Hun Counter-Attacks Diminish As Enemy Prepares To Retreat

GERMAN FIELD MARSHAL VICTIM OF ASSASSIN

THE SUNDAY BAND CONCERT PROBLEM

CHIEF W. T. WILLIAMS SAYS LORD'S DAY ALLIANCE CAN'T STOP SUNDAY BAND CONCERTS!

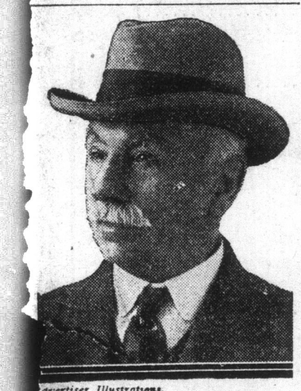

Three Rousing Cheers Are About To Be Heard After Head of Police Says Charitable Entertainments Exempted in Law Invoked by Some Ministers.

"Providing the money received at the Sunday band concerts is devoted to charitable or patriotic purposes, the concerts are perfectly legal and cannot be cut off," says Chief of Police W. T. T. Williams in reference to the action of the Ministerial Alliance in endeavoring to suppress the concerts.

Following is a copy of the law on which he bases his opinion: "It is not lawful for any merchant, workman, laborer, or other person whatsoever, on the Lord's day, to sell, or publicly show forth, or expose, or offer for sale, or to purchase any goods, chattels, or other personal property, or any real estate whatsoever, or to do or exercise any worldly labor, business, or work of his ordinary calling (conveying travelers or His Majesty's mail by land or by water, selling drugs and medicines and other works of necessity, and works of charity only excepted)."

Necessary and Charitable.

"The fact that the bandsmen are paid for their services does not enter into the case at all. The only question that is to be decided is whether it is a work of necessity or charity, and anything in connection with aid for our soldiers is both necessary and charitable," says Chief Williams. The law above quoted is an old one, being one of the Upper Canada statutes, but it has never been repealed, says the head of the police department.

CHIEF W. T. T. WILLIAMS.

That the meetings of the Salvation Army held in the park on Sunday afternoons would come under the ban if the issue were pushed to its logical conclusion is the opinion of Chief Williams. "They are nothing more than band concerts," he says, "but the proceeds are devoted to charitable purposes and therefore they come within the law. The only possible chance of banning the concerts would be if the money received were used for some purpose which could be proven as unnecessary or not for charity."

Pleasing to Many.

The opinion of Chief Williams will be received, no doubt, with great pleasure by many citizens of London, who were accustomed to sit in the park on Sunday evenings enjoying an hour of restful recreation. There are others, however, who will not be pleased with this ruling. Some hold that the Sunday concerts are desecrating the Lord's day, and naturally these will not view the outcome with any degree of joy.

Chief Williams is decided in his opinion that they cannot be banned when the funds are used for patriotic purposes.

It is believed that No. 4 Nursing Division, St. John Ambulance Corps, will hold a band concert Sunday night, and that the bandsmen will give their services gratuitously in order to keep on

PEACE PROPOSITION FROM GERMANS HAS NOT BEEN SUBMITTED SAYS BALFOUR

Foreign Secretary States That No Such Negotiations Have Yet Been Considered by Allies.

London, July 31.—Speaking in the House of Commons today, Foreign Secretary A. J. Balfour said that no enemy government had approached the Entente Allies regarding negotiations for peace.

Dispatches from Amsterdam July 24 quoted the Socialist newspaper Vorwaerts of Berlin as stating that Germany had made suggestions, which the Vorwaerts considered was a reasonable peace program, represented that Germany desired no annexations or indemnities in France and Belgium, asked that the principle of self-determination of peoples, and the Balkan question be settled at the conference table, wanted freedom of the seas, and desired that the settlement of the colonies be based on the status quo ante bellum.

VON EICHHORN DIES BY A BOMB HURLED IN KIEV

German Commander Assassinated at the Ukrainian Capital.

Amsterdam, July 31.—Field Marshal von Eichhorn, the German commander in the Ukraine, and his adjutant were wounded seriously by a bomb in Kiev Tuesday, says an official announcement received here from the Ukrainian capital.

The bomb which wounded the field marshal and the adjutant was thrown from a cab which drove close to their carriage as they were approaching the field marshal's residence.

The assassin and the cab driver have been arrested.

A later message from Kiev announces that Field Marshal von Eichhorn and Capt. von Dressler died last night.

It has been established, the telegram declares, that the crime originated with the Social Revolutionists in Moscow.

The assassin of Field Marshal von Eichhorn was a lad of 23. He declared at the inquiry held after the crime, the advices state, that he came from the province of Rizan, adjacent to Moscow, to kill the field marshal. He reached Kiev during the day yesterday.

Political Unrest.

Telegraphing from Kiev (date not given), the Hamburg Fredenblatts correspondent in the Ukraine says:

"A heavy storm cloud has gathered on the political horizon in the Ukraine. The Government is trying to ward off this threatened unrest by making arrests on a large scale. M. Gyzicks, secretary of state of the Hetmans Government, who is an outspoken monarchist, was among those arrested.

MUNITION STRIKERS NOW HUSTLING TO MAKE UP LOST TIME

Trouble at Coventry Has Been Definitely Settled.

London, July 31.—The strike of munition workers, caused by the order-in-council placing an embargo on skilled labor, is definitely ended. Official reports received from Coventry yesterday show that not only have the absentees returned to work, but they are hurrying operations in the hope of making good the time lost by their strike.

AMID BURSTING SHELLS BRITISH STORM HEIGHTS

Brilliant Attack by the Gallant Tommies Captures Important Points.

London, July 31.—Monday's attack on the front east of Oulchy-le-Chateau, in which the Grand Rozoy and the Butte Chalmont were captured, was carried out by British and French divisions, the British, according to a French staff officer, bearing the hardest part of the work and fighting brilliantly, says the correspondent of the Daily Mail with the French armies.

"The British," the correspondent writes, "were on the left of the French action as a flank guard on Sunday when the attack was begun. The divisions met with strong resistance, but the French reached their objectives.

"On the second day the British made the chief attack, the French this time acting as flank guard. The British objective was the line of heights beyond Grand Rozoy, in which the Germans were waiting as if sitting on a balcony.

Carried First Lines.

"In the early morning the attack went forward most satisfactorily, the British carrying the first lines and woods east of the road, and taking Grand Rozoy. Beugneux, however, was very strongly held, the enemy being determined to make a stand there.

"At 2:30 o'clock, another attack was made, the British advancing over open ground, sloping gradually up to the enemy's balcony position. The French describe this attack as particularly brilliant.

"The advancing line was black with the smoke of bursting shells, but the troops gained the woods, and some of the important heights to the north, where they are now holding the line."

"HUNGER STONE" SCARES THE HUNS

Amsterdam, July 20. — The famous "hunger stone" in the River Elbe, near Tetschen, which according to popular belief in Germany, predicts a famine when seen, is now visible for the first time since the beginning of the war.

The stone lies in the bed of the river, and has never been visible save at exceptionally low tide. On the stone is chiselled in old German: "When ye see me, ye will weep."

ACCOUNTING SOUGHT TO GET AT ASSETS OF IMPERIAL LOAN

Trusts and Guarantee Company Applies for Receiver.

TORONTO, July 30.—The Trusts and Guarantee Company has issued a writ against the London Loan and Savings Company and the Imperial Loan and Investment Company. The Trusts and Guarantee seeks to have an accounting of the dealings of the London Loan and Savings Company with the assets of the Imperial Loan and Savings Company, which were taken over by the London Loan some time ago. The writ also asks for the appointment of a receivership for an accounting of any assets in the hands of the London Loan, held to be the property of the Imperial Loan.

In the event of the receivership being appointed the London Loan, which is a bondholder of the Imperial Loan, would be reimbursed for the advance made to the Imperial.

The writ in no manner reflects upon the solvency of the London Loan, the courts being asked to decide matters in dispute as to the assets of the Imperial Loan.

M. J. Kent, manager of the London Loan is out of the city on a vacation, as are the president and vice-president of the company, but Londoners interested in the company said that the accounting asked for would be gladly given. The London Loan advanced moneys to the Imperial Company several years ago, and took as security an assignment of mortgages held by the Imperial Loan. It is an accounting of these mortgages the plaintiffs seek.

AMERICAN CITIZENS IN BRITAIN ARE LIABLE TO DRAFT AFTER SEPT. 29

London, July 31.—In pursuance of the British-American convention for drafting Americans of military age resident in the United Kingdom notice has been given American citizens desiring to return to the United States for service that they must make their own arrangements to leave before September 29. If they fail to leave by that time they become liable to service in the British army without right of appeal. An American may enlist in the American forces by applying to a British recruiting office.

G. W. V. A. DROPS ALL WHO HAVE NOT SEEN REAL SERVICE IN WAR

Action of Association Will Affect at Least 3,000 Persons.

Toronto, July 31.—Practically 80,000 soldiers discharged from the C. E. F. are affected by the action of the Dominion Great War Veterans' convention in deciding to restrict the membership in the association to those who have seen service in France or England or equivalent service in the navy.

Figures presented at the convention showed that at the present time there were 31,000 soldiers discharged from the C. E. F. who had never left Canada.

Formerly these men could be admitted to associate membership in the association, but henceforth they will be barred.

At the present time it is believed that there are 3,000 associate members in the association. They are men who have never left Canada. Secretary Stewart states that 3,000 badges for this class of membership have been issued by the association. The total membership of the G. W. V. A. is over 25,000.

WOULD ASK GOVT. TO GUARANTEE THE PRICE OF WHEAT

Representatives of the Grain Trade To Urge Immediate Action.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, July 31.—It was decided at the meeting of board of grain supervisors and representatives of the grain trade of Winnipeg, Montreal and Toronto to recommend that the Dominion Government guarantee the price of Canadian wheat for the coming season. It was pointed out that it would be impossible to finance the moving of the crop in Canada without some sort of guarantee being made by the Government within the next three weeks. Last year this guarantee was arranged by the wheat export through the British Government. Matters considered at the meeting yesterday were finally decided upon, and another meeting will be called in Winnipeg in three weeks.

GERMANS GETTING READY TO RETIRE FROM OURCQ ZONE TO VESLE RIVER

Repeated Counter-Attacks By Foe Fail To Break Allied Resistance —Huns Are Burning Huge Supplies As They Plan To Retreat.

[By Associated Press.]

In spite of the tremendous efforts put forth by the Germans to check the relentless pressure of the Allies north of the Ourcq River, today finds the German positions there in grave danger. French, British and American troops, fighting their way forward to the east of Fere-en-Tardenois, have driven a wedge into the enemy's line and seem to be in a position to compel a hurried retreat from Roncheres and St. Gemme, at the extreme bottom of the salient between Soissons and Rheims.

The Allied line today runs south from Soissons to Grand Rozoy, and then it begins to turn to the east. It passes just north of Fere-en-Tardenois, and continues to the apex of the wedge at the village of Nesles, where it turns sharply toward Roncheres. The Allies advance in this region seems to have placed them in a dominating position.

CONTINUOUS BATTLE.

All around the salient there has been a continuous battle during the past two days, with the Germans launching repeated counter-attacks against the Allied lines. They have all failed, and the Allies have gained important ground at vital points.

Immediately south of Soissons and west of Rheims, the German lines are strongly held, but enemy efforts to improve his position in the latter region have broken down.

There now seems to be little doubt that the Germans will retreat to the Vesle River as soon as possible, any possibility of making a stand north of the Ourcq being seemingly gone.

Against the new British positions at Merris, in the Lys salient, where the Germans were driven back by a surprise attack on Tuesday, there has been a heavy bombardment.

FURTHER RETIREMENT OF GERMANS IS EXPECTED

Paris, July 31.—French aerial observers, says the Matin, report that there are signs behind the present German battlefront of preparations for a continuation of the retirement northward. The enemy is destroying much material and big fires have been seen.

The newspapers generally point out that the fighting Tuesday was marked by brisk but vain enemy reactions. They believe that the German line of resistance has been reached, although the Allies were able to make additional gains.

Several military experts do not believe that the Germans have yet reached the end of their retiring movement. The Echo de Paris says the Germans have thrown five reserve divisions into the fighting, proving the importance the German command places on maintaining its present position, which is equally good for offensive or defence.

U. S. TROOPS HOLD POSITIONS AT SERINGES-ET-NESLES

Paris, July 31.—American troops maintain their position in the region of Seringes-et-Nesles which they carried after violent fighting, according to an official statement from the war office today.

The Germans made four attacks against the new French positions east of Oulchy-le-Chateau. They were repulsed, and the French line was held intact.

The French and the Germans carried out raids at a number of other points on sectors east and west of the Marne salient, but there was no change in the general situation at these points.

The text of the statement reads:

"After a heavy bombardment the Germans attacked the new French positions east of Oulchy-le-Chateau. Our troops repulsed four enemy assaults and maintained their lines intact.

"On the right bank of the Ourcq there were lively combats northeast of Fere-en-Tardenois. The village of Seringes-et-Nesles passed from hand to hand, but was finally taken by American troops in a counter-attack.

"A number of raids were made by the Germans near Mesnil St. Georges, west of Mondidier; in La Pretre Wood, on the right bank of the Meuse and in the Vosges. They were without result. Our troops made a successful incursion into the German lines northeast of Perthes-les-Hurlus (in Champagne) and brought back prisoners. The night was quiet on the remainder of the front."

FOE PRISONERS TAKEN AT LENS.

London, July 31.—The German artillery displayed considerable activity last night in the region of Merris, on the Flanders front, taken yesterday by the Australians, and in the Kemmel sector, the war office announced today. It was also active on both sides of the Somme.

Prisoners were taken in raids and patrol encounters in the Lens region and north of Bethune.

The text of the statement follows:

"Several prisoners were captured by us during the night in

THREE BODIES HAVE FINGER IN CONTROL OF FAIR GROUNDS

Controller Little Would Put Exhibition Board in Charge.

A DISPUTE OVER PHONE

Utilities Would Remove It, But Buildings Require Fire Protection.

Queen's Park may be taken out of the hands of the utilities commission and handed over to the control of the Western Fair board.

What Controller E. S. Little terms to be "an absurd situation" now exists, inasmuch as three different bodies are in control of the park.

The city owns and controls the buildings. The utilities commission controls and cares for the park proper. The fair board controls the tracks, and for a few weeks of the year the whole park.

Ordered Out Phone.

For years there has been a telephone in the home of the caretaker at the park. The fair board has paid half and the utilities half. Recently the utilities became affected with a special streak of economy. The members decided that they did not want the telephone in the park. They did not care whether the fair board wanted it, and did not ask them. They just ordered the telephone company to take it out. Yet they were only paying for half the phone.

The city wants the phone left in the park, and the fair board also. Many thousands of dollars are invested in buildings at the park and the phone would be handy in case of fire, and past experience shows that fires do occur at the park.

Give Park to Fair Board.

Controller Little so reviewed the situation before No. 2 committee last night, when he asked the committee to consider relieving the utilities commission of the control of the park and handing it over to the control of the fair board for the year round. The utilities would be asked to cough up a portion of the park tax and this would go to the fair board for upkeep.

"We could declare the park to be an exhibition grounds," said Controller Moore.

Further action is to be anticipated.

The committee approved of the plans for a new entrance to the fair grounds at Egerton street. This will be used for autos and provides an entrance on Dundas street, and an exit on Egerton street. It will be paved and will connect with the subway under the track. The city will lay a new curb and gutter to cost less than $100.

ENGINEER ASSERTS HIS STAFF OF 113 DO NOT HATE WORK

Mayor Wonders How One Man Ever Gets Home.

At the last meeting of No. 2 committee there was a great hubbub, caused by some of the aldermen, in regard to the number of workers employed in the engineer's department. Some of the city fathers did not think that there was work for all those on the job. Some of them spoke of men drawing pay and standing around, smoking their pipes. The aldermen seemed to consider this an outrage. They were rather "het-up," as they demanded that the engineer report what all the workers were doing.

Last night the report was on hand, and there was not a murmur. The report was read, and not a word greeted it. Mr. Brazier said he had 113 men on outside work and 5 in his office. He outlined the activities of each. On one occasion Mayor Somerville asked if one of the men went home nights, considering the amount of work he had to perform.

The workers are divided as follows: Sewers, 8; ward gangs, one, foreman and 5 men; two, 7; three, 6; four, 5; five, 5; paving, 3; oiling, 11; sweeping, 29; roller, 7; storage, 2 garbage, 28, and watering, 3.

ENGINEER ANXIOUS TO BUY NEXT YEAR'S OIL FOR STREETS THIS YEAR

Would Avoid Delay in Laying Dust and the Consequent Abuse.

Engineer Harry Brazier is planning to avert next year a repetition of the storm of abuse that greeted the engineering department this year because all the streets of the city were not oiled early in the spring. He proposes to purchase a good portion of next year's supply immediately, if the council approves.

The trouble this year has been to get oil. As a result all the streets of the city will not be oiled until shortly before Western Fair time. The city has now storage capacity for 45,000 gallons of oil, or one-third of te city's requirements for a summer. The only trouble is that the engineer says he does not believe he will be able to buy oil next summer.

"That will mean that one-third of the city may be oiled and two-thirds unoiled," remarked Chairman J. T. Moore. He added that this might make trouble.

Controller Saunders remarked that there would be no kicks coming so long as Hyman street was oiled. Ald. Wilson lives on Hyman street.

GIVE 'EM A LIFT

The Advertiser has received the following poem, written by a soldier of Flint, Mich., the sender thinking it might well be taken to heart by Western Ontario motorists:

Give 'Em a Lift.

Autoists, to pass a fellow
In the service togs is wrong.
Ask the chap in if you happen
To have room; say, "Come along!"
Let him travel in your roadster,
Limousine or landaulet.
Hail the fellow with this bellow,
In the night or in the day:

"You can go as far as I go
And you're welcome to the ride.
Do not travel on the gravel;
Come on, brother, hop inside!"

When you're riding on the highway
In your little hunk of tin,
Ask a soldier, "Going my way?
Lots of room, friend, scramble in."
Do not let that seat be vacant;
Help a buddy on his way.
Get together, save his leather,
Shift to neutral as you say:

"You can go as far as I go
And you're welcome to the ride.
Do not travel on the gravel;
Come on, brother; hop inside!"

Do this stunt and you'll be using
Patriotic gasoline
When you're on the asphalt cruising
In your "Liz" or limousine.
Never pass a man in khaki
Or a sailor lad in blue.
When you meet him stop and greet him,
With "There's room inside for you!"

"You can go as far as I go
And you're welcome to the ride.
Do not travel on the gravel;
Come on, brother; hop inside!"

AMENDMENTS MADE TO PARKING RULES ON CITY'S STREETS

Must Keep Off Hydrants and Theatre Entrances.

TIME LIMIT, THREE HOURS

Committee Adopts Suggestions and Passes Them on to Council.

Important changes in the traffic regulations of the city were recommended and adopted by No. 2 committee last night by a special committee, which delved into the present streets bylaw. They are in brief:

Parking of cars on the slope will be allowed on the north side of Dundas street between Wellington and Waterloo, and on the east side of Richmond street, between Queen's avenue and the W. O. W. building. These are the only two streets that are considered wide enough to allow sloping parking.

It was pointed out that there is usually a large number of cars parked on Richmond street during the evenings. Mayor Somerville said that the church people might object to theatre crowds parking their cars in front of the church.

Amendments.

A most important amendment to the bylaw is one to the effect that no cars shall be parked on any street within 20 feet of a water hydrant or a theatre entrance. At the present time it is not uncommon to see cars left standing directly in front of theatres. The committee said that if there was a rush of people to get out they could not. As to the hydrants, cars left in front of them have at times seriously interfered with the work of the firemen.

It was also decided that no persons shall leave a car standing on a street longer than three hours, and they must not interfere with the regular traffic of the street. Cars shall not be parked at any time in the Market Lane.

Speed Fixed.

The speed for autos on bridges was fixed at eight miles an hour.

There were suggestions as to the regulation of cars passing street cars while passengers were getting on and off. It was pointed out that the provincial statutes covers this thoroughly, and would have precedence over any bylaw.

Chief Justice R. M. Meredith's complaint re the blocking of Paul street, which he termed an audacious invasion of rights, may cost the city considerable money to remedy. Engineer Brazier expresses the belief that part of the street is fenced and also that some eight feet of property separates the two streets which might have to be purchased. Also that it would cost $350 for steps. The engineer will make a new survey of the street.

Egerton street bridge will be replanked. The city and county will divide the cost of $800.

FOUR VOLUNTEERS

Two Go to Jewish Battalion After Passing Doctors.

The spell of one volunteer-a-day was broken at the local mobilization centre Tuesday, when four men presented themselves for service. One man, R. A. Walter, was forwarded to this city by the British and American recruiting mission at Chicago. He was found to be in category A2, and was attached to the W. O. R. N. Perenson and Joseph Fauman came here from Windsor, and after being placed in category A2 were allowed to go in the Jewish Battalion. P. Conson was also examined, but was found to be unfit for service.

Five defaulters and one man apprehended under the military service act were also brought up, thus making the day an extra busy one for the medical examiners. Four of the men were placed in A2, while one was placed in C1, and the other was found to be in category E. All were attached to the W. O. R.

COST OF COLLECTING GARBAGE IS HIGHER THAN IT EVER WAS

Each Load Adds $1.83 to the Expenses.

MONTH'S TOTAL $1,434

Complaints Few and Service Much Improved, States Engineer Brazier.

It cost London $1.83 a load to have the garbage collected during the month of June, according to the reports of the garbage collection compiled by Engineer Harry Brazier. The cost of destroying the garbage at the incinerator was $1.26 a load for 576 loads, making the total cost of each load of garbage $3.09.

The total cost of collecting the garbage was $1,434.71. Of this item feed for horses cost $438.40 and labor $996.31. The cost of running the incinerator was $723.81.

Horse Feed Cheaper.

In the item of costs, it is interesting to note that the cost of feeding the horses has taken a material drop. During June the average cost per horse was 47.14 cents, while in April the amount was over 60 cents.

During June, 576 loads, or 1,922 cubic yards of garbage were hauled to the incinerator; 158 loads, or 347 cubic yards, of ashes to the dump, and 48 loads of cans. The total tonnage is estimated at 608, and the tonnage consumed per hour at the incinerator was a little over two.

Cost Is High.

The figures as to cost show that the cost of collection is now considerably higher than it ever was. This, however, is attributed to the increased cost of labor, but in return the department is giving more efficient service, according to the engineer.

During three weeks of July, there have been but seven complaints because of bad collection, and investigation showed that three of these were due to neglect on the part of the householder and a fourth because of a vicious dog. The collector refused to risk losing part of his trousers by entering the yard and the garbage was not collected.

GROCERS' OUTING AT PORT STANLEY NOW GOING FULL BLAST

Program of Sports Takes Up Entire Day.

The thirteenth annual picnic of the Retail Grocers' Association of this city is being staged at Port Stanley today, and local grocery stores will be closed all day. Large crowds journeyed to the lakeside this morning, and the favorable weather aided in making the outing a decided success.

The committee has arranged an excellent program of sports, which will take up the entire day, and valuable prizes are being given in the various events. A $5 prize will be given to the largest family on the grounds, and the Keenleyside Oil Company is donating a prize to the mother present with the greatest number of sons on active service.

CONSIDERS ASKING PROBE OF POLICE METHODS IN CITIES

F. F. Pohlman Thinks Them Cruel Here and Hamilton.

F. F. Pohlman, a former Londoner, who a month or so ago faced two charges in the London police court, and was acquitted, is now considering asking the police commissioners of London and Hamilton to investigate the manner in which their officers carry out their duties, according to a story published in Hamilton.

Mr. Pohlman says he has the greatest respect for Canadian law, but he feels that some of the persons appointed to administer it are "very indiscreet and cruel." He alleges that he was badly treated by some of them. His proposal to ask an investigation with a view of saving "other innocent persons" from the same kind of treatment.

Pohlman was arrested in Hamilton on a charge of passing a forged check in London. He was taken to the central station in Hamilton, and then to the G. T. R. depot. He was refused permission to communicate with his wife, and the result was that Mrs. Pohlman did not learn of his arrest until he reached London, and then only after many hours of worry because he did not return home as usual. It was twelve days before he was admitted to bail.

Another feature of his arrest was a story from Hamilton to the effect that Pohlman was not a sympathizer of the Allies. He states that this caused him and his wife more worry than his false arrest.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

THE FARMERS' MOVEMENT.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Will you allow me to thank you for the wise and temperate editorial in your issue of Friday last on "Farmers' Organizations"? The farmers have had so much criticism of late, for an attitude which their critics do not seem to have taken the trouble to understand, that for the sympathetic insight of The Advertiser into what is, after all, one of the most crucial of our national problems, all who care for the immediate future of our country owe you thanks. The farmers do not claim any special consideration at this time, but they do feel that they are entitled to a more sympathetic attitude than they are getting from considerable sections of the daily press. This applies to publicity for the events of the movement which is gathering strength every day, as well as to editorial comment. And in that connection I should like to thank you for the invaluable report of the recent meeting at Forest. Absence in the west prevented me seeing it on publication; and my attention has only just been called to it. I think you must be the first editor of a leading Canadian daily paper who has taken the trouble to send a lady reporter to a farmers' gathering, in recognition of the importance of our women to every problem of our future citizenship.

Again thanking you, yours very sincerely, J. J. MORRISON,
Sec.-Treas United Farmers of Ontario.
Toronto, July 29, 1918.

MR. HENRY'S CORRECTION.

To the Editor of The Advertiser.

I noticed in your paper tonight a "Special to The Advertiser" regarding a small accident which hapened to Mr. Brandler and myself on Sunday in an auto accident. The information given by your correspondent is absolutely false. There was no one in the car injured in the least, neither was the car broken except a rear wheel. The other occupants were brought into Wingham by myself in a car loaned by a nearby farmer. No medical aid was summoned as stated, neither was Mr. Brandler pinned beneath the car or his wife's hip injured. The wrecked wheel was replaced by a new one and driven into Wingham by the writer a half hour after the accident.

Yours truly,
J. W. HENRY.

DESERTER THOUGHT HE SHOULD JOIN AMERICAN FORCES, NOT CANADIAN

But Magistrate Convinced Him His Reasoning Was Wrong.

Cyril Demarsh, charged by Major Hirsch with deserting from the 63rd Depot Battery on May 21 of this year, thought, as he is an American, he should be in the United States army. He was convinced by Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon this morning that his place was with the Canucks rather than the Sammies. As he expressed a willingness to go overseas, he was sentenced to six months in jail, with the usual stipulation that he be released on the application of the military authorities.

They'll Go Home.

Wanderlust, unrepressed, caused the appearance of two youthful travelers in the juvenile court today. They reached London yesterday on their sightseeing trip from their homes along the St. Clair shore. While they have said nothing definite, it is thought they will abandon their journey indefinitely. Possibly they were heading for the battlefields of France, but they have really decided that there's no place like home. Their parents will be communicated with, and in the meantime they will visit the several children at the home in South London.

A Lone Speeder.

One lone speeder, who was sure he was not exceeding the speed limit on his motorcycle, could not convince the court of his innocence, and therefore he is $5 and costs poorer than he was at 9 o'clock this morning.

TWO INSECTS HAVE BEEN BITING CATTLE, SAYS J. H. MORDEN

Ilderton Farmer Declares the Animals Are Injured.

A regular cattle pest is rampant in this part of Ontario, according to another letter received from J. H. Morden, R. R. No. 1, Ilderton, who reported a short time ago that he and his neighbors are puzzled by the situation that has arisen.

Further observations made by Mr. Morden prove that two kinds of insects appear to be bothering the cattle: one causes a swelling where it bites, and the cows lash their tails in every direction, and act as if stung by a bumblebee. The other cannot be seen, though the farmers watch the animals closely, but the first intimation they have that something is attacking them is when the cattle begin to run furiously, to froth at the mouth and finally fall exhausted. The belief advanced by some that the bot fly is the insect cannot be accepted by the farmers, who declare that the bot fly has never affected the cattle in this manner; nor is it the froth bug, which has not been seen for years.

The effect on the cattle is to cause sometimes whole herds to run long distances and act as if wild. Consequently, the farmers are not getting any good from the cattle, and it is feared that the result will be disastrous if some means is not taken to stamp out the insect epidemic.

During July, 1917, the customs receipts totalled $14,269,643, while for July in the present year, the total was $13,584,980.

PROVINCIAL HIGHWAY ROUTE IS QUESTION; ALTERNATIVE ROADS

Will, However, Run to London Certainly.

COUNTY ENGINEER SAYS

Feels Sure Road Will Be Built Immediately After War.

That the provincial highway from Toronto to Windsor, which is being discussed, will pass through London is the opinion of County Engineer Talbot. The road will be built as soon as the war is over, he thinks. There is some doubt as to which route will be chosen to and from this city. One of the two possible routes from Toronto to London is from Toronto to Hamilton, thence via Brantford and Woodstock to London. The other route would not touch Brantford and Woodstock, or possibly Hamilton, but would take a northerly direction through Stratford.

Choice of Roads.

From Woodstock, if this be the way chosen, there is another choice of two roads, one by way of the Governor's road through Thamesford, and the other along the Hamilton road through Dorchester.

Leaving London, the highway will follow the Wharncliffe road to Lambeth, where another choice will have to be made. Some advocate following the Talbot road to Talbotville, and thence west along the southern portion of the province to Windsor. This line would miss Chatham. Others say the line should continue through Lambeth, Delaware, Melbourne, Wardsville, Thamesville and Chatham to Windsor.

Which of the routes will be taken to and from London is not as yet known, but one thing is certain—London will be on the line of the highway.

"If the line to Windsor does not follow the Longwoods route, it will be on account of the indifference of the municipalities along the way," said Mr. Talbot.

Expense Is Shared.

The expenses of the highway will be shared by the Government and the municipalities through which it passes, the Government paying 70 per cent of the cost, and the municipalities meeting the balance.

The roadway allowance will be considerably wider than is the present practice. The proposed width is 80 feet, whereas the usual width is only 66 feet. Telephone and power lines will be run at the extreme outside of the road, and a line of shade trees will be grown on either side between the driveway and the lines of poles. There will be a graded space of 32 feet in width, with a paved centre of 18 or 20 feet, thus leaving a shoulder of at least six feet on either side, between the gutter and the paved section. This space will be graveled. A gutter will be built on either side, with an underdrain running the full length of each gutter. All the newest ideas in road construction will be followed in the construction of the road.

Provincial county roads as feeders will be built throughout the province so. The Government will meet 60 r cent of the cost of these roads, and e counties will pay the balance. These eders will be built and will be under e supervision of the counties.

The type of construction has not yet en chosen. It will be concrete or mething superior, Mr. Talbot thinks. he preliminary preparations will be n readiness, so that no delay will be ncountered afterwards.

"I believe it has been practically ttled that the highway will reach ondon via Hamilton instead of by uelph and Stratford," stated Mayor omerville when asked if he knew anyhing new about the highway.

NO AGREEMENT ON G. W. V. MEMBERSHIP PROBLEM REACHED

Solution Will Be Found Through Resolution.

In a letter from Secretary Cunliffe, of the London branch of the Great War Veterans' Association, who is at present attending the convention of that association in Toronto, Acting Secretary Murphy was informed that three distinct views on the question of membership found a wide measure of support at the morning session of the first day of the convention. Briefly, the three different policies advocated were: Extension of membership privileges to all men who have served in the C. E. F. in Canada, England or France, and who have been honorably discharged.

Limit Membership.

Limitation of membership to those who have seen actual service in France.

Associate membership to those who have seen service in England, and full membership to those who have seen ctive service in France.

Several hours of discussion failed to roduce any solution of the problem, ry strong arguments being put forth y the respective advocates of the ree policies. The supporters of all ree seemed to be in about equal rength, and the matter was finally isposed of by referring the resolution the committee on the constitution ith instructions to draft three resoations, one covering the "wide open" iew, one the "closed door" view, and the other the "moderate" view.

When these three resolutions are returned to the convention they will be voted on, and the future policy of the G. W. V. A. in regard to membership for the next year at least determined in that manner.

K. OF C. TO GIVE CARS FOR SOLDIERS' OUTING

About 150 soldiers from the Central Military Hospital and the Wolseley Barracks will leave this city next Wednesday afternoon and be conveyed in automobiles by the various car owners throughout this city to Exeter, where they will be entertained royally by the citizens of that town.

The soldiers will be given a civic welcome upon their arrival in Exeter, and during their stay there, which by far promises to be the most enjoyable this season, everything possible will be done to make them enjoy themselves.

About 35 or 40 cars are needed by the Soldiers' Aid Commission to convey the men, and it is thought that these will be easily obtained, as the Knights of Columbus have volunteered to furnish the conveyances for the occasion.

Secretary Ed H. Lance of the Soldiers' Aid Commission states that on the day that the soldiers journey to Exeter there will be a bowling tournament. Exeter is also the home of Major Keenan, who is well known about the city.

Woodfine enlisted in the 33rd Battalion and accompanied this unit overseas.

IN FEAR OF FRECKLES.—A London police sergeant says that 80 per cent of Winnipeg's policemen are now in the union. They have forced the commission to provide them with umbrellas for protection from the sun.

FORMER ENGINEER IN CITY. — George Wright, former city engineer, now resident in Toronto, has been in the city on business. Mr. Wright regards London as being in splendid condition and enjoys his visits with many old friends.

WILL VISIT SON IN U. S. ARMY. —A. G. Hines, photographer, leaves tomorrow for Watertown, N. Y., to visit his son, William H. Hines, who is a photographic instructor with the United States army. He has trained 30 aviators in photography, and 15 of these have already left for the front.

GLASSES RECOVERED. — Major Burns of Queen's Park telephoned to The Advertiser this morning to say Mrs. Burns had found a pair of glasses lost at Port Stanley, advertised for in these columns, Mrs. Burns left the glasses at the booth opposite the roller coaster, where they may be claimed by the owner.

THEFT FROM STORE.—A quantity of loose change as well as some candies, cigars and fruit, were stolen from the store of Thomas Alger, at the corner of Walnut street and Wharncliffe road, recently while the owner was spending the day at Port Stanley. The money was taken from the till, and the act, which was committed in broad daylight, is supposed to have been the work of a party of boys.

A TOWN FOR SALE.—A Londoner reports that the town of Shaftesbury, Dorsetshire, is offered for sale in one lot, by order of Lord Stalbridge, the owner. According to the advertisement it consists of dwellings, stores, shops, business and licensed premises, hotel and postoffice, with a population exceeding 2,000. It is the very ancient place, overlooking Blackmoor Vale, where King Canute is reported to have died.

SPOONERS ARE VOTED NUISANCE.—A Windsor citizen writes to the Record of that city: "Would the young lady who lives on the right-hand side of Elgin street be so kind as to keep the door of her own home and do her spooning there with the gentleman who brings her home late at night and spoons until 2 in the morning in a grey-topped automobile, as by so doing she will greatly oblige the residents in the locality, who will get a great deal more sleep."

CLANDESTINE ELK LODGES.—The organization of alleged clandestine lodges at places in Eastern Ontario and Quebec was discussed by an executive meeting of Elks of the two provinces at the Walker House, Toronto. Twenty-five delegates attended, and W. T. Perkins, Windsor, grand exalted ruler for the Dominion of Canada, presided. The Grand Lodge convention of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks for this country will be at Victoria, B. C., early in September.

HAS THIRD WOUND.—Mrs. Alma Cole, 13 Market Square, has received official word that her husband, Pte. Charles T. Cole, had been wounded for the third time. Pte. Cole's last wound, which was received on July 25, was in the left hand. He had been wounded in this hand once before, as well as in the leg by shrapnel. The wounded man enlisted with the 70th Battalion, and prior to this was employed as janitor in the Molsons Bank.

TROUBLES IN CHURCH CHOIRS.—An incomplete diary kept by a Kingstonian who died recently, after having been a choir singer for more than 40 years, shows that he had witnessed tilts between sopranos and altos 7,165 times; ditto between tenors and basses, 5,328, and seen 395 leaders resign; noted organists late for practice 880 times; witnessed the marriage of 1,560 choir members, noted friction with pastors 4,230 times, and discord among the members 11,137 times.

REPRODUCED LONDONER'S SPEECH.—Printers' Ink of New York, in the issue of July 18, reproduced the speech delivered by T. H. Yull, of the Federal Advertising Agency of this city, at the Association of Advertising Clubs of the World held at San Francisco this month. The article reviews the method in which the Canada Trust Company of London, handles its investment department and also reviews this company's affairs, showing its progress and system for some years past.

SOLDIERS HAD FISHING TRIP.—A party, consisting of officers and men at the local mobilization centre, returned this morning to labor, rejoicing after an extra pleasant four days' fishing and shooting trip at Little Squaw Island, off Wiarton. Although the party was gone four days, and upon its return was very quiet about its trip, it is thought that all had the usual "fishermen's luck," as no spoils were evident hanging at the belts on their arrival here last evening.

Y. M. C. A. ACCOMPANIED DRAFT. —R. P. Liddle, superintendent of the local Y. M. C. A., returned to this city Tuesday from Montreal, where he accompanied the draft of soldiers which left this city Saturday evening. Mr. Liddle reports that the boys were in the best of spirits all the way, and that during the trip he distributed over 1,600 postcards to them, all of which were used to write home and to friends. Candy and ice cream were also distributed among the boys, much to their delight.

LEADS IN MIDDLESEX COUNTY. —Victor Jancey, who lives on R. R. No. 3, Ilderton, is an omnivorous reader of The Advertiser. He reads the "lost and found" column regularly. He found the rim, tire and tube advertised in The Advertiser, and wrote this paper. The result was that The Advertiser informed the party who lost the above automobile parts and he today has regained possession of them. There is no better way to find a lost article than to put an announcement in the morning and evening Advertiser. Its great circulation in the county of Middlesex is now well-known to every merchant in London.

COMPLETES L. AND P. S. LINE.—The new main line of the London and Port Stanley, along Bathurst street from Clarence to Colborne street, has been completed, and trains are using these tracks today. The tracks are located on city property, formerly occupied by a Grand Trunk siding. This siding was torn up by London and Port Stanley employees last winter, after the Grand Trunk had ignored several requests by the city to remove the tracks. The Michigan Central main line on Bathurst street has been used up to the present by the London and Port Stanley trains leaving London, but the last pole on the new line, which is a straight one, was erected yesterday, and the civic-owned trains will travel solely on their own lines hereafter.

CUSTOM TAILORS OF CITY MAY MAKE BID FOR MORE BUSINESS

Consider Eliminating Piece System Now in Vogue.

TO SAVE SKILLED LABOR

By Paying Weekly Wage, Will Do the Work More Cheaply.

The tailors' union of London has under consideration a strong movement to awaken the clothing industry in London and to enable the custom tailors of the city to compete with outside manufacturers who supply machine made-to-measure clothing.

Their proposal involves a complete change in methods and system. It will mark the passing of the piece system, which has been in vogue here for 50 years.

Introduce Weekly System.

The journeymen tailors will deal with the matter at their next meeting on August 19. What they propose to introduce is what is termed the weekly system. In other words, the tailors would have the boss tailors pay all tailors a weekly wage instead of on the piece system. This will result in the introduction of cheaper labor for the unskilled work of the tailor shop, and the skilled tailor will be kept at all times on skilled work.

Unskilled Work.

For instance, the tailors state that girls unskilled in tailoring can threadmark a job, take out bastings, pad canvas, etc. This work is now done by the skilled tailor. It is a part of the piecework on which he is engaged.

The tailors claim this—the weekly system—will result in clothing being turned out much more rapidly and more cheaply. It will mean that the tailors will be better able to compete with the machine manufacturers. The tailors say it will also mean that the workingman of the city will get a better fitted and better made suit from the tailors than from the outside manufacturers.

At the present time the tailors are not engaged the year around. They have their slack periods. 'Someone has to pay for that loss of time," said a tailor today. This results in tailor-made clothing cost being higher. However, with the introduction of the weekly system the tailors believe that the boss tailors will be able to turn out clothing as much more satisfactory, quicker and cheaper; that it will result in Londoners buying a great deal more clothing at home, and it will also give work to many more workers.

One boss tailor, J. Fraumeni, Dundas street, has already concluded an agreement with the Tailors' Union to introduce the weekly system.

BANKS TO CULL OUT ACCOUNTS THAT ARE NOT GIVING PROFIT

Will Pay Interest No Longer On Paltry Sums.

MINIMUM MAY BE $300

Bankers Say Dozen Checks Are Often Drawn Upon Account For $1.50.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, July 31.—"The banks are not going to discontinue paying interest on savings accounts, but they are seriously considering discontinuing a number of accounts altogether which have hitherto been called savings accounts and making people who use the machinery of the bank for their private bookkeeping use ordinary current accounts," said D. C. Rae, manager of the Royal Bank, in regard to a report in circulation that further interest paying on savings is to be discontinued.

Speaking as a practical banker, Mr. Rae declared that the whole idea of discontinuing paying interest has not been considered at all, and that there is no reason why the banks should not engage in business which is really profitable.

Losing Money on Some.

"The whole matter has come about through war conditions. Bankers, just like manufacturers, have been compelled to work out cost tables, and this has been done for the first time.

"We then discovered that some of the business was not only profitless, but was really losing money for the banks, and we have to take steps accordingly, just as any manufacturer would do."

Continuing, he said that in order to make any account a profitable one for a bank to carry a minimum of $300 must remain on deposit. He added that, so far as the savings account was concerned, there are cases where over a dozen checks have been drawn regularly by customers who have a balance of a dollar and a half in their accounts.

Pay Interest on Accounts.

"We will make savings accounts real savings accounts, and no longer current accounts, but we will continue as before, paying interest on the accounts which we can keep. I think that checks on savings accounts will be discontinued altogether, as they are in the United States except, perhaps, in very exceptional circumstances," he said.

"The whole question of a banking account and what bankers can do with it, depends on whether or not the account is active. Active accounts are not properly savings accounts at all.

Mayor Favors Concerts.

Mayor C. R. Somerville is decidedly in favor of the continuance of Sunday band concerts, as long as they begin after church service. He said to The Advertiser today that he considers them a pleasant form of entertainment for long summer evenings, and thinks it a great pity that steps should have been taken to put an end to them.

Rev. Byron Snell, pastor of the Hale Street Methodist Church, maintains that the Sunday band concerts, as held at present, are contrary to law. Moreover, he says that such affairs constitute misuse of the Sabbath, which should be a day of rest. In his opinion there is a vast difference between the concert program and the music of religious service. He believes that the action of the Lord's Day Alliance arose from complaints being made concerning the fee received by the band, which was considered by many to be excessive.

Mr. Snell said he had no personal objection, as his congregation was not affected by them at all, but on general principles he thought that Sunday should be purely a day for worship and rest, and kept free from concerts and diversions of the sort.

Letter From a Soldier.

The Advertiser has received a letter from "A Soldier of the People" at Carling Heights, who in the name of his comrades thanks the paper for the stand it has taken in regard to the question of Sunday band concerts.

The Advertiser refrains from publishing this letter, as it does not bear the signature of the writer. Moreover, he is unmindful of the fact that many of the pastors of the city churches have shown no opposition to the holding of concerts, but with a few exceptions have spoken in favor of the entertainments.

U. S. A. HAS PLACED EMBARGO ON BRASS BEDS MANUFACTURE

This Means That Few Will Be Obtainable Here.

In a short time it will be next to impossible to buy a new brass bed in London. The United States has prohibited the manufacture of brass beds and brass tubing for the period of the war. Practically all Canada's brass beds come from the United States. Yesterday the Ontario Furniture Company received notice that the firm handling them in Canada would close them out in six weeks' time and they can expect no further shipments.

Dealers expect that the price will soar on the beds now held in stock, and when these are sold there will be no more offered for sale until after the war.

LONDON BOY IS GIVEN TWO YEARS AT WINDSOR

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Windsor, July 31.—Norman Weer, a 19-year-old London boy, was sentenced to a term not exceeding two years in the Burwash Reformatory by Magistrate Miers here today when convicted of the theft of an automobile. Weer asked to be permitted to enlist in the army, but was told by the magistrate "that the Canadian soldiers had to put up with enough now without having to associate with a thief." He has a long criminal record despite his youth, according to Windsor police, who claim that he has been convicted of assault and theft in London. He is also wanted in St. Thomas on a charge of stealing an automobile. The boy broke down when sentenced and had to be carried from the court room.

SHIPWORKERS WANTED FOR CANADIAN YARDS

A. E. Tutt of the local Government Employment Bureau is in receipt of several letters from different shipbuilding firms throughout the Dominion laying further emphasis on this industry at the present time, and asking him for applications for many classes of laborers which they state they are sorely in need of.

The class of men mainly needed are ship fitters, hull riveters, caulkers, chippers, bolters, reamers, carpenters, angle iron smiths, machinists, boilermakers and wood caulkers. Some of the firms state that they will pay a standard rate of wages as per schedule laid down by the United States shipping board of basic trade. While the remainder state that they will pay the highest wage possible to all skilled artisans.

In some cases helpers are required, but most of them call for skilled men with experience. Transportation will be provided for all those applying, and if the men will guarantee to work for the firm for three months or more their return fare will be furnished them any time after this date that they wish to quit their positions and return to their homes.

BUILDING STATISTICS SHOW LARGE DECREASE

The building statistics in London are falling by the wayside this year. So far 464 permits have been issued for a total of $336,165 as compared with 531 permits for $484,180 up to the end of July, 1917.

During the month ending today, there were 74 permits for a value of $46,290 issued. Last July there were 78 permits for a value of $75,030. In June, 1918, there were 97 permits valued at $58,200 issued.

Rome, July 31.—An official statement issued today by the Italian war office says:

"In the Daone Valley our troops have surprised an enemy advanced post and captured its occupants.

HAS RESCUED FOUR BOYS FROM RIVER IN THE LAST TEN DAYS

Sergt.-Major Crystal Has a Total of Five.

SAVED TWO AT ONE TIME

Never Bothers To Ask Names of Youngsters Pulled Out.

It has been brought to light that when Sergt.-Major W. Crystal of the Canadian Engineers rescued Jack Donohue from drowning at Becher's Island last Wednesday evening, this was the fourth boy pulled out by the sergeant-major within a period of ten days. Many soldiers swim at this location, and, being an expert swimmer, Sergt.-Major Crystal's favorite bathing resort is Becher's Island.

Rescued Two at Once.

One evening last week, while bathing, the sergeant-major heard a lad in deep water shouting for assistance. He beckoned several boys close to the unfortunate one to go to his help, and in the meantime struck out for the lad himself. One of the would-be rescuers, however, shouted that he had been seized with cramp, and Sergt.-Major Crystal successfully undertook the task of conveying both boys to shore.

Names of No Consequence.

When interviewed by The Advertiser today at Carling Heights, Sergt.-Major Crystal was very reticent regarding his heroic work. He admitted, however, that he had rescued five boys in all from drowning in the Thames. When asked their names, he replied, "Oh, I never bother asking the kiddies their names; the main thing is to pull them out."

A Former Rescue.

Two years ago, Sergt.-Major Crystal rescued a lad from drowning in the Thames, and then worked over him for fifteen minutes before he succeeded in causing him to regain consciousness. Recently he came down town and purchased a rope, at his own expense, which he erected about the deep hole near the dam, above Becher's Island, which is a menace to all bathers in the vicinity.

There is talk in this city of bringing these brave deeds to the attention of the proper authorities, and thus having Sergt.-Major Crystal suitably rewarded for his heroic efforts.

CONSUMPTION OF WATER ROSE BY LEAPS DURING THE RECENT HOT SPELL

Daily Average Was 6,000,000 Gallons—Near Capacity.

During the hot spell which ended on Monday night, the citizens of London consumed over six million gallons of water daily, and on one day the consumption reached six and a half million gallons. This is getting up close to the capacity of the city's plants. However, the water stood up well in the reservoir and no shortage threatened, although had the hot spell kept up very long this might have occurred.

During the hot spell Springbank was pumping 3,500,000 gallons, and Ridout street station and Foster's wells 1,500,000 gallons each. The average daily consumption of water in the city during the year is about 4,000,000 gallons, so it may be seen that the hot spell makes quite a call on the city system.

Of the water at present used, 500,000 gallons are consumed at Carling Heights camp. Lawns, street watering and people running their taps to keep articles cool are reasons given for a large portion of the increased consumption.

EDWARD HARTSELL IN HOSPITAL; PERCY KING UNDER ARREST

Percy King, a returned soldier, was placed under arrest about midnight last night by High Constable Ben Watterworth, assisted by Constables Corsaut and Dawson, on a charge of robbing Edward Hartsell, a former driver for Davies, Limited, of about $100.

Hartsell was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, being badly beaten up on the Proof Line road north of The Kennels.

The car in which the two mentioned and another man were driving is lying at the road side in a damaged condition.

Hartsell claims he had about $100, and that he was relieved of it. King, it is alleged, claims that the three had been playing cards all the night before and had gone for a ride. Hartsell was given the beating about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and it was not till midnight that King was located.

King was remanded this morning by Magistrate Capt. Thomas Robson until August 7. It is possible charges other than robbery may be laid against the prisoner. Edward Hartsell has recovered sufficiently to be discharged from the hospital. Judging from the appearances of the prisoner there was a furious scrap for some time. It is rumored that an empty whiskey bottle was found near the scene.

ALL LONDON POSTMEN HAVE RECEIVED CHECKS

All the London postmen have received their bonus checks of $37.50. This is for the months of April, May and June. The next checks will come at the end of September, as it is announced that the bonus will be paid every three months. The other bonus, granted in 1917, and which amounts to $100 a year, is added to the men's monthly checks.

There was a rumor about the city that some mistake had been made, and all the checks cancelled, and that the postmen were angry as a result and taking strike. Inquiry proved this to be incorrect.

THE LONDON ADVERTISER COMPANY, LIMITED.

London, Ont., Wednesday, July 31.

AFTER THE WAR.

NEWS COMES from Ottawa of attempts in London this summer to buy out the Grand Trunk Railway. The company does not want to sell at all, but if it does will ask at least $500,000,000.

The attitude of the company is the correct one. The company should not sell and the country should not buy. After the war Canada will enter on a period of great prosperity, in which, all the railways will share. Canada should be very slow in adopting the ownership of railways.

"Bismarck had all sorts of reasons for acquiring the railways of Prussia. For example, he hoped to render himself more independent of the Prussian Diet if he had the railroad receipts at his disposal. The government had already begun a military line, but was encountering political difficulties in completing it. Bismarck's proposed state system was one way of putting an end to opposition of precisely this character. Finally, railway rates are an excellent protectionist instrument, actually serving the German Government in that capacity. Rates are raised on importations and lowered on exportations."

There is sufficient in that extract to cause the strongest advocate of public ownership to pause long and reflect earnestly. Public ownership may become a means by which ambitious men may destroy government by the people. There is also the fact, which should not be for one moment forgotten, that Canada cannot with money pay the Grand Trunk for the good it has done to Canada.

WHAT SHALL WE EAT?

LIVING is becoming too complicated a problem for ordinary people who have been endeavoring to carry out the orders and requests of the food board, and there is a danger that in desperation they will decide to ignore all hints and live according to their own inclinations and beliefs.

One day comes word that although there is not a shortage of sugar there is need for economy, and all are asked to cut down consumption of this product; furthermore, orders are issued against home candy-making, icing on cakes and other luxuries.

Having digested these orders and appeals, people determine, urged on by the high cost of fruit, to make less jam this season and encourage youngsters to eat butter on their war bread.

About the time that cultivated raspberries are getting scarce and the wild ones are reaching their prime, or have passed it, along comes an intimation that patriotism demands Canadians use every berry possible for jam making in order that butter may be exported to Europe. Apparently the scarcity of sugar is forgotten and the demand for export butter now enlists the whole attention of the food authorities.

As a mild suggestion: Would it not be possible for the food board to take a few days to outline a practical, useful list of eatables for Canadians, which would take into account present and probable future requirements, emphasize the varieties of food which may be eaten without stint and give some indications of the amount per head per week which ought to be consumed of the more wanted kinds?

People become bewildered by the multiplicity of laws, rules and suggestions and lose hope of being able to observe them all, especially when many appear to be contradictory. If the authorities would eschew vagueness and come down to definiteness and details more would be accomplished.

SUNDAY BAND CONCERTS.

ALLEGIANCE to the great principle of Sabbath observance was never more strongly observed than in the city of London. The city has never permitted desecration of the first day of the week, and the spirit of the people has been against the seeking of immoderate pleasures or indulgences.

The city spends its Sabbaths in restful contentment. But it will not regard with favor any edict which by invoking a technicality in the law is able to prohibit and suppress a wholesome desire on the part of the people to gather under the blue canopy of heaven and listen to inspiring music that lifts them away from the grim weekday grind and carries them beyond sordid and unnatural desires.

Once upon a time a boy who whistled on Sunday was clapped into jail. And some day the suppression of band concerts following the church service will also be regarded in the "once upon a time." Deference to the lawful hours of worship has always been shown by those who organized the band concerts held since war began for patriotic purposes, and by means of which thousands of soldiers have been comforted. But the extremists among the members of the Lord's Day Alliance who see harm in these concerts should endeavor to feel that there is wholesomeness, there is honest enjoyment and there is safety in the numbers who gather. The Advertiser does not believe these clergymen wish to be intolerant, but they are misinformed if they believe band concerts are a wild and abandoned orgy. More probable it is that the concerts are a safety valve for the restless and a source of uplift for the whole people.

As to the aspect of paying the bandsmen, well, reporters and printers and organists and ministers are all paid for their Sunday work. The bandsman, who knows the benefits of music, may justly feel that he is entitled to rank with such callings as these The Lord's Day Alliance will win good opinion if it call off its proposed prosecution, in the event that an effort is made to hold further concerts.

A GREAT CANADIAN RECALLED.

THE HONORABLE DAVID MILLS was exactly the stamp of statesman Canada stands most in need of today. He was one of Canada's great men. He was a student and reasoner all his life. Sir John Willison has contributed an interesting article on Mr. Mills to the Canadian Magazine. The article states that "Between Mr. Mills and Sir John Macdonald there was a firm and enduring friendship." Sir John Macdonald felt very grateful to Mr. Mills for a speech which he delivered on the rights of the Roman Catholic minority in Manitoba. Sir John crossed the floor of the House and thanked Mr. Mills, informing him that the speech had cleared away his doubts and made his course plain. Mr. Mills was always anxious to be right. As a constitutional lawyer he had no equal in his day. He was also offered a judgeship in the supreme court at another time by Sir John Macdonald.

The article further states, "Mr. Mills, as has been said, had confidence in Mr. Blake that never was shaken. To Sir Wilfrid Laurier he gave only a perfunctory allegiance. There is no doubt that he aspired to the leadership of the Liberal party when Mr. Blake resigned, and never was convinced that a wiser choice was made." How often during the recent years, so full of need for well-read men, honest, sound, reasoning, thoughtful men, like Mr. Mills, has the wish been expressed "Oh, for the touch of a vanished hand, for the sound of a voice that is still." It is quite true that Mr. Mills had unlimited faith in Mr. Blake, but that he desired the leadership of the Liberal party is open to very grave doubt. He was asked if he would accept the leadership and declined it. He gave Sir Wilfrid Laurier the most loyal support and considered that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was as liberal as a Catholic, as he (Mr. Mills) was as a Protestant. If that statement could be made to apply generally the religious differences between Catholics and Protestants would disappear. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has done more than the share of any one man in Canada to accomplish that end. There is no doubt it was a great disappointment to Mr. Mills that he was not included in the first cabinet of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He thought those in the Dominion Parliament who had fought the Liberal battles in that parliament, were more entitled to and better qualified to fill the cabinet positions than provincial premiers, however able they might be.

One great admirer of Mr. Mills was Sir Oliver Mowat. He became minister of justice in the Laurier administration. On more than one occasion he acknowledged the great help he had received from Mr. Mills on the boundary award, and referred to him as one of Canada's most thoughtful men. The success of the province was largely due to the part Mr. Mills took on that question. It was work exactly suited to Mr. Mills' industry, knowledge and painstaking research. He secured territory as large as an empire for the province and was very inadequately paid. Mr. Mills succeeded Sir Oliver Mowat as minister of justice at the request of Sir Oliver Mowat. Sir Oliver Mowat and Mr. Mills were strongly attracted towards each other.

In private life Mr. Mills was charming. His memory was perfect, his language pure. Since his day, the day of Blake, Cartwright, Mowat, Mackenzie, Laurier, Ross and others, all have been "ferried o'er death's dark stream" except Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and no one has taken the place of any one of them. While the world is fighting for democracy, Canada badly needs good men, men who will devote their time and talents to the honest study of public questions, men above trickery, men who will seek to allay the differences of race and creed as Sir Wilfrid Laurier has done. men of the sturdy honesty and sterling ability of Alexander Mackenzie, brilliant men like Edward Blake who, crossed the ocean and became recognized as the greatest lawyer in the British empire, men like Sir Richard Cartwright, a perfect parliamentary speaker, men like George W. Ross, alert, active, eloquent, men like Oliver Mowat with evenly-balanced mind, men like David Mills, seeking to do the most good he possibly could in his day, working industriously all his life, and giving his great ability for the country he loved so well, Canada. These were all great men, all statesmen, not politicians merely, and Canada will never know how great a debt of gratitude it owes to its own great men, who are the equals of

"England's illustrious sons,
Of long, long ages."

Why pick on the bandsman? Why should he be the only Sunday worker refused his remuneration?

Lockjaw among the Germans! If only it will seize Wilhelm and shut his jaw for ever it will rise in public estimation.

One wonders how many seconds that "illness" of Hakky Pasha, the Turk ambassador to Germany, lasted before death arrived.

It was courteous of London's businessmen to thank the postmen of the city for staying "on the job," and the appreciation was deserved.

A. E. Clark, editor of the City Bulletin of Columbus, Ohio, was with a friend who was campaigning for the Red Cross. The friend knocked at a door and a voice said, "Come in." His friend tried the door, then shouted, "It's locked!" "Come in," repeated the voice, and the campaigners replied: "It's locked." "Come in." "It's locked. At that point a woman put her head out of a window next door, and said: "There's no one home. You're talking to the parrot."

THE COMPOSITE GIRL.
By Louise Oliver.

Katherine frowned with displeasure as she turned to the first story in the magazine the postman had just brought. The story with her own name at the top in large letters under the title had been illustrated as she had feared by Julian Fletcher, and Julian Fletcher had managed to spoil the last half dozen or so of her contributions to the "National."

Other people raved about his work, and did not stop to insist upon the fact, as did the author, that an illustration should stick to the context. When a girl is said to come down a stairway in a queenly gown of velvet and spangles, it is maddening to see in the illustration a debonair lass tripping lightly down the steps in a frothy creation of lace ruffles and a sash. Also when one describes a heroine as having raven locks and dark, soulful eyes, it is the veriest heresy to have her reproduced in a picture with rather fluffy hair of an indiscriminate yellow and eyes of grey with an unmistakable sense of humor that compelled one who gazed to smile back in answering sympathy.

Just now the lady represented in the picture was supposed to be a haughty person who prided herself on her knowledge of clothes. Also she was supposed to be alighting from her limousine and drawing back in startled horror as she was approaching the one person in the world she was trying to avoid.

But instead of horrified haughtiness, the artist had sketched in an expression of rather glorified naughtiness. There again was the expression that rather refused to take life seriously.

"If," said Katherine, "that man wants to be a buffoon, how does it come he's engaged to spoil perfectly serious stories? I'm going to write to the editor and tell him that if he wants any more stuff of mine he's got to hunt another illustrator."

She looked again into the eyes of the girl who was intended to be soulful. In spite of herself she smiled back. Then happening to look up into her own mirror, she was startled. Her own eyes looking back at her from the glass were the exact counterpart of those on the page. And her hair, wavy, and caught back loosely from her face, with its part on one side, was exactly like that of the girl in the picture. Then she caught up another picture, and another, and studied them, long and carefully. Then she took another inventory of herself.

Slowly the bright color mounted to her cheeks, and her breath came hard. The pictures in the magazine were of her, there wasn't a doubt of it. And now it came back to her gradually that she had heard people say they had noticed a resemblance. And the dress in the stairway picture was certainly hers, and the rather youthful knock-about suit of the limousine lady who was supposed to know how to dress, was a replica of her own blue jersey. And the hat!

Katherine grew thoughtful. What vengeance could she wreak upon Julian Fletcher, who, evidently knowing her by sight, had had his own little joke at her expense. But alas—even while planning vengeance, the grey-blue eyes, like those of the limousine lady, rather lacked the hardness essential to real vendetta.

She tossed back her head finally, having reached at least a partial decision, that is, in order to settle her account with one artist she must make up the difference she had had with another. Jerry Page, her erstwhile enemy, would now be essential, to the fulfillment of her scheme and she must make up with him right away.

Poor Jerry! After all it was too bad the way she had treated him. She never dreamed she'd miss him so much, until he had ceased to come. In the old days he had a way of giving three quick knocks and sticking his head and saying: "Work's the password. Who goes there?"

If she were busy, she'd call out "Kate." And he would softly close the door and vanish.

But if she called out huskily, "A great big bear!" he would let the rest of himself in, his pockets crackling suspiciously with parcels from the delicatessen across the street.

Then Katherine would lay a cloth and they would have lunch together. Sometimes when he had sold a picture and she had sold a story, they would go to dinner at a big hotel and to a theatre to celebrate.

Lately, however, Katherine had sold so many stories that she needed no longer to live on the same street as the delicatessen. And having sold more stories she worked more, and her answer to Jerry's knock had more and more seldom been. "A great big bear." But then she didn't have to depend on packages for her meals any more. She had her own maid in neat black and white to announce quietly that dinner was served. Jerry came a few times at her invitation, but he didn't seem to like himself. Finally he blamed her for not caring for his friendship and they had quarreled after discussing it.

But now she needed Jerry and she smiled rather wistfully as she put on her hat and coat for a visit to the old street.

She knocked timidly at the studio door, and Jerry himself in his old velvet coat opened it.

With his hand on his heart, he executed a most profound boy. "Faith," said he slowly straightening, "it's a beautiful dream I'm having. I never mean to go to sleep."

She came in smiling. "Well, wake up, Jerry. I don't want to talk to a somnambulist. I've come on business, and you'll have to be very wide awake."

"At your service, milady. Won't you sit down? It isn't often I have such distinguished company."

She laughed. "Say, Jerry, before I ask you to do something for me, I want to tell you. I'm sorry for everything. I see things differently now. No doubt I did act rather arbitrarily, but it never occurred to me until afterward that you would think my prosperity had gone to my head. I didn't mean to say those things, Jerry. Forgive me, will you?"

"It's an honor to have a grievance. If forgiving kills the hope of another visit, I'm loathe to consent."

"Come off your exalted perch, Jerry," she laughed. "I guess I'm forgiven. Look here, I want you to help me to get even with Julian Fletcher. He's spoiling everything I write by sketching me into the illustrations. I can't imagine his motive."

"Perhaps you are his ideal. Most artists feel they can do better with an ideal. And perhaps you didn't realize it, but you're a very beautiful ideal for any artist."

She reddened. "Jerry Page, I believe you are defending him! I don't see why you should when he's taken the place you ought to have. He's the most popular illustrator today, I do believe. And his things can't be compared with yours. Think of his putting one girl into every picture!"

"That's forgivable. We all do it. We can't help it. You see, as I said, we get one girl into our head and it's all up, we can't see anything else."

"But he hasn't got me into his head; I never even saw him."

"Yes, Kate, dear, you did. You're looking straight at him."

"Jerry!"

"Surest thing you know."

"You're Julian Fletcher?"

"Yes."

"But you don't—you haven't got me—I mean——"

"Yes I have. I've got you in my head and my heart all the time. I couldn't tell you in the old days when all I could afford was an occasional meal. But I love you, Kate, and I want you. And in all your dear stories I see only you. Now what vengeance will you have?"

She considered a minute, then into her grey eyes returned the teasing smile of the stairway girl.

"This," she said, going over to him and offering her mouth for a kiss.

JAPANESE STEAMER WITH COSTLY CARGO AGROUND IN PACIFIC

Canada Maru Is in Difficulties Off Western Coast.

A PACIFIC PORT, July 30.—The Oshka Shoshen Kasha steamship Canada Maru, which went ashore near this port about 9 a.m. today in a dense fog, is reported to be in no immediate danger, though hard aground. It is as yet unknown how badly the vessel has been damaged, but a report received here said it is believed she can be floated.

The passengers are still on the steamer, it is said, and the steamer San Juan is standing by. The United States coast guard steamer Sonomish, Canadian naval patrol steamer Galiano and Canadian salvage tug Salvor are reported en route to the Canada Maru's assistance, and are due early this evening.

The Canada Maru has a cargo estimated to be worth $4,000,000.

FOG CAUSES GROUNDING.

VICTORIA, July 30.—While feeling her way through a dense fog early this forenoon, the Osaka Shusin Kaisha liner Canada Maru, Captain Y. Yamamoto, drove ashore at the entrance to the straits of Juan De Fuca on the American side. The exact location where the liner struck was one mile to the south of Cape Flattery. The big vessel piled on the reefs with considerable force, and is taking water in numbers 1 and 2 holds.

The Canada Maru was bound in from Yokohoma and Kobe.

American Aviator Jockeys Two Huns Into a Collision

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE AISNE-MARNE FRONT, July 30.—(By the Associated Press).—After daylight Tuesday two German aviators, with machine gunners aboard, flying low, attacked an American supply train south of Sergy. They were driven off by anti-aircraft guns.

The Germans later attacked a dressing station. Word of this having been sent to the aerial commander, an American aviator soon arrived and attacked the Boches from above. In trying to get away the Germans collided. The wings of their machines locked and the planes fell, both aviators and gunners being killed.

BUMPER CROP OF OATS AT SOUTH DELAWARE

SOUTH DELAWARE, July 30.—The farmers here are almost through haying. It has been a heavy crop, especially the clover. They are busy cutting their wheat and barley. The wheat is very poor. It will only average about ten bushels to the acre. The barley is excellent. The oat crop is about ripe, and is a bumper crop. The corn and beans are coming along fast.

The potatoes have been struck with a blight. Sugar beets bid fair to being a good crop. The apple crop will be a fair one. Honey will be scarce and dear. Cattle are beginning to move to market in large numbers, owing to the heat and the flies they are not gaining very fast these days.

The many friends of Miss Maude Robertson will be pleased to learn that she is recovering rapidly from a critical operation for appendicitis. She was attending the teachers' course at the O. A. C., Guelph, when she was taken suddenly ill.

GEDDES ADMITS SUBMARINES HAD NEARLY WON OUT

Outlook a Year Ago Exceedingly Gloomy for the Allies.

MENACE NOW OVERCOME

World Tonnage Is Being Increased 100,000 a Month Above Losses.

LONDON, July 30.—Sir Eric Geddes, first lord of the British admiralty, gave the House today a review of the naval situation and particularly defended the policy of starting naval shipbuilding yards, in discussing the shipbuilding program in connection with the navy estimates.

The first lord compared the situation today regarding tonnage with that of a year ago. Then, the net loss in tonnage he said, was 550,000 gross tons monthly. Submarines then were not being destroyed as fast as the Germans were building them, while the merchant ship yards were short of men and material. Four hundred thousand tons net loss monthly was the British deficit. Every yard that could take naval work had been put on naval building.

Gaining Up Tonnage.

Gradually during the year, Sir Eric continued, the position had changed in many directions. Instead of losing tonnage the world's net result in the last quarter had been a gain roughly of one hundred thousand tons a month. The Allied and neutral world was all well off on June 30 as on January 1, 1918. This result, he declared, had been obtained by reduced sinkings and increased buildings.

The reduced sinkings had been arrived at, said the first lord of the admiralty, by a greater productive effort devoted to warships and small craft of an anti-submarine character. Nothing was included of commandeered or acquired tonnage in this result.

Nearly Saw the Finish.

"The problem of a year ago was considered by many almost inconceivable and insoluble," said Sir Eric. "Merchantile carrying power was being sunk at a rate which soon would have made it an impossibility to continue the war and there was no tried, recognized means of combatting the campaign. It was necessary to provide a building program of anti-submarine craft, mines, other appliances and merchant ships on a greatly increased scale.

"The total increase in labor in the last year in shipbuilding yards and marine engineering works was 35,000. The original demand of a year ago was for 80,000 additional, part of them skilled. Owing to the events on the western front and the great demands for technical men for the air force, and the army, it was impossible to obtain the proper quota of skilled men by their withdrawal from the army. Unskilled men were offered freely, but they could not be absorbed because of the lack of skilled men."

Death of Skilled Men.

The first lord declared that skilled men could not be obtained in sufficient numbers to man the existing yards. This situation had been feared, although the ship building advisory committee had just adopted a standard ship which should be built the old way with the proportion of one skilled to four or six unskilled men in its construction.

Merchant ship repairs, said Sir Eric, are today engaging nearly two-thirds as many workmen as are engaged on new construction of merchantmen.

"But," he continued, "the submarines have found it too dangerous to work inshore and are going far out. The number of ships damaged, as well as sunk, is decreasing, and the transference of men from repairs to new construction is possible. The number of men employed on new construction of warships and auxiliaries, is, roughly, 150,000, and on merchantmen, 120,000."

BIG CHIEFS INVADE OTTAWA AND RECEIVE SOME CONSIDERATION

Doherty Will Go Into Merits of Their Claims.

OTTAWA, July 30.—Attired in Indian costume and carrying wampum belts commemorating the treaty of Paris, the speaker of the council and the head firekeeper of the Six Nations Indians, whose reserve is near Brantford, waited upon Hon. C. J. Doherty, acting prime minister, today and protested against the registration law. They were accompanied by J. W. Bowlby, K.C., Brantford.

The Indians claim that under treaty rights they are an independent community within the Dominion, and that the Government cannot legally call upon them to surrender any of the rights. They pointed out that as a matter of fact a record is kept of all Indians by the department of Indian affairs, and that registration will give the Government no additional information in regard to them, but the compulsory nature of the law means a surrender of their privileges.

Mr. Doherty, who subsequently stated that he was much interested in the claims advanced by the representatives of the Six Nations, assured the delegation that it was not the desire of the Government to ask the Indians to give up any privileges to which they are entitled by treaty and promised to have the merits of their contention inquired into.

CROP DIFFICULTIES OF SERIOUS NATURE IS LOT OF BRITAIN

Rigid Economy Is Earnestly Urged Upon People.

OTTAWA, July 30.—That rigid economy and the elimination of waste in the consumption of all food-stuffs must be continued throughout Allied countries to guard against harvest failure and the possibility of having to feed larger military drafts from America to Europe, forms the substance of a resolution passed by the food controllers of Great Britain, United States, France and Italy and forwarded to the Canada food board at Ottawa today.

After full consideration of the food resources of the Allied countries, on hand, in transit and in prospect, it was decided that increased food production and conservation were still vital to the successful prosecution of the war.

The Canada food board's statement in releasing the above message from the conference in London refers to the crop situation in England, as being one of anxiety. Drought, early frosts and labor shortage will cut home production in England below previous estimates.

JIMMY COON STORIES

By Dr. Warren G. Partridge.
Copyright 1917 by George Matthew Adams.

Jimmy Invites Cousin Bruin to Attend a Concert.

You would have rolled over on the ground with peals of laughter, if you could have seen Cousin Bruin, the black bear, at the concert given by the Katydid Orchestra, the next night in the big pasture! Jimmy Coon invited his favorite cousin, Giant Bear, to go along. And Giant Bear was never known to "turn down" an invitation. It was a lovely moonlight night; and when Jimmy Coon and his giant cousin arrived, the concert had already begun. The Katydid Orchestra was playing their waltz music with wonderful rhythm; and how those chaps did fiddle with their green wings, to win those dancing ladies for their mates! Now, you may find it hard to believe, but Giant Bear is just as fond of music as Jimmy Coon is. And Giant Bear was so excited and charmed with the fiddling, that he got right up on his hind legs and began to dance. And Giant Bear could waltz beautifully; and he just whirled among the green fiddlers and the dancing ladies! And Giant Bear said to Jimmy Coon, "Now Jimmy, cousin dear, let's get busy. I cannot stand it another moment, unless I can catch about five hundred of these ladies and gentlemen making love. Why Jimmy! I often get lonely at home all alone, and I wish to take about five hundred of these people home with me inside my fur coat!" And Jimmy Coon and Giant Bear had a race to see which could catch and eat the largest number of the Katydid Orchestra and their ladies in the shortest time! And Giant Bear pounced upon these players "to beat the band!" And Giant Bear swallowed alive over two hundred players in their band! For, Giant Bear was just as fond of the ladies as Jimmy Coon was, and he swallowed hundreds of ladies that moonlight night! It was awfully funny to hear the ladies call back as Giant Bear chased them, "Oh Mr. Bear! Take somebody of your own size. We are tiny little people, no bigger than grasshoppers, and you are a giant. It isn't fair to eat us!" But Giant Bear paid no attention to the cries of the ladies to the tender love-music of the gentlemen, but he rushed among them, swallowing all he could catch. Why, Giant Bear got so excited that he would jump up and try to catch the ladies when they were flying, and he even grabbed the leader of the orchestra, and bit off the tail of his green coat, but the leader escaped! And Giant Bear grunted with his big voice, "Who called me bad names a minute ago?" And the brave leader shouted, "Katy-did, Katy-did! But she is too smart for you!"

And Giant Bear was so excited and charmed with the fiddling, that he got right up on his hind legs and began to dance.

WOMEN IN ACTION

Ninety-five girls are stationed at "Camp Determination," Drayton, to work at flax-pulling. They are in the fields at 7 a.m., and are proving apt at pulling and binding into sheaves the greenish-yellow grain. Fourteen dollars per acre is the price paid, and an acre per week is considered a good record for each girl.

A demonstration and parade of woman's war work will be an important feature at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. It will not be merely a pageant, but will be a means of visualizing, to some extent, the scope and variety of women's contribution to war activities.

The Russian Women's Patriotic League has been formed in the United States with the object of organizing [illegible] Battalion of Death among the [illegible] women in that country. It is [illegible] which an action will rouse the 200,000 able-bodied Russian men in the United States. The first woman to enlist was Mrs. Lydia Prochoroff, who was a fashionable dancer and actress in Russia; the second was her sister, Miss Anna Woronow.

One of the latest forms of war work for women is bee-raising to increase the supply of honey.

Queen Mary has become commander-in-chief of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps.

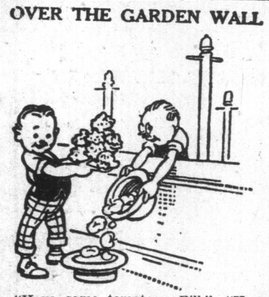

The Union Pacific railroad will shortly try an experiment by using women to load freight cars.

In England many women are superintendents of munition factories with men working under them.

The shortage of male help in some cities has made it imperative for restaurant proprietors to engage women as managers.

Through the co-operation of the War Lecture Bureau, members of the food committee of the Women's Patriotic League report that they have addressed 8,000 people on the subject of food conservation during the last six weeks, and hundreds of "substitute" cards and other information on the vital subject of food conservation have been sent in response to numerous appeals from all parts of the Dominion, thus showing that the women of Canada are alive to the most vital need of the hour, and that they are taking to heart Lord Rhondda's words, "Every effort that can be exerted in Canada to increase shipments of meat and wheat will be invaluable."

OVER THE GARDEN WALL

GIRLS FOR FRUIT WORK

The fact that university and high school girls must return to their studies in the fall leaves a gap in the ranks of the fruit pickers, and the Ontario Government Employment Bureau is facing the problem of supplying girls to pick apples, pears and grapes until the end of October.

Girls who have been holidaying at summer resorts should be splendidly fit for this work, and should they feel alive to the need of the hour, and anxious to serve in some way or another, here is their chance.

ONE HUNDRED HEED CALL

Girls and Matrons Will Bring No Discredit Upon Brothers in Khaki.

"Efficiency, thy name is woman." It is what everyone will say when the women's battalion goes on parade next Sunday evening to Adelaide Street Baptist Church. Though they have had but two drill nights thus far, their aptness for the work has turned them into smart, trig soldiers, and the boys at Carling Heights need not fear any discredit coming to them from their sisters in khaki.

Close to one hundred women and girls, including all sizes and ages, from a gray-haired matron to a youngster with a butterfly bow, turned out for the weekly drill at Queen's Park. They were divided into three squads, each under the direction of a competent instructor, who kept them on the hop, step and jump for nearly two hours. After going through a certain antic the competent instructor would say in a most seductive tone of voice, and with an altogether too winning smile, "Do you think you can do that? I think so, come on we'll try," and the would-be martial maids would rise to the occasion with marvellous agility, that frequently elicited from above-mentioned instructor such expressions of heart-felt encomium as, "Not bad at all."

Not All Gentle Masters.

But not all the instructors are honey-mouthed. One has learned, perhaps from experience, that the best way to make a woman work is to cow her into submission, and his stentorian tones rend the air at intervals. When the command is bellowed out, "Class, 'shun, right turn, about turn, right turn, stand at ease," every girl swings around like a pivot, albeit her knees tremble and eyelids flicker, for not every mother "raised her Jane to be a soldier."

The instructors are surprised at the results shown by these girls after two nights. They do not hesitate to say that, as recruits, women are far easier to handle than men. They are more attentive, quicker in their movements, and present a neater appearance on parade than men. Regular physical training will begin when the "rookies" are provided with uniforms. These will be of khaki drill, with army tunic, short skirt, leggings, and probably sombrero hat.

Prospects Are Fine.

It only needs a route march through the city of these splendid-looking girls, in their new smart uniforms, to augment the ranks. Whatever doubts one may have as to the wisdom of a woman's battalion, there is no question that the development of each one, physically and mentally, will be rapid and complete. Shoulders will fall back, chests fill out, the whole body will take on a new carriage, and the new woman thus evolved will be a thing of beauty and joy forever.

The execution of commands on the spur of the moment will lead to the formation of habits of precision, alertness and accuracy, and whether the women ever get an opportunity of going overseas to be incorporated in the W. A. A. C.'s, as is their desire at present, or not, they will certainly derive much benefit from the amount of training involved in order to fit them for overseas work.

Drill Every Tuesday.

Weekly drill is held on Tuesday evenings at 7:45, in Queen's Park. Those who intend to sign up should do so without delay by making application to Mrs. Thompson of No. 4 Nursing Division, St. John Ambulance Brigade, 404 Talbot street.

9. What kind of a meeting today most resembles the one at which Jesus was found?

Golden Text—The path of the righteous is as the dawning light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day.—Prov., 4:18.
RIGHTEOUSNESS IS ITSELF LIGHT.
Much of the perplexity which Christians have is caused by not being true to the light; we often follow false lights; in other words, get off the path of righteousness and walk in by-paths. If we walk in the light we shall have constant fellowship with God, and with our hand in his, we shall be free from doubt and fear, and shall walk with a confident step. There is something in right-doing which clears our mental horizon and makes what would otherwise be dark as clear as the noonday sun. Most doubts with which Christians are troubled are more of the heart than of the head; that is, they are caused by more or less unrighteousness. When evil thoughts are indulged in, or sinful ambitions cherished, we are enveloped in the darkness.

CYNTHIA GREY'S MAIL BOX

Skinny's "Overseas" Cake.

Dear Miss Grey,—I was in the country when your request was in the page. There is no wetting used in the cake, but the butter must be well beaten, also the eggs, but when I make the cake for family use I use a cup of milk and enough flour to make it stiff.

Sincerely, SKINNY.

Ans.—Thank you for letting us know, "Skinny." I will repeat the recipe for the benefit of those who like to try new recipes, especially ones good for overseas cakes: Two eggs, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1 cup butter, 2 cups raisins, 1 cup mixed peel, ¼ cup almonds, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon cream tartar and flour to thicken. Bake in a moderate oven, and when nearly done cover with pieces of paper to prevent burning.

A Cheery Visitor.

Well Cynthia dear, and all pageites. I just made a sudden resolve that I'd pen a few lines to the page. Letter writing is not a very tempting proposition when the beads of perspiration are chasing one another down your forehead, and one occasionally wends its way down your nose, splashing on your notepaper, when you have tried to be so neat about it. Nevertheless, this sizzling, sultry, hot weather has not made me a grease spot yet. Spent a week's vacation in your city this summer, and it seemingly has left a lasting impression with me. Its attractive avenues and the cleanliness of the whole, I am sure would appeal to any one. In fact, I must admit, I thoroughly enjoyed it all.

I suppose all the readers have gorgeous beds of poppies and asters. Alas! Poor me! My plans all proved disastrous. Little sister's cat "Snowball" evidently thought the flower bed an ideal place to sun herself. Results were rather bad for temper and flowerbed, and if a sudden visitor had not stepped in, it might have been flowers and slow music for pussy, and then, I won't mention the fact that the chickens had an admirable scratching place, too.

You asked me to call and let you know about "Crazy Dan's" family. Well, he was a splendid behaved fellow, and has hatched as splendid a family as you would want to see, mothered by four good old biddies. They are getting quite large now, wouldn't mind if one was on the menu for supper. Just step in some evening for tea. Perhaps out of one hundred and forty, I'll spare a wing for you. Now don't ignore the invitation.

Where is "Ura Kidd" and "Mrs. Homebird." Has the sunshine baby taken all her spare time? Really, must bid adieu or the editor man will be cussing me for writing such a lengthy epistle, and the W. P. B. will be ready with yawning mouth. Good-bye, "Pageites," and have all sympathy for SOLDIER OF THE SOIL.

Ans.—We quite enjoy your chatty letter and are glad you wrote, in spite of the heat and "beads." What a naughty pussy to destroy your flowerbed, but, of course, it would be softer and nicer than any other part of the yard. That invitation to a chicken feast is very tempting. Don't forget to put your address at the top of the page next time. Then I'll know where to go. See? Now, march in again soon, soldier. We don't mind a bit of dust —or even mud—on the office floor

"S. F. D." Defends the "Y."

Dear Miss Grey and Readers.—The inclosed extracts from letters recently received from "Scottie Frae Dundee" will no doubt be of interest to all, particularly that portion dealing with the Y.M.C.A., which institution, justly or unjustly, has been getting recently so much harsh criticism. The first portion is largely in the nature of an apology for seeming neglect in writing to the page. The extracts follow:

"Here we are, for several months right in action, never knowing the moment one has to jump right out and fight for all one's worth, and possibly retreat from superior numbers until reinforced, or until the enemy is fought to a standstill. It is really monotonous —the suspense alone, caged in like a convict, only there are no bars, and your own will has to be checked and padlocked. Hence, without a change of scene, one doesn't find much material to write about, and one's disposition becomes pretty dull.

"Those veterans are wrong, and may cause harm in no little way by giving out such untruthful and harmful stories. I've been in many fighting sectors of the line, and have taken part in most of the offensives, and have, as have all others, found a beneficent friend in the Y.M.C.A."

"I could write pages of beautiful incidents of its value, and prove each, but suffice to say, when anything is really needed or anyone in need, the "Y." is the place asked for, and it supplies both free and at almost cost price many eatables."

"Oh, there's a host of good in this beautiful institution, and there is absolutely no kick to be made against it, when one realizes the human extent of its resources. Rest assured that many will corroborate my opinion. I'm almost two years in the line, nearly three away from Canada, so can speak from experience."

One of the readers not long ago supplied a recipe for overseas fruit cake. I have been careless enough to lose my clipping. Might I trouble you, Miss Grey, to reprint it? Wishing the page and its "captain" all success, I am,

COSMOS.

Ans.—Thank you, dainty flower lady, for these extracts from "Scottie." I'm glad to have his good word for the Y.M.C.A. Perhaps it was "Skinny's" recipe you refer to. At the time of printing it I asked her if the cake contained no wetting. She now writes in reply and you will note her letter and the reprinted recipe in our column.

Wants to Correspond.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have been an interested reader of your paper and Mail-Box for some time, but have never before found courage to write. I think the Mail-Box is very interesting. I am fourteen years old and would like to correspond with any of the Mail-Box readers of that age, if they will write first. I saw in the paper the other night where one of the readers (I think it was "Mooney") wanted the words of "Joan of Arc." I am inclosing them. What do you think of my writing? Well, as my letter is getting long, I will close, wishing you success.

LEE.

Ans.—On behalf of "Mooney," I thank you, "Lee." Does anybody wish to correspond with "Miss Fourteen-Year-Old"? By the way, "Lee," you didn't inclose your address.

You write an unusually good hand for a girl of your age.

MY FACES

There are, perhaps, few crueller sentences than that overworked remark, "She's a two-faced sort of a person." And yet it is really a fact that these words embody a compliment which few of us deserve. In my own case, for instance, it would be far more accurate to say, "She's a twenty-faced person," or even "She's a forty-faced person." This may seem to be a humiliating confession, but it is the truth. I made this fatal discovery but a few days ago when I met an out-of-town acquaintance while walking on Fifth avenue. As soon as I saw her I knew that she was an old friend, but somehow I couldn't place her. I felt, vaguely, that she was from Chicago, or Boston, or Des Moines, or Kalamazoo, or some one of those other suburbs from which people are always coming to New York, but I couldn't tell which,—nor did I know who or what she was. Of course, I knew her, and she knew me, and everything would have been all right if I'd just known what face to wear. But I didn't. I didn't know whether, when in her presence, I usually wore a cordial face, or a smart face, or a superior face, or a grateful face. It was the most unpleasantly undressed feeling I have ever experienced. I kept shifting faces and in between, when I didn't have any on, I felt embarrassingly nude. Then suddenly she made a trivial remark which placed her and labelled her and caused just the right face to slip from its hook in my mental storeroom.

It was this little experience that made me look myself firmly in the face—I mean, the faces. The result was quite appalling. To be sure, the faces worn for the women of my acquaintance are fairly similar, varying chiefly in expression. But when it comes to the men of my acquaintance, faces are very, very different.

For instance, there is one man of my acquaintance who knows even less than I do. For him I have a special highbrow face. It is one of the most successful visages I possess. As soon as it slips into place, all the odds and ends of highbrow information that I've gathered from a careful perusal of the current magazines—lines from Tagore, facts about winning the war, and names of the newest celebrities—take their place in the wings ready to appear at the proper cue. Sometimes my conversation becomes positively intelligent. With the comforting knowledge that my opponent doesn't know enough to doubt, question, or lead me beyond my depth, I dance merrily through—or over—Art, Modern Drama and Literature—and I've been told that this man considers me a most interesting and well-informed person.

There are, however, certain others who would call my bluff, and for them I have a totally different face. Its most important features are wide incredulous eyes. When I wear it my entire conversation consists of "How interesting. Isn't that wonderful! Do tell me more about it. You must have seen a lot and read a lot to know so much." These are the men who really like me.

One of my faces was moulded by the fact that the gentleman for whom it is worn met me at a picnic where I had made the sandwiches. He liked them and decided that I was domestic. In fact, he was so certain about it that he fairly creased domestic lines into the particular face I happened to be wearing. They've stayed there ever since. When he asks to call, everything but domesticity fades automatically from my mind. If I go in the subway I find myself hungrily reading fascinating facts about Lux and Dutch Cleanser and the value of bran in the home. And all the conversation I've ever overheard about the servant problem come rallying to the front.

One of my acquaintances is responsible for my ownership of a somewhat improper face. He is, of course, an extremely and proper person. Indeed, he's so very stiff and proper that the first time I met him I felt called upon to discuss Ellen Key. I don't know much about Ellen Key, but he knew less, and I found his ignorance positively inspiring. The information I gave him was lengthy and extremely good for him, but I fear that it would give that estimable lady a distinct shock should she hear of it. She is, I believe, somewhat advanced, but I think I got about two hundred years ahead of her. He still calls, occasionally, wearing the expression of one who visits Greenwich Village, not because he likes it, but because it is a broadening experience. However, I do not save this face for him and him alone. Not by any means. These are days that demand conservation and efficiency, and I use this face as often as possible, instead of searching for a new one.

I sometimes think it would be very nice to find a man with whom one could wear any one of these faces, according to one's mood. But I have never found the man. He is, I suppose, the man one marries.

C.A.M.C. SOCCER TEAM TO PLAY AT DETROIT

Local Soldiers Will Play the Winners of Spalding Cup August 18.

The Canadian Army Medical Corps soccer team stationed at Carling Heights will journey to Detroit to play the Roses soccer team of that city at Navin Field on August 18. The Roses are supposed to be the best soccer aggregation in Michigan, having won the Spalding cup and medals two years running. This game has been arranged by Sergt. Shaw and Corp. Lilleyman of the A. M. C.

The local soldiers will appear before a large crowd at Navin Field, as this is the baseball park of the Detroit Tigers, and the grandstand holds several thousand people. The A. M. C. boys are practicing hard and expect to put up a hard fight at Detroit. They have strengthened their team by adding three new players who are claimed to be the fastest men in Western Ontario, and all are experienced soccer players.

Although the team is not certain as yet, but it is expected, that the A. M. C. pipe band will accompany the team to Detroit.

ST. THOMAS RACE TRACK TO BE SOLD

ST. THOMAS, July 30.—A meeting of the directors of the St. Thomas Racing Association met at the Grand Central on Monday evening, and, after discussing the matter for some time, decided to offer the plot of land used as the race track and situated near First avenue, for sale. The lack of interest in racing and the general falling off of this sport owing to the war are blamed, it being found impossible to carry on the company any longer.

The property will be sold by auction, the shareholders placing a reserve bid.

The local race track has been the scene of many large meets and in the years gone by it has held many large crowds of enthusiasts. In addition to the racing it has also been used by the St. Thomas Gun Club, and at the present time a large section of it is fitted out as one of the best trap shooting grounds in the province.

The date of sale will be announced later.

Jennings Wins High Gun at St. Thomas Trap Shoot

Canadian Trapshooter Makes Great Record, Breaking 196 Targets Out of 200 Shots.

ST. THOMAS, July 30.—Although at the opening hour of the second day weather conditions looked even more gloomy than on the first day at the St. Thomas Gun Club, before noon it brightened up and the final afternoon handicap finished up in the most beautiful sunny weather possible. There was a stiff, cold breeze blowing, however, and this to some extent made the hitting of blue rocks somewhat difficult. Despite adverse conditions some remarkably good scores were registered during the day, however, but there was a marked difference in the afternoon, owing to the bright, sunny background, making it much easier to find the wary clay birds.

The success of this year's tournament is even greater than was at first expected; the attendance has equalled, if not surpassed, all other years, and outdoor conditions, which make such a striking contrast at this time of the year when compared with bleak November, bring much larger crowds of spectators than would otherwise be the case.

The high honors for the day went to J. E. Jennings of Todmorden, who broke 196 targets out of a possible 200. This is an excellent showing for continuous shooting, and it is the more interesting, owing to the fact Mr. Jennings, who is a Canadian, beat all others, including the American professionals present. In the morning event Mr. Jennings sent 99 targets to destruction, and in the afternoon he broke 100.

A feature of the event was the shooting by Mrs. Vogel of Detroit. This lady, who holds the distinction of being the second highest shooter in the world, made a total score, including added score, of 195. Mrs. Vogel lost out in the first event of the afternoon handicap, only 16 out of 20. But for this she would undoubtedly have headed the list for the day.

As a marked contrast to yesterday's events, Canadians made some remarkably high scores. The added score, which is the result of the standing throughout the 1917 season, however prevented many from winning in the handicap, and also kept many who made some excellent scores from taking the high honors.

Another handicap will feature tomorrow's program, and an even greater crowd is expected for that day. The event is proving most successful, many of the best-known shooters on the continent attending.

Enthusiasm is running high now that the event is getting under way, and tomorrow promises some exciting moments for the contestants. Treoh, who made such a good showing on Monday, failed to reach any higher than 181 today, but he promises to make some of the high men jump tomorrow.

W. O. R. BASEBALL TEAM PLAYS CHATHAM THIS AFTERNOON

New Jersey Team to Play Double-Header Here Civic Holiday.

The W. O. R. team will endeavor to take the Chatham ball nine into camp at Tecumseh Park this afternoon. It should be a good contest.

Winter and Vanderlinder will likely be the W. O. R. battery, although Dumond, the sterling southpaw who stood the Brantford players on their heads, may be a last-minute choice. McCole and Taylor will be the Chatham battery.

The W. O. R. team will line up with McLeod, first base; Johnston, second base; Hagel, shortstop; King, third base; Little, left field; Fulton, centre field; Tarry, right field, and Eddy and Hawkshaw, utility.

The soldiers will stage two games in the city on the holiday. The Jersey City Skeeters of the International League will play in the morning and afternoon. It will be noticed that this team is at the bottom of the league. It is also to be noted that they have just secured practically a new team. Manager Driscoll has secured a number of surplus players from Barrow of the Boston Red Sox and also from the Washington Senators. These new players will join the team at the end of this week, and will perhaps make their first appearance with the team at Tecumseh Park Monday.

On Tuesday it is likely that the W. O. R. team will go to St. Thomas and stage a game there with the Skeeters.

APPOINTED CONSUL-GENERAL.

Montreal, July 31.—Auguste Henri Ponsot has been appointed consul-general of France at Montreal, in succession to C. E. Bonin. M. Ponsot has had a distinguished career in the French consular service.

NATIONAL LEAGUE WILL PLAY BALL TILL LABOR DAY

Pittsburg, Pa., July 31.—"So far as Ban Johnson and the American League are concerned, I shall make no further effort to consult with them regarding the world's series or discuss probable plans the National League may have to when the season should be closed," said Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pittsburg Nationals, in a statement made public today. He was recently named by the National League to confer with officials of the American circuit on the question of closing the season and staging a world's series. He says he is not in favor of ending the playing season August 20, as suggested by Mr. Johnson, and he adds that other club owners in the National League do not support the plan.

BOWLING TOURNAMENT OPENED AT OWEN SOUND

OWEN SOUND, July 30.—The annual tournament of the Owen Sound Bowling Club opened today with 37 rinks competing, 26 of these being from out of town. The weather today has been ideal, and the greens are in fine condition. The Hon. A. G. MacKay trophy will be the premier prize for the main event, and the new London Free Press trophy will go to the winners of the association event.

TORONTO, July 30.—Toronto and Jersey City spilt a double-header here today, the Skeeters winning the first game, 3 to 1, and the Leafs taking the second contest, 4 to 2. Lear's home run with two men on bases in the first inning of the second game made Toronto's victory safe.

The opening encounter was even up until the eighth inning, when the Bingers bunched two hits with an error and an out for two runs. Koizeth was knocked out of the box in the first inning of the second game, and Grant, who relieved him, received wretched support.

TIPPETY WITCHIT WINS EASILY AT EMPIRE CITY

Rain Stops Races, But Will Be Run Off Today.

New York, July 31.—Tippety Witchit, one of the most sensational 2-year-olds of 1917, scored so easily over a cheap field yesterday, that he may prove a thorn in the 3-year-old division when he meets his legitimate opponent at Saratoga. John Hanford gave $20,500 for the son of Broomstick-Lady Frivoles last fall, after he had beaten older horses in Maryland. Tippety Witchit is a gelding, and will have to race frequently this fall if he is going to yield an adequate return for the money invested, as in future most of the big events will be closed to geldings.

Favorite I to 4.

Tippety Witchit was a positive favorite, closing at 1 to 4, though on account of it being his first appearance, there were many who waged on the chances of African Arrow. The difference in class between Tippety Witchit and his opponents was noticeable from the start, and the son of Broomstick simply breezed through the mile to achieve victory by six lengths in the fast time of 1:38. Sande, on African Arrrow, had to do his best to save the place from Tom Bolo, a 50-to-1 shot.

Chasseur Wins Handicap.

That more of the good 2-year-olds have taken part in the exodus to Saratoga was evident by the appearance of only three for the Wakefield handicap $3,000 stake, for which nearly 100 were handicapped. The Kentucky stable provided the favorite in Chasseur, an imported son of Light Brigade. Until the turn into the stretch it looked as though Translate would give the public choice a hard tussle, but when Sande let Chasseur down he came away to win easily by five lengths. The time of 1:05 3-5 is the fastest for the event since Footpad won in 1908.

There was a close finish in the May-November Farm handicap between the 3-year-old Hamilton A. and Top o' the Morning. The latter came from behind, and though he got his nose in front 50 yards from the wire, Hamilton A. outgamed him and received the verdict.

There was a shower during the running of the Wakefield handicap, and a few minutes later a terrific electric storm broke, which delayed the running of the other races and turned the track into a sea of mud.

First race—Tippity Bits, 108, Walls, 1 to 4, out, out, won; African Arrow, 105, Sande, 1 to 3, out, second; Tom Bole, 103, Fickens, 2 to 1, third. Time 1:39. Cello, Lerlin also ran.

Second race, 4 years and up, selling, mile and sixteenth—Little Cottage, 107, Wakoff, 7 to 1, 5 to 2, even, won; Perugino, 109, Walls, 5 to 2, even, second; Chillum, 112, Collins, 7 to 5, third. Time 1:47 2-5. Aldebaran, G. M. Miller, Napoleon, Gillies, Wild Thyme, Lazy Lou, Nayden also ran.

Third race, 3 years and up, mile and 70 yards—Harwood II, 104, Preece, 202 to 1, 7 to 10, 2 to 1, won; Dan, 109, Pickens, 6 to 5, 1 to 2, second; Nigel, 109, Kelsay, 4 to 5, third. Time 1:43 3-5. Bar of Phoenix, Benevolent, Empress, Ellison also ran.

Fourth race, handicap, 2 years, five and half furlongs—Chasseur, 108, Sande, 7 to 20, out, out, won; Translate, 116, Alex., 1 to 3, out, second; Belario, 104, Walls, out, third. Time 1:05 3-5. Only three starters.

Fifth race, the May-November Farm handicap, 3-year-olds and up, $941.00 added; about six furlongs—Hamilton A., 110, Molesworth, 9 to 5, 7 to 10, 1 to 3, won; Top O' the Morning, 124, Walls, 4 to 1, 7 to 5, 1 to 2, second; Startling, 126, Kelsay, 8 to 1, 3 to 1, 6 to 5, third. Time 1:09. Jack Scot, Ardent and Phillip W. also ran.

Sixth race, 2-year-olds, claiming, purse $841; five furlongs—Joan of Arc, 102, Preece, 30 to 1, 8 to 1, 3 to 1, won; Sherman A., 110, Wakoff, 6 to 5, 2 to 5, out, second; Lamentation, 107, Collins, 10 to 1, 3 to 1, 6 to 5, third. Time 1:01 2-5. Wise Joan, Prevaricate, Glen also ran.

TURLIN BINGEN WINS 2:25 TROT AT ERIE TRACK

ERIE, July 30.—In the Big Four race program today on the Lake Erie Trotting Circuit, which continued almost to sundown, favorites took the first three events, unfinished races from Monday, when a cloudburst checked the racing, but the fourth and last event furnished the thrill of the afternoon.

After Moenia had beaten out Turlin Bingen in the third heat of the 2:25 trot the judges took Dutton, driver of Bingen, out of the sulky and sent in Whitehead, who drove the bay mare to first place in the fourth heat. Moenia was second, and just before the fifth and final heat was started, Johnson, driver of Moenia, was taken out and Grady substituted. COLUMBUS, July 30.—Three of the four races on the program of the second day's Grand Circuit meeting went in straight heats to favorites, but the first event on the card, the 2:07 trot, went seven heats before it was decided, and a strong arm had to be employed on a driver before John Spencer, who at one time sold for $5, in a ticket worth $100, went over the winner. Squires at the end of the fifth heat was taken up by the judges, and C. A. Valentine substituted. He won the next two heats and the race. Good Night Stories

BETTY'S PEAK INTO KOREA.

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Betty, as she leaned on the side of the wash-tub. "I hate washing and ironing days."

"Why!" cried a merry voice, and Gocomeback—the tiny travel elfin—hopped up on the other side of the tub. "If you had to do them the way our little brown sister has to you might have cause to complain."

Then before Betty could question him further she stood in the centre of a strange city.

"We're in Seoul, the capital of Korea," whispered Gocomeback, as he saw the puzzled expression on Betty's face.

All around the city ran high walls, which were wide enough for eight persons to walk on them abreast.

Queerly dressed men hurried by, wearing baggy trousers tied at the ankle, and over their shoulders some wore one or two short coats with three or four long coats. Some wore their hair drawn back from the forehead and plaited into long pigtail. Others had their hair twisted into a knot on the top of their heads, with funny little hats of pale, coarse straw perched high on the knots.

"How funny they look!" laughed Betty.

"The style of hat denotes their position," said Gocomeback. "The ones with their hats on top of their knots are married.

Betty was so busy looking at the queer headdress that she was almost knocked down by two chair-coolies—one in front and one behind the chair, which was swung between two poles on their shoulders. Betty peeked inside, and there sat a pretty Korean woman. Her full white skirt and short red bodice tied with a bright ribbon on the left side made a pretty picture in the swinging chair.

"You saw the number of coats the men wear, and the terribly full skirts the women wear," said Gocomeback. "Well, these clothes are not sewed like your clothes—they're gummed together, and every time they're washed they have to be taken apart."

Then it was that Gocomeback gave Betty a glimpse of a Korean stream, where hundreds of native women were busy doing their weekly washing.

"The stream is their only tub," said Gocomeback. "And when you see how those clothes have to be put together again I'm sure you'll never complain about your ironing being hard."

So Gocomeback led Betty up to a quaint little hut of wattle and mud from which sounded a tapping noise.

On the ground a woman was squatting before a large board on which was spread a white coat. She was beating it with two pieces of wood that looked like small rolling pins.

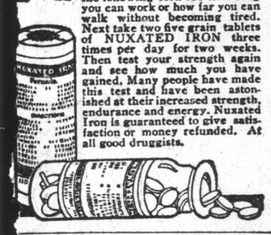

"If that's the way they iron," laughed Betty, "I'm indeed glad that I don't live here. Think of gumming your clothes together every time they're washed!"

But when Betty turned around to find why Gocomeback didn't answer he had disappeared, and with him the Korean hut and woman, and Betty was standing once more beside her own tub of fluffy suds.

Betty rolled up her sleeves and went to work with renewed energy. She was glad that she lived in America and didn't have to wash her clothes in a stream or beat them together with rolling pins as her Korean sisters have to do theirs.

Here Is the Very Newest Treatment For Psoriasis

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University.)

DR. HIRSHBERG

Psoriasis, that scaly, pestiferous eruption of the human skin, is one of the worst nuisances and chronic abominations of the human flesh. Anything new about it cannot be passed along too swiftly, for without aid and comfort its victims have few happy days and fewer peaceful nights.

Comes now the new army method of treating this malady. In order to restore the men quickly to the line, this treatment is applied twice a day with more uniform and rapid results than any other treatment yet adopted by army surgeons.

In the morning the victim of this troublesome affection takes an ordinary bath, to which on the first two days one ounce of cresol and a handful of sodium carbonate are added.

After the second day the cresol is left out and either the sodium or potassium carbonate is continued. After the morning bath, and also in the evening, an ointment made of the following ingredients is rubbed into all of the affected parts from the neck downward:

Phenol	10 grains
Chrysarobin	10 grains
Salicylic acid	15 grains
Oxide of zinc	1½ drams
Lanolin	1 ounce
Vaseline	1 ounce

Pyjamas are to be worn next to the skin, night and day, while the treatment goes on. In this way they become thoroughly saturated with the salve.

Commonly there is no severe irritation from this unguent, but occasionally some skins are supersensitive and areas of it become acutely inflamed and tender. Wherever this occurs the applications are discontinued.

For Special Cases.

Lassar's paste, with a little ichthyol and 10 grains of salicylic acid to the ounce is to be kept thickly on the tender parts: When the other areas begin to clear this may be used—often after the fifth or sixth day. At the same time a clean suit of pyjamas is to be worn.

On the elbows, knees, wrists, hands and sometimes elsewhere patches of psoriasis resist the remedies. Then a new ointment is to be made up of 20 grains of chrysarobin and 25 grains of salicylic acid in it. This is rubbed well into the patches twice a day and it is also applied on lint at night—unless the skin becomes angry and irritated by it.

Chrysarobin ointment inflames the eyes and scalp. It is therefore not advisable to employ it upon these places. Instead, the hair is to be cut short and the scalp is shampooed every other day. With a skull cap that fits snugly an ointment is used made up of pyrogallic acid, 10 grains, in place of the chrysarobin, and yellow oxide of mercury ointment as a base instead of the lanolin and vaseline. Otherwise it is similar to the first formula given in this article.

Eliminate All Germs.

Zinc ointment, which contains 10 grains of ammoniated mercury and 20 to 30 grains of salicylic acid, generally suffices for psoriasis of the face and front of the neck. If not, the scalp prescription may answer the purpose.

Individuals whose skin is inclined to be florid, red or inflamed should live for a time on a milk diet, lots of water and fruit juices and salty laxatives. Cream of tartar water is recommended three times a day.

Meanwhile, the roots and sockets of the teeth are to be cleaned with peroxide or the surgeon's more radical excavators. All possible localities where germs gather, such as the mouth, the teeth and the nose, must be thoroughly cleansed with antiseptics. Finally, fatty, greasy, albuminous foods are to be reduced to a minimum.

Answers to Health Questions

TROUBLED ONE: Q.—How can I reduce and prevent abdominal fatness?

A.—I would not advise any internal medicine, except a mild sedative, and even this should be taken only under the advice of your family physician. You should cut down your diet one-third or even one-half and try to spend at least two hours in the open air every day in some kind of active exercise. You will find it helpful to massage your hips and abdomen daily with this astringent lotion:

Iodide of potassium	2 ounces
Camphor water	2 ounces
Alcohol	2 ounces

J. L. L.: Q.—How can I make straight hair curly?

A.—Purchase some quince seed and add a little rose water to it. Apply this to the hair and place hairpins in it to keep the waves in place. Let it dry thoroughly and then brush it lightly.

MISS X. M.: Q.—Why do perspiration and sputum turn linen yellow?

2. Why are my eyes sensitive to light, and why do I seem to see little dots before my eyes.

A. — Perspiration contains various waste materials secreted from the body, and often turns linen yellow. If there is an excess of this coloring either in the perspiration or in the sputum it may be well to consult a physician and examine your digestive apparatus.

2. Your eyes are evidently strained from overwork or from too strong gazing. Wash them in borax water, keep away from the light, and consult an oculist about glasses.

MRS. P.: Q.—Would you advise an operation to remove piles?

A.—This is the only efficient means to remove them.

M. M. S.: Q.—How can I reduce the lower limbs?

A.—Try bicycle riding, swimming and horseback riding.

ADELE GARRISON'S NEW

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

What Sadly Troubled Madge As the Train Bore Her Away.

A midnight commuting train, city-bound, is an excellent place for introspection, especially if the soul communion be of the savage, self-scoring variety. The one which I boarded at Stoneville Centre afforded an unusual opportunity for solitude. In the whole brilliantly-lighted car into which Capt. Grantland bowed me there were but two passengers, both middle-aged men, evidently commercial travelers, deeply engaged in the inevitable arithmetic calculations of their craft.

Neither of them looked up as I entered, and selecting a seat well to the back of the car I huddled into a corner of it and faced questions which could no longer be put off.

What was the fascination which Capt. Grantland's personality undeniably had for me? Was there anything in the attraction I felt for him which implied a wrong in thought to Dicky?

"That Dicky would be fiercely angry, with the jealous, white heat of temper I knew so well, if he should even remotely guess my admiration for Capt. Grantland, I well knew. But would his anger be justified?

To the Test.

I tried to convince myself that it would not, that my husband as well as I owed the distinguished army officer both gratitude and admiration for the signal service he had rendered me. But whatever my other faults I am innately honest of soul, and the sophistry with which I tried to blind myself failed utterly.

For I could not help putting the whole thing to an absurdly simple test. I asked my soul fairly and squarely if the conditions were reversed—if it were some brave Red Cross nurse with a romantic history for whom Dicky had the same feeling I was experiencing—what my sentiments on the subject would be?

The answer was like a salutary ice-cold shower on my rather tropical emotions. I realized that my anger and jealousy, while not so fiery and flamboyant as Dicky's, would be just as intense.

I realized something else also—and with relief—that underneath this superficial, romantic feeling which was having its way with me, my love for Dicky beat just as strongly as ever.

Then, because my head almost always rules my heart, I set to work to analyze the reasons for the obsession—I could call it nothing less, which had swayed me during the past few days.

I set them down mentally like so many steps in a demonstration.

Steps to Certainty.

First, I had never before met anyone like Capt. Grantland. His personality was sufficient excuse for part of the feeling I had experienced.

Second, he had saved me, first from annoyance, then from death, in most dramatic fashion.

Third, in his weakness at the hospital he had depended upon me pitifully, thus arousing my romantic sympathy.

Fourth—and I flushed even in the solitude of the car at this thought—I could not help seeing that Capt. Grantland was—to say the least—not indifferent to my friendship.

Fifth—and this, with a familiar throb of pain, I recognized as the most potent factor in the whole affair—if it had not been for the unconscious contrast I had drawn between Dicky's attitude toward the world war and that of this hero of the struggle my heart and imagination would never have been undefended by the romantic adoration which has always been mine for my husband.

Suppose Dicky had had only a tithe of this other man's honors and experiences. My heart beat more quickly at the thought. I could see how my love for him would have been intensified into blind, instinctive adoration, with no room in my heart for even a passing thought toward any other hero.

But Dicky had failed me, himself and his country. The bitter truth came over me anew, and I shivered, although the summer night was balmy.

"Jamaica! All change for Pennsylvania station and Brooklyn!" called the conductor, and I mechanically made my way to the platform and into the other car.

Luckily for my peace of mind, for I was fast lapsing into one of my bitterest, moodiest "moods," this car was fairly well filled with gay, noisy people, and I resolved to put firmly beneath my feet for the time being all self-analysis.

"After all," I thought grimly to myself, as I settled into my seat, "no matter what my feeling for Capt. Grantland, or what Dicky thinks about it, it can't equal the unhappiness he has given me."

Three Minute Journeys

By TEMPLE MANNING

Where Widows Never Marry Again and Always Wear Mourning.

In the old days, the widow of India—if she were a Hindu—knew the very day and the hour of her own death, for when her husband's body was burned she was compelled to mount the funeral pyre and to die with her dead. The English Government in India experienced difficulty in seeing that the prohibition of this custom was obeyed, for many widows wished not only to die with their husbands, but feared to live after his death.

However, time and strict measures preserved the lives of countless women, and today the Hindu widow doesn't die in this romantic but terrible way. Some of them, nevertheless, would probably prefer such a death to the life that the new custom linked with the old compels them to live.

Under no circumstances may she marry again. She must shave her head and keep it shaved the rest of her days. And from the hour of her husband's death until the day of her own demise she must wear a snow-white sheet that clings closely about her as she walks.

But the average Hindu widow's unhappiness doesn't end even with these prohibitions and the badge of eternal mourning she must wear. Many Hindu widows are left without means of support, and they must support themselves. This is infinitely worse than it seems, for in India there are very, very few ways in which a woman can earn her bread and butter.

A Hindu Widow.

Five Unusual and Delicious Small Fruit Preserves.

The canning of whole fruit, simple though it is, requires care, and is sometimes a little difficult for the young housekeeper. It means super-careful sterilizing, the careful handling of jars and equipment.

But even if you cannot put up some whole fruit there is no reason why you cannot put up some preserves. It is easier to put up preserves than canned fruit. Preserves require less space than canned fruit because you can pack more in a single jar. Sugar, fruit, a few jars and a preserving kettle are all that you need, and the average kitchen contains all the equipment necessary. The large enamelled or agate kettle is the best utensil to use, and a long-handled stirring spoon is also needed. Be sure that the tops of the jars are perfectly smooth and absolutely without nick of any kind.

Peach Conserve.

1 pound of dried, skinned peaches.
½ pound of English walnut meats.
1 quart of cold water.
1 cupful of raisins.
Juice of 1 lemon.
1 whole orange.
Juice of 1 orange.
1 pound of sugar.
Add the cold water to the peaches, cover and allow to stand over night. In the morning, add the raisins, which have been cut in pieces, nut meats (cut fine), lemon and orange juice and the thinly sliced orange and the sugar. Allow all to boil up, then simmer for 1½ hours, stirring to prevent burning. Fill glasses and seal when cooled slightly.

Pineapple and Apricot Marmalade.

4 pounds of apricots.
1 large pineapple.
Sugar.

Wash, do not peel the apricots. Break into halves, setting 10 of the kernels aside. Peel and shred the pineapple, and place it in a saucepan over a slow fire. When the boiling point is reached add apricots and the kernels. Boil slowly for one hour, then weigh. Add the same amount of heated sugar as there is of fruit and cook slowly until thick. Pour into heated glasses and cover with melted paraffin when cold.

Preserved Cherries.

Use sour, red cherries, removing the stems and stones. Put into the preserving kettle with alternate layers of sugar and honey. Use one-half their weight in sugar and one-quarter their weight in honey, or all sugar may be used. Allow to stand for 24 hours, then simmer gently until the cherries are tender. Pour into jars, adjust caps and rubbers, and sterilize for 10 minutes in hot water bath outfit.

Plum Jam.

Stone the plums and weigh them. Stew for 20 minutes. Add one-half pound of sugar to each pound of fruit and cook slowly for one hour or more if needed, until jam is of the right consistency. Pour while hot into small jars.

Rich Pear Preserves.

Peel the pears and cut them into halves, removing cores and all seeds. Weigh them and allow one pound of sugar to one pound of fruit. Make a syrup of the sugar by adding one pint of water to each three pounds of sugar. The addition of a little ginger root and some sliced lemon is a nice change. Add the pears and boil them in the syrup until quite soft. When tender seal while hot.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

THURSDAY, AUGUST 1.

With the fiery influence of Sol and Mars in mutual aspect, this should be a day of unusual activity, with the energies strong in the direction of initiative, enterprise, new projects and sudden undertakings, though a Lunar transit inclines to rashness and to precipitate deeds through the very excess of the Solar-Martial stimulus. Disputes and litigation are to be avoided, likewise the signing of important documents or letters without cool consideration. With these precautions there is every indication of successful ventures, profitable returns and gratifying conditions, both in business and in social, domestic and affectional relations. It is also a fortunate time for those in employment and for others dealing with superiors. Promotion, honors, favors and increase may be sought with confidence by those who are confident of their worth.

Those whose birthday it is, if acting with coolness and discretion, may expect an interesting and prosperous year. A child born on this day will be active, energetic, but must be taught the value of forethought and deliberation. It may succeed best in employment of others.

Words of Wise Men

Jonathan Edwards, when a boy, wrote in his journal: "Resolved, to live with all my might while I do live."

What is eloquence but truth in earnest? The mind's best words spoken in the mind's best moments.—Theo Cuyler.

Nothing gives more of sympathy to the voice than real goodness.—Bautain.

Instruction ends in the schoolroom, but education ends only with life. A child is given to the universe to educate.—Robertson.

Truth is only got at by assaulting and laying low the surroundings that throw it out of proportion and hide it from view.—Bishop Butler.

If you cannot bring your condition to your mind, bring your mind to your condition.—Jacobus.

Adhesiveness is a great element of success. Genius has glue on his feet, and will take hold of a marble slab.—Wilson.

Those who have finished by making all others think with them, have usually been those who began by daring to think for themselves.—Colton.

The most manifest sign of wisdom is continued cheerfulness.—Montaigne.

Buy what thou hast no need of, and ere long thou shall sell they necessities.—Franklin.

Look not mournfully into the past; it returns no more; wisely improve the present, and go forth into the shadowy future without fear and with a manly heart.—Longfellow.

Keep they spirit pure from worldly taint by the strength of virtue.—Bailey.

Be what your friends think you are; avoid being what your enemies say you are; go right forward and be happy.—Pomeroy.

The bigot is like the pupil of the eye—the more light you put upon it the More it will contract.—Holmes.

A man can never be a true gentleman in manner until he is a true gentleman at heart.—Dickens.

The price of Liberty is eternal vigilance, and the price of wisdom is eternal thought.—Birch.

The mattock will make a deeper hole in the ground than lightning.—Horace Mann.

Tie down a hero, and he feels the puncture of a pin; throw him into battle, and he is almost insensible to gashes. So in war, impelled alternately by hope and fear, stimulated by revenge, depressed by shame or elevated by victory, the people become invincible. No privation can shake their fortitude, no calamity break their spirit.—Calhoun.

Home is the chief school of human virtues. Its responsibilities, joys, sorrows, smiles, tears, hopes and cares form the chief interest of human life.

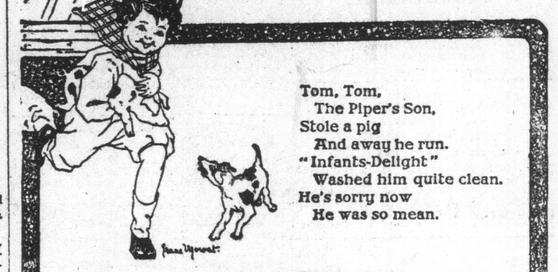

A man is not little when he finds it difficult to cope with circumstances, but when circumstances overmaster him.

Let a broken man cling to his work. If it save nothing else it will save him.—Beecher.

Only very youthful kids are available for the best and finest kind of kid gloves. Once they begin to eat grass their skins alter in texture, becoming coarse in grain and losing to some extent the valuable quality of elasticity.

The Chinese wood oil tree (Alcurites fordii), commences to bear fruit when four or five years old. The fruits are the size of small apples, and contain from two to eight large, oily seeds that are reported to be poisonous and should not be eaten. The value of this tree lies in the fact that the nuts contain one of the best drying oils, called wood or tung oil.

According to historical researches, music was first cultivated in Egypt, but no vestige of primitive Egyptian music now exists. All our present day information comes from pictorial and sculptural representations of instruments exhumed in cities buried under the sand of centuries.

invites death in a hurry." Worry wastes nerve force at a tremendous rate. The more exhausted the greater the tendency to worry.

As the nerves are strengthened you forget to worry and find yourself resting and sleeping naturally.

IN FIVE MINUTES NO SICK STOMACH, INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" is the quickest and surest Stomach Relief.

You don't know what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sick, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented and turned sour; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin to neutralize acidity and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have dyspepsia. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps the stomach sweetened, and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless antacid is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it stops food souring and sets things straight, so gently and easily, that it is really astonishing. Your stomach will digest your meals if you keep acids neutralized.

HULL WOMAN HAS GAINED 28 POUNDS

Improvement of Mrs. McCann Is Talk of Entire Neighborhood.

"My wife has actually gained twenty-eight pounds by taking Tanlac and her wonderful improvement is the talk of all the neighborhood, "was the remarkable statement made by John McCann of 197 Laval street, Hull, recently. Mr. McCann has lived in Hull all his life, and is well known.

"Yes, sir, I can say for a fact," he continued, "my wife hasn't been in such good health before in seven years. She had been in a badly rundown condition for about that long and gradually got worse in spite of all she could do. She had no appetite, seldom ate any breakfast, and very little at any time. She was so nervous she couldn't sleep well, and so weak she could hardly get about the house, much less do any of her work. It seemed like she would almost die at times with sick headache. She often had dizzy spells and would get so sick and weak she would just have to give up and go to bed. She looked pale and sallow and had fallen off in weight from one hundred and twenty-eight pounds to one hundred and ten.

"I had seen Tanlac so highly recommended that I finally got a bottle for her, and I have never seen such a wonderful improvement in anyone. Soon after she commenced taking it she began to pick up and look better. She has taken five bottles now, and she has not only gotten back to her old weight of one hundred and twenty-eight pounds, but she has actually gone ten pounds above that, as she now weighs one hundred and thirty-eight. Her appetite is splendid, and she's never bothered with nervous headaches or dizziness any more. She does all her housework besides taking care of five children, and never complains of feeling tired. We are both simply delighted over the way Tanlac has built her up, and we never miss a chance to boost it. Our neighbors have been astonished over the results, and they all tell her she looks like a different person."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, and by an established agency in every town.

GERMANS FEAR CANUCKS ARE TO START ATTACK

Hun Prisoners No Longer Boast of Great Enemy Drive.

LONDON, July 30.—(Via Reuter's Ottawa agency).—The press correspondent with the Canadian forces telegraphs today:

"Prisoners captured in one of our effective raids on July 26 state that the German troops are no longer boastful about the coming offensive. On the contrary, although prisoners claim there are 30 reserve divisions between Amiens and the sea, the Germans are in deadly fear of an anticipated Allied attack.

"The raid mentioned was successfully carried out by men from Saskatchewan. One party of our raiders drove in the enemy posts to their line of defence and established a blockade across "No Man's Land" from the east. The main party had a ticklish job combing out a series of strong points, consisting of outposts and trenches three-quarters of a mile long and half a mile deep.

"We expected serious fighting, and went over in strength. Masked by darkness and a heavy rain the Canadians surprised the German garrison, but the main body fled back to the strongest line of trenches after plunging through our barrage, which stretched back for a quarter of a mile. Scores of corpses testified that all did not escape. They stood to in battle formation all night long, thinking a decisive attack had arrived, while our artillery still punished them. Our guns wiped out two large dugouts with their occupants which a Canadian patrol discovered. Our casualties were light.

"The Huns opposite us are no match for the Canadians, and the close fighting was one-sided.

"Ontario troops carried out another raid, in which a dozen of the enemy were killed, two taken prisoner and machine guns captured."

"SAMMIES" BATTLE FOR 24 HOURS WITH HORDES OF HUNS FIGHTING FIERCELY TO STEM ALLIED ADVANCE

The Enemy Continues To Launch Fierce Counter-Attacks Against Lines of Americans and French in the Soissons-Rheims Sector.

AMERICANS ADVANCE LINE.

With the American Army on the Aisne-Marne Front, July 30.—(By the Associated Press).—Through a barrage as deadly as any the Germans have laid down on any sector for months, the American soldiers, comprising men from the middle west and eastern states, pushed their line forward a little more today and tonight it forms the apex of the long Allied front.

Their progress was considerable, though less than two miles, but it is regarded as a brilliant operation in view of the determined countering by the Germans.

BATTLING FOR 24 HOURS.

LONDON, July 30.—(By the Associated Press).—American troops in the Soissons-Rheims sector have been fighting virtually without cessation along their whole line for the past twenty-four hours. The Germans defence had stiffened, and the Americans had made little fresh progress up to noon today, according to dispatches this afternoon.

The same was true about all the Allied armies from Soissons to Rheims.

Battle Fluctuates.

The situation in the American sector, the latest advices indicate, is that the Germans have retained the town of Cierges, 5½ miles southeast of Fere-en-Tardenois, but that the Americans are holding Sergy, beyond the Ourcq, and are inflicting heavy losses on the enemy in his hastily-organized counter-attacks.

Another German thrust drove the French out of Beugneux, near Grand Rohoy, northwest of Fere-en-Tardenois This town, however, was recaptured from the enemy.

During the night the Germans kept up their unsuccessful counter-attacks in an effort to find a hole somewhere. in the American lines. They continued the same quest today.

On other parts of the line the most noteworthy Allied advance was the accomplishment of the French in capturing Romigny on the easterly side of the salient.

Five of the ten divisions from Crown Prince Rupprecht's army, which have been called to reinforce the crown prince's army, have been put in the battle twice, it has been established from identification of units.

ALLIED LINE MOVES ON DESPITE HUN ATTACKS.

PARIS, July 30.—Northeast of Fere-en-Tardenois the Allied forces in local fighting today advanced their line and also retained the ground procured in the region of Sergy, in spite of several German counter-attacks, according to the French official communication issued this evening.

Attempts by the Germans to retake the village of St. Euphraise, southwest of Rheims, failed, although the enemy made a slight advance to the west of the village. The text of the report reads as follows:

"On the right bank of the Ourcq some local fighting enabled us to advance on the height to the northeast of Fere-en-Tardenois.

"In the region of Sergy we maintained our gains, in spite of several reactions by the enemy.

"Southwest of Rheims the Germans attacked on both sides of St. Euphraise. All their attempts to capture St. Euphraise failed, in spite of a slight advance made by them to the west of the village.

"There is nothing of importance to report from the rest of the front."

ALLIES INACTIVE AFTER DEFEAT, SAYS BERLIN.

BERLIN, via London, July 30.—"After his defeat of yesterday the enemy has remained inactive," says the German official communication issued this evening.

The German official report of today, dealing with the fighting north of the Ourcq and southwest of Rheims Monday, says the Allied forces, including French, British and Americans, attacked in strength, but were thrown back with the heaviest of losses over the entire battle line.

The communication says the heaviest of attacks were launched against the Hartennes-Fere-en-Tardenois front, but that the assaulting lines broke down at or before the German lines, and sometimes under counter-attack. From Fere-en-Tardenois eastward the Allied attacks likewise were unsuccessful, while repeated attacks southwest of Rheims were everywhere repulsed with heavy losses.

The text reads:

With "Heaviest Losses."

"There has been lively reconnoitering activity during the night. Partial attacks by the British in the region of Merris and on both sides of the Ayette were repulsed. The enemy launched attacks with strong forces against our new lines north of the Ourcq and on our positions on the wooded heights southwest of Rheims. The French, British and Americans were thrown back on the whole of their attacking front with the heaviest of losses.

"The main weight of the enemy's attack was directed against the Hartennes-Fere-en-Tardenois front, where during the morning and afternoon the enemy stormed again and again in dense waves. His assaults broke down before and at our lines, sometimes under our counter-attacks.

Allies Extend Attack.

"In the afternoon the enemy extended his attack beyond Fere-en-Tardenois eastward. They were just as unsuccessful as partial attacks he launched in the morning at the Bois Meuniere. Southwest of Rheims the enemy renewed his attacks as many as five times at isolated points between Chambrey and Vrigny, keeping them up in violent partial attacks until late in the evening. He was repulsed everywhere with sanguinary losses.

"In Champagne, south of Mont Ficstel, we drove the enemy out of trenches which he had occupied since his thrust of Saturday, and captured an enemy point of support northeast of Perthes."

COMPLAINTS POUR IN UPON DR. CODY OVER RECENT EXAMINATION

TORONTO, July 30.—Although results of the upper school examination for entrance into the faculties of education at Toronto and Queen's University were only published on Monday morning, many appeals are already being received by the registrar's branch of the department, according to the minister of education, Hon. Dr. H. J. Cody.

Criticisms levelled at the department by teachers and pupils in different parts of the province have resulted in Hon. Dr. Cody's going thoroughly into the whole system of setting and examining the papers, which has been carried out many years past. "I am convinced that every fair opportunity is given the pupils and that the officials in charge of the work are most considerate of the students," he said today.

Dr. Cody is also inquiring into the statement that one of the questions on high school entrance paper was too stiff for public school pupils.

CUTTING WHEAT AT LOBO.

LOBO, July 30.—The farmers have been very busy cutting wheat of late. Most of them report a fairly good yield. There is some difficulty in ploughing the land for the fall wheat, owing to the very dry weather.

U. S. Has Perfected Airplane Flare Which Lights Broad Area

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Perfection of an airplane flare for use in night-bombing expeditions over enemy trenches was adopted today by the ordnance department. The flare is released from the plane in a parachute and is set off by air friction. At a height of 2,000 feet, it was announced, it will cast a light of more than 400,000 candlepower over an area one and one-half miles in diameter. The flare prevents detection of the plane from the ground, it was explained.

WESTERN LABOR IS EXPECTED TO GO ON STRIKE AT ANY TIME

Mass Meeting Called at Winnipeg To Decide Issue.

Winnipeg, July 30.—A general strike throughout the west is almost a certainty, if the postal strike is not settled within a few days. Members of the trades and labor council were working today on plans for a general strike. A mass meeting will be called in the near future, when a strike vote will be taken of all the trades unions. It was said the call for this meeting will be made at once if the strike-breakers, who are few in number, were still working in the postoffice tonight.

Word from Vancouver, Victoria, Saskatoon, Moose Jaw and other western cities indicates that the same procedure is under way.

Hon. T. W. Crothers notified Secretary Pickup of the Postal Association this afternoon that if the strikers will return to work at once the Government will order the civil service commission to make an inquiry at once into their grievances.

Crothers Leaves City.

Mr. Crothers left Winnipeg for the west this evening. The men have not replied directly to the minister of labor, but it is understood that the regulation board of conciliation will still be insisted upon by them as the terms upon which they will return to work. At the labor temple this afternoon it was stated that negotiations had not resulted in any understanding with the Government and the situation is a deadlock.

There are 2,000,000 letters in the Winnipeg postoffice waiting to be sorted. Of the hundred persons working on them today, ninety were representatives of the big firms, trying to get the mail in such shape that their firms can get mail. No attempt is being made to handle private mail. Business letters are being disposed of as quickly as possible.

Four batches of British mail are tied up and soldiers' wives and relatives today planned a concerted demand for the right to sort and deliver it. A deputation representing a large number of women of Winnipeg will wait on the postmaster tomorrow afternoon and demand that they may be permitted to sort the private mail for overseas.

AMERICAN OFFICERS INDICTED ON CHARGE OF DEFRAUDING GOVT.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Aubrey W. Vaughan, a captain in the quartermaster's corps of the United States army, was indicted today by a federal grand jury on a charge of conspiring to defraud the Government in connection with contracts for raincoats.

Indicted also were Felix Gouled, a manufacturer, who was arrested last week with nearly a score of other men in connection with the Government's inquiry into alleged frauds on contracts; and David L. Podell, a lawyer, Captain Vaughan, in his official position, received bids from manufacturers of shoes, leather and rubber goods.

WHEAT FOR EUROPE TO PASS THROUGH THE GREAT LAKES

New York, July 31.—European-bound wheat from the middle west, now shipped by way of Canada, will be brought through the Great Lakes and the Erie Canal and put aboard trans-Atlantic vessels at this port after mid-August, according to G. A. Tomlinson, general-manager of the New York Canal System of the federal railroad administration.

UKRAINE HAS ABANDONED CLAIMS TO BESSARABIA

London, July 31.—Ukraine and Rumania have reached an agreement by which the former abandons its claim to the Province of Bessarabia in favor of Rumania, receiving in return commercial concessions, according to advices from Copenhagen, which quote a dispatch from Berlin.

TO SUBMIT QUESTION.

Paris, July 31.—Premier Clemenceau will put the question of confidence in the Government in the Chamber of Deputies today, according to the Echo de Paris. The question will be brought forward in the discussion of the bill relative to the census and the call to the colors of the class of 1920, which the Government desires to have passed.

BRITAIN PAYS $25,000 EACH MINUTE IN WAR

People Pay $3,270,000,000 Taxes Yearly.

HER CREDIT UNIMPAIRED

Tomorrow Parliament Will Be Asked For the Largest Appropriation Yet.

OTTAWA, July 30.—According to cable advices received here, the British Parliament is to be asked on Thursday to vote the biggest appropriation demanded since the beginning of the war. This new appropriation is required to finance the war until the end of October only.

The war is costing the people of Great Britain the gigantic sum of $34,930,000 per day, or $1,455,000 every hour, or nearly $25,000 a minute, according to advices received from the British ministry of information by the director of the public information bureau here.

In a statement prepared by the imperial authorities it is stated:

Silver Bullets Count.

"After four years of exhausting warfare, Britain's credit is still unimpaired. Her 'silver bullets' are being turned out by the hundred million, and every one is finding its billet. Her people are cheerfully bearing the ever-increasing strain which has been placed upon their shoulders, and will spare no effort in blood or treasure till victory is assured.

"Britain's national debt has increased during the war from $3,225,000,000 to $39,900,000,000, or in excess of twelve times over, and yet she is paying all—and much more than all—her debt charges out of current taxation, while the new taxation raised by Germany is not enough to pay the interest accumulated upon her war debt.

The British Spirit.

"The population of Germany is half as large again as that of Great Britain, and for her largest war loan subscriptions of one shilling and upwards were accepted, while in Britain the minimum subscription received was fifteen shillings, yet the recorded number of subscribers to the Hun war loan was 5,279,000, against 5,289,000 to the British loan.

"The cost of living in Great Britain has risen enrmously because of the war until now the housewife can obtain only half the food she received for the same money in peace times. And yet when the third British war loan was issued cash applications for war savings certificates made by individuals, too poor to subscribe the minimum sum of fifteen shillings to the loan itself, amounted to $100,000,000.

Taxes $3,270,000,000.

"Before the war the people of Great Britain paid taxes amounting to approximately $1,000,000,000 a year; today they are paying taxes to the tune of $3,270,000,000 annually. In spite of this, Great Britain raised her third war loan of $5,000,000,000, a sum equal to nearly half her entire national income in 1914.

"Great Britain is now spending $9,305,000,000 a year on her army, her navy, her air services and her munitions factories and supplies, but despite this colossal financial burden she has advanced loans to her poorer allies amounting in the aggregate to $8,160,000,000."

"CANADA ENTERED WAR FIRST DAY; TO STAY TO END"

Hon. Phillippe Roy Delivers a Stirring Address at Dinner to Editors.

London, July 31. — Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.—At a luncheon just before the Canadian editors left for Paris Hon. Phillippe Roy, agent-general for Canada, concluded a stirring speech by saying: "Canada entered the war from the first day and intends to remain in it until the end."

W. A. Buchanan, M. P., of Lethbridge, Alta., thanked Lord Beaverbrook for his happy thought in inviting friends from overseas to come and see the war close at hand, so as to be able to go back and tell their fellow-countrymen what the great struggle really means.

"The sight of Vimy Ridge," said Mr. Buchanan, "showed us what Canadians had done. Verdun taught us what France had suffered, and from what hell she had come out triumphant. Since I had the opportunity of seeing the sacrifices to which France has willingly consented, I have vowed to her all my respect and all my homage."

M. Andre Tardieu, French high commissioner to the United States, dwelt upon the Anglo-French co-operation. He spoke also of the loyal entry of Canada into the war, and the heroic fighting of the Canadians at Vimy Ridge and at other points of the front. Loud cheers greeted the concluding sentence of his address: "It is because we are united that we shall be victorious."

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

THE LOCAL MARKET

There was a very small attendance on the local market this morning, with a result that there was not much produce offered. A shipment of live hogs was brought in and sold from $18 to $18.25. There were only fifteen loads of hay brought in yesterday, and this remained firm, selling at the old price. There was quite a quantity of raspberries offered Tuesday, selling from 22c to 23c, wholesale, and 24 to 25 cents, retail. All vegetables remained firm.

GRAIN.

Chicago, July 31.—Opening: Corn—July, $1 54¼; August, $1 54⅝. Oats—July, 75c; August, 68¾c.

Chicago, July 31.—Corn developed fresh strength today, influenced by the rapid falling off in the movement to the leading terminal markets. Receipts here were again much less plentiful than has been the rule of late, and it took but little buying to make prices advance. There was a notable lack of pressure to sell. Opening prices, which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to ¼c higher, were followed by a decided general upturn.

Oats hardened with corn. Exporters were buying ,and rural offerings were not large. After opening ¼c off to 1c up, prices scored moderate general gains.

LIVE STOCK.

Toronto, July 31.—The trade at the Union stockyards this morning was inclined to be rather slow, although there was a good demand for choice export cattle and canners. Hogs and lambs were firmer. Receipts, 51 cars, containing 490 cattle, 311 calves, 1,345 hogs and 506 sheep.

WALL STREET.

New York, July 31—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—United States Steel was the central feature of today's stock market, its initial transaction of 10,000 shares at 108 to 108¼ representing an overnight gain of virtually 1 point. Steel's remarkable quarterly statement had a beneficial effect upon the general list, although the more substantial gains were made by gas issues, which added 2 to 3½ points to yesterday's advances. Profit-taking caused material recessions among leaders soon after the opening. Liberty bonds were steady.

Noon.—The abrupt reaction in United States Steel, which yielded all its gain, and further weakness in Sumatra Tobacco and General Motors at 4-point declines, provoked general unsettlement, leaders falling under yesterday's final prices. People's Gas also cancelled nearly all its advance, but oil shares were advanced 1½ to 2½ points on reports of improvement in the Mexican situation. Prices steadied irregularly at midday, Steel making full recovery.

ESCAPE THE CITY HEAT.

When the breathless days and glaring heat of summer make life in the city a burden, the Algonquin Park of Ontario is a place of refuge and enchantment. This great reserve of nearly four thousand square miles, is on the very ridge of the "Highlands of Ontario." Its altitude above sea level averages 1,700 feet, while some of the lakes in the Park are 2,000 feet above the sea. The lake land breezes which sweep over the Park are impregnated with the life-giving fragrance of the pine woods. The days are unusually long and the evenings are always delightfully cool. Splendid boating and fishing and charming woodland trails are among the attractions. The hotels in the Park are peculiarly fitted to their wild environment and give excellent service at moderate rates. The largest of these, the Highland Inn, is situated at Algonquin Park Station, and overlooks beautiful Cache Lake. For full information apply to any Grand Trunk agent. 46-1

STATES NEW WAGE SCALE IN EFFECT WHOLE OF MONTH

The Local Carmen's President Denies Any Waiting.

MEN HEAR OF SCHEDULE

They Are Divided Into Three Classes For Purposes of Pay.

"Our agreement with the G. T. R. expired on July 1, and the new wage schedule will take effect from that date," said J. Corbett, president of the local car men's union, in answer to the statement of a railroad official to the effect that the new rates would not be paid until increased freight rates were received.

Mr. Corbett, an employee of the car shops, is thoroughly in touch with the situation, as he was the London representative on the committee which met with the Canada war board at Montreal recently. The men have been promised that the wage schedule will take effect on the expiration of all agreements.

Pay Rates Explained.

While all the amendments to the McAdoo award have not been received, the hourly rate of pay for mechanics, specialists, and helpers was made public at a meeting of the car shops men yesterday. Under these amendments, mechanics will get 68 cents, specialists, 58, and helpers, 45 cents per hour. The specifications are not made clear as to which class the majority of the men in the car shops will be placed, but it is thought that mechanics will include machinists, boilermakers and blacksmiths; carpenters, painters, etc., will be classed as specialists, and the laborers will be designated as helpers. This is only conjecture on the part of the men, however.

Present Wages.

The existing scale of wages ranges between 30 and 50 cents per hour at the local shops.

Mr. Corbett expects to go to Montreal shortly for the final meeting with the Canada war board, when all the amendments to the award have been made public. It is thought that a final settlement will be reached in the course of two weeks.

"The Dancing Beatties in their act were accorded the warmest reception at all performances again Tuesday. The whirlwind finish of this act in which the two children duplicate the dancing feats usually seen only at a circus, astounded all.

An "Ozark Romance," a comedy film, and a News Weekly complete an excellent show again for today.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday Charles Ray will be seen in "The Claws of the Hun."

VETERAN SOLDIER AND OLD RESIDENT DIED ON TUESDAY

Robert Allan, Indian Mutiny Volunteer, Passed Away in Hospital.

An old and highly respected resident of the city passed quietly away at Victoria Hospital Tuesday morning, in the person of Robert Allan.

Mr. Allan, who was in his 78th year, was born in Scotland, and came to this city when he was four years of age. He continued to live here until he reached the age of 18, when he enlisted in the 100th Regiment for active service in the Indian mutiny. The war was brought to an end shortly afterwards, and Mr. Allan often recounted the story that the men were so greatly disappointed that they could not get into action that they sat on their beds and cried.

Stationed at Gibraltar.

Although unable to serve in the mutiny, Mr. Allan was transferred to Gibraltar, and was stationed there for some time, after which he went to Spain and traveled through Europe. After soldiering for ten years he obtained his discharge from the army, and returned to this city, where he had resided since.

Until about three years ago Mr. Allan was employed as messenger for the Canadian Bank of Commerce at this city, but was superannuated on account of ill-health. He has been an invalid ever since he left the service of the bank, and as his condition grew more serious he was transferred from his home to the hospital. He had been seriously ill for the past eleven weeks. Mr. Allan was a Liberal in politics, and had read The Advertiser since its first publication. He always took a keen interest in public matters.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by three sons, William of Winnipeg, Allister of Guelph, and Charles at home; and one daughter, Mrs. Minor, of Earl Grey, Sask.; also by one sister, Mrs. Samuel Terrin, and two nieces, Mrs. Edith Unger and Mrs. E. McBride, all of Detroit.

Daughter Died One Month Ago.

A particularly sad feature in connection with Mr. Allan's death is the fact that his daughter, Mrs. W. J. Neville of Chicago, died on June 20, predeceasing her father by a little over one month. Mrs. Neville had been visiting her parents in this city all last winter and had just returned to her home in Chicago about a month when her death took place.

The funeral arrangements have not been fully made, but it is probable that it will take place Friday from the family residence, 433 William street, to Woodland Cemetery. Rev. Dr. D. L. McCrae, formerly of the Hamilton Road Presbyterian Church, will conduct the services.

Mr. Allan was a member of the Independent and the Canadian Order of Foresters and had been an elder of the St. Andrew's Church since 1907.

CHRISTIANS MUST LIVE THEIR FAITH, NOT ONLY HOLD IT PASSIVELY

Bishop McGuire of Latter-Day Saints Urges a Living Religion.

Bishop R. P. McGuire, Independence, Mo., presiding bishop of the Latter-Day Saints throughout Canada, was present at the Maitland Stret Latter-Day Saints' Church last evening, after attending a ten days' reunion at Erie Beach.

In the course of his address the bishop said that the pure and simple faith of the Latter-Day Saints was becoming widespread throughout Canada as shown by the 2,500 people who attended the reunion on Sunday at Erie Beach.

"All Christians should give expression to the gospel of Christ by living a Christian and consistent life, not merely holding a passive belief in the teaching of Jesus Christ. Before this sin-swept world will be free, and before the design of the Absolute will ultimately reach its completion, the teachings of Jesus Christ must not only be accepted, but carried out in actual living," asserted the speaker.

"Man must realize the necessity of a closer walk with God, unfettered by materialism. The greater the spiritual development in the church, the stronger factor will that church be for good in the community, and the more effectual its work for God.

"I am not shamed of the gospel of Jesus Christ," declared Bishop McGuire, "and I know the power of God from a sense of realization.

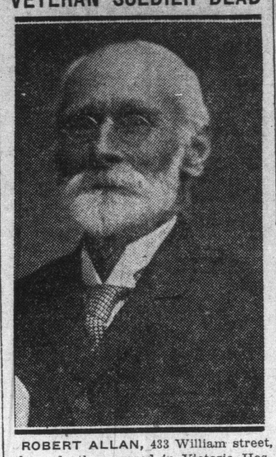

"While we are self-centred, we may never know the spirit of Jesus Christ, the rights of the individual must be subordinated to the common good."

In conclusion, the speaker cited incidents of the marvelous way in which God had helped him at times when he most needed his help.

MAJOR EWART WILSON WINS MILITARY CROSS; VOLUNTEERED IN LONDON

Major J. E. Wilson of the Canadian Mounted Rifles is another one of the many Londoners to win lasting fame on battlefields of France. Enlisting as a private, his devotion to duty won speedy promotion for him. He was an employee of Mason & Risch in this city prior to signing up for service with the Mounted Rifles. His bravery and coolness at a recent critical period, when the officer commanding the party which he was with was killed, was recognized, and he was decorated with the Military Cross. Directly the officer was killed, Major Wilson took command and handled the men in such a way that the raid in which they were participating was a success. At the conclusion he directed the removal of the casualties to the Canadian lines, a distance of over one thousand yards, and he was the last to leave the enemy's position. Major Wilson will be better known as Ewart or "Chief" Wilson.

WHITE WYANDOTTE BREEDERS OF CITY FORM ASSOCIATION

Amateurs and Professionals Get Together in New Club.

During the last week-end there was formed in this city an organization of White Wyandotte breeders, which adopted for identification purposes the name of "Organized Breeders of White Wyandottes of London, Ont."

The object of this association is to help along the amateur breeders of that particular bird.

The amateur, as a rule, poultrymen say, is a modest person. His modesty is invariably the result of ignorance as to the points to look for in well-bred poultry, they claim. Among this flock he may have a "Madison Square" winner and be blissfully ignorant of the fact. To teach the amateur the value of his individual birds and to encourage him to show them are the primary considerations of the newly-formed club.

Put London on Map.

The secondary object is, in conjunction with the activities of the London Poultry and Pet Stock Association, to put London, Ont., on the map as a poultry centre, and particularly one where White Wyandottes can be bred and shown second to none on the American continent. According to the editor of a Canadian poultry journal, this city has more poultry fanciers to the square foot than any other city in Canada. The poultrymen this fall declare they intend putting Buffalo in the shade when it comes to an exhibition of birds, and particularly of the White Wyandotte class.

On Thanksgiving Day this year, when the London Poultry and Pet Stock Association will hold its annual exhibition, the prizes allotted to the White Wyandotte class will be augmented by valuable special prizes donated by the Organized Breeders. These prizes are to be offered to two classes of exhibitors, viz., the open class in which all exhibitors, including professional breeders, will compete; the second class for amateurs only. The awards in each of these sections will, in all probability, run to the fifth place; but this depends entirely on the amount of money, etc., collected for the special prizes. At any rate, the prizes in each class will be equally divided.

Never Won a Prize.

The amateur, for this class, has been defined by the "breeders" as a person who has not previously won a prize for any White Wyandotte birds that he or she may have shown at any exhibition.

As will be seen, this really means that the amateur has three chances of winning a prize to the professional breeder's one, that is, he competes in the open class and takes his chance on winning the prized offered by the London Poultry and Pet Stock Association and also the prize offered by the Organized White Wyandotte Breeders. He then also competes in the class for amateurs only, from which the professional breeders are barred.

Professionals Help Amateurs.

The men who met and discussed the matter outlined above were both amateur and professional breeders, and each individual went away from the meeting fully determined to make the coming show a success. It is only fair to state that the professionals present were extremely fair to the amateurs' interests and readily offered their services and experience to assist, not for their own ends, but to help along the person making the start.

For the present T. E. Martin has been appointed chairman of the fanciers' new organization, and James McIlvenna, William street, elected to the office of secretary.

G.W.V.A. AS BODY RECOGNIZES GOOD Y.M.C.A. IS DOING

But Organization Is Criticised For Not Submitting Financial Statement.

TORONTO, July 30.—The committee of the G. W. V. A. that investigated grievances against the Y. M. C. A., expressed by returned soldiers, has completed its report on the result of conferences with Y. M. C. A. officials, and this report was today made public.

The committee of the G. W. V. A. was in joint conference with the members of the National Council of the Y. M. C. A. for two long sessions, and the report states that the following points seem to be clear.

That the returned soldiers were right in their claim that very little in the way of tea, coffee and cigarettes was handed out to the soldiers gratis in the years 1915-16. The testimony on this point is overwhelming.

Slam High Salaries.

That the Y. M. C. A. is open to criticism for not having issued a complete financial statement until 1917 and for the unduly heavy overhead charges for salaries and the large profits shown therein. In these respects there is good hope of improvement.

That a misunderstanding has existed through the British Y. M. C. A. working among Canadian soldiers and from confusion of the practice of the British and Canadian associations.

That while certain individual criticis

That while certain individual criticisms have been justified, the work done by the Y. M. C. A. is beneficial to the soldier. The extent of the work can only be measured if it were possible to imagine the Y. M. C. A. or any other institution doing similar work as being non-existent for some weeks. The absence of them would, by force of contrast, bring to light the essential value of their work among the Canadian soldiers.

To Discuss Pensions.

Secretary Stewart read telegrams from the Canadian pension board and the soldiers' civil re-establishment committee, advising the convention that representatives would be present tomorrow to answer any questions which the veterans may care to ask. Major Buchanan will represent the pensions board.

The delegates to the convention were taken to the Government House in automobiles, where they were the guests of Sir John Hendrie, lieutenant-governor, for luncheon.

Warriors Only Members.

Membership in the Great War Veterans' Association, it was decided this afternoon, is to be limited to men who have seen service in England or France, or equivalent service in the navy, with provision for exceptional cases and for preserving the status of the present members of the association not included in the category of men who have been overseas.

The decision was made after a lengthy debate. Resolutions embodying three principles came before the convention. One was to limit the membership to men who had been in France; a second to men who had been in England and France, and a third to throw the membership open to men who had enlisted in the C. E. F., even if they had never left Canada. When the vote was taken upon these principles, sixty delegates, principally from Ontario, voted for the "wide open" policy, 102 stood for the compromise, and 35, including the Winnipeg delegates, cast their vote for "France only" principle.

The delegates were asked to present any suggestions regarding the status of members who will be affected by the decision of those cases that might be termed exceptional. They will be considered when the committee presents its report on Friday.

Indignant With Doherty.

A communication received from the Hon. C. J. Doherty, acting premier, stating that the Government could not see its way to appoint a board of conciliation or arbitration to consider the salaries of civill servants on strike, met with considerable indignation from some quarters, while others were of the opinion that the matter was not of concern to the convention. The telegram which came from Hon. Mr. Doherty was in response to a request forwarded last week by the Dominion executive asking for the appointment of such a board.

The reading of this communication was promptly met by a protest from a western delegate, who pointed out that among the western strikers there area many members of the Great War Veterans' Association; that men who are not returned soldiers are being employed as strikebreakers, and that, therefore, it became the duty of the Dominion convention to take steps to support the stand taken by their striking brethren. Delegate Dyson of Calgary, was strongly in favor of taking action, but Delegate Jarvis of Ottawa, tried to smooth matters over with the declaration that the Government had done all in its power. He was met with many interruptions and the suggestion that he was quite wrong.

Not Good Principle.

"The position of the veterans in this matter is an unfortunate one," he contended, "but I do not think this is a time when any veteran should go on strike, and I do not think we as a body will stand for it. It is against the interests of the country when we are at war, so we cannot support the strikers."

Delegate Meredith of Toronto pointed out that many postal employees among the veterans have been working for a low wage, and that it was the duty of the Great War Veterans' Association to look after the labor difficulties of any of their members. He spoke not as a labor man, but as a veteran, and declared it was up to the convention to support their members even on such an occasion as this. The question was warming up to a prolonged discussion when President Purney ruled that it be shelved for the present, to come up later.

WAITING GAME STILL THE ROLE OF GENERAL FOCH; LUDENDORFF MUST STRIKE AGAIN—LET HIM

If He Hits at Haig, Which Seems Most Likely, There Are 90 Splendid Divisions to Meet Him—Must Attack for Political, if No Other Reason.

(By Frank H. Simonds. Copyright, 1918, The Tribune Association, N. Y.)

NEW YORK, July 30.—Three times in four years the Germans have undertaken to achieve a decision in the western field. Three different commanders, Moltke, the younger Falkenhayn and Ludendorff have essayed to solve the great problem. Moltke and Ludendorff failed at the Marne, Falkenhayn at Verdun. Each of the earlier failures cost the Germans the initiative on the west front. It remains now to be seen what will be the effect of the third defeat.

We are bound to recognize, too, that in each case the German failure has been the result of the same miscalculation, a false appraisal of the condition alike of the French army and the French people. In each case the German high command undertook operations which could only be undertaken in the presence of a beaten foe.

Presumption Thrice Punished.

Three times this presumption has been punished. The will of the French army, supplemented in 1914 by the British, in 1918 by the Americans, has been sufficient, not alone to break the attack, but to wrest the offensive from the enemy.

As it now stands, Ludendorff must attack again—and promptly—or else confess defeat in the campaign which all Germany has been educated to believe would win the war in the present summer and bring a victorious German peace before snow came again. Another delay of forty days, such as has separated previous efforts, would take us well into September, and bring at least 300,000 more Americans to France, and, what is vastly more important, allow time for at least 300,000 American troops already in France, but not yet ready for the combat, to finish their training.

Reserves for Foch.

Automatically Foch would thus acquire another strategic reserve materially larger than that which he used with such deadly effect south of Soissons the other day.

But if Ludendorff attacks now he must attack the British, since the armies of the German crown prince, fighting disastrously between the Argonne and Soissons, are in no condition to undertake an offensive. The supplies have been exhausted, their transport disorganized, and their reserves consumed in the recent unsuccessful battle and subsequent retreat. It is one thing to draw a great army out of a bad hole skillfully and another to throw this army into another vast offensive in a period of days. The thing was possible in the old war of movement, when the question of munitions and transport was not so important, it is well nigh inconceivable under existing conditions.

Hun Reserves Fading.

If Ludendorff elects to strike the British, however, he can employ little more than 25 divisions of reserves, so great has been the consumption of shock troops in recent months. Four months ago he brought off his Picardy success with 40 divisions, followed immediately by another 40, but the British have now at least 90 full divisions on the west front, equal in strength to at least 100 German divisions. They almost certainly outnumber the Germans before them and the mass of their divisions are in better condition than those of the enemy.

The reason for this is simple. The German has steadily pursued the policy of milking most of his divisions of the best men, in order to create a certain number of shock divisions. This has given him a wonderful striking force. But it has had two evil consequences.

Kaiser's Best Used Up.

It has materially lowered the value of all but the selected divisions, and it has entailed a disproportionate loss among the best of his man power. Since the shock troops were used in the terribly expensive first assaults in the various offensives, thus after five great efforts the German finds his shock troops terribly reduced in number, while the balance of his forces are revealing the bad effects of losing their best material. The Allies, on the contrary, have preserved an equality of standard with respect to all their divisions.

Again, if Rupprecht of Bavaria returns to the attack against Haig he must attack out of one of two salients, each resembling the Marne salient which has proven so disastrous for the Germans. If he attempts to push in the wedge south of Ypres he must present two flanks to the foe and risk a counter-thrust like that which won the recent Marne battle, either from Bethune or from Ypres. If he strikes for Amiens he leaves Foch an opening flank either between Albert and Arras or between Montdidier and the Oise.

Foch Will Hit Back.

If the German thrust fails, as the Marne thrust failed, the counter-attack is bound to come, for Foch will never go back to the completely defensive strategy, and such a thrust would involve a retreat to the old Hindenburg line or else a fatal retreat in Flanders. If Foch has as yet no decisive or considerable superiority in numbers he has at least an unquestioned equality and can afford a counter-offensive whenever the German original thrust fails.

As it stands Foch can afford to let the Germans make the first move, and for moral if not for military reasons, they can hardly refrain from making this move, but it has become excessively risky for them to undertake a new offensive which would eat up the last reserve divisions of shock troops and insure a counter-thrust. If it failed, a counter-thrust is bound to be exceedingly dangerous, as the Marne experience has just demonstrated.

Foch Not the Aggressor.

On the other hand, Foch is in no position to let loose a general offensive such as the Germans have been indulging in. Should be undertake this and fail, the Germans would be able to pass to the offensive again with far better chances of success than they now have.

As one can see the waiting game, with certain clear modifications, remains the best game for the Allied commander-in-chief. His numbers are growing; he has mastered the new German method of attack; he has pulled down both the strength and the confidence of his foes enormously, and he is in a position to profit instantly by miscalculation of theirs. If the Germans try a new offensive and fail, then may come the moment for the general offensive of the Allies. This will depend upon the extent of the German failure and the effect of the defeat upon the morale of their army.

Will Harass the Enemy.

But, all things considered, Foch seems unlikely to attempt a Ludendorffian stroke now. On the other hand, he can and may multiply his local operations and worry and disconcert German commanders by relatively minor operations at various points. He is sure to do this if he does not desire the Germans to deliver another great blow.

The conditions have entirely changed and Foch is in a far different situation, having the power to deal blow for blow with Ludendorff, meet offensive with counter-offensive, and wait or strike as he may choose, instead of waiting to be struck, as he has had to do for many months. Ludendorff may have to strike, whether he is in condition to bring off a great success or not, because of political reasons, but when political reasons begin to interfere with military, disasters come thick and fast, as the French experience in the last war with Germany demonstrated.

Marne Phase Completed.

Public attention continues to be fixed upon the fighting in what is left of the Marne salient, but in the larger sense this is already completed. The Germans have gotten away and are going presently to stand at the line they have been preparing probably at the Vesle, possibly at the Aisne.

At either place their positions will be too strong to be forced by Foch's troops without long preparation. The capture of villages, the daring and splendid valor of our troops with the more dramatic incidents of the current news are, therefore, in a sense of minor importance. Ludendorff has lost his Gettysburg and is going back to new lines. He is going back on the whole, with as little peril to himself as Lee ran in his retreat from Pennsylvania to Virginia. Indeed, recalling the flood in the Potomac during that time one is bound to recognize that Ludendorff's situtio is better.

All this does not disguise the fact that a great battle—the third great battle on the western front—has been lost by the kaiser. With consequences which may prove fatal to William the Little as those of Leipzig were to Napoleon the Great.

SPAIN SUFFERS ANOTHER SHOCK FROM GERMANY

U-Boats Have Destroyed Almost All the Petroleum Secured From U. S.

PARIS, July 30.—A dispatch to the Havas Agency from Madrid says the Spanish newspapers assert the torpedoing of the Spanish steamer Ramon de Larrinaga is the grevest incident that has occurred between Germany and Spain since the beginning of the war. Eight Spanish seasmen and the petroleum which the vessel carried, together with that burned aboard the Spanish ship Serantes in New York harbor constituted almost the entire stock assured to Spain under the Spanish-American agreement.

The above dispatch is the first intimation that the Spanish steamer Ramon de Larrinaga had been sunk. She was a vessel of 2,975 tons and was owned in Bilboa. She was last reported as arriving at an American Atlantic port on May 29.

WOMEN WHO FASCINATE

The art of fascination and attractiveness in women is founded on good health. Women who drag through long hours, days, weeks and sometimes months of suffering with headaches, backache and dragging-down pains, soon wear the tell-tale expression of woe and misery. If every such woman would only turn to that good old-fashioned root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, to alleviate such ailments it would surely prove the greatest aid to health and consequent beauty that she has ever known.
