A Romance of the Needle. BY ROCKAFELLOW. In a rnug little cot, not a thousand miles off, Lived a lonely, contented old "bach," Who cooked his own grub and dined by himself, And had no one to sew on a patch.

With his cat, and his dog, and his little pel mouse. Our hero, 'twos said, wanted nothing'; But reedles were sharp, and would frequently stick, So he oft went with holes in his clothing.

There no doubt were misses and maids quit near
Who would fly to relieve his distresses, ut ae oft had declared he could never abide
The appearance of hoopskirts and dresses.

IV.

Now, this lucky old backelor heard by a friend,
Or read in his morning journal,
Of the wonderful stitching of sewing machines,
And considered the matter nocturnal. Having fully determined to get a machine, He spent a whole day in inspection, For an hour or so would never suffice To select from so large a collection.

For some thought the "Wheeler & Wilson" the best.

And others the "Wilcox & Gibbs,"
While others affirmed that the agents of both Were too much inclined to tell fibs.

And a few for the "Florence" were ready to fight, While most liked the "New Family Singer;" Another one swore the "Osborne" was best, The last one, I think, was a shaker.

By the feed that could make it sew back. But our Bachelor friend was dissatisfied still,
For the "Florence" so complicate seemed.
He feared the minutize might "get out of fix,"
And could never be wholly redeemed.

Then they told him another advantage they had
Over other machines in the West,
That four different stitches with it they could make, And from four he might sure get the best.

Our hero replied. "What's the use of the our!
If one of the stitches is best,
Why that is the right one to use all the time,
And what will you do with the rest?" The "Howe" and the "Wilson" both vainly he tried,
The "Domestic" and "Osborne" as well,
But the "Howe" was too heavy, the "Wilso too light, And the "Osborne" broke down on a fell.

The "Finkle & Lyon" or "Victor" he tried.
The "Aitha," "Blees," "Leavitt" and "Weed,
Till worried and vexed with his fruitless research
He scarce hoped in the end to succeed.

(SATURDAY), 25th instant,

After trying in vain many other Machines,
Without any hope of success,
He called where the "Singer New Family" wa kept,
And they quickly relieved his distress. For here half a dozen machines were engaged In stitching of different sorts. Which they did so complete, and with so little

He acknowledged the truth of reports. XVII.

In lightness of running, in stillness and speed,
In construction so simple, yet strong,
Sure none but the "New Family Singer" would

Though he'd searched through the infinit Then the stitch was so neat, so elastic, so strong
That he vainly endeavored to break it,
And so many acvantages in it combined
That he quickly decided to take it.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color. A dressing which is at once agreeable, preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING. nothing else can be found so desirable Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume. Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists. LOWELL, MASS. H. L. SPENCER,
