A HOSTILE AUDIENCE. Stephens' Campaign Managers Encounter One at Their Very First Meeting in Fletcher.

Ald. Stephens' committee opened its public campaign last night by an inaugural meeting in the village of Fletcher. Fletcher and vicinity, it may be remarked, is supposed to possess a considerable reform vote, and therefore a good barral meeting was counted upon. The result to Mr. Stephens' friends was very disappointing. The attendance was large and the audience demonstrative, but not in Mr. Stephens' favor. The following strong array of Reform speakers were on hand to enlighten them: Barrister W. A. Thrasher, Dr. Fleming, J. A. Walker, Mr. C. C. De J. O'Keefe, of Chatham, and Dr. Sharpe and John A. McGregor, of Tibury. Mr. Fletcher, of the village, occupied the chair, and made a fair and impartial presiding officer. Mr. Thrasher opened the speaking, but the effect of his remarks was somewhat obscured by musical selections which some boys persisted in playing on election horns. Although opposition was invited, when Barrister Geo. G. Martin, of Chatham, appeared, all the time they would allow him was half an hour. Mr. Martin, speaking that about time dealt with the subjects of liquor, twine, the county court clerkship and other issues which aroused very considerable enthusiasm. When his half hour was up he was nearly through, and the chairman and Dr. Fleming courteously wished to allow him to finish, but Mr. Thrasher said no. Then the audience took matters into their own hands and insisted most vigorously on the speaker going ahead, choosing loudly at every point he made. Later he was again called for, but was refused permission to respond. The "break" of the meeting was made by Mr. Walker, who referred to Hugh John Macdonald as the man who might be known from his father's nose. Mr. Walker evidently thought this was funny, but the audience did not, and literally hissed him to his seat. He managed to wind up his speech amid a great deal of noise, hissing and interruption, but nobody could follow what he was talking about. His co-speakers on the platform felt very sore over Mr. Walker's blunder, which certainly did Ald. Stephens' cause no good. Mr. O'Keefe spoke from a Catholic standpoint. He urged his co-religionists to support Sir Wilfrid Laurier on religious grounds. From the Reform side the best speech of the evening was made by Dr. Sharpe, of Tibury, who received an attentive hearing. The last speaker was John A. McGregor, who addressed the assembly very briefly as some of the Chathamites were anxious to break up the meeting so as to prevent Chas. A. Williams, of Raleigh, discussing the binding question from a farmer's standpoint. The climax of this meeting was as odd as the rest of it. Although a Reform meeting it closed without a cheer for Smith's and those present almost raised the roof. They cheered for the Queen and the gathering dispersed. It was one of the most satisfactory gatherings—from a Conservative standpoint—ever held in the riding.

that American mission property there is threatened with destruction by Boxers. We have organized a force to protect our country and our homes, and we rely upon one another to support the order to drive out the foreign devils. They are mad. They are the usurpers of our land. They disturb our borders in all the provinces and prefectures have been opened and our people are deceived, ripped open and disembowelled, while the foreigners grow fat on the revenues of China, insulting our officials and merchants, and seizing our temples and palaces. The Emperor is indulgent, and permits this. Who can forestall the intentions of the foreign devils? Day by day they act more outrageously. When we behold the present condition of affairs, our hearts are braced with grief. Therefore we have organized our strength to destroy the devouring wolf throughout the empire." The Boxers took the American Presbyterian mission everywhere, but have not destroyed them.

CHARGED THE MOB

Militia and Strikers in Conflict at Valleyfield, Quebec.

Troops Engaged the Rioters With Fatal Consequences on Both Sides.

Valleyfield, Que., Oct. 25.—The cotton mill strikers this morning commenced to act in a high-handed manner, forcibly hindering the delivery of coal to the mill. The mayor and two justices of the peace considered the situation serious enough to warrant them in asking for military protection. This they did, with the result that two companies of the 5th Royal Scots, of Montreal, arrived here by special train shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon, under command of Col. Ibbotson. Since the arrival of militia the strikers have dispersed, and it is thought they will make no further attempt at disturbance as long as the soldiers are in sight.

MORE TROOPS ASKED FOR. Montreal, Oct. 25.—9:45 p. m.—Word received here by telephone from Lt.-Col. Ibbotson at Valleyfield states that the strikers have become very much excited, that a row is in progress and that two hundred more militia are required. It is reported that eight or ten persons have been hurt. Doctors and ambulance corps have been called out. Two hundred more militia leave here by special train at 11 o'clock.

CHARGE THE CROWD. 11 p. m.—During the evening a number of strikers assembled at the Empire mill and commenced smashing windows. The militia charged the crowd. Two soldiers, it is feared, are fatally hurt, while twelve are more or less injured. About twenty strikers were hurt; one, it is reported, fatally. The situation grows more ominous as the hours roll on.

REINFORCEMENTS SENT. Montreal, Que., Oct. 25.—Serious rioting is reported to have taken place at Valleyfield to-night as the result of the strike on the new mill of the Montreal Cotton Company. When the militia from Montreal arrived there this evening the strikers started rioting. The militia charged upon them, and a number on both sides are reported to have been injured. An additional force of soldiers has been sent from Montreal.

THE PEOPLE WIN.

Government's Local Candidate in the Yukon Beaten.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 25.—News was brought by the Danube that in the elections for seats in the Yukon Council, held at Dawson, October 17th, in as far as the votes have been counted, Arthur Wilson and Alex. Prudhomme, people's candidates, were successful. A despatch dated October 17, 9 p. m., which reached Skagway prior to the closing of the Danube, says:—"This first election in the territory, which was for two members of the Yukon Council, has been well contested, and in some respects has been a bitter fight between the two candidates nominated by the upholders of the present administration, Augustus Noel and Thomas W. O'Brien, and candidates nominated by the reform party, whose strenuous efforts to obtain local representation on the council at length succeeded."

"At this hour the reformers believe they have succeeded in returning both nominees. The election of Wilson is conceded, but as to Prudhomme, there being still 20 polling places to hear from, O'Brien may make it a close run, with the odds chances, however, in favor of Prudhomme proving the victor. The total vote of the entire territory, which has 20 polling places referred to, is:—

Arthur Wilson, 498
 Alexander Prudhomme, 401
 Thomas W. O'Brien, 350
 Augustus Noel, 254

"At White Horse the majority of the votes were cast for the administration candidates, the poll being:—O'Brien 70, Noel 58, Wilson 15, Prudhomme 13."

R. G. Duggan, who arrived from Dawson, and of course left prior to the elections, said it was generally conceded there that Arthur Wilson and Alex. Prudhomme, the latter French-Canadian, would win. The creek miners were for them in overwhelming majorities. "No one," said Mr. Duggan, "who has been connected with the administration in the Yukon could be elected to anything. The Government has been obnoxious to all classes except those seeking special favors. The enemy of the laboring classes has particularly been aroused on account of the fact that Judge Dugas' rulings have left the claimer free from any lien of wages worked. A case in point was that of Judge Dugas' own son. He took a large claim belonging to his father, the judge. He lived in great style. At the clean up there was 17 cents on the dollar for the laborer, while Judge Dugas got his half of the gross output free of all expenses. The case was taken into the court and tried before the claim owner, who gave himself the ruling. There are 6,000 laborers on the Klondike creeks, and 1,500 of them did not get all their pay on account of the rulings of Judge Dugas."

A CABINET OF WEATHERCOCKS

The new Liberal leaders don't seem to know their own minds 24 hours. Hon. Mr. Fielding now announces with a flourish of trumpets that he has secured a branch mint for Canada. Yet he made a speech against a mint in Parliament on May 15, 1899. Here are a few gems from Mr. Fielding's speech of that day (Hansard, pages 3,112 and 3,113): "I am well within the mark when I say that a well equipped mint would turn out in one month all the copper and silver coins required in Canada in the whole year, so that we would have an establishment with one month's work and eleven months' idleness."

THE CHURCHES AND THE POOR.

A common charge against the churches is that they are exclusive—that they do not extend a welcome to the poor. In order to test the justice of this charge the Montreal Herald had a number of poorly clad reporters go to church last Sunday and report their experiences. Without an exception, they were cordially welcomed and treated with ever courtesy. We believe that such a test in Chatham would have the same result. It is untrue that the poor are not welcomed by the churches. When a poor person makes that statement as an excuse for staying away from church, the probability is that that person would not go to church if he were wealthy. He would then find some other excuse.

But there are good reasons why poor people stay from church. One reason is their disinclination to go poorly clad into an assembly where they would be conspicuous on that account. This may be a weakness; it may be false pride; and yet it is not far removed from wholesome self-respect. No matter how warm a welcome may be extended to a person whose garments betray poverty, he will, if sensitive, feel the contrast between his appearance and that of the people about him, and the sense of humiliation will prevent him from receiving as much benefit from the service as he would receive if his mind were at ease.

CATHOLIC CANDIDATES.

Hon. James Sutherland's letter deprecating the nomination of Roman Catholics cannot be sympathized. It was received by Thomas Mulvey, of Toronto, but it seems that since its contents have leaked out neither Mr. Mulvey nor Mr. Sutherland will consent to its publication. However, Roman Catholics everywhere are demanding the production of the document. They want to see just how the most influential member from Ontario in Premier Laurier's cabinet regards his Roman Catholic fellow-politicians. The Irish Canadian voices the opinion of Catholics generally when it says: "We agreed with the view taken by The World that a letter of this character should be laid before the entire Catholic electorate for their judgment. Assuming the truth of Mr. Mulvey's statement (which we have heard questioned) that there was no dissent at the meeting to which he refers from the view of Major Sutherland's letter expressed by him, what right have any comparatively small number of gentlemen, be they who they may, to sit in judgment upon a matter so vitally affecting Catholic interests at large, and then to ask the Catholic people generally to accept such judgment as final and satisfactory? Every Catholic has a right to know for himself what Mr. Sutherland said and to judge for himself what Mr. Sutherland meant. Let the letter speak for itself."

THREE RESOLUTIONS.

There are three resolutions which would like every farmer in Canada to read. The first of them is as follows: "That it is advisable that a customs arrangement be effected between the United Kingdom and the colonies, by which the trade within the Empire may be placed upon a more favorable footing than that which is carried on with foreign countries." Is there anything wrong with that resolution? Would any Canadian farmer vote against it? We don't think so. Yet every Liberal member of Parliament voted against it. The second resolution that we ask the farmers of Canada to read is the following: "That this House is of opinion that a system of mutual trade preferences between Great Britain and Ireland and the colonies would certainly stimulate increased production in and commerce between their countries, and would thus promote and maintain the unity of the Empire, and that no measure of preference that falls short of the complete realization of such a policy should be considered as final or satisfactory. How many Canadian farmers would vote against that resolution? Yet every Liberal member of Parliament voted against it. The third resolution to which we wish to call attention reads as follows: "That it is the duty of the Government of Canada, by all means in its power, and as soon as it is possible to do so, to get preferential treatment in the markets of Great Britain."

What do the farmers think of this resolution? Would not every farmer in Canada like to have preferential treatment for his products in the markets of Great Britain? Can any farmer find an excuse for the Liberal members of Parliament, every one of whom voted against that resolution?

Fancy loyal citizens voting for Tarte via George Stephens.

A vote for Stephens is a vote for Tarte, Burden, Blair, Sifton, and Cartwright.

Have you been promised a customs outpost yet? If not, why not? Get one while they're going.

Are you a new Liberal or an old Liberal? If you are a new Liberal your place is with Stephens and Tarte.

The poor Banner is getting badly muddled on prices. It would show more wisdom to stick to its "plate" editorials from Toronto.

Will Premier Ross draw his salary from this province for the time he is neglecting its affairs and stumping in the Dominion elections?

The Montreal Witness (Liberal) says: "Mr. Charlton's criticism of the Liberal Government is, we think, a fair and moderate one."

If you vote for Stephens you vote for Borden and make yourself an accessory after the fact to the dog biscuit crime against the lives of the boys on the veldt.

Bannery, old boy, you may argue but you cannot fool the people. They are buying the goods every day and it is to be presumed they know what they are paying for them.

It is bad enough to have traitors in a country; but it is the height of absurdity to put them into high places.—Hamilton Spectator.

Which reminds us that Ald Stephens has never repudiated his leader, Tarte.

A cablegram has been received by the department of agriculture from their agent at Manchester, saying that the trial shipment of grapes made by the Dominion government, has been delivered in good condition at Manchester. THE WOMEN OF FRANCE.

The Powerful Influence They Have Exercised in Politics and Society. At all times, in France, women have exercised potent influence, politically, socially and sentimentally. The country of Jeanne d'Arc has never lacked heroines and martyrs. During the reign of Catherine de Medici's miserable sons, their Italian mother, by her absolute cruel and narrow-minded policy, plunged the country into the horrors of St. Bartholomew, which were equally by the excesses of the Reign of Terror. During the corrupt reigns of Louis XIV. and Louis XV. the influence of women at Court and therefore all over France, was paramount and entirely pernicious to the welfare of the people.

Women in all ages have matched the men, so as noble aspirations, unselfishness, love of justice and right were at a discount among the licentious Bourbons, where the debauchery and depravity were unparalleled since the era of Tiberius and Commodus, the throngs of titled courtiers, worldly joined their royal and aristocratic lovers in spending the revenues exacted from the miserable peasants with tears of blood, until similar tears were extorted from them in turn by the revolutionaries who originated.

Many generations of bad government by kings, courtiers and courtiers, the oppressions of the rich clergy and nobles who monopolized all that was worth having in the State, and exacted their taxes and exorbitant fines from those who at least had nothing left to tax, culminated in the intense misery of the years immediately preceding 1789, the first year of deliverance, and bred in the hearts of the victims a ferocity of hate and a thirst for vengeance which was not quenched until the principles of liberty, and an overwhelming desire for its immediate fruition. In 1789 women of all classes threw themselves with ardor into the great revolutionary movement, and by their burning enthusiasm intensified the zeal of the men and urged them on to heroic deeds of self-sacrifice and duty to suffering humanity.

Women of noble and unselfish ideals such as Mrs. Roland, or of stainless life and character like Charlotte Corday, or the fascinating, fearless, unhappy Therese de Mericourt, the heroine of the women's march to Versailles, the women of the people full of hate and desire of vengeance, who crowded around the guillotine in 1793, uttering ferocious shouts and counting with exultation the ghastly heads as they fell before the axe of Sanson, were one and all animated by the same passionate love of liberty, the mother of all virtues. All were ready to sacrifice their lives gladly for freedom conscious of the righteousness of their cause and of its ultimate triumph.

Many unthinking superficial people even now who have never known what it is to suffer and be despoiled to support the luxury and vice of tyrants, while shuddering at the excesses of the Reign of Terror, entirely ignore the causes of the sanguinary deeds which stand forth so luridly. They do not realize that nothing but the terrible baptism of blood could have regenerated such a corrupt country and purged it from its grossness and selfish indifference to wrong-doing. It was civil war in another form. When the day of vengeance came, how was it that the women seemed more ferocious than the men? The answer is very simple. They had suffered more, and "Great miseries are always ferocious."—Belgravia.

KLONDIKE HAS AN EQUITABLE CLIMATE.

New York Herald. An illusion in the minds of the ill informed is that the climate of the Klondike is such as to make life unendurable. The fact is that the winter from November to March is no harder than in the northern part of New York, Minnesota or Wisconsin, and better than the blizzard stricken States further west, on account of the small snowfall. While it is true that the thermometer will go as low as 40 degrees below for four or five days during the winter, the weather is uniformly comfortable enough to allow outdoor mining operations during the entire winter season. The spring, summer, and fall are distinct, with an ideal climate.

VIEWS OF CANADA.

People at the fair who visited the art gallery and admired the paintings also took time to inspect the views of Canadian scenery, which was most artistically arranged on the stair-way leading to the first gallery on the south side of the main building. The most attractive display was made by the Grand Trunk Railway System and in every case illustrated scenes along the route of that popular road for tourists and travellers. Strangers who, while waiting for their baggage, unfolded their portfolios to their astonished gaze a series of actual photographs typical of the varied and delightful scenery in Canada ranging from the babbling brooks and trout streams, to the wild, rugged, yet majestic beauty of Muskoka. The very name Muskoka is one so well known, even to people who have never set foot in that territory, that it is scarcely necessary to dwell on its merits as an ideal summer resort, and fishing excursions that rival the most noted European resorts.

The scenes of beauty-spots in Muskoka, Lakes of the Highlands, and the surrounding Kewartha lakes were simply fascinating, and suggested a country almost Utopian for the sportsman or the lover of nature. The views taken along the coast of Maine and in the Eastern States were also worthy of note. What probably appealed most strongly to the tourist were the snap-shots of the "Highlands of Ontario," depicting pretty summer homes, facing streams that the angler at once pronounced the home of speckled beauties, placid and comfortable looking summer cottages are located, ideal places in which to spend the hot summer months.

One of the most striking views in the collection was one of the celebrated Shadow river, the shadow of the canoe and its occupants being reflected in the smooth water so perfectly that it is really difficult to detect the difference between the shadow and the river. The arrival of the steamer at Muskoka Wharf is very realistic, and more eloquent in proclaiming the attractive features of this summer resort than columns of literature. The wharf is packed with a holiday crowd, while elsewhere on the wharf are the carriages of a couple of score of deer, which have been brought down by the hunter's deadly rifle. There are many other charming scenes, all life-like for they are actual photographs, and the camera does not lie as a general rule. Fisherman's luck in Muskoka is different from what is generally supposed by the term, as the photographs of a number of splendid catches amply testify. In fact, life is Muskoka, a story without words, could be read by any person who could see.

Some of the views of the Kewartha lakes district were a revelation even to Canadians, for it is only comparatively recently that this romantic district has been opened up to tourists, through the Grand Trunk Railway Company's aggressive policy of exploring their northern regions. They are located north of Peterborough and Lindsay, and combine scenery, wild and rugged, with here and there a landscape that might pass for an idealist's dream of summer land. Some of the scenes represented were: "A Likely Spot for Bait," "Running the Rapids of Red River," "View from Buckhorn Falls," "An Island Landing on Kewartha Lakes," and "A Portage at Red River." The snapshots of the annual regatta on the Kewartha lakes, pictured very aptly one of the popular sports indulged in by visitors. "The Monarch and His Herd" was probably one of the pictures which came in for the most general admiration. It portrays a scene, once a frequent sight in the wilds of Canada, but now only met with in the Highlands of Ontario, the sportsman's paradise. The views are of the very highest type of the photographic art, and were obtained at great expense. That they were appreciated was quite evident from the constant throng of visitors who lingered around the exhibit.—Toronto Mail and Empire, Sept. 7th, 1900.

MADE LOVE TO HIM

And the Old Man Imagined the New Housekeeper

Had Designs on Him—Then He Thought of Poison and Rushed for Medical Assistance.

Toronto, Oct. 26.—With the earnest conviction that he had been poisoned, Sylvanus R. Pendleton, a lithographic artist for Barclay, Clark & Co., living at 248 Delaware avenue, walked into the Emergency hospital last night and implored the immediate assistance of the doctors. Naturally, with the utmost despatch, efforts were made to ascertain how he had become poisoned and what with, and in an excited incoherent way the following story was extracted from him:—

Mr. Pendleton is a widower with four children, and to secure proper care and attention for them he engaged a housekeeper. A short time ago she left him, but recommended an Irish girl friend of hers as a worthy woman for the place. On her representations the friend was engaged, and went to Mr. Pendleton's last Saturday. After she had settled down, the Irish girl friend of hers at a party she was twice a widow, and had an infant child.

All might have gone well had the newly-arrived housekeeper not observed the hand of the Irish girl friend of hers. After supper was over she produced some love letters from different admirers, and let Mr. Pendleton into their secrets. The climax was capped when she leaned over and kissed him, as he says, "right on the mouth." At this Mr. Pendleton took alarm, remembering that she had been enquiring about his life insurance shortly before, and he became convinced she wanted to marry him.

Suddenly he was seized with a severe pain in the region of his stomach, which, in his disturbed state of mind, satisfied him that he was poisoned. He remembered that at supper had not tasted as it should, and neither had he taken a drink of water, which only increased his uneasiness. He then sought aid from his neighbor, Mr. Octavius White, who lives at 252 Delaware avenue, saying that he was poisoned. Mr. White took him to a doctor, and as did not have a stomach tube handy at the time, and no doubt was sceptical about the whole business, he told him to go to the hospital.

In Frontenac the fight between Hiram Calvin and David Rogers grows warm. At a recent meeting of Mr. Calvin's William McGrath, of Storrington, an old-time Liberal, said: "We must meet with Mr. Rogers as we did with Mr. Haycock drive him into oblivion. I am not a Conservative, but I am a Liberal, and am going to vote for Calvin. It is necessary that we should do so. Mr. Rogers turned us down. He was there for patronage; he sold his independence for patronage. I can say that the Liberal can trust Mr. Calvin a hundred times for once that you could trust Haycock or Rogers. (Loud applause.) Will the Patron support Hiram? (Cheer and loud applause.) I, as a Liberal, was opposed until Saturday last to Mr. Calvin and to Mr. Rogers. I found that Mr. Rogers forced Santa out. I would rather have Calvin than Rogers, and I am going to vote for Mr. Calvin."

ROUGH ON ROGERS.

The political gyrations of Davey Rogers were aptly put by Dr. Ryan, another speaker, who said: "Mr. Rogers was anxious to cut down the expenditure at Government House, but we find that when there was a ball at Government House, Mr. Rogers went down with his swallow-tail coat and patent leather pumps. He went to that ball at Government House, and he spent $40,000 for the maintenance of that house. Mr. Calvin is a Conservative, and Mr. Rogers belongs to no party as far as I can find out. I found out this that he is not a Patron in the proper sense of the word. When he meets a Patron he proclaims that he is one, when he meets a Conservative he is a Conservative as he was a Conservative ten years ago, and when he meets a Liberal then he is a Liberal."

ARE AFTER BRITTON.

B. M. Britton, Liberal candidate in Kingston, cannot expect the support of the independent voters, as the following from The Times (Ind.) shows: "Mr. Britton may not be responsible for sending dog feed biscuit to South Africa, but he is responsible for doing his very utmost to prove that the stuff which was sent was a good emergency ration. He was one of the most active members of the committee appointed to inquire into the dog feed ration business, and along with Dr. Russell he must share in the odium attached to the bringing in of a report which exonerated the Government from all blame in the matter. Dr. Russell has been turped down by his constituents, who refused to have him as their candidate in the approaching elections. The only reason for this was the active part he took as chairman of the committee in rapping out evidence which ought to have gone to the dog for being violently partisan in conducting the inquiry. Mr. Britton cannot expect much better treatment from the Kingston electors."

PAUL KRUGER'S GOLD.

It is Concealed Under the Ballast of an American Bark.

London, Oct. 26.—The Daily Mail has the following from Lorenzo Marques:—The American bark Fred P. Litchfield, which went ashore here from her moorings during the gale of the night of October 14, and was searched the next day for gold, in consequence of a suspicion that she was carrying Mr. Kruger's treasure, to the amount of £1,500,000, will attempt to sail to-day. There is little doubt that she carries a large quantity of gold hidden under her ballast.

FOR THE CHILDREN.

To Keep Their Digestion Perfect Nothing is so Safe and Pleasant as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Thousands of men and women have found Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets the safest and most reliable preparation for any form of indigestion of stomach trouble.

Thousands of people who are not sick, but are well and wish to keep well, take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after every meal, to ensure perfect digestion and avoid trouble.

But it is not generally known that the Tablets are just as good, and as safe, for little folks as for their elders.

Little children who are pale, thin, and have no appetite, or do not grow or thrive, should use the Tablets after eating and will derive great benefit from them.

Mrs. G. H. Crostley, 538 Washington St., Hoboken, N. J., writes: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets just fill the bill for children as well as for elder folks. I've had the best luck with them. My three-year-old girl takes them as readily as candy, and does everything else and runs for them.

A Buffalo mother a short time ago who despaired of the life of her babe was so delighted with the results from giving her child these Tablets that she went before a notary public of Erie Co., N. Y., and made the following affidavit:—

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets were recommended to me for my two-months' old baby, which was sick and puny and the doctors said was suffering from indigestion. I tried a doctor, and as did not have a stomach tube handy at the time, and no doubt was sceptical about the whole business, he told him to go to the hospital.

After relating his tale he seemed quite relieved and a short time later left for home, declaring "that girl will not come back to my house again."

W. W. Everitt,

The Face Behind the Mask.

A ROMANCE

"He is buried at the north corner of the old wall, at the head of Bradshaw's grave. You shall have that and a thousandfold more if you only pardon."

"Enough!" broke in the dwarf, with a look and tone of an exultant demon. "That is all we want! My lord duke, give me the death warrant and while her majesty signs it, I will pronounce his doom!"

"What is to be done with this other prisoner, your highness?" inquired the duke, making a poke with his forefinger at Sir Norman. "Is he to stay here, or is he to accompany us?"

"You'd like to come, wouldn't you, my dear young friend?" "Really?" said Sir Norman, drawing back and returning the dwarf's stare with compound interest, "that depends altogether on the nature of the entertainment, but, at the same time, I'm much obliged to you for consulting my nearly upset his highness gravely once more, but he checked his mirth after the first irresistible squeal, and finding the company were all arranged in the order of going, he turned.

"Let him come," he said, with his countenance still distorted by inward merriment; "it will do him good to see how we punish offenders here, and teach him what he is to expect himself. Is your majesty ready?"

"My majesty has been ready and waiting for the last five minutes," replied the lady, overlooking his proffered hand with grand disdain and stepping lightly down from the throne.

ed, and three similar archways appeared at the extremity one to the right and left, and one directly before them. The procession passed through the one to the left, and Sir Norman started in dismay to find himself in the most gloomy apartment he had ever beheld in his life. It was all covered with black walls, ceiling, floor were draped in black, and reminded him forcibly of La Masque's chamber of horrors, only this was more repellent. It was troubled by a few spectral tapers of black wax in ebony candlesticks, that seemed absolutely to turn back, and make the horrible place more horrible. There was no furniture—neither couch, chair nor table—nothing but a sort of stage at the upper end of the room, with something that looked like a seat upon it, and both were shrouded with the same dismal drapery. But it was not furniture—neither couch, chair nor table—nothing but a sort of stage at the upper end of the room, with something that looked like a seat upon it, and both were shrouded with the same dismal drapery. But it was not furniture—neither couch, chair nor table—nothing but a sort of stage at the upper end of the room, with something that looked like a seat upon it, and both were shrouded with the same dismal drapery.

Could it be possible they were really going to murder the unhappy girl? and could all these beautiful ladies—could that surprisingly beautiful queen, stand there serenely unmoved, to witness such a crime? While he looked round in horror, the maddest man, already apparently half-dead with fear, was dragged forward by his guards. Paralyzed as he was, at sight of the stage which he knew to be the scaffold, he uttered a shriek after shriek of frenzied despair, and struggled like a madman to get free. But as well might Laocoon have struggled in the folds of the serpent, they pulled him on, bound his hand and foot and held his head forcibly down on the block.

The black specter moved—the dwarf made a signal—the glittering axe was raised—fell—scream was cut in two—a bright jet of blood spouted up in the soldiers' faces, blinding them; the axe fell again, and the maddest man, already apparently half-dead with fear, was dragged forward by his guards. Paralyzed as he was, at sight of the stage which he knew to be the scaffold, he uttered a shriek after shriek of frenzied despair, and struggled like a madman to get free. But as well might Laocoon have struggled in the folds of the serpent, they pulled him on, bound his hand and foot and held his head forcibly down on the block.

CHAPTER XII "Let us go," said the queen, glancing at the revolting sight, and turning away with a shudder of repulsion. "Faugh! The sight of blood has made me sick." "And taken away my appetite for supper," added a youthful and elegant beauty beside her. "My Lord Gloucester was hideous enough when alive, but now that he is ten times more so when dead!"

"Your ladyship will not have the same story to tell of yonder stranger, when he shares the same fate, in an hour or two," said the dwarf, with a malicious grin. "If I heard you remarking upon his extreme beauty when he first appeared."

The lady laughed and bowed, and turned her bright eyes upon Sir Norman. "True! It is almost a pity to cut such a handsome head off—is it not? I wish I had voice in your highness' council and I know what I should do."

"Does your highness intend remaining here all night?" demanded the queen rather fiercely. If not the dwarf was to leave this ghastly place the better. The play is over and supper is waiting.

With which the royal virago made an imperious motion for her attendant and sprites in gossamer white to precede her, and turned with her accustomed stately step to follow. The music immediately changed from its doleful dirge to a spirited measure, and the whole company flocked after her, back to the great room of state. There they all paused, hovering in uncertainty around the room, while the queen, holding her purple train up lightly in one hand, stood at the foot of the throne, glancing at them with her cold haughty and beautiful eyes.

"I used to suffer terribly from backaches. My system was completely run down. I was weak, always tired and discouraged until I took Dr. Coderre's Red Pills, which cured me and made me a new woman. I will never be without them again, as I find them cheap and very reliable."

"I am more able to do my work to-day than I have been for years. The main cause of my trouble was my kidneys and terrible backaches. Dr. Coderre's Red Pills are the remedy that has cured me. I have tried many other ones, but all without effect. I was surprised at the good this remedy has done me and I am pleased to recommend it to all sick women."

"When I began to take Dr. Coderre's Red Pills I had not much faith in them. A friend recommended them to me. How I wish I had known this remedy before. I had to work in the mill and I was suffering from female weakness in the worst way. I am to-day cured and am gaining in flesh. My appetite is good and I am much stronger."

BACKACHES

Most women complain of backaches. They are tired because they work too much; from early morning till late at night. Thousands of women have been cured of Backaches and other symptoms of a similar character, by the use alone of Dr. Coderre's Red Pills. This is gospel truth. We do not claim that they will cure everything, but simply female troubles, and these they will cure more quickly and more cheaply than any of the old-fashioned liquid remedies. We ask those ladies who doubt what we say to write to any of those whose testimonials we publish.

Women who will keep on suffering when such a remedy exists can surely have no excuse. Dr. Coderre's Red Pills are for women only and are not intended for any bad purpose. We refer all ladies who have been suffering for years to our celebrated specialists who will be pleased to send them such advice as they require; or, if possible, they are invited to call at our offices. The consultation is free and the advice given is the best that the greatest experience on the continent can guarantee.

Mrs. H. M. Mathewson, 21 Wilson Street, Brockville, N. I., writes:— "I was suffering from a most severe case of female weakness. I had backaches and womb trouble. I could get nothing to cure me until I tried Dr. Coderre's Red Pills for Pale and Weak Women and I am to-day a healthy woman. I am pleased to recommend this remedy to all suffering women."

Mrs. G. E. Elliott, 93 Michigan Avenue, Detroit, Mich., writes:— "I used to suffer terribly from backaches. My system was completely run down. I was weak, always tired and discouraged until I took Dr. Coderre's Red Pills, which cured me and made me a new woman. I will never be without them again, as I find them cheap and very reliable."

Mrs. E. Angers, 705 N. Van Buren St., Bay City, Mich., writes:— "I am more able to do my work to-day than I have been for years. The main cause of my trouble was my kidneys and terrible backaches. Dr. Coderre's Red Pills are the remedy that has cured me. I have tried many other ones, but all without effect. I was surprised at the good this remedy has done me and I am pleased to recommend it to all sick women."

Mrs. Chas. Olan, 70 Lake Avenue, Manchester, N. H., writes:— "When I began to take Dr. Coderre's Red Pills I had not much faith in them. A friend recommended them to me. How I wish I had known this remedy before. I had to work in the mill and I was suffering from female weakness in the worst way. I am to-day cured and am gaining in flesh. My appetite is good and I am much stronger."

The great reason for the goodness of E. & D. bearings lies in their four-point design. The load passes directly through the balls, and there is no opportunity for the balls to jam.

In E. & D. four-point bearings the weight on any one point in the bearing is never more than 1/4th of the weight of the rider.

E. & D. bearings are excellent. In all parts, the four-point system is employed. In 1900 E. & D. models, even the head bearings are equipped with four-point bearings.

ON THE YANNTON RESERVATION.

A Birdseye View of the Agency Town of Greenwood.

Down in a little pocket lies Greenwood, the agency town of the Yannton reservation. To the north the barren hills rise gradually away to the verge of the reservation, thirty miles away; to the west and east the hills; in front, the brown waters of the Missouri, full banked and powerful of flow.

There are quite a number of neat white residences scattered along down the little valley, the Government schools, the denominational schools, the little churches, and the large white house where the agent lives giving some show of architectural importance to the place.

When an Indian wants anything he wants it and it doesn't make any difference what it costs. I imagine some of the people who sell goods to the Indians are aware of the fact.

The man who has lived his life among the mountains may have some considerable ideas of grandeur, but he is a blind man to magnificent distances. Let him stand at night or at twilight deepens and the crescent of the moon hangs low in the sky, and see nothing before him but the illimitable prairie and nothing above the reddish brown grasses but the sky and its oncoming stars, and no sound but the click of the horses' hoofs or the whir of a big prairie hen's wings or the sharp, ugly metallic rasping of a rattlesnake's warning in the buffalo grass by the wayside—then will he begin to learn something of grandeur of another type.

Hour by hour we steer our craft for the north star, steadily shining before us. Far in the distance, miles away, we see the dim glimmer of a light, maybe a bonfire's lantern, or a light after taking it, I feel as well as I ever did in my life.

Now, sir, you're in the United States once more," he says, as we have four miles to cover before we pull up in front of the nearest broad road point to the reservation, and it is 9 o'clock when the long drive ends.

When one rides for a hundred miles through South Dakota and passes never a rock of where one may not see the bounding Russian chitchee piled up against fences, filling the landscape along the railroad, he begins to realize something of what these farmers are contending with. In many cases farms, made by the farmer in the cleared-of-the-posts that the ploughing and the crop planting may proceed, but even with all this pains, unless he has a fence that reaches well up the moor, the farmer is not free from the danger.—Minnesota Journal.

An Appendicitis Romance. A curious marriage was performed at the Brooklyn Hospital recently. Dr. Charles Seldon, a young physician, was taken to the hospital to undergo an operation for appendicitis, from which a fatal result was feared by the surgeons.

Coal Miners Will Resume Work on Monday Next.

President Mitchell's Statement to the Miners—Nearly all Their Demands are Conceded.

Hazleton, Pa., Oct. 25.—The following statement was given out for publication last night, by President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers:—
"Temporary headquarters, United Mine Workers of America, Hazleton, Pa., Oct. 25.
"To the miners and mine workers of the anthracite region:—
"Gentlemen,—After carefully canvassing the entire strike situation, we, your officers, district and national, have concluded that your victory is so nearly complete that no good end can be served by continuing the strike longer. The contest has been in progress for 39 days, and the companies employing you have, with few exceptions, signified their willingness to pay the scale of wages formulated by the Scranton convention of October 12 and 13.

"We are aware that some disappointed men are dissatisfied, but have been caused by the failure of the operators in districts 1 and 7 to separate the reduction in the price of powder from the advance in wages, but, after careful inquiry, we are satisfied that each mine employee will actually receive an advance of 10 per cent on the wages formerly paid. In the Schuylkill and Lehigh regions the largest companies have agreed that the sliding scale should be suspended and that wages should remain stationary at 10 per cent until April 1, 1901, thus removing one of the incentives which you have complained for many years.

"While it is true that you have not secured redress for all of your wrongs, which it is true that the increase in your earnings will not fully compensate you for the arduous labor you are compelled to perform in the mines, you have established a powerful organization, which if maintained and conducted on business principles will enable you to regulate many of your local grievances and make your employment less hazardous and more profitable than before the strike began. The companies agree in the settlement to take up with the mine employes all grievances complained of. We would therefore advise that when work is resumed committees be selected by the mine employes, and that they wait upon the superintendent of the companies and present their grievances in a businesslike manner, and ask that they be corrected."

After calling the miners' attention to the State law providing for semi-monthly payment of wages and the benefits derived from organization, the statement continues:—
"As there are some few companies who have not posted, notified nor signified in any other manner their willingness to pay the 10 per cent advance in wages, and suspend the sliding scale, we would advise that unless the men employed by such companies receive notice before Monday that the advance will be paid, they remain away from the mines and continue on strike until the companies employing them agree to the conditions offered by the other companies, and the employees of the companies who have offered the advance of 10 per cent and abolished the sliding scale are hereby authorized to resume work Monday morning, Oct. 29, and to be prepared, if called upon to contribute a reasonable amount of their earnings for the maintenance of those who may be compelled to continue the strike.

(Signed) John Mitchell, President; W. B. Wilson, Secretary United Mine Workers of America; Fred. Dicher, W. G. Parcell, W. R. Fairly, Benjamin James, National Executive Board United Mine Workers of America.

ALIEN LABOR FIASCO.

The Government Evidently Not Attempting to Keep Americans Out of Canada.

Toronto, Oct. 26.—Notwithstanding the alien labor law ten riveters have been brought in from the United States to work in the Bertram Company's ship yards, and the foreman is now in Buffalo, ostensibly for the purpose of inducing more men to Toronto. The Bertram Company, which pays the union rate of wages to riveters, is building a new boat for the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Company, and in consequence has had to increase its staff of riveters. The new men, with a few exceptions are aliens, and mostly from Buffalo, Detroit and other United States lake ports. The men all claim to be members of the Boiler-makers' and Shipbuilders' Union.

THREATS OF LYNCHING

A Mob Demonstrates Against the Paterson, N. J., Brutes.

New York, Oct. 26.—Crowds surrounded the Passaic county jail in Paterson, N. J., last evening, and threats were made against Walter C. McAllister, George J. Kerr, William A. Death and Andrew Campbell, confined there on the charge of having murdered Jennie Bosschietter, the mill hand, whose body was found on the outskirts of the city last week. So menacing were they that extra guards were put on duty. The officials feared that if a leader appeared at any time to incite the crowd an assault might be made. There had been fully three hundred persons present during the afternoon, but when the mills and factories closed probably three thousand gathered, and the excitement was intense for a time.

AT THE THEATRE.

In addition to the private car "Flora," built expressly for John W. Vogel & Arthur Deming's big minstrels, and said to be the handsomest and costliest car ever constructed, the organization carries special baggage car for the elaborate scenery and effects which will be used in their performance at the Grand Saturday night.

The Brockville Times says concerning next Tuesday's attraction at the Grand—"The Messias." Shipman's "Cavalier of France" company gave an excellent portrayal of romantic drama at the opera house last night. The stage settings and costumes were fine and the performance went with a dash that held even the gallery in close attention. The climax of the fourth act worked up a wonderful pitch of excitement and resulted in three curtain calls. Mr. Joseph DiGrasse is an actor of exceptional merit, and has that high tragic tone in his voice so remarked in the elder Salvini. He is a man of dashing appearance, great reserve power and intelligence, and made a most favorable impression. Mr. Geo. W. Paige impersonated the disolute king of France to the life, while Lillian Paige made an excellent impression as the queen mother. Miss Clara M. Langley looked beautiful and easily won the hearts of the audience. The supporting company were clever and effectively costumed, and Messrs. Shipman added another laurel to last season by this production, and there is no doubt but that their "Prisoners of Zenda" company in December will meet with an immense reception.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.

Warton, Ont., Oct. 26.—While G. W. Ames, banker, was out hunting with his youngest son, 14 years of age, the boy placed the butt end of the gun on a log, when it slipped off the hammer, striking against the timber, exploded the charge, which entered his right side. The doctors entertain good hopes of recovery.
