The Washwoman's Friend.
In a very humble cot,
In the mud and in the soap,
Worked a woman full of hope;
Working, singing, all alone,
In a sort of undertone,
"With a Saviour for a friend;
He will keep me to the end."
Sometimes happening along,
I had heard the semi-song,
And I often used to smile
More in sympathy than glee;
But I never said a word
In regard to what I heard,
As she sang about her friend
Who would her to the end.
Not in sorrow nor in glee
Working all day long was she,
As her children, three or four,
Played around her on the floor;
But in monotone the song
She was humming all day long,
"With a Saviour for a friend,
He will keep me to the end."

"What might your name be?"
"My name is Hammond, sir."
A still longer pause, and then, "I hope there ain't no harm done?"
"There is not, sir."
An embarrassing silence during which the stranger contemplated Col. Hammond closely, then, "You see I've got an uncle lives up in Tennessee that I ain't never seen, and I might come upon him some time by just asking folks their names.—Atlanta Constitution."

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.
Nearly every Tory paper we take up nowadays contains some reference to what must be done, or omitted, on account of the state of the finances of the country. They do not tell their readers who is responsible for the state of the finances. A fifty per cent. increase in the expenditure in eight years is enough to make the financial condition of a country very serious. The people were told in 1878 that twenty two and a half millions were an outside limit for years to come. That the Liberals slightly exceeded this figure was one of the principal grounds of the Tory indictment against them. But such a limit has been left far behind, and we are well up towards forty millions. It is no answer to the charge that this increase is directly in the face of the Tory professions made in 1878, to say that the condition of the country has materially altered since then, for this alteration is the very evil complained of. The Tories have made it impossible to conduct the Government of the country except at an annual expense which puts altogether too heavy a strain upon the finances of the country. The policy, which has resulted in the piling up of a huge debt entailing an enormous annual burden of interest, and in the most extravagant increase in expenditure in all lines of the public service, until at last it has been found necessary to suspend operations upon important works for lack of money to go on with them, could not in the light of events be justified, even if it had been honestly adopted in the belief that it would promote the welfare of the whole country. But in view of the fact that these monstrous increases in debt and expenditure have been made in the interest of rings, to perpetuate a corrupt administration, or to undo, if possible, the mischief resulting from reckless mismanagement, the conduct of the Government becomes criminal. When the Tories took power they found the expenditure at the lowest possible figure and the tax paying ability of the people far from exhausted. In view of the universal depression in trade the Liberals had wisely forbore to make large demands upon the people, and were content, even at the cost of being charged with niggardliness and lack of enterprise, to await the advent of better times before making any drafts upon the untouched margin of tax paying possibilities. The people were better able in 1878 than they are now to pay the present amount of taxation. But the Liberals felt that the country was young and growing and having regard to the probable demands of the future they forbore to impose heavy taxes. Possibly they were mistaken in this. Certainly if they had desired more to prolong their lease of power than to act upon their honest convictions, their proper course would have been to have raised the tariff and debauched constituency by squandering the money thus raised. They did not do this, but stood by their principles and went out of office, leaving, as we have said, the taxpaying ability of the people far from exhausted. But it did not take long for their successors to adopt a new policy. Coming into office just as trade was reviving they found the revenue of the country swelling under the higher tariff. Instead of keeping within bounds their extravagance knew no limit. They became reckless. Millions were as trifles. All along the line extravagance ran riot. And now the end has come. The Finance Minister is at his wits end. The tariff will not produce the needed revenue, and if the duties are increased the probability is that the revenue will decrease. Meanwhile the country has the satisfaction of knowing that the C. P. R. magnates dwell in palaces, that Sir Charles Tupper maintains regal magnificence in London and that cabinet ministers go junketting around the country in special palace cars.

Smith Challenges Greenfield to Another Fight.

Greece's Claims—Seized Letters Published.

Special to Gleaner.
London, Feb. 18.—Smith, the prize fighter, is not satisfied with the result of yesterday's contest, and has challenged Greenfield to fight again in England or Ireland. He is prepared to stake £2000 against £1000 on the result. Empire Mace writes to the Telegraph that he decided that Smith and Greenfield should meet again and fight it over, but that their backers said that they wished the contest to be declared a draw, and they really decided the question themselves.

Special to Gleaner.
Rome, Feb. 19.—The journals of this city have published a letter from Vienna to Signor Durieux which was seized by the police when Durieux was arrested here recently, which, through obvious initials, involves several officials of the Vatican, the object being to accuse the Vatican of treason. The Minister of Justice avowed in the Chambers yesterday that the letter was genuine.

A Bad Breakdown.—It is a common thing now-a-days to hear one complain of feeling all broken down with a fever, weary, restless, languid, with strength and appetite nearly gone, and with no well defined cause. This is general debility, which Barlett Blood Tonic promptly relieves, and most invariably cures.

A Wise Choice.—In selecting a remedy for coughs and colds the wise choice is to take one that loosens the tough mucus clinging to their passages. Such a remedy is Hagar's Pectoral Balsam, which promptly breaks up hard colds and their troublesome effects.

A SEASONABLE REMEDY.—During the breaking up of winter, when the air is chilly and the weather damp, such complaints as rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, sore throat, cramp, and other painful effects of sudden cold, are prevalent. It is then that Hagar's Yellow Oil is found truly valuable as a household remedy.

TWO MARES FOR SALE.
Black Mare, "Jennie Taylor."
Bay Mare, "Kitty Parker."

"JENNIE TAYLOR" is a jet black mare, four years old, stands 15 hands high and weighs 1300 lbs. She was bred by "Col. Taylor," an Irish Ham breeder. She is kind in harness, docile or double, and without any special handling, for speed, has shown miles in 2:15 and 2:30, half mile in 1:10 and 1:24, and quarters frequently in 30 seconds. This mare would make an excellent family or road horse.

"KITTY PARKER" is a bay filly with black points, foaled Oct. 1884. She now weighs 600 lbs. Bred by "Brighton," by "Constitution," by "Constellation," by "Algonquin." Kitty's dam was the black mare, "Queen," by "Glenora," owned by Mr. J. H. Lugin, was one of the best mares I ever rode. "Kitty" is heartily game and good fast, and from her breeding should make a good one.

THE SOCIETIES.

Items of Interest about Secret and Other Organizations.

The 43rd Annual Session of the Grand Lodge, L. O. A.

Order of Foresters.

The regular monthly meeting of Court St. Mary's was held on Tuesday evening last. The number of Foresters in the vicinity of Fredericton now number about a hundred.

A Juvenile Foresters' Society has been organized in Ontario.

The Foresters of Yorkville, Eng., are considering the establishment of an orphanage for the Forest orphans. Bro. T. Ballan Street, F. H. C. R., is chairman of the committee. There are 35,000 members of the Order in that country, and it is thought that the scheme can be successfully accomplished on the voluntary plan amongst the members and their intimate friends. A resolution was adopted asking the Yorkshire Foresters to subscribe two cents per month for the purpose of building and maintaining a Foresters' Orphan Home.

Independent Order of Oddfellows.

Maine has 110 lodges, and 1,200 Oddfellows.

The Grand Lodge of Quebec meets in Sherbrooke on the 16th inst.

There are 1,000 Oddfellows in Springfield, Mass.

In Canada and the United States there are 1,445 subordinate lodges and 1,094 Encampments.

A daughter of Rebekah is entitled to a visiting card from the subordinate lodge in which she received the degree. Journal, 1885, p. 859.

Minneapolis Lodge, No. 7, Winnipeg, the Model Lodge of the North West, has ordered a complete outfit at a cost of $800.

The Montreal Patriarchs have forwarded an application to Lieut.-General John C. Foderwood, commanding the Patriarch Militant, for a charter for "Mount Royal Canton," No. 1.

It is said that the oldest living Oddfellow in the United States is O. F. Kreider, living in Homer, Ill. He was born in 1800, and joined the Order when 22 years old.

It is estimated that at least 5,000 informed brethren will be in line at the parade in honor of the Sovereign Grand Lodge in Boston next September.

There is a movement on foot to organize Grand Lodges in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

Est these three Provinces are united in the Grand Lodge of the Maritime Provinces, and it is felt that separate jurisdiction will result in increased activity in lodge work.

The Unifomed Encampment of Toronto, has arranged to begin drill at once, the object, no doubt, being to regard in due time a Canton of "Fairfairs Militant."

Sons of Temperance.

At the thirty-eighth annual session of the Order in Nova Scotia, the returns showed a membership of 16,481 in 22 Divisions, and this number had increased on 31st December, 1884, to 16,586 in 306 Divisions. The Order has cash on hand and invested $100,000.

Carries on very active work through its agencies in the interests of temperance. Printed in the Year Book is a "Historical Sketch of the Order," a very well written and an interesting account of the origin and growth of the Sons of Temperance, written by R. Alder Temple, who is grand Scribe of Nova Scotia, who is also Most Worthwhile Scribe of the order in North America. This was read at the Philadelphia Centennial Conference.

It would seem that temperance is quite conducive to longevity in our sister Province. At a late meeting of the Grand Division held in Haverhill, John Gunn, aged 90 years, and 40 years a Son of Temperance, and Rochester McKay, who is 87 years of age, and 35 years a Son, took part in the proceedings.

Royal Templars.

The Royal Templars of this city propose making active temperance work a part of their duties. They intend holding their meetings hereafter in the Temperance Hall.

The Grand Council of Ontario are in session at Guelph.

The Councils of Ontario now exceed two hundred.

The month of December showed a larger increase of membership than any other month since the Order was instituted in 1880.

Highgate Council, of Kent County, won the 23rd set of jewels offered by the Order to the Canadian Royal Templar. It won on a record of 61 new members within the prescribed three months.

The Orange Order.

The 43rd annual meeting of the Grand Orange Lodge of New Brunswick is now being held at John. The Grand Secretary's report showed a marked increase in the membership during the year. In some lodges the increase had been remarkable—No. 35 of Fredericton and No. 62 of Moncton, each had initiated 20. In Charlotte County there are six lodges with a membership of 144. In Kings (east) all the lodges are flourishing and the average membership is 31. In St. John county 14 and 16 lodges have seen returns and the aggregate membership, in good standing, is 176. This county has within its jurisdiction two district lodges, the only two in the province. The York county lodges also displayed renewed energy and there has been a gain in numbers. There are six lodges in Carleton county, but as yet returns are only in from four of these, all, however, are in good working order. The three lodges in Queens (east) have an average membership of 26. Out of the 70 lodges returns have come in from nearly 60 and others are expected before the session terminates. The returns show:

Initiated.....134
By certificate.....47
Renewed.....17
Withdrawn.....10
Deaths.....10

Two warrants were issued for a lodge at Gibson, and one at Albert Co. and an application for incorporation from British Lion, No. 31, Carleton. During the past year while visiting lodges in the county, the secretary brought to the notice the fact that the grand lodge had appointed a committee to arrange for the holding of a monster demonstration July 12, 1886, and the property of starting a demonstration. The most cases this was well considered and some lodges have already begun to move. It was also made to the successful celebration at Gagetown on July 12, 1885, and on the 14th November throughout the county, in order to maintain the interest in the institution among country lodges systematic yearly visitation on the part of the grand master and lecturer were recommended.

TERIBLE MURDER NEAR FALLS.

An Acrid Foreman Kills his Wife and then Commits Suicide.

A Grand Falls despatch to the St. John Telegraph gives an account of a horrible murder committed early on Tuesday morning, at a place on the American side of the river, about four miles above the Falls. An old man named Hiram Martin had an altercation with his aged wife and took her to the door of his dwelling and there struck her on the head with an axe, the blow from which caused instant death. It appears that the aged couple have not, for several years past, lived very agreeably together, and that the deceased has several times left the home of her murderous husband. Jealousy is the cause assigned for the awful deed.

THE MEMBERS KILLS HISSELF.

A letter despatch states that the murderer has committed suicide by shooting himself with a shot gun. Thus ends one of the most horrible tragedies ever committed in this section of the country.

Death of Mr. James McMillan.

Mr. James McMillan, one of the oldest and most successful business men of St. John, died last evening, after an illness of a few days. On Friday last Mr. McMillan was taken to his place of business as usual, and spent the evening with his family. The following morning he complained of feeling unwell, and remained in bed. As he did not improve, the family physicians, Drs. Wm. Bayard and P. R. Incebe, were called in. They found that he had contracted a severe cold, which settling on his lungs, had produced congestion. On Sunday he was no better, but on Tuesday the symptoms were more favorable and it was thought that he was improving. Yesterday an unfavorable change was noticed and as the day wore along into the evening he grew rapidly worse and about 10 o'clock passed peacefully away.

Mr. James McMillan was the second son of the late John McMillan, who came to St. John in 1822 from Belfast, Ireland, and set up business as a bookseller and printer—a business he had engaged in before leaving his native country. His three sons, David, James and Alexander, who afterwards succeeded to their father's business, were all born in Belfast and came with him to this country. Mr. McMillan, who was engaged in his calling, and his store was the centre where the leading men of the city congregated to discuss literary matters generally. Upon the death of John McMillan, his son David succeeded to the business. When a young man, James McMillan went to Philadelphia, where he resided for some years, returning to this city on the death of his elder brother in 1845. In this year the firm of J. & A. McMillan was organized. A number of years ago the junior partner, Alexander, died, since which time the business has been carried on by James McMillan. As the city grew in size the business increased, steam presses took the place of the old-time machinery worked by hand, and the latest improvements were added to the book-binding. Although heavy losses by fire on more than one occasion the Messrs. McMillan never lost heart, but with that steadfast character so marked in the race they were descended from, faced and overcame all difficulties. The fire of 1877 destroyed the fine establishment of the firm and Mr. James McMillan's residence dwelling on German street. Both of these were rebuilt, and before this time Mr. McMillan had the satisfaction of seeing his establishment better equipped than ever before.

In person Mr. McMillan was a tall, well-built man, although he had passed the allotted three score and ten, was firm and elastic and his form as erect as in youth. His father had taught him the printer's art and he had been engaged in the occupation in his later years when he had practically retired from business. Always an industrious man he had an avocation to being idle and spent a portion of his time each day at the printer's "case," leaving the details of the large business with his son, John McMillan, and the heads of the different departments. There was no man's character for honesty and business integrity that stood higher in this city than that of Mr. McMillan's. He was remarkably successful in his commercial ventures, and although he passed through numerous periods of business depression he weathered them all successfully. He was prominently identified with St. David's Presbyterian church for many years, and was a great force from the office he held in connection with that church. As a member of the Evangelical Alliance he took a warm interest in all matters coming up for discussion at the meeting of that body. He was a worthy, good man, and his death will be deeply regretted by hundreds of friends, not only in St. John, but throughout the province. He leaves a wife and one son, Mr. John McMillan, who will have the sympathy of the entire community in their sudden bereavement.—Telegraph.

AMONG OUR LUMBERMEN.

What a Few of the Lumbermen in the County are Doing.

A gentleman of this city who has just returned from a tour among the lumber camps in the western part of the county, reports that most of the lumbermen operating in that section are doing a good business despite the hard hauling.

Mr. John Scott, of the Barony, is lumbering at Sugar Brook, nine miles from Mc-A's Junction. He has been carrying on lumbering operations at this place for thirteen years. He has a crew of forty men, his camps are fitted up in an excellent manner, and a visitor finds a cordial reception among a most genial and hearty lot of men. Mr. Scott expects to get out about the same quantity of lumber that he did last season. His lumber is manufactured at Morrice's Deer Lake mills.

Near Mr. Scott's camps are the lumber camps of Mr. Alex. Rossborough, of Prince William. He operates also quite extensively, and will turn out a good pile of lumber this winter.

A few miles north, on the banks of the Magaguadavic, is the scene of the lumber operations of Con. William Henry. He is doing a much more extensive business this winter than formerly. The recent storm have put the operators back some in their work, but will not materially affect their work.

Con. Henry had one of his horses killed the other day by a falling tree.

Killdeer, who is hauling logs on the same road, lost a valuable horse which he paid $100 for a short time ago. The horse was found dead in the stable.

WEDDING BELLS.

Interesting Nuptial Ceremony at the Methodist Church.

A very pleasant event took place at 11 o'clock yesterday morning in the Methodist church, when Miss Nettie A. Chrestat, daughter of Mr. Knox Chrestat, of this city, united in marriage to Mr. T. H. Bullock, of St. John. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wm. Tippet, pastor of the church. Miss K. H. H. of St. John, and Miss A. and G. Gregory, of this city, were the bridesmaids, and Mr. H. P. Chrestat, of St. John, a brother of the bride, Mr. B. Gregory, of this city, and Mr. H. C. of St. John, assisted as groomsmen. The happy couple were the recipients of many costly and useful presents from friends in this city and St. John, among them being a handsome pair of ornate bronzes and brass picture, presented by the "Eccentric Club," of St. John, of which the groom is a member.
