Bribery.

During the past few months four members of the Dominion Parliament have been unseated on account of bribery by agents in this Province alone, with a probability of more sharing the same fate before the end of the year.

Independence.

The Hants Journal of last week contains a correction of the item which appeared in that paper some weeks ago in reference to the harness exhibited at the Windsor exhibition by Mr. Patriquin of this place.

On our fourth page will be found a very pleasing article entitled "Camping by Lake and Wood." It is a description of a camping excursion to the Gaspereau Lakes by a party of ladies and gentlemen from this place.

The Bermudas alias Somers's Islands.

(CONCLUDED.)

Having rapidly passed through the Bermudas and touched many points of interest, it will be well to notice some miscellaneous matters that are so interwoven with the success of this colony.

The educational interests are intimately associated with the name of Bishop Berkeley. In 1728 he conceived the idea of establishing a college in Bermuda with the view of training men to be sent out to Christianize the savages of America.

Caste still has great sway in the island and however respectable and cultured a negro may be, he is never received into society. Quite a number of these negroes have qualified themselves as lawyers, doctors, and teachers, and as a race they are remarkably intelligent.

Geological speculations have been freely made with regard to these islands. The Harrington Sound, it has been confidently affirmed, is the crater of an extinct volcano.

One small matter escaped our notice in considering the renunciation above cited; it is now recalled, not however in a spirit of trifling, but because a principle underlies it—the principle indeed that underlies the whole Baptismal "Office."

have destroyed much property and even life. One in 1876 destroyed many buildings, carrying several houses into the sea and killing the inmates. Another in 1885 left its mark (as it passed in a roar) by destroying a few buildings and breaking large trees into mere kindlings.

It is pre-eminently a place for the over-worked and the weary—for those who need rest, recreation and quiet amusement—for those who love the beauties of the sky and sea better than the noisy crowds of fashionable display, and can dispense with some accustomed conveniences for the sake of what they may gain in other ways—to such it is a veritable paradise.

"Something to Begin On." In my first article I traced the ceremony of infant baptism according to the Prayer Book of the Church of England through all its stages from the first appearance of the child "in church" or at the bedside, until it has become, in the graphic language of Canon Brock, "a little Christian."

After the ceremony has been performed the infant is formally declared by the "priest" to be "regenerated" and to be "God's own child by adoption" and he himself will be required before long to say in the language of the church catechism that, "in his baptism he was made a member of Christ, the child of God, and an inheritor of the Kingdom of Heaven!"

One small matter escaped our notice in considering the renunciation above cited; it is now recalled, not however in a spirit of trifling, but because a principle underlies it—the principle indeed that underlies the whole Baptismal "Office."

How much savor we may dilute the personage alluded to and disapprove of his doings among men, yet the important part he has played in the history of the world and of the church as well would seem to entitle him to the large letter. And as regards "water"—if the compilers of the "Office" had had occasion to introduce the passage from the scenes of the crucifixion in which it is recorded that the soldier "pierced the Saviour's side" or heart, "and forthwith there came out blood and water," and if he had written the last word with a capital, I would, out of respect for the feelings that led to the solemn, have offered no objection; but here no proper and sufficient reason can be assigned for a departure from the rule.

A remark made at the close of the Baptismal Service is to this effect—"It is certain by God's Holy Word that children who are baptized, dying before they commit actual sin are undoubtedly saved." What about those infants that have not been baptized and have died before conscious transgression? Are they not saved? If the Scriptures do not answer the question in their case, neither do they in the case of the others.

What sort of an idea have people of the God who made us, when they suppose that the everlasting happiness of a human being depends upon so capricious a circumstance as that his parents or guardians have, or have not, subjected him to certain rites of a certain church, when an unconscious and helpless infant

NOTE.—A word of explanation is needed to shield me from the charge of plagiarism. When in my last I peened the language I used with reference to the promise made by sponsors that the baptized child should in after life "believe God's Holy Word," I did not know that I was using almost the very words of Pope Boniface VIII. when he was dealing with the same subject.

In my first article I traced the ceremony of infant baptism according to the Prayer Book of the Church of England through all its stages from the first appearance of the child "in church" or at the bedside, until it has become, in the graphic language of Canon Brock, "a little Christian."

ANNIVERSARY—"Acadia" Lodge, I. O. G. T., celebrates its anniversary on Wednesday evening next.

Bring your pictures to Rockwell & Co., and have them framed.

FOUNTAIN—A rather curious incident occurred at the Windsor Exhibition which illustrates the proverbial experience of judges. A prize was offered for the best specimen of architectural drawings but what was the surprise to find the judges had awarded the prize to a drawing of a pump!

Now is the time to buy Room 9. Rockwell & Co. are selling elegant 9 cent cost.

NOT SUFFICIENT—We must again refer to the dangerous cellar near the "Wolfville Hotel." The railing which has been placed during the past week is not a sufficient protection. In fact, we consider the place more dangerous than before. As it is now the space between the railing and the edge of the side-walk is sufficient to allow of a person falling to and sustaining damage, and in no way prevents the side walk falling off.

People may call B. G. Bishop a crank, but 'tis the fine stock and cheap prices that turn the tide in his favor. Read his ads.

PHOTOGRAPHS.—Prof. Tuck's Palace Photo Car arrived in Wolfville on Saturday last and is on the siding facing East St. The return of Mr. Tuck has been eagerly looked forward to, and we have no doubt but that he will do a thriving business during his visit among us. Mr. Tuck is a thorough expert in his art, and his work is too well known in this vicinity to make comment on our part necessary. We are glad to welcome him among us again.

See that pretty Majolica ware, at R. PRATT'S.

A noble lot of china tea sets, chamber sets, &c., &c., just received at B. G. BISHOP'S.

EXPLANATION.—On the authority of Prof. Caldwell, chairman of the lecture in College Hall on Friday evening last, we publish the following: "The lecturer, J. R. Clarke, during his discourse having publicly rebuked one of the students for imagined ungentlemanly conduct, thereby calling the attention of the audience to this individual, afterwards thought it wise, upon hearing the opinion of the chairman, together with those of the audience who were in a position to judge, to offer an apology for the same, as being entirely uncalled for and unwarranted."

SCATTERIE—The largest and fattest herring in Wolfville are for sale at F. J. PORTER'S.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN BIBLE SOCIETY.—Mr. Thomas M. Mackelvie, the agent of the above society, delivered an address in the basement of the Presbyterian church Monday evening, the 17th inst., in the interests of the society. We are mortified to say that on a fine evening, after the meeting had been announced from the pulpits of both Methodist and Presbyterian churches, the audience consisted of four women, five men and two boys, and the princely sum of $1.41 was raised to send the word of God to the heathen. Had this been a denominational meeting, it would perhaps have been a fairly representative meeting of one of the smallest congregations of the place. But if the citizens of Wolfville do not know that the B. & F. B. S. is un-denominational, they should attend one of the meetings and find out for themselves what the society really is. Thousands and thousands of copies of God's word are annually printed in many languages, and sold at a price much less than the first cost. And in many cases when appealed to the society has to donate the books gratis, trusting to the liberality of the Christian world to repay them, and carry on the work. It was very refreshing to the few Christians assembled to hear of great interest taken in eastern countries, how great sacrifices are made to obtain only a fragment of the Word of God. To meet the growing demand among the very poor classes, a copy of the Gospel is issued for one penny, thus placing it within their reach. We hope the people of Wolfville will take hold of the society more actively. A branch may be organized here, and collectors appointed to visit us annually. We trust they may meet with encouragement. COM.

PURITER'S EMULSION.—Highly endorsed by the Medical Profession for its wonderful curative effects produced in cases of Pulmonary Consumption, Chronic Coughs, Bronchial and Throat Affections, Asthma, Scrofula, and Wasting Disease of Women and Children. In cases of the NERVOUS SYSTEM, as of Vigor, Want of Energy, Languid Appetite, Faintness, and the many diseases due to insufficient supply of NERVOUS FOOD.

ROOM PAPER at COST, at ROCKWELL & Co's

FRAMING.—The teaming at Greenwich takes place next Tuesday evening. We ask all friends of temperance to give it a liberal patronage.

RECEIVED, RECEIVED, American lamps and glassware at B. G. Bishop's. 'Tis worth your while to call and see this fine stock.

NEW ENGLAND SUPPER.—The Lodge of Good Templars at Canning intends having a "New England Supper" at the hall next Tuesday evening. Doors open at 6:30 o'clock; supper half an hour later. A choice musical programme will form part of the evening's enjoyment.

20 cents paid for at F. J. PORTER'S Eggs.

HYMENAL.—By referring to our marriage column it will be seen that one of our bachelor townsmen has exchanged his state for one of "wedded bliss." We congratulate Mr. Bishop on securing one of the fairest of the fair daughters of King's, and wish him and his bride a life-long happiness.

Butter Cakes, 2 doz. assorted sizes, to arrive this week, at R. PRATT'S.

Big Loss.—We sympathize with our townsmen, Mr. J. I. Brown, on the great loss he has sustained in the death of his fine stallion, "Confidential Charley," which occurred on Friday last—the result of a cold contracted at the Picton races. "Charley" was fast winning for himself a reputation for speed, and had already got some fine stock throughout the Province. We believe Mr. Brown has been offered as high as $1000 for him. His loss will be felt by others in the Province beside the owner.

Choice Labrador Herring in 1/2 bbls, at R. PRATT'S.

WANTED TO PURCHASE—CHEAP FOR CASH.—An orchard containing not less than two hundred good bearing apple trees over ten years in orchard, and a large circle of not less than thirty acres of good land for orchard adjoining, located near a R. R. Station. Apply before Oct. 31st, to J. W. BIZELOW, Wolfville.

Cheap onions for only 1 cent per lb, at PORTER'S.

White Rock Mills. Died at White Rock, Mrs. Michael Benjamin, aged 40 years. She leaves a husband and six children, and a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn their loss. "Blessed are they that die in the Lord."

Professor Gilland gave one of his popular entertainments in the hall at White Rock. His views were excellent, and were appreciated by a large audience, who were highly pleased with his lectures on Astronomy and the Science of the Mind. We wish him success.

WANTED.—Nice fat pigs, weighing from 150 to 250 lb, live weight, to be delivered at Port Williams Station. Will pay cash, 5c. 1/2 live weight. SILAS FADER. (50-3M)

Berwick. Three young men from our school matriculated at Acadia at the beginning of the present term. Three young men obtained grade B licenses, and two young men and four young ladies grade C this year. Mr. Robinson continues principal of the school. Miss Robinson has resigned from the intermediate department, and Miss Ida Parker will take her place. A good tailor is much needed here.

Some large orders for fruit trees are being filled at the Riverside Nurseries. Fall planting is justly (when properly done) becoming popular. The number of our young men who are buying small farms at home and planting orchards for themselves instead of leaving for the "States" is steadily increasing. Considerable orchard land is still available within an area of two or three miles of the station.

Don't forget that B. G. Bishop is selling stove piping, elbows, coal scuttles, stoves, etc., etc., cheaper than ever offered.

Waterville. W. W. Pines, Esq., not only has the best logs, but owns the best pair of oxen in the County, and he is planting out 20 acres more orchard this fall. He bought his trees from the Riverside Nurseries, Berwick.

Our enterprising merchant, Mr. Thomas Lawson, is supplying a long-felt want by putting in hay scales near the station. A large number of the farmers have harvested good crops of sound potatoes, and have been favorably disappointed in their apple crop. No 1 Kings and Ribbons are being bought up at $3 per bbl, and other kinds at corresponding prices. The cranberry crop is nearly a failure on account of late frosts last spring killing the blossoms.

Miss Hattie Forsyth has been engaged to teach the primary department of our school and a grade B teacher is being sought for the advanced department.

1300 roll of American room papers put in at B. G. Bishop's. Bought at a bargain, and will be sold ditto.

New Departure.

Ocean Steamship to Load Deals and Appliances at Port of Minas Ports & London.

The Fruit Steamship Belle, of the Annapolis and London Line, will load part of her cargo of apples, deals, etc., at the Kingsport pier about 1st to 5th November.

This will give an opportunity for apple shippers at or near the shores of the Basin or its many rivers to deliver their shipments by water carriage, giving employment to the schooners and tug boats on the Bay.

We understand that the rate of freight by the Steamship Belle is quite reasonable, and that it is the intention of the proprietors of the Annapolis and London Line to call at other landings in the Bay as soon as piers or wharves are constructed, that they do not object to lay their Steamship ground at these piers, as long as there is a good even bottom, such as they find at Annapolis and Kingsport.

This is certainly quite a revolution in the export of our valley. We must certainly commend the enterprise of the proprietors, and most sincerely trust that they will meet with good encouragement. We understand that the fruit brokers and commission fruit dealers in London strongly recommend shipments by the Belle; she is well known in the Mediterranean fruit trade, and has a good reputation for delivering her cargoes in fine condition. We call attention to the advertisement of this line.

Discipline.

MR. EDITOR.—Please publish the following in your next issue. DISCIPLINE. In Colleges and Schools in ancient days, When learning, virtue, piety and truth Were precious, and inculcated with care, There dwelt a sage, called Discipline. His head, Not yet by time completely silvered o'er, Bespoke him past the bounds of freakish youth. But strong for service still and unimpaired, His eye was meek and gentle, and a smile Played on his lips; and in his speech Paternal sweetness, dignity and love.

Learning grew Beneath his care, a thriving, vigorous plant; The mind was well informed, the passions held subordinate, and diligence was choice.— But Discipline, a faithful servant long, Declined at length into the vale of years. A palsy struck his arm; his sparkling eye Was quenched, his voice unstrung grew tremulous, And Discipline, at length, O'erlooked and unemployed, fell sick and died. Then study languished, Emulation slept, And Virtue fled. The Schools became a scene Of solemn farce, where Ignorance in stilted His cap well lined with logic not his own, With parrot-tongue performed the scholars' part, Proceeding soon a graduated dunce. Then Discipline had place, and Scrutiny Became stone-blind; and Precedence went in truck, And he was competent whose purse was so. Now blame we most the nurslings or the nurse? The nurse, no doubt. Regardless of her charge, She needs herself correction; needs to learn That it is dangerous sporting with the world, With things so sacred as the people's trust, The nurture of her youth, her dearest pledge.

GENTLEMEN.—I again have to ask you to send us some more of your excellent Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. I have proved such a valuable remedy in all cases of Pulmonary complaints and for building up the constitution of our little ones, many of whom come to us in a very weak and debilitated, we have come to think that we cannot do without a supply of Puttner's Emulsion in our Home. We have no trouble in getting the children to take it, in fact they often ask and sometimes cry for it.

The Unfinished Prayer.

"Now I lay"—"Repeat it darling,"—"Lay me," whispered the tiny lips of my daughter, kneeling; bending over her folded finger-tips.

Camping by Lake and Wood.

Wearied with the dust, heat, and scorching drought, we one day sighed, "Oh for a lodge in some vast wilderness!"

But a wise friend answered, "let us go to the lakes," and from that moment "camping on the lakes" was our watchword.

But the wondrous world shook their heads in grim disapproval. One shivered "oh the cold!" others gasped "the heat!" the heat! while a host of lesser lights predicted rheumatism, neuralgia, mosquitoes, flies, and all things that do bite.

But the adventurous ones paid heed to none of this, and regardless of forebodings dire, hindrances, and delays innumerable, one soft September day a dauntless band of "fair women and brave men," with laugh, jest, and the merry notes of the bugle, started for the lakes, embarking in a trusty boat, our pilot leading the van, and the dainty birch canoe floating lightly astern.

Up the lakes we went, the beautiful Gasparera lakes, with their numerous islands, wooded slopes, rushing streams, wild picturesque bluffs, and flocks of quail water-fowl.

Guided by our trusty pilot, our course lay among these "enchanted isles," the waves rippling and curling in the breeze, the auraline transfiguring its wild loveliness.

As we gaze on the wide spread panorama unrolled before us, we recall what we have heard, and cry in rapturous chorus, "the half was not told us," then we wonder how it is possible that so much of beauty lies in our own town-ship, almost at our doors, and as yet so little known.

Then our rapturous notes of the bugle, clear and full over the water, while the nearer islands catch the sound and send back a generous echo, which is again caught by others more remote—echoing and re-echoing, until island and shore seem peopled with sylvan dryads, who answer the merry sound.

And hither and thither flits the birch canoe, the fairy "Junonia," skillfully propelled in and out among the islands, and as the graceful craft shoots rapidly from behind some rocky point, making with its occupant a vivid living picture of what seemed a poetic dream, we think of Hiawatha and his swift hemoans, that was

"Budded in the valley, In the valley by the river, In the bosom of the forest, And the forest life was in it. All the mystery and the magic, All the lightness of the cedar, And the loneliness of the cedar; Like a yellow leaf in autumn, Like a yellow water lily."

Passing through the lesser, and even lovelier lakes, every curve of which discloses views surpassing fair, we catch glimpses of the sky loon, and hear their shrill, mocking call as they sight our mimic fleet, and dive to avoid our unwelcome presence, coming to the surface again only when far away.

Propelled by the strong arms of our pilot, we fling caring care to the winds, and after four hours of delicious restful enjoyment, we sight Entry Islands, our "Ultima Thule," reach our destination, build our camp fire, and prepare our first meal in these sylvan solitudes. Having pitched our canvas tent, four pairs of strong, willing arms, directed by one skilled in such matters, we prepare a cosy retreat, which we name "my lady's bower," that when completed, with its evergreen walls lined with crimson curtains, lacks but the luxurious robes of fur to resemble a chieftain's lodge.

The gathering shades of night find us seated by our camp fire of huge logs under the spreading trees, engaged in pleasant intercourse, until the bugle rings out our curfew through the dim aisles of the forest, when our good-nights are said, and we rest our tired limbs on a genuine woodman's bed of fir boughs, soft as Minnehaha's, and realize, with Fitz-James, that—

"A summer night in Greenwood spent is but to-morrow's instrument. With the morning our 'housekeeping in the woods' begins in earnest, the unskilled are initiated into the mysteries of outdoor cooking. And who that has never camped out can appreciate the flavor of food cooked in the open air, or gauge the capacity of a genuine camp appetite, even when fresh trout are not prominent feature of the repast? What with cooking, camp work, fishing, a trip down the lake, and preparations for the Sabbath, the silver hours fly light by, as merry laughter and snatches of old songs speak of longings satisfied, contentment with our forest home, and nightfall brings us together for another evening of our camp life.

It is not often, in this conventional life of ours, that we are privileged to spend a Sabbath in the solemn stillness of the forest sanctuary, God's first tem-

What am I to do?

The symptoms of Biliousness are unhappy but too well known. They differ in different individuals to some extent. A Bilious man is seldom a breakfaster. Too frequently, alas, he has for solids of a morning. His tongue will hardly bear inspection at any time; if it is not white and furred, it is rough at all events.

The digestive system is wholly out of order and Diarrhoea or Constipation may be a symptom or the two may alternate. There are often Hemorrhoids or even loss of blood. They may be giddiness and often headache and acidity or flatulence and tenderness in the pit of the stomach. To correct all this, if not effect a cure, try Green's August Flower, it costs but a trifle, and thousands attest its efficacy.

Be sure, and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind.
