poison to cause colds, sick headache, dizziness, biliousness or sour stomach when you wake up in the morning. More men, women and children take Cascarets for the liver and bowels than all other laxative-cathartics combined. 10 cent boxes, also 25 and 50 cent sizes. Any drugstore.

LADY LAURA'S RELEASE

THE STORY OF A SPOILED BEAUTY.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

"She was a widow, was she not, when the captain married her?" asked his friend.

"Yes; she was a widow, with one daughter—that lovely young girl who is sitting near her. Lady Laura looks very delicate. I have heard strange things about her."

"What have you heard?"

"Why, that the captain—I do not know him—do you—married her solely for her money, while he was deeply in love with Miss Rane."

"Do you believe it?"

"What I have heard of the captain is not much in his favor, and I should say that he was quite capable of that, and worse. If anything were to happen to Lady Laura, rumor says he would not lose much time in making Miss Rane his wife."

"That is true," said the captain to himself, with a grim smile. "None the less I should like to send the fellow over the pier-head for sarsaparilla."

"Nothing but the lives of those two delicate women stands between Captain Wynyard and that enormous fortune," one of the speakers remarked presently; and from that moment the world was never the same again to Captain Wynyard.

The sound of voices, the sweet music, the wash of the sea round the pier died away; he heard them no more. But the words "Nothing but the lives of those two delicate women stands between Captain Wynyard and that enormous fortune," rang in his ears, to the exclusion of every other sound.

"What is in them?" he asked himself sharply. Nothing. He had always known that fact. But it was

LIFE WAS MISERY!

"I was reading the other day about Neurasthenia, about the large number of people who were troubled with this disease. It is just what my wife had. She felt miserable all the time and was constantly depressed. She would waken in the morning and tell me that something dreadful was going to happen that day. Life was nothing but misery for her. She was so depressed that I expected she would lose her mind and have to go to a sanitarium and I kept wondering how I would get the money to pay for her. She could not eat and had no appetite for food. She was irritable and cranky most of the time. If she was crossed in any way, she would immediately work herself up into a violent temper. This worried me because she had always had a kind and gentle disposition and nothing which was said or done seemed to irritate her. I spoke to our family doctor about her and he said that her trouble was imagination and that if she would try and forget about her depression and look on the bright side of life she would be all right. Of course I didn't dare tell her this because I knew she would get into one of her tempers. When she got over these fits of temper, she was always weak and ill and more depressed than ever. The doctor said a tonic might help her and give me a prescription but this did not do her any good. She tried all kinds of other tonics with the same result. Carnal was recommended to me and I wish to state that it is the leader of all tonics. Since taking it my wife has changed completely. Now she is always ready for her meals and work is no burden. It is a pleasure for me to recommend Carnal to anyone who is in need of a tonic or a body builder. Excuse me for writing this letter but I want you to accept my thanks for that wonderful tonic known as Carnal." — Mr. J. M. Toronto.

Carnal is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. c. 7-622 not at all likely that two women, both young, would die to oblige him! Then the band played the gay "Sweetheart's Waltz," and before it ended, he was saying to himself that, even if his wife died, he would be no nearer the fortune while Angela lived. But, if Angela died first, and his wife followed, the money must be his, and he could marry Gladys Rane. It was absurd, however, to think of such a thing ever happening. True, his wife was delicate; she did not look strong; but Angela might, and probably would, live fifty years. And, with these thoughts running through his mind, Captain Wynyard escorted the ladies home.

CHAPTER XXIX.

Lady Laura Wynyard was suffering from nervous headaches. She had tried many remedies, but had found no relief. Yielding to her mother's entreaties, Angela had joined a party of young people intent upon going to see the picturesque ruins of Bramber Castle, and driving home by moonlight. The captain and his wife had also been invited; but the latter was not well enough to go out, and the gallant captain found a greater attraction nearer home. He had left the hotel soon after lunch-time for dinner. Lady Laura had been alone during the afternoon and evening, and it was in consequence of her terrible weeping that the nervous headache came on. Doris Newsham, one of the most faithful of maids, was in despair, for her mistress' headache would not yield to any of her usual remedies.

"I know what would do you good, my lady," she said; "but perhaps you would not like to try it."

"I would do anything to get rid of this trying pain," returned her ladyship. "What is it, Newsham?"

"Why, my lady, if you would go and stand at the pier-head, and let the sea-breeze blow round you, I am sure it would do you good."

"The remedy is simple enough; I will try it, Newsham," said her ladyship.

"Shall I go with you, my lady?" asked the maid.

"No; I prefer to be alone. Give me a cloak and veil; I do not care to be recognized, for I could not talk to any one. No one will distinguish me, will they, Newsham?"

The maid looked at the tall, graceful figure, and thought to herself that nothing could disguise her mistress.

"I think not, my lady," she replied. Lady Laura walked to the head of the pier. The sea was rough; the waves seemed to tumble over each other in their haste; the breeze was full of a refreshing briny odor. Gradually it cooled the burning temples, it eased the weary, heavy eyes. It was a breath of relief. The evening shadows were falling thick and fast over land and sea as Lady Laura stood looking at the white cliffs beyond which lay Rottinkdean and Newsham, the lights that shone on the vessels out at sea. In the presence of the grandeur of Nature's work, she forgot herself and her troubles.

Suddenly she became aware of two figures sitting not far away from her on one of the side-seats looking toward the sea—a man and a woman—and the man was leaning, with an air of loving tenderness, toward his companion. In a moment she recognized the outline of her husband's broad shoulders. She could not see his face; but she was none the less sure that it was he, and that the woman who was with him was Gladys Rane.

Drawing her veil more closely round her face, Lady Laura stood still and watched them. They were talking earnestly but she could not distinguish what they said. Once she saw her husband clasp Gladys' hand; but the hand was quickly withdrawn. She watched them like one spell-bound. This was her own husband; this man who had stolen out in the shadows of evening to meet another woman—her own husband; and, though he cared so little for her, she loved him with all the devotion of a true and loyal wife. Should she go to him and demand an explanation of his conduct? No; for he might say that she had followed him; he might humiliate her before her rival; he might say that he had met Miss Rane accidentally and that they were enjoying the beauty of the soft gray evening together. No; it would be useless to confront him. He would only laugh her to scorn, and her rival would triumph.

The shadows deepened, and still she stood watching the two who were so unconscious of her presence. After a time they rose, and the silent watcher saw the captain draw Gladys' cloak more closely around her. Then they began to walk slowly up and down. They were so engrossed in each other that neither of them noticed the black-robed figure standing near them. As they passed and repassed Lady Laura could just distinguish a few words of the conversation. She overheard the captain say:

"No, not yet; do not go in yet, Gladys. Nothing can be more delicious than this."

The next time he passed he was saying, "I have longed to tell you all this, but have had— And the sea-breeze, which was to cure her headache, carried away the rest of the words."

When they passed again, it was Gladys who was speaking; she was talking earnestly and in a low tone of voice. The only words that the unhappy wife heard were these: "Stronger than fate."

She wondered, in a dull, vague fashion, what was stronger than fate. Was it love, or hate, or circumstances?

Still the untiring footsteps went up and down; still the faint murmur of voices reached her. Then the soft, gray shadows of evening were dispelled, and the light flashed crimson from the pier-head, and the colored lamps along the pier gave forth a sudden glow. In turning round, Lady Laura found that her husband and Gladys Rane were gone.

"She will go home to Lady Kinlock and talk about the beauty of the evening, the soft falling shadows, and the ureamy sea; but she will not mention my husband's name. My husband will come home to me gay and animated because he has seen her; but he will not allude to her in any way."

She sat down on one of the seats at the end of the pier, her brain on fire, her heart beating wildly. She longed with an inexpressible longing that the calm and repose of death would come to her rescue. Life held nothing for her but utter misery unrelieved by a gleam of happiness. Even should her husband repent of his unkindness and love her with his whole heart, it would never blot out from her memory this terrible ordeal. If death would but come to her and release her from the pain and the fever of life!

Just Folks.

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE MEANING OF SUCCESS.
A little more to do with,
A little more to do.
An old, hard duty through with,
Then rise to meet the new.

Success is not in resting
Beneath a summer sky,
But always re-investing
The joys the gods supply.

To him who preys his mettle
Come tasks for mettle's brawn,
And he must keep in fettle
From whom shall must be drawn.

Soon dies the rusted glory,
Swift fades the idle fame,
He briefly tells his story
Who feeds upon a name.

From life there's no retiring
Till Ace hath spoke the word,
Always the sound of firing
From the battle fields is heard.

Who can do, must be doing,
Who holds the gift, must give,
Some larger goal pursuing,
Or he has ceased to live.

Twillingate District and Jones and Boone.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—Reports of great enthusiasm at Springdale and Little Bay Islands, in connection with "Cap" Jones and "Pap" Boone's meetings, which appeared in recent Advocates, are only dreams. They get a respectable hearing, but, as per usual, they had no remedy for the grave problems which face Newfoundland to-day. It is true "Pap" Boone did mention about as many youngsters and too few potatoes. The majority present had the opinion that this was rather foolish stuff to get from a minister of the Gospel; however, he was freely pardoned, as, after all, we knew he was only "Cap" Jones' sparring partner, and heaven only knows, our bread-dough member needs some kick back. When all is said and done, however, the writer would suggest that our silent "Champion" should carry a gramophone record about with him, as we understand Pilley's Island, Port Anson, Springdale, Little Bay Islands, and other places too numerous to mention, were entertained by the potato and youngster story. This arrangement would save the fishermen many dollars ("pap" Boone's salary). "Cap" Jones told us it was impossible to take off the 25 per cent. tax. He said that if taxation was reduced it would mean the withdrawal of the "Home" and "Prospero" from Green Bay this summer. Somehow or other our puffed out member forgets that less taxation means greater purchasing, and therefore more freight to be handled by our steamers. I think the public at large knows full well that our coastal boats have had to leave St. John's trip after trip with quarter and half cargoes, simply because our export merchants were unable to buy because of inflated prices, through heavy taxation. When will Coaker learn his apron string hangers the first rudiments of politics? Let me warn Coaker that the people of the North are now about to think for themselves, and that "Cap" Jones is about to get the biggest scare of his life. The empty stomach vote, and it is a large one, will have a large say this time.

With a Smile.

A few days ago it came into my mind as I was looking at a mountain around whose breast the rolling clouds were spread. I recalled the poetry with a deep sense of its unalterable beauty. And I recalled teacher's dictum with a smile.

How typical of the way we are always trying to standardize taste and to say what is best and most beautiful—and getting ready to quarrel with people who don't agree with us.

As if there could be any simile however beautiful that had a right to be labelled the most beautiful!

As if the individual's feelings didn't enter into matters of taste.

As if anyone could tell anyone else what was the most beautiful simile or the most beautiful symphony or the most beautiful painting in the world.

Of course it is true that there are certain forms and standards of pure beauty.

"The Best Taste."

And of course our tastes change as we change ourselves and what we thought most beautiful as a child we cease to think so as we grow older.

For that reason those who have had wide experience, who have heard much music or read many books, doubtless have the "best taste," in the sense to which people are apt to come as they also study and experience many kinds of beauty.

But to try to convince anyone that a thing is beautiful or ugly because of course it is true that there are certain forms and standards of pure beauty.

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL SMILE.

"As some tall cliff that lifts its awful form,
Swells from the vale and midway leaves the storm,
Though round its breast the rolling clouds are spread,
Eternal sunshine settles on its head."
—Goldsmith.

When I was a little girl of 12 and we were studying Goldsmith's "Deserted Village" at school, my teacher told me that that comparison of the village pastor to a mountain was the most beautiful simile in the English language.

Teacher had said it. That settled it. I was so impressed that I learned the quotation and for some years, when I wished to be impressive, I repeated it to someone with the interesting information that it was the most beautiful simile in the English language.

"I Avoided an Operation Appendicitis Disappeared"

Mrs. James Wells, Udora, Ont., writes:—

"I took a severe pain in my right side. It was very bad at times. I tried oils and tablets without gaining any relief. The doctor pronounced it chronic appendicitis. I dreaded an operation and a friend advised Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I used them and not only obtained relief from pain, but I believe it has completely freed me of appendicitis, as it is now over a year since I have had any of the old symptoms."

French Government Issues Official Denial.

Were not Approached by Germans--German Newspapers Suppressed--Carnarvon Poisoned by Egyptian Scarab.

A FRENCH DENIAL. PARIS, March 19. The Government yesterday issued an official denial of the London story to the effect that Herr Von Hoelsche, the German Charge d'Affaires, approached the Foreign Office with proposals to negotiate a settlement of the Ruhr and Reparations questions.

BOONE, Iowa, March 19. The worst blizzard in a quarter of a century is sweeping this part of the state to-day. Trains are stalled in snowdrifts and church services were impossible yesterday.

NEWSPAPERS SUPPRESSED. COMBLEZ, March 19. Of fourteen hundred and fifty newspapers published in Ruhr and Rhineland, four hundred and sixty-five have been suppressed by Occupation authorities, and eighteen editors and publishers have been deported with their families.

ENNS ACCIDENTLY WOUNDED. DUBLIN, March 19. Free State troops patrolling Rutland Square last night fired on General Thomas Ennis, who was wounded in the thigh.

TOWN BLAMELESS.

BERLIN, March 19. It is reported from Buer that the Burgomaster and Savings Bank Manager have been released by the French authorities who are said to have declared that the town is blameless for the murder of two French officials.

UNIMPORTANT.

PARIS, March 19. The French Boxing Federation declares that no title is involved in the McGuire-Siki match on Saturday evening and Siki is still champion so far as the rules of the International Boxing Union are concerned.

SUFFERING FROM BLOOD POISON.

CAIRO, March 19. Earl Carnarvon, supervisor of the expedition digging treasure from the tomb of King Tutankhamen, is suffering severely from blood poisoning, presumably the result of an insect bite.

REVIEW OF MEN AND THINGS.

For some time past Rev. O. Jackson, assisted by some of our principal citizens, have been making efforts by means of concerts, and to all the cause of the blind in this community. We have quite a few blind in this section of the district who have had to sit in darkness and lead a perfectly aimless existence, only waiting for the time when death will bring them to a country where darkness is unknown. We are fully alive to the immense strides which science and teaching have made in the cultivation of the other senses to such an extent, that beyond the physical deprivation of light there is little that the blind cannot do to help themselves to a living and also a social existence. We had great hopes that the present administration would have made it possible that an institution could have been established in St. John's wherein all the modern methods of instruction for the blind would have been obtained. We of course have heard that Mr. Weir approached the Government with this subject in view and had been refused any help. It is now alleged that in addition to being refused help Mr. Weir and his blind were considered by some member of the present administration, to a considerably warmer climate than the one we now live in. We can hardly believe this to be true. The present administration, as it is, entirely made up of men of culture and refinement, such a direction coming from any one of them would be almost unbelievable. We must look upon malicious reports such as this as the height of uncharitableness, as foreign to men of such high ideals and public spirit, but we can assuredly say that if an administration, no matter how black had been its record, had granted to those poor creatures a means to lift themselves out of the black obscurity in which they are now living, it would have granted them a means to become independent and earn for themselves, it would have added a star to its crown that would have overshadowed a multitude of mistakes.

The 1923 hockey season ended, as far as Brigus is concerned, with a match between Bay Roberts and a team from Brigus made up of a junior six. Brigus won by 8 goals to 2.

During the recent visit to St. John's of the Brigus hockey team they were successful in wrestling one time out of the two played against the aggregation of the league teams. The third or who-shall game was to have been played against the champion Guards, but owing to some hitch in the arrangements did not materialize, which was a pity, as our lads were confident of giving the Guards a top-top game.

The members of the Brigus team wish to thank through the medium of "Brigus Jottings" the Carling Club, which so kindly entertained them after the second game, and also the members of the St. John's Hockey Association who tried with each other to make their visit to St. John's so extremely pleasant.

We have a couple of would-be independents (one with a string of letters after his name a yard long) making quite a lot of noise, but nobody takes either of them seriously.

Obituary.

MR. WILLIAM TOBIN--THE LAST OF THE OLD GUARD OF REPAIRERS.

(H. F. SHORTIS.)

Monday I received a telegram from Mr. R. S. Munn Harbor Grace, announcing the sad news that Mr. Wm. Tobin, the doyen of telegraph repairers, fortified with rites of Holy Church, had passed away peacefully and trustfully into the arms of his Creator, whose call to render an account of the inestimable gift of a truly Christian life, was obeyed with the same spirit of submission that actuated him throughout. His many sterling qualities and kindness of heart endeared him to a wide circle of friends while in his family life he was a most devoted husband and father. The deceased would be about 80 years of age. To give a sketch of the life and experience of William Tobin would be to write the history of the great telegraph enterprise in this country, which I have already given in the Evening Telegram. He was one of those hardy pioneers in telegraph extension who saw the greatest invention of modern times in its swaddling clothes, and taking it by the hand placed it successfully and firmly on the basis as we see it to-day. I do not know the exact date that he joined up as repairer in the old New York, Newfoundland and London Telegraph Company, but I know that he was stationed at Grandy's Brook on the old West Line in 1862, with the late Alex. J. Saunders, father of the present Superintendent H. A. Saunders of the Anglo-American Telegraph Co., as chief operator. Previous to going on the old West Line, he was employed with the regular repairers along the line round Conception Bay. I cannot remember, at present, an operator or repairer alive in Newfoundland to-day who was contemporaneous with William Tobin when he first entered upon his duties. At Garis there was Durfee, and previous to him Mat Scanlan; Smith at Channel; Small at White Bear Bay; Roberts at Rose Blanche; White at Burgeo; Roche at Placentia, then along the line were Mike Kavanagh, G. M. Gaden, Mort Brien, Leslie at Bay d'Espoir; Blackadar at Black River; Thomey and Pattepatard at Bay du Nord and previous to them Jim Scanlan and many others. Among the repairers the veterans of a thousand fights, were Abbott, Larner, Henderson, Ned and Tom Foley, Lemoine, Gosney of Black River, and some score or more of picked men. But good and all as they were Wm. Tobin stood out most prominent—a man of splendid physique, indomitable courage, grim determination and herculean strength. He was always to be relied on in every emergency, and well the late Supt. A. M. Mackay was aware of the fact. Perhaps a few of his almost incredible experiences will give a slight idea of the characteristics of the deceased, as well as the unquenchable spirit and wonderful hardihood possessed by him in his younger days. In the early sixties of the past century he went over his section, thirty miles and return, from Grandy's Brook to Cing Cerf—sixty miles in one day. On another occasion there were two lines across the country, and some trouble occurred. After a great North East thaw and heavy freshets, which burst up all the ice on the river and rendered travelling impossible, orders were sent on by Mr. Mackay to start the repairers west from Grandy's Brook, and east from Garis. Wm. Tobin went over his section, notwithstanding the condition of the country, and returned to the office reporting his section in first class condition and no trouble. The trouble was still on. Grandy's Brook called up Garis, and the Garis operator challenged Tobin's report, claiming it was impossible for him (Tobin) to get over his section, as the Garis repairer could only get two miles from his station, when he found the first brook impassable to him. A further order went from Grandy's Brook to start Tobin again, to continue until he met the Garis repairer or go on to Garis Office. Mr. Tobin started at daylight, knowing full well that his section was O.K. He took the shortest cut through an almost unknown country, removed his clothing, tied it up and secured it on his head, swam the rivers, removing the ice floating about, with his hands. When he arrived at the main river dividing his section from the Garis repairer's he was undecided, for a moment, what to do; whether to remain on his own side or swim the river that night, or face it in the morning. At last he made up his mind and plunged in—swam the river (late in December), cut wood to make a fire and dry his clothes (his food being also wet), afterwards continued on towards Garis, thirty miles distant. Nothing gave him serious trouble until he reached LaPolle river about 9 o'clock in the afternoon, when he found the foaming billows rushing down. Even his dauntless courage had to give way for the moment, but he was determined to get across. All alone in the wilds of the country he followed the river down, thinking to cross down by the side of the salt water—which he found to be also impassible; the tide being very high, with a tremendous sea on. He retraced his steps back to the river a mile or two up, but to no

Guards Elect 1923 Officers.

SEVERAL PRESENTATIONS MADE.

The annual meeting of the Guards Old Comrades Association was held in the club rooms last night. The report of the secretary was read and adopted and moved that the club was in a flourishing condition. After all business had been transacted the election of officers for the ensuing year followed and resulted in all the original officers being re-elected, viz: President—H. J. Russell. Vice-President—L. White. Secretary—W. J. Grouchy. Treasurer—N. Ellis. Chaplain—Rev. J. G. Joyce. Committee—A. Rooney, Major B. Butler, D.R.O., Major March, M.C., C. R. Peet.

Some presentations were made during the evening, three members being presented with billiard cues for winning top places in the Club tournament. The lucky winners were Mr. A. Harvey Thomas, Mr. Wm. Newbury and Mr. Roy Perry. A couple of other presentations were also to be made, but as the parties were not present these were held over for a future occasion. After the Sports, Club, Social and Library Committees had been appointed the meeting adjourned. The Guards Old Comrades intend to take an active part in the various athletic competitions during the summer. They have lots of new material in their ranks and are bound to be heard from both on the track and football field.

Lectured on O'Connell.

ENJOYABLE EVENING AT T. A. HALL.

A very enjoyable concert and lecture took place at the T. A. Club rooms last night. The musical programme was divided into two parts. Instrumental selections preceding the lecture whilst vocal numbers followed. Amongst those contributing were Messrs. Ted Power, T. Dawney, Leo Dillon and R. J. Power. Mr. J. Clance gave a recitation. The lecture was delivered by Mr. J. G. Higgins, L.L.S., who took as his subject, "Daniel O'Connell." The life of the Irish Liberator was treated in a very able manner and brought forth much applause.

Obituary.

LAWRENCE STACK.

"Thou hast all seasons for thine own, O Death." After being fortified by the rites of the R. C. Church the soul of Lawrence Stack, Petty Hr., was borne from pain and suffering to life eternal by death in his visitation of March 14th. Deceased had just completed his 64th birthday. He was for a number of years proprietor of Ferndale Hotel, but those late years engaged solely in the fishery business. By his good character he had endeared himself to all, and his presence was like sunshine lighting up life's dreary way. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to a widow, one son, four daughters, two sisters, two brothers and eight grandchildren left to mourn.—E.C.

Woman Suffrage.

APPROVAL BY CHURCH DIGNITARIES.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—Prompted by a desire to correct inaccurate statements that have obtained circulation that the Catholic Church is opposed to Woman's Suffrage, and that it is a heretical movement, we would ask you to kindly give publication to the following utterances from well-known Church dignitaries:— Pope Benedict XV.—"Je voudrais voir des femmes electrices partout." (I would like to see women voters everywhere). Cardinal Gibbons, (an anti-suffragist).—"It is incorrect to say that the Catholic Church is opposed to Woman's Suffrage." Cardinal Moran.—"The woman who says she does not want the vote, and would not know how to use it is a silly creature." Rev. Father Straphin, S.J.—"The Catholic Church has always upheld the equality of the sexes. Blowing in hand would take too much time and space, but these statements from the Catholic Hierarchy should surely lay to rest the bogey 'The Church is opposed'." Yours truly, CATHOLIC SUFFRAGISTS. March 19, 1923.

Quips for the Times.

"Don't swap horses in the middle of a stream," quotes the personal organ.

If you can get a better steed, why not? It is not as dangerous as clinging to a broken-winded and colic-troubled beast.

Change horses by all means.

In 1919 we were in the midst of the Re-Construction stream and astride a good sound animal who could swim to beat Helen Kellerman.

The Squires organ then advised a change of horses. Day after day it cried out for a change.

Well, we took the leap and our present deplorable state of stagnation and staggering debt is the sad sequel.

We exchanged big-brained lusty swimmers for the chicken-breasted long-eared variety of thistle eaters.

We are going to cut the long-eared quadrupeds adrift to "sink or swim with Coaker."

If the crowd (?) that attended the Squires meeting last Thursday evening had no more intelligence than the boob who wrote of the barometer being up to blood heat, then Heaven pity poor Squires.

We—that is the Bennett crowd—measure heat by means of the thermometer. For coming storms and change we consult our barometer.

The Advocate crowd don't seem to know which is which. Poor Squires, what a clan he has supporting him.

O Minerva can we invoke you for Terra Nova's sake to visit Messrs. Squires, Campbell and Fitzgibbon just to teach them something of the secrets of political union and government.

Can their hybrid faculties imbibe any wisdom?

"Watchman what of the night?" queries the personal organ.

Do you mean the night Campbell "spilled the beans" in the West End?

Well, he certainly made an awful hash of it.

Said the original Humber Proposition was improper.

We said the same thing and were threatened with being crushed by Campbell and Coaker.

Murder will out; so will the truth.

Hoorsay for the truth.

If the Coaker crowd were jugglers and made as many false starts with knife tossing as they make with words, not a finger would they have left by now.

People with weather cock heads, as Huxley calls them, may be carried away by the windy declamations and promises of the Coaker-Squires crew but not men of discernment.

Argentina and the Railway.

UNLOCKED PORTS VS. OPEN PORTS.

The Evening Telegram
 Dear Sir.—In a recent issue of your valuable journal, a letter from Argentina says "There is no controversy between Placentia, and ourselves as to which port is the most accessible this winter." I probably remember Mr. Edith's statement that the reason for changing the terminus to Placentia was to obtain an ice-free port. The result that all communications have been frozen up for the past few weeks. Even now the bluff is so high that the trouble is due to the ice being full of ice. Day by day the ice has been reported as "no more miles from Argentina," when, as a matter of fact she has not been out of the harbor; and only by keeping the head of steam and burning all the coal on the Peninsula of Avalon, has she been able to keep herself afloat. Now it is not my intention to discredit the port of Argentina, or to enter that debate "Argentina versus Placentia" as a terminus, but it is my intention to try and point out that the construction of this terminus at this time was unnecessary and unjustified for, and the people of this country have on this account an additional half million dollars added to the public debt, for which they must be made to pay.

A Logical Conclusion.

Every Newfoundlander who has come to the use of Reason knows, and has the required degrees of frost, an unlocked harbor must necessarily be over solid. The people who might otherwise, were either lamely ignorant of conditions governing transportation in this country during winter months, or they knew actual conditions, but were persistently bent on this programme. Of these we knew the real reasons for change, to be purely political, and as punishment, the railway and connecting road was allowed to fall into despair. Then, as a result to the fishery regulations, we were starving, every fisherman in Argentina to Channel—the Government decided to spend a half million dollars building this branch railway, by which happy thought the fishermen got a few months work with shovel and the rest could be made up in personal perquisites. Apart from the merits of the Government, Placentia, for the terminal, there is no justifiable reason advanced by the Government for such an expenditure, at such a critical period in the country's finances and the election district will surely not support Government folly of such wanton extravagance?

Living Up to Reputation.

Placentia terminus had served traffic for 35 years, surely it could be managed a little longer, at least until conditions improved. But this Government of ours had reputation for spending money, and that use is a reputation if you live up to it! So peel off another half million, stick on another "stop on the gas" and watch the smoke as we scorch the road to bankruptcy. As against an expenditure of half a million dollars, at this time, seven thousand dollars, would Placentia pier and approaches be in condition to handle the terminal traffic for at least another year. Or if the usual road grant has been spent in this section each year, there would not be any need of special expenditure. In passing, I refer to say I am glad Argentina has a rail connection, as I always advocated and supported the movement, but if anyone in Argentina (property owners excepted) has profited by the deal your previous correspondent does not seem to have found, as he says "The terminal will be the fishery which has been the life of Placentia Bay since time immemorial." I have made a study of the effect the closing of the railway had in certain instances, and I think that the result is as follows. With the closing of great industry, construction begins, hundreds of men are employed, the men leave the fishery, for the usual daily pay of the railway; their property is allowed to become obsolete, they are making lots of money on the railway, why bother about fishing any more? But in a short time, the construction is finished, the evidences of industry "steal away," the job settles down to the employment of half a dozen men, those expected such great things from the distillations, they then must back to their old avocation, rebuild their fishing premises, and start all over again, and wonder what became of all the glowing prospects the railway promised.

A DOUBTFUL BARGAIN.

If you people of Argentina will reject the additional taxation you now bearing, in order to pay for the terminus, the bargain should appear to you a doubtful one; you might be connected with the Main Line of railway for $60,000, then $10,000 (maximum figures) spent at Placentia, would have maintained the terminus there, total expenditure $60,000 as against $500,000. The sum saved you will admit is not "insignificant." "Thus and Therefore" are we a poor nation.
 Yours very truly,
 OBSERVER.
 Placentia, March 13th, 1923.

Swamped With Debt.

ONE RESULT OF SQUIRES-COAKER GOVERNMENT.
 The Squires-Coaker party think that under the guidance of the Daily Mail they will again deceive the people and induce them to give a further lease of power to the Government. It is not very probable that the electorate is overburdened with admiration for the gang of incapables who swamped the country with debt during their term of office and left no record of any action which would in the slightest way tend to better the condition of those who entrusted them with office. The fishing and laboring people of the country have sufficient intelligence to judge conditions for themselves and are not likely to be deceived by Mosdell and others of his ilk whose sole desire is to get place and pay for themselves. If the Government were by any possible means to get elected we would have a repetition of the conditions of the past three years. The Fish Regulations would be re-introduced, millions would be squandered, junketing trips undertaken, the Labrador Boundary kept on indefinitely and taxation increased to an unbearable extent. There would be a continuance of rock-breaking labor but even this is doubtful. However our people will take no chances. They are determined to end Squires' regime and will vote for

Coaker's Fish Regulations.

SACRIFICED THE WEST COAST.

When any man in public life attempts to injure one section of the country to serve the other he is unworthy the confidence of the people and becomes a traitor to the country's interest. This was Coaker's policy in introducing the infamous fish regulations hoping thus to strangle the West Coast fishing industry and prevent the export of early cargoes to the markets. In this scheme he was aided by Small, Warren, Footo and Cheseman, who should have stood by their constituents instead of basely betraying them. They fell in line with Coaker's scheme in order that they would be able to share in Government pay. The West Coast has a rod in pickle for these gentlemen and when defeat overtakes them they will have time to reflect on their misconduct and will realize that those who serve their constituents honestly are rewarded by renewed confidence while traitors are given a time in the cooler calm reflection.

THE GIVER.

The poor man given his hard earned cash to buy the poorer fellows hash. His bottom plunk he splits with glee to buy some kid a C R I's make tree; he backs up all who pass the hat, he gives for that; and if his gift is but a dime, he hands it out with pep sublime. And off he sighs, in longing tones, "I wish I had a million bones! I know so many places where a bale of wealth would drive out care. If I were rich and wearing 'belly' I'd circulate where famine dwells, I'd feed the poor and bring the sick the kind of dope that heals them quick. Wherever hunger rears its head you'd see me packing pears and bread. But I am poor, and all I earn I need to make the homes fires burn. I give a quarter or a dime, and feel such charity's a crime. If I were rich how live I would give to people who in squalor live! Sometimes the poor man quits his job, his back yard has a well of oil. His boys' gorgeous limousine and banks a bundle of long green. Then he grows cautious in a day; it's sinful, giving wealth away. The poor, if pauperized, grow worse, and charity becomes a curse. Moreover, taxes are the right; assessors gobble all in sight; the rich are soaked in every way, and bear the burden of the day. "And yet again," the rich man yells, "I need my cash to buy oil wells."

GENEROUSITY.
 The banquet was about over and the gentlemen remaining were trying to make their last little speeches. One who was feeling particularly mellow spoke touchingly of the poor, how fine it would be to give something to them, something that could be easily spared from the luxuries of their own lives and lift a burden from the less fortunate. When he had finished a real cheer arose, and when the echo had died away another Brother arose and swayed with emotion, proposed: "Let's give three cheers for the poor!"

A "Wail" from the Mail.

WHO SAID "WORDY" PRESIDENT?
 The Daily Mail is very much hurt that we should refer to the Coaker menace, and points out that Cashin and Crooble sat with Coaker in the National Government. Quite true, but Cashin and Crooble checked the dangerous aspirations of the demagogue and prevented him from imposing any dangerous legislation on the country such as he did when associated with Squires. Coaker has not changed. His socialistic ideas are the same. Squires submitted to Coaker's whims rather than risk defeat at Coaker's hands. It is well known that Coaker when associated with Cashin and Crooble tried to work off some of his foot problems and when frustrated left for Port Union, where he stalked all the summer. We still contend that this Coaker is a dangerous menace and we know that associated with Squires he will be permitted to inflict any legislation that his unsettled mind suggests. Therefore we rely on the good sense of the people to rid the Legislature of Coaker and Coakerism.

Fads and Fashions.

Bright silver cloth is being combined with sage green or blue sapphire in heavy satin or velvet for evening wear.
 Figured rattans, Indian prints and batik effects are a few of the colorful materials used for bathing suits at Palm beach.
 A perfectly straight frock features a bodice of gold tissue and a skirt of deep blue velvet. The exciting thing was that trimming was absent entirely.
 An apron arrangement made of lobbed heads in rose and blue is worn on a turquoise blue velvet skirt. The effect is entrancing.
 The Grecian headdress is the one chosen by many theatre-goers. Crystal and jet are in much demand for this type of headdress.
 With a black velvet gown trimmed with ripples of white lace was worn an evening wrap of black velvet with wide ermine sleeves.
 A snug-fitting jacket of bright red cloth and a black red embroidered scarf complete a plain dress of black velour made with a short circular skirt.

UP TO THE PEOPLE.

The Duty Before Them.

No one who watches the signs of the times and takes any interest in the industrial commercial and financial conditions of our country can regard our present position with any other feeling than that of grave apprehension. That the financial affairs of the Colony are in a very bad condition is well known to every intelligent man who cares to give it a thought. The heedless, the reckless extravagance in public departments of the Government, the indifference to certain forms and matters of public reproach which exists, is hurrying the Colony along the high road of insolvency. A grave decadence of political morality has marked the administration of public affairs for the past three years and efficiency and economy have been sacrificed to party considerations and a veritable riot of waste and extravagance has held sway in every department of the public service.

MEMORIES OF 1894.

We had one financial crash and the memory of it is still fresh in the public mind. That was merely a commercial crash and the national difficulties were not the cause but the effect of the commercial collapse. Our present or pending difficulties are national as well as commercial, public as well as private. We say this, with the reservation that it is possible to ward it off, if the Government of tomorrow will call a halt to the mad rush of public squandering that is going on under the present regime at such an alarming rate, and curtail expenditures and endeavor to bring them within the compass of the revenue annually collected, and thereby obviate the necessity of further borrowing to meet current demands upon the public exchequer. We say it is not impossible to ward off the threatened catastrophe if rational and sane administration takes the place of the present wild and reckless expenditure, which is carrying us at a rapid rate to financial ruin and this is one of the strongest arguments that can be advanced why SQUIRES MUST GO and why BENNETT CAN'T LOSE.

ADMINISTRATION RESPONSIBLE.

The country has been brought to this pass by the present Administration. They are chiefly responsible for our grave predicament. They have rioted in reckless squandering and demoralized the political life of the country, and corrupted the springs of public morality by the vicious and corrupting influence of the "spoils system," in its worst form. We have said that the present Government are entirely responsible for the present condition of the country's finances. Mistakes and mad Administration of past Governments have had its effect upon the Colony's financial standing, but none of them in such measure, none of them to such an extent, none of them with such wanton and reckless indifference as to results as the present Government. Previous administrations made mistakes, squandered the Colonial revenues and involved the country in costly undertakings which brought little or no returns, but it is only fair to say the errors they made were done, openly and above board and done for what was thought to be in the public interests, but the country could stand the strain and afford to take risks a good deal better than she can to-day, or at any time during the past six years. This country is now groaning under taxation. More will be intolerable. The country can only be saved by honest and capable administration of public affairs. It is time to call halt. The only way in which present deplorable conditions can be done away with is to vote Squires out and stand by Bennett and the Opposition.

VOTE THE STRAIGHT TICKET. SQUIRES MUST GO. BENNETT & BETTER TIMES.

What Explanation Will Mr. Coaker Give?

In the present Government we now have three members of the Legislative Council holding seats in the Executive Council, namely—Messrs. Geo. Shea, Dr. Campbell and Sir M. G. Winter. From his seat in the House Mr. Coaker denounced such appointments, and wished to have himself placed on record as follows:

"The F.P.U. don't believe in such appointments. We who represent the fishermen of this country believe that the heads of the various departments and executives should be comprised of sitting members of this Assembly, and if such appointments are made from the Upper House the F.P.U. will go one step further and agitate for the abolition of that useless chamber. It is not fair to the country. It is certainly not fair to our constituents."

Now what do we find, not only have

A Rhyme of the Times

When Coaker really ruled this land Through Premier (?) Squires' time The great (?) R. A. made no pretence That he possessed a grain of sense, Or recognized the crime Of Coaker's Regulations mad, That robbed this land of all it had Of markets good, and broke the best Of our fish merchants, East and West.

When Harris had his fish embarked (As every child can tell, The curse of Coaker's frenzied Act, By Squires and his Cabal backed Upon that merchant fell.) It proved the knell to more than he To comfort and prosperity, As many a man will tell to-day Where Burin's commerce shows decay.

A thriving summer's catch made good By months of strenuous toil, Was thrown upon the fisher's hands And caused the ruin of business stands In Burgeo and LaPolla The Moultons, staunch, and many more Along that once progressive shore Are shattered, and the prospect gray— Save then the country while ye may!

The day is coming swift and sure When every voter true, Will seek the booths throughout the land, And having justice in his hand Will well know what to do, He'll sweep the bunglers from the realm, That honesty may take the helm, That we once more that port may gain, Where fair Prosperity shall reign.

Drive now to win it, your hope lies in it, Determined voters avenge the crimes Ye suffered under in days of plunder

DISTRIBUTION AT ST. THOMAS'S.

The annual distribution of prizes to the children of St. Thomas's Sunday School took place Sunday afternoon, in Canon Wood Hall, The Rector, Rev. E. C. Earp, presided, His Lordship, Bishop White, presented the prizes to the winners. He also addressed the gathering on the value of Sunday School work. The Bishop regarded the organization of a parish, and complimented the teaching staff upon the interest and enthusiasm that was evidently being manifested. That teachers and scholars alike appreciated the Bishop's kindly expressions, was shown by the rapt attention to His Lordship's remarks. The distribution was enlivened by several hymns, and a very happy hour or so closed with the Doxology and the Bishop's blessing. Appended is the Prize List:

Women of some 50 nations now whiten teeth in this way

Do you know that millions of people, all the world over, are now cleaning teeth in a new way? One result is whiter, prettier teeth. You see them everywhere today.

If you don't know that method, we urge you to make this delightful test. See what it means to you.

Why teeth discolour

Teeth are coated with a viscous film. You can feel it now. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. Food stains, etc., discolor it, then it forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Thus most tooth troubles are now traced to film, which no ordinary tooth paste can effectively combat. So, under old methods, tooth troubles constantly increased, and beautiful teeth were less often seen than today.

Two combatants now

Dental science, after long research, found two ways to fight film. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring. Able authorities proved these methods effective. Then a new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. The name is Pepsodent. These two great film combatants were embodied in it. Now this Pepsodent has come into world-wide use, largely by dental advice.

Other new effects

Other results were found to be essential, and Pepsodent brings them. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits, for they may ferment and form acids.

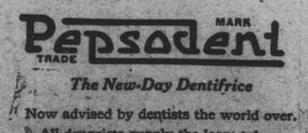

Thus, every use gives manifold power to these great natural tooth-protecting agents. And these combined effects are fast creating a new dental era.

You'll quickly see

These benefits are quickly seen and felt. One week will convince you that Pepsodent does what nothing else has done. The results will amaze and delight you.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

You will soon realize that this method is important, both to you and yours. And, when you know that, you will not return to ineffective ways. Cut out the coupon now.

Now advised by dentists the world over. All druggists supply the large tubes.

Our Weekly Letter.

From Our Own Correspondent.

March 10th (Delayed in Montreal, March 10th). Bishop Joseph Alex. G. R. Apostolic Administrator of the Archdiocese of Montreal, has been named as Archbishop. His title is "Archbishop of Yvonne." The right of succession to Paul Deschamps, the present Archbishop, has been ill for two years of an incurable disease. When the Pope will arrive in Montreal, it is expected that he will be read in public in the Basilica of St. James, but there is no ceremony until his Grace receives the Pallium as Archbishop of Montreal.

The Right Reverend Monsignor Joseph Alexandre George Gauthier, D.D., D.C.L., honorary LL.D., LL.M. (a degree which was given at the McGill Centennial, October, 1912, although just a little over 10 years of age has shown such talents of administration and energy as to draw upon himself the attention and interest of superiors at Rome and in Canada. Besides being a powerful speaker, he speaks both French and English fluently, having in this respect, it is said, no superior in the Dominion.

On Montreal on October 9, Monsignor Gauthier was educated at the Montreal College, and remained as a priest on September 18, 1894, by the late Archbishop. For two years thereafter he studied at Rome, obtaining there the degree of Doctor of Canon Law. He was Professor at the Grand Seminary of Montreal in 1896, remaining there for two years, when in 1898, Monsignor Gauthier was appointed to the staff of the Archbishop's Palace. He was Chaplain of the Cathedral from 1902 to 1904, was made curate, or parish priest, in 1904, becoming also a canon of the cathedral.

In 1912, a cable from Rome announced the appointment of Monsignor Gauthier as Auxiliary Bishop of Montreal in place of Monsignor Deschamps, who had resigned on account of ill health. Two months later, on the 24, 1912, in St. James Cathedral, Monsignor Gauthier was consecrated as Bishop by Archbishop Bruchest, a great gathering of prelates and priests being present in the sanctuary, while numbers of people filled the church. The Archbishop was assisted in the consecration by Bishop Emard, of Valleyfield, and Bishop Larocque, of Sherbrooke, the deacon and sub-deacon of honor being Canon Dauth and Canon Lepailleur. In the official communication from Rome the new prelate's title was announced to be Bishop of Philadelphia, and he was given auxiliary jurisdiction in the Archdiocese of Montreal.

In September, 1917, when Monsignor Dauth resigned as vice-rector of Laford University (now the University of Montreal), on account of ill health, Monsignor Gauthier was appointed in his place, and later he became Rector.

Owing to Archbishop Bruchest's poor health, Monsignor Gauthier was named Apostolic Administrator of the Archdiocese of Montreal, in an official communication, dated November 4, 1921, from the Apostolic Delegate at Ottawa.

His place as Rector of the University will be filled by Mgr. Piette, formerly pastor of St. Stanislas Church in the Northeast part of the city. Only a few months ago, Mgr. Piette was appointed as Vicar General of the Archdiocese to succeed the late Mgr. De LaDunantye, who died suddenly last year. He resigned the Vicar Generalship in order to take up his duties as the new Rector of the University of Montreal. He will be succeeded by Canon Deschamps, pastor of St. Bridget's Church.

At the 75th anniversary of St. Patrick's Church, held last fall, Bishop Gauthier delivered one of the finest discourses ever heard in the old historic Irish Church of the city. The auxiliary Bishop has not as yet been named, but Mgr. Piette may be appointed. The names of Canons Harbour, Rector of St. James Basilica, Sylvestre, Arch Priest of the Diocese, whose work is to examine the finances of each parish in the large Diocese, and Rev. Gerald J. McShane, S. S., pastor of St. Patrick's Church, are also mentioned. The Irish Catholics claim that they should have a Bishop. The Archdiocese is to be sub-divided, and a new see called, Montreal South, with headquarters at Longueuil, across the river, has been contemplated for some time, but owing to the illness of Archbishop Bruchest, the change did not take place.

"We call him strong yho stands unmoved—
Calm as some lamp-post-beaten rock—
When some great trouble huris his shock
We say of him, 'His strength is proved.'"

The trials and tribulations encountered by the missionaries in the wild country north of Lake Superior during the 19th century were unravelled to members of Montreal Historical Society in the Sulpician Library when Rev. R. Melancon, S.J., read the Journal of Father Dominique Chardon du Rasquet.

For 58 years the latter labored in the inhospitable country of the north endeavoring to persuade the inhabitants of that area of the virtues of Christianity. Unfortunately for the cause of religion, the half savage creatures were more interested in bargaining, fishing and games, but when sickness visited their homes, the missionary was the one whom they sought first. By his kindly and practical manner he won the confidence of these men, the speaker said, and as a result turned their thoughts toward religion.

To those brave missionaries who underwent such awful hardships to bring the "Light of the Gospel" to the Red Men and to others, their work was:

"A dream of happiness
And every to-morrow a vision of hope."

A pathetic scene was witnessed at the graveside of the late Sir Thomas Roddick. As the mahogany casket had been enclosed in a steel shell, and was being lowered into the grave, the late Doctor's faithful old coachman, who had been his trusted servant for over 40 years, said in mournful tones, "Good-bye, Doctor, good-bye." The farewell message of that good servant rang clear and true, and made a deep impression on the many notables, including titled heads of Universities, Doctors, and others. With the flowers banked seven feet high around his grave.

"After life's fitful fever, he sleeps well."
Four days after his burial, a novel request was made in Superior Court when the bench was asked to order the remains of a deceased person exhumed in accordance with the will of the dead person.

The Royal Trust Company, executors of the estate of the late Sir Thos. Roddick, presented a motion before Acting Chief Justice Martin in Chambers, with this request. The petition was opposed by the widow of deceased, on the grounds that the clause in question had been tacitly revoked by her husband, and that he had abandoned the idea expressed in his will that his remains should be cremated.

"Keep him in our memory green
While life's dull path we plod,
He is resting from his labors now,
He has answered the call of God."

The new Executive Committee at the City Hall has an extensive programme for 1923 in the paving of the city streets. Over fifteen million dollars have been borrowed and spent on paving, and yet more than half of the city streets have no permanent pavements whatever. With Montreal's past record of bungling, hoodling, and dishonest methods used, it is no wonder that so small an area has been paved and so large an amount spent. The patronage granting Alderman of a few years ago have left their marks of incompetence and graft behind them. If the old walls of the City Hall, now left standing over the ruins of that building, could only speak, Oh! what a tale they could tell. Very clear proof was adduced in the courts that not only did the city suffer heavy monetary loss by the incompetence of these men, but that many of these convicts with dishonest contractors to palm off inferior paving materials on the corporation. The new administration of the city have decided to adopt the "fiscal improvement" plan which means that proprietors shall pay for pavement laid in front of their respective properties. Practically all progressive cities have adopted this system and it has been found to work out satisfactorily. Montreal would have less civic debts if the pernicious habits of bungling, hoodling and dishonesty were not adopted and the old maxim the worth over followed.

"In vain we call old notions ruder,
And bend our conscience to our dealing;
The Ten Commandments will not budge
And stealing will continue stealing."

A man's body found on the banks of the aqueduct, Cote St. Paul, frozen stiff, was at first thought to be a case of suicide, but the Coroner's jury decided that it was a case of poisoning by some unknown person. Another one of the many mysterious and unsolved deaths in this big city.

In the annual reports of St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary at Bordaux, Col. R. de la Bruere Girouard, Warden of the institution states, "It has been clearly demonstrated by many penitentiaries that an institution of this sort cannot only be put on a self-supporting basis, but actually be made to pay a revenue to the State, instead of being a burden to the public through taxation. This would enable the authorities to pay an inmate a small wage, thus helping his dependent family, or in the case of a single man, would provide a nest-egg for his re-establishment in civil life, instead of practically throwing him helpless on the community, thereby possibly forcing him to fall back into the criminal ranks. It would be a powerful incentive for an inmate to reform."

Segregation of youthful offenders and first-offence men, adoption of the indeterminate sentence supplemented by the honor or parole system, and the need for a hospital for mental defectives are other suggestions in the report which shows that during the fiscal year April 1, 1921-March 31, 1921, inmates increased from 555 to 678, a jump of 132.

Falling icicles have become a great menace to pedestrians in many parts of the city. A young girl of 15 was almost instantly killed when she was struck on the head by an icicle which fell from a roof on St. Lawrence Boulevard near Prince Arthur Street. She lived only a few minutes after the accident, her skull being crushed. When the ambulance arrived from the General Hospital the doctor found that the girl was dead. A young lady of 22, when walking along St. James Street, when they were struck with icicles. One had his head injured and the other his arm sprained.

Chief Joseph Chevalier of the Fire Department has issued his annual report for 1922, showing that the brigade answered 3,952 calls during the year.

For backdrafts and similar causes there had been 648 useless calls; 689 false alarms from street boxes; 82 false alarms by automatic sprinkler systems; and 119 false alarms by telephone.

Twenty times the brigade responded to calls for assistance from outside municipalities, and minor duties such as flooding rinks, flushing drains, and duty performed at meetings and demonstrations are also detailed.

Nine fatalities occurred during the year among the force, on which point the report states:

"I regret to report that four of our members passed away during the year, two of whom were killed while on duty, Lieut. N. Deloge and Fireman Paul Presseau. Seven persons were burned to death, while 85 firemen and 42 citizens were more or less seriously injured or asphyxiated."

The juvenile court here finds that the number of bad boys and bad girls seems to be on the increase.

Cincinnati has opened a clinic to find out how bad children get that way.

An habitually bad boy is bad because of mental disorders, according to Dr. Emerson North, social worker, in charge of the clinic.

"We learn what's wrong with their heads, and after we have found out, we treat their heads," Dr. North said. "Thus far we have had success. We hope there will be fewer men later on to put in penitentiaries, reformatories and electric chairs."

Dr. North said his associates believe the ounce of prevention proverb applies exceptionally to crime. "It is striking," said Mrs. Rebecca Boye, social service assistant in the clinic, "that we get more children from worried parents than from the police."

"That is a good sign. It means parents are awake to the importance of nipping the least criminal tendency before it has made its imprint permanent."

Some of the children brought in by parents had been normal until a certain age. Then their parents began to observe gradual changes—slights of temper, piffing.

"This is the type of child we are most successful with," writes Mrs. Boye. "The gradual change is in most cases nothing latent that is 'just coming out on them,' but is caused by some developing disorder. Usually it can be corrected."

In the clinic records children who on police and juvenile court books are classed as "incorrigibles," are listed as suffering from "conduct disorders."

Cincinnati is the first American city to establish a bad boy clinic.

the native life of the Indians, as recounted in the most reliable accounts, including Jacques Cartier's own brief record of the incident.

The arrival of Jacques Cartier on the scene, the reception accorded him by the Indians and the general story of the momentous event will be displayed in pageant form. In order that the costumes and the setting may be reliable indications of the circumstances under which Jacques Cartier's arrival at Hochelaga really took place, a committee of artists are studying both the design of the presses and also the details of the little Indian villages which will have to be set up. This will all be compared with the details set forth in Jacques Cartier's own brief narrative.

"You may be great, you may be good. You may be noble, more or less. But all that will be understood as 'Will be your tangible success.'"

This quotation from Bury may well be applied to the newly appointed organist of St. James Basilica, Arthur Letondal, who entered on his duties on Sunday, March 4th. Of the great trio of Catholic organists in this city, R. Octave Pelletier, J. D. Dussault, and Arthur Letondal, only one remains. A little over a year ago, J. D. Dussault, the great organist of Notre Dame entered into his rest. A few days ago the Dean of the organists, one who had taught many of the city organists, and the master-hand, that often made the Cathedral ring with rich and beautiful music, decided to retire from active service. And the choice of a successor was not hard to find. Letondal was "good." Letondal was "great," and his "tangible success" as his work as organist of the Church of the Veuve on Bleury Street had marked him for the highest position in any of the Catholic Churches of this city. Letondal is a very young man, and associated himself with the late J. D. Dussault and Octave Pelletier for years. They became friends, true and sincere. Four or five years ago, I met the trio at the Trappist Monastery, where they came to spend a day, seeing the heights at La Trappe, and listening to the monks chant the Divine Office. Arthur Letondal's father was blind, but ranked as a skilled musician and a great or-
