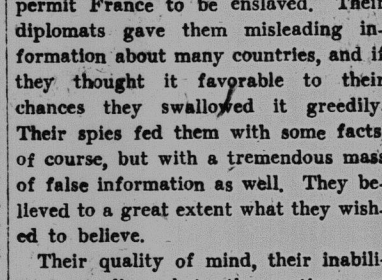

As to the "point of view," that covers a wide field. As to better acquaintance, that ever makes for understanding and harmony.

A GERMAN NOTION. It is solemnly suggested by a German newspaper that further emigration of Germans to Canada will be prevented unless "there is a cessation of anti-German and war guilt propaganda" in this country.

The Germans thought Canada would not take part in the war even if Great Britain went in, and they persuaded themselves that she would not.

BENGAL WOMEN PROGRESSIVE AND EAGER TO LEARN

Literacy Making Rapid Progress There; Missionary Wins Credit.

It is impossible to mix with Bengali women and not become interested in educational questions. Hindu mothers have always been keenly alive to the importance of the early training of their daughters, though it is certainly something of an innovation to teach Hindu girls to read and write, according to a special correspondent from London to "The Christian Science Monitor."

The old-fashioned mother considered that a thorough knowledge of cookery, household management and mothercraft was the sound education for her daughters and daughters-in-law. Just how it has become customary for most middle-class Hindu girls to acquire the arts of reading and writing it is a little difficult to say. Most of the literate mothers of this generation ascribe their superior education to missionary influence. Some have attended missionary schools in childhood, others have been taught at home by house-to-house missionary visitors. Others again have persuaded good-natured brothers to teach them. There are even valiant females who have wrested the much desired knowledge from their husbands.

Many Read and Write.
Whatever the means quite a considerable proportion of the women and girls of the Hindu middle classes in Bengal can read and write sufficiently to conduct a simple correspondence. Many can enjoy reading, and there is an abundance of fascinating Bengali fiction, to say nothing of more solid reading. Nor is there a lack of Bengali periodicals. There are daily newspapers, weekly and monthly magazines, some of them very good indeed, all of them marvelously cheap. Among Hindu housewives reading is still regarded purely as a recreation to be indulged in only when every possible domestic task has been accomplished, but the influence of the literate mother on her children is unmistakable.

It is no less delightful in Bengal than in Western countries to possess a mother who can read aloud, who can repeat in simple language the stories read in the newer magazines for the benefit of her tines, and recommend books likely to interest her elder children. Biographies and travels are the books most likely to meet with her approval. It is not considered desirable that schoolboys should spend time on mere fiction; reading should be on serious subjects. Nowadays the literacy of girls confers a certain distinction on their families, but household duties come first, and reading counts as a privilege and recreation.

Credit Due Missionary.
Conversation with these literate ladies of Hindu families certainly confirms the impression that such female education as Bengal can boast is largely due to missionary, and therefore Western, enterprise. But missionary schools and teachers are no longer the sole sources of female education in Bengal. They are still very valuable as supplying a considerable proportion of training colleges and hostels for teachers and in directing a large number of girls' schools, but institutions under purely Indian control are springing up.

The number of educated women in the several communities is increasing every year. It is impossible to attend one of the great gatherings of educated Indian women which a prize-giving, a musical or even a purely social function attracts, and fail to be impressed by the meetings of old school fellows and college friends, most of them graduates, many members of the professions. Among the Brahma Samis, the most advanced of all the Indian communities, it would appear to be unusual for a girl not to boast a degree, and distinctly peculiar for her not to have matriculated. These Indian ladies are as graceful in manner as in dress. It is constantly remarked by Western women, privileged to meet them, that they are much more at ease in European conversation than are their more Westernized fathers and brothers. The modern Bengali is often shy with Europeans, while his educated women-

NEW BOMBER'S DESIGNER HAS FAITH IN HIS SHIP

Dayton, O., Walter Henry Barling is a real pioneer in the flying game. The designer of the new giant Barling bomber, world's largest aircraft, has been building planes for years. Before the war he was connected with the Royal Aircraft factory at Farnborough, England. That occupies the same position over there as the McCook Field experimental station does over here in the United States.

WALTER HENRY BARLING.

While at the Farnborough plant, Barling was in charge of miscellaneous aircraft engineering work. Later he was associated with the design of the construction of the monster Tyrant triplane. Barling is confident his latest experiments will be crowned with success.

His plane, he believes, will show the world that a monster heavier than air machine of the type he's now completing at Wilbur Wright's field here can travel along just as safely as any of the smaller ones.

This is an attempt to incorporate in a single machine a general improvement of the individual units of all the others," he says.

Of course, the military value is one of the primary considerations just now. Consideration must be given to engines, necessary bomb compartments and controls, gun positions and the pilot's vision.

Comparison of planes from a military standpoint must also have regard to the extent to which they comply with these phases. The Barling bomber permits the addition of any number of engines without increase of structural weight.

"It must provide data and conception of the machine, and the machine itself, thus leading to tangible improvements."

REASONS WHY MANY LOSE JOBS

Chicago, Aug. 24.—(A. P. by Mail)—Lack of a sense of responsibility, unwillingness to work hard, lack of thoroughness, false notions about salary and promotion, and lack of principle are the five chief reasons why 90 per cent. of the boys and girls of the United States lose their first jobs, according to a report made by the Chicago Association of Commerce by A. D. White, statistician of Swift and Company.

Mr. White's report noted that 90 per cent. of the boys and girls lose their first positions. The report also shows that in nine cases out of every ten, the loss of the position can be traced to one of the five reasons noted.

His report continues: "Lack of a sense of responsibility is shown by neglect of work, failure to do the most important things first, and the expression of a general 'I should worry' attitude."

"Unwillingness to work hard is shown by being late to work, stretching the lunch hour, and stealing a few minutes at the end of the day, watching the clock, and wasting the time by social conversations and telephone calls during business hours."

"Lack of thoroughness, is indicated most frequently by unwillingness to be most frequent at the bottom and to go through the drudgery of mastering each step before going ahead."

"The real secret of promotion lies in constantly doing more than you are paid to do. Keep yourself underpaid as long as you are overpaid you are bound to go backward."

"Lack of principle is shown by constant mistakes, untruthfulness, and the constant making of excuses."

STATUE AT GRAND PRE IS UNVEILED

Grand Pre, N. S., Aug. 23.—Many Acadians of the Maritime Provinces, Quebec and other parts of Canada attended the third pilgrimage of the people of that race to their historic shrine, Grand Pre, today. And many English and other British-descended compatriots of the Acadians joined them and participated in the exercises and gave evidence that, while the past was being memorialized, it was with the warm brotherhood of one race to another and with the fealty of them both to a common nation.

The event was the occasion for unveiling a statue of the Madonna of the Acadian people, and of the taking over in the name of the Grand Pre Memorial Committee of a small lot of land at Horton Landing upon which will be erected a suitable cross marking the spot where the Acadians of the Ex-pulsion were taken from the shore to the vessels in which they were deported. The ceremonies commenced with Mass at the Chapel of St. Charles, Pa-ther John Gaudet of St. Anne-de-Kent, New Brunswick was the celebrant. Great Work of Art.

The statue of the Madonna, placed within the chapel of St. Charles, was donated by the Society of L'Assomption and it is said that there is no finer carved image of the Madonna on the American continent. It was made from the painting by the Spanish artist Murillo, and was done by one of the most renowned present day Italian sculptors, and carved from pure white Carrara marble. The statue is seven and a half feet high and represents the Virgin being upheld by several cherubs as she ascends to Heaven.

Covering the statue was a large Acadian flag, similar to the French tricolor, except that the Acadian star is in one corner of the blue bar. Father Cormier, Shediac, N.B., organizer of the pilgrimages to Grand Pre, officiated. Premier P. J. Veniot of New Brunswick, assisted by Dr. A. H. McLean, M.P.P., Eel Brook, Yarmouth county, slowly lifted the flag from the statue. The audience sang the Acadian national anthem, Ave Stella Maria. The Shediac band played the music.

Dr. D. V. Landry, of Shediac, presided at the afternoon meeting. Other speakers included J. P. Chaisson, president of the Mutual Society of L'Assomption, D. T. Robichaud, Ottawa, and Alfred N. Roy, Moncton. Dr. Jerome Dolron of Vonda, Sask., was among those present.

LONDON MARKS ITS FAMOUS SPOTS

London, Aug. 2.—(A. P. by mail)—Visitors to places of interest in the city and many Londoners themselves have been surprised lately to find numerous blue plaques with white letters on walls of buildings. These are being put up by the City Council to mark the sites of ancient London, and the residences of famous citizens.

One of the most recent ones marks the spot in Chesham from which the Romans measured their miles from London. Residences of Chaucer, Keats, Shakespeare, Pepys and other prominent citizens of the olden days also have been designated.

ACTORS DEMAND DAILY PAY

London, Aug. 2.—(A. P. by mail)—Singers and actors in the countries affected by the slump in exchanges have adopted a new method of collecting their salaries. The artists now demand that they be paid at the conclusion of each day's work and at the rate of exchange paid for seats that day.

The artists have refused to sign contracts except on this basis, as they say that the fluctuation of the exchange makes their salary practically nothing at the end of the month.

LAUNDER DAINTY THINGS TWICE AS OFTEN, THIS WAY

It's not necessary to keep your prettiest things folded and laid away. Wear them—often. Launder them just as often as necessary. But do it this way: Use Palmolive PRINCESS SOAP FLAKES—and see fragile crepes, silks, laces, come from laundering absolutely unharmed. Colors brightened and freshened, if anything.

The greatest foam of suds contains nothing to hurt the daintiest fabric, the most delicate coloring. It dissolves the dirt, however, most thoroughly—and washes it away.

These snowy, crinkly flakes contain nothing but pure soap. That's why they clean more efficiently. That makes it economical to use them in the washing machine, for all laundering, and for every general household purpose.

If only to try, get some today of your dealer. He has them—in handy one-pound packages, or in bags.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 24.—Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, who has been a patient in the insane department of the Pennsylvania Hospital here, has got another vacation under an order signed by Judge J. Willis Martin of the Court of Common Pleas.

The court's action was based on the petition of Thaw's mother, Mrs. Mary C. Thaw of Pittsburgh, supported by an affidavit made by Dr. Daniel L. Fuller, resident physician at the hospital.

Mrs. Thaw set forth in her petition that she had been informed that a change of environment would be beneficial to her son, both as regards his general health and his treatment from a medical viewpoint. She asked that he be permitted, in company with keepers, to visit her at her country home near Crescon, Pa., for a brief period.

Judge Martin ordered that Thaw be permitted to visit his mother until September 10. Thaw got ten days' leave last February to visit his mother. Before that he had obtained permission to leave the hospital on two occasions.

Will 'Snap' Eclipse 20,000 Feet In Sky

Lieut. Macready to Pilot Plane; Lieut. Stevens to Take Pictures.

Washington, Aug. 24.—Plans have been approved, by the War Department has announced, for photographing the approaching solar eclipse from an airplane at an altitude of 20,000 feet on Sept. 10, in accordance with plans worked out by Major Gen. Patrick Chief of the Air Service, Lieutenants John A. Macready and A. W. Stevens have been ordered to Rockwell Field, San Diego, Cal., which will be in the area of the total eclipse, to complete the arrangements.

Lieutenant Macready, joint holder with Lieutenant Kelly of several world's distance and duration records and one of the fliers in the recent non-stop transcontinental flight, was selected as pilot because of his experience in high altitude flying, for which he holds the world's record.

Lieutenant Stevens, in the opinion of Air Service officials, is the equal of any aerial photographer in the world. He has had considerable experience in flying at high altitudes and on June 13, 1922, set what is regarded as a world's record by making a parachute drop from a height of 24,200 feet.

The photographs and data obtained will be available to scientific bodies. From the 20,000 feet altitude, on a clear day, photographs of the earth, surface features and shadows may be obtained for a considerable part of the interval between the beginning of the eclipse and the totality.

The moon's shadow will pass over the surface of the earth at a speed of more than 1,000 miles an hour, or about thirty-three miles a minute. From an elevation of 20,000 feet, Lieutenant Stevens should see the shadow for more than a minute and be able to obtain photographs of it in its stages of approach. Should clouds lie between the airplane and the earth, the hope is that photographs of the moon's shadow thrown on the clouds will be obtained during the transition after the shadow has passed, a filter will be used and photographs made of the sun itself in an effort to get effects of the photosphere, protuberances, chromosphere and corona.

In previous expeditions, observers on mountains have noted compass variations distinctly different from those at lower altitudes. To ascertain what occurs at 20,000 feet, Lieutenant Macready will note the variations that occur in his magnetic compass. This data will likewise be made available to scientists interested in terrestrial magnetism and in the relations between the magnetism of the sun and of the earth.

Los Angeles Man Walks to New York — Now Returns.

(New York Times.)

Fred Taylor, 20 years old, a newspaperman, arrived in New York yesterday, completing, for a wager of $500, the first lap of a walk from Los Angeles and back. He left his home at 1,842 Figueroa Street, Los Angeles, on June 8 and has until Nov. 15 to accomplish his return.

Taylor came into the office of the Times yesterday to ask for proof that he had reached New York. He said that the wager was made by Assistant Manager O'Malley of the Los Angeles Associated Press Bureau, and that the stakes were held by Leon Goodstadt, a casting director of the Famous Players, whose home is at Beverly Hills, Hollywood.

"The wager came about this way," said Taylor. "I was sitting talking with O'Malley and a number of other newspapermen when O'Malley said, 'you fellows are a lay lot you never take any exercise.' I told O'Malley he was mistaken and that for half a cent I would walk from Los Angeles to New York and back again. O'Malley said, 'I bet you $500 you don't.' I accepted the wager and the next morning I set forth.

"I had $122 with me when I started but I did not use it. My journey's end, Long before I reached New York I found myself without a penny in my pocket and glad to work my way along doing odd jobs. The wager called for walking but I was allowed under the terms to get lifts on trucks. Rides on tourist automobiles, passenger or freight trains, however, were barred.

Averaged 60 Miles a Day.

"My route lay through Needles, Cal., Albuquerque, Baton Rouge, N. M., Trinidad, Colo., Kansas City, Chicago, Columbus, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. Altogether I estimated I traveled about 4,800 in seventy-eight days, which works out at about sixty miles a day, but the lifts I got in trucks must be taken into account."

Taylor had plenty of adventures during his eleven weeks' trip. He was nearly suffocated in a sandstorm, was arrested for vagrancy and at one period walked for thirty-six hours without a bite to eat.

"Just out of Albuquerque I ran into a terrible sand storm," said Taylor, "I was five miles along the highway when it blew up and I thought I surely must be choked to death. I staggered forward for fifteen minutes with my mouth, eyes, hair and nostrils getting fuller of sand every moment. When I could no longer see I no longer I stumbled across a broken-down wagon. Half-blinded I crawled into the lee of the storm and buried my face in my coat. The storm lasted fully an hour, and when it cleared I found I tasted grit for a month."

"I found that my expenses were averaging about $1.80 a day. Most of this sum went for food, as I naturally developed an enormous appetite. Nights I would sleep in 'two-bit flops,' or if there was no other accommodation in barns or haystacks.

"Four weeks ago I arrived in Chicago, where I stayed for two days in order to visit my mother, whom I had not seen for two years. I had only $5 in my pocket and when my mother learned of this she begged me to accept further funds. I told her that I meant to win through on the sum with which I had started.

"At Pittsburgh I found it necessary to work two or three days in order to get a little capital to help me on my last stretch to New York.

Taylor had little difficulty in making his way from Pittsburgh to New York. When his money ran out again he worked on farms for meals and a dollar or two pocket money. On Monday night, his first in New York, he slept in a room on the Bowery, for which he paid 50 cents.

The uppers of his shoes are the same which he started out from Los Angeles, but they have been resoled twice and rebeled three times. He has worn out seven shirts but the same suit of clothes lasted him the whole trip. Last night he cheerfully set out on his return journey without a cent in his pocket.

REALIZE $186 AT PIE SOCIAL AT WESTFIELD

The concert and the pie social held at the Westfield Country Club last night in aid of the building fund of the Methodist church at Hillside was an unqualified success. A capacity audience thronged the clubhouse and everybody heartily enjoyed the occasion. The proceeds amounted to $186 and the pastor of the church, Rev. Robert Smart, and the trustees were greatly indebted to the club members who took so active an interest in making the entertainment so successful. W. E. Golding was the chairman for the evening and announced the items of the concert programme which were all warmly applauded and which were as follows: Bagpipe selections, A. Cromwell; Harry Lauder imitations, "The Waggle of the Kilt" and "Rolie," by Rev. Robert Smart; readings, Miss Doris Ryan; vocal solos, Thomas Guy; exhibition of juggling and club swinging, by Mr. Cromwell; reading, "The brick's first visit to the butcher," Miss Doris Ryan; solo, Thomas Guy; song, "The same as his father did before him," Rev. Robert Smart.

There was much fun when the pies were auctioned and the auctioneer did his best to assist in raising prices. The most expensive pie cost $15, but it is understood that it was worth that sum. Harry Rankine was the assistant auctioneer. The committee in charge of the entertainment was as follows: E. R. Machin, George Ewing, Robert Elkin, Hammond Evans and Rev. Robert Smart.

The new church at Hillside was built about two years ago, replacing the edifice destroyed in the Westfield fire. There is still about $2,000 to be paid on the building and the interior has not yet been completed. The money raised last night will go towards the building fund.

GIRLS REBUKED BY MRS. FORD

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 24.—Mrs. Henry Ford publicly rebuked women and girls wearing overalls and shorts in the Upper Peninsula, when they belted her at Michigan, at a recent town near here with requests for her autographs.

The Ford-Edison-Firestone party had just arrived and had pitched their tents, when the feminine resorters surrounded the party and requested autographs.

"You ladies and girls are showing very poor taste and worse judgment in coming into the town garbed as you are, without skirts or dresses," Mrs. Ford said. "I do not want to sign my name for you and prefer not to look at you. I resent your idea of dress."

HARRY THAW GETS VACATION

Court Grants Petition of His Mother and Physician.

The court's action was based on the petition of Thaw's mother, Mrs. Mary C. Thaw of Pittsburgh, supported by an affidavit made by Dr. Daniel L. Fuller, resident physician at the hospital.

Mrs. Thaw set forth in her petition that she had been informed that a change of environment would be beneficial to her son, both as regards his general health and his treatment from a medical viewpoint. She asked that he be permitted, in company with keepers, to visit her at her country home near Crescon, Pa., for a brief period.

Judge Martin ordered that Thaw be permitted to visit his mother until September 10. Thaw got ten days' leave last February to visit his mother. Before that he had obtained permission to leave the hospital on two occasions.

FIREWORKS BOMB KILLS MAN

Rochester, Aug. 24.—One man was killed, another man and a woman were injured slightly, and two automobiles were damaged by a shrapnel from an aerial display bomb that exploded prematurely in the hands of an employee of the company in charge of the fireworks display at Genesee Valley Park late last night marking the end of a three-day celebration commemorating the Feast of St. Rocco.

WALTER HENRY BARLING.

Dayton, O., Walter Henry Barling is a real pioneer in the flying game. The designer of the new giant Barling bomber, world's largest aircraft, has been building planes for years.

While at the Farnborough plant, Barling was in charge of miscellaneous aircraft engineering work. Later he was associated with the design of the construction of the monster Tyrant triplane.

Barling is confident his latest experiments will be crowned with success. His plane, he believes, will show the world that a monster heavier than air machine of the type he's now completing at Wilbur Wright's field here can travel along just as safely as any of the smaller ones.

This is an attempt to incorporate in a single machine a general improvement of the individual units of all the others," he says.

Of course, the military value is one of the primary considerations just now. Consideration must be given to engines, necessary bomb compartments and controls, gun positions and the pilot's vision.

Comparison of planes from a military standpoint must also have regard to the extent to which they comply with these phases. The Barling bomber permits the addition of any number of engines without increase of structural weight.

"It must provide data and conception of the machine, and the machine itself, thus leading to tangible improvements."

Sauve Outlaw Robs Train In Oklahoma

With Followers Holds Up Crew, Apologizing Wren Bandits Rough.

Oklahoma, City, Okla., Aug. 24.—(Associated Press)—Four men under the leadership of a suave outlaw, who chatted amiably with his victims about the merits of a certain well-known political writer and discussed current questions of the day, held up Missouri-Kansas & Texas passenger train 1225 southbound, near Okesa, Okla., in the early morning and robbed the express and mail cars of packages, the value of which is said to be not over $500.

Postal authorities and county officers are scouring eastern Osage County, long known as the retreat of outlaws. No trace of the robbers, however, has been found. The men escaped after the robbery in motor cars which accomplices had waiting for them.

The four men who did the actual work of rifling the cars were apparently far greener hands than the cool, polite veteran who directed them. The leader cautioned his men against unnecessary violence and rebuked one particularly brutal bandit several times for man-handling a victim.

Once he apologized to a member of the train crew who had been struck by the man, explaining that it was his first job and that he was a little nervous.

Osage County is the haunt of a daring band of bank robbers captained by Al Spencer, the most notorious outlaw of present-day Oklahoma. In his retreat in the Osage hills Spencer has defied capture.

It is believed that bandits boarded the train at Bartlesville, some fifteen miles north of Okesa. They rode the blind baggage and did not appear until the train approached the spot selected for the robbery. The engine, tender, express and mail cars and two coaches were cut loose from the remainder of the train and the bandits forced the engineer to proceed about a quarter of a mile down the tracks.

An official report on the robbery received here from J. C. Koch, conductor of the train, said:

"Number 123 mail and express cars robbed one mile south of Okesa, 12:25 a. m., five masked men getting about twenty registered packages, value unknown, inflicting scalp wounds on Fireman B. D. Towers, also Engineer Miller, beating up mail clerk D. Wells, W. Burch. No injuries serious. The passengers were not molested. The bandits left at 12:45 a. m., going west to Pawhuska."

RED CROSS BULLETIN.

The latest number of the Red Cross Bulletin of the New Brunswick division has just been received. It is prepared as a fore-runner of the next membership campaign of the society in the province and tells of the three main avenues of usefulness which the society is seeking to maintain, care of disabled soldiers, support of the junior programme and relief for emergencies.

The Bulletin contains a summary of the work accomplished by the society in the province during the year and some items of news from some of the local branches. Two articles are of special interest. They are accounts of visits to the two hospitals in St. John where soldier patients are cared for, the Lancaster hospital and the St. John County Hospital, and they give some indication of what good cheer the Red Cross may take to the soldier patients and what reliance they place in their visitors and in the Society they represent.

LINIMENT FOUND TO BE POWERFUL GERMICIDE

Originally, Absorbine Jr. was sold only as a pain reliever and an embrocation. It was quickly discovered that the liniment was positive death to all forms of germ life, and it is now used as a mouth wash, for wound dressing and for all disinfecting purposes.

Another surprise was yet in store. A Wm. Pratt of Springfield, Mass., applied Absorbine Jr. to a varicose vein to relieve the intense pain. Not only did the pain leave, but he noticed every day the swollen vein becoming smaller. The treatment was kept up and, today, used anything else on them, are as smooth as when he was a boy. It has been proved that Absorbine Jr. is an actual specific for varicose veins, leg ulcers, boils, pyorrhoes and a number of other ailments and injuries besides that for which it was first prepared. Nothing serves so many every day purposes and nothing is better entitled to its place in every home. When it is needed, it will be needed in a hurry. Don't wait for someone to be hurt. Get it at your druggist's today. $1.25 everywhere.

WEEKLY SAILING FROM ST. JOHN TO BE ASKED FOR

Woodstock, N. B., Aug. 23—A largely attended meeting of potato shippers was held here this afternoon to discuss the possibility of establishing a weekly sailing service of steamers from St. John to Havana, Cuba, to facilitate the shipment of potatoes and other farm produce.

The question of better rates was also discussed. Messrs. Tompkins, of the Canadian National Railways, and W. A. Cunningham, traffic manager, were present and took part in the meeting. T. W. Caldwell, M. P., and J. C. Chedoke, of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, St. John, were appointed to go to Montreal and take up the matter with the railway and shipping authorities. It was felt that satisfactory arrangements could be made.

LORNEVILLE PICNIC.

The annual Sunday school and congregational picnic of the Lorneville Presbyterian church was held yesterday afternoon at Wilson's Beach which, with its long stretch of sand, is an ideal picnic spot. There was a large attendance at the picnic and many people motored from the city to enjoy the event. Games and races were arranged and were enjoyed to the fullest extent by the children. Two prizes were given for the successful contestants from each of the Sunday school classes. An efficient committee of ladies served a bountiful supper for the children. The minister, Rev. W. J. Davis, assisted with the arrangements. The ladies in charge of the refreshments were Mrs. W. J. Davis, Miss Ethel McClavon, Mrs. Bertha Ferguson, Mrs. Walter Wilson, Mrs. Wallace Galbraith and Mrs. Robert Evans.

CONFERENCE ON RUM RUNNING; CANADA AND U.S.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Ottawa, Aug. 23—Following this afternoon's meeting of the cabinet council, Premier King announced that the conference between Canada and United States Government officials at which measures to curb rum-running acts on the border would be discussed was to be held early in September. A series of friendly notes had been exchanged between the two governments in regard to this matter, the Premier stated, and arrangements for the meeting had been practically completed.

CAPTURE VESSEL; TAKE RYE AND MEN

New York, Aug. 23—Firing several shots, federal officers early today captured the Martha E. The second, an alleged rum-runner, in Arthur Kill, between Perth Amboy, N. J., and Totenville, Staten Island. More than 800 cases of rye were seized. John Doyle and Captain Robert Wood, of Brooklyn, and Samuel Kirt, of Secor, N. J., were arrested.

MUNICIPALITIES SESSIONS END

Campbellton, Aug. 23—The Union of New Brunswick Municipalities concluded its three-day session this forenoon after the various resolutions had been adopted. J. King Kelley gave an outline of a bill which relates to municipal issues. The bill was freely discussed but no resolution was offered as Mr. Kelley explained he had merely been asked to bring it to the attention of the union before it went to the Legislature.

Votes of thanks were tendered the Town Council, Board of Trade and citizens of Campbellton.

This afternoon those delegates who had not left for home were taken for a motor drive into the Matapedia Valley. The day was clear and warm and the visitors saw this wonderful valley at its best. They were also taken around the town and were shown over the Soldiers' Memorial Hospital and Hotel Dieu.
