Chimney Fires.

For a chimney fire a few pounds of salt thrown in at the top is probably salt thrown in at the top is probably the best handy extinguisher; but a pail of sand, earth, ashes, or even coal, will be very helpful. If a fireplace connects with the chimney, the latter materials are not desirable to use, since they are liable to scatter the burning soot into the room where the fireplace is located.

St. Andrews W.M.S. Thank Offering. The annual thank offering meeting in onnection with St. Andrews W.M.S. was held last Wednesday evening, and was largely attended. those last words.

Bow low the head, do reverence to the old man, once like you. The vicis-situdes of life have silvered his hair and changed the round, merry face to the worn visage before you. Once the heart beat with aspiration, crushed by disappointment, as yours perhaps, is and changed the round, merry face to the worn visage before you. Once the heart beat with aspiration, crushed by disappointment, as yours, perhaps, is destined to be. Once that man stalked promptly through the gay scenes of pleasure, the beau ideal of grace; now the hand of time, that withers the flowers of yesterday, has bent that figure and destroyed that noble carriage. Once at your age, he possessed the thousand thoughts that pass through your brain, now wishing to accomplish deeds equal to a nook in fame: anon imagining life a dream that the sooner he awoke from the better. But he has lived the dream very near through; he awoke from the better. But he has lived the dream very near through; and the time to awaken is very near at thand: his eye never kindles at old deeds of daring, and the hand takes a firmer grasp of the staff. Bow low the head, boy, as you would in your old ago be reverenced.

THE AUTUMN OF THE BIBLE.

One wiser than us has said there is semething in the fall of the year which is kin to the blood of all of us. It is zest and a clean spirit that are world-old and eternally new. Spring mybe the renewal of life; autumn is its refreshing.

One wiser than us has said there is asmething in the fall of the year which is kin to the blood of all of us. It is rest and a clean spirit that are world-old and eternally new. Spring may be the renewal of life; autumn is its refershing.

Turn to the Old Testament and read there of all the manifestations of autumn and early winter—of the east wind, the breath of the Lord coming up from the widerness, the clouds and the storm and the rain. The comparisons of the Bible are all with simple things, but some are more effective, none more some are more effective, none more beautiful, than those which link the haudlity of man or the glory of God with the powers of nature.

with the powers of nature.

In the imagery of autumn there is something sombre. Calamity cometh on as a whirlwind, we read, and "I have blotted out, as a thick cloud, thy sins."

The rain of fall is not the early rain of spring which covereth the valley of weeping with blessings, but the later rain which watereth the earth. The daucing of brown leaves in fanta the procession and the whirling dust before the storm bring to nostrils, sick with the city's odors, a breath of that sharp, tinkling air which makes life glorious and love a lovely thing.

The city in autumn takes on new features and drapes herself in fresh garments. Over her embattled skyscrapers the setting sun throws strange colors and the pavilions of the clouds dark in grandeur. The snap, the keencess of vitality, all about all. Not infrequently we see mothers who mentally and physically antagonize their daughters, but there is a spiritual law, as well as the law of good taste, which should compel a daughter to be respectful and polite to her mother, even if she cannot give her love or admiration

During the past few weeks, Ontario farmers have been seriously alarmed by the number of barn fires occurring throughout the Province. In the months of August and September, 124 such fires were reported, involving a s estimated to exceed $300,000. Many of the fires were reported to be due to spontaneous combustion, and to determine the exact circumstances sur rounding these, the Provincial Fire Marshal undertook a special investigation in Lambton county, where many of the fires occurred. As a result of in-spections and investigations made by Deputy Fire Marshal S. H. Dickie, of Toronto, it was found that fully fifty per cent of the fires were due to spontaneous combustion, as a result of farmers putting hay and grain in the barns while wet and storing in such quantities that the excessive heat has resulted in fires.

For the Creeping Baby.

For the Creeping Baby.

Here is an interesting suggestion for the young mother with the active, creeping baby: Get a good sized gray blanket, preferably woolen. Cut out the pictures from a cloth nursery picture book and sew them to the blanket. The bright pictures will attract baby's attention, and he will pat and pick at them by the hour and keep perfectly contented on his soft, warm, creeping. This idea may also be used in rug. This idea may also be used in connection with the baby fence, for baby may be left inside the fence with his pictorial floor covering and run no risks of falling on sharp playthings.

Mystery of Jean, the Hairdresser of Marie Antoinetts.

There are many puzzling features of French history, but perhaps the most puzzling of all, though it has to do with a comparatively minor personage, is that surrounding the mystery of the hairdresser of Marie Antoinette. It is not a common occurrence for a person to die twice, a circumstance which has occurred in the case of this hairdresser, who was known as Jean Antie, alias Leonard.

This Antie, or Leonard, was a Gas con, born in 1758, who acquired a repu-tation in Paris by reason of his great ingenuity in building the elaborate colfures of the time of Louis XVI. In 1701 he was lodged at the Tuileries as hairdresser of the queen. When Marie Antoinette and the royal family made their fruitless attempt to flee from France, Leonard was sent ahead as a scout. He was selzed, brought back to the French capital and condemned to be executed as a

So far as any one then knew, he was duly decapitated, his death being properly recorded in the register provided for the purpose. Investigation has, however, elicited the interesting fact that the ex-hairdresser was yeary much that the ex-hairfresser was very much alive in Russia in the year 1814, and to complicate matters the Paris register showed his second death certificate under the year 1820. The question naturally arises, just how did Leonard manage to evade the penalty that every one had no doubt be had suffered? A one had no doubt he had suffered? A great many guesses have been ventured, and the following explanation, offered by one puzzled historian, seems of all of them the most reasonable:

One day while a group of condemned were awaiting their turn for execution the guillotine broke down and had to be repaired. A number of victims had been executed; ten or a dozen were obliged to stand waiting until the were obliged to stand waiting until the repairs had been accomplished.

It appears that one individual, the twentieth on the list, whose hands were, as was the custom, bound behind him, grew faint at the delay. He leaned against the line of officers that separated the prisoners from the most separated the prisoners from the mob of spectators. Suddenly a gap opened behind the man. Almost unconsciously he slipped through, and the line closed he slipped through, and the line closed once more. A bystander reached over and placed a hat on the man's bare head, and the people crowded about as if to hide him. A short time thereafter a man with his hands behind him was seen in the Champs Elysees, walking with the air of one out for a quiet stroll. This man was said to have spent the next night in a ditch and to have made his way to Russia subsequently. If this person, and by nave made his way to Russia subse-quently. If this person, saved by a fortunate accident or by collusion, was Leonard the story explains the mystery of the two death certificates.—

Roasting Coffee.

A good chunk of money can be saved in a year by roasting your own coffee, and it is not so hard at that. All that is needed is a good big heavy skillet. Before roasting a pound of green cof-fee put in a chunk of butter the size of an almond mixed with a teaspoonful of sugar. Roast on the stove or flame, steadily shaking and stirring in the old fashioned double shuffle way until all is a uniform rich brown. Shake fast when coffee "pops" or smokes. Please don't burn. The butter and sugar surely help the flavor, aroma and bouquet of the delicious drink. But the butter must be good and not too much used at one time. The smaller the quantity to do the job right the better.—New Colors in Coral.

Genuine coral may be red, pink, white, blue, yellow, green or black, the last being the rarest and most highly prized. The next valuable is the red coral, which is susceptible of high pollahs and is most in use for jewelry, being the coral of commerce.

Corals are roughly classed under two heads, the horny corals and the time lime or stone corals. To the former be-long the red and black forms and the white to the latter. Red coral is chiefly found in the Mediterranean. The cor-als found on the Atlantic coast of Flor-ida are the lime or stone corals, which are the reef building forms.

One of the earliest of the American bearded freaks was Louis Jasper, who lived in southern Virginia at about the time of the close of the Revolutionary war. His beard was nine and a half feet long and corrspondingly thick and heavy. He could take his mustache between his fingers and extend his arms to their full length and still the ends of the mustache were over a foot beyond his finger tips.—Exchange.

sota and Connecticut Experiment Stations have conducted interesting experiments in connection with this subject. The first experiments were made with potatoes, which were boiled under different conditions, and the loss determined. When the potatoes were peeled and soaked for several hours before boiling, the loss amounted to 52 per cent of the total nitrogenous matter and 38 per cent of the mineral substance; when the potatoes were peeled and put into cold water, which was then brought to the boiling point as soon as possible, the loss amounted to about 16 per cent of the nitrogenous matter or protein and 19 per cent of the mineral matter; potatoes peeled and placed at once into boiling water lost only about 8 per cent of the nitrogenous matter, although the loss of mineral matter was about the same as in the preceding case; when, however, potatoes were cooked with the skins on, there was but a trifling loss of matter, either nitrogenous or mineral. In the baking of potatoes there is practically no loss other than the very little which may escape in the moisture given off.

To obtain the highest food value, potatoes should not be peeled. When potatoes should not be peeled. When potatoes should not be peeled and soaked in cold water the loss is considerable. When potatoes are peeled and soaked in cold water the loss is very great.

It has also been found that considerable leves cease, in the beiling of others.

It has also been found that considerable losses occur in the boiling of other vegetables such as carrots, beets and parsnips. FINISHING LAMBS FOR THE BLOCK.

On the Dominion Experimental Farms

however, a brief summary of the work to date may be timely.

PROFITS IN WINTER FEEDING LAMBS.

In the six years' work conducted on the Experimental Farms system, the profits on the winter finishing of lambs have ranged from 25 cents per head to $2.10 per head over the cost of feed.

The class of lamb to buy depends largely on the lambs available and market requirements. Usually, the well-bred lamb showing plenty of constitution and thrift and weighing from 60 to 80 pounds is the best stocker lamb to put into winter quarters. Lambs weighing from 80 to 100 pounds, if thin, may be profitably put in the feed lot for a short finish and if good fall pastures are available this may be as profitable a line of work as any. The finished, heavy lamb weighing from 80 to 110 pounds should never be purchased for feeding purposes. The time when greatest profits can be made in purchasing lambs is usually between the months of August and November. However, the condition of the pastures and of the lambs themselves as well as the markets, will regulate the time for purchase. The proper time to sell the lambs is when they are finished, whether this be November or April or any intervening month. This applies also to the selling of lambs off grass. and of the lambs themselves as well as the markets, will regulate the time for purchase. The proper time to sell the lambs is when they are finished, whether this be November or April or any intervening month. This applies also to the selling of lambs off grass.

FEED FOR WINTER LAMB FINISHING. A large number of feeds have been tried in this work and these may be briefly treated under the four headings: roughages, succulent roughages, as, and mill feeds.

Of the dry roughages, alfalfa hay is an easy leader, closely followed, however, by fine clover hays and fine mixed hays. At the Experimental Station, Lethbridge, Alta., it has been found that alfalfa hay, when properly fed with succulent roughages and grain, is worth $21 per ton for the finishing of lambs. It has also been found that alfalfa hay alone or with meal is less profitable than when succulent roughages, such as roots (turnips and mangels) or green oat sheaves, are also fed. What applies to the rich alfalfa hay also holds true with clover hays. Good quality clover hay is worth from 10 to 50 per cent more in lamb feeding than timothy or similar grass hays. Proving the value of succulent roughages, it was found also that good quality timothy hay plus mangels gave from 15 to 20 per cent more profitable gave from 15 to 20 per cent more profitable gave from 15 to 20 per cent more profitable gave from 15 to 20 per cent more profitable gave from 15 to 20 per cent more profitable gave from 15 to 20 per cent more profitable gave from 15 to 20 per cent more profitable gave from 15 to 20 per cent more profitable gave from 15 to 20 per cent more profitable gave from 15 to 20 per cent more profitable gave from 15 to 20 per cent more profitable gave from 15 to 20 per cent more profitable gave from 15 to 20 per cent more profitable gave from 15 to 20 per cent more profitable gave from 15 to 20 per cent more profitable gave from 15 to 20 per cent more profitable gave from 15 to 20 per cent more profitable gave from 15 to 20 per cent more profitable gave from 15 to 20 per cent-more pro-fitable gains than clover hay alone. but at least 10 per cent less profitable than alfalfa or clover or a mixture of these with oat sheaves.

Fine corn stover will also make profitable gains, but there is a large percent age of waste. However, a small amount may be fed satisfactorily as a supplement to good quality leguminous or grass hay. Coarse hays commonly found in marsh lands are approximately 50 per cent less valuable in lamb finishing than good quality timothy hay and approximately 60 to 75 per cent less efficient than clover or alfalfa hay. A limited amount of straw may be fed satisfactorily in finishing lambs, but this should only be as a supplement to clover hay and roots. Generally speaking, the richer the hay and the better it is cured, the more profits will be made in feeding it to lambs. Coarse dry roughages of any sort are less palatable, more wasteful and less profitable than are the finer feeds of the same varieties.

Succulent roughages play a very large part in profits from lamb finishing. Generally speaking, good succulent roughages, such as turnips, mangels, sugar beets, corn ensilage, pea and oat under the content roughages and grains more palatable and more digestible. Again these succulent roughage for lamb finishing. On the Dominion Experimental Farms some interesting results have been obtained from a number of experiments in lamb feeding conducted during the last few years.

The large percentage of Canadian lambs are marketed in the fall direct from the pastures. All the lambs from the farmer's flock are usually lifted at the same time, which means that the well finished lambs of good weight must help to sell the light, thin lambs, which may be as well bred, but being late lambs or twin lambs, have not done as well as their flock mates. Well finished lambs of uniform weight invariably command a higher price than mixed lambs varying in size, weight and finish hence it is always more profitable to hold the lighter lambs and sell only those of uniform weight and finish. Again, the selling of the most of our Canadian lambs during the fall months practically always causes a slump in price. Lambs not required for immediate consumption are held in cold storage to the profit of the wholesaler in view of the usual increase in price of from $1 to $3 per hundred pounds between the months of November and April.

When the divide of the most had the well be revolutionized and the farmer will finish hence two conditions the lamb trade will be revolutionized and the farmer will finish from one to three carloads of lambs during the winter months, thereby making top market prices on the farm produce and a good margin of profit in addition. Realizing the existence of such conditions all over the Dominion, a large amount of investigational work along these lines has been conducted on the Dominion Experimental Farms throughout Canada. Details of this work may be seen in the annual reports; however, a brief summary of the work date may be seen in the annual reports; however, a brief summary of the work date may be seen in the annual reports; however, a brief summary of the work date may be seen in the annual reports; however, a brief summary of the work date may be seen in the annual reports; however, a brief summary of the work date may be see venient racks and troughs or a combination rack and trough will cost little per carload of lambs fed and, if made portable, may be used for both summer and winter feeding. No other class of stock requires so little in cost of equipment, in buildings, utensils, preparation of feeds, or in any other way as do sheep. In these days when labor is extremely scarce, this phase of animal husbandry should appeal strongly to the farmer who has not sufficient labor to go into dairy husbandry, swine, or even beef cattle. cattle.

has the item of $25 to charge against the pork to begin with.

Another fact which needs emphasis is that the use of pasturage enables farmers to raise meat animals and poultry at a low cost. Spring pigs will grow to a weight of 125 to 150 pounds on skimmilk and alfalfa, with the lightest of grain rations, at the age of five or six months, and will be in a state of health and vigor when fattening time approaches. In this growing period a light daily feed of corn, peas, barley or wheat middlings will give good results, but in times when grain is dear the animals will come along nicely on skimmilk and alfalfa, especially if a mess of car-rots can be pulled and thrown to them once a day. Such a diet will give a rapid and vigorous growth, fitting the animal to produce a high quality of pork as market time approaches and heavy grain feeding is adopted. When the fattening period arrives it is best to continue the hogs on their alfalfa range, at least on bright days, and keep up a fair supply of skimmilk, carrots and middlings even after the animals have become accustomed to heavy corn rations. A good quality of corn is unsurpassed for finishing pork, but at times it is too dear to be extensively used. Mixed feeds may produce greater gains, but the quality of the pork is not so good, and the shrinkage while on the road to market is greater than with corn fed hogs. If the pigs are well bred at the beginning and handled in the manner suggested they should be capable of reaching a weight of 250 pounds at eight months of age. Unless the feeder is approximating this figure he is not doing his best. Pork produced in this way costs from 3 to 4 cents a pound, whereas meat animals fed heavily on grain all summer cost the farmer 5 to 6 cents. A 200 pound hog which brings $15 to $17 after being raised at a total expense of $7 to $9 is a valuable product.

This is only one of the vital considerations. The health of pigs is most secure when they have a field of alfalfa, clover, rape or artichokes, to-gether with clean water and shade. Thousands of farmers lose their herds every year by hog cholera, a prevent-able disease. Pigs that are confined in a yard and raised largely on corn are much more apt to have cholera, fever or worms than those that have a clean field to rustle in. Any farmer watching the growth of his hogs can tell to what extent these forage crops should be supplemented with grain to balance the ration and to prevent an abnormal growth of stomach and in-testines at the expense of a more de-sirable development. Experts agree that they have never been able to make up rations for growing pigs that would produce as good results as one in which skimmilk is about one-fourth the mixture. It should be the constant aim to get uniform growth with home grown and comparatively inexpensive feed.

In the above I have considered the usual system of growing spring pigs into pork for marketing at an age of about eight months. Every farmer about eight months. Every farmer should also consider the advantages of carrying over a few rangy hogs for bacon purposes. When this idea is taken up the clover or alfalfa patch becomes an urgent necessity. In growing rangy bacon hogs to a weight of about 350 pounds in sixteen or eighteen months the fattening is not to be hurried, and therefore pasturage, skimhurried, and therefore pasturage, skimmilk and carrots work profitably into Completed the Capture of Sail lisel After Hard Fighting.

British Made Advance, Capturing and Consolidating One Thousand Yards of the Strong Regina Trench—German Position North of Ancre is Now Threatened and Cannot Hold Out for Long.

of Ancre is Now Threatened and Cannot Hold Out for Long.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Two important successes have been wen by the Allies on the front of the Somme where the French completed their capture of Saillisel Village Saturday and the British completed the consolidation of another thousand yards of the strong Regina trench, north-east of Thiepval, captured early on Saturday morning.

The Regina trench fell at a single blow. Saillisel Village required a long drawn out hand-to-hand struggle to master it. The British took 60 prisoners, including four officers, in their successful attack on the Regina trench. The French took 220 unwounded prisoners and seven officers with eight machine guns in their fighting for Saillisel.

Step by step the French had driven the Germans back until they, occupied Saturday only some groups of houses in the eastern part of Saillisel Village. These defences were carried Saturday in a grenade attack. As seen from the great number of bodies encumbering the ground in this village, the German losses are heavy.

The capture of the additional thousand yards of the Regina trench by the British further imperils the ferman positions north of the Ancre by making the sailent too sharp for holding with success, and the capture of Saillisel by the French, imperils the remaining German positions in the St. Pierre Vaast Wood. The Germans are reported to be already evacuating this wood in part. Besides driving the Germans from the eastern portion of Saillisel the French, by bombing attacks, made progress to the north of it. The Germans bombarded this position with great violence.

Allied Aviators Busy.

LONDON, Nov. 13.— Numerous aerial raids, including one on the German steel works at Volkingen, Rhenish Prussia, have been carried out by British and French aircraft in the past two days, according to official announcements here and at Paris. The raid on Volkingen was made by seventeen British naval aeroplanes. These dropped 1,000 kilograms (2,220 pounds) of explosives on the German steel works, seriously damaging the buildings. German machines attacked the British craft, fought several actions, and suffered from the encounfer, three of them being felled. This raid which culminated at Volkingen, between 10 and 11 o'clock in the morning, was followed by another raid by French aeroplanes at night. These dropped the same quantity of explosives as the British machines on the steel works and started a number of fires. The French and the British machines also bombarded railway stations in the rear of the Germans on the Somme front, and the French also drenched with projectiles the German blast furnaces at Romsbach and at Hagandange in the region of Metz as well as hangars and aerodromes. Great damage was done.

many sides to conceal the sources of the supply and also to conceal the nature of the cargo.

It will be remembered that the Opposition during the last session of the Legislature, on no fewer than five different occasions, brought up the nickl question, urging the government to take every possible precaution to prevent Germany getting Ontario nickel and pointing out the illegal arrangement, made by the present Prime Minister himself when Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, which allowed the Interval of the Mouse of Commons.

Broke Up Peace Meeting.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—A conference at Cardiff, Wales, in favor of opening peace negotiations, which had been arranged by the National Council of Civil Liberties, was broken up Saturday. A crowd of patriotic demonstrators broke into the hall and severe fighting resulted. The president of the South Wales Miners' Federation was in the chair. Speches were made by James H. Thomas and Ramsay Macdonald, members of the House of Commons.

members of the House of Commons.

The delegates to the conference appeared to be mostly young men of military age. When the demonstrators reached the hall in which the conference was being held they met with stout resistance from within, but eventually the doors were broken down. Fist-fighting followed, in which it is reported that women delegates fought like tigers. Mr. Thomas attempted to rally his supporters but was dragged from the platform and narrowly escaped serious injury. When the demonstrators were in full possession of the hall they waved flags and sang "God Save the King."

New Kingdom Formed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Formation of the new Kingdom of Arabia, with Grand Shereef Hussein Ben Ali as monarch, and Mecca as the capital, was reported to the State Department Saturday in an undated telegram from Mecca, signed by Shereef Abdullah, Minister of Foreign Affairs. The Arabic nation, Abdullah said, would henceforth be an active member of the Society of Nations, and confidently looked forward to recognition by the United States. The new kingdom resulted, he said, from an unanimous meeting of the notables and citizens of the country, who definitely threw off the yoke of the Committee of Union and Progress at Constantinople.

Military Cheques Forged,

KINGSTON, Nov. 13.—A. Nicholson, a young clerk, arrested on a charge of forging military cheques, has been released and Quartermaster-Sergeant Ince of Belleville has been arrested on a similar charge. Three other military men are under surveillance and more arrests are expected. Ince is a handwriting expert and he was called to examine the forged cheques. As a result of his findings Nicholson was arrested. T. N. Payne of Ottawa, another handwriting expert, examined the cheques and his investigation resulted in the arrest of Ince. The sum of $500 is involved in the case.

"Some women, whose husbands are at the front, have more money than when they are at home."

So say unthinking persons when asked to give, and give liberally, to the Canadian Patriotic Fund.

The answer should come straight and quickly:—"Why shouldn't women who are giving their husbands to the country be as well off, or better off? They are struggling along, probably with large families of children, and anxiety about the fate of their husbands gnawing at their hearts every hour of the day. Any moment may come tidings that the bread-winner is gone forever. Are we to reward these women vith the smallest pittance that will keep body and soul together?"

It is, in business affairs, an accepted rule that the more hazardous the work the higher the pay. A few weeks ago the men working on the Quebec Bridge demanded and got a large increase in wages because of the risk involved in placing the centre span in position. The result showed that the risk was a real one. How much more certain are the risks of this great war? Every casualty list carries its burden of sorrow into Canadian homes. And yet we pay these heroes who are fighting and dying for us far less than the great majority of them would be earning if still in civil life.

Are we going to stint the wives, while sent to the front?

Look at the subject from another point of view. Even if these women do not mourn their husbands dead, how many of them will find the home-returning soldiera are financial liabilities rather than financial assets? Go to Quebec or Halifax when a ship comes in laden with our brave lads, maimed and battered. Look at these pathetic figures, and then picture the work that lies before the mothers and wives who with loving hearts and tireless hands will have to care for these poor fellows till death do them part.

And thus picture the future, which one of us will say that the women who are facing that future must be dealt with, by prosperous Canada, in the spirit of the huckster in the market-place?

APPLETON.

The annual meeting of the Bible Society was held last night in St. Andrews church. Rev. Mr. Crawford, travelling secretary, gave an interesting address on the work.

Mr. Jehn Easton, of Lanark, spent the week-end with friends here, and was accompanied back by his wife and little daughter, who had spent the week with Mrs. Cameron.

Last Wednesday one of our well known young ladies of the village in the person of Miss Maud Janes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Janes, was united in marriage with Mr. Clyde McGonegal, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. McGonegal, of Carleton Place. The young couple drove to Almonte and were married by Rev. Mr. Stevens, of the Methodist church. Mr. Ed. Lowe and Mrs. Nichols were the attendants. After the cerechurch. Mr. Ed. Lowe and Mrs. Nichols were the attendants. After the ceremony they came back to the home of the bride where a sumptuous wedding supper was enjoyed. The evening was spent socially and Mr. and Mrs. McGonegal drove to their new home on Moore St., Carleton Place, where they have the best of good wishes from their many friends.

An aged and highly respected citizen of the village passed away to his reward on Saturday, the 4th inst., in the person of the late John Konney, in the 87th year of his age. The deceased was born on the 8th line of Lanark township, on the farm now owned by Findlay Ramsbottom. He was the eldest son of the late James Kenney and was never married. About twelve years ago he retired from farming and with his sister Mary Ann came to Lanark, where he resided ever since. His sister predeceased him three years ago, and since then he has lived alone. He was of a very quiet disposition, inoffensive and kindly disposed.

Mr. Lawrence J. Curtin passed away this (Thursday) morning, at the home of his brother, Mr. Cornelius Curtin, with whom he has always had his home. He had been ailing for the past four years, and had been confined to the house since May. He was a son of the late Cornelius Curtin, and on July 4th, 1856, he was born on the farm upon which he spent his whole life time.

The marriage took plaze in the Methodist clurch, Almonte, on Nov. 7th, of Miss Robena Willoughby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Wildoughby of Ottawa, and Mr. George M. Gemmill, of Taber & Gemmill, town. Rev. W. H. Stevens performed the ceremony. Mr. W. N. Stevenson played Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus as the wedding party took their places. The bride was given away by her father, and wore her travelling suit of dark brown, with blouse of maize crepe-de-chene, brown hat, and a corsage boquet of tea roses. During the signing of the register, Mr. Graydon Willoughby, brother of the bride, sang "O Perfect Love." Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gemmill motored to Carleton Place, en route for Montreal and other points, and on their return will take up residence in the groom's home on Union street.

NEW GOVERNOR ARRIVES.

Duke of Devonshire Was Sworn in at Halifax.

HALIFAX, N.S., Nov. 12.—The Right Hon. the Duke of Devonshire was formally installed as Governor-General of Canada in the historic council chamber of the Nova Scotia provincial building here at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, in the presence of representatives of the Dominion Government, the Senate, the navy, the army, the Supreme Court of Canada, Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia, the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, the Provincial Cabinet, the clergy of Nova Scotia, and prominent citizens. His Excellency was sworn in by ethe Hon. Sir Louis Davies, K.M.M.G. The Duke of Devonshire is the third Governor-General to have been installed at Halifax, the others being the Marquis of Lorne and Earl Grey. The ship bearing the Duke of Devonshire, their two daughters, Lady Maud Louisa Emma Cavendish and Lady Blanche Katherine Cavendish, arrived here at noon Sunday.

Shortly before two o'clock Hon. Mr. Blondin, Secretary of State; Mr. Mulvey, Under-Secretary of State; Mr. Mulvey, Under-Secretary of State; Admiral Kingsmill and staff; Major-General Hodgins, adjutant-general, and his staff, went on board to receive the Duke and the Duchess. In a few minutes they disembarked again accompanied by Captain Buckley-Johnson, King's Royal Riffes, and were followed shortly afterward by his Grace and her grace and suite. The vice-regal party and suite were taken in automobiles to the Parliament Buildings were lined on both sides with khakiclad men of overseas troops and forces doing garrison duty here. Many thousands of citizens were along the route and the Duke and Duchess were kept busily engaged bowing their acknowledgments to the applauding crowds.

A TALK ON RHEUMATISM

Telling How to Actually Cure This Common and Painful Malady.

This article is for the man or woman who suffers from rheumatism who wants to be cured, not merely relieved—but actually cured. The most the rheumatic sufferer can hope for in rubbing some-thing on the tender, aching joint, is a little relief. No lotion or liniment ever did or can make a cure. The rheumatic poison is rooted in the blood. Therefore poison is rooted in the blood. Inerefore rheumatism can only be cured when this poisonous acid is driven out of the blood. Any doctor will tell you this is true. If you want something that will go right to the root of the trouble in the blood take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills They make new, rich blood which drives out the roisonous acid and care when They make new, rich blood which drives out the poisonous acid and cures rheumatism to stay cured. The truth of these statements has been proven in thousands of cases throughout Canada, and the following cure is a striking instance. Mr. Henry Smith, St. Jerome, Que., says:—"For upwards of a year I was a victim of rheumatism in a most painful form. The trouble was located in my legs and for a long time I was so bad that I could not walk. The suffering which I endured can only be imagined by those who have been similarly bad that I could not walk. The suffering which I endured can only be imagined by those who have been similarly afflicted. Doctors treatment did not help me and then I began trying other remedies but with no better results. Finally I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and although I had begun to lose faith in medicine, I finally decided to give the pills a trial. I am very grateful now that I did so, for after taking eight boxes of the pills the trouble completely disappeared. I was free from pain and could walk as well as ever I did in my life. I have since taken the pills occasionally as a precautionary measure, and I cannot speak too. highly in their favor."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure all the troubles due to weak, watery blood or broken down nerves. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail postpaid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Holland Is Planning To Drain Zuider Zee

Thus Making New State

the plans of the Government of Holland do not mis-carry, Queen Wilhelmina will have another state added to her little king-The Dutch intend to reclaim the whole of the Zuider Zee from the grasp of the ocean. The idea is now considered by the Second Chamber of the Netherlands Parliament, and the engineers propose to dam the body of troublesome water, thus creating a hinterland at home stead of looking for colonial expansion. It will suggest to outsiders that the Dutch feel that the danger of German aggression has now been thoroughly mastered by the Allies, so that Queen Wilhelmina and her people need no longer have fears for the integrity of their country.

The plan under consideration provides for a dam across the upper part of the Zuider Zee, extending from the province of North Holland, ever the Amsteldiep (a narrow Strait) to the island of Wieringen and thence to the Friesland coast at the town of Piaam, in a northeasterly direction. Including the island, the total length of the dam will be about twenty-four miles; excluding the island, about nineteen miles. A lake of $82,000 acres in area would be formed, of which, it is understood, about 500,000 acres would be drained, leaving the remainder as a lake in the midst of the redeemed arable land.

The Zuider Zee is of comparatively recent origin. When the Romans were spreading throughout Europe the greater part of what is now the Zuider Zee was covered with forests, and as late as the middle of the eleventh century a chart of Holland shows that the present island mentioned above then formed part of the continent. The River Yssel discharged into the North Sea, between the Halder and the present island of Texel; another river, the Vlie, emptied between what is now the islands of Vlieland and Terschelling, and in the centre of the forest region was a lake.

But in A. D. 1170 a great flood occurred, known in Netherlands history as the "All Saints Day Flood." This flood began breaking down the then existing barriers between the islands and the sea. It formed the islands existing barriers between the land and the sea. It formed the islands of Texel and Wieringen and destroyed the towns of Medemlick, in North Holland, and Stavoren, in Friesland. More floods occurred in 1237 and 1250, and a large part of the land west of Harlingen and Stavoren and as far south as Elburg was washed away and the island of Vriewashed away and the island of Vrie-land was created. In 1395 further inundations formed the islands of Terschelling and Ameland, and in 1410 the Zuider Zee had practically assumed its present form.

When work on the project will be-gin is not yet known, but it will be decided as the bill progresses through Parliament.

Early in October the Dautsche Tageszeitung, of Berlin, published a lurid account, from a Norwegian merchant, of a Zeppelin raid on London. The merchant described the King, Queen, Duke of Connaught, and retinue taking refuge in the cellar of a big grocery concern. Inasmuch as the Duke of Connaught arrived in England only a few days rived in England only a few days ago from Canada, the falsity of one item is manifest, and the rest of the story is equally true.

 Large Losses Reported

In Pearing Industry

Since Outbreak of War

* OST people may not be aware that four-fifths of the world's output of pearl-shell of the best is produced from Australian waters almost exclusively—that is, including the few Dutch and other islands in the immediate neighborhood of the northern shores of the island continent. The only of the island continent. The only other pearling grounds of consequence where high-grade shell is obtained lie around the Malay Archipelago and Manila.

Mr. James Clark is the authority for the statement, and he has for many years been the foremost figure in the pearl shelling industry. Pearling is a very precarious business, and many men fail, Mr. Clark says. As with mining, there is a peculiar fascination about it. Once a man embarks on this enterprise he generally keeps going, in the hope of some day striking a pearl of great price, which sometimes comes into his possession if others do not intercept it. Once he sold four beauties for £17,000, and he has another that has been valued at £5,000. Vanderbilt bought a pearl on one occasion for £25,000, but it was not one of Mr. Clark's. He offered £10,000 in Paris, just before the war broke out for an Australian pearl, and he is glad now that the offer was not accepted, or the pearl might still be on his hands.

now that the offer was not accepted, or the pearl might still be on his hands.

The London market is controlled by a few dealers. At the present time most of the Australian product go to America. Pearlers are getting considerably less for their shell now than before the war, although the cost of gathering it and of freights is ever so much higher. A great portion of the fleet is now haid up, and the comparatively few boats that are at work are only in commission to keep the men employed.

Mr. Clark has 35 vessels at Bromme, while the Celebes Trading Company, in which he has large interests, has 65 vessels at the Aru islands. Thursday island, between Australia and New Guinea, was formerly the headquarters of these boats, but the Commonwealth restrictions made it necessary to transfer them to the Dutch flag. When both the fleets in which he is interested are fully working, employment is given to about 800 men, chiefly Japanese, Malays, and Manila men, and the expenses of operation run to about £65,000 a, year.

Prior to the war sheliers at Broome got as much as £230 per ton on the spot for their shell. The price had now dropped to £110, which was quite unprofitable. The only hope of keeping the industry going as a permanent and profitable margin for all the risks they had to take, and to limit the export. If the Government would follow this course, and see that the pearl fleets were so limited that the supply did not overtake the demand to any extent, much could be done to improve the conditions of the Australian pearling industry, which was well worth encouraging in every possible way.

Socialists Want Peace

Socialists Want Peace.

The Berlin Vorwaerts, commenting on the recent interview given by Field Marshal von Hindenburg, in which he discussed many phases of the war, says, according to a Berlin despatch forwarded by Amsterdam: "He advises France to be reasonable and not to act as a further obstacle to peace. This advice will have a better chance of being heard abroad if we show ourselves reasonable, too. If we are going to drag this war on indefinitely, then the whole of Europe will bleed to death and America and the colored races would be our heirs. But we want Europe to live; not Germany only, but all the nations. We want France to live. We see her now bleeding white, but we have never hated her. We want peace also for England and Russia, peace for the whole blood-stained world."

An Awful Experience.

A native diver descended into the water to see whether one of the piers, then in course of construction, had set. While he was engaged in this work a great iron cylinder subsided a little, crushing his hand between it and the masonry. When, on a signal being given, another diver came down he found his unfortunate comrade imprisoned under water without hope of escape. After a few moments of mute despair and harrowing uscertainty a speechless decision was arrived at, and the newcomer proceeded with chisel and hammer to back off his unhappy companion's hand at the wrist. The prisoner was thus liberated, but died soon after reaching the surface from the shock. Constantine Lucky.

The difference between British humanity and German "kultur" is well exemplified in the cases of Greece and Belgium. Germany trod roughshod over Belgium because the latter happened to lie in her chosen path to Paris. When Belgium resisted she was ground under the German heel without compunction or pity.

In the case of Greece, Britain and her allies have shown every consideration. King Constantine has been secretly and treacherously hostile from the start. He has been a thorn in the side of the Allies' Balkan campaign.

in the side of the Allies' Balkan campaign.
With her long coast line Greece could have been speedily pounded into submission by the warships of the allied fleet. Yet King Constantine has been reasoned with till reason has ceased to be a virtue. It is almost time he was given a taste of the argument peculiar to those Teutons he loves so dearly.

It is exceedingly fortunate for that deluded monarch that he is showing his German leanings to the Allies instead of showing allied leanings to the Germans. Had the latter been the case he would even now be hunting among the shell holes for his crown.

Curious Transference of Heat.

A workman in the observatory at Toulouse has invited attention to a singular phenomenon. A bar of iron is taken by the end, and the other end is but not so much that the hand cannot plunged into a pail of cold water. Immediately the other end becomes so hot that it is impossible to hold it.

This phenomenon, familiar to workmen in iron, is ascribed by them to some repellent action they suppose the sudden cold exerts upon the heat con-tained in the iron, which is thus driv-en to the opposite extremity.—Chicago-Herald.

Wit of Disraeli.

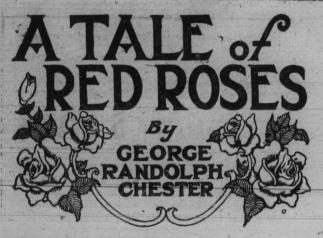

There is a story about Disraeli that is much like him and will give an idea of what he was at this time (1877). As he was leaving a house he asked some one to give him his arm down Piccadilly. The man, who must have been a process of some view of the control such a time as this I should wish to be met by my creditors." "No." said. Disraeli, "it is not at such times that your creditors meet you. Your creditors meet you when you are carrying a bundle."

Appreciating the convenience of hav-ing no witnesses to conversations which so intimately concern the serv-ing of the public, Sledge lonfed out and stood nonchalantly over the table. He had increased Buckley's stack slightly when that gentleman returned. Sledge was about to rise, but Buckley sat in Allerton's place instead.

"Keep your seat, Sledge," he observ-ed as he nodded to Cap Digglesby, Sledge's bitterest and most relentless foe on the floor of the house of repreentaires.

"Yes, keep it five handed," urged Digglesby. "I want to stretch my legs a few minutes, and a four handed poker game is about as exciting as a Digglesby walked around the room two or three times and looked at the patriotic pictures with which the walls were plentifully decorated for the benefit of Buckley's earnest constituents, then he sauntered into the hall and stretched his legs into the next room, where the senator in deep thought where the senator, in deep thought, awaited him.

Digglesby returned to the poker game by and by, and as he sat down smiled cheerfully at Buckley. Buckley, who had been playing casino, seven-up and pinochle with his poker cards and making a mad havoc in Allerton's chips in consequence, immediately drew a pair to his triplets and "bet his head off" with keen zest.

Digglesby gave no sign or glance at Sledge, but nevertheless, after an other deal, Sledge arose stolidly from the table, and, without making any bones about it, walked directly into the bedroom. Allerton was lounging in a cushloned window sill, smoking a cigarette, and with his foot pushed the hig leather rocker around to a more big leather rocker around to a more inviting position.

"The old veteran found a way," he comfortably explained. "If we at-tempted to railroad a bill empowering the granting of fifty year franchises without remuneration it would be snowed under so quickly that the tell-er couldn't keep track of the votes. There aren't ten men in the capitol building who would dare go home to their constituents if they supported such a measure.

"Sure not," agreed Sledge. "Never let anybody do anything in a law. det anybody do anything in a law. Keep 'em from it."

"That's the idea," assented Allerton.
"Restrictive legislation. The people are strong for that just now, anyhow, Digglesby's idea is to call the act 'A bill for the protection of municipalities

It will be made illegal for a full car to run by a signaling peder trian, and it will be made illegal, al-though this will be scattered in three or four places in the bill, and sur-rounded with a lot of ambiguous language, for any franchise to be granted for as long a period as fifty years.'

"That's the talk," nodded Sledge, 'Restrictive legislation."

"I thought you could get along with forty-nine years and eleven months," stated Allerton. "Moreover, I think we can frame the bill to protect the peo-

CHAPTER XII. A Friendly Chat on the Peaceful Sabbath.

ARLEY, as president of the Ring City Street Railway company and as chairman of the impromptu convention of street car magnates, was so full of business that he felt stuffed like a sausage. To his mind the fund they had raised to fight Allerine injustous legraised to fight Allerton's iniquitous leg-islation was woefully inadequate, and the men who should have been most interested were strangely optimistic. He suggested to several of them that He suggested to several of them that they appoint a committee to see Allerton and arrange some sort of compromise, but here again he found an unexpected lukewarmness. Nobody seemed to think that Allerton could be "reached," and as a matter of fact every time he broached that subject he found his fellow magnates evasive. The newspapers need not have blazed so much about the probable corruption fund, because there positively was fund, because there positively was none. The subscription secured was only for the conduct of a publicity campaign and to pay for the services of a perfectly legitimate lobbyist, who would explain the reasonable rights of he street car men.

Memory Verses, 30, 31-Golden Text, Rom. i, 16-Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

After carrying three months at Malta mother ship from Alexandria, which had wintered in the isle, was sailing for Italy, and on that they departed and reached Italy in safety, remaining three days at Syracuse and seven days at Puteoli on the way. No doubt the gospel was preached at both places, but at the fatter place there were believers, and the fellowship must have been very helpful to all. It would be a great event for the brethren at Puteoli to hear from those who had so recently come from Jerusalem, and to hear Paul tell of his missionary tours and rehearse all that God had done by him and all that he had suffered on his tours at Jerusalem must have thrilled an assembly of believers and inspired them with greater zeal for God and his kingdom.

The brethren at Rome, having heard The brethren at Rome, having heard of Paul's arrival in Italy, came out to meet him as far as Appli forum and the three laverus, and, having welcomed him and encouraged him, they returned to Rome together. I some times use this incident as suggestively illustrative of our meeting the Lord in the air and returning with Him when He shall come to set up 'His kingdom. Just the meeting and returning—I have no other thought of any analogy in the incident (verses 11-15). Another handful of purpose seems to have come Paul's way in his being allowed to dwell by himself with a soldier that kept him (verse 16). That soldier must have learned much of Jesus Christ, for as Paul talked to him privately it was like pouring water into a bottle rather the air and returning with Him when as Paul talked to him pivarely it was like pouring water into a bottle rather than throwing it at a lot of bottles. Our Lord spoke more than once to audiences of one, as in the case of Nicodemus and the woman of Samaria. Having called the chief of the Jews together, Paul explained to them why together, Paul explained to them why he had come to Rome as a prisoner, adding, "For the hope of Israel I am bound with this chain" (verses 17-20). There is only one person who is called the hope of Israel or the hope of the the hope of Israel or the hope of the church, only one in whom there is any hope for either (Jer. xiv. 8; xvii, 13; Joel iii, 16; I Tim. i, 1). His coming for us is our blessed hope, and His coming with us in glory will prove that the coming with us in glory will prove that the coming with us in glory will prove that a nation (Tit. ii, 13; Isa. xxv, 8, 9; Zech. xii, 10; xiii, 1). The brethren at Rome said that they had never heard anything against Paul, but they would like to hear what he thought of this sect that was every but they would like to hear what he thought of this sect that was every-where spoken against. A day having been appointed, many came to his lodging, to whom he testified and expounded the Scriptures of Moses and the prophets concerning Jesus and the kingdom of God, from morning till evening (ENEWS 21.28) evening (verses 21-23).

As they listened to him some believ As they instead to mis some believed not. They could not agree and had much reasoning among themselves, which led Paul to turn to the gentiles with the good news, quoting to the Jews what the Holy Spirit had said by Isalah concerning them hundreds of years before in what we call chapter. vi. These sayings of the Spirit through Isaiah concerning Israel's blindness and hardness of heart are quoted in Matt. xiii, 14, 15; John xil, 39, 40; Rom xi, 8, as well as in our lesson. Jeremiah and Ezekiel were both told that they must expect opposition and that their message would not be received by many (Jer. i, 17, 19; Ezek. ii and ill, xxxiii, 31). The apostles also were told that they were sent out as sheep in the midst of wolves and might expect to be hated, put out of the synagogue and killed (Matt. x, 16-28; John xv, 18-21; xvi, 1-3). The most that we can aim to do in this age is by all means to save some (I Cor. ix, 22), for we are nowhere taught that the world will ever be won to Christ until Israel shall have received Him at His coming in glery, and then when the glory of the Lord shall have risen upon Israel and shall be seen upos her the nations shall come to her light and kings to to him in his own hired house. There were many believers, even in Caesar's household, and his bonds for Christ were manifest at Caesar's court as wel as elsewhere, and many of the brethren in the Lord, waxing confident by his bonds, were much more bold to speak the word without fear (Phil. i, 13, 14, margin; iv. 22). This book of the Acts begins with the Lord Jesus speaking of the things pertaining to the kingdom of God during the forty days between His resurrection and ascension (Acts i, 3) and ends with the record of Paul's two years' testimony at Rome concerning the same great topic. In connection with our Lord's teaching after He rose from the dead, we need to notice what He talked about on the way to Emmaus and also that same evening in Jerusalem (Luke xxiv, 27-44) and observe that both He and Paul used the same textbook, the criptures written by the Holy Spirit. through Moses and the prophets, for all Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost HI Tim. iii, 16; II Pet. 1, 21). 900 DROPS

The proper study of mankind is man, and the classrooms of the university where that curriculum is followed are never closed. On the sidewalk, in the street car, on ferryboat or train, in shop or lunch room or lobby, the course that educates but leads to no academic degree may be pursued. Should a philosopher open his ears to the blended bits of conversation heard commonly without attention as we pass among crowds, could he reduce the chaos of words to an ordered index of life and human nature, and would the result please best the cynic or the friend of his fellow men? These notes may do to start with:

Topics of the season. The furnace. Price of coal. Relative merits of hot air, steam, and hot water systems. Fine points in the management of furnaces. Cussedness of ashman nature. NEXT SURPRISE OF WAR.

General Joffre May Comi Drive at Metz.

General Joffre May Commence By Drive at Metz.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Military observers here are guessing, now that the initiative in the west has definitely passed to the Allies, what will be the next step. On the Somme front they have two objectives, Cambrai and St. Quentin with their railways, to gain which Bapaume in the north, Peronne in the centre, and Chaulines in the south must be taken first. On the Meuse there is the Prussian salient from Metz which projects westward to the river at St. Mihiel and where they have gained a small footing on the west bank. This salient in the plain of the Foevre offers a tempting invitation to attack. From Les Eparges, 13 miles south-east of Verdun, to Thiscourt, on the southern side of the salient, is about ten miles. Between Les Eparges and St. Mihiel there is a valley about three miles wide, through which a small brook flows into the Meuse. At one point the French are quite near this brook and cover with their guns almost all the ground up to the slope on which St. Mihiel stands, including the railway to Metz, which brings ammunitism and supplies. Not a few crities here think a move in this direction will be the next surprise of the war.

BRITISH SAILORS' RELIEF FUND.

On motion a deputation from the Board of Trade was heard before Council.

Mr. McIntosh as spokesman, intimated that the Council of the Board of Trade would recommend to the Council that a grant of $300 be made to the British Sailors' Relief Fund, this to be augmented by a canvass of the town. The Fund was a worthy one, and a very needy one, and Canada was asked to contribute a share to the fund for the relief of the dependent relatives of those brave men who have given their lives for the defence of the empire in keeping the ocean highways open to the Allies. The appeal was put very strongly by the speaker.

Mr. Pattie rather favored the Patriotic Fund than this, and as the rate was high and we had already an overdraft he felt that this fund did not

Mr. McIntosh referred to the pride that all citizens took in the British navy and yet we hesitated to support a modest grant to this great institution—that really costs us nothing—when an occasion like this arises.

Mr. D. Findlay and Mr. C. W. Bates each spoke again enforcing the claims of this particular fund.

PRESBYTERY OF LANARK AND RENFREW.

Coun. Bates thought the Council were representing the honor of the town as well as guarding her financial interests, and if we must keep down the rate in these war times we should allow some A special meeting of this ecclesiastical court was held within the vestry of St. Andrew's Church on Thursday morning last, to receive and deal with a call from Zion Church congregation in favor of Rev. W. A. Dobson, of Dunnville, Ont. In the absence of the regular moderator and clerk, Rev. A. A. Scott was called on to preside and Rev. J. W. S. Lowry was appointed to act as clerk protem. other things to stand until the war is over.

Mr. Richards thought it a privilege for the Council to make a grant to this very worthy cause, and heartily endorsed the grant.

Mr. 'Brown expressed the hope that the Council would not be asked to contribute to either the Canadian Patriotic fund of the Canadian Red Cross fund.

It was moved by Mr. Pattie, seconded by Mr. Nichols, that the Council make a grant of $300 to the British Sailors' Relief Fund.—Carried unanimously.

Council adjourned. RED CROSS SOCIETY RECEIPTS. Previously acknowledged $5834.25, Talent money 25 cents, Choral Society

S. Lowry was appointed to act as derk protem.

The meeting having been opened with earnest prayer, Rev. J. J. Monds placed upon the table a call moderated by him in Zion Church, Carleton Place, to the Rev. Dobson, minister of Dunnville, signed by nearly two hundred members of the church in full communion, and some sixty-eight adherents, promising an annual income of $1,400, with the free use of the manse and four weeks holidays. Mr. Monds' action in moderating the call having been duly approved, it was moved by Rev. S. G. Brown and seconded by Rev. A. D. Fraser, that the call be sustained as a regular gospel call and forwarded to the Presbytery of Hamilton for presentation.

It was then moved by Rev. Mr. Fraser, and seconded by Rev. Mr. Lowry, and agreed, that Rev. J. J. Monds should support the call before the Presbytery of Hamilton, and at the request of the representatives of Zion congregation, that Rev. Dr. D. R. Drunnond, of Hamilton, should be asked to represent their case on the asked to represent their case on the same occasion. The business of the meeting having been concluded, the Presbytery was dismissed with the apostolic benediction.

High Price of Paper.

The increase in the price of news print paper proposed by Canadian mills will mean $2,500,000 to Canadian pubwill mean $2,500,000 to Canadian publishers. This is for one grade (the cheapest) of paper only. Better grades are in some cases double what they were before the war. No industry has been hit harder than the printing and aublishing. Of the 1800 tons of news Print made daily in Canada only about 300 tons are consumed in Canada, the balance going to the States where the price is even a trifle higher.

The Government has decided upon action by order in Council to restrict rises in food prices. Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Crow, of Chatham, celebrated their sixty-second anniversary by giving $100 to the British Red Cross.

A man who has had a great deal of experience in the lumber shanties of Canada and has suffered something of Canada and has suffered something of the tortures undergone by overseas troops by the small visitors which infest their underclothes, advises the use of camphor. The particular sort of insect pest indicated responds readily to an invitation to get out if it is accompanied by a good whiff of camphor. So send a package of gum camphor in your next farcel to the boys at the front.—Ex-
