

ANDREW WATSON SELF CONFESSED MURDERER AND

Bigamist Leads County Officials to the Grave of One of His Victims Buried in a Gulch.

HAGGARD, WHITE FACED AND WORN

He Remained Unshaken Until the Body of His Victim Was Brought to View When He Collapsed.

Los Angeles, May 4.—Guided personally by Walter Andrew Watson, alias James R. Hunt, alleged bigamist and murderer, Los Angeles county officials set out today to renew the search in an isolated and desolate portion of San Diego county, for the grave of Nina Lee Delaney, one of five "wives" Watson is said to have confessed he killed.

The body of Nina Lee Delaney was found by the searching party directed by Watson at 10.10 o'clock this morning.

Five miles north of Coyote Wells, Watson halted the ambulance. "There's the gulch," he said. Assisted by deputy sheriff Watson walked to a spot near a small cliff. "There's the ledge," he said, pointing. Deputy Sheriff turned a few shovelfuls of earth and revealed the body.

Watson, haggard, white faced and with staring eyes, due to his physical condition, was unshaken until the body of his victim lay in view. As he walked feebly from the ambulance to the place where he said the body was buried he was accompanied by scores of officers, public officials, newspaper men and photographers. More than 100 curious onlookers followed the party. Seventy-five automobiles, carrying 100 people, had made the trip across the desert from El Centro. Deputy Sheriff with shovels stepped forward and turned a few bits of earth, while cameras clicked and the crowd stood watching. Then one of the men dropped his shovel and bent forward, an instant later the canvas which covered the dead woman was taken from the small grave into which it had been jammed, distorted and almost broken by the force which had been applied to thrust it there.

The canvas was opened just enough to make sure that there was no mistake. Watson, who had been resting until a casket arrived, and the priest, the body of the victim and their support of husbands started again for El Centro where an inquest was ordered immediately. Watson collapsed when the body was uncovered and had to be assisted to the ambulance where he lay during the subsequent str of getting the body ready for transportation.

The position of the body bore every portion of Watson's alleged statements concerning his course after he had killed the woman. He had said he had wrapped the nude body in canvas, put it in an automobile at Santa Monica, adjacent to Los Angeles and driven over the coast highway inland through San Diego county, and then carried it in his arms to a spot he could not reach by automobile, where he thrust it into a small excavation.

At the grave Watson made a speech to the crowd before he would go forward. He said:

"My friends, I have come along to assist the law. I am not here, as you can see, and I wish to request that I be not worried with questions or requests for pictures until the body is uncovered."

Washington, May 4.—A cablegram, signed by eighty-eight members of the House, protesting against imprisonment, without arraignment or trial, of persons arrested in Ireland for political offences, was sent today. Mr. Lloyd George and the British Parliament.

The message said: "With the profound conviction that further wars and acts of war should be avoided, and believing that wholesale arrests without arraignment or trial disturb the peace and tranquility of a people, are destructive of human rights, and are at variance with the principles of liberty, which are embodied in the United States constitution, in the provision that no person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law, the undersigned members of Congress of the United States of America, protest against further imprisonment, without arraignment or trial, of persons, residing in Ireland, arrested for acts of a political nature; and we ask, in the spirit of American freedom and love of justice, out of our friendliness to the peoples of England and Ireland, and in the name of international peace, that, hereafter, if arrests, based upon acts of a political nature, are made in Ireland by any form of authority, the right of trial shall without unreasonable delay be accorded to the accused."

LEGISLATORS OF ONTARIO WARM UP OVER DEBATE

On the Increase in the Seasonal Indemnity Demanded in "Round Robin" Signed by Many.

PREMIER DRURY SEVERELY SCORED

By Farmer Member Who Takes Exception to the Premier's Autocratic Administration Methods.

Toronto, Ont., May 4.—There will be no increase in the seasonal indemnity for members of the Legislature in Ontario. Notice to this effect was filed today on the House by Premier Drury tonight, and the ensuing debate was probably the warmest session since that brought forth.

The Premier Minister broached the question when the House was in committee on supply on the estimates. He declared emphatically that the demand should not be pressed.

"The people of the province are looking to this House for an example in economy," Mr. Drury observed. H. H. Dewar, Liberal leader, arose to protest against such "cavalier treatment" for those who had signed the round robin. He himself was not one, he said, but he regarded the request as a reasonable one, and one deserving further consideration at the hands of the Government.

M. M. McBride, Liberal member for South Brant, was outspoken in his support of the request. He expressed wonder at the "backsliding" of the Premier in opposing the request of seventy-five members.

Other Labor and Liberal members favored the increased indemnity. Premier Scored.

Some of the United Farmer members supported the Premier in his opposition to the request. Mr. U. F. O. member for East Lambton, endorsed both sides of the House by pouring several rounds of hot shot upon the Premier's position. He stated heaving signed the "round robin," giving as his reason that he did not consider the present indemnity sufficient for the necessities of the situation, and was prepared to face his constituents. Mr. Oke wished to know what sacrifice the Premier was making and whether he had given up.

"I have not, but I expect to lose on it," replied Mr. Drury. "I am making a sacrifice, but I do not propose to stand here and be laughed at. I would like to call the Premier Minister's attention to the fact that he is what some of the people back in his constituencies which put us in here, and empowered us to place him in here, and he is occupying the position of a man who has letters in my pocket now that would make the Premier Minister blush if I were to read them in the House."

NOVA SCOTIA HAS ITS DENTAL BILL

Aimed at Preventing Unregistered Dentists from Practising Causes Lively Debate

Halifax, May 4.—(By Canadian Press)—The sitting of the House of Assembly, today, was marked by two lengthy debates. The most important of the two was elicited by Mr. Armstrong's motion for the second reading of the bill introduced yesterday, which provides for the merging of the Dominion Steel Corporation and the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company into the British Empire Steel Corporation. There was some argument over points of order affecting the second reading of the measure only twenty-four hours after it had been brought forward, but the ensuing discussion was in no manner contentious.

Mr. Armstrong explained the purpose of the bill and pictured the great industrial development and prosperity which the merger would bring to Nova Scotia. Mr. Hall and Mr. Tovey also spoke on the bill, both regretting that the new company was not incorporated in Nova Scotia. The debate was adjourned.

The longer and livelier debate, really the most dramatic one of the session, was caused by the Dental Bill. This bill, which will prevent the practicing of unregistered dentists even in offices controlled by registered dentists, was reported by the Law Amendment Committee and by three months' hoist was suggested. Mr. Faulkner, its sponsor, moved that it be sent to the committee of the whole, and Mr. Bishop, its chief opponent, moved a series of amendments which would have nullified its effect. Many members spoke, the majority of them supporting the bill, which is backed by the Nova Scotia Dentists' Society, and Mr. Faulkner's amendment carried.

SEE TROUBLE AHEAD

Other Colonies Will Want Representation at Washington if Canada Gets it.

Montreal, May 4.—A London cable to the Montreal Star says: "If Canada is permitted to establish an individual diplomatic representative in Washington, the other great British colonies may be expected to ask for the same privileges. This is the personal opinion of several members of the Foreign Office staff, voiced today. The Dominion referred to are New Zealand, South Africa and Australia. These officials take the view that the Dominion should be accorded the first freedom in conducting their international trade, customs, boundaries and immigration affairs. The only matters which should be strictly reserved for the British Ambassador are those pertaining to the foreign policy of the Empire as a whole, they believe."

PARIS BELIEVES END OF STRIKE IS NEAR

Dockers' and Seamen's Strike is More Complete Than That of Miners and Ry. Men.

Paris, May 4.—Official circles tonight, feel that the end of the strike is near. The railroad men have been given until Thursday to return to work; after that time they will be irrevocably discharged.

In the Northern mine field, which furnishes 27,000 out of the 40,000 tons of coal mined in France daily, the men are continuing at work.

The dockers' and seamen's strike, while not general, is more complete than that of the miners and railway men, but the hesitation of the men in other industries to join the movement, it is considered, is bound to have its effect sooner or later.

At Havre the crew of La Touraine, just arrived from New York, desiring to re-embark after putting everything in order, but the crew of La Perouse, also from New York, remained at their posts.

GENERAL McLENNAN WAS WRONGLY REPORTED

Official Stenographer's Report of His Statement Before Pensions Committee Now Given Press.

Ottawa, May 4.—(By Canadian Press)—The following statement on what took place at Monday's meeting of the special committee on pensions, was made at this morning's session of the committee.

Brigadier-General McLeenan—"I did not say that most private soldiers married the servant class. The official stenographer's report of what I said is as follows: "Most of the private soldiers who married servant girls, were in that class who were earning their living before."

I was trying to point out that as many of the young women who had married soldiers, either before or after their enlistment, and were children were used to working; they should be encouraged to continue working, and that their pensions should be less than for the widow with children. My sympathy goes out first to disabled soldiers, or widows with families to support and others who have lost their only support."

SOLDIERS AND POLICE IN CLASH

Warsaw, May 3.—Two men were killed and nine others wounded in a conflict between civilians and military at the railway station at Praga, a suburb of Warsaw, where troops from Pozen were entering for the front today. The police responded to a riot call, and met with opposition from the soldiers. Both police and troops used their rifles and one policeman was killed.

STEEL MERGER AWAKENS SOME SUSPICION IN

Parliament Which Was Voiced by Mr. Richardson Who is Antagonistic to Big Business.

MAKES ASTOUNDING STATEMENT THAT

Merger is An Attempt by London and N. Y. to Put Over Stock Watering Enterprise.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, May 4.—The proposed merger of Canadian iron and shipping into a half a billion dollar corporation, (according to reports of its capitalization will ultimately stand at one billion) known as the British Empire Steel Corporation, has awakened suspicion in parliament. This suspicion was voiced today by Mr. Richardson of Springfield, a member of the opposition, and is of a somewhat shocking character, but whose antagonism to railways and big business generally is most pronounced. Mr. Richardson was not in a position to throw much light on his subject, but what he lacked in light he made up in heat, the general temperature of which may be indicated by his insinuation that the merger is "an attempt by London and New York financiers, closely connected with the United States Steel Corporation to put over a gigantic stock watering enterprise."

This astounding statement, (the general belief is that the amalgamation is really a rival of United States Steel) Mr. Richardson was content to have based upon the authority of "a prominent financial man in Toronto," whose name, unfortunately, he did not disclose.

The debate which followed was not overly impressive. Mr. Nesbitt and Mr. Bristol, both members of such parties of corporations, that their defence carried little weight; Mr. Caldwell and Mr. Archambault seemed more intent on playing a little game of politics on the side than of preventing a merger; and Mr. W. F. MacLean and Dr. Mitchell, who merely saw an opportunity of putting in a word for their respective fetishes of public ownership and free trade.

The sober opinion of the House was perhaps best expressed by Sir George Foster. The acting Government leader simply said and pointed out that all numbers were not necessarily antagonistic to the public interest but that in order that the public should not suffer, the Government would give to the proposed merger's application for incorporation the scrutiny and consideration which its size and importance demand.

Announcement of the return of the Prime Minister around May 15th, has given the House a new lease of life, and speculation is rife as to whether Sir Robert Borden's health is so well restored to enable him to continue in office. Apparently the only person having first hand knowledge of the matter is Dr. Selous, who is now returning to Ottawa from a personal interview with the Premier at his winter home in the south. The tactful doctor, however, appears to have very real doubts and it may be the House should have to wait for Sir Robert's presence before forming a reliable opinion.

MILITARY ADVISERS LEAVING CARRANZA

Military Group Are Determined to Force Him Out of Office at Once.

Washington, May 4.—General Pablo Gonzalez, long regarded by Carranza as his staunchest supporter, has joined the revolution, according to advices today through unofficial channels.

Another report received here through official channels, was that high military officers whom Carranza had summoned in council a few days ago, had supplemented their advice to him to resign, with an ultimatum fixing May 15 as the limit for his tenure of office. The reported determination of the military group to force him out of office would go far to offset Carranza's account for the failure that has been met by Carranza, getting underway any offensive campaign. To date the revolution has moved forward without a battle, and the report mentioning the ultimatum applied that his military advisers were determined not to follow a course that would inevitably involve the country in a long struggle filled with danger of foreign complications.

GO AFTER MARKET

Canadian Manufacturers Told How to Secure and Hold Overseas Market.

Montreal, May 4.—That Canadian manufacturers should "ration" the overseas market, if they wish to retain it permanently, was the suggestion made tonight by Walter LeRoy, editor and founder of "Canada" and the "Canadian Export Promoter," weekly papers published in London, England. The latter publication, Mr. LeRoy stated, had sprung out of the establishment of the Canadian Trade Mission in London.

He stated that the Canadian Trade Mission in London could not do effective work unless manufacturers are prepared to set aside a certain proportion of their output for export trade, and if export trade is to be undertaken, then exports must be rationed, so that the market may be sure of its supply.

"PRODUCE MORE AND WASTE LESS"

Is Advice of Lord Shaughnessy in a Review of the Present Day Outlook.

New York, May 4.—Canadian Press "Increase production and waste less," is the advice tendered by Lord Shaughnessy in a review of the present day outlook published today in the Wall Street Journal.

"It should be our prayer," says Lord Shaughnessy, "that contraction be not swift and that price correction be orderly and spread over a long period. History will repeat itself, as it did after the American Revolution, after the civil wars, and after the great wars of older times. There can be no liquidation of wages until commodity prices are lowered. It was five years ago and remains true now, we must increase production and decrease wasteful consumption."

The United States through its reserve system, said Canada through its branch banks can hasten this process through judicious conservation of new credit. But a broad concerted program of contraction in either country would result in a competitive depression here. We have no such program of contraction on the side than of preventing a merger; and Mr. W. F. MacLean and Dr. Mitchell, who merely saw an opportunity of putting in a word for their respective fetishes of public ownership and free trade.

MONTREAL JEWS IN CELEBRATION

Happy That Palestine is to Become Their National Homeland Under British Empire.

Montreal, May 4.—A demonstration that included hardly less than 20,000 people tonight testified to the deep emotion with which the Jewish people of Montreal regarded the fact that Palestine is again to become their national homeland as part of the British Empire. The gathering was held in the Mount Royal Arena, which was chosen as the locale of the demonstration. Parades of automobiles and trucks loaded with children were taken up the principal streets leading to the Arena.

SPURIOUS COINS IN MONTREAL

Montreal, May 4.—Some scores of spurious twenty-five cent pieces were produced before Judge T. C. today in the Quebec Court when three men charged with counterfeiting appeared for preliminary hearing. The three accused are George Wilcox, colored, Plaque and James Paton. The charges showed some evidence of good workmanship and the police claim that a number of them had been put into circulation here. The case was adjourned to tomorrow.

INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES ACT UNDER DEBATE

Clause Providing That a Demand to Strike Shall Have Majority of Union Was Under Fire.

NICHOLSON SAYS HE IS NO RED

Amendments to the Canada Shipping Act Increasing Que. Pilotage Fees Has 3rd Reading.

Ottawa, May 4.—(Canadian Press) The bill to amend the Industrial Disputes Act was again under fire in the Commons this evening. The clause, providing that a demand to strike shall have the sanction of a majority of the union, was objected to by Angus McDonald (Temiskaming) who moved an amendment that the majority of men affected should vote.

After more than an hour of debate, which, Arthur Meighen, who was piloting the bill through the House, announced that the interpretation of the Act as given by Senator Robertson, Minister of Labor, was in effect the same as that sought by Mr. McDonald. He had no objection to Mr. McDonald's amendment, provided that the word "union" was inserted ahead of "men affected."

Mr. McDonald's amendment carried, but the clause stood over for further consideration. Mr. Meighen explained that in the case of the Grand Trunk employees, there were some times five distinct unions at odds at one time, and for this reason it was thought better that the majority opinion as to a strike should rule. The amendment proposed by the Minister had the sanction of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

G. B. Nicholson (Algonia) had referred to the growth of collective bargaining and the need for a safe contract which would bind both employers and employees.

A reference by Mr. Nicholson to private labor organizations which would result in the overthrow of the legitimate Unions, brought from Mr. McDonald the statement that he was a member of an International Labor Union, registered at home in the Dominion of Government, and any charge which had been made against him of being a "Red" or Socialist were far wide of their mark. The committee reported progress on the bill and then took up consideration of the franchise bill.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS ILLEGAL IMPRISONMENT

Case to be Brought up May 17th—Plaintiff Determined to Prosecute.

Montreal, May 4.—A despatch to La Presse, from Ste. Scholastique states that the action against the Knights of Columbus, St. Jerome Lodge for illegal imprisonment taken at the instance of Joseph Fortier, prothonotary of the superior court of Ste. Scholastique, which was announced yesterday as having been put off to next Monday, will possibly be postponed to May 17. Mr. Fortier, according to La Presse, has announced his firm intention of continuing the action. Meanwhile La Presse interviewed Narcisse Forest, notary of Ste. Scholastique, who has given further details of the initiation, which is the cause of the action. Mr. Forest said that it occurred on Sunday evening, of March 21, and that a party of 22 men were shut into an eight by ten room which was heated to the temperature of a Turkish bath. One of the party, Clement Fortier, son of the plaintiff, lost consciousness, and Mr. Forest claims that Fortier help was unobtainable.

Board of Health Monthly Meeting

Reports Received Yesterday from Different Branches of the Work—Notes of Appreciation Received—Stable in City Hall, West St., John.

The monthly meeting of the Board of Health was held yesterday afternoon in their rooms, with the chairman, John Kelly, presiding. In attendance were Mrs. R. D. Hooper, Dr. W. L. Warwick, district health officer; Geo. Blake, Walter H. Golding and the secretary, T. M. Higgins.

Minutes of last meeting were read and adopted. The report of Miss Murdoch, of the North End of Narrows, child welfare branch was presented. This report incorporated for the first time a month's resume of work done in West St. John. Miss Murdoch reports 39 new babies had come under their care in the city, and 41 in West St. John. One child had been turned over to the nurses of the anti-tuberculosis society for watch care, while one of the older children had been put into the hands of the truant officer. Miss Murdoch's report was very illuminating and she showed valuable illustrations on the work carried on by this quite recently organized child welfare department.

Dr. T. Fred Johnston, inspector of food and dairy products, reported having inspected the premises of 174 milk producers, and of 35 cream canners in Kings county, and of 31 milk producers in St. John county, making a total of 244 inspections during the month of April. Dr. Johnston also submitted a report dealing with abattoirs in the vicinity of St. John, appearing his recommendations. Nurse S. E. Brophy representative of the anti-tuberculosis society reported having visited 105 adults and 49 children, 18 of whom were new patients, 3 persons had been discharged as non-tubercular. There are at present 84 under observation, 2 have been sent to the St. John county tuberculosis hospital and two to River Glade Sanatorium. This report reveals the great deal of practical work that the society is doing to combat that dread disease of tuberculosis.

The secretary read a communication from Mayor G. Hugh of the local military stores relative to the shortage in hospital supplies loaned to the Board of Health for the Emergency Influenza Hospital. The secretary was ordered to confer with Major Push with a view to estimating the cost of said deficiencies. The secretary read a note of appreciation from Brigadier-General Macdonald in return for a similar communication sent him recently by the board thanking him for his willing co-operation and the practical assistance of his department in the emergency health conditions that have sprung up during his absence. The general said it was a pleasure as well as a duty to add the services and assistance of his department in such a time of need.

Another note of appreciation was read from Louise Marsha Fraser for the tangible expression of the board's appreciation of her services during one of the recent epidemics. The secretary then read the formal resignation of Dr. W. L. Ellis as medical advisor of the board, and school medical inspector for the parishes of Lancaster and Musquash. As the doctor's resignation was very definitely stated, it was not granted. Messrs. W. H. Golding and Geo. Blake draft a resolution expressing the board's appreciation of Dr. Ellis' long and efficient service as well as his ability to his trust on all occasions.

The chairman had urged Dr. Ellis to reconsider his decision, but the doctor had informed him it was quite necessary for him to relinquish his duties on account of pressure of work in other directions.

The secretary read a communication from Helen Sydney-Smith, acting secretary of the anti-tuberculosis society, regarding her activity in presenting charges against "spitters." It was decided that the secretary of the board and Dr. Warwick confer with the police department with a view to organizing a red hot campaign against those who expectorate in public places, all persons committing such an offence to be arrested.

Dr. O. Comeau, of Lancaster was appointed medical inspector of schools for the parishes of Lancaster and Musquash. A rather unique complaint has been made against the city by the Board of Health. It appears that a horse belonging to the public works department is stable in the cellar of the city hall, West St. John. When brought to the notice of Commissioner Jones he had replied that it had been used as a stable for twenty years and he failed to see how it was a nuisance. However, it was contended by the board that there was a moving picture theatre on the next floor above and janitor's apartments on the top floor, and consequently the stable was in an incongruous place. The secretary was instructed to inform the proper authorities that the use of the cellar as a stable be discontinued.

Dr. Melvin, chief medical officer of the province wrote that it was the mind of the government that all milk and cream producers belonging to outside parts and supplying St. John shall have special licenses. After discussion on this point Dr. Warwick moved that any future licenses issued to these producers shall be upon the warrant of the inspector and the special license be issued to the producer who have passed Dr. Johnston's inspection, and that the fee be $1. Another communication from Dr. Melvin dealt with clause 142 of the Health Act concerning nuisances. It demanded that there be a strict inspection of all dwelling and public houses each year. It was thought that this would impose a considerable task on the staff already busy with the most urgent cases, but the view of the chief medical officer will be carried out as far as possible.

SENATE PAYS TRIBUTE TO LATE MEMBER

Senators to Go Carefully Into Details Connected With the Big Steel Merger.

Ottawa, May 4.—In the Senate today tributes were paid to the late Senator Pringle by Sir James Lougheed, Governor-General and Hon. Lewis, Boston, leader of the Opposition. Senator Lougheed said that few men had more friendly relations with the Senate. He said that the faculty of making strong personal friends, it is said that death leaves a shining mark. I do not know of any man in this chamber who gave promises of long life, yet death found a weak spot in that powerful frame. If any man had been selected from the Senate for gifts of friendship, popularity and personal endorsement it would have been our late colleague.

Senator Boston joined with the leader of the Government in expressing his sorrow. His kindness had won the confidence of his associates and acquaintances, and Senator Boston's friends throughout Canada mourn his death. They looked upon him as a man of great ability. In reply to a query of Senator Donville information was given showing an increase in the Imperial Oil Company's capitalization from $50,000,000 in 1910, to $100,000,000 in 1919. Senator Boston gave notice of a series of questions respecting the details of the incorporation of the British Empire Steel Corporation. He also asked the leader of the Government of the return of the Prime Minister, and was told by Senator Lougheed that he looked forward to Sir Robert's early arrival in Ottawa.

GERMAN SECRET GROUP CAUSE OF TROUBLE

Pledged to Fight to the Last Gasp for the Retention of Upper Silesia.

Lithuan, Silesia, May 4.—(By the Associated Press).—The members of a secret organization known as the "Kamp" (Kampf organization Ober Schlesien) which is made up of German men pledged to fight to the last gasp for the retention of Upper Silesia, were responsible for the attacks Sunday on Polish parades according to Weick Koranyi, chief of the plebiscite commission. Koranyi declared today that the German government was financially backing and directing the work of this organization. He said that a written report of his last meeting, in which German government representatives participated, had just fallen into his hands, and he had submitted the document to the plebiscite commission. "German soldiers in civilian dress came in from Breslau and other German districts to break up our processions," Koranyi declared. "The Polish litters resent the employment by the International Commission of German security police. Koranyi said that if the demand for their removal was not met, there would be a general strike by May 9, tying up every mine and foundry."

who is also chief of the fire department, gave it as his opinion that the city is in bad shape in some sections, and made some valuable suggestions in regard to the approaching "clean-up" day. It was stated that the appropriation in the estimates to help the people clean up their premises by removing dirt, etc., is $200. Board representative would consult with Commissioner Frank and with Commissioner Thompson, in order that this year's clean up would be a thorough one. A special meeting will also be held at all parties interested to make plans for this big drive against dirt.

The board decided that Dr. L. M. Curran and Dr. Warwick confer with Dr. Pratt, acting chief physician for the board, as to the duties in connection with reportable diseases. It is possible that assistance will have to be secured for the secretary of the board, as the duties in consequence of his added labors as registrar of births, deaths and marriages. Dr. Warwick reported on his visit to premises in rear of 46 Broad street and as a result the board decided that the owners be given 15 days in which to remedy the most glaring defects. Dr. Mabel Hanington, medical inspector of schools, in her report for April stressed the seriousness of parents in matter of lighter forms of infectious diseases, which carelessly increased the prevalence. During the month children were excluded from schools, and 8 were re-admitted. Prevalent ailments were laryngitis, scarlet fever, mumps and influenza. There was one case of measles. Mrs. Armstrong, school nurse has completed her round of Grades I to 6. The board acceded to the request of smallpox guards for another one dollar a day wage.

Dr. Warwick brought up matter of a proper disinfecting plant and urged that a high pressure steam disinfecting plant be secured as soon as it was financially possible. He was appointed a committee of one to enquire into cost, types, etc. of such a plant. Dr. Warwick also brought to the notice of the board unsanitary conditions in newly constructed houses on side hills of East St. John. The chairman considered this a matter for the county council.

BRITISH FEEL SATISFIED WITH SAN REMO POLICY

The Average Man Pleased That Lloyd George Stood Firm.

PREMIER'S STRENGTH GROWING DAILY

Quickly Dispelled the Black Clouds Rolled up in His Absence.

London, May 2.—Economic and political might almost be reduced to two formulas in Britain today. The former may be summarized as a presentation of labor chasing its own tail round the vicious circle of increased wages and higher prices. The latter may be summarized as a demonstration of Lloyd George in his journeying from England to the Continent, and back, and the Prime Minister has just come back from San Remo and he has come back in a double sense. The Northcliffe newspapers during his absence have been busy making history repeat itself. As at the Peace Conference a year ago and every foreign session of the Supreme Council, the absence of the Premier is the subject of the talk of the day. It is not surprising that the Premier's return has been met with a great deal of relief. The Premier's return has been met with a great deal of relief. Wreck of Schooner Attainment Sold—Cruel Treatment of Cattle.

Digby, May 4.—The cruel treatment of cattle in course of shipment through this port is coming in for much attention. A good programme was rendered. The pastor was presented with a gift of a silver chair and his wife received a fine wicker chair and jardiniere stand.

The Amalgamated Textile Workers of America have announced that they would support demands by their constituent unions for a fifty per cent increase.

Dispute Arises Over the Milk and St. Marys Rivers.

Ottawa, May 4.—The argument of Senator Turner, counsel for the United States, today's session of the International Waterways Commission was aimed to prove that the original treaty on International Waterways was intended for the equal distribution between the two countries of streams which were local to one of them. In the case of the Milk and St. Marys Rivers, which are considered together because they are connected in Montana by a canal, certain tributaries join the Milk River after it is the idea of the Canadian Federation of Returned Soldiers and Sailors, when delegates will be selected to form part of a general department to wait upon the Dominion Government and leader of the Opposition on Monday next. The idea is to ask Parliament as a whole, both Government and Opposition, to encourage shipbuilding in Canada.

EDMONTON READY FOR CELEBRATION

Elaborate Preparations Have Been Made for the Observance of Hudson's Bay Co. Anniversary.

Edmonton, Alta., May 4.—With a street pageant embracing thirty-five historic floats, tableaux and living pictures illustrating pioneer times presented at one theatre and moving pictures that epitomize the fur trade at the Allen, Edmonton will commemorate the 250th anniversary of the Hudson's Bay Company, May 6 and 8th. The tableaux which will be staged at the Empire theatre every night will be one of the most interesting features of the celebration. They will include scenes, the costumes and stage setting of which have been carried out with historic exactness. These scenes will be: 1. King Charles II. signs the charter May 2, 1670. 2. PROFITTEERING IN ELECTRIC BULBS BY ENGLISH CONCERNS

Three Leading Firms Have Formed a Combination to Keep Prices up.

London, May 3.—England has started an investigation of the post-war growth of alleged trusts and monopolies. A profiteering committee which has been looking into the activity of electric light companies and lamp bulb manufacturers, in a report recently made public, says that "a trade combination does exist among electric light manufacturers in this country and exercises a powerful influence over the conduct and development of the industry."

It is known as the Electric Light Manufacturers Association, the report says, and has been created primarily in the interests of three firms—the British-Houston Company, the General Electric Company and Messrs. Siemens Brothers. It is reported to include from 90 to 95 per cent. of the industry, to fix prices and regulate output, says the profiteering committee.

The prices fixed by Association, the report says, became the standard for all lamps sold in this country, whether made by Association or non-association manufacturers, or imported from abroad. Because of this standard price policy the general public reap no benefit from lamps of cheaper manufacture the advantage going wholly to distributors.

Standard vacuum lamps, now sold to the public for three shillings, states the report, could be sold at two shillings if which price the manufacturer and distributor would still have a satisfactory working profit.

"One and a quarter million half-watt lamps," adds the report, "sold to the public in 1919 at twelve shillings and sixpence each were purchased in Holland by three associated manufacturers at about three shillings a lamp. They could have been sold at not more than eight shillings which would still have left ample margin for the importers and distributors. Imports and distributors, however, make profits on these lamps, of some what would appear to us reasonable."

"Since the largest of the three dominant firms," continues the report, "is under the majority control of an American electrical concern, there is an American like $1,400,000 over and above what would appear to us reasonable."

"Since the largest of the three dominant firms," continues the report, "is under the majority control of an American electrical concern, there is an American like $1,400,000 over and above what would appear to us reasonable."

"There is a possibility of an international combination comprising British, Dutch and American manufacturers which would be able to control supply and demand prices over a considerable part of the world."

"The operations of an association which so effectively controls an important industry," the report says, "should be subject to public supervision and control."

SOVIETS PLAYING TO THE ARMENIANS

Make Flattering Inducements to Secure Control of the Foreign Relations of Armenia.

London, May 4.—It has been learned from a usually well-informed source in Constantinople that Russian Soviet agents are endeavoring, and with some hopes of success, to induce the Armenian Bolshevik Party, which is believed the British Government, to accept the Soviet's control of the foreign relations of Armenia, says a despatch to the London Times from Constantinople, dated Monday.

In return, the despatch adds, the Soviet Government has promised to grant the Armenians complete internal independence and offered them the same territorial rights as the Entente Powers have offered, and also the necessary military assistance to enable them to realize their aspirations.

Gun Position Is Optional

So Declares English Shooter in Discussing Olympic Rules—At Antwerp Tournery—England Extends Invitation to American Trapshooting Team.

New York, May 3.—The team which will represent the United States in the Olympic contests at Antwerp will make a preliminary visit to England to shoot in the English championships July 15 to 17, according to an announcement made yesterday in behalf of the American Trapshooting Association. The invitation to shoot in England was contained in a cablegram from W. P. Grosvener, a member of this year's British Olympic trapshooting team.

Mr. Grosvener's invitation reads: "If American team can visit us, we shall hold English championships July 15, 16, and 17. Cable me details early."

The invitation was relayed to Jay Clark, jr., of Worcester, Mass., captain of the American Olympic team, and he at once gave out the following statement:—The invitation is most pleasing, and an acceptance will undoubtedly be called for as early as opportunity. The competition in the English championships presents will give the team just the practice most needed prior to engaging in the Olympic games at Antwerp. Our plans as to probable date of the departure of our team from New York will fall in with Mr. Grosvener's dates to a "tee," as we expect the team to sail on the Mauretania on July 8. As the trapshooting contests at Antwerp commence on July 22, the English trapshooting authorities have shown a fine spirit of sportsmanship in offering to hold their championships on dates which enable our team to take them in without loss of time or additional expense."

Mr. Grosvener has also called the American Trapshooting Association to the attention of the fact that Antwerp this year provide that a shooter may hold his gun in any position when ready to fire. Mr. Grosvener's words are:—"Gun position optional."

This announcement would be good news to Captain Clark and to the committee he has appointed to aid him in the selection of the team, were it not that it is understood that F. P. Hubben, secretary of the A. A. L., has received from the Antwerp authorities a rather contradictory statement by cable. Mr. Hubben's advice is said to state that the shooting rules at Antwerp will be the same as those in force at Stockholm in 1912, when Antwerp had to be held "between the arm" and the help until the target is in the air. Both cables were replies to two separate individual requests asking for information on the subject.

Copy of Rules Arrive.

The American Trapshooting Association has received a copy of the rules governing all contests at Antwerp. These are printed in French, and that part of them which refers to trapshooting employs only two words in defining the position in which the shooter shall hold his gun when "ready" or "in fire,"—"Postion libre," literally "Free position," the rule is so short and apparently not definite enough in view of the conflicting advice. Captain Clark and his committee feel that further correspondence is necessary in order that positive information on the point may be obtained.

In the meanwhile, practice for the Olympic contests of the candidates for the American team will be proceeded with under the assumption that the Stockholm rules will prevail at Antwerp. The candidates have already proved their skill under the American style of "gun position optional" (the A. T. T. trapshooting rules say: "A contestant may hold his gun in any position," and it is felt, therefore, that it is best to be prepared should it be found that, after all, the Stockholm rules will be in force at this year's games.

NEAR TRAGEDY IN BURNING HOUSE

Special to The Standard. Moncton, N. B., May 4.—A fire, which might have been a tragedy, occurred in the house of Captain Perry Waters this afternoon. An alarm was given and when the firemen arrived, the kitchen was in flames. The occupants of the house had left a big fire in the stove for baking bread, and had gone down town, leaving only a small child behind. When the firemen arrived they heard the child crying and rescued it. The house was completely gutted and part of the furniture was destroyed. There is no human loss.

SCHEME FOR EMPIRE MEAT PRODUCTION

Place Ex-Servicemen on Ranches and Help Them Raise Cattle.

GOVERNMENTS TO PROVIDE NECESSARY PACKING AND FREEZING PLANTS FOR KILLING AND SHIPPING MEAT.

(By L. B. P. "The Empire Mail") The immediate cause of the anticipated meat shortage is self-evident; there just isn't enough to go round. There may be hucksterlike people who are content with such a superficial explanation of what threatens to make 1920, in the words of the Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Food, "the most critical year since the war," but reasoning men and women go deeper than that, and they see a dual cause for this unhappy prospect. First, the cessation of immigration will result in there being more mouths to feed in 1920 than there were in 1913; and, secondly, the bulk of our meat supply being in the hands of the large American corporations, we are at the mercy of a "king." The Government has already tried to break the "king" in South America, but notwithstanding that, our national markets are controlled by foreign trusts, and one of the prime essentials, if we are to ensure our meat supply in the future, is to ensure that our live stock shall be in our own hands.

Self-Supporting Empire Wanted.

It was unavoidable during the war that our live stock markets should have become depleted. Men were deficient, food was deficient, and economic conditions lowered our cattle herds until we were faced with the prospect of what now seems to be an almost living miracle. Throughout the world, all this, it must be realized, was inevitable. It could not be prevented, and now we can only try to remedy it.

Time will do this, but while the time is waiting for the remedy to come, so far as the British Empire is concerned, there is but one way to expedite the remedy. To put it into operation needs careful organization, close cooperation between this and other Dominions, and much hard and unselfish work and perseverance. But the outcome would be worth the effort. Not only would the cattle resources of the Empire be enormously increased, but these resources would be in the hands of our own people, and the home demand for meat would be lessened. Our Dominions are preparing to reward their fighters as they return to their homes. Canada, in particular, has shown a fine spirit of sportsmanship in offering to hold their championships on dates which enable our team to take them in without loss of time or additional expense."

Mr. Grosvener has also called the American Trapshooting Association to the attention of the fact that Antwerp this year provide that a shooter may hold his gun in any position when ready to fire. Mr. Grosvener's words are:—"Gun position optional."

This announcement would be good news to Captain Clark and to the committee he has appointed to aid him in the selection of the team, were it not that it is understood that F. P. Mr. Hubben's advice is said to state that the shooting rules at Antwerp will be the same as those in force at Stockholm in 1912, when Antwerp had to be held "between the arm" and the help until the target is in the air. Both cables were replies to two separate individual requests asking for information on the subject.

Copy of Rules Arrive.

The American Trapshooting Association has received a copy of the rules governing all contests at Antwerp. These are printed in French, and that part of them which refers to trapshooting employs only two words in defining the position in which the shooter shall hold his gun when "ready" or "in fire,"—"Postion libre," literally "Free position," the rule is so short and apparently not definite enough in view of the conflicting advice. Captain Clark and his committee feel that further correspondence is necessary in order that positive information on the point may be obtained.

In the meanwhile, practice for the Olympic contests of the candidates for the American team will be proceeded with under the assumption that the Stockholm rules will prevail at Antwerp. The candidates have already proved their skill under the American style of "gun position optional" (the A. T. T. trapshooting rules say: "A contestant may hold his gun in any position," and it is felt, therefore, that it is best to be prepared should it be found that, after all, the Stockholm rules will be in force at this year's games.

Mr. Grosvener has also called the American Trapshooting Association to the attention of the fact that Antwerp this year provide that a shooter may hold his gun in any position when ready to fire. Mr. Grosvener's words are:—"Gun position optional."

This announcement would be good news to Captain Clark and to the committee he has appointed to aid him in the selection of the team, were it not that it is understood that F. P. Hubben, secretary of the A. A. L., has received from the Antwerp authorities a rather contradictory statement by cable. NO TAX ON PREMIUMS OF NON-REGISTERED COS.

The Proposal Created a Stir in Business Circles and Delegation Waited on the Gov't.

Montreal, May 4.—It is not intended to bring down on the budget at Ottawa legislation to put a tax on fire insurance companies, according to information gathered in regard to the proposal which has created a stir in business circles here. This is the information given a delegation from this city by Sir Henry Drayton. Something will, however, be done by means of an amendment to the Insurance Act. The delegation also reported that the delay in bringing down the budget is caused by the business profits tax and doubts as to how to replace it.

WOOD LEADING IN INDIANA

Choice in Republican Presidential Preference Primaries Over Johnson.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 4.—It seemed apparent late tonight that Major General Wood had carried Indiana in the Republican Presidential preference primaries over Senator Johnson, of California. Some estimate placed his plurality at 29,000. Governor Lowden, of Illinois, was likely to be a third in the race, and Senator Harding of Ohio, a bad fourth. The vote cast was light.

Gagetown

Gagetown, April 28.—The Steamer "Mascot" has been making regular trips since last Tuesday, with Capt. Herbert Crabbe again in command. Although a large quantity of freight was brought up from St. John, especially on the first two trips, the quantity taken down the river is not nearly as large as in former years, the farm produce which was held to be shipped out on the "Mascot" is now sent to market much more advantageously during the winter season, by Valley Railway, many car loads of apples, cattle and potatoes having been sent away from here during this winter. There is still considerable hay to be shipped.

A valuable hay press spent the night at the bottom of Gagetown Creek on Tuesday, and gave a number of people a busy day on Wednesday, as the result of its high drive from the scow on which it was being towed from Upper Gagetown. On Tuesday afternoon, Leigh Slipp left "Chassee" at Upper Gagetown, with a scow, which he intended towing by means of a motor boat, to F. C. Ebbel's Lower Gagetown. All went well until they were nearly down to Gagetown. Just opposite Debever's intervals, Mrs. Slipp noticed that the scow was sinking, and she at once leapt to beach it before it sank. The sudden turn of the motor boat threw the hay press out of balance, and in a moment there was nothing in sight but the end of the scow, sticking out of water. The press was attached by a wire rope to the scow which acted as a "head" to show where it had gone down. Next day, a number of men with grappling irons and two coows, one on each side of the press, succeeded in bringing it to the surface late in the afternoon, and it was towed down to Gagetown wharf.

A very pleasant social meeting of the Women's Auxiliary was held on Saturday evening, at the home of the president, Mrs. N. H. Otty, at which the three guests of honor were Mrs. J. A. Caswell, Mrs. Henry Fisher and Mrs. Geo. Hubbard, who were to leave on the following week, were honored by the presentation of remembrance gifts from their fellow members, in the form of copies of the revised Prayer books with their names in gold. A very large attendance of members defied the storm in order to be present, and after the opening devotions and presentations, spent an enjoyable social hour. An interesting feature was the singing of the hymn "The Church is a Ship," which was sung by the members, who were to leave the following week, were honored by the presentation of remembrance gifts from their fellow members, in the form of copies of the revised Prayer books with their names in gold. CANADA AND THE LENROOT AMENDMENT

Would Deny to This Country the Right to Vote on International Affairs.

IN SESSIONS OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Senator Hitchcock Pays Tribute to Part Canadians Played in the War.

Washington, May 3.—(By Canadian Press)—The chief interest of Canadians in the long peace treaty debates in the United States Senate, both of which resulted in the treaty's falling of ratification, centered in the so-called Lenroot reservation, the effect of which was to curtail the voting power of Canada and other British dominions in the Council of the League of Nations. This reservation, proposed by Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin, reads as follows:

"Until part 1, being the Government of the League of Nations, shall be amended as to provide that the United States shall be entitled to cast a number of votes equal to that which any member of the League and its self-governing dominions, colonies, or parts of Empire in the aggregate shall be entitled to cast, the United States assumes no obligation to be bound, except in cases where Congress has previously given its consent, by any election, decision, report or finding of the Council of the League and its self-governing dominions, colonies, or parts of Empire in the aggregate having cast more than one vote."

"The United States assumes no obligation to be bound by any decision, report or finding of the Council or any self-governing dominion, colony, or part of Empire in the aggregate having cast more than one vote."

"Senator Hitchcock, at that time Democratic leader in the Senate, spoke strongly in defence of the plan, and incidentally juggled the so-called 'irreconcilable' opponents of the treaty for interfering with Canada's legitimate rights as a nation, which he charged that the Lenroot reservation was an attempt on the part of the United States to 'deny to the British self-governing dominions, colonies, or parts of Empire in the aggregate, the right to a voice in international affairs.'"

"Take Canada, for instance," said Senator Hitchcock. "We practically say to Canada in this reservation: 'We object to your being represented as a separate nation in the League of Nations. We consent to let the little republics of the world being represented by Canada, which has represented its neighbor to the north, have representation at all.'"

"For years, as we know, there has been a feeling of animosity against the great colonies of the British Empire towards independence. Year by year they have taken over more of the powers of self-government, until today practically the only difference between Canada and an independent nation is that Great Britain, in the diplomatic world, represents Canada, and Canada, in the diplomatic world, represents Great Britain. It is also taking steps for representation in the United States and with other important nations upon an independent basis. But I call attention to the fact that in the face of this determination to obtain complete independence, the Senate of the United States proposes to slam the door of opportunity in the face of these people."

"The British government at Paris was forced to yield to the demand of her colonies and Great Britain wrote into this treaty her consent that there should be representation as independent nations in the assembly. It is the reservationists of the Senate who are standing in the way of self-government for the world's peoples. It is the Empire, whose heads do not favor this growing independence of the colonies and dominions."

"That's a splendid attitude to cultivate the friendship of our Canadian neighbors on the north, the neighbors with whom we have the chief business. Most of the business of Canada with the outside world is done with the United States. Canada gets most of her imports from the United States and exports into Canada, until today it is almost entirely from the United States."

However slight a cold you have you should never neglect it! If you do it can have but one result. It leaves the throat or lungs, or both, affected. Bronchitis is one of the most common affections of a neglected cold, and neglected bronchitis has the most dangerous cause of consumption.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is just the remedy you require to cure the bronchitis. It does this by loosening the phlegm and mucus, and stimulates the weakened bronchial tubes, allays irritation and subdues inflammation, soothes and heals the irritated parts and thus prevents its becoming chronic.

Mr. R. P. Sandblat, Francis, Sask. writes: "I had a very bad cold which left me with bronchitis. I tried several cough remedies and oils of all kinds but they all failed. At last I got Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and after using two bottles I have never had a sign of bronchitis since. I therefore can honestly recommend it for coughs and colds."

Don't accept a substitute for Dr. Wood's. The genuine is put up in a yellow wrapper with a pine tree on the label; price 25c and 50c. Manufactured by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 5, 1920.

ATTENTION TO AMERICAN SENTIMENT.

In the course of his address in the Board of Trade Rooms, on Monday evening, Mr. Bruce Logan gave the advice that the sooner the Canadian people shape their conduct to please themselves and throw aside the idea that they have to be careful in what they say and do for fear of offending America, the better, adding that such an idea is beneath the dignity of Canadian citizenship. Mr. Logan's advice is worth thinking over and acting on. There is altogether too great a tendency in this country to take a lead from our neighbors over the border, as though just whatever they say or do is the correct thing for Canadians to do also. Nothing could be further from the fact. As a rule the American idea is to do just exactly what the British do not do. If the latter do anything one way, Americans always make a point of accomplishing the same purpose, or as near as they can get to it, in exactly the opposite way. It is not always necessary for Canadians to adopt British customs and practices, many of them are not suited to this country, but it is equally true that there is no need either for us to copy those of our American neighbors.

The other day, in the Legislature, Hon. Dr. Smith told the House that he was doubling the Wild Land Tax to residents because some American owners of such lands in this province objected to the existing law which made the tax for resident owners one cent an acre and that for foreigners two cents. What had the wishes of the American owners to do with it? If the tax had been two cents all around, and our own people had asked him to cut it in two for resident owners, would he have done it? Yet when he made the tax for American owners to put them on the same basis as resident owners, he promptly penalized our own people in order to oblige the foreigner.

Take the rule of the road again. There is no demand for any change among the people of the province generally. Is there a farmer in the whole community who is not opposed to it? And the farming community comprises over sixty per cent of the population. It is only the Automobile Association which wants the change, and that simply and solely because American tourists find it a nuisance, in that it is not the same as their own. Because they don't like it, we are asked to revolutionize our entire system. Did any one ever hear of any change being made in American methods because Canadians didn't like them?

It is the same all through the piece. Because Americans have wastefully used up all their own supplies of pulpwood, Canadians are expected to let them come into this country and take just what they want. If Canada refuses, she is to be lambasted into submission. She is threatened with deprivation of coal, oil, cotton and other raw materials that Canada imports, the idea being that such a course of procedure on the part of the Republic would bring Canada to time. In order to save her industries. When it comes to retaliatory measures, however, two can play at the game. America needs nickel, and Canada owns it all; Canada can get coal, oil and cotton elsewhere, but America cannot get any nickel. Retaliation is a two-edged sword, and consequently a very dangerous weapon to wield.

The questioner who introduced the bill on the creation of a permanent Purchasing Board, whose duty it shall be to do all the buying of supplies for the public service of the country, which came up for discussion through a resolution moved in the House of Commons a few days ago, is one about which a considerable difference of opinion seems to exist. So much so that the discussion was adjourned and will be resumed at a later date. The idea is not new, it was suggested last year by the Premier, who then introduced a bill on the subject, which, however, was not proceeded with owing to pressure of other business. A pamphlet recently prepared under Government direction, and a copy of which can be obtained from the King's Printer at Ottawa, gives a good deal of valuable information regarding the advisability of instituting such a Board.

Even those members of the House, and others, who are opposed to the creation of such a Board, have to admit that the proposal has many merits. They have to admit that there are large possibilities of economy in the transfer of the purchasing power from many departmental agencies that compete with one another to a single board. Nor is it only possibilities they have before them. They have the results of experience. The advice rendered by the War Purchasing Commission, which was established by Order-in-Council in May, 1918, extended over almost five years. That service was of such admitted excellence as to leave no room for argument as to the desirability of allocating to a single responsible body the function of Government buying for all the Departments. The War Purchasing Commission did its work so well that in February, 1918, its duties were extended so as to include the directing and controlling of the buying of all the Departments. The Commission supervised purchases and contracts aggregating more than $50,000,000, besides selling surplus stores and commodities. Last July Sir Robert Borden declared that in the preceding four years the Commission had saved to the people of the country more than would be spent for the maintenance of the proposed Board in the next fifty years. The establishment of a permanent central purchasing board would, he was persuaded, be effective as a means of eliminating patronage. When he withdrew the Bill with the intention of having it introduced later, he said: "It is as to the purpose and not the particular method provided for in the Bill that I am in earnest, and more than that, in deadly earnest." Over-zealous of the idea are fighting an uphill battle. They have against them the solid and splendid record of the War Purchasing Commission, and the recommendation of that Commission that the various purchasing and inspection staffs be combined in one central purchasing organization.

The main objection that is made to the proposal is that it means the signing of one more branch of the public business to a Commission and shifting responsibility from the Government's own shoulders to a board appointed for ten years. Many people, however, are not fond of Commissions. They feel that public men who are good enough to be elected to the highest offices in the State ought to be considered as trustworthy as other persons, how excellent so ever, whom nobody thinks of electing to such offices. But in this case a Minister of the Crown is to be chairman of the Board. The Board will therefore be part of the apparatus of responsible government. As a rule, the decisions of Commissions are very largely determined by the chairman. When the chairman is a member of the Cabinet the proceedings of the Board must be acceptable to the Privy Council. If the two other members of the Board try to override the chairman and thus impose their will on the Cabinet against its ideas of public policy, it is not the chairman whose resignation will be forced. The Civil Service Commission should have a Cabinet Minister as its presiding officer.

ACTION NEEDED.

The Provincial Government is scheduled to meet in Fredericton tomorrow, and as it is now ten days or so since the Legislature prorogued, the members have by this time no doubt managed to recover their breath after the nerve-racking and rip-roaring rush of the last few days of the session. This being the case, they may perhaps find time to do some business, and amongst other matters that need attention most urgently is the appointment of a Chairman for the Public Utilities Commission. It is disgraceful that the business of that Board should have been allowed to come to a standstill for nearly two months for lack of a chairman. If the Government has any reason for not re-appointing Mr. O'Byrne, they should at least have been prepared with a successor, for they knew very well when his time would expire. Another matter that needs urgent attention is regarding the subsidy for the Maritime Miller. Several complaints have already reached this office regarding the delay in putting this ferry on the route, and the consequent inconvenience and difficulty in which the residents of Baywater and district are put for lack of means of communication. The Government should see to those matters without any waste of time.

That there should be considerable indignation expressed by Canadian importers at the action of the United States railways in demanding that all freights consigned to any part of Canada must be prepaid in American money at the point of shipment is only natural. It is an altogether uncalled for act, and is only another example of the anxiety that seems to be so general across the line to inconvenience Canadian customers. The Government at Ottawa should lose no time in putting into force that section of the tariff laws that confines the British preference to goods which reach Canada through Canadian ports only. This will cut off about $40,000,000 worth of freight which is at present consigned to Canada through American ports. Then watch our worthy neighbors squel.

Winnipeg mechanics are reported to be moving out to the farms, where food can be procured at reasonable prices, and rent is reasonable. If this custom becomes general the housing problem would soon disappear.

The resolution passed by the Automobile Association asking the Minister of Public Works to institute a patrol system under which speeding automobiles are kept under surveillance is a good one and should be adopted if the expense will not be too great. It will be a great pity if any improvement in the roads is to result in their being made dangerous for ordinary traffic as a result of recklessness of our drivers, who seem as a rule to think that they own the whole right of way.

To those who assert that newspapers are run for end by advertisements we quote the following notice from the Pittsburg Gazette-Times: "This issue of the Gazette-Times contains no advertisements other than classified, legal notices and obituaries. Inability to secure an adequate supply of print paper necessitates this policy." Other American papers faced with the same problem have solved it in the same way.

The United States Department of Labor in making a schedule of the cost of living in fourteen American cities finds that comparing the cost of living in December, 1914, with December just passed, Detroit has the most notable record of leading the list with an increase of 108 per cent. To Portland falls the credit of being the lowest in the list, the cost of living in Portland in this period having advanced 15.2 per cent. So Portland people have something to be thankful for.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

In the Good Old Mosaic Days.
(Los Angeles Times.)
According to the book of Deuteronomy neither the shoes nor clothing of the Israelites wore out during the forty years of wandering in the wilderness. "Them were the good old days." If you buy a pair of shoes in these times you are lucky if they last forty days, to say nothing of forty years. Think of not having to get a new lid for the wife for forty or fifty years!

Pioneer's Courage.
(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)
Most people are led around by automatic fashion. Overalls will become an essential factor, only if they be made sufficiently popular to relieve their wearers of the charge of being peculiar. The same thing is true of anything aprons and long wrapped tunics. It takes courage to pioneer, whether one fights wild animals and Indians or relentless prejudices.

But Will They Guarantee?
(Boston Transcript.)
The refusal of the United States to accept the mandate for Armenia does not argue that the American people are unconcerned in the struggles and sufferings of this sorely tried people of Asia Minor. In the last analysis, the interests of Armenian people would be best served by the creation of an independent Armenia, whose political freedom should be guaranteed by the United States and the leading European Powers.

The Reward of Work Will Done.
(Detroit News.)
The plaudits of the crowd are alluring no doubt; and while they last there is nothing more gratifying. But public favor is fickle; it does not always go to the justly deserving and it never comes to anyone for long. Better than this are the contentment and peace of mind built securely on the conviction that within your own little sphere you are doing the thing which you can do best; that those about you who have most intimate knowledge of your ability and work, do not withhold from you the esteem which men give everywhere to work well done.

Concerning John Bull.
(Egyptian Mail.)
We back British common sense to beat Bolshevism any day, either inside the British Empire or outside it. Furthermore, we back British common sense to maintain the British Empire on a going concern—no matter whether the hand at the helm be the Liberal Coalition or Liberal or Labor. Those who think otherwise are more than welcome to their opinions, but we consider in good time on having backed the wrong horse. The Britisher—we don't like the word, but we talk about Englishmen, letters from Australians, Canadians, Scotsmen and Prince Edward Islanders shower on us worse than rain on a February day in Cairo—like Britisher, we repeat, may be recognized anywhere by their bearing displayed by two outstanding characteristics: he always grins, he just to show his independence, will, thanks to his common sense be realized perfectly just how much he really has to grumble about.

Benny's Note Book

Yesterday I saw Mr. Lewis on the street and he gave me a rapped up box to take home to pop. Which I started to, and some of the fellows were playing a game of marbles in the next block, and I put the rapped up box on somebody's trust steps and got in the game on account of me having 7 marbles, which in about 20 minutes I didn't have any and keep on going home, and after supper pop and to me, Mother, did Lewis stop here today with a package for me? And ma and No, and pop and, I found it, not a thing to smoke and I just had my mouth all set for one of those cigars, wate till I see Lewis tomorrow, ill ball him out good and proper, wate till I get hold of him that's all. Me thinking, Gosh, G. I bet that was the box. Meeting the rapped up one, and I said, Maybe it wasn't his fault, pop, maybe he lost them or something.
Who asked you for any foolish consolation? and pop, and I said, Well maybe he started to bring them, pop and maybe something happened to them on the way, maybe.
Stop talking like a fish out of wate, wate do you suppose could possibly have happened to them? and pop and I said, Maybe he gave them to somebody to take home, such as I played and maybe I left them on somebody's trust steps with I me and ma and then forgot them. With pop just stared at me as if he didn't know who was dressing him or me, and I said, Shall I run down now, pop, and see if they're still there?
You bring two-sevens to me inside of 30 minutes or take the consequences, and pop, which I quick ran down to the place and nothing was there but the bare trust steps and I rang the bell and a lady came to the door and I asked her if anybody had saw a rapped up box, and she said, My goodness, my husband went to please at all, he was hoping nobody would come for those cigars, and he's smoked '2 already. And she brought out the box with 2 cigars out, and pop was so glad to get 'em he never said anything about the 2, so I didn't half to take any consequences.

THE KING'S COLLEGE LAW SCHOOL FACULTY GUESTS OF STUDENT BODY

Frank W. Bartlett, President of Society, Presided at Banquet Last Evening—Members of Graduating Class—Excellent Addresses During the Evening.

The members of the graduating class of the King's College Law School were the guests of the student body at the Earl Dinner held at Bond's last evening. In addition to honoring the memory of the distinguished founder of the school, the occasion also marked the last time in which the members of the class of 1920 would be associated with their fellows of the classes junior to them as students of Kings Law School.

Frank W. Bartlett, president of the Students' Society, presided at the banquet and the faculty were represented by Dr. J. B. M. Baxter, Judge McInerney, P. J. G. Knowlton, Roy A. Davidson, J. King Kelley and Dr. W. W. White.

The members of the graduating class included John R. Gale, Assing Cove, Queens County; Frank W. Bartlett, Hampton, N. B.; S. Howard Hinkle, Seaboard, N. B.; Louis McRitchie, St. John, N. B.; Grant Smith, St. John; J. Francis Frawley, St. George; Everett J. Chambers, Sussex; N. B. and Bloomfield B. Jordan, Silver Falls.

After an excellent five-course dinner had been duly dealt with, "The King" was proposed by the president and responded to with the National Anthem. The next toast "The Faculty" was proposed by John R. Gale, who said that he was sure that the toast would be drunk with enthusiasm because of the gratitude which the student body bore toward the faculty, for they were fully amiable of their work which entailed years of sacrifice and labor. Two members of the faculty had crossed the Great Beyond since some of the members of the graduating class had first taken up their studies some six years ago, he referred to Dr. Elias Alward, and Judge Knowlton, but their memory would always be revered by their students.

Dr. White, in rising to respond to the toast "The Faculty," said that it might seem out of place to address a doctor so respond for the faculty of a Law School, but nevertheless he appreciated the honor conferred. On behalf of the other members of the faculty, he wished to express their pleasure as well as his own on being present at the banquet. It would seem that the traditions of the Law School in their dining halls had been carried over the broad Atlantic and were being perpetuated by Kings Law School in their dining halls which had begun to mark the college year in St. John.

The doctor paid a tribute to the late Dr. Barrie, in whose establishment of the Law School was largely due. He was, he said, of noble lineage, a descendant on the paternal side of the last King of the Sobieski line. Dr. Barrie was an eminent man who occupied a high position in the minds of the legal profession in the city and province. His noble and upright legal profession, for he considered the good opinion of the members of one's immediate profession to be the judgment of the highest court of opinion.

Speaking of his own connection with the Law School, the doctor said he had always enjoyed the duties of his office. Medicine and Law, the two learned professions, should be of more use to one another and more closely united than they were at the present time. In closing the doctor thanked the students for the enthusiastic way in which they had responded to the toast.

In proposing the next toast "The Graduating Class," C. R. Menzies paid high tribute to the class of 1920, composed of men, he said, who in a few short years would be guiding the destiny of the nation.

In response to the toast "The Graduates" were honored by their fellows with a rousing chorus of "For they are Jolly Good Fellows."

Everett J. Chambers said that it was with a feeling of regret that he rose to respond to the toast because the occasion marked the last in which he and his companions would be associated with the classes of '21 and '22, as members of Kings Law School. The fact of having been students at Kings Law School would be kind all present in the future. Despite the disadvantage of not having a common residence, the college spirit was growing, the new rooms and the building Society being two reasons for knitting firmer the bonds of college fellowship.

While the graduating class in going forth to face the future were fully aware that they were but on the threshold of the study of the law, they felt confident in the training imparted to them by active practitioners, the stamp of the legal profession had been pressed on them while students and a legal turn of mind had been developed in each member of the class.

It had been said that the school was becoming too big for the province. It was not enough that the graduates of his class should excel in law, but they must make it their endeavor to place the province in the forefront in all improvement. Too long has she been content to follow in the rear of others.

The speaker then referred to a student of the class who because of ill health was obliged to quit the course in his final year. He spoke of Noel McLaughlin, and he echoed the wish of the class hoping that he might in the near future be able to take up his studies once more.

He called upon the class to honor the memory of another student, William Owens, who had paid the supreme sacrifice in the Great War.

In concluding he wished to express the great pleasure felt by the class in that one-half of its members was composed of those who had started the course six years ago but at the call of Empire forsook their studies to take up arms on her behalf. He thanked the company for the honor which they honored the graduates of 1920.

Following Mr. Chambers' eloquent response, the President in a very happy manner introduced the speaker of the evening, Dr. J. B. M. Baxter.

In beginning his address, Dr. Baxter said he was glad to note that the graduating class were looking forth on the future and back on the past.

Police Court Cases Yesterday

Many Cases Were Dealt With by the Magistrate During Morning and Afternoon Sessions.

Lorne Hazen was before the police court yesterday afternoon charged with exceeding the speed limit. Provincial Constable Robert Crawford gave evidence and stated that he had seen the accused driving a car on Wall street at 1:30 on the 28th of April, and his car went up the Garden street hill at a rate of from thirty-five to forty miles an hour, and very nearly hitting an old lady who was crossing the street at the time. Sergeant Rankine said that he had been informed of the incident and had notified the driver of the car to come to court in answer to the charge.

The defendant stated that his car could not be made go faster than thirty-five miles an hour, and that he had not begun to pick up speed until near Winter street, and it therefore could not attain the speed claimed by the other witness.

The magistrate informed the defendant that he might have an expert test out the speed of the car on the hill and his evidence would be heard by the court at 10:30 this morning.

The case of Ernest Sergeant, charged with having liquor in his possession, other than his private dwelling, was taken up in the morning. The proprietor of a cafe at 11 King square, Chalmers, said that the accused and another man were there on Sunday afternoon under the influence of liquor but he did not see any liquor in their possession. The accused was fined $200.

Peter Abram Claire, an Indian charged with assaulting his wife was fined $20 or two months in jail.

Howard McCourt, charged with receiving stolen goods was handed over to the detective department with instructions to see that he was sent to his home in Fredericton.

Three drunks were fined $8 or two months in jail.

Evidence was given by Allen Lingley in the case of Scott, a young lad charged with stealing a sum of money from the N. B. Telephone Co. Sgt. Detective Powers also gave evidence and the accused was remanded.

A case against Herbert N. Dean, charged with stealing an automobile valued at $650, from the storage garage of F. E. Williams, Sydney street, was taken up in the police court this morning. Perley Bliss Ferris, 68 Main street and Paradise Row, driven by the accused. The accused told him that he purchased the car in Moncton, New Brunswick. The witness endeavored to hold him until the police could be notified, but when his back was turned the accused got away. The witness testified that in the car that did not belong to him, the witness said, the case was postponed until Thursday. K. J. MacRae appeared for the defence.

A case against Steve Prokovich, charged with supplying liquor to Albert Handrahan, was postponed until this afternoon at 2:30. Handrahan was remanded as he is held on another charge. The accused was allowed out on a deposit for his appearance. E. S. Ritchie appeared for the defence.

Six men charged with drunkenness pleaded guilty and were remanded to jail.

George Demer was charged with assaulting his sister, Jennie. Charles Marjorie and Jennie Demer gave evidence of the offence. The witness said he was drunk, and the case was postponed.

Theodore Saunders, charged with having liquor in his possession other than his private dwelling, pleaded guilty and was remanded.

A Gentle Slap At
Hon. Mr. Tweeddale

Wm. B. Fawcett of Sackville Makes Fun of the Crushed Limestone Scheme in the U. F. Guide.

"Just imagine the Commercial Revolution that would sweep Nova Scotia should her farmers have charge of affairs and place S. B. Chute at the head of Agriculture. Instead of the 'twopenny hapenny' policy of raising 'one more pig' on five dollar food, or growing potatoes with cracked limestone rock, that is not worth the freight. His first move would be to import genuine high grade fertilizers in ship loads from the cheapest markets available with the credit of the province behind him; he could supply every farmer all he would venture to buy at cost and expense with ten months' credit to repay the loan. With his timely word of advice and his public assurance that his Government would find markets and prove transportation for all surplus profits of whatever kind, as the harvest proceeded, the old time course and confidence of our farm population would be restored. The cultivated fields, the orchards and the meadows would widen out; abandoned run down farms would become fertile and repopulated from the over-crowded towns, and the yield per acre would be increased indefinitely, 'some thirty, some sixty, and some a hundred per cent more."

THE PILOTAGE MATTER.

J. C. Chesley, local agent of the Marine and Fisheries Department, who returned yesterday from Ottawa, said the local pilotage system would be at once taken over by the Government, and the pilots had been instructed to procure a boat to replace the Howard D. Troop, recently sunk.

FOR WOMEN

MUSEMENTS

EVILS GROW AND FLOURISH IN DARKNESS

SHALL IT BE INDEPENDENCE OR HOUSEWORK?

The Question as to Whether Married Women Should Continue to Work Debated—Arguments Pro and Con.

CAN HELP WITH UPKEEP OF HOME

But in Some Cases the Results Are Disastrous to Her Husband's Comfort in the House—Women's Work Valuable National Asset.

Special Cross-Atlantic News Service. (Copyright.) By Lydia K. Commander.

London, April 17.—(By Mail.)—To work or not to work, that is the question disturbing hosts of women the world over today. In England there are great numbers of women who have resigned their war jobs to make way for the "demobilized" soldiers, now find themselves with a noble sense of sacrifice and a vast field of duty.

With slight apologies to Shakespeare, they wonder: "Whether 'tis better in the home to suffer The slings and arrows of outrageous fortune Or to take arms against a sea of troubles And by getting a job, end them?"

The argument centres about the married woman. The propriety of single women working has been more or less conceded, although by no means universally acknowledged.

Before the war, the question of wives working out of their homes was scarcely considered. Those who did were few in number, and always some exceptional circumstance explained their action. Usually, the husband was ill or unfortunate or incompetent or the wife was in business with him.

Today many sensible people are advocating the right of married women to work; and urge that as a matter of fact for the good of society.

Many are the arguments pro and con. One finds the question involving factors on the one hand we read of the story of a young couple in England, difficulties on account of high prices. Then she left work, refused to stay at home, and with her own hands all financial difficulties vanish; poverty disappears, the door and all its happiness.

The next magazine presents the reverse of the picture. The young wife, devoted to her job, refuses to stay at home. The meals are late, the rooms are dusty, the fire is out and the husband has dreamed in the trenches of home happiness, is disappointed and broken-hearted. Just when domestic disaster seems imminent, some wise and kind friend opens the eyes of the working wife. She relinquishes her job, dusts the piano, puts on a clean table cloth, builds up the fire and makes a meat pie. Presto!—the happy husband, joy, cupid smiling!

With prices high and still rising, one salary seems almost inadequate to provide for the needs of a home. Wives find it impossible to pay their household bills and have a balance for their own expenses out of what the husband can provide. So, the modern wife, with a trade or professional background, fills the lacuna, pause between income and outgo with the contents of a neat little bag.

She spends her energies in useful work, instead of in useless worry. She makes obstinate odds meet, and has a margin left for recreation and pleasure.

There is no doubt many women prefer the activities of a paid position with its independence to the economic and limitations of unsalaried householding.

Also, women's work has, as England, been proved to be a tremendous valuable national asset. Women as wealth producers can be of as much service in this trying period of world reconstruction as they were in the war.

The world's great need today is for labor, intelligent, patient, faithful, painstaking labor. Manufacturers are overwhelmed with orders; every trade, every industry, is clogged for lack of the many hands that make light work. If all of the world's industrial resources were developed to capacity, it would not take many years to pay off the enormous indebtedness of the war and re-establish financial freedom and comfort. As for the H. C. L., that haunting ghost could literally be laid to rest in a few short months.

But more important than any economic consideration is the question of children. The world's heavy losses in population have given its children a higher value than ever before. Their welfare is vital to national preservation everywhere. How can the working mother care for her family?

Many authorities insist that the difficulties raised by the opponents of working wives are more imaginary than real. Women of the working classes, they say, have always taken jobs and raised families; and the surmises of the comfortable classes are becoming so exaggerated that the mother's constant presence is by no means necessary.

On the other hand, whatever lessens the tie between mother and child must, in the light of the experience of the ages, be looked upon as a menace to the race. War accustomed us to many sad things, but death or war nor peace have ever produced or can produce any satisfactory substitute for mother love and mother care.

So the whole question of woman work settles in a crater of discussion, argument goes on and on. In the end it will be settled, not by talk, but by action, and by the big forces of social evolution which we obey, whether we understand them or not.

Rev. M. B. Ryan At Coburg St. Church

Instructive and Masterful Lecture Delivered Last Evening to Appreciative Audience—His Subject "The Ubiquitous Book."

An inspiring, impressive and masterful lecture was given last evening at the Coburg Street Church by Rev. M. B. Ryan who has, for the past two weeks, been conducting a Bible Institute at Coburg Street and Douglas Avenue Christian Churches.

His subject was "The Ubiquitous Book," and he said:

"The world is full of books. There are great libraries with books from floor to ceiling. In Ecclesiastes it is said, 'Of the making of many books there is no end; and the majority of books are short lived. The best sellers last a short time and many books do not get away from their own home and country. Most books appeal to but few.

In contrast to this, there is no large section where the Bible cannot be found and no great number of people by whom the Bible is not read. It meets us everywhere, and is found on notes placed there by the G.I.I. It is found in the shops, parks, Africans, Japs and Chinese in 1914 two Bible Societies, the British and Foreign, and the American sent out fourteen million copies and other societies increased this number to eighteen million.

While the oldest book in the world is the Bible, it is the most popular of all books. It is the best selling book in the world, not for profit, but because of its unselfish interest in the good of all.

Immigrants are furnished with a copy of the Bible in their national tongue with the English translation by its side. This means foreigners may learn our language.

Eight Reasons. It is popular for the following reasons: 1. Its composite character. It comprises sixty-six books in one volume written by some forty writers, men of all ranks and station which gives variety and interest. It is a book that in it that which he most needs.

It is cosmopolitan. Palestine is no larger than Nova Scotia yet it contains the Dead Sea is far below the sea level while the peaks of Mount Hermon are covered with perpetual snow. Plants and animals here represent all the world's flora and fauna.

It is a book of three continents, Europe, Asia and Africa. Bible writers were born and reared in the cosmopolitan influences of the Near East.

The faults as well as the virtues of the world are truly and impartially narrated.

It is correct in all its statements. While other writers make errors in words and names, the Bible never does.

It is a colloquial book. It speaks everyday language, short and sharp. Its words were written no more than four letters. Shakespeare used only twenty thousand different words, Milton thirteen thousand, the Bible one million.

It goes directly to its aim. The death of Herod Agrippa is told by Luke in the Acts of the Apostles in four words. Shakespeare used 142 words for the same story.

It is an honest book. There is no foolishness on its pages, all is earnestness.

It is a religious book. It is the religious book of the world, bringing manna to the hungry, and water to the thirsty. In the opening pages of Paradise Lost, in its closing pages, of Paradise regained.

It is a sufficient book. When Stanley went to the Congo he carried with him some seventy books. All these were left behind him one by one along the route till only one remained—the Bible, in which Stanley was.

QUEEN MARY DOES NOT ESCAPE (Continued in Toronto Telegram.) For the past years particularly King George and Queen Mary have set an example to the rulers of every country by the way they have ordered into the everyday experiences of their subjects. But surely the Queen has outdone herself in her latest effort. For does not a cable declare: "Queen Mary is personally directing the house-clearing at Buckingham Palace and Windsor Castle." If there are any women who will not miss the further announcement: "Especially the cleaning of Windsor will be a gigantic undertaking, and will probably last a year!"

Now, is there a woman here in the throes of housecleaning who would change places with the Queen? Perhaps they would who consider the value of the priceless Calceolarius which Queen Mary, that saint and saintess, has unshared as her reward.

Many a man has been turned down while waiting for something to turn up.

stitute for mother love and mother care.

So the whole question of woman work settles in a crater of discussion, argument goes on and on. In the end it will be settled, not by talk, but by action, and by the big forces of social evolution which we obey, whether we understand them or not.

Three Chapters of I.O.D.E. In Session

Windsor, Valcartier and Seven Seas Chapters Held Interesting Meetings Last Evening and Transacted Much Business.

The Windsor Chapter, I. O. D. E., held their regular meeting last evening at the residence of Miss Lemon, Duke street, West St. John. The Chapter voted its share in the U. N. B. prize and decided to give five charts and five pictures of the Boscawell School as an Empire Day celebration.

On motion the Chapter will sell tickets for the G. W. V. A. concert.

Valcartier Chapter. It was decided at last evening's meeting of the Valcartier Chapter, I. O. D. E., to celebrate Empire Day by subscribing to the Educational War Memorial Fund. Fifteen dollars was to be used for a library for a school, and the Chapter will give the usual prizes to St. George's School. It was decided not to affiliate with the Local Council of Women.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Kay, Orange street, the Regent, Miss Edith Miller, presiding.

Seven Seas Chapter. A meeting full of interest was held by the Seven Seas Chapter, I. O. D. E. last evening at the home of Miss Helmer, Mount Pleasant. The vice regent, Miss Zeila Lamont, presided. Miss Irene Grater and Miss Helen Gater who have left the city were made honorary members of the Chapter.

Members have undertaken to sell fifty tickets for the concert to be given by the G. W. V. A.

FROM HERE AND THERE.

A meeting of the Scottish Nurses' Club was held in Glasgow recently, with the object of forming a Professional Union of Trained Nurses.

"Have you found a house yet?" asked the stranger of his friend. "No, not yet, but we've made some progress, my wife has got a bungalow now," was the answer.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst will be a visitor in Saskatchewan this summer, having arranged to be one of the Chautauqua speakers, her subject will be "Civilization in Danger."

The Daughters of Israel Meeting

Last Night a Vote of Thanks Was Passed to Great Britain for Deep Interest Taken on Behalf of the Jewish People.

A vote of thanks to Great Britain for the deep interest taken on behalf of the Jewish people was passed last evening at the annual meeting of the Daughters of Israel held at the Y. M. H. A. Handfield street.

Speakers at this resolution referred to the protection given by Great Britain to the Jewish people, and to the fact that for several years the Empire has been fighting for freedom in Palestine.

Mrs. Joseph Goldman ably presided at last evening's meeting when excellent reports of a very creditable work were presented. The retiring secretary, Mrs. Max Marcus, told of the addition of twelve new members during the year, making a total membership of fifty-eight. A long list of contributions made to worthy causes was given.

Mrs. J. Tamman, in her treasurer's report, gave the following figures: Receipts $68.25; spent during the year for charitable and patriotic purposes, $63.25. The sum of $5 was voted to the Palestine Relief Fund and $5 was reported as spent during the past month for charitable purposes.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Mrs. Joseph Goldman, President. Mrs. L. Isaac, Vice-president. Mrs. H. Grosvenor, Treasurer. Mrs. Goldman and Mrs. Isaac were re-elected by acclamation.

A standing vote of thanks was passed to the retiring secretary, Mrs. Marcus, and treasurer, Mrs. Tamman, thanking them for their efficient and faithful work.

The meeting closed with the singing of the Jewish National Anthem and God Save the King.

London, May 4.—A policeman giving evidence at Willesden police court against a man charged with begging said he had seen the prisoner stop "eight Presbyterian" and asked the magistrate:

"How did you know their religion?" "They were passing-by," answered the policeman.

"You mean they were pedestrians?" "That's the word, sir," said the witness.

Paris, May 4.—A music hall favorite as a social gathering at Marigny. The club was introduced between five and six, according to an epigram who attended, non fit will never become popular. The club was a young lioness, known as Mimos in a local magazine, was accidentally killed by her trainer. The meet was said to be "aimless and strivings."

REPAIRATION. Can those who watched the pyres of Empire burn. Saw grim artillery re-shape the hills, And crimson stains discolor crystal rills. Once more with quiet ease and joy return To simple tasks of homely small concern? Can those who lately left war-wasted lands, Cast steel and bayonet from stern-scurled hands, And once again their lesser duties learn?

Ah! now the chance of those who stayed behind. Who have no frightful visions to forget. But may with care and cheer and kindness bind Heart wounds of men who worse than death have met. And lending helpful hands down each hard way Restore to them the use of every day.

W.C.T.U. Regular Meeting Yesterday

Decide to Distribute Blotters in Sunday Schools Showing Awfulness of Cigarette Smoking—Other Business Transacted.

The strong influence of early impressions was well described by Mrs. W. H. Humphrey at the regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. yesterday afternoon when she told of hearing her father read the fourteenth chapter of John, and of how ever since she had called it "My Father's Chapter."

It was the first Tuesday in the month of the devotional exercises were led by Mrs. Humphrey and the collection taken was for Missions. Mrs. George Colwell led in prayer, other following: Mrs. W. H. Humphrey, first vice-president, presided, also at the business session. Mrs. Hanspucker reported concerning blotters to be distributed in the Sunday Schools showing the awfulness of cigarette smoking. It was voted to purchase four hundred of these blotters.

Mrs. Seymour spoke of the Temperance Alliance meeting to be held in Fredericton and thought that members of the executive should attend. Mrs. Hanspucker returned thanks for flowers sent to her during her illness by the Union. Mrs. R. D. Christie reported on the Quarterly Meeting to be held with the Fairville Union May 27th and also spoke of the annual meeting of the Local Union in May which, it is hoped, all members would attend.

Mrs. Seymour asked for volunteers to do knitting for sailors. Wool for this purpose has been given by Dr. Alfred Hall and scarves, sweaters, wristlets and helmets will be made and kept at the Seaman's Institute so that shipwrecked men can be supplied. This request for knitters came through the Ladies' Guild of the Institute and will be answered by many W. C. T. U. workers.

Genevieve Ward's "Sunshine" Creed

By Lydia K. Commander.

(Copyrighted, 1920, by Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service, Inc.)—The London, April 26, (by mail)—The "Grand Old Lady of the English stage" as Miss Genevieve Ward, who, 83 years young, is playing "Voluntaria" in Shakespeare's "Coriolanus" at the "Old Vic" theatre here.

Miss Ward is the dean of the English stage, so far as I can learn, the first actress who has ever celebrated her eighty-fourth year of life, by appearing in public. Marvelous indeed is the vigor of this wonderful woman, who at her advanced age can undertake the strenuous part of "Voluntaria," one of her most famous roles. She is an American.

Just now, when the doctors are making such efforts to explain to us how to get safely past 40, it is interesting to know how one woman has gone merrily past twice that number of years and kept well and working.

"I haven't any mysterious secret," she assured me, laughingly. "My health and strength I attribute to two things: First, I chose a long-lived family. My ancestors and relatives have been remarkable for longevity. In the second place, though I've worked hard, I've lived a quiet, healthy life. I never drink wine, I eat very little meat and I never waste my energies; I save them for my work.

"I moderate in everything. That is my advice to the young people of today who want to feel like I do at 83. Plenty food, outdoor exercise, plenty of sleep and a sunny nature will make us healthy if not wealthy and wise. "The most important point is the sunny nature. Nothing injures the health like looking on the black side of life. My motto is this: Cheerfulness is the sunny ray of life.

"A cheerful nature relieves every body and keeps the heart young. The secret of cheerfulness is to love other people and try to help the world along.

"I am always on the hustle; I hustle for other people, not only for myself. I always have some sick people I visit, and I've made hundreds of garments for the Red Cross since the war began. I sewed for the American Red Cross till they went home, and now I am sewing for the French.

"All of these garments I have made on my own American machine, and Miss Ward pointed to a cabinet sewing machine at one side of her sitting room. "That machine," she continued, "is another thing that makes me proud of my country. I've used it steadily for 55 years without repair."

"I know that makes me proud of my country. I've used it steadily for 55 years without repair."

"I know that makes me proud of my country. I've used it steadily for 55 years without repair."

have reached the top. I am 83 yet every time I pick up my Shakespeare I learn something new. Live wholly and with I never smoke or drink or get down-hearted. I work hard, love my fellow men and keep smiling. "Above all I have my religion. It is this: Trust God and never ask Him for anything. Some people are always begging and begging God down to their own level. I say, live in harmony with Him, try to reach up toward Him, do right and take what He sends."

PUBLICITY THE REAL CURE FOR CONDITIONS

Existing Today in Cities of the World—Women as Culpable as Men.

The doom of August Strindberg within which the two and three, which are as a festering sore in the heart of the great city of New York, are propagated and disseminated have been these open, and the light of day has flooded into them. Those who were unaware of their existence or who, like so many preferred to keep their eyes and senses closed to the idea that they existed have stood against at the revelation, stood upon them. There are some people who will probably say that it would have been better to keep them closed and to let people remain in ignorance of the fact that a cancer was in their midst, which was bound to sap the youth and strength and metabolism of the nation which harbored it—there are others who, although they may be, yet maintain that it is only by letting in daylight, and by frank and unflinching exposure that there can be any hope of a real cleansing process being carried through.

It is impossible, to my mind, to clean up the dens from which vice is spreading throughout the civilized world with its insidious resultant of misery, suffering and disease, without full exposure so it would be to attempt to scrub out a cellar in the dark, and horrible though it may seem, it is necessary to have the light of day upon the full extent of the pestilence and undesirable facts, it is yet absolutely necessary that they should be faced, and faced as frankly by women as by men.

For it is women who are the guardians of the home, and there are many mothers today, who even though they have to their children, who are the victims of the awful extent to which vice is increasing and extending yet know enough to dread the day when their growing risks will have to go out into the world and risk the dangers that lie in wait for them. I know mothers of grown-up daughters who have a woman's peace of mind from the time their girls leave home in the morning until they are within a short distance of their homes. I know mothers of little girls of school age who are afraid to let them go out of their sight for fear of what may be done to them. I know mothers of grown-up girls who have never heard the word "vice" mentioned in their hearing, who, although they are within a short distance of their homes, who have fallen victims to the evil that stalks in our midst, and whose lives have been sullied or ruined by the same.

The White Slave Traffic is admitted, increasing to an appalling extent, and every newspaper notices of girls who have disappeared from their homes never to be heard of again, while probably only a few of the girls who have even been brought into enforced contact with the degraded and degenerate and diseased of the human race fully appreciate the enormity of the crime. The lives of the boys and girls who are intended by Destiny to form our future citizens are ruined at their own doors, and the streets of every modern city whose faces already bear the stamp of sin and premature old age, are the result of the work of the modern prostitute, who have scarcely arrived at adolescence in whose countenances is marked the inherent and insidious work of the modern prostitute, who have even been brought into enforced contact with the degraded and degenerate and diseased of the human race fully appreciate the enormity of the crime. STEEL MERGER GREAT ASSET EMPIRE TRADE

Gives Britain Control of World's Ore and Puts Her in First Position—Brings Motherland and Dominion Closer.

Cross-Atlantic News Service. (Copy-right.)

London, May 4.—Cobbold Lord Hamilton, Secretary of the London advisory committee of the new Empire Corporation, told the Cross-Atlantic today that the combine was the greatest asset of Empire trade. The proposition would knock the United States Steel Corporation of its feet. The combine linked up Canada's steel, coal and shipping interests with Britain's steel plants.

"Merchant princes connected with the deal include Lord Furness Sir Newton Moore, Henry McKelvie, Benjamin Talbot, Lord Beaverbrook, James White and Sir James Bala. These men represent enormous interests. So far the States has been able to control the ore market, not because they hold the bulk of the world's ore but because of lack of cohesion between the raw supplies of the Dominion and British plants. This partnership means a reduction in costs and the abolition of waste, especially wasteful competition and assures that British foundries will never be short of ore.

"The home foundries are now working only half speed because of the shortage of material. When the combine is in working order we shall control the ore from the mine to the foundry. The ore will be worked, transported, shipped and rolled to British foundries by the combine."

STOCK MARKET REVERSES COURSE

Recording a Number of Substantial Gains on Yesterday's Transactions—Steels Advancing.

New York, May 4.—Probably on the theory that the recent continuous recovery had exceeded reasonable limits, the stock market today reversed its course very decidedly, recording a number of substantial gains. Trading was unusually light, however, the turnover being the smallest of any full session for the past fortnight.

Save for brief offerings of call money at eight per cent, and later at six, the factors which so long have governed the market were not materially changed. The industrial situation was even less encouraging, an estimate by the reported expansion of the New England textile workers' strike.

The unsettled railroad situation, loss one of its force as a general business deterrent, but transportation shares were stronger and more active in the belief that an advance of freight rates is likely to be granted to the roads east of the Mississippi.

More than a proportionate quota of the day's business was supplied by the independent steels, especially those referred to as forming the nucleus of a possible consolidation. These included Republic, Yonkers, Lackawanna and Midvale, in which gross gains of two to almost 10 points were reduced on falling sales. High-grade rails were one to two points up, their best, and secondary or speculative issues one to three, but these also yielded to profit-taking with motors, shipping and sugar at the irregular close, the showing marked weakness.

Sales amounted to $60,000,000. Further weakness of Liberty issues, especially the 3 1/2's at 89 3/4, representing a loss of two per cent. Total sales par value, aggregated $13,875,000.

Old U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.

FLOUR PRICES STILL ADVANCE

Transportation Difficulties Are Preventing Many Mills from Getting Wheat or Shipping Flour.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 4.—The Northwest Miller's Weekly Review of the flour trade says: "With cash wheat selling at two dollars and ninety cents per bushel, flour prices have gone steadily upwards and patents now average from thirteen dollars per barrel for soft winters to fifteen dollars and a half for springs. There is considerable inquiry from buyers but purchases are mostly small and for immediate needs. Transportation difficulties are preventing many mills from either getting wheat or shipping flour. Uncertainty as to the future course of wheat prices after the grain corporation goes out of business, June 1st, is making everybody cautious, but much is hoped from the conference called by the wheat director for Friday. There is considerable fear of a scramble by foreign government buying agencies for American wheat. The output is about the same. Kansas, Oklahoma hard winter wheat millings reporting an output last week amounting to forty per cent of capacity. The United States millings for the week ending May twenty-eight per cent, and the spring wheat mills thirty-eight per cent.—Northwestern Miller."

MARKET DULL IN AFTERNOON

(Published by McDougall & Cowans)
New York, May 4.—The market became very dull in the early afternoon and the bears argued that dullness on the recovery was best sign of the market. They did not succeed in bringing out much stock, and the call money rate falling to 6 p. c. helped the market to recover. The market recovered in the late afternoon and closed distinctly below the best prices of the day.

Liberty Bond issues turned weak again, and two of them made new low prices. Labor's best sign of recovery in the market today, less perhaps because of their importance of the new steel combination in most lines of industry. There was also a disposition in some quarters to attach some importance to the consolidation of independent primary context being carried on today in several important states.

Sales, $70,000,000.

POINCARÉ IS OPPOSED TO FIXING SUM

Which Germany Must Pay for Reparation Claims as Unfair to France.

VERSAILLES TREATY HAS BECOME LAW AND CANNOT BE ALTERED WITHOUT ACTION BY THE FRENCH PARLIAMENT.

Paris, May 5.—M. Raymond Poincaré, former president of France and head of the reparations commission, expressed his opposition to the proposal to fix at Spa the total sum which shall represent Germany's debt to the Allies. To name such a sum now, he says, when Germany is at the lowest ebb, would be for France to surrender much of what is due her from a Germany capable of paying much more than they appear today, to be a reasonable sum to demand. M. Poincaré also makes the point that the Treaty of Versailles has become the law of France by its ratification, and that the global sum could not be fixed without action by the French Parliament.

Mr. Poincaré will publish tomorrow a long article by the former president, presenting his point of view. The article is a slight defence of the Premier Millerand's proposal to fix a lump sum, but to regard it as a minimum which could be increased if it became evident that Germany could pay more.

Poincaré criticizes the article "The voice from the ruins." He begins by recalling that due to the firmness of Millerand, the Germans were not called to Spa, and that they were invited to the Spa only after having been given a solemn ultimatum by the Allies that they could expect no favors unless they showed better faith in their treaty obligations. Then he says that as a glance for the future of the mass there should have been chosen a city the Germans raised in the war.

"It seems to me," he writes, "that at Spa, or at Ypres, or at Rheims, or at Verdun a conference consecrated to the execution of the treaty would not have been out of place. The Allied diplomats should have met the German diplomats in a ruined cathedral to talk over what Germany owes."

He then quotes the treaty, that Germany is responsible for the losses caused by the war, and that the amount she shall pay shall be measured only by her ability to pay. He recalls that the treaty says specifically that Germany must pay the losses sustained by the French civil population.

"Let the chiefs of the Governments upon the treaty and read that Germany must pay damage to injured persons and to dependants by personal injury to or death of civilians caused by acts of war, including bombardments or other attacks on land or sea, and that the Allies have before their eyes not only the little boats of the Mediterranean or the cool streams of the Spas, but the long processions of innocents struck down by German bombs, old men and sick people, killed in the hospital of Rheims, children killed in their homes by French shells. Let them see the great crowd of people by the occupied cities, presenting their wrongs and during the Germans to deny them. Let the ministers gaze upon our dead, our mutilated, and upon our ruined departments. And let them say—while it is true we owe justice to Germany—let us be powerful and faithful friends."

"This idea of a forfait payment by Germany was attractive to some people just after the armistice. It had the advantage of fixing at once the German debt to us, and of shortening for all the world the period of uncertainty. At that time Germany had not so effectively paraded her distress before the eyes of the world as she has since mentioned to us in those days as our due were three or four times as great as those of our Allies mentioned today. There has been produced an evolution which is not favorable to our cause. Germany, while violating the treaty at every possible turn, is succeeding in gaining the pity of some of her conquerors. She is furthermore, in an economic phase the most critical of her history. She will rise again, because she possesses the admirable qualities of industry and discipline and at the same time a strong national sentiment. But to let her forfeit today at an hour when Germany is at her lowest and when she has persecuted many of our people that she in the future should be free to sell the future at a discount."

"In any case the principles established by Article 223 and those following and the rules of valuation set down in the treaty, are in total contradiction with the principal of a forfait sum which, after having been proposed in 1919 by the American and English, was long discussed in the Chamber, became the law of our state and which cannot be revised without new action by our Parliament."

Poincaré then recalls that the treaty gives Germany the right to name the sum she is willing to pay, but that the four months given her have passed and says it cannot be extended.

"Let us not forget," he continues, "that the treaty even supposing that it left itself to the combination of the forfait payment by Germany, does not permit in any case a decrease in the figures which have been put forward by our Allies recently."

"Paragraph 12 of Annex 2 stipulates in effect that Germany ought to hand over immediately twenty billions on the one hand and forty billions on the other hand, marks or bonds and at the same time she engages the issue of the reparations commission shall verify forty more billions and in virtue of the same text other issues can be called for as a guarantee of the German debt. It then mentions that a hundred billion marks which Germany has promised to the Allies without giving any later evaluations and

JAPAN'S AIM IN MERCHANDISE SUPREMACY

Has Increased Her Foreign Trade Threefold Since Outbreak of War.

NO UNIONS BOTHER THE MANUFACTURER ARE MAKING BIG IMPROVEMENT IN THE QUALITY OF GOODS NOW TURNED OUT.

By F. A. McKenzie. Japan has increased her foreign trade threefold since the outbreak of the great war. She has abundant and well-disciplined labor, gladly accepting about one-tenth the rate asked by the English workers. Her textiles and silk goods sell from Lancashire to the heart of Brazil. Her shipping lines are taking the place in world trade once held by Germany.

Her great weakness is that many of the Japanese goods are slight, trumpy, and unreliable. The world took notice when it could buy no better, but the world is already returning to its old producers. The experienced East India merchant laughs at Japanese competition. "They will never do anything really big," he tells you. "They are commercial dogs, and want to grab everything for themselves. You cannot trust them. Permanent business cannot be built up without trust. Their expansion is a mere flash in the pan."

The old timer is partly right in his facts, but wholly wrong in his conclusions. The Japanese conduct business according to a standard of their own, which is not altogether our standard. But their methods are improving, and every year we feel their competition more. This is the more remarkable because of the tremendous handicaps they have imposed on themselves.

The great Japanese industrial organizations work hand-and-glove with the Government. Cooperation between politicians and traders, to the mutual interests of both, is carried in Japan at least as far as in any country in the world. The Mikado's Government, when it became firmly established, recognized that foreign trade was essential for world greatness, and so it started to foster it. High protection, heavy subsidies, and liberal orders to inland industries were inaugurated. Picked young men were sent at Government expense to manufacturing countries all over the world, particularly to England and New Zealand and Sheffield, Oldham and Bradford, Tyneside and Glasgow. They noted everything. A certain amount of machinery was imported. In some cases one machine was enough. The Japanese took it to pieces, and made a cheap model of their own.

A factory system was introduced without factory laws. Child labor and girl labor were driven to the maximum. Young women from the country came under contract to the great mills that sprang up around Osaka. They were herded in compounds, paid about two pence a day and their food, housed in shacks in the roughest shade, and worked twelve hours a day. The factories ran the whole 24 hours, seven days a week, on two 12-hour shifts. Here was a happy land where there were no strikes, no unions, no organized labor troubles. It was an industrial paradise—for the employers. A few people did try to introduce Socialist doctrine among the workers, but they were arrested in a bunch, convicted of plotting against the Emperor, and executed.

The factories grew to a hundred thousand workers, half a million workers; eventually factory laws had to be passed. As the same time the Japanese began to make use of exclusive markets outside their own country. They were hampered by European and American diplomatic superintendencies on the maintenance of the "open door" in the Far East. Now the Russian stupor, fellow, in his attempt to monopolize the Far East, bragged a lot about how he was going to have everything for himself, while actually his advance helpers, the Japanese, tried another plan. They solemnly promised that the door should be open, then they shut it, declaring that their meaning of "open door" was different from our meaning of the same words.

Europe, after a time, gradually recognized the fact that Japan was building her own ships in place of buying them from us; that she was selling to our own customers; and that she was making machinery not only for herself, but for her neighbors; and that the output at the Osaka mills was under-selling Lancashire in Lancashire itself. Then came the war. The world was now forced to go mainly to two countries for its supplies, America and Japan.

Had Japan been five years further forward she might have made her position secure over half the world. But the opportunity came before she was really prepared to meet it. She turned out goods on an enormous scale. South America, Australia, India, and the islands of the Pacific had to rely on her, but the Japanese killed their trade in many lines in Europe and America for a generation ahead by steady production.

There was great improvement in quality, however, even during the war. Many of the Japanese goods which reached England in 1919 were far superior to those that came in 1915. The Japanese are shrewd enough to learn, as Germany learned, that "cheap and nasty" is not enough. We are only at the beginning of Japanese commercial competition in what will replace Germany in many markets.
