Lloyd George Under Fire at Home As War Seems Near

ZAIMIS NEW HEAD OF GREEK AFFAIRS

Revolutionary Committee Creates Favorable Impression

Planning the Elections—Constantine May Live in Italy—The Greeks Would Fight, But Prudence is Urged—Venizelos is in London.

(Canadian Press Cable) Athens, Sept. 30.—Alexandre Zaimis, who was premier when Constantine was expelled from Greece in 1916 and whose father headed the Greek cabinet when King Otto I. was dethroned by the revolution of 1922, has been selected to head the new ministry, which is composed of Independents, Venizelists and military officers.

A most favorable impression was created by the proclamation of the revolutionary committee that the arrested political and military leaders shall remain in prison but that the manner of their trial shall be left to the future national assembly.

The French and British military officials who had been in Greece since the revolution of 1922, and who were expected to leave the country, have been ordered to remain in Greece until the national assembly meets.

The committee has given the new cabinet authority to issue necessary decrees pending creation of a new parliament and has decided that the Muslim populations of Macedonia and Thrace shall be treated as separate constituencies and be entitled to choose members of parliament.

It is now said that Constantine will return to Athens, Italy, Athens remains tranquil.

The revolutionary committee's declaration to sit in supervision over the acts of the cabinet until a government is formed on the will of the people, is expected to be based on the idea that the vital interests of the nation demand such procedure.

The army, backed by the navy, stands ready to push on the war effectively in Thrace, but its leaders believe that their past experiences justify prudent control in Athens by military representatives until a genuine people's government comes into power.

Paris, Sept. 30.—A despatch to the Havas Agency from Athens says the new cabinet of Premier Zaimis was sworn in yesterday.

Venizelos in London. London, Sept. 30.—Former Premier Venizelos has arrived in London from Paris, and declares his intention of remaining here for several weeks, with the exception of such trips to France as may be necessary.

He is expected to return to Athens and declared it was untrue that he had been asked to visit the foreign office. Alluding to his possible return to Athens, he refused to comment further than to remark: "You already know from the communication I have received from the committee of the revolutionary committee in charge of the Greek government."

Blind Soldiers Hold Re-Union. Some 60 Gathered in Toronto, Members of Sir Arthur Pearson Club. Toronto, Sept. 30.—From places as wide apart as Cape Breton and Winnipeg, some sixty of the dominion's 180 blinded soldiers, members of the Sir Arthur Pearson Club, with headquarters here, yesterday held the first reunion since the formation of the club. The men have wonderfully retentive memories regarding the events of their lives and had no difficulty in placing each other again.

The programme consisted of sports in the afternoon, followed by a concert and a dance in the evening. Today the Rotary Club are taking the men for a motor ride, and they will be entertained at a theatre party in the evening. The chief event, however, will take place on Sunday afternoon, when the lieutenant-governor will unveil a brass tablet in the hall of the club to Sir Arthur Pearson's memory.

Violent Criticism of Conduct of the Near East Business

Press Indicates People Not Desirous of Engaging in Conflict—Labor Strongly Opposed—Rumor That Chancellor, Dismayed at the Financial Aspect, Has Threatened to Resign.

(Canadian Press Cable) London, Sept. 30.—The gravely dependent view held in official quarters here regarding the prospects of avoiding war with the Turks is shared in Constantinople, according to despatches from the eastern capital to the Associated Press.

Mustapha Kemal Pasha's requirements that the British withdraw their troops from Asia Minor as a condition precedent to a limited retreat of the Ottoman forces from the neutral zone of the straits is looked upon by local military opinion as closing the door to pacific settlement of the present dispute.

Whether this is the final view of the responsible military heads does not appear. High responsibility rests with the latter and their political colleagues. How and when the attempt to enforce the government's demand for the withdrawal of the Kemalists is to be made now lies with Brigadier-General Sir Charles Harrington and Vice-Admiral Sir Osmond Brock, commanders of the British military and naval forces in the Near East, and Sir Horace Rumbold, British high commissioner in Constantinople.

Some of the critics are quite opinionated in the matter, and are not disposed to resign. It is probable that the nation will rally to the government's support.

SUGGEST FREE FOR ALL INSTEAD

U. S. Race Committee on Schooner Competition

Say it is Question of Types of Fishing Vessels—Will Go Ahead With Contest, However, if Halifax Committee Will Not Alter the Conditions.

(Canadian Press.) Gloucester, Mass., Sept. 30.—The barring of the U. S. schooner Mayflower by the Canadian trustees of the International fishermen's trophy will not prevent American participation in the cup series to be raced off this port next month, the American race committee announced at 1:30 p. m., after a meeting which lasted nearly six hours.

In a telegram to the Canadian trustees the U. S. body suggested that the decision to disqualify the Mayflower, as your interpretation of the trophy, for fishing vessels, adding, however, that should the suggestion not be favored, a U. S. challenger will be chosen in the usual way.

The text of the telegram, which was signed by Wm. J. MacInnis, chairman of the U. S. race committee, was as follows: "The American race committee has tonight considered your telegram stating that after a conference with Designer Burgess you still hold to your decision to disqualify the Mayflower. The committee believes that the Mayflower has proven to be a bona fide fisherman and deeply regrets your decision."

Inasmuch as we are extremely anxious to perpetuate the races for the Halifax Herald trophy, after discussion as your interpretation of the deed of gift in its present form does not allow Canadian and American types of fishermen to race on even terms, we suspended this year pending a revision and amplification of the deed of gift and this in its place a free-for-all race will be held for a suitable one and one-half mile between the fastest vessels of the Canadian and American fleets.

It is the committee's opinion that the trophy should be open to all bona fide fishermen and will go ahead with the race.

Mr. MacInnis said after the conclusion of the secret meeting that he did not believe that any member of the committee had desired to withdraw absolutely from the race because of the barring of the Mayflower for the second time. He said that the whole difficulty had evidently resolved itself around the general basic difference in type of U. S. and Canadian fishermen that the Canadian vessels were used primarily for the salt fish harvest, while the U. S. fishermen had to depend more upon their fleetness to meet the fresh fish market requirements.

He added that many of the members of the committee believed that the race should be between the fastest vessels of the two fleets, regardless of type.

The owners of the Mayflower announced after the conference that if the trustees of the cup refused to consider the proposal made in last night's telegram and still adhered to their decision to debar the Mayflower, they would withdraw their vessel from the elimination trials and would give their whole-hearted support to whatever vessel would represent the U. S. in the international race.

SEVEN DEAD IN NEW YORK FIRE

Thrilling Scenes as Others of 24 Families in Burning House are Rescued.

New York, Sept. 30.—Seven persons lost their lives in a fire which early today swept through a five-story apartment house at 241 West 108th street in the centre of Manhattan. Nearly a score more were injured, several seriously and dozens of others were saved in thrilling rescues by firemen and volunteers who plunged through windows into the flames, which had shut off escape for the twenty-four families inside.

One of the dead was a baby of four months old, who was found in a room, a boy of 12, who was killed when he jumped from a window.

Three firemen were injured, and half a dozen others overcome by smoke and heat. The fire was brought under control after three hours of hard fighting.

ST. LOUIS MEN BATTING KINGS

Second Time for Siler, and Third for Hornsby

Babe Ruth Failed to Overcome Lead of His Home Run Rivals—Games Tomorrow Last of the 1922 Series.

(Canadian Press.) Chicago, Sept. 30.—There comes the curtain on the major league season tomorrow, with George Siler of the St. Louis Browns, batting champion of the American League, Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Cardinals, batting champion of the National League, and Babe Ruth of the New York Yankees, leading the league in home runs.

Siler and Hornsby both probably will hold the season with an average above the 300 mark. Babe Ruth, who has hit 410 home runs in 378 games, has hit 374 in 394 last year.

In addition to being the champion batter, Siler also is the king of base stealing, with forty-nine thefts, and his closest rival is Ken Williams, a team mate, with thirty-four. Williams has clouted out thirty-nine four-base drives, with Walker of the Athletics the runner-up with thirty-six.

Other leading batters for 1922 are: Speaker, Cleveland, 378; Heilmann, Detroit, 357; Williams, St. Louis, 323; Miller, Philadelphia, 311; Tobin, St. Louis, 228; Schang, New York, 227; Bassler, Detroit, 326; Hornsby, with forty-two home runs, is the leading home run hitter of the major leagues.

Hornsby, in addition to his new laurels, is in line to accomplish something during the season. He has hit twenty-three home runs in the last twenty-three games, finish the season with a mark of 400 or better.

Carey of the Pirates has the stolen base crown safely tucked away, with his forty-six thefts, Frisch of New York being his only rival, with thirty-three.

BOY KILLED BY SPEEDING AUTO

Sherbrooke, Que., Sept. 30.—Police officials are trying to trace the driver of a large touring car which last night ran down and killed thirteen-year-old Willie Hawken in Wellington street.

A young lad named Bain, who was with Hawken, was also knocked down but escaped serious injury. The car was speeding and failed to stop after knocking down the two boys.

Rest a Month, Then Train Again—Dempsey in New York—Mason to Meet Villa.

Paris, Sept. 30.—"Now I am ready to begin again in a few months, for I am far from giving up boxing," said Georges Carpentier, in an interview published today in Le Journal regarding his defeat by Battling Sild.

While he has to do now he is to wipe out that defeat by a new series of victories. So I propose, first of all, to take a good month's rest and then take up physical culture before beginning to train again. And I will have my revenge, I can promise you."

DON'T THINK MUCH OF REFORMATORIES. Toronto, Sept. 30.—Before the convention of Canadian Association of Child Protection officers, yesterday, General W. St. P. Hughes, superintendent of reformatories, said he thought there was something radically wrong when out of 197 youths in a penitentiary 164 had "graduated" from Ontario reformatories.

NEPTUNE WAS DISABLED. The tug Neptune, while attempting to pull the Neptune of the rocks this morning, was temporarily disabled when her hawser broke. She was towed to the wharf by the tug Alice R. The Neptune had a line aboard the Empress and had full steam on in an attempt to get her clear of the rocks when the rope parted and was twisted in the propeller in such a way as to leave the tug without power and to put her completely out of commission until the rope could be removed.

TWO OF GIANTS REPORTED HURT

Frish and Bancroft Injure Ankles

Not Regarded as Serious—Boston Again Fails to Get That Needed One Victory and There is Stirring Finish in American League.

(Canadian Press.) New York, Sept. 30.—Giant followers are concerned over reports that Frank Frish and Dave Bancroft, infield bullwarks, sustained sprained ankles in an exhibition game in Baltimore. Neither mishap, however, was said to be serious, although it is likely that Bancroft will refrain from taking chances by remaining on the side lines today and tomorrow.

The National League champions are scheduled for a double-header today with the Boston Braves.

New York, Sept. 30.—The mathematical uncertainty in the American League pennant race existed today, with two games left of the scheduled series of each of the contenders, New York and St. Louis.

Inability of the Yankees for the second straight day to hit the offerings of a former team mate, this time Jack Quinn, cost them another reverse yesterday at the hands of the Red Sox, 1 to 0, and a chance to clinch the championship. The Browns, meanwhile, defeated the Chicago White Sox, 3 to 2, and clung to the possibility that they may tie the leaders and thus necessitate a play-off series.

One victory for the Yankees, or a defeat for the Browns, will settle the race. In order to obtain a tie, the Browns must win today and tomorrow from the White Sox if the Yankees lose to Boston today and to Washington tomorrow.

Although favored by all odds to emerge the victors, the Yankees have caused something bordering on apprehension among their followers by a sudden slump in hitting, with the pennant goal in sight. In the last three games, one with Cleveland and two with Boston, the team has scored but one run and collected fifteen hits.

BRITISH LAND LARGE FORGES

People About to Leave Constantinople Change Minds and Stay on Seeing Protecting Troops.

Constantinople, Sept. 30.—Large forces of British infantry have been landed here from the trans-Atlantic liner Glenngorm Castle.

These soldiers are to reinforce the lines on the Asiatic side of the Bosphorus, which the British will defend in the event the Turkish Nationalists at Ismid begin a movement toward Constantinople.

The Nationalists are understood to consist of two divisions. When the Glen gorm Castle entered the Golden Horn and the masses of inter-abled passport bureaus quickly melted away. The express was heard: "We won't bother with passports now. The British are sending ships and troops."

After a further exchange of amenities, the pair went ashore and held a long conversation in the house in which former King Constantine resided during his visit to Smyrna last year.

"You have been a long time coming," Mustapha Kemal told his visitor. "I have purposely delayed my return to Angora to discuss the present situation with you."

Angora, Sept. 30.—The National Assembly is debating the terms of the Ankara government's reply to the allied peace proposals. The reply is expected to be ready for transmission to the allied government by the middle of next week.

Will Remove Troops "Slightly" if British Forces Leave Coast

That is Kemal's Reply to Demand of General Harington

French Envoy Reaches Smyrna and is With the Turkish Leader—Turkish Invasion of Thrace Threatened in a Protest Sent to Allies.

(Canadian Press Cable.) Constantinople, Sept. 30.—Mustapha Kemal Pasha's note in reply to the second request from General Harington, the British commander, for the withdrawal of the Kemalists troops from the Chanak zone in which the Turkish Nationalist leader said his forces would be withdrawn "slightly" if the British were prepared to withdraw their forces also, reads as follows:

"I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your telegram dated Sept. 27.

"You can easily appreciate the extent to which we have been moved by the atrocities and acts of violence which continue in Thrace.

"On the other hand, with regard to the sending away of the Greek fleet from Constantinople, which will influence the military situation, we desire proof that it will not be allowed to return.

"We would also like to hope that you will give up the measures of extraordinary coercion adopted by the forces of occupation towards the inhabitants of Constantinople as well as the prohibition upon shipping to call at ports in Anatolia.

"So far as the proposed acts of destruction in Constantinople as well as in Chanak are concerned, it is illegal to destroy property, while the arms and ammunition also belongs to us.

"Notwithstanding the unilateral decisions taken without our consent as to the destruction of property, we have given orders to the officer commanding our troops at Chanak for their troops to remain in the localities wherein they are now and to avoid giving rise to incidents.

"Should you be prepared to withdraw your troops from the Asiatic coast in the same way as the French and the Italians, we are prepared to give forthwith orders to our forces which are on the coast of the straits to withdraw slightly and to content themselves with re-establishing the civil administration and the police."

"Although I am returning to Angora in order to get into touch with the assembly, I will yet take advantage of the first occasion which presents itself in order to have the honor of meeting you."

(Signed) "KEMAL" French Envoy Arrives. London, Sept. 30.—A Reuter despatch from Constantinople says M. Franklin-Bossion, French envoy, and Mustapha Kemal Pasha have left Smyrna together for Angora.

Constantinople, Sept. 30.—When M. Franklin-Bossion, French envoy, arrived at Smyrna he was met in the harbor by Mustapha Kemal Pasha, who saluted him and kissed him on both cheeks.

After a further exchange of amenities, the pair went ashore and held a long conversation in the house in which former King Constantine resided during his visit to Smyrna last year.

"You have been a long time coming," Mustapha Kemal told his visitor. "I have purposely delayed my return to Angora to discuss the present situation with you."

VENIZELOS ACCEPTS THE INVITATION

Defend New Government in Allied Capitals.

Surprise Over Decision Because of the Attitude Toward Thrace—Arrest of Former Government Leaders as an Example.

(Canadian Press Cable.) Paris, Sept. 30.—M. Venizelos last night telegraphed to Athens his acceptance of the invitation extended by the revolutionary committee, to take up the task of defending Greece's interests in the allied capitals. Soon after sending the message, he left for London, where he hopes to see Viscount Curzon, British foreign secretary, some time today.

Venizelos' reply to the revolutionary committee thanked the new government warmly for its confidence in him and put him on record as agreeing to undertake the task of "defending the political programme of the present Greek government."

His decision to associate himself with the revolutionary government is believed to be based upon reports sent him from Athens by his former associates. Even the French foreign office had thought that under the circumstances, he was unlikely to accept for the present.

It was felt in political circles here that the allied position on the return of Thrace to the Turks would make it impossible for him to comply, as the avowed aim of the Greek revolutionists is to retain Thrace.

The arrest of some former government leaders is described as being due to a desire to impose justice as an example to future possible offenders. The allegation put forward is that while in power these leaders refused to listen to the advice of Great Britain to the effect that so long as Constantine was allowed to remain on the throne the cause of Greece was hopeless.

SCHOONER IS ASHORE NEAR ST. MARTIN'S

The Telumah, Lath Laden, for New York, May be a Total Loss.

The two-master schooner Telumah, Captain John Glynn, of Gloucester, Mass., lath laden, is ashore at St. Martin's and may be a total loss. The schooner, which was bound for St. Martin's and had got only about 100 feet from the wharf when the tide caught her and she grounded by the bow, later swinging around and her stern went aground.

The Telumah, which is owned by the Commerce Trading Co., of Boston, loaded 1,600,000 lbs. consigned to C. F. Hill, of New York, by his agent, Walter H. Millican, of this city.

The loading was carried out at St. Martin's and the vessel was on her way to sea when the accident happened. The keel and keelson are broken amidships and the water flows freely through the open seams at high tide. Salvaging the cargo on to the St. Martin's wharf will commence as soon as a representative of the underwriters have looked over the wreck. The cargo is insured and G. Heber Vroom, of this city, went to St. Martin's as a representative of the insurance company.

The wreck is now lying in such a position as to prevent any traffic either inward or outward.

WHY POPCORN POPS.

Starch and Moisture at Bottom of the Mystery.
What do you suppose puts the "pop" in popcorn? Scientists, who have made many experiments, tell us that the pop is due to the explosion of the starch grains, and that the moisture content is not a controlling factor except in the extreme of wetness and dryness.

Well, why does popcorn pop? The knowledge won't make the popcorn taste any better, but there is a certain comfort in knowing why things are, especially as in the present case one may sit and watch popcorn pop for hours without solving the mystery.

J. J. Williamson of the Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station, has supplied some figures on popcorn. He says that if the moisture content is below 6 per cent, or above 20 per cent, we cannot expect to have more than half of the kernels popped. There is much variation in this, however, and we can safely depend upon a sample with a water content of anywhere from 10 to 17 per cent, giving a good pop. And, since all ordinary storage conditions would give corn a composition within this range, we don't have to worry much about this factor.

KEEP LUMBER AT HOME.

Oriental Countries Exhausting American Supply.

(The Detroit News.)
"Home owing has always been an American industry. One reason so many Americans have been able to realize that ideal has been the abundance of cheapness of building material. Houses built of cheap material must belong to the few who have wealth or to the landlords."

"From 1850 to 1900 Michigan was producing more lumber than any other state. Cheap lumber and low freight rates made Michigan a state of home owners. But the policy of slash-and-burn, and not replacing it, caused the lumber producing area across the continent, and today Michigan is paying more for freight on lumber than the lumber costs where it is cut."

"Meanwhile the last great timber stand in the United States is on the Pacific Coast. But the experience of raising prices of lumber and declining number of home owners seems to teach us nothing. We still proceed upon the theory that the trees grow because Providence wanted certain lumbermen to make a fortune. Accordingly it is perfectly proper for said lumbermen to cut the trees and market the lumber in the way best intended to make their fortunes quickly."

"Just now the Japanese seem to be the instruments adapted to carry out this purpose. They like lumber and they are buying the best American grades. Statistics furnished by the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association Information Bureau say: 'During the first three months of 1922, the Japanese took 119,000,000 feet of lumber from the State of Oregon, and 54,271,000 feet from Oregon, China also is coming to the front as a buyer of American lumber.'"

"There is much talk of a forestry policy. In the immediate interests of home building we need much more a lumber policy which will keep for the use of the American people the rapidly falling supply of timber. It is time for forbidding the best of our lumber to Asia while our people are compelled to pay exorbitant prices for the culls."

TALE OF TWO FLAGS.

"Jolly Roger" Replaced by Union Jack—Gilbertian Situation.

Southend and Westcliff, England, are agog at the situation created by the mysterious hoisting of the black flag, with the skull and crossbones in luminous paint, on the municipal flagstaff on the Leas.

Nearly half the town has been engaged in trying to discover the identity of the perpetrators and their motive.

Opinion is sharply divided. One camp contends that local yachtmen, concerned at the corporation's lack of display of bunting at gala events, are the culprits.

Another camp declares that a West-cliff belle and a schoolboy "did it just for a lark"; while a third section says that the practical emblem signifies the average visitor's opinion of some of the town's real hotkeepers and those who fixed the fares on the corporation tramways.

Whoever hoisted the Jolly Roger took every precaution that it should not be easily lowered, because when it was at the masthead the halyard was severed, which meant that to remove the flag someone would have to climb the sixty-foot mast.

Someone did accomplish this feat during the week-end, and the Union flag appeared on the flagstaff in the emblem of Captains Hook and Kidd.

And so it was the national flag that the corporation workmen, with orders from the Town Hall to "remove the flag," saw.

The situation could have been made historic by W. S. Gilbert. The puzzled expression on their faces was amusing, and there was loud laughter when, carrying out orders, they tried to pull the Union Jack from its dizzy height and found that it had been nailed to the mast!

A long ladder was secured and by its means, and amid the loud groans of a large concourse of spectators, the Union flag was lowered and the halyards removed altogether.

Southend and Westcliff are anxiously awaiting further developments.

OLEO IN STORAGE SHOWS A DECREASE

A total of 23,959,282 pounds of butter were stored in Canadian cold storage warehouses on September 1, last, according to the monthly report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Of this quantity 23,615,426 pounds were creamery and 344,056 pounds dairy. Comparative figures show that the quantity of creamery butter in storage was fourteen per cent. larger than on September 1, 1921, and twenty-eight per cent. larger than on August 1 of the present year.

CHILD DRUG ADDICTS
(Regina Leader.)
The statement attributed in the news columns to Mrs. Emily J. Murphy (Jane Canuck) that in a certain Saskatchewan town there are "hundreds of child drug addicts" can be taken with a grain of salt. There is no town or city in this province where "hundreds of child drug addicts" could carry on without attracting sufficient notice to cause a social upheaval. At the same time it is perfectly well known that addiction to narcotics is prevalent in Saskatchewan and it is commonly believed that in spite of the efforts of the police to break up the traffic the indulgence in narcotics is on the increase. Whatever may be the situation in other provinces, Saskatchewan patently has a serious narcotics problem on its hands, and it is time that the people of the province woke up to the fact. The efforts of the police to break up the traffic in narcotics should be supported by parents who know or suspect that their children have become victims to it.

strength of the wood is concerned. These tests were made to meet the conflicting claims of wood workers, some of whom maintained that the kiln-dried wood was brash and not equal in strength to the air-dried, while others contended that the kiln-dried was much the stronger of the two.

The belief that kiln drying produces stronger wood than air drying is usually the result of failure to consider differences in moisture content," says a statement issued by the Forest Products Laboratory. "The moisture content of wood from 2 to 6 per cent. lower than that of thoroughly air-dried stock. Since wood rapidly increases in strength with loss of moisture, higher strength values may be obtained from kiln-dried than from air-dried wood. Such a difference in strength has no significance, since in a piece of wood will come practically the same moisture condition whether it is dried or air dried.

"It must be emphasized that the appearance of the dried wood is not a reliable criterion of the effect of drying process has had upon its strength. The strength properties may be seriously injured without visible damage to the wood. Also, it has been found that the same kiln-dried process can not be applied with equal success to all species.

OIL ON RIVER ROUTS FIRST PITTSBURGH FOG

Local and Federal Officials Court Extended a Success and Will Extend Operations.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 30.—(Associated Press).—A large section of Pittsburgh fog was completely put out of business by local scientists, assisted by officials of the Weather Bureau and experts from the United States Engineering Department.

The initial experiment, conducted on the Monongahela River, was pronounced a "distinct success." The official fog removers expressed their belief as confident that considerable "Pittsburgh gloom" will be avoided this fall and winter, provided moderate funds are available.

The experiment consisted of liberating the Monongahela River from Rice's Landing to a point one and one-half miles upstream early in the morning.

Notified by the Weather Bureau that a cold wave would sweep through the valley, scientists took the government boat Evelyn, a derrick and a barge fitted with sprinkling apparatus and proceeded to Rice's Landing. As the cold air and warmer water met and fog began to form, a thin spray of oil and organic acid was spread over a broad area of the river. The fog dissipated rapidly. The oil prevented the union of the air and water.

Major J. Franklin Bell of the Federal Engineering Department, Dr. E. Ward Tilston of the Mellon Institute and Dr. H. B. Meller, city smoke expert, were included in the party.

Another experiment on a much broader scale, will be held as soon as the Weather Bureau forecasts another nice, thick fog, they said.

THE TRAGEDY OF GREECE

With the fall of Constantine of Greece for the second time, the logic of events again points to the man who was sacrificed that the deposed king might return. Venizelos has proved his skill as a diplomat, and his strength as a statesman had been permitted to continue his good work would have saved Greece from the humiliation which Constantine's treachery and unwise rule has brought.

Constantine is succeeded by his eldest son, George, who when his father first abdicated in 1917 refused to meet the wishes of the Allies, preferring exile in Switzerland while his younger brother, Alexander, ruled as king. Whether the Greeks will invite Venizelos to again take the helm of the ship of state is not known, but he would seem to be the one man who could hope to make much headway in repairing the damage to the nation which has been wrought by the debacle in Asia Minor. He should never have been rejected in favor of the Kaiser's brother-in-law. When Bulgaria showed signs of entering the war in 1918, Venizelos, who was then Premier of Greece, assured Great Britain and France that if they would send 100,000 men to Saloniki Greece would mobilize. A little later Constantine signed the mobilization decree, and when Bulgaria joined the Teutonic powers it was expected that Greece would become a belligerent on the side of the Allies. But Constantine promptly forced Venizelos in the premises and succeeded in having selected a cabinet that was strongly pro-German. The result was that Serbia was left by Greece to meet a united attack by Germany, Austria and Bulgaria. Constantine's hostility to the Allies became more apparent as Germany made headway in the campaign, and the German trained officers and instructors in the Greek army increased their obstruction of Allied plans until Great Britain and France demanded his abdication. That was in June, 1917, many months too late. But Constantine left the throne and was succeeded by his second son, who saw the wisdom of co-operating with the Allies. Alexander's death in 1920, following a bite from a pet monkey, led to an anti-Venizelist movement, and much to the surprise of the civilized world the populace forced the Premier to leave the country and welcomed back the man who was destined to shatter the foundations of the nation and lose for Greece the great advantage it had gained as a result of the diplomacy of Venizelos and his leadership in the war.

No sooner had Constantine taken up anew the reins of power than he began to get Greece into further trouble. What happened is very well explained by a close observer of Near East conditions:

"Constantine felt it necessary to add a halo of military glory to his crown, and he encouraged the popular legend associated with his name. It was the first Constantine who founded Constantinople; the eleventh Constantine gave his life to defend the city against the Turks; it was the twelfth Constantine who would recover it, and win St. Sophia once more for Christians and Greece. 'To the city, Twelfth Constantine!' was cry which Royalist mobs chanted when he drove through the streets of Athens. His expedition to Asia Minor was intended to establish his fame and throne, and give him a vantage ground from which to regain the ancient capital of the Eastern Empire. Now all his projects have fallen like a house of cards, and once more the cry goes up for Venizelos, but that astute statesman is hardly likely to undertake the impossible task of trying to repair his ungrateful country's fortunes, and to incur the odium of inevitable failure."

The new ruler at Athens was recently married to a princess of Roumania, and it is pointed out that "because of this dynastic tie with Greece, Roumania will not be inclined to favor Turkish pretensions at the coming peace conference—If, indeed, the conference project is not forestalled by reports from various cities where this method of transportation is in use. Less than three per cent of the milk that is brought into Cincinnati is transported by railroads even under normal conditions, and milk produce dealers in the vicinity of Cleveland are reported to be using trucks altogether. Milk coming to Philadelphia by trucks now amounts to 64,169 quarts daily, and it is estimated that trucks operating out of Louisville, Ky., will soon be handling 80 tons of supplies both on the out-bound and inbound trips.

"Under normal conditions the truck and interurbans handle seventy-five per cent of all perishable foodstuffs in Kentucky and Southern Indiana. The meat packing industry has also adopted motor transportation. Fifteen express lines for handling live stock shipments within a radius of forty-five miles of Kansas City have been established. Another Kansas City motor line is planning to extend its radius of haul to a maximum of sixty-five miles."

NIGHT SCHOOLS

By day the necessity for at least a night education becomes more and more apparent. There are many, however, circumstances during their youth that prevent them from receiving instruction sufficient for their requirements or that they now feel the loss keenly. With this idea in view that the school trustees established free night schools for boys and men, which would be held on marked week days and will commence for the season on next Monday. At School, on the east side, and Albert School, on the west side, have been designated by the board for these classes in reading, writing, spelling and arithmetic, while the classes in mechanical drawing, which have been conducted for some years in Centennial School, will continue.

The school board deserves a high measure of commendation for the inauguration and carrying out of this work and those teachers who have undertaken to devote some of their spare time to helping their fellow men to equip themselves mentally to meet life's problems expect to find the most appropriate expression of encouragement in a large attendance at the classes.

The time taken up by men and boys attending these night schools may mean a curtailing of the hours of recreation and entertainment during the winter, but the slight sacrifice now is bound to increase their capacity for entertainment of a much more substantial nature in the future and in addition fit them more completely to carry out their duties as citizens and make their way in the world.

Does the New Brunswick Power Company want to sell its property? If so, it is at liberty to name a price that does not give value to watered stock and is not based upon an inflated valuation of a plant which has been permitted to depreciate to such an extent. But the city is not bidding for the Power Company's property, or any part of it. Therefore it will not agree to arbitration.

Some of the supporters of the New Brunswick Power Company apparently are prepared to go to any length in their misrepresentation of the hydro cause and those who, in the interest of the city, are demanding relief from the staggering burden of monopoly rates and monopoly dictation. But the public understands.

Use of the motor truck for hauling merchandise and commodities over long and short distances is expanding rapidly from year to year. Expansion is being unusually rapid during the current year, and it is estimated that during 1922 industrial corporations and mercantile firms will spend approximately $1,000,000,000 for the purchase and maintenance of trucks, including the cost of machines, purchase of tires, oils, gasoline, parts and equipment. The production of trucks alone for 1922 is expected to amount to approximately $250,000,000 against $166,000,000 in 1921.

Farmers in all sections of the country, especially those within hauling distance of large city markets, increased their demands for trucks this year. Operation of his own trucks gives the farmer the opportunity to sell his own crops at first hand and obtain better prices.

"The growth in bus transportation, which has now got out of the hands of the old rough 'jitney' class of operators and into the control of substantial concerns which seek to operate regular lines, will increase the demand for this class of transportation," according to the National Highway Builders Association. "Trucks will be needed to carry coal over comparatively long routes to help the railroads, whose capacities will be taxed to the limit. It has been computed that coal can be shipped economically by highway over a great distance, as that from Scranton, Pa., in the anthracite district, to New York City, because of the saving effected in loading, unloading and lighterage charges. The coal delivery companies in the cities, which have been idle all summer, will need additional trucks in order to convey the winter's supply to householders."

To meet these expected demands for trucks, motor car manufacturers in the country are speeding up production as fast as conditions permit.

"Convincing evidence of the increased use of the motor truck is furnished by the proposal to link all large cities by trunk highways," the writer says. "The Associated Highways of America, representing interstate highways, plans to have a national trunk highway system that will connect the three largest cities in each state. Many medium sized cities and towns along the route would also be included, so that much of the time now required to ship manufactured articles even for short distances would be saved. It is believed that a trunk highway system for the entire country is not only feasible but is becoming a necessity."

"The extent to which the motor truck is being used at present is indicated by reports from various cities where this method of transportation is in use. Less than three per cent of the milk that is brought into Cincinnati is transported by railroads even under normal conditions, and milk produce dealers in the vicinity of Cleveland are reported to be using trucks altogether. Milk coming to Philadelphia by trucks now amounts to 64,169 quarts daily, and it is estimated that trucks operating out of Louisville, Ky., will soon be handling 80 tons of supplies both on the out-bound and inbound trips.

"Under normal conditions the truck and interurbans handle seventy-five per cent of all perishable foodstuffs in Kentucky and Southern Indiana. The meat packing industry has also adopted motor transportation. Fifteen express lines for handling live stock shipments within a radius of forty-five miles of Kansas City have been established. Another Kansas City motor line is planning to extend its radius of haul to a maximum of sixty-five miles."

Lesson No. 118.
POINTS TO REMEMBER.

Remember that: Windings for tuning coils and loose couplers should not be heavily coated with shellac or varnish so the practice increases the distributed capacity of the coil, thereby reducing the efficiency of the receiver. A very thin layer only should be used, which will be sufficient to hold the wires in place.

The distributed capacity of coils for receiving purposes can be reduced by winding a thread between the turns at the same time that the wire is wound on the tubing. This spaces the turns and is well worth the extra work involved in construction since the circuit will tune sharper.

Poor connections in receiving circuits are the cause of much "rattling" and other annoying noises in the telephone receivers. All connections should be either soldered or made secure under screws or binding posts.

If no signals are heard, when everything is apparently in shape, touch the tips of the telephone cord across a single dry cell. If no click is heard there is an open circuit in the cord or telephone, the trouble sometimes occurring at the connections to the receivers themselves. After considerable use the cord also frequently breaks inside the outer covering, a condition which is not apparent from the outside and can be determined only by testing in the manner described.

A common source of trouble in home-made receiving sets is in the fixed condenser where the terminal wires connect with the tin foil. If care is not exercised in making these connections, an open circuit will probably result at some future time, especially in condensers which are saturated with paraffin.

Never paint the receiving set with black shellac or other paint which contains lamp black (a form of carbon) or similar conductive materials. Such practice will undoubtedly seriously affect the strength of the received signals.

"Peroxide" is an excellent substance for polishing hard rubber and bringing it back to its former black glossy finish.

The sensitivity of some detector crystals is greatly reduced by being subjected to the heat necessary to secure them in cups with any of the various alloys for that purpose. Such crystals should be held in clips or cups fitted with set screws which grip and hold the crystal firmly.

Since the various detector tubes work most efficiently with grid leak adjusted to the individual tube, it is necessary to provide some simple method of changing the resistance of the grid leak. This can be done by having a number of leaks which snap into clips or by making a pencil mark between two binding posts on a piece of bakelite or other similar material. The resistance may be varied by erasing or adding to the pencil mark.

Dead-end losses in a receiving set may be greatly reduced by splitting the various inductance coils into sections that, by means of a switch, the portions of the coil not actually in use are entirely disconnected and not unilaterally connected to the circuit.

ADVICE.
Advice is cheap, we've heard folks say:
It's what we love to give away
Till every friend receives a slice
Of our good, honest, frank advice.

It is not like a rummage sale,
Where folks bring out old things and stale
From rooms where they their refuse keep,
And give or sell them very cheap.

It's not a store, where folks display
Things second-hand, when going away,
And thus a bargain sale arrange,
Because they wish to make a change.

It is a way folks have, to choose
The things too good for them to use.
They're given most precious, jewels best,
And give them freely to the rest.

If everyone would take today
Advice such as he gives away,
And keep it clean and polished too,
As he would have his neighbors do.

You'd see our whole great social crowd
So richly dressed that you'd feel proud.
Oh! wouldn't everyone be nice—
If he'd obey his own advice.

Baseball Banquet.
St. Luke's Tuxis baseball team held a successful banquet last night in honor of one of its members, Ralph Walsh, who is to leave today to make his home in Newton (Mass.).

R. Edgar Adams, business manager of the team, acted as chairman and toastmaster, and after an address of welcome, called on the rector, Rev. R. P. McKim, to present Mr. Walsh with a pair of handsome cuff links, suitably engraved, on behalf of the team. He also presented him, on behalf of the curate, Rev. E. P. Wright, who was unavoidably absent by illness, a copy of the New Testament.

Walsh replied in a very fitting manner. After a round of Tuxis songs, the chairman called on Cecil Williams, playing manager, to propose a toast to "Our Friends." This was responded to by W. L. Seely. A toast, "The Grand Old Game," proposed by W. E. Craft, was responded to by Captain Pitt. A toast, "The Ladies," was proposed by Ronald Morrison and responded to by Mrs. Dunlap. After a few remarks by the senior warden, W. A. Cronk, the meeting was brought to a close by singing the national anthem.

KATHARINE SHERRILL.
(In 1776 the Indians attacked the fort of the Watauga settlers and Katharine Sherrill made her famous stand for life. Four years later she became the wife of John Sevier. Details of the story are variously related, but it has become one of Tennessee's cherished traditions.)

"Indian! Indian! Run, Girls, Run!"
It was a foreigner's cry,
To the women who milked the cows outside.
They ran, a whoop and a gun's report
Spending their lives with a swift
Farthest of all from its sheltering
Latest to catch and heed the call,
Was Katharine Sherrill, fairest of maidens
In all Watauga's forest glades.
Hearing, she sprang like a startled deer
And fled on feet that were winged away—
But the call had come a moment later,
The redskins cut her off from the
And while the rifles blazed away
Rushed yelling and gloating to seize their prey.

At the gate of the fort bold John Sevier,
Statesman and warrior and pioneer,
Was grasped by a dozen hands and stayed
As he tried to rush to the fleeing maid—
Grasped by the back, and the great bar dropped—
It was certain death if he were not stopped,
And better a girl he captive led
Than the foremost man of the West
he died.

FOREIGN ALLIANCES.
(Toronto Globe)
The English court is in mourning for a month. It mourns the death of the Duke of Albany, who first raised Queen Victoria's youngest son, Leopold, and long the recipient of an allowance from the nation. Born in Germany, it is claimed for her that her sympathies during the Great War were with the British cause.

It was not so with her son, one of the two children born of the brief union which ended with the death of Leopold after two years of wedded life. That son, Duke of Albany, was sent as a boy to Eton. While there he was offered the succession to the German principality of Saxe-Coburg, which his uncle, the Duke of Connaught, and the latter's son, Prince Arthur of Connaught, had both declined. The offer was accepted for the little Duke of Albany, and he was sent to Germany for the rest of his education. It appears to have been through, for he was not only pro-German during the great war, as might well have been expected, but he was violently anti-British. He publicly rejoiced in the sinking of the Lusitania and other outrages.

If the circumstances surrounding this peculiar family situation and the month's mourning in the English court prove anything, they prove the advisability of royal alliances within the British Empire in future. There is much speculation as to the bride who is to be chosen for the Prince of Wales. The Prince of Wales should be allowed to choose for himself among the maidens of the United Kingdom and the overseas dominions.

SITE OF ANCIENT CARTRIDGE CUT UP FOR BUILDING LOTS
Carthage, Tunis, French Africa, Sept. 1.—The site of an ancient Carthage is being sold off and divided into building lots, and the surrounding hill, rich in history, are being slowly covered with residential villas.

Archaeologists point out that if this building is permitted to continue, a fair excavation work will be seriously hampered, as the new proprietors object to the removal of their yards by workmen, no matter what treasures of history may lie underneath.

Two French Government employees of the Department of Tunis lately bought a piece of ground on the site of the old city, and before building their homes started to dig out what was underneath the surface. After pa-

DECREASE IN GERMAN COAL.

Importation of English Fuel the Cause Says Consul.

The decrease in German coal production, which has been going on steadily since last March, is due primarily to the increasing importation of English fuel into Germany, says Nathaniel P. Davis, American Vice Consul in Berlin.

"German industrial circles are much concerned over the constantly rising cost of German coal as compared with English. Anthracite from the Ruhr district now costs, 1,671 marks per metric ton c.i.f. Hamburg, including taxes, whereas the English fuel is offered there for 1,295 marks," continues Mr. Davis. "Further advances in the price for German coal, which are expected in the near future, will place a still greater premium on the English product."

"Statistical reports show fuel exports from Germany to be greater than before the war, and the suggestion has been made, both in the Reichstag and in the press, that all exports of coal be forbidden in order that the needs of German industry may be met without resort to imported fuel. The total export of coal from Germany in 1921 was about 28,500,000 metric tons, including 18,000,000 tons delivered to the Entente as reparations. About 6,000,000 metric tons went to former German territory alienated by the peace treaty but still dependent on Germany economically, and to neighboring states largely dependent on Germany for coal, such as Poland, Austria and Hungary. Of the remaining 2,500,000 metric tons exported, deliveries to the Netherlands under the terms of the treaty of 1920 amounted to more than 1,000,000 tons and shipments to Czechoslovakia in return for Bohemian lignite to some 1,000,000 tons.

"It thus appears that the only way for Germany to obtain more domestic coal for its own use is to increase production. The most serious difficulty in the way of such action is the fact that German miners are turning to the more profitable employment. The building trades in particular are drawing away the miners by offering higher wages. Unskilled labor in these trades is paid on the average of about 200 marks per day at the present time, as against 200 marks per day earned by the miner. Employers in the building trades also earn handsome conditions to their waxes by doing overtime work.

"Although more concern is shown regarding sufficient supplies of coal than regarding prices, the latter question is by no means unimportant. Coal prices have been raised every few weeks for months, and there is no immediate prospect of this movement being checked."

The wild districts of Lochaber, from earliest times, been the scenes of strife; fierce encounters between clan and clan, and between Highlanders and Commonwealth troops, down to the gathering of the Clansmen for Prince Charlie in 1746.

The most famous chief at the battle of Killiecrankie was Sir Ewen Lochiel. He was here Dundee was slain in gannet victory, and Achnacary was the meeting place of the clans joining the Jacobite army.

"Gentle Lochiel," Sir Ewen's grandson, was in 1746 the principal supporter of Prince Charles, who first raised his standard at Glenfinnan in August, 1745. From Glenfinnan the prince moved to Kinloch, and later to Fassfern, and slept there in the present house.

After the defeat at Culloden, Lochiel's possessions were destroyed, and he hid himself in the mountains of the Highlands, eventually escaping with him to France. The ill-fated prince traveled almost all of the estates now to be sold, and hid in a cave close to Achnacary Castle.

THE ORIGINAL PIPELESS FURNACE TRIPLE-CASING PATENT

FIRST HUNTING FATALITY FOR THE SEASON OF 1922

The first shooting fatality in the province this season occurred at Grand Bay, yesterday afternoon, when Samuel Burton Johnston, aged eighteen years, was killed by his cousin and pal, Kenneth Calvin, as he stepped from behind a bush in front of Calvin's gun just as it was discharged at a partridge.

The accident occurred in the backlands about two miles from Grand Bay, where the two boys had gone last Thursday for a short camping trip. It seems that Kenneth Calvin was taking aim at a partridge and just as he fired his cousin, Burton Johnston, stepped out from behind a bush about two feet from the muzzle of the gun, and received the discharge in the left temple, causing a fracture of the skull. The accident happened shortly before 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and he died about 6 o'clock. Immediately after the shooting Calvin started for Grand Bay to get help. Harry Hamm, a farmer, drove out to the backlands with Calvin and brought in the wounded man, who was unconscious from the time he was shot, to the summer cottage at Grand Bay. Dr. Stewart Skinner, who happened to be passing the place, was stopped and gave what medical attention could be given. Dr. L. M. Curran, who had been summoned, was soon on the scene, as was Hon. Dr. W. F. Roberts, who was notified by Samuel Johnston, the father of the victim, who went out with Dr. Roberts. Dr. Curran dressed the wound, but death was inevitable, as the top of the boy's head was practically blown off by the shot from the gun.

Burton Johnston has been associated with his father for some time in the business of house-raising and general repair work, and his death comes as a severe shock to the members of his family and his many friends. Besides his parents, he is survived by two brothers, Reginald Merritt and Raymond Kitchener, aged twelve and seven years, and one sister, Mrs. John Boyce, of this city. Kenneth Calvin, whose gun caused the death of Johnston, belongs to Grand Bay and his parents' home is situated next to the summer cottage owned by Samuel Johnston, which the unfortunate youth assisted his father in building. The funeral will be held from his parents' residence, 2 Camden street, on Sunday afternoon.

THE PARIS TRIAL

John Paris, charged with the murder of Sadie McAuley in Riverview Park, North End, on Aug. 2, 1921, left the witness stand in his fifth trial at 11 o'clock yesterday afternoon and gave place to Dr. Deane McCurdy, of Truro, who testified that he saw Paris in Oscar Clyde's house in the island district of Truro on that date. Paris was on the stand at 4:20 on Thursday afternoon and was subjected to an exhaustive cross-examination by Hon. J. P. Byrne, the attorney-general, who devoted much time to the detection of discrepancies between present and previous evidence given by the defendant. Following Dr. McCurdy as a witness was George Hill, a young farmer of Onslow, three miles from Truro. Mr. Hill said that Paris was on his marsh on Aug. 3, 1921, and spoke to him about a place to pick mushrooms.

THREE CHILDREN DIED PLAYED WITH LAMP

Winnipeg, Sept. 30—Three children of Mr. and Mrs. Armand St. Godard, of Elizabeth, Man., ranging in age from three years to two months, were burned to death when fire destroyed their home. During the absence of the mother, who was outside milking, it is believed the children upset a lamp on a table. When the mother returned she found the inside of the house in flames. Help was summoned from the neighborhood but it was too late to make any attempt to rescue the children. Only a few charred remains were found in the smouldering ashes.

RECENT DEATHS

Mrs. Robert H. Irwin.

The many friends of Mrs. Odessa Irwin, wife of Robert H. Irwin, of Lower Golden Grove, will regret to learn of her death, which occurred at 12:30 o'clock this morning at the home of Robert J. Kelly, 106 Waterloo street. She had been ill of heart trouble for some time, but her death came unexpectedly. Mrs. Irwin was formerly Miss Odessa Jones, of Kings county, and had been a respected resident of Lower Golden Grove since her marriage thirty-one years ago. She is survived by her husband, three sons—Arnold B., of Lower Golden Grove, and R. Edgar and Walter H., both of St. John; and one daughter, Miss Ella M. Irwin, of this city. The death of Mrs. Mary E. Howes, widow of Samuel Howes, occurred at 4:40 yesterday afternoon at the home of her son, George W. Howes, 8 Brindley street. For the last year Mrs. Howes had been in declining health, although able to be about most of the time. The end of her life came suddenly after a paralytic stroke on Sunday morning. She was partly conscious all the week, and she passed peacefully away. Mrs. Howes was born in Lakeview, Queens county, seventy-eight years ago and spent all her life, with the exception of the past five years, on a farm where she was born. Since leaving Lakeview she had resided with her son in Brindley street. From early childhood she had been attached to the Baptist

A DOUBLE SHOOTING FOLLOWS REPRIMAND
Youth Shoots Woman and Then Himself.

Kingsport, Ont., Sept. 30.—Mrs. Rupert Aylesworth, who resides at Sunnyside, about two miles north of Cataraqui, was shot in the right arm with a bullet from a .32 calibre revolver in the hands, it is alleged, of Thomas Smiley, a youth aged about twenty, who has been employed at the Aylesworth farm for about two years. Following the shooting, Smiley fled to the woods.

The shooting, it is alleged, followed a reprimand of Smiley by Mrs. Aylesworth for unbecoming conduct. When a posse approached Smiley fled about a mile and a half from the Aylesworth farm he opened fire on them and then shot himself behind the ear. He was brought to the general hospital and surgeons think he may recover.

EMPRESS ASHORE AT BLACK POINT

C. P. R. Bay Steamer Ran Aground in Dense Fog Yesterday

Seventy-three Passengers Safely Removed and Brought to City—Members of Crew Row to City and Tug Goes to Rescue.

The C. P. R. Bay steamer Empress ran aground at Black Point shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon while enroute from Digby to this city. She had seventy-three passengers on board, mostly women and children, and they were taken off the steamer and brought here by the tug Neptune. The accident occurred while the steamer was proceeding along in a dense fog. Quite a sea was running at the time and the first intimation of danger was when the bank of fog lifted sufficiently to show a ledge of rock a short distance in front of the steamer. The engines were reversed, but she had so much headway that she struck before her progress could be retarded. There was a general rush to the deck as the steamer began to settle. An effort was made to attract attention by repeated sounding of the whistle, but when this failed a boat was launched, manned by Quarter Master McGrath and seamen Wilfred Kendall, Gerald Cooper and Guy Musella and they started on their long row for help. They arrived at Reid's wharf at 7:15 o'clock and when C. P. R. officials were notified arrangements were made to send the tug Neptune to the scene. She got away about an hour later and was standing by the Empress. The passengers were taken in boats to the tug and brought safely to the city arriving at 10:35. After the steamer struck every person on board were fitted with life belts. They were all told that there was no grave danger and that the shore was only a short distance away.

The crew and officers all remained on the vessel while the tug Margaret A. Hackett and Wasson and later the Neptune stood by. She is said to be lying in a precarious position and is about half way on a ledge and was taking water quite fast.

MUCH GOLD TAKEN FROM LOST LINER

Laurentic, Torpedoed During the War, Yields Her Sunken Treasure to Divers

Torn by tremendous Atlantic gales to such an extent that her boilers were burst from their fixings and smashed their way through the ship's side, the noted White Star-Dominion liner Laurentic, which was torpedoed off the north coast of Ireland in 1917 while in the naval service, lies at the bottom of the ocean completely shattered, according to official reports just received at the local offices of the White Star-Dominion line.

Diving operations were carried on during the summers of 1917, 1919 and 1920, and during this time over a million and a half sterling in gold bullion is said to have been salvaged from the wreck. During 1921 and the present summer an additional two and a half million pounds' worth of gold have been recovered after strenuous efforts. The ship itself is almost obliterated by sand, and now is but a torn and twisted mass of rusty stock, and woodwork, covered with all kinds of marine growths. What remains of the ship is lying at a depth of 40 fathoms, while in order to recover the bullion, which was deposited in the ship's strong room, it was necessary for the diver to go down another 120 feet until they reached the bottom of the ship's keel.

The gales experienced during last winter continued the breaking up of the vessel, and it is now practically all filled up with sand and mud. Officers of the Admiralty who superintended the salvage operations state that the fact that gold was there proved a tremendous lure to the large forces of divers employed, and spurred them on to almost superhuman efforts, and so keen were the men in their work that more than once they seriously endangered their lives trying to remain below the surface for too long a period at one time. Very little remains of the hull, and it is anticipated that the greater part of the ingots will have been recovered by the end of the present season.

Financial Reverses Interrupted Woman's College Course.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 30.—Forty-six years ago, Miss Idellia Hawley, of Aurora, Ill., entered the University of Michigan as a freshman. After the end of the year, because of finance reverses, she had to go to work to help support her family and could not return. In course of time she married, and the family moved to Seattle. Later on she was unfortunately left a widow. There she took her sophomore and junior years at the University of Washington, but always loyal to Michigan, she wanted her degree from here. Today she returned and re-entered Michigan, and she will receive her A. B. degree just 47 years later, but none the less appreciated. Incidentally, in '76, board and room cost her $2 a week. Today they cost $13.50.

Turkish Hordes Menace Christendom

The smoking ruins of Smyrna, the shallow graves of a thousand slaughtered non-combatants, the call for help from scores of thousands of starving, homeless, war-crazed refugees, the presence of a victorious Turkish host across the Straits from Constantinople, are facts which in themselves compel a searching of hearts by American and Canadian editors to see whether any of the responsibility for what has happened may lie with United States. And while these facts are terrible enough in themselves, there appears behind them, to many an editorial vision, the specters of Islamic "holy wars" against Christendom and a militant alliance of the outcast nations and the yellow races against what we call western civilization.

Russian support of the Turkish Nationalist cause has been affirmed again and again in official pronouncements from Moscow. Once upon a time, after a defeat at the hands of allied Christian armies, a Turkish Sultan ordered this prayer to be recited at sunset in every mosque in the Ottoman Empire: "May the Angel of Discord, who has always been our ally, come again to our aid and confound our enemies." Whether or not the Sultan resides in Constantinople, no Turkish army should be permitted in Europe or within striking distance of the Straits, thinks the New York World.

COMMISSIONER J. H. FRINK AND ARBITRATION

(Contributed by Hardware Clerks' Association.)

The attitude Commissioner Frink with regard to the proposals of Mayor McLellan dealing with arbitration will no doubt meet with warm approval from the great majority of citizens who are anxious to secure power and light at cost, without the addition of private profit and monopoly charges. That Commissioner Frink is absolutely right in his stand is illustrated by the following figures showing how valuation climbs under ordinary arbitration methods. These figures are taken from "Regulation Valuation and Depreciation of Public Utilities," by Samuel S. Wynn, a prominent consulting engineer and writer. Take an original investment of $60,000 in real money. To this is added taxes during construction, first interest, and value, bringing amount up to $70,000. Then the amount of interest during construction is taken, together with organization, other overheads, another $10,000 of intangible value is added, bringing total up to $80,000. Then comes promotion, bond discount, etc., amounting to $20,000, making altogether a grand total of $100,000 valuation on an actual cash investment of $60,000. To further support the stand taken by the commissioner of public works, the following quotations from the same publication will show what the writer's experience in valuations is based upon.

What going value includes.—"The cost of developing a utility business may be made up of many different kinds of expenditures. It may include the cost of advertising, of soliciting, of demonstrations, showing the advantage of the service, of making free connections, of the granting of lower than the regular rates, and of many other outlays of this character in order to secure customers. It may also include losses to the investors because of the fact that the plants in their earlier years failed to earn enough to meet all the requirements for operating expenses, INCLUDING DEPRECIATION and reasonable return upon investment."

When good-will is of no value.—"Good-will is of little or no commercial value when the business is a natural monopoly with which the customer must deal, whether he will or not."

"A monopoly has no good will, for its customers are retained by compulsion, not by their choice."

Franchise valuation for rate cases.—"The fair valuation of franchise for rate making purposes cannot be earning value. Earnings are dependent upon the rates that are exacted, and hence the higher the rates the more valuable are the franchises and vice versa. The only value that justifies both investor and consumer is that value which is represented by costs."

The light and power consumer of St. John can, by a civic owned distribution system, secure current at cost.

Y. M. C. A. HOLDS ANNUAL BANQUET

General Secretary of the National Council Tells of Work in Maritime Provinces.

The fifty-seventh annual Y. M. C. A. banquet in St. John was held last night. F. T. Barbour was in the chair and there was a good attendance. An excellent supper was served by the ladies' auxiliary. Mr. Barbour gave a short resume of Y. M. C. A. progress in the city and then introduced the new members of the staff: A. M. Gregg, general secretary; C. M. McCully, social secretary; Arthur B. Horwood, boys' work secretary; Harold Williams, assistant boys' work secretary, and William Bowie, physical director, who is remaining this year. Harry Ballantyne, formally presented the class C. hexathlon shield which was won by this association. A. J. Keenan was the shield on behalf of the athletic team. The closing address was given by George A. Gregg, of Korea, who told of the foreign work of the association.

General Secretary Here.

With the idea of changing maritime headquarters from time to time in the interests of Y. M. C. A. work, it was suggested at the recent convention in Halifax that the headquarters be moved to St. John but no decision was arrived at. Harry Ballantyne, general secretary of the national council of Canada and George A. Gregg, industrial secretary in Seoul, Korea, who are touring the maritime provinces, returned to the city yesterday. Mr. Ballantyne said that there were now nine associations in these provinces and he thought that, given reasonable financial support, the work should ahead fast. He had toured six of the nine, he said. There were now eighty-seven associations in Canada with 50,000 members and 240 employed secretaries. It has been decided to invite W. R. Cook, of the Ontario and Quebec council, to become territorial secretary for the maritime provinces in place of R. Sidiemus, who has left to be general secretary at Belleville, Ont. Mr. Ballantyne has been in Y. M. C. A. work for twenty-two years and has risen to have full charge of the Canadian associations. In discussing the work of the national council, Mr. Ballantyne told of his various spheres of endeavor, including the meeting of immigrants at the seaports. He said that the work here in the winter was done by A. H. Jones.

LATE TRAIN.

The Boston train was three hours late reaching the city today, due to it being said to some delay on the Maine Central railway.

METER MACHINE FOR POST OFFICE

Department at Ottawa Considering Adoption of a Novel Device.

Ottawa, Sept. 29.—The post office department is considering the adoption of a "meter machine," which, it is said, will greatly expedite the sorting and despatch of mail matter and eliminate to a great extent the necessity for the purchase of large quantities of stamps by business firms, the postage being paid in cash for a certain allotment of mail, and the machine automatically recording the quantity of letters thus paid for.

The machine, which is driven by a small electric motor, prints an impression on each letter signifying that, say three cents postage has been paid, also showing the date and hour at which the letter was prepared for mailing. If desired, it also seals the letter in the one operation.

VAIN EFFORTS THIS MORNING TO FREE EMPRESS

Bay Steamer Fast on Rocks—Another Trial This Evening—Good Work Getting Passengers Off the Vessel Last Night.

An unsuccessful effort was made this morning to refloat the C. P. R. Bay Steamer Empress, which ran on Black Point late yesterday afternoon while enroute from Digby to this port. The tugs Neptune and Margaret A. Mackett, assisted by the steamer's own engine, were forced to desist. Another effort will be made this evening and in the meanwhile arrangements are being made to blast some of the rock away so to loosen the strain on the vessel and with a hope that it will facilitate the task of refloating her.

Superintendent J. H. Boyle of Brownville, who is acting general superintendent of the New Brunswick district during the absence of J. M. Woodman, is taking charge of proceedings and being assisted by Captain A. J. Mulcahy.

Speaking of the condition of the Empress the superintendent said that there is water in No. 1 hold and in the tunnel, but so far as can be ascertained, the hull has not been pierced, but some of the plates are loosened and strained.

He said that the entire cargo had been removed without damage. Included in the cargo were fourteen head of cattle which were brought off the steamer a little before noon on a barge.

The passengers on board, he said, numbered 110 in addition to thirty-two crew members. He said he was thankful that no one was injured. The tugs are still standing by and the officers and crew remained on board.

Regarding an announcement of a continuation of the service the superintendent said that this would be taken care of by the officials in Montreal who were keeping in touch with the situation so soon as anything definite was arranged an announcement would be made.

Captain Mulcahy speaking about the accident said that the Empress was about four miles from the bell buoy off Partridge Island. He maintains that if the ship had been a quarter of a mile farther out it would have come right out in St. John Harbor. He said it was certainly hard luck for Captain Mulcahy whom he considers one of the finest and most careful navigators that ever took a ship across the Bay.

He also desired to pay a tribute to the efficiency of the officers and crew on the Empress who placed every passenger safely on the tugs without the slightest mishap. Among the passengers were several babies in arms and he was restored to their mothers without a scratch. He considers their work was highly commendable.

With regard to the Empress he said no survey would be made until the steamer had been placed in such a position that the extent of the damage could be ascertained. He said she is in a very exposed position, but that the C. P. R. officials were sparing neither money or effort to bring the ship safely away.

AN IMPORTANT COAL STATEMENT

Provincial Fuel Administrator Gives New Brunswick People Summary of Philadelphia Agreement, and Advises Course.

(Anthracite Operators and Pennsylvania Fuel Commission, Philadelphia, September 21)

Messrs. McGrath & McCourt from Federal Advisory Fuel Commission present.

The Pennsylvania Commission will control the distribution of anthracite supplies.

It was stated that the anthracite production for the year ending 31st of March next would probably permit a distribution of say sixty per cent of last year's supply.

It was made absolutely clear to our representatives that there would be no discrimination against Canada. In other words, the same distribution basis as all the states which are dependent in part at least upon anthracite coal for fuel supply.

There seemed to be considerable concern in the minds of the United States representatives as to the possibility of Canadian importers in their eagerness for coal, attempting to bid up prices. The result of such action naturally would have a tendency to increase prices to the United States consumer, and the Pennsylvania committee naturally would resent any action on the part of our dealers contributing to such a condition. Their position in a word was, your people are to be treated the same as ours, but your interests must not attempt to do that which is going to throw a greater obligation upon ours, and if anything is done in the nature of offering premiums over and above authorized prices, action may be taken by the Pennsylvania Fuel Commission which might jeopardize the Canadian supply.

No licenses are required on the part of the importers. The policy to be pursued is that all operators which have been supplying Canada are to give to Canada a fair share of supply based upon output.

The members of the Pennsylvania Fuel Commission urge that consumers of anthracite in Canada should call for some percentage of their supplies in the pea and buckwheat sizes, ordinarily used for steam purposes, it can be used with the domestic sizes in certain proportion to very good advantage.

Under the circumstances our committee thinks that you would be wise to bring to the attention of importers the desirability of getting such amounts of these smaller grades of coal as is possible. It is believed that buckwheat size will be in limited in tonnage charged against Canada.

New York is only to receive two weeks supply at a time.

A car shortage of about 100,000 cars is to be considered as well as tonnage mined and vast amounts of bituminous coal to be moved for railroads and steam plants.

This is a gentleman's agreement from Pennsylvania Fuel Commission to consumer and all are expected to keep it like gentlemen.

The whole province must be considered.

GEO. S. CUSHING, Provincial Fuel Administrator.

PLANNING Y.M.C.I. MEMBER DRIVE

Meeting Held Last Night—Central Committee is Appointed.

A meeting of representatives of parishes and wards throughout the city was held in the Y. M. C. I. auditorium last evening for the purpose of arranging to launch a membership drive. J. E. Quinn, president of the board of directors, presided. Rev. William M. Burns spoke on the aims and objects of the institute and outlined plans for future activities. The president also spoke along the same lines after which a general discussion ensued.

A central committee was appointed to arrange for ways and means to make the drive one of the largest and most successful in the history of the institute. It is proposed to launch the drive within the next two weeks. Activities for the season are now getting under way and physical classes, etc., will be started the first of next week.

A letter was read from a Catholic organization in Calgary asking for plans and specifications of the institute as they propose to organize and erect a building modeled after the local one. They anticipate an expenditure of $80,000, $20,000 of which they said has already been donated to them by Patrick Burns "King of the Meat Packers" in the west.

R. at Cleveland prior to his promotion to this district. Mr. Burpee, in conversation with a representative of the Times, said he was delighted to be back in St. John. He was met at the station by a number of friends, who extended congratulations and best wishes for continued success. Besides his wife he was accompanied by Mrs. McKeown, wife of Chief Justice McKeown, who had been their guest at Cleveland.

Deputation From Methodist Social Service Department to go to Ottawa to Ask That Practice be Stopped.

(Canadian Press Dispatch.)
Toronto, Sept. 29.—A deputation will go to Ottawa with a demand that the federal government pass a law to stop track gambling. Rev. Dr. Moore made an announcement to this effect during his presentation of the report on evangelism and social service to the Methodist general conference this afternoon. He asked the conference to stand behind this deputation.

Dr. Moore also called upon the church to continue the fight for prohibition until it was in force not only from one end of Canada to the other but also in Newfoundland and Bermuda. He condemned government control. "No government under heaven can control the sale of liquor," he said. "Liquor has the same bad effect when sold by a government vendor as when sold by a bar tender."

Rev. J. D. Simpson, reporting to conference for the superannuation fund, brought the recommendation that pensions to retired ministers be increased sixty-six and two-thirds per cent.

In the morning appeals were made for more emphasis on church resident schools for secondary education and for a more active programme in organizing new Sunday schools.

Sydney, N. McLachlan, secretary-treasurer of the Nova Scotia United Mine Workers, here tonight. Strong efforts are apparently being put forth in some quarters to embarrass the United Mine Workers' officers in their work.

WILL INAUGURATE

IF CARGO ENOUGH

Amherst, Sept. 29.—If the farmers of the maritime provinces will guarantee shipments of produce, the Canadian Government Merchant Marine, Ltd., will inaugurate a two boat steamship service, starting the end of October, between St. John and ports in the southern states. Such was the information given here this afternoon by C. D. Shipley, Amherst, who attended a conference at Sackville today of representatives of the Canadian government merchant marine and maritime shippers.

Those present were: W. A. Cunningham, Montreal, general freight agent of the merchant marine; M. T. Tompkins, general freight agent of the Canadian National Railway; M. C. W. C. Robinson, Sackville, a prominent New Brunswick shipper; A. C. Fawcett, M.P., Westmorland, and C. D. Shipley, Amherst.

Mr. Shipley said the merchant marine would expect the farmers of the maritime provinces to supply produce each trip that would include 30,000 bags of potatoes, about fifty tons of hay, and about 5,000 bags of turnips. The proposed service would be between St. John and Norfolk, Baltimore, Charleston, Savannah and Jacksonville in the southern states. Return cargoes would probably include fertilizers, cotton-seed, fruit, etc.

WAR MEMORIAL COMMITTEE WILL CONTINUE WORK

Authority to spend $500, if necessary, in securing a suitable design for the proposed civic monument to those who fell in the great war, was given the sub-committee on design, and location at the meeting called last night to hear the sub-committee's report. The meeting was held in the board of trade rooms, with the convenor of the main committee, R. T. Hayes, M. P., presiding, but was not largely attended, and neither of the two designs which the sub-committee submitted was unanimously approved of. The sub-committee was thanked for its effort and asked to continue its efforts and to report at a later meeting. Mr. Hayes recounted the steps taken in the matter of deciding to erect a monument in memory of those from St. John who gave their lives in the great war. The suggestion had first been made by the Municipal Chapter of the I. O. O. F., and the committee appointed to consider the matter had commissioned a sub-committee to decide upon the form of the memorial and the most suitable site. Miss F. Alward, the secretary, was asked to read the sub-committee's report. The report recommended that the monument to be erected cost not more than $20,000, and that it take the form of a cross of sacrifice, thirty-one feet six inches high, costing $6,000, set in a suitable semi-circular enclosure, the whole to cost about $10,000, or that it take the form of a shaft with bronze figures according to a design submitted by Hamilton McCarthy, of Ottawa, costing about $20,000, and also that with the permission of the mayor and council of the city the monument be erected in King square, at the head of King street. Mr. Hayes then explained further that an arch had been favored, but that it had been considered too expensive, sums varying from $35,000 to $70,000 being quoted as the cost of an arch. Mr. Watson, of the Imperial War Graves Commission, had suggested the cross of sacrifice, such as those placed in the military cemeteries overseas. The design submitted by Mr. McCarthy, who had made the monument of Champlain in Queen square, was similar to a war monument in South Carolina, and was a tall shaft with a Winged Victory in bronze in the centre and two bronze soldiers in the position of attack, one on either side of the base. Both designs had found favor with some members of the sub-committee.

R. E. Armstrong spoke in favor of the cross of sacrifice, symbolic of all branches of service, and as something to be an inspiration through the ages. He thought a soldier in the uniform of the present day would be obsolete in years to come.

W. L. Caldwell favored the cross of sacrifice, as similar large crosses had impressed him most in cemeteries overseas.

Colonel Sturdee made the motion that the cross of sacrifice, thirty-one and a half feet high, be erected. R. E. Armstrong seconded the motion.

Canon Armstrong asked why the second largest site was chosen if the site was the finest in the dominion. The largest cross of sacrifice was thirty-seven and a half feet high and cost $9,000 as compared with the $6,000 for the second largest.

R. E. Armstrong said action must be taken soon or public interest would wane.

F. B. Ellis did not like the cross as it was essentially a cemetery monument and not suited to the prominent position it was to be given. He did not consider the meeting was large enough to decide so important a matter, and thought more designs should be submitted and another meeting called. He described the monument erected in Montreal station and suggested that the same designer should be asked to submit a design for St. John. If he had sent no reply when written to then someone should be asked to go and see him. The monument was for all time and Mr. Ellis felt steps in selecting it should be taken very carefully. Colonel Sturdee said sculptors and architects were unwilling to submit designs as the committee was not in a position to offer a prize. Alexander Wilson and Mrs. G. E. Barbour favored the cross of sacrifice. Judge Armstrong considered the meeting had not been well advertised and recommended another meeting be called. Mrs. W. Edmond Raymond, representing the Women's Canadian Club, offered to get the opinion of the club on the matter. She personally favored the cross, and she brought before the meeting the suggestion of Mrs. Leonard Tilley for an inscription, "They sought the glory of their country. They see the glory of God." Motion withdrawn. As the meeting did not appear entirely in favor of the cross, Colonel Sturdee and Mr. Armstrong withdrew their motion. Canon Armstrong said it was not easy to get something original. He favored the Hamilton McCarthy design as both Victory and the Man at Attack represented all who made the supreme sacrifice and as to the uniform becoming archaic what was wanted was something that would depict for all time the war of 1914-1918, not a monument suitable for any war. W. L. Caldwell as treasurer reported $300 on hand. Mr. Ellis recommended that two prizes, one for $300 and the other for $200 be offered for competitive designs of a monument, the total cost of which was not to exceed $20,000. This motion was not seconded. Colonel E. I. Sturdee related how the cross of sacrifice had been selected from 200 designs submitted to the Imperial War Graves Commission by sculptors from every part of the empire, which assured its being artistically suitable. Everybody would recognize what it stood for, and he considered that it best typified the sacrifice of the men who gave their lives. Mr. Watson, of the Imperial War Graves Commission, when in the city had inspected the proposed site at the head of King street, and had declared there was none finer in the dominion. He had advocated the thirty-one and a half-foot size of cross, as the cross was made in four standard sizes. The war graves commission had no interest in the erection of the crosses, but had a copyright, and the permission of the commission had to be obtained before the design could be used. The cross of sacrifice had already been erected in Vancouver, Regina and Calgary, and he understood one of the largest size was to be erected at Halifax in memory of the sailors who gave their lives. Halifax was to have an arch as a civic memorial also, he understood. Judge Armstrong moved that the sub-committee on design and location be thanked for its good services and asked to continue its efforts and report to a larger meeting. This motion carried by one vote, nine to eight. Mrs. T. H. Carter spoke of the fine Sons of England monument in Toronto. G. E. Barbour then moved that the committee be authorized to spend $500, if it saw fit, in its endeavor to secure a suitable design. He thought it was a mistake to think that good designs would be secured without any expense. Mrs. Carter seconded the motion and it carried unanimously. The meeting then adjourned. Those present included W. H. Lugsden, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Barbour, W. L. Caldwell, E. L. Rising, Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. E. T. Sturdee, Mrs. W. Edmond Raymond, Mrs. George F. Smith, Mrs. T. H. Carter, Alexander Wilson, Judge Armstrong, Miss Frances Alward, C. B. Allan, Rev. Canon R. A. Armstrong and R. E. Armstrong.

AMERICAN EDUCATORS STUDY SWEDISH SCHOOLS
Stockholm, Sept. 9.—(A. P., by mail).—A number of American educators have come to Stockholm this summer to study the public school system of Sweden, and at least ten Swedish school teachers have been sent to the United States for special investigation, according to the report of Dr. Karl Nordlund, chief inspector of public schools in Stockholm. A further illustration of the increasing international exchange of cultural ideas lies in the fact that the investigators this year include Chileans, Greeks, Japanese and Chinese.

Tiny Windows Solved Display Problem

HALLAHAN'S REBUILDING SALE
Every store that remodels its building finds itself automatically up against the problem of stimulating business during the time that the entrance is blocked—particularly if the display windows are shut off from the view of passersby. But the Hallahan Shoe Company of Philadelphia found a comparatively easy way out of the difficulty by cutting miniature windows in the high board fence which enclosed the front of the store and adding white arrows in such a way that no one who passed by could miss the entrance to the store.
Each of the windows was designed to hold a special type or price of shoe, brought close up to the sidewalk in a manner that is impossible with the usual deep display window. Experiments made with the different lines shown indicated that the small windows of this kind are very effective in arresting the attention of prospective purchasers and that the use of this idea offers, to a large degree, the loss of the regular windows.
"Of course," stated a member of the Hallahan firm, "we shall be glad to get the work on our store over with. It's not pleasant to try to sell goods while carpenters are hammering and sawing all round. But, so far as the display value of the space is concerned, we have certainly made the board fence pay for itself many times over. The small windows appear to interest those who pass in precisely inverse ratio to their size—possibly on not had any fault to find with the way in which goods placed in these spaces have moved. The plan of utilizing part of the fence for display has undoubtedly brought us a considerable amount of trade which would have gone elsewhere if we had been content to erect the usual unattractive barrier which surrounds stores that are being remodelled."

THE BURDEN OF BUSINESS

Canada's industries are burning up. Its wage and wealth producing properties are being destroyed by fire. Buildings and products worth millions of dollars are annually reduced to worthless ashes. That is why the people of Canada are paying absurdly high insurance rates.
The insurance companies know all about this destruction of wealth. They pay out huge sums because of it. Mind you, they are not the losers—they make a profit on the transaction. They merely pay out the money we foolishly furnish them with. By carefully constructed tables they estimate the approximate amount they will require. Those figures enable them to make out the bill.
That bill is rendered with grim regularity. It commences. "Your Fire Insurance Premium is Now Due." And we pay it—pay it to the last dollar, no matter what it amounts to. Every property-owner in Canada is as helpless before the demand as the unarmed wayfarer before the automatic of the thug.
These premium payments pour into the giant fund that goes to reimburse the sufferers by fire. We pay our contribution because we are afraid that some day we shall need to draw upon that fund. We pay heavily in proportion as the companies estimate that "some day" will be "soon."
Are we going to continue long in this bondage of fear? Shall the devouring greed of preventable fire rob us further of the earnings of our industry?
Can we stay this tremendous waste of our National wealth?
We Can by Preventing Fires.
WILL YOU HELP?

CANADA PERMANENT MORTGAGE CORPORATION

R. F. WRIGHT, Manager. T. A. McAVITY, Inspector

To Holders of Five Year 5 1/2 per cent Canada's Victory Bonds

Issued in 1917 and Maturing 1st December, 1922.
CONVERSION PROPOSALS

THE MINISTER OF FINANCE offers to holders of these bonds who desire to continue their investment in Dominion of Canada securities the privilege of exchanging the maturing bonds for new bonds bearing 5 1/2 per cent interest, payable half yearly, of either of the following classes:—
(a) Five year bonds, dated 1st November, 1922, to mature 1st November, 1927.
(b) Ten year bonds, dated 1st November, 1922, to mature 1st November, 1932.
While the maturing bonds will carry interest to 1st December, 1922, the new bonds will commence to earn interest from 1st November, 1922, GIVING A BONUS OF A FULL MONTH'S INTEREST TO THOSE AVAILING THEMSELVES OF THE CONVERSION PRIVILEGE.
This offer is made to holders of the maturing bonds and is not open to other investors. The bonds to be issued under this proposal will be substantially of the same character as those which are maturing, except that the exemption from taxation does not apply to the new issue.
Holders of the maturing bonds who wish to avail themselves of this conversion privilege should take their bonds AS EARLY AS POSSIBLE, BUT NOT LATER THAN SEPTEMBER 30th, to a Branch of any Chartered Bank in Canada and receive in exchange an official receipt for the bonds surrendered, containing an undertaking to deliver the corresponding bonds of the new issue.
Holders of maturing fully registered bonds, interest payable by cheque from Ottawa, will receive their December 1st interest cheque as usual. Holders of coupon bonds will detach and retain the last unexpired coupon before surrendering the bond itself for conversion purposes.
The surrendered bonds will be forwarded by banks to the Minister of Finance at Ottawa, where they will be exchanged for bonds of the new issue, in fully registered, or coupon registered or coupon bearer form carrying interest payable 1st May and 1st November of each year of the duration of the loan, the first interest payment accruing and payable 1st May, 1923. Bonds of the new issue will be sent to the banks for delivery immediately after the receipt of the surrendered bonds.
The bonds of the maturing issue which are not converted under this proposal will be paid off in cash on the 1st December, 1922.
W. S. FIELDING,
Minister of Finance.

Success of English Air Race—The Royal Society of St. George—Official Downing Street is Propped Up—Death of Men Noted Some Years Ago.

(From our own Correspondent.)

London, Sept. 24—It is not, perhaps, generally realised what a triumph the King's Cup air race was for the organisers, the Royal Aero Club, but the aeronautical community has been quick to appreciate this fact, as is evidenced by the congratulations which have been pouring in to the secretary, Commander Harold Berrin. There has not been a single protest, and outside the ranks of the untoward incident during the contest, and the handicapping provided a better finish than anyone dared to expect. Very little time was given to organize the event, but the flying people entered into the spirit of the thing, with the result that practically every machine capable of flying, and outside the ranks of the Royal Air Force, was put into trim and entered. The air ministry has earned the thanks of everyone by its broad-minded policy of allowing serving officers-pilots to compete. On the whole the lesson of the race is that the worst thing for an aeroplane, like any other piece of mechanism, is to be lying idle. Of those who completed the course, seven of the eleven machines have been in regular service, the winner being a veteran, and of those which retired not one had been employed on air line or air taxi duties.

Patriot and Pianist.

Paderecki, late Prime Minister of Poland, and pianist of world-wide fame, was in Paris last week, and it is of interest to know that he has decided to resume his musical activities in November. He will begin a long series of recitals in America, and next year proposes to tour England. His visit is certain to excite a vast amount of interest, for his is undoubtedly the most picturesque personality in the pianist world, and as a money-spinner stands alone. Moreover, a friend tells me that, despite his long absence from the concert platform, he is playing as well if not better than ever. Paderecki has a beautiful estate in Switzerland, where his wife runs an extensive and intensive chicken farm, and near Los Angeles, where the film stars cocoonate. He owns a large ranch, remarkable for its tennis and orange groves. The famous pianist is a keen billiard player, and excels at snooker, his touch being as delicate and his judgment as expert as when seated at the keyboard.

St. George For Merry Britain!

Appropos the current controversy as to the use of the terms "England" and "Britain," I hear that the Royal Society of St. George, founded in 1894, and now vigorously extending its activities, has achieved its ambition to have the saint's day annually honored in St. Paul's Cathedral, and the service will take place on April 27 next, as near to the correct day, that is, as other arrangements permit. The founder of the society, Howard Ruff, is at last reaping the reward of his labors, and is assisted by the glorious Sir George Keyes West, with St. George's Day, Sir George Keyes West, who has not only by any means an easy task to find an Englishman to conduct the cathedral service. Both the archbishops come from north of Hadrian's Wall, while other suitable clerics have crossed Ota's Dyke. The choice will probably fall on Dean Inge, who is one of the most distinguished Englishmen of his generation, and boasts a genuine Anglo-Saxon, or rather Norse, name.

Greek Financial Methods.

Some very curious and unorthodox methods of dealing with currency inflation have been tried in Europe, but that practised by Greece is, perhaps, the most striking because it has not led to disaster. The principle is simple enough. The value of paper currency is declared halved, one half to remain in circulation and the other half to be lent compulsorily to the state. This principle is translated into practice by literally tearing currency notes in half, the left-hand piece remaining in circulation and the right-hand piece being surrendered to the government and credited to the individual. When the finance minister announced this amazing stroke to the Greek legislative assembly, he prefaced his remarks by pointing out to the members that the ushers had removed the ink-pots from the desks at which members sat. It is the custom apparently, to indicate disapproval of the speaker occupying the tribune by throwing one's ink-pot at him, and the finance minister was not taking any risks!

Wifely Duties.

The domestic life of the Eskimo, one realizes from this film, differs only in details from that followed by so-called civilized races like ourselves. Instead of cleaning her man's boots in the morning before he goes out to get the daily bread, the Eskimo housewife chews them. Being of sealskin, they harden in the night, so have to be softened. One thing seems to make the Eskimo woman unique in the world, and that is an apparent absence of vanity in dress and ornaments. Of course, "life is real, life is earnest" with a vengeance north of Hudson Bay, and perhaps the by-no-means uncomely Eskimo ladies would display the characteristics of their sex in a climate more favorable to pneumonia blouses and silk stockings. The pictures of the Arctic blizzard are really wonderful. As a change from the average film drama, or from the pretentious American pseudo-historical spectacles with their priggish moralizing, "Nanook" is well worth seeing. I should like to see it again, and one

Underpinning Downing Street.

To the intense delight of the wits of the opposition, it has been found necessary to carry out extensive underpinning operations at No. 10 and No. 11 Downing Street. When work was first started it was believed that the official residences of the principal ministers of the crown could be made safe by minor repairs, and strengthening ties, but a detailed examination of the foundations revealed a worse state of affairs than was suspected, so the more thorough operation has had to be undertaken. At the moment the two houses are "in the air," that is, supported on steel girders, the old foundations having been removed preparatory to pouring in quantities of new concrete.

Ypres League's New Home.

The Ypres League has had to leave the old corner house at 23 Henrietta street, Cavendish Square. This house, which the league occupied owing to the generosity of Sir James Boyton, has changed hands and is to be demolished. The Duke of Westminster has, however, promptly come to the rescue, and placed at the disposal of the Ypres League a house at 100 Eaton Place, Eaton Square, which will henceforth be the headquarters of this famous society. Applications for membership have naturally been stimulated by the recent pilgrimage of members to the Salient, and by the wide distribution of the number of the Ypres Times dealing with this historic event. Therefore the secretary is anxious that this change of address should be widely known.

Steam Without Fire.

An engineer back from Switzerland tells me of an interesting invention that should prove invaluable to countries, with plenty of water power and little coal, if the claims made for it can be justified. It is really an inverted turbine, for instead of steam being used to produce power, power is used to produce steam, the device being a method of raising the temperature of water by internal friction. The engine is driven by water power, and the friction set up is so great that water introduced leaves it in the form of steam, which is then used for ordinary industrial purposes. Naturally the invention is still in a purely experimental stage, and it will remain to be seen whether it will stand up to regular and continuous wear.

Wilfred Scawen Blunt.

The death of Wilfred Scawen Blunt at the age of eighty-three removes a figure which bulked large in the public eye in the eighties and nineties. A typically English paradox, a wealthy man with every social and educational advantage, devoting himself enthusiastically to strange causes, he was utterly decided and feared by official personages, or consulted by them in a backstairs way. His "diaries" few a fascination and vigor which few modern productions can boast, but they date, as the saying is, and his most permanent work will be his volume of "Love Sonnets."

In spite of his wrong-headedness and perversity, which tried the solemn patience of the late Lord Cromer almost as much as the erratic General Gordon, he was always popular with the class to which he belonged and with which he was usually in conflict. His influence in Egyptian affairs was very great at the time, and Gladstone used him as a correspondent unknown to the official representatives of Great Britain. Gladstone seems invariably to have followed Blunt when he was wrong, and rejected his advice when subsequent events showed it to have been right. The achievement of which he himself was proudest was his success in saving the life of Arabi Pasha, after the defeat of the rebellion, and securing a trial of sorts for the nationalist leader.

German Mentality.

A city merchant now touring the industrial towns of North Germany, writes to me that what has most impressed him is the wholesome manner in which German factories are being extended and rebuilt. Everywhere large construction schemes are being carried out, and the German manufacturer still seems quite sure that he is going to capture the markets of the world by cheaper and cheaper production, and, with a few exceptions, is blindly ignoring the inevitable economic laws that must ultimately make the purchase of materials impossible for him. It is the same mentality, my friend declares, as led the German in 1914 to believe he could dominate the world. Already there are signs that this question of materials is becoming pressing, and Hamburg houses which have for more than a year been buying oil-seeds to crush into oil are now buying the British manufactured oil because they cannot make a profit on the crushing transaction. For six weeks Hamburg has practically taken no oil seeds at all.

Still Buying Marks.

The chairman of one of the big banks, I hear, estimates that 600,000,000 marks have been sold in England alone, and if the estimate is even remotely accurate it would be interesting to know where this enormous number is to be found. It is quite certain that the big firms and the banks that were holding marks have been heavy sellers, but in spite of this there is still a shortage of marks in London, proving that there must be many people still with a belief in the ultimate recovery of the German exchange. So long as this state of things continues Germany will be able to sell more and more marks abroad, because it is only when there is a stampede of sellers that the bottom falls out of the market.

Vienna Economics.

I was talking to a man just returned from Vienna, and he has the full opinion from another observer that the future of Austria lies in the hands of the Vienna Municipality. That body is the one bright spot in a welter of fantastic and ruinous public administrations, and it is dominated by the so-called Christian Socialists, a curious party without precedent in this or any other European country. Its principles approximate to those of our old-time Radical party, but they are put into application by really capable and business-like men. Consequently it is the rallying point for all the same elements in the country, and its determination to make the city pay its way amounts almost to a war-cry for the middle classes.

As an illustration of the difference between the regime of the Municipality of Vienna and the Austrian State Government, my informant cited the economic positions of two men, one a tram conductor and the other a university professor. The first, an employee of the municipality, draws rather less than double the salary of the professor, and his wages fluctuate according to the cost of living. The professor gets his pre-war salary and his services are charged for on the same basis. Nevertheless the tramways are paying, while the university is bankrupt.

Trade Ambassadors.

In the past there was only one type of British commercial traveler sent abroad, that is, the man sent to get orders, and many as possible. Now a new type has developed, that has little or nothing to do with salesmanship, but is sent abroad at great cost by big firms to report primarily on the financial and political conditions of countries, and only incidentally to revise the firm's agencies. His reports, on big sweeping statesmanlike lines, are invaluable to the firm at home in adjusting periods of credit, appreciating possibilities of development, or suggesting the desirability of curtailment. Thus if a country's prosperity depends on a special crop it is desirable to have advance information of its prospects and its movements, as obviously these general trade credit will depend. Again, a change of government, actual or impending, may materially affect certain trades. These trade ambassadors may each cost a big firm £10,000 a year, but without exception they agree that, having obtained the right sort of man, the expense is justified many times over.

Public School Mechanics.

Perhaps it is the inability of parents to afford university training for their sons, or the diminution of opportunities for careers in government service at home and abroad; however it may be, the fact is that one finds nowadays a surprising number of obvious public school boys fitting themselves to earn a livelihood in industry, and especially in engineering. Having made up their minds to follow the calling, they no longer count on the good offices of friends or the influence of relatives to procure them a comfortable position in works after they have been through the university, but plunge straightway into the stream as apprentices. The other day I was sold a can of petrol at a country garage by a young man whose accent and punctilious courtesy excited my curiosity. We chatted about motors, and he enthusiastically showed me an incomplete motor cycle which he himself had designed and was building as part of his training, and on which he hoped to race at Brooklands some day. The garage was owned by a big firm of engineers in a neighboring city, and they made a point of giving their apprentices a spell of casual road-side work during the year to teach them this little-understood branch of the trade. Of course, in acquaintance was a trade unionist as one wonders what influence in 10 years to come the influx of this new blood into the ranks of organized labor may have.
