MORE THAN 7,000 CANADIAN SOLDIERS REACH HALIFAX TODAY ON THREE LINERS

GUARDS SUCCUMB TO SEDUCTIVE SMILES OF PRETTY IRISH GIRLS WHO HELP DE VALERA TO ESCAPE

Workman, Singing in Gaelic, Conveys Messages to Sinn Fein Leader While He Was Held in Lincoln Prison — Sean O'Cealligh Relates Story of How the Escape Was Planned and Carried Out Successfully — De Valera Will Appear When Time Is Opportune.

Paris, March 1.—While the newspapers of the United Kingdom are still speculating over the mysterious escape from Lincoln Prison in England of Edward De Valera, the Sinn Fein leader, the manner in which he effected his break from captivity on February 3 has become known here. It was related to the Associated Press by Sean O'Cealligh, the prominent Sinn Feiner, who is here asking the peace conference to recognize the provisional government of the "Irish Republic," having crossed the channel on a passport secured by a subterfuge.

"After the midnight arrest of Edward De Valera near his home in Greystone," Mr. O'Cealligh began, "he, with twelve comrades was sent to Lincoln Prison, the other Sinn Feiners arrested being distributed in order to avoid concentrating them at any one jail. Because of De Valera's importance, the strictest watch was maintained on the prisoner. A committee was appointed at the session of the Irish Parliament to take charge of the question of the release of the incarcerated comrades, and the first result of that committee's activity was the escape of De Valera."

Tried Men Selected.

"The committee selected a number of men for the job who had been tried by fire and who would not be too timid in case there was gunplay. The first task was to survey the prison and discover the possibilities of a forceful coup. The prison lay in an isolated part of the town. The rear looked out on a large open space. Just outside the back gate was a small patch of ground on which the prisoners were allowed to exercise under guard.

"This place was surrounded by a series of barbed wire entanglements. Several armed guards watched the prisoners while they were out, and at sunset a force of militia was thrown about the prison. Because of this military guard it was decided to be unwise to try to rush the place for fear of loss of life and the probable death of De Valera.

Message in Song.

"The next move was to communicate with De Valera, which was very difficult. However, one Sinn Feiner started working on a garden plot, of which there were several near the prison. He attracted De Valera's attention one day by singing Sinn Fein songs in Gaelic, in which he told the leader that an attempt would be made to rescue him. The warder's suspicions were not aroused, because it was not uncommon for Irish workmen to be about the prison.

"This man appeared again several days later and again sang a ballad, in which he told De Valera that the rear exit of the prison was the most feasible for the attempt, and asking De Valera to secure an impression of the key to the gate.

"The impression of the key was secured. This impression was wrapped in paper with a stone and thrown to the ringer in the garden plot.

"While this was going on four Sinn Feiners escaped from the Usk Prison in Wales, and this caused the authorities to double the guards on all jails and postponed the release of De Valera. In Lincoln Prison the inmates were counted continually, and the strictest watch was maintained.

Girls Come to Rescue.

"The sentries about the rear of the prison were a grave menace to the plans and the committee tried to find girls in the neighborhood who could be employed to influence them. This attempt was given up, however, and finally a telegram was sent to Dublin for two handsome young women, both highly cultured university graduates, who arrayed themselves as shop girls and crossed the Channel.

"The girls deliberately set out to flirt with the soldiers, and soon came to know most of the guards. De Valera was informed by code in a letter that February 3 was set for his escape, and the procedure to be followed was outlined as much as possible. This little code had been arranged for just such an emergency before De Valera was imprisoned.

"On the evening of February 3, four motor cars packed with Irishmen were sent wandering about the country near Lincoln to serve as decoys for the police. At 4 o'clock the prisoners were brought in from their period of exercise. They then had a three-hour period for wandering about the prison before they were locked up for the night.

Cus Path Through Wire.

"In the dusk, shortly after 4 o'clock, the girls appeared and enticed the guards from the rear of the prison as far as possible. Then two Sinn Feiners quickly cut a path through the barbed wire.

"At 5 o'clock De Valera, with McGarry and Milroy (Sinn Feiners who escaped with De Valera) sauntered to the back gate. Their friends outside crept up and opened the gate with the false key while the sentries continued their flirtation with the girls. An automobile was waiting, and De Valera was whisked away to London while the police chased the decoy motors.

"Where is De Valera now? I cannot state, but he will be here on time when he is wanted."

BELIEVES THAT WOOLEY WOULD HAVE SHOT HIM WITH OTHERS

Secretary Bean Attributes His Life To Fact He Arrived Late.

WAS CRUEL TO WIFE

Mrs. Wooley Stated Her Intention To Separate From Husband.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Sarnia, March 1.—There may be developments in Friday's triple tragedy of an unusual nature owing to the apparent evidence that Thomas Wooley, who did the shooting appears to have been laying for other persons than the man he killed. The fact that he was carrying a revolver would indicate that this was the case, and possibly it was only an accident that prevented a more shocking crime still. Wooley, it is reported, was enraged because his wife had made up her mind to leave him owing to his repeated cruelty. He was serving the last day of a month's notice which had been given him to quit his position at the Y. M. C. A., and his wife had begged to be kept on as he had nowhere to take her and her little girl, and she told Secretary Bean that she could not live any longer with her husband.

Mr. Bean said yesterday that it is very likely Wooley was laying for him (Bean), as he had promised to be down early that morning and give him his check so that he could catch an early train from the city and he had threatened to get even with those who were separating him and his wife before he left.

May Renew Relations With Next Generation of Barbarous Huns

Paris, March 1.—The universities of Leipsic and Heidelberg recently transmitted a letter to all French universities requesting that their pre-war relations be renewed. The German universities have been sent the following reply from the University of Bordeaux: "Please make a short visit to the devastated regions of Northern France and then inform us upon your return how long it would be before you would renew relations with a people committing similar deeds in your country.

"The generation perpetrating such abominations has severed all connection with humanity. Perhaps we shall renew relations with the next generation."

Recommends Sir Arthur Currie For Governorship of Malta

London, March 1.—The evening News suggests that Gen. Sir Arthur Currie should receive the governorship of Malta, shortly to be made vacant through the retirement of Lord Methuen.

"Up to the present," says the News, "however great the services of the colonial general have been, he has been rigidly excluded from any military position outside of his own Dominion. The time has come to break down this state of things."

BOLSHEVIKI ARE TRYING TO SECURE WOMEN'S SUPPORT

Mme. Radek, Wife of Soviet Agent in Germany, Is Heading Campaign.

Warsaw, Thursday, Feb. 27.—The carrying on a popular campaign to secure the support of women throughout Russia, according to refugees reaching there from Moscow. Mme. Radek, wife of Karl Radek, the chief Bolshevik agent in Germany, is taking a prominent part in this work, and with other women is trying to attract the attention of a large mass of women by having women take positions in the ministries and colleges.

The Bolshevik leaders, it is said, were heartened by the invitation from the supreme council in Paris to attend the proposed conference on the Princes Islands, the Bolsheviki believing that they were being given a chance to test theories to the bitter end. Many intelligent women are reported to be cooperating with Lenine and Trotzky, but so far they have pointed out vainly that it will be impossible to win the support of the women so long as religion is flaunted and as long as divorce is made so easy.

According to refugees and reports, there has been no general application of the much-advertised easy divorce and easy marriage regulations.

PRINCESS HELENA OF SERBIA IS ON WAY TO FRENCH CAPITAL

Witnessed Murder of Her Husband by Bolsheviki.

Geneva, March 1.—Princess Helena of Serbia passed through Geneva yesterday for Paris, where she will join her brother, Prince-Regent Alexander of Serbia. Her husband, Duke Jean Constantinovitch of Russia, was murdered by the Bolsheviki before her eyes at Perm, and the princess, with her two children, narrowly escaped the same fate. They fled to Copenhagen in disguise.

COL. TASH RETURNING FROM NORTH RUSSIA

Vladivostok, Feb. 21—(By W. E. Playfair, Canadian Press correspondent).—Col. Tash of the Canadian forces, is returning from Omsk, and states that the progress of the organization of the new Koltchak army is satisfactory, and that the Government appears to have the situation well in hand. The local branch of the Royal Bank of Canada is opening for business here March 1.

$6,000 WORTH OF WHISKEY FOUND IN CAR OF HAY

Halifax, N. S., March 1.—The police seized 280 cases of whiskey at the railway station in Stellarton last night. It was in a car of hay. Most of the hay had been removed when the inspectors put in an appearance and made the seizure. The value is probably $6,000, and it constitutes the biggest seizure ever made in that part of the province.

Scientists Claim to Have Discovered Influenza Germs

Investigations Made of Causes of the Epidemic Are Completed.

London, March 1.—The Times announces in connection with the army medical investigations of influenza that after prolonged research Major Graime Gibson, British; Capt. Connor, Australian, and Major Bowman of the Medical Corps, have completed the discovery of what are probably the causative germs of the grippe epidemic. Major Gibson contracted influenza-pneumonia during the investigation and died in Abbeville. The germ belongs to the order of filter passers and is grown by the noguchi method. Monkeys were infected with it and developed hemorrhages of the lungs, predisposing the reception of pneumonia.

COMMISSION FORM OF GOVT. FOR URUGUAY

New System Is Inaugurated Under Presidency of Dr. Brum.

Montevideo, Uruguay, March 1.—With the inauguration of Dr. Baltasar Brum as president today, Uruguay begins a commission form of Government for the republic, the commission being formed of the president, elected by the direct vote of the people, and nine commissioners, appointed by the two Houses of Congress. In addition, the president will have the usual Cabinet of nine members, of whom he will name three and the commission six.

A coalition Government is assured, as the commission contains three members of the political party opposed to the president. The members of the commission will serve six, four and two years, so that in future three new members will be appointed each two years.

ENGLISH BUSINESS MEN URGE REMOVAL OF ALL RESTRICTIONS

Request Government To Restore Pre-War Trade Conditions.

London, March 1.—Merchants and manufacturers urged the removal of all restrictions on imports and exports between the United Kingdom and the Dominions, thus allowing the same freedom as before the war. They also called upon the Government to declare its policy regarding the encouragement of trade and commerce. Several speakers spoke on hampering of business between Great Britain and the Dominions through the present restriction of cable facilities.

RUSSIAN RAILWAY SITUATION SERIOUS

Interior May Be Completely Deprived of Means of Communication.

Stockholm, March 1.—The railway situation in Russia is most alarming, the Soviet Economic Council in Petrograd has been informed by the Bolshevik commissary of ways and communications, says a Petrograd dispatch. Only 4,500 locomotives are fit for service, the commissary declared, whereas two months ago the Government had 20,000 locomotives available, half of which were in good condition.

If the present condition of affairs is not ameliorated by the middle of April, the commissary predicted, the Russian interior would then be completely deprived of means of communication.

FOOD SHORTAGE IN GERMANY IS LEADING TO BOLSHEVISM

London Newspapers Express Deep Concern Over Problem Now Confronting the Allies—Discontent Is Growing, With German Government Helpless.

London, March 1.—Several of this morning's newspapers feature articles on the internal demoralization of Germany and the dangerous growth of Bolshevism as a result of lack of food and the increase of unemployment, and express editorially deep concern at the problem thus created for the Allies.

Various reports concur in declaring that the situation is extremely urgent.

A Reuter report describes the position of Germany as more precarious than it was last November.

"Discontent is growing, the people are hungry and dispirited, and the Government is unable to improve material conditions," this report says. "Partisans and well-informed men are pessimistic and apprehensive at ominous signs which show a tendency toward anarchy."

"Don't Talk in Sleep," Is Good Moral to Adopt

New York Man Did — His Bride Heard Him and Arrest Followed.

New York, March 1.—Things that Frederick Burgwart talked about in his sleep and overheard by his bride of two months led to his indictment yesterday, charging him with holding up a subway passenger and robbing him of $2,100. The robbery occurred on December 11, and the Burgwart wedding on December 16, when he gave his bride a present of $1,000. A few days ago Mrs. Burgwart sought out the district attorney and told him her husband had talked of the subway holdup in his sleep. A detective was put on the case and Burgwart and another man were arrested charged with the crime.

THREE MEN DEAD NEAR SCENE OF EXPLOSION

Franklin, Mass., March 1.—The bodies of three unidentified men were found early today a short distance from the scene of a mysterious explosion that damaged the mill of the American Woolen Company and 50 dwelling houses last night. The bodies were badly mutilated.

MUNICH CONGRESS DECLARES MARTIAL LAW IN BAVARIA

Soldiers and Workmen Assume Supreme Control of Government.

WEIMAR ENDANGERED

Strikers Threaten To Encircle Meeting Place of Germany's National Assembly.

REVOLUTION IMMENENT.

London, March 1.—A further revolutionary movement in Germany is imminent, according to a report reaching London through Holland today. It is added that Chancellor Scheidemann has resigned.

Paris, March 1.—The soldiers' and workmen's congress at Munich has declared martial law for all of Bavaria, according to a Zurich dispatch to the Matin.

The Government has taken possession of the bakeshops.

Premier Renaudmones has issued a statement, saying that protests against provision dealers had assumed such an aspect that it was necessary to take serious precautions and that martial law had been declared so as to enable the Government to work better for a settlement of pending social questions.

SPARTACANS OFFER FEEBLE RESISTANCE TO GOVT. TROOPS

Copenhagen, March 1.—Muenster government troops entered Dusseldorf on Friday and occupied the railway stations and public buildings. Spartacan leaders escaped and the town is quiet, according to Berlin advices received here. Spartacan forces offered very feeble resistance to government troops when the latter took Hamborn on Thursday, and gave up two cannon, 3,000 rifles and a quantity of munitions. At Essen the number of strikers is now estimated at 5,100. If the strike continues at Erfurt there will be a strike by the bourgeoisie as a protest against disorders.

COUNCIL ASSUMES SUPREME CONTROL OF BAVARIA'S GOVT.

Basle, Friday, Feb. 28.—The soldiers and workmen's council at Munich has discussed a constitution for Bavaria, according to advices reaching here, and has declared that "for considerations of safety and by reason of the confused situation of the country the Bavarian Diet is adjourned and the soldiers' and workmen's assembly shall be known as the provisional national council until a new congress, which will be summoned later, meets." The soldiers' and workmen's congress has assumed supreme power, a provisional national council exercising legislative functions.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS NOT GUARANTEE OF THE WORLD'S PEACE

Sir Andrew MacPhail Expresses Opinion On Arrival Today.

REACTION CAUSES UNREST

Professor at McGill University Says Little Interest in England Over Conference.

Halifax, N. S., March 1.—The guaranteers who could not protect Belgium were not likely to be more effective in the future with Hottentots and Chinamen added to their ranks, said Sir Andrew MacPhail, professor of history at McGill University, in the course of a statement on the league of nations scheme, given to newspapermen upon his arrival here this morning aboard the Lapland. Sir Andrew is returning after two years spent with the medical staff of the 2nd Canadian Division. He said that there was very little interest being taken in the peace conference in England, where the opinion prevailed that the league of nations would keep the peace so long as the nations were disposed to keep it, and no longer.

Reaction of War.

The unrest in England, said Sir Andrew, was merely the reaction that had come to the country after being bathed in blood for four years. The people were face to face with a new economic system. In times gone by the whole world worked for England and dumped on her shores food, raw material and more or less finished goods. That had been stopped, and now commodities were scarce and dear, and wages, as they always did, were lagging behind.

The services of Canada were recognized in England to the fullest, and with Lord Milner and Col. C. S. Amery at the colonial office the political development of the Dominion was assured a safe and regular course, said the professor.

Canadians Win Praise.

Discussing the Canadian medical service in England, Sir Andrew stated is was now running with all the smoothness of a university. The attacks upon the service, which were so common in the beginning, had long since ceased, and the care of Canadian sick and wounded from the front line back to Canada had been a model for all the forces.

In Dr. MacPhail's opinion, returning soldiers would not form a separate class, but would merge themselves into the community. The few agitators and malcontents need not be too seriously regarded. As for the attitude of the veterans towards war, they insisted they would not go to war again unless it was a big one. The men returning on the Lapland were contented and glad to be home, and greatly interested to see what changes had taken place during the past four years. Everything possible had been done for their comfort on the trip across.

MARTIAL LAW IS DECLARED IN MADRID

Troops Are Patrolling Streets of the Spanish Capital.

Madrid, Feb. 28.—Martial law has been declared in Madrid and troops are patrolling the streets. Order has been restored, but some theatres have been closed.

This action was the result of rioting against profiteers today, provision and butcher shops being attacked by mobs.

The trouble began during Friday afternoon, when attacks on bakeries and food shops occurred, principally in the suburbs and in the evening there was a movement by the people which resulted in their occupation of the butcher shops.

WAR'S TOLL WAS 7,354,000 LIVES

Russia Led With 1,700,000 Deaths, Germany Came Second.

Washington, March 1.—Battle deaths during the war among all participants so far as available statistics show were given today by General March as 7,354,000. This represents only men killed in action or died of wounds.

In the list prepared by the general staff Russia led with a total of 1,700,000; Germany was second with 1,600,000. Approximate figures for other nations were: France, 1,385,000; England, 800,000; Italy, 460,000; Turkey, 400,000; Belgium, 102,000; Rumania, 100,000; Serbia and Montenegro, 100,000; United States, 50,000.

BRITISH GOVT. HAS ADVANCED 79,000,000 POUNDS TO CANADA

Dominion Government on Other Hand Has Advanced Half a Billion to Britain.

London, March 1.—An imperial treasury statement gives the total cash advances to the Canadian Government, bonds have been issued, as £79,000,000 on March 31 of last year. Cash advances by the Dominion Government, apart from certain accounts still under consideration at the same date were $484,349,927, making, with interest, $506,145,731. It has been agreed that sums due from the Dominion Government will be set off against corresponding amounts due from the Imperial Government.

JOHN BROWN'S BODY SNOOZED IN SANDS UNTIL ROUTED OUT

At Home in G. T. R. Pit When Not Visiting Jail.

CANNOT BE LOCATED

Has Flitted Away Since Being Summoned Before Police Court.

There is an old song that tells of John Brown's body that lies a mouldering in the grave. Inspector Birrell hummed it in variations in police court today. Special Constable Robert Ward of the G. T. R. took up the refrain and the reporters joined in the chorus, the words of which were changed to "John Brown's body lies a snoozing in the sand."

"Where's John?" inquired Magistrate Marshall Graydon when court opened.

"John is around somewhere," replied Inspector Birrell in optimistic tones. However, John Brown could not be found round the building. The police will endeavor to locate him before next Saturday roams round.

Home in Sand Pit.

Mr. Brown has an idea that his own special home, be it ever so humble, lies in the little drying shack in the G. T. R. sand pit. Soon as John escapes from the clutches of the county jail turnkeys he hies his weary footsteps to the old sand pit and dreams away the hours in the hot sand that is being dried for use in the big mogul engines.

It is one fine bed according to John and has the Sahara desert in a class with the North Pole when it comes to heat. When one of the firemen approached the shanty a week ago he was assailed by many naughty curse words flung at him by John Brown's body which had been snoring in the sand. Mr. Brown wanted to know why more heat was not kept under the sand. He had been attacked by shivers and yet more shivers during the night. It was a sad, sad state of affairs. There was a possibility that he would write the president of the railroad about the matter. This was too much for the fireman and he called in Special Constable Robert Ward, who proceeded to "pinch" poor John. Mr. Brown was summoned to appear before the magistrate. It was not the first time. Police Court Clerk John Moule states that he can write John's name in the dark, and that he breaks into jail, not out of it. It looks as if Mr. Brown, emulating other inhabitants of the sandy wastes, has folded his tent and silently melted away.

WOMAN'S RIGHT TO GOOD HEALTH

Most Troubles Afflicting Women Are Due to Weak, Watery Blood.

To every woman belongs the right to enjoy a healthy, active, happy life, yet nine out of every ten suffer years of agony, usually from some form of bloodlessness. That is why one sees on every side pale, thin cheeks, dull eyes and drooping figures—sure signs of headaches, weak backs, aching limbs and uncertain health. All weak, suffering women should win the right to be well by refreshing their weary bodies with the new rich, red blood that promptly transforms them into healthy attractive women. This new, rich, red blood is supplied in abundance by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which reaches every organ and every nerve in the body. Through the use of these pills thousands of women have found a prompt cure when suffering from anaemia, indigestion, heart palpitation, rheumatism, general weakness, and those ailments from which women alone suffer. There is no part of this broad Dominion in which you will not find some former sufferer who has regained health and strength through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Among the thousands of women who bear testimony to the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mrs. W. Ferguson, Plattsville, Ont., who says: "After the birth of my second baby I was left very weak, and was steadily growing thinner and more bloodless. As time went on I became so rundown that my friends thought I was in a decline. I tried different medicines, but none helped me until I was advised to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I began taking them and was not long in finding that they were helping me, and by the time I had taken a half a dozen boxes I felt like a new person. I had increased in weight, my color returned and I was again enjoying my old-time health. You may be sure when opportunity offers I will gladly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

SIX-MONTHS-OLD BABE LAY TWO DAYS BESIDE THE DEAD BODY OF ITS FOSTER MOTHER

Crying his little heart out, a 6-month-old baby, without nourishment since Wednesday night, was found in bed beside the dead body of his foster mother, Mrs. Marion Crocker, in her ice-cold home at 371 Dundas street late yesterday afternoon, by Frank Howell, a street car conductor.

The little chap, who was born last September and adopted by Mrs. Crocker two weeks after her husband, Harry Crocker, had been killed in action, was in his little nightgown and crying lustily when Mr. Howell looked into the bedroom. He was taken in next door and Dr. F. Schram called. He found the baby suffering from bronchitis, as a result of his exposure to the cold. The little chap was starving hungry, but his hunger was soon appeased via the milk-bottle route, and Dr. Schram stated last night that he would be all right. Mrs. J. Robb, a next-door neighbor, will look after the boy until it is decided what to do with him.

Mrs. Crocker, who was 35 years of age, was last seen on Wednesday night, when she appeared to be in good health. It was not until Mrs. Earnst Whiteaw, of 490 York street, and her friend, Miss Hazel Pfahler, went to call on Mrs. Crocker yesterday afternoon that anything wrong was suspected. Mr. Howell went up through Mrs. Robb's house, crossed the roof and down through the attic into Mrs. Crocker's half of the double house. The odor was sickening. The police were notified and Coroner Dr. Robert Ferguson called. The latter stated that an inquest was not necessary, as the unfortunate woman had undoubtedly died from heart-failure. Dr. Schram attended her for heart trouble three months ago, but had not seen her since. Both doctors thought she had died some time during Wednesday night.

Mrs. Crocker was born in Scotland, and had no relatives in this country. She was married eight years ago. The body has been taken in charge by the Salvation Army.

MUNITIONS BOARD PRAISES SERVICE OF GRAND TRUNK

Sir Joseph Flavelle Expresses Appreciation of Company's Assistance.

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—The work of the imperial munitions board here is completed, and the chairman, Sir John Flavelle, has taken advantage of the occasion to express his great appreciation of the assistance given to the board by the entire operating staff of the Grand Trunk Railway system. In a message to Vice-President J. E. Dalrymple of the Grand Trunk, Sir Joseph alludes to the generous response met with in all cases during the war where the board asked the railway to give special consideration to the movement of its traffic. The chairman has also thanked Mr. Angus Gordon, manager of the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, for the courteous attention shown to the members of the staff of the munitions board who used the Chateau as their home during the past three years.

THE SONG.

What hushed my song, O Dreamer—
You who have looked on life?
It was just that one tired, discouraged day
You failed to let dreams have keeping sway—
This hushed your song, O Singer.

What hurt my song, O Dreamer—
You who know hurts of life?
It was when you loved unworthily,
One who laughed at songs so mockingly—
This hurt your song, O Singer.

How may I find my song, O Dreamer—
You who mourn for life's sweetness gone?
No beauty once loved is ever lost;
The Master Dreamer at such a cost
Keeps you your song, O Singer.

How may I keep my song, O Dreamer—
You who know all life's harmonies?
With a listening heart and reverent feet
To tread the ways that make life sweet—
Thus keep your song, O Singer.
—AMY E. CAMPBELL.

A Valuable Resource of Ontario

THE WEATHER.

Lower Lakes and Georgian Bay — Westerly gales and colder with snow-flurries.

Thirteen billion feet of natural gas were produced and consumed in Ontario last year. If used exclusively for cooking, this gas would have displaced artificial gas to the value of twenty-two million dollars at present prices. If used for heating purposes, it would have displaced seven and one-half million dollars' worth of anthracite coal. Yet this fuel cost the people of Ontario only a fraction of the value of the fuel it displaces. Be economical in your use of it, and so insure a supply for a long time to come.

Although Natural Gas Is Cheap, Do Not Waste It—the Supply Is Not Everlasting.

STRIKE SPREADING THROUGH GERMANY BECOMING GENERAL

Workers of 23 Towns in Thuringia Have Joined Movement.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 28.—The town of Erfurt, Prussian Saxony, is without electric light and street cars as a result of the general strike there, and the workers are demanding the immediate socialization of mines and factories and the recognition of the soldiers' and workmen's council, according to a dispatch from Berlin.

The soldiers' and workmen's council at Leipsic has declared a general strike.

The workers of 23 towns in Thuringia already have joined the strike movement there. The strike, it is declared, will not affect hospitals, waterworks and the food supply.

EX-KAISER APPEALS TO REVOLUTIONARY GOVT. TO GET MONEY

Entitled to 75,000,000 Marks —Will Get 600,000 For the Present.

WEIMAR, Thursday, Feb. 27.—The former German emperor, it is learned from competent sources, recently appealed to the German revolutionary government for money. It was said in his behalf that it was impossible for the former emperor to continue living on the bounty and good-will of the Dutch nobleman in whose castle he now resides.

The government, after considering the matter, agreed to the former ruler's request and instituted a detailed investigation to determine what portion of the former's supposed fortune really was his and what portion belonged to the government. Investigation showed that the former ruler might legally claim 75,000,000 marks as his own, but the government decided to allow him temporarily only 600,000 marks to meet present indebtedness and future expenditures.

FIRST CONTINGENT VET WITH DECORATIONS AND STRIPES IS WELCOMED

Upon arriving in England he was made lance-corporal and later corporal. At Langemarck he was promoted to the rank of quartermaster sergeant. At that battle he was awarded the Croix of the Legion of Honor which was presented to him by General Joffre. The other returned heroes are Sergt. W. L. Broughton, Sergt. W. Bissett, Sergt. J. R. Thompson, T. H. Beesley, B. Cook, W. A. Classen, Sapper A. J. Kilby and Sapper A. A. Brooke.

GERMAN GOVT. TROOPS OCCUPY HAMBURG TOWN

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 28.—German Government troops occupied the town of Hamburg, German Government troops yesterday occupied the town of Hamborn, in the Ruhr industrial region after a fight in which a number of Spartacans were killed. The Government troops captured 116 prisoners.

SMALL PARTY OF RETURNED MEN LEAVES QUEBEC

Delayed On Way From Halifax — Scotian Not Reported.

According to reports received by the returned soldiers' information bureau, twelve men who arrived at Halifax on the steamers Empress of Britain, left Quebec at 2:30 yesterday afternoon for district number one. As the main party of the men for this district arrived on Friday, this small party of men must have been delayed at the clearing station in Quebec.

The steamship Scotian, which should have docked on February 27 at St. John, N. B., has not yet docked. She is carrying 7 officers, 1 cadet and 200 other ranks.

The steamship Lapland, which docked at Halifax today, is carrying 9 officers and 200 other ranks for this district. The steamship Melita is to dock at St. Johns today. She is carrying 1 officer and 15 other ranks for this district.

SECRETARY SELECTED FOR SOCIAL SERVICE

Rev. T. D. McCullough, Presbyterian Pastor, Named For Position.

The secretary for the Social Service Council for London and Western Ontario has been at last appointed in the person of a minister of the presbyterian church, Rev. T. D. McCullough, who will be in the city on Monday to meet the members of the local social service council at the Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock. Mr. McCullough, who has been minister for several years of the Presbyterian church, Port Hope, is deeply interested in social service and had considerable experience along this line. Members of the provincial council consider Western Ontario fortunate in securing a secretary of such ability who will make his headquarters in London, looking after the work here and devoting time as well to extension of the activities throughout Western Ontario. During his ministry in Port Hope, he was for a length of time superintendent of Children's Aid Society work for the counties of Durham and Northumberland. Previous to going there, he was minister at Harriston.

AQUITANIA SPLITS AND SINKS A LARGE CANADIAN FREIGHTER

Steamer Lord Dufferin Sinks at New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—The Canadian freight steamship Lord Dufferin sank in 36 feet of water fifteen minutes after she had been rammed on the port quarter by the troopship Aquitania, off Liberty Island near quarantine late today. The stern of the freighter which was at anchor, was split to a depth of twenty feet.

One member of the Lord Dufferin's crew was killed in the collision, and several others injured, but not seriously. Twenty-seven of the crew of forty-four were taken off by the police patrol boat, but the others elected to remain on board their ship as the upper works were above water when she rested on the bottom.

The Aquitania was not damaged, and went on her way when it was found the crew of the freighter was in no danger. She brought in a large list of American soldiers from overseas. Hazy weather and a strong ebb tide were held responsible for the collision, say the officers of the Aquitania.

The Lord Dufferin was a vessel of 4,664 gross tons, built in 1898. She was bound to St. John, N. B.

Hear Mrs. Blair

Monday Afternoon at 3 o'Clock

Mrs. Margaret Josephine Blair, a member of the faculty of the University of Minnesota for 25 years in the domestic science department, needs no introduction to the ladies of London, as this will be her third annual engagement at this store.

That Mrs. Blair's lectures are of more than passing interest is demonstrated by the fact that on most every occasion many are unable to gain admission.

This new course of lectures will develop many new features in beauty of dress, health and home decorations, subjects which will prove both interesting and educational to every woman whose privilege it will be to hear these addresses next week.

Mrs. Blair is brought to London at the expense of this store, with no merchandise to exploit, nothing to offer, nothing to sell. The lectures and demonstrations are purely educational and free, and we invite everybody to take full advantage of this opportunity.

First lecture Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Third Floor.

PROPERTY THAT ESCAPES TAXES OVER 6 MILLION

Church Land Which Is Exempted Totals More Than Million.

The total value of the property in the city which is exempt from taxation is $6,426,336, according to a statement prepared by Assessment Commissioner Stephen Grant. Of this amount $1,123,200 is the value of the church property in the city. The exempted property held by the various churches is as follows: Catholic, $207,200; Anglican, $237,650; Baptist, $72,100; Congregational, $23,500; Jewish, $9,250; Methodist, $304,300; Presbyterian, $198,000; Salvation Army, $26,400; miscellaneous, $43,800.

Separate Schools.

The value of the separate schools in the city is placed at $98,900, while the public schools are valued at $1,245,100. Catholic institutions to the value of $377,470 are also exempted, as are nonsectarian institutions to the value of $186,600.

At the municipal elections in 1918 the citizens expressed their approval of the taxing of church property, but the Legislature refused to give its consent. If the churches were taxed the revenue would provide sufficient funds to lower the general rate by seven mills, basing the rate on 30 mills. Ald. O. C. Keene, at the meeting of No. 1 committee recently, expressed the opinion that if all the people gave to the churches as they should, the churches would have no objection to paying all taxes. Thus it appears that the liberal giver to the church is caught both ways.

City Clerk S. Baker said that there was no move in civic circles at present to place the question before the Legislature again.

DUNDAS PRIMARY DEPT. HELD ANNUAL AT HOME

The Dundas Centre Methodist Church primary department held its annual "At Home" yesterday in the Sunday school room. A large number of children were present, and an enjoyable time was spent in games and music. Miss Isabel Armstrong gave an address to the mothers on the advisability of more playgrounds and also the needs of the children along other lines. Miss Armstrong was given a vote of thanks for her interesting address. Mrs. Leonard Tait and her assistants deserved much praise on the success of the afternoon. Refreshments were also served. The delightful program included the following: Cornet solo by Master Charles McCarthy, while Miss Lillian McCarthy acted as accompanist. Mrs. William Wortman rendered a solo. Two dialogues were given; the first one was taken part in by Fred Jones, Ross McNaughton, Tom Harrison and Irvin and Wilfrid Donaghy, while the second one included Anna Stone, Della Winnett, Dorothy and Margaret Kidd, Alan McNaughton and Fred Jones. Those who gave recitations or songs were: Almond Cahill, John Beal, Ada Pescott, Alan and Ross McNaughton, Margaret and Dorothy Kidd, Anna and Fred Stone, Della Winnett, Anna Grant, Lucy Downham, Wilfrid Donaghy, Mary Stewart, Francis and Jean Gibson and Harry Banks.

PRIVATE FOUND GUILTY OF DESERTING FORCES

Pte. Samuel Morrison, formerly of the W. O. R., appeared yesterday afternoon before a district court-martial at Wolseley Barracks on a charge of desertion and was found guilty. Morrison was drafted under the M. S. A., and enrolled in the W. O. R., but served only a short time before deserting. He was arrested several days ago at his home at Glanworth and sent to Carling Heights, where he is now in the charge of the C. G. R. pending the promulgation of the court's sentence.

Two other cases were ordered for trial yesterday, but these were adjourned in order that witnesses, not at the time available, might be called. The hearings will proceed on Wednesday morning.

PARLIAMENTARY CONCERT ADDRESSED BY MAYOR

A parliamentary concert was held in the Alexandra Public School yesterday afternoon. Mayor C. R. Somerville gave the youthful rulers a timely address regarding the city's parliament, comparing it to the Canadian Parliament. Millard Grant gave an interesting address to his schoolmates, "How To Be Successful Boys and Girls." Jack Jones gave an address on the "Life and Work of Sir Arthur Currie and His Rise to Fame." Miss Verda Heath, who was president, occupied the chair. Other members of the program included violin solo, Fred Lindsay; Scotch dance, Dorothy Hart; solo, Gwendolyn Lane; violin solo, Dorothy Cahill. Miss Helen Walton and Miss Dorothy Cahill acted as accompanists during the afternoon.

The National Anthem brought to a close a most successful parliamentary concert.

HELPS FOR THE HOME.—The Protestant Orphans Home reports that they have received a check for $40 from Major R. Emmerton. This money is part of the commission that was received through the sale of Victory bonds at military headquarters. They also received a case of food from the street railway which was not used at the dance last evening.

LABOR SITUATION ON ADRIATIC COAST ARE TO BE INVESTIGATED

Officers of High Rank Dispatched to District by Peace Conference.

Paris, March 1.—Officers of high rank are being sent by the peace conference to the eastern Adriatic coast to examine the situation there. A number of ships on this coast have been unable for many weeks to unload their cargoes of food and supplies intended for the relief of the inhabitants in the interior of the country. The excuse of the local authorities that the trouble is due to lack of labor to handle the cargoes, if sustained by the examination, will be immediately met with curative measures, as it is considered that hunger conditions are the prime incentive of Bolshevism and of hostile collisions between the Italians and Jugo-Slavs.

LOCAL NEWS

TRUSTEES TO MEET.—The regular meeting of the trustees of the Protestant Orphans' Home will be held at the home at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon.

CHARLES PERCY BETTER.—Charles Percy, organist at St. James' Anglican Church, South London, who has been ill since before Christmas, will take his place at the organ again on Sunday.

AT FIRST METHODIST.—At First Methodist Church Sunday the Rev. Dr. Peever will preach on the first sentence of the Lord's Prayer in the morning, and at night he will deal with "Victory Out of Defeat" as shown in the parable of the Prodigal Son.

SACRED CANTATA.—Tomorrow evening at Dundas Centre Church the choir, with Miss Lila M. Thomson and Bert Howcroft, soloists, will present the cantata "Forty-second Psalm," by Mendelssohn. Rev. Mr. Pescott will give a short address.

A NEW CITIZEN.—Nox Fleishman, 181 Clarence street, has made application for naturalization papers. He is a native of Pinsk, Russia, where he resided until July, 1913. He came to this city via Libau and London, England, arriving here in August, 1913.

RIVER IS RISING.—Today the Thames reached the highest point that it has for several months, as a result of the ice breaking last night and a jam forming at the forks. The water in both branches of the river is rising rapidly, but so far no damage has been done.

OPENS NEW BOOK.—Police Court Clerk John Moule started in on a new record book today, John Brown having the honor of starting it off. The last book commenced April 1, 1916, and contained 7,559 names of London citizens who had strayed from the paths of law and order.

TEAMSTERS MEET.—The Teamsters' Association held a meeting last night in the Woodmen of the World offices, but owing to bad weather, only a few were present. It was decided to hold a special meeting on Friday, March 7. Notices are being sent to members, stating that the meeting will be of an important nature.

WEEKLY HIGH COURT.—In the weekly high court, held at the court house this morning, and at which Hon. Mr. Justice Logie presided, a report of the local master at London, in the case of Harriet McCann, was confirmed and adopted. The report presented a plan for maintenance, nursing and payment of debts. P. H. Bartlett for the applicant.

FILMED LOCAL LIGHTS.—Brian Irish, camera man for the Pathe weekly, was in the city Friday and secured a number of London notables and subjects to be included in the films to be shown in a few weeks. Brigadier-General Shannon, and the headquarters staff, as well as the soldiers now at Carling Heights were taken in animation.

CONVERT WILL SPEAK.—Rev. Henry Singer, a converted Jew, of Toronto, is spending the week-end in the city, and will preach in the Wellington Street Methodist Church on Sunday evening. Rev. Mr. Singer is the secretary of the International Jewish Missions, and is an eloquent speaker. The pastor, Rev. W. J. Ashton, will have charge of the service and conduct a brief song service.

33RD COMRADES CONCERT.—The 33rd comrades' benefit at the Patricia Theatre at 8:15 Sunday evening promises to be a real treat. The G. W. V. A. Military Band will be assisted by six well-known vocalists, and Lieut.-Col. Rance will give a short address. To avoid the usual crowding juveniles will not be admitted tomorrow night. A silver collection will be taken up at the door.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS GOOD.—Bradstreet's report of commercial conditions here, says that generally they are not unfavorable, although there is some dullness apparent. The unseasonable weather has rather unsettled winter business, and spring trade has not started with any great degree of activity as yet. Prospects for spring, however, are thought to be encouraging in most lines. Collections have been slow in February.

REV. MR. PEDLEY TO PREACH.—Rev. J. W. Pedley, former pastor of the First Congregational Church, will occupy that pulpit again tomorrow, after a successful pastorate of nearly twenty years at the Western Congregational Church, Toronto. Mr. Pedley, who is well-known in bowling circles, accompanied the Canadian bowlers as chaplain on their last visit to the old country, adding in no small manner to the pleasure of that trip.

MRS. GILMAN'S LECTURES.—One of America's most distinguished women will be a visitor to London next week, when Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman comes for a course of three lectures under the joint auspices of the Women's Canadian Club and the extension committee of Western University. On Monday afternoon at 4:30 at the Auditorium Mrs. Gilman will speak on "Our Brains and What Ails Them," on Monday evening at 8:15 on "The Years That Cripple Us," and on Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 on "What Schools Should Be." All these lectures are open free to the public, and a large attendance is looked for.

BOX SOCIAL GREAT SUCCESS.—The A. Y. P. A. of St. George's Church, Ilderton, held their annual box social on Wednesday evening, February 26, at the home of T. H. Martin. An interesting program, one of the main features of which was a humorous debate, "Resolved, that Bachelorhood is Preferable to Matrimony," was given. There were also solos by Miss O. Shaddock, violin selections by Messrs. M. Charlton and R. Robson, readings by Mrs. J. Freeborn and Miss Betty Freeborn, and solos, duets and quartets by members of the choir. The decision of the debate was given in favor of the affirmative. The social was well attended, an enjoyable time being spent by all. The amount realized was $52.

RUN ON DRESS SUITS.—Dress suits, being the order of the evening on Friday on account of several big social functions being held, the men's furnishing stores opened this morning with a much-depleted stock of dress suits and evening apparel. "It kept us busy yesterday trying to outfit some of the young men. We did our best, although towards the end of the day our stock was very low," said a manager of one of the men's furnishing stores. "Some of these stores had not been prepared for such a rush business and consequently, could not fit all the youths of various sizes who called upon them. Now that the citizens have emerged into social activities once more, it will be necessary for them to stock up in the line of evening togs.

CITY'S PHONE SYSTEM NOT SATISFACTORY, IS REPORT OF EMPLOYEES

Bell Company Will Be Asked To Bring About Improvement.

As a result of the criticisms directed toward the telephone exchange in the public utilities building the Bell Telephone Company has been asked to make a report on the feasibility of improving the system. Although Assistant Manager A. O. Hunt of the commission says that the public is better served by the exchange than it was when the telephones were connected direct to the central, there is something radically wrong with the system, according to the statement of the employees of the city hall. At a recent meeting of No. 2 committee of the council City Clerk S. Baker suggested that his telephone should be connected direct. He could not get good service under the present system. Several of the aldermen agreed that the system could be greatly improved.

Where Is the Trouble?

City Clerk S. Baker says that one of the difficulties is that the girl at the switch board pays particular attention to the wants and needs of the utilities building first. Thus, he asserts, if she is listening to a long complaint or a query for information, and there is no one to whom she can refer the call, she does not answer any calls on the board until the customer at the other end of the line has finished. This tries the patience of some of the city hall habitues.

Assistant Manager Hunt says that the only question about the exchange is the fact that it takes a few seconds longer to get central than if the phones were all connected direct. That the public is better served by the present system he has no doubt. He points out that if any customer calls for a change of meter or anything in reference to the department there is no delay getting in touch with the proper official.

"If the Bell Telephone Company can show us where we can increase the efficiency of the system in any way we are only too pleased to act on the suggestions," said he, regarding the question.

EX-POLICE OFFICIAL OF LOCAL FORCE DIES

The death occurred at Victoria Hospital this morning of John Morgan, ex-police sergeant of the local force, after a lingering illness.

He was born in Ireland, and for some time was attached to a police force in England. He was on the local force here for 25 years, but retired fifteen years ago.

He is survived by one son, William H. and two daughters—Mrs. Parkinson and Mrs. C. Nickle, all of this city, and one brother, Rev. H. Morgan of Fenton, Mich. His first wife died seven years ago.

The funeral will be held from the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Parkinson, 259 Hill street, on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to Woodland Cemetery. Rev. Canon C. R. Gunne will conduct the services.

THIEVES LOOT WINDOW OF RINGS SECOND TIME

Three years ago the plate glass window in the pawnbroker shop of Julius Siskind on Richmond street was broken and a quantity of rings taken. The window was puttied up and otherwise repaired. Last night it was broken again and once more a number of rings were stolen. It is likely that Mr. Siskind will put in a brand new window. The police are investigating.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

JEANETTE BROWN DEAD.

The death occurred this morning in Lobo of Miss Jeanette Brown, an old resident of that district, in her 65th year. She is survived by two sisters, Miss Mary and Miss Bessie, with whom she lived.

The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock to Ivan Cemetery from the family residence.

FUNERAL OF ALEXANDER DOUGLAS.

The funeral of Alexander Douglas was held from the family residence, 67 Thornton avenue at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Interment was made in Kintore Cemetery. Rev. James McKay of New St. James church conducted the services.

MRS. MARION CROCKER BURIED.

The funeral of Mrs. Marion Crocker, who was found dead at her home, 371 Dundas street, yesterday afternoon, was held this afternoon, at 1 o'clock, from the undertaking parlors of John Ferguson's Sons to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Rev. Canon C. R. Gunne conducted the services.

BURIAL OF MRS. MOORE.

The funeral of Mrs. Rose Moore who died at St. Joseph's Hospital on Thursday, was held from the family residence, 29 Wyatt street at 8:30 o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral, where high mass was sung by Rev. Father A. Finn at nine o'clock. Interment was made in St. Peter's Cemetery.

The pall-bearers were G. Pocock, S. Pocock, E. A. Pocock, J. Griffin, G. La France and J. Knuckle.

SIR SAM IN DETROIT.—Sir Sam Hughes passed through the city today on his way to Detroit, where he is to give an address this afternoon at the War Exposition.

NO UNION SCHOOL.—School Section No. 6, Biddulph and the village of Lucan, will not be joined to form a union school section. This was the decision of the arbitration board, consisting of County Treasurer Capt. T. E. Robson, Charles McPhee of Appin and Richard Trueman, Strathroy, which met for the purpose of deciding whether the union would be made or not. There were petitions from those wishing the union and from those against it.

OLD MAN MARCH RAN TRUE TO FORM WITH HIS 1919 ENTRANCE

Melting Zephyrs, Torrential Rains, Thunderstorms, Snow, Frost and Sweeping Variation in Temperature Are Served Up Within Twenty-Four Hours' Time.

"Woo-o-of! Little pig, little pig, let me in. If you don't, I'll huff and I'll puff and I'll puff and I'll huff and I'll blow your house in."

It was that blustering, boisterous, wild and woolly man, Mr. March, who arrived in town from Medicine Hat on February 28, bringing in his carpet bag a variety of weathers which made the original "57" look poor, insignificant and lacking in resourcefulness.

Mr. Wild Man March behaved like a fairly civilized citizen until he got his bearings, and Miss February properly ousted. To be sure, he glowered a bit during the forenoon and used his bellows in a more or less playful fashion. By noonday, he might have been a kindly, benevolent, warm-hearted old gentleman, so mellow was his mood, so radiant his smile.

Suddenly Peevish.

His good humor kept up until the latter part of the afternoon, then for no reason at all but his uncertainness of disposition, he started to frown. The scowl grew deeper and darker and there befell an ominous calm. Mr. March was busy selecting the most startling varieties of tricks from his kit bag. Six thirty o'clock and all was well, then zip! One of those star shells exploded high up in the sky, causing people to jump and blink and see if the tops of their heads were still fastened on properly.

More fireworks and artillery, then Mr. March Man was off with a leap and a howl and a growl, whipping the branches of the trees, shrieking, raving, dashing bucketsful of rain and hail on the window panes, rattling windows, banging doors, tearing at chimneys, trying with might and main to demolish whatever stood in his track. In wonder poor, frightened Miss February had abdicated!

"Woof! I'll huff and I'll puff and I'll blow your house in," he shouted, as he blew a big blast from his bellows with a mighty blast that seemed to rock houses to their foundations.

Down She Came.

Then Mr. March Man changed his tactics. Climbing up on the roof of things, he proceeded to turn on a whole battery of hose apparatus till people out without umbrellas scurried like drenched rats for shelter, and those who had umbrellas and were obliged to be out, wrestled with the elements and juggled to prevent streams of water from trickling down their necks.

After this heated outburst of temper, Mr. March Man gave still another demonstration of his astonishing versatility. Mounting his high horse, he presented to the world a cold, dignified and unbending exterior. So frosty became the atmosphere in his vicinity that the rills and pondlets on the streets congealed to skating rinks, and the unwary walking thereon late at night slithered and fell by the wayside.

"Some" Variation.

Was Mr. March Man actually as variable as he appeared? According to Miss Meteorological Bureau, he was dispensing summer zephyrs at noon at 53 degrees in the shade. Before midnight, he had pushed the mercury down in the tube 33 degrees. In other words, the thermometer stood at 20 degrees. Through the night he gave a still further demonstration of his ability at packing mercury, setting the figures down to 18 degrees. At 8 o'clock this morning, the thermometer had gone up to 22 degrees, and the barometer indicated cold and clear. But still, Mr. March Man is amusing himself today, the first to which he is really entitled, playing the tricks, coming around a corner with a whoop and a bang and sweeping away empty baskets, while the owner on the way to market is intent upon watching for a street car. Mr. Owner discovers what that mad March wind has been doing and starts in pursuit, only to trip up on one of those treacherous ice patches and lose his hat into the bargain. Making people's eyes water is another of March Man's pet diversion, but he hasn't shown any indication so far this forenoon to huff and to puff and to blow chimneys down and blow houses in.

An Even-Tempered February.

How much rain fell last night? Just .035 inches before 8 o'clock, and only .017 by this morning, though anyone who was out in that soaky rain had good reason to believe it was a second edition of the original deluge.

February, 1919, which has just been elbowed out by the wild Mr. March proved by far the most even-tempered February in years. The very lowest temperature for the month was 8 above on February 19, and the highest 53 above yesterday. The lowest temperature of the whole winter in fact, has just been zero. A year ago in February, the thermometer went down to 21 below, on February 5, reaching 50 above on the February 20, 1917, the coldest day came on the 12th, 18 degrees below zero, and the highest temperature on the 26th of the month, 45 degrees above. The total rainfall for the month just closed was 1.17 inches, as compared with 2.44 inches for February, 1918. The snowfall has been remarkably light for February this year compared with a year ago, February, 1918, it amounted to 18¾ inches, and this past month only 11¾ inches.

APPOINT COMMITTEES ON SPECIAL SERVICE

Chamber of Commerce Will Be Active Along Many Lines.

Several committees of the London Chamber of Commerce have been named for special service by the committee on committees during the past week, three new appointments being made to the committee on committees, by the way, to take the places of J. H. Laughton and Lieut.-Col. W. G. Coles, who have been appointed directors, and Rev. H. H. Bingham, who has left the city. KEEP YOUR CARDS; GOOD WHEN CASHING A CHECK

Canada registration cards are now being used for purposes other than that for which they were originally intended. Many banks and other financial institutions will consider them for identification purposes, thus saving the customer the trouble of getting someone to identify him.

F. B. Clarke, local steamship ticket agent, has many times made use of registration cards in this way. A few days ago a man from California came to his office to cash a $1,000 bond. The man did not know anyone in the city, so he could not be identified by that means.

"Have you a Canada registration card?" asked Mr. Clarke. The Californian had. Mr. Clarke looked at it, and then satisfied as to the man's identity, gave him the money.

DEEPEN SPIRITUAL LIFE BY FORWARD MOVEMENT

A series of meetings in King Street Presbyterian Church, to present to the members of the Forward Movement of the Presbyterian Church in Canada was brought to a close Friday evening with a joint Forward Movement meeting and service preparatory to communion. Rev. A. J. MacGillivray of Knox Church, St. Thomas, was the speaker and at the close a dozen or so new members were received into the church. The minister of King Street Church, Rev W. R. McIntosh, states that the series of meetings to present the Forward Movement in a way to give to the congregation a broad vision of service was arranged with the idea that it might prove quite as effectual in deepening spiritual life of the people as regular evangelistic services. He believes that this has proved the case.

DECIDE IN FAVOR OF INDEPENDENT PARTY

Halifax, March 1.—The labor conference yesterday decided in favor of an independent labor party for Nova Scotia and for a federation of the labor unions of this province. The delegates also pronounced in favor of a labor newspaper, to be a weekly at first, and ultimately a daily.

TIMMINS DAMSEL HAS BEEN WHISKED AWAY

Alleged Daughter of Millionaire Has Left City.

She is gone, and who took her? Chief of Police W. T. T. Williams will not divulge the identity of the party or parties that escorted the pretty flaxen-haired damsel, arrested as a vagrant late Sunday night by the police, to the train today.

"The girl who had many admirers, and is alleged to have broken up one home in Woodstock, wept in court last Monday and stated that she wanted to go home to her parents in Timmins, Ont. Her father, it is said, is a millionaire mine owner of that town. Chief Williams absolutely refused to tell who took the young girl from the city back to the Northern Ontario mining town.

MANUFACTURERS ARE INVITED TO ATTEND OTTAWA MEETINGS

Object of Conferences Is to Organize for Overseas Trade.

Ottawa, March 1.—The Canadian trade commission has issued invitations to manufacturers to attend conferences at Ottawa for the purpose of forming groups through which information secured by the commission may be communicated to the trades. Much of the business to be secured at the present time in Europe is of an urgent character, and it has been found necessary to organize in the manner indicated so that information coming to the commission may be made immediately available to all concerned. Any manufacturer or exporter who has not received an invitation, but who wishes to attend the conference is invited. The date of the first meeting for the agricultural machinery industry is Wednesday, March 15, at 10:30 a.m. The dates for the other meetings will be announced later.

KOREAN PEOPLE ASK PRESIDENT WILSON TO TAKE UP CASE

Appeal Is Made to Have Peace Conference Better Conditions.

Peking, Feb. 28.—The members of the "independence committee" representing the Korean people living in China, have presented to the American minister a petition asking that the United States Government intercede with the peace conference in behalf of the Korean people. The document says:

"Following the violent seizure of Korea by Japan, the Korean people were nearly exterminated. Now, by the grace of God, the European war has been ended and the powerful monster has been destroyed. The president of your country, upholding human rights, has declared that peoples have the right of self-determination. From the depth of their bitterness the Korean people look to him with sincere gratitude and beg your excellency to convey to your Government our prayers that the peace conference take up the problem of bettering the condition of our voiceless nation, containing two million oppressed people."

KITCHENER YOUTHS GUILTY OF HOLD-UP; REMANDED ONE WEEK

When Arrested Had Cartridge Belts Full of 48-Calibre Bullets.

KITCHENER, Feb. 28.—Charged with attempting highway robbery on Weber street east here, two 17-year-old would-be bandits pleaded guilty in police court this morning, and were remanded for a week.

A. J. Lehman, a local baggage deliveryman, was the victim of the hold-up. The boys were armed with 48-calibre revolvers, and fired one shot at Lehman before seeking their hiding place. When arrested John Sauer and William Beckotim were wearing cartridge belts containing a full supply of 48-calibre bullets.

VICTORIA HOSPITAL PROBATIONER DIES

Miss Maud Hunter Succumbs to Attack of Influenza.

Miss Maud Evelyn Hunter, a probationer at Victoria Hospital, died this afternoon in that institution after a short illness from Spanish influenza. Miss Hunter had not been on duty in the influenza ward. She entered the hospital in January, coming from Verschoyle, where her mother resides. Her mother and sister were with her at the time of her death. Miss Hunter's grandfather is being buried today in Ingersoll. The arrangements for her funeral have not yet been completed.

SAYINGS AND DOINGS AROUND CITY HALL

SUNDAY CARS?

Sunday cars to Springbank this summer will depend on the action of the Legislature with a private bill which City Solicitor T. G. Meredith has prepared for Sir Adam Beck. It was the intention of the council to place the question in the city of London bill, but City Solicitor Meredith decided that it should be dealt with in a private bill.

When the question of the Broughdale extension was placed before the Legislature it was taken up by the county representative.

NO NEW FIRE HALL.

The possibilities of a new building for a central fire hall are rather remote at present, according to the opinion of some of the city hall members. While the present hall was pronounced the finest in the land some five or six years ago, the aldermen now say that it is not in good condition, and that a new building should be erected.

ACADEMY OF MEDICINE.

Ald. L. S. Holmes, president of the Academy of Medicine, has called a meeting of the members for this afternoon. Among the questions for discussion is that of arranging for bringing to London one prominent specialist each month for clinics, lectures, and demonstrations.

VITAL STATISTICS.

According to the vital statistics the net increase in the population of the city during February was nine. There were 69 births and 78 deaths registered at the city hall. The number of marriages was 39. There was a net decrease of one in the population for the corresponding period of last year, when the number of births was 109, and the number of deaths was 110. During the same period there were 38 marriages.

MUNICH CONGRESS

ALLIED GUNBOATS SENT TO SCENES OF SPARTACAN RIOTS

Mayence, March 1.—Two gunboats of the allied Rhine fleet have steamed up the river from Mayence for Ludwigshafen, south of Mannheim, where they will be stationed indefinitely owing to the recent Spartacan uprising at Mannheim. There are many French soldiers in Ludwigshafen, but, according to reports, their commanders have no intention of sending troops to Mannheim under the present circumstances, as Mannheim is within the neutral zone.

WEIMAR MAY BE CUT OFF FROM THE REST OF GERMANY

Weimar, Thursday, Feb. 27.—Although the Government has officially announced it is not worried by the strike situation at Halle and Leipzic and expects soon to see the end of the trouble, a member of the national assembly said today that "he sees a black future." Even if the strike at Halle has not been given official recognition there are strikers at other places where there are no Government troops. The strikers have declared they would encircle Weimar and cut it off, as far as possible, from the rest of Germany. They have partially accomplished this purpose by delaying and to some degree stopping the mail trains. But for the aerial post, which is functioning well, the mails would be in bad shape.

FURTHER DISORDERS FEARED AT MUNICH; TROOPS ON GUARD

Berlin, Thursday, Feb. 27.—Labor unions at Munich have placarded the city with appeals to workmen to maintain order and disregard any call for an armed demonstration, it being declared that radical measures are being urged only by a handful of extremists, according to dispatches received here.

Schools at Munich were closed and the pupils were sent home this morning because disorders were feared. Cordons of troops are stationed about the building where the Soviet Gongress is meeting, and streets near it are closed by armed forces.

NEW COMPANY WILL DRILL FOR OIL IN THE KENT DISTRICT

Have Taken Over Number of Leases in Bothwell Field.

CHATHAM, Feb. 28.—Lieut. Elmer Heath, who has been many months a prisoner of war in Germany arrived here today on his way home to Wallaceburg. Pte. Lou McCall who went overseas as a lieutenant and signalling officer of the 241st Kiltie Battalion, and reverted in rank to get to France, and later was wounded and gassed, was also in the party. Others were Ptes. Dorseau, Craig, Element and Gill of Chatham; Gardener and Daly of Blenheim. Pte. Taylor arrived on an earlier train.

Chairman E. S. Estlin and members of the natural gas advisory committee spent yesterday in Windsor, where the gas situation was discussed with public men. Considerable data was secured which will be part of the report of the board to the Government. This report will be forwarded within a few days.

Deputy Fire Marshal Pointore of Toronto was in the city in connection with the fire which swept the Lennox & Son garage and shop. While here he inspected the fire department equipment, and complimented Chatham on the new LaFrance truck put into service last fall. He suggested that the city should purchase a combination hose, chemical and pumping outfit to replace the horse-drawn hose wagon. The fire engine may be sold and a runabout purchased for Chief Pritchard.

A new company, known as the Bothwell Oil Company, Limited, has been formed with a capital of $400,000, and has taken over a number of leases in the old Bothwell field, among them being the Fairbanks property. Some drilling is to be done. Some Chatham and Toronto capital is invested in the new company, which already has a number of producing wells.

HOMES CHANGE HANDS.

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 28.—E. H. Flach, jeweler, has purchased the late home of Donald Fraser, liquor vendor of Windsor, formerly of this city. Mr. Flach has disposed of his own home in Hincks street to Thomas Leahy, Wabash train dispatcher.

WOULD SET STANDARD FOR MOTOR TRUCKS

Dominion Good Roads Association Likely To Favor Proposal.

That the Dominion Good Roads Association possibly will urge the standardization of motor trucks at its next meeting, which will be held in Quebec some time in May, is the opinion of City Engineer H. A. Brazier, who has just returned from the American good roads convention, which was held in New York this week.

The latter body recommended that a maximum weight of 28,000 pounds and a speed of fifteen miles an hour be set for motor trucks. This was passed on to the resolutions committee and, if approved by that committee, the state highways departments will be asked to take steps towards passing legislation to this effect.

Mr. Brazier says that the question will come before the Dominion Association, and he anticipates that body will take action along similar lines. Other questions concerning the building and maintenance of roads were discussed at the convention in New York.

LITHUANIANS REFUSE BOLSHEVIK REQUEST TO CEASE FIGHTING

Several Towns Are Captured in Advance by Lithuanian Troops.

Stockholm, March 1.—Lithuanian troops, closely pursuing Bolshevik forces, have passed the line of Schaulen, Sjeduva, Vieves and Varena, which towns are in Lithuanian hands, according to advices received here from Kovno. Lithuanian advance forces have reached Toakti, about thirteen miles east of Vilna. Owing to their defeat, the Bolsheviki have requested a suspension of hostilities, but the Lithuanians have refused, it is reported.

DR. J. M. HARPER DIES IN QUEBEC

Well-Known Canadian Author Succumbs to Street Car Injuries.

Quebec, March 1.—Dr. J. H. Harper, the well-known Canadian educationist and author, died here at 9:30 o'clock last night as a result of having been struck by a street car about 8 o'clock Dr. Harper, who was born in Scotland in 1845, was education in his native land, as well as at Queen's University, Kingston and at Illinois University. He was the author of a large number of educational and historical works, as well as poetry. P. M. WILL NOT MOVE TERMINAL, SAY OFFICIALS

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 28.—Pere Marquette officials say there is nothing in the report that the company would shortly remove the local terminal to Blenheim. The officials believe that a saving could be effected by a change but as to the removal of the terminal from this city local heads state that nothing of this kind has been considered at any time. The story is believed to have originated among the men who in handling trains are tied up at Blenheim. R. S. Black, trainmaster, stated tonight that nothing has been thought of such a move, and it has never been discussed.

WEST HAS ONE TARIFF OPINION, VIZ.: REDUCTION

Premier Martin of Saskatchewan Says He Was Not Approached re Leadership.

STRATFORD, Feb. 28.—Premier W. M. Martin of Saskatchewan passed through the city tooday en route from Mitchell, where he had been visiting relatives. He was on his way to Regina. He attended the funeral of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Premier Martin's name had been mentioned as a possible successor to Sir Wilfrid Laurier as Liberal leader at Ottawa. Queried in this connection, he said: "I was never approached on the subject at all. Provincial politics are good enough for me."

There was only one opinion in the west on the question of tariff, he said, and that was for a general reduction.

LEE-ENFIELD SHORT MAGAZINE RIFLE TO BE USED AT BISLEY

Competition Will Be Open to Anyone Serving in the Empire's Forces.

London, March 1.—It was announced at the meeting of the Rifle Association committee about to draw up a scheme of prize regulations for the Bisley meet which is to be held between July 14 and 26, that although it will probably not last a whole fortnight, the King's prize will be given as usual. The rifle to be employed will be the short magazine Lee Enfield. With the range not exceeding 600 yards the competition will probably be in two stages, open to anyone serving in the empire forces.

PRESENTATION FOR RETIRING MEMBER OF POSTOFFICE STAFF

Jas. P. Murray Given Address and Club Bag by Inspector's Staff.

As a slight token of the esteem in which he is held by his associates, James P. Murray was yesterday presented with a handsome club-bag by the members of the postoffice inspector's staff, on the occasion of his retiring from the service.

Before the presentation, Col. C. E. H. Fisher, postoffice inspector for this district, read an address, in which kindly reference was made to the excellent work and faithful service of Mr. Murray, who has been connected with the department for 34 years. Sincere regret was also expressed at his leaving those with whom he had been associated for so many years.

Assistant Inspector F. W. Matthews made the presentation. Mr. Murray, whose retirement has become necessary owing to ill-health, was completely surprised, but replied feelingly, thanking those present and expressing his regret at parting company with them.

The other members of the staff also spoke of the regret they felt at his departure.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DECIDES TO SEND REPRESENTATIVES TO OTTAWA TO HELP ALONG FEDERAL SQUARE

Col. Coles and Mayor Somerville Advance Views on Federal Square and Spencer Site For London's New City Hall.

What the Chamber of Commerce did:

Threshed out the question of Federal Square vs. Spencer Block site for city hall.

Decided to send deputation to wait on Government re Federal Square proposition.

Passed resolution indorsing mothers' allowances or pensions.

Passed resolution petitioning the Government to make up for the widow of a British reservist resident in Canada at the outbreak of the war the difference between the imperial pension received by her and the pension of the widow of a Canadian soldier.

The people who turned out to the Chamber of Commerce membership meeting in the storm which raged between 7:30 and 9 o'clock last night were deeply interested in the subject of the Federal Square, otherwise they would have stayed indoors. The outrageous weather warranted such a conclusion, which was borne out by the enthusiastic manner in which the leaders in the discussion, Lieut.-Col. W. G. Coles, and His Worship Mayor Somerville were supported by the champions of their respective schemes.

Col. Coles' Stand.

Introduced by the chairman of the forum meeting, C. R. May, by the now familiar title, "Father of the Federal Square Scheme," Lieut.-Col. Coles was accorded the privilege of opening the discussion and presenting first his array of arguments why the city should adhere to its original plan of building the new city hall on the federal square property, purchased for the purpose. In any case, he insisted that since the citizens had on two occasions indorsed by their vote the federal square scheme it is their right to express their will in the matter before the council can take any steps in regard to erecting a city hall, municipal offices or whatever they may be called, on the Spencer Block or any other site. Col. Coles claimed that there is a principle involved, and that it is one and the same thing as if the council decided to erect the new city hall at Adelaide street or in London West. The time is past, he insisted, when any council should be able to get around such a question of such vital importance by putting it in the city of London bill.

Among those who heartily indorsed this view were John Cottam, J. K. Harris and Max Lerner.

Case Against Government.

Reviewing in detail the negotiations which had been carried on with Sir Sam Hughes, minister of militia, Hon. Robert Rogers, minister of public works, and other representatives of the Government in 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914 and 1915, Col. Coles quoted from letters, which, he stated, constituted in his opinion indisputable evidence that the Government had entered into a pact with the city re the Federal Square proposition. In one letter quoted, the city was advised to buy the property, hand the deed over to the Government, and the Government would pay over the money to that amount.

Col. Coles was sure the present Government will recognize its obligation in the matter to the extent indicated in the letters in his possession.

$202,250 Already Spent.

As a matter of economy, he urged building on the Federal Square, on which the sum of $202,250 has already been expended. He didn't see any necessity for rushing this year into the erection of a city hall which must stand for years to come as a monument to the extent of their vision, their appreciation of the beautiful and far-sightedness in providing for the life. He would build a city hall that would serve the city for 50, 75, 100 years to come, if need be. The vision and bigness of the city builders of the fifties of last century were extolled. visions of such men as the father of Sir S. S. Hyman, Sir John Carling, James Egan—men who saw through the erection of London's first city hall at a cost of $75,000, when the population numbered some 9,000. Those were the days when the Tecumseh House, the London and Port Stanley Railway and other monuments to large vision were built. Later, men of vision fathered the waterworks scheme, which would voted down when first submitted to the people, because they were satisfied with their wells.

Further, Col. Coles wanted a nice city hall while he is alive, and not the future take care of the expense.

Wants Businesslike Hall.

Explaining his support of the Spencer Block as the site for a municipal building, Mayor C. R. Somerville declared that what is wanted is not a mammoth building with huge corridors, necessitating the services of a guide. His desire is that London needs a sensible, businesslike municipal building to house city offices, and needs it right away. Such a building should not be for show, but definitely for the transactions of business. While he had voted at least once for the Federal Square plan, he emphasized the point that conditions are entirely changed since it was brought forward and indorsed.

Moreover, he insisted that new office buildings to transact the city's business are needed immediately. If the present building being used were anything but a "city hall," it would have been condemned long ago as insanitary, lacking in proper light and ventilation, etc. Far from being fit for office buildings, "it isn't fit for a factory," he declared.

No Pact With City.

Further, he couldn't see where the Government had made any pact with the city. The letters which Col. Coles had read, he stated, with the exception of one, were not duplicated by copies in the possession of the city. If the correspondence were personal, then there was no agreement with the city.

Col. Coles replied to this that he had resigned from the board of control in 1914 to go to the war, leaving word that all the correspondence was in a tin box all the correspondence was in a tin box at his safe, available for the use of the city at any time. Since coming back, he had not been approached in any way on the subject. Referred to in the press at all times as "The Father of Federal Square Scheme," it made him feel like a cancelled postage stamp.

Mayor Somerville was very skeptical about success in collecting from the Government. Counting taxes, he stated that the Federal Square had already cost the city more like $300,000. He proposed, however, urging the Government to go 50-50 on this when the deputation from the city goes down next week to interview the Government re the Federal Square.

Would Cost Million.

Humorous reference was made to the cut of the proposed city hall on the Federal Square appearing in this month's issue of the chamber of commerce bulletin. Such a building, he stated, would cost in the neighborhood of a million dollars. It would do honor to New York, Old London, Paris, Vienna, but is beyond the financial status of London in Canada.

Col. Coles answered that a prominent Montreal architect had sketched out the plan before the war. The estimated cost was then $400,000. He admitted it would possibly be double now.

Mayor Somerville saw thousands of soldiers drilling in the park in front of the building in the picture. Where would there be room for it? Col. Coles replied that the picture showed the back, facing King street, and not the front, and that there wasn't more than half a platoon, about a hundred soldiers showing.

In connection with the federal square proposition Col. Coles reviewed past history re the McCormick Manufacturing Company, which, he stated, had been induced to stay in London through the efforts of Major C. M. R. Graham, then mayor, himself and other members of the council of that time. The agreement of the city with the company was that the city hall should be built on the square.

Why He Changed.

Asked why he is supporting the Spencer Block site for the city hall, and the commencement of building operations in the immediate future, Ald. J. S. Holmes replied that he had been in favor of the Federal Square until about a month ago, when the appeal to furnish as much employment as possible by proceeding with public works had been in a substantial measure responsible for shaping his present attitude.

John Cottam wanted to know if expenditure of $250,000 on laying pavements, sewers, etc., wouldn't meet the situation in as satisfactory manner. Ald. W. A. Wilson beat Ald. Holmes to the answer by a quick reminder that pavements, etc., are paid for by frontage tax.

So far as the labor situation end is concerned, Ald. Holmes explained that it is important to find employment for a large amount of skilled labor, as well as the unskilled, which can serve for the laying of pavements and so on.

Taxes at 60 Mills. Wow!

Max Lerner wants a city hall beautiful, even if the taxes run as high as 60 mills. He wants to raise that kind of a standard for a city he considers the finest on the American continent, and which he only wishes he could claim, like Col. Coles, as his birthplace. Moreover, Mr. Lerner drew attention to the fact that he was the first one to stand up for the rights of the citizens to express themselves on the matter of alteration of the site and original plans for the city hall. J. K. Harris was right with him in both these respects, thereby giving hearty support to Col. Coles. "Put up the building and we'll get the money all right," was the view of Mr. Harris.

The question was raised if there were any other Government representatives but Sir Sam Hughes and Hon. Robert Rogers, who had given reason to believe the Government was entering a pact with the city. Col. Coles mentioned the names of Sir Thomas White, Hon. Mr. Reid, Hon. Sir G. W. Foster.

"Wasn't there an occasion at Ottawa when Sir Thomas White waved his arms and shouted, 'I don't want no Federal Square'?" challenged Mr. Wilson.

Col. Coles replied, "There was not," firing back, "Were you there?"

"No," said Ald. Wilson "but I was in the council all the time and I know more about the Federal Square plan than you do."

To Send Deputation.

On motion of Max Lerner, seconded by John Cottam, the Chamber of Commerce indorsed the appointment by the board of directors of a committee, including Lieut.-Col. Coles, to accompany the city council committee to Ottawa to wait on the Government re the Federal Square.

The following resolutions submitted by J. H. Laughton were unanimously indorsed:

"That the chamber of commerce of the city of London, heartily indorses the petition lately presented to the Government of the province, asking that the question of granting mothers' allowances be taken up, with a view to providing means for mothers to remain in the home and give a proper home life to their children, so these children may thereby become better fitted for future citizenship; and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the premier and the chairman of the committee on mothers' allowances."

And second.

"That whereas the widow of the British reservist resident in Canada at the outbreak of war receives $26 per month for herself and family of two children, and whereas this amount is inadequate to maintain her home in efficiency, we respectfully petition the board of pensions commissioners of Canada to take such steps as may be necessary to provide her with an income equal to that of the widow of a Canadian soldier."

A copy of this resolution as adopted is to be sent to Major Todd, board of pension commissioners, Ottawa.

FLAX-GROWERS TO MEET HERE MONDAY IN ANNUAL SESSION

Gather From Western Ontario Points For Third Yearly Convention.

Flax growers from all over Western Ontario will meet for the annual convention of the Canadian Flax Growers' Association at the Tecumseh House here at 11 a.m. Monday.

The association was organized here two years ago, and through S. F. Glass, M.P., the chamber of commerce invited the growers here again this year.

The delegates will be looked after by the chamber of commerce staff, who will meet the trains and extend other courtesies to them to make their stay in the city a pleasant one.

CROWDS PRESENT ON FINAL DAY OF SEED SHOW AT BOTHWELL

Prominent Speakers Heard—Baby Show a Feature of Last Day.

BOTHWELL, Feb. 28.—Thursday, the last day of the Bothwell seed, grain and poultry show was the best day of all. Huge crowds thronged the exhibition grounds all day.

Among the chief speakers were J. W. Clarke, Cainsville; Mr. Doherty, district representative of Chatham; John Collins, Chatham; Phil Fanchere, corn expert, Chatham; Mr. Saunders of London, and Mr. Maynard of Cedar Springs. All gave very instructive and entertaining speeches.

Little Sammy and Dorothy Munroe of London delighted the large audiences with their singing and dancing. Misses Ada Lamond of Ridgetown and Mae Misner of Bothwell gave several delightful solos. Among the chief speakers of the evening was Chief Tobias of Moravlantown, who spoke on the downtrodden state of the Indian.

In the afternoon one of the chief attractions was the baby show. The infant daughter of Alex Brandle was awarded first prize; Mrs. Harry Willis' baby second; Mrs. Charlie Chrentner's baby, third; Peter McBayne's baby, fourth. The babies were all awarded special prizes.

In the evening Philip Fancher, corn expert, urged the farmers to grow corn. He gave a very instructive talk on soil and conditions. Editor Porter of the Farmers' Advocate also spoke.

Mr. Saunders of London gave a very entertaining talk on "Bird Life."

Mr. Maynard of Cedar Springs paid glowing tributes to the soldiers.

Altogether the show has been a wonderful success, and the directors are being congratulated.

KINGSVILLE W. C. T. U. GETS AFTER PREMIER

KINGSVILLE, Feb. 28.—Gunner W. Deacon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deacon, and Corp. K. Summerfield, son of Mrs. Thos. Summerfield, arrived at Halifax on Sunday, February 23, on the steamship Canada from Liverpool. They are expected to reach their homes here the latter part of this week.

A resolution was forwarded this week from the executive of the W. C. T. U. to Sir W. Hearst, N. W. Rowell and the local member, Lambert Wigle, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, requesting that they use their vote and influence in connection with the amendment to the marriage act.

M. AYLSWORTH.

New assistant general manager of the Huron & Erie Mortgage Corporation and the Canada Trust Company. Mr. Aylsworth is also treasurer of London's new Chamber of Commerce.

WANT DUTY TAKEN OF DITCHING AND DRAINAGE MACHINES

Drainage Association Re-elects S. W. Hyatt President.

Silas W. Hyatt of Mount Brydges was re-elected president at the closing session of the convention of the Ontario Farm Drainage Association, held in the Tecumseh House, yesterday afternoon. The other officers elected were: T. McFarland, Thorndale, first vice-president; J. E. Jackson, Toronto, second vice-president; F. Ferguson, B.S.A., Chatham, secretary-treasurer.

To investigate the conditions of drainage work in Ontario, and to report and suggest reforms at the next annual meeting of the association, J. E. Jackson, S. W. Hyatt and F. Ferguson, B.S.A., were elected as a committee.

L. G. Heimple, B.S.A., of Guelph, spoke on "Gas Engines," explaining the construction of them, and telling how kerosene could be burned in them successfully.

A resolution was passed asking to have duty on ditching machines and drainage machinery and parts thereof costing up to $6,000, removed. Another resolution asked to have the freight rates so adjusted that the men and drainage men would be given a preferential rate on the transporting of tile from a district where it was manufactured to a district where it was needed. Another resolution to have the drainage act amended to permit farmers to borrow on the percentage of work done rather than on a fixed sum, as was formerly done, was passed.

Education Needed.

In an address to the delegates, R. A. Finn, district representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, described the drainage conditions in the county of Middlesex, suggesting that there was more educative work needed. He advocated geographical surveys of the county.

To act on a joint committee from the Western Ontario Clayworkers' Association and the Ontario Farm Drainage Association, J. W. Sands, S. W. Hyatt and S. R. Walsh were elected. This committee will meet to discuss problems relating to the work of the two associations.

To the member getting the most new members throughout the year, a level will be given.

A letter of condolence on the death in January of Prof. Scott of Guelph, who was a victim of Spanish influenza, is being sent by the association to Lila Scott of Guelph. Prof. Scott was formerly secretary-treasurer of the association.

In the morning, W. G. Walsh of Florence, Ont., in giving an address on "The Drainage of Clay Soil With a Ditching Machine as an Aid to Greater Production," declared that much of the land that had formerly been of no use for agricultural purposes had been reclaimed by drainage. Land that had been drained yielded more produce per acre than any other tillable land. The speaker produced a number of samples of grain that were grown on drained land.

W. E. Elliott of Dresden spoke on "The Benefits of Underdrainage." The following were the advantages enumerated: one to three weeks earlier seeding; warm soil; better seed germination; deeper root growth; more moisture during a drought; more uniform ripening of the crops; better drainage; better crops; larger yields, and larger profits.

Elections.

S. R. Walsh and W. S. Harris were elected auditors for the year.

J. W. Sands, A. Wehlen and S. R. Walsh were elected as an advertising committee. A motion that J. W. Sands, F. Ferguson and S. W. Hyatt be a committee to act in conjunction with the advertising committee of the Western Ontario Clayworkers' Association, for the purpose of getting out a pamphlet to be distributed among the farmers, carried.

A motion that the association consider the training of returned soldiers as ditching machine operators, to relieve the situation at present, was referred to the resolution committee.

There was much discussion on the question of government licensing of tile manufacturers and ditching machine operators. The discussion was continued in the afternoon.

F. Ferguson, B.S.A. of the O. A. C., spoke this afternoon on "The Drainage Outlook and Conditions in Western Ontario." L. G. Heimpel, B.S.C. of the O. A. C., spoke on "Gas Engine Construction and Gasoline and Kerosene Burning."

FERRY TOSSED ABOUT AT WINDSOR OVER AN HOUR BY GALE

River Boats Struggle Hard in 60-Mile Blow.

WINDSOR, Feb. 28. — Blowing at times as high as 60 miles an hour, and accompanied by a rapidly falling thermometer, a terrific westerly gale of wind and rain, followed later by snow, descended upon Essex County tonight. In Windsor the street cars were much hampered, while on the river car and passenger ferries battled vainly to overcome the tremendous handicap of wind and sea.

The cross-river ferries experienced much trouble in making landings at all, being blown out into the river again as fast as they were worked into the dock. One boat with 100 passengers was tossed about more than an hour before lines could be thrown ashore.

It is feared the greenhouses in the southern part of the county, filled with early garden truck, may have sustained serious damage by wind.

CONSERVATIVES ARE TRYING TO GET RID OF HEARST AS THEIR LEADER IN ONTARIO

Half of the Government Membership in the Legislature Are Reported as Seeking a New Chief, and Government Organ Fans the Flame.

With startling quickness comes substantiation of the report that the Conservative party in Ontario is sadly split.

It comes from a rather unexpected source, from within the party.

Thursday it was reported from Toronto that there were rebels within the Government ranks; that the fate of Premier Hearst hung in the balance, and that there might be a cabinet reconstruction.

Premier Hearst had ample opportunity to deny the report. He did not.

Immediately along comes the London Free Press, the Conservative organ in Western Ontario, proposing Sir Adam Beck as a successor for Sir William Hearst.

The man on the street immediately concluded that Sir William's fate had already been decided.

On the other hand there are those who believe that a large portion of the party eagerly grabbed the attack on Sir William as a means of ousting him. They point to the recent by-elections as an evidence of the fact that Sir William is too big a burden for the party to carry.

The Free Press gives further credence to the report that the party is badly split. It publishes and reprints the report that 36 of the 72 Conservative members in the House are strong for Beck for the leadership. If such is the case then just half the Conservative members want to get rid of Hearst.

Evidently North Perth, Southeast Toronto, Manitoulin, North Huron, North Ontario, and the doubtful success in St. Catharines, have clearly revealed the handwriting on the wall.

BYRON BREEZE MAKES AN EXCELLENT START

Soldier Patients at Sanatorium Issue Bright Monthly.

The soldier patients at the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium have shown their enterprise by publishing a monthly periodical under the title of Byron Breeze. The first issue, published on February 25, contains an editorial setting out the objects of the paper, which is described as not a newspaper, but rather a monthly review of current topics, with special reference to soldiers' problems.

The first and chief aim of the Breeze, as enunciated editorially, is to provide "intelligent, harmless occupation for the mind and body" of men in the sanatorium for treatment. The net profits from the venture are to be devoted to the provision of comforts, amusements, games, etc., for the patients.

In addition to the editorials in the first issue, such subjects as Bolshevism, prohibition and the alien labor problem are discussed, and current news of the different branches of the Sanatorium and of the outside world is also supplied.

The venture is in the hands of an executive committee made up as follows: President, Major E. N. Cheshan; vice-president, Capt. A. M. Judd; managing editor, Sergt. E. A. Pocock; local editor, Sergt. L. S. Hopwood; advertising manager, Lieut. E. B. Wesley; circulation manager, Sergt. H. Collins.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

DEFENDS THE WELSH COLLIERS.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I see in your most valuable paper where A. R. Murdoch of Mount Pleasant avenue says that the man Wooley, who shot his wife and a G. T. R. engineer, was a Welshman from the collieries, or more plainly, brought up among the colliers in Wales, and that the colliers were a pretty rough lot of people. I want Mr. Murdoch to understand there are as respectably brought up people in the Welsh collieries district as Mr. Murdoch himself, and keep themselves as respectable as Mr. Murdoch or any of his family. There are residents in this fair city of ours from the South Wales mining district, and they are all a credit to our city, instead of being toughs, as Mr. Murdoch would make them. Believe me, sir, to be one of the Welsh miners who is not ashamed to own them as his countrymen. Yours truly, JAMES DAVIES.

ONTARIO'S VANITY FAIR.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

In Wednesday's issue of your paper is an article headed this way: "Fashion Runs Riot at House Opening—Dewart Calls Halt." Should not the hand of all thinking, sensible citizens of our country be extended in congratulation to Hartley Dewart, M.P.P., for his stand against a custom that makes for disunion in our country, a custom that with many more of that ilk does not make "democracy safe" for our people?

At this time, when hearts are heavy and sore, and wounds still bleeding from our terrible ordeal of the past four years, it seems an unhappy occasion to exhibit a millinery opening upon the forms of women bedecked like Christmas trees in a riot of color.

Not long ago the dress of business women, stenographers, etc., was under criticism by some of the would-be "class" element of our land. Whether the attire of these workers of the world, who help move the wheels of progress along, is suitable in quality and quantity for their occupation, might be an interesting subject for debate.

Another one that should make suitable matter for discussion is whether the moral or immoral effect of dress upon the individual varies according to the time of day or night that is worn; and do two straps over the shoulders and a belt around the waist worn in the evening coincide with, and are they the equal to a muslin waist in the morning? Q. E. D.

Possibly Sir Pop-up Middleton or the Lady Hazy Frothington may be able to elucidate. HELEN V. BENTLEY.

PELEE ISLAND GRATEFUL.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

In your columns of your issue of the 19th inst we notice a comment on matters connected with this little municipality, and if you could only realize how much it was appreciated and how grateful we were, and are, for even this much recognition, you would be glad you did it.

We need for our assistance the publicity of the press, and more particularly a paper of the standing and as far-reaching as The Advertiser, and hope that you will more fully inquire into our situation and conditions, and assist us to attain, in some measure at least, the favors we so much lack and so badly need, and which seem to be so fully bestowed upon the residents of the mainland.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, on behalf of the community for favors in the past and in anticipation. Yours very truly,
WILLIAM STEWART,
Township Clerk.

DEPT. CORRECTS RUMORS.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

My attention has from time to time been drawn to a report which appears to have considerable currency in Western Ontario, to the effect that on the proposed provincial highways the driving of farm stock would be prohibited, and also that traction engines would not be allowed.

Agriculture is the basic industry of this country, and good roads are constructed primarily for the benefit of farmers. The use of traction engines and the driving of stock on public highways are essential to farming, and it should, therefore, be manifest without contradiction that any report such as that quoted must be untrue. No such restriction has ever been contemplated, or would be countenanced by this department. Yours truly,
W. A. McLEAN,
Deputy Minister of Highways.

SERIOUS INJURIES RECEIVED BY FAMILY OF ALD. H. M'CARTY

Further Information Comes to Ingersoll Regarding Motor Accident.

INGERSOLL, Feb. 28.—Information as to the nature of the injuries sustained by Councillor H. D. McCarty and members of his family in a motor accident this week at St. Petersburg, Fla., was received here today. Mr. McCarty had his collarbone broken. Mrs. McCarty had her left arm broken, and Miss Libbie McCarty had an arm and her nose broken. Miss Reta McCarty sustained a sprained ankle. No particulars were given as to the cause of the accident. The message stated that all were doing well.

MRS. IONSON BURIED.

The funeral of Mrs. George A. Ionson, whose death followed a short illness with pneumonia, was held this afternoon to the Ingersoll Rural Cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. E. Shephard, and the pall-bearers were Messrs. Fred Franks, Willard Scott, L. C. Hugill, J. C. Northworthy, S. G. Surbrigg and Thomas Alderson.

VETERANS HOME.

Several more soldiers of this town and district have returned home, and were accorded the usual reception. Those who arrived today were Pte. Clement Moulton of this town, who enlisted with the 168th Battalion, but owing to an accident at Camp Borden did not go overseas with his unit. Sergt. H. Taylor and Pte. Cook of Salford also came. Driver William Bragg arrived home on a regular train. He enlisted with the 63rd Battery at London. Lieuts. Harold and Norton Bowes, after fourteen months overseas, returned home last night unexpectedly.

LITERARY SOCIETY.

The annual "At Home" of the Literary Society of the Collegiate Institute was held this evening at the collegiate and was highly successful. The attendance of pupils, ex-pupils and others was large. Russell Smith, president of the society, presided, and an interesting program was introduced. A feature of the evening was the unveiling of the honor roll by Lieut.-Col. J. C. Hegler, chairman of the board of education.

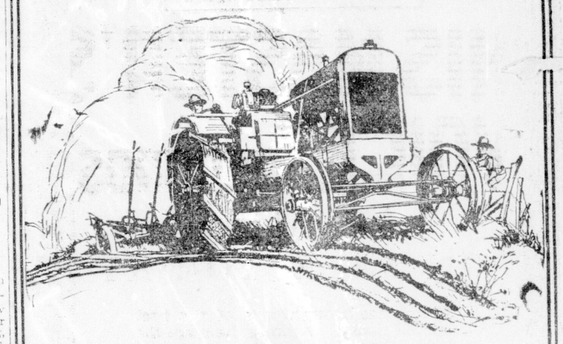

MRS. DUNSMORE CHOSEN REGENT OF THE I.O.D.E.

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 28.—A largely attended meeting of the St. Thomas Chapter, I. O. D. E., was held this afternoon at the city hall. The election of officers took up the greater part of the afternoon. The chapter is planning an extensive year's work, and does not intend to give up its good work even though the war is over. The financial secretary reported a good balance of cash on hand at the present time, and there is every prospect of a successful year during 1919.

The officers elected were: Honorary regent, Mrs. T. W. Crothers; first vice-regent, Miss Leila B. Moore; second vice-regent, Mrs. A. E. Ponsford; regent, Mrs. R. J. Dunsmore; first vice-regent, Mrs. Scarrow; second vice-regent, Mrs. T. H. Gough; secretary, Mrs. W. H. Stapleton; corresponding secretary, Mrs. F. Arnum; treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Taylor; standard-bearer, Mrs. Cole; pianist, Mrs. R. S. Black; educational secretary, Mrs. W. S. Bowe[illegible] councillors, Mesdames A. H. Marlatt, A. Harbor, J. Voaden, F. Brimacombe, C. Turville, Miss McLean and Mrs. Maxwell.

"I am Through with Mortgages and Trouble!"

One of our Debenture-holders recently remarked, "I am through with mortgages and trouble. I prefer your simplified form of investment."

You have $100 or more for investment. You place it in The Huron & Erie Debenture Department. A Debenture is immediately written and handed you or mailed. Your money at once commences to earn per annum, payable half-yearly.

5¼%

Interest coupons are affixed to Debenture. When interest is due you clip a coupon. This can either be cashed or deposited in your Savings Account. Terms are optional—2, 3, 4 or 5 years.

Assets of $18,207,600, provide ample protection.

Huron & Erie Debenture-holders are spared the worries encountered in mortgage investments, such as

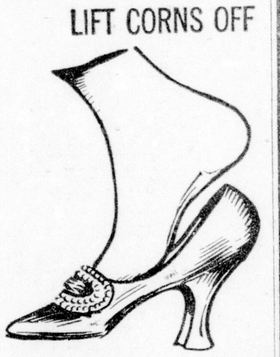

(1) Loss of interest while waiting for satisfactory investments.
(2) The difficulty of securing dependable valuations.
(3) Uncertainty about principal and interest payments being met when due.
(4) Reduction in income due to repayments on account of principal, too small to re-invest.

5¼% and simplicity make Huron & Erie Debentures a profitable investment.

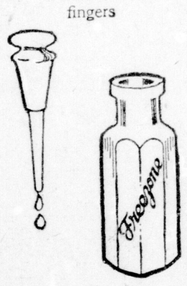

Persons desiring to safely invest their Savings—which may now be earning a small rate of interest—are invited to ask for information about our Debentures.

WORKS EMPLOYEES OF ST. THOMAS ASK WAGE JUMP AND SHORT DAY

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 28.—The entire staff of the board of works employees, including laborers, have asked for an increase of ten cents per hour and a nine-hour day, the rate of pay to date from January 1. It was presented at a meeting of board of works tonight. The matter was referred to a committee consisting of Ald. Lane and Taylor and the city engineer. The men will call a special meeting and will be met by the officials.

ST. THOMAS HAS DECIDED ON PEACE CELEBRATION

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 28.—The meeting tonight to devise plans for holding a peace celebration in the city was a decided success, although the attendance was somewhat small, owing to the stormy night. A resolution was passed that a suitable celebration be arranged, to be held on the day set aside by the Government. Addresses were heard from A. P. Conley, W. P. Murch and F. B. Holtby. F. B. Holtby occupied the chair, and the meeting adjourned until Friday of next week.

FALLS TO LOT OF OPPOSITION TO GREET PAU

Government Side of House Is Weak on French.

COCKSHUTT ON TARIFF

The Brantford Manufacturer Sticks For Protection--Tries Wit on Kennedy.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, Feb. 28.—The House adjourned at 6 tonight amid a burst of cheering. It was not for anyone who had spoken. It was for a little white-haired man, with the right sleeve of his grey-blue uniform hanging empty by his side, who knew but one of the official languages of the House, but who spoke no word in that. It was for Gen. Pau, veteran of the Franco-Prussian war of 1870, and one of that immortal group of French generals who, in the early and dark days of the late war, checkmated the Hun and rendered his success impossible.

The empty sleeve is a remembrance of the battle of Ireoschwiller, the arm that once filled it having been shattered by shellfire, and afterwards amputated without the application of anaesthetic, the then young officer declaring that that was for the private soldiers, and not for the commissioned men.

He is over 70, but erect as the young officer by his side today. He entered the chamber, and the chamber burst into cheering.

A Tumult of Cheering.

"Vive Pau!" came from the powerful lungs of Hon. Jacques Bureau, and "Vive Pau! was echoed from other parts of the room. The little grey-haired man in the blue-grey uniform bowed deeply in the direction of the cheers, shook hands with Mr. Speaker, and took his seat with his aides to his right.

It was perhaps a coincidence that French was being spoken when he came in. Ethier of Two Mountains was on his feet. He had been opposing local prohibition and advocating temperance, and just as the visitors entered the chamber his voice was raised in the question:

"Is this the time to stop the importation into this country of the wines of old France?"

Deftly Mr. Ethier turned from the subject, and bowing slightly towards the hero of old France, he proceeded, when the cheering had died, to deliver a brief eulogy upon the visitor's gallant career. The change of subject was lost on the Government, which is not strong on the second official language of the House. Opposition members applauded vociferously the tributes paid to the distinguished visitors; but on the Government benches there was an uncomfortable silence.

Clear Off the Track.

Cockshutt of Brantford appeared to have an inkling of what Mr. Ethier was talking about, for he finally fell in with the Opposition and added his plaudits. But the rest thought the member for Two Mountains was still talking prohibition, and apparently were suspicious that the applause of the Opposition came as a result of some attack on the Government. Even Sir Thomas White, acting prime minister, kept silence. When Mr. Ethier had concluded his speech and the debate was adjourned, there was nobody in an official capacity to give Gen. Pau welcome.

So to all intents and purposes it was the Opposition which tendered him all the reception he received. Everybody, however, shook hands with him, and nearly everybody then tried out his stock of French upon his devoted ears.

Those Numerous Commissions.

First during the afternoon, Duff, of Lunenburg, contributed to the debate on the address, an attack upon the multifarious commissions, boards, committees, directorships, etc., by which the Government has supplemented the already expensive machinery of administration; upon the Government's shipbuilding program, and upon the fact that the prime minister and several of his most important colleagues remained away so long when important matters at home should claim their attention.

Then came Cockshutt of Brantford, who in past years has never permitted a session to pass without nailing his flag to the mast of protection. On this occasion he advocated a compromise on the vexed question of the tariff.

"I would not be surprised," he declared, "if after the minister of finance has presented his budget speech and after he has had the sage advice of the members of the Opposition, as well as the honorable members on this side, he will bring down a tariff that will be suitable to my honorable friend from Brome, (Mr. MacMaster) who I know is one of the hardest men to please on that side of the House because he thinks everything about the tariff is wrong."

Mr. Cockshutt, however, did not believe that free trade would come, and declared that the tariff would still continue to be the chief source of revenue.

Mr. Cockshutt Speaks.

W. F. Cockshutt, after referring to the fact that Parliament was meeting in peace instead of war time, said that the boys coming home were bringing with them problems which must be met and solved. However, we could rejoice that the war was over, and the result what it had been. The struggle had been the cause of a great effort on the part of Canada and Canadians, and had led to marked self-denial. One thing which we could be proud of was that Canada was going just as strong at the end of the war as she was at the beginning, and that the Canadian army corps was one of the strongest in the Allied ranks.

Mr. Cockshutt accused Mr. Kennedy (North Essex) of sneering indirectly at the king, and also indirectly at the prime minister of Canada, for attending a banquet given by the king, and at which President Wilson, the greatest democrat of all the world, was present. He said he resented this.

D. D. McKenzie rose to a point of order, saying that there had been no attack on the king, and no sneering references.

Gets House in Uproar.

Mr. Cockshutt went on to say that Mr. Kennedy came from Windsor, which had been named after the king's palace, and if the people of North Essex were going to keep Mr. Kennedy as a member they ought to change the name of the city. He said it was a good name; it was also the name of the Windsor uniform.

At this point there was a good deal of cross-firing, and much laughter on both sides of the House. Someone suggested that Windsor should change the member instead, and Mr. McMaster asked if loyalty was increased by wearing the Windsor uniform.

Mr. Cockshutt passed from the subject with the final shot that there were "a great many persons up there who will tell the member for North Essex that they don't like it."

His Heart With Labor.

He expressed regret that no reference had been made in the speech from the throne to the hours and remuneration of labor. He thought that the best they could do for the laboring man should be done. Wages, he said, had not gone back to what they were before the war, and if possible shorter hours should be given the working man. Canadian trade, said Mr. Cockshutt, had passed through a period of great prosperity. Now we had reached a time when foresight and wisdom was required if loss was to be avoided. He advocated an increase in the income tax. Taxation was never pleasant, but the income tax was a good method of raising it.

Mr. Cockshutt said that he could hardly sit down without making a brief reference to the tariff. He proposed, however, to be very careful in his remarks, as he knew it was a contentious subject.

Unfaltering Protectionist.

Personally he did not think that the present tariff was very far wrong. No doubt many members would disagree with him on this point, but one thing he wished to say, and was, that if we were going to rip up the tariff now when the boys were coming home, we would have in Canada, not employment, but stagnation. He thought that the only way to arrive at a tariff which would be satisfactory to all would be through compromise. He was ready to compromise, and he believed that there was a way out if others would take the same attitude. When the minister of finance brought down his budget, Mr. Cockshutt said he thought that its provisions with regard to the tariff would be satisfactory, even to the member for Brome (Mr. McMaster).

No Faith in League.

Referring to the peace conference, the speaker said that he had little hope that the idea of a league of nations would prove efficacious in banishing war from the earth. It was too idealistic. He wished that it would eliminate war, but feared that was too good to be true.

J. C. ELLIOTT INSISTS ON FAIR TREATMENT FOR ALL IN HOUSING

Owners of Land Expropriated Must Have Square Deal.

PROJECT PRAISEWORTHY

Persons Must Live in the Municipality Where Loan Is Obtained.

TORONTO, Feb. 28.—While the Government and the Opposition leaders were in virtual agreement on the main points in the housing bill in the Ontario Legislature this afternoon, a number of minor suggestions as to amendments were advanced by the speakers from the Opposition benches.

Sir William Hearst, in moving the second reading of the bill, reviewed the Government's reasons for action, and gave details as to the working out of the scheme, supplementing in this connection the remarks he made in the House on Wednesday. The premier expressed confidence that municipalities would be in no danger of financial loss, and that workingmen would readily avail themselves of the opportunity presented by the scheme.

Basis Enough Scheme.

He pointed out that in England the Government is providing only two-thirds of the money expended on housing and the municipalities are called on to advance the remainder.

Sam Carter, South Wellington, delivered a vigorous plea for improved working conditions, and urged the Government to exercise economy where it was compatible with comfort in the construction of homes.

Mr. Proudfoot, the Liberal leader, expressed himself as satisfied with the main points of the scheme, but promised to make suggestions later which might result in a reduction of the cost.

May Draw From Farms.

Sam Clarke of West Northumberland, warned against the danger of drawing young men away from the farms by the housing offer. He also felt that cheaper homes than the $2,500 type must be provided.

Premier Hearst explained that this figure was merely a maximum one.

Mr. Clarke also favored the appointment of a commission to adjust the value of homes in a few years when prices would likely have dropped below the present level.

J. C. Elliott of West Middlesex followed Mr. Clarke, and considered that the trend today should be from the cities back to the land, instead of vice versa. He characterized as praiseworthy the Government's object of giving the workers more wholesome surroundings and better living conditions.

Mr. Elliott Wants Fairness.

Mr. Elliott insisted that owners of land expropriated by the Government should receive fair treatment, and considered that one official of the arbitration board should have the same powers as a supreme court judge.

"We don't want a full court trial whenever we arbitrate," put in Premier Hearst.

"No, but the man who sits in judgment should be the best authority available," retorted Mr. Elliott.

He felt also that municipalities should be protected against loss, and that discretion should be exercised in passing on the residence in the locality, of guarantees of personal integrity should be made obligatory.

Premier Hearst expressed himself as being in agreement with Mr. Elliott's suggestion that residence in the municipality be made a condition of all loans.

Standardize the Material.

Sam Carter (South Wellington) urged that the material required for the houses should be standardized, and then bought on a big scale by the Government. In this way, it was pointed out to the Government, at least $200 could be saved on each house. This amount would be of much importance to the small wage-earner.

Several of the speakers also contended that the proposed monthly payments of $20 were too large and greater than the small wage-earner could bear. Easier terms were suggested.

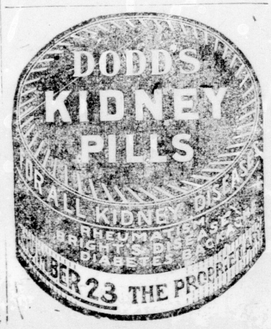

The bill was given its second reading.

LIGHTNING STRIKES BARN; CATTLE AND HAY ARE DESTROYED

Farm of Frank Minchell, Near Ingersoll, Scene of Blaze.

INGERSOLL, Feb. 28.—A large barn on the farm of Frank Minchall, half a mile southeast of Ingersoll, was struck by lightning about 8 o'clock tonight, and completely destroyed by fire which followed.

There were nineteen cows and a bull in the barn. Three or four of the cows and the bull perished, and a large quantity of hay was also destroyed. The building burned so fiercely that all efforts to arrest the progress of the flames were futile. The loss is believed to be covered by insurance. The farm was only recently purchased from Ro. Meek, and Mr. Minchall took possession only a few days ago.

RESOLUTION FOR LOWER TARIFF IN MANITOBA HOUSE

Capt. Myles Wants Federal Govt. to Make Immediate All-Round Cut.

ALSO BRITISH FREE TRADE

Wants Customs Cut and Barrier Between Mother Country Removed in 5 Years.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 28.—Capt. A. W. Myles, Cypress, this afternoon gave notice in the Legislature that on Tuesday next he will move that the Federal Government be asked to pass legislation at this session giving "an immediate and substantial all-round reduction of the customs tariff," and C. Clingan, Virden, has announced his intention to move a resolution putting the House on record as against the reintroduction of the daylight saving scheme.

Capt. Myles' resolution also asks for the reduction of the customs duty on goods imported from Great Britain to one-half the rates charged under the general tariff on British imports that will insure complete free trade between Great Britain and Canada in five years. The resolution reads:

Accept Reciprocity.

"That acceptance by the Parliament of Canada of the reciprocity agreement of 1911 which still remains on the United States statute books.

"The placing upon the free list of all food stuffs not included in the reciprocity agreement.

"The placing on the free list of all agricultural implements, farm machinery, vehicles, fertilizers, coal, lumber, cement, illuminating fuel, and lubricating oils and all raw materials and machinery used in their manufacture.

"The immediate extension of all tariff concessions granted to other countries to Great Britain.

Corporation Reports.

"The obligation upon all corporations engaged in the manufacture of products protected by the customs tariff to publish annually comprehensive and accurate statements of their turnover and earnings.

"The public hearing before a special committee of Parliament of every claim for tariff protection by any industry."

Premier Norris introduced a bill respecting industrial disputes, which, it is understood, will provide for the setting up of a board of five on which employers and employees will be equally represented, with a neutral chairman selected by the Government.

GOOD PRICES FOR PRINCETON CATTLE

PRINCETON, Feb. 28.—An interesting picture talk was given at the Epworth League meeting by one of the public school teachers, illustrated by picture copies—Raphael by his "Madonna"; Millais, by his "Angelus"; Whistler, by a portrait of his mother; Carot, by a landscape. There was a good attendance.

Scott Davidson has conducted two large auction sales of farm stocks and implements recently. One was for William Reed, of thoroughbred cattle and grade Holsteins. The average price was $90 each.

Gordon Cockburn has sold his farm to William Reed and is leaving the village. At his sale everything was disposed of at good prices, cows bringing an average of $103 apiece. William Reed moves on to the farm in April.

FRANCE IS SURELY "UP AGAINST IT" IN FINANCIAL WAY

Wants Allies to Pool Expenses of War.

RUSH GERMAN INDEMNITY

Peace Conference Should Immediately Exact Payment Due France.

PARIS, Feb. 28.—After a long discussion of the financial position of France as revealed by a compilation of her war damages and otherwise, the budget committee of the Chamber of Deputies last night reached the conclusion that the urgent question of meeting immediate payments could best be solved not by a new issue of bank notes, which would only increase the cost of living, but through an inter-Allied loan committee. The budget committee expressed itself as convinced that justice and interest alike required that the Allies pool the expenses of the war.

With regard to the proposed tax on capital, the committee expressed itself with reserve. It held most strongly to the view that the debt owed France by the enemy should be formulated as soon as possible and that the peace conference should exact a payment on account of the indemnity due France from the central powers. At the same time it was set forth, the payment of this amount would not relieve the Government from the duty of carefully studying the fiscal situation and proposing such new taxation as was indispensable to balance the budget which would not be less than eighteen billion francs.

These conclusions were unanimously approved by the committee and its chairman was instructed to set forth the financial situation to the Chamber at the earliest possible date.

BLIZZARDS SWEEPING SEVEN STATES WITH DISASTROUS EFFECT

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—Blizzards were reported today in Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and Southern South Dakota. The storm was working eastward and the weather bureau predicted zero weather for Chicago tonight or tomorrow.

In Minnesota a stock train, stalled in the snow, was struck by a passenger train and two persons were killed and a number injured.

Near Wausa, Neb., a passenger train with twenty-five persons aboard was stalled in the snow. All of the states affected reported huge drifts with train service delayed. In Nebraska the temperature ranged from two degrees below zero at Omaha and Lincoln to sixteen below at Valentine.

TORONTO BARBER 40 YEARS SAYS DUPLEX CUTS HAIR BETTER THAN EIGHT BARBERS OUT OF EVERY TEN

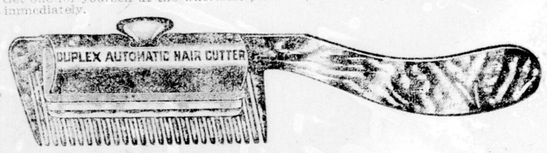

READ WHAT HE SAYS ABOUT IT.

371 Wellesley Street, Toronto.

Duplex Mfg. Co., Barrie, Ont.: Gentlemen—I bought one of your Duplex Hair Cutting Machines, and I wish to say that I have been a MASTER BARBER IN TORONTO OVER FORTY YEARS, and my experience since I bought it is that it is a perfect tool. It requires no experience to use it. A woman can in a few minutes cut her children's hair BETTER THAN EIGHT OUT OF TEN BARBERS, and men by combing their hair can also cut it, saving time and money.

I am pleased that I have retired from business, because this machine will certainly have a great sale on account of its price, and will have an effect on the barber business. (Signed). JAMES MARREN.

This is only one letter out of hundreds we have received from pleased users of the Duplex within the last few weeks. You, too, will be pleased if you get one. Get one for yourself at the wholesale price of $1.00. The price is going up to $2.00 immediately.

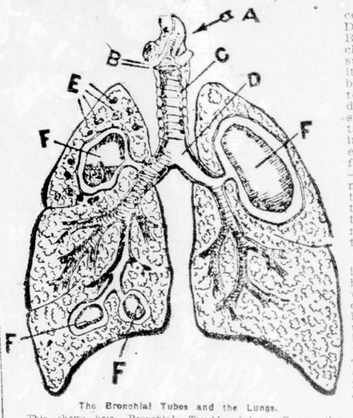

You Can't Go Wrong With a Duplex, the Slanting Teeth Won't Let You.

The Duplex is made of the very best quality steel and silver-plate. The blades are double-edged, all-honed and double-tested. You can comb your hair any style you wish, and the Duplex will cut it smoothly and evenly. It cuts while you comb. Cuts the front hair long, and the back short. It will last a lifetime. Figure out how much you can save. The regular price of the Duplex is $2.00, but we will allow you $1.00 cash for this ad. Cut it out and send it to us with only $1.00, and we will send you the Duplex complete attached to the comb ready for instant use. Five minutes after you receive the Duplex you can have your hair cut better than it was ever cut before. Coughs That Kill

Bronchial Trouble Brings Consumption

The Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

This shows how Bronchial Trouble brings Consumption. A, epiglotis. B, vocal cords. C, windpipe. D, bronchial tubes, inflammation in which is a terribly dangerous thing. E, ulcer in lungs. F, cavities formed by ulcers eating into and destroying the lung tissues—the result of unchecked bronchial trouble.

If you have a bronchial cough, start to cure it NOW. Don't neglect it any longer. Be warned in time. Bronchial trouble is almost Consumption. Unless you check it, it's more than likely to become Consumption. It's a terribly deceptive—terribly dangerous ailment, for all it seems nothing but an irritating cough. That tickling in your throat; that persistent, annoying hacking; that frequent raising of phlegm—may mean serious inflammation in your bronchial tubes. They lead directly to the lungs. If your bronchial trouble goes on, the germs may enter the lungs. After that—it's too late.

Don't be deceived by the idea "twill "wear off." Don't be discouraged by people who tell you a bronchial cough is incurable. A trouble so deep-seated—so little understood, can be cured best by a Specialist—by one who has the thorough knowledge—the tremendous experience, gained in treating hundreds and hundreds of such cases.

Write at once, and learn what can be done for you. I will gladly give you

FREE CONSULTATION AND ADVICE

Your case will be carefully studied and the most valuable information sent you. Let me show you what can be done for you entirely without charge. You can place perfect confidence in whatever I say. If your trouble is incurable I'll tell you so plainly. In all my years of practice I've made it a point of honor never to take a case that's beyond help. Real Consumption cannot be cured. Bronchial trouble, PROPERLY TREATED, can. Take it in hand now before it's too late. Don't lose any time—write today.

Laurier's Last Human Appeal Lives in the Hearts of Men

An Advertiser reader, who describes himself as "a Conservative who always recognized the worth of Laurier as a Canadian," requests the republication of some words of the Liberal chieftain during his last appearance in London, stating that in his (the reader's) opinion they take rank with some of the utterances of Lincoln and Gladstone:

"As for you who stand today on the threshold of life. . . I shall remind you that many problems rise before you: problems of race division, problems of creed differences, problems of economic conflict, problems of national duty and national aspirations. Let me tell you that for the solution of these problems you have a safe guide, an unfailing light, if you remember that faith is better than doubt and love is better than hate. . . Banish doubt and hate from your life. Let your souls be ever open to the strong promptings of faith and the gentle influence of brotherly love. Be adamant against the haughty; be gentle and kind to the weak. Let your aim and your purpose, in good report or in ill, in victory or in defeat, be so to live, so to strive, so to serve as to do your part to raise the standard of life to higher and better spheres."

These are not the words of a politician. They arise transcendent above the ordinary dogmas of strife and intolerance. They breathe moderation and kindness and they form a perfect index of the character of their author.

Do Citizens Wish To Be Heard As to City Hall's Location?

It is intimated that the city council will send a deputation to Ottawa to ask the Dominion Government to contribute a sum toward the Federal Square scheme. In the meantime the same city council is making plans toward the abandonment of the Federal Square scheme as a municipal undertaking involving the construction of a city hall, and is preparing to erect the civic building on another site.

Certainly there are enough angles to the question to put citizens in a quandary, and it is to be hoped the whole question will be thrown open for discussion and the public given an opportunity of hearing toward what goal the city is working.

The Federal Square has been planned and financed to a certain extent. The city has secured a large area of valuable property, and hopes the Government will take over a considerable portion of this property to be used as a site for a Soldiers' Memorial Home, but is it likely that a Government apparently reluctant to go on with its original agreements will accede to the city's proposal when it hears that the city has given up its share of the scheme? The Government, though pledged by the promises of former ministers, may see an easy method of evading its responsibilities. How very kind of London to ask us to take off the council's hands some property it purchased several years ago, may be the ministerial attitude. But if London should intimate that it was willing to use a portion of the property secured for public purposes, the Government would find it difficult to repudiate the promises on the good faith of which the city counted.

As The Advertiser has stated before, the location of a city hall is a matter with a considerable appeal to the civic spirit of citizens. No decision should be carried through without consulting the electors. Those who are loyal enough to the city's interest to go to the polls should decide the whole matter.

Kennedy's Rapid Fire Speech Made Union Govt. Squirm

With a rapid fire of healthy satire, W. C. Kennedy, M.P. for North Essex, gave the Government benches at Ottawa some very uneasy moments Thursday. He dealt in a manner that was cleverly humorous with the weaknesses of the Administration of mighty promises, and when he referred to Premier Borden's prospective return to Ottawa, decked out with a title as the "Earl of Prinkipo," the whole house must have been tickled in its sense of humor, if it had such a sense.

The status of Sir Robert Borden as it affects his own country could not have been better described. Since he went to Europe he has been largely active in attempting to smear the bloodthirsty Bolsheviki with brotherly love and sweet reasonableness. But if Sir Robert was prepared to indulge in genialities with the apostles of violence and murder, their Russian victims were not. And in the end, even The Reds turned down the proposal of the premier. So all that came of it was to win for Sir Robert a leading role in the cast of his own Gilbert and Sullivan travesty he staged for the peace delegates.

Mr. Kennedy did not deal so lightly with other matters. There was a mighty force to his picture of Canada's premier attending the famous $15,000,000 dinner in London, England, in his silk stockings and knee breeches, at the very moment when returning soldiers were suffering in the "Black Hole" of the ocean. The premier was unfortunate perhaps in being unable to avoid the dinner, but did he hasten to accelerate the investigation into the conditions on board the Northland?

Mr. Kennedy's reference to documents relating to the taking of the vote overseas in 1917 must have caused a shudder in some quarters. Some shameful practices are revealed in these documents, and Unionist members were reminded that some gentlemen on their side of the house also had seen these documents. Mr. Kennedy's statements may have foreshadowed the subsequent production of these documents, the history of which has been pretty well related between sessions, and the allegations they contain may yet shock a country that has been shown what it believed to be the last word in election duplicity.

Such speeches as that made by Mr. Kennedy are certain to bring Government ministers to a closer realization of their duty and of the need for action. He has reminded them of their promise to repeal the war times election act. This sinister blot on the records of parliamentary government in a free country should be wiped away at once. Mr. Kennedy might well have reminded his hearers that while it was aimed at the disenfranchisement of dangerous aliens, it placed in a class with these possible menaces every woman in Canada who did not have a relative overseas, and that all the "good Germans" were given special absolution in the interest of a former Conservative member.

Ludendorff Hated By Huns Because He Failed to Win

In an appeal to the German people for a hearing as to his part in the making and carrying on of the great war General Ludendorff expresses surprise that he should be opposed by a large section of the nation. It is well that the Allied world should not misunderstand this situation. Undoubtedly Germany as a whole is hostile to the former brains of the Hun war machine, but not because it has reformed and now considers Ludendorff's acts detestable. The contrary is the case. Ludendorff is not wanted any more, except perhaps for purposes of punishment, because he failed to carry through to success the brutal conspiracy which was to sweep Germany to a pinnacle of world power and glory. While he was scoring triumphs he was next only to the imperial rogue as popular idol. He crushed Rumania, broke the Italian drive to the point of a catastrophe, and subjected France to a dreadful scarring and searing, but although all these campaigns were marked by illegal cruelties and barbarities unequalled in history the German people stood solidly and boastfully behind him. During the last two years of the war Ludendorff was the concentrated German spirit of ruthless determination to smash through all opposition, casting aside decency and honor. When he failed, and the splendid hope of conquest collapsed to a stupendous humiliation, Germany turned in disgust on the man who had unsuccessfully expressed her will to subdue and enslave a world. German opposition to the ex-commander-in-chief is not due to a sudden repentance, a desire to express regret for his acts, a recognition that might is wrong. If Germany punishes him it will be because he failed to make good on the bloody task which Germany had set her hand to. We should not be deceived into considering as a sign of conversion that many Germans are denouncing and threatening Ludendorff.

Hats Off to an Old Friend Who Is Rapidly Passing

Sometimes we are inclined to regret the rapid passing of the old-fashioned, open-back, flat-wheeled, pay-if-you-want-to street car, just like the Toonerville Trolley. We grant at once the efficiency of the modern car. Its structure tends to smooth running and rapid transit, but its inclosed back robs it of the fine democracy of the open platform. That was the place were you could invite a good healthy argument on any subject, from a prize fight to a heresy hunt without fear that verbal explosives would reach and shock an entire carful. You could speak up out there, if not too tightly packed, getting out of your system pent-up grouches over the boss, the ball game, the Government, the church, and especially the street car service.

There you would learn why Ty Cobb dropped a point in his batting, the real solution of the latest murder mystery, the certain winner of the King's Plate, the secret of Foch's strategy, and a new cure for bunions. There was much homely philosophy to be picked up, too; also elaborate theories on life, death and why a woman will when she won't. Nothing was too big, too small, or too sacred for discussion by the car platform forum. It was a grand little leveller and mixer. Noisy and good-naturedly boisterous during the rush hours, perhaps, it was healthy, informing and entertaining. It was a dirty, dusty, miserable, old and rackety flatwheel frequently that fractured schedules with exasperating nonchalance, and was never known to catch a train. But for all that we will cherish its memory for the fun and knowledge it furnished through the democracy of its open platform.

In connection with the Sarnia tragedy one of the saddest features is that a stigma may attach to the memory of a man and woman murdered who were guiltless of sin. THE POWERFUL KATRINKA

She knew it would break old man Henry's heart if he couldn't play his brass drum in the parade.

GIRL OVERBOARD!
By Kitty Carson.

In spite of Duval's devoted attention throughout the first two days of his yachting party, Cara was becoming decidedly bored. It was agreeable to be admired by one's host, but to have another desirable man on board, completely oblivious of her presence, was more than she could stand.

On the third day out Cara turned her attention to Sam Russell, who scarcely noticed her since they had left shore. The reason was a very pretty girl whose name was Peggy Short. She was not beautiful like Cara, but she was little and dainty, with fascinating dimples and a ready laugh.

Sam was deeply interested, and although Cara did not mean actually to interfere, she did not intend to be ignored any longer.

It was a wonderful day in September, and the yacht was just gliding into Gloucester harbor. Sam and Peggy were leaning against the rail, much absorbed in their own conversation. The Witherspoons, who were chaperoning the party, were playing bridge with Duval and George Eaton, who had only left the card-table to eat since they had left Mount Desert.

Cara passed Sam and Peggy unnoticed and walked on down the deck. A few minutes later there was a frightened cry, followed by a splash in the water below them.

"Girl overboard!" shouted someone.

Sam threw off his coat and shoes, and before anyone else had seen what had happened he had dived over the rail and swam after the girl who was floundering about in the water. It was Cara.

"Oh, Sam, I'm so glad you've come!" she sputtered, gripping him fiercely by the neck. "I can never, never thank you for saving my life. How can I ever repay you—my whole life would be little enough for the risk you have taken!"

"It would not be 'little' to me," he returned gallantly, both beautiful arms being clasped about his neck at the time. "It will be a lucky man who gets your 'whole life,' I think."

"Then, take it," she whispered, as the lifeboat from the yacht approached to pick them up. As soon as they were on board, Cara leaned helplessly on Sam's shoulder in a state of semi-consciousness, and neither spoke on the return trip.

When they were once more on the yacht she still clung to Sam, and murmured in an audible whisper:

"I shan't forget this, Sam dear." And without another word she stumbled to her stateroom and left the rather blank-looking hero staring after. Peggy shivered slightly and went in search of a wrap.

There was a wonderful moon that night and Cara recovered sufficiently to be a vision by its light.

"I shan't go down to dinner," she announced from her comfortable chair. "Sam is bringing me a glass of wine—I still feel the shock of my accident."

"Her what?" whispered Peggy to Duval.

"Don't you really think it was?" he asked her in return.

"Neither do you!" she laughed enigmatically.

"I guess Sam is alone in his delusion—I only wish she'd tried it on me!" said Duval.

When they had all gone down to dinner but Duval and Cara, he turned to her sharply.

"What's got into you?" he demanded fiercely. "You haven't spoken to me if you could help it all day and you're flirting like the devil with Sam!"

"I'm not flirting, Dick—I may marry him, but I'm not sure yet."

"Well, you're a pretty little actress, and I wish you joy!" snapped her irate host as he turned and stamped off down the deck.

Cara was furious, but at that very moment she was more interested in Duval than she had ever been before.

Later she captured Sam, and together they watched the reflection of the moon on the water. When Peggy and Duval passed them Cara did not appear to notice them, but Sam was supremely self-conscious.

"You are so adorable, Sam," cooed his companion softly. "I never knew any one could say such beautiful things."

Peggy giggled audibly, and Sam heard that giggle. But when they were out of earshot she stopped laughing and spoke to Duval abruptly.

"What does Cara think she's doing?"

"Trying to make you and me jealous," he assured her. "She'll come home if we leave her alone, I suppose, but all the same it's darned unpleasant for me."

"You might include me, too," observed Peggy cheerfully. "I'd like to do something."

"Why not?" suggested Duval, more hopefully than before.

"I'm not clever enough to beat her at her own game, and besides, Sam doesn't care anything about me or he wouldn't act like this."

"He couldn't help himself—I know Cara. But why don't you try her own dodge? 'Why not?' said the caterpillar. 'Why not?' Come on Peggy, I'll dare you to do it."

"Well, I've half a mind to take your dare. Cheer up now and pretend to be deeply interested in me the next time we pass them."

"Oh, Dicky," she laughed as they approached the silent couple, "don't be so utterly foolish!"

Cara looked around quickly.

"Isn't the moon lovely, Sam?" called Peggy over her shoulder.

"Er—yes—no, I don't think so," he stammered.

"It's too good to waste," she went on, and she and Duval laughed together.

"How foolish Peggy is tonight!" exclaimed Cara as they disappeared.

But Sam did not answer. He wished that Cara had not fallen overboard and that she had not looked so beautiful afterward.

About 4 the next afternoon when they had passed Martha's Vineyard and were heading for Narragansett Pier, the boat slowed down considerably. The only people on deck were Duval and Peggy, Cara and Sam.

"Get to it!" whispered Duval to Peggy. "I'll have everything ready, so don't worry."

Peggy stood not far from the two on deck.

"Oh, see the shark!" she screamed, and leaned far over the rail.

"Be careful!" warned Sam; but he called too late, for there was a heart-rending cry as Peggy disappeared over the side of the boat.

"Good God," groaned Sam, "the shark!" The other girl was forgotten instantly, and for a second time in the last two days Sam rushed to the rescue of a girl overboard.

What if the shark should get her before he did? She must have gone down twice by this time. Furiously he struck out, and this time he almost touched her. But once more she went down. Cold terror crippled his heart and he caught his breath sharply. What if he should lose her now? Almost immediately she was beside him again, bedraggled, but flushed with excitement. She looked anything but frightened. He seized her frantically and held her head above the water.

"Hold on to me—tight," he commanded, "and we'll get to the boat."

To his amazement she shook herself free and laughed at him.

"Oh, no, we won't—I mean you won't pull me there. I'll race you." And with a firm, strong stroke she struck out for the lifeboat which was coming toward them.

"And, Mr. Russell," she called over her shoulder, "I just jumped. Lance dared me to. Thank you so much for coming over for me—you are always so nice about those little things."

"And the shark?" asked Sam.

"Purely imaginary."

Sam boiled inwardly as he saw it all. Cara never would have done such a thing—no, at least she would let him rescue her after he was really in the water. This was very different from the rescue the day before. A slight suspicion touched him—could Cara—but that was ridiculous—or wasn't it? He didn't know what to think. Savagely, he redoubled his efforts and reached the lifeboat before Peggy and helped her on board. In silence they returned to the yacht. He wondered if she was tired after her long swim—if she would like—what nonsense! Of course, she wouldn't like anything to do with him. Someone else helped her out of her boat and he followed slowly and went straight to his own room.

"What a fool I am, anyway—all my own fault, too!" Sam shivered with cold and changed his wet clothes for some flannel trousers and a warm dressing gown.

"Gosh, but I'm cold! I wonder if I've got a chill—hope I won't be sick here—nobody'd care if I was, either. Perfectly good vacation wasted fooling around with a lot of girls who like to jump overboard and who don't care a rap whether I live or die!"

There was a knock at the door, but he did not answer it. It came again, more timidly than before.

"Come in!" he roared, not moving from the warmth of the electric heater.

"Please come here a minute, Sam. I can't come in."

He jumped to his feet instantly and flung the door wide. Peggy, dressed in a long furry robe, was holding a cup of some steaming fluid.

"Please drink it, Sam; I've been so worried about your taking cold."

Obediently he drained the scalding mixture, with his eyes on her face.

"Wonderful!" he exulted, but he wasn't thinking about the contents of the cup at all. Peggy took the empty cup and started down the hall, but he caught her sleeve.

"You can't go till you tell me some of the things I want to know," he told her, holding tightly to her arm.

"That's not fair, Sam Russell! A man who is crazy about one girl has no right to tell another one what she can and cannot do." Angry tears filled her eyes.

"I'm not crazy about another girl. I may have been a damned fool once, but I'm wiser now, and I'll never let you go again if I can help it. Can you ever forgive me, Peggy? I love you so."

The empty cup fell out of Peggy's hands and broke on the floor behind them, but they never even picked up the pieces. After some time Sam asked:

"Will you take a dare from me, Peggy?"

"That depends."

"Marry me the day we land in New York."

"That would be too soon, Sam, dear—I couldn't do it in such a hurry."

"What, then, darling?"

The dinner gong sounded loudly.

"The day after we land in New York."

And she escaped and ran down the hall to her room.

"IT IS THE END."

[Quebec Telegraph.]

Farewell, Brave Heart, farewell! And down the dark
Still corridors of Time resounds the song
Of wild farewells, and stirs to life the long
Forgotten years; they rise again to hark
Those notes, that fall more dolorous sad than e'er,
Forlorn, mad music, by the lute made moan
In faery vales; the dead years hear, and there
Is peace with them they garner in their own.

It is the end, but not for thy rich soul,
For that is endless as an orbed ring
Of burnished gold; it is the end, the toll
For us of knighthood's age, as when the King,
Great Arthur, passed, and left no arm to wield
His magic sword, and bear his spotless shield.

CANADA AND TITLES.

[Canadian Law Times.]

What is Canada going to settle down to in the matter of titles? Probably nearly all will agree that the social and economic conditions of this country are unsuited to hereditary titles; and it is equally natural that the development of democratic feeling should make the vox populi pronounce with increasing decision against knighthoods, though there are not, hereditary, especially as they are suspected of being the reward, very frequently, of wire-pulling, and of party, rather than public, services. On the other hand, so long as we remain a united Empire, and subjects of the King, it seems a pity and an anomaly that, under no circumstances, should public service be permitted to receive titular recognition at the hands of the sovereign. Might not a wise compromise be found by distinguishing between prefixes and affixes; in stopping the former but not the latter? Every graduate of a university is entitled to an affix of B.A., or M.A., or LL.B., or as the case may be. Why, then, should affixes such as C.B., C.M.G. or O.B.E. be objected to? Affixes will never minister to snobbishness as prefixes may undoubtedly do; nor would they tempt in nearly the same degree to wire-pulling for the obtaining of them. No doubt it may be objected, Why should colonial subjects be thus confined to the lower stages of the orders of knighthood? But there is no reason why they should. All that is necessary is to bar the use of the prefix "Sir." Apart from this a Canadian could still be a K.C.B. or a K.C.M.G., or hold any other knighthood. Already the same thing is the case with foreign honorary members of these orders. Gen. Pershing is, we believe, either a K.C.B. or a K.C.M.G.* But he would not think of using the prefix "Sir." Apart from this, however, and even if Canadians were not permitted to accept more than the C.B. or the C.M.G., and not the K.C.B. or the K.C.M.G., would that be any ground of objection when it was done purely at the request and in accordance with the wish of this country?

*Gen. Pershing is a G.C.B.

IS PROUD OF HER FINE LITTLE GIRLS

Why Madame Pepin Is Grateful to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Quebec Lady Tells How Her Children Were Cured of Childish Weakness and Made Strong and Well.

St. Honore, Chicoutimi Co., Que., Feb. 28—(Special).—"I have two fine little girls, thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I can't tell how grateful I am."

It was out of a full heart that Madame Pierre Pepin, a well-known resident of this place, uttered these words. "I have given Dodd's Kidney Pills to my two little girls," she added, "and now they sleep well and do not wet the bed. They are perfectly cured."

Whether or not kidney disease is hereditary, the fact remains that many children suffer from weak kidneys that are unable to do their full work of straining all the impurities out of the blood. The result is that many parents whip their children, when what they really need is a remedy for their kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills have been used in Canada for over twenty-five years as a kidney remedy. If you don't know of the great work they are doing, ask your neighbors.

SPRING SUITS

Japanese Influence Seen Among the Varied Models For the Highly Imaginative New Season.

(By Madame Francis, Famous Creator of Fashions, New York City).

In the spring a young man's fancy may lightly turn to thoughts of love, but in the spring a woman's fancy fastens upon one thought, and that is her spring suit.

The beauty of daffodils and hyacinths and the alluring loveliness of tulips fade before the all-consuming thought: "What shall my spring suit be? Must it be grey, or blue, or tan, or shall I seek the unusual shades of henna and the queer sulphur colors that look so interesting on the beauties of the stage and that I am a bit fearful of trying out for street wear?" ponders the eternal feminine.

That look "distrait" comes from concentration on this thought.

You must admit, even if you are only a mere man, that it is a vital question. The world looks for a new expression in spring. Like nature, it demands that this expression be one of joy and loveliness. Competition is keen in spring. The twittering call of the bird who tries to sing more sweetly to his chosen mate than any other member of his flock is but the piping of the note that runs through everything animate.

Nature calls for loveliness in spring, and woman answers this call in trying to look her loveliest. Spring suits are worn possibly during more hours than any other outdoor garment in her wardrobe, and so the spring suit must be an expression of her own loveliness and an answer to the call of nature as well. A large order, that!

Should Be Youthful.

Spring is the youth of the year, therefore spring suits should be youthful. That is their first requisite. There is nothing more beautiful than youth, so why try to express anything else in a suit?

Luxury is an attribute of winter, the housed civilization to which we have become accustomed. Youth is the attribute of spring, the big out-of-doors that calls for simplicity and naturalness.

You will find, therefore, that my spring suits are very simple and youthful.

Light weight wool, such as tricotine, gabardine and serge, is the fabric solution of the spring suit in the average northern climate, where the approach of spring is slow. For the warmer latitudes I recommend suits of silk serge and charmeuse. These silk suits may be worn on warm days with comfort, and at the same time they are smart and distinctive.

Flannel in combination of light and dark colors—light skirts with brilliantly colored coats—is ideal for wear in mild climates where the effect of summer clothes combined with slight warmth is desired. Silk coats, to be worn with white silk flannel or gabardine skirts, are also smart for such climates, and will be popular for summer wear in cooler latitudes.

Fancy Vest.

The striking note in the spring suits is the use of fancy vests. In fact, vests are featured on suits which are subjugated to this portion of the suit.

I am making these vests of brocade—metallic brocade of silver and gold in combination with shades of bronze, old gold and blue. On some of these vests I am employing Japanese embroidery, in the wonderful designs and colorings for which that nation is famous.

Consider a sequence of blues with a touch of orange and gold here and there or a design of reeds in gold and yellow on a ground of bronze. Can you wonder that these embroideries furnish an inspiration in their colors?

Sometimes these vests are of charmeuse, quilted in conventional designs. A favorite vest of this kind is made of old gold charmeuse, quilted in a series of little scrolls that might have run at random on one of grandmother's quilts. This vest looks particularly well with a navy blue tricotine suit. Joffre blue is also a good color for such a vest. Sand and henna satin are in demand for these vests.

Sand-Colored Tricotine.

A suit of sand-colored tricotine, made with a loose box coat that fastens from the side of the neck in a bias line, is very stunning. A standup collar of sand gabardine, about two inches high, finishes the very unusual neck-line. The bias closing gives the box coat quite a cutaway, which generously displays the real feature of this suit, its vest of gold and bronze brocade. The peplum of this vest shows below the coat. This is the very new feature of these vests.

A very striking hat, which is worn with this costume, is made of bronze straw, which turns up in a picturesque line. It is trimmed with bronze paradise.

A youthful model of old blue gabardine is shown in a coat whose unusualness lies in the kimono yoke and in its vest of blue faille, which is trimmed with parallel stitchings of grey angora. A cord and tassel of angora ties it at waist-line. The revers of this coat are cut to form a right angle with the pockets, which is a very attractive feature of this suit. The skirt, like most of the skirts on the better spring suits, is plain, being gathered to a belt and without trimming of any kind. The sleeves of the coat are cut short to show the dainty blouse sleeves of crepe net.

The hat worn with this gown is rather oriental in its lines. It is made of black straw with a tiny bunch of red, old blue and yellow flowers dangling over the left ear.

Light Blue Wool Coat.

An interesting suit designed for wear in warm climates that will be popular later in summer is found in the light blue wool coat and skirt of cream flannel strapped in blazer colors of blue flannel. These folds are cut on the bias of the goods, and swirl in an interesting line on the plainly made skirt. I am featuring this skirt for sports wear, because it develops charmingly in a variety of combinations.

The blue wool coat of this suit is cut with a kimono sleeve and an attractive round neck, closing with a small lay-down collar of white flannel. The wide bell sleeves carry a small turn-back cuff of white. A belt of blue flannel and small lunar shape pockets complete this suit.

The hat which is worn with this costume lives up to the Japanese suggestion of the lines of the suit. It is made of white hemp straw, strapped with dark blue grosgrain ribbon. A mutton mold covered with narrow blue ribbon finishes the top, giving a final touch to a very picturesque model.

Suggests Japan.

Another suit that carries a message from Japan in its vest of antique Japanese embroidery is found in the box coat model of grey gabardine. The revers describe a deep "U" that displays this embroidery, which is done in two shades of blue—light and dark—with touches of orange, lemon and a suggestion of black. Below this "U" appears the remainder of the vest, for which the plain suit of grey gabardine seems just the right background. The sleeves of this suit—always an important note—are cut kimono. The coat is flared in a gradual line from armhole to hem.

The hat that is worn with this grey suit is a youthful model that is just a softly draped turban of blue hemp. The centre of the hat is strapped across with old blue ribbon that answers to a shade of blue in the embroidery of the vest.

The Fashion Forecast

Chiffon evening wraps, made usually of two shades, giving the opportunity for beautiful color contrasts, will be profusely used this spring and summer. These wraps are fringed with ostrich feathers.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE UNIFORM LESSON FOR SUNDAY

MARCH 2, 1919.

ONE GOLDEN TEXT SUGGESTION.

By Rev. T. S. Linscott D.D.

The report of the spies.—Numbers 13:1-14:38.

QUESTIONS FOR TODAY.

17. Verses 20-25—What effect in these days does the prayer of the righteous have upon the welfare of the wicked?

18. Verses 26-37. How do we know, or what is the proof, that no man, or people, can escape the earthly consequences of their sins?

19. Verse 38. What was the reward of faithful Joshua and Caleb, and what is the reward of every man who remains true to God, when the majority are against Him?

Golden Text—This is the victory that hath overcome the world, even our faith.—I. John v., 4.

FAITH WILL MISSION THE WORLD

The forces of evil in our own land, and in every land, are mighty, and when our faith is allowed to slip a cog, we fear that Christ will never overcome these evil forces; that cruelty and crime are too strong to be conquered by the gospel of Christ. But when we allow our faith to be clear visioned, and remember the almighty power of God, and think of the victories of the cross during the centuries we are then confident that the world will be won, and that in good time Christ and His cause will dominate the world. In this faith we send our preachers and missionaries, and we publish our literature, telling the plan of salvation and charming people with the gospel of Christ. With this faith the world will doubtless be finally won.

New Eastern Star Chapter Organized at St. Thomas Now

Ruth Chapter Here Present at Installation There.

About forty officers and members of Ruth Chapter, No. 26, visited St. Thomas, when a new chapter of the Eastern Star was organized and opened by the grand worthy matron, Mrs. Robina Maines of Toronto, and J. A. Hallman, the grand worthy patron, assisted by other Grand Chapter officials. The afternoon was taken up in organization and installation work.

In the evening the Grand Chapter invited Ruth Chapter of London to exemplify the beautiful degree work for the new chapter, which was done in a most efficient and impressive manner. Mrs. Albert Trick, the worthy matron, and George E. Logan, worthy patron, of Ruth Chapter, replied to the vote of thanks and congratulations of the grand officers extended to Ruth Chapter for their splendid work. Mrs. Thomas Rowe, assisted by A. Clair, conducted the musical ritual, which was heard by Grand Chapter for the first time, and the conductress, Mrs. Rowe, was complimented upon the pleasing acquisition to the Eastern Star work. Mrs. Hourd rendered the solo parts.

Adjournment was made to the auditorium, where a banquet was prepared by Maple Leaf Chapter, No. 3, in honor of the new baby chapter. About 300 sat down to the tables and a pleasant hour and a half was spent listening to addresses by prominent members. The London members returned home shortly after midnight.

Western Ontario Women's Activities

The Port Alma branch of the West Kent Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Alex Crewe, with thirteen members present.

The report of the Women's Institute convention, recently held in Toronto, was taken up, and each resolution passed by the convention was discussed and approved of. A donation of $50 was made to the Salvation Army fund, in response to their appeal to Kent County for aid in their work. Three

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mackenzie, Hyde Park, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday afternoon, February 26, when their daughter Helen was united in marriage to Dr. William R. Clinton of Detroit, son of the late Nelson J. and Mrs. Clinton, formerly of Windsor. The ceremony was performed by Rev. James A. Gale of Hyde Park. Dr. and Mrs. Clinton left on the evening train for Montreal, Ottawa and Kingston, and on their return will take up their residence at 1151 Second avenue, Detroit, Michigan.

The annual "at home" given by the Normal School students to their friends was held last night, and was by far the most successful that the students have put on. Over 450 friends of the students were present and enjoyed to the fullest extent the excellent program provided by the ten "proms," which started at the end of the program, at 10 o'clock. Members of the medical school were invited, and voted the school teachers the best hostesses yet. The teachers of the Tecumseh, Simcoe and Wortley Road Schools were also present. The auditorium and corridors were prettily decorated with the school colors of red and gold. Miss Margaret Howe, president of the Literary Society, gave the address of welcome. Principal John Dearness also spoke and welcomed the visitors. Those taking part in the program were: Misses Geraldine Regan, Marguerite Gibson and George Steer. Refreshments were served at the close of the concert.

The Acadian Club ball given in the Masonic Temple on Friday evening was without doubt one of the most successful social affairs of the season. Not since pre-war days has the Acadian Club given such a ball. With the return of a large number of its members from overseas, this was thought a fit way by the club generally to welcome them home.

Palms in profusion, with roses of every hue and tint, daffodils, smilax and ferns, bordered every side, nook and corner of the ballroom, while the stage, with a background of royal blue curtains with the club monogram embroidered on them, was banked all along the footlights with roses and narcissus. Each window was draped with little curtains of grey and red streamers, the club colors, while the Acadian pennant made the walls gay. The lattice of the balcony was beautifully decorated with greenery intermingled with bright red colors, and the name "Acadian," in myriads of electric lights welcomed the merry dancers as they entered the hall.

Secluded in a bower of palms were the two Acadian Club orchestras, the augmented and stringed.

In the basement a buffet luncheon was served, the same decorations in spring flowers being carried out on the tables, which were brilliant with softshaded candles and roses.

From 9 o'clock until 2 o'clock the dancers tripped lightly to most charming music. Some of the smartest gowns and pretty frocks created by Dame Fashion were seen on this occasion.

Among the gowns noticed were:

Mrs. Milton Jackson, in black velvet with shell pink and sequins, and corsage of violets and roses.

Mrs. (Dr.) Stanley Moore, in rose velvet.

Mrs. Richard Balfour, in robin egg satin.

Mrs. Marlon Coles, in a French gown of pink taffeta caught with rosebuds.

Miss Marie Coughlin, in coral pink velvet, with violet corsage.

Miss Angela McPhillips, in embroidered net over silver.

Miss Eleanor McPhillips, in French blue net, with corsage of American roses.

Mrs. Fred Boltz, in black jersey silk with touches of gold and corsage of French flowers.

Miss Isobel Coles, in white chiffon embroidered in gold, with apple green streamers and corsage bouquet of Russel roses.

Miss Geraldine Regan, in white satin and corsage of roses.

Mrs. C. C. Morris, in grey crepe de chine and wearing a diamond and amethyst necklace.

Mrs. Gordon Keenleyside, cream charmeuse with Pekin blue overdress and silver trimming.

Miss Dorothy Carlisle, in pink satin and black net.

Mrs. (Major) Stanbury, in white satin with corsage of violets.

Mrs. Ralph Millar, in mauve crepe de chine with silver lace and violet corsage.

Others present were:

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Lawrason, Mr. Carman Learn, Capt. and Mrs. Murray Morrison, Capt. and Mrs. D. G. MacIntosh, Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rowe, Capt. and Mrs. E. H. Shuttleworth, Miss Anita Black, Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Smith, Captain and Mrs. W. Composed It Herself.

Dear Miss Grey,—Here I am with a piece of poetry that I composed myself. You see, I am running opposition to "Ura Kidd." Do you think there is any chance? Well, here it is:

I agree with you, "Ura,"
As I sit by the bureau,
That the kaiser's future home should be hot;
He's been a mean old beggar,
And his meals should be meagre,
But according to the papers they're not.
One reader said to put him in a cage,
And show him around at the fairs;
My, Miss Grey, but how he would rage,
Just like those big grizzly bears.
Don't take offence now, "Ura Kidd,"
You'll surely think I've lost my lid,
But I know you'll agree to let me claim
The name of poetess just the same!

"WORLD PROHIBITION" IS DISCUSSED BY THE W. C. T. U. ORGANIZER

Reception of Many New Members Closes Week of Prayer.

The W. C. T. U. week of prayer closed yesterday afternoon by a large meeting in the Centennial Methodist Church, at the close of which about thirty new women were received into membership. The large number present and the increasing enthusiasm of the members is a strong indication that this organization, which is largely responsible for the prohibition legislation as it is on the statute books today, has still a large amount of fight left in it, to insure that prohibition permanency. Throughout the whole week, underneath the prayers, addresses and short talks, which took place, could be detected a fixed determination not to let the country go back to the old days, when liquor flowed freely and the W. C. T. U. had to work so long with seemingly such discouraging results.

Mrs. C. B. Bigelow, provincial W. C. T. U. organizer, was the speaker of yesterday afternoon, her topic being "World Prohibition."

"The presence of strong drink is the colossal crime of the ages, and it seems to be at the foundation of all the evils which affect our manhood and womanhood," she declared. "The United States has realized this for while I was in Columbus attending the anti-saloon convention there I learned that $6,000,000 was to be spent there every year for the next five years to combat this evil. Furthermore there is an immense printing plant operated there, which daily issues millions of pages of prohibition literature."

Through the Ages.

The speaker traced the history of alcohol through the ages, pointing out how in every age and every land, the most brilliant minds denounced its use.

The liquor question in Europe was another interesting phase of her address. The speaker pointed out how Russia's two years of prohibition had saved Paris and London at the beginning of the war, because a sober Russian army was a unit to be reckoned with by the Germans.

"If there had been prohibition in Germany, I do not believe that their terrible atrocities and crimes would have been committed. I believe that their inspiration came from officers crazed with drink," said Mrs. Bigelow. "France and Belgium used to be nations which were said to illustrate the harmlessness of light liquors and wines, but now we see that this has but led to the worst forms of drunkenness.

"It may be said to the credit of Austria-Hungary that temperance is being taught in the schools there, and it is in the schools where teaching is most effective, for there in the process of growth are the future men and women of the nation. In Switzerland, Portugal and Spain, they are trying to educate the people to total abstinence, while in Italy a Catholic union monthly publishes a paper against strong drink.

"One thing that we hope for, now that the war is over, is the lining up of the European countries for prohibition.

Fight In East, Too.

"In Africa, India and China the fight is going on, too. China was the first country that passed a law against the use of liquor and that was passed by the emperor in the fourth century. Yet today liquor and the cigarette, sent into the country by us, is China's worst peril. It is a great hindrance to the teaching of Christianity there, that bottles of liquor and packages of cigarettes are labelled in the same language as that of the missionary. In India there is a committee of Buddhists, Mohammedans and Christians all working together on a committee to fight the liquor traffic.

Materia Medica Too.

"One of the most wonderful signs of the times is the attitude of "Materia Medica" on the therapeutic properties of alcohol. While some years ago it was considered necessary by many doctors in the treatment of different diseases and conditions, today the American Medical Association opposes not only its use as a beverage, but says that as a therapeutic agent its use should be discouraged. It has become evident that national prohibition would be welcomed by the medical profession.

"Canada would like to believe that Dominion-wide prohibition was in sight. It is only a matter of a short time before the whole of the United States will go dry, and I think this is largely due to the fact that temperance has long been taught in the schools over there. Now that the boys and girls, influenced by this teaching, have grown to an age when they may vote, they agree to drive liquor out of the country. Great things may be done through the teaching of the children."

Trinket Fund Provides Half of Drinks.

Mrs. May R. Thornley gave a most interesting report on how the thimble and trinket fund is helping the soldier today. After telling how every second cup of tea, coffee, lemonade, etc., given out by the Y. M. C. A. last year was supplied by the thimble and trinket fund, $26,000 out of a total of $50,000 expended in free drinks by the association, having been collected through the thimble and trinket campaign. Mrs. Thornley said that there was still on hand $14,000 to be handed over for this purpose.

The speaker explained that although the war was over there was still need of drinks for the men, perhaps even greater need than before, because now that they were comparatively idle they needed something to occupy their time, and the offer of the cup of coffee provided one diversion. Consequently free drink marquees had been established in demobilization centres overseas, and receiving centres here in Canada.

Mrs. Harrison's Work.

Mrs. Harrison described most vividly her work in the social service department of the W. C. T. U. This, which principally comprises her mothers' meetings, her work among the young girls on the streets and her work at the jail, was full of interest for everyone. The successful manner in which she received out to grasp the hands of the girls on the streets, who are just on the verge of passing beyond the borders of a decent life, is most inspiring.

Before the close of the meeting the reception service of new members was conducted by Mrs. Gordon Wright, after which supper was served and a social hour spent.

MANY STILL IN DOUBT REGARDING WILLARD-DEMPSEY CHAMPION BOUT

Place Not Decided Upon For the Big Fight—Is Jess Willard Handling His Own Fight, or Is Tex Rickard the Promoter?

[By Frank G. Menke.]

Echoed whisperings concerning the Jess Willard-Jack Dempsey affair create these questions:

1. Who is financing the fight?

2. What is the real motive that influenced Jess Willard's sudden determination to defend his title?

3. Will the fight ever be pulled off?

The hoi polloi answers the first quizz by insisting that "why, Tex Rickard is the promoter." But is he? Or is Jess Willard the man behind?

Harken to this, which comes from one of the smartest men identified with pugilism, and one who claims to have positive information upon which he bases his statement:

"Jess Willard has engineered the whole thing, with Tex Rickard acting merely as his agent. Rickard has not guaranteed Willard $100,000 out of his own pocket. The only money that Willard will get—if the fight is staged—is a bulky share of the profits. But Dempsey is guaranteed his $27,500, and Rickard will get a salary and a percentage of profits in a Texas oil venture, the booming of which is the real purpose of creating publicity for the fight.

"More than a year ago Rickard left the United States, declaring he was through with the fight game. The holdups that he had encountered while engineering the Willard-Moran affair in 1916 had disgusted him. Rickard had no intention of coming back to attempt to put on another contest. But some months ago Willard got into communication with him, and as a result of this Rickard came to the United States, had several conferences with Willard—and all of a sudden Jess announced that he would fight and would get $100,000 for his services.

"The $100,000 figure—a mythical guarantee—was decided upon because its magnitude would be sure to stimulate interest in the bout. Then the job was for Rickard and Willard to shift part of the attention from the fight to the oil ownings of both in Texas."

The whole affair, according to this informant, is just a plan to boost the sale of the oil lands which Willard owns in Texas, and in which Rickard has a small share, acquired since his return to the States. Everyone who has followed the various Willard-Rickard interviews no doubt has noticed that every time those boys talk they end up with a discourse on the golden opportunities of the oil business in Texas. And every time one or another moves out of town it is with the statement that "I am bound for the oil fields."

This constant ejaculation about the oil fields has excited your interest, hasn't it? And it's done the same with hundreds of thousands of other folks who are getting all steamed up about those oil lands where one can buy a few acres for a few dollars and make a few million before breakfast the next morning.

Rickard rarely has confabbed with the newspaper writers around the Gotham district without leading up the boys with oil talk. He climaxed his press agenting of the oil fields recently by declaring:

"I've got a ten-acre plot down there, and I expect to make a fortune out of it. I haven't sunk any wells on my property, but all around my place big gushers have been encountered. I have reason to believe that my property, which is in the centre of the field, should produce oil in immense volume.

"I'm so enthusiastic about my holdings, boys, that I advise you fellows to get in with me, or to get holdings in the oil fields in some way. I'm going so far in my tip as to tell you that if you lose on the venture, I'll make good your losses."

Some of the newspaper boys at once printed this. What has been the effect? The millions of readers are all excited about this "million to gain and nothing to lose" proposition. Of course, Rickard guaranteed to make good only the possible losses of the newspaper boys. But that offer has a psychological effect upon the public.

"If Rickard reckons the venture so good that he'll make good any losses of the newspaper boys," reason the public, "why the thing sounds good enough for me to take a flyer, too."

Willard, according to his own statements, has heavy holdings in the Texas fields. If all "pan" out perhaps Jess wouldn't sell. But if they don't—and some oil lands are just that way—Jess might not have much trouble in selling 'em to boobs for a price that would mean a tremendous profit for him—and perhaps nothing of the sort for the buyer.

The best possible form of publicity for the Texas oil lands is just the kind which Willard and Rickard have given to it—indirect and seemingly nonchalant publicity. A shrewd pair of publicity blokes are Jess and Tex—if their purpose is to boost Texas oil properties.

Where will the fight be held—or, at least, what town will Rickard "decide" upon as the site for the battle—if there is a battle?

Watch for statements from Rickard and perhaps—at a none too distant date—you will read that Willard and Dempsey are to fight in Texas—In the centre of the oil belt—"provided it can be arranged."

And that means more and ever more interest in the oil fields of Texas and centres attention directly on the holdings of Jess and Tex.

VICTORIA DEFEATED BY SEATTLE SEXTET

Superior Combination and Consistent Play Won the Game for Seattle.

Victoria, B. C., March 1.—Superior combination and consistent play won the hockey game for Seattle last night, when they defeated Victoria, 5 to 4. Slack playing in the second period by the Victorias lost them the game. They started out in fine fashion, and were the first to score, and the way the team was working led the fans to feel very optimistic regarding the final outcome.

In the second period, however, which started with the teams even, with two goals each, the Victoria men seemed unable or unwilling to exert themselves.

Lineup:

Seattle.	Position.	Victoria.
Holmes	Goal	Murray
Rickey	Defence	E. Loughlin
Rowe	Defence	C. Loughlin
Walker	Rover	Johnson
Morris	Centre	Oatman
Wilson	Right wing	Tobin

WOODSTOCK DEFEATS GUELPH COLLEGIATE IN WHYTE SERIES

Woodstock Girls Have Little Trouble in Trimming Guelph Team.

WOODSTOCK, Feb. 28.—Perhaps it was their mascot, a little white French poodle, that brought luck, but at any rate, the local collegiate basketball girls trimmed the Guelph girls for fair tonight in the final game here in the John Whyte trophy series, the score being 18 to 6 in favor of Woodstock. Despite the unfavorable weather a good crowd witnessed the game, which was exciting from start to finish. The very first thing Woodstock scored a field basket and a foul basket, Isobelle Fraser and Lillian McCrimmon doing the honors. Indeed, these ladies kept up their good work all through the game, and at the end of the first period the score stood 11 to 4 for Woodstock. Miss Mary McKay also played a star game for the locals. Unfortunately none of Guelph's girls seemed to be up to their usual standard, and no field baskets were scored by them.

Woodstock secured ten baskets on foul shots. With the exception of the protest game between Stratford and Guelph, this is the last game in the series.

The line-up:

Woodstock.		Guelph.
I. Fraser	Centre	B. Stickney
M. McKay	Forwards	A. Brydon
L. McCrimmon	Forwards	J. Roberts
G. Hill	Defence	B. Yates
A. Russell	Defence	O. Miller

DATES FOR O. H. A. FINALS ANNOUNCED BY SECRETARY

Toronto, March 1.—Secretary W. A. Hewitt of the Ontario Hockey Association has announced the following dates for the playing of the finals in the senior, intermediate and junior sections:

Senior.

Wednesday, March 5—Winner of St. Patricks-Kitchener game (being played tonight) vs. Hamilton at Hamilton.

Saturday, March 8—Hamilton vs. winner of St. Pats-Kitchener game at Toronto Arena.

Intermediate.

Thursday, March 6—Kingston at winner of Seaforth-Collingwood.

Monday, March 10—Winner of Seaforth-Collingwood at Kingston.

Junior.

Wednesday, March 12—Winner of U. T. S.-Cornwall at winner of Woodstock-Sudbury.

Saturday, March 15—Winner of Woodstock-Sudbury at winner of U. T. S.-Cornwall.

The dates for the Allan Cup games and the two matches for the junior championship of Canada, all to be played in Toronto, will be announced later.

WOODSTOCK JUNIORS WON FROM PARRY SOUND SIX

WOODSTOCK, Feb. 28.—The local hockey juniors arrived home this morning after their successful trip to Sudbury. The boys are all in good shape, and Coach Breen and Manager Childs are more than pleased at the showing made. They claim the game was far more closely-contested than the score indicates, barring the second period, when Ironsides, the Sudbury goaler, made the ascension and allowed three counters slip by in three minutes, the play was close and strenuous.

On the way home they dropped off at Parry Sound, the home of the Carson boys and Norman Shay. A game was arranged and last night the juniors defeated Parry Sound outfit by 11 to 4. The team was banquetted by Mr. and Mrs. Carson.

HARRY GREBB WIN.

Toledo, Feb. 28.—Harry Grebb of Pittsburg defeated Wiggins of Indianapolis in eleven rounds of a twelve-round bout here last night. The second round was even. The men are lightweights.

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS.

New York, March 1.—Even if the Hamilton, Ont., franchise has no place to go, Donovan is looking around for players for his floating ball club. Pat called on Miller Huggins to try to get a few of Huggins's surplus players from the Yankee roster. Jim McCaffrey, owner of the Toronto club, also held a session with the little Yankee manager.

FRED ALLEN'S RINK WINS VICTORY CUP FROM GALT CURLERS

Rink Skipped by J. A. Head Defeated by London Thistles.

GALT, Feb. 28.—The rink skipped by Fred Allen of the London Thistles tonight returned home with a handsome big victory trophy cup in their possession, having taken it away from J. A. Heads four, by defeating them this morning by the score of 22 to 11. The Thistles got off to a flying start, and at one stage the score stood 13 to 3 in their favor. Every man on the rink played a good game throughout, while the locals were somewhat off-color. The rinks:

London.		Galt.
W. R. Rhodes		J. Melvin
P. H. Fetterly		F. H. Chapple
N. H. Keene		D. McCallum
F. N. Allen,		J. K. Head,
Skip	22	Skip 11

Altogether three Thistle rinks were here for the annual visit. They had planned going to Waterloo for a game this afternoon, but after arrival here they received word that the Waterloo ice was in bad condition, and it was decided to play afternoon games here, but when the curlers returned to the rink, they also found the local sheet under water. Both other London rinks won their games. Scores:

Thistles.	Granites.
H. J. McCallum	A. Roelofson
R. J. Spalding	A. Ray
A. M. Heaman	H. Walker
W. Fulton,	C. Knowles,
Skip 20	Skip 8

Thistles.	Galt.

SEAFORTH OUTPLAYED BY COLLINGWOOD IN SEMI-FINAL CONTEST

Collingwood Trims Seaforth Intermediates by Score of 8 to 2.

COLLINGWOOD, Feb. 28.—In an O. H. A. intermediate semi-final game here tonight Seaforth was defeated by the locals, the score being 8 to 2. The attendance fell far below expectations, as few conceded the visitors a chance to stop the speedy local sextet. The ice was covered with water, and it was impossible to carry the puck with any degree of certainty.

Considering the conditions, Collingwood showed good form. McLeod took to the heavy doing, and was easily the best man on the ice. He blocked in his usual telling style, and made many end-to-end rushes. Fryer tried hard, but was unable to shoot the disc with his usual deadly accuracy. Dot Reid played well for Seaforth, but was given little assistance by his team-mates. Collingwood and Seaforth will meet in their last semi-final game on the latters' ice on Monday night, and judging by tonight's display, the locals should prove easy victors.

The teams:

Seaforth—Goal, McCooth; defence, Reid and Hopkins; centre, Sills; right wing, Hoffman; left wing, R. Reid; substitutes, Beck and Thorne.

Referee—Lawson Whitehead.

SIMCOE SENIORS LOSE TO NIAGARA FALLS SIX

SIMCOE, Feb. 28.—Niagara Falls won from the locals by a score of 8 to 5 in a Northern League senior game held here tonight. On wet ice the visitors scored the first goal, and at the end of the first period led by two goals, the score being 4 to 2. During the second period two more goals were netted by each team, the score standing 6 to 4, while in the third period the visitors scored two more to the locals' one.

The line-up:

Niagara Falls.		Simcoe.
Dwyer	Goal	Mayo
Murray	L. Defence	Raney
Bawtinhimer	R. Defence	Jackson
Robins	Centre	Kelly
Walsh	L. Wing	Mitchell
Carrigan	R. Wing	Mason

Referee—A. D. Fraser, Brantford.
Timekeeper—T. E. Langford.

PRESTON FOOTBALL TEAM READY TO ENTER W. F. A.

PRESTON, Feb. 28.—The local football sports say that if the W. F. A. is organized this coming spring Preston will enter a team. A number of the old players are still in town, and are anxious to get back into the game, and in addition there is a lot of new material in town. There is no reason why the local club could not have a strong team in the field and repeat their victories of a few years ago.

MEET WILL BE HELD AT SPRINGWOOD GUN CLUB

Members of the Springwood Gun Club will hold a meet at 2.30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, at which there will be many visitors from Port Stanley and other out-of-town places.

GUELPH AGGIES HELD ANNUAL INDOOR MEET FRIDAY AFTERNOON

W. R. Gunn Again Wins Grand Championship Honors With 19 Points.

GUELPH, Feb. 28.—The annual O. A.C. indoor athletic meet at the college gymnasium was held this afternoon. No records were broken, but the competition throughout was of the keenest nature, and none of the spectators went away disappointed.

Grand championship honors fell to W. R. Gunn of Class 19, who collected 19 points, while Waugh of Class 22, with 15 points, and Allan of Class 19, with 14 points, were close behind. Class 19 for the fourth time in succession were the inter-champions.

STRATFORD JUVENILES TO GO UP AGAINST HAMILTON

STRATFORD, Feb. 28.—Stratford Y. M. C. A. juvenile O. B. A. team, which defeated Woodstock on the round by 11 points, has been protested, the Woodstock club claiming that Mervin McDowell is over age. The local officials, however, assert that they can prove that this is not so.

Last night's game in Woodstock was played under protest on this account. Stratford lost the game in Woodstock 23 to 17, but their 17-goal lead in the game here made them winners by 47 to 36. They are now due to meet Hamilton in the finals, and are preparing to do so, taking little stock in the Woodstock protest. A representative of the Woodstock team was here today endeavoring to obtain evidence to back their claim. However, the local club has a birth certificate accepted by the O. B. A. management and a playing certificate issued. As a matter of fact the entire Woodstock team played both games with Stratford without certificates. Their registration has been sent in, but no certificates have been issued to the players.

CLINTON SHUT OUT BY GLENCOE IN N. H. L.

GLENCOE, Feb. 28.—Glencoe played a shut-out game with Clinton here tonight, the score being 18 to 0. Clinton's defence was very bad. The ice was soft and sticky.

The line-up:

Clinton.		Glencoe.
Johnston	Goal	Reardon
Brown	Defence	Doble
Schoenhals	Defence	Davenport
Bawden	Centre	Weaver
Rider	Wing	Hamilton
Fisher	Wing	Wall

Referee, Armstrong of London.

DURHAM JUNIORS TO ENTER N. H. L. FINALS

DURHAM, Feb. 28.—Durham entered the finals for the Junior Northern League tonight by defeating Chesley here by a score of 4 to 1. Durham held the lead throughout the contest. The lineup:

Durham.	Pos.	Chesley.
Allen	Goal	Pickfid
Zimmer	Defence	Stanley
Buschfen	Defence	Davidson
Morlock	Centre	Wettlaufer
Elvidge	Wing	Halliday
McGirr	Wing	Helperington

DATES ARE ARRANGED FOR ROUNDS SERIES

WOODSTOCK, Feb. 28.—The committee in charge of the play-off in the consolation hockey series for the Rounds trophy met this morning and arranged the dates for the games. Entries were received from Paris, Stratford and Kitchener. The result of the draw gave Stratford a bye. Paris will play in Kitchener Monday, March 3, with a return game at home on March 5. On March 7 the winner will meet Stratford at the Arena in Woodstock. The committee decided that competing clubs should have first chance to select a referee. In case of a disagreement the committee will pick the official.

TORONTO CURLERS WIN FROM PETERBORO RINKS

TORONTO, Feb. 28.—The curling competition for the district cup was concluded at the Granite rink this morning, when two rinks from Peterboro suffered defeat at the hands of the High Park Club of Toronto, by 36 to 21. Although the thermometer is above freezing today the ice was still in first rate condition.

PROSPECTS FOR SPRING TRADE ARE ENCOURAGING

London reports to Bradstreet's that conditions generally are not unfavorable although there is some dullness apparent. The unseasonable weather has rather unsettled winter business, and spring trade has not started with any great degree of activity as yet. Prospects for spring, however, are thought to be encouraging in most lines. Collections have been slow in February.

CLUB OWNERS ARE IN FAVOR OF EXTENDING PLAYING SCHEDULE

Movement Started by American and National League Club Owners.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—A movement in favor of extending the 140-game schedule in the National and American Leagues to the old length of 154 games was started here today by Lieut.-Col. T. L. Huston, half-owner of the New York Americans.

Harry Frazee, owner of the Boston Americans, and Charles Stoneham, president of the New York Nationals, are said to have indorsed the plan.

"The American League schedule of 140 games was decided upon while I was still abroad and I think it is a foolish piece of legislation, indicating a lack of confidence in the new season," Huston said. "I do not think it is too late to draw up new schedules. Frazee is with me and Comiskey, of Chicago, also favors the long schedule."

CHARMING MAY ALLISON IN A MIRTH-PROVOKING PLAY SHOWING AT THE GRAND ON MON., TUES., WED. AND THURS.

Neil W. J. McInnis, the Dramatic Tenor, Will Furnish the Vaudeville Feature For First Four Days of the Week—A Special Comedy and a Pathe News Weekly Will Complete an Excellent Program.

"In For Thirty Days," a mirth provoking play of a surprising originality with charming May Allison as the star will be the feature attraction at the Grand on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 2:30, 7 and 9 o'clock.

There is a law down south which requires that all prisoners not needed to work on the roads be hired out to the townspeople for twenty cents a day. And perhaps Brett Page was only human to take advantage of it. He has been snubbed by a vision in a red roadster, Helen Corning was her name, more than that, he and his "flivver" had nearly been wiped out. She had offered to pay him five dollars for the damage to his car, but that was not what really rankled, she had called him "my man."

The too well-dressed foreigner with her in the car at the time, too, had smiled, an unpleasant smile. The man's smile and monocle and waxed moustache goaded Page. He was a count or something, and the girl's mother was trying to acquire him in the capacity of son-in-law. So when fate and sixty miles an hour through the village street combined to throw the girl into the county jail, Page remembered the law—and he hired her for thirty days. He drove her like a slave at her work, but then had her cell at the jail, where she slept, fixed up like a Park avenue apartment. And just as things were going quite well—Brett and Helen—writing rather foolish things to each other on his typewriter, the count started something, with Helen's mother as partner in his plan. With the aid of several town thugs, the girl was abducted one night and bundled into a car and told to drive it. The roughnecks didn't know how. So the erstwhile vision opened up the throttle wide and drove right into Brett's bungalow. He scattered the town bullies, brought out the Ford and did a little abducting on his own account.

Neil W. J. McInnes at the Grand Monday.

Neil W. J. McInnes, dramatic tenor, late of the team of Mack and Salle, who has been for two seasons on the Orpheum circuit, and also on the Pantages circuit, and also as soloist in many of the largest moving picture theatres in the United States will be heard in a repertoire of new and exclusive songs at the Grand the first four days of next week. A special comedy and the Pathe News will complete the bill.

"Some Baby," a Real Farce at the Grand on Friday and Saturday Next.

Take one man, aged sixty-five years and three months, with a longing for youth; leave him with a bottle of the latest scientific discovery, the elixir of youth; return in five minutes and find, not the old general but a tiny baby crying plaintively. What else could the eager scientist suppose, but that his study has resulted more brilliantly than he had dared to hope, though the fact that only three teaspoonfuls was the prescribed dose, and the bottle was empty. Then a little later in the game leave a weeping woman on the sofa and return to find apparently another empty bottle and on the sofa another baby. Surely a complication unforeseen.

That is "Some Baby," the gay farce that will be the offering at the Grand next Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:15 and Saturday matinee at 2:30, reminding one strongly of "Baby Mine." It is one long laugh from beginning to end. But things happen, something new every minute or so; when fates are sealed when someone's conveniently stepping out just before someone else comes in; when it is all so absolutely ridiculous that you have to keep watching it for fear of missing something, of course, everyone laughs. Everybody does without wanting to explain why. If you start explaining you never could finish, and besides it would hardly sound funny at all. You have to see it all happen, and especially you have to see the quaint little old doctor, who is Zellah Covington, and the author of the play himself.

Scene from "The Man Who Came Back," William A. Brady's great New York dramatic success, playing at the Grand this afternoon at 2:30 and this evening at 8:15 o'clock.

NEIL W. J. McINNESS, the dramatic tenor, who will be the vaudeville attraction at the Grand Opera House on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday next.

GIRLS! WOMEN! DO YOUR LOOKS SATISFY YOU?

Is your color fresh and rosy?
Does the glow of health shine out in your cheeks?
Do your eyes glisten with health, or are they dull, dark circled and tired?
Alas—your bloodless face indicates trouble. Your watery blood menaces your health. What you need is the toning, cleansing assistance of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They will clean out the overplus of bile that makes your skin so murky—they will put new life into the stomach, brace up digestion and make you eat sufficient food to get a blood supply ahead.
Good blood always means more strength and vigor—that's why Dr. Hamilton's Pills are so successful in building up weak, thin folks.
You'll feel better at once, your looks will improve and that half-dead, lazy feeling will depart, because Dr. Hamilton's Pills enliven and fortify every ailing organ in the body.
Ask your friends, your neighbors—most anyone can tell you of the enormous good done by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, but beware of any substitute.

BIG NEW YORK HIT AT THE GRAND TODAY, MATINEE AND NIGHT

"The Man Who Came Back" Is Being Presented by Original Cast.

The attraction at the Grand again today, matinee at 2:30 and evening at 8:15 will be Wm. A. Brady's production of "The Man Who Came Back," the virile melodrama by Jules Eckert Goodman, based on the widely-read story of John Fleming Wilson. Everyone admires and loves the man, who, having gone wrong, fights his way back to a position of honor. In this drama the regeneration of this boy is brought about by a cabaret singer, who proves that a woman will go to any lengths to save the man she loves. This modern prodigal son runs the gamut of dissipation, reaching the depths, but through a woman's love wins honor and happiness again.

The story is of today, and is panoramic in its wide sweep. There are five elaborated scenes depicting the story, and they are laid in New York, San Francisco, Shanghai and Honolulu. "The Man Who Came Back" is emphatically the biggest dramatic success of the decade, having enjoyed long and prosperous runs in New York, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia. The cast includes James Dyrenforth, Katherine Cornell, James Seeley, Jane Carleton, Richard Clarke, Esther Howard, Peter Lee, Sophie Allen, Thomas Magrane and Frank Howson.

ROSE WILBUR, a versatile actress, who will appear at the Grand Opera House on Friday and Saturday next, matinees and evenings, in a farce comedy, "Some Baby."

MAY ALLISON
The beautiful and fascinating screen star, appearing at Grand on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday next, in a sparkling comedy, "In for Thirty Days."

Weekly Theatrical Letter

(By BRETT PAGE.)

NEW YORK, March 1.—Those who used to sit in easy chairs two years or so ago and say that George M. Cohan had begun to lose his punch, pointing to the few things of his own he had recently done as proof positive, smiled when anyone mildly said "Let's hope Georgie's only taking a rest." When Cohan "came across" with "Over There," they said that stirring song—one would almost write "anthem"—was merely a miraculous flicker of one-time genius.

There was just enough "evidence," however, to make those who jealously guard every really bright thing or reputation of our stage, sometimes to wonder a bit. For instance, Cohan had been so busy in other years, with new plays, new songs, new productions of his own and others, not to speak of his own personal appearances, that for him to be merely as busy as the average producer seemed disquieting. And then there came "A Prince There Was," and his unexpected reappearance upon the stage. He naturally returned to the footlights unannounced, and transformed a play hazard into a big success.

Cohan's New Show.

Then it was announced that in his spare time saved from playing eight performances a week, and conducting his share of the Cohan and Harris business, that Cohan was staging a new musical show. Some of the rehearsals had to take place after the night's performances in the wee hours of the morning. It then seemed interesting to think of Cohan once more back in his strenuous strides. But would he "put it over"? This was the question—could Cohan come back emphatically?

"The Royal Vagabond" is the answer. It is perhaps the best and certainly the most interesting comedy of the season. But it is even more—it's a new departure in musical comedy. It carries the sub-title, "A Cohanized Opera Comique." Here is just what it is:

"The Royal Vagabond."

With book and lyrics written by Stephen Ivor Szinnyey and Wm. Cary Duncan, and music by Dr. Anselm Goetzl, "The Royal Vagabond" is a satirical burlesque of opera comique. The opening chorus declares there always has to be an inn keeper and a heroine and a villain and a hero, so here they are, and out they come and bow. But the satire doesn't end there all through there are moments when the action becomes tense in the musical comedy way and at that instant a shaft of humor is suddenly shot at tradition. For instance:

The hero prince and his comic tutor are listening to the traditional horses' footbeats off stage. "Doesn't that sound like a horseman approaching?" the prince demands. "Not exactly," the tutor answers, "but it's a good effect."

Yet the best of it is that refreshing as is the satire, it isn't carried too far. There's still plenty of the romance of opera comique, plenty of melodious music, but just enough of the spirit of satire to make it all very different and exceedingly amusing. To achieve this contrast Cohan has written some melodies that heighten the whistling value of the show. What he did on the musical side may be gathered from the balance of credit of the three best numbers. "Here Comes the Soldiers" is a musical satire and a surprise, it is credited to Cohan. But the beautiful "Love Is Love" is by Goetzl. Still perhaps the hit of the show is "In a Kingdom of Our Own," and this is by Cohan.

A Beautiful Production.

Beautifully produced, with striking scenery and charming costumes, and a chorus that might be prettier, but perhaps couldn't be more clever nor more spirited, "The Royal Vagabond" heralds no great stars. But every member of the large cast is not merely adequate, but nearly ideal in his or her part. Robinson Newbold is exceedingly amusing in almost a new way. Dorothy Dickson wins as usual with exceptionally graceful dancing. Tessa Kosta and Grace Fisher have charming voices. Then among others there are Louis Simon, Roger Gray, Winifred Harris, Mary Eaton and Little Miss Pierre, who delightfully add to the success.

It is a pleasure to have so unquestionably meritorious a novelty to praise, without perplexing reservations. And it is almost as great a pleasure to declare that George M. Cohan, who is almost as much a stage institution as he is a mere man, has "come back" with all his old-time "punch"—and more.

We have had all sorts of farces built around brides and grooms and bridal beds and other slumber places in the last year or so. Indeed, it sometimes seems that the bedless farce would be almost an innovation in a wilderness of four posters. Some of the farces have been wildly funny, others have offended and some have been positively uproarious—it isn't necessarily the situation, but how the situation is presented, treated and played.

"A Sleepless Night."

"A Sleepless Night," by Jack Lavie and Gustav Blum, the new farce at the Bijou Theatre, is of the inoffensive, really humorous and at times exceptionally funny type. Perhaps this is because it contains the germ of an idea.

The hero is a young painter, the heroine is a young sculptress. They are married, but very few persons know it, because wife wants to win a name for herself and it must be her own name to which her fame shall be attached. Both are anxious to obtain commissions from a millionaire, and they secure them, but in the guise of strangers to each other.

When they go to the millionaire's country place to execute their commissions, the rich man's ward, a young girl, falls in love with the husband, and her foster brother madly in love with the wife. The wife clandestinely visits her husband one night, but as soon as she is in the room the other girl knocks at the door. Wife is hidden in the bed, and overhears protestations of affection from the girl. Then another knock sounds on the door, and the girl is hidden in another part of the four-poster. The intruder is her foster brother, eager to confide to the artist his love for the sculptress. And then the millionaire himself arrives.

Fast and Furious Farce.

The possibilities of complications seem endless, and they are—almost. "A Sleepless Night" is a fast-and-furious farce of undeniable speed. Ernest Glendenning as the artist and Carlotta Monterey as the sculptress, with Peggy Hopkins as the millionaire's ward and Donald Gallagher as the love-sick youth, are very good in the chief roles. The production is presented by the Shuberts.

One of the values that lies in being an actor-manager and not merely an actor, is freedom from what is called "tradition." This is especially the case when an actor has built up a tradition as iron-clad as Leo Ditrichstein. Who among managers can think of Leo Ditrichstein in any but a lover role?

Mr. Ditrichstein, who has passed his fiftieth performance in "The Marquis de Priols," sees himself differently. Now that he has become his own manager, he confesses to a desire to play Shakespeare—recalling the situation in his "The Matinee Hero" forcibly to mind.

May Play "Othello."

In a recent communication he declares that he intends to play the title role of "Othello" some time next season. His ambition is to play a highly characterized rather than a sheerly erotic role. With this thought in mind, he at first planned to take the role of Iago, but at last decided upon the title character.

There's no doubt that Mr. Ditrichstein would have made a very interesting Iago, but there's equally no doubt that he will prove a novel Othello. In addition to "Othello," he will include at least for his New York appearance "The Judge of Zalamas" and a revival of "The Phantom Rival."

One of the oddities of the post-war feeling against things German in some sections, is the announcement that the Society for the Promotion of Swedish Music in America will shortly give a concert at Aeolian Hall. Now comes one of its own special oddities—the soloist is to be Gretchen Morris, the great-great-great-granddaughter of Robert Morris, signer of the Declaration of Independence, and financier of the Revolutionary War. She is to be heard in the works of Axel Raoul Wachmeister, the Swedish composer.

W. S. HART IN "BREED OF MEN" A THRILLING WESTERN PLAY SHOWING AT THE MAJESTIC

Greatest Exponent of Bad-Man Characters Appears in His Latest Success at the Majestic on Wednesday and Thursday Next—Wild Riding and Plenty of Action in the Play.

William S. Hart's new Artcraft picture "Breed of Men" is a story of a land development scheme in Arizona, and the unprincipled methods of a land shark are exhibited in all their bald and heartless details. Mr. Hart appears as a bad man who becomes sheriff and finally rounds up the individual who has swindled all kinds of people out of their money. The picture will be shown at the Majestic Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday.

Many of the big scenes were filmed in Chicago at the stock yards while the Thomas H. Ince Artcraft star and his party were in the mid-west on their way home from the star's wonderfully successful Liberty Loan tour. The picture was completed in Hollywood and in Los Angeles. There is some wild riding and plenty of thrilling action.

Mr. Hart always excels in a role wherein he is seen as a dare-devil of the open country and this is described as just such a part—one with plenty of speed, red blood and that desirable quality known as "pep." The star is his own director and is sparing himself nothing that will make the picture most effective.

Some elaborate sets were constructed for the new picture. The cast is exceptionally fine. Seena Owen being the leading woman. Others in the cast are Bert Sprotte and Buster Irving. J. G. Hawks wrote the scenario for Mr. Hart. It is one of the best things that Mr. Hawks has ever produced and that is saying much, for he is a prolific as well as successful scenarist.

MAJESTIC SCREEN NOTES

So frequently is Dorothy Dalton referred to as beautiful that those who are unfamiliar with the work of the Thomas H. Ince star in Paramount pictures might justifiably have gained the impression that this is her sole stock-in-trade. On the contrary, as everyone knows who has followed her work, she is also one of the most talented actresses of the screen. This statement needs to be amplified, for she can also do comedy, as "Hard-Boiled," her latest film, will show conclusively.

Thomas H. Ince presents
ENID BENNETT
A Paramount Picture

At the Majestic next Saturday only in "Happy, Though Married."

The stage lost a mighty fine play when Edgar Selwyn ran into Cecil B. De Mille in a prominent Manhattan club during the latter's recent visit to New York. The "What are you doing now?" greetings prompted Selwyn to tell the famous director the plot of his proposed play. Immediately De Mille made an offer for it. Selwyn was very reluctant, as he had set his heart upon a stage production of it, but the prospect of having a picture directed by De Mille won him over. The picture will be released under the Artcraft trademark. William B. De Mille, Cecil's brother, is assisting Mr. Selwyn with the script.

Charles Ray has completed one of the most effective pictures of his career in Thomas H. Ince productions for Paramount. "The Sheriff's Son" is by William MacLeod Raine, the well-known magazine story writer, while J. G. Hawks did the scenario. Seena Owen is leading woman, heading a perfectly balanced cast. Victor Schertzinger is responsible for the direction.

One of the most difficult acting roles that Enid Bennett has been given in a long time is found in her new Paramount picture from the Thomas H. Ince studio, entitled "Happy Though Married." She portrays a girl who is devotedly in love with her husband, but is afflicted with jealousy; so much so that she distorts perfectly innocent things and is in a difficult position much of the time.

Dorothy Dalton is getting along famously with her new picture, as yet unnamed, which is being produced at Hollywood under the personal supervision of Thomas H. Ince. In this picture Miss Dalton returns to the sort of character she depicted in "Flare-Up Sal," or "The Flame of the Yukon."

ROSCOE FATTY ARBUCKLE

At the Majestic on Wednesday and Thursday next in his latest comedy, "Camping Out."

Save that, while a Western girl, or a frontier girl, she is at heart thoroughly good. It is not a story of reformation, but involves a strange psychological change. Victor L. Schertzinger is the director.

At the Lasky studio at Hollywood, Bryant Washburn completed work last week on "Venus in the East," and will probably start this week on a new Paramount picture. Donald Crisp directed the latter part of the film while on crutches as the result of an injured foot, smashed while acting in a Griffith picture. But that did not prevent his accomplishing some of the best work of his career on what promises to be one of the funniest and most human stories in which Bryant Washburn has been cast.

The popularity of William S. Hart, Thomas H. Ince star in Artcraft pictures, is largely accounted for by the fact that he gives true to life representations of a certain type of man that is universally admired, even by those of totally opposite character.

Scene from "The Better 'Ole," the great film success, based on Captain Bairnsfather's play. Return showing at the Majestic on Monday and Tuesday.

OLD BILL, BERT AND ALF RETURN TO MAJESTIC FOR MON. AND TUES. IN BIG HIT "THE BETTER 'OLE"

Great Film Success, Picturized From Bairnsfather's Play, Has Been Seen by Thousands — Humor and Pathos Abound in Story of Adventures of Three British Soldiers —Picture Is Playing a Return Engagement at Request of Majestic Patrons.

At the earnest request of hundreds of persons "The Better 'Ole," a photoplay based upon Bairnsfather's story of Old Bill, Bert and Alf, will return to the Majestic for two days only, on Monday and Tuesday next. When presented at the Majestic in continuous performances some months ago this appealing picture was seen by thousands.

The tale of "The Better 'Ole" is too well known to need description in print. The film play visualizes it in a few ways.

"The Romance of Old Bill" is just a simple story. Its worth lies in its symbolism. Mankind is always searching for symbols to carry its thought. Odin spells valor, Arthur spells chivalry, the Hun spells barbarism, the sky is heaven, the sea is eternity.

And the great war has its symbol to Britishers—it is Old Bill.

Old Bill epitomizes for us, and for millions of others, the old army that was in being, and the new army that rose to the call. By the law of association of ideas, Old Bill has come to stand for the war, as Tommy and Tommy's people know it.

He embraces the whole British army, not in his outward uncouth construction, but in what he stands for—dogged devotion to duty, unfailing humor and unflinching valor.

It is the laugh in the face of death that wins great victories, the laugh, not of levity, but of pride of race—the common possession of British peer and British peasant. Surely Old Bill stands for this.

The adventure of Old Bill's, the adventure which became his romance, is only typical of thousands of incidents bred of the great war, but it will convey the message of cheer, the message of "carry on," of the men in the trenches to those who wait in the homes from which Tommy has gone, to our colonies and to our allies.

This intimate romance, modest as it is, can bear these vital messages at this wild moment as no other story can today.

The wonderful cast of players supporting the three men, namely, Charles Rock as Old Bill, Arthur Cleave as Bert, and Hugh E. Wright as Alf, includes Mary Dibley as Maggie, Old Bill's wife; Hayford Hobbs as Jim, the soldier poet; Lillian Hall Davis as Lill, his sweetheart; Alfred Phillips as the spy, and Marguerite Blanche as Suzette.

Famous Canadian Regiments in France Film at the Majestic Today.

Shown in the film series of Famous Canadian Regiments in France at the Majestic today will be extensive views of the 10th Canadian Infantry Battalion, which reached France in February, 1915, and took a notable part in the second battle of Ypres. It saw some of the most severe fighting of the great war at Festaubert, and at Sanctuary woods, and while at Vimy Ridge the battalion led the right of the second brigade, and in spite of heavy fire and difficult ground, gained their final objective in accurate time. The battalion will be shown in gas drill, physical exercises, musketry class, while a close view of all officers, N.C.O.'s and men of the battalion is shown.

Harold Lloyd Comedy at the Majestic on Monday and Tuesday.

One of the most popular comedians is the clever young chap, Harold Lloyd, who, with his co-operators, Bebe Daniels and Harry Pollard, have provided many a good laugh for Majestic patrons. Another comedy by this humorous trio is to be presented at the Majestic Monday and Tuesday.

British Films Present "Kiddies in the Ruins" at the Majestic Soon.

The producers of that great production of laughs and tears, "The Better 'Ole," British Films, Incorporated, present another great film of pathos and humor, "Kiddies in the Ruins," at the Majestic week of March 17. Silent has been the part of the children of France and Belgium in the great war, but there is probably no other story which carries so much interesting anecdotes as the "kiddies who were left in the ruins." Many a poet and great writer will in after years write of these little heroes and heroines, but it lies with the British Films, Incorporated, to be the first to hand their name to posterity. This great organization, with its enormous facilities for producing masterpieces in pictures, has prepared a picture which will not for some time find its equal in pathetic incidents and humorous accidents which happened to the little ones of the grief and battle-stricken countries upon which the great war was fought. This picture will undoubtedly bring you closer to your own children, open your mind to their conception of life, enable you to broaden their views, and bring you in closer contact with those who are to be the hope and pride of our country, to bring prosperity and fame in the years of peace and advancement that are to come.

"Fatty" Arbuckle in "Camping Out," His Latest Comedy, Showing at the Majestic on Wednesday and Thursday Next.

When Fatty Arbuckle goes "Camping Out" as he does in his latest Paramount comedy of that name, showing at the Majestic on Wednesday and Thursday next, he starts with a laugh and ends with a riot—two fast reels of hilarity and solid fun.

It's the old, old story of a neglected husband and a wife, so occupied with her work as secretary of "The Household Duty Club" that she has no time for housework; and the comedy which Fatty finds in his role as the home-loving husbandette, longing for a square meal, would pull tears of joy from a lamp-post.

Briefly the story is, that Fatty decides to do his own cooking, sew on his own buttons and live a wild, care-free life in a tent on Catalina Island.

What happens then is a scream to the end of this comedy.

FRANK BESSENGER, the silver-voiced tenor, who opens his third week's engagement at the Majestic on Monday.

Enid Bennett in "Happy Though Married," Her Newest Photoplay, Showing at the Majestic on Friday and Saturday Next.

That the management of husbands cannot be reduced to a written formula with the same accuracy as a recipe for doughnuts is the theme about which is developed a series of delightful comedy situations in "Happy Though Married," Enid Bennett's New Paramount photoplay which will be shown at the Majestic Theatre next Friday and Saturday.

This new picture from the studios of Thomas H. Ince is a story that turns the laugh on jealous husbands and wives and with a heavy sugar coating of comedy slips over the advice to brides not to accept too seriously keepsakes of olden days they may find in their husband's trunk.

That man is a ready victim to the green-eyed monster is brought out by the action of the story, and the conclusion is that literary treatises on how to manage wives and husbands all must have been written by bachelors and old maids.

The original story is by Lois and Arthur Zellner and was written for the screen by C. Gardner Sullivan. Enid Bennett has been surrounded by a suitable cast, especially selected by Director Fred Niblo.

Henry B. Walthall in "False Faces," a Dramatic Picture, Showing at the Majestic on March 12, 13, 14.

The remarkable experience of being blown from a vessel torpedoed by a German U-boat and landing on the top of the submarine, is depicted in the new Paramount-Artcraft special picture produced by Thomas H. Ince and starring Henry B. Walthall, which will be shown at the Majestic Theatre on March 12, 13, 14.

As the "Lone Wolf," now a secret service agent for the Allies, Mr. Walthall pursues a dastardly Hun spy, and after literally falling into the hands of his enemies, escapes and frustrates the schemes of the plotters, who have a base on Martha's Vineyard.

Mary Anderson plays the feminine lead, and a good cast supports the star throughout. Irvin Willat directed the picture with unusual skill. The submarine boat scenes are particularly well done and show to what lengths film producers will go to secure realism.

LADY LAURIER HAS DECLINED OFFER OF GOVERNMENT PENSION

Has Been Left in Comfortable, if Not Opulent, Circumstances.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, Feb. 28.—It is understood that the Government has tendered to Lady Laurier the offer of a pension, and that she has declined it. It would appear that Sir Wilfrid's estate was of considerable value, due largely to the fact that some twenty years ago a number of Liberal friends arranged for him an annuity of some $5,000. Sir Wilfrid died in harness, and had been drawing his sessional indemnity, and his allowance as leader, which have been sufficient to meet the demands of his simple life. The annuity has therefore been practically untouched, and has been accumulating through careful investments. In addition his property on Laurier avenue, which originally cost in the neighborhood of $7,000, is now valued at probably $40,000.

Altogether Lady Laurier is in quite comfortable, if not opulent, circumstances, and is not in need of the nation's bounty.

A SPLENDID MEDICINE FOR THE CHILDREN

Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine a mother can give her little ones. They are a mild laxative which quickly regulate the bowels and stomach and are guaranteed to be entirely free from any injurious drugs. Concerning them, Mrs. A. D. West, Loreburn, Sask., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets have given me more satisfaction than anything else I have ever given my children. They are easily taken; always work well and though I have given quite a few to my baby they seem to work as well now as at first, which is something other laxatives seldom do." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

83,355 MEN WERE DRAFTED BY M.S.A.; 24,933 "ON LEAVE"

Government Leader in Senate Says 47,509 Draftees Were Sent Overseas.

OTTAWA, Feb. 28.—The number of men raised under the military service act totalled 83,355, Sir James Lougheed, Government leader, informed the Senate today. In addition, there were on leave under the order-in-council relating to compassionate and hardship cases or subsequently discharged, 24,933 men, while the number struck off the strength as liable to non-combatant service (either as conscientious objectors or by reason of the wartime elections act) was 16,350.

The number of those raised by compulsory military service who went to the front was not available, Sir James said, but the number sent overseas was 47,509.

NEARLY EVERY GIRL CAN MAKE HERSELF PRETTY AND ATTRACTIVE

Some Wholesome Truths That Every Girl Should Think About.

Probably you know just such a girl. Perhaps she is sixteen — good to look at, and pretty—quite interesting because she reflects the graces and charm that give promise of happiness to herself and others. But she is not strong. The color in her cheeks, once so rosy, has faded away—her eyes are listless—the buoyancy of spirit and vigor she once possessed are sadly lacking. Parents, friends, this girl needs Ferrozone—needs it that her blood may be renewed—needs it to restore the nerve force that growth, study and the development of her fresh youth have exhausted. This girl will become a queen with Ferrozone—which will restore her color—bring back her old-time energy—give brightness to her eyes and vivacity to her spirits. In Ferrozone every girl finds strength—then she can do things. In Ferrozone there is endurance—that drives away morning tiredness and languor. For the girl or woman that wants to be happy, healthy, winning—who values rosy cheeks, laughing eyes and abundant good spirits, nothing can compare with Ferrozone. 50c per box, or six for $2.50. VANCOUVER DEMANDS THAT GOVT. DEPORT ALL ENEMY ALIENS

Russians Who Have Been "Agitating" Are Classed With Undesirables.

VANCOUVER, Feb. 28.—Sweeping and drastic legislation, dealing with all enemy aliens now resident in Canada, is asked in a memorial to be forwarded to the Federal Government by the city council, backed by the representatives of all the public and semi-public bodies of the city.

Classed among the enemy aliens, whose deportation is asked for along with the rest, are all such Russian residents who have been persistently "carrying on propaganda and organizing societies subservient to the peace of the institutions."

The Government is also requested to expropriate their lands, which, together with all securities and funds, should be lodged with a public administrator, such as was done in Great Britain and the United States.

A Tribute to the Hardest Worked Merchants in Our Country

HAVE you ever considered the important part played by the grocer in our daily life?

From early morn and often until late at night the grocer keeps open for our convenience.

Whether we want a 5-cent bar of soap, a package of tea or a sack of potatoes he is there to serve us—and with a cheerful "thank you".

You trade with him almost every day. You look upon him as a friend. He treats your children kindly when you send them to the store.

When sickness, accident or unemployment occurs, it is the big-hearted grocer who supplies the home with the necessities of life and often waits a long time for his money.

He has had many trials during the past four years. Government regulations have hampered his business. Goods have been difficult to procure. Help scarce. Profits small. He sells on a closer margin of profit than probably any other line of retail trade.

For nearly twenty-five years, the T. H. Estabrooks Company has been distributing millions of pounds of Red Rose Tea through the grocers of Canada. Our relations with them have been very intimate and very friendly. We, therefore, know something of their difficulties and something of the services they are rendering, which we think deserve recognition and appreciation.

GERMANY MAY YET BE VICTOR TO AN EXTENT SHE HAD NOT DREAMED

Solid German Nation, 80 Million Strong, Has Risen—France Is Practically Defenseless Against Military or Economic Aggression—A Tip for Wilson.

By Frank H. Simonds

Author of "The Great War," "They Shall Not Pass."

(Copyright, 1919, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

PARIS, Feb. 28.—Not infrequently in the past month there has been in Paris an expression of thought that perhaps Germany will win the war after all. The reason for this opinion, which must seem very strange to the remoter audience on the American continent, may be found in any examination of progress and conditions of the peace conference up to date, and in the present article I am going to try to set forth something of the view to be found here as to what must be done if the war is not to be lost, for it is essential to recognize that we are still at war with Germany, and that Germany has so far come practically immune out of the great conflict. She has been in a large measure disarmed, it is true, but with the cessation of hostilities she finds herself deprived of weapons for which she has no use, and still supplied with implements of peace, for which she has immediate use, while France, for example, finds herself greatly increased in military weapons no longer of value, but still lacking in all the machinery of agriculture and of production.

League Not Yet a Fact.

The greatest single danger that one hears at Paris now is lest the peoples who have fought the war shall be deceived now by the idea that the league of nations covenant, which is really only a rough sketch, is not only a treaty of itself, but the guarantee of the preservation of peace in the future. Obviously it is now nothing but a collection of words, not even yet adopted by any official body in any of the allied countries or by the peace conference itself.

To understand the problem of peace, the real problem of peace with Germany it is necessary to go back for a moment to the situation of Europe and of the rest of the world in July, 1914, when Germany launched her great attack upon civilization for the purpose of achieving world domination. At that time, Europe was more or less clearly divided into two great alliances, the triple alliance of Germany, Austria and Italy, and the triple entente of France, Russia and Great Britain, in which Russia and France only were actual allies.

This was the balance of power, theoretically, both groups were so nearly equal in strength that neither could venture to risk war, with at least half a chance of defeat.

Russia Now Pro-German.

But now, after four and half years of war, what is the situation? Russia, the greatest military force in the triple entente, has disappeared in chaos, but such elements of power and organization as exist still in that chaos are in the main friendly to Germany and ready to co-operate with Germany. The triple entente of 1914, then, has not only lost Russia, but has seen Russia in some measure change sides and become an enemy with her vast potential resources not unlikely to become German assets in the future.

To balance the downfall of Russia we have the collapse of Austria; but Austria was never one-tenth as important a factor in the triple alliance as Russia was in the triple entente, and already we see the Germans of Austria seeking to unite themselves with Germany, and it is patent that some similar alliance will be sought by the Hungarians as a result of changes to be made in Hungarian territory through the liberation of the Slavs and Rumanians.

Germany Holds Half of Austria.

Thus more than twenty millions of Austrian subjects will remain associated with Germany, and it was precisely this element which supplied the main aid Germany could obtain from her Hapsburg associate. Germany has thus saved almost half of Austria, while the Allies have not only lost all of Russia, but have geen Russia marching towards a new alignment with Germany.

Now, by contrast, Italy has associated herself with Great Britain and France, but before the war Italy was economically as well as politically penetrated by Germans. There was no profound bitterness between the Germans and Italians even during the present war, and there exists for the future no real basis for jealousy now that Italy has achieved reintegration of the Austrian-Italian population. Italy's present sympathies are unquestionably with Great Britain and France; but Italy's commercial interests in the future, even more than in the past, will be with the central powers as a result of geographical conditions.

Possible To Lose Italy.

It is possible to exaggerate the Italian danger, but it is hardly possible to exaggerate it if the conference at Paris fails to give Italy that Dalmatian prize promised her at the moment when she came into the war by both Great Britain and France, and exactly this is threatened through the influence of President Wilson.

It comes down, after all, to this: That Germany has abolished Russia, and not simply abolished her, but prepared the way for future German economic, political and perhaps even military predominance in that vast area which was once the Romanoff empire. She has saved for her own influence out of the wreck of Austria fractions which were alone of very great importance. She will have added thousands of square miles of territory and six or seven millions of people to her population as a result of the unsuccessful war, since it is clear now to everybody that a union of Austrian-Germany with Northern Germany is no longer to be prevented. She has assured herself a population of nearly eighty millions, almost entirely German, inclosing most of the Bohemian state which, however, politically independent, must for all time be economically dependent upon Germany for access to the open markets of the world.

And France Is Crippled.

Now the only absolute force left in the face of this aggrandized Germany is France, with a population of thirty-nine millions, with her industrial regions ruined, with her transportation system over all the northern regions abolished, with a colossal debt and with a sacrifice in life alone as a consequence of the war which exceeds three million lives. Obviously it is beyond the resources of France to hold Germany again as she did for the greater part of four years of war, if Germany shall have a new accession of militaristic and imperialistic ambition.

The brutal truth is that if Germany has not undergone a change of spirit as a result of the war, or if Germany is not put out of the race for armaments for a considerable period of time, France cannot hold the gate as she did before, unless Great Britain and the United States are prepared to guarantee to France the presence on an open frontier of considerable armies, which will share with the French the cost in life and treasure of another German attack.

We have to make peace, then, with two clear facts in mind: That France must be fortified against Germany until such time as it has made certain that Germany has changed her ideas and her purposes—and we have no assurance that there has been any change, no sign of any change—and, further, we cannot safely assume that, since old men are still running new Germany, new Germany is anything but an enlarged and camouflaged edition of old-

League, So Far, a Frail Reed.

It is perfectly impossible in present circumstances, to put all our confidence in the league of nations and retire, leaving Germany more powerful than she was before, the sole gainer in all respects as a result of this war, since she has devastated France, compelled Great Britain to mortgage her financial future to the United States and reduced the commercial fleets of the world.

But how then are we at Paris to save the war? Obviously, in two ways. The cost of the war must be borne either by the Allies who defended themselves, or by Germany who attacked them. Germany in fighting the war drew upon her internal resources and can repudiate her debts; England and France and Italy were compelled to borrow of America, and cannot repudiate their debts. Either the French and British and Italian people will have to stagger under the burden of this debt—and, in the case of France, under the added burden incident to the destruction by the Germans of French industrial regions—or that burden must be lifted from Allied shoulders to German.

Germany Must Pay.

If the Germans escape, if they can resume the old game of arming, if French and British and Italian taxpayers have to shoulder it, they will be unable even to arm themselves adequately for self-defence. It is essential for Americans to realize that the question of reparation and restitution, even of indemnity, is not punitive, it is not a program of plunder of Germany. It is merely an effort to save, primarily France, who has suffered most, but England and Italy as well, from the crushing burden placed upon them by the necessity of defending themselves against Germany.

Above all, it is essential that Americans should recognize that it is not in a spirit of plunder, that it is not in a spirit of revenge, that the statesmen of Paris are compiling a bill of damages against Germany. It is purely and simply a question of whether Germany shall pay for what she did, or succeed in ruining those nations who were her commercial rivals, both by systematically destroying their industrial machinery and by loading them with colossal debts incurred in defending themselves against German assault. There is a too ready tendency in American quarters, here at least, to read into the purpose of our Allies motives and reasons which are not there. In a very large degree the Germans will win the war if they make the people they attacked bear the great burden of it, and once more we must remember that we are still at war with Germany.

Restore Balance of Power.

In the second place, we have got to restore the balance of power in Europe, destroyed when Germany eliminated Russia as a nation and as a force in the world. Unless we can replace Russia by some other force of equal strength, there will be nothing left in Europe capable of opposing eighty millions of Germans occupying the centre of the continent, united, capable of indefinite effort, and having still open to them the temptation of world power; in fact having it open to them even more completely than it was in 1914, when they took their great gamble.

And this can be done, this new force can be created, only in one way. If we shall create real, strong, national states in Poland, in Bohemia, in Rumania, and out of the Southern Slavs, as well as by completing the unification of the Greeks, we shall have added to the balance against German aggression more than fifty millions of people, divided into four nations, but capable of very great development, capable of becoming real national entities, capable at no distant time of defending themselves and barring the German pathway to power.

The German theory in this war ought never to be forgotten. Germany undertook at one time to assail western power in order to hold France at ransom to pay for the war and to destroy Russia in the east, make herself master of the destinies of half a score of minor races extending from the Gulf of Finland to the Black Sea. By creating states which were incapable of self-maintenance by inciting these several races against each other the Germans sought to create a condition of chaos on their eastern and southern frontiers, to replace that great, solid barrier which was Russia.

Germans Have Succeeded.

Moreover, in a very large measure the Germans accomplished this. If you start at the Gulf of Finland today and go south, along the old frontier of Russia, you will travel through regions in which half a dozen races are striving with each other to take possession of some fragments of territory, and creating permanent and bitter jealousies. Incited by the Germans, the Ukrainians, the Lithuanians, are contesting with Poland the possession of the frontier regions between the two races, while Bolsheviki are in Vilna, Serbs and Rumanians are at odds in Banat, Poles and Bohemians in Upper Silesia, Southern Slavs and Italians in Dalmatia, Greeks and Italians in Epirus. In a word the German war has destroyed order from the Baltic to the Black Sea, and from the Volga to the Isonzo, and while he has done this the German has enlarged his own national area and finally completed the unification of the German race.

If we can create states like Poland, like Rumania, like Bohemia and like Jugo-Slavia, if we can give them frontiers which are defencible, if we can give them necessary conditions of national life, founded upon self-determination of race with due regard to geographical and economic considerations, we shall be able to deprive the German of his victory. He will find himself confronted not by the debris of half a dozen quarrelling races, but by four or five healthy, growing states, available as allies of the western powers in defence of their existence and in the preserving of the freedom of Europe.

Unless Hun Heart Is Changed.

And in the presence of such obstacles perhaps it is not too much to hope the German people themselves will hesitate to permit their rulers to plunge them into a new war. The core of imperialism, after all, is the cost of it. The cause of imperialism is invariably the presence of opportunity. If eighty millions of Germans find their pathway to the east strewn with the wreckage of quarrelling tribes, if the road to India has nothing across it save an incoherent Polish state and a vast Russian chaos, if the pathway to the Golden Horn is barred only by mutilated Southern Slavdom, the league of nations will not serve as a barrier. The abstract principles written there will no more appeal to Germans in the next decade than abstract doctrines formulated by the Hague tribunal closed the pathway through Belgium.

We have then at Paris two very clear duties still to perform. We have to make Germany bear the burden, the financial burden, of her last attack in order that she may not, escaping the cost of the war, be able to concentrate her remaining resources on preparation for a new attack upon those nations staggering under the burden of their debts and capable of paying those debts and matching division with division and gun with gun along the Rhine.

Must Keep Germany Down.

We have also—and I think this is the greatest of all duties—to fulfill our promise to liberate the small peoples of Europe not merely as an act of justice, not merely as a piece of charity, but as the sole permanent guarantee against the return of Germany to her old pathways. If we leave the doors to India and to Asia Minor open to the Germans, there is certainly nothing in human history to suggest that the Germans will not see to tread those pathways. If we leave Germany opportunity and ability to realize the dreams she narrowly escaped realizing in this last war, we shall fail at Paris and the German will after all win the war. He will find himself in the briefest period of years greater than ever before, having added millions to his population by his attack upon civilization and having successfully abolished the obstacles to his eastern expansion.

It seems to me that these are circumstances which must be in the minds of Americans now in the difficult weeks which are before the Paris conference, and it seems to me that the key to the whole thing must be found in the fact, the incontestable fact, that up to the present moment Germany has won the war, and that the main purpose of the Paris conference must be to deprive her of the fruits of that victory.

BEDRIDDEN WITH RHEUMATISM

Felt That He Would Never Walk Again—"Fruit-a-tives" Brought Relief.

MR. LORENZO LEDUC.

3 Ottawa St., Hull, P. Q.

"Fruit-a-tives" is certainly a wonder. For a year I suffered with Rheumatism, being forced to stay in bed for five months. I tried all kinds of medicine, but without getting better, and thought I would never be able to walk again.

"One day while lying in bed, I read about 'Fruit-a-tives,' the great fruit medicine; and it seemed just what I needed, so I decided to try it.

"The first box helped me, and I took the tablets regularly until every trace of the rheumatism left me.

"I have every confidence in 'Fruit-a-tives,' and strongly recommend them to every sufferer from Rheumatism."

The Quick Way to Stop a Cough

This home-made syrup does the work in a hurry. Easily prepared, and saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a 16-oz. bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make 16 ounces—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening grey, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the grey hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance, which is so attractive.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

How Science Remedies Loss of the Sense of Smell

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D., (Johns Hopkins University.)

DR. HIRSHBERG

"A rose by any other name will smell as sweet," is a popular platitude believed implicitly by many. Yet to the person who, through a nasal infection, a cold or some other disorder, has lost the sense of smell, a rose would yield no fragrance at all.

It is a difficult thing for a normal person, much less an abnormal one, to discriminate between taste and smell. The various odors and taste are intermingled in his mind.

Loss of the sense of taste is very rare, yet you hear many persons say, "I cannot taste a thing." Generally they mean that their sense of smell is temporarily lost. For odors reach the nostrils as often through the back of the throat as through the nose proper.

Dr. D. Wheeler of the Canadian army recently reported a not unusual sort of olfactory disturbance. This patient is perhaps typical of many, and explains very definitely the four primary tastes, as distinguished from a whole legion of odors.

A Strange Case.

The victim could recognize and perceive anything that was sweet, sour, salty or acid, yet he couldn't tell a steak from an onion, or garlic from nectar.

Indeed, edibles and drinks were past all recognition so far as he was concerned, although he had previously had the reputation of being unusually skillful in his tastes—a veritable Lucullus or Epicure.

Taste is commonly credited in the popular mind with the vast power of discrimination and fine differentiation. It is, after all, smell and not taste that separatees out these differences.

The sufferer was told by all sorts of doctors, scientists and others that he "imagined" this, that it was "hysterical," "neurotic," "psychic," and not real.

The Successful Treatment.

He was finally restored to a normal sense of smell by means of a Faradic electric treatment.

It has been the experience of physicians who recognize a structural, actual foundation for nasal and olfactory ailments, that electricity in the form of the buzzer or interrupted current, stirs up lazy or perverted sensory tissues.

A vigorous current applied to the back of the neck, or in the neighborhood of the nostrils, in not too sensitive a part, arouses the lost or diminished irritability if the affected sense, which soon or late under this stimulation recuperates.

Obstructions and inflammations in the nasal chambers, whether due to spurs, polyps, congestions, large turbinates, troublesome ethmoids or sphenoids influenza, colds or other infections, may bring about some sort of confused or lost sensation, which electricity brings back to normal.

Neglect to begin such treatment immediately may be the origin of a chronic lost sense of smell.

Answers to Health Questions

W. D. S.: Q.—Kindly advise me what to do for poor circulation.

A.—Very slow and weak condition of blood circulation may possibly be due to constipation.

F. M.: Q.—Kindly advise me what to do for warts.

A.—A skillful physician should be allowed to rake out these epidermal weeds in a professional, not an amateurish, way. Of course, some warts are so mild that a little cold, heat, dryness, vinegar or other simple domestic "hocus-pocus" will cause them to drop off. Many, however, require more radical treatment, such as a little caustic soda, salicylic acid, one drum to the ounce of collodion, or the surgeon's lance.

O. R. Q.: A.—If you will send a self-addressed stamped envelope with your query repeated, I will be glad to answer your question.

N. M. B. Q.—Kindly advise me what to do for the roof of my mouth, which is very sore.

A.—A lazy, inactive stomach and pseudo-constipation with partially emptied intestines may cause this.

C. A. G. Q.—Kindly advise me a remedy for protruding ears.

A.—Do nothing until the child is grown, then have him operated on.

MISS E. M. Q.—Kindly advise me what to do for an oily skin.

A.—Apply a little of the following to your skin:

Rosewater .. .. 1 pint
Glycerine .. .. ½ ounce

A. U. F. Q.—Kindly advise me what to do for a double chin.

2.—Kindly advise me how to darken the hair.

A.—A double chin shows a jolly disposition and a liberal tendency toward sweets, oils, breads and luxurious foods. Fasts, worries and privations are ways to lose a double chin.

2.—To one-half-pound of henna leaves use one gallon of water. Brew as ordinary tea. Get some indigo, dilute this very pale or deep to obtain the desired shade. Mix the two together, then apply to your hair. But why change something that may be beautiful?

DIARY OF A FASHION MODEL

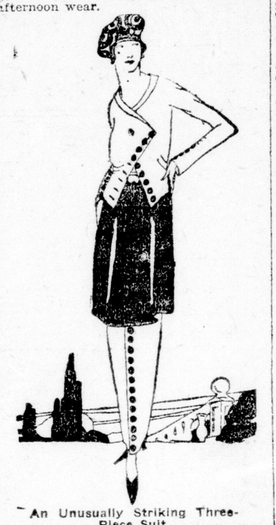

BY GRACE THORNCLIFFE.

She Discusses the Three-Piece Suit Looking Forward To the Problems of Spring.

At first glance, a three-piece suit seems expensive. Besides the greater amount of material and workmanship necessary in the construction of the three-piece suit, there is the idea for an extra contribution of creative talent must go into the design of the three-piece suit.

This additional expense is warranted, however, in the ultimate utility and smartness of the three-piece suit. Efficiency and beauty are found in a good model of this class.

In almost any climate spring demands a wrap of some kind. The transition from winter to summer is never quick enough to disregard the light jacket or coat. However smart a shirtwaist and skirt may be for many occasions to which a suit is adapted, the one-piece gown is more dressy for luncheon and afternoon wear.

An Unusually Striking Three-Piece Suit.

Copyright, 1919, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc. Great Britain rights reserved.

The one-piece dress looks well for church when an extra bit of dressing seems in keeping with the spirit of the Sabbath.

Blue tricotine, garbadine or serge are ideal materials for the spring three-piece suit. Tricotine is especially smart, durable and becoming.

An unusually striking three-piece suit of navy tricotine is made with a cut-away jacket. At the back the waist line of the jacket is broken by a narrow belt and silver buckle, while the front cuts away to show a vest of ivory white charmeuse. This vest reaches from the shoulder line of the dress, where a narrow shawl collar begins to turn, and ends under a black grosgrain ribbon tie. The plain blouse of tricotine runs straight on either side of this vest from the point where the columns of the neck meets the shoulder to the waist. This line from neck to belt is bound with black grosgrain ribbon, and is outlined with grosgrain buttons.

The sleeves of the dress are of black satin sewed into the lining at the arm's eye, the tricotine armholes being bound with black grosgrain ribbon. The black satin sleeves have their reason for being in the tunic of black charmeuse which trims the skirt. This tunic is bound with black grosgrain ribbon.

The front of the jacket describes an attractive bias line and fastens with black grosgrain buttons. A collar of ivory white charmeuse turns over on the jacket and is attached to it. The cutaway line shows the vest of ivory white charmeuse, which is part of the dress.

The sleeves of the jacket are quite long and tight. The pointed cuffs are cut in one with the sleeves and are trimmed on the inner side with silver buttons.

The skirt shows a front closing under black grosgrain buttons. This closing is also bound with ribbon.

Every line of this suit merges with the other at just the right angle. It is a charming costume, and one that may be worn for a variety of occasions.

The substitution of a black charmeuse vest would make it an ideal traveling gown for a spring bride.

The youthful hat worn with this suit is delightfully smart and new. A bandeau of ilsere straw is the visible means of support for a tam crowd of navy faille silk, which is embroidered in black and henna silk. The craze for tams which was so strikingly evidenced all winter will overlap the spring styles. These tams are too youthful and becoming to be lightly given up.

MY SOLDIER HUSBAND

ADELE GARRISON'S CONTINUATION OF

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

What Katie Told Madge.

"Oh-h Missis Graham, my dear Missis Graham, coome home quick, I got such things to tell you!"

Katie's clutch at my arm was convulsive, and I knew by her face and eyes that her volatile nature was wrought up to its highest pitch. I hadn't seen the girl for several weeks, and I wondered for a moment at her unfamiliar appearance. Then I saw that she was much thinner—all the rounded plumpness had departed from her face and figure. Evidently work in a munitions factory and the fare of a boarding-house was not as beneficial to her as the regime of our home.

I turned with her toward the direction of my home before I spoke.

"This is a fortunate meeting, Katie," I said. "It has saved me going down to your boarding-place after you."

Katie flushed in embarrassed fashion.

"I glad you no go," she said. "I no dere any more, those peoples know nottings about me."

"What Have You Seen?".

"Why, aren't you working in the shell factory?" I asked astonished.

"I no dere last two weeks," Katie returned laconically. "I work me by drug store."

"In the drug store?" I echoed mechanically, for I could think of no place in a pharmacy where Katie would fit in.

"Yep." Katie assented, with one of her ludicrous adoptions of Americanisms. "I help upstairs when womans need me. I help wash bottles, oder things downstairs behind wall when drug store mans busy."

"But, surely, you don't earn nearly so much money?" I protested.

"But I get chance to hear all peoples ask for medicines, and I can watch me all time for dot old devil vomans. I know I catch her some day, and oh, Missis Graham—"

Her excitement, which with my knowledge of Katie I had managed to quiet by my matter-of-fact manner, was distinctly rising again. This time my own imagination caught something from her emotion. I found myself questioning her quickly, sharply.

"What do you mean? What have you seen? Tell me quickly!"

"I always say dot old devil womans up to no things good," Katie returned with triumph in her voice. "When I work by you she always have so many little bottles, never let nobody see vot in dem, keep dem locked up all time, stingy old fools—"

Through all my excitement I could scarcely help smiling at Katie's resentment, knowing so well the girl's monkey-like inquisitiveness. But I masked my amusement and kept my face serious. Indeed, with her next words there wasn't even the semblance of a smile left in me.

"We Must Get Back."

"I think and I think and I think after I leave," Katie went on. "At last I no can stand it, and I get me place by drug store. I have to wait for job, or I be dere before. Den I vatch, and one day dot old devil womans coom in and ask for dot soothing syrup."

"Ah!" I breathed, light suddenly flooding my mind.

Katie turned sharply.

"Vot's dot you say?" she demanded. "You know somthings?"

"Go on, Katie," I answered quietly. "Tell me all you know."

"Well, I hear dot mans tell her she can no get dot soothing syrup unless doctor say so. She mad as old vet hens, but she go away, and she no coom back till little vile ago. She have dot vot you call eet from doctor, dot piece paper?"

"Prescription?" I suggested.

"Dot's it!" she assented. "Well, she give dot to drug store mans, and ven he read it, he say, "Vot you vant dis stuff for? Not for soothing syrup, eh?"

"She say: 'Vot you tink I am, crazee womans? I vant it make me sleep, I have sooch toothache. Don't you see doctor say so?"

"Den drug store mans he give her dot stuff, but ven she gone he say to oder man dere:

"'Vot you bet dot old womans vants to put drop in babee's milk, make sleep all same soothing syrup? If it were poor folks I'd call up doctor, but dose peoples dey got money and brains, and dere doctor is a big mans. It's his writing, all right. I joost mind my own business. But dot stuff she got dere, mighty powerful.'

"I no vait to hear nottings more, I joost beat it quick for your house."

It was my turn to grow excited.

"Hurry, Katie," I said, grasping her arm. "We must get back home before she gets there."

"We do dot all right," Katie returned. "She go on down street to fish market. Is dot babee all right?"

"Ye-es, except that he is wakeful at night and seems to sleep too much in the daytime."

"Vot I tell you?" demanded Katie.

And then, to my horror, she began to wail aloud:

"Oh, dot babee he die. I tell you dot womans keel him."

LOSE YOUR FAT, KEEP YOUR HEALTH

Good Night Stories

By Blanche Seivwright

BETTY'S TRIP UP THE AMAZON.

"Oh, hello, there, Gocomeback!" exclaimed Betty, as the funny little travel elfin poked his head up from between the pages of her study book. "I was just wishing you'd call for me today."

"That's just why I came," laughed Gocomeback. "I'm on my way to South America. How would you enjoy a trip up the Amazon River?"

Betty thought this would be lovely, and before she could even answer they were floating through the air above the most beautiful river Betty had ever seen.

"I've often read about this lovely river," laughed Betty, "but I never dreamed of really seeing it."

"Well, you're looking at the largest river in the world," replied Gocomeback. "It flows eastward more than three thousand miles through a vast, low plain until it reaches the Atlantic Ocean."

"What a funny coffee color!" exclaimed Betty. "Why, the river's almost wide enough at its mouth to be called a lake, isn't it?"

And so it was, stretching for miles and miles, a great mass of muddy yellow water flowing into a blue ocean.

"This island at the mouth here is called the Island of Marajo," Gocomeback explained. "It divides the river into two streams, one more than twenty miles wide and the other more than fifty. Marajo is covered with pastures and plantations from which are sent cattle, rice, sugar and fruits to all parts of the country."

They fled up the river past the plantations, and the river began to take on a wild appearance. Great marshes bordered it on either side, covered with a thick growth of trees. Here and there open spaces where Betty could see the water were covered with large round, green leaves, that with their brown edges turning upward looked like flat-boats. Some of them were six feet across.

"If you stood in the centre of one of them, Betty, it would hold you up," said Gocomeback.

Among these leaves floated beautiful water lilies larger than any Betty had ever seen before. Their inner petals were a pretty rose color and in the centre was a circle of bright gold, while the rest of the flower was snowy white.

"Oh, dear!" cried Betty as she spied something floating toward the lily bed. "Those old brown logs will tear them to pieces!"

"Logs!" laughed Gocomeback. "Those are great scaly alligators floating in the sunshine."

And Betty laughed as one old lazy fellow opened his ugly red mouth. Frogs and turtles larger than any Betty had ever seen glided among the lily-pads, while lizard a yard long crawled upon the shore. Out of the bushes darted long-legged swamp birds and waded about in the water, catching frogs and snakes.

The bright blue sky became suddenly clouded, and before Betty and Gocomeback knew it they were almost caught in a shower.

"Now begins what the natives call the wet season," laughed the elfin, "so we'd better return home. For weeks it will rain this way, starting in a little earlier each day, until after a while it will rain for days without stopping. But there's one good thing: the heat remains about the same, for the larger part of South American never has any winter."

Betty thanked Gocomeback for her trip and tucked her study book under her pillow that night, and sure enough the next day she remembered everything she had seen.

"That's Just Why I Came."

Jimmy Coon and His Friends

The Adventures of the Little People of the Great Forest.

FATHER COON'S PLANS FOR DINNER.

Cousin Bruin and Jimmy Coon stood at the bottom of the Hemlock Apartments, and Teddy Possum was swinging from a low branch of a nearby tree, by his long tail, and they all were calling Father Coon. They made such a racket that all the little folk of the Great Forest looked out of their windows and doors to see what all the rumpus was all about.

Father Coon was hard to wake, for he had been hunting all night, but finally his towsled head appeared from the window of the top floor, and he wanted to know what in thunder the noise was all about, that honest people couldn't sleep in their beds?

When he saw Cousin Bruin, however, he was all smiles.

When he saw Cousin Bruin, however, he was all smiles, and he said he would come down at once, just as soon as he could throw on his new fur house coat. Jimmy called out: "Now, Father, be sure and put on your 'Thinking Cap' so that you can make a plan for Cousin Bruin's dinner. He is just as hungry as a Bear, and Mother has gone off to visit Mrs. Possum for a few days, and so you and I will have to find dinner for Cousin Bruin."

Cousin Bruin smiled a broad smile. He was glad Jimmy Coon was a little afraid of him, for he found it very pleasant to have relatives find all his all his meals for him!

Soon Father Coon came down in the elevator from the top floor and he had on his new fur house coat, and his best thinking cap.

You know that when people put on their thinking caps, they can just make a plan that will work in a wink. So now Father Coon had a fine plan that popped into his head just the minute he put on that thinking cap; but he didn't want Cousin Bruin to know it was that easy to find meals for him and so he put his hand to his head and he screwed his forehead into wrinkles, and he sighed and groaned. Cousin Bruin yawned and said: "Well, Father Coon, you are a slow coach. I must have a good dinner, for I am just starved to death, and you must hurry!"

"Well," said Father Coon, at last, could you walk into the woods with us for a mile or so? Our dining room is off at a quiet place, and dinner is ready now, and it is as warm as a meat-dinner should be."

What do you suppose Father Coon's plan was? That is another story. Father Coon's plans were always good ones, and this plan is worth hearing about! Even Jimmy Coon could not guess what it was!

Poor Kidney Action Brings Fatal Results

It is well for everyone to realize that from the moment the kidneys fail to remove the poisons from the blood stream, these poisons accumulate and set up the infectious that cause disease.

What are the indications which give warning of this approaching suffering?

Here are a few of the symptoms. That pain in the back, dizziness, swollen joints or ankles, painful urination or brick dust deposits. At the first attack of any of these troubles turn to the old tried and tested kidney remedy—Gin Pills. Take them as directed and you will ward off chronic troubles.

Do not misunderstand the name Gin Pills. How they came to be called Gin Pills is this:

Gin has long been considered a remarkable curative agent for kidney or bladder trouble. This virtue comes from one ingredient alone in Gin and NOT from the alcohol. That is why the beneficial ingredients in gin can be taken in pill form, without alcohol, and that is what you get when you use Gin Pills.

When you decide to try Gin Pills you are protected. Buy a box from any dealer for 50 cents. If you do not get genuine relief after taking them, all you have to do is ask for your money back and it will be returned.

This is certainly a generous offer; but we make it feeling that once you have tried Gin Pills and know the beneficial results they bring, you will continue to use and recommend them.

To-morrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

SUNDAY AND MONDAY, MARCH 2-3.

Sunday's planetary figures are limned for success in whatever line the energies may be bent. Jupiter, the most powerful of benefics, is most powerfully placed, prospering and blessing all undertakings with increase and gain—a happy outcome emphasized by the conjunction of "the Lights," likewise giving growth and progress in anything attempted.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of gain and promotion. A child born on this day is bound to make a success of its life.

Monday promises some unanticipated change or journey, which should not, however, be essayed without cool deliberation and discernment. While the change itself may be enforced under good astral operations, an inimical position of Mars might incite to a precipitancy and haste of unamiable attitude that would defeat the auspicious purposes. The influence of Mars is tempestuous and tumultuous and needs bridling. This applies very strongly on this day to social, domestic and affectional matters. Also the impulse to squander money should be curbed. Guard against losses.

Those whose birthday it is may have need for strong self-control and discretion in all directions. A child born on this day should be well disciplined and taught thrift, amiability and humility.

The known peat bogs of Canada, covering about 36,000 square miles, are estimated to be capable of producing twenty-eight thousand million tons of air-dried peat, which in fuel value would equal fourteen thousand million tons of coal.

The first wedding veil was called the "flammeum." It was a large yellow veil that completely covered the Greek and Roman brides during the marriage ceremony. The bridal wreath of orange blossoms, which is the conventional thing today, was introduced into Europe by the Crusaders, and is a Christian substitute for the gilt coronet worn by the Jewish brides.

By a new process, pineapple leaves, which were formerly waste, can be made into paper fibre at a profit. The fibre is a tough substance that can be used for insulating purposes, and 70 pounds of fibre can be manufactured from a ton of pineapple leaves.

Zinc is ductile between 212 and 302 deg. Fahrenheit, and can then be shaped as required. But when either above or below these limits it becomes brittle and unpliant, and therefore not adapted for treatment. It melts at about 186 deg. Fahrenheit if volatilization is guarded against.

Electric vehicles are now receiving considerable attention and encouragement in Norway for every form of mechanical propulsion. Heretofore gasoline cars have been practically the only machines in use in the country. For several months past no gasoline has been received, and as there are but few electric cars in Norway, automobiles have practically disappeared.

The beginnings of self-deception are so slight that they are likely to be unnoticed until the habit is fixed upon us. We can scarcely be too strict and honest with ourselves in little matters and large ones.

Herewith will be found the picture of an Aviator who has just dropped a bomb on a pile of Shells. At first glance the Aeroplane and the Explosion appear to be all there is in the picture, but by careful study the faces of several soldiers will be found. There are 7 of them in all. Can you find them? It is no easy task but by patience and endurance can be accomplished.

You may win a cash prize by doing so. Many have done this as will be shown by the names and addresses which we will send you. If you find the faces mark each one with an X, cut out the picture and send it to us, together with a slip of paper on which you have written the words "I have found all the faces and marked them." Write these nine words plainly and neatly, as in case of ties, both writing and neatness are considered factors in this contest.

This may take up a little of your time but as TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS in cash and many merchandise prizes are given away, it is worth your time to take a little trouble over this matter. Remember all you have to do is to mark the faces, cut out the picture and write on a separate piece of paper the words, "I have found all the faces and marked them."

WE DO NOT ASK YOU TO SPEND ONE CENT OF YOUR MONEY IN ORDER TO ENTER THIS CONTEST

Send your answer at once; we will reply by Return Mail telling you whether your answer is correct or not, and we will send you a complete Prize List, together with the names and addresses of persons who have recently received over Four Thousand Five Hundred Dollars in Cash Prizes from us, and full particulars of a simple condition that must be fulfilled. (This condition does not involve the spending of any of your money.)

Winners of cash prizes in our late competitions will not be allowed to enter this Contest.

This Competition will be judged by two well known business men of undoubted integrity, who have no connection with this Company, whose decisions must be accepted as final.

Upon receipt of your reply we will send a complete list of the names and addresses of persons who have won $4,500.00 in Cash Prizes in recent contests held by the publishers of this advertisement. Although these persons are entirely unknown to us, they are our references. An enquiry from any one of them will bring the information that our contests are carried out with the utmost fairness and integrity. Your opportunity to win a good round sum is equally as good as that of anyone else, as all previous winners of cash prizes are debarred from entering this contest.

Is Your Blood Starving For Want of Iron?

Modern Methods of Cooking and Living Have Made an Alarming Increase in Iron Deficiency in Blood of American Men and Women.

WHY NUXATED IRON SO QUICKLY BUILDS UP WEAK, NERVOUS, RUN-DOWN FOLKS—Over 3,000,000 People Annually Taking It in This Country Alone to Increase Their Strength, Power, Energy and Endurance.

"Is your blood starving for want of iron? Iron is red blood food. If you were to go without eating until you became weak, thin and emaciated, you could not do a more serious harm to yourself than when you let your blood literally starve for want of iron—iron that gives it strength and power to change food into living tissue," says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Out-door Dept.) New York and the Westchester County Hospital.

"Modern methods of cooking and the rapid pace at which people of this country live has made such an alarming increase in iron deficiency in the blood of American men and women that I have often marveled at the large number of people who lack iron in the blood, and who never suspect the cause of their weak, nervous, run down state. Lack of iron in the blood not only makes a man a physical and mental weakling, nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, but it utterly robs him of that virile force, that stamina and strength of will which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life. It may also transform a beautiful, sweet-tempered woman into one who is cross, nervous and irritable. I have strongly emphasized the great necessity of physicians making blood examinations of their weak, anaemic, run-down patients. Thousands of persons go on year after year suffering from physical weakness and a highly nervous condition due to lack of sufficient iron in their red blood corpuscles without ever realizing the real and true cause of their trouble. Without iron in your blood your food merely passes through the body, something like corn through an old mill with rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind.

"For want of iron you may be an old man at thirty, dull of intellect, poor in memory, nervous, irritable and all run-down, while at 50 or 60 with plenty of iron in your blood you may still be young in feeling, full of life, your whole being brimming over with vim and energy.

"As proof of this take the case of Former United States Senator and Vice-Presidential Nominee Charles A. Towne, who at past 58 is still a veritable mountain of tireless energy. Senator Towne says: 'I have found Nuxated Iron of the greatest benefit as a tonic and restorative. Henceforth I shall not be without it. I am in a position to testify for the benefit of others to the remarkable immediate helpfulness of this remedy, and I unhesitatingly recommend Nuxated Iron to those who feel the need of renewed energy and the regularity of bodily functions.'

"But, in my opinion you can't make strong, keen, forceful men and healthy rosy-cheeked women by feeding them on metallic iron. The old forms of metallic iron must go through a digestive process to transform them into organic iron—Nuxated Iron — before they are ready to be taken up and assimilated by the human system. Notwithstanding all that has been said and written on this subject by well-known physicians, thousands of people still insist in dosing themselves with metallic iron simply, I suppose, because it costs a few cents less. I strongly advise readers in all cases, to get a physician's prescription for organic iron—Nuxated Iron—or if you don't want to go to this trouble, then purchase only Nuxated Iron in its original packages and see that this particular name (Nuxated Iron) appears on the package. If you have taken preparations such as Nux and Iron and other similar iron products and failed to get results, remember that such products are an entirely different thing from Nuxated Iron." In commenting upon the value of Nuxated Iron as a means for creating red blood, strength and endurance, Dr. Ferdinand King, a New York physician and medical author, says:

"Scarcely a day goes by but that I see women whose careworn faces, dragging steps and generally weak, tired appearance show unmistakable signs of that anaemic, run-down condition usually brought on by lack of iron in the blood.

"There can be no strong, healthy, beautiful women without iron and inasmuch as nothing processes and modern cooking methods remove the iron of Mother Earth from so many of our most common foods this iron deficiency should be supplied by using some form of organic iron just as we use salt when our food has not enough salt.

"Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat your food merely passes through you without doing you good, and as a consequence you become weak, pale and sickly-looking just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron. Pallor means anaemia. The skin of an anaemic woman is pale, the flesh flabby. The memory fails, and often they become weak, nervous, irritable, despondent and melancholy. Give such a woman a short course of Nuxated Iron and she often quickly becomes an entirely different individual — strong, healthy and rosy-cheeked. I have used Nuxated Iron widely in my own practice in most severe, aggravated conditions with unfailing results. I have induced many other physicians to give it a trial, all of whom have given me most surprising reports in regard to its great power as a health and strength builder."

Who Should Take Nuxated Iron

THE ELDERLY INACTIVE MAN

THE TIRED NERVOUS HOUSEWIFE

THE RUN-DOWN BUSINESS WOMAN

THE EXHAUSTED BUSINESS MAN

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron, which is used by Dr. Sullivan and others with such surprising results, and which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the other inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by Standard Drug Co., Limited, and all other druggists.

DON'T POISON YOUR CHICKS

MANY a healthy brood has been reduced through improper feeding. The fault lies chiefly with the feed. Some feeds contain a generous proportion of bitter weed seeds and other harmful ingredients, and your brood is poisoned by them.

You should therefore buy nothing but guaranteed feeds—feeds that are submitted to hundreds of tests and have a proven worth.

HYDRO RADIAL EXECUTIVE IS OUT TO BUILD

Wants Act Fixed So Work Can Be Started.

THE TORONTO-LONDON LINE

Hydro Power System's Surplus For Past Year Is $194,443.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

TORONTO, Feb. 28.—The statistical report of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission was made public tonight.

It shows that there have been a number of reductions in power price made since the beginning of the war in 1914, and that there was not a single increase in price to a municipality. The maximum amount of power used when munitions work was on was 149,000 h.p., but in spite of the fact that munitions plants are now largely off, the municipalities are using 146,000 h.p.

The statement is of capital expenditures, operating expenses, and fixed charges for the municipalities of the system for the year ending October 31, 1918.

Surplus of $194,443.

The net surplus after all charges, including sinking fund, is $194,443.10. There are 134 municipalities on the system.

At an executive committee meeting of the Hydro-Electric Railway Association held at the head office of the Provincial Hydro System today, several resolutions were passed. One of these pointed out that the municipalities in the district extending westerly from Toronto through Brampton, Guelph, Kitchener, Stratford, St. Marys to London, had carried bylaws to the extent of millions of dollars providing for the construction of an electric railway to be operated by and under the direction of the Hydro-Electric Power Company of Ontario, and requested the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario to urge the immediate repeal of certain amendments to the hydro-electric railway act, so as to permit the immediate commencement of operations in connection with the construction of that line. Copies of the resolution are to be sent to the municipalities concerned asking their indorsation and to the Government.

Help Hamilton Bylaw.

Another resolution, which was moved by W. B. Burgoyne of St. Catharines, and seconded by Mayor George H. Duncan of Peterboro, was adopted pledging the support of the association to help in carrying the radial railway bylaws in Hamilton, Saltfleet and Nelson.

A third resolution, which was passed declared in favor of making the Provincial Hydro-Electric Power Commission more of a permanent character. It was pointed out that immense investments were involved, and that the committee asked that the "Hydro-Electric Power Commission act be amended so that the appointment of the commission may be for a term of years, along the lines of the federal act respecting the appointment of the board of railway commissioners for Canada."

WANT TARIFF DOWN AS AN AID TO BIG AMHERSTBURG PLANT

Federal Government May Be Asked To Grant Relief.

ASK DUTY OFF SODA ASH

Cannot Compete With U. S. Firms, as Raw Material Enters Duty Free.

WINDSOR, Feb. 28. — The statement made through the press recently to the effect that the immense soda ash products plant of the Brunner-Mond Company at Amherstburg, just approaching completion, would not for some time, at least, begin operations, because of uncertainty regarding the Dominion tariff, received further enlightenment at the meeting of the chamber of commerce here last night, when the matter came up for discussion by the industrial section of the board.

It was explained that the ending of the war had greatly lessened the demand for soda ash, and that the Amherstburg concern admitted its inability to successfully compete with the many similar plants now in operation in the United States, because the latter are able to ship almost unlimited quantities of ash into this country duty free, except for the 7½ per cent war tax.

It was suggested, in the form of a resolution, that the Amherstburg concern should be offered some measure of relief by the Dominion Government, in order that they might be able to begin work. The Amherstburg plant was built at a cost of several million dollars, and was expected to provide employment for several hundred men.

PRINCESS PATS AND 48TH HIGHLANDERS WILL GET OVATION

Will Be Paraded as Units Through Streets of Montreal.

MONTREAL, Feb. 28.—This city will give the 42nd Highlanders and the Princess Pats a great reception when they arrive here in about ten days. They are the first veterans to return as units. They will march through the principal streets, which will be decorated for the occasion, headed by bands. A citizen's committee has been formed to take charge of the necessary arrangements.

REFERENDUM TO BE TAKEN IN QUEBEC ON PROHIBITION ISSUE

Quebec, Feb. 28.—While no official outline has been given yet of the Quebec license bill which has been presented in the House by the Hon. Walter Mitchell, and which is expected any day now, it is understood that the measure provides for a referendum throughout the province which would be taken before the 1st of May next to have the people choose between absolute prohibition or beer and wine.

Bakers of Ontario Must Get Back to Pre-War Sized Loaf

[Special to The Advertiser.]

TORONTO, Feb. 28. — Notice has been served on the bakers of the province by the attorney-general, Hon. I. B. Lucas, that they must at once get back to the making of the standard loaf of 24 or 48 ounces. This size loaf prevailed prior to the Canada food board issuing orders which superseded the Ontario statute, but this rule was rescinded a few days ago by an order-in-council.

It is now illegal to sell a loaf of bread weighing only twelve ounces. There is no desire on the part of the Government to take undue advantage of the bakers, however, and they are to have until March 8 to comply with the order.

ARTHUR STRINGER IN TORONTO CONDEMNS THE COPYRIGHT LAW

Declares It Is Obsolete, Inadequate and Self-Contradictory.

TORONTO, Feb. 28.—Arthur Stringer, the noted Canadian novelist, who migrated to New York some years ago, tonight as a "Repatriated Canadian" addressed the Toronto Press Club at a dinner.

"Is the artist worth anything to his country?" Mr. Stringer asked. "Are poetry and pictures worth bothering about? Is a national anthem a national asset? Is a poet or painter worth his salt?"

Of course his answer to his questions was in the affirmative. He said the war had startled and stirred Canadians out of their lethargy of mere commercial success. In casting about for some adequate expression for their feelings they had discovered that art and literature could, after all, be an asset to a country. Colonel McCrae's little poem telling about poppies and the crosses in Flanders' fields had proven the value of poetry in sustaining national morale.

Mr. Stringer condemned the copyright law of Canada as obsolete, inadequate and self-contradictory.

BRITAIN WILL TAKE CONTROL OF RAILWAYS

Minister Will Also Have Charge of Canals.

A TWO-YEAR PROPOSITION

Can Regulate Rates, Wages and Conditions of Employment.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—(British Wireless Service.)—Publication of the Government's transport bill, which has been introduced in Parliament, shows that it will give the minister of transport complete control over every conceivable form of land transport. The bill provides that complete management of the railways of the United Kingdom is to be conducted by the state for two years, partly to enable the Government to make the railways pay dividends and partly to facilitate the movement of men and material during the period of reconstruction.

Complete power is given to the minister during the two years to settle all railway rates and charges, salaries and wages and conditions of employment, and to make any alterations in the policy of the roads and accounts that he may deem desirable.

The minister is authorized to purchase various kinds of railway companies by agreement or by compulsion. Under these provisions he could purchase, in whole or in part, any railway, light railway, street car company, canal, inland waterway, or harbor or dock undertaking during the first two years of the ministry.

Frohman, the Great Producer of Shows, Left $452 Estate

NEW YORK, Feb. 28. — Charles Frohman, the theatrical producer, who lost his life when the Lusitania was sunk by a submarine in 1915, left a net estate of only $452, according to a transfer tax appraisal of his estate filed here today. The total estate was $919,383, from which deduction of $918,931 were made, the largest item being debts.

Al Hayman, theatrical manager, who died February 10, 1917, and the appraisal of whose estate was filed today, left a net estate of $1,692,815. His wife was the principal beneficiary.

WANT SUPERINTENDENT OF LOAN AND TRUST COMPANIES APPOINTED

Wm. Proudfoot Makes Suggestion in Legislature.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

TORONTO, Feb. 28.—At a meeting of the committee of the Legislature this morning which is considering amendments to the loan companies' act it was decided to recommend the insertion of a clause to prevent any one loan or trust corporation investing more than 15 per cent of its resources in any one mortgage or enterprise.

Wm. Proudfoot, the Opposition leader, declared the Government should take greater responsibility in protecting the people who place their savings in loan companies. While the present act provides additional safeguards for the protection of the investor, he suggested that a superintendent should be appointed to more closely supervise the activities of companies coming under the provisions of the act.

FRANCE INCREASES PAY TO POILUS AND MAKES BOON DATE FROM 1914

PARIS, Feb. 28.—(Havas Agency).—The Chamber of Deputies today passed a bill granting to all demobilized soldiers a gift of 250 francs. In addition soldiers who took part in the fighting will receive twenty francs a month for the time they were mobilized, while all other soldiers will receive fifteen francs a month.

NOTHING LIKE IT FOR BRONCHITIS AND WEAK THROAT

Remarkable Cures in Worst Cases Reported Daily.

CURES WITHOUT USING DRUGS

Doctors now advocate an entirely new method for treating bronchitis and irritable throat. Stomach dosing is no longer necessary.

The most approved treatment consists of a healing vapor resembling the pure air of the Adirondacks.

This soothing vapor is full of germ-destroying substances, and at the same time is a powerful, healing agent. It is sent to the bronchial tubes and lungs through a skillfully devised inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket. Simplicity itself is the keynote of this splendid treatment.

CATARRHOZONE is the name of this wonderful invention that is daily curing chronic cases of weak throat, bronchitis and catarrh. Every breath through the inhaler is laden with soothing, healing substances that destroy all diseased conditions in the breathing organs, it can't fail to cure because it goes where the trouble really exists, and doesn't attempt to cure an illness in the head or throat by means of medicine taken into the stomach. Catarrhozone is a direct breathable, scientific cure.

There is no sufferer from a grippy cold or any winter ill, that won't find a cure in Catarrhozone, which is employed by physicians, ministers, lawyers and public men throughout many foreign lands. Large size lasts two months and costs $1.00, and is guaranteed; small size, 50c; sample size, 25c; all storekeepers and druggists, or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Canada.

Well-Earned Promotions in Western Ontario's Large Financial Institutions

Announcement was made at a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of several changes in the Staffs of THE HURON & ERIE MORTGAGE CORPORATION and THE CANADA TRUST COMPANY.

The rapidly-expanding business of these Institutions has, during the past few years, under the guidance of President T. G. Meredith, K.C., and General Manager Hume Cronyn, assumed nation-wide importance, and the opening of new Branches and the installation of new departments have made many new staff appointments necessary.

Morley Aylsworth, who has been secretary of the Institutions for the past seven years, has been named Assistant General Manager.

Charles J. Clarke, Manager of the Main Branches, London, has been appointed Treasurer, but will continue his duties as Manager. He will be ably assisted by Austin A. McLeish, who has been appointed Assistant Manager of the Main Branches.

D. McEachern, Assistant Secretary during the past two years, now becomes Secretary of both Companies.

H. W. Givins, Manager of the Regina Branch since 1911, has been appointed Superintendent of Western Branches, and will have under his charge the Western Canada investments.

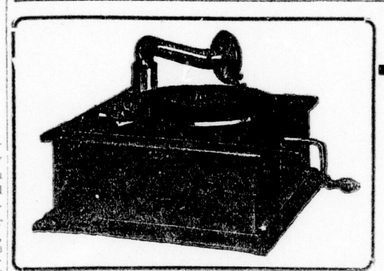

R. P. Baker, Head Office Accountant, is to be Investment Manager at the new Toronto Branch to be opened on or about July 1st.

George S. Jewell, Huron & Erie Main Branch Accountant, succeeds Mr. Baker as Head Office Accountant. E. H. Nugent takes the position of Accountant of both Huron & Erie and Canada Trust Company Main Branches.

It is interesting to note that all the above officers entered the employ of The Huron & Erie, as Junior Clerks; the policy of the Directors being, as far as possible, to advance their own men when vacancies occur.

Other prominent officers of the Companies are D. McArthur, Estates Manager; G. L. Spry, Advertising Manager; P. B. Fetterly and D. McAlpine, Inspectors.

The Market Branch, London, is managed by Walter T. Westby; the Windsor Branch by E. Victor Smith, and the St. Thomas Branch by G. C. McConechy.

The Mutual in War-Time

IN adversity we discover our real friends. Life Insurance as a result of the war has been revealed as the friend of humanity. The grand total of monies disbursed among relatives of fallen soldiers by the life companies of the world if summed up would be beyond comprehension.

If the loss of life through the influenza were added to the war losses, the financial burden carried by the life companies would amaze the world.

Of these responsibilities the Mutual Life of Canada has borne its full share. The claims paid during the war years amount to

of which fully one-half were due to the war and the pestilence that came in its train. No one can estimate the blessing this money has brought to the widows and the orphans of deceased soldiers and civilians! Homes have been saved from extinction, women and children from disaster.

To-day our people are just beginning to realize what life insurance can do for them, and in many cases voluntarily seek the protection it affords without solicitation.

We have an agent in your district—don't wait for him! Look him up!

THE LOCAL MARKET

There was not the usual Saturday attendance at the local market today, owing partly to the bad condition of the roads and the weather.

Poultry was in good demand. Chickens were picked up as soon as they reached the market by eager buyers, and the most of them brought 35c per pound. A few turkeys brought 42c per pound.

Eggs in the market house were being sold for 45c per dozen.

No change in the price of butter.

The live hog market looks firmer at $17 per cwt. Tuesday's market usually sets the price for the hog market for the week.

No other changes in prices are reported.

WALL STREET REVIEW.

New York, March 1.—Many substantial additions to previous gains were registered by popular issues in this week's stock market, total transactions for that period being easily the largest and most varied of any similar period so far is year. There were intermittent signs of outside or public interest, but the great bulk of each day's operations originated with pools and room traders, and again centred in the highly speculative shares. Towards the end it became evident that the recent elevation of prices had created a top-heavy or over-extended condition, notably in oils and motors, which sustained severe reversals.

Rails held within narrow bounds most of the time, but hardened on assurances from Washington that the future of the transportations lies with Congress.

Peace industrials, especially leathers and tobaccos, were favored, and metals also rose superior to trade conditions, but United States Steel failed to make appreciable headway, in spite of the hopeful views entertained by leaders of that industry.

The sensitive state of the local money market was evidenced by a temporary flurry in call loans to 7 per cent, the maximum quotation for this class of accommodation in almost two years. In well-informed financial quarters the belief prevails that time money will remain relatively scarce until the consummation of the Victory Loan.

WALL STREET.

New York, March 1—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m. — Week-end profit-taking probably accounted for the irregular tone of the stock market at the opening of today's trading. Shippings and equipments represented the stronger feature, and oils and motors were again heavy. Royal Dutch, Mexican Petroleum, American Linseed and General Motors yielded 1 to 2 points in the first half hour, while Reading, American International Corporation and Kelly-Springfield Tire rose 1 to 3½ points. Independent steels and industrials also moved to higher levels, but United States Steel was under moderate pressure.

New York, March 1.—Rails were the central features of today's stock market, low-priced shares participating with investments in the general advance of 1 to 2½ points. Shippings were again in speculative favor, American International adding 2½ points to yesterday's advance. Shorts covering in specialties was induced by the strength of motor subsidiaries, Kelly-Springfield advancing almost 8 points. Crucible Steel, Harvester, Baldwin, United Cigars and Distilling issues included the other active and higher stocks, while oils and Cuban Cane Sugar preferred were almost alone among the backward issues. The closing was strong. Sales approximated 325,000 shares. Bonds were irregular.

IN MEMORIAM.

PAWLEY—In loving memory of our darling baby, Vincent, who died March 1, 1918, aged 2 years and 4 months.
More and more each day we miss him,
As there is such a vacant place;
Oft we think we hear his footsteps
Or we see his smiling little face.
We loved him, yes, we loved him,
But angels loved him more,
And they called him to yonder shining shore.
He has gone to heaven, safe from every grief and care.
He was born on earth and bloomed in heaven,
And we will meet our darling in heaven;
There never more to part again.
—His Sorrowing Mamma and Daddy. b

PAWLEY—In loving memory of dear little Vincent Pawley, who departed this life March 1, 1918, aged 2 years and 4 months.
He like a little faded flower was lying quiet and still,
His sweet blue eyes were closing his little hands were still,
When on that day the Savior came from among his flowers,
He came to gather lilies the day he gathered ours.
Safe in the arms of Jesus.
—Grandma and Grandpa, Mr. and Mrs. Heckman. b

27 Wooden Ships in 20 Months, Record of B. C. Shipyards

VICTORIA, B. C., 28.—Completing its contract for the building and outfitting of twenty-seven wooden steamers in British Columbia, the imperial munitions board today took the steamer War Squash out into the Straits for her trial trip. The board completed the twenty-seven boats, from laying of the keels to the final trials in twenty months, a record which the imperial munitions officials say has never been equalled on the continent.

Today's trial trip was entirely successful.

LOEW'S THEATRE

Notice to Prospective Purchasers of Stock.

Owing to the stress of work, it has been impossible for our representatives to cover the entire city in the two weeks, and many who are anxious to take advantage of this good investment have not been called upon.

The possibilities of the success of Loew's London Theatre was somewhat favorably boosted by the announcement in the Toronto Globe that the Toronto Loew's had declared a handsome dividend of 7 per cent. and 10 per cent bonus to common stock holders, and that the Hamilton Loew's would, in a few weeks, follow with an attractive dividend also.

Loew's investments in every city have been so successful that we have met with wonderful encouragement in our campaign here, and it is our desire to give every person a chance to take advantage of the London offer. We have therefore decided to continue our campaign and have our representatives devote their entire attention to interested persons who have not as yet been solicited. We would therefor ask all such persons to kindly phone, write or call the London Security Company, 380 Richmond street, phone 6593, when further information will be promptly given.—Advt. b

LEST WE FORGET THAT DIAMONDS DO GROW.

If we understand the process and fall in line with thousands of others who have tried it most successfully.

In many cases a customer has started with a $25 diamond and by cutting out a few smokes and side-stepping a few movies they managed in time to save another $25, and adding this to the first purchase, secured a $50 diamond. Some have continued until they actually owned and paid for a $300 stone and wonder how they did it so easily.

JOHN A. NASH, My Jeweler, sells only perfect diamonds that have that growing way, and he allows you full purchase price each time you exchange and by so doing helps you grow them. His store is 206 Dundas street, opposite Gammage's. "Where you will eventually buy." b

GLADYS BROCKWELL IN "KULTUR" AT THE PATRICIA THEATRE

Sensational Photoplay Showing Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Next.

Gladys Brockwell, who will appear in the new William Fox photoplay, "Kultur," at the Patricia Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next, has been given one of the greatest roles of her career in this strange story of intrigue, crime, love and underground diplomacy.

The picture deals with events leading up to the war and with the machinations of the German foreign office. Miss Brockwell plays the part of Countess Griselda von Arenburg, who is first seen as the favorite of the old emperor of Austria, and is frowned upon by the royal family. But she meets a gallant young French secret service man with whom she falls in love. Later she instigates the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand.

When war is declared by Germany, a price is set upon the head of the French secret agent, but through the aid of the countess he makes his escape after urging the woman he loves to flee with him. She refuses to jeopardize his safety and pays with her life.

Farmer on Small Farm Gets Average of $1.40 Pay Daily

Speaker at Ilderton Explains Results of Farm Survey.

ILDERTON, Feb. 28.—A meeting of farmers under the auspices of the Farmers' Club was opened here by J. Freeborn, the president. A good representation of the farmers of the district were present to hear Professor Leach of the department, explain the objects and aims of the farm survey. He began by explaining the system followed in the survey in Oxford County, where 363 farms were in the survey. He exhibited a large map or chart of the results. These farmers on 50 acres, averaged $524 income; on larger farms $2,282, the smaller farmer receiving $1.40 per day. The farmers on the larger farms realized more, but these were dairy farms, and this class of farmer has the long hours, sometimes from 12 to 18 hours per day. Farms from 100 to 120 acres were just as profitable as any larger, but the best farmer on 50 acres could not average over $2 to $2.50 per day.

Professor Leach said that the purpose of bringing these figures before the farmers was to show the use to be made of the beef survey in this district.

"We expect," he said, "to visit your farms in order to get the desired information. This to be a secret between you and us.

"Any figures of cost and results would be of use to the farmer personally. Further, these figures and statements furnished by the farmers would not be used in any way in connection with the Government income tax." He expected to be able to call on each farmer from three miles south of Ilderton, fifteen miles west and five or six miles east of L., H. and B. R. R., up to 450 or 500 farms, which will be sufficient for the work of beef production and cost and profit.

The president also spoke.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held on March 7 at 2 p.m. District Representative R. A. Finn spoke briefly, complimenting the club on so many young men being on the membership.

The executive of the Farmers' Club have unloaded one car of fertilizer this week, which cost about $3.50 per ton less than sold by agents to farmers.

J. B. Carmichael, president of the fair board, expects to hold a training class in stock judging in the near future for boys under 18 years. R. A. Finn has consented to take charge of the training. The date and place of meeting has not been fixed as yet.

NILESTOWN VETERAN HAS RETURNED

NILESTOWN, Feb. 28.—The opening of the Sunday school here has been postponed until April 1.

Mr. Pode will preach here again upon his return from Chicago.

A box social is being arranged here.

The annual Masonic hall was held at the hall here recently.

George Smith has severed his connection with Mr. Kraul, butcher, here, and will carry on a butcher business for himself at Derwent.

Gladness reigns at the home of John Knott here. His son Elmer arrived recently from overseas. He went away with the 133th Battalion.

THIRD CONVICTION FOR O. T. A. BREACH AGAINST BLYTH MAN

Hotelman Had Clever Hiding Places For Whiskey.

GODERICH, Feb. 28.—William Mason, a hotelkeeper of Blyth, appeared in police court before Magistrate Reid on the charge of having whiskey for sale in his hotel. He pleaded not guilty. A search of the hotel was made on Saturday, February 22, by County Constables Fellow and Wallace. They found whiskey in a stove, and also in a partition with an opening from the cellar through the floor above into the partition. The board in the floor leading into the partition had a weight on it of about 35 pounds, to make it appear that it was nailed. Upon the evidence Magistrate Reid found him guilty and reserved sentence until Saturday. This is Mason's third offence.

REPAINT BRIDGE WHEN THE WEATHER PERMITS

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 28.—The Wilson avenue bridge here will be painted as soon as weather permits. The board of works will advertise for tenders, it was decided tonight. The cost of painting the bridge will be about $1,000. A returned soldier tendered for the work, but no action was taken until the tenders are received by the committee. The bridge has not been painted since 1912, and is in a very dilapidated condition.

VETERAN RAILWAYMAN QUITTING.

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 28.—Charles Williams, a veteran dispatcher on the M. C. R., who came here with the Canada Southern in the old days and prior to that had been with a number of western railways, will be superannuated on pension, it is announced tonight. Mr. Williams was for some time with the West Detroit depot at the Detroit terminal.

NEW IRON TONIC.

One of the latest discoveries in the drug world is Tonal Iron Capsules. This formula is put up in French gelatin and is really the finest nerve and system food in the world today. Practically all nerve foods are put up in pills, but scientists have discovered that pills instead of dissolving in the stomach rest on the linings, causing small ulcers, and very frequently being evacuated whole.

Tonal Iron Capsules are soluble. They dissolve a moment after being swallowed and their contents, being in liquid form, are quickly assimilated by affected parts of the system.

HOW TO KEEP WELL.

TONAL IRON CAPSULES, The Great Blood Maker, Nerve Tonic and System Builder, have cured others, and they will cure you, if suffering from any of the following: Anaemia (thin or watery blood), Impure Blood, Nervousness, Nerve and Muscle Twitching, Weakness or Palpitation of the Heart, Shortness of Breath, Excitability, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Liver Trouble, Pain in the Back, Kidney Troubles, Rheumatism, Vital Weakness in Men, Diseases peculiar to Women, Mental Worry, Cold Extremities, Numbness, Poor Circulation, Lassitude, or any form of Physical Decline. Price $1.00 a box. If your druggist does not carry Tonal Iron Capsules, mail us $1.00 and we will send a box to you.
