Mr. Robb was a striking example of what, from an humble beginning, may be accomplished by integrity, industry; and determination. At the age of eight he came from Linden, this county, and entered the family and workshop of Amos Page, who carried on business in tinware, sheet metal, etc., on the site new occupied by the Pugsley block. During the twelve years which he spent there he also attended school. It is a tribute not only to his high character. service was not very severely effected, but the light wires were broken in several places. The worst damage to wires was done between Sackville and Aulac, where the wind and heavy load of ice broke the wires in several places. Several fine ornamental trees in different parts of the village have been broken by the ice.

—An idea of the weight of ice upon the trees after the late storm may be judged by the following: Mr. Thos. Estabrooks, of the Brunswick, weighed a small twig covered with ice and found its weight to be two pounds. With the ice off the twig weighed just two ounces.

The Young Widow.

She is modest, but not bashful,
Free and easy, but not bold;
Like an apple, ripe and mellow,
Not too young-and not too dd;
Half inviting, half repulsive,
Now advancing, and now shy—
There is mischief in her dimple,
There is danger in her eye.

She has studied human nature;
She is schooled in all the arts;
She has taken her diploma
As the mistress of all hearts.
She can tell the very moment
When to sigh and when to smile:
Oh, a maid is sometimes charming!
But a widow—all the while.

Are you sad? How very serious
Will her handsome face become!
Are you angry? She is wretched,
Lonely, friendless, fearful, dumb!
Are you mirthful? How her laughter
Silver sounding, will ring out!
She can lure and catch and play yon,
As the angler does the trout.

Ye old bachelors of forty,
Who have grown so bald and wise;
Young Haligonians of twenty,
With the love-looks in your eyes;
You may practice all the lessons
Taught by Cupid since the fall;
But I know a little widow
Who could win and fool you all.

DER ALTE CHAPERON.

They all thought he was a fool; but then they often make mistakes like that. Kangaroos can't jump like women when the women are jumping at conclusions. You see the trouble was that Collis Beattie—Collie they called him when they wanted to be funny—did not have much to say. He used to lie about the hotel veranda in a big steamer chair and read novels. He wore a yatching suit and cap and a silk shirt. He did not look a bit salt, because the skin of Sybil.
his face was as white and as smooth "Do as a baby's. So they laughed at him for wearing a yatching suit. All the other fellows wore them because it was a yatching port upon the Sound, He sat up and started as the tall, and pretty much every one went in for sailing which was about all there Awfully good of you was to do at that place. Collie went sailing once or twice when some generous fellow took pity on him and invived him. Then the women laughed at him more, and in strange German called him Der Alte Chaperon—the Old Chaperon—because he always went down into the cabin, stretched himself on a locker, and fell asleep.
