Douglass Believes Market Place Best For Proposed Rest Room.

COUNCIL TO DECIDE

The city will receive a bona fide offer to purchase the old registry office, corner of Carling and Talbot weather prevailing today, the fiftystreets, should the city council decide chairman of the finance committee.

Ald. Douglass states that assurance has been given him to that effect by a London party, who will pay a fair price for the property and guarantees to construct thereon a substantial three-story office building.

It is the chairman's opinion, and he assures that the question will receive the attention of the committee in due course; that the city would be well advised to dispose of this site and building. He is confident that a reasonable price would be forthcoming and directs attention to the possibilifrom taxes, property and business

Wenige championed the building in question as a suitable rest-room for farmers' families and bus terminal, in view of the fact that the building will be needed no longer by the city when the new registry office is ready for occupancy about March 1 Ald. Douglass feels, however, that it would be more economic for the city to construct, with the assistance of the market square for that purpose. "That would be more expedient," the chairman reasons. "It would be more convenient to the market and any event the county authorities should be sufficiently interested to assist in a financial way."

The chairman offers the further opinion that considerable expenditure would be necessary to convert the old office into a suitable rest-room modern sanitary and heating arrangements being imperative.

Believes Future in Exports Is Assured If Quality Maintained.

In spite of the uncomfortable seventh annual convention of the to sell, reports Ald. L. S. Douglass, Dairymen's Association of Western Ontario opened in the Masonic Temple with fifty members. The keynote of the convention this year is quality, and this word is the of the association for 1924. R. Johnston of Preston in his presidential address, having welcomed the members, stressed the value of the dairy ing industry to the western peninsula dairying offers to of the province and of the increasing manufacturers. need of quality in all dairy products, especially in the export trade.

He said: "There will never be any difficulty in disposing of any number one grade dairy product overseas. but it will become increasingly difficult to sell any other grade." He regarded the outlook for 1924 with timism and in this connection said, fidence. 'An increase in the production of milk is bound to occur, since in-creased cost of production through that there be a greater turnover per farm and factory if we are to suc- buy. cessfully compete in volume and quality with the dairy products from countries where larger dairy plants tend to lower costs and make able for the world's markets heavy quantities of uniform products."

Emphasize Quality. emphasis on the need of quality in all dairy products and termed quality an individual, provincial and national dairy problem. Cream grading described as the great problem now before the dairy industry in Ontario was urged on the members on the ground that "a quality basis is the only sound foundation on which to build and insure permanent improvement." The directors were of the opinion that the Federal Dairy conference, held in Ottawa in November, Fall Dairy exhibition, the Dairy Exhibition of the Association, and the dairy instruction of carried on by the federal and provincial described.

"Recent statistics state that for the twelve months ending in November, 1922, Canada exported chiefly to the United Kingdom 116,900,000 lbs. of creamery butter, valued at $4,822,437. Of the total amount of creamery butter exported the United Kingdom took 4,290,283 lbs. and the United States 5,924,787 lbs., and the latter market also took cream to the value of $4,284,000.

or all of the sessions, but especially the meeting this evening and to visit Place of Dairying.

The place of dairying in Ontario was clearly stated in the report of the directors. It said:

"The dairy farmer is always assured of a cash income and a market for a first grade commodity, irre-spective of fluctuating or glutted markets for some other farm products. It may, therefore, be claimed ducts. It may, therefore be claimed for dairying that it is the 'backbone' of Ontario agriculture. There does not appear any likelihood that the production of dairy products may be overdone. There are, of course, times when the production of one kind of dairy product may be developed at the expense of some other type, thus disturbing the normal balance of the manufactured output, but this can only be for a short time, as such conditions are soon remedied through economic factors tending to a levelling of prices in proportion to cost of production and available returns.

"The constant increasing appreciation by the consuming public of dairy products as a food is another factor which will assist in taking care of any increased production. It is the aim of all dairy organizations to increase the nonnegative forms of the food o to increase the popularity of pure milk and its products, not only from a commercial standpoint but for their products, but also tends to create a greater interest in cow testing, which, if persistently followed, insures improved herds, greater net profits per cow, and a lower cost of milk production. Any vigorous, efficient policy in this connection should be supported not only by the producers but by our cheese and butter.

Discuss Insurance.

Trustees A. N. Udy and N. F. Willmot were appointed a committee to look into the matter of fire insurance on all the city's schools, the premium for which, amounting to some $8,000 falls due on April 30. This comes every three years and it is possible that the insurance may be redistributed so that a certain proportion may fall due yearly. In accordance with the inaugural address of Chairman Bryden N. Campbell, the question of redecorating and painting several of the older schools were discussed, and it was decided to make provision for this in the estimates. Pottersburg, Lorne avenue, Tecumseh and Chesley avenue schools were particularly mentioned. Trustees A. N. Udy and N. F. Will-

Each organization of the church has pledged itself to raise a certain amount of money to wipe off the debt, under the guidance of their pastor, Dr. A. T. Sowerby, and the entertainment given last evening, which was of a high order, was under the auspices of the choir.

The chairman of the evening was Deacon A. J. Morgan, who proved himself a capable one and guided the program to a successful finish. After the chairman's brief address the choir rendered the anthem "Wait On the Lord," which was well rendered, under the leadership of their capable organist, Mr. G. Smales.
Following this was a bass solo

BOY'S BAD COLD TURNED TO BRONCHITIS

The frequency with which bronchitis develops into pneumonia i appreciated by very few mothers. The danger of pneumonia is probably well understood too, but how many mothers take into consideration that a neglected attack of bronchitis frequently leads to this dangerous disease?

We would advise all mothers to give their children Dr. Wood's Nor-way Pine Syrup the first moment they show any symptoms of a cold or cough, as by doing this they may save them from an attack of bronchitis or pneumonia.

Mrs. Lawrence Quick, Sandwich, Ont., writes: "My little boy, 6 years old, had a bad cold which turned to bronchitis. I tried everything I thought would be best for it, but did not see him getting any better. I was told to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and after giving him two bottles he got wonderful relief. I cannot praise it enough."

when kept indoors too closely he becomes morbid. The outdoor life is the natural life for the developing boy.

Eloquently Dr. McCualg described the home life of the average growing boy as he urged mothers to develop in their sons the home instinct, which in later years may save their wives much unhappiness and their homes from disaster. This home instinct, which Dr. McCuaig described, was declared to be natural to every boy as well as to the girl and may be developed by teaching the boy love of order and cleanliness and beauty in the home. It is detrimental to a boy to have a woman, either mother, sister, or maid, as the case may be, always picking up his toys, and putting away his carelessly thrown coat and cap for him, asserted the lecturer He should have a woll as served the lecturer He should have a woll as to the girl and may be dry, hourse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. Pine cough syrups are combinations of the throat and chest.

Pine cough syrup, are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a 16-oz. bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make 16 ounces—more than you can buy ready-made for $2.50. It is pure, good and pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. CHOIR ADDS GREATLY

When the First Methodist Church choir announced a concert promising Marie Sundelius of the Metropolitan Opera Company as the chief attraction, no one expected that third, was to be visited by a singer of the third.

Three third, third, Time 1:15 1-5.
Sunny Due Bot the concert which was given in the Sport, First Methodist Church last night was one of the finest ever presented sweet and rich and colorful, and with the freedom of a bird, Miss Sundelius sang her way into the hearts of her audience even from the opening

The artist soon made it plain that she loved to sing for the pure joy of singing, and although her program was long, consented to sing two big encores and repeated the favorites of the evening, "The Fairy Pipers" (Brewer) and Debussy's "Fantoches." Dividing the honors with Miss Sundelius was the choir itself, heard in Haydn's chorus "The Heavens are Telling" from "The Creation," and in the great Gounod oratorio "Galia." The color work under the skilful baton of George C. Carrie was exceedingly fine. In the final number of the evening, the Gounod oratorio, Miss Sundelius' voice was heard in clear and beautiful relief against the clear and beautiful relief against the restrained background of the choir voices. And perhaps the concert reached its height in the grand finale of the Gounod selection, leading off with the lovely soprano aria "Jerusalem." Earlier in the oratorio the male voices of the choir spoke out beautifully in "Now Behold the Lord" and as each section of the choir took up the refrain, the perfection of the choral work was demonstrated. Kingsley N. Ireland presided at the

The program was divided into two parts, part one consisting almost entirely of numbers rendered by Miss Sundelius. At the piano was Miss Florence Barbour, who proved herself to be a most efficient accomgram with Haydn's beautiful song "My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair" and from the first pure and lovely note, she proclaimed herself to be a mistress of song. Then followed three old English songs which were received with delight by her listeners. Hardly had the last sweet note died away, than she was back again singing Moreau "Pedro" and then the Debussy "Fantoches," animated and illusive, which she was compelled to repeat before the applause would

Her biggest number of all was the Jewel Song from Faust, rendered with abandon and artistry. Here her beautiful clear soprano upper tones were heard to best advantage. She sings dramatically and at the same time with restraint. Her voice is capable of great volume and yet can be quiet as the stirring of a faint breeze. Perhaps her ability to subdue her tones was demonstrated with most marked effect in Brewer's "The Fairy Pipers" sung so ex-quisitely that she was forced to re-peat the number.

Her program was filled with no end of delightful surprises. And one was just that when she came to a system of Greig songs, she sang them in the original Norwegian and sang them beautifully. Perhaps the loveliest of these was the last, "A Dream," (Grieg).

"I see Lefty McCallum went along well for London," said Shaughnessy recently in Montreal. "That boy is a better pitcher than ever given a better pitcher than ever given as when I had him in Hamilton, and I was sorry to have to let him go, but, for the sake of discipline, he had to be dropped. He talked back more to me than any player? I ever had. For that reason I had to get rid of him. However, I always gave him credit for being a fine pitcher in would have to take a crack at the a fine pitching head."

Big Circulation Campaign Announced by The London Advertiser

$20,000 In Prizes Offered

DURING THE NEXT FEW WEEKS the people of the City of London and Western Ontario will be given an opportunity to participate in one of the biggest prize contests ever conducted by a Canadian newspaper. Automobiles, cash prizes, cases of silver, are some of the prizes so far selected. The object of this gigantic undertaking is to secure new subscriptions to The Morning Advertiser and The Evening Advertiser; also to secure renewal subscriptions and collection of subscriptions in arrears. This may be the opportunity you have been looking for to earn some real money. People taking part in this contest have their choice of either accepting an automobile or cash. We want new subscriptions to The Advertiser, you want real money. An hour or two a day working in this campaign may earn for you more than you could or would earn in as many months. Read every line of this announcement. Then make up your mind and be one of the first in the field.

A Splendid Business Training Had In Twelve Weeks

Thousands of young men and women who are holding responsible executive positions today and drawing large salaries owe their start to having entered and worked in campaigns such as this. This is your opportunity to develop that latent ability that has been lying dormant. Make it work, and once you start it will surprise you how much energy you can put

$20,000 In Prizes Offered

What We Want

What the London Advertiser wants is a large number of new subscribers, and the best way these can be secured is by personal solicitation, writing letters and by the assistance of friends and neighbors. This is not a something-for-nothing plan, it is a straight business proposition, and there is no reason why any reputable man or woman should not enter his or her name now.

Solicitation

You will not find your solicitation work hard or tiresome. You will find that everyone is greatly interested in The London Advertiser, for it is acknowledged the best daily newspaper in Western Ontario, and subscriptions are not hard to secure. In fact, after you have started you will find that this contest affords you a great deal of pleasure, it will make you many new and valuable friends, and should prove exceedingly profitable. Show your ambition. ACT NOW.

CAN EUROPE HOLD TOGETHER?

Chapter VIII.: "The Baffling French Debt."

This series of articles is a simple but accurate explanation of world onlitions, from the point of view of a distinguished specialist. These articles are the result of his most recent tour of Europe, made especially or securing the data—a trip on which he visited sixteen countries, talked eith the premiers of half of them and the finance ministers of twelve, and in field observations secured a mass of facts. Mr. Sinclair says finance and momics can be told so simply a child can grasp them. His articles prove his claim.

Finances in Mess.

We can conclude, therefore, that he French public finances are in a ness, and the present policy, if con-inued for long, will only lead to pankruptcy by the government itself or revolution by the masses. Before the war France bought each ear two hundred million dollars more goods than she sold. Here is he way she paid this account: In 1914 she had invested outside of trance 8,000 millions of dollars. The of dollars a year. Again, tourists who went to France each year left about 150 millions of dollars. Then about 150 millions of dollars. Then the ships doing a world business gave the another 50 millions of dollars er another of militars of dollars ach year. Now these items, which he economist calls "invisible exorts," totaled 500 millions of dollars year—two and a half times the mount needed yearly to square the count. The problem, you see, was and simple.

Now let us see what the war did o this situation.
Of the 8,000 millions of dollars which France has "invested" outside, ,000 millions was in Russia. This s now practically all lost. Of the alance. 1.000 millions was invested the Balkan States and Turkey. rance has lost perhaps 85 per cent f her foreign investments as a result f the war. Her other invisible exorts yielded her nothing from 1914 o 1919. To add to her troubles, France has bought during the past en years an average of 1,200 million f dollars more goods on the world parket each year than she has sold. At the same time, she has had little or now invisible exports to help her quare this account. Result: She has piled up 12.000 millions of dollars of lebts outside of France, which must ooner or later be paid. Hard to Handle.

This foreign debt is equal to 19 per ent of the total. It is much harder o take care of this 19 than of the 81 thich she owes to her own people, because the foreign debt must be paid in either gold or goods (invisible exports included). France cannot pay in gold, for if she sent all her gold she could pay only 11 cents on each lollar owing outside of her country.

London Doctor Gives Interesting Address Before St. George's Club.

An informing talk on goitre, was given by a prominent physician at the regular meeting of St. George's Mothers' Club held last evening at the school. The speaker, by the use of a diagram pointed out the various stages of goitre, and recommended the use of iodine to combat the dis-ease. He stated, however, that he preferred the giving of iodine in the tablet form, in preference to putting ablet form, in preference to putting t in the water supply, as this latter method was wasteful as a large aumber of persons would be drinking it who did not require it. He emphasized the fact that no one should take iodine, without medical supervision, and that it was not advisable for a person country. isable for a person over the age of 10 take it. Higher Principles

Women, as a Class, Live Cleaner Lives and Are More Honest, Faithful and Loyal Than Men-How, Then, Can They Be Accused of Having "No Principles?"

A man correspondent writes: "Will you please explain, from the viewpoint of a woman, why women have no principles?"

I can answer this by a blanket denial of the charge that women lack principle. Also I can make a good pot-and-kettle argument and prove that one sex is just about as black as the other. Statistics will bear me out in the assertion that just as many women as men have been willing to go to the stake for the sake of their principles, and that far more men than women languish in our jails because they were short of prin-

When we speak of people having good principles we mean that they are honest, that they are virtuous, hat they are trustworthy and loyal and faithful: that they are truthful and will not do a mean or little Judged by this high standard of human conduct, the average woman would make a pretty high

That women, as a class, are honest is shown by the fact that they are chosen by astute businessmen as cashiers. You hardly ever go into a store, or a restaurant, or a moving picture theatre, where some pretty, little, fluffy-headed girl is not handling the money. And evidently none of it sticks to her fingers, for we very seldom hear of an absconding woman cashier.

Money means more to a woman than it ever can to man. A woman has more need of money than a man has, because with it she can buy the pretty clothes that will enhance her beauty, or camouflage her homeliness; with it she can go to the places where she will meet the sort of a man she would like to marry. So the honesty of these girls who handle thousands of dollars every day without stealing a penny of it is about as acid a test

Women are honest about paying what they owe. They have a horror of debt, and the great majority of them never rest until they have paid off every cent they owe.

Every one knows women who had such a high sense of the sacredness of an obligation that they impoverished themselves after their husbands' deaths to pay off their debts for which they were not legally liable.

That women have a higher code of personal conduct than men is proven by the double standard of morality of the sexes.

The woman who swears at the altar to be true to her husband nine times out of ten lives up to her oath. But it is probably best not to inquire how many men keep their marriage vows. Very few men ever even think of giving to their wives the same sort of loyalty that they demand of them.

Women are faithful. Once a woman gives her heart to a man, she loves him on to the bitter end.

She will go with him through poverty, and sickness, and disgrace. It is women who haul men out of the gutters and go on loving them. It is women who are waiting at prison doors with open arms to take back the men who have been outcasts from society.

Women have a higher sense of duty than men have. There are hundreds of cases of wife desertion to one case of husband de-

It is a common thing for a man to sneak away and leave his wife and the children he has brought into the world when he finds their support becoming burdensome to him. But it is the rarest thing in the world for a poor mother to abandon her helpless, little children. On the contrary, she will work her fingers to the bone to support them rather than put them

It is women whose sense of duty makes them sacrifice themselves to the old. It is the sisters, not the brothers, who sacrifice themselves for their parents, who put aside thoughts of marriage, or give up the career that opened up the life they longed to lead in order to stay at home, and minister to the wants and bear patiently with the querulousness of an old father or mother.

My correspondent says that women have no principle. He will not deny that they are honest, that they are faithful and loyal; that they do their duty even when it calls for self-abnegation; that they live clean lives. In what respect, then, do they show lack of principle?

Perhaps he will say that while they are honest in big matters, the are unscrupulous in little; that a woman who would not steal a thousand dollars from you, will hold out her street car fare from the conductor, or have a dress sent up from a store on approval, in order to have a home dressmaker copy it.

Or, perhaps, he will say that women are less truthful than men, that they are less candid, and forthright, and more given to equivocation. Well, at last accounts, Diogenes was still out with his lantern hunting the perfectly honest man. And nobody has contradicted the psalmist's assertion, when he said in his heart, that all men are liars. Furthermore, men cannot furnish as good an excuse as women can for their shortcomings in these respects.

For woman's lapses in the small matters of absolute honesty and truth are a hangover from the state of slavery in which she has existed up to the last twenty years. She had no economic inde-pendence. She had to get everything she had out of men, so it is no wonder she sometimes took dubious ways to do it.

And that's her alibi, if she needs one. But I don't think that DOROTHY DIX. Copyright, 1924, by Public Ledger Company.

ORIGIN OF BLAZE STILL A MYSTERY

Marshals Continue Probe in the Smallman Fire on Sunday.

Investigation into the circumstances surronuding the fire which destroyed the residence of J. E. Smallman, London Township early Sunday morning and caused damage conservatively estimated by Fire Chief John Aitken at $65,000, was continued this morning by Deputy Fire Marshals Thermount and Bishop.

The fire marshals arrived in London The fire marshals arrived in Lon don yesterday to commence a probe.
This morning five of the workpreference to the London freight, as they would have a better chance of reaching the border. A close watch is being kept here, however, and trainmen all along the line have been asked to keep a strict watch for "bumper riders."

It is regrettable that in Great Britain, where many of our companies are represented, there still exist the old aloofness and absence of all the aids which have proven so valuable here. We do not forget from whence came the light of life as well as to the Company. This is assurance to the new world, but we are now able to say that the major portion of our organization is of whole-time men, most of whom have had the advantage of a special course of training in our own school at the Home Office, and I submit that they are equipped to render a much higher and more intelligent type of service to the insuring public.
