PROHIBITION IN POLITICS

That which has been by many feared and by many fervently hoped for has at length occurred. The Temperance question has got into Politics. Dreadful thing, isn't it?

For a long time, at frequent periods it has been suspected and sometimes strongly asserted that Politics had got into Temperance, but now the question is unquestionably reversed.

Dr Carman and other men the Ontario Branch of the Dominion Alliance have deliberately united the two, and our political parties have di vided squarely on the issue of the retention or abolition of the three-fifths

The Liberals, led by Mr McKay, have declared in favor of majority rule Whitney, when interviewed, declined to commit himself before consulting his cabinet, it is a foregone conclusion that he will stand by the three-fifths

The general elections will probably take place within a year and this ques tion will be one of the chief deter mining factors. There are other im portant questions, of course, but this matter of local option comes nearer home to every ratepayer than any other. It is a question easily under expected.

In past campaigns the Temperance question has always been treated light ly, as a kind of side-issue, and when the opinion of a candidate respecting it was sought it could, as a rule, he ob tained only by direct question. But in the coming elections it will be discussed from every hustings, and the whole subject, in all its bearings, will be placed before the public and the line between the two parties be closely drawn.

Whether this mixture of Politics and Prohibition will prove a benefit to the Temperance people remains to be seen.
It will certainly give them a chance to vote as they pray,

Tesus the Bread of Life.- John 6: 22-51

Commentary.-I. Seeking Jesus (vs. 23.25) The events of this lesson begin on the morning following the feed-ing of the five thousand and the walk-ing on the water. On the night before when the people saw the disc. leave in the only boat on that of the sea without Jesus, many of them remained over night on next day. But in the morning when they saw he was not there they "took shipping" in the boats which had come from Tiberias and crossed over to Capernaum "seeking for Jesus" (v 24). When they found him on the west side of the sea they were aston-ished, and said, "When camest thou hither?" It was a mystery to them how he could cross the sea without being seen. "News of his arrival had spread far and near, and his way was hindered by crowds, who had, as hindered by crowds, who had, as usual, brought their sick to the streets through which he was passing, in hopes that he would heal them" hopes that he would heat them (Mark 6: 53-55).

II. The distinction between material and spiritual bread (vs. 26-34), 26. Jesus answered them—He paid no attention to their question as to how he crossed the sea, but instead disclosed crossed the sea, but instead disclosed to them the unworthy motive they had in seeking him—to be filled. verily, verily—the repetition of this word among the Jewish writers was considered of equal import with the most solemn oath.—Clarke, not because—They were not attracted to Christ hy one vereletien that they are Christ by any revelation that they saw in his miracles, of his love or Mes-siahship. They comprehended no spir-itual meaning. but because ye did eat—They were seeking him purely from selfish considerations. They were looking at the result of the miracles rather than at the divine agency that had produced them. Selfishness in any form was very distasteful to Jesus, and especially so now, when he saw these people following him for which perisheth—Our chief object in life should not be to gain temper in life should not be to gain temporal supplies. Every man should be diligent in business, and should carefully provide for his bodily wants, but still, that is not the principal thing. We are to seek first "the kingdom of God," and the one who seeks first the satisfaction of his worldly and temporal wants degrades his say! and temporal wants, degrades his soul and acts in a manner unworthy of his Creator. which endureth—Compare Creator, which endureth—Compare this discourse with our Lord's words to the Samaritan woman in John 4: 13-15. We are to labor for spiritual and eternal good. Labor not for "the things which are seen," for they will perish with the handling; but labor for the things which are "not seen," for they are eternal, and will endure forever, which the Son of man. "The which the Son of man-"Th is especially appropriate here, is only by virtue of his incaras it is only by virtue of his incar-nation that Christ gives this enduring food." shall give—God gives us his good things and yet we must seek for them. him hath God....sealed—The seal is used as a sign of (1) authorseat is used as a sign of (1) authority, (2) genuineness, and (3) protection. the Scriptures, (2) by the voice from heaven at his baptism, (3) by his miracles and Messianic work."

28. What runst we do (R. V.)—This question is suggested by his exhortation to labor, in v. 27. They have a desire to do the works pleasing to God and they do the works pleasing to God and thus secure "that meat which endureth."

29. This is the work They probably ere thinking of works of the law, tithes, sacrifices, etc. Christ tells them one work, one moral act, from which all the rest derive their value-belief in Him whom God has sent.—Plummer. "Faith is the principle which produces good works." If you desire to do works. good works." If you desire to do works pleasing to God, accept His Ambassador His representative in this world. The greatest sin that human beings can com centest sin that utilish beings can commit is the sin of rejecting the Lord Jesus Christ. It is an open insult to the Almighty. 30. What sign—Sign is the usual word for miracle in John. They evidently understand that Jesus is laying claim to the Messiahship, and they ask for proof. That we may see-Proof had been given them again and again, but their darkened minds could not perceive the truth. They seem to cavil here, too, for they had just seem the miracle of feeding the five thousand. 31. Did eat manna—They really say to Christ that He must not expect to establish His claim as Messiah by giving five thousand one meal, for Moses did even more than that; he fed yast millions for forty years, and his was "bread from heaven. while Christ used barley bread and fish, As it is written—See Psa, 78,24; Exod. 16. 4. In these passages it is distinctly stated that God sent the maina, but they make it appear that it was Moses. 32. It was not Moses that gave you (1. III. Jesus the Bread of Life (vs. 35,

35. I am the bread of life—Jesus so. I am the bread of life—Jesus keeps them in doubt no longer; and yet, when He speaks plainly the mystery only deepens: so blind is the natural heart. I am the one who giveth life unto the world and save from the death of "tree of life" 2. 9; 22, 24;) 'the water of life' (Rev. 21, 66: 22.11." Shall never bunger—

"Shall never desire spiritual grace and not have it given to him." In a healthy spiritual condition the soul hungers and thirsts after God, but in Christ every thirsts after God, but in Christ every carrier of the inner life is fully met; the promise to such is, "they shall be filled." As bread supports the natural life of man, so the salvation procured by the death of Christ is that which gives sustenance to the soul.

36. And believe not—They closed their eyes, and would not acept the most positive proofs of Christ's divinity.

itive proofs of Christ's divinity.

IV. The blessedness of coming to Christ (vs. 37-40). 37. All that the Father giveth—The Father draws all men but only those who yield to the influences of the Spirit are given to the Son. There is no coercion; the choice is determined by man's will. In no wise cast out—Jesus never closed His ears to the cry of a ponitent These who "come" cry of a penitent. Those who "come" in the true sense will be saved.

38-40. Christ came to do the will of His Father; the Father's will is that He should keep every soul committed to Him. Those who believe in Jesus Christ to the saving of the soul have the promise of everlasting life and will be raised up at the last day—the day when this probationary state shall close, and Christ shall come to judge the world. "God's eternal purpose and man's free will are here stated together. Men have seized now one and now the other of these truths, and have built upon them separate logical systems of dactnine which are but half-truths, Jesus unites them. Their resolution transcends hum-an reason, but is within the experience of human life. "If there is no free will," says St. Bernard, "there is nothing to save; if there is no free grace there is mothing wherewith to save."

In vs. 41-51 our Lord continues His discourse. The Jews who were hotile to Him murmur at His strong statements concerning Himself. But He repeats them with added force. Those who ate the manna in the wilderness are dead, as that was merely for the body for a short time; but those who partake of the true bread from heaven shall not die, but shall live forever.

PRACTICAL APPLICATIONS

"Ye seek me...because ye did eat of the loaves" (v. 26). Let us seek Christ for what he is, not for what he gives. Follow him for love, and not for loaves. Follow him for love, and not for loaves. Turn from the greedy search for the poor, unsatisfying barley bread of life. Christ would have us occupied, not with his gifts, but with himself. He would be the source and centre of all our living.

CHICAGO PLOT TO ASSASSINATE.

POLICE TO USE A DRAG-NET FOR THE ANARCHISTS.

Murderer Alio Back in Denver-Alleged Conspiracy to Murder in Chicago—Not a Priest Hater—Sermon by Father Ryan.

Denver, Col., March 2.—Ofuseppe Alio, the Italian Anarchist who murdered father Leo Heinrichs at the altar during communion service in St. Elizabeth Church here last Sunday was brought back from Colorado Springs early today whither he had been taken to prevent lynching. Accompanied by four detectives from Denver and closely handcuffed Alio rede the entire trip with head averted and in sullen silence. Upon arrival here he was hustled into a waiting cab and swiftly driven to the jail. Barring newspaper men, depot employees and those arriving on the train there were but few persons at the Union station to witness his arrival, and no demonstration of any kind occurred. According to Alio's statement, made to an interperter, he will plead guilty when arraigned and offer no defence for his crime. In this case it is expected his trial will come to a speedy end and senence be pronounced

A Chicago Plot.

Chicago, March 2.—A plot to murder a Chicago priest at the altar of his caurch, just as Father Leo Heinrichs, of Denver, was slain, was hatched in Chicago and frustrated almost by chance, according to the Rev. Father E. M. Dunne, Chancellor of the Archdiocese.

This information was given out by Father Dunne yesterday to prove further his contention that the murder in St. Elizabeth's Church in Denver was planned by Anarchistic anti-clericals in Chicago.

The murder in Denver was similar in every respect to the one planned several months ago in which the Rev. Father Pasquale Renzullo, pastor of St. Roch's Church at Chicago Heights, was to be the victim. Father Dunne will hold a conference to-day with Chief of Police The true bread (v. 32). The fine flour in the Jewish sacrifices typified the humanity of Jesus (Lev. 6:14-23, R. pand of anarchists that has ever dared operate in the United States.

Emma Goldman, the woman whose incendiary rantings were blamed for kindling the fire which incited Czolgosz to the assassination of President McKinley in this city, has been refused permission to speak in Chicago, and orders have been issued that her every move be watched while in that city. Chief Shippy's orders are to the effect that any gathering with Emma Goldman at its head must be manediately dispersed and that the most notorious women "red" of the country must, under no circumstances, be allowed to confer with those of her ilk who are said to be making temporary quarters in Chicago.

The assassination of King Carlos of Portugal and the youthful Crown Prince of Pertugal has, it is said, born a new spirit of enthusiasm among the dangerous members of the "red" societies which flourish in this country, and operate in the United States.
Emma Goldman, the woman whose in-Alio's statement that he was a "priest-hater" is not credited. The police argue that the anarchists think the present a most opportune time to advance their warfare on constituted authority, and are contemplating and actually planning crimes beside which the shock of those already committee will pale into insignificance.

Anarchists Strike at Nation's Root. Denver, March 2.—The body of Father Leo riemricus was taken from St. Linzabeth's Roman Catholic Cimreh to day to the Union Station, where it was placed aboard the Burlington train to be forwarded to Paterson, N. J., the Franciscon Eathers' American iscan Fathers' American headquarters kev. Father William O'Ryan uclivered the funeral sermon, in which he highly Rev. Father O'Ryan said in part:

"That any sermon is attempted on this solemn occasion is not because of Father Leo, these simple Francescan of Father Leo, thme simple Francescan friar, who is dead, nor even because of the high offense against the Almaghty Father of us who lives, but because of the society in which we live and its outraged and loosened bond of law. Crimes such, as that of last Sunday are assaults on no mere individual; they are against you and me and all of us. Dey strike and wound law and justice in her holy sanctuary whence breathes the very life of tuary whence breathes the very life of the civilized state.

"Father Leo was struck down, the

The mur-derer never knew the dead priest; derer never knew the dead priest; their lives except in that one dread moment of blood and sacrilege had never touched. Nor did he will his, as priests have been killed, in hatred of his special creed. But the fixend knew that the priest had some outward symbol of that only authority by which kings reign and human law finds its sanction—the authority and governance of God. And because the governance of God. And because the murderer had revolted against God's authority, human law-against its outward symbol, the priest, and slew him

"The hour was logical. The Anarchist is never truer to his diabolical principles than when he slays a Catholic priest and slays him at the altar of God. Wherever he is, the Catholic priest in some great way carries in himself that church of authority and of God and externalizes her to men. He is an officer in that great army whose banners are forever set against disorder

TORTURING SKIN-DISEASE Afflicted this bright little girl

Mrs. F. Miner, of 31X Suffolk Street, Guelph, Ont., says: "A year since, while while living in Oshawa, Ont., my listle daughter Lorinda, six years of age contracted a skin disease on the upper part of her body. This first broke out like tiny water blasters, afterwards taking the form of dry scabs. These would disappear for a short time and then reappear worse than ever. The clothes coming in contact with the skin set up such a severe irritation that it was impossible to keep her from scratching. We tried various preparations yet obtained no good results until we began using Zam-Buk. With each application the irritation and soreness was greatly relieved, and the child rested easier. The continued using, the eduptions and scabs last disappeared and in a short space of time the skin was completely cleared from the disease. It is now some months since we used Zam-Buk, and as there are no signs of any more eruptions breaking out on her body, we believe Zam-Buk has worked a complete cure." For there were fresh arrivals of visitors, at the Hall every day, and almost every hour. Since the news of Mr. Hunter's illness had been bruited abroad and especially since it was known that the great statesman really lay upon his deathbed his friends and admirers from all parts of the country flocked to his neighborhood and called at the Hall.

Mrs. Hunter received all comers with her usual air of suave and stately courmore hopeful condition of the invalid than had been reported. In which respect they were soon undeceived. Here the young man made inquiries, and received information that raised his anxlety to the highest pitch. He procured a horse and galloped rapidly to Howlet Hall. As he crossed the Barrier, entered the Hollow, and approached the house, every-thing revealed the passage of some mo-mentous event. Four or five carriages, mud spattered and with wearied horse stood neglected before the door. The footpaths were unswept, and the stairs leading up to the portico unwashed for many days.

The front door was ajar; the knocker was muffled. No servant was in attendance. He entered the hall; that, too, was dusty, empty and neglected. He rapped gently with the end of his riding whip. Then a man servant came out from a side room. Falconer knew him, addressed him by name and asked after addressed him by name, and asked after his master. Henry shook his head, and answered that there had been no change since yesterday morning. He then led the way into a parlor, placed a chair for his visitor, and took his card to carry up. Falconer looked around him; even in this sumptoous noum everything wore the same dreary air of neglect. The rich velvet-covered chairs were coated with dust: dust had gathered in the folds of the satin damask curtains; a s Chinese screen of stained glass a superb stretched across the room was dim with fly specks; the vases on the stands were filled with dead flowers, emitting a faint and sickening odor, and two tall silver candlesticks, with their guttered wax candle ends, stood upon the centre table, left there from the night before.

He had scarcely made these mournful observations before the door swung slowly open, and his beloved Maud en-

"Why is that, dear Maud?"

Tenderly and reverently caressing her, he led her to a sofa and sought to soothe her grief.

While yet they conversed, there was while yet they conversed, there was a sudden opening of doors, and a hurrying of steps. Impressed with a prophetic feeling, Falconer accese, and stepped to the door and opened it. A gentleman had rapidly descended the stairs, and

Daniel Hunter had expired in the arms f his Augusta. When his head sank forward on her bosom, and they perceived that he was dead, Mr. Lovel approached, and gently and reverently relieved the lady of her beloved burden, and took her hand to lead her from the room.

She gave no sign of resistance, or even of unwillingness. Pale as marble, and seemingly as destitute of feeling, she suffered herself to be conducted from the chamber of death to her own. from the chamber of death to her own.

And there she sat down; as white, as still as though she herself were lifeless. Mr. Lovel stood by her, bending over her, holding her hand, murmuring in her ear the commonplaces of sympathy and comfort—well meant—but so vain—so utterly vain—that they must have vexed her, could anything have done so. But she was past all that now. Nothing could disturb lier more. She answered not, she understood not a word of the gentle flow of sound that fell upon her ears. She sat back in her chair, and closed her eyes.

The lady did not answer. She had raised her eyes and fixed them afar off. Sorrow, by prostrating her nervous system, palsying her heart and brain, had dimmed her vision of faith. Let no Pharisee, full of self-righteousness and spiritual pride, blame her too severely. Let such an one remember that there was an hour when the blessed Saviour cried: Women are called the "weaker sex," Mrs. Lovel entered with a servant, bearing wine and crackers.
"Here, Augusta," she said, "Dr. Henry says you must take something."
Maud took a glass of wine and put it in her mother's hand.

Augusta raised it to her lips, but immediately replaced it on the waiter, say-Mrs. Lovel looked at her, and, noticing for the first time the awful pallor of her face, she became frightened, exclaimings

Women are called the "weaker sex," and yet nature calls upon them to bear far more than men. With too many women it is one long martyrdom from the time they are budding into womanhood, until age begins to set its mark upon them. They are no sconer over one period of pain and distress than another looms up only a few days ahead of them. No wonder so many women become worn out and old looking before their time.

In these times of trial Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are worth their weight in gold to women. They actually make new, rich blood, and on the richness and regularity of the blood the health of every girl and every woman depends.

Mrs. Urbane C. Webber, Welland, Ont., is one of the many women who owe present health and strength to Dr Williams' Pink Pills. Mrs. Webbet says.—"About three years ago, while living in Hamilton, my health began to decline. The first symptoms were headaches and general weakness. After a time the trouble increased so rapidly that I was unable to attend to my household duties. I lost flesh, looked bloodless and had frequent fainting fits. I was constantly doctoring, but without any benefit, and I began to feel that my condition was hopeless. One day a friend asked me why I did not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and mentioned several cases in which she knew of the great benefit that had followed their use. After some urging I decided to try the pills and had only used them a few weeks when I began to feel benefitted, and from that time on the improveclaimings

USES OF THE CHAFING DISH. Mrs. Rorer Again Tells About Cook ing.

Resuming her course of lectures on scientific cooking for the patrons of the Gimbel store, Mrs. Rorer talked vesterday morning and afternoon to large audiences of women who watched with interest the deft work of the famous exponent of culinary art. Her famous exponent of culinary art. Her morning demonstration was on "the every-day possibilities of a chafing dish," and she pointed out the necessity, in these times of financial stringency, for every housekeeper to use wise economy, which to her mind means the saving of good materials. Her morning demonstrations were on the following dishes: Oysters a la Richmond—Drain 25

Oysters a la Richmond—Drain 25 oysters. Put a tablespoonful of butter in a chafing dish, a tablespoonful of chopped celery; stir for a minute; then add the oysters, a level teaspoonful of salt, a dash of black pepper, a dash of cayenne and a little paprica. Cover the dish, and when the oysters begin to boil, add, if you have it, four tablespoonful of cream or milk. Stir gently and serve.

Quick Goulash—Put into a chafing dish a tablespoonful of chopped onion; stir until the butter is melted and the onion a little soft; add a tablespoonful of flour; mix; add a teaspoonful of paprica, a half-pint of stock; stir until boiling; then add two sweet peppers cut into strips, and a pint of peppers cut into strips, and a pint of cold cooked meat cut into cubes of an inch. Bring to a boil and serve.

Deviled Scallops—Mash the yolks of three-boiled eggs through a sieve.
Put a tablespoonful of butter and one of flour in a chafing dish; mix; add a half-pint of milk; stir until boiling; add gradually the yolks of the eggs, a dash of red pepper; a salt-spoon of white pepper and a teaspoonful of salt. Wash and scald the scallops-this may be done in the morning. Add them to the sauce, when thoroughly hot serve on crackers of squares of toast.

In the afternoon Mrs. Rorer took for her subject, "The After-Theatre Supper at Home," and showed her audience how to prepare the following dainties:

Dry Panned Oysters—Drain and wask the oysters throw them at once."

In this condition I gave him the Tablets and they have made him a bright-eyed, laughing baby, the pride of our home. He is one year old, has nine teeth, and is and plays nearly all the time, and lets me do my work without worry. I would say to all mothers who have sick babies give them Baby's Own Tablets as I sid mine, and you will have healthy, happy babies." The Tablets will ing dish a tablespoonful of butter and a level teaspoonful of papwrica, mix and when hot add a level tablespoonful of flour; add 25 oysters that have been drained; stir carefully; add one sweet pepper cut ito strips and a half-cup of tomato. When hot add a level teaspoonful of salt and a tablespoonful of salt fed of chopped parsley.

Chicken au Supreme—Put one tab-lespoonful of butter and one of flour into the chafing dish; mix; add two-thirds cup of milk, one-half teaspoon-if lef salt, a dash of pepper, and, if you wish, four tablespoonfuls of sherry; add the chicken; when hot stir in the yolks of two eggs that have been beaten with two tablespoonfuls of milk. Serve on toast.

Welsh Rarebit—Put into the chaling dish a pound of cheese, a half-teaspoonful of selt, a teaspoonful of Worcestershire, a dash of red pepper, and, if you wish, four tablespoonfuls of ale; beat the yolks of two eggs, add them, and stir the mixture until perfectly smooth. #### CANADA'S FORESTS.

The Dominion Must Husband Her Timber Resources.

ly estimated at from eight hundred million to three hundred million acres. million to three hundred million acres. The latter is the latest estimate, and was given by Dr. B. E. Fernew, the recently oppoint dean of the faculty of forestry at the University of Terento. He is one of the best authorities on forest subjects on the continent, and for years was head of the United States Bureau of Forestry. He estimate, he thinks, "will cover the commercially fall-uable timber land area, actual and ho tential." At this estimate the forest uable timber land area, act the forestential." At this estimate the forestential." area of Canada is "not much more than one-half of the commercial forest area of the United States."

Mr. R. H. Campbell, Superintendent of Forestry for the Dominion Government, gives a rather larger estimate. He has calculated the forest area of the Do-minion at about 535 million acres, divided as follows:

word to describe Canada's forests. But the drop from the old figure of 800 million acres to the more recent enes given above shows clearly that the more Can-ada's forest wealth is investigated, the less are people inclined to use that word. Great as this wealth may be, it is for Canada to husband her resources, and make her forests a permanent asset. In order to do this, she must carefully proorder to do this, she must carefully protect her forests and see to their being reproduced, that a future supply of timber may be ensured from them. This would mean the careful management of these lands on scientific and business principles, and these it is that the ferestry movement is seeking to introduce movement is seeking to throughout the Dominion.

NEW YORK'S CONGESTION.

Nearly 500,000 of New York city's population of 4,500,000 are crowded into the abnormally small area of 864 acres. As the total acreage of the city is 209,-218, it can be seen at once how extraordinarily teeming the congestion in some parts of the city is. Unless something is done, and done before many years, this increasing congestion will reach a point defying human efforts to remedy it, short of the most radical because in the gratem itself. It is comremedy 1t, anort of the most radical changes in the system itself. It is com-puted that within ten years the city will have a population of fully 7,000,900. The most recent census taken was that

The most recent census taken was that of 1905. The congestion revealed by that census was shockingly bad enough, but in the last two years it has grown much worse. The immense number of immigrants which every year augments the city's resident population, and the results of industrial depression all have had the effect of still further massing more and more humanity into the almore and more humanity into the already swarming sections. Although the figures of 1905 are the most recent authentic ones, they do not be recent authentic ones, they do not be recent authentic ones, they do not be recent authentic ones. figures of 1905 are the most recent authentic ones, they do not, however, tell the full tale. Present conditions are far worse than was the attuation three years ago.

Contrary to the general opinion, the most thickly inhabited block in the city is not on the east side, but is on the upper west side, in the region innabited by negroes, and dubbed "San Juan Hill." It is the block bounded by Amsterdam avenue and Sixty-second streets. Here, on a little more than five acres, no fewer than 6,173 people are stuffed

Welves Entice Away Hunters' Dogs. John Berry has returned from a hunting trip to Fish Creek, and reports lote of wolves and few rabbits.

It is believed that the presence of so many wolves has had something to do with the scarcity of game in that section. The big gray animals were constantly tagging the hunters, trying to entice away their dogs, and the dogs had to be tied at night to keep them safe.

A wolf will often approach close to camp and then sneak away as though he is scared to death of the dogs. A green canine is apt to take the bait and give chase. The wolf turns, and if he succeeds in overtaking the unwise dog the latter never returns.—Fairbanks correspondence Nome Press.

Through a secretary we an interview. He talked with his secretary in Chinese for a few moments, and then the secretary in halting English invited us to accompany him and the chief to the officer's suit. We filed in, dropped into the seats to which we bowed by the statesman and waited for somebody to begin.

As we hesitated a peculiar smile lit the big man's face. Lying back in his chair, he cocked one leg over the other, lighted a cigar and dropped a bomb by saying: "Fire away, boys; I'm ready. But before you begin who won the

"If that's all that's lacking I guess we can manage it," said the captain.
"I've got a prime new one, keen as a brier, and I'll let it to you reasonable. How would ninepence (12½ cents) a cord do for the use of it?"

"I reckon that's a fair price, captain. Bright and early that next July morning Caleb was at work, and he kept at it so faithfully that he finished before

"Let's see," said the captain, "you were to have half a dollar a day. We'll call it a day, although it ain't sundown That's 50 cents for you, and you were to pay me ninepence a cord for the use of the saw. There were three cords and a half in the pile. That makes 43% cents due me. Somehow. Caleb, you don't have very much coming to you.'

"How unfortnit," said Caleb after scratching his head dubiously for half minute and then looking up quickly. as if a new light had broken in upon his mind - "how unfortnit that you didn't have half a cord more, for then we'd 'a' come out jest square."

The earliest traces of the English house of commons are found in the year 1265. That year Simon de Montfort, earl of Leicester, caused writs to be issued in the king's name requiring each sheriff of a county to return to a parliament which he proposed to hold two knights for the shire under his jurisdiction, two citizens for each city within its limits and two burgesses for each borough. The parliament thus called met in London on Jan. 22, 1265, and was practically the first in which the people, as dis-tinguished from the nobility and aristocracy, had ever participated. It was not until the revolution of 1688, however, that the people were fairly and squarely represented in parlia-The house of commons is today the supreme power in England. The Moros, who live in the thatched houses built along the shore of a lake or river, have a curious way of conveying water from the lake or river large bamboo sticks from which have been removed all the partitions characteristic of the bamboo, leaving only one at the bottom. The bamboo trunk is thus made to serve the purpose of bucket. It is like a long narrow pail and holds several gallons of water, for the bamboo trunk is quite thick. The Moro women are the water carriers, as this is a part of the household duties which naturally fall to them. They grind the rice and other grain in a large hollowed out log, using a heavy pole to crush the kernels.

(Montreal Witness.)

The rapid increase of the Jewish population of the United States has recently received some comment. In 1655 twenty-seven Portuguese Jews obtained reluctant leave from the Dutch governor, Peter Stuyvesant, to settle near New York; in 1881 there were about 50,000 Jews in that city; since that time each convulsion in Russia has resulted in a new exodus, until to-day there are between 800,000 and 900,000 Jews in Greater New York. One man in every Greater New York. One man in every five in the whole city is a Jew, and in Manhattan Island one man in every four. The "greenjer," as he is called, when he lands on this side, is nearly always desperately poor. For two days he is the guest of his people, and is allowed to eat and sleep as their charges. Then he goes to work. And how he does work! "He believes in the eight hour 'day," says Herbert Carson, 'eight hours before noon and eight hours after." Practically all the clothing trades are in the hands of Hebrews. They are minutely divided and subdivided into contracts and sub-contracts, and the new man going into the ranks of the most poorly-baid workmen sees in himself the prospective employer of labor and doggedly pushes his way upward till he attain his end. There is ever a supply of new immigrants coming, from which the lower ranks can be recruited. The of new immigrants coming, from which the lower ranks can be recruited. The clothing trades are, however, not the only career into which the Jew has en-tered. He has come into every field of effort, and in every field of effort he is reflort. and in every field of effort he is meeting with almost startling success. The poverty of the ghettos in cities on this side is no index to the true state of the people. These are largely inhabited by recent arrivals, the former residents having moved into pleasanter and more canitary districts. But even the poor peddler, with his pack or push cart, or the poor stitcher in the factory is not always as poor as he appears. Alongside of the Hebrew's ambition to be an employer of labor is another—to be a landlord. This he also attains by degrees. He rents and sublets, buys on mortgage and finely buys land and building outright. So, in twenty-five years Russian-Jewish immigrants have acquired property in New York running into hundreds of millions in value. In Montreal and other cities the same movements is perceptible. The Jew of movements is perceptible. The Jew of to-day believes in the old Hebrew pro-verb which tells him that to get understanding brings long life, riches and hon-or. In 1904, in twenty-cight schools in New York, where the attendance was 64,605, there were 61,103 Hebrew children. In thirty-nine Philadelphia schools ren. In Unity-mine Philadelphia sonools, baving an attendance of 21,485, there were 11,683 Jews, and in nine schools in Chicago, with a roll of 11,430, the lidwesh children numbered 7,929. We know in Montreal how rapidly the know in Montreal how rapidischools in some districts are become entirely Jewish. In the higher tional institutions—Columbia eduse sity, New York City College and Nor-mal School, and in our own universities, young Jewish men and women carry off honors, often from competitors who apparently possessed much greater advantages. Mr. Burton Hendrick says:

"In spite of all drawbacks, the Russian Jew has advanced in practically every direction." direction. His economic improvement is paralleled by that of no other immigrating race. In accumulating wealth, in liberating himself from ignorance and poverty, the Irishman, the Italian, the German, even the German Jew, cuts a poor figure beside him."

Apart from his personal services to this continent, the Jew certainly deserves its thanks, for without him who can say where we would have been. It is said that Santangel, the rich Spanish Jew, made the loan with which Columbus' expedition was fitted out. Ribes, another Jew, drew the principal map for the navigator's chart-house; ananother Jew, drew the principal map for the navigator's chart-house; another Jew, Abraham Zacouto, compiled his astronomical tables; while still another, whose name has been missed by other, whose name has been missed by chroniclers, made his astronomical instruments. The physician of the expedi-tion was Bernol, a Jew, and a Jewish surgeon was also on board. The first saiwho saw land was a Jew named Rodrigo de Triana and Luis de Torres, the Jewish interpreter, was the first to land brim. He wore a black and white hickand address the natives in the Hindu dialect. After the successful issue of the voyage, a Jew, Gabriel Sanchez, founded American trade by obtaining a fran-chise from the King to sell cattle and grain to the Indians. Among the reasons which have contributed, according to usual about buyin' a new motor car. We Mr. Edward Lauterbach, in the 'Herald Magazine,' to the success of the Jews in America, are the fact that they assimilate well and love the country of their adoption and its political traditions. He refers also to their intense earnestness. The books that circulate with a car I can run in in twenty-two minutes are?" Mr. Edward Lauterbach, in the 'Herald earnestness. The books that circulate in the libraries in New York's East-side are books of science, travel, biography and social economies rather than contemporary fiction. He also dwells on their belief in and love of humanity. In New York alone they have ten millions of dollars' worth of property which is given up to the service of humanity, such as asylums, hospitals and educational buildings, homes for the aged, etc. Anbuildings, homes for the aged, etc. Another reason is that they are a cultured race with intellectual as well as commercial leanings, and a final reason why they have succeeded is "because they will be for the got at me." "Well, I took the folks out and show-and they said it looked things the Jew maintains on the average superior morals, but for the rest would say his standards are different. And it say his standards are different. And it will never be correct to say that the Jew assimilate well, so long as they maintain their rule of separation. They can become genuine patriots, but they never allow themselves to merge into the general population. Perhaps the element that has tended most to the success of the Jew is his ability to "laugh" and the standards are different. And it "Then Tuesday morning the agent came. "Two only got an hour and a half to search you about this machine; he said. So you'll have to look closer, any thinks and the same than t cess of the Jew is his ability to "laugh at the impossible and say it shall be done," as illustrated by Zangwill's poor immigrant, who already saw himself "a restaurateur and a professor of languages" because he had a large bare room in his lodgings, or by Mr. Fischel, of New York, who landed with sixty cents pine accidents.

MILES OF STRAIGHT ROAD.

A Condition Which Makes Motoring a Delight in France.

There are many sections of the chie There are many sections of the chief roads in France which run for miles in an absolutely straight line. The country is invariably rolling and it is nothing unusual to come to the summit of some hill and see the road stretching away in front as straight as a die as far as the eve can reselve. the eye can reach.

Another feature of the French roads

Another feature of the French roads is the entire absence of fences, says the Outing Magazine. Fields come to the very edge of the grass bordering the rows of trees that line the roads and in rows of trees that line the roads and in Normandy and Britanny, especially, every foot of the accrage seems to be tilled in many places both gutters of the road on hills are carefully paved with stones so that the water may be carried off without cutting ruts in the macadam at the edges.

Motoring is ideal when it can be enjoyed under mile after mile of arched foliage, past fertile fields and picturesque cottages.

Made by a Convict. In the gardens attached to the Houses of Parliament, Melbourne, there is an elaborately sculptured fountain, embellished with human figures, birds, flowers, and various other ornamental work in stone. This fountain has a remarkable history. It was constructed entirely by a convict named William Stanford, within the walls of the Melbourne jail. When a young man of twenty-one, Stanford, in a weak moment, joined a band of bushranging desperadoes, was captured and sentenced to terms of imprisonment amounting in the aggregate to twenty-one years. One day Colonel Champ, the governor of Melbourne jail, was astonished to find a beautiful angelic figure which Stanford had carved out of a meat bone. He showed it to the leading sculptor of Melbourne, who declared that the young man was a natural genius. The sculptor visited the jail and gave Stanford some lessons in the art. A petition for pardon was vas captured and sentenced to terms and gave stanford some tessons in the art. A petition for pardon was influentially signed, and Stanford was released. He became one of the most successful sculptors in Mel-bourne, and completely lived down his juvenile criminal escapade.—Dun-dee 'Advertiser.'

The Congo Free State contains about 800,000 square miles of territory, and a population variously estimated at from twenty to thirty millions. In favor of the government it may be said that, along commercial lines, the state is being greatly developed, an important step in this direction being the suppression of the Arab slave trade. The capital of the state is Boma, a city of several thousand people, situated forty-five miles from the mouth of the Congo River. Just below the first great rapids, an impassable, barrier to ocean vessels, is located Matadi, a city of about 3,000 people, and the point from which is shipped most of the rubber and ivery brought down from the interior. From this city a railroad extends 240 miles to Leopoldville, from which point the river is navigable for 900 miles to Stanley Lake. From Stanley Falls to Lake Tanganyika, a distance of over 700 miles, a railroad is being constructed which will connect ultimately with the Cape to Cairo railroad, thus opening up a vast district, and furnishing much needed additional transportation opening up a vast district, and furnishing much needed additional transportation mining interests of the state.— C. #### A Menace on the Northern Frontier for Centuries.

London, March 2.-Lord Kitchener's little frontier war in the Bazar Valley against the Zakkakhel tribesmer making rapid and successful proess. The purpose of the expedition is to punish the tribesmen for numerous raids into Indian territory, and in a remarkably short campaign they have been scattered and broken, their forts have been destroyed, and many of the tribesmen have been killed.

The expedition is thought here to reflect credit, upon the reorganization of the Indian army as carried out by Lord Kitchener. Tommy Atkins is profiting by the lessons learned from the Russo-Japanese war. The British troops advanced on the enemy in open order with wide intervals between them. The Zakkakhels have from time immemorial been the most troublesome of neighbors to the people of northbeen in the habit of swooping down from their fastnesses, situated in a land that has been described as "a country on ned," and "an upside down country," and robbing and murdering whenever the fancy took them. It was they who hatched the plot whereby the British posts in the Khaibar were captured in 1897. It was they who formed the kernel of the resistance to British arms during the campaign in Tirah, and remained to the end unconquered and untained. Since that cam-paign there has been almost no crime which the Zakwawhel have not committed. Neither the persons nor the properties of dwellers in the lowlands have been safe from these highland

THE RACE TRACK.

THOSE WHO FOLLOW THE RACES SUBJECT TO DISSIPATION.

San Francisco, March 2.—In an address before a mass meeting under the aus pices of the recently organized California Anti-Track League in the First Congregational Church of Berkely last night, Prof. David Starr Jordan, of Stanford University, discussed "Dissipation and the Struggles Against It." He condemn-ed gambling, smoking and drinking hab-its, and overturned the generally accept-ad theory of heredity ed theory of heredity.

"You are beginning a fight against the race track and its attendant evils," he said. "It is the right of the people to suppress these evils, just as much as it is their right to make laws governing sanitary conditions. One of the main evils attendant upon life of the race track is dissipation of various kinds, due to the fact that the gambler leads not track is dissipation of various kinds, due to the fact that the gambler leads not a life full of activity, but one full of nervous excitement, resulting in nerve waste. His outlook upon life is bad. The doctors, not the ministers, should be the greatest enemies of intemperance, for they know the harm it works on the system. This is on the basis of economics and not of morals."

In dealing with heredity in connection with vice, he said: "Every child comes into the world free born. By this I mean that he is all his father and mother should be. Therefore, brought up in right conditions, he has a good chance

WASTE BASKETS AND TICKER TAPE.

Broad Street, New York, Visited by Women Who Demand Equality at sion is reached. the Polls-Demonstration Broken Up Almost Before It Began.

New York, March 2.-Three valiantes from the firing line of the Fresh Air Suffragettes and Mr. George Black, of Harlem, went down this afternoon to show the financial district a great light. Broad street for a block on either side of the Exchange building saw the light, but not in the same manner that the three valiantes would have it, and after a bombardment of waste paper baskets, a bombardment of waste paper baskets, water bags and ticker tape from every window within reach for fifteen storeys above the street, the three brave women and Mr. Black went away from that place just as a full-bodied young rigt was in the making.

An open carriage containing Mrs. Wells and her fellow crusaders trundled down Broad Street at 3 o'clock and drew up in front of the Broad Exchange.

Dramatic Moment in Lawson Mining Action.

Toronto despatch: Contrary to gen eral expectations, the High Court action to force the carrying out of an agreement settling the dispute over which the body of Josephine Preston, who for years lived at 160 Oak street, now rests in Forest Lawn Cemetery was ratified yesterday when Surrogate Louis B. Hart admitted the Preston woman's will to probate. Frank X. Bernhardt, saloonkeeper at 158 Exchange street, and the executor of the woman's will was bequeathed $2,000 worth of diamonds. He buried the woman in his lot in Forest Lawn.

Maud Cortright, who now occupies the Oak street house, was a witness before Surrogate Hart yesterday morning. She testified to the fact that the Preston woman made the proposition to Bernhardt, who had married her sister in 1889. ### WANTED TO DIE.

Murderer Pleads For Electric Chair Instead of Jail.

New York, March 2.—Giovani Pisano pleaded with Justice Dowling in the Court of General Sessions to day to send him to death in the electric chair. A plea of guilty to murder in the second degree had been offered by Pisano's counsel. Assistant District Attorney Ely had agreed to accept the plea, and sentence—which would have been not less than 20 years and not more than sentence—which would have been not less than 20 years and not more than the natural term of life—was about to be pronounced, when the prisoner re-monstrated.

"I don't want to go to prison for the rest of my life," he said, through an interpreter. "I would rather die. I want to go to the electric chair.

"Tell the Judge I have been abandoned by all my family," he continued, to the interpreter. "Tell him I am alone, and that I want him to sentence me to die."

die."

After a conference between court and counsel the original plea was allowed to stand and the prisoner was sent back to the Tombs, to await sentence.

Pisano shot and killed Luigi Mapolitano at Hester and Mulberry streets last October, when Mapolitano was getting the better of Pisano's brother in a street fight.

ALL SEND THE BEST.

London Emigration Organizations Deny Sending Undesirables.

London, March 2.—Canada's new order against the importation of undersirable immigrants is exercising the charitable emigration organizations. The Charman of the Central Unemployed body declares it sends out the most acceptable men of any agency in East London. The emigration fund organization, which also assisted 6,000 emigrants to Canada in 1907, is equally, certain it is not aimed at, whil Col. Lamb asys the order will not hamper the Salvation Army in the slightest.
