200 AMERICANS ARE IN FEAR OF DEATH

ONE OF MOCHA TEMPLE FOUNDERS WHO WAS GIVEN JEWEL YESTERDAY. Washington, April 25 (3 p.m.)—State Department is advised that 125 women and children were taken off a train at Tampico, Mexico, by the Federals, and that 200 Americans in Monterey are in desperate need of assistance.

WARM RAIN AN AID TO DISTRICT CROPS

Farmers Appreciate Benefit to Seed That is Now in Ground. While seeding is not very far advanced as yet the crops already sown, primarily wheat and meadows, will greatly benefit by the warm rain of last night and this morning. At this particular season rain and hot weather is essential to the wheat and meadow crops. It is also largely instrumental in preparing an ideal bed for the spring seeds. Although the rain has to a large extent offset seeding the farmers are not worrying over the outcome.

LADY-FROM-CARADOC SAYS WAR MAY ADVANCE BUTTER

But She Doesn't Want More Money If It Means People Must Die For An Insult To Flag. The Lady from Caradoc was in town today. The sympathetic listener grew tired of the label of sounds in the dairy hall on Covent Garden market and elbowed his way through the crowd to the quiet corner where she sat selling Willow Bank butter and eggs.

THE KIND THAT FIGHTS.

"There's one of our neighbors now, hardest man in the township to get along with; always squabbling over line fences, or something. Lets his turkeys and pigs and geese overrun all the fields and gardens in the neighborhood. Nothing pleases him better than going to law."

NO WAR FOR HER.

"No," said the Lady from Caradoc, "you can never make me believe in war." "Why you talk like an anarchist," said the Sympathetic Listener, "doesn't the flag stand for everything worth while in one's country home, patriotism, loyalty, faith, goodness, respectability, liberty, safety, and all that our forefathers have fought and died for?"

CITY FALLS AN EASY PREY TO SONS OF MOCHA TEMPLE

Mystic Shriners Put "Would Be's" Through Paces -- Sounds of Torture Agitated Newspaper Scribes.

No less than 75 Masons, good men and true, girded up their lions, donned their armor and became full-fledged Mystic Shriners at the spring ceremonial session of Mocha Temple held in the Masonic Hall, Queen's avenue, yesterday. There were plenty of escorts for the venturesome ones who forgot their wives and families in the excitement of the trip over the white-hot desert, and illustrious Potentate Henry Roe, of St. Thomas, along with his many aides, saw to it that no one was neglected.

True, that the newspapermen who hung around the Masonic headquarters were not accorded the privilege of witnessing all the mysterious happenings that proceeded within, but from the sounds that issued from the sanctuary of amusement and torture, they formed the conclusion that the 75 candidates certainly received their money's worth. At the time of going to press, the list of casualties had not been handed out, but in any event, there were plenty of physicians on hand to look after the injured ones. Thronged the Streets.

London was alive with Shriners and to-be Shriners yesterday. Every train that rolled in, to say nothing of several scores of motor cars, brought its quota of sons-of-the-desert-am-I, and Dundas and Richmond streets, in the late afternoon, took on the appearance of one long blend of fezzian coloring. Possibly the word fezzian may not be found in the dictionary, but it adequately expresses the idea. Happy fez-wearers motored and strolled about town and caused afternoon shoppers to wonder if Gen. Villa and his army had suddenly dropped in for a call on the Seventh or the First Hussars. Some of the strollers and some of the motorists did not have the happy, care-free expressions that characterized the majority, for, in prospect large, loomed before them, constantly, the thought of the awful ordeal to be undergone in the trip across the desert. Taking heart, however, from the knowledge that many others had gone before and lived to tell, or rather to keep secret the tale, they tried to look unconcerned and quite indifferent to the prospective journey.

DON'T GROW BALD

It's Quite Needless—Nourish the Hair Roots—Remove Dandruff—Use Parisian Sage.

If your hair is getting thin, losing color, or has that matted, lifeless and scraggy appearance, the reason is evident—dandruff and failure to keep the hair roots properly nourished. These are the main causes of baldness or dry, brittle and unsightly hair. Parisian Sage applied daily for a week and then occasionally, is all that is needed. It is a scientific preparation that supplies hair needs. It gets to the hair roots, nourishes them, and furnishes the elements necessary to make it grow. It removes dandruff with one application; almost immediately stops falling hair and itching of the scalp. Equally good for men, women or children—everyone needs it.

Parisian Sage not only saves the hair but beautifies it. Thin, dull, stringy hair is made soft, abundant and radiant with life.

This delightful and refreshing hair tonic can be had at any drug or toilet counter in 50-cent bottles only. W. F. Strong & Co., always sells Parisian Sage with agreement to refund the money if you are not satisfied.

Get a bottle at once—use it every day for a week and you will be surprised with the result. Delighted users say Parisian Sage is the best and most invigorating hair tonic made.

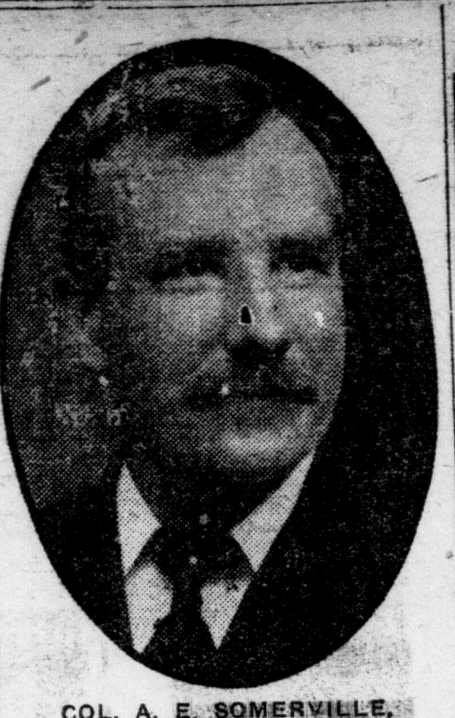

Animals in Fine Fettle.

It was rumored that the camels, goats and other animals of the Shrine had been carefully starved for a period of three weeks in order to whet their appetites for the grand ceremony of the evening. By native rumormongers from headquarters, following the session, it was learned that the menagerie did its duty faithfully and well.

Shriners were here from all over Ontario and from many points in the United States. There were little nobles, big nobles, long nobles and short nobles, but they were all there and then some. The Glad Hand Union derived its charter members from the ranks of the Mystic Shrine, and they attended the spring ceremonial here yesterday, lived up to all the requirements of the union. Chairman E. M. McLean, Fire Chief John Atkin, Ken Murray, Edwin Smith, and other members of the glad hand committee, met the various visiting dignitaries and then some. The Shrine, headed by illustrious Potentate Henry Roe, with the aid of a full pipe band under the leadership of the one and only Jock Wilson, piper extraordinary, the Arab Patrol, of Mocha Temple, under the command of Col. A. E. Somerville, captain-general.

It Lasted "Till When."

The business session commenced at three in the afternoon and from six to seven o'clock, a most interesting and profitable session was in progress, with the potentate at the helm and dates and goat's milk in abundance. The conference was adjourned at 10:30, the journey across the desert, commenced about 7:30, and, take it from the official program, lasted "till when." Later, a buffet lunch was served and an entertainment of more than usual excellence provided.

COL. A. E. SOMERVILLE, Second Ceremonial Master.

All told, there were more than 700 Shriners in attendance. With the initiation of 75 candidates, the total membership was raised to 225, and before the fall ceremonial rolls around, it is confidently expected that Mocha Temple will have in excess of 1,000 members. Among the prominent Shriners who registered with Recorder W. H. Abbott were: William H. Foot, illustrious Potentate of El Karafa Temple, Saginaw, Michigan; and Immediate Past Potentate Mark Brown, of the same temple; Past High Priest W. H. Shaw, Dr. D. Temple, Toronto; Ed Struthers, of New York; Charles E. Libby, of Aleppo Temple, Boston; William K. Martin, of Moslem Temple, Detroit; R. H. Malloch, of Ramesis Temple, Toronto; F. A. King, of Woodstock; J. W. Laidlaw, Brantford; George Yapp, Brantford; W. B. Hancock, Brantford; Bert Inglis, Brantford; W. E. Seagram, Walkerville; J. S. Searle, Brantford; C. M. Campbell, Hamilton; P. C. Moore, Brantford; Young, Springfield; Earl G. Pougford, St. Thomas; George Stewart, St. Thomas; Angus Taylor, St. Thomas; Fred A. McCully, St. Thomas; and very many others.

The Men Behind.

The official divan of Mocha Temple is as follows: Henry Roe, illustrious Potentate; H. W. Lind, chief rabban; W. W. Gammage, assistant rabban; Dr. A. R. Routledge, high priest and prophet; J. H. Richmond, Oriental guide; W. H. Abbott, recorder; Col. A. A. Campbell, treasurer.

PRISON FARM TO BE CONSIDERED LATER

Representatives of County and City Will Go Into Question in June.

DR. BRUCE SMITH HEAD Inspector Explains a Modern Method of Caring for Prisoners.

Middlesex County Council and representatives of the London City Council will thoroughly consider the industrial farm project advocated by Sheriff D. M. Cameron, and definite steps will be taken, in all probability at the June sessions of the county council, towards the establishment of a joint prison farm for London and Middlesex. Dr. R. W. Bruce Smith, Inspector of prisons for Ontario, addressed representatives of the county and city councils in the county buildings yesterday and spoke enthusiastically in favor of the plan.

At the conclusion of the address, Mayor C. M. B. Graham, who presided, assured Dr. Bruce Smith that the project would be thoroughly gone into, plans considered and sites looked for, before the June sessions of the county council. Representatives of the county received Dr. Bruce Smith's recommendations with favor.

Cites Fort William.

Fort William prison farm was established in September, 1912, on 1,000 acres of cleared land. Now it is practically all cleared and 300 acres are under cultivation. In another year, said Dr. Bruce Smith, it will be self-sustaining. Out of 1,200 prisoners who have been sent to the farm, only eight attempted to escape, and of these five were brought back. A prisoner's attempt to escape is considered a crime. There are no bars, no keys, no stripes, no guns to hold them. If they refuse to work their rations are cut. This is the only form of punishment resorted to.

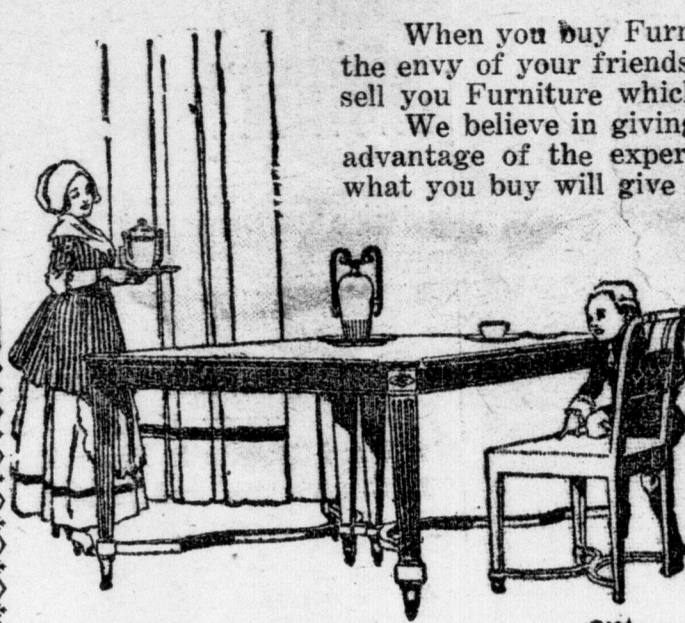

Farm No Playhouse.

Seventy per cent of the prisoners in Ontario are short-term offenders who should be sent to prison farms. There are 142 jails in Ontario, necessitating an enormous expense for maintenance, nearly all of which would be rendered unnecessary by the general establishment of prison farms. When a man is sent to the prison farm, he is told that it is no play-house.

WHEN THE ICE MAN COMES AROUND

What will you tell him about that Refrigerator? Will you tell him that it is old and leaky and will need filling every day? Or, will you be able to tell him that it is a New Refrigerator, fine, solid, sanitary and always cool, and that a good block of ice will last several days?

He knows all about Refrigerators, and will tell you the kinds of Refrigerators that will make the ice do the best work for you. Is your Refrigerator taking the best possible care of your food? Is it a rather poor kind, or worn out or hard to keep scrupulously clean? For, if so, it is not wise to keep it a day longer in your house. When you are ready to tackle these questions, our Refrigerator section will help you to answer them. We vouch for every hidden part and know that there is no safer kind made, even at the lowest price.

EXPECT TO RAISE $200 FROM PAPER COLLECTION

Sanatorium Aid Society's Waste Paper Campaign Is Profitable One.

Ten tons of paper was the amount gathered yesterday in aid of the Sanatorium for Tubercular Children.

Only about half of the north and east sections of the city were canvassed. The southern and western parts of the city will be gone over as well as possible this afternoon.

"It will be impossible to collect all the paper today, state Mrs. John Stevely to the Advertiser. The Sanatorium Aid Society has a man in its permanent employ, who does nothing but gather waste paper. We hope to realize at least $200 from the sale of the paper.

The Preventorium for Tubercular Children is a most worthy cause. Surely it does not require too much labor to hunt up all the old rubbers and newspapers in the house and place them at the back door. It is little enough to do for one of the most worthy causes that has been brought before the citizens for some time."

Low Rates Montreal to Liverpool

Allan Line Will Sail R.M.S. "Tunisian" As One-Class—2ND—Cabin Steamer. For the first time in her career, the popular "Tunisian" will sail from Montreal as a one-class cabin steamer, leaving this port for Liverpool daylight, Thursday, May 7, after which voyage the steamer will take her service in the Montreal-Havre-London service. Placing the steamer on the one-class basis at rate of $50 and upwards gives a splendid opportunity for passengers to secure most comfortable accommodation at a very moderate charge. The "Tunisian" is so well known to the Canadian traveling public that description is hardly necessary. Already a considerable number of passengers have secured accommodation, indicating that the sailing will be a popular one.

USE SCHOOLS AS SOCIAL CENTRES, ADVISES WORKER

"Why Let Them Stand Idle?" Asks Miss Neufeld in Address at Normal School.

HEALTH IS FORGOTTEN Spirit of Industrialism Causes Men to Neglect Essentials of Healthy Country.

"What are public schools for? Aren't they the property of the people? Yet they will go to work and build a large settlement house to be used from 7 to 10 at night by the grown-ups, while the schools, only in use from 9 till 4, stand idle and empty the rest of the time. Why cannot we use our schools for social service work? Our city councils and boards of education require education along these lines." With these words, Miss Elizabeth Neufeld, of the Central Neighborhood House, Toronto, emphasized the need of free use of public schools in an address delivered in the Normal School last night before the members of the Women's Canadian Club, Men's Canadian Club, and other citizens interested in social service work in the city.

Miss Neufeld has been closely connected with settlement work in Toronto for seven years, and is thoroughly familiar with the many and varied problems which present themselves in a large city. Supervised recreation for working girls and boys, and supervised play for children are two important factors in Miss Neufeld's creed. She advocated strongly the need of a social centre, such as might be established in the public schools, where young men and women might come to learn various branches of domestic and manual work, and also to meet socially. "Young people have got to meet somewhere. Take a girl who has no place except her bedroom, on the street, in which to meet her sweetheart. It is not right. Provide a safe place, where they can dance, and the boys play pool, and there will be fewer of our girls ruined. To such a centre, too, the immigrant might be attracted, taught a knowledge of English and the general art of becoming a good citizen.

Difficulties of Cleanliness. "We talk of the 'cleanliness' said Miss Neufeld, "but if we had to carry water up three flights of stairs, I do not think we would keep our bodies very clean, or the floors either. Just as long as men are forced to live in crowded quarters, just so long will there be a degree of crime and misery. "The men forget there is anything except poverty. The women who bear their children realize that human life is of vastly more importance. Men get so imbued with the spirit of industrialism, of making a strong, wealthy country, that they forget to almost despise their parents and their homes." Miss Neufeld also stated that the work of missions in slum districts not infrequently resulted in disturbing elements in foreign homes. Christian missions were attended by Jewish, Roman Catholic and children from other denominations. These received new ideas by religion, which sometimes caused a split in the home life. "The greatest curse of Judaism in Canada and the United States has been Canadian and American life. Here the children learn to almost despise their parents and their homes."

Supervisors Should Be Trained. Supervisors for playgrounds and social centres should receive special training, according to Miss Neufeld, as of great tact and mental equipment were required, the same as for any other profession. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Miss Neufeld at the close of her address, conveyed by Mrs. F. P. Betts, who presided.

Port Arthur, Grain Elevator—Holds 5,300,000 Bushels. Port Arthur, April 24.—The Port Arthur elevator now holds 5,300,000 bushels of grain, which is more than it or any other elevator in the world ever before held. In the Canadian Northern Railway yards are seven hundred cars for which there is not room in the elevator. Since September 1 last, the Canadian Northern terminals have handled 8,000,000 bushels more than in the same period last year.

POLICE PRESENT CAME TO DR. J. B. CAMPBELL

Officers Remember Instructor in First Aid Class—Exchange of Compliments.

The courtroom at police headquarters was the scene of a somewhat unusual proceeding last night, when Dr. J. B. Campbell was presented with the gold-headed cane by members of the Police Branch of St. John's Ambulance Corps. The presentation was made by Chief of Police W. T. Williams, accompanied by a neat brass band. About twenty members of the force were present. For several months Dr. Campbell has been conducting a class in first aid among the members of the force, and coaching them for the examination in the work. A friendly feeling has sprung up between class and instructor and the outcome of the regard of the men for Dr. Campbell, was the gift.

Presented by Chief Williams. In presenting the cane, Chief Williams referred to the respect he had always entertained for Dr. Campbell. "I have always admired Dr. Campbell's strong personality and sunny disposition," said the chief. "I believe that his success as a physician is due as much to his kindness of heart as to the pills and medicines that he dispenses. "There is no greater work than lending assistance to a suffering brother." Chief Williams continued, "I am very much in favor of the first-aid work. Often a life can be saved by a little knowledge of what to do, and when to do it. At every accident there is necessarily some time lost until medical aid can reach the spot. In the interval a knowledge of preliminary work may be instrumental in saving a life."

Rapid Progress. In extending his thanks for the gift, Dr. Campbell declared that the class was making rapid progress. He had little fear that any member would fail at the coming examinations. "I am very pleased with the work of the class," he said. "I respect of the first has been rapid, and a credit to the police force." In mentioning the merits of the police in London, Dr. Campbell paid tribute to Chief Williams. "I have always looked on the chief as one of our most exemplary and foremost citizens, and one who has the interests of the community at heart. As a small boy, I respected him, and that respect has always remained."

WEDDING BELLS

HAGMEIER—MOYER. Petrolia, April 25.—On Wednesday afternoon, April 22, the Methodist parsonage, Petrolia, was the scene of a wedding of special interest, when Miss Beata Moyer, eldest daughter of Rev. and Mrs. D. Moyer, was married to Dr. John Edwin Hagmeier, of Hespeler. The home was tastefully decorated with palms and roses. Harry Wismer, cousin of the bride, played the wedding march. During the signing of the register, Miss Edna Stenton, of St. Thomas, sang "Love's Coronation," with violin obligato by Miss Vera Spurr, of Petrolia. The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of white duchesse satin, with overdress of imported lace. She wore a veil of silk Brussels lace, with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of orchids and lily of the valley. Helen, the little sister of the bride, carried the rings for the double ring ceremony in a basket of smilax and bridesmaid's roses. After the wedding breakfast, the happy couple left for Toronto, and Niagara Falls, the bride travelling in a dress of King's blue, with hat to match. On their return they will take up their residence in Berlin, Ont.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. Hagmeier, of Hespeler, parents of the groom, and Dr. Gordon Hagmeier, his brother; the Misses Edna Stenton, Hazel Haight, and Arthur Haight, of St. Thomas; Dr. Paul Barrett, of New York, and Harvey Moyer, of Detroit.

BABBAGE TAKEN BACK FOR SANDWICH CHARGE

Re-arrested When Leaving Central After a Six-Months' Term. George Babbage, arrested in London last October and sentenced to serve six months in the Central Prison for vagrancy, was re-arrested last night as he left the Toronto prison and passed through London this morning in charge of an officer for Sandwich, where he will appear before Magistrates Coyle and Milne to answer a charge of jailbreaking. Babbage was arrested in Sandwich the forepart of last October, and while working in the corridor of the jail he escaped. He was later arrested here, and after sentence was passed upon him, the London authorities learned that he was wanted on a jailbreaking charge, and they notified the Sandwich officers that Babbage was serving a term in the Central Prison.

TRUSTEES FACE ANOTHER TANGLE

Reconstruction of Richmond St. School Looms Up on the Building Horizon.

The Board of Education is faced with another problem of a commoda-tion, that of reconstructing the Richmond North School and adding two or more rooms to it, one of them for a kindergarten. This was pointed out to the building committee on Friday by Inspector C. B. Edwards, and although the matter was discussed and it was generally agreed that the addi-tions should be made, no action was taken.

The hostile action of a certain element in the city council toward the expenditures of the school board, have evidently had the effect of making the trustees go very slowly in making needed improvements. The committee authorized the inspector to secure a tent, $2x24, which will be placed on some vacant land at the corner of Egerston and Florence street to relieve the crowded school conditions in the east end. The owner, ex-Alderman E. H. Johnston has granted the free use of the property, to assist the board in meeting the demands that are being made for more school room. Notwithstanding the proposed action of the Board of Control to refuse passage of the by-laws, covering an expenditure of $17,000 for new school, Messrs. Watt & Blackwell, architects, were instructed to go ahead with plans for the renovation of the Princess Avenue School at a cost of $25,000. Plans for the new Duchess Avenue and Charlotte street public schools are completed and tenders have been asked for their construction.

SOME VEGETABLE ADVICE

Hints for Proper Planting and How to Do It. This is the time to plant your vegetable seeds outdoors. Do it now, and you will have your own vegetables almost as soon as your neighbor, who has made use of a cold-frame. Practically all vegetables except beans, corn, vines and the tomato family, may be planted immediately. Keep your perennial plants, such as rhubarb, one end or side of the garden. Arrange your crops so as to keep all the ground busy during the season. Arrange to raise quick-growing crops between the rows of more slowly maturing ones. In the small garden sow a little seed often, rather than a large amount at one time. Lettuce should be planted every two weeks about one quarter of an inch deep and sown thickly. Use the plants that are thinned out when quite small. For head lettuce transplant to rows one and a half feet apart. It will be ready for table use in from five to six weeks. The approximate depth of planting, the LONDON, SATURDAY, APRIL 25.

Villa says, "No war." Will he prove to be Mexico's iron man?

It is reported that Huerta is about to purchase an aeroplane.

The Americans have a preponderance of guns and men. But nature is Mexico's ally.

Villa is laughing out loud at Huerta, but what he has up his sleeve has not been disclosed.

Over $200,000,000 given away in the United States and Canada last year. How much did you get?

It is inconceivable that the American army will start operations until Col. Roosevelt reaches the scene.

In Government or in Opposition it is the Liberal party for the people, and the Conservatives for the interests.

The Menace is to be allowed to go through Canadian mails after all. Hasn't the Calgary Eye-Opener any rights?

Under Huerta at all, Mexico is not a republic nor a kingdom. Commonwealth will do for a name, where wealth tends to be held in common.

Thursday is to be observed as the anniversary of the advent into this world of William Shakespeare, master mind and the one poet for all time.

Publisher McClure says that the man behind the muckrake is about to disappear, but the man behind the lawnmower is just about to reappear.

This strange silence on the part of Colonel Roosevelt is rather annoying. The colonel should have been climbing some Mexican bluffs long before this.

The Liberal Opposition members at Toronto have gained a triumph worthy of all their efforts in securing promise of legislation to put a crimp in political contributions from interests which receive Government favors.

These are the months of the year with a character—March (winds), April (showers), May (flowers). The others are less distinctive, unless November be signified by its dark days, and the R months in general for oysters.

A New York judge has decided that if Bill Smith's hen wanders over to Tom Jones' roof-garden and lays an egg, the egg belongs to Tom. Now we may expect to hear of spite fences being built on the skyscrapers of Broadway.

For the fiscal year 1912-1913 the Massey-Harris Company received the sum of $151,649.82 on account of drawback on goods exported. Sir Melvin Jones is willing to accept tariff reductions when they put something in his pocket. Otherwise Sir Melvin is a straight line protectionist.

In all the gerrymander business of the Ontario Redistribution Committee which is claiming to seek to equalize the population of the ridings we hear nothing about changing West Lambton, which at the last election had a population of 31,721, and gave Hon. W. J. Hanna a majority of 1,061.

Australia is trying to grow a national song. That is the hardest thing for a civilized state to accomplish. A special crisis is needed to call a national song. Like a flash of lightning, from some live heart. That is what happened to Germany. You can't grow national songs; they must spring forth themselves suddenly in full armor. We have a tune in Canada, but no song.

THE TWO POLICIES.

The amendment proposed to the tariff resolutions by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and its prompt rejection by the Government, marks the clear-cut division between the two parties. The Liberals want to lessen the burdens of the farmer and the consumer. The Conservatives propose to retain these burdens in the interests of the already flourishing manufacturers. The former class is heavily taxed, and can ill afford to pay. The latter have been fostered by protection that they are able not only to control the home markets, but can successfully compete in the markets of other countries.

But there is another distinction between the two parties. The Liberals would help all classes. Greater freedom in trade, while helping the consumer, will not materially injure the manufacturer. If his condition is improved, the consumer will be able to purchase more goods, and what the manufacturer loses in direct profits will be made up by increased business. The Conservative fiscal policy is avowedly one for the further advantage of the already well protected classes, while the other class is allowed to bear all its burdens without help.

While this difference between the two parties is thus clearly emphasized it is nothing new. When the Liberals came into power in 1896, they revised the tariff, putting binder twine, wire and corn on the free list, and introducing the British preference. If they did not go as far as some wished it was because they had no desire to disturb business by too radical changes. But moderate as was the reduction of duties, it was loudly condemned by the Conservatives as a ruinous policy. The leader of the Opposition, Sir Charles Tupper, was earnest in his protest, and most mournful in his prophecy of ruined manufacturers. When these prophecies failed to materialize, and the manufacturers became more prosperous than ever, the Conservatives wheeled around and claimed that the Liberal Government had retained the National Policy in full force. It had not. It had moved in the direction of lessened taxation as fast as it thought prudent. And it was prepared to go further, for it went out of power in the effort to give the producer larger markets, and the consumer cheaper goods.

The tendency of national legislation is towards freer trade. Britain, the greatest of commercial countries, flourishes under a fiscal system that is almost free. The United States, whose people have no superiors as businessmen, are cutting down their tariff, and find prosperity greater than under a high protection policy. Canada ought to be able to learn a useful lesson from these two great and prosperous countries. But there is a section of Canadian politicians who know too much to learn from anyone. They were able to carry the people with them three years ago, and the reactionary policy they are now pursuing is only what might have been expected.

GREECE AND MEXICO.

THE case of Mexico stumbling and tottering in rebellion is something like that of Greece a hundred years ago. The corrupt and paralyzing despotism of Diaz, the blight of the Spanish land-holdings and the taxes recall the tyranny of the Turk over the Grecian population. Brigands of Villa's type play a somewhat similar part to men like Odysseus, whose sister married Byron's wild friend, Trelawney, or that fine Greek pirate described by Byron as the "mildest-mannered man that ever scuttled a ship or cut a throat." The cigarette is a badge of both nationalities from birth to bier.

But those were romantic, these are commercial times in poetry. No Byron goes to twangle his harp in Mexico. Whatever Aztec civilization lies behind the poor Indian, whatever noble ruins lend the more enchantment to that land of volcano and sunshine, the Indian and the "greaser" to us the Indian and the "greaser" are and nothing more. Distinguished foreigners know them not at all, while the common run of Americans and British look upon them with a purely business eye or mere aversion. Perhaps, however, the intervention of American war vessels may prove to be an aid to the better forces in Mexico, wherever they are, to get upon their feet, so that in time Mexico may advance like Greece to respected and self-respecting nationality.

A SHAKESPEARE ANNIVERSARY.

MANy cities throughout the civilized world have been planning to celebrate the 350th anniversary of the birth of Shakespeare. The exact day is really unknown, all of which history seems to be certain is that it was in April, 1564. Circumstantial evidence places it on the 23rd, and that is usually accepted. But as that was the "old style" of chronology, it would be equivalent to the 2nd of May according to our present mode of reckoning. It is known that he died on the 23rd April, 1616, and tradition says that he died on the anniversary of his birth.

Except as a matter of historic truth it is perhaps of little importance on what day or at what precise moment he was born. The outstanding fact is that such a man was born; that, living, he enriched English literature beyond all other men that ever lived; and that, dying, he left an imperishable name. Despite an obscure birth, a limited education, and a lowly life, the work he accomplished, and the mass of literature that bears his name, tell of a genius unparalleled in the history of man. Indeed, so remarkable has been his work that it has been doubted whether he could possibly have written the plays and poems attributed to him, and the theory has arisen and been held by many that no less a person than "the greatest, wisest, meanest of mankind," Lord Bacon, was the real author, and that for personal and political reasons he used the name of the London actor, William Shakespeare, as a mask behind which to hide his identity. It may be admitted that the theory is plausible, and the evidence in its favor has been cunningly marshalled. But there are difficulties in the way of accepting this theory that cannot be overcome. And it is easier to accept the other alternative, that the man who was born at Stratford three hundred and fifty years ago was possessed of a genius that enabled him to rise superior to all disadvantages, and write as no man ever wrote before.

For three hundred years the world has enjoyed and benefitted by the marvellous productions of this unique personage. The men and women he created are as real to us today as though they actually moved and spoke and acted a few years ago. The humor and pathos, the philosophy and the psychology of these masterpieces of literary creation are as fresh and as impressive now as they ever were. The best writers of Shakespeare's time are all forgotten save by the scholar and the historian. But he is known to every school boy, and his name is familiar even to the most ignorant who have never read a line of what he wrote. Literary customs and fashions change with the changing years; but his plays still hold that place on the stage. No one attempts to write who does not quote his words. His influence on the minds and thoughts of men grows greater with every passing century. And though it is but a fitting tribute to the civilized world to recognize an anniversary of Shakespeare's

MICROCOSMOS.

[Westminster Gazette.]
 Beneath the moon the little town
 Sleeps on the shadowy hill;
 The very houses seem to rest.
 They are so white and still.

The noisy men and women lie
 In silence, and so keep
 Their little fretful passions drowned
 In the calm sea of sleep.

And hanging in the void amid
 Those star-dusted fields of light
 The earth, a tiny spinning ball,
 Sleeps in the lap of Night.

THOUGHT IT A CIRCUS.

[Pearson's Weekly.]
 At the Haymarket Theatre they are telling a story of a country horse dealer who appeared to have been in London on a holiday recently.

One of the posters advertising "Within the Law" the play now running at the theatre, shows a smartly turned-out four-in-hand being driven through a mass of documents, mostly acts of parliament, the idea being to illustrate the old saying that you can "drive a coach-and-four through an act of parliament."

The horse dealer, however, seems to have gone to the theatre under the impression that "Within the Law" was some sort of circus performance, and, after waiting in vain for the appearance of the horses, he went upon an attendant between the acts and remonstrated:

"Look here, when do the 'osses come on?" he asked, "I shan't wait if they ain't coming on soon!"

"DIED IN POVERTY."
 [Brooklyn Eagle.]
 (Fernand Forest, Frenchman, inventor of the gasoline engine that made motor-cars and automobiles and aeroplanes possible, has just died in poverty, aged 71. Others got the rewards of his invention. News.)

"Twas ever thus, the Genius is unpaid. Unless he has the art of money-making; Far littler minds his earned rewards are taking.

In every land where patent laws are made, It must be so for aye, I am afraid, If Solons find no way to stop the faking With Juggled, purchased claims, all ethics breaking; Starvation cannot balk the exploiter's raid.

But wretched statutes cannot bar the race From what inventors give, or stop their pace; For Fate will never let their zeal grow cold. Their true reward is not in paltry gold; And Genius, working not for fame or pelf, Must always be her energetic self!

MODEL BOY.

[Exchange.]
 A popular member of the L— school board tells a good story of a certain schoolboy who enjoys the unique distinction of having attended one school for eleven years without being once absent or late. In evidence of this, the youth is the proud owner of eleven medals. When the eleventh medal was conferred the boy's mother was asked whether her son ever had any illness.

THE LITTLE BELLS OF SEVILLA.

[Dora Sigerson Shorter.]
 The ladies of Sevilla go forth to take the air,
 They loop their lace mantillas, a red rose
 In their hair;
 Upon the road Delicias their little horses run
 And tinkle, tinkle, tinkle, the bells go
 every one.

Beside the Guadalquivir, by orange-scented way,
 The ladies of Sevilla they come at cool of day;
 They wave their fans coquettish, their black eyes gleam and glow,
 And all their little carriages tell a-jingle,
 Jingle, go.

There, too, the caballeros drive in the perfumed breeze,
 Upon the road Delicias among the flowering trees;
 Beneath their brown sombreros their dark eyes flame and flash,
 And all their little carriages' bells ring merrily
 they crash.

Beside the Guadalquivir the hours are very fair,
 The nightingale is tuning upon the scented
 air;
 Oh, laughing Andalusia, beloved of the sun,
 Your merry, merry little bells they call me
 every one.

A BROAD VIEW.

[Kingston Standard.]
 A Chinaman in Vancouver is accused of murdering his mistress and now it is said there is a demand for the wholesale dismissal of all Chinese servants. There is even talk of boycotting hotels and restaurants that employ Chinese help. How easy it is to appeal to race prejudice. A dozen Canadian servants in different parts of the country might kill their mistresses without attracting any special attention outside of the localities specially interested. As a matter of fact the Chinese people who come to this country do not

LIFE LIKE A ROOM.

[St. Mary's Journal.]
 Life is like a chamber with one great door having a universal lock. Every man holds a different key, yet each key will open the door if it is rightly used. Some of us are so drunk with the night that we cannot find the lock or we lose the key. Some of us find the way to the door and locate the lock, but we fumble the key. A very few of us throw the latch and go in, but are we satisfied? It is against the rules of the game to tell what is behind the door.

Now Is Your Chance to Secure a Desirable Building Lot in Manor Park

(CORNER WHARFCLIFFE AND TECUMSEH)

SIZE From 32 to 40 feet wide.
 From 100 to 137 feet deep.
 PRICE From $137 to $240 a lot.
 $5 down and $5 monthly.
 TERMS No interest whatever, no taxes for first two years.

Your landlord will eventually sell the house, and you will have to move or pay still more rent. Don't wait until then.

Now is the time to prepare for that day which may not be far away.

Mrs. E. J. Quick, of 58 Tecumseh avenue, called at our office last Monday, April 20, and told us she wanted to buy a lot in MANOR PARK, and start the building of her house at once, for she must move out before next Saturday.

She bought Lot No. 203, MANOR PARK (it is on Briscoe street) and started to build the following morning, and expects to be living in her temporary home today.

You also may have to move out in a hurry, and MANOR PARK lots will not wait for you. Now is the best time to secure one.

MANOR PARK building lots are nice, high and level, within twenty minutes' easy walking distance from Richmond and Dundas streets, and only one block to street cars.

MANOR PARK building lots are easy to buy, easy to pay for, nice to live on and a splendid investment.

MAYOR TO DECLARE HALF HOLIDAY FOR CANADIAN OPENING

London Cannot Arrange Wednesday Opening—Merchants Asked to Postpone Closing Until Thursday.

[BY JINX.]
In reply to the letter from "One of the Many Fans," published in Friday evening's Advertiser, the London baseball club today announced that it is impossible to hold the Canadian League opening in London on Wednesday, May 6, instead of Thursday, May 7. The reason given is that the Toronto club, which opens here, is billed to play the Stratford W. O. B. L. team in Stratford on that date, and the game has been advertised extensively in the Classic City, and it is too late now to call it off. The London directors are perfectly in accord with the suggestion from the fans that the opening be held on Wednesday owing to the big half-holiday. They agree that the schedule should have been drawn up in the first place, providing for the league opening on this date.

Half Holiday on Thursday.
However, the London club has something else just as good to offer. An interview with Mayor Graham has resulted in that gentleman announcing that he will declare Thursday afternoon, May 7, a local half-holiday in celebration of the league opening. The London club now comes through with the suggestion that the merchants and other businessmen of the city get together and make arrangements to call off their first half-holiday on Wednesday, May 6, and hold it on Thursday, May 7. One day's difference would not do any harm and the businessmen could just as easily close up on Thursday afternoon as Wednesday afternoon. This arrangement would satisfy everybody interested, fans and London club alike.

Big Parade Planned.
The London club is planning a big opening day parade, and the ceremonies at the park this season promise to eclipse all past performances. The parade to the grounds will be the biggest in the history of the club and some new features will be introduced. "Doc" Reising and his boys will be given a grand send-off on the road to the gonfalon, at any rate.

"MOONEY" GIBSON IS HITTING BALL AT .429 AVERAGE

Big Pirate Catcher is Fourth Leading Slugger of National League So Far—Ty Cobb Is Tenth.

Chicago, Ill., April 25.—Leading batters in the major and big minor leagues hit the ball at a rate of better than .500, according to averages published here today, and including the games played up to yesterday. The leading hitters include, in most cases, the men famous for their stick work, but some of the regular stars are far behind others, heretofore, especially noted for their hitting ability. Detroit is leading the American League in hitting, with a club percentage of .272 and New York is next with .269. Crawford is doing the best work for Detroit, with an average of .500, while Cobb is hitting at .321 and ranks tenth. The first ten batters in the American League are: Williams, St. Louis, .522; Collins, Chicago, .519; Crawford, Detroit, .506; Jackson, Cleveland, .390; C. Walker, St. Louis, .370; Lelivelt, Cleveland, .350; Blackburn, Chicago, .333; McInnis, Philadelphia, .333; Johnston, .323; Cobb, Detroit, .321.

Mages Leads National.
Sherwood Mages, of Philadelphia, leads the National League, and his percentage of .570 is keeping the Philadelphia team in front with an average of .316; Brooklyn being next, with .295. The next nine batters are: Gowdy, Boston, .538; Phelan, Chicago, .500; Gibson, Pittsburgh, .429; Lobert, Philadelphia, .412; Yingling, Cincinnati, .400; Miller, Brooklyn, .375; Killefer, Philadelphia, .355; Daubert, Brooklyn, .335; Dalton, Brooklyn, .375.

Vincent, Campbell, Indianapolis, is ahead in the Federal League, with .642, five hits in one day helping his average. The next nine are: Simon, St. Louis, .545; Murphy, Brooklyn, .500; Russell, Baltimore, .500; Crandall, St. Louis, .429; H. Miller, St. Louis, .423; E. S. Mondak, Indianapolis, .417; Hanford, Buffalo, .412; Swaelna, Baltimore, .409; Stovall, Kansas City, .389. The St. Louis team is leading the league in club percentage with .291, and Brooklyn is next with .286.

PATRICK SURPRISED ABOUT SMITH TRADE

[Canadian Press.]
Vancouver, April 25.—Frank Patrick, managing director of the Vancouver arena, and president of the Pacific Coast Hockey Association, was surprised to learn on his return from Seattle that Quebec had traded Smith to the Ontario, and that he had not put much credence in the report. He declares that so far the reserve lists have not been sent to him, and that furthermore he has until April 30 to close on his option.

KING GEORGE SEES BURNLEY DEFEAT LIVERPOOL 1-0

London, April 25.—Burnley beat Liverpool by one goal to none in the final round of the English Association football cup, played at the Crystal Palace today. King George was present for the first time in the history of the cup. There were over 100,000 spectators from all parts of the country.

LAUNCHING DEFENDER.

[Canadian Press.]
Bristol, R. I., April 25.—The launching of the steeple Resolute, the first of the American trio of cup candidates to take the water, brought here today the first mobilization of yachtsmen in defence of the Americas cup. A score of members of the New York Yacht Club, and as many of their friends were permitted to look the boat over as she sat on the ways in one of the Herreshoff building sheds. The launching was set for sunset. Yachtsmen agreed that the Resolute looked like a remarkably slippery craft.

Pitching of Heck and Hammond Features the Game.

TEAM HITTING WAS TIMELY

Bierbauer Gets Two Doubles in Four Times Up—Mullen Also Hit Two-Bagger.

Chillicothe, Ohio, April 24.—Chillicothe, champions of the Ohio State League, fell before the masterly pitching of Hammond and Heck and the timely hitting of Lamy, Mullen and Bierbauer. Genuine pepper characterized the London side of the game, together with good judgment on the bases. The champs, put up a good article of ball, but superior team work and ability told the story. Goshorn started out with a world of speed and curves, but did not last long. Hammond, on the other hand, never seemed to worry. Whitcraft's error, followed by a sacrifice and a hit, scored the only run for the champs. The same teams play here tomorrow and Sunday.

OVER TWO THOUSAND ATHLETES IN RELAY

Philadelphia, April 25.—Nearly 2,500 college and school athletes including many champions, took part in the annual relay carnival of the University of Pennsylvania today on Fraternity Field.

The meet started at 1 o'clock with the grammar school relays, the four-mile championship being scheduled for 5:40 p.m.

Jim Flynn Drops Under Coffey's Straight Right

New York, April 24.—Jim Coffey, the Dublin giant, knocked out Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman, in the fourth round of a ten-round match here tonight. A straight right to the point of the jaw ended the contest after two minutes and forty seconds of fighting in the fourth round. Flynn was knocked down several times in earlier rounds and took the count twice before receiving the knockout blow in the fourth.

CHURCH LEAGUES WANT QUEEN'S PARK DIAMOND

Have Not Yet Secured It, But Will Organize It When They Do.
The committee in charge of the local Church Baseball League met in the Y. M. C. A. parlors last night and announced that they were ready to get down to business for the ensuing season as soon as the water commissioners would notify them that they could use the Queen's Park diamond.

AUTO RACERS DOING TRIALS ON SPEEDWAY

Indianapolis, April 25.—Preliminary workouts for the five-hundred-mile race on the Indianapolis motor speedway, May 30, have begun. Gil Anderson, last year's eastern road racing champion, being the first to take the track, in a Stutz, with Howard Wilcox, holder of the world's stock straightaway record of 49.32 seconds for a mile, a close second, at the wheel of a special Gry Fox. Both men made sensationally fast time, negotiation the entire circuit close to ninety miles an hour. Further arrivals scheduled in the near future are Barney Oldfield, who will report May 1, Bob Burman, and Ray Harroun, who wants to try out one of the new Maxwells that he has guaranteed to do the lap in 1:37.

FIVE TEAMS WILL BATTLE IN HOUGH CUP SOCCER SERIES

Stratford, April 24.—In the Hough cup series this year five collegiate teams will battle. The entries have closed and are as follows: Wingham High School, St. Mary's Collegiate, Woodstock College, Berlin Collegiate, Galt Collegiate. As last year, an elimination series will be played. The teams having been drawn as follows: Galt and Berlin, Woodstock and St. Mary's, Wingham a bye.

JOHN COX ELECTED TO THE PRESIDENCY OF QUOTING CLUB

Annual Meeting of Forest City Club Held Last Evening—Windsor and Delaware Clubs Invited Here.

The Forest City Quoting Club held its annual meeting in the Dominion House last evening and it proved to be one of the most enthusiastic and largely attended meetings held by the club for several years.

Two Trophies Needed.
A committee was appointed to secure two trophies for the big tournament, which takes place every fall. Both trophies were captured last fall permanently, and the club will have to secure new ones for this year's big event. No difficulty is expected from this source. The trophies needed are for the heavyweight and lightweight events.

Deneau's Team Will Be Brants, Not the Red Sox.
Brantford, April 25.—Lattime, second baseman, was let out this morning, reducing the players to fifteen, with three yet to report: Pitcher Worfel, who is sick; Pitcher Gehring, suspended, and Johnny Nelson, third baseman. It has been decided to call the team the Brants, dropping the name Red Sox in future.

COMMERCIAL LEAGUE ORGANIZED LAST NIGHT

Four Teams Were Represented at Enthusiastic Meeting. WILL HAVE SIX CLUBS
Three Outside Men Will Be Allowed to Play on Each of the Clubs.

The Commercial Baseball League held a meeting last evening and reorganized for the coming season. Four teams were represented — Oriens, Nolan-McLeods, Greene-Swifts and McCormicks. Some discussion arose about making the league a commercial one entirely and allowing only teams from business or manufacturing concerns to enter. This would have barred the Orient club—last year's champions. It was pointed out that the Orient Club had an advantage over the other teams in the league in that it could recruit its players from the whole city, while the others could only take them from the firm represented by the team.

President—Ward Casselman. Vice-President—Jack Gilmore. Secretary—Treasurer—C. A. Lawton. The games will be played at Tecumseh Park between the hours of 6 and 8 o'clock, as in past seasons. It is likely a couple more teams will enter and make a six-team league. The Manhattan Club and St. Peter's are the probable teams to enter.

PHILLIES BEAT THE GIANTS Brooklyn Beat Boston by Batting Perdue Hard—Cubs Win on Three Hits.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 24.—St. Louis broke Pittsburg's winning streak of seven straight games today at the expense of Bob Harmon, who made his first appearance of the season against his old comrades. They batted him for six hits and five runs in the second inning. Kauttner, a northwestern recruit, took his place and in turn was relieved by Conzelmann, the former Brown University star. Perritt, for St. Louis, pitched a steady game.

MONTY OF POLO FAME COMES BACK

J. M. ("Monty") Waterbury, captain of the American polo team, has returned from abroad. He says the British team in Madrid, and the Yankees must get busy right away if they wish to retain the international title, won last year.

PERDUE HIT HARD IN FIRST FOUR FRAMES

Boston, April 24.—Batting Perdue freely in the first four innings, Brooklyn defeated the Boston Nationals today 8 to 1. Conzelmann, who succeeded Perdue, held the visitors to three scattered hits, but was wild, issuing seven passes. Two of these, followed by Wheat's home run, gave Brooklyn three runs in the seventh. Boston was unable to bunt hits off Conzelmann except in the final inning.

DOOIN'S MEN TAKE ANOTHER FROM GIANTS

New York, April 24.—Philadelphia batted in five runs against Frumme's pitching in a third of an inning today and the New York team lost 8 to 2. Marquard and Witte also were hit hard by the Quaker sluggers. Marshall, the Philadelphia pitcher, was especially effective in the pinches.

St. Louis, April 24.—The Browns went 12 innings before they finally put across the run necessary to beat Detroit today 6 to 5. Shotton's single in the twelfth with two gone and Leary on third set the decisive bases—Score: Browns, 6; Tigers, 5.

INDIANS MAKE IT THREE FROM BRONCS

Newark, April 24.—The Indians made it three straight from the Bronchos today, the score being 3 to 1. Curtis made his debut of the season and would have had a shutout credited to him but for slippage by Eddie Zimmerman and Manager Harry Smith on the same play, the latter allowing the run to score by a muff at first base.

RED SOX AGAIN WIN FROM WASHINGTON

Washington, April 24.—Boston made two straight today by winning a well-played game with Washington, 6 to 3. Washington outbatted the visitors, but three consecutive bases on balls in the third inning by Engel, followed by Lewis' double, gave Boston three runs. Two more were made in the ninth on a hit by Janvris and a sacrifice, followed by a successful double steal by Scott and Cartright.

ROYALS GET EVEN BREAK WITH SKETERS

Jersey City, N. J., April 24.—Montreal concluded its Jersey City visit with another victory over the Sketers this afternoon, making it an even break in the series. The final score was 2 to 0. Timely hits and good base running were the winning factors for the Royals, backed up by the good pitching of Couchman, who reduced the Jersey City batting averages by holding them to five hits. Montreal got the lead on a sacrifice by White, a triple and Keller's single in the first round.

Brantford, April 24.—Five blue slips were handed out this morning and the Red Sox roster is smaller by that number. Further releases will be made Saturday night, by which time the regular team will be about selected. The five let out this morning were Johnson and Nichol outfielders from Toronto; Rice, catcher and Hallbach, third baseman from Meriden, Conn., and Carr, outfielder from Springfield, Ohio. One reason why the releases were made so early in the season is that a number of other teams at the present time, which they would prefer to go through his legs. One score on the error and two hits followed, scoring Curtis. Score: Deneau, 5; Recruits, 0.

FEDERALS WILL ONLY FIGHT KILLIFER CASE

Chicago, April 24.—The Federal League has given up its plans for making a court fight to regain Gardner, Williams and Kahler and other players, with the exception of Killifer, according to a statement made today by President Gilmore. The league will ask Judge Sessions of the United States court for the western district of Michigan for a rehearing of its case against Killifer, and should the judge refuse it the league will appeal to the supreme court. Otherwise the league will let the courts alone.

"Done To A Turn" THE UTTER CRUST. By the Author of HE COMES UP SMILING, THE MYSTERIOUS "CHARLES SHERMAN".

"This is Holmes, Joe Holmes, the new chauffeur," said he shortly. Algernon bowed gracefully in the doorway, and seeing the cook about to draw out her chair, and pausing a moment to regard the newcomer with frank curiosity...

"What's my chair," she said sharply. "And my pleasure," said Algernon, with a gallant bow and a gesture for her to be seated.

The girl flushed, and Algernon grew visibly more embarrassed and every minute a bit more laughing. His head went up, and in the logs of the fire, the horse blanket he looked like a Roman rather than a newly-engaged chauffeur of no references.

"How do I look?" she asked. "Up there, with a nod toward the roof of the great house, we are mistress and man, but down here we are just two people."

"Does not your mother know that you are a chauffeur?" she asked diffidently. "They took the narrow path through the woods, she is right, in that sense."

"No," said the girl, frowning. "I mean now, when she can see you and know you are doing as she wants." "She will see me then," murmured Algernon. "Unless," he added, "you would visit the sins of the children upon the mother."

Ingersoll, April 24.—That she saw him leave the house on the night of the fire, going towards the house that was destroyed and that several times since that time she had been told to tell nothing of his movements, was in substance, the allegation of Mrs. Near, his housekeeper until recently, at the preliminary trial today of Nelson Sharp on a charge of arson.

"What's my chair," she said sharply. "And my pleasure," said Algernon, with a gallant bow and a gesture for her to be seated.

The girl flushed, and Algernon grew visibly more embarrassed and every minute a bit more laughing. His head went up, and in the logs of the fire, the horse blanket he looked like a Roman rather than a newly-engaged chauffeur of no references.

Further Increase Expected—Fresh Eggs and Lettuce in Great Demand.

While the attendance of buyers and sellers on the local market this morning was not large, it was larger than was expected.

On account of the farmers being in the midst of seeding, it was predicted, that today's market would be small.

The supply of butter was larger than that of any day this week; notwithstanding that fact, prices advanced, roll butter being quoted at 20c per pound and crock butter, at 23c and 28c.

Fresh eggs were scarce and sold firm at 20 and 21 cents per dozen.

Rhubarb was offered in large quantities, but the prices remained unchanged as there was an increased demand.

Vegetables were scarce and demand was greater than the supply, the prices of green onions, watercress and parsley remained unchanged.

Patatoes and apples were scarce and the prices were slightly firmer.

A smaller supply of cabbages than usual was offered, but the prices did not change.

Cheese dropped slightly in price, quotations ranging from 12 to 13 cents per pound.

Flowers were in great profusion, and sales were made briskly.

CHILDREN HATE OIL, CALOMEL AND PILLS

"California Syrup of Figs" Best for Tender Stomach, Liver, Bowels.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups, plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

CUT THIS OUT

Famous Specialist's Recipe For Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises.

If you know someone who is troubled with head noises, or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand to them, and you will have the means of saving some poor sufferers perhaps from total deafness. Recent experiments have proved conclusively that catarrhal deafness, head noises, etc., were the direct cause of constitutional disease, and that salves, sprays, inhalers, etc., merely temporize, with the complaint, and seldom, if ever, effect a permanent cure. This being so, much time and money has been spent of late by a noted specialist in perfecting a pure, gentle, effective tonic that would quickly dispel all traces of the catarrhal poison from the system. The effective prescription which was eventually formulated, and which has aroused the belief that deafness will soon be extinct, is given below in understandable form, so that anyone can treat themselves in their own home at little expense.

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parment (Double Strength), about 75c worth. Take this home, and add to it ½ pint of hot water and 1 oz. of moist or granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose promptly ends the most distressing head noises, headache, dizziness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus dripping in the back of the throat are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are quickly overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent of ear troubles are directly caused by catarrh, therefore there are but few people whose hearing cannot be restored by this simple home treatment. Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness, or catarrh in any form should give this prescription a trial. There is nothing better.

Important—In ordering Parment always specify that you want Double Strength; your druggist has it or he can get it for you; if not, send 75c to the International Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine Street, Montreal, P. Q., who make a specialty of it.—Adv't.

FOURTEEN HOMELESS IN FIRE AT EXETER

Blaze Started in Roof From a Defective Chimney.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Exeter, April 24.—Albert Willard, his wife and twelve children are homeless as a result of a fire which completely destroyed their dwelling just north of town tonight. Mr. Willard was in Crediton getting a load of the when neighbors noticed the roof blazing. They at once rushed to the assistance of Mrs. Willard and the children succeeded in saving a small quantity of the furniture which was being cared for by neighbors. They were sent to Exeter for help and the fire engine went out and in this way the fire was prevented from spreading to the stables close by. The Willard family is being cared for by neighbors. The fire started upstairs it is believed from a defective chimney and spread quickly through the roof.

CAN'T ADVISE FATHER OF HIS SON'S DEATH

All Efforts to Locate Lucan Man in West Fall.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Lucan, April 23.—The funeral of Ernest McDougall, the young traveler who died in Winnipeg recently after a few days' illness with typhoid fever, held at St. James' Cemetery today, was very largely attended. The services were conducted by Rev. Wm. Lowe.

A pathetic feature in connection with the young man's death is that his father is somewhere in the west, probably near Winnipeg, but all efforts to notify him of his son's death have proven unsuccessful.

The pallbearers at the funeral today were Ernest Abbott, Alex. Scell, Fred Mowbray, Duncan McVicar, James Shipley, and Joseph Murray.

The remains were accompanied from Winnipeg by Fred Mowbray, Mr. Mowbray will return next Tuesday, accompanied by his sister, Laella.

Successful Stock Sale.

The sale of stock held at Richard Hicks yesterday, was a great success. It was well attended, and cows sold as high as $85. The proceeds totaled about $3,000.

DEPOSITORS TO GET BACK MONEY LOST

Finance Minister Has Resolution to Help Farmers' Bank Customers.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, April 24.—The depositors of the Farmers' Bank are to be paid the money they lost through its failure. It is understood that the shareholders will not be reimbursed.

Finance Minister White has given notice of a resolution making good the pledges given by Conservative candidates in the last campaign. The notice of the finance minister declares "That it is expedient to provide that there may be paid and applied out of the consolidated revenue fund of Canada a sum not exceeding $1,200,000 to pay to persons who are creditors for money on deposit in the Farmers' Bank of Canada the respective amounts standing at their credit on the books of the bank when the bank suspended payment."

The Real Secret of Rejuvenating the Face

She holds the true secret of facial rejuvenation who has learned how to remove the dead skin particles as fast as they appear. It's a secret anyone may possess. The aged, faded or discolored surface skin may be gradually absorbed, by the nightly application of ordinary mercurized wax. Within a week or two the underlying skin, youthful and beautiful, has taken the place of the discarded cuticle. So little of the old skin is absorbed each day there's no inconvenience at all, and no one suspects you are putting anything on your face. The mercurized wax, procurable at any drugstore, is as effective as the best thing known for freckles, blackheads, pimples, moles, patches, liver spots and fine surface wrinkles.

For the deeper wrinkles, an excellent recipe is: Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in ½ pint witch hazel. Rubbing the face in the evening produces quick and wonderful results.—Adv't.

FERRETIAL CHARGE WILL BE MADE AGAINST HANNA

Result of Inspector Snider's Part in Canada Temperance Campaigns.

C. M. BOWMAN THE ACCUSER

North Bruce to Demand Investigation by Committee of Legislature.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, April 24.—Contrary to general expectation, the Legislature did not complete its business for prorogation today, and the House adjourned at 6 o'clock this afternoon to set to work again on Monday next.

The reason for this is that a formal charge is to be laid in the House next week connecting Hon. W. J. Hanna, provincial secretary, with the participation of Provincial License Inspector Snider in the recent campaigns under the Canada Temperance Act in Huron, Peel and Welland counties.

The charge will be made by C. M. Bowman, member for North Bruce, on his responsibility as a member of the House and he will demand an investigation either by a select committee or the committee on privileges and elections.

This, to some extent, will reproduce the situation of a year ago when the committee on privileges and elections heard charges preferred by William Brewster, Centre Huron, against the provincial secretary in connection with the taking of campaign contributions from Government contractors.

The Snider episode has been more or less in the order papers all session, and only Wednesday a motion by Mr. Bowman asking for a select committee was voted down. The significant part of the debate was that both Hon. J. J. Roy and Hon. E. L. Macdonald came to the defense of the provincial secretary, but it was voted down after a brief discussion.

Financial Provisions Attacked.

After the second reading of the supply bill, Mr. Bowman again raised the question of the propriety of the financial provisions made by the Government for carrying on the public services. Taking all the available sources of revenue into consideration, including the authorized borrowing, the member for North Bruce said there would be a deficit of between three and three and one-half millions of dollars at the end of the present fiscal year in all the voting branches. The estimates were completed. The situation was serious and if not remedied would result in direct taxation. Mr. Bowman charged Mr. Bowman with pessimism, and declared that the Government would go on with its progressive work feeling confident that the people of the province would support any measures necessary to raise the money required.

The House spent most of the day in odds and ends of legislation.

Dr. Seath's Attack.

It was the first day of the morning sittings and Mr. Marshall (Monk) took the lead in resenting with some show of bitterness an attack recently made upon him by Dr. John Seath, superintendent of education. It was an unparliamentary piece of presumption, he said, for a civil servant to make an attack upon a member of the House, and for that purpose making use of the files of the department. In giving the House a serious report made by Dr. Seath himself upon his recent inspection of the schools, the superintendent of education had not been true or fair, for if he had consulted the files he would have found that his (Mr. Marshall's) record was in keeping with that of the best teachers in the province.

Dr. Pyne Blames the Supper.

Dr. Pyne tried to pass the matter over as being caused by a bad supper, but a subsequent motion by Dr. James MacQueen (North Wentworth) to protest against Dr. Seath's manifest presumption required the force of the whole party majority to vote it down.

The Opposition went on record on this occasion by calling upon the Government for "information and leadership in dealing with the finances of the University of Toronto," which were declared by the board of governors to be in a serious condition. The motion was submitted as an amendment to the motion to go into supply and completed the main estimates for next year.

COWDRAY GETTING ANXIOUS

Answer Regarding Safety of Foreigners in Mexico.

London, April 24.—A cabled appeal from the American manager of the Tehuantepec railway led Lord Cowdray to visit the British foreign office and the United States embassy today to request protection for the foreign employees of the line. Eighty per cent of the employees are American citizens, and according to the cablegram from the manager, the Mexican authorities are threatening them with arrest and forbidding them to depart from Mexico.

The embassy told him that the American consul would be at Salina Cruz on the Pacific side and that the Nashville will arrive at Puerto Mexico, on the Atlantic side today.

SCHMIDT BLAMES ANOTHER

Now Says That He Did Not Kill Anna Amuller.

New York, April 24.—District Attorney Whitman today received a letter from Hans Schmidt, the former priest, awaiting execution for the murder of Anna Amuller, in which Schmidt charges another man with the crime. He declares that the Amuller girl died as the result of a criminal operation performed by a man whom he named. He admitted that he had himself disposed of the body, and also admitted that he had shammed insanity during his trial. Mr. Whitman said Schmidt also had written to Governor Glynn begging that his sentence of death be commuted to life imprisonment. The district attorney, it is understood, placed little credence in Schmidt's new story.

CLUBS TO BE INSPECTED

Toronto, April 24.—Before the public accounts committee today, Chief Inspector Brown, of the Toronto liquor license commission, stated that there were no instructions for the inspection of clubs as there were for hotels and liquor shops. As a result of this, a move will be made to protect the clubs against fires by a system of rigid inspection, the same as hotels.

The ropes that are used in hotels, and which are fastened to the bottom of the windows will be placed over the window at the top so that there will be some chance of them being used in cases of fire.

REWARDED HIS RESCUER

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Quebec, April 24.—Thirty-nine years ago James O'Brien, now license inspector for South Wellington, rescued George P. Armstrong from drowning in Birge's Dam on the River Speed. Mr. Armstrong who is now a professor on the staff of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass., has never forgotten Mr. O'Brien's act. Today he dropped into the inspector's office and presented him with a handsome gold watch as a token of his appreciation.

Every Stiff Joint Limbered, Rheumatism Cured!

That Old Family Remedy "Nerviline" Is Guaranteed For the Worst Cases.

Cures Neuralgia, Backache, Lumbago.

Rheumatism to-day is unnecessary. It is so well understood and so readily curable that every day we have reports of old chronic being freed of their torment.

"I can speak confidently of the Nerviline treatment for the simple reason that it cured me," writes Albert B. Cornelius, from Kingston. "You can't imagine how stiff and lame and sore I was. Nights at a time I couldn't sleep well. I followed the Nerviline directions carefully—had it rubbed into the sore regions four or five times every day. Every rubbing helped to reduce the pain. The swelling went down. I got a fair measure of relief in a week. I also took two Ferrozine Tablets with my meals. They increased my appetite and spirits, purified my blood, and toned up my system generally. I am as well to-day as a man could be—in perfect good health. I give Nerviline all the credit."

A large family size bottle of Nerviline costs only 50c, or the trial size 25c, and is useful in a hundred ills in the family. Whether it's toothache, earache, headache, neuralgia, lame back or a cold, Nerviline will cure just as readily as it will cure rheumatism. For family use nothing equals Nerviline.

JAPAN WILL OBSERVE STRICT NEUTRALITY

Premier Gives This Assurance, Saying Question is Not Worrying His Country.

[Canadian Press.]
Tokyo, Japan, April 25.—Count Shigenobu Okuma, the Japanese Premier, in a statement given to the Associated Press today on the Mexican situation, says: "Japan is paying no special attention to the American-Mexican question. The present situation is of no direct interest to Japan, but if a declaration of war is issued, Japan will, of course, observe strict neutrality. But Japan has made no official declaration as yet, owing to the fact that there has been no declaration of war."

A SANGUINARY BATTLE

Constitutionalists Make Separate Attack on Tampico.

[Canadian Press.]
Juarez, April 25.—An official report from Constitutional sources predicts the early fall of Tampico into the rebel hands. The report declares that the rebel commander Caballero, called on the federal general to surrender the city and fight it out in the open. The latter declined both proposals, and the report said a furious attack, characterized by sanguinary street fighting, began and continued all day.

ALGARA IN TORONTO VERY NON-COMMITTAL

Secretary Bryan Denies That Prisoners Had Been Executed at Orizaba and Has Appealed for Release.

[Canadian Press.]
Washington, April 25.—Secretary Bryan said today that he had notified British Ambassador Spring-Rice of the reported arrest of a British subject at Orizaba. He was one of twenty foreign railroad employees, nineteen of them Americans, who were reported arrested. Mr. Bryan denied the report that these prisoners had been executed, and stated that the Brazilian consulate has been appealed to for their release.

SEVEN AMERICAN PRISONERS; FOUR ARE LIKELY TO DIE

Vera Cruz, April 24.—Seven Americans, prisoners of Mexican soldiers, are being held at Cordoba, or Orizaba, on the line of the Mexican Railway between here and the capital, four of whom at least are threatened with execution, according to authentic information received here tonight.

Four of the Americans were taken from a train on the Vera Cruz-Isthmus Line at Tierra Blanca, and further along at Matzolonzo Station, three other Americans and an Englishman were seized. Those captured at Tierra Blanca are: W. A. Maunz, superintendent of the railroad; Engineer E. H. D. Cook, chief engineer of the Isthmus Railway; J. O. Schneider, J. D. Longston, C. D. Harrison, wife, and children, and Mr. and Mrs. George McComber.

An indirect report received here today from Mexico City said that a mob attempted to burn the terminal of the Mexican Railway, but was prevented by President Huerta's troops.

The Mexicans are confiscating all the locomotives and rolling stock of the Mexican Railway, and concentrating them at Apizaco, and four's run south of the capital. All the engineers of that line have been held, and sent to Orizaba. The train dispatcher at Orizaba was arrested, but released later and told to leave.

PLACES CANAL ZONE ON STRICTLY WAR FOOTING

Col. Goethals Takes Precaution Because of the Press Anti-American Sentiment.

[Canadian Press.]
Panama, April 24.—Col. George W. Goethals, governor of the Panama Canal zone, today issued orders placing the canal zone on a strictly war footing. He instructed Major Goethardt, commanding the Tenth Infantry, to send three companies of infantry to patrol the Gatun Locks and one each for duty at the Miraflores and Pedro Miguel locks. The soldiers were given 100 rounds of ammunition each and will camp near the locks.

The operating machinery of all the locks will be securely locked up and the keys placed in the possession of Col. Goethals. It is understood that coast artillery companies will be distributed among the fortifications on Flamenco and Culebra islands, at the Pacific end of the canal, and also at Toro Point and other forts at the Atlantic end.

The action of Col. Goethals is believed to have been the result of anti-American sentiment contained in the fly sheets which were mailed yesterday in the streets of Panama and also expressed editorially in El Diario, which is strongly pro-Mexican.

There are 250 Mexican employees on the canal and their presence probably also had something to do with the action of Col. Goethals.

Garcia Rodriguez, a Mexican resident of this city, was arrested today by the Panama authorities at the request of the canal zone police. He is charged with making inflammatory anti-American speeches and probably will be deported.

TAMPICO DESERTED BY U. S. CRUISERS

[Canadian Press.]
Tampico, Mex., April 24.—(Via Vera Cruz).—Great apprehension was caused here today when it was reported that the American resident in Tampico had been advised to leave the country immediately. The scout cruiser Chester cleared for action and steamed down the river. The gunboat Dolphin also cleared for action, followed her and both vessels saluted the British cruiser Hermione as they passed. Then came the Des Moines with her gun crews standing ready at the guns.

The three vessels disappeared round the bend of the river and passed out to sea, where it was understood the Des Moines would remain off the port while the rest of the American vessels proceeded to Vera Cruz. The disappearance of the protecting ships astonishment and dismay among the American residents, who were unable to believe they had been deliberately abandoned on what appeared to be the eve of hostilities in the midst of a population known to cherish feelings of bitter hatred against Americans.

FRENCHMAN POKES FUN AT PACIFICISTS

Says They Have Done Nothing in Mexico, Not Even Talk.

[Canadian Press.]
Paris, April 25.—George Clemenceau, former French premier, writing on the subject of Mexico in the Home Libré, pokes fun at the pacifists who, he says, have done nothing—not even talk. He adds:

This is not very encouraging for the peoples to whom the pacifists have proposed to defend their countries otherwise than by arms against invading neighbors. That must be the reflection of the worthy Mexicans as they watch the pacifist jurist, President Wilson, knocking down their houses with his shells, for the sole reason that the excuses made to him were not equal to his indignation.

GOVERNMENT INVITES GOVERNMENT TO RESIGN

Mr. Burnham Exasperated by Failure to Deal With Ocean Rates.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, April 24.—The Government was tonight invited to resign by one of its followers, Mr. Burnham, of Peterboro, the administration failure to deal with the problem of ocean freight rates exasperated Mr. Burnham to the point of revolt.

"Surely," he declared with warmth, "the Government is not going to throw up its hand and say that it can do nothing. If it finds it can do nothing it should resign and give place to another Government. Speaking in a general way I say that if the Government finds it cannot do things it should make way for others."

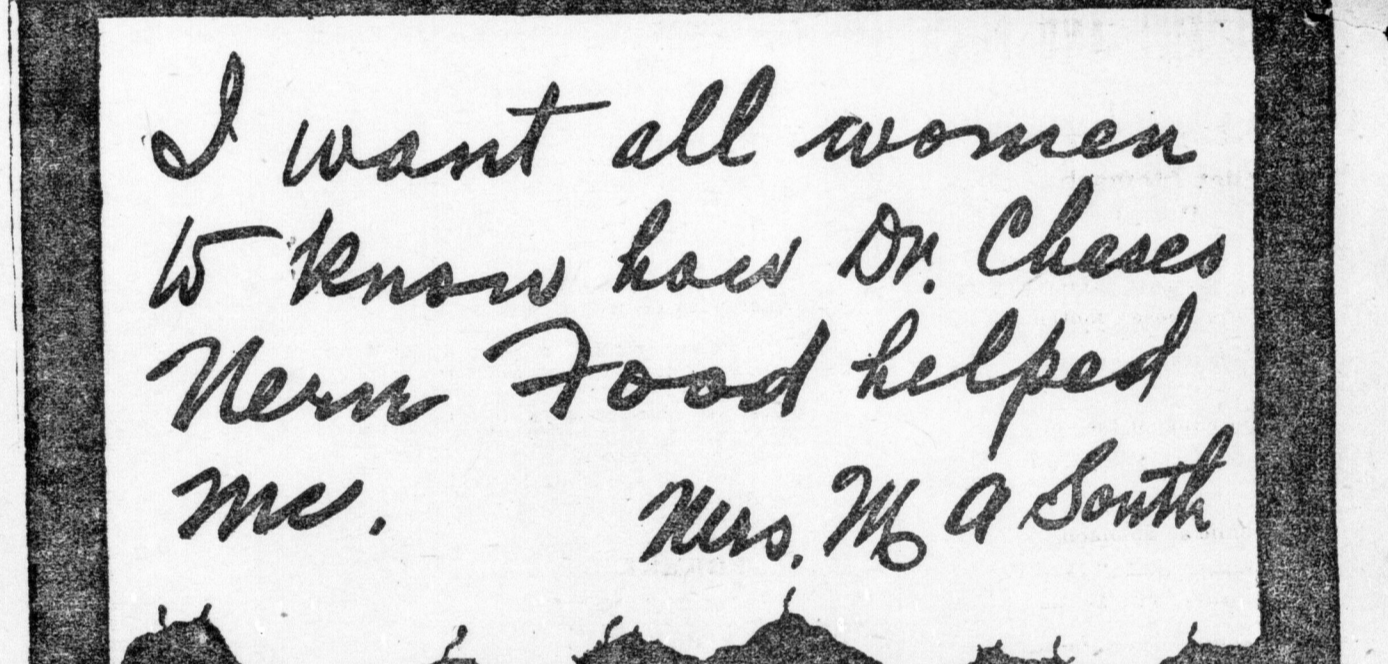

In committee of supply on trade and commerce estimates Liberal members and Dr. Steele from the Conservative side pressed Hon. Mr. Foster for vigorous Government action to break the ocean steamship combine.

He suggested, remedy in the form of a government owned ocean line to compete and regulate rates.

Hon. Mr. Foster replied unfavorably to the idea of a Government line of ships and intimated that the question of controlling ocean rates was a most difficult one. The remedy was not clear.

I want all women to know how Dr. Chase's Nerve Food helped me. Mrs. M. A. South

A Message to Women

From one who has learned to appreciate Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Modern life whether in the office, factory or home means an enormous strain on the more delicate nervous system of women. Whether it is the girl behind the counter or the lady going the round of society functions, the nerves are at high tension and require an abundance of rich, red blood if health is to be maintained.

Because Dr. Chase's Nerve Food forms new, rich blood, it is eminently successful in curing the ailments which cause the greater part of woman's suffering and has become a duty popular among those who have learned of its merits.

Mrs. M. A. South, Grand Prairie, Alta., writes:—"I cannot begin to tell you how much good Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has done me. I was all run down, had no appetite, and suffered each month in a way only women will understand. After having followed this treatment for some weeks I feel like a different woman, sleep well, have a good appetite and am able to do my own work, even during the time that I formerly had so much suffering. I have no pains whatever now, which is an entirely new experience for me. You may publish this letter as I want all women to know how Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has helped me, and I feel sure it will do as much for any woman."

California Raisin Day Thursday, April 30th

Everybody should eat Raisin Bread. Raisin Day was established in 1909 as a result of the work of James Horsburgh, Jr., G. P. A., Southern Pacific Railroad Company. Its object is to popularize the raisin as an article of diet and increase its consumption by making the price sufficiently low and educating the great mass of the people to its wonderful nourishing qualities. The greatest medical authorities of the day pronounce the raisin the best of all foods, and has maintained its position as a leading article of diet for 4,000 years and is growing in popularity daily.

VENTILATION OF HOME EXPLAINED BY DR. HILL

Interesting Address Given by Dr. Hill Before the Union Mothers' Club.

An interesting and instructive address on "New Ventilation" was given by Dr. H. W. Hill before the Union Mothers' Club at the Institute of Public Health on Thursday evening. Dr. Hill showed himself to be no faddist but a scientific reasoner, and gave those who attended plenty of food for thought. It was pointed out that the old idea of ventilation was that, having used up all the oxygen in a room, fresh air must be brought in from the outside. The new ventilation entirely discards this idea, and lays down as the condition for pure air proper temperature and proper relative humidity in constant motion. A place may be said to be properly ventilated, said the speaker, when there are sixty degrees of heat and sixty degrees of relative humidity. The ordinary house in winter usually has about seventy degrees of heat and thirty-nine degrees of relative humidity, showing a great waste of coal, so that by having properly ventilated homes a great saving in the coal bill might be made, while greater comfort might be secured. In order to get the proper relative humidity in the home several plans were offered, one of which was to have a pail of water in the hot air register. The relative humidity may be determined by the wet and dry bulb of the hygro metre. At the close of his lecture, Dr. Hill showed a number of lantern slides of germs, and a lengthy discussion followed. The president of the club, Mrs. H. B. White, presided.

FORMER LONDONER IS OLDEST DISPATCHER

Thomas Robertson, Now of St. Thomas, Has Completed Fiftieth Year. St. Thomas, April 24.—St. Thomas owns the distinction of having as a citizen, the oldest active train dispatcher in America. Some time ago a letter of inquiry as to the length of active service was circulated through the different lodges of railway train dispatchers throughout the country, and it was elicited that Thomas Robertson, the well-known Michigan Central dispatcher, of this city, had been dispatching trains longer than any other member, having just rounded out his fiftieth year. Mr. Robertson was a dispatcher for the Grand Trunk Railway at London for a number of years, and came to St. Thomas to enter the service of the old Canada Southern, who that road was built, and has remained in the same office nearly thirty-five years.

HANDSOME PRESENTATIONS FOR CURATE AND DEAN

Rev. S. R. Heakes Made Recipient of Purse of Gold and Illuminated Address by Friends.

REV. S. R. HEAKES.

Rev. Samuel R. Heakes, curate of Cronyn Memorial Church, was made the recipient of a magnificently illuminated address and a purse of gold amounting to over $600 by the members of the church last night, on the occasion of his farewell for the summer months and in appreciation of the services rendered for the past two years, which he gave absolutely free. The presentation took place in the Boys' Club room of the church, situated over the East End Bank of Toronto building, and was attended by many members of the congregation and a host of personal friends.

The address was read by F. G. Jewell, the purse of gold being presented by M. D. Fraser, K. C.

Mr. Heakes, in reply, stated that his relations with the congregation had always been most pleasant and cordial and expressed his deep appreciation of their kind gift.

A short program was carried out afterwards. Miss Patti McLaren sang several songs in most pleasing voice and was given her. Miss Florence Egglestone rendered several difficult selections on the violin. Miss Raymond acted as accompanist.

Light refreshments were served afterwards by the ladies present.

A Miniature Grand Piano a Favorite in Many Canadian Homes, and Why.

The Miniature Grand Piano manufactured by Ye Olde Firm Heintzman & Co., Ltd., is a piano that in style of architecture is similar to a Boudoir Grand or a Concert Grand, but is smaller in size than either. What is more important, however, it possesses all the properties and musical features of the larger grand. The same power and beauty of tone is there, and the same delightful touch. The case is built of a series of longitudinal hardwood in one continuous length, which adds wonderfully to the acoustic properties of the piano. Our readers are invited to visit the warehouses of this House at 242 Dundas street, London, and inspect one of these beautiful instruments. A 11.15.25.

Rev. Dean Davis Is Presented With Cabinet of Silver as Appreciation of Long Service.

REV. DEAN DAVIS.

"I hope Dean Davis will live to do another forty years' service in St. James' parish," declared Rev. Canon George B. Sage at the reception given by the congregation to Rev. Dean Davis and Mrs. Davis in St. James' School house last evening, and the wish seemed to be the expression of all in the gathering.

On behalf of the congregation, T. H. Main presented the dean with a cabinet of silver in recognition of his long services in the parish, and an illuminated address. Dean Davis replied shortly, his reminiscences evoking considerable amusement.

City Mere Hamlet. Rev. Canon Sage, rector of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, stated that he had preached his first sermon in what is now St. James' Church, and then a mission in South London, then a mere hamlet, and he had gone out to what was known as the Common School, where he preached to nineteen people.

The address presented by Mr. Main read: "To the Very Rev. Dean Davis, M.A., Dean of Huron, Rector of the Parish Church of St. James, South London. 'Very Reverend and Dear Sir—Your parishioners and friends, on this, the occasion of the fortieth anniversary of your incumbency of the parish, join now in offering their congratulations, and wish you and Mrs. Davis and the members of your family many years of health and increased prosperity. We all feel that your long residence among us has been a special blessing to the members of your flock, and also to the community in which we live. Guelph, The Royal City, in Front Rank of Canadian Communities Is Eighty-Three Years Old and Progressing All Along the Line

The First City in the Dominion of Canada to Put the Principle of Municipal Ownership to the Test and Make a Success of It---Public Utilities Are Owned By City

A City of Beautiful Homes and Beautiful Surroundings, the Home of Several of Canada's Most Famous Institutions and Remarkable For the Big Business Done.

[By Staff Reporter.]

Guelph, April 24.—Ask visitors to Guelph to give you their impressions of that city, and nine times out of ten it will be "busy and beautiful," and if there is a happier condition than that for any community this side of the millennium, it has yet to be discovered. Guelph, the Royal City, the capital of Wellington County, stands right in the front rank of Ontario cities—view it from any angle, social, commercial, financial, physical. There is a brightness and breeziness about the place that charms the visitor at once. Broad avenue-like streets, kept scrupulously clean, that are spread over a slightly rolling land, give an impression of bigness and airiness. You are at once out in the open, yet in the midst of a thoroughly up-to-date city, and the combination is wonderfully attractive. There are none of the canyon-walled tunnels that in larger places pass for streets, and it would be impossible to imagine anything even approaching the nature of a slum ever taking root in Guelph. And if by some dark magic such an eyesore were to be suddenly thrust upon Guelph, it may be depended upon that Guelphites would wipe it out in the thorough and speedy way in which they go about anything they tackle. Without ostentatiously doing it, the citizens have always been and still are working for the general good and happiness of the community, and the result is, as already stated, one of the cleanest, brightest and healthiest cities of this fair province.

The Pride of Guelph.

While not given to boasting, the average Guelphite, should he be in such a mood, has much to point with pride and satisfaction. To begin with Guelph is the leader in municipal ownership in the Dominion. It was the first municipality in Canada to own and operate all its public utilities with any degree of success, and this success has been so notable as to draw attention from many places throughout the Empire. The Guelph Junction Railway, the Guelph Radial Railway, the waterworks, electric light, heat and power plant, and the gas works are all owned by the public. The Guelph Junction Railway, which is composed of fifty-seven and a half miles of valuable steam track, has been leased to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company on the mileage and percentage basis, and at present the road is earning 25 per cent on the capital invested.

Cheap Transportation.

Then there is the Guelph Radial Railway, which has a system covering eight miles of track, with a fare of 25 cents for a dollar, including transfer privileges, that fare being good at all times. During 1912 over one million passengers were carried by the Guelph Radial Railway. The road is not run as a dividend-paying enterprise, but is operated for the benefit of the people, without loss to the city. The Dominion Government reports declare it one of the best systems in the province, both as to equipment and operation. The waterworks system is not surpassed anywhere in the Dominion, or for that matter on the continent of North America. There is an inexhaustible supply of spring water that thorough and frequent analysis has shown to be of the purest, and comparative figures show that in no place on the continent is Guelph surpassed in its water supply. No matter how hot or humid the weather, the temperature of the water never rises above 51 degrees. The plant is a new and up-to-date one and has a capacity of four and a half million gallons per 24 hours. The domestic pressure is 80 pounds per square inch, while that for fire is 200 pounds to the square inch. There are 28 miles of water mains, with three thousand services.

Power and Light.

Like London, Hamilton and Toronto, Guelph is brilliantly lighted, and has more lights than any other city of its size in Ontario, while there is an unlimited supply of hydro-electric developed at Niagara Falls. As for gas, there is only one other city in the Dominion that supplies gas to its citizens at a lower rate. Guelph's rate is 80 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for manufacturing purposes. There are 21 miles of mains and 3,000 services.

It may be objected that there is nothing attractive about these cold figures, but they show the up-to-dateness of Guelph, and are significant of the rapid and substantial progress that is being made by the Royal City.

But the Guelphite has other things to boast of, if he has an inclination that way, and there are times when a boast properly handed is a good deal of a boost. For instance, the Ontario Agricultural

GUELPH'S PROGRESS STEADY AND SURE

Many New Industries Have Come to Wellington's Capital in Last Two Years.

BIG ADVANCE IN DECADE

Building of Houses and Expansion of Business Plants to be Made This Spring.

[By Staff Reporter.]

Guelph, April 24.—The story is told of an aged Christian lady who, when questioned by her pastor as to when she had first decided to lead a Christian life, replied that she had been so busy for many years trying to do good and make progress that she could not recall when she had started. This illustrates the industrial life of the city of Guelph. Just when the Royal City started to move along, to progress, nobody knows and nobody cares much and anyway it is not essential, but if you should find a citizen down to a definite statement he will probably tell you that it was so long ago, he can't recall it, or else he will declare that it has always progressed. Anyway he is sure to state that the place has been too busy these many years moving up to its present high standing, to the forefront, to bother or care by whom it was started or when.

It may be stated that as a general thing Guelph's progress has been steady and sure, slow at times, but always advancing. Booms, in the Western sense of the word, are not and have never been popular here. Conservative rather than radical methods have been the rule. But if any more than usually rapid progress has been made it has been within the last ten years.

Many Big Industries.

Today the city of Guelph has eighty manufacturing industries, which have a total capital of $8,500,000. Ten years ago the total capital of Guelph's manufacturing concerns was $3,562,641. This shows an increase of about one hundred and forty per cent, according to the figures of 1912. In 1900 the product of the factories of the Royal City was $2,689,183, while in the year 1912 the output from the manufacturing plants of all kinds exceeded the sum of $9,250,000, showing an increase of one hundred and fifty per cent. In wages and salaries the sum of $364,536 was paid out in 1900. In 1912 the amount paid out to employees was $2,225,000, an increase of about 155 per cent.

Twelve New Concerns.

Industrially, however, it is within the last two years that the greatest progress has been made for some time and the credit for a good deal of this is due to Guelph's aggressive industrial commissioner and publicity man "Bob" MacDonald.

Since 1911 twelve new industries have come to the city and in 1913 the authorized capital of the concerns amounted to about $1,100,000, while the new factories started in that year gave employment to more than seven hundred hands. Some of the new concerns that have come to Guelph since 1911, are Canadian Ingot and Iron Company; London Manufacturing Company; Libby, McNeill & Libby, the great Chicago packing house; Sharer, Gillette & Co.; Laidlaw Lumber Company; Canadian Metal Products Company; Gilson Manufacturing Company; Aspinwall Manufacturing Company.

Guelph's cheap power, gas and electric has helped to considerable extent in attracting these strong industries, while another inducement is the city's central position which makes the distribution of products convenient. The transportation facilities are excellent, reaching in all directions. Guelph is on the main line of the Grand-Trunk as well as on the Wellington, Bruce and Grey division of the system. It is also on the Toronto, Hamilton and Godwin branches of the Canadian Pacific and the Toronto Suburban Electric Railway, which is owned and operated by the Canadian Northern.

And the outlook for a still further expansion is of the brightest. Building prospects this spring are most promising. There are not enough houses around and several companies are going extensively into the business of building workmen's houses. Besides this many of the older plants are planning to enlarge their premises which means additional work for skilled labor, and bigger pay rolls.

THE FOUNDING OF GUELPH

On Thursday, April 23, the city of Guelph was 87 years of age, for it was on the festival of St. George, in 1827, that the tree-felling exercises were held that marked the founding of the Royal City. John Galt and Dr. Dunlop drank a toast to its future prosperity, and the spot in the forest that was destined to become the site of a city was christened in honor of the royal race which was transplanted from Italy to Germany in the eleventh century, became the ruling power in several countries, and still continues in the two lines of Brunswick, the royal in England and the dual in Germany. The ceremonies that marked Guelph's natal day began when Galt, the distinguished Scotch novelist, who was then commissioner of the Canada Company, struck a blow with an axe on a lordly maple. A company of workmen were on hand to continue the work of making a clearing and building log houses, and they were interested participants in the ceremony. Dr. Dunlop then proposed a toast to which the commissioner responded, and which was loudly applauded by the workmen. John Galt, the father of Guelph, was born at Irvine, Ayrshire, in 1779, and died in Greenock in 1839. In addition to his labor as a Canadian pioneer, he wrote several novels that enjoyed a widespread popularity.

Titanic Job Is the Annual Housecleaning On Boats That Ply About Great Lakes

[By Staff Reporter.]

Sarnia, April 24.—Boats like houses must receive their annual house cleaning, and that operation is one of the most interesting and expensive experiences that a marine man will run up against during his career, and especially is this true of the manager of a large fleet of passenger and freight steamers, where the expense bills will amount to half a hundred thousand dollars, and the number of hands employed will total in the hundreds.

Now when a passenger boat is tied up for the winter months, the crew do not walk off the boat and let her take care of herself for the winter, but they spend several weeks in getting her in shape so that she will not be damaged during the months of rest.

The fittings of the machinery is greased and covered to keep off the rust, the grates of the boilers are removed, the furnishing of the cabins are packed away, the bed clothes, carpets and other furniture is taken away to the storeroom to be cleaned and repaired, and many other small but slow operations are carried out.

Out Come Scrub Brushes. About the first of April, the spirit of unrest gets into the sailors and they begin to congregate along the lakes and rivers, where they will sooner or later sign up for the season.

Then the "sougee mougees" and the scrub brushes make their appearance and the crew, along with a big gang of helpers, is put to work scrubbing every part of the big boat, and that is no little job. With plenty of hot water and Sougee the men attack the boat inside and out, and the way that the paint shows up under their operations, astonishes the townspeople. One week the boat may be dark and dingy, but after a few days of the scrub brush she will look as if she has been painted. This operation is also carried out by the crew during the summer, but the smoke and soot soon makes them grimy again.

After the boat has been scrubbed and scraped from keel to mast head, the painters are employed and they have to go over the inside and out of the steamer, giving two coats of paint to the hull, and one coat to the deck. When one thinks of the hundreds of small cabins in a big boat, one has some idea of the amount of time this will take. The rails are scraped of their old varnish and are then given a new coat. All the brass is cleaned, the floors washed, the windows repaired and polished and many hundreds of small things done.

A Big Job.

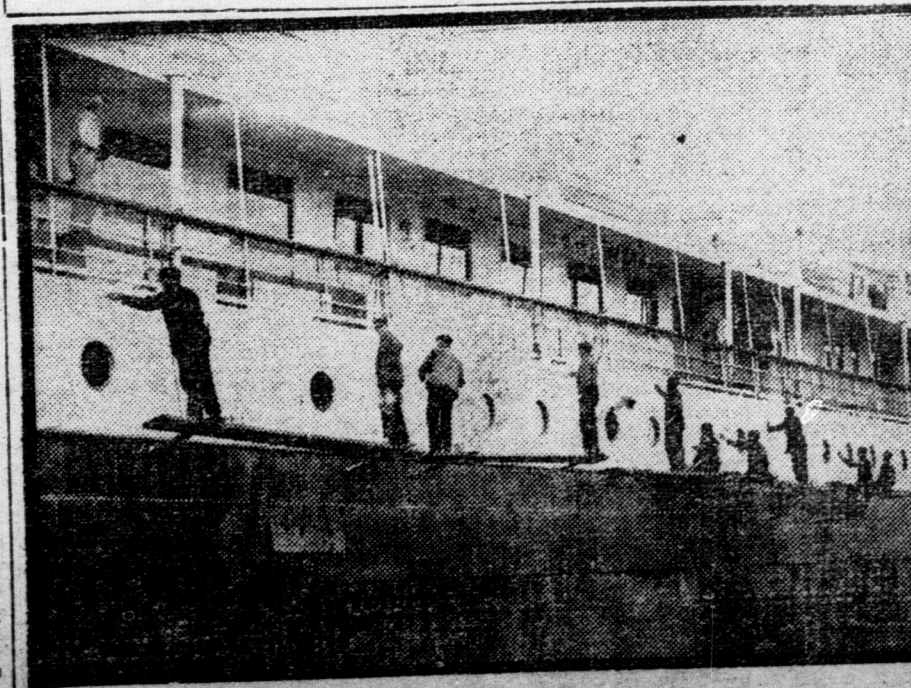

One passenger boat takes barrels of paint to cover it one coat and many men work 10 hours a day for weeks before the job is completed. These are not all skilled painters, but the better the man, the better the class of work that he is given.

While these operations have been going on the engineers and their assistants are very busy down in the engine and boiler rooms, where more work is being carried out, under the watchful eye of the chief engineer. Parts of the machinery that have become worn are removed and repairs made, while the grease is removed and the brass and steel polished to a high degree. Bright paint and metal polish is popular in most engine rooms.

All this time the steward has his

SUBSTANTIAL AND SOUND IS GUELPH'S BUSINESS; CITY IS ALSO AN IDEAL ONE FOR LIVING IN

[By Staff Reporter.]

Guelph, April 24.—Without exception visitors to this city, and there are many thousands in the course of a year, comment on the substantial business premises, retail, wholesale, manufacturing. There is a solidity and firmness about the buildings of industrial and commercial Guelph that at once inspires confidence. One gets the impression that they have come to stay, that they are strongly founded and will last for ever. And this very accurately reflects the safe and sane business methods that predominate here and which for years have given the city a financial standing unsurpassed in the province or for that matter in the Dominion. The Royal City's rating is A1, its financial reputation very high amongst manufacturers, capitalists and financiers the world over. Its credit is of the highest, the assets over the liabilities being at least two millions of dollars at the present moment. In its business transactions, in the establishment of new enterprises, in the expansion of established ones, there is a happy combination of the conservative and the progressive that tend to a safe yet speedy advance. In the city just now are seven branches of chartered banks and the aggregate capital of these institutions amounts to the sum of over fifty-eight millions of dollars. Besides this there are two loan and savings associations with an authorized capital of $11,000,000, of which $2,750,000 is paid up, the assets totalling $6,750,000.

The assessable property is valued at over ten millions of dollars, showing a gain of one hundred per cent. in the last decade.

A Fine Home City.

But while the average citizen will talk glowingly of the city's financial and industrial growth and expansion to get him really enthusiastic, one must broach the subject of the place as a city of homes. The fact that it covers a wide area, 3,200 acres, makes it an ideal place to live in, roomy, healthy and with that privacy so vital to the best home life, which is absent in so many cities.

And the municipality, looking after the best interest of the people along the physical as along other sides, has supplemented these pleasant conditions by establishing at various points no less than eight parks containing about 125 acres. Besides these there are two river rowing courses; certain parts of the speed furnishing splendid opportunities for boating and canoeing. The parks, river courses and shades are looked after and looked after well, by a commission. Add to this four miles of paved roads and seventy miles of gravelly walks, which enable pedestrian, motorist, rider or driver to get about speedily and pleasantly. Decidedly from a physical point of view Guelph is an attractive city.

SIR JOHN TENNIEL MUCH BELOVED—GREAT BRITAIN'S GREATEST CARTOONIST—WAS BRITISH DAYDREAM OF THE PENCIL

[From London Daily News.]

"Sir John Tenniel is dead, and the world is sensibly the poorer for the loss of one whom Mr. Balfour once described as a 'great artist and a great gentleman'..."

"Punch" a National Institution. "Punch is one of our National in-situations, and Punch's popularity abroad is largely due to the weekly cartoons, which manage, as a rule, to hit off very happily the feelings of the mass of the nation..."

A Londoner. Sir Henry Lucy, one of his companions at the famous Punch table, says some interesting things about the great cartoonist in the Daily News...

John Tenniel was born in London in 1820, and with rare excursions he passed within the boundary of the metropolis a long and blameless life...

Discussing the Cartoon. "After he joined the Punch staff Tenniel practically abandoned the brush. He found time to do some book illustrations, richly endowed..."

"Tenniel rarely suggested a cartoon. He sat attentive, smoking his long clay pipe, whilst a choice of subject was debated. Sometimes he offered a suggestion or expressed a preference..."

returned to them, sometimes figured in exhibitions, and was not unfrequently sold. Tenniel, as a rule, drew straight on the block, and when any one expressed a desire to obtain the original, he, in order to fulfill the commission, did all the work over again.

"Dropping the Pilot." "Thus his famous cartoon, 'Dropping the Pilot,' the appearance of which marked the dismissal of Prince Bismarck from the councils of the young German Emperor, was carefully re-drawn before it passed into the possession of the dissenting Chancellor on the gift of Lord Rosebery."

With regard to this famous cartoon the Telegraph says: "There is probably a consensus of opinion that the cartoonist reached his widest span in the famous 1890 drawing, 'Dropping the Pilot,' yet few noted at the time the additional note of 'benevolence' Tenniel's own hand..."

"We are enabled by special permission to give a description of the closing phase of Sir John Tenniel's life," says the Telegraph.

"Like Samson of old, who cried out in his blindness, 'O dark, dark, dark, amid the blaze of noon, Irrecoverably dark, total eclipse, Without all hope of day!'"

This Samson of satiric art sometimes exclaimed against the terrible affliction that in recent years deprived him, as the result of an early accident, of his most precious gifts to all, but by the artist perhaps most dearly prized.

"If only I could see—if only I could see!" he would exclaim when something was read out to him, and he would say: "I could draw it now! I could draw it now!" And, with that, his hand would firmly describe some bold outlines on the air...

His end was in keeping with his life. Those about him did not know how soon or late that end might be. It was known that he was passing into his last sleep, but it was thought that he might live for several days, or even longer. A most beautiful and authenticated reason there was for this hope. For hours, on and off, figures upon the air...

"Farewell! The perspective of the pencil! Dauntless and irreproachable," writes his old editor, Sir F. Burnand, in the Telegraph.

"To us you were, are, and ever will be, the White Knight, the great pillar, the English people's, great chief of all cartoonists, John Tenniel."

Punch this week has a fine Tenniel supplement with many reproductions of his famous cartoons.

"BIG PROBLEMS OF AGRICULTURE AND THEIR SOLUTION"

BY DR. CREELMAN

Yield of the Ordinary Farm Should and Could Be Increased 300 Per Cent.

SOME Rural Problems" was a subject discussed in a remarkably enlightening and interesting way before the Canadian Club of Toronto, by Dr. G. C. Creelman, President of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

has as much right to retire, after a life of hard work as anyone else, perhaps more so, as he is one man who has earned every dollar that he has made.

have been the case a few years ago. This College during its existence of nearly 40 years, has proven by experiment, surely and definitely that farming certain fields, in a certain way, that breeding and feeding certain classes of live stock that introducing certain crops on certain soils, that handling the orchard by certain methods, absolute success in farming is assured.

leave them long enough to get the confidence of the people. Such men we have termed agricultural representatives, and we have now one in each of 40 districts in this Province, and they are all doing excellent work.

ject matter, or in the problems taught. FARMERS' PROBLEMS These of course are many, as they are in business of any kind, but at the present, the following seem to stand out as being of much importance:

have taken a certain number of students from towns and cities and country places and have taught them the best known methods of farming. I think it is lack of organic union among ourselves whereby every farmer on his own farm may obtain information at first hand, not only as to raising a crop but the marketing and transporting and delivering of it to the customer.

sugar and salt are three of our most necessary foods and yet they are cheaper than twenty years ago. It takes 14 cents to make your five cent loaf of bread in Toronto and 15 cents to deliver it, then half the cost of the staff of life was saved us by our mother's baking. Why don't our wives bake now? They would if they knew how.

Notwithstanding the great development in our Western Provinces the field crops of Ontario yet exceed in value all the field crops produced in Canada west of Winnipeg, in spite of the fact that a large percentage of the Western farmers have been drawn from Ontario farm homes.

As one goes through this Province, from county to county, and township to township, he is forced to the conclusion that as an agricultural district, it is very highly favored indeed. Good land, well watered, and excellent climate with plenty of sunshine always insures fair crops, and while our bank managers in their annual statements often forecast good or bad times according to the conditions of the crops in the West, yet because they have never been disappointed in Ontario crops they never speak of what might happen if we had a failure here.

As a matter of fact, the situation is exactly reversed. Farmers' boys and farmers' girls are leaving, in large numbers, for the cities and towns, and most of the farmers themselves hope to remain on the farm only so long as will enable them to make long as will enable them to make enough money which at 8 per cent will give them sufficient income to retire to the neighboring town or city. Here they hope to pass their days in peace and idleness, to sleep late in the mornings and sit up late at night, in fact to "eat, drink and be merry" all the rest of their lives.

HOW SIR SAMUEL BAKER FILLED IN A MAP GREAT DISCOVERY OF LAKE ALBERT NYANZA, WHICH SOLVED NILE PUZZLE OF THE CENTURIES

From Public Opinion.

The jubilee of one of the most notable feats of African exploration, the discovery of the Albert Nyanza by Sir Samuel and Lady Baker, took place recently.

"There is no part of the world in which such remarkable changes have taken place during the last half century as in the African continent. Fifty years ago Central Africa was a land of mystery," says the Morning Post, "and was still in a state of primitive savagery."

Finding the Albert Nyanza.

"The discovery by Sir Samuel Baker and Lady Baker, his wife, of the lake, which we now know as the Albert Nyanza, finally set at rest problems in connection with the geography of the Nile valley which had puzzled mankind ever since the days of Herodotus.

"The work of exploration in the long, strangely-neglected Dark Continent now goes on with so much energy that the labors of the men who were early in the field—Livingstone, Speke, Grant, Burton, and Baker—are apt to be, if not forgotten, somewhat overlooked.

Making Maps—Old Style.

"It is due to the example set by these remarkable men that so much has been done to remove the reproach wittily satirized by Dean Swift:

"So geographers, in Afric maps,
With savages pictures fill their gaps,
And o'er uninhabitable downs,
Place elephants for want of towns."

"Sir Samuel Baker unhappily is no longer with us, he died twenty years ago, but his indomitable helpmeet, who was ever ready to share with him the many hardships and sufferings which he underwent, is still living a life of dignified ease and retirement in the beautiful English home, Sandford Orleigh, which Sir Samuel purchased 25 years ago.

The Explorer's Wife.

"It is situated near the little town of Newton Abbot, and from the wooded grounds one gets lovely glimpses of some most characteristic Devonshire scenery, Dartmoor and the noble Teign River, which to the observer from a distance presents all the appearance of a lake. A representative of the Morning Post had the pleasure of calling on Lady Baker a day or two ago, and of congratulating her on having lived to celebrate the jubilee of the great discovery, an event surely unprecedented in connection with geographical discovery. In spite of the terrible experiences which she often encountered in earlier days in the course of her wanderings, it is remarkable how lightly her age sits on her, for though she is well past three score and ten, she has not a gray hair, and is as alert as a twenty-year-old girl.

Lady Baker is a Hungarian by birth—her maiden name was Florence von Süss—and she still preserves a trace of her native tongue, and has a perfect command of our language. As she says, she was the first white woman, as Sir Samuel was the first white man, to set foot in the region of the Albert Nyanza.

"Who can say how much the intrepid explorer owed to the devoted wife who stuck to him through all the vicissitudes of a most dangerous life? Hanging on the mind of one of the rooms is his portrait in marching costume, a sort of Norfolk suit made of a coarse native cotton fabric, and it was made by Lady Baker's own hands amid the dismal fever-haunted swamps in which so much of their life was passed.

"In one respect Sandford Orleigh is unique, and that is in the wondrous collection it contains of trophies of the chase, for a mightier hunter than Sir Samuel surely never existed. All of them, or nearly all, have some narrow attachment to them, recalling some narrow escape he had, or the death of some comrade or helper whom he avenged.

Adventurous Travels.

"It was in 1861 that Sir Samuel set out on the expedition which resulted in the great discovery of which we are now celebrating the jubilee. Without any official aid or recognition whatsoever, he set out to discover the source of the Nile, with the hope of meeting the East African expedition under Captains Speke and Grant. As the Nile source had defied all previous explorers he kept his intentions to himself, although he had sufficient self-confidence to forecast his future success. The first year he was in Egypt he was occupied in exploring all the Nile tributaries from Abyssinia, and then he descended the banks of the Blue Nile to Khartoum. He started from Khartoum with a powerful force in three vessels, with 29 transport animals, including horses, camels, and asses.

"All went well as far as the Bah-el-Ghazal junction, but here the difficulties of the White Nile began to be apparent. The entire country was a dead flat, a world of interminable marsh, overgrown with high reeds and papyrus rush. Through this desolate region the river wound, no wind was favorable, owing to the frequent bends, and the current being adverse, the men had to tow the boats night and day through water and rushes, exhausted with hopeless labor and maddened by clouds of mosquitoes. There was worse to come as they very soon found.

"Meanwhile, however, the party arrived at Gondokoro, where Sir Samuel came across those gallant explorers, Speke and Grant, a meeting as memorable as that which took place between Livingstone and Stanley. Pushing along, he had to encounter the hostility of natives and

A JAPANESE WOMAN OWNS AND MANAGES BANK.

It is generally thought that women in Japan hold the same position as in other parts of the Orient, but nothing could be farther from the truth. Japanese women are neither slaves nor toys, and they are held in great respect.

It is true that Buddhism and the militarism of the feudal system took them out of public affairs, in which they were once very prominent, and secluded them in their homes; but the Japanese mother and wife have always been held in high honor.

Moreover, Japanese women can likewise share the business responsibilities of their country, a fact which is attested by the career of Mrs. Seno, the head of the Seno Bank of Tokio. Her husband was a prosperous merchant who resolved to establish a bank in his home town in the northern island of Hokkaido, but he died before his plans were put into execution. His wife determined to carry them out herself, but decided that a greater opportunity would be afforded for banking business in the city of Tokio.

She accordingly moved to the capital, bought a favorable site in the suburbs, placed her adopted son in a financial institution so that he might become familiar with the details of banking, and when he had proved himself capable, as a manager of a bank, she transferred to him the management of the bank, which she had established with a capital of five hundred thousand yen (about $250,000). The new institution is a joint stock company, the stock being held in the family. Its first year's business has been signally successful, and it has declared a dividend of over 5 per cent.

Directs Affairs of Bank.

Mrs. Seno, who is over seventy years of age, arrives in the president's office early every morning and supervises all transactions of the institution. She dresses very simply, is easily accessible, and has great influence over her subordinates. She is in every sense of the word the head of the institution.

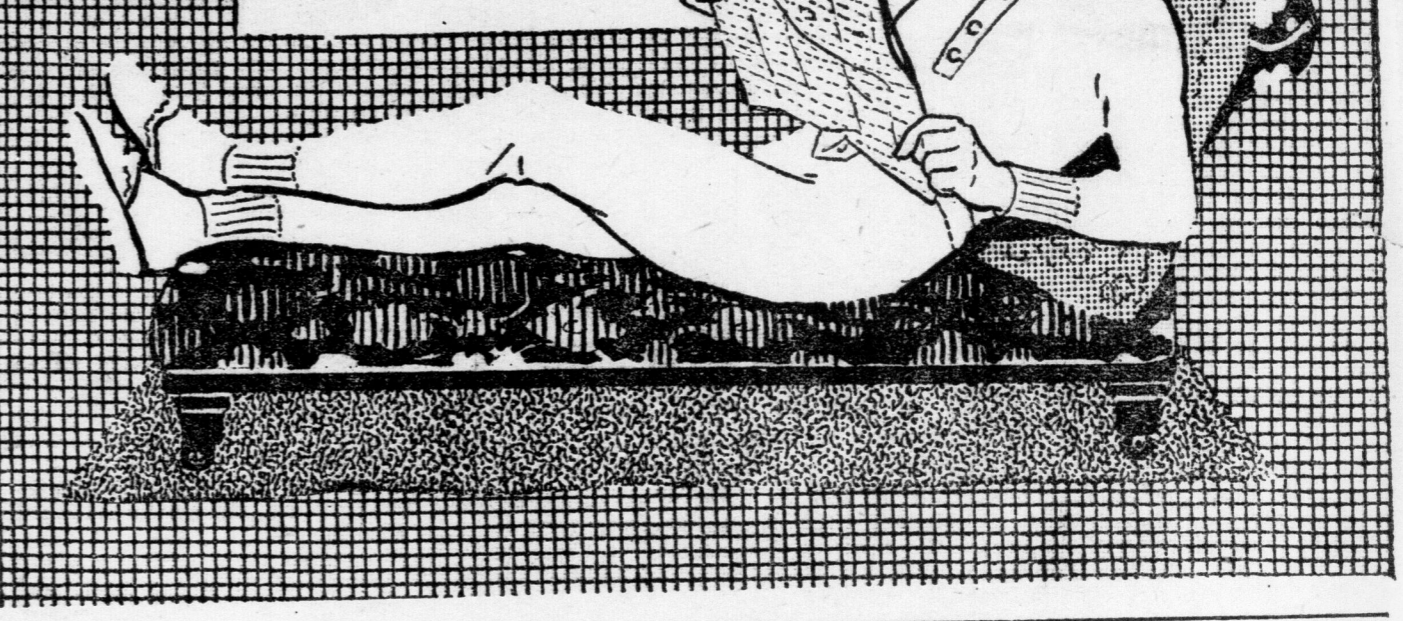

In all matters affecting loans and investments she gives the final decision, and she is regarded as the most expert accountant in the institution. Her attitude towards her employees is one of great kindness and consideration. She combines in a rare degree quickness of thought, promptness of action, and generosity of nature. She always travels third class. When she became a large shareholder in a railway she was presented with a first-class pass, but she still travelled third class. One of the railway officers remonstrated with her, and she replied that as part owner of the railway she felt that she was host rather than a guest, and that she would leave the first class cars for those who had tickets, and were often compelled to take seats in inferior cars for lack of accommodation.

She is a woman of many private charities. The first private subscriber to offer money to the authorities at the time of the war with Russia was Mrs. Seno. Her greatest delight is said to be spending her evenings with her grandchildren, telling them stories, hearing about their studies, and listening to violin music. Truly, a remarkable woman.

was stolen from a Hindu temple in the Indian hills many years ago. This charm she has worn around her neck since she was a girl. On the fourth day Sango Tomo espied the charm and immediately salaamed profoundly. When she perceived the unexpected effect of her mascot, Mrs. Gouraud pointed to a number of snakes tattooed on her forearm. The muscular dervish hastily spread a carpet on the earth and kneeling down bowed his forehead to the ground. Within an hour the American captive was not only released, but also provided with an escort to the nearest centre of civilization.

Mrs. Gouraud brought back to Paris a number of quaint desert costumes. Half a dozen young alligators are on the way, and will be kept in the zoological gardens until the night of her desert fete.

She told the correspondent she had received stacks of letters in reply to her offer of a second $5,000 prize for a novel idea for her entertainment made through the newspapers, but so far she had not found any suggestion worthy of the prize. One letter several thousand words long outlined an airship fete.

A number of suggestions came from Harvard and Yale men, but every State in the Union and every class are represented in the replies. One young girl living in the West suggested that Mrs. Gouraud dismiss all her servants, buy a cotton frock, and start life anew in Oklahoma.

KINSMAN OF KINGS MARRIED IN CITY HALL BASEMENT; BRIDE A DIVORCEE

Mr. & Mrs. J. Napoleon Bonaparte

In a musty, dingy basement room in the New York City Hall with Aid "Happy Jack" Riordan officiating, Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, great-grandnephew of Napoleon I, emperor of the French, was married to Mrs. Blanche Pierce Streibegh. The bride is a recent divorcee. Bonaparte is the son of Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte and Caroline Appleton. He lives in Washington. On the marriage license he wrote, "No occupation."

The marriage license was issued in the basement room of the city hall on Thursday night. The bride and groom were accompanied by a large number of guests. The ceremony was performed by Aid Riordan, who is a well-known figure in the city. The bride, Mrs. Blanche Pierce Streibegh, is a former resident of the city and is known for her beauty and intelligence. The groom, Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, is a member of a prominent family and has a distinguished military record. The wedding was a private affair and took place in a room that is rarely used for such occasions. The ceremony was a simple one, but it was a significant event for the community. The bride and groom are now residing in Washington, D.C.

Premier Asquith Talks Straight As To the Army; "Peace in Ireland Must Be Peace With Honor" Declares Emphatically That Politics Had Nothing To Do With the Present Crisis in Ulster and Denounces the Tory "Grammar of Anarchy."

Mr. Asquith on Saturday afternoon addressed a meeting of delegates at Ladybank, a small country town with poor accommodation for an event of such importance, but convenient to delegates from the scattered constituency of East Fife by virtue of its central position and railway facilities. The meeting was held in the Masonic Hall, which accommodates about four hundred persons. Admission was by ticket, and women were excluded. The suffragettes were in the town in large force, and they organized a demonstration on the highway near the hall. The police arrangements were of an elaborate nature. About a dozen constables guarded the hall all morning, and as the hour of the meeting approached reinforcements arrived and kept a wide space round the entrance. Some mounted men were on duty, and reserves were kept in the private grounds of an adjoining mansion. The widespread interest in the meeting was reflected in the presence of about fifty pressmen from all parts.

Mr. Asquith, who was the guest of Sir James Low, at Kilmarron Castle, about five miles away, motored over. The chair was occupied by Sir James Scott, and among those on the platform were Mr. J. Gulland, M.P., the Scottish Whip, and Mr. Charles Lyle, M.P. Mr. Asquith, who was accompanied by Mrs. and Miss Asquith was accorded an enthusiastic reception, the meeting joining in singing "He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

The Chairman, in introducing the Prime Minister, remarked that Ladybank never in its history had seen such enthusiasm. At their meeting that afternoon they had adopted Mr. Asquith as their candidate at that election. (Laughter and cheers.)

THE SPEECH.

Mr. Asquith, rising amid loud and prolonged cheering, said: Sir James Scott and gentlemen. First let me thank you for the gratifying announcement which the Chairman has just made, that you have been good enough to adopt me as your candidate in the forthcoming election. (Laughter and cheers.) When we met here very long ago at the end of October we were again after such short an interval under such changed conditions. It is a novel experience—although we have been connected together in the relation of member and constituency now for the best part of thirty years—it is a novel experience for me and for you that I should be seeking your suffrages at a by-election. (Laughter.)

A Ridiculous Legend. In a few moments I will endeavor to explain to you how that unexpected event has been brought about. We live in strange times—(laughter)—and in no respect are they more strange than in the way in which credulity dogs the heels of invention—(laughter)—and invention strives, and strives often in vain, to keep pace with credulity. (Laughter.) We have had a remarkable illustration in the course of the last fortnight in that ridiculous legend widely circulated and largely believed, that His Majesty's Government had selected the very moment when they were making proposals which, as they hoped and believed, might lead to a settlement of our Home Rule difficulty. (Laughter.) I select that very moment deliberately to engineer a plot for the purpose of provoking Ulster to immediate armed resistance.

In the same spirit I observe that from the same quarters a story has gone forth that I accepted the new offer which I at present hold, and which involved the vacation of my seat in the House of Commons—why? In order that for a week or perhaps at the outside for a fortnight I might escape the formidable ordeal of crossing swords with the gentlemen who sit on the front Opposition bench. (Loud laughter.) And again I see that I am told that it was a very extraordinary thing that yesterday, instead of stealing back to Fife in the twilight—(loud laughter)—in disguise, and by some device, I came by the ordinary train, in the ordinary way, and was greeted at various points of my journey by expressions of welcome and wishes of good luck. (Prolonged cheers.) That is what, in the strange dialect of the present day, is called a provocative act. (Laughter.) Provocative to whom? Provocative of what?

Political Topsy-Turvydom. Then the last scene for the present—I do not suppose that we have got to the end of the drama—the last scene for the present in this comedy of errors is that here in Fife I find errors of a kind which belong to the other camp in politics have not quite finally made up their minds as to whether we are to have a contest or not, and it is until they have had the opportunity of doing so that I am going to say to you this afternoon, and as tomorrow is the Sabbath I am afraid that opportunity won't come—certainly ought not to come—until Monday morning. (Laughter.) It is not until then that we poor anxious, panic-stricken people will be released from the tenorhooks of suspense and know whether or not we are to have an enemy in the field. (Laughter.) I do not think that I exaggerated anything when I said the other day in the House of Commons that we live in a state of constitutional and political topsy-turvydom. (Laughter.)

But to come to serious matters. Meeting as we do today under these conditions, the first question which you are entitled to ask me, and which I am bound to answer, is why I am exposing both you and myself to what we never contemplated when we last met here. It is the operation of an antiquated and very irrational law. The actual occasion is that in the course of last week, with the approval of the King, I accepted the office of Secretary of State for War. (Cheers.)

A Grave Situation. I purposely do not go back today in any detail to the incidents in Ireland, which led in the course of a few days to the resignation of their offices by my valued colleague Colonel Seely and by two of the most distinguished members of the Army Council, Sir John French and Sir Spencer Ewart. There were genuine misunderstandings. There were honest mistakes. But, in my deliberate opinion, there was nothing at any stage or in any quarter which threw or ought to throw the least doubt on the integrity or the sense of honor of any of those who were either immediately or indirectly concerned. But a grave situation was created—grave both in regard to the discipline of the army and in regard to its relation to the civil power. There was, not least, the prospect—may I say, there was the certainty, if things went on as they promised to do—of a controversy which every patriotic man must be anxious, until a case of crucial and urgent emergency arises, to avoid.

It was for that reason that a week ago the new Army Order was issued, which I am glad to say, has met with general acceptance, and which ought to obviate the possibility in the future of such misunderstandings as those to which I have referred. It was for the same reason that I conceived it to be, for the moment at any rate, my duty, in the highest interests both of the army and of the State, to add to responsibilities already sufficiently heavy the actual change of the administration of the army itself. (Cheers.) Though I am new to the office of Secretary of State for War, I have been now for a number of years Chairman of the Committee of Imperial Defence and no one has better reason than I have to know the zeal, the devotion to duty, the sense of responsibility, the settled traditions of discipline and of honor which pervade and animate the military as well as the naval forces of the Crown. (Cheers.)

The Army is Not a Political Instrument.

The very fact that our army rests on a voluntary—as I hope it will continue always to do—rests on a voluntary and not on a mercenary or a conscript basis is, in my deliberate judgment, the best safeguard for its maintenance of the splendid and untarnished traditions of its redoubtable past. However that may be, an certain they can be counted on from the highest to the lowest, without exception, qualification, or reserve, to undertake all the duties which their special obligations as servants of the Crown subject to military law may require them to discharge. And here, in view of much that has been said and written in these latter days, I think it right to state and to emphasize one or two elementary propositions. The army in this country is not, and I pray that it may never become, a political instrument. As an army it has no place and it has no voice in the framing of our policy or in the moulding of our laws. One of the greatest of British statesmen, whose name is closely associated with some of the proudest achievements both of the army and the navy—I mean the elder William Pitt—(cheers)—laid down the true doctrine on this subject in the House of Commons 170 years ago in words which are still worth quoting. He said, speaking in November, 1745:—

The right of inquiring what measures may conduce to the advantage and security of the public belongs not to the army but to this House. To this House belongs the power of stating the policy, and of advising His Majesty with regard to its constitution. Our armies have no better right to determine for themselves than any other body of men, nor are we to presume to prescribe laws to them. (Cheers.)

For those by whose authority they subsist.

That is a true doctrine. It is none the worse for being 170 years old. The business of the army—and this cannot be too clearly or definitely stated,—is to be always ready, adequately organized and equipped in men and in material, either to attack or, if need be, to repel a foreign enemy. Everything else is either incidental or subordinate to the governing purpose upon which its energies and its interest should be always concentrated.

It follows that it is my duty in the post which I have assumed, by searching personal inquiry and with the co-operation, and willing advisers, to see that the army is fit, under the ever-shifting conditions of our modern world, for this its primary and elementary duty. The army will hear nothing of politics from me, and I return I expect to hear nothing of politics from the army. (Prolonged cheers, and a voice, "Make them to the line.")

There is, however, another class of duties in the exercise of which in exceptional cases the army may be called upon to assist. I must apologize for stating the A B C of our constitution, but in these days there are a great many people who have never learned it, and who are so ignorant that they have completely forgotten it. The responsibility for the preservation of domestic peace and order lies in this country with the magistrates and the police. The army is in no sense a branch of the police, and under normal conditions its aid cannot and ought not to be invoked by the civil power. It is only in emergencies which happily, in our experience, are exceptional in character and rare in occurrence that any such call can be properly addressed—as it can in the last resort to all citizens—(hear, hear)—to the military and naval forces of the State. Such an occasion arises it is the duty of the soldier, as it is the duty of the civilian, to comply with the lawful demands of the civil power. (Cheers.)

A Significant Demonstration. The suggestion we have made is open to obvious criticisms, and it involves a good deal of undesirable administrative complexity. But it has this great merit, that it at least gets rid of any question of the nature of the army of the future, and the vague and elastic word, "It gives to the populations concerned the immediate arbitrament of the ballot. To those who have declared their preference for exclusion of the Government of Ireland appeal to the electorate of the United Kingdom before inclusion can begin to operate. We thought that not only a fair but a generous concession. (Cheers.)

And I have said in the House of Commons that if I have a word to say to the electorate of the United Kingdom before inclusion can begin to operate. We thought that not only a fair but a generous concession. (Cheers.) And I have said in the House of Commons that if I have a word to say to the electorate of the United Kingdom before inclusion can begin to operate. We thought that not only a fair but a generous concession. (Cheers.)

"Peace Must Be Peace With Honor." As I have said more than once, and I repeat now, I am anxious for peace. I close no door of settlement. But peace, and I say this for both sides, not only for my own—peace must be peace with honor. (Cheers.) In any settlement that is come to we must secure the placing of the Home Rule Bill in the statute book. (Cheers.) We hope, and we think, that that is not incompatible not only with a considerate regard for, but with careful provisions to meet the convictions and the susceptibilities of the minority. We believe—I, for one, at any rate, firmly believe—that in time and after experience, there will be a convergence of forces in the direction of complete Irish unity. (Cheers.) Further, here, you and I, wish to see the same process applied, with the necessary variations, and applied without undue delay, to other parts of the United Kingdom. (Loud cheers.) We believe that such a constitutional organization would lead to greater efficiency in the conduct both of local and of imperial interests, and that the quickened patriotism of every part will not impair but will nourish and stimulate the larger patriotism of the whole. (Cheers.)

Yes; but I must conclude—for I am apt to forget that I am on probation—(laughter) and a voice in "Mind the Colonel," reference to his opponent—as a candidate for your suffrages—without pointing out to you that besides the two great issues to which I have referred there are others, not perhaps less important, which are at stake, and for the settlement of which upon rational, progressive and democratic lines you can look and look only to a progressive majority in the House of Commons. (Cheers.) There is the long-delayed act of religious equality for our fellow-subjects in the Principality of Wales. Another matter of very great importance, if our representative machine is no longer to be lopsided and misleading, is the abolition of the plural vote. (Cheers.) And there are those great reforms, some of which have already been foreshadowed in his attractive and persuasive eloquence by my friend and colleague, Mr. Lloyd George—(loud cheers)—in regard to land and in regard to rating and finance. And all these things we as a party hold in trust for you as a community. Which of them are you likely to have settled on lines which will really conduce to the greatest good of the greatest number if you intrust the stewardship of the future of this country to the party in reaction?

Division of the Democratic Army. And that raises one other very serious point upon which I should like to say a last word. If you study, as my friend and colleague, Mr. Gulland—(cheers)—here does, the by-elections which have taken place in the course of the last two years, and which have resulted in the loss, not of a large number, but a certain number of seats in the Government majority, you will find—he will correct me if I am wrong—that in every case, perhaps with a single exception, leaving Reading out of account, but in every other case the loss of the seat has been due to a split in the forces of progress. (Cheers.) But upon this great issue of home rule the by-elections have pronounced by an overwhelming majority in favor of the policy of the Government. (Cheers.) The two defeated candidates have competed with one another in their allegiance and in their zeal for this principle. It is indeed a melancholy thing for those whose hearts are bound up in the future prospects of wise democratic legislation to find the democratic army split asunder in the face of the common enemy. (Cheers.)

It is time that that state of things came to an end. (Cheers.) It is surely, I won't say wise and prudent, but it certainly would be childish, and worse than childish, with those great issues before us which could only be brought to success by unity, by discipline, by loyal co-operation, if we should allow ourselves, because of comparatively trivial differences on issues, many of which are, at any rate, not vital or urgent, to divide the forces which, united, is irresistible. (Cheers.) We have not been troubled, and I do not think we are likely to be troubled, with that particular kind of difficulty here in East Fife. (Cheers.) And taking a large outlook of the whole situation I commend the words which I have just uttered to everybody who is interested, genuinely and sincerely interested, in the progress of democratic legislation.

For the Ninth Time. In conclusion I want to say that since you have adopted me as your candidate I place myself unreservedly in your hands. (Cheers.) I am not a novice in the matter, nor are you, for this is the ninth time I have sought the suffrages of the electors of East Fife. Eight times the question which, in the time-honored words of the customary resolution, was put to the electors, namely, whether So-and-so is a fit and proper person to represent the constituency—eight times that question has been put to you regarding myself, and eight times you have answered it, as a rule, with increasing emphasis, in the affirmative. It is going to be put to you now for the ninth time. I am going to ask you to repeat, if it is possible with added emphasis, your answer.

I have the privilege of proposing, as I have often done before, but never with more heartiness, a vote of thanks to my very old friend, Sir James Scott. He has been by my side in every one of the contests I have fought in Fife. For many years past now he has been our chief of the staff. No one has ever discharged the arduous duties with greater zeal, more conspicuous ability, or more heartfelt devotion, and I cannot express in words my sense of the obligation which I personally and you of the Liberal party here in Fife are under to him. (Cheers.) I will only add this: I do not know whether we are to have a contest or not. (A voice: "No.") If we are I shall reap among you at some date which I shall not for the moment precisely define, and I know I can count on if I am compulsorily absent—because I have new and serious business to discharge—but when I am compulsorily absent I know, as Mr. Gulland has told me, I can count on the co-operation and presence of many valued colleagues and friends. (Cheers.) Be there a contest or be there no contest, Sir James Scott is the man to whom the Liberalism of East Fife looks as its leader, and I ask you to pay him once more the tribute he has so well earned of your gratitude and devotion. (Cheers.)

Mr. Asquith's speech occupied 60 minutes. Mr. Gulland, in response to calls from the audience, spoke briefly, and the meeting concluded with three cheers for the Prime Minister and for Mrs. Asquith. As Mr. Asquith, with Mrs. and Miss Asquith, drove off in their motor-car for Kilmarron Castle, the crowd that had waited outside the hall during the meeting raised hearty cheers.

Diabetes

The Most Dreaded Of All Diseases Can Now Be Cured

The name "Diabetes" has formerly been dreaded as much as the deadly cancer, and has been considered incurable until the discovery of Sanol Antidiabetes, a remedy that has proven its efficacy in numerous cases, many of them as long as fifteen years' standing. Sanol Antidiabetes is a remedy prepared specifically for one disease, and we have absolute proof to offer you—testimonial after testimonial from sufferers who have been cured. It is only in the past two years that this remedy has been available to the Canadian public, and during that time it has won a reputation that extends from ocean to ocean. One sufferer is cured, and he immediately spreads the glad news to others. If you are troubled with diabetes, try Sanol Antidiabetes at once. It will cure you. Write for literature on Diabetes. CHURCH TREASURER'S CONFESSION SHOWS POOR THE BEST GIVERS

Also Says Girls and Women Give More Generously Than Boys and Men, and Tells of Funny Excuses for Failing to Contribute.

[From Literary Digest.]

A certain class of churchgoers must sing with great joy the line "Salvation is free for you and me," says a writer in the Congregationalist (Boston), and he adds that they consider it so absolutely free as to feel "under no obligation to pay a cent for their share of it." The statement proceeds from a man who has been a church treasurer for 21 years and now for the first time breaks his silence about some of his discoveries in the realm of giving, reminding us that a church treasurer learns things no one else in the church may learn, many of which are rather amazing. For instance, he mentions the large number in some churches who give nothing at all toward their support; and he contrasts the man with an income of six hundred dollars a month, who gives fifty cents on Sunday, with the washerwoman who gives the same amount. Proportionately, we are informed, "the poor give infinitely more than the well-to-do," while those who give least usually have most to say about how the church should be run. The writer cites some amusing apologies of members who have fallen behind in their contributions and speaks of others who when gently urged to pay their subscriptions treated him resentfully and accused him of un-Christianlike behavior. Nevertheless he has a word of appreciation for "the true-Christianlike behavior" of those who do their duty in the support of their church, and ventures the hope that the other kind may soon be "educated up to giving." On the subject of the greater generosity of the poor we read:

The Generous Poor.
"The church treasurer who is making these reflections has on his books names of persons with incomes of but ten and twelve dollars a week who give from fifty cents to a dollar of their income every week to the various offerings of the church. He could, if need be, produce the names of several workers a week whose regular weekly contributions to the church alone are from forty to fifty cents, and all of these girls live away from home and pay room rent and board. He could place beside these names a long list of names of persons whose wages exceed twenty-five dollars a week who give from twenty-five to forty cents a week. He could give the name of a widow, with four children all under fifteen years of age, and the heads of this poor woman is the chief support of the family. Two of the boys earn a small sum before and after school, but it is doubtful if the combined income of the family exceeds twelve dollars, but this mother and each of her children have a package of church contribution envelopes and these envelopes are dropped into the contribution baskets every Sunday of the year. There may be Sundays when only one member of the family appears at church, but when that happens it happens seldom, and all five of the envelopes come with that member of the family.

The Family Method.
"In contrast to this it would be easily possible to give the name of a well-to-do family of six persons, the husband and father of which is the only person having envelopes. He gives a dollar a Sunday for the entire family having envelopes. The moral effect of each member having his or her own envelopes and giving regularly and systematically is lost sight of, while the treasurer falls to wondering how this man can feel that very heels of their commitment. Referring finally to the contention of some that church people have not been taught how to give and that the problem of church support is merely "a matter of education," the writer says that "it would be easy to secure the signatures of many church treasurers to a petition to have such a school started as soon as possible. Only the church treasurer knows how much it is needed."

Breeding For Layers—Value of the Trap-Nest in Selection—Some Causes of Failure With Poultry—Some of the Leaks, and How to Avoid Them.

Poultrymen have found it a comparatively easy matter to select the best specimens of a flock in fancy points or market qualities, but to pick out the best egg producers with any certainty of having the right ones is quite another thing. Some claim there is an egg type by which a good layer may be selected, and no doubt there is something in this, but most poultrymen have found that the use of a trap nest is the only sure way of getting at this question. The time may come when we shall be able to select the best layers without the trap nest, but as yet no other practical plan has been given to the public. A good reliable trap nest is a very paying device in breeding up for good layers.

It is frequently the case that one of the very best layers in a flock will be a very ordinary looking hen, and would be about the last one in the flock to be picked out for a first class layer. On the other hand it is not uncommon for one of the brightest and most likely looking hens in a flock to prove one of the very poorest layers.

A flock which produces an average of 150 eggs per hen in a year is an unusually good laying lot, and in such a flock the use of a trap nest is pretty sure to disclose the presence of hens which are producing 200 eggs in a year. If a breeder is in ignorance as to which are his best layers, he is placed at a decided disadvantage when attempting to build up a strain of profitable layers.

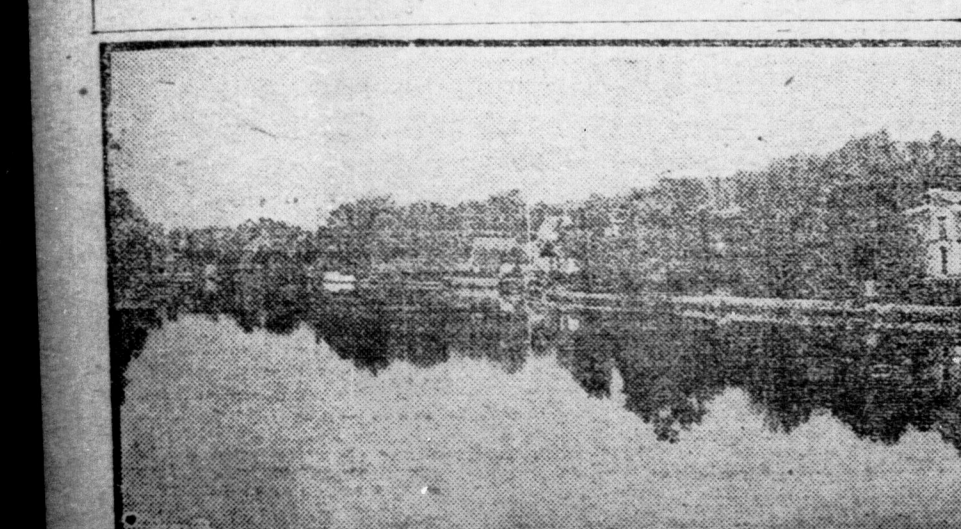

Careful selection, with the trap nest, and intelligent studies of specimens of known ancestry is the only practical way in which improvement in the laying qualities can be accomplished. It is a fact that care and feeding will do much in making good layers, but these are necessarily limited in their effect. A common error with the best food and care that could be given her would not begin to give the returns in milk or butter which the same care and feed would bring from a well-bred animal of one of the heavy milking strains. It is not found necessary to use trap nests all the year around to select the best layers. By keeping individual records for four or five months each year the desired results may be easily accomplished.

Some Causes of Failure.
There are many reasons why one may fail to get a good result from their work among their poultry. It is easier to lose than to win in any business. To be successful requires proper attention to all the details pertaining to the work.

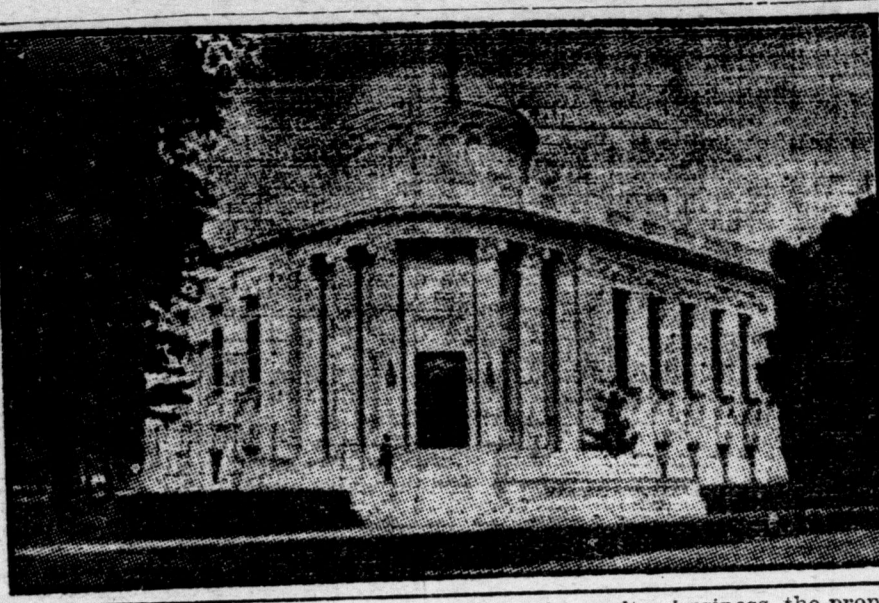

One cause of failure in the work may be a lack of good strong breeding birds, birds that lack in health and vigor. Strong birds are necessary. A bird with a weakened constitution, either from exposure, disease or improper development, or lack of proper care during growth cannot be expected to produce as good results either in the question of eggs or in producing strong chicks. Therefore it is necessary to have strong fowls to breed from. Chicks hatched from eggs from fowls of weakened vitality can scarcely be expected to hatch out well, nor to grow well, nor to develop into desirable fowls. To get best results will require that the fowls be strong and that the chicks be so cared for that they will grow into strong birds, and that any defect may be eliminated, and instead of the flock becoming weaker, it may become stronger, being built up rather than allowed to run down.

Another cause may be a lack of suitable buildings. To make a success in the matter of housing the fowls, be constructed that it shall possess all those advantages which go to make a good house and eliminate all of those undesirable features. In the first place we say that warmth is the first re-

This is true, but remember that we cannot sacrifice dryness and sufficient ventilation for a few degrees of unnecessary warmth. The fowls must be kept warm, but they cannot be shut up in a tight house with no ventilation. The house must be light, must have a good roof and a good floor, so to keep the litter dry. It must be tight on the sides and ends, so as to prevent all drafts. It must, as stated above, give sufficient ventilation, but this does not necessarily mean exposure nor drafts. The house should be kept clean and should be arranged convenient, for if not convenient, it will be easier to neglect in the care of the fowls. It is unwise to always put an unnecessary expenditure of money out in building a poultry house, yet at the same time it would not pay to sacrifice success to save a few dollars in the construction of the house. A good plain, well-arranged building at a moderate cost is the one to go for.

Improper feed is another cause for failure. A good ration of first-quality grains and ground feeds, etc., is necessary. One may feed good feed, but have them so mixed or so fed that they do not get the proper results from their use.

Lack of attention is fatal to the work. One neglect leads to another, and so it goes. It cannot pay to fail

KING MENELIK'S FIERCE CREED

Many stories of the late King Menelik of Abyssinia have been related from time to time, most of them dealing with his personal bravery and his utter disregard for other people's lives.

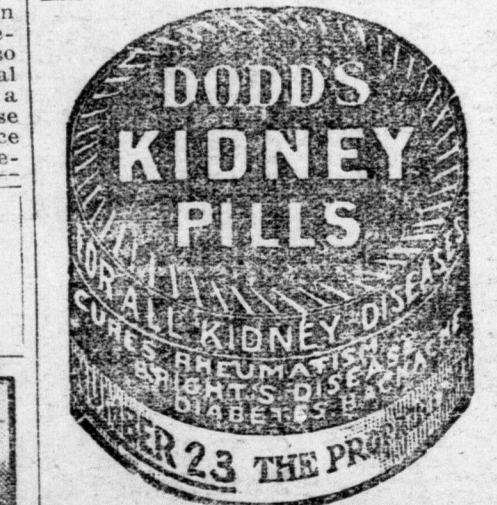

At reviews, when his warriors fired a royal salute, they squatted on the ground and pointed their rifles towards the sky. They always used ball cartridge, and the bullets, falling to earth, at some distance from the review ground, often killed or wounded peasants in the fields. When a traveller who had heard that ball ammunition was wasted in this way by the Abyssinian army, he brought to King Menelik a few hundred blank cartridges, thinking that the King would order a large supply to be used by his troops on ceremonial occasions.

The King was exceedingly gratified by the present, and explained that he intended to test with these cartridges the courage of his generals, and personal attendants, by firing at them and letting them think that his rifle was loaded with ball.

"A Life for a Life."
At one time, as a sign of the royal power, lions were allowed to wander loose in the outer grounds of the palace to act as watch dogs. A European visitor asked the Emperor whether his lions ever killed anybody, and Menelik admitted that now and again a hungry lion did kill a peasant or a soldier; "but," added the monarch, who wished to show how humane he was "if a lion kills a man, we always kill the lion."

him as a present some novelty in firearms, and presented it to the Emperor as he sat on his throne at a court ceremony. Menelik always at once loaded the firearm, whether it was rifle or revolver, and fired it off to test its action, without thinking or caring in the least where the bullet might hit.

crew at work cleaning chairs, mattresses, carpets, cushions and other things, and those that are in need of attention of a more serious nature are sent to the cleaners. The beds are fitted up, the furnishings put in their place and the necessary things bought to take the place of that which was destroyed during the last season.

The wireless operator arrives on the apparatus in working order for the opening.

This fitting out is one of the experiences which is always looked forward to by sailors in general, as they know that it is followed by the sailing of the steamer, which means money to them. The sougee mougee operation is also carried out on the big freighters, but their work is mostly done by the crew, while the boat is sailing from port to port.

HIS DEADLY LAUGH.
"Laugh and get fat" is not so invariably true a maxim as we have been led to imagine.

On the contrary, a laugh has been proven to be a deadly fall thing in the Baku oil district of Russia, on the borders of the Caspian Sea.

One of the big "gusher" oil wells became choked, and, with a view of blowing it clear, a number of iron drums full of nitro-glycerin were brought down by rail from Derbent, and deposited over the well in a large shed, which was used by the men as a sort of canten.

The steward of this establishment, a Greek named Darjos, opened one of the drums for some reason best known to himself, and "decanated" a small quantity of the dangerous liquid into a long thin glass used for mixing vodka. This he placed on a shelf behind the bar.

Shortly afterward Darjos entered a workman named Borkovitch, who was famous for the bolterous hilarity of his manner, and especially for his loud, resonant laughter.

The sight of nitro-glycerin in a vodka tumbler so excited his risibility that he gave vent to a series of stentorian guffaws. This chanced to strike right note, and set the half-filled glass "ringing."

Enormous Demand For "Fruit-a-tives"

1,152,000 Boxes Sold Last Year

Six of These Fruit Liver Tablets for Every Man, Woman and Child in the Dominion.

In seven short years, "Fruit-a-tives" has become the most famous and the most widely used medicine in Canada that has ever been introduced to the people of the Dominion. Even those who take "Fruit-a-tives" regularly and recommend these famous fruit juice tablets to their friends, probably have no idea of the enormous number of "Fruit-a-tives" that are being used by those wishing to regain their health.

Last year, over eight thousand gross boxes of "Fruit-a-tives" were sold. As there are one hundred and forty-four boxes in a gross, this means that over one million one hundred thousand boxes were sold in 1912. And this year this number will be still further increased.

This means a box of "Fruit-a-tives" for every six persons in Canada, or six tablets for every man, woman and child in the country.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold in every section of the Dominion. On the rugged Atlantic coast, throughout the Maritime Provinces, among the French in Quebec and the English in Ontario, all over the great Prairie Provinces and on the shores of the Pacific, "Fruit-a-tives" is the best selling medicine in stock.

This is true because "Fruit-a-tives" gives relief. For chronic Constipation, Indigestion and Stomach Trouble, for bad Blood, Skin Eruptions and Eczema, for Rheumatism, Sciatica and Lumbago, for Kidney, Bladder and Urinary Troubles—"Fruit-a-tives" cures when nothing else will.

In the head office in Ottawa, are hundreds of letters and photographs from grateful men and women who have been cured of sickness and suffering by "Fruit-a-tives." Many of these letters and photographs have been published by permission and have induced other sufferers to try "Fruit-a-tives." This is one of the factors in the demand for "Fruit-a-tives," which is now sold in every city, town, hamlet and cross roads store.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50 trial size, 25c., at all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

The treacherous contents immediately exploded. The barman escaped through having gone down into the cellar just previously, whence he distinctly heard the concussion, followed by the musical "ringing" of the thin tumbler and the killing five persons, all who were in at two explosions.
