Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Make the Weak Strong.

EXORCIATING PAINS.

From the Patriot, Charlotte, N. C., P. E. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Blackmore are well-known residents of Hamilton, P. E. I., and both are very warm in their praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as they believe this medicine saved the life of their daughter after other means had failed. Mr. Blackmore gave the facts as follows: "Early in the summer of 1896 my daughter Rachael began to complain of severe pains in her head and down her spine, these would last for several days, causing great agony, and would then relax for a week or so. They were often accompanied by fits of vomiting and dizziness. These symptoms were no sooner noticed than I procured medical aid, but the case was so peculiar as to baffle doctors' skill. The pains which at first were severe had become almost unbearable, and the dizziness was so constant that she attempted to cross the room unaided she would fall prostrate on the floor. Her appetite had forsaken her entirely. The only nourishment she took for two months was a little beef tea and a small quantity of oatmeal. I had heard of the cure effected by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and resolved as a last resource to give them a trial, and was very grateful to find that almost from the first she kept on using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for three months, and her recovery was very rapid, so rapid indeed that at the end of that period she was able to engage in light housework and to walk a mile or two at a time. Never in her life did she enjoy better health than at present, and I am ever thankful to the discoverer of this most effective medicine, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

THE RESULT OF LA GRIFFE.

From the Cookshire, Que., Chronicle.

Mr. Newell Waldron, is a well-known farmer living near East Clifton, Que. As his friends and neighbors know, he passed through a very trying illness as the result of a severe attack of la grippe, and when a correspondent of the Chronicle called upon him, he had no hesitation in giving the particulars of his illness and cure. Mr. Waldron said: "I believe I owe my life to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I am glad to have a chance to say a good word in favor of that reliable medicine. During the winter of 1895, when la grippe was so prevalent, I had a severe attack of it, and it left me so weak I was unable to do work of any kind. I consulted a doctor, but as he did not appear to help me, began using different advertised medicines, but the result was the same. I got no benefit, but on the contrary was growing weaker. At times I was subject to sinking spells, which were upon me unconsciously. I was falling day by day and becoming hopeless. A neighbor who called to see me urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I sent for a few boxes. After using them for a couple of weeks I began to feel better, and after the first symptoms of relief, I began to gain steadily. I am now as well as any man, and can do as good a day's work as ever I did. I know that my cure is due to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I am always glad to recommend them."

Mrs. J. Carole, Dominionville, Ont., writes: "I cannot find words enough to thank you for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. I suffered many years with weakness and pains throughout my entire system, but thanks to your pills, I am once more restored to health."

These Pills are a tonic not a laxative medicine.

YOU CAN BE CURED.

If you are ill it is not you alone who suffer, but those who depend upon you, those to whom you are dear--whether you are man or woman.

The worst diseases in the world are slight ailments at first. If you are feeling weak, nervous or "out of sorts"--if you are at all unwell, take the proper remedy, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills--AND GET WELL.

HELPLESS FOR MONTHS.

From the Trenton, Ont., Courier.

The editor of the Courier having obtained some relief from rheumatism by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and having observed their effect on a young man to whom he had recommended their use, in the interest that everyone should take in the public weal, interviewed Mr. Wm. H. Pickering on the subject. Mr. Pickering told his story as follows, and the editor can vouch for its entire truthfulness. "It would be impossible," he said, "for me to speak too extravagantly of the merits of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In the fall of 1891 I contracted a severe cold, which developed into quinsy. Following this, paralysis set in, and I continued to grow worse until at last I could not stir of my chair without assistance. I lost the entire use of my limbs, and it looked as though I was doomed to spend the rest of my days a helpless wreck. Mr. Young, of the Courier, who had observed the excellent results following the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in other cases advised me to give them a trial. I had finished my dinner when he called upon me, and from that time the progress towards a complete cure was both steady and satisfactory. I am now in possession of my full health and strength, and I feel that this result is entirely due to the excellence of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I shall always have a warm word to say in their favor."

A WORD OF CAUTION.

A few unscrupulous tradesmen--their cupidity excited by the great reputation of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills--make up a large number of cheap pills, colored pink, which will sell as "Pink Pills" and offer as a substitute for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Such pills are a fraud. The recipe for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is known only to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. All substitutes--therefore useless. To be sure of having none but the genuine pills, purchasers should not ask for Pink Pills, but for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and see that they are put up in a package, the wrapper around which is printed with red ink on white paper and bears the full trademark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Inside the wrapper are Dr. Williams' directions for use. Pay no attention to any dealer who claims to have "the same thing under another name," or something else "just as good." In case of doubt it is better to buy the genuine pills, for one box or $2.50 for six boxes to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION.

Mrs. Walter Boyington, Croton, Ont., says: "I was run down in health until I was a mere wreck. I occasionally had health and strength, and while taking them my weight increased twenty-three pounds. I am now enjoying better health than I had done for years and have Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to thank for it."

Huron Anglicans.

Conference of Lay Workers and Sunday School Teachers.

Provost Watkins on "Motives and Methods of Lay Work."

Interesting Discussions by the Delegates--Powerful Sermon by the Bishop of Huron--The Mission of the Laity.

Bishop Cronyn Hall was well filled yesterday afternoon, when the opening session of the seventh annual conference of the Huron Anglican lay workers and Sunday school teachers was held. The occasion is also the annual diocesan reunion, this being the fortieth year of the separate existence of the diocese and especially the more than ordinary interest and importance. The Bishop of Huron presided, and after the opening hymn, prayer was offered by the Dean of Huron. Messrs. Dr. Harrison and C. H. Armistage were appointed secretaries of the conference.

DELEGATES WELCOMED.

The Bishop of Huron cordially welcomed the delegates to the convention. The association, he said, since its organization seven years ago, has met with rich experiences. They were convened to consider the best interests of the diocese, and especially the part the laity would take in extending the work. Speaking of the origin from which the church sprang, the reverend gentleman gave a description of the Jewish synagogue, and showed the similarity with the church government of today. In the primitive church it was the object of every man and woman to do all in his or her power to advance Christ's cause. Sacerdotalism was foreign to the principles of the Christian Church and the New Testament. There was a need, he said, for lay men and lay women for both foreign and home work.

PROVOST WATKINS' PAPER.

"Motives and Methods of Lay Work" was the subject of a paper read by Provost Watkins, of Western University. One of the first principles of the society of lay workers, he said, was to bring the clergy and laity more intimately together, and thus lay a foundation for a richer and more extensive work. Their motives were the same. The first was to serve God. The second to co-operate, and supplement the work of the ordained minister of the parish. The speaker briefly referred to the several methods of the ordinary work of the laity, but dwelt at length upon the duty of the laity to study the Scriptures, and set right mistakes in the interpretation of them. He would discourage the indiscriminate dipping into books. Devotional books and literature were becoming almost a share, because of the number of them. As a means of checking the growth of materialism and indifference to religious things, he advocated the holding of public meetings regularly, at which Christian scientists would deliver addresses upon scientific subjects. In conclusion, he said the lay work should be within church lines.

The object should be that the whole body be firmly knit together.

THE PAPER DISCUSSED.

Judge McDonald, of Brantford, opened the discussion on the paper. The clergymen, he said, were perhaps to blame for the laity being inactive, because they did not seem to welcome lay help. The laity, he believed, would uphold the arms of the clergy if properly instructed. The best method of service, he said, was to pray with and for others, and another was to properly instruct the laity in a practical way by giving help when necessary. He said the history of the church was the history of the Sunday school scholars in the public schools as it ought to be. As an instance he told of a teacher who told his class the origin of the church was in the reign of Henry VIII. Care should be taken to properly instruct the laity in the history of the church. In conclusion, he said the principal method of service was not put before scholars in the public schools as it ought to be. As an instance he told of a teacher who told his class the origin of the church was in the reign of Henry VIII. Care should be taken to properly instruct the laity in the history of the church. In conclusion, he said the principal method of service was not put before scholars in the public schools as it ought to be.

IN THE EVENING.

Divine service was held in St. Paul's Cathedral last evening, when a large congregation assembled in the magnificent edifice. The Right Rev. Bishop Sullivan, rector of St. James' Cathedral, Toronto, who was announced to preach, was unable to be present, owing to the serious illness of his son at East Portage. His coming was considered certain until a short time before the service, when word to the contrary was received. In this absence the pulpit was occupied by the Bishop of Huron, who delivered a sermon of great earnestness and power. The Dean of Huron assisted in the service. Principal A. H. Dymond, of Brantford, read the Psalms, and Judge McDonald, of Brockville, the lessons. The music was led by the church choir.

The text chosen by the bishop was: "O Lord, what man, that thou art mindful of him, or the son of man, that thou visitest him?" (Psalms viii, 4). He referred to Bishop Butler's well-known analogy: "If a man while walking through a field were to come upon a watch and had never seen one before, he would be inclined to think that it had been a design. He would have proof of three facts: proof that there had been a designer; that the designer had possessed great intellectual ability, and also dexterous mechanical skill. Likewise, if a watch were found on a plain, he would be inclined to think that it had been a design. ## FROM SOME WHO HAVE BEEN CURED BY THE USE OF Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

THE GREATEST BLOOD BUILDER AND NERVE RESTORER IN EXISTENCE.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Make the Weak Strong.

EXORCIATING PAINS.

From the Patriot, Charlottetown, P. E. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Blackmore are well-known residents of Hamilton, P. E. I., and both are very warm in their praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as they believe this medicine saved the life of their daughter after other means had failed. Mr. Blackmore gave the facts as follows: "Early in the summer of 1897 my daughter Rachel began to complain of severe pains in her head and down her spine, these would last for several days, causing great agony, and would then relax for a week or so. They were often accompanied by fits of vomiting and dizziness. These symptoms were no sooner noticed than I procured medical aid, but the case was peculiar as to baffling doctors' skill. The pains which at first were severe had become almost unbearable, and the distress was so constant that if she attempted to cross the room she would fall prostrate on the floor. Her appetite had forsaken her entirely. The only nourishment she took for two months was a little hot tea and a small quantity of lactated food. I had heard of the cure effected by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and resolved as a last resource to give them a trial, and was very grateful to find that almost from the first she began to improve. She kept on using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for three months, and her recovery was very rapid, so rapid indeed that at the end of that period she was able to engage in light housework and to walk a mile or two at a time. Now she enjoys the best health that at present, and I am ever thankful to the discoverer of this most effective medicine, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

THE RESULT OF LA GRIPPE.

From the Cookshire, Que., Chronicle.

Mr. Newell Waldron, is a well-known farmer living near East Clifton, Que. As his friends and neighbors know, he passed through a very trying illness as the result of a severe attack of la grippe, and when, correspondent of the Chronicle called upon him, he had no hesitation in giving the particulars of his illness and cure. Mr. Waldron said: "I believe I owe my life to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I am glad to have a chance to say a good word in favor of that reliable medicine. During the winter of 1897, when la grippe was so prevalent, I had a severe attack of it, and it left me so weak I was unable to do work of any kind. I consulted a doctor, but as he did not appear to help me, began using different advertised medicines, but the result was the same. I got no benefit, but on the contrary was growing weaker. At times I was subject to sinking spells, which verged upon total unconsciousness. I was falling day by day and becoming hopeless. A neighbor who called to see me urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I sent for a few boxes. After using them for a couple of weeks, I began to feel better, and after the first symptoms of relief, I began to gain steadily. I am now as well as any man, and can do as good a day's work as ever I did. I know that my cure is due to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I am always glad to recommend them."

Mrs. J. Curdie, Dominionville, Ont., writes: "I cannot find words enough to thank you for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. I suffered many years with weakness and pains throughout my entire body, but thanks to your pills, I am once more restored to health."

These Pills are a tonic not a laxative medicine.

YOU CAN BE CURED.

If you are ill it is not you alone who suffer, but those who depend upon you, those to whom you are dear--whether you are man or woman.

The worst diseases in the world are slight ailments at first. If you are feeling weak, nervous or "out of sorts"--if you are at all unwell, take the proper remedy, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills--AND GET WELL.

HELPLESS FOR MONTHS.

From the Trenton, Ont., Courier.

The editor of the Courier having obtained some relief from rheumatism by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and having observed their effect on a young man to whom he had recommended their use, in the interest that everyone should take in the public weal, interviewed Mr. Wm. H. Pickering on the subject. Mr. Pickering told his story as follows, and the editor can vouch for its entire truthfulness. "It would be impossible," he said, "for me to speak too extravagantly of the merits of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In the fall of 1891 I contracted a severe cold, which developed into quinsy. Following this, paralysis set in, and I continued to grow weaker until at last I could not stir of my chair without assistance. I lost the entire use of my limbs, and it looked as though I were doomed to spend the rest of my days a helpless wreck. Mr. Young, of the Courier, who had observed the excellent results following the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in other cases advised me to give them a trial, and I actually got some relief. I had finished my third box when the hoped-for relief began to make itself felt, and from that time the progress toward a complete cure was both steady and satisfactory. I am now in possession of my full health and strength, and I feel that this result is entirely due to the excellence of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I shall always have a warm word to say in their favor."

A WORD OF CAUTION.

A few unscrupulous tradesmen--their cupidities excited by the great reputation of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills--make up of the market some cheap imitations, some cheaply colored pink pills, which will sell as "Pink Pills" and offer as a substitute for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Such pills are a fraud. The recipe for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is known only to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. All substitutes--therefore useless. To be sure of having none but the genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, ask for Pink Pills, but for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and see that they are put up in a package, the wrapper around which is printed with red ink on white paper and bears the full trademark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Inside the wrapper are Dr. Williams' directions for use. Pay no attention to any dealer who claims to have "the same thing under another name," or something else "just as good." In case of doubt it is better to write (including weight) for one box or $2.50 for six boxes) to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION.

Mrs. Walter Boyington, Croton, Ont., says: "I was run down in health until I was a mere wreck. I occasionally spit blood, had distressing pains in the lungs and stomach, had no appetite and could scarcely move about. The doctor said my trouble was consumption. As I was constantly growing worse instead of improving, my father advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I began their use and at the end of the first week I had gained one and a half pounds in weight. The doctor heard I was taking the pills and said I must discontinue them. I did so for a week and found that I had lost the weight I had gained, and I felt sure then that the pills had done me no good. I again began using them. After taking them for a second week I had gained two pounds and was better than I had been doing. The result was that I continued the use of the pills until I had taken thirteen boxes, when I was fully restored to my former health and strength, and while taking them my weight increased twenty-three pounds. I am now enjoying better health than I had done for years and have Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to thank for it."

Huron Anglicans.

Conference of Lay Workers and Sunday School Teachers.

Provost Watkins on "Motives and Methods of Lay Work."

Interesting Discussions by the Delegates--Powerful Sermon by the Bishop of Huron--The Mission of the Laity.

Bishop Cronyn Hall was well fitted yesterday afternoon, when the opening session of the seventh annual conference of the Huron Anglican lay workers and Sunday school teachers was held. The occasion is also the annual diocesan re-union, this being the fourth year of the separate existence of the diocese and promises to be of more than ordinary interest and importance.

The Bishop of Huron presided, and after the opening hymn, prayer was offered by the Dean of Huron. Messrs. Dr. Harrison and C. H. Armitage were appointed secretaries of the conference.

DELEGATES WELCOMED.

The Bishop of Huron cordially welcomed the delegates to the convention. The association, he said, since its organization seven years ago, had met with rich experiences. They were convened to consider the best interests of the diocese, and especially the part the laity would take in extending the work. Speaking of the origin from which the church springs, the reverend gentleman gave a description of the Jewish synagogue, and showed the similarity with the church government of today. In the primitive church it was the object of every man and woman to do all in his or her power to advance Christ's cause. Sacrodotism was foreign to the principles of the Christian Church and the New Testament. There was a need, he said, of lay men and lay women for both foreign and home work.

PROVOST WATKINS' PAPER.

"Motives and Methods of Lay Work" was the subject of a paper read by Provost Watkins of Western University. One of the first principles of the society of lay workers, he said, was to bring the clergy and laity more intimately together, and thus lay a foundation for a richer and more extensive work. Their motives were twofold. The first was to serve God. The second to co-operate, and supplement the work of the ordained minister of the parish. The speaker briefly referred to the several methods of the ordinary work of the laity, but dwelt lengthily upon the duty of the laity to study the Scriptures, and set right mistakes in the interpretation of them. He would discourage the indiscriminate dipping into books. Devotional books and literature were becoming almost a snare, because of the number of them. As a means of checking the growth of materialism and indifference to religious things, he advocated the holding of public meetings regularly, at which Christian scientists would deliver addresses upon the laity's duty. In conclusion, he said the laity should be with the church, and

The object should be that the whole body be firmly knit together.

THE PAPER DISCUSSED.

Judge McDonald, of Brockville, opened the discussion on the paper. The clergymen, he said, were perhaps to blame for the laity being inactive, because they had not seemed to welcome lay help. The laity, he believed, would uphold the arms of the clergy if permitted to do so. One method of service, he said, was to pray with and for others, and another was to show sympathy with people in a practical way by giving help when necessary. He said the history of the church and her true position was not put before scholars in the public schools as it ought to be. As an instance he told of a teacher who told his class the origin of the church was in the reign of Henry VIII. Care should be taken to properly instruct the Sunday school scholars on these matters. In conclusion, he said the principal method of work was the life the laity led before men, and it was only as they had right motives that the life would come out.

General Trowbridge, of Detroit, being noticed in the room, he was called to a seat on the platform.

The bishop of Toronto, emphasized the necessity of the bishop calling for lay workers. Many would respond, said Mr. James Woods, of Gait, spoke particularly of the Sunday school work. The bishop of Huron, in his concluding prayer, urged that they teach Christ first and the history afterwards. The bishop of Huron, in his concluding prayer, urged that they teach Christ first and the history afterwards. The bishop of Huron, in his concluding prayer, urged that they teach Christ first and the history afterwards.

Rev. W. J. Taylor, of St. Mary's, spoke of what he considered the origin of light in which the church history is presented in the public schools.

The bishop said they wanted people to come forward and volunteer for the work. A great many deprecated themselves, and consequently held back, but all were needed.

IN THE EVENING.

Divine service was held in St. Paul's Cathedral last evening, when a large congregation assembled in the magnificent edifice. The Right Rev. Bishop Sullivan, rector of St. James' Cathedral, Toronto, who was announced to preach, was unable to be present, owing to the serious illness of his son at Rat Portage. His coming was considered certain until a short time before the service, when word to the contrary was received. In this absence the pulpit was occupied by the Bishop of Huron, who delivered a sermon of great earnestness and power. The Dean of Huron assisted in the service. Principal A. H. Dymond, of Brantford, read the Psalms, and Judge McDonald, of Brockville, the lessons. The music was led by the church choir.

The text chosen by the bishop was: "O Lord, who is man, that thou art mindful of him, or the son of man, that thou visitest him?" (Psalms viii., 4)

He referred to Bishop Butler's well-known analogy: "If a man while walking through a field were to come upon a watch and had never seen one before, his inference would be that there had been a designer. He would have proof of three facts: proof that there had been a designer; that the designer had possessed great intellectual ability, and also dexterous mechanical skill. Likewise, if a visitor from another planet were to come to us, he would see as he saw man--man broken by the fall, seared by vice and with all his failures, but only God could have created him." Man is the most stupendous of God's creations. Other creatures were made to make man, but man's mission in making man, he first took counsel with the Trinity. Other creatures he created in an infinite variety of forms, but in his own image. The lower creation was made to serve--man was made to command. To man alone God gave a name. As the far-off planet derives its glory from an unseen sun, the glory of man comes from the unseen God by whose will he was created. It was asked why was not man the imperial monarch he should be. Why did he submit to chains when he should be "vincere frater"? Why sit in sin when he should be whiter than snow? He came originally by the wisdom and omnipotence of God, was wrecked in the awful crash of sin. The bishop, seen in England this summer. He was impressed with the exquisite beauty of their original form, but this, he learned, would be impossible. But this was the army of the future, with any individual man on earth. THE TURF. JOE PATCHEN AT LOUISVILLE. Louisville, Ky., Oct. 28.—Joe Patchen's record trial attracted to the Driving and Fair association track 1,000 persons, who witnessed an excellent exhibition of speed, although the big buck failed to place any world's record to his credit. Patchen had been substituted in the place of Star Pointer to go against the high-wheel sulky record of 2:04 1/4, made by John Stone, and his own wagon record of 2:04 3/4. Patchen, however, he tried the sulky, and, after scoring twice, started with a fine burst of speed, making the quarter in 1:27 1/2. Curiously enough, it was the birthday and the jubilee of Sir W. Ingram, the owner of Conroy, who is a new hand at the racing. The Lorrillard-Beresford stables 4-year-old bay colt Diaska beat Prince Boldyko's aged bay horse Woolsthorpe in the race for the Subscription stakes of 100 sovereigns each, for 2-year-olds and upward.

Ontario Sunday Schools. The 32nd Annual Convention at Hamilton. Good Work Done the Last Twelve Months—Interesting Papers Read to Delegates.

Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 28.—The 32nd annual convention of the Ontario Sunday School Association, opened at the Centenary Methodist Church yesterday afternoon, with J. McLaughlin, of Toronto, president of the association, in the chair.

WHAT SHAKSPERE SAID. was nearly always about right. He knew more of human nature than most men of his time, and the present time too. He never gave better advice to mankind than when he wrote, "Throw flycatcher to the dogs. Some people are phrasing themselves all the time for his that are principally imaginary. Little disorders of the system, caused by irregular living, poor blood, a sluggish liver, can be twisted to suit some present nostrum and increase the wealth of some juggler with health. That is really wanted is only a system regulator—a pure, simple, but efficacious tonic. Such a preparation is Abbeys Effervescent Salt. A teaspoonful taken every morning, before breakfast, keeps the blood pure and in form in such tone as to be able to withstand disease. It is used in many cases has prevented serious illness. Eminent physicians and prominent persons have testified to the benefits they have derived from its use. One free bottle. An invitation to health, to all who are ill. All druggists sell this great English preparation. Price 1/6 or 6c. a bottle.

Better Than the Klondike. Mrs. E. Winkworth, Morrison street, Niagara Falls, Ont., says: "I was attacked by kidney trouble about two years ago, and steadily grew worse until November last, when I became so ill that I thought I would live only a short time longer. The doctor here pronounced my case a complication of Bright's disease and dropsy, and said I could not get well. Dr. MacDonald advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, as it was my only chance to get well. I did so, and now can truly say I owe my life to following his advice. For I am strong and well, and I think Doan's Pills are worth their weight in gold."

DYING OF STARVATION. An Average of Ten Victims a Day in Havana - Gen. Weyler's Brutality.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Sanitary Inspector Brummer, of the marine hospital service, reports a rapid increase of international diseases and starvation in Havana, the average rate being ten per day. The place known as Los Fosos, provided for entering people sent to Havana, he pronounced for a veritable pest spot, those entering its portals leaving all hope of life behind. Senora Dolores Roldan de Dominguez, a prominent lady of Havana, well-known for her philanthropic sentiments, and the leader of many charity associations, called on Weyler to ask relief for the starving people in the capital. "At an hour, madame," said Weyler sternly, "to make war upon the enemies of Spain and not to give alms. The palace of the government in Havana is not a convent, nor am I a monk, to distribute soup to the poor. And I warn you, madame, against proceeding in this job, because those who you say are dying from hunger are the secret enemies of Spain, and they deserve their fate."

I had been troubled for several years with Lumbago. I could hardly stand; until one day I was advised to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Doing "stunts." That seems to be the case with the women who are washing in the old way. You can stand on your head, for instance. Almost everyone could do it, if it were necessary or desirable. But standing on the feet is more natural and more sensible—and easier. So with soap and Pearline. Everyone can wash with soap—many do. But washing with Pearline is easier and more sensible. The hard work of soap is neither necessary nor desirable. Everyone should give up the use of soap and should use Pearline.

Look Out. Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled; if your grocer sends you an imitation—send it back. JAMES WYLE, New York.

"To Arms" Against "the Traitor to Canada"

Hon. W. S. Fielding, the Dominion Finance Minister, who put into his first budget, the principle of preferential trade with Great Britain, we are sorry to learn from the London Free Press, is a very bad man, and disloyal beyond redemption!

It is a shocking outlook, according to the London Opposition organ, and the cause of it all is a focal remark made in an after-dinner speech in the British metropolis by the Canadian Finance Minister. Hon. Mr. Fielding was formerly a newspaper editor; so was Col. Hay, the United States ambassador to Great Britain, and Mr. Poulney Biscoe, who presided over the gathering at which these two distinguished journalists were guests, is also a leading newspaper man.

"Col. Hay and I have eaten our fish in harmony, quite without reference to the question whether they were caught within the three-mile limit. I hope this fact may be taken as an augury of the relations between the Dominion and the United States."

These sentences undoubtedly indicate that Mr. Fielding holds the opinion that there may arise disputes as to fishery limits, or from any other cause, between the two great sections of the English-speaking people on this continent, amicable relations can and ought to be maintained between the two peoples, and the disputes ought to be settled peaceably, yet with justice.

The Citizen, a Conservative Journal, printed at Ottawa, and formerly controlled by Hon. C. H. Mackintosh, has been purchased from the Messrs. Shanahan by Mr. Fred Southam, and Wilson Richard Southam, Toronto, and Wilson Southam, Hamilton.

The Prince of Wales.

Both the Prince of Wales and his son, the Duke of York, are taking a greater interest than ever in public affairs. It is a rare week that passes without the heir to the throne officiating at some public function.

Mr. Whitney Loses His Temper.

Mr. Whitney is getting ill-natured on the stump. He has been calling some of the Liberal leaders systematic liars, because they have proved, by the proceedings of a convention in Toronto, reported in the Mail-Empire, that the Opposition leader and Sir Charles Tupper are allied, if possible, to capture the Government of Ontario, so as to regain power in the Dominion.

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Itching Piles.
25 YEARS A SUFFERER.
Mr. R. Kidd, of Enterprise, Ont., says that for twenty-five years he suffered with Itching Piles, which were so bad at night that they were impossible to stand. He tried all the preparations he heard of but got no relief. One day while in the store of Mr. Walker that gentleman recommended him to use Dr. Chase's Ointment. He acted on the advice given, and in so plugging with the results that he would gladly tell all enquirers how completely he is cured.

Eczema.
COULDN'T WORK—COULDN'T SLEEP.
Geo. Lee, of Mansfield, Dufferin County, says "I was so badly troubled with eczema on my hands that I could not work. I tried everything I could hear of for relief but could get none whatever; had also been treated by doctors for about two years. I was so irritated that I could not sleep. I was recommended to try Dr. Chase's Ointment, and to my astonishment, as well as that of my friends, one box completely cured me. I would not begrudge $50 for what it has done for me."

Salt Rheum.
D. S. Doan, of Clinton, says: "Dr. Chase's Ointment will cure Salt Rheum when all else has failed; believe what I say and try it. Don't go on suffering for years as I did."
Miss M. J. Heggart, Maynooth, Ont., says: "I was troubled with Salt Rheum for over a year; was advised to try Dr. Chase's Ointment, and my salt, with a few applications I am completely cured."

A Running Sore.
About six years ago I met with an accident on the railway and had to have my left foot amputated. After leaving the hospital the stump would break out about every month. I could get nothing to cure it. I tried everything possible but it was no use. About five months ago Mr. A. Coombs gave me a sample box of Dr. Chase's Ointment. After two applications the stump was entirely healed, and it has not broken out since. It is the best ointment I ever used, and would not be without it. HARRY BARBER, Gibson, N. B.

HONORE'S FATE.

CHAPTER I.
A stretch of highway lay white and level in the dusk of the September evening, and on its margin stood a low red tavern, whose glory departed with the last stage coach, and which crumbled to ruin as slowly, but as surely, as did its grand old neighbor there behind the ivy-weighted walls of Abbotsmoor. For a whole mile this wall extended before it was broken by the iron gates through which a view was gained of the loveliest and the someliest avenue; and under this wall, in the September twilight, a traveling carriage rolled upon the wide, white road.
Within a few yards of the iron gates the horses were pulled up. The position, sitting square upon his saddle, looking straight along the road, as a well-trained post-boy should; the man-servant, seated with folded arms upon the box, had his eyes fixed upon the roadside tavern half a mile ahead; and neither of the men turned his head one inch when the carriage door behind them was opened from within. No change upon their faces showed that they even understood why the horses had been stopped.
A gentleman descended leisurely from the chaise, turned, and addressed a few words to someone within, and then closed the carriage door softly. The gentleman stood in the shadow as he gave his order to the servant—stood in the shadow as he paused for a moment to watch the retreating vehicle—and was in the shadow still as he walked up to the gates of Abbotsmoor, and tried them, locked! Four gates there were in all—a high pair in the center, and a single narrow gate on either side, but all locked.
He stood for a few moments looking round in the dusk, and then whistled a call. The summons was answered at once. An old man came limping from the lodge, and scrutinized the visitor suspiciously, as shrewd old men do on their sight grows dim.
"I heard the call, sir. I'm sharp enough to hear, but my sight fails me. I can't tell who it is."
"A stranger and a traveler," the gentleman answered from without the gate, as the old man fumbled with the keys, "and anxious on his way to Abbotsmoor, to see the house."
"It's late for that," the old man cried, "with a feeble effort to turn the key in the lock; "we get but few visitors at any time, but they never come after sunset, and no wonder."

"You've opened this gate a thousand times, I dare say, but I fancy I can do it better. Let me try."
As the stranger spoke, he put one hand through the bars and turned the key with ease; then he laughed a little at the old man's surprise.
"My ears are sharp to hear the difference in voices," the lodge-keeper said, eyeing his visitor with keenest interest as he entered the park, "but my eyes won't recognize faces now. Your voice has a home-like tone to me, sir, so I know it's English, though there's a richness in it that reminds me of the foreign countries I used to visit with my old master. And yet I ought to know the tongue of the Far West, when my own father was an American."
"Surely," the visitor said, "you have no need to lock the gate behind us. Who would enter here in the dusk?"
"Who, indeed?" questioned the old man surlily. "No, sir; it was only a habit. Such habit clings to a man after ten years of it."
"Ten years?" The stranger was pausing within the gates, and looking thoughtfully on among the silences of the heavy trees, "Only ten years? Then you were not here at the time of old Mr. Myddelton's death?"
"Not I, sir—thank Providence for that! I was in Germany at that time, with my own master, it was only after my eyes and limbs failed me that Mr. Haughton—the family solicitor, and a family connection, sir—but me here to keep the keys. It wasn't a post many cared to fill—even half-blind cripples like myself—now that such a dark name rests upon the place."
"Who lived here at the time of the murder?" the question was asked coolly, and the questioner's eyes did not come back from their gaze among the shadows.
"The woman who kept the lodge-then, sir, died not long after the murder."
"Then all you know of that time is from hearsay only?"
"From hearsay only, sir. Who would wish to know of any other way?"
"Who, indeed?"
"The dusk was deepening in the park, and the shadows lay a little weirdly about the waters of the lake. The old man looked with curiosity after the strange gentleman as he sauntered up the avenue, quite slowly, as it seemed, yet with a step which was far from purposeless or listless.
"It's a queer hour to come and view the place. Mostly people choose broad daylight when they come to see the spot where old Myddelton was murdered." So the old man muttered, while the stranger went slowly on toward the avenue, desolate house, over whose history a veil of gloom and mystery hung.
"I'm almost sure," this visitor whispered to himself, as he passed up the silent avenue, "as if the mist of guilt upon the place, and the death of their way of isolation and disguise, had wrapped themselves about me, since I passed the gates. The horrible paralysis that stayed all life and motion in this spot has touched me, too; or why do I not clearly follow out this plan as I have followed others in my life? What is this feeling upon me which seems to stop me here at the very spot. 'Not tonight,' it says, 'Why not tonight? I have followed others in my life, but I am but the first link of a chain I have to follow link after link to its end. Can I begin too soon? This inexplicable feeling is—at any rate unworthy of a thought."

As he argued thus with himself, uttering the thought aloud in the evening silence, he raised his hat, and for a few minutes carried it in his hand as he walked on up the neglected, grass-grown avenue. The evening breeze rustled the green branches overhead, and with lazy enjoyment he lifted his face to meet it. It was a dark, grave face, full of determined purpose, yet most striking at that moment with its look of intense patience—not the patient patience born of listlessness or indifference, but with a steady, manly patience, born, it might have been in a great repentance, or it might have been in a great wrong. It was a face which could wear other expressions, far different from—if not warning against—the quiet, manly power of enduring and forbearing, so plainly written there; but at that moment, raised among the dusky shadows, this was its only look.
The avenue at Abbotsmoor was nearly two miles in length, for though, as the crow flies, it would have been scarcely a mile from the lodge to the great front entrance, yet the approach was so curved and twisted that it doubled the distance. In old times neighboring squires used to urge on old Mr. Myddelton the advisability of forming a new approach, straight as an arrow, from the lodge to the house, but their advice was laughed at grimly, and the old avenue kept its winding way.
So it happened that the visitor was within a few hundred yards of the house itself when he caught his first glimpse of it. He made no stop in his thoughtful, unburdened walk; but there grew a look of keen intensity in his eyes, and there started into sudden life a line of deep and harassed thought between his brows.
"In spite of the changes," he said to himself, his full gaze on the house, "I shall remember it all more clearly on this spot."
The scene which lay before him was grand even in its utter desolation, and picturesque even in its heavy, haunting gloom; for on Myddelton was murdered building nor the untrodden grass lay any trace of that deed which had made this spot a shunning and loathing one. "In this weird light, and at this lonely hour," the stranger whispered to himself, "I shall see it just as it should be seen."

There were no steps to mount, no terraces to tread. The mansion stood low on the wide, level park, but it was none the less a grand and imposing structure, viewed from that last point in the irregular avenue.
The visitor trod, more slowly now, across the lawn, up to the wide oak doorway (locked securely against his examining hand), and then slowly on past the long row of windows belonging to the ground floor, the shutters of which were so heavily barred. He counted them as he sauntered past the door and the corner. Involuntarily he stepped back a few paces and counted the eight upon the other side. As he did so, a sound, indefinite and hardly audible, reached him from the shrubbery beyond the lawn—a sound so faint that it might well have been laid to imagination only, but a sound about which the listener, after a minute's pause, felt no doubt at all.
"A cough," he said, with lazy sarcasm, "strangled and stifled, but a cough unmistakably; and, more than that, a man's cough, and still more than that, a cough I've heard before."
Then he sauntered on. The rank grass over which he stepped was heavy with dew, yet he often stopped where a blossom from the wild flowers which overran the neglected lawn, so he passed over the great front entrance round and continued his walk, a little more slowly, beside the servants' premises at the north side. One, the last in the row, he made a pause, not as if in uncertainty and doubt, but with a settled purpose. First, he examined it critically, measuring with his eye the height and width, and its depth from the ground; then he turned his back upon it, and took in, with a keen, full glance, the scene before it—the stretch of lawn, the bordering of shrubbery beyond, and the crowd of grand old elms towering above it, and still further on. For at least ten long minutes he stood so, his eyes—dark gray eyes, holding the rare beauty of deep, clear thought—earnestly scanning the dark scene, and an utter stillness and vigilance in the easy attitude.
The scene which he had been watching from among the overgrown laurels opposite, this was a picture not to be easily forgotten or understood—so lonely and so still the scene, so easy, yet so full of purpose, this solitary figure, scanning the dark scene, as if he had been hidden there among the darkening laurel leaves?

The latest proposition made by the Campbell estate to the Brant County Council is an offer of $15,000 in full settlement.
