Watches!

Our sales this year have been larger than last, although there has been more competition. A good many who have purchased trashy watches are waking up sorry, and the reaction will have the effect of creating a better demand for reliable goods.

WALTHAM WATCHES

Up to date in quality and at fair prices. Gold filled cases warranted from 15 to 25 years. Silver cases lower than ever.

IN REPAIRS

We believe in doing good work and charging reasonably, if any want a cheap job they must go elsewhere, the people know in all trades cut prices and good work do not always go together.

A Jesuit Talks, Baptists Listen.

(Catholic Standard and Times.)

Worthy of special notice as an occurrence probably unique and as a source of gratification not only to Catholics, but to Christians of all shades of belief who rejoice in every evidence of increasing fellowship and good will was the spectacle presented some days ago in the Baptist Divinity School of Colgate University, an important seat of learning near Utica, N. Y. In the presence of a great audience composed of venerable ministers, university professors and students, Very Rev. Thomas J. Campbell, S. J., president of St. John's College, Fordham, N. Y., and formerly provincial of the Society of Jesus, delivered an address on "Christian Marriage." The speaker and the audience, so wide apart in many of their views, would make the occasion remarkable, but the address itself was no less so. In commenting editorially upon the discourse the Utica Observer said: "The treatment the subject received was illustrative of the broad culture and the strong and pure character of the orator. He held his audience closely to the end, and at the conclusion the venerable doctors of divinity present were the first to press forward and express to Dr. Campbell their gratified assent to his able and scholarly utterances."

Owing to the great length of Father Campbell's discourse, we are only able to give a few of the striking passages: "There is in my mind," said the speaker, "no doubt that the acceptance or the rejection of the doctrine of Christ's divinity is fraught with consequences similar to those which confronted the Hebrew people, but which they were too blind to see nineteen hundred years ago. Its rejection means national ruin. For we must not forget that our civilization is a Christian civilization, or, as the infidel Prudhon put it, 'theology (which for him meant Christianity) is at the bottom of our law.' If you destroy one, you destroy the other. Take away the foundation and the edifice that rests upon it necessarily falls. This is particularly true with regard to that part of the divine legislation which concerns the marriage contract, Christ's spot upon that point is formulated in a brief passage of Matthew and Mark. Therein He not only condemns the legislation of the then existing nations, but also reproaches the abuse which Moses had allowed to creep into the practice of the people of God, and He clearly marks out the course which future generations are to follow if they are to avoid the dangers of the past. 'In a few rapid words He there declares, first, that marriage is a divine institution which no human authority has a right to invade. Secondly, that it is a holy thing, with a holiness which, as the Apostles subsequently described it, is like Christ's own mystical union with His Church. Thirdly, that it is indissoluble, for the bill of divorce, he declared, was an abuse which had been permitted only because of the corruption of men's hearts. Lastly, it was for two in one flesh, and consequently polygamy was not to be endured. 'Here, then, is the thesis of this paper. This single law which Christ as ruler of the world promulgated is of such a nature that if it obeyed the family, and as a consequence the nation itself, must inevitably perish. THE LESSONS OF HISTORY. 'I base this assertion not on any doctrinal reasons, but on a simple historical presentation of facts. 'I shall appeal first to the history of some of the great races which rose and fell before the advent of Christianity and which had lost the tradition of marriage as God first instituted it in the Garden of Eden; secondly, to those which once were Christian, but which subsequently abandoned the faith of Christ. When that is done we shall look at marriage as it was established by the Creator and restored by Christ, and it will not be hard to conclude that upon Christ's legislation on this matter of marriage depends, as I have said, the very existence of our present civilization. 'A primary condition of the stability of this compact is the recognition and admission of the truth that the party most interested, viz., woman, is not man's slave, but his equal, that she is the guardian of purity as a virgin, a wife and a mother, and the depository and exponent of the gentle and refining qualities which make for the elevation and the preservation of the nation. Only Christian marriage, I maintain, keeps for her those glorious prerogatives, and in consequence prevents the ruin of the Commonwealth of the world. Let us begin with the ancient Greeks, that wonderful people which was without exception the most intellectual and cultured the world has known, yet which in spite of its unchallenged pre-eminence had almost completely eliminated from its mind and heart the proper appreciation of woman's dignity and woman's glory. A glance at their religious ideals will convince us of that. To take but a few of their female deities, what was Aphrodite or Venus but the most degraded, human lust elevated into an object of cult? The chaste Diana, as she is called, whose vesture accords but little with our ideas of what chastity clothes herself with, had human sacrifices as part of her worship—the ancients' idea possibly of what woman's influence was on the human race. Pallas Athene added to the slaughter-loving brutality of the masculine Mars the low element of cunning, and appears unwomanly in full armor and glittering spear, with serpents hissing in her hair and on her breast, and with the Gorgon on her shield which stiffens all the earth to stone. Of Juno and her relations to her spouse and others we need say nothing. They are too foul to be thought of. When despairing humanity looked to Heaven it saw only that it was abominable even for the earth. So also for the heroines of literature. Even the sweet Adramoché of Homer is made to utter a most unwelcome sentiment by Euripides, in her parting words to Hector, and she becomes a degraded slave after the death of her warrior husband. Penelope's much-praised and therefore hard fidelity is not above suspicion. Iphigenia, who figures in many a pathetic story, is a priestess of the bloody rites of Diana, and was accustomed to offer human sacrifices, especially of strangers, on the altars of the goddesses. Clytemnestra rises before us brandishing her bloody dagger over her sleeping husband. Medea scatters the mangled remains of her children as she flies away to an adulterous connection after murdering her rival. Hecuba murdered the sons of Polyestor after putting out her father's eyes. Polyena was the instrument employed to seduce Achilles to betray the Greeks, and subsequently to cause his assassination. Antigone was a suicide, and these cover the whole field of their ideal as to woman's work and woman's influence on society. The greatest poem of antiquity turns upon the most outrageous breach of hospitality in the abduction of Helen, which was condoned and defended by a whole race, while the lives of the avengers demonstrate that it was not the vindication of female honor but other motives that evoked the strife.

THE IDEAL AND THE REAL. "So much for the Greek ideal. The real corresponded to it. In that period of Grecian history which is known as the age of Pericles, in which culture reached the highest point it ever before or since attained, when its painting, sculpture, poetry, philosophy, oratory and even war represent human power at its zenith, the condition of womanhood, and consequently the condition of morality, was most appalling. The Greek wife was kept in absolute seclusion, was married when still a child, and remained in subjection all her life, first to her husband and afterwards to her own children. She was permitted to weave, embroider, spin and care for her slaves and children, but that was all. She never attended public spectacles, received no male visitor except in presence of her husband, and had not a seat at table when male guests were there. Phidias illustrated the popular conception of her condition by painting her as a heavenly Aphrodite standing on a tortoise, to imply that the duty of a good wife was like the tortoise, to remain shut up at home and in silence. 'Her hair is long; the sads rage, but her wits are short.' There was no honor given to her as a partner and companion of her husband. His life was not hers, and was spent mainly away from home. His interests were in the assembly and in the theatre, and his home was only a shelter for the evening or the night, and his wife useful to him for keeping house and bearing him legitimate children. In such a condition of family life divorce was necessarily common, and was frequently a matter of mutual consent. Nay, arbitrary powers were given to the husband to put away his wife as if she were a slave, or bestow her in marriage upon another or even dictate whom she should marry after his death. * * * Slavery made all licentiousness easy, and every home infected, in the country as well as in town. The gladiatorial shows introduced by Rome later added a new horror, and a modern historian has expressed it, the whole country became a dismal swamp of blood and filth. Is it any wonder, then, that this people, which was so marvelously gifted, the people which at that very time had its Demosthenes, its Aristotle, its Plato, its Euclid and its Socrates, say, who even produced an Alexander who was such a marvellous conqueror in war, should fall without a struggle and become the degraded slaves and panderers of its conquerors? And though they filled the world with their glory, their eclipse was unremarked. As some one said of the lower Empire later on, they had sunk so low by their immorality that they made no noise when they fell. It is an irrefragable proof, if proof be needed, of the absolute powerlessness of mere intellectual culture to build up a nation's greatness, to maintain its strength or even its ruin.

ROME'S SIMILAR FATE.

"Let us look at this same truth in the history of that other people which had assimilated all the culture of the Greeks and added to it besides a material greatness and a military domination which summed up and surpassed all that preceding earthly powers had ever attained; I mean the Roman Empire—the fourth best of Daniel, 'terrible and wonderful and exceedingly strong, treading down the rest with its feet,' that empire which in the minds of its people was a deity that could never be destroyed. Consider how its decline and fall tally with the disruption of the marriage relation and the profligacy that inevitably followed. The various methods of entering that sacred compact which obtained among them we dismiss—all except one. They are mostly too shameful to speak of in an assembly like this. The most solemn one, that of concubinage, as it is called, the marriage that was contracted only after consulting the auspices, in the presence of all the gods with most august ceremony, brought to the woman merely subjection to man. She was, in the words of the ceremony, delivered to him. She became about the equal of his daughter, and was entitled to a share in the family possessions as a child. She was merely for pleasure, for respectability perhaps, and the procreation of a family. When she displeased her lord and master by becoming old or losing her beauty, a servant opened the door of her home and out she went. 'Collige sordidum diem libertas, et exi,' writes Juvenal, 'Gather your traps, the freedman will say, and go.' Clearly such a union could not be lasting, and though respect for ancient traditions kept them in check for a little while, the divorce introduced by Roman laws was practised under every form and for every motive. There were divorces of the rich, divorces of the wearied, divorces that came like a May-day moving because the year was up; there were divorces for gain, as when Cicero dismisses his beloved Terentia, over whom he wept so copiously in his letters because his creditors were pressing him, and Terentia's funds were low, and there were divorces of generosity, as when that amazing censor of morals, Cato, transferred his wife to Hortensius because she pleased Hortensius' fancy, and so on, rich and poor, Emperor and subject, wives were like old shoes, as one writer contemptuously said, to be flung aside when no longer serviceable. What was the consequence? Women began to count their age not by their years, but by their divorces, says Seneca. They divorced to marry and married to divorce, and the quality which men refused them in the practice of domestic virtue they acquired by the practice of public vice. The noblest women of the State took part in the most abominable drunken and impure nightly orgies; they had a place of honor in the horrors of the amphitheatre and gave the signal to butcher the unhappy gladiator who knelt at their feet, expecting mercy at least from them; and when a madness for obscene and bloody contests in the arena took possession of the whole Roman nobility, the women descended there, and scenes were enacted over which we must draw the veil. 'Woman,' says Seneca, 'is an animal without shame,' and it speaking of the women of his day it was true. * * * Every one knew what followed; the successive murders of the divine emperors immediately after Augustus, the wild uprising and butcheries by the slaves, of whom the empire was full, and then the devastating sweep of the naked savages from the North who trampled with contempt on the ashes of the world-wide Empire of Rome that was thought to be immortal. What is true of these splendid civilizations is also true of average life. * * * We have it from Oe-ar himself that among the Germans wives could be sold or killed at pleasure, and that on the death of their husbands it was not an uncommon thing for all the wives (for they were polygamists and that says everything) to be

A MODERN EXAMPLE.

Coming down to modern times the speaker drew a startling picture of France, "where marriage has been degraded to a civil contract, rescindable like any other, and where successive governments, with what looks like diabolical premeditation, have systematically and successfully aimed at the destruction of family life. In seven years after divorce was permitted in France, a thing undreamt of since the beginning of its Christianity, there were 10,000 divorces—10,000 households disrupted and dishonored. When we add to this that almost half of the marriages were made in haste, and that a large number of marriages were without issue, we can appreciate the warning of Jules Simon, one of its able statesmen, that if France has soldiers to defend it now, in a few years it will have none. France is without children. And the glorious nation of soldiers and saints finds itself in the presence of national disaster, because of its national crime, and with an unnumberable stigma upon its once fair fame. What has been its history ever since it began this war upon family life? We would willingly draw a veil over it, for the love we have for its past. But here it is in a few words. Characteristically beginning by enthroneing a courtesan upon the very altar of Notre Dame, and inaugurating an orgy of blood that is unparalleled in the history of modern civilization, it has ever since persecuted the name of Jesus Christ. It periodically breaks out into its saturnalia of crime. It has murdered the three last archbishops of its greatest city as a culmination of its atrocious slaughter of multitudes of priests and nuns and devout 'Christian laymen'; it has driven the Sister of Charity from the bedside of the dying, closed up churches where God was worshipped and torn the crucifix from the schools, to take even from childhood anything that reminds it of Christ. It is a worse persecutor in some respects than the old pagans, for it has the bitterness and knowledge of an apostate, and its bitterness becomes greater as the nation becomes more decrepit. And decrepit it is. Its history during the century has been a succession of tottering governments, while the world looks on and jeers. It counts for less every day in the councils of Europe. In the possible cataclysm that may come upon the nations its only ally is a relentless persecutor of the old faith of France, and there can be little doubt that as pagan Rome fell before the German invader, this once glorious nation, unless the prayers of its former saints and the supplication of some of its still faithful children avert the disaster, will pass from among the nations. There are no families. Why should she or how can she remain a nation?"

FACTS ABOUT HEALTH

It is Easy to Keep Well if We Know How—Some of the Conditions Necessary to Perfect Health.
The importance of maintaining good health is easily understood, and it is really a simple matter if we take a correct view of the conditions required. In perfect health the stomach promptly digests food, and thus prepares nourishment. The blood is employed to carry this nourishment to the organs, nerves, muscles and tissues which need it. The first great essential for good health, therefore, is pure, rich blood. Now it is a certain fact that no medicine has such a record of cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is literally true that there are hundreds of people alive and well today who would have been in their graves had they not taken Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is depended upon as a family medicine and general regulator of the system by tens of thousands of people. This is because Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the blood pure. This is the secret of its great success. Keep your system in good health by keeping your blood pure with Hood's Sarsaparilla, which absolutely cures when other medicines fail to do any good whatever.

THE CHURCH'S FIGHT. Such has been the Church's fight from the beginning, for England's tragedy is one of the many, though none was fraught with such subsequent disaster to the Church and to the world. And such it must be till the end. In this as in all other matters of truth and morality the Church speaks the will of God. It is God's voice to man, and it must ever proclaim: 'Marriage must be kept in its original purity. On that hinge hangs the fate of nations.' On the fortress-like portal of one of our great armories is the inscription cut in stone (as it ought to be): 'Pro aris et focis.' For our altars and our fires.' In that is the comprehensive summing up of all that we have been saying. In the union of the altar and the hearthstone is to be found the only basis of a genuine and lasting civilization. For it is by the power of the altar alone that individual man can be purified and made fit to live at the hearthstone. It is by that power alone he can get the strength to keep in check the degrading animal passion, whose undue and improper satisfaction is the cause of most of the violations of the moral law. It is by the altar that the woman puts on her glory and her beauty as a stainless virgin and a chaste wife. It is by the altar that as a mother she becomes the priestess in her sanctuary of her home, and makes it a temple where no unclean thing can enter. It is by the altar that the parents to her sons and daughters the purity that, shining resplendent in herself, inspires the affectionate and admiring fidelity of her husband, and makes her his loving and devoted guide in prosperity and adversity, rendering him happy in the touch of her soft but persuasive influence, at hand in hand, they journey from earth to heaven, the home of the Father of us all. It is by the altar alone that home is made a holy place like the one where they stood on their wedding day, when the contract which their hearts and lips had made was sanctified by the blood of Jesus Christ, and like that other sacred spot where the first married lovers stood and found their first home an earthly paradise, when God and not man pronounced them one. To keep such homes as God made them, will men in times of peace frame wise and holy laws, and if for them they must engage in the carnage of war, they will eagerly and gladly die. 'Pro aris et focis' means something for those who are bred in Christian homes; for those who are not the motto is an empty mockery of meaningless words. That fire which burns upon the altar communicates itself to the souls of those who dwell in the household, and makes them self shine with the glory of the sanctuary, and from the united virtues which are illuminated in those homes, diffuse through the land wherever such homes are found a midday splendor of truth, fidelity, self-restraint and purity which is the only light in which a nation can acquire and preserve a real civilization. 'In the night nations shall walk and kings in the brightness of its rising.' Not the possession of wealth, not the power of armies, not mere intellectual culture, but the personal purity of men and women, the sanctity and inviolability of the marriage tie and the altar-like holiness of the hearthstone, are the guarantees of the peace, the prosperity and the progress of the nations of the world.

There is no need whatever for so many women to be the subject of faint spells, heart and nerve weakness, anemia, or any of those health destroying ailments which so peculiarly beset the fair sex. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills regulate the blood and make it strong and full, tone the nerves, enrich the blood, and relieve the pain and weakness from which so many women suffer.

ten years I was troubled with throbbing and fluttering of the heart. I tried five doctors and several remedies but none of them did me much good. Lately I heard of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and bought two boxes. Before I started using them I could not do my house work, and gave myself up to die, as I thought I would never be cured. Now I feel really splendid since taking the pills, do my work, enjoy my meals and feel as if there was some thing in life worth living for.

The parishioners of St. Mary's, Indian River, will hold their tea-party on Tuesday July 19th. Advertisements will appear in next issue.

CARDS are out for the marriage, at Summerside, on the 21st inst., of Mr. William A. Murphy of the firm of John Murphy & Son, and Marie, daughter of Ronald McDonald, Summerside.

OUR readers will regret to learn that Rev. M. J. McMillan of St. Teresa's is seriously ill. He has been prepared for death, and he may be summoned at any moment.

THREE men were drowned in the harbor of Buffalo, (N. Y.) on Sunday evening last, by the upsetting of a small boat. The men were trying to get out of the way of an approaching steamer, when the accident happened.

WHILE a young man, named Roberge, was asleep in a cheese factory, at St. Pie, Quebec, the other day, a companion in sport turned the hose on him, but the water was so hot that the young man's face was fearfully scalded, and he is destined to remain disfigured for life.

ON Friday morning last, at Mr. and Mrs. William Bryenton of Brackley Point were driving into the city, their horse took fright and ran away, throwing both of them out of the carriage. They were considerably injured by the accident. Mrs. Bryenton having one wrist broken.

AT Windsor, Ont., a few evenings ago, the seven year old daughter of George Perry was fatally burned, while setting fire to a pile of newspapers. Her clothing took fire and she ran screaming into the house, where her mother made frantic efforts to smother the flames. The little one died next morning.

We record, with regret, the death of Mrs. W. A. Weeks, of this city, which took place on Monday of this week. She had been a sufferer for some years from a severe and painful illness. We tender Mr. Weeks and his family, as well as Mrs. Rooms, sister of the deceased, our sympathy in their bereavement.

In this issue will be found the advertisement of the Tea Party to be held at China Point wharf on Thursday, July 7th, in aid of the Catholic chapel, now in course of erection by the people of China Point and Galloway Point. A glance at the advertisement is sufficient to convince you that it will be a grand affair.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Nicholson, of Montreal, have our sympathy in their bereavement consequent upon the death of their young daughter, recorded in our obituary column. Mr. John A. Nicholson, M.A., was formerly superintendent of Education in this Province, and is now Principal of Westmount Academy, Montreal. Mrs. Nicholson is a daughter of our esteemed citizen, Mr. William McLean.

It sounds queer, but it is the truth that money is scarce in Dawson City. Men are working at a good rate of wages, but their pay, like that of the mine-owners, has looked ill spring. Money commands fifteen to twenty per cent. Bank notes are at a premium. Gold dust passes current in the stores at $17 to the ounce. Its coinage value is about $15 to $19. It is received in large amounts at only $16.50.

The three little children of Charles Wray, of Fenwick's Hill, near St. John's, Pa. were burned to death a few evenings ago by the explosion of a can of oil. Their clothing was ignited and the children burned so terribly that they died in a short time. The eldest child, with the flames roasting her body, tried to carry her baby brother to a place of safety. The children were playing in an outhouse in the yard and one of them struck a match. When the match was thrown down it dropped into the can of oil and an explosion followed instantly.

WITHIN the last few days three attempts have been made near New Glasgow to wreck the late accommodation train to Trenton, which leaves New Glasgow at 21.15 (standard). On Friday evening last, the target was formed without unloading the engine; on Saturday three ties were piled on the track and on Monday one tie was placed on the rails. Fortunately the obstructions were noticed by the careful train hands in time to avoid an accident on the rails. Only a short time ago, like attempts were made at the same place, and an effort at that time to discover the culprits proved unsuccessfull.

A NORWEGIAN sailor was run over and killed by the Maritime Express, near Bathurst, N. B., Friday, and a man was also killed on the Drummond extension named Fred Edgett who was employed at Dick's Mills, Stewiacke. He had finished his work and was returning to his boarding house. He was walking along the track, and crossing the Stewiacke Bridge, when a train approached. He attempted to run, thinking he would get off before the train came, but he fell, and before the train could be stopped it struck him and he was instantly killed. He was 20 years of age, industrious and sober, and he belonged to P. E. Island.

REV. J. M. REARDON of this city, recently ordained priest for the diocese of St. Paul, Minn., celebrated his first Mass in St. Dunstan's Cathedral on Sunday last, at half past ten o'clock. It was a solemn high Mass, the celebrant being assisted by Rev. Ignatius McDonald, as deacon, and Rev. P. C. Gauthier, as sub-deacon. The sermon of the day, Sunday within the Octave of Corpus Christi, was preached by Rev. Dr. Morrison. It was on the Blessed Eucharist. At the conclusion of his sermon the Rev. Dr. appropriately alluded to the young priest who on that occasion offered the tremendous sacrifice for the first time. A grand Te Deum was sung after Mass, and this was followed by a procession of the Most Blessed Sacrament, his Lordship, the Bishop carrying the monstrance. In the evening, Rev. Father Reardon officiated at Vespers.

SUCCESSFUL AT LAST. "I was a sufferer from neuralgia in my side, and headaches. I followed numerous prescriptions without benefit, until I was persuaded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. When I had taken only one bottle I realized it was doing me good and I continued taking it until I was cured." Mrs. Carrie Price, Georgetown, Ont.

HOOD'S PILLS are the favorite family cathartic. Easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

SCROFULA, hip disease, salt rheum, dyspepsia and other diseases due to impure blood are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

PLAIN, HONEST WORDS. Caterth and Cold in the Head are Quickly Cured by Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder—It's Painless—It's a Cure.

Says Alex. Edmondson, of Rosemeath, Ont.: "I have been troubled with catarrh for several years and suffered very much. No sort of remedies were used, but I can honestly say that Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder is the only remedy I have used that has given permanent relief. It has in my case cured the disease." Sold by Geo. E. Hughes.

THE GREAT Eastern Tea

The ladies of All Saint's Parish intend holding a Grand Tea Party at

CARDIGAN BRIDGE, FRIDAY, JULY 1st, 1898.

Every practical amusement will be furnished to add to the pleasure of our patrons.

A saloon stocked with the best temperate drinks will invite the thirsty whilst the hungry will be more than satisfied at the dining saloon. A fish dinner will be provided to those whose epicurian taste may demand such a luxury, whilst meats of exquisite flavor will be prepared for all who may desire them.

Trains, both ways, will carry passengers at half fare.

Come all to see Cardigan during the summer season and go away satisfied.

By ORDER OF COMMITTEE, JUNE 15-31

"Shin a ha Shin Bolla."

The Catholics of China Point and Galloway Point take this means of inviting all their friends and the public in general to their Tea-Meeting and Amusements which they purpose holding near

CHINA POINT WHARF, Thursday, July 7, next,

In aid of their chapel now in course of erection.

All kinds of amusements and sports usual at such gatherings will be provided, and music galore will enliven the occasion.

A superior new Singer Sewing Machine donated to the chapel fund by Mr. W. J. O'Reilly, will be disposed of by LOTTERY on the occasion, at the small sum of 25 cents a ticket.

A saloon, well stocked with temperate drinks, fruit, ice-cream and all the delicacies of the season, will be on the grounds, and will be presided over by Mr. John Morrison, a Prince of Hospitality.

The Jacques Carrière leave Steam Navigation Wharf at 10 a. m., to bring excursionists to the Tea, returning at 6 o'clock p. m.

Admission to the grounds including tea, 25 cents.

Should the day prove unfavorable the tea will take place on Saturday.

If your children are well but not robust, they need Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil.

We are constantly in receipt of reports from parents who give their children the emulsion every fall for a month or two. It keeps them well and strong all winter. It prevents their taking cold.

Your doctor will confirm this. The oil combined with the hypophosphites is a splendid food tonic.

A SERAPH'S SONG.

BY CAROLINE D. SWAN.

(Sacred Heart Review.)

Out of heaven swept an angel, Out of the divine embrace; Snow-plumed, he sang, enraptured, God's eternal deep of space.

Down into our bitter twilight, Into sin's desolate place; Flew the burst exultant, bringing Heart's repentant richest grace.

Brave the seraph-song resounded, Through the great cathedral's space; He is with you on your altars!

Behold the shining of His face! O, the shining of His face!

Behold the shining of His face! O, the shining of His face!

Behold the shining of His face! O, the shining of His face!

Behold the shining of His face! O, the shining of His face!

Behold the shining of His face! O, the shining of His face!

Behold the shining of His face! O, the shining of His face!

Behold the shining of His face! O, the shining of His face!

Behold the shining of His face! O, the shining of His face!

Behold the shining of His face! O, the shining of His face!

Behold the shining of His face! O, the shining of His face!

them shine the glory of their holiness and their earthly form are redemptive in the light of their immortality. Well may we think without exuberance of fancy that on the first nuptial morn all nature was singing its hymns of joy, that each blade and bud and voice with minstrelly, that the forests upon the mountain-side swayed to the breeze that came singing the song and the waves upon the sea danced and sang in jubilation, while from the snow-capped peaks the hymn arose and star repeated it to star till it reached the angelic choir, whose harps and voices filled the skies with music, because of the event that was to be. Behold them surrounded by the angelic host descending from their thrones to be present at these earthly nuptials, and lifting high their canticle of joy above the twain whom God so wonderfully loved. They are in the presence of God. The first mortals are joined, the first bridal troth is interchanged and the voice of God has pronounced them one. Their wedded love has come to them from God and will be to them a path of light and joy to lead them up to Him from whom all holy love descends. They are two in one flesh.

THE CATHOLIC MARRIAGE. "To the sacredness with which God has invested it in Paradise He adds a glory in the New Covenant with men. You will permit me, I trust, to say that the Church is not which I belong the marriage contract when properly performed is encompassed with all the glory that the most solemn liturgy can bestow upon it. In the midst of the sanctuary, in what we regard as the holy of holies of the New Law, it makes part with the solemn rites which we believe in the sacrifice where the lamb is mystically tearing angels bow down in adoration and sing their glad hosannas to the Lord God of Sabaoth that the two spouses are brought to pledge their marriage faith. They have purified their souls in the laver of penance and have sanctified themselves still more by another divine sacrament, and kneeling at the feet of the vestal priest, in a place where at that time not even a consecrated nun dare enter they seal their marriage contract in the blood of Christ, for they and not the priest are the ministers of that sacrament. 'I give and I take' are spoken, and there comes through the channel of those words a greater power than all the treasures of earth can give, a communication of divine life, while elevating them in the sphere of holiness, enables them perfectly to fulfill the grave and sacred obligations of their state of life. They rise up one flesh, never to be separated, and are holy in the sight of the angels of God. No wonder that the Church regards as most sacred this compact between man and woman. No wonder that she proclaims, as it always must do, that the contract can never be dissolved, though the world seems to fall in ruins around.

ROME'S ORDEAL. "In this connection you pardon me if I produce an illustration of the Mother of the Redeemer—such is the ideal of the Christian woman actually realized—living in the Mother of Christ, whose maternal was so wonderful that her virginity was not taken from her. No wonder that it lifted all women up in dignity and honor and filled them with exultation and delight. With the passing of time, however, the recognition that the association of Mary's holiness was her source with Christ, they too, reached out to the Christ as soon as He appeared. Instantly, and with humble faith as well as from the court of Herod and the Praetorium of Pilate, mothers, wives and maidens, the pure as well as the cast away, all recognized that the dark night that had intervened since the cause was ended, and from the very beginning they were found always the most faithful and devoted of His followers, lingering near Him in all His sorrows, and when men had left Him, weeping at the foot of the cross.

EMANCIPATED BY CHRIST. "So, too, in all the Church's history, women of every age and condition have been honored by Christ's professions, and they have recognized and responded to the revolution which Christ has effected for them. They have raised as glorious queens like Pulcheria, who dared to reply to the savage invader, 'We have gold for our friends, but steel for our enemies'; they have led armies to victory, like Joan of Arc; they have swayed the destinies of Christendom, like Catherine of Siena; have disputed with philosophers, like her of Alexandria; have sat in the chairs even of Papal universities long before this silly clamor for their participation was heard of. For we should not forget that there are long lists of women in the Papal University of Bologna, to take that one for example who received their degrees of canon law, medicine, art and literature, centuries ago; that there was an Anna Mazzolina, professor of mathematics, a Novella d'Andrea, who taught canon law for ten years and that a woman succeeded Cardinal Mezzolana as professor of Greek. There were painters and poets and even architects among them and where they have not been in the professions they have modified the generations of men as saintly mothers or heroic religious; they have inspired every sentiment of manly honor in the world, and they can go today in the path of the daughter of the Emperor, unharmed among the most degraded savages or in the haunts of crime and vice, and be welcomed like angels in the relief of every human misery and sorrow. They have learned from Christianity that woman is not man's slave, but his equal, and that her marriage is not the degrading bondage binding letters upon her body and soul, but a union that puts a new dignity upon her brow and fits her for her great work in the redemption, elevation and sanctification of the world."

THE FIRST MARRIAGE. "The Redeemer of mankind, looking at marriage as the world had dishonored and desecrated it, exclaimed, and there was grief in the short word, 'It was not thus in the beginning.' What was it in the beginning? Behold it as it was celebrated in the garden of Paradise, the sanctuary of the newly created world, the most beautiful spot in the vast temple of the universe. There in the morning of creation stands two of the fairest of God's creatures, the King and Queen of the visible world, to be joined together in marriage by God Himself. Around

THE BANE OF MANY A WOMAN'S LIFE.

A Berlin Lady Tells How to Get Rid of It.

Doan's Kidney Pills The Remedy.

Mrs. Eliza Reitz, 33 Wellington St., Berlin, Ont., says, "For ten years I have been afflicted with kidney and back trouble, suffering greatly from dizziness, nervousness, weak eyesight, loss of sleep, and appetite, and an almost constant headache. In February last I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and received so much benefit from them that I continued their use until I had taken three boxes in all, and was completely cured. They removed every vestige of pain, dizziness and nervousness, and enabled me to get restful sleep; so that from being a sick woman I am now strong and well again."

Doan's Kidney Pills are the best remedy in the world for Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, and all Kidney and Bladder Diseases. They are sold by all druggists, or on receipt of price, sent a box or a box for $2.50. Doan Kidney Pills Co., Toronto, Ont.
