THREAT TO QUIT CONFERENCE RAISES SERIOUS SITUATION

Even Though Put Into Effect British Premier Is Determined To See Conference Through.

Genoa, April 27.—(Grave apprehensions are being manifested here as a result of the speech of Raymond Poole, the French Premier, at Barcelona. The speech was regarded as constituting another attack on the spirit of the economic conference, which has necessarily broadened out beyond the Bolognese agreement, and is deplored in view of the general desire to break down all restrictions in an effort to establish peace and commerce reconstruction. Moreover, it makes more difficult the position of Louis Barthou, the French delegate, who was believed to be coming into line with the policy of Mr. Lloyd George, a policy that most Frenchmen here privately admit affords the sole hope of a solution.

Once again the conference is on the eve of striking developments. The French threat to discontinue collaboration if there is any departure from the conditions agreed upon is likely to provoke serious consequences. On the other hand, even though it were carried into effect, it would not be likely to disrupt the assembly. Mr. Lloyd George is determined to see the conference through, with or without France.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Is There a Change of Heart?
(London Daily Mail).
There are certainly indications that Lenin, Trotsky, and Bukharin and L'vynoff are finding their present position most uncomfortable. There are also indications that they want to hand their British money, as their own more stable gold run into short; and that they would like to have our goods—if they could get them for nothing, or if we were so simple as to finance their purchases by loans and advances. But as to indications of any real change of attitude or of any return to good faith and honesty on their part—what are they?

The Symbol of Militarism.
(New York World).
That army on the Rhine is the foundation of militarism in Europe. Let it be there to execute clauses of a treaty that cannot be fully executed. Actually it is there not only to collect money, but to keep a stranglehold on the industry of the Continent at the behest of French big business. It cannot be dislodged without the consent by France to a revision of several articles of the Treaty of Versailles. And since that army is the agent of the business interests that the present French government serves, it is clear enough why M. Poincaré will not permit discussion of the Treaty of Versailles.

A Voice by Post.
(Manchester Guardian).
From America, home of mechanical miracles, comes the news of a gramophone record that can be thrown on the floor and stamped on. It sounds like the best thing that could happen to some of them, but that is to reckon without the real significance of the invention. The point is that the new record is flexible, and a certain amount of knocking about does not make for clarity in long-distance intercourse. The hand-written letter, we are told, is doomed; why worry to put pen to paper when the very sound of the words as you speak them can be recorded, pushed into an envelope, and sent through the post without damage? It might certainly make for clarity in long-distance intercourse. "The written word remains," but the spoken one often has it for the finer shades of meaning.

Boy Immigrants.
(Perth, Australia, Western Mail).
The adult immigrant, as an asset, has some disadvantages from which the youthful newcomer is almost, if not wholly, free. The man of mature years who has his own means in his own country, is faced with conditions that are novel to him. He will find, for example, that his knowledge of agricultural methods, as gained in his own country, does not enable him to cope successfully with the conditions in his new environment. He finds, in short, that he has a great deal to learn and not a few things to unlearn. Against the adult immigrant, in the natural course of things, has before him a much shorter number of years of usefulness in his new home than a youth. The boy immigrant, from the moment that he has secured some immediate advantages. His age may be regarded as a guarantee of many years of useful work; he has no store of unsuitable information to get rid of.

Old Times Have Changed.
(London Times).
There was a time when our fathers did not debate politics or the law with their womenfolk. They listened attentively when their womenfolk chose to talk of the men and manners of the day. They understood that her detachment from the actual struggle gave woman a position to which man could not aspire. It was this detachment of women which made small-talk both interesting and considerable. No man of any importance could escape its adder; bluntness or bombast withered quickly under it. The place hunter, the crafty fellow, the mere babbler soon found their level among the dames whose quick eyes discerned the man under the actor's cloak. Now if a woman still, in her heart, disdains to converse with men, she gives him away, for she is committed to a party, a policy, which is his party, his policy. Argument has taken the place of epigram.

"Field Punishment No. 1."
(London Daily News).
It would be interesting to know whether the War Office Committee sought the opinion of subordinate officers when it decided to retain as an integral part of Army Field Punishment No. 1 the revolting practice of tying the offender as if he were a ferocious animal to the wheel of a cart in the presence of comrades. Officers of high rank, thinking in pre-war terms, may still regard this disciplinary action as good for the Army and the individual soldier. But a very large number of regimental officers who had to inflict the punishment and to enforce it during the late war hold an entirely opposite view. It is common knowledge among soldiers that in many cases this feature of P. No. 1 was deliberately omitted in practice by officers who knew the risk they were running, but whose humanity was not restricted by cast-iron professional bias. In the judgment of such men, as in our own, the practice is harmful and degrading, and quite out of keeping with the modern spirit in the promotion of true military discipline.

Benny's Note Book

BY LEE PAPE

Me and Puds Simkins was wawking to skool, wawking extra slow on account of it being such a frate day we didnt feel like wawking there at all, me saying, O, this is a peach of a day all cite, feet that breeze, would you, listen to those birds, would you.

Who ever invented skool on a day like this? sed Puds.

And we kepp on wawking and wishing we was wawking some place cita, and after a while Puds sed, Hay, I tell you lets wait, and I sed, Wat? and he sed, Lets toss up a cent weather to cut skool this afternoon or not, if it comes heds we'll go and if it comes tales we wont.

O, all rite, it wont be our fault if it comes tales, it will jest be a axident, I sed, and Puds sed, Sure, we was willing to go if it came heds, wasent we?

And he took a cent out of his pants pocket and tossed it up saying, Heds we go tales we dont, and it came down heds, me saying, Aw heck, thats a dervy trick, well I tell you lets wat, lets make it the best out of it.

All rite, thats a good leed, sed Puds, And he tossed it up agen and wat did it come down but heds agen, Puds saying, Well, we'll try it jest once more, we'll give it a chance.

And he tossed it up agen and it came down heds agen as if that was all it knew, me saying, Aw good nite, toss it up jest once more to make it a even number, this will be the last.

Wich it was, on account of coming down tales, and me and Puds quick started to wawk out to the park, me saying, Well, it was pure luck, it aint our fault, and Puds saying, The cent did it all rite, nobody cant say is wasent jest luck.

THE LAUGH LINE

Modern Expectations.

Blubb—"There is always room at the top."

Neville—"Yes, but the majority of people are always waiting for a lift to take them there."

Gastronomical.

"I think the enemy has got the range, captain," said the officer of the day.

"How in the world are we to cook our dinner, then?" replied the captain, absent-mindedly.

Thoughtful!

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torbins, "isn't it a pity that the morning newspapers are so much behind them?"

"In what respect?"

"Why they never print the name of the winner of a horse race until the next day, when it is too late to bet!"

Queer Optimism.

He was an optimistic soul and a sportsman. His pals, whom he infected with his enthusiasm, followed his tips blindly, with more often than not disastrous results.

"See what you've done!" wailed one of his friends, after a race. "And you told me I could put my shirt on that horse."

"And did you?"

"Yes, worse luck."

"Well, then," replied the optimistic sportsman, "see the money you'll save on laundry bills!"

SORES SPREAD ALL OVER FACES AND BODIES

Mrs. Howard Houlietta, Waukegan, Ill., writes:—"I wish to tell you of the benefit we have received by using your valuable medicine Burdock Blood Bitters. My children started to break out on their faces in small white pimples which kept getting larger each day. Paa would form under the eyes and they would come off, and each time the sores would be larger; some were as large as a twenty-five cent piece, and would spread all over their bodies. I was nearly in despair and sent to the village for a bottle of good blood medicine. The druggist sent me a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters which I commenced giving them at once. In about ten days I saw an improvement and they grew steadily better each day, and in one month the sores had all disappeared."

All blood and skin diseases are caused by impure blood, and to get it pure and keep it pure you must remove every trace of the impure and morbid matter from the system by a blood cleansing medicine such as BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS a remedy that has been on the market for the past forty-five years, and one without an equal for all diseases and disorders of the blood.

Only two net gains were shown in the trading, one of which Ogilvie's gain of two points to 220 produced a new high. About Every Branch of Listed Stocks Figured in the Declines.

New York, April 27.—Recent reactionary tendencies on the stock exchange became more accentuated today. Virtually every branch of the list figured in the extreme declines of one to three points on dealings approximating 1,450,000 shares. The coal strike, which affected a further decrease of car loadings, persisted reports of freight rate reductions by the Inter-State Commerce Commission, and the less favorable spec in the international situation were among the day's restraining influences. Most of the steels and equipments were under pressure, as were also utilities, tobacco, food specialties and numerous unclassified issues. Domestic oils were comparatively steady, but Mexican and kindred shares sustained additional losses.

Bond Market Continued On Its Irregular Course

French Governments and Municipal Heaviest of the Foreign Group—Liberty Dealings Large.

New York, April 27.—Technical conditions accounted mainly for the further irregularity shown by today's bond market, the recent upward movement of prices halting as new issues were being distributed among investors. Dealings in Liberties were large, but offerings exceeded the demand. French Governments and Municipalities were heaviest of the foreign group. Consols and underlying issues of the Western and Southwestern roads (or-felled large fractions to 1 1/2 points and profit-taking contributed to the uneven tone of local utilities, but the market in general lost little of its power of absorption. Total sales, par value, aggregated 35,879,000.

Edmundston Makes Preparations For Historical Event

International Bridge Connecting That Town With Madawaska, Me., to be Opened July 1st.

Special to The Standard. Edmundston, April 27.—Word has been received from Ottawa that the new International Bridge between that town and Madawaska, Maine, and connecting upwards of a half a million dollars will be ready to be opened on the 1st of July.

The Dominion Government will be represented, and the province will have its distinguished delegates present. As the New Brunswick Tourist and Business Association meet in Edmundston this year, it is hoped that arrangements will be made so that it can make their date coincide with the date of the opening of the bridge.

The tentative plans for the day are, procession through the town; all public buildings, and private dwellings, and co-operating together to make the bridge during the day; probably a military band, and a banquet to the guests of honor. The Bridge Association will also arrange a meet on that day.

NEW "MAESTIC" IS LARGEST SHIP IN THE WORLD

Built in Germany But Must be Surrendered to the Allies.

Berlin, April 27.—The Bismarck, which has been handed over to the representatives of the White Star Line, is not only the largest of the same time the most sumptuous and probably also the swiftest passenger ship of the world.

That was the tenor of an interview given by Rear Admiral, who as the representative of the German government supervised the finishing of the ocean liner.

"Of course, it has been a bitter task for us to prepare the surrender of this ship which was destined to be the glory of Germany's shipping trade," said Arns. "But I am proud to state, that nevertheless all of us did our duty in the most loyal manner."

The future Maestic is confined in exactly the same way as it had been for the Hamburg-America line for which it was originally intended.

"The work on board the Bismarck, which had been launched in the autumn of 1914, was completely stopped at the beginning of the war and has only been resumed two years ago. The mammoth steamer, which is longer than one more than the former Valerian—30.5 meters high, 19.5 meters high from the bottom to the upper deck.

The draught when loaded to 19.38 meters (63 feet); 48 water pipe boilers supply the steam for the four turbines which act directly on the four screws. The boilers are heated by oil fuel, which almost develops no smoke. The oil employed is a very tough Mexican oil which, when stored, is so consistent that it has to be cut with water and cannot explode. The system of the double bottom divided into carefully calculated cells offers a rare feature of security.

"According to the contract, the efficiency of the engines must be 66,000 H.P., but we are sure that 100,000 H.P. can easily be obtained so that the Maestic will doubtless be the speediest ship of the world.

"The finer outfitting and accommodations in the three classes can hardly be surpassed. The arrangements for the 700 first class passengers are the most sumptuous that could possibly be imagined. The dining room, covering 1,000 square meters and possessing a beautiful canopy painted by Professor Kolopolev of the Munich Academy, is finished in white. It offers room for all the passengers, so that no second dinner has to be served.

"The smoking room is furnished with dark oak and the walls are covered with leather. The bar (for dancing) is remarkable in its beautiful deep carving of massive oak wood. The restaurant is finished in Honduras mahogany, enriched by gold ornaments and the wonderful case leading through five decks is outfitted with precious iron work and the walls are decorated with copies of famous German paintings executed by the Hamburgian painter, Professor Koellitz.

"Quite remarkable too, is the swimming hall. The ceiling, lighted from within, gives the illusion of a beautiful deep carving of massive oak wood. C. N. R. Management Failed To Keep Its Promises

Edmundston Hard Hit by Cancellation of Fast Freights Through That Town.

Edmundston, April 27.—The people of Edmundston are feeling that the railway authorities of the Canadian Government Railways are not giving them their right in their present policy in regard to the Edmundston division.

The fast freight trains running between Monk and Moncton through here have been diverted to the main line, inasmuch as the employees of the road built their homes here in many cases, and now because of the cancellation of these trains, they find themselves out of employment, and houses still unpaid for on their hands, and as it is well known that the trains can be operated over the Edmundston division much more quickly and far more economically, and as it further interferes with the business men who have built up their businesses anticipating the same service from the government road constantly, many questions are being asked as to what is the meaning of the move.

A delegation was sent to Ottawa where provisional promises were made, the authorities in Montreal also gave more or less satisfactory promises that the trains would be put back on again. The delegation consisting of J. W. Hall, President of the Board of Trade, J. M. Stevens, K. C., and N. P. Legere, an alderman, were received by the Minister of Railways, and the General Manager of the C.N.R. National System, D. B. Hanna, and the delegation returned to Edmundston convinced that the trains would be replaced, but, during the past few weeks, instead of getting these trains back other service has been curtailed and more men laid off.

The Dominion Government will be represented, and the province will have its distinguished delegates present. As the New Brunswick Tourist and Business Association meet in Edmundston this year, it is hoped that arrangements will be made so that it can make their date coincide with the date of the opening of the bridge.

SAVING FUEL GREAT HELP TO ITALY'S R'WAYS

Special Interest at Railroad Congress in American Invention for Heating Locomotives.

Rome, April 26.—A feed water heater for locomotives invented by a Philadelphia engineer, Thomas C. MacBride, is proving one of the most important questions before it are electric traction and means of economizing on coal and the feed water system touches both of them.

The railroads of Italy and other European countries, while working toward complete electrification, have gone slowly because of the initial cost of installation but are showing much interest in methods of cutting fuel bills and utilizing the existing locomotives to the best advantage. The problem particularly interests Italy, which has no coal, and has found her fuel bill paid chiefly to England and America, enormously increased by the low state of exchange.

The MacBride invention, which is said to save 20 per cent in fuel cost, is being tried out on some locomotives of the Italian State railroads and also in France and Belgium.

The progress made in the European market by the American system has aroused keen opposition from the makers of heaters and the congress is being used as a battle ground for threshing out the merits of various heating methods.

JOHN PARIS, ACCUSED OF MURDER, TESTIFIED IN HIS OWN DEFENCE, GREAT INTEREST IN THE TRIAL

Crown Concluded Their Case Yesterday After Hearing Six Witnesses—Paris Told of Being in Truro on Date of Murder in St. John—Knew Riverview Park Was Off Douglas Avenue—Started for Park One Day But Did Not Go There.

The Crown concluded their case against John Paris yesterday afternoon, and the prisoner himself took the stand in his own defence in the examination of the prisoner they endeavored to clear his name of the charge of murdering Sadie McAuley in Riverview Park on Aug. 2 last.

The defence. Mr. Paris in opening the case for the defence, said he would outline to the jury the salient points of his defence. He intended with the aid of witnesses to show Paris could not have committed the crime because he was not in the city when it was committed, but that he was in Truro on July 27 till August 4.

Robert Elliot. The cross-examination of Robert Elliot was resumed on the opening of the case in the morning. Elliot said he had seen Sadie McAuley and Hattie Lavigne coming from the direction of Main street at about noon. They disappeared and at 12:30 the Lavigne girl came back alone.

Hattie Lavigne. Hattie Lavigne gave evidence similar to that given at previous trials. She said she and Sadie McAuley were picking berries and met a man who said he would show them where there were larger berries.

John Paris. Mr. Vernon then directed Paris to take the witness box, and the accused walked over and stood before Judge Barry told him he might sit down, and he replied "I'd rather stand for a while, because I'm a little nervous."

Paris said he was brought up in Truro and lived there most of his life. That he went to Truro on the night of July 23rd and was there till August 3rd leaving that night for St. John. Walker Humphrey, he said saw him in the office and that he spotted the people of Truro, and that he spent the night at the Wm. Byard home.

The Pan-American Congress of Women

Mrs. E. Atherton Smith Made An Impression With Her Address in Baltimore.

Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, representative of the St. John Local Council of Women evidently made a hit at the Pan-American Congress of Women, held in Baltimore, and they were all her Canadian friends paid tribute to her ability.

The Baltimore Sun of Monday, April 24, in discussing one of the meetings says this: "But Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, of Canada, delivered the real address of the evening in telling of her countrywomen."

In her address Mrs. Smith spoke of the early pioneer women of Canada, and the United Loyalist women. She referred to Jean Mance, founder of Hotel Dieu, Montreal; Madeline Vercheres and Lady La Tour, and closed with a fine tribute to the Canadian nurses who played so heroic a part in the great war, and to Mrs. W. E. Sanford, president of the National Council of Women of Canada.

Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, of Canada, would make an excellent reporter. Mrs. Smith went down in the elevator from the twelfth floor to the lobby of the Belvedere with a reporter who was endeavoring to secure a story from her. Whether she wanted to talk to the reporter or not, but there the lobby was reached Mrs. Smith knew all about that reporter and could have written his obit. without the slightest digression.
