A SUCCESSFUL EXHIBITION SEEN AT BRIDGETOWN.

Annapolis and Kings Favored by Delightful Weather.

A Brief Sketch of Some of the Exhibits.

The Annapolis and Kings County Exhibition for 1903 is now a thing of the past, and "Success" may be written in large letters over all its departments. Three days and three nights of matchless autumn weather were granted to the life of the fair and greatly augmented the enjoyment of its visitors.

The young people of this valley are not slow to know a good thing. That they appreciate a good business training is manifested by the fact that five are now in attendance at the Maritime Business College, Halifax.

The net proceeds of the lunch counter organized by the ladies of St. James' church last week amounted to eighty dollars and thirty-five cents.

The attention of the Monitor has lately been called to the damage done by men and boys who loaf outside store doors and hack away the casings of the doors and window frames with their jack knives.

Mr. Geo. Knodell, of St. John, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hoyt over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Ties, of Paradise, were guests at the home of Mr. Chas. Hicks last week.

Mr. F. V. Young, of the Monitor staff, left yesterday on a visit of a few weeks in Pictou.

Mrs. Chas. Casey, of Yarmouth, returned home on Monday, after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Ware.

Mrs. J. W. Mason, of Kentville, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Hatch, at the home of Mrs. J. A. Foster.

Mrs. Gertrude C. Marshall, who has been visiting here for several weeks, has returned to Sydney, C. B.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Warren are at the home of Mrs. John Lockett, where they will remain for the winter.

Mrs. Hatch and Miss Katherine Piper leave to-day on a visit to friends in Boston and Dover, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Reed left last week on a visit to friends in Yarmouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Smith and Mrs. May Smith, of Nictaux South, were the guests of their uncle, Mr. Chas. Hicks, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foster and Mrs. Mizer, of Wolfville, Mr. and Mrs. Williams and son, of Kentville; Mrs. S. S. Fisher and Master Karl, of Annapolis, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. Sidney Foster during the exhibition.

Among the excursionists from Digby who visited the exhibition on Wednesday were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Stewart, Mr. Eber Turnbull, Mr. and Mrs. O. Fairweather, Mrs. Cassaboon and son Harold, Master Allen Hughes and Mr. Fred Cummings.

Local and Special News.

—The house of Mrs. Denison has been rented, furnished, by Mr. Benson, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, and is now being put in order for occupancy.

—J. U. Lege, specialist in optics, will be at Saxon's at Bridgetown on the 21st and 26th of October; also at the Commercial House, Annapolis, on the 17th and 28th, for those days only.

—A ladies storm collar, imitation seal, was lost on Saturday evening, Oct. 10, between the stores of Mr. A. D. Brown on Queen street, and Mrs. J. E. Burns, Cranville street. Finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving at the Monitor office.

—Mr. Wm. Warren, recently of Sackville, has taken possession of his new store on Queen street, where he is to open a pharmacy. Workmen are now fitting a collar, after which a new floor will be laid and the entire store renovated and fitted up in the most approved modern style.

—The decoration committee at the exhibition have been highly commended for their work on the inside of the building. They unfortunately, however, forgot the exterior and not a single flag marked its location. The entrance gate was well marked by the large white sign of the Empire Liniment Co. stretched above it.

—In the Supreme Court held in Annapolis last week, Mr. Justice Caswell presiding, the following causes were disposed of: Huntley vs. Smith, a claim for payment of $150 alleged to be due for a balance of the purchase money of an orchard of apples, jury failed to agree; King vs. Reese, horse-stealing, defendant acquitted; Burill vs. Sackville, an action for damages for slander, the jury found a verdict for the plaintiff with damages fixed at $500; Kaiser vs. Slaughterhouse, an action for trespass and assault, verdict for plaintiff with $50 damages.

This exceedingly valuable anodyne expectorant combines all those properties which are desirable in a remedy for obstinate coughs and all forms of laryngeal irritation. Its agreeable character and efficacy has made it a very decided favorite with members of the medical profession, and its use by the public will still further enhance its reputation.

A successful concert was given at the Court House on Thursday evening last week for the benefit of the Baptist Church Organ Fund. A very pleasing program was rendered, which was participated in by Misses Lydia Munro, and Jessie Beckwith and Mr. Allen, of Middleburg, vocal soloists, Mrs. Harlow and Miss Carolyn Piper, readers, and Miss Hetty Jackson, pianist and accompanist. Every number was well rendered and well received and received a well merited encore. The dramatic sketch by Mrs. Harlow and Miss Munro was very amusing and performed in a most creditable manner. The stage was tastefully furnished and made an attractive setting. The audience filled the hall and about seventy dollars was received in admission fees. The Organ Fund has now grown to the respectable sum of $250.

NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE COUNTY.

TUPPERVILLE.

Mr. Ralph Bent, Jr., and his wife completed their visit to their relatives on Saturday, and returned to their home in the States on that day.

The brothers Morton left Tupperville for Boston on Saturday, after spending an enjoyable vacation in Nova Scotia.

Mr. Beals arrived from the States on Wednesday, on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stevens.

A number of people, through the low haze it is presumed, are taking advantage of the autumn trip to Boston.

We are pleased to record that some of our neighbors were successful in carrying off prizes at the Bridgetown Fair, and hearty congratulations are here extended to Miss Emma Chipman, who won first prize for her drawings.

Most of the residents in the neighborhood paid a visit to the Fair at Bridgetown, and all were of the opinion that the exhibition was "all right."

Since the taking off for the season of the "Bluenose," the arrival and departure of the trains have been altered, the times now being:

East bound pass, daily 7 a. m. West bound express, daily 12.22 p. m. East bound express, daily 2.24 p. m. West bound pass, daily 5 p. m.

Intending passengers will please note that the times of the trains are likely to remain unaltered throughout the winter months.

HAMPTON.

Mrs. Hannah Parker and daughter have returned to their home in Lynn. Miss Mabel Mitchell accompanied her, and intends to stay for an indefinite time.

Mrs. D. M. Foster is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Briston, in Lynn. Mr. and Mrs. Judson Foster are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Jones, in Lynn, and intend visiting their daughter, Mrs. Charles Foster, in New York.

ROUND HILL.

Miss Helena Purdy, accompanied by Mrs. W. A. Kinney, left for Boston on Saturday, where she intends remaining the winter.

Rev. J. W. and Mrs. Bancroft, of Barton, Digby Co., are visiting their brother, Mr. S. E. Bancroft.

Mrs. Geo. Wells, of Annapolis, and Mrs. John Lowe, of Bridgetown, have been visiting Mrs. E. D. Purdy for the few days.

Mr. Atkinson Smith left on Monday for Sydney. He expects to return the last of this week.

ALBANY.

The most supper, which was appointed to be at Mr. Charles Oakes', Albany, has been postponed until the twenty-eighth (28th) of October, on account of moonlight nights. All are cordially invited to attend.

Rev. W. B. Whitman and wife (nee Miss Cora Henegar) spent a few days with her father, Dea. Phineas Whitman. They appeared out here on Sunday, 11th.

Miss Flora Whitman attended the wedding of her brother at Chester Basin.

Those who attended the Bridgetown exhibition from here are as follows: Miss Nora Grimm, Miss Oda Grimm, Mr. S. P. Grimm, Mr. Oliver McNay, Mr. David Allen, Mr. Lambert McNay, Mr. Rana Swallow, Mr. Bernard Swallow, Miss Winnie Saunders, Miss Lida Saunders, Mr. Earle Saunders, Mr. C. R. Marshall, Mr. E. P. Roop, Mr. Leonard Stoddard and Mrs. J. P. Bent.

Mrs. Marjory Conrad, of New Germany, spent last week at Mr. and Mrs. John Gimms'.

Mr. Elwood Mailman went to Jordan River on Monday.

Mr. Sidney Conrad was in town on Sunday.

Mr. J. F. Bent spent Sunday at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Lohnes spent Sunday with his parents at Mahone.

HYMENEAL.

HAMBLIN-PHINNEY. At the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Phinney, 3 Holborn Terrace, Roxbury, Mass., on the evening of Oct. 5th, their only daughter, Mollie Garfield, and Mr. B. Harold Hamblin, of Hyde Park, Mass., were united in marriage.

As the couple entered the room the wedding march was artistically rendered by a relative of the bride, Miss Fannie Lamb. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. F. Newcomb, pastor of Bethany Baptist church, Boston, the bride's cousin, assisted by Rev. W. J. Hobbs. Only the immediate relatives were present. During the evening a delightful collation was served.

The bride was daintily attired in white crepe de chine over white silk and carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses. The groom is prominently known in musical circles, being director of music in the public schools of Hyde Park, and also having large classes for instruction in voice and piano. Mr. and Mrs. Hamblin were the recipients of many valuable presents. After an extended wedding tour they will reside at 23 Dana Avenue, Hyde Park, where they will be at home, on Mondays from Oct. 19 to Nov. 9.

The Bread Supplied to the Prince of Wales.

It has been an eye opener to a good many bread makers to discover how much easier it is to get good results from Ogilvie's Flour in bread baking than from any other kind. The most successful bread makers in Canada today are the people who use none but Ogilvie's Flour; they get the same kind exactly as is supplied to the table of the Prince of Wales.

OBITUARY.

EDWARD WHELOCK PAYSON. Readers of the Monitor will learn with regret of the passing from earthly life of Mr. Edward Wheelock Payson. Mr. Payson removed to Boston some twenty-five years ago, but still retained his property here, and every one or two years returned and spent some time looking after the place, and keeping in touch with the affairs of the town.

With advancing years the visits to the old home became less frequent, and last spring Mr. Payson's family wished him not to take the trip, as his failing sight seemed to render it unsafe. Being a man of great natural perseverance, however, he decided to come, and spent the summer here, with the understanding that Mrs. Payson and one or two of the children were coming later to accompany him home.

Unforeseen circumstances prevented the arrangement from being carried out, and as the autumn approached, Mr. Payson began to realize that his strength was failing and that he was not in his usual health. Not wishing to alarm his family he wrote nothing of them of his condition and they were anxiously awaiting his return as he had been gone longer than usual.

As the weeks went by, and Mr. Payson found his strength still failing, he decided to return at once to Boston. For a short time after reaching home there was a slight improvement, then came a change for the worse, and all that prompt medical assistance and affectionate nursing could do failed to bring about a return to health, and on Tuesday morning, October 6th, Mr. Payson peacefully and peacefully passed into the world of spirits, in the eighty-fourth year of his age.

A long life worthily spent is a benediction—a priceless heritage—and those who have known Mr. Payson will recall his high moral character and unimpeachable integrity. During his long residence in Bridgetown he was an active member of Providence Methodist church, and for a number of years held the position of choir leader. He was an affectionate and devoted husband and father, and a true, cordial friend. A widow and six children, Mr. Holland Payson, of Dorchester; Mrs. Campbell Cressman, of New York; Mr. Gusto Payson, of Boston; Mrs. P. S. Ryerson, of Roxbury; Mrs. G. Pulton Sears, of Cambridge; and Mr. George Wheelock Payson, of Baltimore, survive him. The remains were interred at Mt. Auburn.

British House of Lords Wakens Up.

The British House of Lords has not had much of a reputation during late years as a debating chamber, but Mr. Chamberlain's proposition for inter-colonial preference in trade has stirred its members to the depths, and the House of Commons is in no danger of having to look to its laurels. Imperial preference is a big subject and affords easy scope for argument. In the matter of tea it would be difficult, for there could be only one opinion, viz: that MORSE'S TEAS are the best.

Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar W. Felch entertained a number of their relatives and friends at their home in Mahone, on Monday evening, Sept. 29th, in celebrating the fifth anniversary of their marriage. Refreshments were served during the evening and a delightful time was enjoyed by all.

A SUCCESSFUL EXHIBITION SEEN AT BRIDGETOWN.

(Continued from page 2.) Section showing undoubted artistic ability. The second floor paintings department, headed by Mrs. W. L. Archibald of Lawrenceport for a small figure painting "The Root-Black," a neat and artistic bit of work. The collection displayed by Miss Emily Ervin was also a very fine one, while the exhibits of Mrs. Armstrong contained both strength and merit.

In the department of Seeds, Roots and Vegetables on the second floor the usual display of giant pumpkins was to be seen, the only apparent difference being in the magnitude in the size of the exhibits.

Mr. Alfred Barnes of Granville furnished the most noteworthy exhibit in this department, being a giant squash which weighed over 200 pounds.

On account of the lateness of the season and the absence of stabling on the grounds the entries for the horse show did not fill as largely as it would otherwise have done. 1st Diploma for a general purpose mare was won by the animal owned by T. D. Ruggles of Bridgetown. 1st Diploma for standard brood mare with foal by her side, Felicia Spurr of Round Hill; 1st Diploma for general purpose mare with foal by her side, P. D. Phinney Granville; 1st Diploma for 3 year old filly, D. C. Langille of Kingsport.

Too much praise cannot be bestowed on the men by whose labors the exhibition has been brought to such a successful issue. On the part of most it was a case of public spirit pure and simple. Foremost among the workers besides the secretary, who has already been mentioned, were W. D. Lockett and Dr. M. E. Armstrong. The business of one and the practice of the other for years, almost for weeks, were left to take care of themselves, while they pursued the details of the arrangement that gave Bridgetown such a creditable exhibition. Other members of the committee were also busy in their departments.

Messrs. S. Porter, A. Charlton and Herman Young proved themselves indefatigable workers in the decorating force. The work of the transportation committee gave the utmost satisfaction, showing the thought and attention bestowed on it. Although it would be difficult to find an affair of this nature in which everything was so well planned and executed. In its unqualified success the workers must find their reward.

Sudden Death of Charles John MacDonald, Post Office Inspector for Nova Scotia.

The sudden death Monday of Charles John MacDonald, post-office inspector and retired lieutenant-colonel of the 66th P. L. F., Halifax, came as a great and painful surprise. No announcement of illness had been made and the intelligence of his death was quite unexpected. The deceased had been to Yarmouth on a tour of inspection and returned Thursday to the above city. He complained of feeling unwell and his illness was soon decided to be appendicitis. Physicians were consulted, but his condition did not excite any serious concern. Monday a tumor for the worst suddenly came and the result of that marriage, who married Andrew Bayne, of Halifax, son of the late Thomas Bayne. His second wife was Miss McLean, by whom he had two daughters, who, with their mother, survive.

The deceased was born in 1841, and was appointed post-office inspector in 1879, and he held that position up to the time of his death. He served as alderman in Halifax for three years. He was admitted to the bar of Nova Scotia in 1872. In 1878 he was elected a member of the local legislature with the late John Pugh and W. D. Harrington, now city collector. The following year he retired from legislative duties to accept the position of post-office inspector, which he filled most acceptably from the day of his appointment.

British House of Lords Wakens Up.

The British House of Lords has not had much of a reputation during late years as a debating chamber, but Mr. Chamberlain's proposition for inter-colonial preference in trade has stirred its members to the depths, and the House of Commons is in no danger of having to look to its laurels. Imperial preference is a big subject and affords easy scope for argument. In the matter of tea it would be difficult, for there could be only one opinion, viz: that MORSE'S TEAS are the best.

Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar W. Felch entertained a number of their relatives and friends at their home in Mahone, on Monday evening, Sept. 29th, in celebrating the fifth anniversary of their marriage. Refreshments were served during the evening and a delightful time was enjoyed by all.

Holds Five World's Records.

The above is a cut of P. P. Williams, physical director of the world's greatest athletes. He certifies as follows: "P. P. Williams is a fine athlete, by all standards, and has won many world's records in my contacts. Also my articles, which are published in the 'Lion's Share', are highly complimentary to his ability."

When pieces of toilet soap are too small for use, put aside until you have enough. To a cupful of these pieces add one tablespoonful of water, set in a pan of boiling water, and let boil until melted, stirring occasionally.

Save the flyings and meat drippings. Water in which meat has been boiled should be allowed to stand until it is cold, when the grease will collect on the top and can then be taken off.

Jokers' Corner. A GREAT APPETITE.

On the cars running to New York was a stalwart man, going to the city to buy goods. He was not what might be called a 'stingy' or 'close' man, but he was a man, when there was any cent due him that swinging might deprive him of, would sacrifice fifty dollars to save the copper.

He had started in the morning without any breakfast, and when E-love in sight, he gathered himself up for a general skrimish for any and all kinds of provisions. He had a carpet-bag with him, and going into the dining room at E— he deposited his carpet-bag on one chair, while he took another at his side.

He was lost for about ten minutes, perfectly oblivious to everything save that he had a blessed consciousness of something very rapidly and agreeably replenishing the inner man.

About this time the landlady came round, and stopping by the gentleman's chair, ejaculated: "Dollars, sir."

"A dollar," responded the eater, "I thought you only charged five cents a meal for one; isn't that so?" "That's true," said the waitress, "but I count your carpet-bag as one, since it occupies a seat."

Now the fellow was far from being crowded, and the gentleman expostulated; but the landlady insisted, and the dollar was reluctantly brought forth, paid over, and the receiver passed on.

Our victim deliberately arose, and opening the carpet-bag to the full extent of its wide mouth, addressed it as follows: "Carpet-bag, it seems you are an individual—a human individual, since you eat—at least I've paid for your eating, and now you must eat!"

Upon this he seized everything eatable, that was carriageable, within his reach: raisins, apples, cakes, crisp pies, and the rest of the bakers' brawlers, the delight of his fellow-passengers, and the discomfiture of the landlady, plategatically went out and took his seat in the car. There was but least five dollars' worth in the bag, upon which the landlady realized nothing in the way of profit.

A PARTY TO THE CRIME.

One of the most delightful of story-tellers (not a proverbiator, but a raconteur) is Sir Paul Phillips, Bart. In consequence he is very much in demand as an after-dinner story-teller, and while his witty yarns lack much in the telling, because they are not so much in his inimitable power of imitation, yet one of Fould Phillips's yarns is always sure to be the topic of conversation for days after it has been told.

His latest is something like this: "Some years ago I happened to be in one of the small chambers of the Guildhall for some purpose or another, when I had a look for the moment, when an old Irishman, but in hand, walked in. After a moment's critical survey of my Aldermanic robes he walked up to me and asked: "Is this the Lord Mayor?"

"Is this the Lord Mayor?" "I'm sure to say it is not." "Are you the mayor's secretary, then?" "Again I expressed sorrow at the unkindness of Fate. The old man fumbled with his hat and started to walk away; but upon second thought returned and asked: "Are you, then, implicated with the mayor's office in any way?"

"—Johnny (to his sister's young man)—"What creek did you play with this season?" Sister's young man—"I never played in my life. Why do you ask Johnny—" "Cause I heard me tell his you were a splendid catch."

"—Domestic—"Please, sir, the grocer and butcher and baker and milkman are leaving until they are paid." Mr. Auler—"Hem! Very well; tell them that if they will continue to supply me with provisions, they are welcome to stay here and board it out."

"—What's the matter?" asked the lawyer's friend. "Ben in a railway accident?" "No; I had a jury case the other day, and in arguing it I bore strongly on the theory that my client was a fool rather than a criminal."

"Yes," I said so well that he was acquitted and met me outside."

"—Well, Tompkins, how did you come out in the last race?" "As nearly as I can figure it I came out about fifteen dollars to the good."

"Fifteen dollars; that's not bad. What horse did you back?" "None. I had fifteen dollars with me that I did not bet with."

"—Susie," said a teacher to one of her pupils, "you shouldn't make faces. You'll grow up ugly if you do." Susie looked thoughtfully into the teacher's eyes for a moment and then innocently asked: "Did you make faces when you were a little girl?"

"—Little Mary—"Mamma, when I grow up, can I marry a Dutchman?" Mamma—"Why a Dutchman, dear?" Little Mary—"So I can be a duchess, mamma."

He Learned a Great Truth.

It is said of John Wesley that he once said to Mistress Wesley: "Why do you tell that child the same thing over and over again?" John Wesley, because once telling is not enough. It is for this reason that you are told again and again that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cures colds and grip; that it counteracts any tendency of these diseases to result in pneumonia; and that it is pleasant and safe to take.
