

BOY WAS INSTANTLY KILLED THREE OTHERS BADLY INJURED IN FALL OF PERRIN'S ELEVATOR

Terrible Accident in Big Biscuit Works On Dundas Street West Yesterday Afternoon—Two of Those Hurt Stand Poor Chance of Recovery.

EARL BARRETT MET FEARFUL DEATH FIRST DAY HE WORKED IN FACTORY

It Is Said That the Lads Were Scuffling On the Elevator When Machine Became Stalled By a Projecting Truck—When the Latter Was Kicked Out the Drop Occurred.

THE DEAD.
Earl Barrett, aged 15, 364 Horton street.

THE INJURED.
Alexander Russell, 363 Pall Mall street, fractured knee-cap; dislocated shoulder, slight contusion of brain; will recover.
John R. Welspring, Mill street, fracture of base of skull, bad cut on head; condition very serious.
Samuel Govier, base of skull fractured; left leg broken at knee; condition extremely serious.
Scene of Accident—D. S. Perrin Company's factory, Dundas street west.

Cause—Collapse of elevator, which fell six stories.
Time—About 4:15 p.m.

One boy is dead, two are perhaps fatally injured, and another badly hurt, as the result of the collapse of an elevator yesterday afternoon shortly after 4 o'clock, at Perrin's biscuit factory, on Dundas street west.

The elevator fell six stories, or about 65 feet in all, and it is a miracle that all were not killed.

Earl Barrett, 364 Horton street, a young lad 16 years of age, lived but a few minutes after being taken out of the shaft. His body was removed to Logan's undertaking parlors to await the decision of the coroner.

Samuel Govier, 9 Kensington avenue, and John R. Welspring, whose address the firm did not know, are in a serious condition at Victoria Hospital, while Alexander Russell, 363 Pall Mall street, is also badly hurt.

DIED SUDDENLY

St. Catharine's Clerk Succumbs to Hemorrhage of the Brain.
St. Catharines, Oct. 7.—Willard Stull, aged 21, a clerk in a grocery store, went home from work last night apparently as well as usual. He was soon after taken ill with very severe pains in the head, and died soon after of hemorrhage of the brain.

Mission Circle Elects.
The Women's Mission Circle of the Talbot Street Baptist Church met on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 6 and elected the following officers for the coming year: President, Mrs. Bingham; Vice-president, Mrs. Vining; Secretary, Mrs. J. B. Campbell; home mission treasurer, Miss Jeffery; foreign mission treasurer, Mrs. Clark; agent for the Link, Mrs. Ellis; agent for the Visitor, Mrs. Burtch.

Barrett was the elevator boy. A little after 4 o'clock, Govier, Welspring and Russell got on the elevator, and were taken to the top story by Barrett. On the lift were some four-wheeled, low trucks, that they had to deliver at the top flat.

One of the trucks, which had been shoved off the platform, projected a few inches into the elevator shaft, and when someone pulled the rope to descend, the truck was caught between the floor of the room and the bottom of the elevator.

The truck held the machine solid, and the boys commenced snoving the car out.

They were laughing and joking, as boys will, unmindful of the fact that the coil of steel cable holding the elevator was slowly unwinding.

While they were doing this about 30 feet of cable had uncoiled. At last one of them, thought to be Govier, gave the truck a kick, and it shot out from under the elevator.

Dropped Like a Shot.
Unloosed, the elevator fell six stories to the basement like a shot. About half-way down the cable snapped, and the elevator plunged to the bottom, 65 feet below.

Pandemonium reigned. The girls and women employed in the factory heard the roar of the cable snap, and rushed to the bottom with its load of human freight, and they ran in all directions, screaming at the top of their voices.

Several of the men rushed to the basement and opened the elevator door.

Lying in a heap on the bottom were the four boys.

Russell was on top of the three others, and was groaning pitifully.

Welspring and Govier were lying across Barrett, and from their mouths and noses blood was issuing. Barrett was underneath, with scarcely a spark of life left in his body.

Russell was partially conscious. He was dazed, and stared about him vacantly. While he appeared to understand the questions he could not tell how the accident occurred.

Coroner Notified.
Dr. R. Ferguson, the coroner, Dr. W. J. Stevenson, and Dr. Burdon were hastily summoned.

Barrett was unconscious, and died before a physician could reach him.

The ambulance was called, and the three injured boys were taken to Victoria Hospital. They were rushed immediately to the operating room, where their injuries were attended to.

It was discovered that Govier and Welspring were suffering from a severe concussion at the base of the skull. They had other painful injuries.

Russell also had sustained a concussion of the brain, but it was not so serious as in the case of the others.

Russell became unconscious shortly after being admitted to the hospital, but rallied, and according to the physicians he has an excellent chance of recovery.

Govier and Welspring were still unconscious at 3 o'clock, and the physicians were still working on them.

CONFERENCE AT EXETER.
The third conference of the archdeaconry of London will be held in Trivitt Memorial Church, Exeter, on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

Rev. D. W. Collins, of Exeter, will give the address of welcome, which will be replied to by Rev. Arthur Carlisle, after which there will be a sermon by the Bishop of Huron.

T. H. Luscombe will speak on "The Church and Moral Reform," and Rev. Principal Waller on "Our Diocesan College."

Wedded at Winnipeg.
A quiet wedding took place in Winnipeg on Oct. 4, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Wm. McCue, 842 Horne street, of Margaret McNaughton, London, daughter of Mr. William McNaughton, of the Dominion Transport Company, and Mr. George H. dence in Vancouver.

MR. ED. CLISSOLD TENDERED BANQUET

Thirty-Three Years With The Advertiser, He Is Now Retiring on Superannuation.

GIVEN A PURSE OF GOLD

Eulogistic Address Read—Mr. Clissold Gives Some Interesting Newspaper History—The Guests at the Tecumseh House Last Night.

A complimentary banquet was tendered Mr. Edward Clissold at the Tecumseh House last night, by the directors and employees of The London Advertiser. Mr. Clissold has been connected with the paper for 33 years consecutively, and has been engaged in newspaper work for 58 years. He is retiring on superannuation, and those connected with the paper could not allow the occasion to pass without paying tribute of respect to one of the grand old men of Canadian journalism.

A Purse of Gold.
Mr. Clissold was also presented with a purse of gold by the employees of the company, together with an address expressing the good wishes for his future happiness and good health, and regretting his departure from the city.

Mr. T. H. Purdon, K. C., president of The Advertiser Printing Company, occupied the chair. At the table of honor were seated Mr. Purdon, Senator Coffey, and Mr. Clissold. Every department of The Advertiser was represented.

The banquet was furnished in the best style for which the Tecumseh House is noted. Mr. Geo. H. O'Neill gave the menu his personal supervision, and nothing was omitted.

T. H. Purdon proposed the health of "The King," after which let Continued on Page Nine.

TRYING TO ASSIST HIS COMRADES WELSPRING TERRIBLY INJURED

Mr. T. W. McFarland, of Perrin's, Has Completed an Investigation Which He Claims Throws New Light on the Fatal Accident.

It is now said that John R. Welspring was injured because he tried to assist his comrades who were in difficulty at Perrin's yesterday afternoon.

The lad was on the sixth floor, when the truck fouled the elevator, and went to their assistance. To be more effective, he stepped on the elevator, and as he did so, it shot to the bottom, killing Barrett, and terribly injuring the others.

"I have made a thorough investigation," said Mr. T. W. McFarland, of the Perrin Company, to The Advertiser this afternoon. "Yesterday there was much confusion and excitement, but today I have been able to get more of the facts of the case. It seems that the truck fouled the elevator when it was pulled out, and after pulling for some time, he stepped onto the elevator to be of more assistance. As he did so the elevator shot to the bottom."

"I have also come to the conclusion that the boys were not scuffling. It appeared so to some of the workers here, but I hardly think that was the case. I want to say that in justice to the boys."

DELEGATES WILL BE NAMED TO INTERVIEW DR. PUGSLEY

There will be a meeting of the finance committee tonight at 8 o'clock to name the delegation to go to Ottawa to interview Hon. Dr. Pugsley, minister of public works.

It is expected that Mr. John McClary will form part of the delegation. Mr. McClary has always taken a keen interest in the London and Port Stanley Railway, and has ever tried to keep it in the hands of the city. The proposition appeals to him, and Mr. McClary will in all probability go down.

The board of trade will send fifteen delegates. Among them will be Dr. Harry T. Reason, Philip Pocock, Samuel Stevely, A. B. Greer, F. E. Leonard, Geo. C. Gibbons, K. C., J. G. Duffield, T. H. Purdon, K. C., T. H. Smallman and Major Beattie, M. P.

The council will name their delegation tonight. It will not exceed ten, it is thought.

Miss Bertha Gillies, a young woman residing at Bowood Village, is a patient in Victoria Hospital as a result of being accidentally shot.

Miss Gillies was on her way down the street when a neighbor, it is stated, was trying a new gun. The weapon discharged just as she came around a corner and she received the bullet in the leg.

The wound was a very ugly one. The lady was brought to this city at once, and Dr. Hadley Williams succeeded in locating the bullet by means of the X-ray, and he extracted it.

Miss Gillies will it is expected make a rapid recovery.

Barry, of Vancouver, formerly of London. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Solandt, and the young couple were unattended. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful pearl pendant. After the ceremony the young couple left for a trip to Seattle and Victoria, before taking up their residence in Vancouver.

PORTUGAL'S KING AT GIBRALTAR

Manuel and Royal Family Enter Harbor On Royal Yacht.

NOW UNDER BRITAIN'S WING

Republicans in Control in Lisbon Attempting to Win Over Peacefully Monarchists Who Remain Loyal to the Crown.

Gibraltar, Oct. 6.—King Manuel II., deposed monarch of Portugal, is under the protection of the flag of Great Britain.

The fallen ruler, accompanied by the Queen Mother Amelie, the Dowager Queen Maria Pia and the Duke of Oporto, entered this harbor at 11 o'clock tonight on the royal yacht Amelie. Later the king and his mother came ashore.

By the terms of a treaty between Portugal and Great Britain, the latter nation is bound to grant shelter to Manuel if he requests it. No information as to the deposed ruler's plans could be obtained.

Lisbon, Oct. 6.—While the city of Lisbon is in the hands of the revolutionists and a republic has been proclaimed, with Theophile Braga as provisional president, and other prominent Republicans constituting the ministry, there are still many thousands in and around the capital who are loyal to the monarchy.

The monarchists include a portion of the Lisbon troops and troops massed in entrenched camps about the city. Thus far these have refused to ally themselves with the revolutionists, and the provisional government is taking steps to enforce allegiance.

The people of Lisbon are ignorant of events in the provinces and therefore it is not known whether the movement is broad enough to sweep the country. It is safe to say that the Republicans are proceeding as though the transformation of the monarchy into a republic was an accomplished fact, to stand for all time.

For months past preparations have been going on for the overthrow of the king, and it had been definitely arranged to raise the cry of revolt Wednesday. It was, however, postponed to act immediately; otherwise that defensive arm of the country would be able to offer no assistance in carrying out the plan.

At midnight the Republican chiefs accompanied by numerous partisans, went to the barracks of the Sixteenth Regiment of Infantry. The doors were immediately thrown open and the soldiers and arms were distributed to thousands. The barracks of the First Regiment of Artillery were next visited, and the guns dragged forth. The revolutionists marched to the highest point in Lisbon, a fine strategic position where artillery was mounted, threatening the town.

TWO ARRESTS MADE IN EXPLOSION CASE

Los Angeles Police Running Down Destroyers of the Times Building

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 7.—Two men are under arrest today in connection with the Times explosion. They are Charles Mehr and Frank Russell. Mehr declares the man who blew up the Times probably will not be found in San Francisco. Other arrests are expected to be made.

The seventeen body has been taken from the ruins. The condition of the body indicated that if any other fell near it they were probably burned to cinders and carted away with the debris.

MAYOR BEATTIE OPPOSED TO A JOINT BUILDING

"Let Us Have Our Own Municipal Structure," He Says—Van Cleve Badly Needed.

Mr. A. H. Van Cleve, head engineer, seems to be a much-desired individual in London. At a meeting of No. 2 committee last evening, a number of matters were laid over until he arrives to take charge of the engineering departments of the city.

The first matter referred to him was the question of a joint building with the county.

Ald. Tancock is greatly enamored of joint buildings, and suggested that some steps be taken to bring the matter to a head.

Mayor Beattie opposed the suggestion.

"If we want buildings, let us have our own," he declared. "Our dealings with the county in the past have been such as it is clearly to our advantage to do alone."

"Let us build our own city hall on Victoria Park," said Ald. Saunders.

"You might as well give the county the earth as give them what they want in this matter."

After some discussion, the question was laid over, and Mr. Van Cleve will be asked to assist in solving the problem.

A Deputation.
There was quite a lively debate on the selection of a deputation to go to Toronto and Hamilton to inspect paying plants.

Something might be done when the deputation was in Ottawa next week.

"I move that Mayor Beattie and the engineer go," said Ald. Morgan.

"What about the chairman?" asked Mayor Beattie.

"I am opposed to large deputations," answered Ald. Morgan.

Ald. Saunders thought that on a question of such importance the whole staff should go. However, after much discussion, it was decided to wait until Mr. Van Cleve comes to the city.

The same action was taken in regard to the sketch submitted by City Architect Nutter.

Engineer Wright was instructed by the committee to make the Dundas street hill as passable as possible during the winter. The block pavement will be laid in the spring.

Other matters of routine were disposed of.

present were Ald. Tancock, chairman, Ald. Saunders, Ald. Morgan, Ald. Pocock, Mayor Beattie, Engineer Wright and Secretary Baker.

Rex Guy Count was charged in the police court this morning by a William street lady with unbecoming behavior before her thirteen-year-old daughter. He was found guilty and fined $45 and $5 costs. INFLUX TO CANADA BREAKING RECORDS

Grand Total for the Year Will Be Near 300,000.

Ottawa, Oct. 7.—Immigration to Canada is going to break all records this year. It is expected that before the year closes the grand total of three hundred thousand will have been reached. Half of these will be from the United States, and the other half from Great Britain and Europe.

The congestion in the local asylum, coupled with the statement of the number of prisoners in the county jail, which shows that there are two men confined there on charges of insanity, was later dealt with by his lordship in his address. He stated that similar conditions exist throughout the province, and that the Government is now making an effort to overcome the difficulty.

The Sanatorium.
The document, which is also somewhat shorter than usual, failed to contain any direct recommendation relative to the new Byron Sanatorium, despite the fact that his lordship in charging the jury, dwelt on the worthlessness of the institution, and the commendable step taken by Elgin and St. Thomas in making a substantial grant, while the county of Middlesex kept on the outside.

"This was rather a surprise, and the 'wise ones' in the county and city have figured that there will be no joint municipal building for a long time to come, as the presentment of the grand jury at other assize courts was practically the only stimulant to the agitation.

LEMIEUX ON THE SURPLUS

Tells a London Club It Will Be $30,000,000 This Year.

London, Oct. 7.—Postmaster-General Lemieux, addressing the Sphinx Club, announced that Hon. W. S. Fielding's surplus for the current year will be $6,000,000. "The main cause of the approaching prosperity in Canada is the British preference against all-comers," he said, "we ask nothing in return. We do it with loyalty and friendship, because it has been the cause of prosperity in the Dominion. Whatever may be the result of the reciprocity negotiations at Ottawa, the British preference will remain as the cardinal principle of our success." Mr. Lemieux also expressed the hope that a universal penny postage may be established.

casual way wherein Englishmen sometimes asked about the annexation of Canada to the United States. He said that in Canada such a question would be taken as a downright insult. Canada, he declared, is more than satisfied to remain an integral part of the greatest empire the world has ever seen. He advocated further efforts on the part of Great Britain to develop trade with Canada.

GREER RAN DOWN IMPORTANT CLUE

Result May Be Arrest Tonight in Goderich Murder Case.

Goderich, Ont., Oct. 6.—The end of the Lizzie Anderson inquest is at last in sight, and it will not be at all surprising if the delivery of the verdict of the coroner's jury tomorrow night is followed by an arrest.

About 12 o'clock last night Inspector Greer received an urgent call at the Hotel Bedford, where he is quartered, and at once hurried out into the driving rain to follow up the clue. He made a second expedition in a top buggy early this morning, and although he was as reticent as ever, when he returned for breakfast, something about his expression indicated that he had gained possession of some very important data in connection with the brutal crime. He spent most of the latter part of the morning in probing this latest lead, and the feeling of the local authorities is that some sensational evidence will be sprung tomorrow night.

A Flat Denial.
This morning's adjourned inquest, which once more attracted a packed court room, lasted not more than 15 minutes, only one witness, Hugh Maguire, being examined. At the conclusion of this brief testimony, which consisted in a flat denial of the testimony of Wm. Brinley, the shooting gallery proprietor, last night, the crown asked for a further adjournment in order that the detective might produce the latest facts of which they have become possessed.

Before Maguire was called the jury surveyed the blood-stained clothing of the murdered girl, which are being kept in a closet in the town hall.

Maguire's Questioning.
"Do you know Edward Jardine?" asked Crown Attorney Seager, after the witness had been sworn.

"Quite well."

"Were you with him on the second day of the fair?"

"No, sir."

"Did you see him there in the afternoon?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you speak to him?"

"Just in passing him."

"Did you see him there that night?"

"He came up to a refreshment booth and bought something for ten cents, where I was working. That was all."

"Didn't you tell Constable Wiggins that you had been wrestling with Eddie Jardine that night, and saw him at 10 o'clock?"

"No, sir."

"But you did tell Constable Wiggins some things that were not true?"

"Yes, sir, I was going to tell anything about the thing till I did it here before the jury."

More Medical Evidence.
It is practically certain that the verdict will be given tomorrow night. Very few witnesses are to be examined, but it is expected that their evidence will be very important. More medical testimony will also be forthcoming.

"I think the girl was murdered before midnight," said one of the inside authorities at noon today.

WANT RECIPROCITY

Republicans of Massachusetts Go On Record at Convention.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 6.—Closer trade relations with Canada, a permanent tariff board and a revision of the schedule when conditions warranted were the prominent features of the platform adopted by the Republican state convention here today.

President Taft was strongly commended for his efforts to secure a reciprocity treaty with the Dominion.

Governor Eben Draper was chosen by acclamation for a third term. Louis A. Frothingham, of Boston, was nominated for lieutenant-governor.

All other state officers selected today were renominated except that the name of James M. Swift, of Fall River, was accepted for the attorney-generalship, the present holder, Dana Malone, having declined to be a candidate.

THE IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.
London, Oct. 6.—Evelyn Cecil, M. P., speaking at Aston, said he is very anxious to see the Imperial Conference developed. "First, let the equality of the mother country and the dominions be recognized with close imperial communications," he said. "Secondly, let the nucleus of a Federal Government be formed by the mother country and by the self-governing dominions, truly imperial affairs be formed by creating an efficient department in London with colonial representation as the connecting link between the periodical conferences."

TO ATTEND THE CORONATION.
Melbourne, Oct. 6.—Premier Fisher and one or more of his ministers will attend the Imperial Conference. The invitation of the Imperial Government to send a delegation to the coronation has been accepted, and the delegation will comprise 31 Ministerialists, 7 from the Opposition.

It is reported that the Government has informed the West Indies that it is unable to recommend any subsidy for a trans-Atlantic mail service.

A PRINCE'S PERIL.
San Francisco, Oct. 6.—George Fong, a member of the San Francisco organization of the Young Chinese association, an alleged revolutionary body, was arrested today by secret service men just as he was about to shoot Prince Tasi Hsun, uncle of the Emperor of China. The prince and his retinue were boarding the steamer Chiyo to sail for home. Fong confessed that he intended to kill the prince.

A loaded revolver was found in the pocket toward which Fong was moving when the detectives seized him.

The detectives had received information that Fong would bear watching.

A Great Play.
Those that did not see J. M. Dodson in "The House Next Door" have much to regret, for it was one of the finest plays ever brought to this city. This actor will make himself known to us again in this same play at the Grand Opera House on Monday night, Oct. 10.

Not only is Mr. Dodson's creation of the role of Sir John Cotswold one of the finest interpretations known to the stage, but it is such a fine characterization that it should be seen often to realize the full power of this actor's acting quality. Such detail, thought and study, which his interpretation brings to notice, that it stands forth like one of Meissonnier's most exquisite paintings, so full of life and color is his composition. Seats now selling. Guaranteed attraction.

A VETERAN OF THE PRESS.

The retirement of Mr. Edward Clissold from The Advertiser will be felt as a personal loss by his associates. He has been connected with this journal for 33 years without a break. He learned his trade in the old Prototype office, but his youthful desire to see the world took him to the United States in an eventful period. He was in the South before the war, and frequently saw auction sales of negroes in New Orleans. He worked in New York with a rifle at his side, when a mob of Southern sympathizers threatened to destroy the Tribune building. He heard Lincoln, and he saw Dickens. He "set" manuscript of Thackeray and Carlyle. He knew Horace Greeley, with whose hieroglyphics he wrestled daily for years, and of whom he has many racy anecdotes.

With this fund of experience he returned to London in 1877, and he has since filled nearly every role on The Advertiser. Most of the time he has been engaged in editing "copy" of all descriptions. There are many journalists scattered far and wide who owe much to his rigorous but salutary censorship. The blue pencil that seemed a dagger to the cub reporter was merely a surgical instrument, wielded by a kindly hand to cure, not to kill. Every newspaperman will appreciate the humor and philosophy of this tribute to Mr. Clissold by one of his famous "boys," Mr. Willison, of the Toronto News.

"More than 28 years have passed since I first submitted my reporter's copy to his kindly supervision. He will remember that I had a tendency to express opinions, and that often with these eliminated, not much of my stuff remained. Not seldom what did remain was more Clissold than Willison. As with the late Archie Bremner, so with Mr. Clissold—we had to make the mournful admission that when our own children were mangled it was for their eternal good."

Another foremost member of the press, Mr. Wm. Thompson, editor of the Farmers' Advocate, pays this beautiful tribute to Mr. Clissold as a journalist and a man:

"Through the years of intimate association in newspaper labor, I have learned to appreciate his good sense in counsel, his patient fidelity, his sincerity, his unvarnished goodness, and his sympathetic consideration for every purpose true. As a journalist, his supreme aim was to present in simple words the truth of things that were of public concern, but he had more heart for the sanctities of life than for the morbid 'yellow' details of some harrowing 'scoop.'"

"You will not find his name in any modern 'Who's Who' at a dollar per line, and like most of us plain folk his portrait nor his bust may never adorn the Temple of Fame, but he will be secure in that greater list of immortals who do their honest work well and entwine themselves deep in human hearts."

These and other messages of the same character from former associates of Mr. Clissold, holding important positions, testify to the real influence of his life and work. In his 77th year he is wonderfully vigorous in mind and body, and from all appearances will enjoy a long period of richly-earned leisure. May the rest of his days be glided by happy memories, and by the assurance of the affection of his Advertiser "boys."

FREE SPEECH AT QUEEN'S.

We expected and are glad to see the following disclaimer from Principal Gordon, of Queen's University:

"The professors in Queen's University have the fullest freedom in regard to their opinion on public questions. Whatever difference of opinion upon such questions may exist among them, the college authorities have not in any case allowed this to affect their treatment of any member of the staff. Their action towards Mr. Marshall has not been influenced by his opinions about a Canadian navy nor by his articles on the Northwest."

"When Mr. Marshall left Kingston in April to accept an appointment in Saskatchewan, during the vacation, he gave me to understand that he would return to his work in the university. Only in answer to repeated inquiries by telegraph, and after the session had opened, was I informed that he would not return."

Professor Marshall complains of "a concerted effort to make his position intolerable." He was told that Sir James Whitney had threatened to make no more concessions to Queen's so long as a Radical was on the staff. He alleges also that "a British group" in the university refused to speak to him all winter, and that he was reprimanded for addressing trades and labor councils.

It is a case in which it is not easy to ascertain precisely the facts upon which to base a judgment. There may be narrow-gauge men in Queen's as in other large institutions, who could easily make it uncomfortable for any member of the faculty. It is quite likely that Professor Marshall felt himself in an atmosphere of hostility. But Principal Gordon's letter makes it clear that no reproach lies against the highest authority of the university. Queen's would be untrue to its traditions if it tried to muzzle its professors. The late Principal Grant had an opinion on every public question, even when it was a party one. He was the most eminent publicist in Canada, outside the walls of parliament. A Queen's man who has a conviction, and is not afraid to express it even though it is unpopular, is merely following his example.

WHERE FILTRATION FAILS.

This from the Toronto Globe has a local application:

"In dealing with the electric sterilization of water the report of the hydro-electric power commission emphasizes the fact that sand filtration will not remove dangerous bacteria from water. Such polluting substances as are found in water from ordinary sources can be entirely removed by sand filtration, but that process is of no use in removing the injurious bacteria which are now allowed to find their way into the intake pipe of the Toronto water system. As sand filtration, for which preparations are now being made, will remove only the obvious pollution, leaving the dangerous disease germs in the water supply, the wisdom of preparing to draw upon the perpetually pure water of the lake cannot be questioned."

The River Thames receives the drainage and sewage of a hundred miles before it reaches this city. Sand filtration would make the muddy water clear, but the clear water might contain the germs of typhoid. It would be impossible to patrol the river so as to guard against infection. The city made no mistake in rejecting the filtration system in favor of a pure source of supply. The Toronto Globe warns the city of Toronto against dependence on filtration, which would be useless unless the water were drawn from a region uncontaminated by sewage.

The King of Portugal is under the British flag. Other continental monarchs in the past have found it the safest place.

A Victoria dispatch says that Hon. Mr. Templeman and a British Columbia M. P. came to blows over a question of patronage. If this is true the one who got the worst of it is probably converted to civil service reform.

Mr. Bourassa disowns the article which appeared in his paper, Le Devoir, advocating a French-Canadian boycott of English banks. It seems there are some extremes to which Mr. Bourassa would not go in his racial campaign.

The Free Press says that East Elgin probably cares little about Port Stanley harbor. The people of St. Thomas and Port Stanley, who live in East Elgin, have a decidedly different opinion. They are backing up London's petition for harbor improvements. Our contemporary is helping in its own way, by attacking Dr. Pugsley and the Government before they have been interviewed on the matter.

Engineer Sothman writes what is called "a hot letter," and a denial of the statement in The Advertiser that he interfered in fixing Niagara power rates in London. He goes on to say that the schedule issued by the local water commissioners was "faulty," "unjust," and "unfair," and that he submitted another for their consideration. This is interesting information, but we don't see why it should be characterized as a "denial."

 "Because," moaned his victim, "my umbrella cannot walk."

WHEN LAURIE FELL IN LOVE.

[M. O. Hammond, in Canada Monthly.]
 When Laurie was a young lawyer in Arthabasca, where by the way may still be seen his former office bearing his shingle, although he has not handled a brief for many years, his lungs were at one time thought to be seriously affected, and in this connection a pretty story is told of the romance of the premier's life. While attending law school in Montreal, Laurie became deeply attached to a young lady in the house in which he boarded, who had some years before come up from a farm near Arthabasca. The attachment grew to love and promise of marriage. Unfortunately, at this stage, Laurie's health gave way, and the Montreal doctors thought he could not live long. Under these circumstances the engagement was broken and Laurie went to Arthabasca, recovered his health, and, as most people thought, with but a short time to live. Soon after his arrival he consulted a local doctor, who told him he was not seriously ill, and that with care he might live a long time.
 "Will you give a certificate to that effect?" asked young Laurie, eagerly.
 "Certainly," the doctor replied.
 The certificate was given to Laurie, who headed for Montreal to show it to his former lady love. In the meantime the lady had met other friendships which might have proved lasting, but the return of Laurie with the assurance of probable good health and long life, brought the lovers together again.
 The woman is now Lady Laurie.

Canada's Famous Football Trainer

Gives His Opinion of Zam-Buk.

Mr. Sim Vaughan, trainer of the Hamilton Tigers Football Team, and admittedly one of Canada's finest trainers, is amongst those who have proved how useful Zam-Buk is to the athlete, as well as in the home. He says: "I hold Zam-Buk in the very highest esteem as a balm and embrocation for athletes. As trainer to the famous Tigers Football Team of Hamilton, I introduced it some time back, and it would be safe to say that there is not one single member of the team who has not been indebted to Zam-Buk for the cure of some bad bruise, cut or sprain. Zam-Buk prevents wounds 'taking the wrong way,' and insures rapid and healthy healing. 'Many of the ordinary preparations cause hard encrustations to form on a wound or cut, and when these get knocked off, the wound is worse than ever. Zam-Buk, on the contrary, while healing a wound keeps the tissue soft.'"

"In my estimation it is the finest healing balm obtainable; and no athlete institution or no athlete should be without it. I say this after over fifteen years' experience as a trainer of athletes, and after experimenting with nearly all known embrocations. Zam-Buk is, without doubt, entirely superior."

Athletes should note that the above opinion is shared by such well-known sportsmen and athletes as Sherring, of Hamilton, Longboat, the All Blacks, of New Zealand, and all the leading football organizations of England. For sprains, cuts and abrasions, for stiffness, muscular rheumatism, and as an all-round embrocation and balm, Zam-Buk is—as Mr. Vaughan expresses it—'entirely superior.' All druggists and stores at 50 cents a box. Refuse imitations.

AND IT CAN.

[Toronto Star.]
 England rose to greatness by an intense love for England, not by looking backward toward Rome, or Normandy, or the ancient home of the Anglo-Saxons. Canada can rise to greatness only by an intense Canadianism, a national spirit so powerful as to draw together men of all races and racial origins. Imperialism must adjust itself to this national spirit.

A BLATCHFORDISM.

[Ottawa Free Press.]
 The statement imputed today to Robert Blatchford, the English Socialist and German sear creator, that the Queen's Own Rifles went to England convinced that "the mother country was decadent and Britons degenerate" is a Blatchfordism.

The Queen's Own could have had no such opinion, because no such opinion exists anywhere in Canada, outside of the few people who would re-enact their corn laws, and in so doing to do so represent the old land as going to the dogs because of its freedom.

90,000 WINDOWLESS ROOMS.

[Technical World.]
 "Let in the light!" is the slogan of the men and women engaged in a tenement house reform in New York. It is hard to leave, but it is nevertheless a fact, that on Feb. 12, 1908, there were in that city 101,277 absolutely windowless rooms, most of them bedrooms inhabited by the poorer classes, those who pay rent of $3 to $18 a month. Because of the strenuous efforts of the tenement house committee of the Charity Organization Society in securing and enforcing the tenement house law the number of windowless rooms was reduced to about 90,000.

THE SOLDIER'S POSITION.

 The Queen's Own in London compelled Englishmen to treat the man in uniform with consideration in restaurants and theatres. It is a curious fact that England honors her soldier men on parade, but individually they have to take to their corner.

LORD KITCHENER'S COLLECTIONS.

[Manchester Guardian.]
 In the old mansion at Broome Park, near Folkestone, which Lord Kitchener has just bought, he will find ample room for the three collections to which he has given most of his scanty leisure. His Oriental china is said to have the approval of respectable connoisseurs, especially his peach-bloom vases, which came from the imperial palace at Mukden. He has been collecting for the past ten years, and although he has made his mistakes like other people he has applied himself with characteristic care to master the subject, and may now be called an expert. His second hobby is old and rare eastern specimens. His third is paintings. It will be a year before his

A Godsend to Sickly Children

Mr. N. L. Duffee, of Helena, Ala., the thankful father of a little baby girl who was made healthy and fat after she was not expected to live, writes: "Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the finest of medicines. I have a girl baby, now 5 months old, who until she was 2 months old we hardly saw any chance of raising her. At that time I procured a bottle of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and gave her a few drops at a time. Now she is acknowledged to be the finest looking baby in town. Baby is still growing as fast as a pig."

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey can be safely given to children, no matter what age, in small doses. It is just the right thing for them when they have coughs, colds or any throat or stomach troubles that are so prevalent with the children. It is an absolutely pure, gentle and invigorating stimulant and tonic. It is invaluable for overworked men and delicate women.

All druggists, grocers and liquor merchants, or direct, $1.25 a large bottle. Refuse substitutes and imitations; they are impure and dangerous. The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

PORTUGAL'S KING

Loyal Troops Remain in City. The governmental troops immediately took up a position in the centre of the town, about two miles distant from the revolutionists, where heavy guns and Maxim's were placed to oppose the revolutionists. Meanwhile the insurgent cruiser Adamastor steamed up in front of Lisbon ready for a bombardment, while the cruiser Rafael proceeded down the river, taking her station opposite the seamen's barracks.

The cannonading commenced and the whole town trembled to its foundations. A regiment of municipal cavalry made a brilliant charge in an endeavor to take the insurgents' encampment near the railway, but was met with a terrible fire from the artillery. This regiment was almost annihilated, only three men escaping. The revolutionists showed extraordinary courage and sustained an attack on all sides by superior forces for two days and nights. Tuesday the Adamastor shelled the Necessidades Palace, and King Manuel and the Queen Mother, Amelie were forced to escape to Cascaes, from which place they went to Mafra. The same night the Adamastor and Rafael shelled the centre of the town, doing much execution to the monarchist forces, and finally the latter, tired of the carnage, surrendered. The republic was proclaimed in the afternoon and the Republican flag hoisted on the public edifices. The provisional government has issued a communication to the foreign powers, notifying them of the proclamation of the Portuguese republic. No serious objections are expected to be offered by the provinces to the new regime. The Government has already appointed civil governors for the different provinces. The Brazilian president-elect, Marshal Hermes Fonseca, motored through the streets today with the provisional president. Both were enthusiastically greeted by the people. Order has been restored throughout the greater part of the city. Patrols are guarding the thoroughfares.

8720—A PRACTICAL APRON.

A serviceable work apron such as the one here shown not only protects the entire dress, but is very becoming, as it is made with very little difficulty, and the ease with which it may be slipped on and off is a feature that will recommend it at once to the busy housewife. The bib is cut circular, and slips on easily over the head, requiring no pins or buttons to hold it in place. A generous-sized pocket is a useful addition that will be appreciated by the wearer. Such a garment as this could be successfully made from linen, gingham, madras and percale. The medium size will require 3½ yards of 36-inch material for the making. Allow for small medium and large. A pattern of this illustration will be mailed to any address upon receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

PATTERN DEPARTMENT, LONDON ADVERTISER.

FASHIONS

The skirts are being made very short generally. Extremely narrow types are seen in high-class lines.

The tendency is in favor of dark colors this season, in both tailor-made and semi-dressy suits. Navy, sea brown, golden brown and black are particularly desirable. Many mixtures in black and white, black and gray, and white and black are also being taken.

Black and white effects are all in great vogue for both evening and afternoon dresses, as well as for street frocks. Black and white is the thing in Paris at present. It is thought that we shall have a black and white vogue for fall, with navy, royal blue, raven's wing, and brown used in combination with black for all types of dresses and costumes.

The short sleeved peasant blouse is a prominent style feature with all types of dresses and costumes. The narrow skirt prevails.

The all-gold or silver laces will be used on handsome dressy afternoon and evening frocks, in conjunction with black, white or ecru maine laces.

Tailored models are mostly made of rough materials in chevrons and serges. A few hard-twisted manish effects are included in the showing, but are not as popular as the roughly woven fabrics.

For afternoon and street dresses the elbow length sleeve is generally used, although the sleeve length reaching above the elbow upon most gowns is helped to the desired length by a lace undersleeve.

Handsome gowns and wraps for fall are making extensive use of colored and metallic laces in conjunction with the fine malines. Chantilly, laces, Alencons, etc. Garnitures, borders and flounces are in demand for the purpose.

The touch of black is still a feature of fashion.

There are indications of the return of the empire.

Dark blue and black are the favorite costume colors for coat suits.

Waists of black chiffon, marquisettes and volles are prominent.

New toques and turbans generally have sharply upturned brims.

Two toned plumes and enormous pink poppies trim some of the latest hats.

Devilled Eggs.—Boil a dozen eggs hard, throw in cold water; after half an hour remove shells. Cut eggs in half, remove yolks and rub these to a paste with three tablespoons of saffron oil, two tablespoons of vinegar, one-half teaspoon of made mustard, a dash of paprika, two or three drops of a good sauce, and salt to taste. Form this paste into balls and put back in white. Serve with salad dressing.

French Fried Potatoes.—Peel potatoes, cut into strips and lay in iced water for an hour. Drain and pat dry in cloth that will absorb all moisture. Have ready a kettle of deep fat, heated gradually until it is boiling hot. Test this by dropping in a bit of the potato. It should rise to the top and brown immediately. Put in the potatoes, fry to a golden brown, drain, first in a hot colander, then shake in heated tissue paper before transferring to a hot dish lined with a table napkin.

Chocolate Pie.—One cup sugar, one cup sweet milk, pinch of salt and a little butter. Set on stove and heat. Then stir in one large tablespoon corn starch, one large tablespoon grated chocolate, one yolk of egg. Cook till proper consistency and when nearly cold add one teaspoon of vanilla. Put in baked crust with beaten white of egg and sugar on top. Brown in quick oven.

Fudge.—Two cups white sugar, two cups brown sugar, half cup milk, half bar chocolate; let cook until it forms a soft ball in cold water, and beat until beginning to get thick. Pour into buttered pans. Mark into square before cold.

DON'TS

For Stout Women.

The day of belts is always a day of dismay for the woman whose waistline has become ample. A few hints of assistance are appended:
Don't wear a belt wider than an inch and a half.
Don't choose one of a different color from the blouse.
Don't order shiny fabrics, such as bright satin, nor bulky materials, such as velvet.
Don't wear thin ribbons that gather into a string after being worn a short time.

CYNTHIA GREY'S
CORRESPONDENTS

Dear Miss Grey: What is a suitable birthday present for a girl of sixteen? MONKEY MAID.
A—Hair ribbon, pretty handkerchief, a book, something nice for her dresser.

Dear Miss Grey: 1. What can I do for large pores? 2. Will sage tea turn gray hair black? If so how does one use it? M. J. E.

A.—1. Wash face thoroughly with-out rough friction with very hot castile soapsuds. Rinse in ice cold water. Moisture the areas affected with lemon juice, half strength. After 15 minutes rinse with cold water and apply cold cream sparingly. 2. It will make it a little darker. Make strong tea, and brush it through the hair. However, I assure you you will not be pleased with results.

Dear Miss Grey: My catsup molds. What can I use to prevent this? CONSTANT READER.

A.—Well-made catsup does not mold if sealed in air-tight bottles and kept in a cool dark place.

Dear Miss Grey: 1. What will keep patent leather from cracking? 2. What will be the leading colors in fall suits for middle aged women? 3. I am 19 and small. How long should my skirts be? 4. How should I arrange my hair? MATHIE.

A.—1. Nothing. 2. Black or any of the purple shades. 3. Five inches from the floor. 4. Just as simply as possible. A soft flat pompadour or parted in the middle (choose the most becoming style), and pulled loosely in the back just above the nape of the neck.

Dear Miss Grey: What will remove white spots which were caused by hot dishes, from a polished table top? HOUSEKEEPER.

A.—Wipe off quickly with cloth moistened in alcohol, then wash with clean wet cloth at once or the alcohol will mar the polish.

Dear Miss Grey: 1. Please tell me how to clean white window shades without removing them from the rollers? 2. Do you advise hot dyes? If so, please tell me something to restore the color of my prematurely gray hair. HAZEL EYES.

A.—1. Better remove from roller and wash. That is the only satisfactory way. 2. Indeed I do not! The early change of hair indicates poor general health. You should improve your physical condition. Give the hair an egg shampoo every two weeks. Rinse with first with warm, then with cold water, and dry with gentle friction. Use a good hair tonic daily. Loosen hair and brush daily for 20 minutes, in the sun if possible.

A SON OF THE IMMORTALS

BY LOUIS TRACY.

Author of "The Stowaway," "The Message," "The Wings of the Morning," Etc.

Prince Michael's exclamation was most unkingly. Rather was it the will of a criminal on the point of being executed waited without. His ruddy cheeks blanched, and his hands were outstretched as if in piteous appeal for mercy. There was a tumult of ob- jurgations in the outer passage, but to this the King in spite of himself paid no heed.

"I," he gasped again, with relaxed jaw. "You, sire," cried Marulitch. "Our line is restored. There will be fighting, of course, but what of it? One audience week will see you enthroned once more in the Schwarzbürg. Oh! Here comes Stampo! and Bellani. You are quick on my heels, messieurs; but I promised my cabman a double fare."

The score of nearly endeavoring to protect his master's private apartments, was rudely thrust aside, and a fierce-looking old man, grey-haired and swarthy, but surprisingly active in his movements for one of his age, stepped up to Prince Michael. He fell on his knees, caught that nervous right hand, and pressed it to his lips.

"Thank heaven, sire, this have been spared to see this day!" he exclaimed. "The Greek, least demonstrative, reverent, fearless, and loyal, has been melted by Stampo's side. 'I, too, am your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subject,' said he."

The Prince did then make a supreme effort to regain his self-possession. "Thank you, general," he murmured, "and you also, Monsieur Bellani. I have only just been told. Theodore and Helena both dead? What a thing! They were my enemies; but I am shocked; I may almost say grieved. And what if I am I to do almost powerless—few friends, no money. One does not merely pack a valise and go off by train to Vienna, to England, or to any proclaimed King, Julius. By whom? Have the representatives met? Is there an invitation from the Kaiser?"

Stampo was on his feet instantly. A man of steel springs and volcanic energy, his alertness was against his own years. "The people," he said, "What of them? What do they know? There is talk of a Republic. This is a bad time for a Republic in the Balkans. Austria, with Russia growing at one door, and the Turk squatting before a third, Vo Monseigneur. Start from Paris tonight, cross the Danube, reveal your young supporters, and you will soon show these windbags that a man who means to rule is worth a hundred demagogues who exist only in the mouth."

His serene Highness was slowly but surely recovering lost ground. He grasped the eyeglass again, and this time gazed into its accustomed crease. "You, Bellani, you are not one to be carried away by emotion," he said. "Count Marulitch spoke of a proclamation. Who issued it? Was there any authority behind it?"

"God's bones! What better authority is there than your Majesty's?" roared Stampo.

But the Prince extended a protesting palm. "An excellent sentiment, my friend; but let us hear from Bellani," he said. The Greek, thus appealed to, seemed to find some slight difficulty in choosing the right words. "At present everything is vague, Monseigneur," he said. "It is certain that a battalion of the Seventeenth Regiment revolted and declared for the Delgado dynasty. Two other battalions of the same regiment followed their lead. But the chamber met this morning, and there was an expression of opinion in favor of the Constitutional Government. No vote was taken; but the latest reports speak of some disorder. The approaches to the Schwarzbürg are held by troops. There are barricades in the main streets."

Prince Michael's face went under his coat-tails. His face had not regained its claret red color, and its present tint suggested that it had been carved out of a Camembert cheese; but he was taking the measure of current events in Kosonova.

"Barricades seem to argue decided opinions," he said, and there was a perceptible tinge of cynicism in the phrase that jarred on his hearers. "One must be bold at times," muttered Count Julius. Gen. Stampo was chewing an end of his long mustaches in impotent wrath, and Bellani merely shrugged.

"Of course, my father means that prudence must be allied with boldness," said Alec, who had placed his mother in a chair, and was now gazing sternly at Marulitch, as if he would challenge the unspeakable thought.

"Exactly, my boy. Well said! One looks before one leaps, that is it! Now I am not so young, not so young, and I have not forgotten the pleasant ways of Kosonova. Theodore thought all was well; what you see what happened after 30 years! Just think of it! A lifetime! Why I came to Paris 24 years ago, just after you were born, Alexis, and even then the Obrenovitch line seemed to be well established. And here you are, a grown man, and Theodore and his Queen are lying dead in the black Palace. It gives one to think. Now, our good Stampo here would have me rush off and buy a ticket for Delgado tonight. As if Austria had not closed every frontier station and was not waiting to pounce on any Delgado who turned up at this awkward moment on the left bank of the Danube!"

Bellani was stroking his nose. Stampo evidently meant to support his attachment by inches; and Julius Marulitch was waxen, and thereby rendered more than an ivory like a waxen model. Alec was a dutiful son. There were elements in the composition of the senior that he did not admire; but he had not before suspected them, and he felt of cowardice. His cousin Julius, whom he thoroughly disliked, was betraying a whole world of meaning in the scorn that leaped from his eyes, and there was no mistaking the thoughts that inspired the furious General and the impassive Greek. For a time in his life, Alec despised Prince Michael. There was a quickening in his veins, a tingling at the roots of his hair, a tension of his muscles, at the repulsive notion that a serene Highness might, after all, be molded of common clay. And in this spasm of sheer agony he remembered how Joan's sweet voice had thrilled him with the message of "Palace of Athens." Was he, indeed, one of those sons of the mortals whom the goddess "drives forth by strange paths," through doubt and need and danger and battle? Surely some such hazardous track was opening up now before his feet! His whole nature was stirred to its very depths. It seemed to him that there was only one man in the room whose words had the ring of truth and honesty. He strode forward and caught old Paul Stampo by the shoulder.

"I'll tell you what, sir, I'll un- consciously adopting the free and easy style of speech that came naturally to him, 'you and I must carry this thing through, General! My father is glued to Paris, you know. He has lost some of his enthusiasm, and one must be enthusiastic to the point of death itself if he would snatch a kingdom out of such a fire as is raging now in Kosonova. Austria has never been me, probably. I have never heard of me. I can slip through her cordons, swim ten Danubies if need be. What say you, General? Will I fill the bill? If I fail, what does it matter? If I win—well, we must reverse the usual order of things, and my respected parent can step into my shoes.' [To Be Continued.]

PEARY LECTURE

Vanished Explorer Found in London—Has Turned Globe Trotter.

New York, Oct. 6.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the vanished explorer, who hoaxed two hemispheres, has been found in London and the World will print tomorrow an extended interview attributed to him obtained at the British capital. He is reported saying he will yet prove that he discovered the north pole, and hopes to return to New York shortly.

In London, according to the interview, he occupied a seat in Albert Hall last spring and heard Commander Peary lecture English the Royal Geographical Society. "I stood 20 yards from Peary at the time," says the interviewer, "and none recognized me." The doctor gives his line of flight from New York as follows: Toronto, Halifax, Liverpool, thence to Gibraltar, then to Tangier, Morocco, to Portugal, and from Lisbon to Buenos Ayres, around the Horn to Valparaiso, Chile, across the South American continent by horseback, and stage over the Andes, and back to Buenos Ayres, and from there to his headquarters in the Argentine. He has made his headquarters in the Argentine since last May, taking occasional jaunts to the continent. Most of the time he has had his wife for company. His children are in European schools.

A blue book on the shipping of the United Kingdom shows that for 1909, in comparison with the two preceding years, the number of vessels, British and foreign, engaged in the overseas trade of the kingdom, has decreased, though the tonnage has increased.

No other store offers such a wide scope of choice to the careful dresser—no other store has better-made garments or smarter styles.

BOY INSTANTLY KILLED

Scientists in charge express doubts as to their recovery.

Mr. McFarland's Statement.

It was with difficulty that the real cause of the accident was discovered. Mr. T. W. McFarland, vice-president of the D. S. Perrin Company, gave the most connected account of the accident.

"The elevator was in charge of Barrett," said Mr. McFarland. "Russell had taken on the truck of trays to be delivered. He and Barrett were the only persons who had any right to be on the elevator. They went to the top, and whether they were scuffling or wrestling I am not quite certain. In any event they started the machinery to take the elevator down, and the truck caught between the elevator and the floor. It held the machine for some seconds, and in the meantime the cable uncoiled. The lads succeeded in kicking the truck loose, and the elevator fell to the bottom, breaking the cable. All they had to do was to pull a rope and stop the machine when the truck caught, but they did not do this."

Mr. Alfred Gregory, foreman of the gum department, heard the boys on the elevator, and declares that they were laughing and scuffling. Barrett was a new boy. It was his first day at work, and the other lads were trying his mettle.

They scuffled on the way up, and when the elevator stopped, they had another scuffle. Then the elevator started down, and the truck was shoved out. In a second or two the elevator struck the bottom with a crash.

Inquest Ordered.

The body of Barrett was viewed by Dr. Ferguson, the coroner, and he has decided upon an inquest.

Factory Inspector Clark was also informed of the accident, and he will be asked to make a report on the cause.

A pathetic incident happened just after the injured were taken to Victoria Hospital. Mr. W. H. Barrett, father of the dead boy, was told that his son was hurt in the accident, and when informed the patients had been taken to Victoria Hospital, he hurried there in all haste. He went to the operating room, and saw a boy there, whom he identified as his own.

There was no person to enlighten him, and he went home satisfied that his boy was alive.

Boy Was Dead.

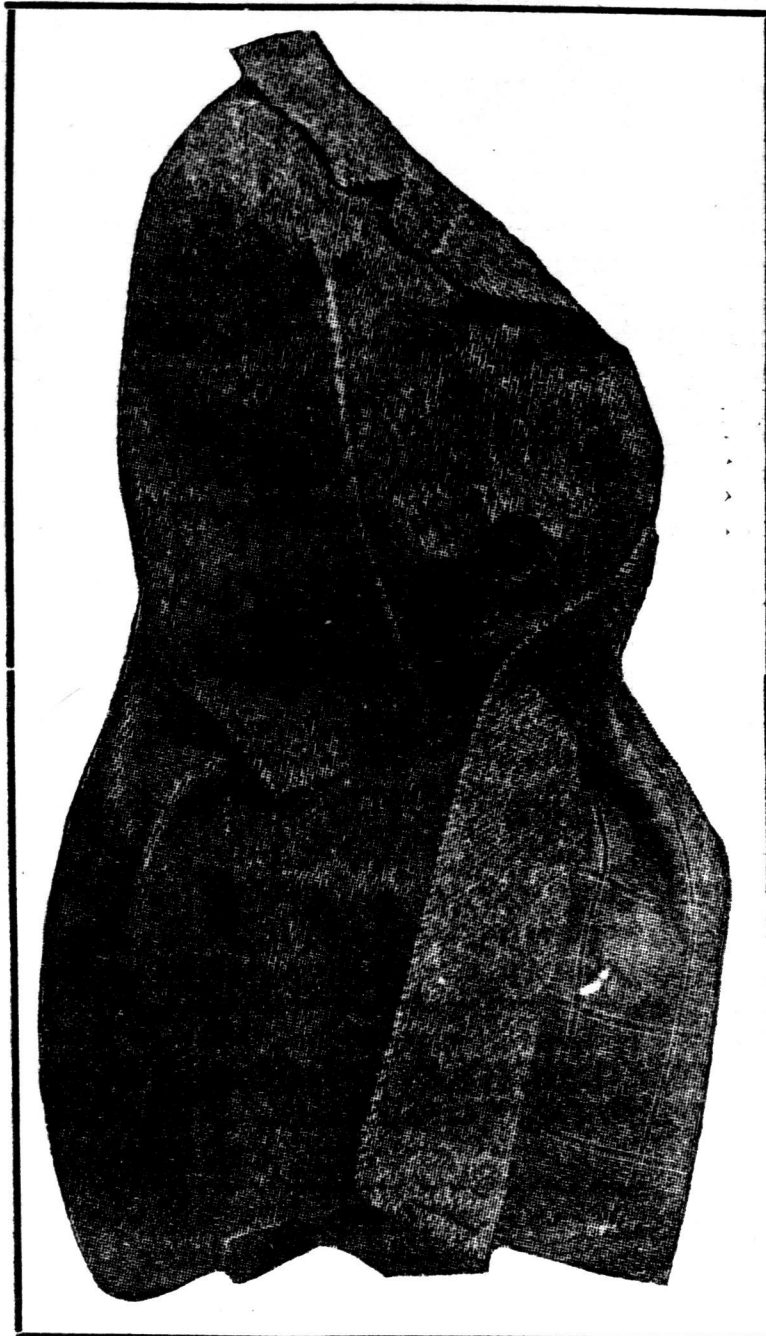

Later Mr. T. W. McFarland informed the father that his boy was dead. Mr. Barrett could not believe him. They returned to the hospital, and the father was at last convinced that his son had been killed. He went immediately to the undertaking parlors of George E. Logan, and found the body.

"Welspring and Govier are in a bad way," said Dr. W. J. Stevenson. "Their condition is causing us uneasiness, and the outcome is extremely doubtful. Russell is in the best condition, and although there is a slight fracture he will get better."

The Victims.

Earl M. Barrett, the young lad who was killed at Perrin's yesterday afternoon, is the son of Mr. W. H. Barrett, a teamster, living at 328 Horton street.

Overcoat Time

Some overwrought journalist has written, "Already the trees reflect the coming of fall." We know of even a larger, and brighter, and more potent reflection, and that is our store. If ever there was anything in nature that speaks larger and louder for the coming season than our store we want to hear of it.

It is a kaleidoscopic collection of all the best cloth that Scotland has turned out this year for fall and winter overcoating. It is in all-wool creations of all patterns and weights, from the heavy snug homespun to the lighter textures that go good with the early season.

Miller's Illustrated

What is "Miller's Illustrated"? It is a semi-annual magazine, published by the Scotland Woolen Mills Company. It takes its name from the general manager of the company, Mr. G. Miller. Mr. Miller is very proud of his magazine, and of the record made by his company in Canada. The publication reflects the spirit of the company—it is bright and progressive.

Mr. G. Miller, outside of building up a big business in Canada for his firm, has been a very considerable factor in regulating the price of clothing in this country. The fact that nearly every second house is using a large "$15" sign speaks volumes for the work he has done.

The magazine, "Miller's Illustrated," is something good every way. Write for it.

Alexander Russell is a boy 15 years of age, and is the son of Mr. Alex. Russell, a laborer, living at 963 Pall Mall. He has been employed at Perrin's for about five weeks. He left school after the holidays.

John R. Welspring boards on Mill street. He is a young fellow, perhaps 18 years of age, and comes from St. Thomas. He has no relatives here so far as can be learned. Harvey Walters, of St. Thomas, is a brother-in-law.

Samuel Govier is also a young lad, living with his sister at 9 Kensington avenue. He has been employed at Perrin's some little time. His brother, J. J. Govier, lives at 519 Hill street. They have not lived in the city very long.

GAS BURNERS ARE NOT GAS LAMPS

L. A. Cuddy Lost His Case Against E. L. Liddicott.

Justice Teetzel could not see that gas burners were gas lamps at the assizes yesterday afternoon. Consequently Edwin Luther Liddicott, who purchased the bankrupt stock from L. S. Cuddy, to whom the National Gas and Light Company assigned, was not compelled to pay the full price which he had contracted to pay.

It seems that Mr. Liddicott purchased about $8,000 worth of goods from Cuddy, and discovered when the stock was delivered that he had not received what he thought he contracted for. He protested and agreed to pay a certain amount, this amount being paid into court some time ago.

Some of the lamps were equipped with globes, but the great majority were not, only three of the seven or eight parts of the entire lamps being delivered.

Mr. Liddicott contended that the goods shipped to him were really worth nothing but junk, and the judge agreed with him.

The judgment is in favor of the plaintiff for the amount paid into court by the defendant, with costs up to the time of payment in, and dismissing balance of the plaintiff's claim with costs, since payment in to be paid by plaintiff to defendant.

JOHN H. HUNTER DEAD AT TORONTO

Provincial Inspector of Insurance Succumbs to Pneumonia.

Toronto, Oct. 6.—John Howard Hunter, provincial inspector of insurance, died at his home here tonight, after a week's illness with pneumonia. He was 72 years old, and came to Canada from Ireland. In 1861 he graduated from Toronto University, and entered the teaching profession, being principal of schools at Beausville, Dundas and St. Catharines. Later he was appointed principal of the Institute for the Blind at Brantford. He resigned to accept the position of provincial inspector of insurance. He leaves a widow and a large family. His eldest son, George, is chief justice of British Columbia.

GEORGE OF GREECE WOULD QUIT THRONE

May Turn Job Over to the Prince Constantine.

Vienna, Oct. 6.—King George of Greece is again on the verge of abdicating his throne, according to an interview with him appearing in today's Neu Fre Presse.

The only reason the King did not give up his throne in 1909, he is quoted as saying, was that he considered it his duty to his people to remain until the serious involvement with Turkey was settled. The expected improvement in Greece's foreign relations has not materialized and George, despairing of straightening out the tangle, is said to have decided to turn the rule over to Crown Prince Constantine.

BLOW AT DIVORCE

St. John's Anglican Synod Bars Divorces From Office.

St. John, N. B., Oct. 6.—The Anglican Synod adopted a resolution which expressed the judgment of the synod that it was highly undesirable that any man or woman who is a party to a marriage after a divorce for any cause, save the innocent party in a divorce for adultery, during the life of the other party to the divorce, should hold any office in the church. Bishop Richardson said he hoped the synod would go farther next year and eventually adopt a canon which would treat the matter in a more drastic way.

JOE DEANE EXPLAINS

How One of His Friends Got Ahead of the Others.

"I must explain," said Joe Deane, that your little item yesterday about my first customer was really a bit misleading. For my friend who bought the dress suit came in the day before the Semi-ready store was opened, so that he cannot really or officially be my first customer in the new store. It is several days since there has been a legitimate and exclusive Semi-ready store in London. So many people have been deceived by cheap substitutes that the Semi-ready Company decided to give their agency to one man upon whom they could thoroughly rely, to a man who had the nerve to take his stand on quality and stay with it. It is a business axiom that really first-class goods, to maintain their standard and quality and business, must be sold at fixed and fair prices. And important also in clothes, where so much chicanery and hidden lack is practised, must be an absolute and dependable guarantee of satisfaction."

DISPUTE TITLES

Question of Indian Lands in British Columbia Taken Up With Premier.

Ottawa, Oct. 6.—The Premier and Hon. Frank Oliver this morning received a deputation from the Moral and Social Reform Council of Canada in reference to the grievances of certain Indian tribes in British Columbia in regard to land titles and other things. The deputation consisted of Rev. Mr. Desprose, of Montreal; Rev. Canon Tucker, Rev. Canon O'Meara, and Mr. Hamilton Cassels, K.C., Toronto. The title to these Indian lands is in dispute between the Dominion and the province, and while the Premier is willing to refer the matter to the privy council of Great Britain, Hon. Richard McBride objects. Sir Wilfrid Laurier pointed out that he would forward the memorial of the deputation to Victoria and would press for a decision.

CARRIER RESIGNS

Port Talbot, Oct. 7.—John Brown has resigned from the position of mail carrier between Port Talbot and Pwllheli, after nearly 40 years' service. Thomas J. Simm has taken the position for the present time till the postmaster-general gives his decision with regard to rural free delivery.

INDIGESTION, STOMACH GAS, DYSPEPSIA AND HEADACHES FROM STOMACH VANISHES

A Little Diapepsin Makes Your Out-of-Order Stomach Feel Fine in Five Minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch Gas and Eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of Dizziness, Heartburn, Fullness, Nausea, Bad taste in mouth and stomach headache—this is Indigestion.

A full case of Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case someone else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases, then you will understand why Dyspeptic troubles of all

YOU CAN INTEREST HIM.

Any Man Over Fifty. You can interest any man over fifty years of age in anything that will make him feel better, because while he may not as yet have any positive organic disease he no longer feels the buoyancy and vigor of twenty-five nor the freedom from aches and pains he enjoyed in earlier years, and he very naturally examines with interest any proposition looking to the improvement and preservation of his health.

He will notice among other things that the stomach of fifty is a very different one from the stomach he possessed at twenty-five. That greatest care must be exercised as to what is eaten and how much of it, and even with the best of care, there will be increasing digestive weakness with advancing years.

A proposition to perfect or improve the digestion and assimilation of food is one which interests not only every man of fifty but every man, woman and child of any age, because the whole secret of good health, good blood, strong nerves, is to have a stomach which will promptly and thoroughly digest wholesome food because blood, nerves, brain tissue and the very constituents of the body are entirely the product of digestion, and no medicine or "health" food can possibly create pure blood or restore shaky nerves, when a weak stomach is retarding the daily wear and tear of the body from a mass of fermenting half-digested food.

No, the stomach itself wants help and in no roundabout way either: it wants direct, unmistakable assistance, such as is given by one of our Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal.

These tablets cure stomach trouble because they give the stomach a chance to rest and recuperate; one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contains digestive elements sufficient to digest 3,000 grains of ordinary food such as bread, meat, eggs, etc.

The plan of dieting is simply another name for starvation, and the use of prepared foods and new-fangled breakfast foods simply makes matters worse as any dyspeptic who has tried them knows. As Dr. Bennett says, the only reason I can imagine why Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not universally used by everybody who is troubled in any way with poor digestion is because many people seem to think that because a medicine is advertised or is sold in drug stores or is protected by a trade mark must be bad, whereas as a matter of truth any druggist who is observant knows that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have cured more people of indigestion, heartburn, heart trouble, nervous prostration and run-down conditions generally than all the patent medicines and doctors' prescriptions for stomach trouble combined.

THE KING'S HOLIDAY COMES TO AN END

Return to London Before Going to Windsor For the Winter.

London, Oct. 7.—King George's and Queen Mary's holiday at Balmoral is now very near a close, for they return to London on October 8 for a few days, before going on to Windsor with their court for the winter. During their stay at Balmoral the King and Queen have been very busy at the castle carrying out some needed alterations, and they have had all they could do to get them finished in time. The work has not been by any means on so extended a scale as that undertaken at Buckingham Palace, where a deal of reconstruction is needed in order to provide for the royal children, but at Windsor King George has been having prepared much more spacious accommodation for his automobiles, a work in which he has been very particular. Both the King and Queen are very fond of Windsor, the Queen especially, because of the river. Her early life was passed near the Thames, of course, and she has never failed to appreciate its beauties.

Royal Trip to Africa.

While in London their majesties will take leave of the Duke and Duchess of Connaught on their departure to South Africa on the union liner Balmoral Castle, which is now in the hands of the admiralty. It has been very elaborately fitted up and painted the well-known naval grey, while it will be manned by 450 blue-jackets drawn from the various naval stations.

Young Prince a Good Shot.

Meanwhile King George has been having some excellent deer stalking, and it is said his majesty is particularly delighted at the excellent promise which the Prince of Wales has shown at his recent initiation into the mysteries of grouse shooting and deer stalking. Indeed, it is said that there is every promise of the young prince being in a few years a wonderful shot as his father, who is one of the finest shots in England.

Albert To Be Duke of York.

The question as to title, investiture and the career of the Prince of Wales, having now been satisfactorily settled, it is expected that an announcement will shortly be made as to the formal raising to the peerage of Prince Albert, the second son of the King. Prince Albert is eighteen months younger than the Prince of Wales, and will not, therefore, attain his majority for another two years. He is, however, already well started on his naval career, and is to accompany his brother on his tour around the world; so it is thought probable that the title of Duke of York will be bestowed on him.

Charges of Violating Smoke Bylaw in Toronto Were Dismissed.

Toronto, Oct. 6.—The corporation lost its case against Henry Flood, Charles Butler, C. Thompson and Wm. Hunter, the four C. P. R. engineers who were charged in the police court this afternoon with violating the smoke bylaw.

Mr. Thomas Phelan, counsel for the defence, maintained that as there were no smoke consuming appliances on the engines, the fault did not lie with the men, but with the company. Henry Flood gave some evidence on this score.

"What appliances have been placed on your engines since the order of the railway board in 1908 in this respect?" asked Mr. Phelan.

"Absolutely none," said Flood. He stated further that the shop hands had made the fire in the engine and his fireman had not touched it again until after the city smoke inspector had made his observations.

"There seems to be a gap in the responsibility between the shop hands and engineers," said his worship, "and I think the C. P. R. had better get it fixed up. The cases are dismissed."

MR. ED. CLISSOLD

ters of regret were read from Advertiser graduates scattered throughout the Dominion, all regretting their inability to be present and pay their respects to Mr. Clissold, under whom they had served their apprenticeship. Among the letters were those from Mr. J. S. Williams, editor of the Toronto News; W. Thompson, editor of the Farmers' Advocate; Cameron Brown, New York; J. D. Clark, Ottawa, formerly editor of The Advertiser; Dr. J. H. Dempster, Detroit; George Guskard, private secretary to Hon. Robert Rogers, Winnipeg; Prof. Roy Elliott, University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.; Charles Matthews, Ottawa; Fred T. Yealand, city; Burnside Robinson, Toronto News; Harry Blount, Ottawa, and others. The letters were most interesting, and contained happy reminiscences of other days on The Advertiser.

Tribute to Mr. Clissold.
Mr. Purdom, in introducing the toast list, paid a high compliment to Mr. Clissold. He had lived a quiet, useful and good life. "The good that some of the veterans of the press have done will never be estimated," said Mr. Purdom. "He has been a most useful citizen, and while we regret his going we wish him the greatest possible happiness in his declining years."

Senator Coffey's Address.
Senator Coffey responded to the toast to "The Distinguished Veterans of the Press."

"It would indeed be something of an extraordinary character that would cause my absence tonight," said Senator Coffey. "Most heartily do I thank you, Mr. Chairman, for your kind invitation to be present, because I desire to pay a meed of honor to an old friend. Mr. Edward Clissold has never appeared in the glare of the limelight, but such life work as his is the foundation upon which may be built nations strong and enduring. For long have I known him, and for long have I measured his worth and treasured his friendship. The pure gold of sincerity, of honesty, of industry, of firmness of purpose, has ever been with him, and about him. Perhaps no more arduous task can be named than that of editing a daily paper. It calls for a high order of intelligence and discernment and many a great personage in the community has been helped to attain his lofty pedestal by the man who rocks the fountain pen. Many there can be made more useful citizen than he who with good mental equipment and a conscience unseared gives of his best to promote through the press the weal of humanity. Satisfied am I that this purpose has always been near and dear to the honored guest this evening, and as he lays down the pen—as his active work has come to a close—he may reflect that he has done his part nobly. Though the eve of life be with him, may the night be far away.

The Address to Mr. Clissold.
Mr. M. W. Rossie, managing editor, read an address to Mr. Clissold testifying to the affection and respect with which he is regarded by all connected with The Advertiser past and present. Mr. Frank Adams presented him, on behalf of the employees, with a purse of gold.

The address was signed by Messrs. R. D. Millar, on behalf of the board of directors; Frank Adams, Geo. Millar, J. B. Smith, Frank Millar, Geo. Mathewson and Jas. Wilkins for the business office; M. W. Rossie, Ed. J. Carty, J. H. Fowler, H. H. Pickett, C. O. Parsons, Arthur Carty and Verne Rowell, for the editorial department; A. E. White, John Dalton, E. J. Liddicoat, Jos. L. Goodburne, H. B. Archer, A. Gorman, Frank McKay, W. O. Ruse, Fred Chambers and Fred Brown, for the news room, and by Ed. Hayden, W. Hunter, Hugh McPherson and Lou Davies for the job department; Geo. W. Yeates, Toronto; J. A. McNeil, Toronto; G. W. Buekard, Winnipeg, and W. O. Smith, Winnipeg, represented old-time Advertiser men.

Mr. Clissold's Reply.
Mr. Clissold made a feeling reply to the address, and gave many interesting reminiscences of his long life, both here and in the United States.

Mr. Clissold's Reply.
"You who know me at all are well aware that I am no speech-maker," said Mr. Clissold, "a fact that I never regretted more than I do tonight. For I would like to express in the strongest possible terms how much I appreciate The Advertiser's liberality, and how much I value the good fellowship shown by your presence here tonight. It means a lot to me to leave London, which has been more or less my home for over 67 years; but it is gratifying in the extreme to be able to do so under such auspicious circumstances."

"Sometimes we come across some sage advice telling people 'How to Grow Old Gracefully.' The present proprietors of The Advertiser must have been studying this question, for they have certainly taken a 'tangible' way of helping me to do so. As I said before, I only wish I could express my thanks in stronger words. There is another thing I want to speak of especially. That is the universal and invariably kind treatment I have received from everybody in The Advertiser's establishment, from the president of the company down to the youngest of the boys. I know I am somewhat cranky and fussy, but everyone has been pleasant and obliging to me—often going out of the way to help me along. "I appreciate this very much. It is something I can never forget. "Other friends outside of The Advertiser have been very good to me. Some of them are here tonight. I heartily thank you everyone, and only hope you may be as well treated by your associates as I have been.

Looking Backward.
"Looking back 68 years to the time when the Prototype was started—it was six weeks old when first I learned the case—wondrous changes have taken place. The Prototype boasted a circulation of 500 copies a week, which we printed on a Washington press. We felt proud of printing 250 sheets an hour, on one side only—so it took four hours to complete the issue of 500.

"In those early days the first circus spread its canvas in the court house square, and the elephant was taken down to the Forks for a swim. "But London got too small for us boys, and I started for Cincinnati in 1855. The winter I was there, the Ohio was frozen over—something very rare at that point—and thousands of people crossed on the ice. "In the spring of 1856 I found my way to New Orleans, and in June reached New York by sea, and soon found work on the New York Tribune, where I learned to read Horace Greeley's manuscript.

"Queer stories are told of Greeley's writing. In one instance that came under my observation, where he spoke of William Adams, the printer made it 'Richard the Third.' "We had stirring times after the civil war broke out. The Tribune office was set on fire one day during the draft riots, but the paper came out just the same, but every printer was provided with a rifle and twelve rounds of cartridges, each man being assigned a place in case of attack, two men at every window.

"In those days one of the wonders of the time was the Tribune's ten-cylinder press, that took ten men to feed it, as many more to carry the sheets away, and an army of boys to fold the papers, after all only printing one side at a time. This press cost $100,000—now a $30,000 press will do a vast deal more work, with only two men, and no folding required.

"Well, these big cities are all right, in a way. But I doubt if for real home life there is anything that can beat London, Ontario.

"I certainly have many good friends here—friends I can never forget, and in wishing you good-bye I must voice the sentiment of Rip Van Winkle's favorite toast: 'Here's to your good health, and your family's good health, and may you all live long and prosper.'"

The Old Boys.
"Visiting Old Boys" brought responses from Mr. George W. Yeates, of Toronto, private secretary to the Minister of Mines. Mr. Yeates, in a happy vein, told of his pleasant connection with The Advertiser, and bespoke his affection for "Dear Old Clis."

Mr. J. A. McNeil, of the Mail and Empire, Toronto, also spoke in reminiscence. He gave an original poem, with Mr. Clissold for his subject. It was as follows:

"It is not long that a man may live
No matter how hale he be,
Though four score years the fates
May give,
It is but as a drop in the sea.
It is not much that a man may do,
Whatever his length of years.
For he is harassed, his whole life
Through,

With failures and doubts and fears,
He may waste his gifts, or win to power,
Who lives alone for self,
Grasp bubble fame for a fleeting hour,
Or hoard some pitiful pelf.
But to do one's work with a single mind,
With a smile for fortune's stings,
Be cheerful, and helpful and brave and kind,
Ah, these are far worthier things.
And for us there's a name on friendship's page,
Of a man who had done all this,
So here's health, and love, and a
Ripe old age,
To the best of them all, Old Clis.

The poem was greatly appreciated, and expressed the sentiments of all. The toast to "Heads of Departments" was responded to by Messrs. R. D. Millar, Frank Adams, George Millar, Ed. J. Carty, A. E. White, Ed. Hayden, Jas. Wilkins, and J. H. Fowler.

"Other Members of the Old Guard" brought responses from E. J. Liddicoat, H. B. Archer, Jos. L. Goodburne, W. Hunter, Hugh McPherson. Mr. M. W. Rossie introduced the toast to "The Directors," to which Mr. T. H. Purdom, K. C., responded briefly. He alluded to the loyalty of the men engaged in every department of The Advertiser, and hoped that the pleasant relations would long continue.

A Unique Initiation.
During the evening the ceremony of initiation into the Toronto Press Club was given under the direction of Mr. J. A. McNeil, of the Toronto Mail and Empire, a former Advertiser man. It was an extremely happy, ceremonial, and created unbounded amusement.

Among those present were Messrs. T. H. Purdom, K. C., Senator Coffey, Edward Clissold, Alex. Purdom, Geo. W. Yeates (Toronto), R. D. Millar, John Purdom, M. W. Rossie, J. B. Smith, Geo. Millar, Hugh McPherson, A. E. White, E. Hayden, Lou Davies, W. Hunter, Ed. J. Carty, J. A. McNeil (Toronto), E. J. Liddicoat, Verne Rowell, C. O. Parsons, Frank McKay, Jas. Wilkins, H. B. Archer, Fred Brown, Fred Chambers, Jos. L. Goodburne, Arthur Carty, W. O. Ruse, Frank Millar, A. Gorman, J. H. Fowler and others.

A SMOKING ROOM FOR THE GRAND!
Popular Theatre Continues to Advance for the Benefit of Its Patrons.

A few more improvements, to add to the comfort of its patrons, are contemplated by the management of the Grand Opera House. The lease on the cigar store to the south of the theatre will soon expire, and the store will be converted into a new entrance. When this is completed, one box office, serving all parts of the house, will be instituted.

The present entrance will then be remodelled into a large smoking-room, to accommodate those desiring to smoke between the acts. There is no smoking-room at present connected with the Grand, and those who desire to smoke between the acts have to use the lobby, therefore the institution of a new smoking-room will be a decided improvement.

One hundred and fifty-two million tons of sand have within less than two years been removed by dredging from Liverpool bar.

Clothing Facts

For Men Who Want to Dress Well at a Minimum Expense

In every gathering of well-dressed London men you'll find the great majority are wearers of Grafton Clothing. Some of these wearers of Grafton Clothes occupy high places in the world of finance, others are men whose incomes necessitate economical expenditure. But both these classes recognize the fact that Grafton Clothes meet every requirement of correct style and good taste, that they are the clothes of absolute satisfaction and that they cost a fourth to a third less than other stores charge for ordinary clothes.

The reason for these advantages is found in the fact that when you buy Grafton Clothes you buy directly from the makers and you don't have to pay any middleman's profit. You get the best that can be produced for the same price other stores pay at wholesale.

And we have never been so well prepared to demonstrate these advantages as we are this fall. We've larger stocks, bigger assortments and better values than ever.

An Absolute Necessity For Good Health

You might as well expect to find a man or woman healthy with constipated bowels as to find a city healthy when its sewers are blocked with refuse.

Nature demands that the indigestible food and waste matter which collects in the lower bowels shall be got rid of at least once in twenty-four hours. If this is not done it decomposes, filling the bowels with poison, which is taken up into the blood and carried all through the body.

Naturally, this poison affects the work of every organ. The liver is deranged, digestion is upset, and biliousness, headaches, lassitude and dizzy spells follow.

Literally millions of people suffer these results of constipation without realizing the cause, or doing anything to remove it. Yet it can be removed, easily and with certainty, by using Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Take, for example, the case of Mr. George Andrews, Halifax, N.S., as he himself describes it:

"For many years I have been troubled with chronic constipation. This ailment never comes single handed, and I have been a victim to the many illnesses that constipation brings in its train. Medicine after medicine I have taken in order to find relief, but one and all left me in the same hopeless condition. At last I read about these Indian Root Pills. That was indeed a lucky day for me, for I was so impressed by the statements contained therein that I determined to give them a fair trial. They have regulated my stomach and bowels. I am cured of constipation and claim they have no equal as a medicine."

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were first taken to cure constipation nearly a hundred years ago, and during the last half century they have been very extensively and very successfully used throughout the world. They are entirely vegetable in composition and do not sicken, weaken or gripe like mineral purgatives.

SCOTT CASE SENT OVER TO THE WINTER ASSIZES

Action to Break Will of Late Harvey Scott Has Been Postponed.

The final case on the list, and one of the most important set down for a hearing at the assizes, was postponed until the winter assize court in January next this morning. This was the action of Wesley Scott, against Vincent et al. the executors of his father's estate, to break the deceased's will. Wesley Scott claims that in 1885 he made a contract with his father, by which he was to work and live on the farm and come into possession of the estate at his father's death. Harvey Scott was killed, and when the will was read it was discovered that the property had been given to Harvey's nephew, Arthur Scott, of Thorndale. Wesley now seeks to have the contract carried out or in the alternative he asks damages, as provided for by the contract.

ALIMONY CASE SENT TO THE WINTER ASSIZES

Glendenning Vs. Glendenning Will Be Tried by a Jury.

The case of Martha Glendenning, of this city, against her husband, Andrew Glendenning, of Toronto, for alimony, was transferred to the jury sittings of the winter assizes at the request of Mr. Edmund Meredith, K. C., solicitor for the plaintiff, at the assize court by Judge Teetzel yesterday afternoon. It is alleged that a very important witness is ill at present and therefore unable to attend court.

Mr. and Mrs. Glendenning were married in Feb. 16, 1889, and resided for some years in McGillivray Township. During 1905 they kept a store in Cobalt. This is where the trouble is said to have commenced when a school teacher boarded with the plaintiff and defendant. Mr. Glendenning is now living in Toronto, where he conducts a grocery business, it is said.

CASE WAS THROWN OUT BY JUDGE

Susan Shore Vs. John A. Jones Did Not Reach the Jury.

The action of Susan Shore against her nephew, John H. Jones, for damages for false arrest, was thrown out without being sent to the jury at the fall assizes yesterday afternoon. The evidence showed that there had been numerous family rows, and that the action grew out of a spirit of vindictiveness.

Mrs. Shore had been summoned before Squire Chittick by her nephew to answer a charge of deliberately destroying the property on which she lived, near Lambeth, and which Jones had purchased from Mr. Shore. One charge was to the effect that Mrs. Shore had placed a quantity of salt at the bottom of a grapevine. This case was dismissed by the magistrate. "Yesterday's action," said the judge, "appeared to be brought in an effort to 'even up' for the case in the magistrate's court. As the relations between the relatives were somewhat strained, Jones was perhaps justified in summoning his aunt when he discovered conditions that were at least suspicious.

"However, the plaintiff in the action had failed to show that there was any maliciousness in the magistrate's court case, and, therefore, no damages could be given."

This was the last jury case on the card, and the jurors were paid off and dismissed.

A PRETTY WEDDING AT POPLAR HILL

Two Popular Young People of That Place United in Marriage.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. Hugh Brooks, Poplar Hill, on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 5, at four o'clock, when his niece, Miss Mabel Barclay, was united in marriage to Mr. Arthur Cutler.

The bride looked charming when, leaning upon the arm of her uncle and carrying a bouquet of white roses, she was led, amid a bower of flowers, where the ceremony was performed by Rev. E. J. McEwen.

The bride was dressed in a rich white silk suit, trimmed with matinee lace and insertion. The wedding march was played by Miss Bertha Campbell, of Komoka, and little May Brooks acted as flower girl. About thirty near relatives and friends were present.

CANADA'S PEAT BOGS

One Close to Stratford Over 2,000 Acres in Area.

Ottawa, Oct. 6.—The results of a further examination into the peat resources of Canada, and particularly Ontario, made during the season of 1909-10, are contained in a report just issued by the mines branch of the department of mines. The bogs examined, their situation and extent are as follows:

Brunner bog, eight miles west of Stratford, Ont., 2,283 acres total area.

Komoka bog, twelve miles from London, Ont., 900 acres.

Brockville bog, three miles from Brockville, Ont., 1,400 acres.

Rondeau bog, on the shore of Lake Erie, six miles from Blenheim, 1,571 acres.

All this can be worked, the report believes, to a profit.

A report is also made on the work done at the Government peat bog at Alfred, Ont., while the Dorchester, Ont., and Farnham, Que., peat plants are referred to favorably.

The world produces more than two hundred million tons of grain every year.

Are you going to keep on hesitating about buying Hillcrest Lots?

If so, you'll let others take the big profits while you come in at the rear.

While many are hesitating to believe that the C. P. R. have bought a big block of land adjoining Hillcrest for railroad purposes some C. P. R. officials have bought four to five lots each.

Is that not significant?

We made the statement that the C. P. R. had bought, KNOWING it to be a fact.

We are selling Hillcrest lots NOW at old values. Once the C. P. R. have begun active operations (and that will be soon) higher values will rule.

You surely do not think the C. P. R. have bought this land for a park? Get in NOW at present prices, buy as many lots as you can and watch your money grow.

Buying Lots in London Where there has been no fictitious boom, and where you can see your purchase, is the safest of investments.
