

FOUR CANDIDATES ARE NOMINATED LONDON

Sidney Murrell Says He Expects To Be Hanged

FOUR CITY CANDIDATES OFFICIALLY NOMINATED AND READY FOR BATTLE

Dr. Stevenson and Sir Adam Beck File Papers Simultaneously —Miss Isabel Armstrong, Liberal Candidate, Prepared For Fray, But None Appear To Enter Verbal Combat—J. M. Donahue Will Also Contest Seat.

NOMINATION ONE OF QUIETEST IN HISTORY

The provincial nominees, legal in character and four in number, are off on a slow track. And they have variety of platforms calculated to please the most discriminating. It was the quietest nomination within the recollection of City Clerk Baker, who can remember quite a few such gatherings. A handful of spectators appeared at the zero hour today—high noon—to watch the entries go to the post. But they did not remain.

Secures Signatures. But Mr. Donahue sallied forth again, returning within a few minutes with the required list. After a brief and final consultation with his manager, he declared that he was still willing to take his proposal to the electors for consideration, and his manager handed in his list. J. Cameron Wilson arrived at 12 o'clock sharp. Mayor Wenig was close behind, and then the "die hards" appeared with one lone exception: Ald. William Wilson was strangely "conspicuous by his absence," as many commented.

Liberal Candidate. The Liberal candidate, Miss Isabel C. Armstrong was the next to file, appearing in person with her campaign manager, Edgar Jeffery and Mrs. E. W. Grange. Miss Armstrong remained at the city hall for several minutes, and the few faithful spectators, who deplored the passing of the old days of fiery nomination addresses, waited around hoping that she would deliver a few remarks. As none of the other candidates appeared after a reasonable interval, Miss Armstrong departed.

Sir Adam Expected. Then someone wanted the mayor to make a speech, but someone else reminded that Sir Adam was expected at any moment and he would speak. The impression was general that the Tory nominee should be given the first opportunity to speak. It was explained that he would probably require a lot of time to explain his O. T. A. stand.

Isabel Armstrong Resigns From The Advertiser Staff To Enter Political Battle

The last-minute surprise of the political campaign locally is the nomination of Miss Isabel C. Armstrong. Miss Armstrong has for some time been a member of The Advertiser's staff. This morning The Advertiser received from Miss Armstrong the following letter, dated yesterday, in which she resigns from the paper in order independently to accept the invitation of her friends and supporters to stand as Liberal candidate.

MISS ARMSTRONG'S LETTER.

"The London Advertiser. "Dear Sirs: Following the withdrawal of Mr. U. A. Buchner from the field as Liberal candidate today, I have been strongly urged by a number of women of the city as well as a number of Liberal men and other supporters of social welfare movements to permit myself to be nominated as Liberal candidate, making the temperance plank a leading one in my platform. "Previous to the convention, pressure had been brought to bear upon me to enter as candidate, hence the idea was not entirely new to me. "After serious consideration, I have decided to allow my name to be placed before the electors as the Liberal nominee tomorrow. "Under the circumstances, the one course I feel I must adopt is to tender my resignation from the staff of The London Advertiser, with which I have been associated at different periods for several years. "Such a short time is left for the campaign, I would deem it a great favor if I could be released at once. "Trusting you will understand my position and see your way clear to accept my resignation without delay. "Yours sincerely, "ISABEL C. ARMSTRONG."

BROKER COLLAPSES ON EVE OF EXPOSURE

Naming of "Men Higher Up" in Bucking Operations Is Postponed by Illness. New York, June 14.—Edward M. Fuller, on the eve of a hearing at which he was believed about to tell the inside story of his bucking operations in Wall street and name "men higher up," collapsed in his office today. Physicians were hurriedly summoned to the aid of the stricken broker to determine the seriousness of his condition. Fuller, with W. F. E. M. Fuller & Co., with operating a bucket shop. They face a prison term of from two to a half of five years.

ASK FRENCH PLANS FOR REPARATIONS

Great Britain Wants Written Record of Poincare's Views On Subject. Special Cable to The Advertiser. London, England, June 14.—Great Britain sent a note to France today requesting a written statement of Premier Poincare's views on the subject of reparations and allied collaboration in a reply to the latest German offer. The British are said to be desirous of having France go on record regarding her intentions, and so want a document to which they call formally and specifically reply. In some quarters this move is taken to indicate that Premier Baldwin, Marquis Curzon and others, who have been in formal communication with French leaders, have been unable to reach an agreement with France in accordance with Poincare's expressed desire.

SAFETY MEN JOIN GENERAL STRIKE AT COLLIERIES

Nova Scotia Unionists Obey Call of United Mine Workers To Leave Jobs. COMPLETE TIE-UP

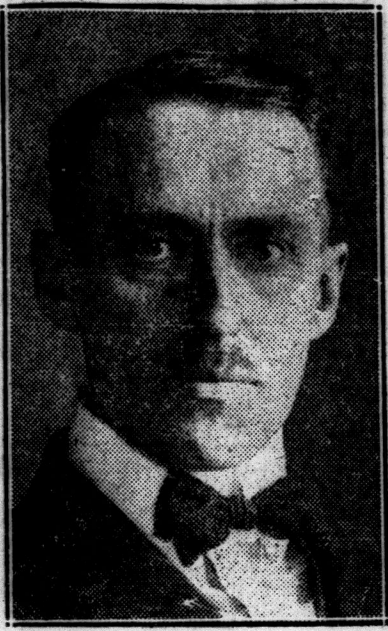

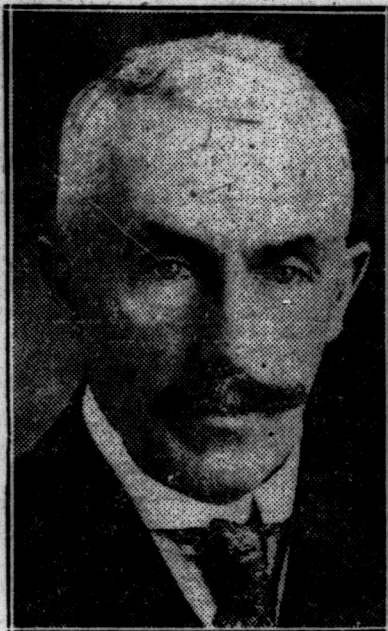

Canadian Press Despatch. North Sydney, N. S., June 14.—Safety-men at the major collieries of the Scotia group joined the general strike affecting the area called last night by the United Mine Workers to enforce the demands made upon the British Empire Steel Corporation for the reinstatement of two men at Florence colliery. The strike went into effect at 4 o'clock this morning, and is acknowledged at the general offices of the company at Sydney mines to be 100 per cent efficient. The calling out of the pumpmen and stablesmen was not altogether expected, though necessary precautions were made to guard against it. The pump and stable duties are being performed by members of the official staff, and at 8 o'clock this morning everything was reported to be running smoothly. The men are acting in an orderly way, no attempt has been made to interfere with members of the official staff entering the company's property and the pickets placed by the unions have little to do. The tie-up is complete and involves the collieries of the British Empire Steel Corporation group in North Cape Breton, including Princess, Jubilee, Florence and the shipping ports at North Sydney.

FRIENDS GET LIQUOR IN PLACE OF FRUITS

Prohibition on Liners Leads to Clever Substitutes of Gifts to Ocean Voyagers. Associated Press Despatch. Paris, June 14.—The drying up of the liner's hand luggage has led to the custom of sending gifts to departing friends. Baskets of fruit formerly went to passengers as parting gifts. Today the baskets are filled with an assortment of wines, champagnes and brandies with occasionally a chocolate shaker included in one corner. A number of the Parisian wine-shops have caught the idea of making a specialty of assembling the proper outfit for the voyager, thus saving the buyer the trouble of making a choice.

GRIEVANCE DISLIKED BY KNIGHTS BACHELOR

Members of Old British Order Protest Lack of Incignia of Rank. Associated Press Despatch. London, England, June 14.—Members of the Order Knights Bachelor in Great Britain have a grievance, and have had it for fifteen years, but they still have no letters to put after their names, and no insignia to indicate that they are knights bachelor. In fact, they find themselves jostled out of the front row at important functions by such "upstarts" as knights of the British empire. It is a serious grievance with these knights of the ancient order. They held a dinner last night and discussed it. They passed a resolution to remedy their efforts which they had been making for fifteen years, to have this state of affairs remedied. The home secretary in the present administration, W. C. Bridgeman, has been considering the matter, but it has not yet got beyond the consideration point.

CANDIDATES NOMINATED TODAY: Here are the four candidates from the city riding who will battle for a seat in Queen's Park at the provincial election on June 25. Left to right—Miss Isabel Armstrong, the Liberal standard-bearer; Dr. Hugh Stevenson, Labor's choice; J. M. Donahue, who stands on a "wet" Tory platform, and Sir Adam Beck, the Conservative nominee.

A Plain Tory Candidate

There is no uncertainty in London over the color of the political horse which Sir Adam Beck seeks to ride to Toronto with the hydro buggy hitched behind. The horse is Tory, and Sir Adam Beck is an out-and-out Tory candidate. Sir Adam says so himself and so do his Conservative newspapers. The only paper which is trying to believe otherwise is the Toronto Globe.

The Globe in another appeal for Beck's election says: "SIR ADAM BECK DOES NOT ENTER THE FIELD AS AN ORDINARY SUPPORTER OF MR. FERGUSON." It is unfortunate if anyone believes this statement. Its fallacy can best be told in words from Sir Adam's own lips. At the Conservative convention on May 25th, postponing his decision, Sir Adam Beck stated: "I AM ANXIOUS TO SERVE BUT I REPRESENT 366 MUNICIPALITIES AND I CAN'T DESERT THEM. I EXPECT, HOWEVER, TO HAVE A CONSULTATION WITH HOWARD FERGUSON." Sir Adam's private sense of duty to the people's hydro warned him against deserting his trust. His consultation with the Tory leader resulted in Sir Adam's decision to put duty aside and yield to the persuasions of the Tory party.

IT WAS HOWARD FERGUSON WHO MADE BECK A CANDIDATE IN LONDON.

How then can anyone be so deluded as to believe that "Sir Adam does not enter the field as a supporter of Mr. Ferguson"?

Yesterday Sir Adam Beck repudiated statements which he made to The Advertiser regarding the O.T.A. In his repudiation, as published by his Tory newspaper, the Free Press, Sir Adam declares his allegiance to Mr. Ferguson by defending the latter's temperance quibbling, in the following words: "THE WOMEN OF LONDON KNOW WHERE THE LEADER OF THE CONSERVATIVES AND WHERE THE ADVOCATES OF TEMPERANCE MUST GIVE CREDIT TO THE CONSERVATIVE GOVERNMENT, OF WHICH HON. HOWARD FERGUSON WAS THEN A MEMBER, FOR THE O. T. A. NOW ON THE STATUTE BOOKS."

Sir Adam Beck, by his own words, is a straight Tory candidate and a follower of Howard Ferguson. As a Tory candidate he is not merely surrendering the people's hydro to Mr. Ferguson's scheming.

HE IS LENDING THE WHOLE VAST ENTERPRISE TO THE TORY CAMPAIGNERS IN LONDON TO HELP THEM IN THEIR EFFORT TO WIN AN ELECTION.

Sir Adam Beck could have deserved universal support by standing as an independent hydro candidate in any one of the twelve outside ridings which invited him. But as an out-and-out Tory candidate in London, with hydro tied to the Tory chariot wheel, Sir Adam Beck has made a mistake which merits the condemnation of every right thinking citizen, regardless of party affiliations.

FIND NOT ACCOMPLICE IN "HAMMER MURDER"

Arthur T. Searle Cleared of Connection With Crime at Winnipeg. Canadian Press Despatch. Winnipeg, June 14.—Arthur T. Searle was yesterday found not guilty by a jury of being connected with the "hammer murder" of aged John Penny here last December. The trial of Albert E. Horton, another alleged accomplice of John Stanton, who is wanted by the police on a charge of actually committing the murder, commences today.

JURY CONVICTS MAN OF DOUBLE MURDER

New Jersey Slayer Awaits Sentence, While Woman in the Case Is Acquitted. Associated Press Despatch. Jersey City, June 14.—Frank Sage was convicted by a jury in Hudson County court late yesterday of the murder of two policemen slain May 22 in an effort to capture him in a barricaded house. Mae Miller, arrested and tried jointly with him, was acquitted. The jury made no recommendation in returning the verdict against Sage, who showed no trace of emotion. The woman, who wept when she learned she had been acquitted, was remanded to jail, and it was said she probably would not be brought to trial in connection with the murder of Patrolman Wear. Sage also was returned to jail to await sentence.

STRIKE-BREAKERS BROUGHT TO CITY BY SIR ADAM BECK

Charge Chippawa Linemen Sent To Replace London Workmen. WORK PROGRESSING

Buchanan States Men Secured by Advertisements in Papers. Sir Adam Beck wired posthaste to Chippawa for linemen to replace the London workers who have been discharged by the Public Utilities manager, The Advertiser has learned. Today Manager Buchanan declared, to the best of his knowledge, neither hydro commissions nor hydro companies outside of London, had been approached for assistance in the local trouble. He stated several men had been taken on in the place of those who have left, but that they had been obtained through the medium of advertisements in the papers.

Start New Men.

"We are getting along nicely," he added. "We started a few new men today, and there is promise of more men coming day by day. By Monday there will be no room for any of the men who have gone out, though there are still a few places left." Opinion of Ernest Ingles, international vice-president of the Electrical Workers' Union, is to the contrary, and emphatically so. He and the men are convinced workers have been brought from other hydro centres, despite what Manager Buchanan says.

Questioned By Committee.

As to the man who was questioned by the Linemen's committee, and who told them he had been sent to London by the power commission of another municipality, Mr. Buchanan asserted the man told the committee he had been sent here, because he feared he would be branded as a strike-breaker, if the men found he had sought work here on his own initiative. Disaffection among the power-house workers was explained away by the manager with the statement that their discontent was due to a paper published the day following the day the linemen struck. "Previous to that, there was no suggestion of trouble," the utilities manager assured The Advertiser.

GIVEN TERM IN PRISON FOR SEDITIOUS SPEECH

Associated Press Despatch. London, England, June 14.—A Glasgow young man was sentenced to prison for fifteen months for seditious utterances on the streets. Among the statements he is alleged to have made were the following: "People should take what they need." "The only crime of the Irish deportees was they tried to lift Ireland out of the mire of British imperialism." "At the time of the dockers' strike in Dublin, three detectives were caught at a meeting of the dockers, and there were three new faces in heaven the next morning."

MURRELL EXPECTS ROPE WILL END HIS LIFE WHEN HE RETURNS TO LONDON

Waiting in San Francisco Jail Pending Proceedings Which Will Bring Him Back to Stand Trial For Murder. He Displays Indifference to His Fate.

"WHAT DOES IT MATTER?" HIS ATTITUDE

The following interview with Sidney Murrell, escaped Melbourne bank bandit, who is held in San Francisco pending extradition to this country to stand trial on a murder charge, since his capture at Susanville, California, a few weeks ago, shows Murrell has changed somewhat. He has acquired the slang of the underworld, and in that vernacular tells of his experiences since he escaped from Middlesex County jail two years ago, of his ideas of life, of what he expects is awaiting him. He talks as calmly of gangster's noose as he does of his war record. And he points out his mistakes in detail, laying his present trouble at the door of a "crook" in Ely, Nevada.

Special to The Advertiser. San Francisco, June 13.—If they take me back, I stretch good Canadian rope—but what the hell? That was the defiance today of Sidney Murrell, brought to the county jail here from Susanville for extradition to London, Ont., for bank robbery and murder.

Murrell has received six war medals. He claims they were stripped from his breast when he was caught robbing a London bank with three companions. He is now 23 years old. He went to the war when he was 15, by swearing falsely to his age. "I got hard-boiled in the army," says Murrell. "That's probably the reason I got in all these jams. I don't care much now what happens. I look like the rope." That's the way Murrell tells his story—every other word, a curse, every gesture "hard-boiled."

Two years ago, in April, 1921, Murrell and three companions were trapped by police, robbing the Home Bank of Canada at London. Ont. They were escaping with $2,000 cash when the coppers closed in. "We tried to shoot our way out," said Murrell, "but as I reached our automobile, waiting outside, I fell away with a bullet through the hip. One of my pals was shot. He got it in the forehead. I killed him. I don't know if he was a crook or not. The other was captured and got away. An inside the bank, the coppers found one of their mob dead and two others wounded."

Expected to Hang. "From the dead man they took a .45-slug. From me they hooked a .45-calibre gat. Men have been hanging for less evidence, and I'll hang if they get me back." For several months, Murrell and his two companions were kept in jail awaiting trial. Then, in September, Murrell and one of his pals escaped.

MOTORS ALL NIGHT TO ATTEND CABINET

Premier Drury Foregoes Sleep To Keep Up With Schedule. Special to The Advertiser. Toronto, June 14.—Premier E. C. Drury motored all through last night in order that he might be in Toronto this morning to attend a meeting of the provincial cabinet. After speaking last night at a meeting at Harrison, he left there at 11 o'clock, standard time, and coming the 16 miles, arrived in Toronto at 5 o'clock, daylight time. After getting a couple of hours sleep he was at his office at 9 o'clock this morning.

Commemorate War Tragedy Concealed By Censorship

Railway Accident Which Cost Lives of 350 French Soldiers To Be Perpetuated by Monument at St. Michael. Associated Press Despatch. Paris, June 14.—A railroad accident, which cost 350 lives and yet remained unknown to the general public will be commemorated on Sunday at St. Michael-en-Maurienne, when Minister of War Maginot unveils a monument to the dead. A train-load of 500 soldiers, on leave after fighting on the Piave, beside their Italian allies, left Modane, a town in Savoy, on November 12, 1917. The engineer, at the moment of starting, said the train was too heavy to cross the mountains and refused to start until he received an order from his military superior. His fear proved to be well founded, and his engine went wild in descending into the valley. The only effect of the airbrakes was to set the cars on fire, and the train crashed into the stone bridge near the entrance to the station at St. Michael-en-Maurienne. Less than 100 soldiers were taken out, all of whom were more or less seriously injured. Of the others those who did not lose their lives in jumping from the cars were burned to death. Censorship prevented the accident from becoming known.

COURT UPHOLDS MAN WHO RESCUED LIQUOR

Atlantic City Judge Declares Right To Save Private Stock From Fire. Associated Press Despatch. Atlantic City, N. J., June 14.—Rescue of a private stock of liquor from a fire is not a violation of the Hobbs state dry act, Judge William S. Mathers held here yesterday in the case of Tony Losky, charged with the illegal transportation of liquor. Losky was arrested by a squad of vice detectives when he dragged a trunk from a fire at New York avenue and the beach. The trunk contained 25 bottles of whiskey. The prisoner contended it was a part of his worldly goods. The court found he was within his rights.

RUSSIANS YIELD, ENDING DISPUTE WITH BRITAIN

DIPLOMACY HEALS BREACH BETWEEN BRITISH AND REDS

Brief Note From Curzon To Krassin Settles Long Dispute.

RUSSIANS YIELD Objectionable Envoys Will Be Removed From Certain Points.

Associated Press Despatch. London, June 14.—A brief note from the British government delivered to Leonid Krassin, Russian Soviet representative, yesterday brings to an end the long correspondence beginning with Lord Curzon's ultimatum, and terminates the dispute between Great Britain and Russia, which at one time seriously threatened a rupture of the trade agreement between the two countries.

That this has been avoided is considered largely due to Krassin's diplomatic tact. That the British government now considers the incident closed is seen in the fact that it issued to parliament last night an official report of the whole correspondence, including yesterday's note.

Russia yielded on many points, including withdrawal of the offensive Weinstein notes, granting compensation to the seized trawlers and in the Harding and Davison cases, and permitting fishing rights within the 12-mile limit. On the question of Soviet propaganda a compromise has been reached.

U. S. GOVERNMENT TO JOIN CANADA IN A TEST CASE

Sir Lomer Gouin Gives Information Regarding Washington Visit.

REGAIN SHARES Action To Recover Seized Bonds Will Be Taken Soon.

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, June 14.—The disposal of shares in Canadian companies which were seized by the custodian of alien property of the United States during the war period, may be decided by a test case in the Canadian courts to which the United States will be a party. At the opening of the house yesterday, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, minister of justice, regarding his recent visit to Washington. Sir Lomer Gouin, minister of the interior, said that the object was to press for the settlement of Canada's claims against the U.S. in reference to the seizure of certain properties by the custodians.

The Canadian government has been advised to try and settle the matter without litigation, and with this end in view the Canadian representative had conferred with the secretary of state of the United States. It had been agreed that the United States would be a party to a test case in the Canadian courts, if it was decided to make one. It was the intention of the government to proceed with the matter along these lines.

Sir Lomer explained that the certificates seized by the alien property custodian of the United States were shares and bonds of Canadian companies which were owned by enemies residing in Germany and deposited with different institutions in the United States. "It was agreed," said Sir Lomer, "that to expedite matters we were to institute one or two cases in Canada, assigning one or two companies to appear before such court to be instructed to deliver to the Canadian government certificates for these same stocks, and the judgment would be binding upon the American government and upon the companies." "We found most satisfactory."

"On the whole," Sir Lomer concluded, "we consider that we have accomplished something, and we hope that after a rather short delay we shall get the securities to which we are entitled."

FORMER LONDON MAN DROWNS IN MANITOBA

William Walsh, aged 45, a former resident of this city was drowned at Wawanesa, Manitoba, on Sunday, according to word received by his brother, Henry Walsh of 182 Oxford street, city.

The report was of a meagre nature and the details of the tragedy have not been ascertained.

The deceased was a prominent farmer of the Wawanesa district and owned a tract of 1,000 acres, ago for west, he was an employee of the McClary Company as a molder.

Beside his brother in this city he is survived by one sister, Miss Nellie Walsh of Detroit.

RUSSELL T. KELLY HEADS GOOD ROADS BODY OF DOMINION

Hamilton Man Raised From Vice-Presidency by Association Members.

CLIQUE IS CHARGED

Prime Minister of New Brunswick Was Boomed For Chief Office.

Canadian Press Despatch. Hamilton, June 13.—Russell T. Kelly of Hamilton was elected president of the Canadian Good Roads Association this afternoon, when Central Ontario delegates outvoted representatives of all provinces in the Dominion 28 to 24, defeating the Hon. P. J. Veniot, prime minister of New Brunswick, whose name the nomination committee submitted to the convention without Premier Veniot's consent. Ontario also carried the position of first vice-president, from F. C. Biggs was recommended by the nominating committee and endorsed by the convention.

E. A. James of Toronto urged Mr. Kelly to retire in the interests of the association and prevent a split. A. F. MacAllum, Ottawa, moved that Kelly's name be seconded by W. L. McPaul of Hamilton. Mr. MacAllum made the charge that a clique was operating within the convention and thought it was time a halt was called. The statement was resented by several speakers, and finally it was agreed to withdraw the accusation.

Resents Charge of Clique. Delegates supporting Mr. Kelly said that it was only fair that he should be raised from first vice-president to president. S. L. Squires, chairman of the executive committee, resented the criticism that there was a clique, stating that he had been in the convention since it began and that he would probably have known of it. A. S. McMillan of Nova Scotia regretted that street car delegates should be able to walk in at voting time and override the wish of a majority of the delegates representing not one section, but the whole of Canada.

Objection was then raised to Ontario taking the offices of president and vice-president, especially in view of the fact that a democratic nominating committee had made selections after careful consideration. "I ask if this province is to have this picture painted of itself for the eyes of all Canada," asked President Perron.

"For the sake of unity sacrifice petty ambitions and as big men and big names are let us elect the life of the Canadian Good Roads Association," added Mr. Squires.

Ex-Warden Hugh Johnston of Wentworth objected to the term of "street car" delegates. Regret was expressed by T. P. Regan of New Brunswick, who said that when Ontario delegates offered to drop the name of Hon. Mr. Biggs and elect Hon. Mr. Veniot the first vice-president, he had objected, and the premier's behalf had withdrawn his name from the convention.

Other Officers Nominated. Other officers nominated by the committee endorsed by the convention were as follows: Hon. J. L. Perron, K.C., Quebec, honorary president; Hon. F. C. Biggs, vice-president; A. McCallum, Manitoba, 2nd vice-president; Geo. A. McNamee, secretary-treasurer; directors, H. H. Shaw, P.E.I.; G. Frederick Pearson, Nova Scotia; A. S. McMillan, Nova Scotia; P. J. Veniot, New Brunswick; Joseph Beaubien, Quebec; A. L. Caron, Quebec; Col. F. M. Gaudet, Quebec; William Findlay, Ontario; J. J. Macdonell, Ontario; J. Henderson, Manitoba; S. H. Carpenter, Saskatchewan; J. B. Robertson, Alberta; P. Phillips, British Columbia; W. R. McD. Russell, K.C., British Columbia.

This afternoon's meeting was presided over by Hon. C. W. Chisholm, M. J. Jackson, Brantford, gave a paper on cement concrete single-track highways.

J. S. Crandell, consulting engineer, New York City, illustrated his talk on reformed rail in construction and maintenance with several slides.

DRURY DEFENDS SELF IN WALKERTON SPEECH

South Bruce U. F. O. Candidate, M. McCallum, Urges Unity in Party.

Special to The Advertiser. Walkerton, June 14.—Every possible approach to the town hall was jammed with people who came to see and hear Hon. E. C. Drury, who spoke in the interests of Mr. M. McCallum, the U. F. O. candidate in South Bruce here Tuesday night.

Mr. McCallum stated that he was greatly encouraged by the manner in which he was being received in all parts of the riding, and warned his friends not to be deceived by the rumors of disaffection said to be going on in their ranks.

Mr. Leeson, the U. F. O. member for South Grey, lauded the Drury administration and predicted its return to power on June 25.

Mr. Drury was greeted with hearty applause and presented with a wreath of flowers by the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Mitchell of Brant township.

He defended the record of his government and mentioned some of the difficulties he encountered. He made special reference to the work of the minister of agriculture, and in reply to the allegation that the government had spent too much money he claimed that it had received full value for the dollar expended, and spoke of the legislation enacted for the betterment of children and the mothers' allowance act.

Old and Young Frolic In Annual Day of Fun At Poplar Hill Picnic

Thousands Throng To View Parade of School Children, Races, Baby Show and Athletic Contests At Monster Yearly Lobo Township Gathering.

The annual Union School Picnic and Old Boys' Reunion of Lobo township at Poplar Hill was conducted yesterday afternoon under ideal weather conditions and was voted a huge success by the 5,000 or more people who congregated for this grand outing.

By one o'clock the grounds swarmed with a happy throng of children and "older children," who joined heartily in the spirit of the event which has come to mean so much to the folks of Lobo township. The picnic opened with a grand parade of the four schools of the township, the children being drawn up in military order. The parade was accompanied with an elaborate float. The marching and the float of the children of School Section No. 1, Lobo Township, won the first prize. Their float was decorated in bridal array, significant of the month of June, and on the float stood a juvenile bridal party, the bride in a cunning dress and veil, and the groom in black frock coat and top hat. The bride's father and the best man were also present on the float, while a tiny lad of six years, dressed in Lincoln green in imitation of a jockey in the pulpit, stood along in the rear with a prayer-book in his hand. The balance of the school made up wedding party, and the girls carried the four letters of June cleverly wrought in white cardboard and pink tissue paper.

The winner of the second prize was School Section No. 2, whose float was a large hospital ship built over a motor car. This vessel had sailors of the fair sex on its decks, and was followed by a squad of girls in sailor suits and hats.

The procession was halted at the flagpole, where the children, united in singing "The Maple Leaf Forever."

Children's Races. The next event was the running of the children's races. The entries were well filled, and each race was contested. The results are as follows:

100 yard dash, boys 13 years and under—1, Percy Tuckey; 2, Ralph Noble; 3, John Scoyne.

75 yard dash, girls 13 and under—1, Florence Campbell; 2, Margaret Barber; 3, Eva Shipley.

100 yard dash, boys, 11 years and under—1, Howard Daniel; 2, Nelson Merry; 3, Chesey Donkerwoost.

75 yard dash, girls, 11 years and under—1, Florence Campbell; 2, Helen Cole; 3, Marion Charlton.

50 yard dash, boys, 9 years and under—1, Leonard Noble; 2, Alvin McKeough; 3, Tommy Edmonds.

50 yard dash, girls 9 and under—1, Margaret Culver; 2, Marion Campbell; 3, Carrie Shipley.

50 yards, girls 7 and under—1, Hazel James; 2, Margaret Siddall; 3, Nora Ham.

The afternoon's pleasure was augmented by the presence of the Lobo Pipers, who played at intervals throughout the day.

The faces of several contestants in the present political campaign reminded the picnicers of the coming election, and both C. M. McElhee, Liberal candidate for West Middlesex, and Dr. Hugh Stevenson of the Labor party, greeted their friends and mixed in the fun and laughter which held sway.

The Lobo annual picnic is becoming one of the big events of the year in that township, and the smiling faces and appearance of honest enjoyment present there yesterday made a pleasing picture. Old and young alike joined in the fun, and ice cream and pink lemonade were the delight of the kiddies and the undoing of many a dignified teary citizen.

One old resident of the township said, "When you see crowds of people playing together like that, it makes it hard to understand where Bolshevism could get a foothold in Canada. It is a wonder to me that the cities do not start a municipal or community picnic; they're great fun."

Frank Boyes, Conservative Condemns Reign of U. F. O.

East Middlesex Candidate, in Speech At Bryanston, Flays Drury Administration For Increasing Expenditures From $21,000,000 to $37,000,000.

Special to The Advertiser. Bryanston, June 13.—Frank Boyes, Conservative candidate in East Middlesex, did not spare the Drury government one whit in his condemnation of the alleged unethical tactics of the past three years. "Drury, Morrison & Co. class legislators, were extravagant beyond all reason," he charged. "Expenditure increased from $21,000,000 to $37,000,000. The public debt increased from a little less than $100,000,000 to $240,000,000."

"During the campaign of October, 1919, the Drury 'stump' men had played unmercifully the highway policy of the government. They declared it spelled extravagance and was an outrage. They condemned the idea of laying 660 miles of concrete highways. However, no sooner had the U. F. O. assumed the reins of government than they sanctioned the Biggs program which called for 1,800 miles of highways; and the cost of construction was far in excess of that of the previous regime."

John Hockin, who Tuesday night at Bryanston declared he had made a mistake in voting for the U. F. O. a few years ago, continued to make amendments tonight for his great burden at the polls. He declared himself behind the candidate to the last ditch.

Mr. Boyes himself showed some improvement in his speaking over his initial address last night.

Buchanan Addresses Enthusiastic Rally and Outlines Campaign.

Special to The Advertiser. Tillsonburg, June 14.—The attendance in the C. O. F. Hall, Mount Elgin, augurs well for Liberalism in South Oxford. Between 400 and 450 obtained admittance, while dozens had to be content to stand on the outside porch.

Mr. C. G. Hulet, president of the association, occupied the chair and introduced the candidate, J. V. Buchanan, ex-mayor of Ingersoll. He outlined a very extensive line of campaign for the remaining days, and there is no reason in the world that South Oxford should not be redeemed to the Liberal cause. With him on the platform were J. R. Johnson, ex-warden of Oxford County and former U. F. O. campaigner; also John McKee, another well-known U. F. O. member. The meeting was full of enthusiasm.

Nomination papers at the meeting bore the 575 signatures from the riding, including some of the largest manufacturers in the Dominion.

COMMONS VOTES LOAN OF $1,500,000 TO AID SHIPPING

Money Will Be Used To Reduce Merchant Marine Deficit.

CHURCH PROTESTS

North Toronto Member Objects To Proposal To Sell 27 Ships.

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, June 13.—Following several hours of debate, the House of Commons tonight passed a vote of $1,500,000 as a loan to the Canadian Government Merchant Marine, to be applied to operating deficits during the present fiscal year.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, opposition leader, took occasion to review the history of the government ships, emphasizing that he had been in the building program of the war was undertaken the opposition of that day had urged the need for such a program. He did not, however, believe that the country was now getting the vessels the benefit it should get.

From T. L. Church, Conservative member for North Toronto, came criticism of the proposal to sell 27 of the vessels. He urged that competition on the Great Lakes was needed.

The loan of $1,500,000 to the Canadian Government Merchant Marine for the purpose of meeting deficits came up again in the House of Commons this afternoon. E. J. Garland (Progressive, Bow River) asked if the statement by the member for Lunenburg (Mr. Duff) last night was correct, to the effect that the ships of the National Railways paid the ships of the merchant marine $2.80 a ton to carry coal from Sydney to Montreal while other ships carried it for $1.10.

Hon. G. P. Graham, minister of railways, said that the member for Lunenburg was misinformed. The rate was $1.50.

Can Prove Statement. Mr. Duff, however, stated that he was not mistaken and could prove his statement by reference to the auditor-general's report.

Criticism of the construction of the ships of the merchant marine came from L. G. McBride (Progressive, Carleton Place) who asserted that the ships were in no wise suitable for passenger accommodation. It would be a waste of money to go to the expense of installing such accommodation. He believed the government could do better than get rid of the ships and build new ones.

Mr. William Duff said the minister of railways was correct in saying that the freight rates of the C. G. M. that he had mentioned were not correct. "The actual figures are larger than those I gave," said Mr. Duff.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition, while sketching the history of the merchant marine from its inception, argued that though the scheme was not launched till that year, the opposition of that day had been clamoring for a better ship.

Dealing with the construction of 18 vessels in 1919, Mr. Meighen reminded the house that in the spring of that year the need for ships was even greater than 12 months before. There had been also the conception of a great transportation system, a competition with the C. P. R. while thousands of soldiers were coming back to civilian life after demobilization, and the country was in a state of chaos. The construction of these vessels was one solution for that problem. Money spent in providing ships was never wholly wasted," added Mr. Meighen.

Asked Another Vote. Included in the government of that time, he said, were members of the party at present in office, and he continued, the approval of parliament when the government's scheme was laid before it at that time was unanimous.

In the summer of 1920 the government of the day had asked for another vote, which was granted by parliament. As far as Mr. Meighen could remember no objection had been made voting this scheme.

Of constructing the vessels continued until 1921. In 1921 things took a sudden turn. From a great scarcity of space on vessels there had been a change and there was in this year a surplus of space. Members of the then opposition suddenly changed over and opposed the scheme. Personally he thought this policy of shipbuilding adopted at that time was the right policy upon all the circumstances.

Meighen Defends Ships. Mr. Meighen met the various criticisms as to poor construction of the vessels with the round assertion that no enterprise of the Canadian people had ever been carried through with greater credit. They were well constructed and of good material.

While Canadian construction was costing $191 a ton ships of inferior quality were being built in the United States at $50 to $100 a ton more. Without the merchant marine, he declared, Canada would have to subsidize other vessels to the work which was done by the merchant marine.

Mr. Meighen did not think that the country was getting the benefit from the ships that it ought. The enterprise, he feared, was in unsympathetic hands. The business of the White Star line with the Grand Trunk system should have gone to the Canadian railway merchant marine, but he did not believe that it had. The last three years had shown that the railway could be run by a business director, even if owned by the country. Why, then, could a shipping line not be similarly managed?

Daddy Comes Into His Own; Has His Day June Seventeen

"Give Him a Tie" Has Been Suggested—May Give Him Nightmare, But He'll Be Happy.

And now it is "Father's Day!" Don't wait until father's gone to say how much you appreciate him. A little love shown now, a little remembrance carefully chosen will do more to bring him gladness than anticipation of all the flowers you can heap around him when his eyes are tightly closed in a last long sleep, and his kindly capable hands heart-breaking still.

It isn't always so, by any means, but all too often, "good, old dad" has just been taken for granted. He has fetched and carried, got up in the nights for drinks for Sonny Boy, and provided from a mysterious "somewhere" the cash for frocks, and dainty hosiery, and treats for pretty daughter until he has come to be regarded just as a "household convenience."

Dad has spent holidays, and evenings, as well as working days, thinking up ways and means of giving the young folks better advantages than he enjoyed himself. He's the exceptional dad who doesn't go these things, all the comics in the world to the contrary.

Dad has big responsibilities, wife and family for whom to provide, and frequently the shoulders of Canadian daddies have become bowed early in life with the daily burdens carried.

Doesn't Ask Sympathy. He doesn't make a bid for sympathy. That isn't a stout-hearted Canadian man's way. But, sometimes he must feel a bit wistful, say at Christmas times, when everybody else is being helped with gifts which have fluttered in from all directions, and there's perhaps a card of greeting for "dear, old dad."

He's going far down the hill of life, and he's almost childishly proud of the achievements of sons and daughters. He tells strangers about them, his eyes aglow with fatherly love. There was a Christmas not so long ago when the successful merchant prince son sent him a fine gift.

But, Christmas comes and Christmas goes, and the light of expectancy is slowly quenched. Disappointment places its mark on the patient face. The years forgo the dad who scrimped and toiled that "the children" might have their advantages, and be given their chance to get "a real start in the world."

Several years ago, "Mother's Day" was inaugurated throughout the continent of America, reviving the old "mothering" of the Church of England, and associated with the honoring of mothers living and mothers passed on.

"Wear a colored flower for the mother living, a white flower for the mother gone" has been the slogan. The custom caught on like wildfire of showering the living mothers with flowers and gifts, and paying each year on the second Sunday in May a wealth of tribute to motherhood.

Everybody But Dad. Since the opening of the twentieth century, movements of various descriptions in the interests of conservation of young life have steadily increased in numbers and momentum. "Baby weeks" are internationally recognized institutions. "Children's weeks" have come following after with "teen-age girls" and "teen-age boys' weeks," "Y. M. C. A." and "Y. W. C. A." drives.

At last, father, who has so frequently come out at "the small end of the horn," is coming into his own. Possibly it is because father is so necessary to bestow checks and give away brides that he has been accorded a day all his own, right in the midst of the bridal month of June.

Sunday, June 17, is to be recognized this year as "Father's Day," the season of recognition of the rights and worth of "the finest father in the world, your father and mine."

Flowers for mother, but what for "dad?"

Make It a Tie. The suggestion broadcasted is "a tie for dad, the tie which is father's patron saint."

And so, in Canada, as well as in the United States, where "Father's Day" is being simultaneously celebrated, it is anticipated that the tie, the emblem of the "savior" who joins the Sabbath parade, radiantly smiling, and proudly wearing a Saturday gift tie.

Just as florists annually make special efforts to fill their shops with enough flowers to supply everybody who would pay tribute to mother the second Sunday in May, so merchants have been busy lining up a grand array of ties, suitable for the "daddies" of all ages.

Already there has been joking about the "nightmares" by which dad will doubtless be surrounded. But, surely, the woman who dresses herself in a frill of husband or father. If son of the jazy age does choose a cravat that makes worthy church deacon dad look like a race track tout, why, dad will be happy anyway, because it is son's selection, and son thereby shows his affection. With regard to a letter of inquiry from a little girl some time ago about "Daddy's Day," "Daddy of Sir" wrote with a touch of bitterness, "Don't fret, daddy's dear little girl, Daddy has his day and heaps of flowers given to him. But it is only when his work in this vale of woe is done, and he can neither see, smell or hold those flowers. But, he gets them, just the same, and they look too well on his coffin."

Don't let that be your daddy!

FATHER'S DAY

(Written Specially For The Advertiser.)

Boys' week, girls' week, Mother's day in May, Bride gets the month of June, And Santa Christmas Day. Children get a grand campaign, And babes a health crusade. There's a tie for every dad, And he's been in the shade. But daddy's come into his own—His face is one broad smile—His seat is high up in the sun. He'll need his summer tie. Oh, daddy's day has come in June. And daddy's one glad guy: For everybody's blessing him, And buying him a tie.

DEMAND ACTION BY CONTRACTORS ERECTING SCHOOL

Board of Education Anxious To Have Trafalgar Street Building by September.

ATTACK ASSESSMENT

Members Question System of Collecting Ashes From Institutes of Learning.

The board of education will press for the completion of Trafalgar School in southeast London by the opening of the school term in the autumn, following a meeting of Number 2 committee yesterday afternoon. It was stated at the meeting that from present indications the building would not be ready for occupancy by September 1, and the members of the committee expressed the opinion that some action should be taken with the architects to see that the contractors live up to the terms of their agreement.

The question of garbage and ash collection from the city schools was the subject of considerable discussion, following the passing of an account for $2,200, payable to the assessment department, for the purpose. It was pointed out that although the board had been paying this sum for some years past, it had never received the services for which the amount was collected, no garbage or ashes ever having been collected.

Asks Co-Operation. A letter from City Clerk Baker relative to this was read, in which it was stated that if the board would have the ashes placed in receptacles that were above ground and easy of access, as well as protecting the contents, something might be done. It was suggested that the board ask for a rebate of this tax and do the carting away or disposing of ashes itself, but on further consideration the matter was laid over for a report from Captain Robinson relative to the purchase of cans for some of the schools and the disposition of the ashes at others.

Formal application will be made to the workmen's compensation board by the board of education for membership in order that some means of protection for the men employed by it may be obtained. It was pointed out that the payroll of the board for men who would benefit by this amounted to $8,000 yearly.

Increase Salary. A recommendation to the salary committee was made in connection with the request of John Hutchinson, foreman, for an increase of salary. Number 2 committee recommended that he be given an increase of $50 per annum.

A letter from the board of management of the Hamilton Road Church, where the board of education had rented the school for purposes, was received. It was stated that although the board had paid a rental of $150 a month during the school term, the church also expected it to pay $25 per month during July and August in order to defray the cost of janitor service and storage of school equipment.

The management of the church, stating that the board would pay $10 month storage during the holidays and $150 per month for such time as the basement might be needed for educational purposes.

Thomas Landon Has To Pay Doctor's Bill and Value of Lost Time.

Special to The Advertiser.

Brantford, June 13.—Charged with assault causing bodily harm to Stephen Collings, a farmer residing on the Burford township, Walter and Thomas Landon, neighbors of Collings, appeared before Magistrate Blake this morning. Thomas Landon, who broke a club over the plaintiff's head, was let off on suspended sentence and ordered to hand over $30 to Collings in payment of the doctor's bill and lost time. Walter Landon was discharged.

The trial was the result of a feud between neighboring farmers which arose when Collings' cows trespassed on the Landon brothers' farm. Collings went to drive his cows home, and alterations arose. Elisha Stewart, a friend of Collings, came to his aid, but was prevented from entering the fray by four women, two of whom were sisters of the Landons. Magistrate Blake decided to have the four men bonded over to keep the peace, as their feud was a danger to the community, he said.

George Haney Throws Blazing Paint Bucket Into Water At Port Burwell.

Special to The Advertiser.

Port Burwell, June 14.—George Haney, mate on the tug "Peel," tender to dredge No. 117, had a painful experience on Friday of last week. While the dredge was lying moored to the east dock, Haney discovered a pile of paint ablaze in the hold. He seized the flaming bucket and rushed to the size of the dredge to throw it overboard, and was compelled to jump into the water himself, as his clothes had taken fire. Comrades heard his cries and rescued him from the creek, but he is seriously ill as a result of severe burns. Undoubtedly, Mr. Haney's brave act saved thousands of dollars worth of property, and perhaps several lives.

STOMACH TROUBLE DUE TO THIN BLOOD

It Usually Disappears When the Blood is Made Rich and Red

This blood is one of the most common causes of stomach trouble. It affects the digestion very quickly. The glands that furnish the digestive fluids are diminished in their activity, the stomach muscles are weakened, and there is a loss of nerve force. In this state of health, nothing will more quickly restore the appetite, digestion and normal nutrition than good, rich, red blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood, making it rich, and red, and this enriched blood strengthens weak nerves, stimulates tired muscles, and awakens to normal activity the glands that supply the digestive fluids. This is shown by an improved appetite, and soon the effect of these blood-enriching pills is evident throughout the whole system. You find that what you eat does not distress you, and that you are vigorous instead of irritable and listless. If your appetite is fickle, if you have any of the distressing pains and symptoms of indigestion, you should at once take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and profit by the better condition in which they will put your blood.

These pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box from the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.—Advt.

London Advertiser

THURSDAY, JUNE 14, 1923.

Here is a Common Problem.

The present election campaign is giving an opportunity for bringing out the fact that there is a very great deal that the people in the city and the people in the country have in common. The election contest did not create the oneness of their problems, but it put people in the mood to talk them over.

The primary occupation of any married man is to look after his family. That is a starting point to which there can be no serious objection. Some men may get so engrossed in their affairs that they may think their primary occupation is to look after their business, but the presence of the family is the motive power that sends him along, and which makes it necessary for him to keep going along.

Take the case of two families, one on a farm in London Township and another in London City. There are children in each family. The main interest of the man in the country is the same. The main interest of the man in the city is the same.

If the man in the country, through wrong conditions has to pay too much for the things he buys for his own use, the man in the city has to pay too much.

If the man in the country has to pay too much for the things his children need in order to be clothed and educated and cared for generally, the man in the city has to put his hand down in his pocket accordingly to provide the same things.

If the wife of the man in the country has to pay far too great a price for sugar, the wife of the man in the city has to pay the same price.

If the government of the country is such that it takes too much money from the pockets of the people, the man in the country and the man in the city have to put it up.

They meet on common ground every day. They face the common problems of existence every day; they have far more to unite on than they have to quarrel about.

How, then, are these people who have a common problem going to have the most strength to deal with it? Is it going to be accomplished by the man in the country drawing away from the man in the city, by having his own political organization with which the man in the city can have nothing to do because he is told that he is not wanted in it? Or is it going to be accomplished by those people who have a common problem, which faces them all the time, coming together and pooling their resources?

The farming community has every right to take whatever action it sees fit in the way of political organization, and it should take the course that is going to bring it the most certain and the most abiding results. But is it certain that it is taking that course when it refuses to recognize men in the cities and towns and villages who have a problem very closely akin to the problem of the man in the country?

The Community Idea at Lobo.

The annual school picnic at Lobo village is more than a school picnic. It is a picnic for the whole community. You will find old residents who left school 60 or 70 years ago at that school picnic. The people of that district have done a great deal to bring about ideal rural conditions, and to break down the claim that life in the country is an isolated affair.

Lobo Memorial Park, with its memorial gates, and its tablets bearing the names of the community's heroes, is indeed an ideal spot. Part of its eleven acres was at one time a sturdy old orchard, part was fine old trees of various kinds, and those who planned the park had the good sense to realize that nature had already done much to make it attractive, and they left these things alone.

And the people there have had church union, and they will be at it again in a few days. The churches of the township use the grandstand for their pews, and a platform facing this is an ideal place for outdoor ministry, and there, in the great outdoors, they meet together as one people in the worship of the same God. Any rural section that finds its community life out of joint could with great profit spend a day at Lobo looking over the situation. It had a problem and it solved it, and the solution is a great big factor in the life of that whole district. Well done, Lobo.

Mr. Harris Not Coming to London.

The Toronto Globe is in another cold sweat because it has heard that Mr. Lloyd Harris was coming to London and that both Liberal and Labor candidates were to make way for him.

The name of Mr. Lloyd Harris of Brantford has never been mentioned as a candidate in London. He has not announced any desire to come here for political honors, and he has not been asked to come here for any such purpose.

The Globe says: "He has never lived in London, and why he should seek a seat in that city is incomprehensible."

Equally "incomprehensible" is the question of why the Globe wants to single Mr. Harris out for an attack by pointing out why he could not qualify as a Liberal candidate, when there is no idea of paving him here as a candidate.

The biggest danger facing hydro right now is not in the candidature of this man or that man as much as in the fact that it is being used as a convenient band wagon for the followers of Hon. Howard Ferguson.

Our Wonderful Location.

When the holiday season is so close at hand it is fortunate that Western Ontario can take to the rivers and lakes almost at its very doors.

Lakes Huron, St. Clair and Erie are dotted with summer resorts, and there are few finer spots.

The man or woman who wants seclusion from the crowd can find it; those who like the few odd cottages near at hand can have their way, while those who look for the summer crowd do not have to look in vain.

The young set look for a trunk of new clothes—the "west" things in summer wear; the old-timer who has gone past that stage has already gone through the trunk in the attic, where he parked his old khaki trousers and flannel shirt. He has reduced the summer resort business to a science.

Ontario has a great and a wonderful outdoors. Make the most of it.

Following a Dangerous Path.

The Toronto Telegram draws no lines past which it will not go in seeking to win an election. It sees an opportunity of setting Roman Catholic against Protestant, and it rushes in and takes it.

The Liberals of Southwest Toronto used a Knights of Columbus hall as a convenient place for a nomination meeting, and the Telegram says:

"A Toronto Liberal convention is only a council of the Knights of Columbus under another name. Except for the presence of a few woman delegates, the Southwest-Toronto Liberal convention was a meeting of the Knights of Columbus."

Dragging religious sentiment into politics is a dangerous expedient. It is resorted to only by those to whom prejudice is a god, and the sweets of victory greater than the future of the whole community.

All Roads Will Lead to Fergus.

Hon. Howard Ferguson has taken up Hon. W. E. Raney's challenge to meet him on June 21 at Fergus, in East Wellington.

All roads should lead to Fergus on that date, only three days removed from polling time.

This is getting back to the old joint meeting idea, where men used to say to the face what they now say behind the back.

It gives an opportunity for an audience to hear both sides of a question, and the man or woman who does not consider both sides of a public issue can do only one thing, viz., register a vote that speaks for only one angle.

Has Fergus a hall big enough for the crowd?

A Sermon for the Driver.

A writer in the Kodak Magazine has a story that every car driver in the country should read. In part he relates his experience as follows:

"The other evening, while going home from work, I was driving easy (of course they all say that, but I really was), when, without even a toot of the horn, a car whizzed by. The next moment I heard the grind of brakes, sounds of breaking glass and a loud scream. I saw the car skid as it attempted to stop instantaneously. (Right there I proved the assertion I made of driving 'easy,' for if I hadn't my car would be lying in the ditch—and I, in all probability, would have completed a double funeral.)

"Upon alighting, I found a small boy—one of those chubby, freckled-faced youngsters—lying in the road—just about conscious and that's all—with blood streaming from an ugly gash on his head, and with a broken arm, to say nothing of a twisted ankle and various bruises. A bent mass of framework and spokes told mutely of the remains of a good 'bike.' The little fellow, who had just as much right on the highway as any motor car, had evidently been riding absolutely within the law on his right side of the road. But the 'speed-hound' who dashed past my bus didn't reckon with that, and the consequence was a head-on collision.

"Oh, the pity of it! The folly of always trying to pass the car ahead! Had the driver sounded his horn he might have avoided maiming someone's precious boy, a buckled car, a big bill—somebody has to pay for damages—and, most important of all, severe pain and a mother's sorrow."

Let Them Put It In Writing.

Instead of so much discussion at various centers as to where various candidates stand on the O. T. A., it would simplify matters very much were some organization as the W. C. T. U. to write to each candidate and get his answer and publish it.

The various women's organizations are deeply interested in this matter. It represents an idea for which they have contended for years.

The women of London might start the movement. Get the views of each candidate and present them to the public.

Note and Comment.

The friend who lent you money ceases to be a friend when he starts out to collect it.

Out in Oregon an army of caterpillars an inch deep held up a train for 85 minutes. The train couldn't even crawl along like the worms.

The man who finds an occasional cylinder missing when he drives has nothing to kick about. A lot of people have come along to find the whole car missing.

Women working in election campaign rooms has sounded the death knell of the old election cigar. And it is no great loss, because he was a tough, green, draftless old thing was the old election cigar.

The Advertiser counted at least four political candidates at the Lobo picnic on Wednesday. Even Dr. Stevenson and John Freeborn were there, outside of their ridings. An election produces more handshaking than a viceregal reception.

Enterprise is the middle name of the people of Maitland Street Baptist Church, who seek to have the political candidates of London as speakers at their garden party. The proceeds are for the organ fund, and the big question is will that organ produce harmony or discord after being aided by these political sharpshooters.

A PRESS AGENT'S BLUNDER.

(From the Montreal Star.)

The original press agent for oleomargarine would make a good Jonah. To recommend an article as a poor man's substitute for bad butter, was to damn it beyond hope. Nor did it get any help from an advertising point of view when it was reluctantly admitted to the country as a "war measure." It naturally took rank in the public mind with various contributory elements which go to make up what Sherman said was war.

Yet there are those who insist that oleomargarine is a wholesome and tasty article of food on its merits. If no one had mentioned butter at all, it might have got by as a cheap lubricant for dry bread. Millions of people in the world do not eat butter. They eat something else. It might have been possible that oleomargarine could have made its way as an independent addition to the menu, just as marmalade and honey are.

But it seems pretty well discredited now in this country. Our people will never forget that it was to come on as an understudy for butter when the latter article had become too temperamental and up-stage; and that it was only shot into this noble Dominion in the form of war munitions when we were all doing our bit and trying to feel as bad as the boys in the trenches.

FAMILY GREETINGS.

And into whatever house ye shall enter, first say, Peace be to this house! Luke 10:5.

Christ here commends to His disciples the use of the most familiar everyday greeting of the East—a commonplace of politeness, such as the new generation displaces.

But familiarly has its charm, and I count it good that life is impregnated with it.

The regular ways, the rules of the game, the customs of courtesy, and the common phrases of colloquial speech—these are pleasant things in their season (which is daily), and without them our existence would be wayward, rude, exhausting and far less tolerable than it is.

So with the salutations we exchange as we meet and part on the highway or the footpath of life; I find that a certain regularity in them is not so much a defect, as a necessity, a wise and friendly concession to the limits of our inventive power.

Meetings and partings are so common that their proper ritual must be determined, and far less tolerable than it is.

To make it otherwise would be to weave the plain family umbrella of cloth of gold.

Your Health

WHAT YOU SHOULD CONSIDER WHEN SOME MUSCLE IS SORE.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D., United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Everybody has a theory about rheumatism—what causes it, what makes it worse or exactly what it is. The general term "rheumatism" is used to describe several separate and distinct conditions. Perhaps the ailment most commonly known by this name is the one attacking the muscles and called by the doctors "muscular rheumatism."

Lame ness or soreness of some one or more parts of the body is an all-too-frequent experience of civilized life.

The pain and stiffness may be in the muscles of the back, when it is called "lumbago."

The neck may be affected, producing a stiff neck. Sometimes the muscles between the ribs or the muscles of the scalp may be the brunt of the attack.

In the beginning of an attack of muscular rheumatism there may be feverishness and sometimes a temperature may be slightly raised.

Very soon, however, the pain or tenderness will be noticed.

Another form of rheumatism involves the joints. This is called "articular rheumatism." In the acute form it may be a severe, excruciatingly painful and sometimes dangerous disease. This is called "rheumatic fever."

It ushered in chilliness, fever, redness and swelling of the knees, ankles, wrists or other joints. The symptoms may last for several weeks. Unfortunately, the heart is frequently involved and damage to this organ may be one of the permanent effects.

There is a chronic form of articular rheumatism, in which the joints become stiff and incapable of use.

Sufferers from repeated attacks of rheumatism should not fail to consult the dentist. If he determines it necessary, have an X-ray of the teeth, to see whether there is trouble at the roots. Bad dentistry and neglect of the teeth are important factors in the production of other diseases as well as rheumatism.

Sometimes, what is called "rheumatism of the scalp" may be simply the reflected pain of an eyestrain. Pain in the back of the neck, too, may be due to this cause. In persons about 45 years of age, when the consciousness of the need of glasses has not been aroused, there may be such symptoms.

These will disappear speedily after a visit to the oculist.

Bad posture, leaning over a desk too much, or on one wrist or arm in driving an automobile, are other causes of muscular pain. Badly-fitting shoes with heels too high or too low may cause leg and back strain and pain. Such aches are not rheumatic, but they may be mistaken for rheumatism.

When a sore muscle or joint is discovered, ask yourself how it might have been produced by an unusual effort of some sort. If such a cause cannot be determined, watch the symptoms, and should it persist, consult your physician. He will determine whether or not it is rheumatism and advise regarding treatment.

Answers to Health Questions.

A SUBSCRIBER. Q.—Would strained ligaments cause one limb to be much shorter than the other? Would you advise an examination by an orthopedist?

A.—Strained ligaments would very likely cause this condition. Consult an orthopedist immediately.

H. G. Q.—Last summer I had an abscess over each eyebrow which left two scars. The surrounding tissues are very thick. What can I do to reduce them?

A.—I would suggest that you try massaging the parts with olive oil. This may help to improve the condition.

M. M. Q.—I have freckles and would like to know of a remedy that will make them disappear.

A.—Nothing can be done to remove freckles. Applying peroxide help clean, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it cannot be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. A. B. C. Q.—Will you kindly suggest something to cause eyelashes to grow other than yellow oxide of mercury ointment?

A.—Try applying vasoline to your eyelashes at night before retiring; this may help to increase their growth.

Looking Abroad

What sort of man is the new prime minister of Great Britain is a question that interests millions of people in all parts of the globe. For British policy, British trade and British empire will be greatly influenced by Mr. Stanley Baldwin's character so long as he occupies the highest post in the government at Westminster.

In the words of a man who has known the new prime minister for many years the impression which Mr. Baldwin makes on those who have come into close contact with him is of a vigorous businessman with a briar pipe in his mouth; a downright, straightforward, approachable man with no airs and graces; a man with a clean-shaven face and a firm mouth; a strong purposeful man with a genial and kindly side to him.

Now that Mr. Baldwin has taken the reins of government many anecdotes have appeared which illustrated aspects of his character and career that will be new to almost everyone. During the war Mr. Baldwin was impressed by the consciousness that he could not make the sacrifices for his country which the youth of the nation was so cheerfully rendering by offering their lives. He felt that his part was to do all that he could at home as a producer and legislator; but he had his whole private fortune valued and contributed one-fourth of the valuation to the British treasury as a free-will offering. He has spent the best years of his life among his fellow workmen, and he has kept out the highest traditions of the best private firms in his regard for their interests. The comment of one workman when he heard that Mr. Baldwin had been made prime minister was: "There is one thing to be said. We have now got a workman's prime minister."

Mr. Baldwin has always taken a sympathetic and understanding attitude regarding the problems of workmen and wages. When president of the board of trade he showed the knowledge of conditions which he had attained by reason of his practical experience before entering politics, by asking manufacturers to devote more attention to the human side of the work, and he employed hundreds of the workers, and he stored the wisdom in his employing class had, during the last half century, drifted away from those whom they employed.

The responsibility for dehumanizing industry upon the large employers. As a businessman, the new prime minister has always exhibited a strong sense of social responsibility. He tried to adapt to the trend of the Disraeli that the landed gentry of England owe it to themselves to improve the lot of their laborers. On several occasions when he was confronted by the rare, to him, crisis of a lock-out, he continued to pay the wages of his employees. And on a number of occasions he showed his sincerity in his belief that a new spirit of fellowship between employer and employee can be built up by means of kindness and consideration.

T. P. O'Connor, the "father" of the House of Commons, who is recognized as the newspaper Boswell of the prominent men of England, says: "Stanley Baldwin has not a particle of the love of the limelight or of the command of picturesque language that makes for dramatic scenes and presents one as the center of enthusiastic plaudits from an enraptured crowd. Everything about him is studiously—might almost be said, coquettishly—simple. His clothes are simple almost to shabbiness. He is an inveterate smoker, but you never see him with a cigar in his mouth. He probably despises—but with a briarwood pipe that one associates with the trade union leader of democratic habits in smoking as in other things. He is a man of middle height, and has an expression at once shrewd, humorous and tranquil. You cannot imagine him in a passion, either of temper or of words."

Of Mrs. Stanley Baldwin, an intimate friend has said: "She is a very average, sensible, capable English woman, one to whom you instinctively turn when you want sound, honest advice. But you have to ask for it. It is never volunteered, but when it is given you feel that you are getting the very best counsel possible."

As mistress of 10 Downing street, the official residence of the prime minister, Mrs. Baldwin will find that her early training has admirably fitted her for the many social duties which will devolve upon her. She was brought up with a number of brothers, and has an understanding of her father, the late E. L. J. Ride-dale, at Nottingham, near Brighton. The result of this early companionship was an understanding of his aims and their interests. She took much pleasure in manly sports, was a capable cricketer, and captained an eleven. She gave a very good account of herself in matches with eleven of the other sex. She is a grandmother, her two married daughters, Mrs. Murray and Mrs. Huntingdon Whiteley, each having sons. Her sons, Oliver Baldwin and Wyndham Baldwin, are unmarried. The former served during the war and was for a while in Armenia. The latter is still at Cambridge; and her youngest son, John, is a member of the national advisory council of the National Women's Party.

COURT DISMISSES CHARGE AGAINST TORONTO MA

Associated Press Despatch. Guelph, June 13.—A charge laid against J. J. Maloney of Toronto, has been dismissed in the police court here. Maloney was charged with giving a check to John Reinhart, payment for a motor car, the check being drawn on the Royal Bank of Toronto, and which was not honored. There appears to have been some mixup in connection with meeting the check, for Mr. Maloney came Guelph and paid the amount due Reinhart to Chief Ray.

Children's Work Board May Open Summer School

Members Propose To Gather in Boys and Girls Off the Hot Streets Each Morning For Bible Study.

The children's work board of the city has an interesting project under consideration for the summer months. This will be the opening of a daily vacation Bible school, probably in the Hale Street Methodist Mission. In the event of such a school being opened, small children from the district will be gathered together every morning to receive Bible training under an able instructor. The taking of the children from the hot, dusty streets for a portion of the day would be in itself a big help to them. The school would be held throughout July and the early part of August. The citizens of London have in the children's work board a splendid organization, which is accomplishing for the very small children of the city Sunday schools what the girls' work board is doing for the teen-age girls. Miss M. Young, secretary-treasurer and organizer, is an enthusiastic worker. The girls' work board is being done under the direction, in collaboration with the president of the board, Miss A. Wright, and the vice-president, Miss Lillian Moss.

The city is divided into eight districts, many of them having their own secretaries to organize the district work. Mrs. D. A. McKay is secretary for the north end, Miss Lillian Moss for Pottersburg, Miss Eva Lancaster for Adelaide and Dundas street district, Mrs. J. A. Cartwright for the central district, and Miss Violet Ross for the southern district. One of the most interested workers is Mrs. W. L. Armitage, who is the representative for the Anglican churches of the Dominion on the children's work board of Canada. Through the children's work board, the teachers of the smaller Sunday school scholars are brought into contact with each other, and learn from each other the best methods of grouping their children and handling the work. The board is also striving to bring the mothers of the children into closer contact with the teachers. The members of the board met together on Tuesday of this week, picking at Springbank, and discussed the work for the coming season.

WEDDINGS

McPHERSON-HOLBORN.

A quiet but very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. John Holborn on Tuesday afternoon, June 12, at 4 o'clock, when her daughter, Minnie Beatrice, was married to Mr. Leonard McPherson of White Oak, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McPherson of Lambeth, Rev. W. M. Kiteley performing the ceremony. The home was beautifully decorated with early spring flowers and carnations, producing a color scheme of pink and white. The bride wore a white gown, the bridegroom a tuxedo, and the bridesmaids and groomsmen were in white. The wedding march was played by Mrs. C. B. McPherson, and took their places by a bay window embanked with ferns and carnations. Little Miss Marjorie Holborn, sister of the bride, made a dainty flower girl, dressed in white with touches of pink, and carrying a beautiful basket of sweet peas. Miss Gladys Brown, in mauve Swiss muslin, acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. Charles Holborn, the bride's brother, was the best man. During the signing of the register, Mrs. W. M. Kiteley sang "O Perfect Love," accompanied by Mrs. C. B. McPherson. The bride was lovely in her wedding gown of ivory tulle, trimmed with French handwork, and lined with flesh satin. She wore a hat to match, and carried a shower of Ophelia roses and lily-of-the-valley tied with satin ribbon. After the ceremony a dainty wedding breakfast was served. Miss Margaret Marr, groomed in white, and Miss Margaret Lobban, in blue, assisting. Later in the evening the happy couple left on a honeymoon trip to Port Huron, Windsor, Detroit, and other points. The bride wore a traveling suit of navy blue pique tulle, trimmed with embroidered French flowers, and she wore slippers of almond suede. On their return Mr. and Mrs. McPherson will reside on the groom's farm, sixth concession, Westminster Township.

SMITH-PARTRIDGE.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Fergus Partridge, Elsworth avenue, was the scene of a very pretty and interesting wedding on Saturday last, when their only daughter, Edith, became the bride of William Gordon, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Kensal Park. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of cream georgette, trimmed with silver, a bridal veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid, Miss Dorothy DeCarter, was very tastefully groomed in white tulle, and wore a corsage bouquet. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Durnford of Hyde Park. During the ceremony Miss Jessie Little rendered Mendelssohn's Wedding March. Mr. Robert Garside acted as best man.

The house was very prettily decorated with carnations, lily of the valley, snapdragons and ferns. The guests numbered about thirty, and a very dainty luncheon was provided by the bride's mother. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a beautiful gold wrist watch; to the bridesmaid a gold pin; to the best man a pair of gold cuff links; to the organist a silver vanity box. The numerous gifts received by the bride and groom testified to the high esteem in which they were held.

PROVINCIAL CHAPTER CERTAIN FOR QUEBEC

National I. O. D. E. Convention Hears Interesting Reports From Officers.

Special to The Advertiser. Quebec, June 13.—Provincial organization in Quebec in connection with the work of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire is a thing to which chapters in the province may look forward in the future, according to Mrs. A. H. Macdonald, national organizing secretary, who in her report presented yesterday at session of the annual meeting, said that the only thing that now remained in order to complete such organization, was the arrival at a decision regarding the location of a provincial headquarters. "It is hoped," said Mrs. Macdonald, "that early in the autumn the provincial chapter of Quebec will formally assume its place with the sister chapters of the other provinces," adding the information that this would complete provincial organization in Canada for some time at least.

Reports presented by the national secretary, Mrs. W. B. Hopkins, from the National Executive Committee, Mrs. W. H. Barker, and from the national treasurer, Miss Eldred MacDonald, were encouraging. The treasurer's statement for the year showed receipts amounting to $337,716.92, disbursements, including war memorial and educational fund expenditures, $27,488.60, leaving a balance on hand of $310,228.32. Much of the time of the afternoon meeting was taken up with the reading of reports from the provincial chapters, four of which were given before the meeting adjourned. Mrs. A. U. D. Depencier presented the report of the provincial chapter of British Columbia; Mrs. M. L. Johnson of Lethbridge, the report of the Alberta chapter; Mrs. David Ballantyne of Saskatchewan, and Mrs. Colin Campbell, Manitoba. Mrs. Depencier's report contained an interesting reference to Nipmish chapter, which had put out a booklet with 15,000 men of Icelandic origin who served in the great war. This undertaking entailed expense amounting to $10,000. The book is now on the market. In the report of the two western provinces was included, in addition to relief and educational work, which is common to all provinces, the planting of large numbers of trees, which serve in some cases as memorials.

King and Queen Attend Wedding

Lady Mary Cambridge Weds Marquis of Worcester.

Canadian Press Despatch. London, June 14.—Lady Mary Cambridge, sister of the Duke of York, and Marquis of Worcester, were married this morning in St. Margaret's Church, Westminster. The King and Queen, Prince of Wales and many other notables were present.

HOLY NAME MEN CONVENE AT LOGAN PARISH CHURCH

Special to The Advertiser. Dublin, June 13.—The Holy Name rally at Logan Catholic Church was well attended on Sunday by the men and boys of Clinton, Blyth, Seaford, St. Columban, Dublin and Mitchell. Rev. Father Kelly welcomed the visitors to his parish, and a splendid lecture was delivered by Right Rev. Dennis O'Connor, vicar-general of the diocese. Master Joseph Henry sang a beautiful solo and the choir was assisted by members of the Mitchell choir. The services were held on the lawn near the vestry and a beautifully decorated altar was erected. Rev. Fr. Goetz of Seaford sang the Benediction.

Light-Tinted Frocks. London, June 13.—The light-tinted afternoon frocks of today have as accessories the gray or beige shoes with very high Cuban heels. These shoes have a highly cut out and decorated front, with a fancy buckle at one side.

Canadian Golf and Golfers

By Miss Cecil Leitch, Canadian Ladies' Open Champion, 1921. Thrice Winner of British Ladies' Open Championship.

SECRETS OF ACCURACY.

The strength of a chain is its weakest link. Similarly, the soundness of the game of golf must be judged by his or her weakest shot. This weakness may be a tendency to hook or slice. It may be lack of length from the drive. It may be inability to stop the ball with a mashie; it may be defective putting—in fact, it may be any one of the hundreds of mistakes which a golfer can make. Which ever it is, now is the time to strengthen the weak link. The season is well under way, there is little time for practice, and he or she who hopes to do well in the forthcoming events should now reflect over the way he or she played during the last season. If we are all really honest with ourselves, there will hardly be one of us who will not be obliged to admit that a certain type of shot was occasionally letting us down. A player may play several rounds, without requiring this particular stroke, but such a blissful state of affairs cannot continue forever, and the original culprit, the weakness, will make itself evident.

Again, then, is the opportune moment to break in a new club, and put aside its predecessor. Many players carry around a club which they seldom use. When it is handed out by an experienced caddy as the right club for the shot, the owner will remark: "No, I can't use that club; I'll have to take the —" or words to that effect.

Why keep the useless implement in the bag? Either the club does not suit the style of the player, or the method of using it are at fault. Should the former be the case, the club should be discarded at once, in order to avoid the temptation to try it and fail. The fewer clubs he carries the better, but these must be carefully chosen and suited to the player.

My own bag consists of the following: Driver, brassie, spoon, straight-faced iron, mashie iron, No. 4 iron, mashie, mashie niblick and putting-club. This set I have found to be adequate for all occasions, and I seldom have any difficulty in deciding which of two clubs is the better for a particular shot. It is far better to have a limited number of clubs, and to be proficient with each one, than to have a very full set containing some with which you are only slightly acquainted.

Appropos this remark, a certain player of note in the United States had an amusing experience on a golf course. The venue of a national championship in which she was competing. The caddy who had been allotted to her refused to carry in such an important event the modest number of clubs which the player found sufficient. She was obliged to purchase three more, and the caddy was then satisfied, though they were never used, and the original equipment was all the player needed to bring her successfully through several rounds.

Our Children

RAISING REX. "Harry isn't as sturdy as he might be," said the teacher to Harry's mother. "He's under-weight and very fidgety; find it hard to keep his mind on his work for very long at a time."

"Yes, I know it. The doctor says he ought to get into the open more. He thinks that if we were in the country, even in the suburbs, Harry would improve. But we can't move. Our business is in the city. All our friends are here. You know how it is."

So things went on much as they had before. Harry was fidgety. He blotted his papers a good deal, and lost the place in reading lesson, and got six wrong in the subtraction. Harry would improve. But we can't move. Our business is in the city. All our friends are here. You know how it is."

"He's a good child," said the teacher, looking sadly at his papers. "But he hasn't the power to concentrate on his work for more than a few minutes at a time. He needs play and sleep and fresh air. I wish he could go to the country, as the doctor said."

Her wish came true. It came true so quickly, and in such an unheard-of fashion, at least to the teacher, that it left her gasping and uncertain that she had heard right.

"I'm leaving the school today," said Harry, between tears and smiles. "I'm awful sorry to go. I have to leave my team and my class, and you too." Here he winked very fast. Then the smiles broke out again. "But I'm going to

"Flower Sunday" At First Church

Service Will Be Given Over to Children.

Flower Sunday will be observed at the First Methodist Church next Sunday, when the service will be given over to the children. The church will be beautifully decorated with flowers for the occasion, and sweet-scented canaries will fill the whole building with their song. Just as the service opens, the children will march in procession to their seats at the front of the church, raising their voices in a pretty hymn. The day is to be given over to the praises of the beauty of nature. Sunday school will be held in the church on this occasion.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH WILL LIKELY STAND ALOOF

Special to The Advertiser.

Stratford, June 14.—There will be no Congregational Church represented in the United Church of Canada as far as Stratford is concerned, according to the Rev. G. A. MacKenzie, local pastor of the Congregational Church. Mr. MacKenzie explained that having voted against union, the Stratford church would maintain its identity as it had in the past. He said that the congregation here would keep the church building so long as it continued to be in the event of its ceasing to function, then the rights of the home missionary body to take up the property would be transferred to the United Church.

Gardens of A. J. Morgan Opened For Evening Fete

Political Candidates Will Grace Tonight's Garden Party With Their Presence—Clowns To Provide Amusement.

The beautiful gardens of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Morgan, Wellington street, are being opened to the public tonight for the garden party which is being given there in aid of the organ fund of the Maitland Street Baptist Church. The gardens are unusually lovely, having been laid out with a view to the most artistic landscape effects. Sunken gardens lend their beauty to the whole grounds, which extend back from the house and will accommodate hundreds of people.

Although excellent entertainment is promised for the patrons of this function, the biggest attraction, perhaps, will be the presence of the political candidates for election to the provincial house, Sir Adam Beck, Dr. Hugh Stevenson, and Miss Isabel Arncliffe, who will speak to the merry-makers. Mr. U. A. Buchner, who has retired from the race, is also expected to be present at the fete.

FIFTEEN ARE ACCEPTED I.O.D.E. LIFE MEMBERS

Quincy, June 14.—Fifteen names appeared on the list proposed for life membership in the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, and ratified by the delegates at this morning's session of its annual convention being held here. Those to be honored include: Mrs. Margaret G. Burkholder, Hamilton.

The reading of reports of the provincial chapters, begun at yesterday's session, was continued this morning. Mrs. H. E. McLeod, of Fredericton, gave an interesting account of the activities of the New Brunswick chapter. Mrs. E. Kripp and Mrs. H. E. The Hotpoint Water Heater

PLENTY of hot water is an absolute necessity in the modern home. For dish washing—for wash days—for baths, a supply of hot water always available, irrespective of the time of year, is essential.

With the Hotpoint Water Heater you can have all the hot water you need by simply turning a switch. The heater itself, may be attached to any domestic tank, and the controlling switch can be in whatever part of the house you desire.

The patented metal-clad element, enables the Hotpoint Water Heater to give you hot water faster and cheaper than any other electric water heater. All the heat goes directly into the water.

Hotpoint Water Heaters are made in two styles—the circulating type, as illustrated, which will supply hot water as soon as the current is turned on, and the immersion type, which is made for continuous operation.

The Liberal Globe Asks London Liberals To Vote For Beck

From the leading organ of the Liberal party, in Canada, the Toronto Globe, comes an unequivocal indorsement of the candidature of Sir Adam Beck as London's representative in the next legislature.

London Liberals, as the Globe points out, will sacrifice no party principle nor allegiance to their party by voting for Adam Beck.

In this election, London's vital interests are at stake. A great public enterprise, hydro, affecting the pockets and welfare of every person in London—of Ontario—needs the protecting hand of the man who originated it. For fifteen years Adam Beck has fought for it, nurtured and developed it against entrenched corporate interests, against treacherous foes in the legislature and out of it.

Through all these years of battle and triumph for the interests of the people The Globe has loyally supported Adam Beck, not because Beck was a party man, but in spite of that fact—simply because he championed the cause of the people—fought for the boon of electric power, a lighting for the workingman's home, for cheaper railway fares, for radial railways that would carry the people out into the God-given sunlight and fresh air.

So today, in the heat of election battle, The Globe realizes that the election of Adam Beck to the legislature is of greater import to the people of Ontario, and to the citizens of London, than any party advantage could be, and it fearlessly and frankly appeals to the people of London to return Adam Beck to the legislature.

In its issue of June 13, The Globe says editorially:

Sir Adam Beck's Position:

Sir Adam Beck does not enter the field as an ordinary supporter of Mr. Ferguson. In fact, it is only nominally that he can be called a supporter of his at all. As a public man he stands head and shoulders above the titular leader. He is not interested in party politics. His one interest in life is the Hydro-Electric System, which he has done so much to build up.

The Globe suggested some time ago that he should be nominated jointly by the Liberal and Conservative parties, and such a nomination would have represented his true position. As that suggestion was not adopted, the next best thing must be done. It is not likely that Sir Adam Beck's course in the house will be affected by his party affiliations. His position in the house would be as independent as if he had received a non-partisan nomination, and it is as an independent candidate interested in a great public enterprise that he is supported by The Globe. The Conservative source of the nomination is a mere incident of no practical importance.

Hydro is in politics today. It has been dragged into politics by the U. F. O. Government and by the corporation interests, which have fought with every unscrupulous method at their command against the development of hydro, a development which pried their greedy grip from the throats of the people.

That is why Adam Beck must go back to the legislature. He must meet the foes of hydro on the floor of the house and battle for it as he has battled for fifteen years.

Adam Beck is not dragging hydro into politics—he is following hydro into politics, just as he followed it and fought for it in the very strongholds of greedy monopolies.

Hydro has a personal meaning to every man and woman in London. Hydro is the backbone of London's industries. It is the basis of London's future prosperity. There is no other thing in the public life of London which so nearly touches the pockets, welfare and happiness of the people of London.

Hydro turns the wheels which provide work and wages for thousands of London workmen. Hydro lights the streets and homes of London at less than one-third the cost that private monopoly charged. Hydro brings to 3,500 homes in London the inestimable boon of electric cooking. Hydro in a hundred ways daily lightens the household burdens of thousands of London women. It lightens the daily expense of the home for thousands of workingmen.

And the welfare of hydro is, at stake in a hostile legislature. Adam Beck is needed in the house to protect and promote hydro.

Recognition of this fact alone has prompted the Liberal Globe to appeal to London Liberals to elect Adam Beck, and London Liberals will not fail London in her hour of need.

ODDFELLOWS TO HONOR POPULAR LONDON MAN

W. G. R. Bartram Will Become Grand Master of Ontario Next Week.

On Friday, June 22, W. G. R. Bartram, president D. G. M. of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, will become grand master of the Grand Lodge of Ontario, the highest office in the province, by acclamation. The session of the grand lodge will open on Thursday morning in Toronto, and the officers will be elected on Friday morning. The sessions will be featured by the presence of Lucian J. Easton of St. Joseph, Missouri, the grand sire, and Rev. A. Thompson of Williamstown, Mich., deputy grand sire. Representatives from the following states and Canadian provinces will attend the sessions: Michigan, New York, New Jersey, Minnesota, Massachusetts, Connecticut, the maritime provinces, Quebec, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. During the meeting the grand sire will hold a conference of the district representatives, and on Friday the Oddfellows' Home will hold a reception for the representatives, which will be followed by the unveiling of the oil paintings of the two greatest of the Canadian members of the order, Dr. Clarence T. Campbell, the first Canadian grand sire of Oddfellowship, and Joseph Oliver, the second Canadian to hold this office. These portraits were painted by E. Wylie Grier, the Toronto portrait painter, at the request of Mr. Bartram, who thought that this would be a suitable way in which the memory of these men might be kept green in provincial Oddfellowship.

KINGSMILL'S STAFF HOLD MERRY PICNIC

Employees at Enjoyable Outing at Springbank Yesterday Afternoon.

Springbank was the mecca yesterday afternoon for the employees and their friends, numbering about 100, of Kingmill's, Limited, the occasion being the annual picnic held by that firm. A special car left Dundas street at 3 p.m. for the park, and on arrival the picnickers were immediately treated to an exciting game of baseball between teams captained by James Sloan and Clarence Murphy, the latter winning, 26-24.

A program of races was then run off, the winners in the various events being as follows: Ladies' 75-yard dash—1, Miss Mills; 2, Miss Lee. Men's 75-yard dash—1, Frank Foster; 2, G. F. Kingmill. Wheelbarrow race, ladies—1, Miss Robb; 2, Miss Attwell. Wheelbarrow race, men—1, G. F. Kingmill; 2, F. F. Kingmill. Fat men's race—1, C. Murphy; 2, J. Sloan. Time race—1, O. Broom; 2, Miss McLean. Obstacle race—1, Frank Foster; 2, Stuart Sharp.

Ladies' ball-throwing—1, Miss Robb; 2, Miss Sherwin. Tie race: Ladies—1, Miss Webster; 2, Miss Gattwell. Men—1, Frank Foster; 2, F. F. Kingmill.

After the races were brought to a successful conclusion, the picnickers retired to the pavilion, where they enjoyed a hearty lunch. Large quantities of cakes and ice cream were sent to the Children's Shelter in order that the kiddies there might also share in some of the fun. The picnic concluded with a hearty vote of thanks being expressed for the work of the junior members of the firm and the ladies for having been the means whereby such a good time was enjoyed.

SIR ADAM BECK SPEAKS OF HYDRO ENTERPRISES

Tory Candidate and E. R. Dennis Address Meeting in London South.

Sir Adam Beck and E. R. Dennis addressed a meeting of Ward 1 in South London last night. The meeting was held in the committee rooms at the corner of Wortley road and Craig street.

Sir Adam gave a talk on hydro and other provincial issues. In dealing with the affairs of the L. & P. S., he mentioned the state of affairs that existed in the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway, and compared its financial state to that of the L. & P. S. "The Drury Government claims a surplus," Sir Adam said. "This is correct, in so far as operation is concerned, but the astounding fact is that they allow nothing for replacement of their equipment." He pointed out that when new locomotives are required, money is borrowed, instead of providing a sinking fund.

Sir Adam said that in all the hydro enterprises there was a sinking fund, and already some municipalities in the Niagara district were clear of debt.

E. R. Dennis told the people that Sir Adam could have had acclamations in more than four constituencies in Ontario, but he preferred to stand by London, knowing that London would stand by him.

Sir Adam has accepted invitations to speak at several garden parties in the next few days, but he has decided not to address any meetings outside of London.

MINING NEWS

The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada's ore receipts at Trail Smelter from May 22 to May 31, 1923, inclusive, and from Jan. 1, 1923, to date, in tons: Company's mines . . . 10,135 176,256 Other mines . . . 1,251 22,572 Totals . . . 11,386 198,828

A strike of considerable importance at the 425-foot level of the Night Hawk Peninsula mine was reported on Tuesday in a wire from Manager A. R. Glove. The strike was reported to have been cut at the 425-foot level 17 feet wide, and assaying 810 to 817 per ton. Mr. Glove said the strike was the most important in the history of the mine and the vein is a very strong sulphide.

Working on the 200-foot level of the Peterson Lake property Mining Corporation encountered a high-grade vein running south toward Provincial. Ore is being shipped for shipment. Considerable mill rock accompanies the high-grade vein. The work is being done on the old Seneca-Superior lease on Peterson Lake, under a royalty plan with Trail Smelter. The find may develop into something of importance to both Peterson Lake and Mining Corporation.

The annual meeting of the Kirkland Lake Gold Mines, held on Tuesday at the head offices of the company, was largely a routine affair. The annual report covering the year was approved and the old board of directors was re-elected. Shareholders were encouraged by the report of the very favorable developments in the mine and the new horizon during the past few days. Development on this level has been limited as yet, but values have not been obtained yet. Now that the company has overcome operating difficulties, the prospects are for material improvement during the coming year.

Encouraging results are reported from the Buckingham mine in West Shilling. Since operations were resumed a short time ago, the shaft has been sunk from 80 feet to 130 feet in depth. During the sinking of the shaft the main vein of the property was followed down part of the way, but for some distance the dip carried the vein out of the shaft. At 110 feet it came in again. Samples of the vein matter have been shipped out for assaying, and while results have not been obtained yet, it is stated that the material shows heavy mineralization, with visible gold in places. Before sinking further it is planned to cut a station and run a drift to get under the test pit from which rich ore was obtained in previous work. This will entail a drive of about 350 feet from the shaft.

Further details, obtained from authoritative sources, more than confirm first reports as to the paramount importance of the silver vein being opened up in the Colonial property of Continental mines. There is no disposition, when the time being, on the part of the Continental management to unduly exploit the development, other than to state that it is entirely satisfactory thus far. The contact ore section more than maintains its width of nine feet. To begin with, the average of the milling rock on each side of the high-grade vein averaged 20 to 100 ounces. The high-grade vein carried several hundred ounces of silver. Since then the vein has widened and the later information is that there is two feet of high grade. The ore at present is richer than at any time since the discovery.

SUGAR
New York, June 13.—The raw sugar market was demoralized early today by the sharp decline in futures, and refiners were out of the market entirely. Prices, therefore, were nominal.

There was a violent break in raw sugar futures under renewed general liquidation, prompted by the continued inactivity in both the raw and the refined markets. Stop-loss orders were below yesterday's closing. The selling decline was checked around midday by active covering, and prices rallied 25 to 30 points from the lowest. There were no changes in the market for refined sugar, but business was practically at a standstill, owing to the break in raw futures. List prices were quoted from $9.75 to $9.90 for fine granulated. Several refiners are reported accepting orders at $9.80. Refined futures nominal.

EN-AR-CO MOTOR OIL

Guarantees Less Repair Bills Because It Gives Real Lubrication

EN-AR-CO GEAR COMPOUND

For Transmissions and Differentials

EN-AR-CO MOTOR OIL

It will pay you to know for yourself the real qualities of En-ar-co Motor Oil. Test it in your motor and prove to your own satisfaction that it is the best oil you can use. The price of the oil is a mere nothing when the saving in worn pistons, cylinders and bearings is considered.

Why You Should Use En-ar-co Motor Oil

En-ar-co Motor Oil will withstand and retain its lubricating qualities under the greatest heat any motor will develop, preventing friction and insuring a smooth-running motor. It has great adhesive qualities. It prevents an excess of oil working past the pistons into the combustion chamber. This means a minimum of carbon on piston heads and spark plugs—and it means more power.

FREE Lubricating Service

Let us drain out the old oil, flush out the crank case and refill with fresh En-ar-co Motor Oil. Then note the difference. We will also fill your transmission and differential with En-ar-co Gear Compound. You pay only for the oil and lubricant used. Try this free service today.

SHOEBOTTOMS HOLD GREAT DAY AT SPRINGBANK

"Clan" Turns Out Over 300 Strong To Successful Family Reunion.

SOME BASEBALL

Married Men Carry Off the Honors At End of Stubbom Game.

During the past few years interest seems to be reviving rapidly in the old-fashioned family reunion, which, by the way, used to be the big event of the year when grandpa was a boy. Cities and towns have also caught the spirit anew and Old Boys' weeks are again becoming popular. The distinction of having the first family reunion of the season in this district falls to the Shoebottom "clan," who gathered in Springbank Park yesterday over 300 strong for their second annual outing.

Last year a get-together picnic was held by way of experiment, and so pleased were the committee with the results and the genuine popularity of the idea as displayed by the picnicers that it was at once decided to make the outing an annual affair.

The majority of those present at this year's frolic reside in London Township, where the Shoebottom family settled many years ago, and a goodly representation was also in attendance from the city.

The sports got off to a whirlwind start with a baseball game between the married and the single men. The younger crew played brilliant ball in the first inning and grabbed seven runs. It looked for a while as if the tussle was destined to be rather one-sided, but the married men, playing a stubborn game, came back and annexed the honors by a score of 9 to 8.

Neil Parkinson, who played faultlessly behind the bat for the single men, had the misfortune to split the index finger of his right hand when reaching for a high one. It was at first thought that the finger was broken at the first joint, but Dr. L. Freeland, who was one of the spectators, after examining the lad, found that the bone had not been broken. Neil will not have the use of his right hand for some time, however.

Those Who Took Part.

The lineup for the game was: Single men—Harold Hodgins, Tom Parkinson, Markus Shoebottom, Wesley Freeland, Neil Parkinson, Rex Needham, Ellis Shoebottom, Murray Shoebottom and Gordon Armitage.

Married men—Wilson McCullough, Wes. Atkinson, Herb. Shoebottom, William Deacon, Roy Freeland, Jack Shoebottom, Clinton Shoebottom, Maurice Shoebottom and Walter Shoebottom. Umpire, Will Riddle.

The committee in charge of the picnic arrangements included Oscar and William Shoebottom, A. McLaughlin and A. Hall. Mr. Hall also acted as starter for the races.

The results of the races are as follows:

Girls 10 and under—Verna Shoebottom, Hazel Shoebottom, Phyllis Hudson.

Boys 10 and under—Oscar Shoebottom, Jack Barker, Archie McLaughlin.

Girls 10 and over—Leona Shoebottom, Ruby Barker, Lena McFall.

Boys 10 and over—Norman Gilmore, Gordon McLaughlin, Austin Shoebottom.

Mens 100 yards race, open—Clifford Shoebottom, Jim Parkinson, Harry McGuffin.

Single ladies' race—Leona Shoebottom, Lena McFall, Becky Phillips.

Married ladies' race—Mrs. N. Shoebottom, Mrs. W. Shoebottom, Mrs. C. Cadick.

Men's race, 40 years and over—Wilson McCullough, C. Shoebottom, J. Shoebottom.

Clothespin race—Ruby Shoebottom, Mrs. Walter Shoebottom, Leona Shoebottom, Nellie Shoebottom.

Needle and thread race—J. A. Shoebottom, Cliff Shoebottom.

Wheelbarrow race—J. A. Shoebottom and Gordon Armitage, Roy Hudson and H. McGuffin.

Throwing the ball—Nellie Shoebottom, Ella Roberts.

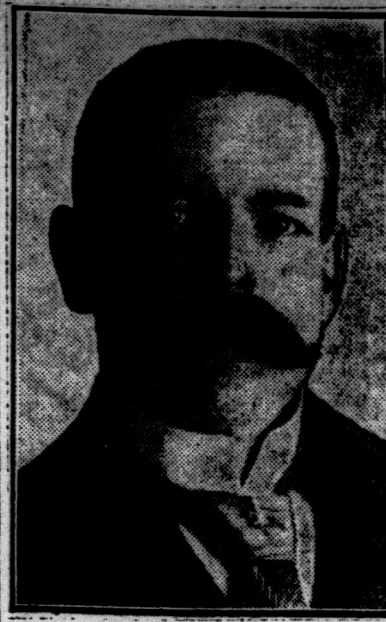

FOR THIS YEAR'S HOLIDAY, NEW BUNGALOW CAMPS IN ONTARIO.

Three highly-delightful outdoor districts of Ontario, offering excellent fishing and a variety of other recreational advantages, will be rendered more attractive than ever this summer to holiday-seekers by the erection of a comfortable Bungalow Camp at each of these places: "Devil's Gap Camp," Lake of the Woods, near Kenora; "Nipigon River Camp," 65 miles east of Port Arthur; "French River Camp," 45 miles south of Sudbury.

These camps are of rustic frame type, with cosy bungalows (double and single), central club house, etc. Good water supply and good food. Magnificent fishing—trout at Nipigon, bass and "lunge" at French River, bass at Lake of the Woods. Plenty of guides and canoes available. Rates, $5 per day; $30 per week; American plan. Camps are especially attractive to families. Opening, July 1. Attractive folder on these camps, together with full information, fares, etc., may be secured from any agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway.—Advt. J11,14,16.

VESUVIUS SHOWING RENEWED ACTIVITY

Masses of Flame Appear and Burning Cinders Are Thrown High in Air.

By EDGAR ANSEL MOWBRER.

Special to The Advertiser.

Rome, June 14.—Vesuvius is showing renewed activity, according to a photographer, who recently spent 24 hours at the crater.

"The central cone within the crater, which has been growing for many years, has entirely disappeared," he said. "Now looking down into the crater one sees by day only a dull red glow, hidden almost constantly behind an enormous mass of smoke and steam. By night this crater bottom appears to become alive. Masses of flame appear at three places. No one dares descend near these openings, whence there comes a small flow of boiling lava."

"The reflection on the clouds of steam is gloriously beautiful. Occasionally, with a great rumbling, ashes and stones, called lapillae, are thrown to a great height and fall upon any one who happens to be near, stinging, and some times burning, but without doing much harm. Seismologists believe that a new period of intense activity may be beginning."

"FRUIT-A-TIVES"—ONE OF THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERIES OF THE AGE

For Eighteen Years, This Famous Fruit Medicine Has Brought Relief To Thousands of Sufferers

The name and fame of "Fruit-a-tives" have spread all over the world. In Great Britain, these tablets made from fruit juices and tonics, are in great demand. In the United States, practically every drug store in the East handles them; and orders are steadily coming in from points throughout the West. Even in far-away New Zealand, "Fruit-a-tives" are meeting with gratifying success. During the eighteen years that "Fruit-a-tives" have been before the Canadian people, they have brought relief to thousands and thousands of sufferers. Gladly and freely, these grateful men and women have written of the almost miraculous powers of "Fruit-a-tives"; and one and all, they express the hope that other sufferers may heed their letters and in turn try "Fruit-a-tives".

Dreadful Eczema Relieved by "Fruit-a-tives"

Now, read this letter from Mrs. Joseph P. Martinier, 432 Arlington Ave., Ottawa. "For three years, I suffered with weeping Eczema on the back of my hands. I consulted our family doctor and other physicians; but all the treatments and salves gave me no permanent relief. I had practically considered my case hopeless when I started to use "Fruit-a-tives" and "Sootha Salva" which I heard had relieved a friend of a similar complaint. In a short time, the eczema completely disappeared and I have not had a trace of it for four years."

Thanks To "Fruit-a-tives", Am Once More Well

Mrs. Honore Valiquette, 1133 Notre Dame St. West, Montreal is deeply grateful to this famous fruit medicine. She says, "I wish I could tell every sufferer in the world what "Fruit-a-tives" have done for me. For three years, I was much troubled by Bad Headaches, Nervous Dyspepsia and Liver Trouble. Then I commenced taking "Fruit-a-tives". Very soon my condition improved and now, thanks to these wonderful tablets, I am once more entirely well."

Well Known Resident of Portland, Maine.

Mr. Otis M. Bryant, of 49 Anderson Street, is most enthusiastic about this famous fruit medicine. He writes "I was troubled with Constipation ever since I can remember; as a result, I have suffered from distressing headaches and pain in my left side. I tried many and various remedies for the Headaches and Constipation, without receiving relief. About four months ago, I began the use of "Fruit-a-tives". Since then, I have been free of Headaches, bowels regular, no pain in my side. After the use of several boxes of "Fruit-a-tives", I feel justified in pronouncing them a remedy of true and exceptional merit."

Take "Fruit-a-tives" and get well. 25c and 50c a box, at all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Tecs' Twin Win As Hams Lose Pulls Them Out of Cellar

Carmen Blanks Kazoos in First, Allowing Three Hits and Batting 1000—Tec Hit Flurry in Second Game—Produces Eight Runs in Hurry.

Flint comes here today for the balance of the week to face the Tec, no longer cellar champs, but out in the full glare of the sunlight, blinking a bit from the strong and unaccustomed light, but the Tec, who has been in the cellar for some time, is up to three by grabbing both ends of a twin bill with the Kazoos yesterday will continue to grow and expand. "Lefty" Carmen, who, according to arrangements completed last week, leaving us, if that is the way he feels about the impending change, spread a few shovelfuls of red-hot coals onto the lot yesterday by turning in one of the best games he has ever checked in with, holding the visiting parties to three scattered hits and in addition rapping out four singles out of four trips to the plate, and, for good measure, piling on a bag, and no time did the Kazoos have the diminutive person in anything approaching a hole that in an afternoon and a half while he was holding the visitors off the help nibbled, but only successfully in the third, when they scored their two runs in a brace.

In the second game William Cogan opposed Monstade, Leconier, and the Kazoos, having constantly assumed a threatening attitude, which finally broke out in the fifth with a run, a double, a triple in the shape of two runs and a flurry of hits in the next frame, during which three triples, scored by Monstade, Schaefer and Stimpson, combined with three other singles and a walk, produced six tallies and a most discouraging effect on the Kazoos. Kazoos had their best chance to score in the second, when they were held by two gone, Getzie pulled down Henry's smashing line to stop the sort of the hemmed-in Becker.

STARS NAB TWO. Newark, June 13.—Syracuse made it three out of four by taking both parts of today's double-header with the Skeeters. The locals took the first by a 3 to 1 count, and the Skeeters the nightcap by a 5 to 4 score in eight innings. The scores:

First game: Syracuse, 101 000 000—3 R.H.E. Newark, 000 010 000—1 R.H.E. Syracuse won, 10 to 3.

Second game: Syracuse, 000 010 000—1 R.H.E. Newark, 011 002 013—7 R.H.E. (Called eighth by agreement.) Syracuse won, 10 to 3.

SKETEES TAKE BOTH. Jersey City, June 13.—The Jersey City took both ends of today's double-header with Rochester by scores of 2 to 0 and 12 to 6. George Lacey held the league leaders to four hits in the first game.

First game: Jersey City, 000 000 000—0 R.H.E. Rochester, 010 010 000—2 R.H.E. Jersey City won, 2 to 0.

Second game: Jersey City, 000 000 000—0 R.H.E. Rochester, 010 010 000—2 R.H.E. Jersey City won, 12 to 6.

SECOND CALLED IN 13TH. Baltimore, June 13.—Baltimore took the first game of a twin bill from Buffalo this afternoon, 9 to 1, and tied the second at 4 to 4 in 13 innings. Home runs were a prominent factor in the second tie. Butler and Dye of the Blues getting one each, while Malsel, Lawry and Styles of the Orioles for the circuit. Darkness caused the second game to be called. The scores:

First game: Baltimore, 100 000 000—1 R.H.E. Buffalo, 000 000 000—0 R.H.E. Baltimore won, 9 to 1.

Second game: Baltimore, 000 000 000—0 R.H.E. Buffalo, 000 000 000—0 R.H.E. (Called 13th inning.) Baltimore won, 4 to 4.

Hagen Thinks Young School Will Produce Golf Champ

Americans Hopeful and Conditions Are More Favorable, But Team Is Weakened—Hagen Hints At Wingate As Possible.

Special Cable To The Advertiser. Copyright. Troon, June 13.—We have now got to the state in the championships when we must roll up our sleeves and play to save every shot. Every golfer is glad when the qualifying competition is over and he has safely passed the test. It is always an anxious time, particularly when one doesn't get a good start. There is a very real danger of coming to grief, as was the case of the late Sarazen, Barnes, and several British players. The absence of Sarazen and James from the field weakened the prospects of the cup being captured for America, but we are still hopeful. MacDonald Smith, playing well, doesn't expect him to do any brilliant rounds, but splendid steadiness kept him near head of the pack. Whether this steadiness will suffice depends largely on weather and whether anyone gets away with a flying start.

C. Gammage, Ridgetown, Wins Grand International Shoot

Sam G. Vance Was High Gun For Two Days—R. Jordan, London, in Tie With Three Others For Second Place in Handicap.

Special To The Advertiser. St. Thomas, June 13.—The forty-first grand international trap shoot was brought to a close here Wednesday afternoon after two days of keen shooting. The outstanding event, the Grand International Handicap, was left until Wednesday afternoon, when over forty contestants took part.

Shooting at 21 yards, Charles Gammage of Ridgetown, a veteran and a former employee of the Remington Arms Co., won the Grand International Handicap by breaking 35 out of 100 targets.

Gammage finished the two days' shoot with 351 birds to his credit out of a possible 400. Sam G. Vance of Tillsonburg was the high gun for the two days, breaking 384 targets. He dropped six birds this morning and nine this afternoon, shooting at 22 yards.

James Vance of Tillsonburg, W. Barnes of Detroit, R. Jordan of London and Captain James Payne of Tillsonburg were tied for second place with 375 breaks. J. Jennings was fourth with 371. R. Jordan smashed 368, and Ainsmith.

DODGERS STOP CUBS. Chicago, June 13.—A seventh-inning race in which Brooklyn pounded out five hits and scored five runs, enabled them to defeat Chicago 8 to 4 today.

REDS BEAT GIANTS. Cincinnati, June 13.—McQuillan was knocked out of the box by the Reds in the third inning today, and the local team won from the champion Giants, 4 to 3. It was the sixth victory for the Reds.

THE PLAYERS. The player should stoop over to ward the ball, but he must find the point in this stoop that exactly fits his physique. There is no fixed rule on this. Some good players stand fairly erect, and some stoop entirely too far. The knees should break a trifle, in order to give balance. Fit as a Fiddle

AM I fit? I should say so. I eat like a navy and sleep like a top, and the day is not half long enough for all I want to do.

Even the youngsters can't tire me out — and they always expect "Grandpa" to be the leading spirit of the game — whether it's baseball, football, or blind man's buff.

Twenty years ago I didn't feel as fit as I feel now; but at forty they say a man is either a fool or a physician — and I decided to be the latter. Yes — it's twenty years ago since I first started taking Kruschen Salts in my breakfast cup of coffee or tea every morning — just as much as will lie on a 10c. piece. Can't taste it, but it makes all the difference. It made a new man of me. Why don't you try it?

You need not hesitate about the price — it only costs half a cent a day — a 75c bottle of Kruschen Salts lasts me three months, so for about 3 cents a week I keep as fit as a fiddle and as happy as a sandboy.

Kruschen Salts

(Pronounced Kroo-shun.) Good health for half a cent a day

The six health-giving salts which make Kruschen are necessary for healthy life. Your body must obtain them from somewhere or you could not live. Normally you extract these vital salts from your food, meat, bread, fruit, vegetables, and so on; but when, owing to impaired digestion, errors of diet, worry, and sedentary occupation, your system does not extract from food the correct proportion of these essential salts, then you suffer depression, headaches, and other ills. Kruschen Salts should be your safeguard. Get a 75c bottle today at any drug store, sufficient for three months.

NO CHANCE.

The other day at one of the graded schools, while the children were out at recess, the teacher heard a wall of sorrow go up from one of the little boys. She went out to comfort him, and drawing him to one side asked him what the trouble was.

"I want to play with Sally Rogers and the other boys won't let me. They won't let me talk to her, or have anything to do with her."

"Why is that?"

"Well, were playing society, and we makeout like we're all at a big party."

"And why can't you make yourself agreeable to Sally as well as the others?"

"Why, they make me play that I'm Sally's husband every time."

THE ETERNAL QUESTION by Felice Davis

Wilbur Goes to Work.

Edna—Oh, Wilbur, are you home?

Wilbur—Why, howdy, Edney! Didn't expect to see you so early in the mornin'!

Edna—"Early in the mornin'!" Why, it's 8 o'clock and me and the boys and me had breakfast four hours ago!

Wilbur—That so? I'm jest dishing up a snack o' coffee.

Edna—Oh, Wilbur! I ain't no business comin' down here but I — I jest had to talk to you before you — wal—he's comin' later.

Wilbur—You mean he's comin' about you and me?

Edna—Yes—Oh, Wilbur, pa's awful set in his ways and he flows as how he ain't goin' to let me marry you!

Wilbur—Aw shucks! Now mebbe he'll change his mind.

Edna—You know he's always been right set again you not working!

Wilbur—I don't hold with a body wastin' time doin' work.

Edna—But pa don't see it that way — we always been a workin' family.

Wilbur—I reckon so.

Edna—And he says the man I marry has got to earn his livin' by the sweat of his brow.

Wilbur—He told me that, too.

Edna—But the wust thing happened yesterday when he drove to town and heard the Sheriff is goin' to put you off your place for not payin' taxes.

Wilbur—Wal, I guess it's true—that's what they tell me anyhow.

Edna—Pa come home olin' mad—says I ain't to see you no more and he's comin' to settle you himself later.

Wilbur—I guess things look kinda black for me, Edney!

Edna—Id stick to you, Wilbur, but pa—

Wilbur—I guess that Jud Randle's hangin' 'round pesterin' you, too, ain't he?

Edna—He is 'round kinda often—pa likes him. Oh, Wilbur, I wish you'd go to work like Jud has!

Wilbur—Me? Work? Why, Edney! Edna—Yes—his is good land, everybody says so.

Wilbur—I ain't much of a hand at farmin'—tain't in my line.

Edna—Well, I'd jest like to know what is in your line! Don't you ever intend to do anythin' at all?

Wilbur—Wal, I dunno—mebbe some day I'll do somethin' fine — mebbe you'll be surprised.

Edna—That's what you're always sayin'! I used to stand up fer you when the neighbors was laughin' at

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS
Recommend Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."
Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastric ulcers. Food ferments and creates the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.
It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisulphate of Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas out, soothe the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisulphate of Magnesia (in powder form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT STAND

Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well and Strong

Glens Falls, N. Y.—"For over two months I was so sick I was not able to do any work. I was very weak and my husband did my housework. The doctor said an operation might be necessary. I read testimonials about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and began to take it. Before I had finished taking the first bottle I saw what good it was doing me. I am now well and strong, doing all my work for a family of four, all my washing and my sewing, which I think is remarkable, as I had not dared to run my sewing machine, but had done all my sewing by hand. I truly feel that were it not for your medicine I would not be here today as my case seemed very serious."—Mrs. GEORGE W. BURCHELL, Glens Falls, N. Y.

UP FROM THE DEATH CELL

By JOHN W. KANE.

On the Train Kane Recognizes a Former Prison Companion Who Has Also Made Good

SYNOPSIS.

Curly Kane wins his way to regeneration while in prison. A wild lad, he killed two car men in a holdup, and after 17 months in Murderers' Row, got a new trial, with a life imprisonment sentence instead of death. He studies law, reads, trains himself to be a magazine writer, and conceives the idea of a law permitting parole for life prisoners who serve fifteen years. By finesse he gets it passed, but is refused. The warden agrees when Kane asks permission to leave prison informally for a visit to his parents in Missouri.

CHAPTER XIV.

The woman of the golden hair and another got at a table just ahead of mine in the dining car. That happened to be one of the best trains west of Chicago, and the service in every way was all that even the most particular person might desire.

When I had first entered the train at the junction town, I was slightly perturbed because of my inability to secure a lower berth. The agent had offered me a lower in a tourist sleeper, but I had declined it. After returning from the dining car I was feeling much more at ease about the necessity for an upward flight when retiring, and, judging from what I heard the other woman say to golden hair, I perhaps was not showing any outward signs of the slight irritation that I had felt at first.

"The duke doesn't look so ill since dining," were her words.

There was a reply, the first part of which I did not understand, and the last part was: "I was so hoping that no one would be put there above me."

"At any rate," returned the first speaker, her voice almost shaking with suppressed laughter, "you may be thankful that his lordship isn't the fat kind that snores."

I faced a little bit to the right, so that I might see them with a casual glance. The one who was evidently having so much fun at the other's expense was facing me. She checked another speech in its beginnings, and tried hard to look serious.

My Accent Is British.

In an easy manner I arose, stepped diagonally across the aisle and said: "I beg your pardon; but may I suggest that you take particular care when you speak about the nobility?" Her sparkling eyes showed a mixture of surprise, amusement and uncertainty.

"I cautioned her," came the modulated tones of the one with the golden hair, as she looked up at me with a glance of the trained traveler, "but she's like Peck's bad boy—always getting into difficulty."

"Oh, then I beg pardon"—the other one quickly took up my style—"and you may sit down here with us and tell all about your castle and crest and coat of arms and the like."

As I took a seat beside her, a mental query came: "Now, what if I should tell them about the castle I've just left?" But aloud I said: "As yet my castle is a mere dream; the only crest I have is this one—I indicated my hair—"which," as you see, is touched with snow; and my coat of arms is, as a rule, a ragged coat upon my arm."

HUSBAND DIDN'T DARE LEAVE HER ALONE HEART WAS SO BAD

Those feelings of faintness, those dizzy spells, the all-gone sinking sensations which come on from time to time, indicate a weakened condition of the heart, and a disordered state of the nervous system.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills

have no equal as a remedy to strengthen the heart, invigorate the nerves, and build up the run-down system.

Mrs. C. Vanhorn, Eckville, Alta., writes: "About a year ago I had heart trouble. My husband didn't dare leave me alone, and often had to stay up at night with me. I would just feel kind of faint and my heart would seem to stop beating. I would just faint away, and it would sometimes be an hour before they could bring me back to life. Someone told me about Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I got three boxes; I took them and felt much better, so continued all winter, and now I never feel any such faintness. I surely do appreciate the good they have done for me."

"So there!" She of the golden crown of glory looked toward her companion. "You have a whole life story in one sentence."

I would have the reader understand that on my part there was no attitude of a would-be masquerade, neither was I angling for a romance, but as a matter of fact I had in mind the possibility of making copy for future writing. In any event, I found those two to be delightful traveling companions.

An Old Friend—Made Over.

Early in the afternoon of the following day we were nearing the largest town between my starting point and Kansas City. That was their destination. Their names and addresses found a place in a small note-book of mine, and my true with the substitution near the prison—at which address I had long been receiving mail—was written by me for them.

She of the beautiful hair had informed me that her husband would meet her at the station; that he would be relieved of his duties as auditor for the B. F. & I. Company for that afternoon, and that she wanted me to watch out the window and see him—who, in her words, "while young-looking like you, also has a crest touched with snow."

"The train had to take a 'Y' and back into that station, so as to be headed right for the next start eastward. I was watching as it came to a stop."

And imagine my surprise when I saw that the former librarian of the prison—the one that had given me "When the Gates Lift Up Their Heads" so long before—coming to meet golden hair.

I moved back quickly out of sight. Twice after their greeting she glanced toward the window, but I was careful not to be seen. I should have liked to meet him, but circumstances all round would not permit of it. . . .

Soon my train was under way, and I sat looking out across the wind-swept plain in thought. I knew in reason that the wife of my former fellow-prisoner knew of his past. He was the type that would not think of trying to hide such from a lifetime partner like her; and she was the type that could not only forget the past like one would forget a paid and cancelled note, but would act the part of the true woman who understands, and would make of a husband a winner indeed.

If I Should Be Arrested.

My thoughts concerning that unexpected happening led me to thinking of other possible contingencies. What if I were to meet others who had known me in the west and who knew my status? What if I should come face to face with some western officer of the law, and he—believing me to be an escaped convict—should place me under arrest? I should have overlooked something! Truly I had had some kind of signed statement from the warden setting forth my true situation. But in the event of complications, perhaps a telegram would set matters right. However, I would not borrow trouble, but would make the most of my journey.

A snowstorm delayed the train two hours in Central Kansas, and it was yet behind time when the porter came through and said: "The next stop is Kansas City."

To the right stretched that wonderfully productive valley, and all along there I was seeing familiar sights. Many changes were apparent—it was my first trip over that road in twenty-one years—but the whole landscape and general appearance was the same as before. And a queer feeling of mingled gratitude and new hope swept me when I realized that within ten minutes more I should be again standing upon the soil of my own beloved state—Missouri.

I was ready to step from the train when an impulse to write seized me.

A Greeting to the Old Town.

With the paper resting on a small volume on my knee, I wrote with a pencil the following lines:

"Kansas City, gateway to the West. They all come back, in time, to you—"

You with your sweet and subtle charm;
You with your heart that is tender, warm;
You with your people true.

And though far from prestige, fortune or fame—
One of the commonest kind of clay—
I have a message for you, my dear:
So pause, old town, incline your ear—
Next time, I'll come to stay."

No telling what else I might have added to that first verse, had there been more time for writing while that inspiration had me in its grasp.

It was my plan to remain in Kansas City that night and go out to my old home some miles away the next day. In putting that plan into execution I took a taxi and drove straight to the Savoy. Should any reader of this see fit to look over the register for that date—Saturday, February 22, 1913—he or she will find there the entry: "G. B. Kane, San Francisco and New York." For obvious reasons I did not want to register under my true name and that was the first name that came into my mind when the smiling greeter turned the register for me to write.

I had thought of going on home the following day, but on second thought, knowing of my mother's

At a time like this who cares about adjustment?

The most liberal tire adjustment is poor compensation for the inconvenience and annoyance, the lost pleasure of your trip, caused by a tire faulty in construction or materials.

The car owner who best appreciates the dependability of Dominion Tires is the one who has had most tire trouble on the road.

When you buy tires you want dependability rather than adjustments.

It is a fact that in Dominion Tires you get the greatest dependability that can be put into a tire. This extra dependability is an extra value which costs nothing.

visit meant to me. Suffice it to say that my joy was made the greater because of that of my loved ones at home. From time to time we were in a reminiscent mood as to the happenings of the long ago—we talked of everything except the things of these worst years just passed—and there was not the slightest discord to mar those few days that, for all of us, seemed to make up fully for the years of trial behind us.

In accordance with my promise, I wrote the warden a rather lengthy letter the day following my arrival, telling somewhat in detail about the good time I was having there at home.

On Sunday, March 2, I bade my loved ones farewell and started upon my return journey.
