Mr. W. H. Bartram Enters the Field.

He Outlines His Policy-Favors Municipal Control of Corporation Franchises.

An Advertiser reporter called on Mr. Bartram to inquire as to the report of his being a candidate for the mayoralty, and his views on the situation. Mr. Bartram, in reply, said that the report was true. "I propose," said he, "to give the citizens of London an opportunity of placing the city of London on an Anglo-Saxon footing, as an object lesson to the cities of Canada and the United States, which will involve the taking of immediate and absolute control of the street railway and all other corporation franchises, as of inalienable constitutional right, so as to produce a revenue to this city; the reorganization of the law and engineering departments of the city service, so as to abolish ward-grabbing, and illegal and useless expenditure. There is a wide field for reorganization, but I have indicated enough for the present. I don't propose to elect myself, but simply to give the ratepayers the opportunity of electing a mayor and council who will abandon the Latin system in local government and prevent the corporation from be coming bankrupt and owned by its creditors. "When the other candidates are announced, and the campaign opens, I shall take every opportunity of placing my views and the reasons for them before the citizens." The reporter suggested that Mr. Bartram was about to undertake a big contract, to which he replied: "Oh, no; will not be my contract, but that of the citizens. My role is only to indicate how to make the contract, and the means to carry it out." LOCAL LABOR NEWS

Proposed Union of Tin and Sheet Metal Workers.

Mr. John Kennedy, one of the international vice-presidents of the Amalgamated Association of Tin and Sheet Metal Workers, addressed a meeting of the craft last evening in Labor Hall, with a view of establishing a local union of the organization in London. Several other speakers also addressed the meeting, and a committee was appointed to act in unison with the organization committee of the Trades and Labor Council to take the necessary steps to procure a charter and in-

An Expert's Opinion of the Plas tering at the Hospital

Walls To Be Fainted-The Building Committee Already Have Uses for

Some of the County's $15,000. The hospital building committee met last evening to receive a report from Mr. F. A. Vanbrook, of the Royal Cement Company, St. Louis, Mo., on the plastering done at the new hospital by Contractors Pritchett & Murray Bros. Other matters came up and a long session was held. Mr. Vanbrook said the work done at the Victoria Hospital was as good as he had ever seen. It was first-class in every respect, and much above the average. The streaks which the committee complained of were not the fault of poor workmanship. A finish of even color could not be expected, and it was intended that the walls be either painted or papered. The architect will report on a cilica finish. Accounts from Architects Matthews, Craddock and Bodley, for $700 each, on account of plans prepared for the new hospital, were again considered. Ald. Wilkey moved to file them. The mayor said they had been of assistance to the committee, and his motion that, while denying any hability, the city give each $50, without prejudice, was adopt-

The new contagious ward will be ready for the removal of the patients from the old ward in two or three weeks. Tenders for the hospital elevators will be received up to Monday, Nov. With the $15,000 from the county council now practically assured, the committee decided to recommend that marble be put in in connection with the plumbing, and that Smith Bros.' tender be accepted. They recommended also that the tile floor be put in, as desired by the doctors.

The members present were: Ald. Carrothers (chairman), Jolly, Hunt, Wil-

key, McPhillips, the mayor, Architect McBride, Clerk of the Works Dodd, and Secretary Bell. ENFORCING ALIEN LABOR LAW. Toronto, Nov.19 .- The Dominion Government is instituting proceedings against two Buffalo contractors under the Alien Labor Law. The alleged violation occurred in connection with the erection of a sand-hopper in Welland county. The government is suing for $1,000. Yesterday Mr. F. E. Hodgins moved before the master in chambers for the examination of the defendants at Welland. Judgment was reserved.

LIFE SAVED .- Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any Lennox Remains in the Liberal Column.

Mr. Aylesworth's Majority Is Largely Increased.

More Than Three Times Greater Than Before-A Hard Fought Battle-Bribery Alleged.

Napanes, Nov. 19.-The battle has been fought and won, and Lennox re-mains redeemed. It was a battle royal from the start, and both sides strained every nerve to win. The Dominion opposition threw in their lot with Mr. Whitney, and for the past two weeks the riding has swarmed with Conservative M. P.s and ex-M. P.s. The conjunction of forces proved unavailing, and Lennox is now a Liberal riding. While Mr. Whitney and his followers have been loud in their declarations against bribery and free in charging the Liberals with corruption, evidence is accumulating that the methods adopted by Dr. Meacham's supporters were not above are not above a were not above suspicion. The secre-tary of the Reform Association stated last night that he had proof of 30 cases of bribery that had been practiced on Dr. Meacham's behalf. Mr. W. T. R. Preston went so far as to mention the names of the men who had charge of the corruption fund used on Dr. Meacham's behalf in this election. In view of all the circumstances, Mr. Aylesworth's majority is a magnificent tesof the confidence placed in the Hardy Administration by the people of Lennox. The town of Napanee gave the Liberal candidate 60 of a majority, and part of this can safely be attributed to the premier's visit here on Thursday night. Although this was perhaps one of the hottest elections Lennox has ever experienced, everything was quiet and orderly in town last night. A gathering was held at the town hall after the returns were all in. Short addresses were delivered by the candidate-elect, Mr. Bowen E. Aylesworth, and Messrs. H. M. Deroche, Q.C., W. S. G. W. Dawson and others.

Washington, Nov. 19 .- News or a mixed character came to the navy department yesterday from Admiral Dewey, touching the situation in the Philippines. Mrs. So far as the Spaniards are concerned, perhaps they can be left to take care of themselves, but the foreign residents at Iloilo are differently regarded. The difficulty in the situation is that with the best intentions to intervene to protect the Europeans and other foreigners, and to save the city of Iloilo, the second in importance in the Philippine group, from looting, the United States forces appear to be estopped, under the rules of war, from moving from their positions. GENERAL DEBILITY CURED.

[From the Advertiser, Hartland, N.B.] Ralph Giberson, postmaster of Monquart, Carleton county, N. B., is also known as a prosperous agriculturist and enthusiast in his line Now stalman who six months ago was the picture of one suffering the terrible symptoms of general debility. He was run down in health, suffered much from dizziness, almost blindness, general duliness and depression of spirits. He had a poor appetite, and such food as he ate gave him great distress. He was incapacitated for the work that fell upon him and was well nigh utterly discouraged. The symptoms bordered on those by which hypochondria is manifested. Through reading the Advertised he learned of the particular benefit that several of his friends in this vicinity had received by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and by the hope held out by their testimonials he secured a supply and took them according to directions. The result was almost magical; soon his symptoms became less disagreeable, and he steadily gained until now he is perfectly free from his old troubles. He gladly and freely gives this testimonial, that all who may read it may know the remedy if ever they are troubled with general debility.

WEAK AND RUN DOWN.

Among many in Ottawa and the vicinity who have been benefited one way and another by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, the Journal has learned of the case of Mrs. Gilchrist, wife of Mr. T. V. Gilchrist, of Hintonburgh. Mr. Gilchrist is well-known to a great many people in Ottawa as well as to the villagers Gilchrist states that while in a "run down" condition during the spring of 1897, she was greatly strengthened and built up by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Speaking of the matter to a Journal reporter, she stated that while able to go about at the time she was far from well; her blood was poor, she was subject to headaches, and felt tried after the slightest exertion. She had read at different times of cures effected by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and decided to try them. She was benefited by the first box and continued their use until she had taken five boxes, when she considered herself quite recovered. Mrs. Gilchrist says that she always strongly recommends Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a builder and strengthener, when any of her friends are weak or ailing.

RHEUMATISM CURED.

Mr. M. Carroll, of Roland, Man., writes: "While living at Sidney, Man., I wrote you informing you that your Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had cured me of rheumatism of 25 years standing, after many other medicines had failwart and rugged, weighing 250 pounds, ed. I am pleased to again write you he scarce would be recognized as the and say that the cure has been permanent, as after a lapse of several years, there has been no return of the trouble. I sincerely hope my experience will be the means of helping some other poor sufferer."

CURED OF SCIATICA.

Mr. C. Thornton, Bluevale, Ont., says: "About seven years ago I rented my farm, and moved into this village, where I have since carried on business as a pump maker. In the fall of 1895 I was attacked with sciatica, and for more than a month sufliams' Pink Pills; under this treatment the sciatica was banished, and I have not since felt any return of it."

GAINED TWENTY-THREE POUNDS

Mr. Arthur Piper, Dixville, Que., "Last autumn I became very savs: weak, my whole constitution seemed to be undermined, and I lost flesh rapid-ly. I had no appetite, the least exertion tired me, and the words 'felt miserable' will best describe my feelfered intensly. I took medical treatings. Having read so much concernment, but it did not help. Then a druggist advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I determined to try them, and the results were most beneficial. Astounding as it may seem, I gained 23 pounds in three weeks, and I am now feeling as well as ever I did in my life. To those who feel as I did, I would say that Dr. Wiiliams' Pink Pills will speedily with

WASTING AWAY.

Mrs. J. N. Gordon, Cataraqui, Ont., says: "If I could not have got Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I believe I would not now be living. I was wasted away to a shadow, and my hands were literally transparent. I had a hack-ing cough, could not sleep and could scarcely eat. Doctors having failed to help me I determined to try Dr. Wil-liams' Pink Pills, and was soon gratified to find that they were helping me. I continued their use for several months, and am thankful to say that they have fully restored my health. I consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a blessing to humanity."

He looked upon it not so much for its intrinsic value, but the kindly and Christian spirit in which it was given, showing there was a bond of union that exists between them, and trusted that the spirit of harmony would ever prevail. As he sat down to write he would ever think the pen was mightier than the sword. He trusted God would bless would all meet in heaven. The young people returned to their homes early, after spending a pleasant evening.

INTERNATIONAL FIELD TRIALS. The international field trials, that came off near Chatham, closed with the completion of the all-aged stake. weather conditions were favorable, but the birds were rather scarce. During the afternoon, however, several singles and a couple of bevies were pointed, and very creditable work was done on the game. Much fault was found with the decision of the judges, and prominent club officials say the trials will never again be held in Chatham. The winners in the first heat were drawn for the second, as follows, the first named dog being the winner: Essie D., H. M. Graydon, London, and Cleopatra, W. R. Wells, Chatham; Mars, J. B. Dale, Petrolia, and Maud W., Leamington Pointer Kennels; Noble Chieftain, George Kime, Chatham, and Brighton Bob, T. H. Davey, London. Noble Chieftain and Essie D. were put down together for the final. Noble Chieftain got first place, and Essie D. second, Mars third.

YOUNG ELLIOTT HELD FOR MURDER

Verdict of the Coroner's Jury Re the Beaverton Tragedy.

Beaverton, Ont., Nov. 19 .- The coroner's inquest in the case of William Murray was closed here yesterday afternoon. Coroner Dr. A. Grant charged the jury, and after one and a half hours' deliberation the following verdict was returned:

"That the said William Murray was on the afternoon of Saturday, 12th of November, 1898, murdered by one Edward Elliott, at the village of Beaver-

COL. MACDONALD'S ADVANCE-MENT.

There is some comment on the fact that Colonel Macdonald, who, some people claim, saved the battle of Omdurman by his promptness and skill in repulsing a dervish onelaught, which General Kitchener overlooked, was not included among those who have received Soudan decorations, although he has been promoted to be an aide-de-camp of the Queen. CONSERVATIVES IN A PECK OF TROUBLE.

Ernest Terah Hooley's Carlton Club exposure has created much excitement and heart-burning in Conservative circles, and a number of influential Conservatives have resolved to make an effort to retrieve the scandal by returning Mr. Hooley's £10,000 contribution to the party fund, for the benefit the bankrupt's creditors. Hooley's statements are already doing considerable harm to the Conservative Balfour, the Conservative leader in the l House of Commons and first lord of the treasury, is said to have urged that the money be restored to the donor. It is understood that the Queen or the Marquis of Salisbury vetoed his baronetcy, which the Conservative wire-pullers did their best to secure. They only returned Mr. Hooley his check, which was for £50,000, after the jubilee honors had been published. LABBY HAS SOMETHING TO SAY. Mr. Henry Labouchere, in Truth, confesses that he was only surprised at Mr. Hooley's non-success. The following dispatch from Lexington, Ky., doubtless refers to a gentleman who was known in this city a few years ago: Baron Waldeck de Villamill, an Austrian nobleman, and a captain of Seventh Volunteers Infantry, immunes, is in disgrace, and has left for parts unknown. A few days ago he was discharged from his regiment for various offenses, principal among which was refusing to pay his debts. Creditors swooped down upon him in his tent and attached his sword and uniform. He later secured clothing somewhere and departed. Villamill claimed to be a cousin to the late Empress of Austria, and sent a letter of condolence to the emperor at the time of her tragic death.

International Bad Blood. Ever since the Czar astonished the world with his disarmament proposal, he has been accused of motives which are supposed to discredit the whole movement. It was said that Russia wanted to reduce military expenses for the foul purpose of providing more funds for the Trans-Siberian Railway. Then it was discovered that she entertained the hideous project of connecting the Baltic with the Black Sea or a canal, and that she could not build it and build warships too. Now it is alleged that she is impoverished and threatened with famine, and, therefore, basely seeks to save her people and divert her revenues from war to peace-from unproductive to productive channels. Supposing that all or one of these allegations be true and that the Czar was moved by nothing higher than the material welfare of his country-it does not constitute a reasonable argument against his proposition, nor does it justify a sneer at his philanthropy. The Czar does not unduly cant about love of humanity, but frankly confesses that the enormous cost of militarism, burdening the people, and retarding commercial development, awakened the feelings which prompted his message. We see no evidence of infernal craft in this natural and perhaps selfish desire to help his own country. Great reforms such as he proposes have not always sprung from pure altruism. Accident often gives them birth. For instance, the famine of 1845 brought about the abolition of the Corn Laws, which otherwise might have continued to afflict the British masses for years.

The Czar's proposal suggests the thought, Why should Russia's desire to develop her internal resources provoke envy and hostility abroad? Such A remarkable legal tangle is in course is the state of international morality today, that the progress and prosperity of one country is regarded with jealous suspicion by nearly every other. The policy of extreme protection is one of the chief causes of this lamentable condition of affairs. If Russia were a free trade country, her possession and development of Northern China would be profitable to the whole world, and British fleets would not be needed to maintain her open door. But because Russia is a protective country, and because, if she had her way, she would hermetically seal Chinese ports against foreign trade, her encroachment is a disaster to other powers, and would be resisted to the extent of war. Hence it is not straining the truth to say that dear to the lawyers when they are in of second-class cars is equal to every probably will, it will be largely because of British antagonism, due to Russia's sordid commercial principles. Germany and France are no better. Every territorial acquisition by Germany, France and Russia is, therefore, a blow at British commerce. These nations wall in their dependencies with tariffs, and for this reason Great Britain has been compelled to seize great tracts of territory which would be barred to British commerce if they fell into other hands. Great Britain has become a land-grabber in self-preservation. If the French, the Russians and the Germans would apply the principle of the open door to their new possessions, Great Britain would look with a friendly eye on their colonizing enterprises. Likewise, if the United States seek to make the Philippines an exclusive preserve, the Anglo-American relations, at present so cordial, will be sadly embittered. One could point out many other deplorable effects of extreme protection in preventing peace on earth. Threatened tariff reprisals are now stirring up bad blood between Germany and the United States. McKinleyism and Dingleyism kindled keen resentment in Europe and Canada. Taking all these things into account, and looking at high protection from a moral, not an economic, standpoint, it must be considered a curse. We think there are very few protectionists in Canada who would not subscribe to universal free trade. Their usual plea is that Canada should be protectionist in self-defense. So long as the American tariff wall confronts us, it is not likely that Canada's will come completely down, though its height should be measured by our own interests, and not by a foolish desire to retaliate on our neigh-

Over fifty years ago Richard Cobden declared that "Free trade is the means, and I believe the only human means, of effecting universal and permanent peace." This may be too sweeping, but no one can doubt that the elimination of protection from the fiscal policies of the world would sweeten international relations and greatly conduce to a peace which would become more fixed as the interdependence of the nations increased. Instead of each country looking on the other as a rival to be fought by tariffs and other hostile legislation, a more enlightened view would prevail, and each would see that it had an interest in the other's prosperity. This is the doctrine that Cowper put in such beautiful poetic form: Again-the band of commerce was de-

Great Britain's Surest Ally.

In addition to his office work, Mr. Chamberlain appears to have unique functions as the delegated horn-blower of the British Cabinet. Salisbury belongs to the esoteric school of statesmen. He only talks when he must, and then he speaks in riddles. Chamberlain is the man to whom the people look for information and inspiration, and he has a knack of striking a bold and popular note, peculiarly his own. If his boldness carries him beyond diplomatic discretion, as in his attack on Russia some months ago, his colleagues quietly disclaim responsibility, but profit by it just the same. The Government finds Joseph a handy man to sound public opinion on projected lines of policy, to reassure the electors when they begin to feel uneasy about China, or some other foreign stormcenter, and generally to keep the people in good spirits by frequent and fervent oratory. No one can descant so eloquently on the imperial theme as Mr. Chamberlain. His latest speech in this connection had a ring of enthusiasm and optimism, in harmony with the recent and splendid manifestation of the Empire's power. He had been accused of "touting for alliances" in a former address, but he dispelled that idea at Manchester on Wednesday night. While Britain welcomed the co-operation of other nations, he declared that she was in need of no alliance for her own security, and would find all the aid she required in her own children. There is sound philosophy in the view that the best way to keep friends is to show that you can do without them. Great Britain's surest ally is the British Empire.

Osculation and Law.

of unraveling in the State of Missouri. One Jennings, a local postmaster, so far forgot the dignity of his office as to kiss a maiden who came for her letters. The girl's friends insisted on an action being brought against him, and proposed to have him arrested. Magistrate Slaughter, however, after hearing the facts, doubted whether he could allow the arrest of a United States officer for such an offense. He explained that such a case had never come before him previously gers on the wrecked train might have and that he would take time to conbooks, and could find no precedent—so dom occur, and as a rule the strength sider the point. He consulted the law if the Czar's irenicon falls of effect, as probably will, it will be largely because of British antegories. An accident subjects these cars to an unusual test, and their weakness then means death to poonly missioner Nichols. That gentleman went into the question thoroughly, and finally replied that if any United States officer had ever/beforekissed a girl during office hours, there was no record of it. It was clear to United States Commissioner Nichols that Postmaster Jennings had established a new precedent; either it had never occurred to any potmaster to kiss a visitor to his office, or else no visitor had thought it necessary to complain of the attention. This satisfied the United States commissioner, but it did not remove the perplexities of Magistrate Slaughter. Accordingly, the magistrate betook himself to the United States district attorney, who, after considering out of the present method of choosing the case from every point of view, and observing that the facts were without parallel in the history of the Unit- will doubtless reveal itself. ed States, gave the following opinion: "In attempting to kies the young woman, did Postmaster Jennings thereby delay the United States mails? If so, certainly there is cause for action." And upon these lines the case, which promises to be a cause celebre, and to afford a precedent that may have continental application, has been sent for trial at a higher court.

Great Britain is projecting a railway into China from India. It would greatly counteract the Trans-Siberian Railway, as British and Indian troops could be poured into China if it ever became necessary to resist Ruesian aggression. And it is likely that in that climate the Indians would prove better fighters than the Caucasians.

At the New York Chamber of Commerce banquet on Wednesday night, the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes were everywhere intertwined, and the dominant notes of the evening were Expansion and Anglo-American fraternity. It was natural that the two should be coupled. Expansion implies the co-operation of Great Britain and the United States in the east, and the business men of the Union know it and welcome it.

> One of the best passages in Hon. Mr. Hardy's recent speech was his description of the Liberal ideal. It is the utterance of a thinker as well as

"Men who are naturally liberal are sanguine in hope and in their political speculations; they elieve in pressing forward, are quick to discern the imperfections of whatever exist, willing to improve, anxious to experiment, and some even too apt to look upon any change as an improvement. They believe in the growth of man, in his evolution to a higher plane, and in the improvement of the human race, and they adopt as their own the legacy left by Socrates to Plato, namely, th of man's mental and spiritual growth, or the gradual evolution of man into something higher and better as a human being; further, that gov-ernment is by the people, that wealth and comfort are for all, and that government should aid in securing the greatest good to the greatest number; that the poor and the lowly and the weak need help rather than the rich and powerful; that the law is above the governing power; that privilege attaches to no class, and that all stand upon an equality before the law."

They were laughing at Funderburk in Illinois before the election. Laurier's Compliment. [Washington Star.]

The United States has always lacked a definite diplomatic corps, a body of men specially educated for the work representing national interests of abroad. Political considerations have often interfered to prevent the full utilization in this branch of the public service of the best men in the ranks of the citizens, but in the main, the native talent for transacting any kind of business shrewdly and thoroughly has displayed itself to the end of frequent triumphs at the council table and in the audience chamber. Eventually a better system will be evolved foreign representatives, event the fundamental truth of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's graceful compliment

Boycotting Illegal. [Windsor Record.]

The supreme court of Michigan has handed out a decision in the boycott case of Beck vs. the Railway Teamsters' Union of Detroit. This case caused considerable stir in Detroit some time ago. Mr. Beck's firm employed a number of teamsters in Detroit, and having some trouble with their men, several of them were discharged. The union men took a hand in it and undertook to boycott the firm by putting pickets around the premises, by threats and by distributing circulars. The case was up in the Wayne circuit court and the court enjoined the teamsters' union from interfering with of violence. The supreme court, how-ever, goes very much further. It could see us as we see ourselves.—Tit-Beck's business by violence of threats says that the circulars sent out by the Bits. teamsters' union were part of an una menace, intimidation and coercion.' The court enjoined "picketing, ful. the distribution of the boycotting circulars, and all acts of intimidation and coercion." It also held that the methods employed must be confined to presenting the matter through the newspapers, or circulars in "a peaceable way without coercion.' This decision of the supreme court. of Michigan will remove some of the weapons of the boycott out of the hands of organized labor. In the end, however, this may be in the best in-terests of labor. The methods enjoined by the supreme court were very exasperating and only tended to widen the breach between the men and their employers. Their effect was to destroy that sympathy for the men which worked towards a better understanding between the employer and

Resort to violence seldom sucthe disputes between ceeds labor and capital, and the decision of the Michigan courts will, no doubt, bring about more rational methods of dealing with such matters.

THE MECHANIC

Perry Heath, acting postmaster-general, himself formerly a union printer, has ordered that all printing hereafter given out by the postoffice department shall go to employers of union labor and that in purchasing supplies preference shall be given to American manufacture.

Representatives of the operators and of the miners' union have been before the Illinois state bureau of labor giving their views as to what legislation is needed to govern coal mining. miners desire an eight-hour law similar to that now existing in Utah, and which has been declared constitutional by the United States supreme court. Labor-saving machinery keeps coming. A slot machine for restaurants to displace waiters has been invented. A London paper speaks of a new typesetting machine that makes an operator unnecessary; all that it requires is a small boy to feed it rolls of brown paper. A convict in the Szegdire penitentiary, Hungary, has invented a machine with which it is claimed 150 people can be shaved in one hour.

An indictment against the Brooklyn Heights Railroad Company was found by the Kings County grand jury a week ago. The indictment charges that the company permitted its men to work more than ten consecutive hours out of twenty-four, and also that they required them to do so, in violation of chapter 416 of the laws of 1897, which makes the offense a misdemeanor, punishable with a fine of $1,000 and one year's imprisonment.

The allied printing crafts and the Typothetae, or employers' association, have not agreed upon the proposition of the introduction of the nine and a half hour day the 21st inst., and during the coming week the various unions will meet to consider the proposition of the employers for a 50-cent per week reduction in wages for the first and a like reduction the second year, making a one dollar per week reduction from ten to nine hours per day.

A very interesting and far-reaching decision was recently handed down by the Indiana appellate court in connection with the issuing of checks and cards of employers for labor done. The decision in one of the most sweeping in its results of any yet promulgated by a court, for under the ruling an employe who had been paid by the check or coupon system could, if he saw fit, repudiate such payment, sue and recover his money in cash.

Labor Commissioner Cox, of Michigan, is authority for the statement that a better industrial condition has not existed in Michigan for several years than at present. Trades unions and other reports are of a most en-couraging nature, indicating as they do general improvement in the condition of the wage-earners both in respect to increased wages and the number men employed. Some communities report a shortage of hands. Common laborers have benefited more in gen-eral than skilled workmen.

Chicago has now a municipal law which requires "that the bids or proposals for doing any public work or making any public improvements making any public improvements shall contain a clause whereby the bidder shall agree to hire only such persons in the performance of such work as are members of labor unions, if there are labor unions in the city of Chigago comprising sufficient persons of the class necessary for the performance of such work; and in all con-tracts executed by the commissioner of public works on behalf of the city the contractor shall agree to hire only such persons in the performance of said work as are members of labor unions, if there are labor unions in the city of Chicago comprising sufficient persons of the class of labor necessary for the performance of such work; and in all such contracts the right shall elso be reserved to the commissioner of public works, in addition to those already prescribed, to rescind such contracts for noncompliance with the provisions herein named, and to de-

The Prince of Wales is an enormous lot of officials—an admiral, colonel of thirteen regiments, no end of generals and commodores, and things like that. He is officially so numerous that when he is out on parade it sometimes takes him two hours to pass a given point.

ANARCHISM AND ITALY Anarchism is not peculiar to Italy. On the contrary, it was imported into Italy about 30 years ago by Michael Bakonnine, and the Italian workmen who abandon themselves most readily to anarchy are those who live a la etranger. There is no nation which is exempt from anarchy. Russia and Spain are the countries from whence anarchist propaganda originally pro-ceeded. But Germany, England, France, all have a number of anarchsts. Not even the United States have been exempt from contagion. Indeed the anarchists of Chicago are among those who are most admired by Italian anarchists, whose organs commemorate every year in November what they regard as the martyrdom of their American brethren.—Prof. Francesco, in North American Review for November.

BRITAIN'S GLORY

Hon. Geo. E. Foster at the Aberdeen Banquet.

It has often been said, not to often now as some years age, that Britain was growing decrepit and infirm, that her power was waning, and that the time was rapidly approaching when Macauley's New Zealander should take his seat on London bridge and survey the ruins of an empire greater than come had ever been. I deny the assumption, and I protest with all my heart against the inference. The expansive, the assimilative, the cohesive power of Britain is neither dead nor stagnant. The plastic crust from which in centuries past has burst forth that splendid energy that has ever and anon vivified the world, has not stiffened to adamant. The typical vigor, the eruptive enterprise, the steady overflow of the higher life and potency are there still, and the march of empire is ever forward. Today her drum beats sounds on the far-distant Pamirs, we hear the boom of her guns and see the flash of her steel in the rocky passes of the Afridis. Her banners gleam at Hong Kong and Wei Hai Wei, and her flag floats over the vast insular continents of the Southern Pacific. The Company Asks Three Months Extension of Time-The Other Is a Window Glass Factory-Both Were Discussed by the Finance Committee.

The prospects of the early establishment of an extensive factory in London for the manufacture of telephone appliances, was laid before the finance committee of the city council last night by Mr. Thomas H. Purdom, who was present in behalf of the People's Telephone Company. The matter came up in connection with the company's request for an extension of three months from Jan. 1, 1899, the time specified in the franchise, for the completion of their system. Ald. Winnett was in the chair, and the other members present were Ald. McCallum, O'Meara, Graham, Nutkins, meeting. McPhillips and Secretary Pope. Mr. T. H. Purdom, of the People's Telephone Company, Mr. Judd, and Mr. S. J. T. Brown representing the Bell Company, were present.

In support of the request for an extension of time, Mr. Purdom pointed out that the season was now too far advanced to begin work this year. He said also that a Chicago firm was ready to establish in the city a fac-tory for the manufacture of telephone of time appliances if the exten were granted. This would mean a new industry for the city, and they did not ask a bonus. It was their purpose , to manufacture not only the apparatus for London, but for the whole province. Mr. Purdom saw no reason for any objection to granting the exten-sion. As he had previously contended, he said, he had no doubt that if the telephone system was under municipal control, enough could easily be made to run one or two of the city schools. But as there seemed to be no disposition to assume municipal control the next best thing was to have compe-

Ald. O'Meare was afraid that the object of the delay was to get time to hawk the franchise around to sell to some other companies. He thought the city should be protected by a deposit, to be put up before the work was commenced.

cough than coughing. Constant coughing is like scratching a wound; so long as it is done the wound will not heal. When tempted to cough draw a long breath and hold it until it warms and soothes every air cell, and some benefit will soon be received from this process. The nitrogen which is thus refined acts on the muçous membrane, allays the desire to cough and gives the throat and lungs a chance to heal. Wednesday afternoon quite a successful concert was given by the Women's Morning Music Club. They have such nice rooms now in the Y. M. C. A. building, and a most propitious star seems to be shining on them this year. Miss Cowan is the able secretary.

A concert which promises to be quite an event is one which Mrs. C. S. Hy-man is arranging for the 28th of this month. It is to be held in St. James' school house. South London. Mrs. Travers, of St. Thomas, whose lovely voice has often delighted Londoners, has promised to take part.

Mrs. Graydon, of Dundas street, gave a tea Thursday afternoon for girls in honor of Miss Bessie Walker, her niece from Hamilton. Such a merry party as they were, and I feel sure Miss Walker could not draw any "odious" comparisons between London and Hamilton, for many of the girls looked remarkably well, especially Miss Ethel Magee, in a becoming suit of an clotn. The table was prettily decorated with pink silk and graceful rose-pink carpany. The city wanted competition, and the request of Mr. Purdom was more than reasonable. People did not decide hastily on the expenditure of nations and smilax.

"Imitation." they say, "is the sincerest form of flattery." If so, I have to thank the "Birdie" of another paper. I shall always take a deep interest in his (I feel sure the writer didn't belong to my sex) effusions. Time, I hope, will mellow his compositions, and probably the old man with the sickle may also mend his grammar.

GOOD OUTLOOK FOR BUSINESS

Weekly Raview of the State of Trade in Canada and the United States.

New York, Nov. 19.-Bradstreet's says: Cooler weather helps trade in Canada, and favorable weather for threshing and shipping grain is resulting in heavier receipts at primary points, while at the same time there is a tendency to minimize earlier reports of damage to the wheat crop. Toronto reports less complaint regarding price-cutting than at this season for many years past. Much is hoped for from the proposed negotiations as to tariffs with the United States. A heavy business is doing in British Columbia, coal shipments being especially large, while general distribution is satisfactory and collections are fair. In the Maritime Provinces trade is only moderate. Shipthe board of trade to give local capital- ments of apples to Great Britain are Yang-Tse Railway are being actively increasing, and advices from Newfoundland are a little better. Freights are active. The total number of failures this week are 24, as against 30 in the preceding week and 31 in 1897.

Dun & Co. say: The Canadian reports this week show no general change of importance, although there is steady improvement in most markets. Although unfavorable weather has affected trade in drygoods, clothing and shoes at St. John, country stocks are reported lighter than usual, and trade in groceries and provisions continues steady. There is not much activity at Halifax, and prospects for the winter are regarded as only fair. Continued mild weather has favored the shipping trade at Quebec, though somewhat depressing The close of navigation will check at Montreal the active distribution lately in progress, but the situation is generally healthy and collections are good, money being easy, with banks well provided. Toronto reports good trade in groceries, hardware and metals, and fair in sugar and dry fruits, with sales of fancy goods and notions far ahead of any previous year. Building operations are Hamilton are brisk, but excepting iron, other lines are rather quiet. Jobbing trade is fairly active at Winnipeg, and retail trade improves, with collections Wholesale merchants report better. good business in Victoria, with collections fairly satisfactory, and at Vancouver wholesalers report increasto sit, surrounded by the wits of his day, to the elaborate function that we ing demands from outside, while reof this wonderful, fantastical century, tail trade remains steady, with good with its luxury, its extravagance and promise of the holidays.

OVER THE LINE.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s review says: The situation is clearer and the improve-ment in business, which was expected after the elections, has begun. Railroad earnings fully support expanding valuations, showing for October an increase of 7.4 per cent, compared with October, 1892, while Chicago outbound tonnage has been 188,531 tons for three weeks, against 97,137 tons last year and 100,714 tons in 1892. The glass-blowers have resumed, and anthracite coal output is heavy and much beyond the present capacity of the markets. The trouble in Illinois coal mines has been settled, and the new strike of shoe-workers in Marlboro, Mass., is now the only labor hindrance of consequence. It is noteworthy that in spite of all changes the price of spot wheat has but slightly changed. The exports for the week, flour included, have been 3,968,768 bushels from Atlantic ports, against 3,237,344 bushels last year, and from Pacific ports 988,053 bushels, against 2,912,444 bushels last year, making in all for two weeks of November 9,312,331 bushels, against 9,939,804 bushels last year. Such returns leave wide room for conjecture as to the influence governing the price, but with 10,377,311 bushels received at western points during the week, and in two weeks 20,turned home Thursday. Miss Enice 261,356 bushels, against 15,228,167 bush-Southwick, who has been the guest els last year, it can no longer be said els last year, it can no longer be said that western supplies threaten to run the last few weeks, left Saturday for short. Corn exports also exceed last year's, amounting for the week to 2,-993,720 bushels, against 2,722,457 bushels last year, and for two weeks of November have been 5,056,051 bushels, against 7,197,098 last year. Such shipments after the middle of November go far to warrant the belief that foreign demand for this grain is destined to be greater than is expected. The woolen manufacture has gained in orders for the coming season. Shipments of boots and shoes from the east have been 142,862 cases, against 119,257 in the same week of 1892. Iron is in bigger demand

last year; manufacturing, $972,528, against $1,839,025 last year, and trading, $2,134,447, against $3,023,505 last year. Failures for the week have been 223 in the United States, against 247 last year, and in Canada, 26, against 32 last year. Bradstreet's statements: Evidence accumulates that the good results flowing from the recent elections are no longer confined entirely to improvement in tone and confidence. Several substantial developments show themselves this week, with exceptionally few de-There is growing strength in the pig iron situation, unprecedentedly large weekly bank clearings, and remarkably good reports as to export trade. Distribution of merchandise shows but little change from recently preceding weeks, but the growth in confidence is reflected in very general reports of improved collections on past business. The strength in cereals-all the leading breadstuffs are higher this week-is due to the constant foreign demand, more than off-setting very large gains in domestic supplies. Comparison of our exports, July to October inclusive, point to wheat and flour phipments little below those of last year, and only 10 per cent below those of 1891-the heaviest ever known. Scheme for Entering China by Way of Burmah.

The Carlist Movement in Spain Considered Serious-Emperor William's Change of Plan Creates a Sensation.

London, Nov.19 .- The Evening News says the government has sent an engineer to Wei Hai Wei, to construct a breakwater and six powerful forts, and dredge the harbor so as to permit warships to lie inside. These works will obviate the necessity, which would otherwise exist in case of hostilities of warships putting to sea each night in order to avoid torpedo attacks.

Britain is about to enter China by way of Burmah, and surveys for a new line, to be called the Burmese-Yunnanline from Rangoon to Mandalay. From Mandalay a line is in progress of construction to Kunlon and the Salween River, which forms the Chinese boundary. Two hundred miles of this line are almost completed. From Kunlon a line will be extended to the Yang-Tse, and two parties will be employed in its construction, one working from Burmese side, the other from the Chinese side. Yunnan is a Chinese province, lying between the Burmese boundary and Yang-Tse Valley. Possessing great resources, it has heretofore been too isolated for any trade developments, but a great accession of trade is expected to follow the completion of the new railroad.

SERIOUS. The Mail's correspondent at Biarritz says: "The Carlists declare that they have obtained a loan, but not from England. Proof that the situation is serious is seen in the government alarm and the strict censorship in Navarre. The Red Cross Association circular contains the following. The unfortunate shadow of days of sorrow and blood necessitates the separation of all our needs and services.' Marshal Martinez has had a long conference with the captain-general of Madrid, who was formerly captain-general in the north regions of Spain, and is therefore acquainted with the situation in the Basque provinces and Na-

THE KAISER'S HOME-COMING. Berlin, Nov. 19 .- The news that Emperor William is to return home by roundabout route, without touching at Vienna or Berlin, has created a sensation in political circles, as it is interpreted as being a confirmation of the recent indications that the relations between Germany and Austria are less friendly than they have been. His majesty's avoidance of Berlin is supposed to be due to his displeasure at the abandonment of the projected festal reception. The authorities of Potsdam, however, are preparing to give the emperor and empress a brilliant welcome on their return to their home there.

EFFECT OF CHAMBERLAIN'S UT-TERANCES.

The aspirations of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the British colonial secretary. for an Anglo-German entente, to which he gave utterances in his speech at Manchester, are well received by the press in Berlin, which, however, contends that the relations between the two countries would never have been otherwise than friendly but for Great Britain's determined opposition to German colonization development. The National Zeitung says that an amicable settlement of differences would be welcome, but a change in England's attitude is necessary. The Tageblatt says that an entente would be extremely advantageous to both countries. The Cologne Gazette declares that it sees no ground for refusing the hand that Mr. Chamberlain extends, but it adds that co-operation is only possible on the basis of equal rights. La Patrie (Paris) says that Lord Chamberlain has returned from America with the draft of a treaty which United States concealed in his pockets.'

The Figaro (Paris) says that the English are hastening to follow the path pointed out by Mr. Chamber-lain. "In their eyes," the paper says, "an American alliance is sufficient to justify everything. It is to them what a Russian ailiance was to us at the beginning of the pour parlor determined its conclusion."

DREYFUS

Marvelous Concession by the French Authorities.

Paris, Nov. 19 .- The government of French Guiana has sent a dispatch to the colonial officers here, saying Alfred Dreyfus, the former French officer, undergoing imprisonment for life on Devil's Island, off that coast, cas been informed of the revision proceedings in his case.

There was a noisy scene in the Chamber of Deputies during the session over M. Lasies interpellation to maintain the government's measures to maintain the inviolability of the contents of the packet of secret documents in the Dreyfus case, which are understood to affect the national defense. Premier Dupuy recalled the recent ministerial statement on the subject, adding that the chamber could depend upon the vigilance of the government in the matter under debate, which he moved to be adjourned for a month, amid loud applause, and protests from the extreme Left. M. Lasies vehemently attacked the government and the magistracy. He accused the government of failure to enforce respect for the national honor, but amid a great tumult, M. Dupuy's motion was adopted.

EIGHTEEN MONTHS' PAIN

Ended Effectually and Permanently by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Central Waterville, N. B., Nov. 14 .-These dull and damp days of November are terribly hard on the Kidneys. Not one person in a hundred escapes. Backache, pains in the loins, Lumbago, and similar Kidney troubles, are as plentiful as fallen leaves.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only sure and certain cure for kidney complaints. They never fail to cure.
In proof of this read what Mr. F. W. Harriss, of this place, says: having suffered for eighteen months, with kidney disease, being unable to work most of the time, and having grown worse while taking other medicines. I used three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, which effected a complete and permanent cure."

Charming November Lyrics and Elegies by the Masters.

They Mostly Strike a Melancholy Chord-Gastronomie Delights.

As many men, so many Novembersthis is true of the month as of other things of more or less importance. Most persons regard it sadly, as containing the real death of the year. Advent, too, a penitential season, marks its close. But the month is loved of poets, who are able to bring more things than one to show its real delights, and so are seldom found dwelling on the abstract beauty of nature at all times which makes every month lovely. They show that All Saints', Michaelmas, opens the thirty days of delight, if Advent closes them; that the snow first comes to earth within their content, however trite the cele-bration of this fine sight has become through inadequate handling; that In dian summer lends an especial and unique interest; that Thanksgiving is a very crown of glory in this country, and, so far as gastronomic delights are concerned, not much less so in England, as Spenser's sturdy stanza

Next was November; he full grosse and

If this was the ancient, Austin Dobson voices the modern British feeling for the month in a sorrowful stanza:

Next November, limping, battered, Blinded in a whirl of leaf; Worn of want and travel-tattered-Next November, limping, battered, Now the goodly ships are shattered,

Far at sea, on rock and reef. This is saying in serious measure what Tom Hood wrote in the almost too familiar and merry lines on the month. An American view is more cheerful, though not too cheerful, as in Wm. Cullen Bryant's sonnet: Yet one smile more, departing, distant Sun!

One mellow smile through the soft vapory air, Ere, o'er the frozen earth, the loud winds run

Or snows are sifted o'er the meadows bare. One smile on the brown hills and naked trees.

And the dark rocks whose summer But let me tell you, my darling, wreaths are cast,

Yet one rich smile and we will try to The piercing winter frost and winds and darkened air.

William Lisle Bowles, 105 years ago, phrased the same thoughts in another sonnet form, with a touch of more human grief for climax, thus:

There is strange music in the stirring

How a person can gain a pound a day by taking an ounce of Scott's Emulsiom is hard to explain, but it certainly happens.

It seems to start the digestive machinery working properly. You obtain a greater benefit from your food.

Wordsworth wrote a sonnet also, and called it "November, 1806,," but it has to do with Napoleon, whom he shared his country's delight for, rather than with the aspects of the month at large But it voices so thrillingly that "splendid isolation" of which all English-speaking folks are proud, that it may well be quoted:

Another year!-another deadly blow! Another mighty empire overthrown! And We are left, or shall be left,

The last that dare to struggle with the Foe. 'Tis well! from this day forward we shall know That in ourselves our safety must be sought; That by our own right hands it must be wrought; That we must stand unpropped, or be

It is all very sad, for "the melan-choly days are come, the saddest of the year." But it is the promise in the year." But it is the promise in November that makes the month bright in spite of discouragements. More poets than one have expressed this, but none of them better, more truly or more simply than the sing of Alice Cary:

The leaves are fading and falling, The winds are rough and wild, The birds have ceased their calling, But let me tell you, my child, Though, day by day, as it closes, Doth darker and colder grow. The roots of the bright red roses Will keep alive in the snow.

And when the winter is over, The boughs will get back new leaves, The quail come back to the clover And the swallow back to the eaves

The robin will wear on his bosom A vest that is bright and new, And the loveliest wayside blossom Will shine with the sun and dew.

The leaves, today, are swirling, The brooks are all dry and dumb;

The spring will be sure to come. There must be rough cold weather And winds and rains so wild; Not all good things together

Come to us here, my child. So, when some dear joy loses Its beauteous summer glow, Think how the roots of the roses Are kept alive in the snow.

Contrast that with Longfellow's"The Rainy Day": "The day is cold and dark and dreary," only too true, and so well known that it need not be repeated. And Miss Cary's "November" reversed comes out as one of William James Linton's charming love lyrics, "Spring and Autumn," as follows:

"Thou wilt forget me." "Love has no such word. The soft spring wind is whispering to the trees.

Among lime blossoms have the whispering bees Those whispers heard?

"Or thou wilt change." "Love changeth not." he said. The purple heather cloys the air with Of honey. O'er the roors her lover Nor turned his head.

Sir Lewis Morris is at his best in the lines "On a Thrush Singing'in Autumn," too long to be given in full here, but filling out the measure of the prophecy of the falling leaf. The oak tree, mind you, holds his leaves close around him, until the swelling of the buds in the returning sun. The verses are, in part:

Sweet singer of the spring, when the Was filled with song and bloom and the fresh year Tripped, like a lamb playing and de void of fear, Through daisied grass and young leaves scarce unfurled, Where is thy liquid voice

Where is thy hadd rejoice?

Would echo from thin copse and tas-For homely duty tuned and love's sweet

Thus do I read answer of thy song:
"I sang when winds blew chilly all day I sang because hope came and joy was

I sang a little while, I made good cheer; In summer's cloudless day

My music died away;

Are dead and gone, a little while I Songs of regret for days no longer here, And touched with presage of the far-off spring."

Is this the meaning of thy note, fair Or do we read into thy simple brain Echoes of thoughts which human hearts have stirred. High-soaring joy and melancholy

Nay, nay, that lingering note Belated from thy throat—
"Regret," is what it sings, "regret, regret! The dear days pass, but are not wholly gone.

In praise of those I let my song go

Tis sweeter to remember than forget." To the same end, though the sentiment beneath the close description of the month in England is left for inference, is Hartley Coleridge's "No-vember." Love of nature alone could be so closely observant of her minute phases, in this manner: The mellow year is hasting to its close; The little birds have almost sung their last. Their small notes twitter in the dreary blast-That shrill-piped harbinger of early snows; The patient beauty of the scentless Oft with the morn's hoar crystal quaintly glassed, Hangs, a pale mourner for the summer past, And makes a little summer where it grows.

In the chill sunbeam of the faint brief

The dusky waters shudder as they The russet leaves obstruct the straggling way Of oozy brooks which no deep banks define, And the gaunt woods, in ragged, scant Wrap their old limbs with somber ivy

The first day of November is the feast of St. Michael and All Saints, a celebrated holy day, followed by the feast of All Souls. It is singular to how small an extent these two feasts have embodied themselves in verse. Hallowe'en is mentioned twenty times for their once. In fact, it is only in such references as Thackeray's "Forty times over let Michaelmas pass," and the like, that anything appears.

It is about Martinmas that the first snow usually falls, as Duncan Campbell Scott, a Canadian poet, sings, The ruddy sunset lies

Banked along the west; In flocks with sweep and rise The birds are going to rest The air it clings and cools

And the reeds look cold, Standing above the pools Like rods of beaten gold. The flaunting golden rod

Has lost her worldly mood, She's given herself to God The wild and wanton horde That kept the summer revel

And given the slip to the devil. The winter's loose somewhere Gathering snow for a fight; From the feel of the air,

Have taken the serge and cord,

I think it will freeze tonight. Another Canadian poet, Ethelwyn Wetherald, has celebrated "The Snowstorm" in a delicate sonnet—the month runs to sonnets, as will have been noticed:

The great soft downy snowstorm like a cloak Descends to wrap the lean world head to feet; It gives the dead another winding-sheet. It buries all the roofs until the smoke Seems like a soul that from its clay has broke. It broods moonlike upon the autumn

And visits all the trees in their Tetreat. To hood and mantle that poor shivering folk.

With wintry bloom it fills the harshest grooves In jagged pine stump fences. Every sound

It hushes to the footsteps of a nun. Sweet charity! that brightens where it moves. Inducing darkest bits of churlish ground

To give a radiant answer to the sun. Even more daintily has Francis Brooks painted "The First Flurry of the

The poem is long, but the first and last stanzas will give no bad notion of the whole: Wavering, suspiciously, In agitation, Trepidation.

The poem, a long and beautiful one, should be read in full. But two son-nets—again the sonnet—upon this delicious and evanescent season deserve to be given in full. The first is from the pen of Lewis Frank Tooker, the other by Henry Theodore Tuckerman:

What heights of rest are in these silences! What thirst of plains in the sunlight seems to slake!

The meadows bask. No bitter north winds wake The treetops from their fruitless dream of ease.
The slow brooks murmur like a swarm

November! Hear the inspired words of one balladist of New England, John Greenleaf

Whittier: Oh! greenly and fair in the lands of the sun, The vines of the gourd and the rich melon run, And the rock and the tree and the

On the banks of the Xenil the dark Spanish maiden Comes up with the fruit of the tangled vine laden, And the Creole of Cuba laughs out to behold

Through orange leaves shining the broad spheres of gold; Yet with dearer delight from his home in the north, On the fields of his harvest the Yankee looks forth,

Where crooknecks are coiling and yellow fruit shines, And the sun of September melts down on his vines. Ah!-on Thanksgiving Day, when from east and from west, From north and from south come the pilgrim and guest; When the gray-haired New Englander sees round his board The old broken links of affection restored;

He was such a little fellow. The lily which bloomed in the corner of the yard was taller and scarcely more slender than he. His head, even when he wore his high-heeled shoes, did not reach up to the great iron knocker that hung on the front door. The calendar said the Cap'n was five years old, but nobody believed the calendar, least of all those who saw the small figure for the first time. Everybody called him the Cap'n, because he held himself up so straight and walked with such military pre-

The Cap'n was afraid of nothing. He laughed a brave little laugh, into the eyes of a strange and angry dog. He played in the roadway under the horses' heels. He climbed on the horses' backs, the wildest of them, and be-strode them just like a miniature Centaur. He clinched his fist and struck at a visitor who teased him with the good-natured brutality with which some grown-up people treat child-

When the soldiers came to town the Cap'n sat on the gate post and waved his little flag. He looked a part of the post, so still he sat, save for the arm that waved the flag, so solemn he was and white, like a carven im-age, his face. The men took off their hats to him and threw kisses as they passed. They camped on the common, not far away, and the Cap'n, in charge of his old black mammy, whom he or-dered around as though she were his dog, and who obeyed him as willingly, went to see them every day.

It was not long before the soldiers became his devoted slaves. Perhaps they thought of the dear ones at home, and of a little figure that had waved good-bye as they marched off. From the grave and reverend colonel down to the scrap of a drummer boy, whole regiment was literally at the Cap'n's feet.

It was Company B that first adopted him. One morning, on dress parade, Lieutenant Martin stated that he had a new recruit, a commissioned officer, whom he would introduce to the men. He went into the officers' tent and led out the Cap'n, dressed in full uniform, sword, and belt and all. soldiers sent up a cheer that shook the very trees. And the Cap'n walked slowly down in front of the long line and took off his little hat and bowed a sober bow, and said, as though he had been fifty years old, and a real "My men, I'm glad to belong to Company B. I thank you for your kind re-cep-tion."

Then the soldiers almost split their throats with shouting, until the colonel of the regiment came riding over to see what the matter was. Company B was the most stuck-up company in the entire regiment from that day

Did not the Cap'n belong to it, and was not he a mascot? Men of the other companies tried to beg or borrow the Cap'n, but Company B only laughed at them. They sought to bribe the Cap'n, but he indignantly refused to leave his first love. Only once was he tempted and that was when Company tempted, and that was when Company F offered him a little pony, with saddle and bridle, if he would ride with them on dress parade. But he did not go any further than the officers' tent, and then said, in his childish drawl, "Ex-cuse me, but I must go back to Comp'ny B."

The men of Company B heard of it, and they ransacked the country for a pony for the Cap'n. Finally they found one about the size of a large St. Bernard dog, and equally as gentle. They fitted the pony out with bridle and saddle, and made the presentation in proper form to the Cap'n.

Each morning thereafter the Cap'n rode his pony out in front of the men and gravely inspected them. He would blow a little bugle and wave his sword. He sat firm and dignified, and touched his hat in military salute, like a trained veteran of half a hundred years. Not a man in the company but would have rolled in the dust for him-or, what seemed little more serious to

He stood Cap'n." in their eyes for wife and children.

But one day the unexpected happened, as it always does in war-and peace. The regiment was stationed on guard duty. The men were held in reserve miles away from the actual warfare, and had grumbled much thereat. They were eager to show their patriotism by fighting.

The opportunity came. The enemy, by a forced march, hurled a detach-ment double their number upon the camp. and captured or driven in. The regiment was at breakfast. There was a formed as rapidly as possible under to the negro cabin where his old ment was borne back. Slowly they re-

Cyclists' Sore Throat.

The London "Lancet," the leading medical journal of England, says: "After a spin along a more or less dusty road the cyclist sometimes experiences a dry and subsequently sore and inflamed throat. Headache and depression often follow, and the symptoms generally simulate poisoning of some kind. When the germstobefoundin road dust are considered, these effects are hardly be wondered at. Hundreds of millions of bacteria are found in a gram weight of dust, and the species isolated have included well-known pathogenic organisms. Indeed, there can be no reason for doubting the infective power of dust." This applies to people in perfect health. To those with weakened, inflamed throats and bronchial tubes the danger is infinitely greater. tired at first, and then the orderly retreat became a rout. Down the hil the panic-stricken soldiers went. Officers tried to rally them in vain. They rushed hither, thither, everywhere, seeking only to escape the shower of lead which the enemy poured furious-ly upon them from a neighboring

As the missles flew the thickest,out from the long lane into the opening between the contending parties a new figure came into view. It was the Cap'n, on his pony, wholly unconscious of the hell into which he rode. Dress-ed in his uniform, whith his shining sword dangling at his side, he rode on. He looked about. The camp was in confusion. Smoke from many guns filled the air. The crack of musketry sounded sharp and clear. Through the thicket he could see a strange flag fluttering, and down the hill he watched for a few moments the fleeing forms of the members of Company B.

The Cap'n was greatly puzzled; he could not understand it all. He He thought it must be a snam battle, a mimic warfare that he had once seen. He wondered why he had not known of it. And what were all those soldiers lying down for? And why did no one come to met him? He would call them. He raised his bugle to his lips, and over the crack of muskets and the other noise of battle sounded the bugle-call to charge. Louder and louder he blew, until his whole strength went into the inspiring summons.

The enemy heard the bugle-call and were puzzled. Had reinforcements They saw the little perched on his pony's back and won-dered more. Was it a trick to divert their atention? They could not fire at children, and there came the Cap'n's little sister trudging along in the dust after her big, five-year-old brother.

Company B heard the bugle-call as would have faced death at the the soldiers tumbled rather than ran cannon's mouth. He ruled them like down the hill. At first it awakened no response. Then the frightened soldiers Thus the long summer days came and stopped in their wild, mad fight, one went. The Cap'n would ride from his here, one yonder. A corporal turned home, a mile away, to the white city and looked. Through a rift in the of tents. His old mammy followed smoke, blown by a passing breeze, he him on foot, and hung around the camp saw the pony and its rider. "Boys, it's the Cap'n. He's calling us."

The bugle rang out again. 'Twas the only notes the little fellow knew-the "I'm going back, boys," said the cor-"I'm going back after the poral.

"For the Cap'n's sake!" cried Lieutenant Martin, as he wheeled his horse. "Let's go back for the Cap'n's sake." The cry went on along the hillside. Cowards were stayed and turned into heroes. The broken line reformed. Nobody knew that the enemy had ceased firing. Nobody cared. They were going back for the Cap'n's sake.

and then-"What's that?" The Cap'n and sunk back into his saddie; his bugle fell to his side; and then a baby form was on the ground, and the blood of the innocent was upon the clover and green grass. A stray bullet from an enemy's rifle had struck him there. It had not needed this to win the battle. The baby's bugle-call had settled that. But now Company B fought like tigers, remembering the little form upon the ground. Each man had the strength of ten. Somehow, someway, they blamed each individual opponent with the firing of the shot which struck The Cap'n, and dealt with each accordingly. No enemy could stand before an onslaught like that of Company B. There was resistance, of course. There was a sharp fight, a hand-tohand struggle within the thicket, but "For the Cap'n's sake!" was the cry which the enemy was driven from the field. Two hours later the soldiers came slowly back to camp. The Cap'n lay in the ambulance wagon white as the sheet which covered him. His little hand held a silver bugle. A smile, wan, like a real smile's ghost, was on his face. His black mammy hung over him, and the old regimental surgeon stood by with anxious look. Suddenly the pathetic little figure stirred.

He was speaking.
"Sister, tell the boys I'll play for them to-morrow; I'm tired now," he whispered. His blue eyes closed. The Cap'n was asleep. • He did not die, though for days his life hung on a thread and his voice was almost gone. Through all his illness he held the bugle, and would raise it to his thin, parched lips and try to blow a charge, but could not. To this glad hour the glory of Company B is the battle which they fought and won that summer morning! And if you ask them, each member of the company will tell you 'twas the Cap'n who saved the day.—Saturday Evening

In Woman's Interest

Baroness Hirsch's Works.

Baroness Hirsch, who has been lying seriously ill at the Chateau de Beaure- to the secrets of marketing, cooking and gard, with pleurisy and complications, is one of the greatest benefactresses of the age. Her latest benefaction, says the Empire, is the founding and endow-ment of an entirely new convalescent home for Jews in London. The need of such a home has for long been apparent. There is already one Jewish convalescent home in London, and another at Brighton, but the London home is quite inadequate to the task imposed upon it. The baroness determined to meet the need, and recently purchased Tudor House, which overlooks the pond on the brow of Hampstead Heath. Its purchase cost the baroness £16,000, and she has added £40,000 as endowment of which trustees will have charge. Sectarian motives have had no influence in the matter. Dietary considerations prevent most Jews, however poor, from sharing the benefits of ordinary convalescent homes, and it is this inability on the part of the indigent Jewish community that has prompted the baroness' action. Not least remarkable in con-England, and hos no first-hand knowledge of those whom she is helping.

Silk Shirt Waists.

In preparing for the new season, silk waist manufacturers have seemingly made efforts to produce such attractive models as to preclude any question of their continued popularity

Plain satin and taffeta largely predominate, and a great deal of work in the form of cording and tucking is used for decorating.

Fully two-thirds of the lines shown are composed of waists of solid colors. Satin waists are good sellers, as they are warmer and more serviceable than

The shirt waist keeps its form in the back and in the sleeve, but variety is given in yoke and effects and the application of cording to the front. There is less fullness in both body and sleeve. Cuffs are narrow, either tucked or corded, and cut with round corners. A plain collar finely corded is substituted for the linen collar.

An Old Fashion Revived.

Long earrings are making their way into fashion again. It is asserted that before long the pendant ornaments that were discarded twenty years ago will be again in high favor. Old-fashioned earrings are being hunted up, and repolished, and the pretty ears that have remained unmarred are to be pierced and burdened by these barbarous ornaments. It is a revival of a foolish fashion.

Sugar Cakes.

One cup butter, two cups soft white sugar, three cups flour, three eggs, one tablespoonful rich sweet cream, two teaspoonfuls cream of tartar, one small teaspoonful soda; flavor to taste; cream the butter and sugar; beat the whites of eggs stiff; eift the cream of tartar with flour; dissolve the soda in a little boiling water; mix and beat just the same as a large cake; take a small quantity of the mixture at a time and roll thin; sift granulated sugar on it and pass the rolling pin lightly over it. Cut in cakes. Bake in a quick oven.

Schools of Housewifery.

For years there have been schools of housewifery in Germany and Switzerland, and from all parts of the continent, and from England as well, girls have been sent to these schools. Now, a number of such schools cave been established in England, and are well patronized, says the New York Sun. These schools are of different grades, and vary as to the expense of tuition and board. In some the pupils are from families of wealth and position. The parents want their daughters to be comfortable and happy, but they also want them fitted for the life which is natural to women, and for the duties which will fall upon her shoulders, whatever her station may be. The girls are not made to work hard, but they are in-structed in the elements of fine laundry work and of general household economy and domestic management. When they leave the school they are capable of managing a household intelligently. Cheaper schools of housewifery make less provision for the comfort of pupils and exact harder work, but are well patronized by families with small incomes. Then there are private families by the score which take three or four girls and agree to initiate them in-all things domestic. To Americans who - save for the faint light thrown by sporadic cases of cooking schools and chafing dish classes — are sitting in darkness, it would seem that the domestic future of Germany and Switzerland is tolerably well provided for; but evidently the educational authorities over there do not think so. Germany is reaching out for more thorough domestic training, and in Switzerland the movement is still further advanced. The public schools of Berne—or at least the large new buildings—have been fitted up with departments adapted for tuition in laundry, cooking marketing, management of stores. Every girl above a certain age is bound to attend the course in this department. The other Swiss towns are rapidly following this exam-the success of the experiment. The English girls, too, need training in domestic economy, and educational authorities there are recognizing the need. Departments of cookery and donection with the gift of £56,000 to the mestic economy have been introduced poor Jews of London is the fact that as extra subjects in some of the London public schools, and there is some talk of an adoption of the Swiss plan.

Cooking schools have multiplied in the United States during the last few ple, and there is great enthusiasm over years. Comparatively few girls receive any systematic training in household matters, either in their homes or their schools. Mothers have a way of smiling cheerfully over the fact that their daughters do not know any more about housekeeping than about farming, and the girls themselves are proud of their inability to make anything more substantial than Welsh rabbit and peanut taffy. It is true that the girl will learn by experience, but the knowledge will come hard, and the chances are ten to one that she will never learn to man age her house well. She may never need to do cooking but nine-tenths of the trouble with servants is due to the fact that the mistress is not capable of teaching or directing a servant.

testimonies show beyond the shadow of a doubt that Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder is the most wonderfully effective remedy ever compounded. It relieves the most severe case in from to to 60 minutes; it effects a full cure in a short time. The most eminent nose and throat special-ists in the world have given it their unqualified endorsement. In all cases of catarrh, colds, sore throat, asthma, hay fever and influenza it acts like magic. It is easy and pleasant to use. It never fails to do precisely what is claimed for it. In less than an hour it will prove its worth if you will but give it a chance. A prominent evangelist

Rev. Warren Bentley, writes:—"While in Newark, N. J., conducting religious services, I was troubled with catarrh and used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. It gave me great relief and I have recommended it to many among whom I have labored." Hon. David Mills, Minister of Justice of Canada, has used this remedy and highly recommends it over his own signature. At all druggists.

Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart cures all cases of organic and sympathetic disease of the heart. Relieves in 30 minutes. Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills are at once a mild cathartic and an invigorator, system renovator and blood maker and purifier. 20c. for 40 doses. rostration - Appetite Poor and Could Not Rest.

"I take great pleasure in recommending flood's Sarsaparilla to others. It has been the means of restoring my wife to good health. She was stricken down with an attack of nervous prostration. She suffered with headaches and her nerves were under severe strain. She became very low spirited and so weak she could only do a little work without resting. Her appetite was poor, and being so weak she could not get the proper rest at night. She decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, as we had heard it highly praised, and I am glad to state that Hood's Sarsaparilla has perfectly cured all uer ailments." G. LIQUOR HABIT OR DRUNKENNESS

CURED AT HOME.

The Dyke Cure for Alcoholism is a healthful, safe and inexpensive home treatment. No hypodermic injections; no publicity; no loss of time from business, and a certainty of cure. Consultation and correspondence free and confidential. DR. McTAGGART, Lon-

Wiarton, Feb. 12, 1897. Dear Sir—My husband says he feels like a new man. He can highly recommend the Dyke Cure, for it has taken away all crave for liquor. He is 64 years of age, and drank for over 40 Yours truly,

The following speaks for itself and refers to the testimonial immediately preceding; Wiarton, Oct. 3, 1898.

Dr. McTaggart:

Dear Sir - We received your letter with booklet. I did not get down to the London Fair this year, or would have called to see you. My husband is well and has no crave for liquor. There are some here who will try your remedy yet.

Yours truly, Mrs. —

EAST BUFFALO, Nov. 18 .- The market was again bare of sale cattle, but a moderate inquiry and liberal through shipments leaves the market here nominally unchanged. Calves were in light demand and lower; choice to extra were quotable at $7 to $7 25; good to choice, $6 50 to $7. Sheep and lambs— The offerings were excessive for the state of the demand, which is extremely limited—60 loads, of which 20 loads were left over, and included 10 to 12 loads of Canada lambs; the fresh receipts of Canada lambs were two loads; prices were lower all round; the basis of Canada lambs prices was $5 $5 15 — principally $5 10 and $5 75 for heavy Canada lambs, and a light general clearance at the prices; lambs, choice to extra, were quotable at $5 20 to $5 30; good to choice, $5 to $5 25; common to fair, $4 75 to $5; sheep, choice to extra, $4 to $4 25; good to choice, $3 75 to $4; common to fair, $3 to $3 75; only about half the offerings were Hogo-The offerings were liberal -90 loads, and the market opened fairly active, but easier towards the close; Yorkers sold at $3 35 to $3 40, principally $3 40. and closed $3 35 to $3 371/2; good weights, $3 40 to $3 45; pigs were slow, $8 35 to $3 45 being the range for the day, but there were a number of sales on the basis of $2 40, but on the close the bids were $3 35, which was a fair quotation for the close.

TORONTO, Nov. 18 .- There is a slight improvement in prices in the cattle market from those of a week or ten days ago; the export trade is picking up a little, and everything at all of decent quality was sold; the demand is still, however, for a better quality than is being offered; exporters of good quality sold at $4, a few of the very choicest fetching $410; choice butchers' cattle sold from $3 50 to $4; stockers. $3 to $3 25; heavy. $3 50; extra nice, $3 60. Export sheep also show a little improvement, prices being $3 25 to $3 35; lambs, $4 to $4 25. Hogs have taken the upward turn, $4 371/2 being given for the best; light fat, $4. The total de-liveries of all kinds today amounted to 56 loads. Export cattle, $4 to $4 10; do, light, $3 60 to $3 75; bulls, medium export, $3 70 to $3 771/2; do, heavy export, good quality, $3 50 to $3 70; loads of good butchers and exporters, mix-ed, $3.60 to $3.85; stockers and medium favorites. EMPEROR MAY LIVE

Though His Physician Pronounces His Disease Incurable.

Bright's Disease Is Not Incurable, for Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Cured It Thousands of Times, and Will Cure It Thousands of Times Again.

Toronto, Nov. 18 .- Newspaper dispatches from Pekin, China, bring information to the effect that the emperor is dying of Bright's disease. He is under the care of a famous French physician, who asserts that the emperor's complaint is "an incurable kidney disease." That is where the famous French physician is mistaken. There is no incurable kidney disease. Every disease of the kidneys is curable. They, like all other diseases, yield readily to the proper remedies. The experience of the past eight years has shown conclusively, beyond the shadow of a doubt, that there is one remedy that will cure any case of kidney disease, no matter how severe, no matter how long it has run. The remedy is known throughout the and laymen alike, by the name of Dodd's Kidney pills.

When Dodd's Kidney Pills were first introduced medical men were sceptical regarding their power to cure Bright's disease. Experiments were made in cases that had defied the skill of the most eminent medical men on the American continent, cases that had been given up as hopeless-fatal. To the astonishment of the medical men Dodd's Kidney Pills worked a complete cure in every case. Thenceforth they were recognized as the only known cure for diseases of the kidneys, including Bright's disease and diabetes.

This place they have held since, and hold today. No other cure for this disease has ever been discovered, although many worthless imitations of Dodd's Kidney Pills have been placed on the market.

If the famous French physician, under whose care the Chinese emperor is, -Eggs firm; strictly new laid, 21c to would use Dodd's Kidney Pills in the 22c; No. 1 candled, 16c; No. 2, 12c to case of his imperial patient, his recoviac; Montreal limed, 14c to 14%c; culls, ery would be rapid and certain Ontario Crops-Final Report for 1898.

Enlarged Area of Wheat-Corn Excellent in the West-Potatoe Crop Light-Fruit Trees in a Healthy Condition.

The Ontario department of agriculture has issued the final crop report for 1898. It is as follows: FALL WHEAT.

The favorable accounts given in the returns given in August have been verified by the reports just to hand. Poor yields were exceptional, and large yields were common. The plumpness of the grain is frequently alluded to, in many cases the weight going over the standard, and as high sometimes as 63 or 64 pounds to the bushel. Here and there only did correspondents complain of rust, midge or other injury to the crop. The yield in 24 bushels per acre, giving the large total yield of 25,158,713 bushels.

THE NEW FALL WHEAT. An enlarged area is reported for the growing of fall wheat by most of our correspondents, the Acrease being placed at from ten per cent up, a few claiming to have actually doubled their acreage. Sowing ranged from the last week of August to the first week of October, but the bulk of the work was done between Sept. 10 and 20. Conditions were favorable to seeding, and, as correspondents wrote, most of the fields looked very promising, although in some cases the crop was so heavy in the top that cattle and sheep were turned to pasture upon it. The Hessian fly is reported in several of the western counties, and as a result some of the fields were more or less yellow in appearance. The general outlook, however, may be described as encouraging, so far as the new crop of fall wheat is concerned. Dawson's Golden Chaff, Clawson, Genesee Giant, Mana large yield, while 40 other sorts also are named as being in favor. SPRING WHEAT. The acreage of spring wheat is only & little over one-third of that of fall wheat. The crop has been over an average in yield, and the quality is also good. A large amount of goose wheat has been grown. The yield is a little larger than our August estimate, being 17.7 bushels per acre. BARLEY.

Only the low prices prevailing prevented barley from being one of the most satisfactory yields of the season. The yield per acre generally has been large, and a better sample of grain as to weight and color has seldom been raised. The yield is 28.9 bushels per acre, somewhat larger than was estimated before the crop was har-

This crop appears to be a rair one, in many cases going over the yield per measured bushel, although complaints are made in various sections as to the gain being rather light in weight, on CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—There was the account of the quick ripening. A few correspondents complained of rust, and usual light Friday supply of cattle, and prices were steady, with a modewith a mode-extra choice crop has turned out two bushels per acre better than was estimated before the harvest, bringing the yield up to the extraordinary total of 86,858,293 bushels.

RYE. What little rye was grown for grain turned out well. In fact, the too rank growth of the crop appears to have been the chief cause for complaint. PEAS. This appears to have been the most unfortunate of the grain crops. The drought of the early part of the summer, and a frost about July 10, told upon the growth, and the "bug" made its appearance in nearly every section of the province. Some of those reporting are inclined to take a discouraging view of the outlook for pea-growing owing to this pest. A few correspondents speak of a good crop, but many report the opposite. The crop continued to drop in yield, so that the final statement gives 13,521,263 bushels, somewhat under the previous year, and 15.6 bushels per acre, as compared with 19.6 bushels per acre, the average for the period. CORN.

In the more western counties of the Lake Erie group the crop was an excellent one, but from the remainder of the province variable reports come, some describing the crop as being a good one, while neighboring correspondents report the yield and general condition as poor. Drought and an attack of frost in July wrought considerable injury. The crop, however, turned out better than was expected earlier in the season.

TOBACCO. This crop has turned out well. The season for setting out plants was rather dry, but the general growth was good, and a large quantity of leaf was obtained. A little late planted was caught by frost, but the bulk of the crop escaped. Correspondents speak favorably of the curing. The "worm" was the worst enemy of the crop.

BEANS. Correspondents are far from unanimous regarding this crop. However, it appears to have turned out best in the Lake Erie counties, where the bulk of the crop is grown. Frost and drought were the chief drawbacks.

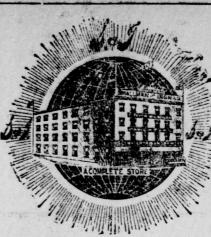

BUCKWHEAT. The crop was badly affected by drought at the time of blossoming, and frest also did considerable injury. The consequence is that the crop is a comparatively poor one, al-Englsh-speaking world, to physicians though some correspondents report a good yield. POTATOES.

The potato crop is light throughout the province, owing to the effects of the late frosts and the protracted drought. Early potatoes suffered most severely, being a complete failure in many instances. The quality of the crop secured is almost uniformly good, and but few cases of rot are reported; neither do the ravages of the potato bug appear to have been so destructive as formerly. The yield was nearly all out of the ground as correspondents wrote, except in a few localities where delay has been oc-casioned by the wet weather

TURNIPS.

There has been a fair average yield of turnips, the crop thriving better, as a rule, in the western than the eastdistricts. Many correspondents' note the ravages of the green aphis, which seems to be especially destructive in the Swede turnip, though the Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont. drought was the principal drawback. Ask for Doan's and refuse all others.

point out that mangels have stood the continued drought better than turnips, though the size, of course, is smaller and the plant more rooty than would have been the case with a more evendistribution of moisture. Very little of the crop remains to be taken up. CARROTS.

Where grown, carrots have, as a rule, done well, especially in the west, though affected like the other root crops by the dry weather. The yield has been got under cover in good condition in nearly all localities.

FRUIT AND FRUIT TREES. Fruit trees and vines are in a generally healthy and thriving condition, the principal causes of injury noted being storms, blight, and, in the cases of plums and cherries, black knot. The San Jose scale was also mentioned as doing some damage in Kent. There were many causes which adversely affected the fruit crop. The drought and frost inflicted considerable injury during the earlier stages of its development, and much loss has also been caused by insect pests. The apple crop in particular suffered much from worms, much of the fruit being affected in unsprayed orchards. The tent caterpillar also did injury. Several correspondents note the fact that where spraying was properly attended to these pests were kept in check and good crops of fruit secured. Notwithstanding all disadvantages the returns

A Baggageman's Back

A G. T. R. Employe Tells How Doan's Kidney Pills Took Out the Fains and Aches.

A baggageman's lot is none too easy. The heavy lifts strain the back and cramp the kidneys. They cry out in protest. Make the back pain and ache! Allow the poisonous uric acid which it is the kidney's duty to filter out of the blood to be carried back into the system. producing Headaches, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, and in the end Bright's Disease, Dropsy and death!

Help the kidneys to health with the right remedy—the remedy that Mr. Andrew Maxwell, of Galt, Ont., used—Doan's Kidney Pills. This is what he has to say about them:

"I have been a great sufferer from kidney disease. The pain in my back and side was very bad; the urine very high-colored and carrying a heavy sedi-

"I was so bad that it seemed like misery for me to work. I used a great many medicines, but could get many different medicines, but could get no benefit when providentially I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, and concluded to try them.

"A marvelous change took place af-ter the first few doses, and now I am as well as I ever was. No more pain; the urine is clear, and I am now in the enjoyment of vigorous health. 'I have recommended them to many of my friends, and can say that they are the best remedy for kidney troubles ever put before the public. I say this knowing it to be true from my own experience."

from all over the province, with the exception of a few northerly counties, show that the supply of fruit, more especially of apples, was considerably more than sufficient for home consumption, very large shipments having been made to England and the United States from the western fruitgrowing section. Pears, peaches, plums and smaller fruits were also shipped from many localities. There was great variation as to quality, much of the yield being spoken of as inferior.

EAST BUFFALO, Nov. 18 .- The market was again bare of sale cattle, but Ontario Crops-Final Report for a moderate inquiry and liberal through shipments leaves the market here nominally unchanged. Calves were in light demand and lower; choice to extra were quotable at $7 to $7 25; good to choice, $6 50 to $7. Sheep and lambs— The offerings were excessive for the state of the demand, which is extremely limited-60 loads, of which 20 loads were left over, and included 10 to 12 loads of Canada lambs; the fresh receipts of Canada lambs were two loads; prices were lower all round; the basis of Canada lambs prices was $5 to $5 15 - principally $5 10 and $5 75 for heavy Canada lambs, and a light general clearance at the prices; lambs, choice to extra, were quotable at $5 20 to $5 30; good to choice, $5 to $5 25; common to fair, $4 75 to $5; sheep, choice to extra, $4 to $4 25; good to choice, $3 75 to $4; common to fair, $3 to $3 75; only about half the offerings were sold. Hogs-The offerings were liberal -90 loads, and the market opened fairly active, but easier towards the close; Yorkers sold at $3 35 to $3 40, principally $3 40, and closed $3 35 to $3 37½; good weights, $3 40 to $3 45; pigs were slow, $3 35 to $3 45 being the range for the day, but there were a number of sales on the basis of $3 40, but on the close the bids were $3 35, which was a fair quotation for the close. TORONTO, Nov. 18 .- There is a slight improvement in prices in the cattle market from those of a week or ten days ago; the export trade is picking up a little, and everything at all of decent quality was sold; the demand is still, however, for a better quality than is being offered; exporters of good quality sold at $4, a few of the very choicest fetching $4 10; choice butchers' cattle sold from $3 50 to $4; stockers, $3 to $3 25; heavy, $3 50; extra nice, $3 60. Export sheep also show a little improvement, prices being $3 25 to $3 35; lambs, $4 to $4 25. Hogs have taken the upward turn, $4 371/2 being given for the best; light fat, $4. The total de-liveries of all kinds today amounted to 56 loads. EMPEROR MAY LIVE

Though His Physician Pronounces His Disease Incurable.

Bright's Disease Is Not Incurable, for Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Cured It Thousands of Times, and Will Cure It Thousands of Times Again.

Toronto, Nov. 18.—Newspaper dispatches from Pekin, China, bring information to the effect that the emperor is dying of Bright's disease. He is under the care of a famous French physician, who asserts that the emperor's complaint is "an incurable kidney disease.

That is where the famous French physician is mistaken.

There is no incurable kidney disease. Every disease of the kidneys is curable. They, like all other diseases, yield readily to the proper remedies.

The experience of the past eight years has shown conclusively, beyond the shadow of a doubt, that there is one remedy that will cure any case of kidney disease, no matter how severe, no matter how long it has run.

The remedy is known throughout the Engish-speaking world, to physicians though some correspondents report a and laymen alike, by the name of Dodd's Kidney pills.

When Dodd's Kidney Pills were first introduced medical men were sceptical regarding their power to cure Bright's disease. Experiments made in cases that had defied the skill of the most eminent medical men on the American continent, cases that had been given up as hopeless—fatal. To the astonishment of the medical men Dodd's Kidney Pills worked a complete cure in every case. Thenceforth they were recognized as the only known for diseases of the kidneys, including Bright's disease and diabetes. This place they have held since, and hold today. No other cure for this disease has ever been discovered, although many worthless imitations of Dodd's Kidney Pills have been placed

Enlarged Area of Wheat-Corn Excellent in the West-Potatoe Crop Light-Fruit Trees in a Healthy Condition.

The Ontario department of agriculture has issued the final crop report for 1898. It is as follows:

FALL WHEAT. The favorable accounts given in the returns given in August have been verified by the reports just to hand. Poor yields were exceptional, and large yields were common. The plumpness of the grain is frequently alluded to, in many cases the weight going over the standard, and as high sometimes as 63 or 64 pounds to the bushel. Here and there only did correspondents com-plain of rust, midge or other injury to the crop. The yield is 24 bushels per acre, giving the large total yield of 25,158,713 bushels.

THE NEW FALL WHEAT. An enlarged area is reported for the growing of fall wheat by most of our correspondents, the increase being placed at from ten per cent up, a few claiming to have actually doubled their acreage. Sowing ranged from the last week of August to the first week of October, but the bulk of the work was done between Sept. 10 and 20. Conditions were favorable to seeding, and, as correspondents wrote, most of the fields looked very promising, although in some cases the crop was so heavy in the top that cattle and sheep were turned to pasture upon it. The Hessian fly is reported in several of the western counties, and as a result some of the fields were more or less yellow in appearance. The general outlook, however, may be described as encouraging, so far as the new crop of fall wheat is concerned. Dawson's Golden Chaff, Clawson, Genesee Giant, Manchester, Democrat and Surprise are the favorites. The first two named have a large yield, while 40 other sorts also are named as being in favor.

SPRING WHEAT. The acreage of spring wheat is only little over one-third of that of fall wheat. The crop has been over an average in yield, and the quality is also good. A large amount of goose wheat has been grown. The yield is a little larger than our August estimate, being 17.7 bushels per acre. BARLEY.

Only the low prices prevailing prevented barley from being one of the most satisfactory yields of the sea-son. The yield per acre generally has vested.

OATS.

This crop appears to be a fair one, in many cases going over the yield per measured bushel, although complaints are made in various sections as to the gain being rather light in weight, on account of the quick ripening. A few crop has turned out two bushels per acre better than was estimated before the harvest, bringing the yield up to the extraordinary total of 86,858,293 bushels.

What little rye was grown for grain turned out well. In fact, the too rank principal causes of injury noted being growth of the crop appears to have been storms, blight, and, in the cases of growth of the crop appears to have been the chief cause for complaint.

PEAS.

This appears to have been the most unfortunate of the grain crops. The drought of the early part of the summer, and a frost about July 10, told upon the growth, and the "bug" made its appearance in nearly every section of the province. Some of those reporting are inclined to take a discouraging view of the outlook for pea-growing owing to this pest. A few correspondents speak of a good crop, but many report the opposite. The crop continued to drop in yield, so that the final statement gives 13,521,263 bushels, somewhat under the previous year, and 15.6 bushels per acre, as compared with 19.6 bushels per acre, the average for the

CORN.

In the more western counties of the Lake Erie group the crop was an excellent one, but from the remainder of the province variable reports come, some describing the crop as being a good one, while neighboring correspondents report the yield and general condition as poor. Drought and an attack of frost in July wrought considerable injury. The crop, however, turned out better than was expected earlier in the season.

TOBACCO.

This crop has turned out well. The season for setting out plants was rather dry, but the general growth was good, and a large quantity of leaf was obtained. A little late planted was caught by frost, but the bulk of the crop escaped. Correspondents speak favorably of the curing. The "worm" was the worst enemy of the crop. BEANS

Correspondents are far from unanimous regarding this crop. However, it appears to have turned out best in the Lake Erie counties, where the bulk of the crop is grown. Frost and drought were the chief drawbacks.

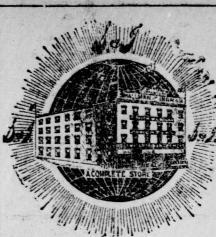

BUCKWHEAT. The crop was badly affected by drought at the time of blossoming, and frest also did considerable injury. The consequence is that the crop is a comparatively poor one, algood yield.

POTATOES.

The potato crop is light throughout the province, owing to the effects of the late frosts and the protracted drought. Early potatoes suffered most severely, being a complete failure in many instances. The quality of the crop secured is almost uniformly good, and but few cases of rot are reported; neither do the ravages of the potato bug appear to have been so destructive as formerly. The yield was nearly all out of the ground as cor-respondents wrote, except in a few localities where delay has been occasioned by the wet weather

TURNIPS.

There has been a fair average yield of turnips, the crop thriving better, as a rule, in the western than the eastern districts. Many correspondents note the ravages of the green aphis, which seems to be especially destructive in the Swede turnip, though the Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont. drought was the principal drawback. Ask for Doan's and refuse all others.

WEATHER PROBS: Unsettled and milder.

been large, and a better sample of grain as to weight and color has seldom been raised. The yield is 28.9 bushels per acre, somewhat larger than was estimated before the crop was harpoint out that mangels have stood the continued drought better than turnips, though the size, of course, is smaller and the plant more rooty than would have been the case with a more even-distribution of moisture. Very little of the crop remains to be taken up.

> CARROTS. Where grown, carrots have, as a rule, done well, especially in the west, though affected like the other root crops by the dry weather. The wield has been got under cover in good condition in nearly all localities. FRUIT AND FRUIT TREES. Fruit trees and vines are in a generally healthy and thriving condition, the plums and cherries, black knot. The San Jose scale was also mentioned as doing some damage in Kent. There were many causes which adversely affected the fruit crop. The drought and frost inflicted considerable injury during the earlier stages of its development, and much loss has also been caused by insect pests. The apple crop in particular suffered much from worms, much of the fruit being affected in unsprayed orchards. The tent caterpillar also did injury. Several correspondents note the fact that where spraying was properly attended to these pests were kept in check and good crops of fruit secured. Notwithstanding all disadvantages the returns A Baggageman's Back

Catarrh of Long Standing Relieved in a Few Hours

It is not alone the people of our own country, and prominent citizens like Urban Lippe, M.P., of Joliette, Que., and other members of parliament, who, having used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal powder, pronounce it the most effective remedy they have every known, but people everywhere are expressing their gratification at the effectiveness of this medicine. C. G. Archer, of Brewer, Maine, says: "I have had catarrh for several years. Water would run from my eyes and nose days at a time. About four months ago I was induced to try Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and since using the wenderful remedy I have not had an attack. I would not be without it." It relieves in ten min-utes. But the Chicago parties secured a bonus from another city, and the original plan will not be carried out. It is now intended that the plot be converted into a summer park, with bicycle track, baseball grounds, English bowling green, chutes to shoot, ponies for the children, boats, hurdy-gurdies, swings, and all the best features that appertain to the most noted parks on the continent. Bennett says the park will be hurried to completion, to be ready for next Negotiations in Regard to Reciprocity.

The Commission's Work-The President's Attitude-Mr. McKinley Is Favo able to a Treaty.

The Globe's Washington special of Friday's date says: It is not anticipated that much progress will be made by the joint high commission during the coming week. Negotiations have gone so far in regard to reciprocity that the Canadian proposals are pretty fully understood by the American commissioners, who desire now to ascertain the views of the most influential members of the senate before coming to a definite agreement. His influence is very great and is unquestionably on the increase, and if his views are correctly stated by those in his confidence he will ask the members of the senate, who may feel disposed to object to certain items in the proposed reciprocal schedule, to consider the question from the national rather than the local point of view. The conferences to be held will enable Mr. Dingley and his colleagues to eliminate from the treaty anything The Catholic Club are about to re-that would lead to its rejection by the sume their monthly literary and music-senate, and this will doubtless prove al concerts in the club parlors. The a more satisfactory mode of dealing with the great questions involved than was followed in 1888, when the Bayard-Chamberlain treaty, prepared after months of discussion, was thrown out of the senate almost contemptuously.

If there were a system of responsible government at Washington, such as prevails with us, it would be much easier to guarantee the passage of a measure approved by the administration, but under the American system party discipline does not count for much, because the evecutive of the Last night a prominent citizen, unac- government remains in power for four years, whether it carries its measures through congress or fails to do was driving along South street, and as so. It may be added that any such proposal, if made in the form of an ultimatum, would ere this have resulted in the breaking up of the conference, for the preferential tariff is the vital feature of the trade policy of the Canadian Government and cannot be sacrificed even for reciprocity. That one or more of the American commissioners came to Quebec in the belief that they could secure its abolition may be true, but they have been thoroughly, undeceived. EXPORTS OF THE MINE.

In connection with the reciprocity negotiations an effort is being made by the Canadian commissioners toward furthering the mining development of the Dominion. During the year ending June last, we sent to the United States $13,838,833 worth of mining products out of a total $14,463,256 exported. Practically, therefore, the entire surplus product of our mines goes to the United States. Last year this export from the mine to our southern neighbor was greater in value than the exports from the farm, the fishery and the factory combined by nearly three million dollars.

NO BAR TO BIGAMY

Queer Plea of a Deaf-Mute With a Penchant for Matrimony.

Berlin, Nov 19 .- A queer case of bigarny, which has puzzled the courts for some time, was decided today. Christian Zuehlsdorf is a deaf mute. He is a tailor only 30 years of age, but in the brief period of five years has been divorced from his first wife, separated from his second and married his third, Marie Muller, before he was legally set free.

The defense tried to show that as the prisoner was a deaf mute, he did not and could not know what the ceremony at the third wedding implied. The case was carried to the appeliate court, which decided that a man with as much matrimonial experience as Zuehlsdorf possessed ought to have known the significance of the actions of the minister who performed the last nuptial ceremonies, even if he could not hear a word of what was He was condemned to six spoken. months' imprisonment at hard labor.

Of the Steamship Briardene's Commander.

Ten Persons Burned to Death in & Timber Shed-Suicide at Sea.

Queenstown, Nov. 19. - Something in the nature of a sensation has been caused here by the extraordinary conduct of Captain Johnston, commander of the British steamer Briardene, which arrived here on Oct. 21 from New York, extensively damaged by severe weather, during which she was almost submerged for ten days. Since that time the Briardene has been repairing for a passage west. The Briardene was seized by a marshal of the admiralty court for debt, and a bailiff was placed on board of her. The captain determined to defy the court, and started for Delaware breakwater; but the pilot who was on board refused to navigate the ship out of the harbor, with the result that the captain attempted to do so, and grounded the Briardene off Haul Bowline. Two hours later she was firsted off. In the meanwhile the admiralty court officials communicated with the admiral in charge of this station, and the latter sent a bteam pinnace to intercept the dene as the latter was passing out of dry. Queenstown harbor at full speed, and steamer paid no attention to the sum- firm. mons, but continued on his way as fast as the engines of the Briardene could drive her, with the little pinnace following in pursuit. The chase was watched by excited crowds ashore. Off Spike Island the Briardene had completely outdistanced the pinnace, and the latter gave up the pursuit. The British steamer Rydalehom, Captain Brown, from Montreal, Nov. 2, via Sydney, C. B., Nov. 6, for Hull, passed Lizard Head yesterday, and reported her upper decks were damaged, and that the mate had been washed overboard, and lost during the voyage.

The Cunard Liner Campania, Captain Walker, which left New York on Nov. 12 for Liverpool by way of Queenstown, touched there yesterday morning, and reported that a Swedish passenger named Mockarisen committed suicide by jumping overboard while on the passage across the Atlantic.

A SURPRISE. London, Nov. 19. - The Birmingham Post learns from a Belgian source that Major Marchand, upon his return to Fashoda, will probably find at that place several French officers, including Colonel Foucque, with reinforcements and supplies. DO YOU BROOD?

Melancholia Is a Grave Disease and Leads to Insanity.

Broken Down Nervous System Is the Cause of Trouble.

Paine's Celery Compound Nature's Nerve Bracer and Health Restorer.

Do you brood from day to day and simply because the root of the disease make life a continued misery for yourself and family? If you are a victim of Hundreds of cases of melancholia in self and family? If you are a victim of melancholia, understand at once you are suffering from a terribly grave disease-a trouble that induces suicide and homicide.

One of the most celebrated physicians of the day says that there are several forms of melancholia; simple melancholia, melancholia agitata, melancholia attonita, and melancholia with stupor. The first two are the most difficult of recognition, and are the forms that especially endanger the lives of victims and their friends.

Some of the first and most important symptoms of melancholia are sleepless-ness, depression of spirits, slow mental movements, terrifying hallucinations and aversion to food. The whole nervous system is soon in a most alarming condition, the mind becomes affected, and even insanity may show its hideous form.

Experience has proved that the ordinary medical treatment of melancholia fails in nine cases out of every ten, all stages that have baffled the best medical men have been successfully cured by nature's nerve medicine— Paine's Celery Compound. This mar-velous medical prescription does its work directly on the nerves. It tones, strengthens and braces up the entire nervous organization, and, as a consequence, the tissues and muscles are built up, and pure life-giving blood is freely supplied to every part of the Reader, this should be an all-im-portant subject to you if you are sleepless, despondent, languid, out-of-sorts depressed in mind and mental faculties impaired. Your path of duty is clear. Terrible dangers are ahead if you fail to banish the first symptoms. Your present and future happiness and realth depend wholly upon your choice of medicine. The use of Paine's Celery Compound at this time means new life, health, vigor, activity, full mental powers and a length of happy days.

her brother. "I am so; to myself as well as to she answered composedly. "But why knit your brows over such an enigma as a willful woman. There's the belt, and I must run upstairs and say half a dozen words to Marie about my rink hat before I go to breakfast." "Stay, Viva, I wanted to ask you something. This new maid of yoursdo you like her?" asked Aymer, endeavoring to look unconcerned as he put the question. "Yes; she has excellent taste in dress. I think she will suit me very well." "You find her rather superior to the common run of maids, don't you?" [To be Continued.]

Of the Steamship Briardene's Commander.

Ten Persons Burned to Death in & Timber Shed-Suicide at Sea.

Queenstown, Nov. 19. - Something in the nature of a sensation has been caused here by the extraordinary conduct of Captain Johnston, commander of the British steamer Briardene, which arrived here on Oct. 21 from New York, extensively damaged station at Glencoe. by severe weather, during which she was almost submerged for ten days. Since that time the Briardene has been repairing for a passage west. The Briardene was seized by a marshal of the admiralty court for debt. and a bailiff was placed on board of her. The captain determined to defy the court, and started for Delaware breakwater; but the pilot who was on board refused to navigate the ship out of the harbor, with the result that the captain attempted to do so, and grounded the Briardene off Haul Bowline. Two hours later she was floated off. In the meanwhile the admiralty court officials communicated with the admiral in charge of this station, and the latter sent a bteam pinnace to intercept the Briardene. The pinnace met the Briardene as the latter was passing out of Queenstown harbor at full speed, and ordered her to stop. The captain of the steamer paid no attention to the summons, but continued on his way as fast as the engines of the Briardene could drive her, with the little pinnace fol-lowing in pursuit. The chase was watched by excited crowds ashore. Off Spike Island the Briardene had completely outdistanced the pinnace, and the latter gave up the pursuit.
The British steamer Rydalehom, Captain Brown, from Montreal, Nov. 2, via Sydney, C. B., Nov. 6, for Hull, passed Lizard Head yesterday, and reported her upper decks were damaged, and that the mate had been washed overboard, and lost during the voyage. The Cunard Liner Campania, Captain Walker, which left New York on Nov. 12 for Liverpool by way of Queenstown, touched there yesterday morning, and reported that a Swedish passenger named Mockarisen committed suicide by jumping overboard while on the passage across the Atlantic.

One of the most celebrated physicians of the day says that there are several forms of melancholia; simple melancholia, melancholia agitata, melan-cholia attonita, and melancholia with stupor. The first two are the most difficult of recognition, and are the forms that especially endanger the lives of victims and their friends.

Some of the first and most important symptoms of melancholia are sleeplessness, depression of spirits, slow mental movements, terrifying hallucinations and aversion to food. The whole nervous system is soon in a most alarming condition, the mind becomes affected, and even insanity may show its hideous form.

Experience has proved that the ordinary medical treatment of melancholia health, vigor, activity, full mental falls in nine cases out of every ten, powers and a length of happy days.

CUTICURA

A MOTHER'S SWORN STATEMENT

My little daughter May's head and face broke out in one solid mass of bleeding sores, and one of her ears was so affected, that the doctor thought that it would slough off. Her suffering was intense, getting no rest at all, unless under the influence of opiates. The physician tried every known remedy, but instead of getting better, they seemed to get worse all the time. Distracted with her condition, I was advised to try CUTICURA REME-DIES. I administered CUTICURA RESOLVENT inwardly, I bathed her with CUTICURA SOAP, and used Cuticura (ointment) freely. Before the first week I noticed that the little sufferer was beginning to get relief. In less than two months my little darling was entirely cured and well, she got as fat as a little pig, marks whatever are to be seen from the effects Mrs. JAS. AMUSEMENTS

Vaudeville at the Grand Next Week-Excellent List of Specialty Performers.

When the American theaters introduced the continuous vaudeville performances some few years ago, doubts were expressed whether the venture would be a success. The vadueville theater is now, however, the best drawing class of amusement in many of the best theaters in the States. Many of the best performers in their line have drifted into vaudeville, until now many a star who traveled with a company is now in the service of vaudeville. Manager Roote, knowing the success of vaudeville, has engaged a long list of specialty performers for a week's engagement at the Grand. The prices have been placed at 15, 25 and 35 cents. Two matinees will be given-Thursday (Thanksgiving Day) and Saturday. The following is the list of performers:

The Empire Trio, Young, Adams and Young; refined descriptive, character and coon song singers. Daisy Perterkin, the up-to-date acrobatic and character dancer The La Dells, Harry and Annie, in remarkable feats of hand balancing, etc. Miss Ada Lucette, in songs and re-Hunt and Wentworth, Joe and Lulu. expert banjoists and duet singers.

The Darling Misses, Moore and Killingbeck, Bebe and Mollie, unique novelty singing, dancing and change artists. Frank Hanson, the greatest of all contortionists. The Nonpareils, Seymour and La Rose, greatest athletes, gymnasts, acro-bats, tumblers America has ever produced. Mr. Joe Hunt, the master of aged darkey characters. The Ravel Trio, pantomimists par ex-

Allen and West, novelty comedy musical artists. WAR TERRORS
