COLLINS WILL BE BROUGHT UP FROM ST. GEORGE EARLY THIS EVENING.

Coming in a Carriage With Chief Clark and Detective Killen—
Nothing of Importance Found on Him—He Had a Good Sleep and is Feeling Better Today.

Thomas Collins, the suspected murderer, steps like a log to the hotel at St. George last night, and woke up this morning feeling like a new man. He will be driven to St. John this afternoon by Chief Clark and Detective Killen, arriving about six or seven o'clock. He will be taken to the Central Station and on Monday will be sent to Kings County.

Additional particulars of the arrest of the prisoner were received this forenoon by a Star reporter at St. George. Collins, it would appear, had no idea until Tuesday evening that he was being pursued. The story gathered at St. George is to the effect, that on Tuesday evening Collins asked for supper at a house near Penfield, and while there he was told by the landlady that the police were searching the country for him. Being greatly alarmed, he pleaded for assistance in eluding the officers, and in response to his request was shown the road to Lake Umbagog, and directed how to reach the Red Rock Road to Lee Settlement. He was also given some bread to keep up his strength on the road. From this time on his progress was a panic-stricken flight. He left Penfield at once and walked all night and all next day, doubling and redoubling in his tracks in an endeavor to elude his pursuers. This he continued till his capture, and by that time his feet were so swollen, and he was so utterly exhausted, that he would have been unable to walk another mile even under the incentive of great fear. It is stated that the man who saw Collins at Penfield made an offer to the search party that for two dollars he would locate the suspect.

Collins when caught was in a state of collapse. He was put into the wagon with Detective Killen and had scarcely been seated when his head fell over and he was fast asleep. He was taken to St. George, and after having something to eat was put to bed. He had scarcely touched the pillow when he was in the land of nod, and did not wake until after seven o'clock this morning. The detective remonstrated with him, but he was unable to get up. He was then taken to the hotel, and after having something to eat, he was able to get up. He is still, however, very downhearted, and looks to be ready to burst into tears at any moment. He is only a boy, twenty-one years of age, weighing about a hundred and forty pounds, and not what could be called strongly built. He seems to be of a quiet disposition, and is very grateful to the officers for kindness shown him. Beyond what he has already told about being employed at Father McAulay's, and not getting along very well with Miss McAulay, Collins has made no statement. He has not been questioned.

When Chief Clark went down to Musquash some days ago he took his horse and carriage along. The big man was left with Detective Killen for use during the search. The chief went down to St. George by the Shore Line this morning and will, accompanied by Detective Killen and the prisoner, drive back to St. John today. They expect to leave St. George about noon.

When Collins was searched by the detective his pockets were found to contain a couple of dirty handkerchiefs and an old silver watch. He had not a cent of money with him. In the value which he left at Musquash was a shirt and a pair of pants. There were no marks or stains on these which would serve as evidence.

At St. George the excitement of yesterday had considerably abated, although the arrest continues to be the one topic of conversation.

It is expected that several St. John men will compete in the matches. The 52nd Regiment may send the team which made such a creditable showing in the Canadian Military Rifle League this year. A number of marksmen have already gone to Ottawa.

ANOTHER POSITION.

FAREWELL MEETINGS.

After a term of over five years in command of the Salvation Army in the maritime provinces, Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. Sharp have received their farewell orders from Commissioner Coombs, of Toronto, and will lead their farewell meetings in old No. 10, Barracks on Charlotte street tomorrow.

Both Colonel and Mrs. Sharp are exceptional favorites of the officers and soldiers of this province, especially St. John, and will without doubt have a full house all day. The junior hall slide doors will be thrown open in order to accommodate as many as possible.

All who spend tomorrow with the Army will surely be repaid. A special invitation is given to Christians of all denominations to attend the 11 a. m. holiness meeting.

The Star's Offer for Season Admissions Will Hold Good All This Week—The Fair is Only Seven Days Away.

The St. John exhibition will open on Saturday next. Only one week remains in which free admission tickets may be secured from the Star. These tickets each contain thirteen admissions, two for every day of the exhibition week, and one for the opening day. They are sold at one dollar each. The subscription price of the St. John Star is three dollars per year. For this amount the paper will be left regularly at any house in the city, or mailed to any address. In addition to this, the Star will for the next week give to every new subscriber one of the season tickets to the exhibition. These tickets cost the Star one dollar each, just the same as they would cost any person. So this paper is simply giving away one dollar to every new subscriber, giving four dollars worth for three dollars in cash. The idea is of course to increase the permanent subscription list. In every daily paper there is a variation in the circulation brought about by the condition of the weather. On a dirty day the number of papers sold on the streets is reduced. To overcome as much as possible this condition the Star desires to add to its subscription list as many as possible of those persons who are in the habit of buying the paper on the street. As an inducement, the free ticket to the exhibition is offered. In order to secure one of these, all that is necessary is to pay to this office the sum of three dollars for one year's subscription, and a ticket will be issued. Thirteen admissions to the exhibition will thus be given free. The offer holds good all this week.

THE NORTH END ASSAULT CASE HEARD IN COURT.

To O'Brien—Witness said that he had obtained three dollars from the captain of the Rupert besides the $5.75. He spent seven dollars in rum.

To Sgt. Kilpatrick—Witness said that besides robbing him O'Brien said that he had a revolver, and it supplied with ammunition he would shoot witness.

The prisoner requested to be allowed to give evidence. He said he did not know the third person in the party at the time Forsythe claims he was robbed. O'Brien said he met Forsythe on the steamer Rupert, and he said he had no money and wanted three dollars to buy boots. He was then discharged for being drunk. On Friday defendant met Forsythe at the Eastern line dock. Forsythe wanted a chance to show his passage to Boston, but when he got the chance he said he was too sick to go. They went to the north end in a car and met the third man on Pond street. They went to the Shamrock grounds, where Forsythe and the stranger got into a fight. After they clinched Forsythe left the grounds, and O'Brien says he left the third man on Main street.

O'Brien was remanded, and will most likely be sent up for trial.

The death of Mrs. Charles Thompson occurred at Sackville yesterday after an illness of several weeks. She is survived by a husband and three sons, Arthur Thompson, M. D., of Newton, Mass., Douglas, D.D.S., of Newton, Mass., and Harry, of Stellarton, N. S. Deceased was sixty-nine years old. He was a consistent member of the Methodist church. Her death is regretted by a large circle of friends. The funeral will take place this afternoon.

A boy has been reported by the police for tearing down one of the exhibition banners. The management of the exhibition are determined to stop this practice and will prosecute any person found destroying any of the exhibition posters or banners.

A FAIR AVERAGE.

The Westminster Gazette neatly caps the statements of its contemporaries. Of a London shower the Daily Mail remarked that the first large drops made marks like half crowns on the pavement. The Chronicle said the rain drops "were as large as pennies," and the Gazette concludes that they probably averaged about 1s. 3d.

SURPRISE FOR GOVERNMENT

Insurgent Troops Stronger Than Was Supposed.

Cuban Rebels Are Well Supplied to, Long and Aggressive Campaign—The Outlook Serious

HAVANA, Aug. 24.—(Official) Advice received from the western part of the province of Pinar del Rio tonight are to the effect that the insurgent forces now concentrating west of San Juan de Mariquena, are far more formidable and are better supplied for campaigning and a long and aggressive campaign than has been supposed.

A prominent official of Havana returned this evening from a three days' tour in the vicinity of San Juan de San Juan de Martinez. He informed the Associated Press that Pinar-Guerra's following in Pinar del Rio now is certainly from 1,500 to 2,000 men. He said the idea of his not having sufficient ammunition was ridiculous, and that he is abundantly supplied with every necessary. The behavior of his forces is excellent.

All the tobacco plantations owned by Americans, and other American property are flying the American flag, this gentleman declared, and are not being molested. He said the insurgents had eight miles loaded with dynamite, and that they had received supplies from unknown sources. He positively declared that fully a hundred members of the rural guard had deserted and joined the insurgents since the trouble began, and that practically all Cubans in Western Cuba now were sympathizers with the movement.

Word has been received here from Santiago that General Jesse Rahl with 2,000 veterans will come to the Yucita. Also to help put down the insurrection. This, however, is not confirmed.

The government's extra expenses since August 19 have been $270,000. The critics of the government privately ridicule the plans of the government to bring rapid-fire guns to the islands, asserting that the experiences of the Spaniards with these guns in Cuba proved their uselessness in the field.

SAN JUAN DE MARTINEZ, Cuba, Aug. 24.—The town which, on Thursday, was occupied by a band of insurgents under command of Pinar Guerra, is again in the possession of the constituted forces of the republic. At 5.30 o'clock this evening the troops under command of Colonel Rascado and Ayala arrived here from Pinar del Rio, but news of their coming had preceded them by several hours and by noon the last of Guerra's men had left, taking with them all the horses they could gather. The government's troops now here consist of 360 artillerymen and fifty raw recruits. They are quartered in the churches and other public buildings. The town is quiet.

Guerra's force is larger than has been supposed. He has probably 3,000 men well equipped with arms and ammunition and is well supplied with money. Guerra's movement westward is not a retreat nor is it with the purpose of occupying Guanaco.

The town, in fact, is already practically occupied by resident insurgents. Guerra's purpose is to effect a junction with several hundred insurgents who are coming eastward from the vicinity of Guanaco.

HAVANA, Aug. 24.—A force of government artillery under command of Captain Puigbo today captured San Juan de Martinez without resistance. This town was taken August 23 by a band of insurgents operating under Pinar Guerra.

At San Antonio De Los Baños, Havana province, 21 miles southwest of Havana, a detachment of rural guards today encountered a band of insurgents. Of the latter two were killed, their comrades dispersing.

TAMPA, Fla., Aug. 24.—The steamer Gussie arriving here today from Havana was loaded to full capacity with tobacco which is being rushed out of the island by importers. It is reported that President Palma is virtually a prisoner in the palace at Havana and that he has not left it for a week.

PROMINENT RAILWAY MAN

F. B. Cooper, general manager of the St. Louis and Louisville Railway, is in the city. His wife and two children, together with his mother-in-law, Mrs. Goodyear, are in the party. They are travelling through the Eastern States and Canada in Mr. Cooper's private car. They will leave for Halifax today, after which they will proceed to Montreal and other Canadian cities.

The members of the party are very much pleased with this section of the country, and spent yesterday in driving around town. Mr. Cooper, who is a young man, being only thirty-four years old, is considered one of the best railway men in the west.

WILL REBUILD BEAUTIFUL CITY

Splendid Courage of the People of Valparaiso.

Rain Drives Inhabitants of Tents Back to their Homes—Railway Service Re-established.

VALPARAISO, Aug. 24.—As the result of the splendid courage of the people and with the co-operation of the city government, Valparaiso will be rebuilt within a few years on finer and more beautiful in a than before the disaster of August 16.

The rain last night caused most of the people to desert the tents which they have occupied since the earthquake and return to their homes. Almost all the walls are cracked, but there were no violent earth tremors during the night or today. Many of the people had to walk a long distance carrying their bed clothes on their shoulders.

There are no conflagrations, but the blowing up of damaged and dangerous structures with dynamite continues and loud explosions are frequently heard.

The town has assumed an almost normal appearance. Many business houses have been re-opened here and the residences on Alegre and Victoria Hills, which are occupied principally by Americans, Englishmen and Germans, suffered comparatively little damage. In the quarter of the city which suffered most severely, entire streets have been practically wiped out. One thousand of those who were killed by the earthquake already have been buried and there are more than 1,000 corpses beneath the ruins.

For relief purposes the city has been divided into ten sections so that assistance may be extended systematically to those who require it. Provisions are abundant. The foreign merchants of the city have appointed a committee to assist in the relief work.

Several of the consuls here have received orders from their governments to send home some of their consular staffs. They have not the means to re-establish themselves here or to pay their own passage to their native countries. The consuls are being constructed for the sheltering of the destitute.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Aug. 24.—The Chilean senate was in session today in the directors' room of the Gas Company, and promulgated a law appropriating $4,000,000 for the relief of the distressed inhabitants.

Three steamers loaded with coals have arrived at Valparaiso, which will go far to relieve the situation growing out of the lack of fuel.

It is now said that over 300 men have been shot by order of the military authorities at Valparaiso for committing robberies.

The Valparaiso railroad has re-established traffic south as far as Chillan. The trains now only carry passengers who are engaged in the relief work.

NEW YORK CENTRAL

INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

Charged With Giving Discriminating Freight Rates on Shipments of Oil.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 24.—The N. Y. Central R. R. Co. was indicted by the Western New York Federal Grand Jury on a charge of giving discriminating and unlawful freight rates on shipments of oil by the Standard Oil Co. and of unlawfully failing to file a schedule of such rates with the interstate commerce commission at Washington.

The Standard Oil Company was again indicted on charges of giving unlawful and discriminating freight rates on shipments of oil over the Pennsylvania, the New York Central and the Vermont Central R. R. Companies.

The indictments are closely related to those filed by the same jury two weeks ago against the Standard Oil Co. and the Pennsylvania, in the matter of discriminating rates for oil shipped by the Standard from Olean to Burlington, Vt. All of such shipments were over the Pennsylvania from Olean to Rochester; over the New York Central from Rochester to Norwood, N. Y., and over the Vermont Central from Norwood to its destination.

Today's indictment specifies that the New York Central made a special rate to Rochester from Rochester to Norwood of nine cents per one hundred weight, while such rates were not given to other shippers.

There is nothing so good that it will sell itself. Advertising is a necessity, and the most successful firms make most liberal provision for it.—Hild and Leather.

MISS ELSIE HOLDEN

WILL MARRY SEPT. 3rd

FREDERICTON, N. B., Aug. 24.—J. J. Fraser Winslow, barrister, leaves on Friday of next week for Cambridge, N. S., where on Monday, September 3rd, he will be united in marriage to Miss Elsie Holden, daughter of the late Dr. Charles Holden of St. John. Charles Allen, of this city, will act as best man. The honeymoon will be spent in Upper Canadian cities and New York, and on their return they will reside at the A. G. Blair house, at the corner of Church and George streets, which Mr. Winslow has leased until the first of May, when his new residence on Waterloo Row, just below the Rose Hall property, will be ready for occupancy.

Mr. Winslow's new home will be something entirely novel for this city. It will be a story and a half high by 10 feet, and built on the lines of a bungalow with a verandah eight feet wide extending the entire length on two sides.

The rooms on the lower floor will be a dining room, two parlors, a den and kitchen, while on the second floor there will be three bedrooms and a bathroom. The new residence will be situated at the corner of the new street to be known as Grey street, and Waterloo row.

MOVING THE WELL.

Timothy Woodruff tells of a family
in Duches county who recently took into their employ a rosy-cheeked Irish maid of all work whose blunders afford amusement to compensate for any trouble she may entail.

One day the owner of the place stated in the girl's hearing that he intended to have a woodhouse built on a piece of ground which at that time enclosed a well.

"Shure, sor," said the inquiring Margaret, "will you be movin' the well to be a more convenient spot when the woodhouse is built?"
As a smile crossed the face of her employer Margaret at once perceived
she had made a mistake of some sort.
"It's a fool I am, shure," she added,
hastily, bound to retrieve herself. "Of course, when the well was moved every drop of water would run out of it!"

THE CIRCUMSTANCES OF ABDUL

The New York Sun rather sarcastically hands out large slices of consolation to the Sultan of Turkey. The Sun says:

"A true philosopher could find it in his heart to pity Abdul Hamid, the Sultan of Turkey, at this time. Of course, Abdul is an abandoned, not a deliberate and defiant heathen. He hates Christians with a growing hatred, and he does not exert himself to hide the fact. It is conceivable, even that in his misguided pagan fury he would, if he dared, efface, eradicate and generally blot out the entire missionary establishment in Asia Minor, thereby taking the head out of the mouths of several hundreds of pious and philanthropic American citizens now prospering in that part of the sultan's empire as consuls, vice-consuls, teachers, evangelists,
etc. He doesn't dare, however, and there is the chief fountain of his misery. In his darkened and besotted mind, our missionaries, especially such as operate in Asia Minor, are unduly attacked. He covers in the Yildiz Kiosk and there receives the reports of his vicious underlings in Erzerum, Dumaseus, Beirut, Alexandretta, Trebizond, etc., and from these sources he has derived the ineradicable conviction that our missionary establishments are mere radiating centres of incendiary agitation. He sees them only as foci of seditions and devastating activity, and he believes—such is his determined prejudice—that any and every concession to their continually multiplying demands will simply serve to intensify
and aggravate his sorrows.

If we allow to the Sultan of Turkey
his personal point of view, we must admit his right to object to a proposed arrangement under the operation of which he will have to discuss, face to face, pretensions which he does not acknowledge and complaints which his darkened mind dismisses as arrogant and mischievous. Here enters with paltry retinue and scant applause.
Perhaps a baker's dozen of dreamy
doctrinaires will say that the sultan
may possibly have some warrant for the ambition to rule his own people in his own way. Of course we are engaged in the modern crusade. On our own behalf, and without solicitation
from any outside source, we have underaken to exalt and purify the world.
Our ways are the only right ways.
Ours is the one true religion. Our customs, ideals and traditions may be a few centuries younger than those of China, Turkey and other foreign nations of that kind, but everybody knows that they are far superior, morally, intellectually and theologically, and such being the case we are bound by every important obligation to push our propaganda, no matter how unwelcome it may seem to its victims, or rather beneficiaries. There can be no two honest and intelligent opinions upon this point.
We dismiss it from the realm of controversy.

Meanwhile, here is poor Abdul Hamid. He rules over millions of people, most of whom, by some strange and unaccountable obsession, accept his domination. According to all rules—especially those which we recognize in our own case and rather passionately
maintain—he should be permitted to attend to his own business while we attend to ours. But Abdul Hamid is an unbeliever. In stubborn contempt of the unsolicited advice of our missionaries,
he persists in his follies and stupidly pursues the rocky pathways beset with difficulties and there is reason to believe that some of them were unforeseen even by the engineers who laid
out the work. The construction was undertaken hastily and without any
complete survey as has since been shown was necessary. The formation
of soil, and the approximate quantities
of earth, rock, etc., have in the actual
work, varied considerably from the
estimates, even when all allowances
are made. On the other hand it has been shown that the contractors were
scurily prepared for what they encountered. Whether or not they placed
too much reliance in the engineer's
plans, or whether the contractors were
beyond their capabilities is a matter
still to be decided, but it does certainly seem that the work was not
undertaken in a sufficiently determined
manner. It is not denied that serious difficulties were met, that the over-
coming of these required heavy expenditure and persistent effort, but the
contractors should have been prepared
for this. That they were not so, has resulted in the long delay in the work.

THE NEW WATER SYSTEM.

Within a very few days it is hoped
St. John's new water supply system will be an accomplished fact. The contracts will thus be completed some eight or ten months after the time agreed upon, but considering the complications which have arisen since the work was commenced, citizens may feel glad that the end is even now in sight. The contractors have met with many difficulties, and there is reason to believe that some of them were unforeseen even by the engineers who laid
out the work. The construction was undertaken hastily and without any
complete survey as has since been shown was necessary. The formation
of soil, and the approximate quantities
of earth, rock, etc., have in the actual
work, varied considerably from the
estimates, even when all allowances
are made. On the other hand it has been shown that the contractors were
scurily prepared for what they encountered. Whether or not they placed
too much reliance in the engineer's
plans, or whether the contractors were
beyond their capabilities is a matter
still to be decided, but it does certainly seem that the work was not
undertaken in a sufficiently determined
manner. It is not denied that serious
difficulties were met, that the over-
coming of these required heavy expenditure and persistent effort, but the
contractors should have been prepared
for this. That they were not so, has resulted in the long delay in the work.

YESTERDAY'S TRAGEDY.

The tragic drowning at Lower Cove
beach yesterday teaches two lessons.
One is that every person should be able to swim. A respected and promising young citizen might be alive and well today if those who, standing on the shore and watching him go to his death, had retained their presence of mind and been able to afford assistance. The other lesson is that no public beach should be without an attendant, and a boat from which succor

might be given to those in danger.

There are beaches in St. John, not only private ones, but others where bathing houses are maintained as money making institutions, at which absolutely no arrangements are made for the safety of persons in the water. Blue Rock is the only beach where a boat is provided, and at this place many swimmers, who would otherwise be drowned, are saved by the attendants every summer.

TOOLE'S ONE ACT PLAY.

Here is a good story of the late Mr.
Toole that will be new to many of our readers.
"What I want is a bright, short play," said Toole to the amateur who had brought him a six act drama.
"How do you mean—a short, bright
drama?" asked the author. "Can you give me an idea?"
"Oh, yes," said Toole, "here's one. It's direct and leaves much to the imagination."
"It is in one act."

"When the curtain goes up two persons are on the stage—a sad, old pretty young woman, the other a nice looking young fellow. They embrace;
neither of them say a word. Then a door opens at the back and a commercial traveller enters. He wears an overcoat and carries a bag. He looks at the couple and says to the young man:
"At least that would be the inference of every intelligent playgoer."
The husband takes off his coat, draws from his pocket a revolver and shoots at the young man. The young man falls dead in the midst of the silent embrace of hero and heroine dies.
"The young woman falls dead."
"He's dead again and the young man is similarly disposed of. Then the murder comes forward, puts on a pair of eyeglasses and proceeds to contemplate his sanguinary work. "Great heavens!" he exclaims, "I am on the wrong floor!"

UNEXPECTED ANSWER.

W. A. Glasgow, Jr., the Interstate Commerce Commission's lawyer, ampled. He had been interrogating a reporter in his hotel and the reply he had got was unexpected.
"That was an unlooked for answer,
truly," he said. "It was like the answer the policeman gave to the good citizen."

PRESENCE OF MIND.

The boy fell off the schooner's deck
in the angry temper's roar;
They had no boat and he missed the rope.
Yet the plucky lad would not give up hope.
But shouted, "Throw me a bar of soap.
And I'll wash myself ashore!"

CALUMNIATORS.

A great many of us do not belong to this great army but there are very few in this world who have not suffered from calumny.
If good, but weak people would not encourage calumniators by listening to them there might be some hope of their dying out.
Scandal mongers are land pirates.
There are no class of people so dangerous to society. When found they ought to be labelled and avoided for they are lepers. They are always suspicious. "Be thou as chaste as ice and pure as snow thou shalt not escape
calumny."

"There is nothing," says Cleo-crates, "which travels so fast as slander,
nothing is more easily sent abroad,
nothing is received more rapidly,
nothing is spread more extensively."
This being true think of the army of messengers who are employed in transmitting such deadly poison. Are you one of the messengers?
Listen to these strong words of the master:
"No might nor greatness in mortality
Can censure scape; back wounding
Can be visited by the American continental."
The whitest virtue strikes; what king
so strong
Can tie the gall up in the slanderous tongue?" Macbeth.

"If I'm traduced by tongues, which neither know my faults nor my vices, yet will be the chronicles of my doings—let me say it but the fate of place and be visited by a saintlike
must go through," Henry 8th.

MEXICO MAY GET

NEXT EARTHQUAKE

So Says Dr. Hayes, Government Expert—

Considers Backbone of Continent
a Little Shaky.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Menig-
itis is affecting the backbone of the American continent, according to Dr. C. Willam Hayes, of the Geological Survey.
In his opinion Mexico will be the next
country to be visited by a seismic disturbance. Dr. Hayes says:
"Those mountains, mistakenly called the backbone of the American continent, are among the newest in the world. The California and Chilean quakes were not volcanic."
"The earth crust is thinner along those newer mountain systems. In the process of cooling and adjustment of the crust to the conditions within there comes times when great strains accumulate on the outer crust; something has to give, and when the crust
at last by a sudden movement adjusts itself to the new conditions, there is a slipping along the line of a fault in it.
This fault line is likely to follow the course of one of the newer mountain ranges. This is what happened at San Francisco and Chili."

Continuous advertising is necessary,

because if it pays to advertise a part

Fashions Evolve From Circles and Squares

IT LOOKS, to a casual observer, as though fashion makers were experimenting with such prosaic things as circles and squares, trying to see just what wonderful things they could evolve out of them. And, whether you observe casually or deeply, the results are gratifying enough to say that those same fashion makers have exceeded their own ambitions.

Nightingales were the first things that were evolved, and their success was so marked that the same principles have been evolved for a much more unusual thing—a short kimono, modeled almost exactly upon nightingale lines, and as becoming a dressing sacque as it is possible to find among the less befuddled members of the class.

Double width material—a wide one at that, for it must measure 52 inches—is used, something, of course, that is light weight, and something with practically no up and down to it—no decided design, in fact, unless you're so strong nerves that you're not bothered if a design does take it upon itself to stand on its head upon half of the kimono!

■ Cut out a circle 52 inches in diameter, and then cut out an inner circle 6 inches in diameter exactly in the middle, and slash it up clear from the outer edge to the inner circle to make the opening of the front.

Slash it up on each side at the points indicated upon the diagram, making the distance between the edges of the cut $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches wide, and cutting them $7\frac{1}{2}$ inches deep.

Then stitch it up, sewing two sides of a division together to make a sleeve, and seaming front and back up.

If there is to be a lining cut it out exactly the same size, following the slashings in the same way, and slipstitch lining to outside all the way round, or turn in the edges of both and baste carefully, then stitch neatly all the way round.

In that matter of the lining, a hundred pretty conceits spring forth. Usually, it is of china silk, plain as to tint, and a more delicate shade than the foundation of the material itself. But, for a very chilly mortal, albatross is sometimes used as a lining, or, in some exceptionally pretty ones, the sheerest of lightweight woollens is used for the outside and is of white, lined with the palest of pink or blue or lavender, which delicately tints the outside. Perhaps the lining is of flowered swiss or plumetis—the prettiest treatment of all for negligees.

A trailing vine outlining neck and loose sleeves may be done in pale-colored silk that tones in with the background.

Notes of the Fashions

THERE is a scarcity of skins for gloves, made, so it is said, by the extravagant use of long gloves last winter and this summer.

Light blue is considered very good for the collar and cuffs of linen-colored coats.

Chamois gloves have had an undeserved popularity. Nothing under the sun makes your hand look more awkwardly large than those very gloves. They have one merit—they wash; but their popularity is due to anything but the point of economy.

Chiffon, chiffon and then more chiffon, is the cry this year—chiffon used in every conceivable way for every conceivable sort of thing. The blouses made of it are stunning.

Skirts are to be longer than they've been for many a glad day, so say the Paris people. But an inch and a half from the ground instead of the three inches from the ground we've been used to is all the concession American women are expected to make.

The gloves with a tiny purse for change set in the palm, which, for so long, have been a curiosity brought over by people traveling abroad, are to be found in some of our own shops. Only one hand boasts the change-purse, and it is barely big enough to accommodate one or two extremely modest coins. But it's a great convenience, for all that, so great that it ought to have been a staple thing here long ago.

The long, sloping shoulder is promised.

Furs promise to be more fashionable and of richer quality than ever.

Cluny lace seems to be gaining favor.

Hoop earrings made of tiny jewels, pearls, diamonds, rubies or sapphires set in gold or silver frames, have almost entirely succeeded the round pearls so long popular. When pearls are worn at all it is in the pendant pear shape, with a small jewel above. These are not, however, nearly so popular as hoops—than which there is no more picturesque fashion. They look lovely, too, with the little leghorn hats that are tied on with black velvet strings in a bow at the back of the neck. It is very becoming with these picturesque accessories to arrange the hair rather loosely—waved, of course, and in a low knot that is pinned back with tortoiseshell hairpins having large ball heads.

Such liberties as designers have taken with flowers and colors—mixed them up in indescribable confusion! Blue roses, lavender clovers, pink violets—no color seems too far away from nature to be used. And so long as the effect is what it is, good, nobody cares, least of all the woman who picks up the floral design she likes, in her most becoming color.

Quite popular are the many-looped pompon with three ends of different lengths, of the six or eight inch long bow with two short ends, or two rosettes meeting in the back with streamers to the hem of the skirt.

Surely the height of the art of ribbon making has been reached in the exquisite wide things of softest silver or gold tissue, with flowers in subdued though beautiful shades of their natural colors, made to fade into the background and reappear from it with the shifting lights.

Silver, with great, misty bunches of violets, the green of their leaves as soft as the violet, or great, single roses glowing from a background of shimmering gray or the palest of gold, with perhaps a dozen indefinite shades used in it, and shining with the iridescence of a prism—colors and proportions are juggled with in kaleidoscopic fashion, a thousand combinations caught and made permanent.

Tailored Waists Are Growing Popular

INSTEAD of the once ubiquitous lingerie blouse, for mornings and afternoons alike, the tailor-made waist—the old, dearly loved stiff shirtwaist—is growing more and more popular for wearing with tailor suits when the silk waist, that matches the costume, is laid aside. As a matter of fact, tucked linen shirts are being made right along, with a strong indication that next spring and summer will see them in high favor.

Even the old stiff cuff is seen upon them, made for links. Or the leg-of-mutton sleeve that turns back in a little scallop, which Paris introduced tentatively last season, is worn, and is, perhaps, just a little prettier than the shirt cuff.

Not only white shirtwaists are made in this stiff, thoroughly tailored fashion, but an occasional shirt is of pink or blue, or of a striped stuff (following the fad for stripes), but always made to tone in with the suit, as though a part of it.

A few of these stiffer shirts have little ruffles run down—one on each side of the front box-pleat—the same made shirt made itself popular a year ago, and still deservedly holds its own.

Silk shirtwaists have gained markedly in popularity with three-piece costumes. Both plaid and striped silks—stripes more than plaids—are to be worn, and plenty of plain silks, as well, tucked and fagot-stitched, and trimmed with two little bands.

But the prettiest of all the plain silk shirtwaists shown so far are those embroidered down the front in a simple design of leaves and conventional flowers and dots—always plenty of dots, and all of it done in exactly the same shade as the shirtwaist itself. Crepe de chine is particularly lovely done this way, and the prettiest designs are those that encircle the collar and run down the front, to be repeated somewhere upon sleeves and collar.

Plenty of lightweight woollen waists will be worn, the prettiest of them made of white albatross, tucked and perhaps embroidered a little, though only a little, by hand, or inset with motifs of cluny lace. But the plaid effects—especially the tartans—will be worn for morning waists, livened with a bit of braid and a few buttons. For neither braid nor buttons show any signs of a decrease in popularity.

Paris Notes

LINGERIE robes promise to be better than ever during the coming season, only they are to be far more elaborate than ever, representing a fabulous amount of work.

Yokes are conspicuous upon the loveliest of blouses—yokes definitely cut or the lines of a yoke conceived by the way the trimming is disposed.

The Empire scarf of colored gauze is in high favor, and lends the note of color to an otherwise single-toned gown that la Parisienne's eye for dramatic effects requires.

Pompadour sashes—made of silk, not the ribbon—are tied in butterfly bows or rosettes, set above the waist line and allowed to flutter out in long ends almost to the hem of the dress.

ST. JOHN STAR, SATURDAY, AUGUST 25, 1906.

EMPEROR WILLIAM IS HAVING TROUBLE WITH NEWSPAPERS.

His Clipping Editors are Giving Him Only What They Think He Should be Allowed to Read.

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—Just at present the German Emperor is having a little trouble with the newspapers and the newspapers are having a little trouble with the German Emperor.

At the present moment the discontent with the Emperor in the Kaiser's office is being expressed in the press. The Kaiser is not a man who likes to be criticised, and he is not a man who likes to be criticised by the press. He is a man who likes to be criticised by the press, and he is a man who likes to be criticised by the press.

Your correspondent used to watch the Kaiser's mental pabulum in the Wilhelmstrasse a matter of a dozen years ago. At that time supervision was entrusted to a Herr Gabriel, one of the assistants of Geheimrath Lindau, and later of Lindau's successor, Geheimrath Rosler. Your correspondent first met Herr Gabriel in Sofia, in Bulgaria, when he was German Vice-Consul in that principality. He was a young and capable German diplomatist of considerable intelligence, intelligent enough at least to give the Kaiser a fair section from the European press. He is now back in the east as consul in Yarm. His successor is distinctly inferior, just as Geheimrath Hamann, the present chief of the Press Bureau, is as far inferior to his predecessor, Geheimrath Rosler, as the latter was to Geheimrath Lindau. Under these circumstances, it is not to be wondered at if the Kaiser occasionally goes off at a tangent. His knowledge of the state of European public opinion is poisoned at the source.

Recently the German Emperor has given indications that he is breaking through this false environment. "Kicking over the traces" as you would say in America. For instance, there was the remarkable interview with M. Gaston Menier of chocolate fame. While on a cruise in northern waters he boarded the yacht Athene he met the Kaiser and was imperially entertained by him. The Kaiser, talking French all the time, showed that he knew French and his latest fashions or fads to his fingertips. He discussed the theatre, the question with keen interest and proved an uncompromising opponent of big millinery. He did not talk much politics, but did not avoid them. On the contrary, touching upon the Franco-German incident of last year, he said that "his intentions had been misunderstood and misconstrued, and accused the press in the matter."

The responsibility prevailing in journalism the Kaiser considered most singular. In other professions certain conditions must be fulfilled. Journalists require neither study nor examination. A young man of twenty-two can write in the greatest and most respected journal in the world articles which make the deepest impression on his contemporaries.

While employing all the necessary courtesy of language in criticising the Kaiser's views there is much indignation expressed here that His Majesty should resort to these regrettable generalisations on such insufficient evidence. The Berliner Tageblatt, for example, wants to know where those twenty-two-year-old leader-writers are.

According to the Hamburger Nachrichten, the Kaiser, early in his reign, had really tried to understand the press, but relinquished the idea after he had set on foot investigations regarding the antecedents and qualifications of the men who wrote for it. His inquiries at the time were conducted by military men, and it is believed that the Kaiser's lingering dislike to the Fourth Estate is largely due to the influence of his military advisers, who, in their traditional suspicion of newspaper men and their work.

A NOVEL SCHEME FOR GETTING NEW BOOTS.

Bankrupt Theatrical Manager Worked a New Dodge on French Shoemakers.

PARIS, Aug. 25.—The manager of a theatrical touring company has been arrested here under amusing circumstances at the suit of two bootmakers. He needed a new pair of boots, but business had been bad and he was penniless. He therefore ordered two pairs from different makers.

When cobbler No. 1 delivered his pair the actor-manager tried them on and explained that the right one pinched him. "You can leave the left one," he said. "After the right one and bring it back tomorrow, when I will pay you."

In the same way the pair brought by the second cobbler were tried. In this case the left boot was found wanting, and was taken back for alteration, the right being left with the actor-manager. In this somewhat ill-matched pair of boots, made by different cobblers, he fled at once, leaving his company in the lurch. A subscription had to be raised to send the unfortunate actors back to Paris.

DO NOT INTEND TO SLIGHT AMERICAN BEAUTY.

Cackwar, of Barlo's, Explains that He Was Misunderstood in America.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The Gackwar of Barlo's who has been travelling through Scotland, says that he spoke jokingly when he told the New York reporters that American women lacked real beauty.

"I have really found American ladies charming women," said His Highness. The Gackwar says that upon his arrival in London he found a number of letters from American correspondents, some of whom protested because they thought he spoke slightly of the beauty of American women. That, he asserts, was not even the case. The American reporters misunderstood his pleasantries for a serious mood. Moreover, he says, he distinctly remembers stating at the time that they not only possessed charms peculiarly their own, but that they were the best dressed women that he had seen.

LATEST IMPROVEMENT IN SUBMARINE BOATS.

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—The new German submarine boat which was launched at Kiel the other day is provided with a new and most interesting feature. This enables the boat to disappear under water and reappear at the surface without being detected by the enemy's artillerymen or bringing their guns to bear on the attacking submarine.

HUNTER HAD DESPERATE BATTLE WITH EAGLES.

Climbed to a Nest and Was Attacked by the Two Old Birds.

GENEVA, Aug. 25.—A chalet hunter named Hess had a desperate fight with eagles on a narrow ledge overlooking a precipice in the mountains above Engelberg. He had located their eagle's nest, and climbed up alone with the object of capturing the young birds.

About thirty yards from the nest he laid down his rifle which hindered his movements. As soon as he reached the ledge he saw the two eagles. The parent birds swept down from a neighboring height and fiercely attacked him.

For twenty minutes a desperate struggle took place. Hess, defending himself with a knife, expiring every moment to be swept off the ledge. At last Hess succeeded in killing the male eagle. It is interesting to note, however, that bleeding from severe wounds, arrived safely at Engelberg several hours later.

FEWER PEOPLE VISIT THE BRITISH MUSEUM.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—A diminution of 10,000 visitors to the British Museum during 1905 as compared with 1904, against 94,441, as reported by the director, Sir E. Maunde Thompson, in a parliamentary return just published, expressed here that His Majesty should resort to these regrettable generalisations on such insufficient evidence.

TORTOISES HELD UP A CITY'S TRAFFIC.

PARIS, Aug. 25.—Three hundred tortoises stopped the traffic in the Rue de Richelieu the other day for nearly half an hour.

They were exposed for sale on a cart, when a motor car came sharply round the corner and holed them. The tortoises, considering their reputation, some got into shops, others fell down cellar gratings, and others made off in all directions over the road and pavement.

Hundreds of people crowded the streets to see the fun, while the owner of the tortoises and the driver of the motor car engaged in a violent argument. Eventually the police arrived, and a summons was issued against the motor car driver for exceeding the speed limit.

FIRST SHIPMENT OF GOLD FROM CONGO FREE STATE.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 25.—The first shipment of gold from a mine in the Congo State has reached Belgium. It is not very large, but it represents the commencement of an enterprise that may attain considerable dimensions.

In 1902 two Australian prospectors, Messrs. Hannum and O'Brien, were sent out by the Congo Government to study the mineral resources of this part of its territory, and after seven months' research they fixed on a point near Kilo, on the Upper Ituri, west of Lake Albert, where they discovered sufficient alluvial gold to justify expenditure on exploitation. At the end of 1904, work was first taken in hand, and Mr. O'Brien took charge of the mining operations in March, 1905.

The output for some months past has averaged 600 oz. per month, but owing to the dense forest and thick undergrowth it has not yet been possible to ascertain the extent of the gold field. New machinery is now on its way to Kilo, proceeding to its destination by the British Railway in Uganda.

MURDERER CAPTURED AFTER LONG CHASE.

Surrounded and Facing Revolver in Hands of Plucky Countryman He Surrendered in Abject Fear—Admits He is Thomas J. Collins Who Worked For Father McAulay and Disappeared the Day of the Murder—Will be Brought to St. John Today—Two Other Suspects Arrested at Rothesay.

ST. GEORGE, N. B., Aug. 24.—Covering before a loaded revolver in the hands of James Hill and Frank Kehoe, two men belonging to Saint George's and crying like a baby, Thomas J. Collins, the man suspected of the murder of Miss Mary McAulay, cousin of Rev. Father McAulay at New Ireland last Sunday, was arrested about six o'clock this afternoon on the Red Rock road at Lee Settlement, twelve miles from this village. He at once admitted that his name was Collins and that he had lived in New Ireland with Father McAulay. He did not confess to the murder. Collins said that he always thought a great deal of Father McAulay, who had been very kind to him, but that he could never get along well with Miss McAulay.

HIS CIRCUITOUS ROUTE.

It will be remembered when last seen Thursday night he was on the Lake road near the junction of the St. John highway. His movements from that time until his capture tonight have been ascertained. Thursday evening he got a lunch at Douglas Spinnery's place, after which he started to walk to St. George. He only went a short distance, however, when he retraced his steps to the lake road and walked along an old logging road leading from the head of Lake Utopia to the Red Rock road. Stopping only when he became so tired that he could not go on, he continued his lonely journey through the night and arrived at the house of Patrick Kehoe in time for breakfast. He then left the Red Rock road and went to the house of William J. Sullivan, where he had dinner. After resting a short time he went on his way, and nothing more was seen of him until he was overtaken late in the afternoon by T. A. Sullivan and his guests.

STORY OF THE ARREST.

Within two minutes after the capture Detective Killen and Marshal Meadum had the man and no time was lost in hustling him to the Bonny River Hotel. When Hill and Kehoe overtook Collins he was walking along the highway and it did not take his pursuers many minutes to see that he was in a very excited condition. Collins, who was in charge of the team, Mr. Sullivan turned around, to throw up his hands, and one shot was fired in the air to frighten him. This had the desired effect, for bursting into tears he fell to the roadside and without the slightest resistance, as his captors required, until Detective Killen, accompanied by Marshal Meadum, arrived and took him in charge.

SAW MAN ENTER THE BUSHES.

It was early yesterday afternoon when a party of tourists who are staying at the Bonny River Hotel left that hotel in a team driven by Proprietor T. A. Sullivan for Sparks Lake, for a day in that city. I started to walk to St. Stephen. Collins says his faithful horse, which he does not know where his mother is, he was born in Liverpool, Eng., and came to this country on the steamer Dominion. He was twenty-one years old on August 14.

TWO SUSPECTS WERE ARRESTED AT ROTHESAY.

Word was received at central last night from Attorney General Pugsley that a suspicious looking character was loitering about, and he answered the descriptions given of Collins. Officer Crawford was sent out. While searching about for the man he came upon a hobo loitering in the bushes. The man answered the description of Collins very well, so the officer took him to Rothesay station. The station master said he was not the man suspected by the attorney general, but he was held on suspicion.

DETECTIVE KILLEN ARRIVES.

Word was sent at once to Detective Killen at St. George that the suspected murderer had been seen and that officer who throughout the chase has used exceedingly good judgment, left with a party of men to search for him. Five minutes after having covered the distance of twelve miles in record time, he arrived at the Bonny River Hotel, where he was met by the men, Killen was close at hand. The detective took charge of the man and returned to the hotel. He was here about 7.30 o'clock and are spending the night at the Carleton house. Tomorrow Detective Killen will leave for St. John with his prisoner. He will probably drive to the city but it is just possible that he may go up over the Shore Line.

THE PRISONER'S APPEARANCE.

The prisoner wears a dark colored shirt, ordinary working clothes and hat. When captured he had no shoes on and his feet are very sore. He was carrying his shoes in his hand, having taken them off some time during the day. He complained of being nearly exhausted and said his feet pained him.

NATIVE STUDENTS ATTACKED MISSIONARIES.

CALCUTTA, Aug. 25.—According to reports received here two European missionaries, the Rev. Mr. Hewitt and the Rev. Mr. Shaul, with four ladies and a Bengali female teacher, were attacked by a crowd of young native students. The students had assembled to welcome Bepin Behari Pal, who was coming to lecture on Sivali, and seeing the Bengali teacher, who was ill with fever, they carried off.

The students carried off the party of missionaries. The missionaries were wounded. The magistrate went to Santipur by the next train, and arrested four of the culprits, ordering the Sivali meeting to be stopped.

DISAPPOINTED IN LOVE LEAPED TO HIS DEATH.

Young Italian Left a Letter Telling of His Intentions.

GENEVA, Aug. 25.—The mangled body of a young Italian named Ferraro, has been found lying at the foot of the precipice over the Glacier de Triplet. In the pocket of the man was found a letter which showed clearly that he deliberately leaped over the precipice, as he had been disappointed in love.

IRELAND AGAIN EXCITED OVER HOME RULE PROSPECTS.

HER BODY FOUND AFTER THREE YEARS OF MYSTERY.

One of the Pharaoh Lay-Outs Did Not Keep Very Well, and He Sold the Bones.

CHAMONIX, Aug. 25.—There disappeared on August 11, 1903, a lady named Mile. Dora Bucheler, thirty-four years of age, who was born at Bonn, and who was a sister-in-law of M. Oscar de Bassiner, a councillor of state and professor at the Imperial University at Warsaw.

No trace of her could be found at the time, but the other day her remains were discovered by a number of Alpinists returning from the Aiguille du Midi.

There is no doubt as to the identity of the skeleton, beside which an umbrella with a silver handle, bearing the name Bucheler, was found. The remains were discovered by a number of Alpinists returning from the Aiguille du Midi.

BUYER OF MUMMIES CHARGED WITH MURDER.

PARIS, Aug. 25.—An old gentleman at Ternes has been charged with murder under curious circumstances.

The rag picker rushed into the police station and threw down a bag of bones, declaring that they had been given to him to make away with, but he had discovered them to be human.

Scenting a terrible crime, the Inspector had the bones locked up, and then telephoned to a magistrate. Soon after, two policemen called at the house where the bag had been handed to the rag-picker, and were received by an old gentleman in gold-rimmed spectacles.

The magistrate looked the door he laid a calmed bone on the table, and said, "You gave this and other human remains to a rag-picker." "I did," said the old gentleman, "I arrest you for murder," said the magistrate solemnly, "who was your victim?"

In reply the old gentleman in the gold spectacles burst out laughing. "The victim," he said, "is the son of the Grand Priest Diphtha, who died in Egypt more than 3,000 years before the birth of Christ. I bought him recently, but he did not keep well, so I current of even points to the introduction next session of an Irish measure at least in the direction of Home Rule. The larger the measure the better, not merely for Ireland, but for the Government."

Little courage to settle the question. The precedent of South Africa may be followed with advantage.

Commenting on Sir Anthony MacDonald's speech, the Irish Times says: "A good many people are saying: 'A Sir Anthony as meaning that next year is to give us Home Rule, or at least, something so very near to it as to make Irish people can turn it into Home Rule without difficulty—in fact, a sort of Transvaal was there are, it is a cry of protest which will fill Irish Unionists with uneasy suspicion, and that suspicion is the worst enemy they have. But the speech will have to be condemned as a piece of error both of taste and judgment.'"

There is considerable alarm over the possibilities of a potato famine. Some of the farmers fear that the situation will gradually become another season as bad as that of 1847, or half a century ago. The potato blight is bad, especially among the fields and gardens in the south and west of Ireland and Waterford. Along the seacoast more especially has the blight shown itself with intensity in the wildered stails and decaying leaves, and, in some instances, the baneful smell that is given out by the blighted leaves. Heavy sea fogs have been very prevalent for the past three weeks, and more inland, heavy dew has been very prevalent until late in the morning, and to this cause some of the mischief is attributed. When spraying has been resorted to, the blight has not shown itself so markedly, and in many instances where a portion only of the field has been sprayed, and another part not, the former has escaped while the latter has not. Potatoes—the ordinary growth—are now selling freely in the market towns at from five-pence to eight-pence the stone weight. Other crops, however, are doing well.

The new Town Hall in Belfast was solemnly opened by Lord Aberdeen, the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. The new building, which is a contrast to the old red brick town hall near the river, marks the emergence of the Northern capital from that of a more or less provincial town into the position of one of the great cities of the world. When the plan and expense of the building were first announced, there was a great deal of criticism, but the scheme was too large for Belfast, but its promoters very wisely proceeded with it; and they have worked it out to the permanent credit of the town. The position of the new building—the finest now in Belfast—is on the site of the old Lichen Hall Library, the best site in the city.

TROUBLE IN MEXICO.

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 24.—It is reported that a battalion of the troops at Camp Mabry will leave in an hour for the Mexican border. While the reason for the issuance of such orders is not positively known, it is rumored that the troops are to go to this point.

IRELAND AGAIN EXCITED OVER HOME RULE PROSPECTS.

Sir Anthony McDonald's Speech Has Been the Cause of a Lot of Comment—A Potato Famine Threatened.

It is known that since that time inquiries have been on foot, and it is quite certain that an Irish Government Bill will be the principal measure before Parliament in the session of 1907. Unionists profess to believe that this may be the first of the "Home Rule by Installment" system. More than once, however, the Prime Minister has stated that no attempt will be made to pass Home Rule without first appealing to the country, and that what the government has in view is "to give Ireland a large measure of management in local affairs"—in other words, a development of the policy which the Unionists have themselves pursued.

There is good ground for supposing that the bill is in an advanced state of preparation by the responsible heads of the Irish Office. Nothing is known about the character of the measure, but the impression is that a radical assault will be made upon what is known as Castle Government in Ireland. At Dublin Castle are themselves pursued to fewer than forty-one different Government departments. Some of these are comparatively unimportant. What is believed to be in contemplation is the co-ordination of the various departments, placing them under the control of some kind of popularly-elected Council.

It is not to be supposed that the Government do not hesitate to say that sooner or later they will be able to force large sized Home Rule concessions out of the Government.

Freeman's Journal thus anticipates the action of the Government. The larger the measure the better, not merely for Ireland, but for the Government."

Little courage to settle the question. The precedent of South Africa may be followed with advantage.

Commenting on Sir Anthony MacDonald's speech, the Irish Times says: "A good many people are saying: 'A Sir Anthony as meaning that next year is to give us Home Rule, or at least, something so very near to it as to make Irish people can turn it into Home Rule without difficulty—in fact, a sort of Transvaal was there are, it is a cry of protest which will fill Irish Unionists with uneasy suspicion, and that suspicion is the worst enemy they have. LAUNCH DRIFTED HELPLESSLY IN SEA.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Dewitt of New York City and R. W. Welborne of Cape Vincent, who were believed to have been drowned during a squall on Lake Ontario last night, were reported safe on the island tonight. A messenger brought the news to Sackets Harbor, which is 18 miles from Galloup Island. The twenty-foot launch from which the party was fishing when the storm broke drifted helplessly in the rough sea for several hours and finally was driven ashore on Galloup Island beach, ten miles from where they had last been sighted.

SUBMARINES MEAN A NAVAL REVOLUTION.

PARIS, Aug. 25.—Admiral Fournier, the commander-in-chief of the French fleet, in an interview in connection with the naval manoeuvres, says that the tendency of the present is to attack, and that "these vessels have brought about a revolution in our armament."

His words have created a deep impression, and naval experts are following.

IDENTIFIED PHOTO.

HILLSBORO, N. B., Aug. 24.—F. O. Erb, photographer here, has a photo taken aboard the bark Edna M. Smith of a sailor identified today by Mrs. McMann as the New Ireland murderer, also by a Frenchman. A Frenchman, who Dr. B. A. Harvey, an attending physician, knew the man. When shown the photo and asked to pick out the man he knew, the man, who was wearing a dark coat, was taken at Gray's Island wharf by Mr. Erb two weeks ago as the bark was leaving Lunenburg. The photo is one of a group of half a dozen sailors.

A CORRECTION.

HARVEY, Aug. 25. To the Editor of the Sun: Sir—In your account of the horrible murder committed in this county, in the Daily Sun today it is stated my wife is a niece of Miss McAulay, the murdered woman. This statement is not correct. My wife is a niece of Father McAulay and a third cousin of Miss McAulay.

Yours respectfully, CHARLES MORRIS.

"Two days ago," wrote Ferraro, "Nina told me that she would marry a guide and that her feelings for me had changed. I meant at first to kill the guide, but I thought his death would make Nina sad, and then, you will find me on the glacier. Good-bye, Nina."

MR. ROSS HAS LOTS TO DO.

Mr. James Ross seems to be inclined to lighten his labors as a director, and although he has resigned from four or five concerns in the last few weeks, he is still identified with a formidable array of companies:
Bank of Montreal Dominion Coal
Calgary Land Co. Canada Life
Canada Sugar Co. Can. Gen. Electric
Electrical Dev. Co. Laurentide Pulp
Mex. Electric Mex. Elec. Works
Mont. Rolling Mills Royal Trust
St. John Railway Toronto Power
Mr. Ross' pet concern, however, is Dominion Coal, and it is safe to say that his interests in that company involve close to $50,000.

SIR G. DRUMMOND ELECTED.
The newspapers have long predicted the resignation of Mr. James Ross from the presidency of the Mexican Power Company, but they have failed to make a correct guess as to his successor.

Yesterday Mr. Ross not only resigned the presidency, but his position as director. Sir George Drummond became president, and Charles H. Cahan collector for the company, and exceedingly well posted on Mexican affairs, takes the vacant place on the board of directors. There is no special significance in Mr. Ross' resignation, other than the fact that his health would permit him to pay the attention to the company that he thinks a president and director should give.

REAL VALUE DOESN'T COUNT.
"The thing that impresses me most, and at the same time the least favorable," said a commentator who returned to Wall Street yesterday after an absence of several weeks, "is the utter uselessness with which the market is flooded by a large majority of speculators. A man who speaks of values is asked at pitying and elbowed away by the tickers. Nobody seems to be thinking of what things are worth. It is a question of what turn this powerful manipulation is going to take next. The light of recent events nothing seems probable. People are credulous beyond anything that I can remember. When I went away certain Argentine bulls on Atchison were predicting that the dividend would be raised to a rate of 5 per cent. Since then Union Pacific and Southern Pacific dividends have been adopted the belief that the Atchison rate will be jumped to 6 per cent. It looks to me as if we were suddenly dealing with a speculative craze."—N. Y. Times.

BEST AUGUST IN HISTORY OF IRON.
According to the Iron Age, all August records are outdone this month, and in some lines of iron "all records of hatching month."

"For example," says the Iron Age, the leading producer booked 200,000 tons of wire products in the first seven days of August. So far as large orders are concerned all their records will be used to prevent further sales of wire. About a week ago the work of experimenting with a view of obtaining a suitable motive power to run the machine when in the air was begun, and as far as it has gone the test has proved satisfactory. For the purpose Professor Bell has imported two copper air tight tubes, about 28 feet long, and about four feet in circumference. These are held together six feet apart by a platform running the entire length of the floats. On top of this platform a bridge has been built, running horizontally with the tubes, the ends of which reach out over the sides about three feet. Enclosed in this top-hammer in the center is a gasoline engine power engine, which, when set in motion, starts two propellers, one at either end, going through the air. On the same principle as a steamer's screw going through the water sends the vessel forward, so these blades rotating through the air, cause the heavy structure along the surface of the lake at a fairly rapid rate of speed.

"Cambyes, or the Pearl of Persia," a cantata; and "Mercedes," a grand opera. This dramatic work includes "Roadside Dainties," "The Great Carnival," "Peck's Bad Boy," "Wanted a Partner," and "Tactics." His first novel "Quincy Adams Sawyer and Mason's Corner Folks," was published in 1890 and has reached a sale of 25,000 copies. The 1901 "Blenheim; or the Decree of Fate," was issued and has reached a sale of 18,000 copies. In 1902 appeared a temperance story entitled "Stephen Holman," and the second of the Burr romances, "The Climax, or What Might Have Been." In 1904 "The Letter H," a novel, and "A Native Idol," which has Benjamin Franklin for its leading character, were published; in the spring of 1905 "Little Burr, the Warlock of America," the third and last of the Burr romances, was issued; "Sarah Bernhardt Brown," a country story, being a companion volume to "Quincy Adams Sawyer," and "The Corsican Lover," a romance dealing with the Vendetta, was published in the fall of 1905; "The Baby Masquerade," the scene of which is laid in Italy, was published in the spring of 1906.

Mr. Pidgeon is at present engaged in preparing for publication a life of Col. Aaron Burr, which will be entitled "The Great Truismate." The work will comprise ten volumes of from 300 to 400 pages each and will contain 300 illustrations. The collection of material for this work was begun as far back as 1882, and he has expended for books and necessary researches in connection therewith a sum amounting to fully $50,000. The work will cover the principal events in the history of the United States from 1776 to 1886, and will probably end, as the author hopes, the bitter political feud which has existed for more than a hundred years between the supporters of Col. Burr, Thomas Jefferson and Alexander Hamilton.

Mr. Pidgeon is connected with many scientific and literary societies, among which may be mentioned The American Statistical Association, The American Social Science Association, The Civic Federation of New England, The Economic Club, The Bostonian Society, and The Boston Authors' Club.

terized the situation in 1902, for example. The buying of foundry iron has been in part for this year, but chiefly in large lots for the first quarter and first half of 1907. Southern producers are now selling No. 3 foundry iron at prices netting $15 Birmingham for next year's delivery and on smaller business have secured the equivalent of $15.50 Birmingham. In the Central West $18 at furnace for No. 2 foundry is the rule and the scarcity of iron for this year's consumption is more marked.

STEEL MAKING IRON FOR 1906 cannot be had in the central West, though it is not certain all Eastern producers are completely sold up. Bessemer pig iron has advanced to $18 at valley furnace, and the available product for 1907 is being held at $18.25 in some cases. Of the sales reported last week that of 70,000 tons is really a sliding scale transaction under an old arrangement. The Steel Corporation is not buying iron for 1907, and has ceased to be a buyer of melting scrap for 1908 for the same prudential reason that has taken it out of the pig iron market for this year.

While the plate mills are being pressed for deliveries to the can manufacturers, the canning industry reporting reasonable activity. The $2 premium on steel bars asked by one Pennsylvania interest reflects the strong conditions in that market, but an official advance is not imminent.

AIRSHIPS

(Sydney Record.)
It is not by any means in the realms of the improbable that within two years an air ship, under complete control of an operator, and guided as safely as a steamer in water, will be sent away from the heights surrounding Belin Bhreagh, the beautiful summer home of Professor Alexander Graham Bell, at Red Head, Baffin. For some years Dr. Bell has been engaged on an invention which he hopes will eventually solve the difficult problem of aerial navigation.

While the majority of the air ship builders followed the beaten track of having for their supporting structure a large and unwieldy balloon inflated with gas, to which was suspended a car whence the operator, with but indifferent success, guided the huge bulk overhead, Dr. Bell has blazed a trail of his own, and worked on an idea entirely different from that of the others engaged on the same problem. While all the other machines are built with a lifting power (gas usually) as a mainstay, Dr. Bell's machine is a complete air ship, and is capable of leaving the ground, Dr. Bell believes that an air-ship, to attain to any degree of efficiency, must contain within itself, by the nature of its construction, the power to float in the air.

From this beginning it is intended to work up the motive and propelling power together with steering gear so that the future air-ship may be piloted safely. In order to minimize the chances of loss of life during the trial experiments, the machine will be attached to two floats in the water which will allow it to soar but a short distance from the surface. The ship intended for this purpose has been completed and is ready to start when the steering and propelling gear have been finished. Dr. Bell thinks it will take up over a year before this will have been accomplished, and perhaps longer. He is not going to take any chances, but he is confident that the scheme has reached perfection.

During a visit to the doctor's laboratory early this week The Post representative was shown the huge kite composed of 1800 tetrahedral cells, which when down last summer easily carried a man up to it. Each of these cells are securely fastened in pairs and are connected by a network of silk on two sides, and the action of the air on the planes when the machine is in motion furnishes the lifting power. Looking at one of these airships it stands perfectly still, suspended at any altitude that the operator desires. It certainly looks as if with the proper power the problem of navigation through the air has at last been solved.

Employed in the different departments where the work of experimenting is going on Professor Bell has seven men and six girls, who are generally to be found with no idle time on their hands. The men, as the work-developing craft, while the girls are employed to sew the silk on the framework of the cells. The whole plant is under the personal supervision of Mr. W. F. Bedwin, of North Sydney, upon whom is placed the responsibility of all the construction work. That Mr. Bedwin should be chosen by the experimenter among a host of applicants as best suited for such an important position speaks well for that young man's ability in his chosen profession.

Newspaper advertising is not an experiment in any sense of the word. It is a common sense business transaction.—Wilmington, Del., Every Evening.

McArthur & McVey Have Finished Their Contracts

City Can Have Loch Lomond Water
Soon as the Necessary Connections are Made

The water system extension work is practically completed according to the statement made by W. A. McVey of the firm of McArthur and McVey, the contractors on No. 1 and No. 2 sections of the work. Mr. McVey has been at Loch Lomond almost all the time since the work was begun, but last night went with his father, Joseph McVey, to Amherst.

Mr. McVey said that the intake into Lake Latimer was completed on Wednesday night. The work is 405 feet in length, which is some five feet more than the plans called for. This part of the work proved most difficult and much harder than was expected. Rock, quicksands and other impediments had to be contended with.

Lake Latimer is now practically dry, as the water has all been drawn off. This part of the work has taken some weeks, as the water could only be lowered very slowly. In fact, the drawing off of the water was begun in April. It would take over four weeks to again fill up the lake through the Moonsey's sections from Loch Lomond, but it would be possible for the city with the proper connections to take water through the new works immediately.

It is not likely, however, that the new water will be brought in for some time, as the proper connections cannot be made immediately. The contractors' work, however, is finished, with the exception of grading and other trimmings.

The last step in the work was the completion yesterday of a gap in the concrete pipe at Ellersley's Brook. The completion of this gives a through pipe line.

The contracting firm of McArthur & McVey have not submitted their figures for the last part of their work, but when they do so the final estimates on these two sections will be made out in the office of Engineer Barbour and the city will then have fairly exact figures of the whole cost of the work.

Mr. McVey says that he could not state at the present time what claims will be made by them for extras, and when asked whether their total sum for extras will be greater than $50,000, as has been rumored, Mr. McVey says that they have not yet attempted to estimate the amount.

GREAT CROWDS COMING.

Advices from all sections of Lower Canada point to a tremendously large attendance at the St. John Exhibition. Nova Scotians, particularly in the Annapolis Valley district, are contemplating taking in the St. John fair first and a little later their own show at Halifax. New Brunswick and P. E. Island will, as usual, send their thousands. In nearly every case when the St. John Exhibition is mentioned, the intending visitor speaks with happy anticipation of seeing the great hippodrome performances, Barlow's herd of educated elephants, Montague's cockatoo circus, the wonderful monkeys, dogs, bears and hunters of Professor Wormwood, etc. This will be one of the highest-priced and best shows ever seen in Canada. It will mark an epoch in entertaining at exhibitions that will be difficult to live up to when other big shows are contemplated.

HON. W. S. FIELDING APPEALS

(Special to the Sun.)
HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 24.—Notice of appeal to the supreme court of Canada against the decision of the court dismissing personal charges against Hon. W. S. Fielding has been given by the petitioner's lawyers.

A Hendrickson tourist party composed of eleven persons were at the Victoria yesterday. The visitors spent the day driving about town and leave for up river today. They will proceed to Ditzby on Monday morning.

A CRIME EXCHANGE.

every cent of their hard-won gold. The strong-arm men, having removed the gold to a place of safety, encountered two experienced tilters fortified with the most thrilling story that ever left the "Imagination Department." The strong-arm men listened attentively to the wondrous chances of multiplying their wealth, and, at length, were induced to part with it, only to discover that they had been victimized.

As the con men were making off with their spoil, one of the smartest sneak thieves in New York substituted bags of copper and got away with the genuine article. Something approaching a cataclysm followed the perpetration of these crimes, for it was found in each instance the Intelligence Department of the Crime Exchange had supplied the materials and instructions upon which the different gangs worked. Warm commendation was received from the sneak thief, but the others wrote strongly worded, and even discourteous letters.

All the fact that Algernon possessed was required to prevent an outbreak of absolute violence, and the meeting that followed was the most stormy in the history of the Exchange.

Order was not restored until a referee gave his famous decision of "Jaggy vs. The Crime Exchange," and the matter ended in a revision of the rules, providing that any member using the information of the Exchange to rob another member should be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct and be subject to expulsion or suspension, at the discretion of the committee.

The Exchange had resumed its accustomed energy, and the members were prospering without exception, when Algernon was astounded to read in the share quotations the item "Crime Exchange, bid, $4.50; asked, $4.75."

Never since the opening of the Exchange had the members allowed the shares to go on the open market, and the quotation was inexplicable. What was more extraordinary still was the statement that the stock was offered twenty-five cents below par. The concern could not have been more prosperous. The first half-year was just closing, and Algernon had a dividend of twenty-five per cent. would be declared, not to mention the setting aside of $10,000 as a reserve fund. He sought out Mr. Ronald and placed $2,500 in his hands for the purpose of buying the Exchange shares at $4.25, provided they went down. Mr. Ronald was able to secure them for $4.25, and Algernon's quotations were $4.20, he charged Algernon that amount.

The affair was most mysterious. It was obvious that a big bear movement was taking place. One firm was selling as many shares as the others were willing to take, and, though Algernon continued to buy, the price just as steadily dropped. The published quotations were $4.20, he charged Algernon that amount.

Algernon bought his last hundred, and then announced to the world the completion of his corner. The brokers merely grinned, and he rushed back to the Crime Exchange to inform the directors. On his table lay a letter addressed to him in the handwriting of the "McFarlane," who had been given a week's holiday to attend the Convention of the Association for the Advancement of Deceit. Algernon opened the letter, which read:

Dear Mr. Vanistart:
I regret to inform you that, instead of attending the Chataqua as I stated, I took the first boat for Guan and am now carrying with me the reserve and of The Crime Exchange and all the valuables from the strong room. It was with extreme reluctance that I took the step, but it was forced upon me.

My conscience would not permit me to longer be a party to the waterfloozy, reckless and sinful extravagance to which you and other members of the Exchange were devoting the salaries I paid you. I had neither you nor any of them any ill-will and trust that you may be forgiven as I forgive you.

I enclose check for $20, being my quarter's fee for membership, for prior to taking this voyage, I consulted our legal expert to ascertain the safest land to visit. He strongly advised Guan, and before leaving I took under his advice, all necessary precautions against extradition.

It may also mention that my knowledge that the Exchange would fail as a result of my defection led me to instruct my brokers to sell its shares heavily. I have every reason to believe that they have done so. Trusting that you will make an endeavor to stone for the past and lead a better life, I remain,
Yours sincerely,
JAMES FRANCIS MCFARLANE.

Algernon fell into his chair in a shapeless mass. When he rose he was a raving maniac, and the other directors found him dancing on McFarlane's ledger, the last entry of which—conscientious bookkeeper that he was—ran:
"Embezzlement of J. F. McFarlane, $13,254.53," making the total balance to a cent.

Without Algernon's guiding hand the Exchange was like a rudderless ship. The day after he was removed to the asylum, Watson called McGrath a thief at the directors' meeting, and McGrath was so enraged that he struck out with the water-bottle and the proceedings ended in confusion. While the rest of the board were trying to fix up a scheme for the continuance of the Exchange, Frank Wilkinson, who had stolen the key of the office, came up with a truck and cleared out the furniture. The Exchange never recovered. The members fell back into their old anarchical methods, high-class crime being a thing of the past; the leading men grew so disgusted that they returned to the practice of their respective professions—law, medicine, engineering, and commerce; and the only people who came out on top were Ronald, Gilligan & Ronald, who were appointed receivers of the defunct concern.

BOTH MEN SENT UP FOR TRIAL

Case of Lovitt and Crowell
Goes to Supreme Court

The Complainant is J. Lyons Hatfield a Prominent Shareholder of Defunct
Bank of Yarmouth

(Special to the Sun.)

HALIFAX, Aug. 24.—Senator John Lovitt and Samuel A. Crowell, president and vice-president of the defunct Bank of Yarmouth, will have to undergo trial in the supreme court. The complainant is J. Lyons Hatfield, a somewhat prominent shareholder of the bank, who charges that the president and vice-president signed statements for the government that were wilfully false and misleading. The case against President Lovitt was tried first and resulted in his being committed for trial in the supreme court, which meets in Yarmouth in October. The case against Vice-President Crowell was then taken up and by agreement of counsel all evidence given in the Lovitt case was admitted in that of Crowell, who was also committed for trial. Before any evidence was taken Mr. Peiton on behalf of Lovitt and Crowell expressed his willingness to waive the preliminary examination and have both go to the supreme court, but Mr. Ritchie would not consent to such procedure on their part, as there is no provision in the criminal code. Both were admitted to bail in four thousand dollars each. The magistrate held the evidence was not strong, but he had no alternative but to commit them.

W. E. Stavert testified that he had been appointed curator on March sixth, 1905, the day on which the bank was suspended. January, 1906, the statement of the Bank of Yarmouth shows the current loans $62,486.55. This should have been placed in the "overdue debts" column. Mr. Stavert said the effect of the wrong statement is to give the bank the appearance of greater strength than the correct showing would give it. The Bank of Yarmouth's statement for January, 1905, was incorrect as the sum of $352,000 which appeared in the current loan column should have been placed in the overdue column.

JENNIE DARLING A WONDER ON SKATES

Large and Delighted Crowd Watched Her
Graceful Evolutions at the Victoria
Rink Last Night.

Miss Jennie Darling attracted a large crowd to the Victoria rink last night to witness her exhibition of fancy skating. The spectators were highly delighted with the performance, and it is safe to say that still larger audiences will be on hand for her appearances this afternoon and evening.

Miss Darling was gowned in a pink costume, and made a very attractive picture as she floated around the rink with scarcely more effort than a bird in the air. Her exhibition was a revelation of the possibilities of the art of skating on rollers. Every move was graceful and harmonious, and the most difficult figures were performed with apparently the greatest ease.

Miss Darling has in her repertoire all the most intricate feats known to the experts. Among the figures which she executed last night were the cross roll, out off, long rolls, out and turned edge, waltz, five steps; three different single foot turns, promenade and turn, Philadelphia twist, diving Mercury, cross foot turn, heel and toe, grape vine, single and double figure eight, serpentine, toe serpentine and locomotive hop.

BIBLE AGENT TALKS.

Address of Robert Watson Last Night
Was Very Interesting.

Robert Watson, agent of the British-American Book and Tract Society, preached in Zion Methodist Church last evening. He spoke from the words: "God hath power to help and to cast down," and "Tover belongeth unto God." Mr. Watson's address was much enjoyed. He spoke of the power of the Word and referred to the fact that the society he represents had distributed free of charge 370,000 Bibles. The agents of the society had found $359 families without Bibles and unable to buy, and had provided them with free copies. Mr. Watson also spoke of the power of prayer, the power of the Spirit, and the power of a consecrated life.

Mr. Watson will preach at Zion Church on Sunday morning and will lecture at Exmouth St. Church on Monday evening. Mrs. Watson, who is a Scotchman, speaks with a strong Scotch accent, which adds much interest to his public addresses.

Mr. Watson will preach in Fairview on Sunday evening.

GOVERNMENT WILL NOT MEET TILL TUESDAY

The Hewson Woolen Mills Have Increased
Capital Stock to Million Dollars

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 24.—An indication of the condition of the woolen industry is contained in the announcement that the Hewson Woolen Mills, Ltd., have increased their capital stock from a hundred and seventy-five thousand to a million dollars. The prime minister will reach Ottawa tomorrow evening. However, there will be no meeting of the government until Tuesday, as it has been found that some of the by-elections will be discussed as well as the settlement of differences with the United States which it is understood Sir Mortimer Durand, Secretary of State Root, the British Government and Earl Grey are anxious to have disposed of.

The date of provincial conference and the programme for the revision of the tariff schedules will also be arranged for.

63 DIVORCE CASES BREAK ALL RECORDS

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Judge MacLean in the supreme court yesterday handed down decisions in sixty-three cases of divorce, which breaks all records in the supreme court here. He dismissed twenty suits, and granted interlocutory decrees in forty-three. Besides these, Judge MacLean has eight cases before him in which he has reviewed the testimony, but has delayed decision in order that certain matters may be cleared up.

The members of the C. M. B. A. are requested to meet at their hall, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, to attend the funeral of their late brother member M. Driscoll Sweeney, Vice-President of Branch 124.

German Governor in Africa to be Tried for Brutal Treatment of a Boy

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—Herr Horn, the Governor of Togo, German West Africa, is about to be tried for brutalities perpetrated on natives.

The specific charge is that of inhuman punishment imposed upon a boy accused of stealing a trifling amount from the government funds. The boy was put through various tortures by soldiers to induce him to confess, but persisted in declaring his innocence.

After a term of imprisonment and twenty-five lashes at the whipping post, Herr Horn ordered the boy to be suspended from a flagstaff, choosing a burning hot day, when the ordeal would be all the more terrible. From time to time the governor visited the scene, and mockingly imitated the boy's pitiable cries for water.

The governor left next day without inquiring as to the boy's fate. When, however, he returned a few hours later he found the lad dead.

WHOLESALE SMUGGLING
OF LIQUOR AND TOBACCO.

Fleet of Dutch Vessels Tried to Reach England—Several Were Seized

LONDON, Aug. 25.—That smuggling on a large scale is not extinct is shown by the annual report of the commissioners of customs just issued.

A particularly daring venture was made last year, when a fleet of seven coopers (floating spirit and tobacco shops), all of Dutch nationality, set sail for English shores. Two of the vessels were captured by H. M. S. Argus inside the three-mile limit off the Humber. On that occasion 5,000 pounds of tobacco and cigars were seized. It is the practice of the coopers to sell their cargoes to fishermen.

EASY MONEY FROM THE PROFESSOR'S WIDOW.

How a Frenchman Succeeded in Getting
All the Spare Cash From a Woman
Who Wanted a Job.

BUCHAREST, Aug. 25.—The widow of a French university professor recently inserted an advertisement in several papers explaining her desire to obtain a position as governess in a well-to-do family. She stated that she had saved $10,000.

A man who called himself Kepler called on her in Paris in reply to this advertisement, and told the widow that he had bought himself about to obtain for her the position she desired. He called every day for some time, and was extremely attentive, but the widow could not understand why the position was never mentioned in actual terms.

She mentioned this fact one day, and her visitor told her that he had not told the exact truth. He ridiculed her old-fashioned ideas. He declared that he had fallen in love with her, and begged her to marry him.

He introduced her to his parents, who were, as he alleged, the owners of a prosperous hotel at Bucharest. This hotel, the generous father said, would be given as a wedding gift to the young couple immediately after the marriage.

Kepler informed her of little value in Bucharest, it would be advantageous to her if her savings were exchanged for Roumanian money in Paris.

The widow entrusted her money to Kepler. This was the last seen of him or the family.

RAISING MONEY TO REBUILD VALPARAISO.

Buildings Will be of Light Material—The Streets to be of a Uniform Width.

VALPARAISO, Chile, Aug. 25.—A movement is on foot to organize a company to facilitate the raising of money necessary to reconstruct the city. It is proposed to advance the sum needed without interest for the first six months.

The plan is to construct the new buildings of light materials and to lay out the streets so that they will have a uniform width of 20 metres.

All the provinces of the north and south which have not suffered from the earthquake are sending supplies of food and money to the cities and towns which suffered from the disturbance. The department of public works at Santiago has appropriated $100,000 for the construction of sheds to shelter the homeless of Valparaiso and elsewhere.

Valparaiso is still without street lights at night but order is maintained, thanks to the severity of the authorities who continue shooting all persons who are caught committing robberies.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The Chilean-Trans-Andine R. R. has received a cable despatch from its manager at Los Andes, saying that the damage to the road is not serious and that traffic will be resumed in a few weeks as far as Juncal.

DEAD SPARROWS CAUSED
AN EPIDEMIC OF TYPHOID.

THREE OAKS, Mich., Aug. 25.—The cause of an epidemic of typhoid fever among the 1,000 inhabitants of this place, was discovered today when a member of the board of health climbed to the top of the waterworks standpipe and found the dead bodies of several thousand young sparrows in various stages of decomposition covering the surface of the water. Hundreds of sparrow nests have been built on a ledge that runs around the summit of the standpipe and the young birds are supposed to have fallen into the uncovered standpipe while trying to fly.

Ferrol in Summer Time

With all its delights summer has its dangers and its drawbacks as well. Not the least of these is the depressing and enervating effect which the hot weather has on persons with run down or naturally weak constitutions. The appetite flags, the digestion weakens, and the system becomes an easy prey for the numerous diseases peculiar to the season.

It is, therefore, of prime importance that the system should be kept up to the mark, and in no other way can this be done so effectively and with such absolute certainty as by taking three times a day, as per instructions. FERROL is a concentrated food scientifically prepared, pleasant to take and easy to digest.

FERROL is not a patent medicine. The formula is freely published, 10% prescribed by the best Medical Journals. It is used in prominent Hospitals, Sanatoriums, etc.

BANDITS CUT OFF HER EARS AND FINGERS.

Shocking Crimes of Thieves in Chile—
Mutilated People in Order to Get Their Jewels.

LIMA, Peru, Aug. 25.—Further details received here today from Valparaiso, Chile, show that out of forty employees of the Telephone Company there, thirty-eight were killed.

When the house of President-elect Montt collapsed his wife fell from the balcony into the street and bandits who were passing cut off her ears and fingers to rob her of her jewelry. She was taken in a dying state on board the Chilean warship O'Higgins.

Among the dead at Valparaiso is Federico Varela, the famous capitalist and politician.

Heavy rains have been falling at Valparaiso which have increased the hardships endured by the many thousands of people cramping in the streets in view of the conditions in Chile, as no food supplies are coming from that republic to Peru and the latter does not produce sufficient for the use of her inhabitants. Therefore partial starvation at least, it is feared, will be the middle and poorer classes of the Peruvian population.

Manitoba Wheat Crop Under Another
Estimate—Ontario Sends 12,582
Harvesters to the West.

TORONTO, Aug. 24.—The number of people carried from Ontario on the western harvesters' excursions up to date is 12,582, nearly 2,500 more than the corresponding period of last year.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 24.—For weeks past the Free Press has had a staff of five special correspondents traveling throughout the country studying the crop prospects. They have visited 18 points along the various railways, making careful observations at each by driving through the fields and from notes made by estimators have been prepared. The area under wheat is given as 4,750,000 acres, with an average yield of nineteen bushels per acre, giving an aggregate yield of 90,250,000 bushels. These figures differ materially from those of the three governments, but advantage so, and had it not been for the extremely hot weather the aggregate yield would have been placed half a million higher.

Man in France Who Fast for Eight Days,
Enclosed in a Coffin.

PARIS, Aug. 25.—Eldad Banbil, who is thirty-five years of age, is undergoing a novel fast in a coffin at Marseilles.

He does not drink during his fast, for he considers it an infringement of the rules of the game. His coffin is lined with white satin and covered with a thick plate glass, which is closed on it and sealed. Through a little slit in the coffin ether is introduced.

He fasts for practice two days before beginning his exhibition, and then remains in his coffin for eight days and eight nights. At the end of this period he has always lost exactly eight pounds and after a fortnight's rest he begins again.

CUBA IS BUYING
RAPID FIRE GUNS.

United States Artillerymen May be Asked to Operate Them

HAVANA, Aug. 25.—Font Sterling, secretary of the treasury, late tonight cleared up in a statement to the Associated Press, a misleading announcement made at the palace tonight to the effect that the Cuban Government had asked the United States for eight rapid firing guns manned by American artillerymen to be used in the suppression of the insurrection. The facts are, according to the secretary, that the government has orders from an American arms manufacturing company for four rapid fire guns and that these pieces will be manned by former members of the artillery branch of the American army here. If the guns prove to be effective four or more additional guns will be ordered and it is expected that experienced gunners can be procured in the United States to man them.

The United States has not been asked to do anything in the premises. The subject of American intervention is much discussed here and is regarded as a remote possibility, there being general confidence that the government is able to restore order in a short time.

NOTED EMBEZZLER
HAS BEEN PARDONED.

Bartholomew Wallace Released from Prison
Because of Ill Health.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Bartholomew Wallace who had been in the Tombs since November in connection with the election frauds, was released yesterday on a pardon from Governor Higgins.

Wallace pleaded guilty and was sentenced to Elmira, but he was kept in the Tombs to be used as a possible witness against a man who never was caught.

Since he has been in the Tombs Wallace has become a physical wreck. The attorney general's office joined in an appeal for Wallace's pardon about two weeks ago, when it was learned that his mother was dying. She died last week, but Wallace said he did not want to go to her funeral because he thought that his mother had died of a broken heart because of his imprisonment.

NATIVE REBELLION
IS BOUND TO COME.

German Traveller Says the Kafir Rising
is Only a Matter of Time.

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—Dr. Karl Peters, back from a tour of South Africa, says he has come to the conclusion that a negro rebellion against white rule in Africa is only a question of time. The Bihoplant movement, in particular, has been greatly strengthened during the present year, and its adherents already possess six daily papers, in which hatred against the whites is assiduously preached to the Kafirs.

Dr. Peters does not believe that the team of the Afrikaners to constitute a United States of South Africa will ever be realized, on the ground that South Africa cannot nourish itself, and will always be dependent on European capital.

He was a driver of an ice cart, and at one o'clock the afternoon found the heat too much for him, and got inside his cart for coolness.

The sudden change of temperature overcame him, and he fainted. When he was found an hour later his legs and arms were frozen, and he died at the hospital here in the day.

Rather Unusual Occurrence in a Convent

BUDAPEST, Aug. 25.—The lady superior of a convent here, who has been a nun for twenty years, has just married a stonemason, twenty-five years of age.

While the mason was engaged in repairing the convent last year the lady superior fell desperately in love with him and she made no secret of her passion. The authorities removed her from her position and condemned her to six months' confinement in her cell. As soon as her liberty was restored she left the convent to marry the workman.

ST. JOHN MEN IN CALGARY.

Geo. W. Mullin Writes Interestingly of Conditions in the Alberta City—
Longing for the Jim Hill Railway

George W. Mullin, formerly a grocer
in Indiantown, and latterly with Geo.
Kelstead, grocer at the foot of Portland, writes to a friend in this city
about conditions in his new home, Calgary, Alberta.

Mr. Mullin is secretary-treasurer of the Western Planning Mill Co., a lucrative position. As much as he desires to take a trip back to St. John and locally, he finds it an impossibility through pressure of work.

Referring to other St. John men in Calgary he mentions Frank Murdoch, Galt Irvine, Fred Irvine, Wm. Nelson and others, all of whom he claims are doing well.

"In fact" writes the ex-Indiantown
resident, "the more would come here, they would all do well. There is lots of employment of all kinds and employers always seem willing to pay a man instead of employing so many incompetent boys and girls, as is done in some places."

Mr. Mullin says the burning question out West just now is how soon and to what points will "Jim" Hill run his new railway.

"There is not a particle of sentiment for an all-Canadian road among the people," he asserts. "The westerner cares not at all where his goods take the route, what he is concerned most about is freight rates, both on exports and imports. For there is a great deal of complaint about the way the C. P. R.
is treating everybody." The letter goes on to explain how the C. P. R., with no competitors, charges for freight, making the advent of a rival road a longed-for proposition.

WILL LIGHT THE ENTRANCE TO ST. PETER'S CHURCH

The new lights which are being installed at St. Peter's church will make a great improvement in the appearance of the church, and Electrician Frank P. Vaughan, expects to have the job completed sometime next week.

Two iron posts have been erected on both sides of each entrance, and on each of these electric lights will be placed. At the main entrance the lights have already been installed and they will be turned on tonight.

Five lights are on each post at the main entrance and are covered by large opal glass globes.

Pipes leading from the main switch
in the church, have been laid, they having been placed under the steps of each entrance, through these the current is conveyed to the lamps at the top of the posts. Improvements have also been made on the steps leading to the church. A stone-cutter is busily engaged today in making repairs.

RE-OPENING OF THE SCHOOLS.

The public schools will open on Monday after the summer vacation. The children have no more holidays until Christmas, when for two weeks they will again enjoy themselves as they please.

During the holidays, which end today, a large number of parents have been leaving and a great many children will, on Monday morning, commence their happy school days.

A number of improvements have been made at nearly all of the schools during the vacation.

Advertising is, perhaps, of all other methods of making a fortune, that

Warning to Exhibition Visitors.

We are obliged each exhibition year
to turn away hundreds who come to St. John for the sole purpose of having their teeth attended to, but who neglect the main object of their visit until a few days before returning home.

We would therefore advise all to call early and avoid the usual rush so that they may not be compelled to return home disappointed at being unable to avail themselves of our SUPERIOR WORKMANSHIP AND ATTRACTIVE FEES.

Parents should remember that the vacations are drawing rapidly to a close and that as they value the health and happiness of their own children and those of others they should see to it that their children's teeth are in proper condition. We can put their teeth in the condition they should be, without affording them any pain and we can do it reasonably.

MINK—The Exclusive Fur

Akin to Old Laces, Gems and Family Heirlooms.

THE LASTING and Increasing Value of Genuine Mink fur

is placing it upon a higher fashion plane.
Its intrinsic worth makes it as valued
as jewelry, genuine tapestries and rare old hand-made laces. As wearing apparel it invariably commands admiration
and respect, the lady wearing it being assured of stylishness in furs
for years to come.

Canada produces the finest mink—rich, soft, lustrous and handsomely marked. All over the world there is an insistent demand upon the market, and it is with difficulty this demand is met.

In presenting our new stock of Mink goods we feel we are catering directly to all ladies—the moderate buyer as well as the lavish one. Every item mentioned below is of genuine mink,
but prices have been carefully
graded to meet the purse possibilities of all who really desire a fur wrap that can be depended upon.
