McCarthy and O'Brien.

Last Night's Reception in London.

A Large Crowd in the Grand Opera House.

Discussion of Trade, School and Other Questions.

Scathing Denunciation of the Gerrymander.

N. P. Confessions and Exposures of a Remarkable Character.

The Census of Manufactures Ridiculed.

Vigorous Protests Against Dominion Interference With the Manitoba School Law.

The reception to D'Alton McCarthy, M. P., and Col. O'Brien, M. P., by their London admirers last night was a decided success. Before 8 o'clock the hall was crowded from pit to second gallery, the aisles and doorways were filled, and hundreds were unable to gain admission. Indeed, not a few of those citizens who found their way on to the platform did so because it was impossible to gain admittance to the auditorium. A very considerable proportion of the audience were women. In the orchestra sat the Sons of England Band, who during the evening played a number of concerted pieces in a decidedly artistic manner. With the exception of the display of a large Union Jack over the heads of the speakers, a banneret here and there, and a few mottoes, no attempt was made at decoration of the hall. The more striking mottoes were to this effect: "Country Before Party," "Tariff Reform in the Interests of the Masses," "No Sectional Legislation—Equal Rights to All," "One School System—a National One," "Extreme Partyism Canada's Danger." How many of the audience attended out of curiosity it would be difficult, of course, to say; but it may be chronicled that the reception of the speakers by the crowd was generous, and their strong points were warmly applauded. Ex-Mayor Taylor occupied the chair.

ON THE PLATFORM.

Among those on the platform were D'Alton McCarthy, Q.C., M.P., Col. O'Brien, M.P., Geo. Taylor, Seymour Corley (Toronto), Principal Austin (St. Thomas), E. N. Carson (Woodstock), Dr. Couse (Woodstock), S. W. Adams, Dr. Fraser, Ald. Pritchett, Rev. J. J. Roy (Winnipeg), H. Ryan, Thos. Sergeant, L. W. Burke, John Wright, W. Eacrett, J. H. Moran, Ald. Welford, Jos. Simmonds, A. M. Wilson, — Paisley, D. Dewar, W. H. Branton, Jas. Arthurs, D. H. Dobbin, Thos. Pasmore, A. S. Shepherd, Harry Warner, J. D. Smith, J. A. Young, J. Riddle, S. S. Kaiser, J. M. Kaiser, J. B. Nash, W. Gough, R. D. A. Hillier, Thos. Routledge, Alex. Ward, F. Neely (Thamesford), Geo. Langford, John Burridge, Wm. Weir (Thamesford), C. McMartin (Thamesford), John Boyd, John Elliot, J. Duff, A. T. Cleghorn, E. Pierson, Wm. McDonough, L. H. Scandrett, N. Cooper, Wm. Tackaberry, John Goforth, G. Brock, F. Whetter, D. C. Davidson, Geo. McClary, V. Morris, J. R. Peel, John Tomlinson, Fred. Harding, Robt. Simmonds, C. Leathorn, J. Walker, Geo. Roughley, Rev. M. C. Guillemont, James Gray, Wm. Lucas, Thos. Brenton, Hugh Newell, R. A. Smith, Sam. Partridge, Ald. J. W. Jones, L. Bartlett, J. R. Minhinnick, J. R. Maybury (Woodstock), John Oliver (Woodstock), H. W. Healy Woodstock), J. Watford (Woodstock), Robt. Wrighton, E. A. Shoebottom, John Wright, H. J. McCutcheon, Robt. Sloan, E. W. Forsythe, John Rider, Wm. Garratt, Ed. Jarmain, Sam Clare, Dr. Niven, A. Waspe, Wm. Lewis, Ald. Stevely, Geo. C. Gibbons, Q.C., Richard Watson, A. Greenlees, Rev. J. H. Orme, R. F. Lacey, John Taylor, Henry Keys, W. S. Leadbeater, Jas. Morrison, A. Horde, Chas. Rockett, H. Dell, James Spry, Thos. Bryan, W. Fysh, Ald. F. J. Fitzgerald, Bates, A. N. Doupe, Rev. W. Rigsby and others.

When the curtain rolled up shortly after 8 o'clock there was a volley of cheers, mingled with cries of "Essery."

Chairman Taylor—Mr. Essery received an invitation in the beginning of the week, together with all the aldermen. They were posted at Lilley's Corners.

There was more shouting at this.

Mr. Taylor, who was received with cheers, continuing, referred to his statement made in Toronto that Mr. McCarthy if he came to London would receive as warm a welcome here as in Toronto. (Cheers.) This meeting had been called to honor a statesman who had stood up without party spirit and voted honestly and conscientiously for the good of the country. (Cheers.) He had seen fit to take a manly and independent stand in the interests of Canada and Canadians. "We don't wish to send men to Parliament who will do as their party thinks fit, without regard to reason or justice," he said, "but those who will stand up for right and good government." (Cheers.)

LETTERS OF REGRET.

Letters of regret at inability to be present were read from Charles S. Hyman, M.P., E. Douglas Armour, Q.C. (of Toronto), ex-Mayor Douglas (of Woodstock), and Mayor Fleming (of Windsor). Mr. Armour's letter was as follows:

I have just received yours of the 15th inst. I regret very much that I will be unable to be present at the meeting, as I have engagements which I could not put off at the present moment. You are of course aware that I heartily indorse all that Mr. McCarthy is doing. I am heartily with him in tariff reform, fair and honest parliamentary representation, and the complete abolition of the gerrymandering process; the preservation of the English language in the Northwest, and the protection of Manitoba in its laudable desire to establish one public school system.

EDWARD DOUGLAS ARMOUR.

ADDRESSES TO MR. McCARTHY.

Mr. A. B. Imrie then advanced and read the following address:

To D'Alton McCarthy, Q.C., M.P.:

Dear Sir,—The course you have taken on questions of vital importance to the future welfare of this great Dominion has won for you the gratitude of thousands of your fellow-countrymen. And recognizing that our country to-day requires the services of statesmen—statesmen who can fearlessly stand up for national legislation, free from political bondage, so that all may come together under the "old flag," a United Canada. The noblest effort of a man is made in behalf of his fellows, and if party spirit has so far unmanned our politicians in this country that statesmen cannot stand up for good government, based on equity and justice without being ostracised, condemned and abused for their manliness; then, sir, the foundation of such a system is no guarantee for the future peace of the Dominion. Your effort to obtain for this people of Manitoba and the Northwest the power to legislate for themselves in the matter of dual language and educational questions has been courageously taken. And we rejoice to know that Canada has to-day in your leadership, ably seconded by Col. O'Brien, independent statesmen who place country before party. The question of tariff reform meets with our hearty approval. The building up of monopolies or combines in this country cannot be tolerated. Reducing the duties on British importations, so that the bonds of union between Canada and the mother land may be strengthened, is sound loyalty to the old flag and justice to the masses engaged in agricultural pursuits. And as a mark of our appreciation of your earnest endeavor to obtain good government for Canada, I have great pleasure on behalf of the reception committee and citizens present in extending to you a cordial welcome to London. Signed on behalf of the reception committee,

GEO. TAYLOR, Chairman.
A. B. IMRIE, Secretary.

Mr. McCarthy rose to respond to the address amidst a burst of applause. He replied formally, thanking the gentlemen of the committee for its very flattering terms. He asked permission to reserve until later the fuller observations that the address naturally called for.

A MUSICAL EPISODE.

Thirteen little girls, ranging in age from 15 down to 5 years, then filed across the stage. As they did so, "God Save the Queen" floated up from the orchestra below, and, the audience rising, the little songsters sang in their clear, sweet voices the well-known words of the National Anthem. The grand finale came with a flourish of miniature Canadian flags that the young ones had kept curled behind their backs.

At this juncture Miss Madge Mulheron stepped forward with a basket of flowers and read the following address:

Hon. D'Alton McCarthy, Q.C., M.P.,

Sir,—We desire on behalf of the women of London to extend to you our heartiest greeting on this your first, and we hope not your last, appearance among us. We wish at the same time to congratulate you very warmly on the decided stand you have taken in a cause which is very dear at present to our hearts. We pledge ourselves as loyal Canadians to do all that lies in our power to promote the best interests of our fair Dominion. We beg your acceptance of the accompanying basket of flowers, which you will please forward to Mrs. McCarthy in our names. We further pray that God will spare you both to see many long and happy days, and have the honor to reman, yours very faithfully,

"THE LADIES OF LONDON."

Mr. McCarthy stepped forward to receive the gift amidst applause. He had expected to receive a button-hole bouquet, but not such a profusion of flowers as those presented. However, he thanked the ladies most heartily for the handsome gift and the kind words accompanying. He was sure the ladies of London were truly represented in the address, and was only sorry that they would not be able to take part in the political struggle by dropping a ballot into the ballot box for good government.

Mr. McCarthy then sat down, and the little girls walked off. Their names were: Pearl Smith, Nettie Smith, Maud Smith, Laura Smith, Maud Stanfield, Jessie McNeil, Ethel McRoberts, Ettie Simmonds, Gertie Whittaker, Lillie Scott, Edna Scottie, Edna McRoberts, Rona Yates. Mrs. Bert Glass directed the singing, and Miss Bertha Taylor accompanied.

SEYMOUR CORLEY, TORONTO.

Mr. Corley began by praising the enthusiasm and proportions of the audience. It was a credit to the city of London, and to the men they had gathered to meet. Everybody would agree with him when he said that Mr. McCarthy was the hope of the Canadian nation—(Hear, hear)—everybody but the Empire, of Toronto, and its class. Mr. Corley warmed up here and walked all over the Toronto Tory organ. "That Joseph's coat of many colors, the only paper on the continent that had succeeded in earning and meriting the supreme and rank contempt of its supporters and its own party," was the way he put it. Leaving the Empire alone in its glory, the speaker asked the oft propounded query, "Why are young men at a discount here, and why are they forced to leave in thousands and go to the United States?"

SOMETHING MUST BE THE MATTER

with the affairs of the country. It was capable of supporting 100,000,000 souls, yet because of the incompetency of its rulers it could not sustain 5,000,000 within its borders. The speaker warned those present against letting politicians own them and lead them wherever they wanted them to go. He told them not to let the ward bosses at Ottawa—who were considered two sizes too small for their own corporation to engage them—do their thinking and acting. A Toronto merchant had told him that if he was to hire such men to look after his business as Ontario sends to govern the country he would be bankrupt in six months.

PRINCIPAL AUSTIN, ALMA COLLEGE, ST. THOMAS.

It was a spectacle altogether uncommon, he said, in this Canada of ours to find a politician standing in untrammeled lines, and it was only right to extend all honor to such men as were present—men who rose above class interests, selfishness and partyism, to make Canada one of the best and foremost nations on the globe. Mr. Austin referred to that Canada was threatened with—combines in party, combines in trade, and combines in ecclesiastical quarters. The blind partyism that ignored all questions for the country's good and looked only to the interests of the party was one of the greatest evils and one of the greatest dangers of the time. Trade combines he characterized as the natural offspring of the National Policy. It was this kind of legislation that made millionaires of the few and paupers of the many. The legislation enacted under the dictates of the Red Parlor was nothing more nor less than legalized robbery. The ecclesiastical combine was next dealt with. By this was meant the influence by which a practically solid vote could be hurled against a party in election times and men of interior ability boosted into power. The electors should see to it that the Governments, both at Ottawa and Toronto, were not converted into registration offices for ecclesiastics. Our Governments should have more influence than a priest on the bank of the Tiber. (Tremendous applause.)

COL. O'BRIEN, M.P.

The stalwart member for Muskoka was well received. The large gathering was a sign that the principles laid down at Toronto, Orangeville and Kingston by those present were very likely to find acceptance with the people of the capital of the western peninsula. He referred to the fact that Mr. McCarthy had been read out of the ranks of those who subjugated themselves to the leaders of the Conservative party, and then went on to speak of the Jesuits' Estates Bill. The people of Quebec, he allowed, had a perfect right without any interference of Government to dispose of any property that was theirs, but it was something unheard of that a potentate owing no allegiance to the British crown should be allowed to interfere. No foreign power or ecclesiastic should have anything to say about the laws of Great Britain. (Hear, hear.) Mr. O'Brien then went back to Queen Elizabeth's time, when the Tory party held as the Tories of to-day; and yet some people claim that the N. P. is not behind the age. Cromwell also came in for some comment. Although in his time he was reviled by many, yet when he declared that he would let the Pope see whether was not more powerful than his (the Pope's) voice, he had a great many friends in Canada to-day. (Applause.) William of Orange was the next bygone celebrity touched upon. There were many men who called themselves Williams of Orange in this country who opposed him when he took his stand against the Jesuits' Estate Bill. Twelfth of July speeches were a grand thing in their way; so were the processions. It was a great show of Protestantism, but when it came down to giving a vote in the House of Commons Protestantism was

THE SAME DOCTRINES

A VERY DIFFERENT THING.

"Protest, but stop short of the vote," was the Ottawa rule. If the representatives of the people protested at Ottawa until their protest ended in action there would be a different tale to tell in Canadian politics to-day. If a party could not keep its own power without resorting to the sooner that party went out of power the better. (Hear, hear.) This was the speaker's introduction to a discourse on the unfairness of the Gerrymander Act. That was one difference of opinion he had with the Tory Government. Another was the dual language and separate school system of Manitoba and the Northwest. This would establish a distinct nationality in a British country and would not be tolerated. Canada had been won by a British sword and they were going to keep it British. (Applause.) The speaker went on to deny that he was seeking to denationalize the French-Canadian, as Mr. Foster, the Minister of Finance, had said the other day. He simply wanted to protest against the establishment, in Manitoba and no the banks of the Saskatchewan,

MANIFEST AND ADMITTED UNFAIR MEANS

OF ANOTHER QUEBEC.

He would like to hear Clarke Wallace explain to the people of Cardwell why it was he joined the conspiracy of Sir John Thompson to set aside the rights of the people of Manitoba. If he could give a satisfactory explanation, it would be worth a dozen 12th July speeches.

The speaker, in conclusion, went into the question of tariff. The present tariff was creating a manifest feeling of unrest throughout all the country. It was the business of the Government to see that the public interests were not made the means of the aggrandizement of a few persons, and if that was found to be the case under the present Government, then it was time that a change was made.

As Mr. O'Brien sat down a voice in rich Irish brogue was heard to exclaim, above the rustle in the audience, "Three hearty cheers for Gladstone, home rule and College Green!"

The cheers were not given, but laughter, mingled with groans and hisses, greeted the remark.

MR. McCARTHY.

Mr. McCarthy, on being introduced as the speaker of the evening, was given a loud cheer. He was pleased, he said, to see such a large gathering. "Have you turned out because I am an independent member of Parliament or because I am a wobbler?" he asked amid laughter. "Is there a feeling of unrest throughout the Province of Ontario?" he continued.

Voices—Yes.

Mr. McCarthy—Do you desire a change?

Voices—Yes.

Mr. McCarthy—Do you desire to see the affairs of this Dominion carried on on lines and principles different from those which have hitherto prevailed?

Chorus—Yes.

Mr. McCarthy—I don't know whether I have the honor or not of addressing leaders of political thought in this city. I don't see the mayor here, for instance. I have no doubt he occupies a very prominent position. Perhaps he does not believe in independence. Perhaps he does not think it right to countenance one who desires to think for himself.

Voice—No, no.

Mr. McCarthy—I fancy you will find leaders when the proper time arrives who will be able to give effect to your principles and will not allow themselves to be crowded out by a party on one side or the other. It is my great misfortune at present not to be in accord with either of the political parties. Personally I have never had a word of difference with Sir John Thompson or Mr. Laurier. I have been of the Conservative party because I won't pull or do exactly as they think I ought to do. (Cheers.)

Mr. McCarthy said he had just received a letter from a gentleman unknown to him, asking him to reply to the following questions: "Would you kindly tell us whether the Dominion Parliament has power or not to permit the Manitoba school question to be given to the courts for settlement; and if Parliament has such power, please tell us in what manner it can be done. Signed, H. Keyes and several others."

The question, said Mr. McCarthy, had been settled in the courts. Manitoba decided to fight for the constitutionality of its Public School Act in every court in the Dominion, and ultimately was obliged to carry its appeal to the Privy Council of England, which determined that the act was constitutional and within the power of the Manitoba Legislature to pass. The question was not now in that sense a legal one; the act was already determined to be constitutional, and the parties opposed to it were now endeavoring by another means to have it annuled. That means was by an appeal to the Governor-General-in-council, which appeal had been partly heard, and the final appeal of which has been postponed, subject to certain questions which are now being submitted to the Supreme Court of Canada. "My position is this," said the speaker: "Once the Privy Council has determined the constitutionality of the act there is no power, and there should be no power except the Province itself to annul the legislation. (Cheers.)

I DENY THE RIGHT OF SIR JOHN THOMPSON

and his colleagues to turn themselves into a judicial body and assume the functions of judges to enable them to annul the Provincial legislation of the Province of Manitoba." (Cheers.) He regretted that the House had allowed the Premier to submit certain questions to the Supreme Court as to whether the Governor-in-council had the right or not to disallow in effect the legislation. Although Sir John Thompson denied it, a French paper in Ottawa asserted that the late Government, through Mr. Chapleau, had promised the hierarchy of Quebec to disallow this act. (Groans.) The Government had resorted to the present subterfuge, Mr. McCarthy said, because they saw the strength of public opinion in this Province against any such course. Sir John Thompson probably wished in his prayers every night that the Supreme Court would say they had not the power to do that which was expected of them. (Laughter.)

TARIFF REFORM.

Mr. McCarthy then launched into tariff reform. The act of 1879, the National Policy, was passed with a view to establishing Canadian industries and give them a chance to live against unfair competition to which they were exposed at the time when Americans had a tariff of 45 per cent. against our 17½ per cent. tariff. But it was understood that this was merely to last until manufacturers had a chance to get under way. (Hear, hear.) The question has been with me since 1891, whether that opportunity has not already been afforded them and whether the time has not come to GO BACK AGAIN TO A REVENUE TARIFF.

(Cheers.) I took the ground in 1891, long before I was known as a wobbler—(laughter)—before I was driven out of the fold—that the time had come to say to the manufacturers, "We have allowed you to establish your business, to get under way, and now we have got to think of the great mass of people who are not manufacturers, but who have been paying to establish your business." (Cheers.) The speaker found in looking over the speeches of Henry Clay, the distinguished American protectionist, made in 1833, that Clay only asked that the manufacturers be protected for nine years, at the end of which time, he said, they would need no more protection. (Hear, hear.) Their experience in Canada taught them different. The more you gave to the manufacturer the more he wanted. (Hear, hear.) Suggest the lowering of the tariff from 35 to 25 per cent. and he says: "Oh, no, that will not do;

I AM STILL AN INFANT;

I still require the infantile nourishment which alone can enable the little one to get along." (Laughter and cheers.)

Protection, said Mr. McCarthy, was designed to prevent us from buying in the cheapest market, to keep our markets for ourselves and keep out the foreigner, to restrain us from buying from the outside things cheaper and better than could be got at home. It was a law of self-denying ordinance. (Laughter.) The speaker cited the promises made at the inception of the N. P.—how the country would blossom like the rose, etc.,—and confessed that he was one of the promisers. "The census first took note of the manufacturing returns in 1871," said he. "Mr. Foster tells us that we have in ten years added to the number of hands employed in Canada 112,561 men, women, boys and girls—not a very great number when you remember the whole population is 5,000,000. I am sorry to tell you this is far from correct. Let me see whether the census is correct regarding

THE CITY OF LONDON.

It is stated here (the speaker consults the blue book returns) that in the city of London there were in 1891 no less than 804 manufacturing establishments. (Roars of laughter.) The number of hands employed in these is put at 6,045, being nearly a third and more than a fourth of your population. (More laughter.) I see that the wages paid out in a year were $1,847,353, and that the cost of the material worked up in your factories is $8,235,207. (More derisive exclamations.) Of course you know that is not correct; and if not true of London I don't think the 112,000 Mr. Foster tells us of can be relied upon either. (Hear, hear.) I am not blaming the enumerators. I believe they got

20 OR 30 CENTS FOR EVERY INDUSTRY

they discovered—(great laughter)—and as times were rather hard they naturally found a great many more than in 1881. (Laughter.) I believe every dressmaker and every cobbler is put down as a manufacturing industry. When you take every sewing girl and such like you can easily get your 6,000 odd employed." (Laughter.) Mr. McCarthy made the supposition that the actual number was nearer 50,000. He was not going to shirk his responsibility for the N. P., but when he knew he was wrong he was not going to remain wrong. (Cheers.) Supposing there were 50,000 more people employed owing to the N. P., were they paying too much for them? He was not there to arouse prejudices, he was not going to say a word against the French-Canadians, because the columns of the Quebec press would be filled with abuse if he even mentioned them—but

and tariff reform was a vital question. (Cheers.) The speaker then instanced the cotton monopoly of Canada, which regulated the output and the price of that material in this country, as they were protected by a duty of 40 per cent. In 1878, before the N. P., about $7,000,000 worth of cotton goods were imported which at a 17½ per cent tariff, yielded $1,250,000 in duty. Now we bought $4,000,000 of cottton from outside and paid the same duty, $1,250,000 on it. Mr. McCarthy showed conclusively by trade returns that though, since 1878, the price of cotton in the outside world had fallen 36 per cent. and that cotton worth $100 then could be got for $64 now, yet, through the duty and the combine, Canadians had to pay $102 for $74 worth. This meant more than

of the people of this country in order to bolster up the cotton manufacturers. (Hear, hear.) The annual wages paid in the cotton industry amounted to $2,102,603, so that people were actually paying to maintain this industry more than the manufacturers were paying their hands in wages? This was only one item; he would like to know if it applied to everything else? He pointed out the advance in cotton shares and the big dividends.

"Who are the people of this country?" queried the member for North Simcoe. "The agricultural interest is the one that is to be fostered and protected and left to pursue its course unaffected by tariffs or other hostile interests. (Cheers.) Make the farmers prosperous and the towns will flourish; drive out the farmer and your towns will not prosper." (Cheers.)

Voice—People are coming back from the States to Canada.

Mr. McCarthy—The census doesn't say so. Those kind of people are leaving their country for their country's good. (Laughter.) We have an extradition treaty now, and the people whom it brings back are very undesirable. (Laughter.) However, he was not preaching blue ruin; he had great faith in our country. (Cheers.) You could not

MAKE PEOPLE RICH BY TAXING THEM.

When the farmer had 35 per cent. to pay on everything he used or consumed, how could he be expected to prosper? To be sure farmers were protected — against American corn, cattle, etc. You say that kept $12,000,000 out of this country which the farmer has been able to supply; but that only enabled him to sell at home instead of abroad. What was $12,000,000 in view of the fact that the output of the farmers was $260,000,000? The Government had spent $70,000,000 in acquiring the Northwest and yet made it

IMPOSSIBLE TO LIVE THERE

by enormous taxation. At a farmers' meeting there the other day (he had the records with him) it was said they would only be able, after taxes and railway fares were paid, to realize 25 cents a bushel on wheat, and therefore refused to advise their friends to settle there. (Hear, hear.)

"We recently took the duty off sugar, from which $3,000,000 was derived. In one year—I could scarcely credit it—the consumption of sugar grew from 100 to 170 pounds, or 70 per cent. (Applause.) High taxation had deprived people of the use of it in that proportion. I don't know how it is in this rich part of the Province, but it is my experience that it is becoming year by year more difficult to gratify the increasing wants of the people."

In defining his revenue tariff platform, the speaker said he was willing to meet Mr. Cleveland and take off dollar for dollar. (Cheers.) He expected to find from him a reasonable and fair tariff before the year was over. In the meantime he would lower the tariff in favor of Great Britain, a market to which our goods were sent free. (Loud cheers.) The present tariff against the mother country was 30 per cent., as against 25 per cent. put up against the United States. He said Mr. Laurier's past policy was a dishonorable one, because it proposed discrimination against Great Britain, but it was a thing of the past. The speaker ridiculed the tariff inquiry commission of Messrs. Bowell and Foster. He did not think the people need expect anything from the present Government; they were under the manufacturer's grip. "I don't pretend to be a prophet," said he in conclusion, "but one who has gone about the country as I have, must realize that if the present Government does not give the people what they want, another will. (Cheers.) I don't care what party governs. The prosperity of Canada should be the first principle, and in my humble opinion it is bound up in the words "Tariff Reform." (Loud cheers.)

A RESOLUTION OF CONFIDENCE.

Mr. S. S. Casey, in a brief, spirited address, seconded by Mr. Sheppard, then moved a resolution to the effect that the citizens assembled heartily indorse the principles enunciated in Mr. McCarthy's speech, and pledge themselves to assist by their votes in supporting Mr. McCarthy's laudable desire to obtain honest Government for Canada.

This was put by the chairman and declared carried. Three cheers were given for Messrs. McCarthy and O'Brien, the chairman and the Queen, the band played and the big crowd filed out.

IN LABOR'S FIELD.

Proceedings of the Railroad Telegraphers' Convention.

TORONTO, May 17.—At this morning's session of the Order of Railway Telegraphers the executive committee reported on the work of the year and also submitted the statement of the expert accountant who had examined the books. Both were exhaustive and showed that everything in connection of the order was in the best possible shape. The election of officers for the ensuing year will take place on Friday and Ramsay will be re-elected grand chief. Denver, Colorado, will be probably chosen as the next place of meeting.

STORM AND FLOOD.

Disastrous Washouts in Various Sections of the Country.

CLARKSBURG, Ont., May 17.—The Beaver River has subsided considerably, but most of the valuable water powers on this stream have suffered a good deal.

Dispatches from Ottawa, St. Catharines, Thornbury and other points in Canada tell of serious loss caused by the overflowing of streams swollen by continuous rains.

CONNEAUT, Ohio, May 17.—The worst storm ever known here visited this section last night. The Lake Shore docks at Ashtabula are six feet under water, and sixteen vessels are likely to be driven into the lake. A three-masted schooner was seen to go down about two miles west of this harbor this morning.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 17.—The storm of wind and rain which began at noon Monday and has continued almost without cessation until this evening has produced a flood unprecedented in the history of Northwestern Ohio and Northwestern Pennsylvania. Thus far fourteen lives have been lost, great damage has been done to shipping and the loss to other property will amount into the hundreds of thousands.

ULTRA TORY TACTICS.

Mr. Gladstone Hooted and Hissed At

While the Guest of the Prince of Wales—Comments of the Times.

LONDON, May 17.—The reception of the Prince of Wales at the Imperial Institute to-day was in every way successful. The Duke of York and Princess Mary were cheered repeatedly by the thousands of guests.

Mr. Gladstone was present looking tired and irritated. A hostile demonstration was made by some of the Ultra-Tories when he appeared, which was comparatively mild at first but increased rapidly in volume.

Despite the fact that the Prime Minister was the guest of the Prince of Wales, he was received eventually with a storm of hooting and hissing whenever and wherever he was recognized.

The Times regards the demonstration against Mr. Gladstone as "a lamentable fact."

"The event was regretable," says the Times, "because Mr. Gladstone was the guest of the Prince of Wales. The demonstration was not organized, however, but was a spontaneous and irrepressible breach of the conventions of society."

KILLED BY ALLIGATORS.

An Aged Woman's Frightful Death in the Louisiana Bayous.

NEW ORLEANS, May 18.—Mrs. Angelo, about 90 years old, residing at Port Eads, left her home on May 4 to visit her son Adam, who resides three miles from the Old Jump, on the opposite side of the river. She took passage on the Comet. On May 10, Joseph, another son, learned that the old lady had failed to reach Adam's house. He organized a searching party, and about three miles from the Jump, on the Red Pass, found the disfigured head of the aged woman. Other portions of her body, found further on in the bayou, showed that she had been killed by alligators.

It is thought that she sat down to rest on the bank, and before she could get away the alligators attacked her. The woman was very weak. There have been many stories of persons killed by alligators in Louisiana, but this is the first substantiated one.

VINDICATED!

The Supreme Court of New York City

Decides in favor of Radam's Microbe Killer as against the Doctors' and Druggists' Combine to throttle the sale of this Remedy.

A number of these together with their "Medical Journals" represented Microbe Killer as being composed from poisonous acids, and thus frightened the public from using the same to some extent.

This suit brought three years ago, after many vexatious delays caused by our opponents, has finally shown the utter falsity of these statements made by unscrupulous bigots.

Not only this, but scores of living witnesses were brought before the judge and jury, showing that all manner of diseases pronounced incurable by the medical profession, were cured by the Microbe Killer.

Now then, all you who are sick and fail to get relief from "medical drugging" do not hesitate longer to avail yourself of this truly wonderful medicine, ere it may be too late.

THE PATRONS OF INDUSTRY.

(Montreal Star.)

On the testimony of the leaders of the Canada farmers' movement, which has taken form under the title "Patrons of Industry," it is learned that the objects of the association are almost wholly political. The co-operative store-keeping system, which has attracted so much hostile criticism, is regarded by the Patrons—at least in their public utterances—as a purely secondary matter, the adoption of which is wholly optional with the members. The pledge of political independence, however, hangs by no means at so lax a tension. It is put forth as the real raison d'etre of the organization; and the country is given to understand that the Patrons will feel that they have failed of their purpose if they do not succeed in making the "farmer vote" a keenly felt factor in national politics. At present it is their belief that the tariff taxes them inordinately; and it would be very hard to persuade them to the contrary when they have so many flagrant cases of special class taxation ready at their hand by way of proof.

Though the movement is exclusively a farmers' rising, there is no reason why the rest of the community should view it with anything but friendly feelings. At the outset it must be remembered that the farmers are not asking for an increase of duties. It is not the object of their movement to increase the price of the food of the people, or, in any other way, to raise the cost of living. They desire, not to tax others more, but simply to pay less taxes themselves.

Then the farmers are the great consuming class of the country, so far as manufactured goods are concerned; and, if wisely led, they will fight the battle of the consumers as a whole. It is in the interest of every man who purchases clothing, furniture, cutlery, wall paper, tools, or any of the ordinary necessities of life, that the cost of them be lowered, provided this is done without cutting off his own means of livelihood. Let tariff reduction stop short of the point at which it would ruin the industry from which any given mechanic gains his living, and it is all in his favor even on the very article he is engaged in manufacturing; for his wages are generally fixed, not by the wealth of his employers, but by the international competition in his line of labor. The farmers can only menace the great mass of townspeople in the course of their agitation by insanely refusing to allow the necessary revenue of the country to be collected on a system that, at the same time, protects the industries of the people; and, should they do this, thegreater damage would recoil upon themselves, for, with the decimation of the towns and cities, their own best market would disappear.

And this argument works just as well the other way round. If the farmers are not prosperous, there is no one to buy the output of the factories, and, as a consequence, city life is paralyzed. "Trade and get rich" is an old saying; but if the means of trade are dried up at the source—the ability to purchase—it may well be read "haggle and get poor." No one is particularly astounded that manufacturers do not flock to the Government during the present tariff inquiry, and demand a reduction of the duties. But if they were far-sighted, they might well do so; for an impoverished consuming class will very soon begin to stop their looms and silence their forging hammers, one by one. Over-taxation of their constituency will be as fatal to them as under-protection of their product.

The Patrons show their wisdom in not making their co-operative store system the sheet anchor of the society. As one of their officers pointed out the other day, it is not the country storekeeper who is getting rich at their expense. He is very often as hard worked and as hard pressed as the farmer; and in the long run our people will find the natural laws of competition, supply and demand to be better distributors than any socialistic device, large or small. The field in which any organized effort to help the farmers—in this time at least—must do its best work, is that of politics. Some Ministerial journals are very fond of advising them these times to build good roads, to try many improved kinds of farming, to paint their fences and to stop keeping dogs. But the smell of the herring is plain to all. They are exceedingly anxious that the farmer shall not make it awkward for their party by demanding lower taxation and better foreign trade facilities at the hands of Parliament. It would be politically safe for them to send out a royal commission to investigate the great question as to whether or not the cow should be milked from the right side or the left; and there is no doubt that a couple of lawyers, a brace of politicians and a political farmer could collect some very valuable hints for the farmers' wives on this point. But when the farmer wakes up to the necessity of real reform of the tariff, they see political peril in the demand, and begin, with one consent, to try and attract his attention to something else. But the steady growth of such purely political movements as the Patrons of Industry show that they have not been drawn off the scent as yet by even the most maladorous herring; and they have but to push ahead to win not only the willing ear of the touring Ministers, but the ready obedience of Parliament. This country is always ruled by that vote which is best organized and which knows best what it wants.

A Curious Occurrence in Committee.

Debate on a Bill to Elect Sheriffs and Other Officers.

The Measure Killed, Along With the One to Exempt Farmers from the Operation of the Workmen's Act.

[From Our Own Representative.]

PARLIAMENT HOUSE, TORONTO, May 17.—There was a curious occurrence in the private bills committee this morning. Kerns' bill to incorporate the village of Hamilton Beach came up, and it happened that all the Liberals present were opposed to the bill, as was the Provincial Secretary, who is chairman of the committee. Mr. Kerns insisted upon a vote upon the preamble, and Mr. Gibson was rather chagrined to find that it was carried by 13 to 10. Of course there is a large majority of Liberals on the committee, but it happened that the Conservatives were in the ascendancy this morning. Mr. Kerns was considerably elated over his victory, so much so that he consented to the bill itself being laid over for a year, expressing the hope that the city of Hamilton would not in the meantime "gobble up" the village.

Proceedings in the House to-day were of rather an important nature. Mr. McColl's notice of motion calling for the election of sheriffs, registrars of deeds, clerks of the peace and other officers, instead of having them appointed by the Government, gave the House cause for considerable debate.

The Attorney-General expressed himself as strongly against the motion. The experience of the United States had shown that the system of electing officers had given rise to untold facilities for corruption. No bank or building society permitted its shareholders to elect its staff. The shareholders elected the management, but did not in any way interfere with the management of details. The Attorney-General drew a parallel case between a commercial organization and the Province.

After Mr. Meredith had expressed himself as partly in favor of the bill the motion was lost on a division.

There was a protracted discussion on Mr. Sprague's bill to exempt farmers from the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Mr. Fraser said that the exemption of blacksmiths, carpenters or any other class would be just as logical as exempting farmers.

Mr. Meredith also opposed the bill. He said there was no reason why farmers should be exempted. He accused the Government of attempting to interfere with common law.

Mr. Hardy and Mr. Mowat said there was a feeling among the farmers that they were placed at a disadvantage. A man who suffered injuries through his own negligence might bring suit with certainty that the farmer would defend the suit. Mr. Mowat agreed with Mr. Hardy.

Mr. Rayside thought that farmers were troubled with lawyers who were after fees that might accrue, and that the farmer was compelled to disgorge.

The bill was killed in committee.

NOTES.

The bill incorporating the Strathroy and Western Counties Railway passed, with the addition of an amendment changing the proposed route.

Speckled Trout Fry for Wentworth's Streams—A Husband Missing—Chatham's Centennial

BRANT.

A. D. Stewart has placed 10,000 speckled trout fry in the streams of Wentworth county lately, and he has 10,000 more for Brant. The supply comes from the Newcastle hatchery, and is paid for by the Fish and Game Association.

ELGIN.

Dr. Smith, assisted by Dr. McLarty, amputated part of the leg of Mr. George Tyler, M. C. R. yard engineer, at the Amassa Wood Hospital, St. Thomas Tuesday. About fourteen years ago Mr. Tyler's foot was crushed and amputated above the ankle. The end of the bone becoming diseased, further amputation was rendered necessary.

ESSEX.

Miss Scott, of Windsor, had a narrow escape from being killed on Tuesday. She was crossing Jefferson avenue at Woodward, in Detroit, and did not notice a big dray close to her. Before any one could reach her she was struck by one of the horses, and one of the wheels was just about to pass over her, when she was grabbed by J. H. Richardson and dragged out. She was badly bruised on the back by being struck by the horse.

KENT.

Chief Young, of Chatham, has received a communication from Mrs. Wm. Cochrane, Brooklyn, making inquiries about her husband, who had been missing from home since March. The authorities are confident, from the description given, that the missing man is not in Chatham.

Chatham will be 100 years old on May 20 next. On or about May 20, 1793, the first official recognition of the town, then a mere military post, was vouchsafed. The old records state that on that date a report was made as to the navigability of the river at that port and beyond.

MIDDLESEX.

George Wesley Pepper, formerly of Grey township, now a resident of Detroit, has forsaken bachelorhood, having taken to himself a wife in the person of Miss Ethel Watt, of Dorchester. The old friends of the groom wish Mr. Pepper and his bride happiness and prosperity.

PERTH.

Commandant Booth, head of the Canadian forces of the Salvation Army, is to hold a great demonstration in Stratford on the 24th. The Guelph Army Band and the soldiers are invited to be present. Galt, Woodstock, Ingersoll and other neighboring Salvation Army bands are to take part. There will also be a large number of the Toronto Salvationists to come out by special excursion train.

WATERLOO.

The church choirs of Waterloo county have decided to run an excursion to Sarnia on or about the 20th June next.

Sketch of Diablo, Who Won the Brooklyn Handicap.

Glencoe's Football Team to Play the London Collegiate Institute Club on Friday.

THE TURF.

THE WINNER OF THE BROOKLYN HANDICAP.

Diablo, the winner of the Brooklyn handicap, is a bay horse, 7 years old, by Eolus, out of Grace Darling. He was bred by Capt. Hancock, of Virginia, and sold as a yearling to Jonas Langfeld, of New York, for whom he won a number of good races at 2 and 3 years of age. He could not beat the Salvators nor the Proctor Knotts nor the Longstreets of his day, but he was a good second-class colt and won some valuable races. When Mr. Langfeld left racing Diablo was purchased by his present owners, Messrs. Walcott & Campbell, and has run in their colors ever since. He has been more or less of a cripple during the past two years, and broke down so badly at Sheepshead Bay the year before last that he could scarcely hobble from the track. He was patched up again last season, and at Washington last autumn ran as well as he ever did in his life, his races with Fidelo and Gloaming being among the fastest ever run at Bennings. He was not considered a factor in Monday's race at all, and his victory was a godsend for the bookmakers, who would have lost very heavily had Lamplighter won the race. Tuesday's race was worth to the winner $18,000, while Lamplighter's share was $5,000, and Leonawell got $2,000 for running third.

THE KENNEL.

A WONDERFUL DOG.

A very wonderful dog is Andy Schoelfield, an English terrier belonging to an elevator engineer at San Francisco. Andy's soul is above rat catching, but when Mr. Schoelfield goes down cellar to fire up Andy at once goes on his tour of inspection, examining each part of the machinery. If he finds anything out of order he stays and barks at it until some one comes to fix it. He gives warning when the well runs dry, and barks when visitors monkey with the machinery. He can tell when the clock stops, but cannot read the steam and water gauges; though if the engine gets to running too fast he always barks. When the coalman puts in coal he barks if the chute isn't replaced and everything "slicked up" nicely.—[New York Recorder.

THE WHEEL.

VINDICATED!

The Supreme Court of New York City

Decides in favor of Radam's Microbe Killer as against the Doctors' and Druggists' Combine to throttle the sale of this Remedy.

A number of these together with their "Medical Journals" represented Microbe Killer as being composed from poisonous acids, and thus frightened the public from using the same to some extent.

This suit brought three years ago, after many vexatious delays caused by our opponents, has finally shown the utter falsity of these statements made by unscrupulous bigots.

Not only this, but scores of living witnesses were brought before the judge and jury, showing that all manner of diseases pronounced incurable by the medical profession, were cured by the Microbe Killer.

Now then, all you who are sick and fail to get relief from "medical drugging" do not hesitate longer to avail yourself of this truly wonderful medicine, ere it may be too late.

THE PATRONS OF INDUSTRY.

(Montreal Star.)

On the testimony of the leaders of the Canada farmers' movement, which has taken form under the title "Patrons of Industry," it is learned that the objects of the association are almost wholly political. The co-operative store-keeping system, which has attracted so much hostile criticism, is regarded by the Patrons—at least in their public utterances—as a purely secondary matter, the adoption of which is wholly optional with the members. The pledge of political independence, however, hangs by no means at so lax a tension. It is put forth as the real raison d'etre of the organization; and the country is given to understand that the Patrons will feel that they have failed of their purpose if they do not succeed in making the "farmer vote" a keenly felt factor in national politics. At present it is their belief that the tariff taxes them inordinately, and it would be very hard to persuade them to the contrary when they have so many flagrant cases of special class taxation ready at their hand by way of proof.

Though the movement is exclusively a farmers' rising, there is no reason why the rest of the community should view it with anything but friendly feelings. At the outset it must be remembered that the farmers are not asking for an increase of duties. It is not the object of their movement to increase the price of the food of the people, or, in any other way, to raise the cost of living. They desire, not to tax others more, but simply to pay less taxes themselves.

Then the farmers are the great consuming class of the country, so far as manufactured goods are concerned; and, if wisely led, they will fight the battle of the consumers as a whole. It is in the interest of every man who purchases clothing, furniture, cutlery, wall paper, tools, or any of the ordinary necessities of life, that the cost of them be lowered, provided this is done without cutting off his own means of livelihood. Let tariff reduction stop short of the point at which it would ruin the industry from which any given mechanic gains his living, and it is all in his favor even on the very article he is engaged in manufacturing; for his wages are generally fixed, not by the wealth of his employers, but by the international competition in his line of labor. The farmers can only menace the great mass of townspeople in the course of their agitation by insanely refusing to allow the necessary revenue of the country to be collected on a system that, at the same time, protects the industries of the people; and, should they do this, the greater damage would recoil upon themselves, for, with the decimation of the towns and cities, their own best market would disappear.

And this argument works just as well the other way round. If the farmers are not prosperous, there is no one to buy the output of the factories, and, as a consequence, city life is paralyzed. "Trade and get rich" is an old saying; but if the means of trade are dried up at the source—the ability to purchase—it may well be read "haggle and get poor." No one is particularly astounded that manufacturers do not flock to the Government during the present tariff inquiry, and demand a reduction of the duties. But if they were far-sighted, they might well do so; for an impoverished consuming class will very soon begin to stop their looms and silence their forging hammers, one by one. Over-taxation of their constituency will be as fatal to them as under-protection of their product.

The Patrons show their wisdom in not making their co-operative store system the sheet anchor of the society. As one of their officers pointed out the other day, it is not the country storekeeper who is getting rich at their expense. He is very often as hard worked and as hard pressed as the farmer; and in the long run our people will find the natural laws of competition, supply and demand to be better distributors than any socialistic device, large or small. The field in which any organized effort to help the farmers—in this time at least—must do its best work, is that of politics. Some Ministerial journals are very fond of advising them these times to build good roads, to try many improved kinds of farming, to paint their fences and to stop keeping dogs. But the smell of the herring is plain to all. They are exceedingly anxious that the farmer shall not make it awkward for their party by demanding lower taxation and better foreign trade facilities at the hands of Parliament. It would be politically safe for them to send out a royal commission to investigate the great question as to whether or not the cow should be milked from the right side or the left; and there is no doubt that a couple of lawyers, a brace of politicians and a political farmer could collect some very valuable hints for the farmers' wives on this point. But when the farmer wakes up to the necessity of real reform of the tariff, they see political peril in the demand, and begin, with one consent, to try and attract his attention to something else. But the steady growth of such purely political movements as the Patrons of Industry show that they have not been drawn off the scent as yet by even the most maladorous herring; and they have but to push ahead to win not only the willing ear of the touring Ministers, but the ready obedience of Parliament. This country is always ruled by that vote which is best organized and which knows best what it wants.

A Curious Occurrence in Committee.

Debate on a Bill to Elect Sheriffs and Other Officers.

The Measure Killed, Along With the One to Exempt Farmers from the Operation of the Workmen's Act.

[From Our Own Representative.]

PARLIAMENT HOUSE, TORONTO, May 17.—There was a curious occurrence in the private bills committee this morning. Kerns' bill to incorporate the village of Hamilton Beach came up, and it happened that all the Liberals present were opposed to the bill, as was the Provincial Secretary, who is chairman of the committee. Mr. Kerns insisted upon a vote upon the preamble, and Mr. Gibson was rather chagrined to find that it was carried by 13 to 10. Of course there is a large majority of Liberals on the committee, but it happened that the Conservatives were in the ascendancy this morning. Mr. Kerns was considerably elated over his victory, so much so that he consented to the bill itself being laid over for a year, expressing the hope that the city of Hamilton would not in the meantime "gobble up" the village.

Proceedings in the House to-day were of rather an important nature. Mr. McColl's notice of motion calling for the election of sheriffs, registrars of deeds, clerks of the peace and other officers, instead of having them appointed by the Government, gave the House cause for considerable debate.

The Attorney-General expressed himself as strongly against the motion. The experience of the United States had shown that the system of electing officers had given rise to untold facilities for corruption. No bank or building society permitted its shareholders to elect its staff. The shareholders elected the management, but did not in any way interfere with the management of details. The Attorney-General drew a parallel case between a commercial organization and the Province.

After Mr. Meredith had expressed himself as partly in favor of the bill the motion was lost on a division.

There was a protracted discussion on Mr. Sprague's bill to exempt farmers from the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Mr. Fraser said that the exemption of blacksmiths, carpenters or any other class would be just as logical as exempting farmers.

Mr. Meredith also opposed the bill. He said there was no reason why farmers should be exempted. He accused the Government of attempting to interfere with common law.

Mr. Hardy and Mr. Mowat said there was a feeling among the farmers that they were placed at a disadvantage. A man who suffered injuries through his own negligence might bring suit with certainty that the farmer would defend the suit. Mr. Mowat agreed with Mr. Hardy.

Mr. Rayside thought that farmers were troubled with lawyers who were after fees that might accrue, and that the farmer was compelled to disgorge.

The bill was killed in committee.

NOTES.

The bill incorporating the Strathroy and Western Counties Railway passed, with the addition of an amendment changing the proposed route.

Dr. Smith, assisted by Dr. McLarty, amputated part of the leg of Mr. George Tyler, M. C. R. yard engineer, at the Amassa Wood Hospital, St. Thomas Tuesday. About fourteen years ago Mr. Tyler's foot was crushed and amputated above the ankle. The end of the bone becoming diseased, further amputation was rendered necessary.

ESSEX.

Miss Scott, of Windsor, had a narrow escape from being killed on Tuesday. She was crossing Jefferson avenue at Woodward, in Detroit, and did not notice a big dray close to her. Before any one could reach her she was struck by one of the horses, and one of the wheels was just about to pass over her, when she was grabbed by J. H. Richardson and dragged out. She was badly bruised on the back by being struck by the horse.

KENT.

Chief Young, of Chatham, has received a communication from Mrs. Wm. Cochrane, Brooklyn, making inquiries about her husband, who had been missing from home since March. The authorities are confident, from the description given, that the missing man is not in Chatham.

Chatham will be 100 years old on May 20 next. On or about May 20, 1793, the first official recognition of the town, then a mere military post, was vouchsafed. The old records state that on that date a report was made as to the navigability of the river at that port and beyond.

THE TURF.

THE WINNER OF THE BROOKLYN HANDICAP.

Diablo, the winner of the Brooklyn handicap, is a bay horse, 7 years old, by Eolus, out of Grace Darling. He was bred by Capt. Hancock, of Virginia, and sold as a yearling to Jonas Langfeld, of New York, for whom he won a number of good races at 2 and 3 years of age. He could not beat the Salvators nor the Proctor Knotts nor the Longstreets of his day, but he was a good second-class colt and won some valuable races. When Mr. Langfeld left racing Diablo was purchased by his present owners, Messrs. Walcott & Campbell, and has run in their colors ever since. He has been more or less of a cripple during the past two years, and broke down so badly at Sheepshead Bay the year before last that he could scarcely hobble from the track. He was patched up again last season, and at Washington last autumn ran as well as he ever did in his life, his races with Fidelo and Gloaming being among the fastest ever run at Bennings. He was not considered a factor in Monday's race at all, and his victory was a godsend for the bookmakers, who would have lost very heavily had Lamplighter won the race. Tuesday's race was worth to the winner $18,000, while Lamplighter's share was $5,000, and Leonawell got $2,000 for running third.

THE KENNEL.

A WONDERFUL DOG.

A very wonderful dog is Andy Schoelfield, an English terrier belonging to an elevator engineer at San Francisco. Andy's soul is above rat catching, but when Mr. Schoelfield goes down cellar to fire up Andy at once goes on his tour of inspection, examining each part of the machinery. If he finds anything out of order he stays and barks at it until some one comes to fix it. He gives warning when the well runs dry, and barks when visitors monkey with the machinery. He can tell when the clock stops, but cannot read the steam and water gauges; though if the engine gets to running too fast he always barks. When the coalman puts in coal he barks if the chute isn't replaced and everything "slicked up" nicely.—[New York Recorder.

—[BROWNING.

London, Thursday, May 18.

THE unsettled question is, How many invitations should a man get before he attends a public meeting? Some men go without invitation; others believe that a jinrikshi should be sent for them. This is a queer world, my masters. The willing man needs no pressing.

THE money spent on the public debt of Canada in the last fiscal year was as follows:

Interest on public debt	$ 9,763,978 34
Premium, discount and percentage	7,901 44
Charges of management	176,036 62
Sinking fund	2,027,869 79
Total	$11,975,777 19

But for the fall of the rate of interest payable in Great Britain, the debt charge would have been very much greater. The annual interest of our debt, payable in gold, would foot up to 25 tons; if in silver, to 500 tons!

NO MATTER what their standing in so called society, the individuals who hissed Gladstone while in attendance at the Imperial Institute as the guest of the Prince of Wales were guilty of downright bad breeding and cadism. The aged Premier can stand it all, however. The snobs may not like him, they may break through all decent etiquette to show that they disapprove of his democratic views. What is that to him? When he knows that he has the great mass of the populace with him he can endure such an exhibition as that witnessed at the Imperial Institute. Those who indulged in the most unseemly display should be humiliated if they have enough common sense to gauge the indecency of their conduct.

COL. O'BRIEN'S big point at last night's reception was a condemnation of the gerrymander. In London and Middlesex we know what a gerrymander is, and the unstinted condemnation of the rascally arrangement to defeat the popular will was all the more forcible because it came from a Conservative, who was ashamed of the doings of his leaders. The time will come when the breaking down of the municipal boundaries will not be tolerated, when the great Liberal majority in Middlesex will not be swamped by the pitchforking into it of townships and villages from other counties, and when the electors of this western capital will be able to vote as citizens and not as voters in rural constituencies. The London Seat Steal, too, will be condemned, as every such fraud ought to be. We have faith in the people. Electoral rights should be defended at all hazards.

AN important decision in regard to the liability of railways as carriers of stock has just been rendered by the Ontario Court of Appeal. Some time ago, Judge Falconbridge, on the findings of a jury, awarded Henry Robertson $4,900 damages against the G. T. R., as the value of the stallion Henry R., which was shipped by the G. T. R. and killed in a collision. Plaintiff signed a contract, naming a "special rate" for the carriage of the animal in consideration of the defendants not being liable for injuries other than those caused by collision and similar accidents, and limiting liability in any case to $100. The jury found that the horse was worth $5,000, and returned a verdict for the plaintiff for that amount, less $100 paid into court with the statement of defense. The present motion was made on the ground that the liability of the defendants was limited strictly to the contract; and that, at all events, the verdict as to value was grossly excessive, the plaintiff having himself placed the value of the horse at $1,500 in a customs declaration made ten days before the accident. Judgment has now been given, setting aside the verdict and dismissing the action with costs. The full court holds that the contract limiting the liability is valid and binding in law.

SMUGGLING.

The Sarnia Post, alluding to the detection by custom officials of a great deal of smuggling on the part of residents there while the river was frozen, says:

"In the first place those officers have no political preference and treat Grits and Tories alike with equal severity. The consequence is that many devout supporters of the Government, whose wives and daughters have got caught, who have in consequence been taxed more or less heavily, are pretty sore about it and are beginning to entertain heretical notions regarding the desirability of free trade. Then again, it's a poor rule that hasn't two ways of working, and if Port Huron merchants find that Sarnia people have ceased to patronize them, no matter what the reason may be, they'll very soon put the screws on Port Huron people who come over here and buy. This would be a serious loss to Sarnia merchants, for the Port Huron trade is a pretty big item with some of them, and there is far more Port Huron money spent here than there is Sarnia money spent in Port Huron. Our neighbors across the river have pretty well-filled pocketbooks and spend freely, and their purchases here are of a far more expensive and extensive nature than the comparatively trifling expenditure of Sarnia people over there. The Port Huron ladies buy silks over here and expensive dress goods, while the men invest in made-to-order suits, underclothing and goods of that kind. The goods the Yankees buy are mostly imported to Canada from the old country, and the Government gets a big thing out of it, of course, for the duty has to be paid by the importers. Sarnia people seldom buy anything in Port Huron more extensive than a new hat, a pair of boots or some photographs, so it will readily be seen who gets the best of the bargain."

Which all goes to prove the absurdity of trade restriction and the mutual benefits to be derived from freedom to trade between the two countries.

MR. M'CARTHY'S SPEECH.

The chief interest in Mr. D'Alton McCarthy's speech last night lay in the fact that it was a severe arraignment of the policy of "protection" from the point of view of a Conservative, who, under certain promises and hopes, had aided in inflicting upon the country the virus of a high tax system that has enriched a few, while proving an injury to the great majority of the people.

With Mr. McCarthy's attitude on the Manitoba school question we have no cavil. We believe in Provincial rights. Manitoba is not bound by the Confederation compact that enables the Protestants of the Catholic Province of Quebec to maintain, by their own taxes, their own system of schools, while providing that similar liberty shall be extended to the Roman Catholics of this Province. Manitoba came into the union, as the British Privy Council has decided, free to decide for itself what her school system should be. That being held by the highest court in the land, Sir John Thompson and his associates should have refrained from further attempts to keep the question open.

Mr. McCarthy wisely conceded that this question was of minor importance when compared with the great bread and butter issue involved in the fattening of a few combines at the expense of a whole people. His views, frankly uttered as a repentant Conservative, should be well pondered, even by those who may not agree with every statement that he makes on other points of public policy. It was a comparatively easy task for him to prove that "protection" had been a dismal failure in Canada, from all points except one, and that is the very point for which no legitimate defense can be formulated.

In London, as in other cities which he has visited, Mr. McCarthy took up the question from a local point of view. He ridiculed the census, and caused much laughter as he asked the audience to discover, if they could, the 804 manufacturing establishments alleged to have been found by the census commissioners in this city. This was a telling blow, emphasized as it was by the statement that the enumerators were paid a special rate for every factory chronicled. The policy of high taxation, he concluded from statistics adduced in the census, from the specimen hot-house industry of cotton manufacturing, and from the unrest in the country, has proved a great injury to the country. If he had chosen he could have shown from the census returns that so far from adding to the population of this city, there was a distinct decrease in the last census decade compared with the low tariff period between 1871 and 1881. The total population of London and suburbs now embraced in the city in 1871 was 15,826. In 1881 the population had increased to 26,266, or an addition in the ten years of 10,440. From 1881 to 1891, under the policy of high taxation which was to add so greatly to our manufacturing wealth the population increased from 26,266 to 31,977 —an addition of 5,711, or not much over one-half the increase chronicled in the revenue tariff period.

The inference is that London and 99 out of every 100 of the cities, towns and villages of Canada would have been far more prosperous to-day if the alliance of a number of the manufacturers with the Administration had never been entered into, and the class legislation had not been conceded. We decline to embrace all manufacturers among the list of beneficiaries of the tariff, for it is known to our readers that hundreds of manufacturers in London and other parts of Canada never countenanced the scheme to subsidize a few at the expense of the many. Not a few have been ruined by the change, others derive little or no benefit, while many find that if they are enabled to charge more for their goods by the enforcement of the high tariff, the purchasing power of their customers is so curtailed that they are undoubtedly losers in the long run.

Mr. McCarthy's frank arraignment of the high tax policy, cheered as it was by many men who have hitherto supported 'protection" under the delusion that in some way it aided them to make a living, is interesting to the student of public affairs. Surely it ought to be fairly met by the newspaper defenders of high taxation. The member for North Simcoe quotes the census in support of his position. He adduces facts and figures from the public records. Our city contemporary does not essay to meet these. It tries to make believe that Mr. McCarthy's attitude on this question is not sincere, that he is piqued because one wing of the Conservative party have not made enough of him. And so forth. This is hardly a courageous method of meeting the indictment which the McCarthy wing of the Conservatives has brought against the trade policy that Minister Foster and his associates in the other wing have declared must stand at all hazards.

The May Forum is an excellent number. Mgr. Satolli's mission is discussed by Bishop John H. Vincent, Dr. Leonard W. Bacon and Dr. James F. Laughlin. Charles Francis Adams discusses Mr. Cleveland's opportunities. Dr. John S. Billings notes defects in municipal sanitation in America. George Kennan declaims against the Russian extradition treaty, and Thomas F. Dennis writes about the anomalies of the private pension system.

DRESS REFORM NEEDED.

[From Wives and Daughters for May.]

Disabling and degrading are serious adjectives as applied to woman's dress, but they are richly deserved. Who that has seen a woman climbing upstairs with her baby in one arm and its bowl of bread and milk in the other, and watched her tripping on her dress at every stair—if, indeed, as Mrs. Phelps Ward suggests, baby, bowl, bread, milk and mother do not go down in universal chaos, can doubt that woman's dress is disabling? Who that on a stormy day has felt her soaked and drabbled skirt flapping from side to side because there was only one hand to hold it up, and it required three or four, has not realized that woman's dress is disabling? Who that in a tight bodice tries to tie on a veil, or button her shoe, or goes floundering along the streets like personified clumsiness after a receding car, but has not keenly felt the disabilities of dress? Yet these are mere surface inconveniences affecting personal comfort merely. The chief and crowning disability of woman's dress is the fact that it has succeeded in dwarfing normal vital womanhood into chronic invalidism. Many people actually believe that it is womanly to be weak. It is no more womanly to be weak than it is manly to be weak. They say that nature intended women to be comparatively pale and strengthless. Dr. Dio Lewis declares that "for thirty years, in meeting missionaires and travelers who have visited Asia and Africa and the American Indians, I have persistently asked about the health of women. In no instance was I told that women are in worse health than men." Hypocrisy and feminine ill health are sins that flourish only in civilized communities.

The World's Fair number of The Youth's Companion just received is in every way a magnificent issue, a worthy contribution to the Columbian year and the greatest Fair the world has ever seen. It gives a full description of the different departments of the Fair, also important directions showing how to see the Fair and what to see each day. Its illustrations are superb, no less than thirteen full pages devoted to photographic views of those unequaled buildings which make up the "White City." It has a strikingly beautiful cover lithographed in ten colors, with a frontispiece showing the Administration building, the Lagoon, its gondolas and one of its numerous bridges, and the Electrical Fountain. The whole issue has 36 pages and more than 60 illustrations, and is highly artistic. All the old subscribers to the Companion will receive it free, and any new subscribers received, with $1 75 for a year's subscription, will also obtain a copy while the edition lasts. Single numbers may be obtained by sending ten cents to The Youth's Companion, Boston, Mass., or of any newsdealer.

"August Flower"

The Hon. J. W. Fennimore is the Sheriff of Kent Co., Del., and lives at Dover, the County Seat and Capital of the State. The sheriff is a gentleman fifty-nine years of age, and this is what he says: "I have "used your August Flower for several years in my family and for my "own use, and found it does me "more good than any other remedy. "I have been troubled with what I "call Sick Headache. A pain comes "in the back part of my head first, "and then soon a general headache "until I become sick and vomit. "At times, too, I have a fullness "after eating, a pressure after eating "at the pit of the stomach, and "sourness, when food seemed to rise "up in my throat and mouth. When "I feel this coming on if I take a "little August Flower it relieves "me, and is the best remedy I have "ever taken for it. For this reason "I take it and recommend it to "others as a great remedy for Dyspepsia, &c."

Catarrh, Heart Failure, Paralysis of the Throat

"I Thank God and Hood's Sarsaparilla for Perfect Health."

"Gentlemen: For the benefit of suffering humanity I wish to state a few facts: For several years I have suffered from catarrh and heart failure, getting so bad I could not work and

Could Scarcely Walk

I had a very bad spell of paralysis of the throat some time ago. My throat seemed closed and I could not swallow. The doctors said it was caused by heart failure, and gave medicine, which I took according to directions, but it did not seem to do me any good. My wife urged me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, telling me of Mr. Joseph C. Smith, who had been but was entirely cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. After talking with Mr. Smith, I concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. When I had taken two bottles I felt very much better. I have continued taking it, and am now feeling excellent. I thank God, and

At Death's Door

and my wife for my restoration to perfect health." HARVEY HEED, Laceyville, O.

TAXATION IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

(From the Canada Farmers' Sun.)

Last year a commission was appointed by the Local Government of New Brunswick to consider the question of municipal taxation and report thereon. The commission has not yet completed its labors, but has arrived at certain conclusions, which its secretary, Mr. W. B. Chandler, sets forth in an interim report.

It is interesting to note that in several particulars the commission considers the present law of Ontario superior to that now in force in New Brunswick, and recommends that the latter be changed accordingly. The following are the changes recommended in this connection:

"1. The exemption of moneys invested in mortgages, and that only the interest received from such invested moneys be assessed as personal property.

"2. The exemption of all horses, cattle, sheep and swine owned by farmers.

"3. The total exemption of the incomes of merchants or other persons derived from capital liable to assessment.

"4. As to vessel property, that only the income derived from it be assessed.

"5. That municipal councils be given the option of imposing a 'business tax.'"

The report contains significant indications of the growing importance of the single tax movement. Two references are made to the question. In their opening paragraph the commissioners say:

"The commissioners have been favored with much information upon the so-called single tax system of assessment from persons interested in the movement in the United States and in Ontario, where the agitation in favor of this system is apparently gaining ground and is being very zealously promoted. The commission do not think that the time is ripe, at all events in this Province, for putting in practice the principles of the single tax system, but they clearly realize that the elaborate attempts made to tax all personal property as moneys invested in real or personal securities, as mortgages, bonds, notes of hand, and the like, in many acts relating to assessment in the Provinces of Canada and in the United States, have altogether failed to carry out the intentions of the framers of the several acts."

The report proceeds to express the opinion that personal property cannot, under present circumstances be altogether relieved from taxation, but adds:

"The opinion of the commission is that an attempt should be made to modify the present Assessment Act in the direction of increasing rather than lessening the amount of personal property exempted from assessment, so as to assist as much as possible the farming class in this Province, upon whom the burden of taxation is necessarily heavy, owing to the fact that few farmers have property other than that which is open to view, readily ascertained and impossible to conceal from the assessor, and to avoid as much as possible the inquisitorial features of every system of assessment which aims to tax all property of whatever nature."

In their concluding paragraph the commissioners briefly summarize matters, and they have this further remark to make:

"The commission have found the subject of assessment an ever widening and extending one. It is one which is now engaging the attention of many persons in the United States and Canada, who have given and are now giving the matter special study and attention, and even in England there is a strong movement in favor of a change in the principles of taxation now existing so as to attack the ground rent system in the city of London. The increasing number of persons advocating the single tax principle show that final results upon the question of assessment have been by no means yet attained."

Reading the details of the way in which the commissioners have been struggling with intricate and complicated details of efforts to get at the un-get-at-able—that is, to tax capital in its protean and shifting forms, and to do so with fairness—one realizes forcibly, says a writer in the Toronto Star, the overwhelming advantage of a system which sweeps away all this cumbersome mass of botheration, and reverts to the simple principle of collecting all revenue from the value which attaches to land from the mere working presence of population. "Land lies out of doors, and cannot be hidden."

The Seal Rookeries.

PARIS, May 18.—Copies of the report of Henry W. Elliott, United States Treasury agent in 1890, concerning the seal rookeries on the Pribyloff Islands have been distributed by British counsel among the members of the tribunal. Sir Charles Russell and Sir Richard Webster regard this report as of the greatest importance in support of their case.

The Bank Failures.

LONDON, May 18.—The representatives of three large Australian banks, which have survived the panic, attended the Bank of England meeting yesterday. The bank directors volunteered all necessary assistance in the way of discounting bills, etc., to help their Australian institutions through any emergency which might arise. It is hoped this offer will re-establish confidence in Australia. So far continental bourses have been little affected by the bank failures.

The Prince Also Insulted.

LONDON, May 18.—The opinion which is unanimously expressed in London is that the demonstration against Mr. Gladstone at the British Institute yesterday, was not only a disgraceful exhibition of partisanship but also a direct insult to the Prince of Wales, with whom the Prime Minister had just dined at the Institute in company with the visitors from India. It is said Mr. Gladstone absented himself from the exercises at the opening of the institute in accordance with the advice of friends, who believed that if he appeared he would be hooted.

The German Army Bill.

BERLIN, May 17.—Dr. Baumbach, mayor of Dantzic, addressing a meeting of the electors at Berlin, declared that in a recent conversation M. Herbette, the French minister at Berlin, assured him that no treaty or agreement existed between France and Russia. The Russian Government has warned members of the Pan-Slavist committee, in view of their approaching conference, to abstain from making any speeches of a warlike character which might furnish Chancellor Caprivi with arguments in favor of the German Army Bill.

Terrible Slaughter.

PARIS, May 18.—The Siamese legation has received a dispatch concerning the fight at Kahonig. The dispatch says most of the French officers and many Annamite soldiers were killed. Only one of the natives was killed. The force hostile to the French was composed entirely of Laotians. The Siamese Government fears serious consequences from the fight. It has informed the French Government that the Laotians are a semi-savage people, long accustomed to guerilla warfare and beyond the authority of the central power.

Mr. Blake Speaks Again.

LONDON, May 18.—When the House went into committee on the Home Rule Bill last night and Hon. St. John Broderick moved an amendment to the effect that the Crown should have the power to restrain or diminish the powers granted to the Irish Parliament, Hon. Edward Blake said, in reply to Hon. T. W. Russell, that Irishmen acknowledged the right of the Imperial Government to interfere, and were quite aware that any act of theirs might be undone in the English Parliament, but he contended that the Irish party were entitled to insist that their acts should only be disallowed by the bringing in in the Imperial House of Commons of a bill disallowing the Irish enactment.

Liberal Majorities Increasing.

LONDON, May 18.—Last night Mr. Goschen attacked the Government on the ground that Mr. Fowler, president of the Local Government Board, who was the only Minister who had spoken in the discussion, had spoken at such a stage that no opportunity was given to the Opposition to reply to his utterances.

Prime Minister Gladstone repudiated the suggestion of unfairness on the part of the Government. He said that he had adhered to the rule never to propose or vote for the closure when the speech preceding the motion for closure was that of a Minister.

Several members here attempted to speak and great disorder prevailed. Angry cries and counter cries were heard in different parts of the House.

Chairman Mellor repeatedly appealed for order, but his appeals were unheard, and at length Mr. Goschen's motion was defeated by a vote of 299 to 214.

When Gen. Goldsworthy, Conservative, who was the last speaker, sat down, a dozen members of the Opposition arose to claim the floor. Before the chairman had time to recognize any of those who were anxious to speak, Dr. MacGregor, Liberal member for Invernesshire, moved the closure. The motion was carried by a vote of 281 to 220. Then followed the division on the second clause, resulting as before stated.

CLEVELAND ISOLATED.

Floods Cut Off Communication With the City Except from the West.

CLEVELAND, May 18.—Cleveland is cut off from all communication with everybody except the people on the west, owing to the floods. No trains are running on the Lake Shore east, and no one seems to know when there will be any. The Erie is badly washed out and the valley is literally submerged. The World's Fair train in the valley is in two feet of water. There are few vessels in the river, and none are leaving or arriving. The lake is a mass of turbulent waves, and the seas are higher than they have been for years.

THE FOLDING BED TRAGEDY.

How Mrs. Clough Lost Her Life at Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 18.—Monday's dispatches made brief mention of the death of Mrs. J. E. Clough, wife of a Baptist missionary, who was killed at Evanston by a folding bed which closed upon her and crushed her body. That the daughter, too, was not crushed to death was due to accident. The victim lingered in a swoon for a few hours and died.

Mrs. Clough was the wife of the Rev. J. E. Clough, who is now stationed at Ongole, in British India. At 11 o'clock on Saturday night she and her daughter, Gratia, went to their room. The mother went to bed, and Gratia was sitting on the foot of the bed, which was supported by two fragile legs. Suddenly there was a creaking sound, and then a crash. The leg had given way and fallen to the floor. Gratia leaped to her feet just in time to escape the heavy headboard, which tottered over on her helpless mother. Vainly she tried to release her. Dr. William Bradly, with whom they lived, and young Mr. Clough rushed in and extricated Mrs. Clough from the broken bed, but she lived only a few hours.

Mrs. Clough had been engaged for many years in mission work in company with her husband. Last year both returned from India. Dr. Clough returned to India last October, and left his wife here.

COUNTESS OF ABERDEEN.

She Speaks at the World's Congress of Women at Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 18.—The Countess of Aberdeen, who was introduced by Mrs. Palmer, was received with prolonged applause. The countess was in a heliotrope and black striped silk, with three skirts, edged with jet. The bodice was trimmed with jet and lace, and her small bonnet was made of violets, with velvet strings to match. She wore a small black wrap, lined with gold-colored silk. She responded to the greeting in a graceful speech as follows:

"On behalf of the women of my own country and the associations which I am here to represent, I thank you for the kind words of welcome that have been spoken here to-day by American women to those of us who have come across the seas to meet you. Your president spoke of the progress of woman's work. It seems difficult to realize, in the face of such splendid results, that its beginning was so recent. Looking back even 50 years one sees but little of it. In the woman's building at Jackson Park one sees the names and pictures of noble women who have warred in the past against cruelty and ignorance. But the conditions under which their work is presented speak of their loneliness. They worked singly, unsupported by a sense of organization, of co-operation with other women; but if they can look down on this day's gathering will they not rejoice at the great results that have sprung from the seed they sowed? It is only during the last five years that women in Great Britain have learned the value of organization. In that time they have learned the important lesson that 'in union lies strength,' and meetings of prominent women working in the interests of humanity have become a factor in our public life. I am proud to be able to add that one of the first of such meetings was held in Aberdeen. I feel that it is an enormous responsibility to stand here as the representative of other women of my country. I can only hope to be so filled with the spirit of this great gathering of women as to carry back with me the strength, the inspiration and courage that will enable us together to make advancement in the great cause of womanhood, which is in its best definition the great cause of humanity."

PREPARING FOR THE SPORT.

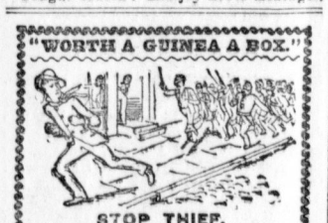

The London Gun Club's Fishing Resort Visited by the Government Inspector—Fine Fishing at Credit Forks.

A number of the members of the London Gun Club accompanied by Mr. C. Wilmott, Dominion inspector of fisheries, went to Dorchester yesterday to inspect the Gun Club's celebrated fishing pond and resort. Mr. Wilmott had been requested to visit the preserve by Secretary Trebilcock and others in order that the club might have the benefit of his wide information. No man in Canada knows more about fish and fisheries in general than does Mr. Wilmott. The water in the pond had been lowered four feet, and the club expected to capture the desirable trout in it for future use, eliminating other kinds of the finny tribe. Mr. Wilmott gave them some invaluable advice as to the best means of doing this, and no doubt the splendid stock of trout already there will be preserved. In addition it is the intention to purchase from the Credit Forks Trout Preserve 20,000 or 30,000 yearling trout to be deposited, instead of incurring the trouble and expense of building nursery ponds for trout fry, as was orignally the purpose. Those who have looked into the matter have decided that the purchase of yearlings is the most feasible and satisfactory plan. Everything at the resort is looking lovely. Mr. Wilmott complimented the club highly on its splendid preserve.

SOME GOOD CATCHES.

The magnificent new trout preserve at Credit Forks, Ont., was opened this week. A party of Toronto gentlemen, including Lieutenant-Governor Kirkpatrick, A. M. Crosby, Thomas Magaw, Col. Pope, George Gooderham and C. Wilmott, went down by special train in the morning and had a most enjoyable day's fishing, also inspecting the hatchery and nursery ponds. The following were the respective catches: The Governor-General, 17 fish weighing 10 pounds; George Gooderham, 15 fish, 9 pounds; Thomas Magaw, 27 fish, 13 pounds; Col. Pope, 41 fish, 18 pounds; A. M. Crosby, 17 fish, 12 pounds; C. Wilmott, 23 fish, 12 pounds. A number of trout were caught weighing 1½ pounds, and as the oldest were only four years old the growth is considered wonderful. It is one of the most complete and best-stocked preserves in the Province.

S. & J.

We have to hand a large stock of new parasols. We desire every lady in London to have a look at it before it goes the way of all our previous stocks. It is without an equal and is positively up to date. We have them in sizes to suit all classes and ages. Parasols for the matron, the miss and the child, and in every case the prices are in keeping with moderation. We prefer to sell our goods, not to keep them over till they become unfashionable. A few prices:

Black, silk flounced, from $1 25 up.
Colored shot silk from $1 50 up.
Colors in stripes and borders, $1 25 up.
Colors in shot silk, 65c up.

An excellent display. Everyone can come expecting to be suited. It is easy to shop when you are not obliged to go from store to store to find what you want. We have everything from a sunshade over the crown of the head to fast colored stockings under the soles of the feet. In Ladies' Umbrellas we have some beauties, with natural wood and silver mounted handles, at from $1 50 to $4.

While in all our departments the ladies like to tarry, just now the Millinery and Cloak Departments are receiving a little extra patronage. The choice line of Jackets and Capes from Germany is the attraction in one, and our bewitching display of beautiful trimmings, etc., etc., invites to the other.

SMALLMAN & INGRAM,

147 & 149 Dundas St.

The African Choir To-Night.

The performance this evening by this unique organization promises to be exceptionally fine. The programme embraces some excellent things, and where all the numbers are so interesting it seems invidious to make any distinction, but "Molo-ke-da" will undoubtedly be appreciated by all. The natives of South Africa, when traveling in parties, have a singular habit of singing and keeping time to the melody with their feet. Standing upon a hill one can hear their peculiar chant when the band is miles away. "Molo-ke-da" is a representation of the effect produced by the gradual approach and disappearance of one of these parties. Perfect stillness is necessary during the singing of this piece. No. 12 on the programme, "Kaffir Wedding Song," will also be appreciated, especially by the fairer sex. The song is purely native, and the harmonies have not been in any way Europeanized; it is sung at the wedding feast by the friends of the bridegroom. The bride, whose sobs can be heard amid the general rejoicing, is finally led away by two of the guests to her husband's mgwelo, which awaits her. At some of the marriages the festivities are kept up days and nights without cessation. The choir will also give (by special request) "The Lord's Prayer." This is the number that so deeply affected her Majesty the Queen. The Rev. H. R. Haweis, author of "Music and Morals," was also profoundly moved with this number, and said: "With hands clasped and eyes upturned in reverence, I heard the Lord's Prayer chanted in slow, measured, four-part harmony, with a pathos and awe which was inspiring, and which might well teach our congregations a lesson." Apart from the performance itself, it is almost worth the price of admission to see the choir in their native costume. The effect produced is strikingly realistic, and one could almost imagine themselves in the heart of Central Africa were it not for the marked evidences of civilization on every hand. There are some good seats left for to-night's performance, and those who can possibly attend should not fail to do so. The prices are moderate and within the means of everybody. b

A STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION

(Toronto Star.)

The Assessment Amendment Bill of Mr. Waters, which is now before the Ontario Legislature, is a step in the right direction. True, it is not a very big step, but reforms have usually to advance by small steps, one at a time.

Briefly Mr. Waters proposes to abolish the taxation of capital which is now taxed in the shape of personal property, and for it to substitute the taxation of the income which may be derived from such capital. His bill does this in a very clear and definate way, by altering the definition of personal property so that it shall not include capital in any shape. Under the Assessment Act the same number of mills on the dollar must be levied all around; so that levying the rate on the yearly income instead of on the bulk capital would result in a substantial lessening of taxation on capital employed in productive industry—which includes productive exchange—but not "swopping lots," by the way.

The benefits of Mr. Waters' proposition are therefore these:

1. It relieves industry from burdens to some extent.

2. To that extent it puts a little more burden on land monopoly.

3. It is a step in the direction of relieving both capital and labor from taxation.

And lastly, Mr. Waters' bill has the great merit of being vigorously opposed by land monopolists. Witness the proceedings in the Board of Trade, and a letter in one of the morning papers by a noted real estate operator denouncing the bill. That is a sure sign that Mr. Waters is on the right track.

Lord Palmerston's Plain Answer.

Lord Palmerston, when confronted with an annoying questioner, as statesmen so very often are, used to answer him with a joke or chaff him for wanting to know too much. There was a butcher who, whenever the Prime Minister appeared at the hustings, used to "heckle" him with questions. His Lordship had an off-hand manner which took with the crowd, and he would turn the laugh against the butcher. One day, when Palmerston had treated him in his usual style, the butcher said to the crowd:

"You can never get a direct answer out of that man. He always wriggles out with a joke or some dodge."

"Not so bad as that," answered Lord Palmerston, with good nature. "I'll promise you a direct answer to any question you may now put to me."

Immediately the butcher asked: "If such and such a thing is proposed in Parliament, what will you do?"

"Is that your question?"

"Yes."

"And you want a direct answer?"

"Yes."

"Well, I promised you one; you shall have it. I won't tell you."

"There," said the butcher, turning to the crowd, "I told you he'd get out of it somehow. And you see he has."

The steamer Majestic, which sailed from New York on Wednesday, carried $1,500,000 gold. The Augusta Victoria will take $1,000,000.

SCINTILLATIONS.

—Custom houses are called "squeeze stations" in China.

—Our Saviour was a workingman; so, brothers, are we too; true worth lies not in place or rank, but in faithful heart and true.

—"Those who have been flying speculative kites" is the way in which the Pittsburg Dispatch refers to the cordage combine magnates.

—In England there is 1 murder for every 178,000 persons; in Holland, 1 for every 163,000; in Prussia, 1 for every 100,000; in Austria, 1 for every 77,000; in Spain, 1 for every 4,113; in Naples, 1 for every 2,750; in the Roman States, 1 for every 750.

—It cost about $10,000 to give the linear decendant of that old pirate, C. Columbus, the eight or ten meals he had while in New York. If the duke is no better fixed than the bulk of the Spanish dons he would have preferred the $10,000 in American silver cart-wheel dollars.

—The Montreal City Council has made a change in the present system of assessment; a small step, yet a necessary one, before any single tax principle can be introduced; that is the separation of land and house values for city assessment. They already know the difficulties in the way of collecting personalty and income tax, and have abolished those taxes. The Single Tax Club of Montreal is comparatively an infant yet, but it has done some successful work already.

—Instead of continuing year after year to live upon the same plane, we can all choose from time to time a little more elevated ground. Without any very severe self-denial, every one who cares at all for his own improvement can select a little finer music, a little more intelligent conversation, a little more of what is pure and noble and elevating in all his pleasures than he has had before. Enjoyment will be heightened, not lessened, by such exercise, and the education thus received will steadily advance him in all that makes life worth living.

Of 1,000 deaths in Europe 16 are by violence; in the United States 41.

—Mr. Fred Robinson, auditor for the Cleveland syndicate, left this afternoon for that city, but expects to return in a few days. He says he is not taking any of the funds this time.

—John Powers, of London township, was charged to-day by Alfred Cumming with allowing a nuisance to exist on his farm. The case will be given a hearing by Squire Lacey on the coming Saturday at 11 o'clock.

—The Eureka Baseball Club are open for challenges from city clubs whose members are under 20 years of age. They would like to tackle something on May 24. Address challenges to F. J. Jeffrey, Clarence House, city.

—High School Inspector Seath will conduct the examination for the School of Pedagogy, which will commence here on Monday, June 5. A portion of the Collegiate Institute will be placed at his disposal on that occasion.

—Harold C. Wellsman appeared before Judge Davis this morning on a charge of fraud. He pleaded guilty. The judge refused to accept the plea, holding that, under present conditions the charge could not rightly be preferred. The case was laid over.

—The facts in connection with the death of Thomas Ford, of St. Thomas, are that the deceased was drowned in a ditch in which he fell, and not, as was thought, from injuries received by a stallion stepping upon him near Lambeth. Deceased was 62 years of age, and had a wife and two children in Toronto.

—The prominent Christian Endeavorers here have received word that Rev. Dr. Clarke, the father of the association, will sail from Liverpool for New York on June 17, and will positively be present at the Montreal convention. Dr. Clarke's experience in Turkey has been an exciting one. His literature and all his books were taken from him. He was warned against using the name "society" or "organization" in any of his addresses, and his work was hampered in more ways than one.

Another Deputation.

Mayor Essery went to Toronto yesterday afternoon to support the Bell Telephone Company's legislation for exclusive franchise and to oppose the proposed change in the method of compiling the city voters' list. Ald. Moule is therefore acting mayor. A number of the aldermen are already in Toronto for the same purpose.

Rev. Joseph Philp Home.

Rev. Joseph Philp arrived home tired and travel-stained at an early hour this morning. He was met at the station by a party of friends. The popular pastor of the Centennial is much improved in health by reason of his trip. The Ladies' Aid of the church purpose holding a welcome home teameeting on Friday night, at which they promise a good programme.

K. of P. "At Home."

London Lodge, No. 33, Knights of Pythias, held an "At Home" in their rooms, Castle Hall, London South, last night. There was a good crowd, a free and easy programme and refreshments, and a most enjoyable and pleasant time was spent. The chair was occupied by Wm. S. Partridge, chancellor commander. The following gentlemen took part in the programme: Messrs. Burrell, Jos. Graham, Bert Widden, Johnston, Thompson, Edy and Bartlew. Mr. Sam Southcott accompanied.

Police Court Notes.

Alexander Harvey, a contractor, was charged by City Engineer Graydon this morning with rendering a certain portion of the sidewalk on Queen street impassable and dangerous for pedestrians. Mr. Harvey maintained that he had not perpetrated the aggravation complained of, and was not, therefore, liable for any blame. The magistrate adjourned the case for a week, asking Mr. Graydon in the meantime to have the walk repaired. If the contractor then interferes action could be taken.

Jeremiah Macdonald was arraigned for a breach of the liquor license law. He was fined $60.

Another Runaway Accident.

Chapman's butcher wagon came to grief in South London this morning. The horse attached to it ran away on the Wortley road, and on turning York street the driver, a lad named Archie McKerricher, was thrown out and severely injured. He received several cuts and contusions on the head, and his leg is broken. Dr. Ferguson was sent for and a conveyance procured, and the boy was removed to his home on King street east, near Lyle. The wagon traveled a considerable distance on its side and was not improved in appearance thereby. The horse escaped unhurt.

Canadian Ladies at Chicago.

A number of Canadian ladies are taking a prominent part in the World's Congress for Women now being held in Chicago. Among these is Mrs. Elizabeth M. Tilley, of this city, who represents the Canadian division of the King's Daughters. During one of the discussions she stated that, though introduced as a foreigner, she felt like a member of the same family as her sisters in the States. They were in fact—occupying the same soil—all one people. There was only an imaginary line separating the Canadian and American women. She hoped to see a material change in this respect shortly. Mrs. John Harvie, of Toronto, too, addressed the convention. She said that there were no obstacles between America and Canada except the custom houses. The ancestry and aspirations of each people were similar, and they were following the same destiny under the direction of intelligent womanhood.

The Wage-Earners' Bill.

The most important provision in the Wage-Earners' Bill which has, in part, passed the Legislature of Ontario, is as follows: "3—(1) Before a contractor for a work in a city shall be entitled to receive a payment on his contract, it shall be his duty to produce to and leave with the owner an affidavit or statutory declaration by the contractor (or by his agent competent from personal knowledge to speak to the facts), that all persons employed on the work and entitled to wages, have been paid in full up to and inclusive of fourteen days prior to such payment by the owner to the contractor; and an affidavit or statutory declaration to the same effect by the architect or superintendent of the work (if any), unless he has made the like affidavit or statutory declaration under the provisions aforesaid as an agent." The bill is introduced by Sir Oliver Mowat.

City Pulpit Exchange.

The following pulpit exchange has been arranged by the Ministerial Association of the city for next Sabbath, May 21, except where otherwise mentioned, to take place at the morning service. In several churches, owing to existing circumstances, it was impossible to arrange an exchange on that date, but as far as possible the exchange has been made general, and is a pleasant indication of the good fellowship existing between the various churches:

Baptist Churches—Talbot Street, 7 p.m., R. Aylward, B.A.; Adelaide Street, J. C. Antliff, M.A., D.D.; South London, J. Ballantyne, B.A.

Christian Church—Elizabeth Street, S. Marshall, B.A.

Congregational Churches—First Congregational, 7 p.m., Ira Smith; Southern Congregational, T. L. Fowler, M.A.

Methodist Churches—Queen's Avenue, W. J. Clark; Dundas Center, D. M. Mihell, M.A.; Wellington Street, W. M. Walker, B.A.; Colborne Street, 7 p.m., J. A. Murray; King Street, Thomas Crews; Askin Street (South London), W. H. Claris; London West, M. P. Talling, B.A.

Presbyterian Churches—St. Andrew's, 7 p.m., Chas. Smith; St. James', W. Godwin; South London, C. E. McIntyre; First Presbyterian, W. Rigsby.

Sarnia Sunbeams.

The remains of Charles Whitworth, who was killed at the Hotel Vincent, in Saginaw, were brought here and interred in Lake View Cemetery.

Mr. Wm. Horsburg was presented with a gold watch prior to his leaving to reside in Cleveland, Ohio, by Crawdor Camp, Sons of Scotland.

Rev. Mr. Baldwin, of Wyoming, will preach home mission sermons in the Baptist Church here next Sunday, 21st inst.

The Dominion Express Company's barn, situated back of the Observer office, was destroyed by fire recently, and the horse used for delivering the goods was also burned. The fire is supposed to be of incendiary origin.

Rev. A. H. Ross, Congregational minister of Port Huron, who is well and favorably known to citizens of Sarnia, having frequently preached in the Congregational Church here, died on Sunday morning last at his residence in Port Huron. He was in good health on the Sunday previous, attending to the services of the sanctury as usual. His many friends in this part of the country will be sorry to hear of his sudden death.

The steamer Monarch, which was to have left on Tuesday evening for Duluth, was detained on account of the storm on the lakes. The company also received a telegram stating that the ice was still solid in North Lake Superior.

The excitement has subsided somewhat that was caused by the customs detectives, who have been bringing to time quite a number of our citizens for smuggling goods across the river last winter, when the ice bridge was formed. Some of our Tory fellow citizens are not as firm believers in protection now as they were some time ago. The detectives are supposed to have left town, and we hope they may never return on a similar errand.

Mr. Dyble, boat builder, successfully launched the new steam tug for Messrs. McKeon & Glover, of Owen Sound, last Saturday afternoon. Capt. Jas. Anderson, of this town, will be in command, and she will be engaged in the timber trade from Spanish River to Owen Sound.

The different societies from this town are selecting plots in Bay View Park, and are having them beautifully laid out in flower beds, with the initials of their orders imbedded therein.

Mr. John McKay, of the Observer staff, is having a handsome residence erected in the south ward, near the tunnel, and expects to occupy it about July 1.

The Native African Choir will discourse sweet music in Victoria Hall, here, on the evening of May 23. They are highly spoken of by the press, and will no doubt have a large audience to hear them.

The work on the street railway company's new building on Front street is well advanced. It is a handsome structure and will be a credit to the builders.

WARNING TO MISSIONARIES.

Possible Dangers to Them in Consequence of the Chinese Exclusion Act.

NEW YORK, May 18.—The Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions has advised all Chinese missionaires as follows: "Exclusion Act constitutional; notify stations." This step was taken in view of possible dangers which might threaten American missionaries now in China, in consequence of any action which might be taken by the Chinese. The Methodist Foreign Missionary Service decided to make a final appeal to the President and Cabinet, against the immediate enforcement of the law, and asks that through diplomatic action such agreement be made between the two countries as will secure peace and harmony.

ERIE INUNDATED,

Over a Million Dollars Worth of Damage—People Homeless.

ERIE, Pa., May 18.—Erie the last two days has had six and fourteen hundredths inches of rain, and the city has suffered the greatest destruction in its history. One million dollars would not restore the streets, bridges, thoroughfares, manufacturing plants, homes, gardens and grounds which have fallen under the flood within the last 48 hours. Twelve houses were swept entirely away and 100 families were rendered homeless. After midnight Tuesday Mill Creek rose so high as to inundate one of the most aristocratic sections of the city, and the residents were taken out in row boats.

THE BILL PASSES,

And London's Franchise to the Bell Telephone Company Holds Good.

Mr. Balfour Opposes It in Committee—Mayor Essery Heard From—Ratepayers Must Vote on Future Propsals.

TORONTO, May 18.—There was a large audience in the municipal committee room this morning when Mr. Garrow's bill to permit municipalities to give telephone companies exclusive powers for ten years came up. Deputations from sixteen municipalities were present to speak in favor of the bill. I. F. Hellmuth, of London, represented the Automatic Telephone Company, the Bell Company's rivals.

Mayor Essery headed the deputation to advocate the bill. D. J. O'Donoghue, member of the Toronto Trades and Labor Council, also opposed the bill.

Mr. Meredith explained the provisions of the bill, and contended it was not sought to in any way bonus companies. Mr. O'Donoghue, on behalf of the Trades and Labor Council, Toronto, objected, although not stating any reasons why it should be defeated. Mr. Meredith replied that he could not see why labor men should object to the principles of the bill. They were not large users of telephones, and the percentages paid by companies would help to reduce the general tax rate.

Mr. Balfour was strongly against the bill. He started an uproar by claiming that the civic delegates were present to represent the Bell Telephone Company and not the municipalities.

Up sprang Mayor Essery. "I deny that," he shouted, "I am here to represent the city of London at the city's expense and in the city's interest," said he.

Mr. Balfour contended it would be unfair to bind the whole country because of the wishes of a few individuals. On account of competition the price of telephones in London had been reduced to $15. By the terms of the bill at the end of five years the Bell company would have the whole monopoly. No matter whether the bill passed the committee, he would work against it in the House.

Mr. Conmee related his experience in trying to get telephone service for Port Arthur, where competition had resulted in free telephones for three years. He suggested in amendment that any municipal council might contract with any company for not more than five years if the assent of the majority of the electors entitled to vote on money bylaws had been obtained.

Mr. Wood, of Hastings, objected to the bill, and Mr. Clarke, ex-mayor of Toronto, told how that city had made a five-year contract with the Bell people, which had given entire satisfaction, as well as yielding the city about $30,000 a year in percentages. There had never been any objection to the workings of the system.

The bill passed the committee by 25 to 12. By a vote of 26 to 11 all agreements heretofore made by councils for not more than ten years were made binding.

Will Talmage Resign?

NEW YORK, May 18.—Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage reiterated his statement this morning that he would resign as pastor of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, Sunday next, unless the indebtedness on the edifice was cleared off by that time. He referred to the floating debt which amounts to about $100,000. He says he is tired and worried over the inability to meet this indebtedness. He thinks there are others who would be more successful in raising money than he has been.

1675—James Marquette, missionary and explorer, died near Marquette river, Michigan; born in France 1637.

1703—Charles Parrault, French miscellaneous writer, died; born 1628.

1788—A remarkable fete and drama called "The Mischianza" was given in Philadelphia by British officers and Tory ladies; as Major John Andre, who organized it, was hanged, it was never repeated.

1804—Napoleon Bonaparte was declared emperor of France; on Dec. 2 following he and Josephine were crowned by Pope Pius VII.

1850—James King, editor of the San Francisco Evening Bulletin, was shot dead by James Casey of The Sunday Times, which caused the famous vigilance committee.

1864—Nathaniel Hawthorne, author, died in Plymouth, N. H.; born 1804.

1870—International yacht race; the Sappho, American, beat the English Cambria.

1875—5,000 lives lost by earthquake in Columbia, South America.

LOCAL PATRIOTISM APPEALED TO.

(Vancouver, B. C., World.)

Hon. David Mills, "the sage of Bothwell," has a pretty level head; political friend and foe alike will agree to that. He shows it when he says: "Each year every local paper gives from $500 to $5,000 in free lines for the benefit of the community. No other agency can or will do this. The editor, in proportion to his means, does more for his town than any other ten men, and, in all fairness, man with man, he ought to be supported, because a local paper is the best investment a community can make. It may not be crowded with facts, but financially it is more of a benefit than both a preacher and a teacher. Editors do more work for less pay than any other men on earth."

Found a Miser's Hoard.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 18.—A box containing $10,000 was unearthed at Des Ark, Ark., yesterday by Dr. Geo. E. Petty under the house of Stiles P. Cattlin, an eccentric and miserly old bachelor, who died ten years ago. The house was bought by Petty.

The American Tariff.

NEW YORK, May 18.—A Washington dispatch to the Sun says: "Representative Wilson, of West Virginia, assisted by an able corps of experts and amateurs, is said to be at work on a tariff bill which is expected to be ready for presentation when Congress meets. It is reported this bill will be nearer to the line of the Chicago platform than any other bill now in preparation.

His Repentance.

Dr. Davenal essayed to open the pantry door, but found it fastened. He shook it, knocked at it not ever gently. Neal, too great a diplomat to be taken at a loss, flung off his coat, waistcoat and slippers, threw back his braces, rumpled his hair, and opened the door to his master with the air of a man just aroused from bed.

"Why do you sleep with your door locked Neal?" and the question was asked in an imperative tone.

"I—it is but very rare that I do, sir. I must have shot the bolt last night without thinking of it."

"I won't have it done. Nobody shall sleep in my house with a locked door. It is a dangerous habit. Were a fire to take place, and the sleeper a heavy one, he might not be aroused in time. Don't do it again, Neal," he continued, changing his tone, "I am summoned away farther than usual. I don't care to disturb Miss Davenal—you can tell them to-morrow morning. I shall not be home all day."

"Have you got to go far, sir?" inquired Neal.

"Yes. I don't expect to be home all day, I tell you, and that's why I bid you inform them. Nobody is to sit up for me to-morrow night: I may be detained longer. Tell Miss Davenal so."

"Very well, sir," replied Neal. "Is the carriage ready for you?"

Neal put this cunningly. He felt sure his master was not going in the carriage.

"I don't require the carriage That's all, Neal; you can go to bed again. I was obliged to disturb you."

Dr. Davenal turned, walked straight to the front door, and let himself out at it, closing it securely after him. Neal waited a moment, re-arranged his attire a little, and then stepped to the front door and drew the heavy bolt across it. No danger now of his master's coming in with his latch-key to pounce upon him.

Neal got a light, went into the study and took a leisurely survey. He was scarcely rewarded. There was nothing whatever lying about, more than on other mornings; no signs remained of the stranger's visit, not a trace that could betray any disturbance on the part of Dr. Davenal. The sherry and biscuits were put up; Neal walked across the dining-room and found them in the sideboard, just as he had left them on the previous night. The glass used stood on it. Neal solaced himself with some of the sherry and went back to the study.

The old cloth was undisturbed on the table, the blotting-book and ink-stand lying on it. Neal looked through the book, but received no satisfaction. He examined the pens, and saw that in one the ink was not yet dry. In the bed-room the clothes which his master had taken off lay about: Mr. Neal en passant visited the pockets and found them empty; and the bed was pressed on the outside, but had not been slept in. That curious visit in the night might have been a dream, for all there was left to tell of it.

"But there's that note yet," thought Neal. "What did he take it upstairs for, and where did he leave it?"

Stealing upstairs in his stockinged feet and shading the light with his hand, Neal came to the vestibule, and looked on the table. He looked on the stand, which held a beautiful statue in marble, he looked up even at the frames of the pictures; he looked everywhere. But there was no letter.

"I'm positive he did not stop long enough to open a door!" ejaculated Neal, rather nonplussed.

A bright thought struck him. He bent down, still shading the light with his hand, and peered under Miss Sara Davenal's door. And then came Neal's reward. He saw the corner of something white close to him, not pushed entirely beyond the door. Dr. Davenal, not to disturb his daughter, had left his letter for her in that way.

Neal took out his pen-knife, and with its help succeeded, by dint of perseverance and ingenuity, in drawing back the note. He stole down stairs with it, and into his own chamber. A little more ingenuity with the pen-knife, and the envelope, not yet fully dry, came open. Neal had obtained an insight into some secrets in his life, but never one so weighty as this, never one that touched on that ugly word "murder," which was running through Neal's mind; and his usually impassive face became streaked with the scarlet of excitement:

"My dear child—Business connected with this most unhappy secret obliges me to go away for a day, perhaps two. I shall leave a message with Neal. You need not appear to know anything when he delivers it. Don't talk of my absence to anyone if you can help it.

R. D."

There was not so very much to be made out of that, and the scarlet streaks faded again from Neal's disappointed face. "This most unhappy secret," he repeated over twice, as if the words bore some euphonious sound. Whatever might be the secret, it was evident that Miss Sara Davenal had been made cognizant of it; and Neal rather rejoiced in the pill it must be for her, for he liked his young mistress not one whit better than he liked his master. He read the note again, refastened it in the envelope, stole up-stairs to push it under the door, and then retired to his bed.

Meanwhile, Dr. Davenal was walking along the streets of the town, lying calm and still in the moonlight. Not with any hurried tread; rather with a slow one. In his restlessness of mind, he had come out sooner than he need have come; but bodily action is a relief to mental anguish.

"Good-night, doctor! Or rather morning—for that's what it is."

The salutation came from one of the general practitioners of the town, a hard-working apothecary, whose business took him abroad a good deal at night. He was hastening up a side street, near the town-hall, and Dr. Davenal had not observed him.

"Ah, is it you, Smithson! A fine night, is it not?"

"All nights are pretty near the same to me," returned Mr. Smithson. "I see too much of them. I wish folks would be so accommodating as to choose the day time to be ill in. It's not often we see you abroad at night, though, doctor!"

"Not often. We can't help it sometimes, you know. Good-night.

They were bound different ways. The doctor had only walked a few yards, when Mr. Smithson came running back.

"Dr. Davenal, what is the truth about Lady Oswald? I hear she's dead."

"She is—unhappily."

"And the report going about is, that she died from the effects of chloroform! Could not rally after inhaling it."

"Ah, it's a sad thing," replied the doctor; "a grievous thing. There's the dark side in these new discoveries of our practice: sacrificing the few while blessing the many. Good-night, I say. I can't stop."

"It's true, then, that it was the chloroform?"

"Yes, it's true."

Dr. Davenal increased his pace; he was in no mood for questioning, and this in particular was painful to him. A short while, and he stood before the abbey, looking up at its windows. He was sorry to disturb Mark, but he deemed it was necessary, and he rang the night bell.

A new bell which Mark Cray had caused to be placed in the house since he took it, and which rang himself up, not his household. Dr. Davenal waited, but the ring was unanswered, and he rang again, with the like result.

A third summons brought Mark to the window, half asleep still. "If that's the way you are going to let your night applicants ring, Mark Cray, almost as good not put up the bell."

Mark Cray could scarcely believe his eyes when he saw who was the speaker. "I was in a heavy sleep," he answered. "Did you ring more than once?"

A heavy sleep! Truly Dr. Davenal marvelled that sleep could have visited Mark Cray that night, after his share in its fatal work.

"What is the matter?" inquired Mark. "Am I wanted."

"It is I who wants you," said the doctor, "I'll say a word to you if you'll come down. I am called out of town."

Mark attired himself sufficiently to go down, which he did in a state of wonder. He had never received a night visit from Dr. Davenal; it was quite out of the usual order of things, and he would about as soon have expected to find a live kangaroo waiting upon him. He opened the front door and they stepped into the large parlor.

Skewered and Cured.

"First I was skewered and then I was cured," says Jones, and he laughs heartily over his little joke. Well, let him laugh. Let laugh who wins. He was skewered through and through by dyspepsia and its attendant train of ills. He was cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Do you feel dull, languid, low spirited; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in the mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, nervous prostration or exhaustion, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant and indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

These are symptoms of bilious dyspepsia, or torpid liver, associated with dyspepsia or indigestion. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue the cause, if taken according to directions, for a reasonable length of time, or money paid for it will be cheerfully refunded.

THE TRAVELING DAIRY.

Well-Attended Meetings in Lambton County—Instructive Addresses and Interesting Tests.

SARNIA, May 16.—The last season's work of the Traveling Dairy had met with such favor in the localities visited, and its work had also been so favorably commented on during the winter, that the ridings that were not visited last year were very anxious to become acquainted with the work of the deputation this season. The western deputation, managed by Mr. F. B. Linfield, B.S.A., with Mr. James Hume as butter-maker, left Guelph on the morning of April 29, and after a drive for three days and a half, over very heavy roads, reached the first place of meeting, Sombra, on the River St. Clair, in Lambton county, Mr. Howell, the secretary of the Farmers' Institute, was there to meet the deputation, and has since very kindly devoted his whole time to the work, being present at all the meetings so far, and aiding the deputation in every way possible. Mr. Linfield reports that there are quite a few more meetings given to each riding this year than last. The meetings being closer together, many are afforded an opportunity to come who could not otherwise have attended. Meetings have been held at Sombra on May 3; Thornyhurst, 4th; Charlemont, 5th; Wilkesport, 8th; Brigden, 9th; Courtright, 10th; Corunna, 11th; Bulman's school house, 12th; Collis' Corners, 15th, and at Providence to-day. All these meetings have been well attended, including many ladies, from 60 to 75 being present at each. Much interest has been shown in the work. Mr. Linfield, in his addresses, and Mr. Hume, in handling the churn, showed that they are practical men who thoroughly understand their business.

A few samples of whole milk, buttermilk, and skim milk have been brought in to be tested; and quite a few practical facts deduced from the results. As an illustration of the wisdom of understanding something of herds of cows, and becoming acquainted with each individual, the following test of five cows gives food for thought: No. 1, tested 5 per cent. fat; No. 2, 3.2 per cent.; No. 3, 3.3 per cent.; No. 4, 2.5 per cent., and No. 5, 2.6 per cent. No. 1 and No. 4 each gave the same quantity of milk, and yet No. 1 would give double the quantity of butter in a given time. The folly of adding fresh cream to cream about to be churned was also illustrated at one of the meetings, when the buttermilk tested 2.6 per cent. fat. Mr. Linfield pressed this point home by saying that all the cream for a churning should be in one vessel 24 hours before it was churned to enable it to become of uniform quality, and under no circumstances should fresh cream be added if loss was to be avoided. Such has been the experience obtained from every test that has been made of buttermilk from cream so treated.

Other meetings are to be held in this riding, namely: Orange Hill, 18th; Oil City, 19th; Bell's school house, 22nd; McKimmon's school house, 23rd; and Dann Center, on the 24th. The deputation will then visit East Lambton.

Sir William Leng Has a Story to Relate of a Polite Stranger.

NEW YORK, May 17.—Sir William Leng, of the Sheffield Telegraph, one of a large party of English newspaper men who attended the opening of the Chicago Fair, has returned to the Fifth Avenue Hotel with this experience:

"I was standing in the lobby of the Auditorium Hotel, you know," said he, "when a very polite gentleman, noticing some dust on my coat, volunteered to remove it with his handkerchief. I thanked him for his kindness, and he said in a careless sort of way, 'Don't mention it.' But I did mention it, you know, and the gentleman to whom I mentioned it said:

"'You had a diamond scarf pin, Sir William?'

"Yes," I said.

"'Where is it now,'" he inquired.

"Yes, where was it?" I suppose that very gentlemanly man wanted it for a souvenir. There seemed to be a rage for souvenirs in Chicago."

A Traveling Doll.

OTTAWA, May 17.—There came to Ottawa postoffice on Monday, on the train from the Pacific coast, a rubber doll covered with tags, stamps and labels. It has been traveling since last October, when it started from Winchester, Mass., with a tag bearing the words: "The climate of New England is too severe for the child. Please pass her to the Pacific coast for the winter." Among the tags which the doll carried east from Ottawa was a card of admission to the visitors' gallery in the House of Commons.

At Death's Door.—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph. GENTLEMEN,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live, when I commenced the use of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 pounds. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over 30 dozen VEGETABLE DISCOVERY since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life, as I never expected to recover when I first commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for Dyspepsia. JEAN VALCOURT, (Signed.) General Merchant.

IN HONOLULU

Matters Mostly in Statu Quo—Suspicion Aroused Regarding Great Britain's Designs.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 17.—Honolulu advices to May 10 state that everything was quiet and both sides were confident.

Two items of general discussion are the passage of what the Royalists call the "press gag law" and the law prohibiting the possession of firearms and ammunition.

The announced establishing of the Canadian Pacific new Australian line is considered very significant. The new line is thought to be more than a mere feeder to the Canadian Pacific, and those who claim to know say that the establishment of the steamer service is in line with Great Britain's policy to construct a traveling belt around the world, and that in case annexation is refused by the United States England can with good grace step in and take possession as necessary to the protection of her interests here.

Another view of the case is that the new company is in the field permanently as a competitor of the Oceanic Steamship Company, and intends to make a bid for the mail subsidy now paid the latter company by the New Zealand Government.

The Sunken Steamer Wandrahm.

QUEBEC, May 17.—The steamship Wandrahm is still lying in a critical position on Apple Island. The passengers and baggage were landed at the Grand Trunk Railway wharf to-day. The poor Germans have had a rough time of it since Friday last, and some of them are unwell as a result of the exposure they had to endure. The agents expect that the vessel will yet be floated.

FAIR—WARMER.

TORONTO, May 17—11 p.m.—The storm center has moved very slowly from Lake Ontario to the Upper St. Lawrence Valley. Showery weather has been pretty general in the lower lake region, but with a tendency to clearing. In the Maritime Provinces and Gulf moderate southeast and east gales with rain have prevailed. There is now a deep depression over the Northwest Territories, with very warm weather. Minimum and maximum temperatures: Equimalt, 48°—56°; Medicine Hat, 50°—84°; Swift Current, 52°—84°; Qu'Appelle, 50°—78°; Winnipeg, 42°—74°; Toronto, 47—53°; Kingston, 50°—54°; Quebec, 42°—50°; Halifax, 40°—44°.

TO-DAY'S PROBABILITIES.

TORONTO, May 18—1 a. m.—Probabilities for the next 24 hours for the lower lakes region (covering the peninsula and as far east as Belleville) are: North to west winds; fresh to strong during the day; fair weather, stationery or higher temperature.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—Miss Mary Dunn, Clarence street, left this morning on a visit to her brother in Chicago.

—A party of London anglers have come to their preserve north of Stratford.—[Stratford Beacon.

—Miss Williamson, "Idylwyld," Guelph, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs G. A. McGillivray, city.

—The many friends of the family will regret to hear that Mr. W. Y. Brunton lies dangerously ill in this city.

—The Masonic Grand Lodge will meet in the Opera House, Ottawa, in July. Grand Master the Hon. J. M. Gibson, will be re-elected.

—Hon. M. Aylmer, brigade major of military district No. 1, is in the city examining the arms and accoutrements of the Twenty-first Fusiliers.—[Windsor Record.

—A new G. T. R. time-table goes into effect on Sunday, May 28, instead of next Sunday as at first intended. The changes are quite numerous and include many improvements.

—The basket of flowers presented to D'Alton McCarthy at the Opera House last evening was expressed to Mrs. McCarthy at Toronto by Mr. John Dilloway, florist, this morning.

—An Uncle Tom's Cabin company was obliged to close in the northern part of the Province because Little Eva attached the box office, needing money to provide clothes for her eldest son.

—Ald. J. W. Jones, auctioneer, disposed of the stock of F. W. Long & Co., St. Marys, yesterday, to F. D. Ramsey, Chesley, at 59½ cents. The stock was valued at $18,000.

—The Ladies' Aid, of the First Lobo Baptist Church, intend holding an entertainment in Mr. Alex Graham's woods, near the church, in the afternoon of May 24. Tea served at 5 o'clock.

—A Windsor correspondent writes: "Miss Scott, of London, was knocked down and badly bruised by a team of horses in Detroit yesterday afternoon. J. H. Richardson rescued her from serious injury.

—Farmer Long, of Elgin county, to-day succeeded in getting his long-fought-for judgment against the Cleveland and Port Stanley Railway Company for $300, and so all danger of the railway being wound up has vanished.—[Toronto Telegram, May 16.

—The death is announced of Mr. David Bailey at his late residence, con. 1, West Nissouri. Deceased succumbed to a second paralytic stroke. He was born on the farm where he died, and had resided there continuously for over half a century. His father was a native of Ulster. A family of three daughters and two sons, with the widow, survive. Mrs. George Taylor, Bruce street, is a niece of deceased.

Laid at Rest.

The funeral of Wm. J. Hill, of Wyoming, who died in the London Hospital recently, and the facts in regard to whose life were published in a preceding issue of this paper, took place from the family residence the other day. The Baptist pastor, Mr. Baldwin, of which church deceased had been an active member for 50 years, assisted by Rev. Mr. Morgan, of Sarnia township, conducted the services. A large number of friends and acquaintances were in attendance.

Bicycling on the Sidewalk.

A bicycling enthusiast, belonging to the London club, writes stating that a difference of opinion exists between the city wheelmen as to the law regulating riding on the sidewalks. Magistrate Parke did not, as he seems to think, state that this could be done between the hours of 5 and 9 o'clock in the morning. During the interim of these hours hand carts can be propelled along the foot path. This clause was inserted for the convenience of newspaper authorities in conveying their publications to the postoffice. Neither bicycles nor any other vehicles can be ridden on the sidewalk at any time.

New Patents.

The following list of United States patents, granted May 16, 1893, to Canadian inventors, is expressly reported for the London ADVERTISER by James Sangster, solicitor of United States, Canadian and foreign patents, Buffalo, N. Y., U. S. A.:

Richard Smith, Sherbrooke, doctor for calendar rolls.

Philip Walsh, Prescott, car brake.

Frederick B. Wells, Montreal, wrench.

Patrick MacNamara, Brockville, medicinal pills (trade mark).

Total issue, including designs, trade marks and re-issues, 529.

Ezra Kendall at the Grand.

The well-known comedian, Ezra Kendall, who is to be at the Grand on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next in his well-known play, "A Pair of Kids," is a graduate from a country printing office, and at the age of 17 began a successful engagement of three years as reporter on the New York Herald and other metropolitan papers. This experience was a valuable preparation for his chosen profession, which he adopted at the age of 20. Two years later, as the author of the then famous comedy, "We, Us & Co.," he sprang into first place as an eccentric comedian in the character of the old horse doctor. This was followed by "A Pair of Kids," which has now had the remarkable run of eight seasons. The play is filled with funny situations, interspersed with bright musical specialties by a company of well-selected artists.

Humane Society Items.

The following facts were brought to the notice of the Humane Society at their monthly meeting, held on Tuesday, regarding the working of the London Street Railway Company, and they sincerely hope the public will show their appreciation of these changes by increased patronage.

1. On the two main lines of the system the horses are changed every trip, and on the Hamilton road every other trip. In the former case the horses will be on the road one hour and rest three, and in the latter case two hours' work and six hours' rest. The effect of this change has been very beneficial to the horses.

2. The horses are watered at the end of each route, and when taken to the stable they are given a sponge bath in warm weather and rubbed down thoroughly before going out again.

3. Special cars are run out whenever the traffic warrants, so that overcrowding of cars is avoided to the highest possible extent.

4. The following is the most important change, as it is in regard to the hours of the men: Commencing on Monday, the 8th, all the men in the employ of the Street Railway Company were put on the ten hour per day basis.

At the same meeting the secretary was instructed to send a letter of thanks and appreciation to Mr. Burdick for the humane treatment of the dogs collected by the dog catchers, which were intrusted to his care by the city authorities.

The inspector's report was also read and found very interesting. It shows that much active work is being done by the society.

Osgoode Hall Echoes.

In the case of Talbot vs. Poole—G. W. Marsh, of this city, for the plaintiff, appealed from an order of Galt, C.J., in chambers, dismissing an appeal by the plaintiff, from the taxation of certain interlocutory costs of the defendants and dismissing an appeal by the plaintiff from the taxation of the plaintiff's costs on the Division Court scale and the defendants' excess of costs. The first point raised was that counsel fees allowed to the defendants of $25 on motion to the Court of Appeal for leave to appeal and $45 upon argument of the appeal, which was upon a question of costs, were grossly excessive. The second point was that the plaintiff's traveling expenses from England should have been allowed instead of $27, which the taxing officer allowed as the supposed costs of a commission to take the plaintiff's evidence in England. The third point was that under rule 1,172 the defendants should have only the excess of his costs over Division Court costs as between solicitor and client. Middleton, for the defendants, objected that no appeal lay to this court, and also opposed the appeal on the merits. The court held (1) that they could not interfere with the discretion of the taxing officer as to counsel fees; (2) that the officer should have allowed the plaintiff's expences as a witness coming from England; and (3) that "taxable costs" in rule 1,172 does not mean between solicitor and client. Appeal allowed as to the second point and reference directed back to taxing officer to tax the expenses as mentioned. No costs to either party either here or below.

A Kind Remembrancer.

A very considerate event came off at Wilton Grove, Westminster, this afternoon. The widow of the late James Armstong, M.P., was made the recipient of a beautifully-illumined and engrossed address from the business corporation of which her esteemed husband was formerly a director. A committee of the board of the London Mutual Fire Insurance Company, comprising T. E. Robson, president, D. C. Macdonald, secretary, and D. Black, vice-president, waited upon her, and made the presentation. The address was couched in the following language:

"At a meeting of the board of directors, held at the companies office, Richmond street, city of London, Ont., Friday, 3rd March, 1893, all the members being present, the following resolution was unanimously adopted: 'That this board desires to record its deep sense of the loss we have sustained in the death of our highly esteemed colleague, the late James Armstrong, and to testify to the great ability and untiring zeal which he for so many years constantly exerted on behalf of this company. We would also express our individual sorrow for the loss of a fellow-worker whose cordial and kindly disposition, combined with his many noble qualities of head and heart, has endeared him to us. To his sorrowing widow and family we respectfully extend our heartfelt sympathy, and would reverently commend them to his keeping who has promised to be their God and Father, and to whose service was so fully devoted the life of him whom they and we mourn.'"

Cannibalism in Labrador.

QUEBEC, May 18.—Corroboration of the story of Indian cannibalism in Labrador reached here yesterday. An Indian hunter, to prevent death from starvation in the woods in midwinter, killed and ate his own daughter. Other Indians brought the news to the priest at Seven Islands. Cure Maltais has notified the coroner, who will hold an inquest if he can find any part of the remains.

The Royal Crown Remedy
Secures the harmonious action of each of the organs. It establishes throughout the entire system functional harmony, and supplies the blood vessels with a pure and healthy current of new life. The skin, after a few days' use of the Crown Remedy, becomes clear and beautiful—pimples, blotches, black spots and skin eruptions are removed, sores and ulcers soon cured. Persons suffering from Scrofula, Eruptive Diseases of the Eyes, Mouth, Ears, Legs, Throat and Glands that have accumulated and spread, either from uncured diseases or mercury, or from the use of corrosive sublimate, may rely on a cure if the Royal Crown Remedy is continued a sufficient time to make its impression on the system. yw
