UNWISDOM SOURED FOR NEGLECT OF RICHES OF ALASKA

Former Secretary Fisher Places Blame for Underdevelopment of Country and Advocates the Building of Railways; Says Laws Are Not Effective

THINKS GOVERNMENT SHOULD BUILD ROADS

Declares That Many Begged for Affirmative Legislation, But Only Thing Done Was to Create a Commission; No Constructive Legislation

Washington, May 13.—Walter L. Fisher, former secretary of the interior, roundly scolded congress today, before the senate committee on territories, for not having passed some affirmative legislation looking toward the development of Alaska.

"Officials, citizens and others have begged for affirmative legislation for Alaska, and the only thing that was ever done was to create the Alaska railroad commission. I don't care what is the attitude of members concerning the coal fields of Alaska, they cannot be questioned under the present law."

"What we need is to have the government go in there and build railroads. Private capital would build only in the coal fields and that would not be of much value toward the development of all Alaska."

Mr. Fisher said there could be no real difference of opinion as to whether Alaska coal lands should be given in fee to private owners or should be leased. He said that a leasing system for the coal lands in connection with the construction of government railroads would effect immediate resumption of prosperity in Alaska.

Doesn't Need Royalty
"I don't care much about the question of royalty. We do not after revenue to the government," he said. "If you find that the lessors of the mines will give something in return, such as cheap coal for the Pacific coast, safety of life in the mines and other desirable things, let the royalty go. Let's get the real things and let the revenue alone."

"The maintenance of public highways, which so far as Alaska is concerned includes railroads, is a proper and great function."

"The supreme court once said that it had come to be an abbreviated property function, and I think it should be revived in the north. Certainly it would be helpful in determining railroad questions before the interstate commerce commission if the government had a railroad of its own from which to make comparisons."

MANY MURDER CASES AT ASSIZES IN B. C.

(Special to The Albertan.)
Lillooet, B. C., May 13.—Nine murder charges from this judicial district will be heard at the coming Clinton assizes. This number constitutes a record for the province.

In addition to facing a charge of murder in connection with the shooting of Provincial Constable Kindness at Clinton, Paul Spintium and Moses Paul will be arraigned for the alleged slaying of Al. Wray, a Chinaman. Spintium will be further charged with the murder of William White.

For having, according to the charge, during a fit of jealousy, fatally stabbed his sweetheart, Miss Minnie Martin, James Antwine will appear in the dock. Antwine's crime is said to have been committed at a dance at Stine creek, near Linton. For the alleged murder of the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Inister, for whom the alleged Swede named Henry Ashcroft, a young man, is charged with the murder, the violent death of an Indian at 150-Mile House, will bring "Red" McColville and Jack Watts into court to answer capital charges.

Twenty-seven cases will comprise the criminal docket, according to present indications. Included will be the charges against former Provincial Constables Mulligan and Beuner for having robbed an Indian at Ashcroft.

PEEPING TOM IS CAUGHT AND FINED FOR HIS PAINS

(Special to The Albertan.)
Winnipeg, May 13.—A "peeping Tom" was arrested on Saturday night and pleaded guilty to being disorderly, paid a fine of $5 and the cost.

He is Alex Laing, and was taken in by Constable Gear on the complaint of a lady in the north end. According to her story she was dressing for the theatre when she heard a slight noise at the window of her room. She paid no attention to it at first, but when she heard another noise she went to see.

She was only partly attired and on opening the window and looking out, a very nearly hit Laing with her head. He ran, but she screamed and Laing was caught before he could even leave the yard.

CHILD RISES FROM COFFIN; GRANDMOTHER DIES AT SIGHT

(Special to The Albertan.)
Butte, Cal., May 13.—Silently bowed about the coffin of their little three-year-old son, Mrs. J. R. Burney and relatives, of this city, were listening to the funeral services, when there was a slight movement within the coffin. Slowly the form of the child, clad in its white shroud, rose to a sitting posture and gazed about the room.

The minister ceased his solemn words and the little boy, a moment before seemingly dead, looked into the eyes of Mrs. J. P. Smith, his grandmother, 81 years old.

Shocked at the sight, the aged woman fell back in her chair, dead. As the eyes of the others turned to the woman as she expired, the child sank back into the coffin. Its mother immediately grasped it in her arms. A physician was summoned, but the aged woman was dead, and the little boy was dying. This afternoon there were two coffins in the Burney home. Double services were held and the little child and his aged grandmother were laid side by side in the family plot.

WOMEN COULD GET ALL BY OWN PARLIAMENT

London, May 13.—The Daily Mail in an editorial today suggests that the suffragettes should obtain all they desire at heart by organizing a woman's parliament of equals, elected on representative lines by the women of the whole country.

Such a body, the editorial says, although lacking in executive authority, could draft measures and, if accepted by the House of Commons, would acquire immense influence and its recommendations could not be lightly disregarded by the House of Commons.

The National Union of Women's Suffrage Societies is organizing an immense national suffragette pilgrimage from all parts of the kingdom to London. The demonstration will culminate in a mass meeting in St. Paul's Cathedral the following day.

TEACHERS STUDY DRAMATIC ART AT COLUMBIA

Forty teachers are taking a course at Columbia University in the teaching of dramatic art. Mrs. August Belmont, of New York, who is the leader in the development of this new subject, said: "We are not attempting to create actors or to make recruits to the dramatic stage, but instead we want to develop the dramatic instinct and feeling of the children."

As the president of the Educational Dramatic League, Mrs. Belmont presented an outline of the work and aim of this organization, in which the Municipal League is interested. "We believe firmly that this branch of training is valuable to the child. The music school settlement has done wonderful work along the line of the development of dramatic instinct which all of us possess and which, with careful guidance, can be used for the benefit of all."

"Recently when I visited several reform schools for boys I found that the badness in many cases came from a misplaced dramatic instinct. This was my own discovery, and I am rather proud of it. Now if we could train that instinct we would surely have better boys."

Another Attempt to Smuggle War Aeroplane Across Line Discovered When Aviators Claim Mysterious Express Package at Nogales

Nogales, May 13.—The federal troops were driven from their new advance trenches just outside of Guaymas, leaving 200 dead in today's fighting, according to the latest report from the front.

After an estimated loss of 400 men on both sides in fighting which lasted from 3 o'clock yesterday until night, all 2,000 federal were driven back into Guaymas by 3,000 insurgent Sonora state troops.

Evidencing that another war aeroplane was smuggled over the border to assist in the attack on Guaymas, a huge roll was received by express today at Nogales, Sonora. It was claimed by Didier Mason, the French aviator, who narrowly escaped arrest near Tucson, Ariz., where his aeroplane was held by the United States federal authorities.

Mason said the package contained the vital parts of an aeroplane, but not the engine. Then, with his mechanic, he departed tonight for the south, taking the mysterious package with him.

REBELS SMUGGLE FLYING MACHINE ACROSS BOUNDARY

United States Troops Hunt for Lost Aeroplane to be Used in War

Tucson, Ariz., May 13.—The war aeroplane said to have been purchased in Los Angeles for use by the state troops in the Sonora rebellion was captured tonight by Deputy United States Marshal Johnson, and is now at Pike's ranch, thirty-seven miles south of Tucson. Two foreigners in charge of the machine were arrested.

Nogales, Ariz., May 12.—A war aeroplane designed to assist the Sonora state troops investing Guaymas is sought tonight by three detachments of United States cavalry and automobile parties of deputy sheriffs and federal officials.

The machine was lost in transit between Tucson, Ariz., and this city, where its passage into Mexico was denied.

Another flying machine is reported smuggled over the border, arriving safely at Ortiz, the base of the state troops operating against the California gulf port.

It is reported that the intention was to fly over the border. American aviators and mechanics having been ready on the ground when the machine arrived. How the second machine was smuggled over is not known.

Aeroplanes in Besieging.
It was planned to employ the aeroplanes in besieging Guaymas, where strong federal reinforcements were received last week. It is said that high explosive shells have been obtained, which the birdmen could drop over the heads of the government troops.

In the expectation of the assistance of aeroplanes, state troops are mobilizing before Guaymas in greater numbers than ever. A train arrived from the Cananea district with 400 men, artillery and much needed rifle ammunition. The men of the state troop lines held of the government are deployed into a vanguard formation.

THE CHURCH, A SOCIAL CENTER

Dr. Ward of Calgary university, who has begun to draw public attention to the necessity of greater facilities for social intercourse, through the churches, has chosen a very opportune moment to bring his ideas before the public.

If Dr. Ward carries out his intention of visiting all the foremost social centers in American cities, while he is abroad this summer, and brings back to Calgary definite plans, and information for the wise spending of church funds, this alone will have justified the efforts of the promoters of Calgary university who have made such services available to the city.

Within the past two years, about one million dollars have been spent on church buildings and property in this city. These buildings have been designed for use for only about five hours each week; except for a dozen little societies each year these huge expensive buildings—samples of the finest architecture in western Canada, stand with locked doors for six days out of every seven.

And this means that for these six days the large numbers of homeless young people in this city are practically forced to accept such crude social relaxations as are afforded by commercial agencies. Aside from the efforts of the Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A., both of which are inadequate to meet the needs of the city, no organized effort is being made by any Christian body to direct or assist the young people from one Sunday to the next.

The increased protection to British Columbia fruit men which will follow the change in the regulations respecting the importation and sale of fruit, will many times more than counterbalance any change that has been made by the government. There is a gradual increase instead of a decrease in the duties.

There is nothing in this tariff announcement for the western farmer. He does not use linotypes or traction ditching machinery. He is not aided in one single move suggested by the finance minister.

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT.
The commission form of government has been adopted in most of the progressive cities in the United States. This method of administration has been very much of an improvement over the old form. It is the application of modern business methods to the management of a city. It means the elimination, particularly in the United States, of much that is undesirable, particularly base partisanship.

So successful has been this form of administration that there is a movement to take another step and apply this form of government to the state. The governor of the state of Kansas has suggested the establishment of a commission composed of the governor of the state and twelve well-trained administrators. That would take the place, doubtless, of the present legislature.

It may be some time before such a radical change in the administration is enacted. It practically means the abolition of the present form of government and the substitution of an administration of specialists. It will be some time before any state will give up its party organization.

But it might be better if it were so. Our system of party administration has its advantages, but the disadvantages are much more apparent. It is most unbusinesslike. No business conducted along similar lines would last for any time. There is too much waste effort in it. Provinces would be better administered, as a rule, without party organization. This attempt to substitute a business organization in for a party organization will be watched with considerable interest.

Editorial Notes

There was a time when the Conservatives were alarmed because the balance of trade between Canada and the United States was so greatly against Canada. But now it seems to be more against us than ever before and the finance minister is not very much alarmed about it, in fact, thinks it is a fine thing. The economics of the Conservatives in the latter state is somewhat sadder than in the former state.

Mr. Southern's Calgary paper believes that it is sacrilegious for any Liberal members of parliament to complain that the railway commissioners are a little slow getting round to a decision upon the freight rates question. No institution should be above criticism if it is not doing the work that the people expect and the criticism is not confined to Liberals, the chief critic being W. F. Maclean.

It is now 691 days since R. L. Borden in this city promised that if elected to office, he would before one day had passed take steps to place the control of the natural resources in the hands of the province. But 692 days have passed since he made the promise and he has done nothing to fulfill the sacred promise which he made.

G. W. Kerby, who was for nine years pastor of Central Methodist church, and who built up in the face of very great obstacles the nucleus of a splendid social center. Central Methodist church was the first church in western Canada to keep open house between Sabbaths, the first church to establish a gymnasium, a reading room and gathering place for the young men of the community, and the first church to open its kitchen for lunches for business girls.

Calgary has now outgrown the efforts of this one church, although for several years, the work was so comprehensive as to be an outstanding feature of church work in the three prairie provinces. It is time for a more ambitious scheme of organization.

THE TARIFF CHANGES

The government has spoken, and declared that it has nothing to offer in the way of tariff reductions for the western farmers. Britain has successfully withstood the attack of the interests with their tariff reform schemes, the United States is revolutionizing its fiscal policy, but the Tory government in control at Ottawa makes no change, sees no handwriting on the wall, and practically keeps the tariff where it was.

Considering the extension of the lead bounties, and the added protection given in that way by the government, the increase in the duty on some of the smaller items of food, the threatened change in the regulations respecting fruit in British Columbia, which is a protective measure, the government has really increased the burden of Canadian people rather than decreased it.

The duty on linotypes has been removed. That was provided for in the reciprocity pact. Linotypes are not manufactured in this country and the duty served merely as a toll upon the industry and enterprise of business firms which were using them. The duty should have been removed years ago. The government should have added type to the other printing machinery.

The education in the price of cement is not very extensive and means but little. It is very doubtful if it will result in any reduction in the price to the consumer. The reduction in the duty on suga, is so slight that the consumer will know nothing about it except by the reports in the papers.

The new White-Borden tariff is not likely to affect the cost of living to any considerable extent in this part of the country.

Mr. McKimney, the possessor of forty clearwater votes, which is one more than either of his opponents, says that he will resign whether he is elected or not, because it seems as though there were election irregularities, which is a very good decision. However, these election irregularities, by whomsoever committed, should be chased down and something done about them. Until election wrongdoers are pursued to the limit there will be election wrongdoing. By this we do not mean to say that Mr. McKimney knew anything about the election irregularities.

Calgary quietly and diplomatically turned down the Industrial Bureau's bill board proposition. That was right. It is to be regretted that the only new publicity proposition evolved by the bureau was one which made Calgary people ashamed of its enterprise.

It is a bold, bad and strangely constituted man who makes any boast of being a water drinker at this season of the year.

Let us hope that the long drawn out decision about the site of the armories is at an end and will stay there. The city acted wisely in rejecting Mewata Park, for park purposes, even if it cost some money to do so.

And while the Conservative papers are trying to make their readers believe that people who do not believe as they do are separatists, the man who is doing the biggest stunt for the Conservatives in the house of commons is a gentleman who once told of his delight in shooting imaginary holes in the British flag if he got a real good opportunity.

The Calgary city council decided to discourage the erection of bill boards in the city. We shall see if the people of Banff will allow in that beautiful resort what the city of Calgary has declined to place here in Calgary.

DAWSON POWER HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE
(Special to The Albertan).
Dawson, May 13.—The power house of the Electric Light and Power company was totally destroyed by fire on Friday and the loss will amount to $100,000. The city depended on this plant for its power, light and water. It is now without fire protection and water for domestic purposes has to be supplied in the old-fashioned way by means of water wagons.

One-Room House for $45,000.
London, Eng., May 13.—Among the London properties submitted for auction recently was the so-called "smallest house in London." This is in Hyde Park Place, and was described at the sale as being up to its title, as it only consisted of one room. That solitary room was a small one, but since the property was eventually bought in for more than $45,000.

"Knack" is not needed to make good coffee every time. Follow the directions in each sealed tin of Red Rose Coffee; and in six minutes the small crushed grains give you the full strength and brisk flavor of this choice coffee. There is no dust, so Red Rose Coffee requires no "settling." No chaff, so no bitter taste. You will surely like Red Rose Coffee have passed since he took office and Mr. Borden has done nothing to fulfill the sacred promise which he made.

The Western Canada Milling company is now asking Calgary what it is going to do about inducing it to locate in Calgary and other manufacturers are asking what inducements we have to offer, doubtless meaning bonuses and such like. Calgary is in the position of not knowing what it can offer or what it has offered the milling company. So far the action of the city has been most unbusinesslike.

The provincial government is handing over the money to the farmers to start the co-operative elevators, and it is only a few minutes ago that Mr. Southern's Alberta newspapers said that the province had no money at all for that purpose.

And the Calgary Bronchos are still prancing about on the top rung of the baseball ladder and yet the magnates and the fans are complaining which shows that baseball fans are never just quite satisfied.

The new White-Borden tariff is not likely to affect the cost of living to any considerable extent in this part of the country.

Mr. McKimney, the possessor of forty clearwater votes, which is one more than either of his opponents, says that he will resign whether he is elected or not, because it seems as though there were election irregularities, which is a very good decision. However, these election irregularities, by whomsoever committed, should be chased down and something done about them. Until election wrongdoers are pursued to the limit there will be election wrongdoing. By this we do not mean to say that Mr. McKimney knew anything about the election irregularities.

MISS YEOMANS' HEART

TO HEART TALK WITH

WOMEN OF CALGARY

Miss Yeomans never lectures—she just talks in a confidential heart to heart way, and thus she, the provincial probation officer from Edmonton, told the Calgary Business Women's club a Nowhere, she said, had she met so in the Public Library, in the first place she assured them that Alberta was the finest province in Canada for all matters pertaining to child welfare.

No where, she said, had she met so many broad-minded, intelligent and sympathetic women as in this province, to which also was due the honor of appointing the first provincial probation officer for boys and girls up to 18, but whose especial duty lies with girls.

Several large cities already have probation officers for boys and girls, and girls coming from the juvenile court are considered, the girls being found occupations with sympathetic women who are friends and guardians as well as employers. These officers strive to obtain the confidence of the girls and to keep it.

The provincial officer's duty, however, lies in a wider field—writing, lecturing, and organizing to any club in any city where she can be of use, the government she said, she was speaking of her own sheltered life Miss Yeomans said that the greatest satisfaction she has ever found was this present work of trying to meet the needs of people in trouble. It was very interesting, she said, to tour the country to find out girls' conditions and making provisions for them, in the hope of building up good citizens. Though the parks and streets may be in good condition.

Poor One

To make good citizens, preventative and constructive work, and this the Children's Aid did; an able Business Girls' club must also help. Ninety per cent of the girls brought up to the juvenile court were for sex crimes, which usually are the result of desert, and other things in their train. These girls should be put right, said Miss Yeomans, but women were often so cruel to each other, though in her opinion the woman's movement is a movement to help mothers how to train their children it did much.

Case of Immigrants

In the case of immigrants coming from all countries, armed with a knowledge only of good wages not of the high rate of living and difficulty of board, there was room for much work, said Miss Yeomans.
No girl could keep herself honestly on less than $10 per week, that being little enough, but as many girls had to do it, there was little wonder that they jump at the chance of entertainment when offered, forgetting that sooner or later every man demands his price. Sometimes for the actual necessities of life a girl has to sell her body. So it is a woman's duty to be a woman's friend, and to be a woman's friend, she said, she is much to be pitied. People with money and influence, and a lot of all to a new city feel this and to a poor girl hunting for employment and for lodgings the loneliness is intensified.

Supervisor Free Dance Halls

Miss Yeomans is strongly in favor of supervised free dance halls for girls, as they must have enjoyment of some sort. In Edmonton they had started free physical culture classes, social evening parties, nature studies, and excursions, all classes of girls taking part.
Domestic And Press Women
It was said that there was more class distinction outside of society than in it, but it Miss Yeomans's estimation a domestic who was a success was infinitely superior to a newspaper girl who was a poor devil at her work.
The domestic problem was always open she added, and it was often the fault of the mistress that so many prostitutes came from the servant class. They were treated as inferior, given the worst room in the house, and allowed nowhere to receive visitors. When they went out they were often tired and it depended largely on their men friends whether the places they visited were just right. Man leads to woman's downfall, but other women keep her down, and woman's inhumanity to woman is responsible for much misery in the world.
Although sheltered women were responsible for the fate of the non-sheltered ones they rarely could be made to see this, and so, concluded Miss Yeomans, the business side of her problems should be a leading power, and should help when possible by inviting all classes into their club and working out their salvation.

EXHIBITION PRIZES FOR ELDERLY WOMEN

One of the most interesting displays to be made in the women's section of the fair this year will be samples of work done by ladies who have reached the mature age of 80 years or over. There are two classes reserved for their handwork, one of embroidery and the other crocheted work and there are the usual prizes of $5, $3 and $1 offered which will prevail to the other work of a similar nature.

Much interest will no doubt be aroused in this work and already there are some old fingers busily engaged on fancy work which will be placed on exhibition later. According to the rule which governs these classes the display must be present day work only. The prize lists are not printed yet, but in a few days they will be ready for distribution both in the meantime

ANNOUNCING OUR
Exposition of Summer Modes
IN MILLINERY, DRESSES, SUITS, COATS and ACCESSORIES -- COMMENCING TODAY

THE verge of a new season finds us in splendid readiness to show complete ranges of the late styles designed for summer wear, and shown exclusively here. It is with a great deal of pride that we draw the curtain today on displays of apparel that cannot be duplicated in the city; displays that will be of decided assistance to all women planning their summer wardrobe, for each individual garment introduces some new feature that has met with fashion's approval. The styles are all captivating, to say the least, so that we are sure that many women will avail themselves of this opportunity of viewing the new fashions in all the freshness of a first showing.

Today, then, and all this week, we invite you to this summer style show, to which our windows and departments concerned have given appropriate setting.

Chic Styles in Summer Millinery

Many women have been awaiting this announcement that they might lay aside their spring hats and don the daintier styles that we have prepared for summer wear.

For these women we have a pleasant surprise in the millinery salon today. They will be greeted by a new order of hats. The straight lines and vivid colorings which were a feature of the spring styles have given way to softer lines and delicate summer tints, the straws and mounts for styles developed in lace, ribbon, and flowers.

We have imported a great number of models especially for this summer opening and from our own workrooms we display beautiful creations that portray correctly the latest style ideas.

There is necessarily such a wide diversity of styles that only a visit to this section can convey a true conception of the beauty and charm of Glanville's summer millinery.

Women's Charms Will Not Suffer Any Through Contact With These Handsome Dresses

Graceful lines, dainty colorings, and individual styles, are outstanding points of an array of summer gowns that portray the latest designed fashions which will receive their initial showing today.

There is no set style to the new summer dresses, rather every dress has its own individual features to make it different and pleasing. Pretty creations developed in the popular ratine are here in great variety; then the new embroidered voiles and voile flouncings are in evidence, and handsome linen dresses, to say nothing of the myriads of styles in fancy wash fabrics.

The use of heavy lace for trimming is noticeable, and glass or crocheted buttons, and many of the dresses have a girle or sash of crushed ribbons in bright self color or Bulgarian tones to give a striking finish to the costume.

- Several styles chosen at random are mentioned below:
DRESSES OF WHITE VOILE—Inserted with wide lace panels, girle of Nell rose taffeta ribbon, yoke of bebe Irish, finished with tiny red and black buttons. Price ..... $15.00
DRESS OF WHITE RATINE—With beautiful collar and cuffs of white Macrame lace, large bow of Nell rose, white crocheted buttons. Price $25.00
DRESS OF BLUE RATINE in the Dutch shade, side pleats in the skirt, trimmed on collar and skirt with silk in Bulgarian tones. Price. $18.00

New Styles in Sunshades Here

The latest novelty is the dome shaped Sunshade. The cover of heavy silk, mounted on brass frame and with long slender Broadway handles. The color range includes Nell rose, "Paddy" green, crimson, white, navy and black. Price ..... $4.00

Pretty Dresses for Juveniles White or Cream Suits for Summer Wear

Mothers who visit our Juvenile Dress section will surely resolve that it is a waste of both time and money to attempt to make dresses for their children after seeing the beautiful styles we show for girls of all ages from 7 years to 16 years, so modestly priced.

We mention here just a few noticeable lines:

- PIQUE DRESSES—Buster style, prettily trimmed with Irish lace. .... $2.75
MIDDY DRESS—Blouse of white duck, Dutch blue pleated skirt, and collar. .... $3.00

POPLIN DRESS in pink, pleated skirt, bodice trimmed with Irish lace. .... $5.00

The prettiest effects in Summer Suits are undoubtedly those developed in cream material or white wash fabrics. We have just opened up a beautiful assortment, consisting of suits of cream serge, cream Bedford, cream whipcord, white and bisque, repps and wash Bedfords. A handsome array that gives expression to the newest effects in style and trimming.

MISS YEOMANS TALKS OF THE WORK OF CHILDREN'S AID IN THE PROVINCE OF ALBERTA

Miss Yeomans, provincial probation officer arrived in the city Monday from Edmonton. Interviewed by one of The Albertan staff, she outlined briefly the good work being done by the Children's Aid and juvenile courts all over the province.

The idea, originated some five years ago, has grown.

Yeomans, and where Mr. Chadwick and a few helpers were sufficient for the needs of the societies then, some seventy men are now engaged over the province in seeing to the needs of the children.

Miss Yeomans is the local officer for Edmonton, as Mrs. Bagnell is for Calgary. Speaking of the work among the girls, Miss Yeomans stated that more and more the girls themselves were getting to look on the Aid in the light of a friend, and often brought their troubles there even after they had grown out of the age of control. The Aid has no jurisdiction after a girl reaches 17 years, save in the case of girls who have come under their care previously, but when a girl seeks help she is never refused, no matter what age she may be. The great work among girls is to get those who come from the juvenile courts, and with sympathy and kindness seek to befriend them. The next step is to get work for them where the employers will be also friends and guardians, every effort being made to secure congenial persons, and to make the girls as happy as possible.

"We try to get women who will be good to our girls, and who will remember that they are children," said Miss Yeomans, "for, after all, girls of 17 are only children." Continuing, Miss Yeomans stated the necessity of obtaining sympathetic women also for officers, as it depends so much on the character and sympathy of the officers whether the girls come of their own free will, and could be prevailed upon to look on them as helps, not as persons to be avoided.

Miss Yeomans will speak to the Business Girls' club this evening, after which she leaves again for Edmonton, where she will be for a few days before going down south to continue her work of lecturing and writing in the cause of the children.

Miss Yeomans begged it to be made known that she is always willing and eager to address any kind of meeting anywhere with regard to the little ones, and her society is always pleased to send, all expenses paid, wherever she may be of use to the Aid and to humanity.

Gourlay Methods

The first Gourlay Piano was the result of accumulated knowledge in the art of piano making. We supplemented our own knowledge by searching not only Canada, but the entire world to find the most efficient and advanced methods of piano building. Those methods that had proved best, we adopted.

To-day, if there is an innovation or change discovered that proves upon investigation and trial to be sound, we adopt it. This applies to principle, process, and material. This policy is unwaveringly observed in the Gourlay Factory, no matter what time or expense it involves.

The Gourlay Piano

reflects these methods. It proves in tone, in durability, in finish, that this is the only correct principle of manufacture. The Gourlay Piano was never intended to sell at a low price. It never claimed your consideration on the ground of cheapness. It was designed and built to be a staunch, life-long companion, to win your lasting esteem because of its inherent good qualities, and a piano made by methods less thorough cannot meet this standard.

When you buy a piano, select a Gourlay, it is the piano which makes musical and material excellence the only consideration.

UNTIL HE LOVED.

Although most men will deny the assertion, I believe that no man intends to remain single—to live and die a bachelor. They make up their minds to have their fill of pleasure, though it extend over a score or a decade of years, concluding there will be plenty of time later on to devote to matrimony—just one girl whom they will woo and wed.

He delights in being a free lance—adoring one girl today and worshipping another tomorrow. He always retreats if he finds one girl fitting into his thoughts too much. He laughs at the claims who out the rank and file of single blessedness, and laughs still heartier to see them some time after tied to their wives' apron strings, as the phrase goes.

He is the man who all his friends declare never will marry, and that it is useless for a woman to set her cap for him; that it is time wasted entertaining him, and the height of folly going after him and trying to win him to spoil her chances with others of getting a beau.

Thus it is that the bachelor often finds the girls not at home when he calls. If he invites them to a place of amusement he receives the answer that they are sorry, on account of previous engagement. The refusal of half a dozen girls to accept his invitations does not cause him a heart pang, for he has many more on his list.

It is not until he is brought in contact with one particular woman that his indifference to the fair sex takes a sudden turn. He realizes all at once that he has met the one woman in the world that is necessary to his happiness, and that if their paths were to drift apart there always would remain in his heart a secret longing.

All in a single hour, from the moment in which they first met, he feels that love, which he always has spoken of with good natured derision, has come to him.

Love can change even the hardest natures. He whom others found flinty hearted is like wax in the hands of the girl who has captured his affections. Until he loved, he laughed at a sweetheart's mastery over a lover.

Somehow he had it imbedded in his mind that the man should be lord and master. It was he who should dictate as to the friends whom they would associate with. Love taught him that his ideas were entirely at fault. Until he loved he never realized that a lover and his lass should agree amicably on those subjects, one and all, and that when she clung to her opinion it was courteous to let her have her own way.

Until he loved he took but a passing interest in home and home-making; now he is keenly alive to all its beautiful comforting possibilities.

He never will be bearable in his own family until he loved. Before, he was selfish. Love changed him completely into a considerate man. The best part of his nature never ripens until love brings it into blossom. Singular as the fact may seem, it is usually the exact opposite from the type of girl he has imagined all these years would awaken love in his breast. Men are broader-minded and more charitable to women when they have loved some woman than when they have never loved.

It is not always possible for a man who has been a free lance too long to gain the one woman upon whom he has placed his affections. But having loved makes him a better and a nobler man, proclaiming the truth of the words of the poet:

"This letter to have loved and lost,
Shan never to have loved at all."

Eleven Years His Senior.

"Dear Miss Libbey: Would it be proper or congenial for a young man of 21 to join in holy wedlock with a lady 32 years his senior, if they have true love for each other? TOM."

A young man makes a serious mistake in marrying a woman so many years his senior. I think it better that the husband be the older of the two, but I do know of marriages that have turned out happily where the wife is the older.

CHAIRMAN BLONDIN IS CENSURED BY MEMBERS OF THE OPPOSITION

except in the matter of the naval bill. The government never had a shadow of an excuse for bringing in this closure. Speaker Sproule pointed out that the member was not discussing the motion.

Mr. Oliver said that he did not want to infringe on the rules but he wished to show that it was through a violation of the rules of parliament, not through the maintenance of them that all the delay had occurred. This was not a mere matter of whether the deputy speaker saw one man or the other first. It was a question of the rights of the minority.

This was only the climax of a series of violations of the rules. After the government was prepared to interpret the rules just as it pleased them. This was the fault of these broken rules that there had been obstruction. Mr. Oliver started to go into the history of the famous Saturday night row when he was called to order. Mr. Oliver said that the closure had been introduced to protect the government from going to the country. There was no parallel between the closure rules of Great Britain and Canada. If there was to be decorum there must be observance of the rules. If the minority could not secure protection in parliament then they must have recourse to the people.

Premier Defends Blondin

Premier Borden said that there were two questions at issue: first, that as to how far Mr. Carroll had been prevented from expressing his views; second, as to whether there had been a breach of the rules under the circumstances alluded to. The premier paid a tribute to the deputy speaker, who, he said, had had an unusually trying experience this session. He felt that the deputy speaker had been at all times impartial. Mr. Borden contended that opportunity of expressing his views and moving his amendment. The bill had been in committee from 15 to 20 days and he could have moved an amendment at any time during that period. Further, all the opposition had to do was to permit the sub-amendment to clause two to be voted upon when Mr. Carroll could have moved his amendment as a sub-amendment. He had the opportunity yesterday to move that the bill be reported back to committee for amendment and he could do so today so that the charge of hardship was rather difficult to appreciate.

With regard to the second contention, that Mr. Pugsley had suffered under a breach of the rules, Mr. Borden declared that it was the desire and intention of the government. He quoted from many parliamentary authorities to show that the motion which Mr. Pugsley wished to make could not properly be made under such circumstances. He had himself arisen to move that the bill be reported and he took full and absolute responsibility for that. He had not conceded the right of Mr. Carroll to make his motion after 2 o'clock and the motion to report the bill was not debatable.

In conclusion, Mr. Borden declared that the course pursued by Mr. Pugsley and Mr. Carroll was wrong and that Deputy Speaker Sproule deserved commendation rather than censure for the dignified course he had pursued under trying circumstances.

Mr. Pugsley (St. John) who replied, said that the opposition had been condemned for proposing this vote of censure. The opposition, however, could pursue no other course in view of the fact that when the matter was brought up last night Speaker Sproule would not allow any reference to be made to the action taken by the chairman when they endeavored to describe the occurrence in the house Saturday morning. The motion before the house was not even one of censure of Mr. Blondin for his personal conduct, but was simply designed to show that his action was a violation of the rules of the house. Mr. Pugsley said that, in view of the way in which Sir Wilfrid Laurier had treated the motion, amendments to the closure resolution, the new rules could not be regarded as those of the honorable majority sense. They were the rules of the majority. He submitted that Mr. Carroll had a perfect right under the rules to move his proposed amendment and that he had been unjustly deprived of the right by the chairman. Mr. Pugsley also contended that his own motion in order because rule 15 of the house says that such a motion shall take precedence over all other motions that are not in order. He quoted from the journals of the British house to show that this was the practice in that house.

The rule was made, he said, in order that the voice of the minority might be given an expression in parliament.

Like a Kangaroo.

Dr. Pugsley then showed rules to a kangaroo by the strength of its hind legs jumping the bill through at a point.

"It was a case then of the fox fighting the kangaroo," remarked Hon. L. Pelletier.

"Yes it was a case of intellect versus brute force," retorted Mr. Pugsley and laughter from both sides.

"We on this side, have fought side by side in the heartiest comradeship for the good of Canada. Ever since we may be powerless to prevent this bill becoming law let us hope that the government will find itself unable to make the bill law. Then let us dissolve parliament and go to the people."

Question of Courtesy.

Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice followed. He referred to the complaints made by opposition speakers to the fact that Mr. Carroll had not been allowed to move his amendment. The prime minister had extended him the utmost courtesy and had consented to withdraw his amendment. Mr. Doherty said that the closure member for South Cape Breton could move his amendment.

"On this point," said Mr. MacDonald of Pictou.

And by courtesy added Sir Wilfrid Laurier. "That is just the point. We do not want courtesy in that regard. We simply want our rights under the rules as they exist."

"What was there to complain of when the courtesy was granted?" asked Mr. Doherty. "They decree courtesy and want the rules and when the rules are enforced they cry 'unfairness.'"

Mr. Doherty went into a technical explanation of the rules under which the chairman had decided. Despite the fact that rule 15 stated that a motion by the chair was always in order that insofar as it was inconsistent with the provisions of the rules it was superseded by it. It was the evident intention of the new rules to bring debate to a conclusion at a fixed hour. Mr. Doherty said that the scene of Saturday morning was caused by opposition members making interjections they had no right to make. He said that there was absolutely no foundation for the implication that a false report had been presented to the speaker.

Sir Wilfrid's Argument.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said he was sure that the majority of the members of the house would agree that Mr. Macdonald had presented his motion in a fair, temperate manner. He regretted to be to say that the member for Portage La Prairie in making his reply was not fair, temperate or judicious. The speeches by Mr. McElwain were generally closely occasioned and full of argument but in this instance his speech had been replete with invective and short of argument.

Reviewing the proceedings in the house Friday, Sir Wilfrid said that when Mr. Carroll first moved his amendment Premier Borden had taken the view that he was not in order. This objection was well taken because under the form of the premier's motion it had been decided that clauses two to six of the bill should be the first business before the house. Chairman Blondin then advised Mr. Carroll to defer his amendment until all the clauses had been disposed of. Sir Wilfrid agreed that the amendment might have been germane to some of the clauses of the bill but that having decided to make it an additional clause it was not within the right of the member to move it until he did. All members of the house were aware that such an amendment could not be moved before the application of the closure rule at 2 o'clock. The question was whether it could be moved after that hour. Mr. Borden had expressed doubt as to Mr. Carroll's right to move it after 2 o'clock, but he (Sir Wilfrid) had not agreed.

Sir Wilfrid next contended that the chairman gave the floor not to Mr. Borden but to Mr. Carroll. This was proved by the fact that the records show Mr. McElwain immediately rose to a point of order as to the right of Mr. Carroll to speak. He thought if there were circumstances under which the floor can be taken from the leader of the opposition there should be circumstances under which it might be taken from the premier.

"But the house decided," interjected Mr. McElwain.

Blondin Violates Rights.

"Yes, but the chairman gives his ruling first," replied Sir Wilfrid. Sir

The low-grade powders are made from "alum," or "sodium aluminum sulphate," which is also alum, a mineral acid, which does not make the food healthful.

One pound of the low cost powders contains three ounces of alum, a mineral acid. Is it safe to put that on your pantry shelf along with cans of food ingredients?

Food baked with alum baking powders is found to contain a portion of the alum unchanged.

Read the ingredient clause of label on the can. Unless it shows cream of tartar don't use the powder.

Wilfrid thought that the chairman gave the floor to Mr. Carroll because he had given his pledge to the Cape Breton opportunity to move his amendment. Under the circumstances he could well have said to Mr. Borden, "You have the right to speak, but I gave my word to Mr. Carroll that I would hear him and I will hear him now."

The prime minister, Sir Wilfrid said, has no more privileges on the floor of the house than the most humble member. If other members did not possess this right to make a motion after 2 o'clock, the prime minister had not that right. Chairman Blondin had clearly violated the rights of every member in this respect.

Sir Wilfrid then discussed briefly the ministerial view that Mr. Pugsley's motion that the chairman leave the chair was out of order. He quoted rule 15 of the house to prove that such a motion was always in order. Had the motion been adopted the effect would have been to kill the bill for the time being. Were the majority prepared to say that this could be done, in closing Sir Wilfrid said the rules had undoubtedly been violated.

BILL HURLEY HAS FAITH IN W. C. LEAGUE

Saskatoon Boss Predicts Great Things for Organization; Also Likes His Homestead

Bill Hurley who has undertaken the job of bringing a permanent Saskatoon team to the Western Canada league in 1913 has great faith in the future of the Western Canada league and prophesies that if the league can go through this season successfully that next year or the year later franchises in this organization will be worth a great deal to the owners. Bill is in Calgary now with his Saskatoon Quakers ready and anxious to play the Bronchos but has been held back all this week by the weather.

Pelkey had some difficulty in holding big Mac's curves as he did not know what particular kind of curve was coming.

SCHEDULE OF THE FOOTBALL LEAGUE ANNOUNCED

First Game Will be Played This Next Saturday Provided Weather Clears Up

At the Calgary City and District football league meeting held last night the schedule for the season, 1913, was officially passed with modification to the extent that the games which were scheduled for this week will have to undergo alteration owing to the interference of rain. The opening game, which was intended to be the Calles versus Rest of League, will now take place on Saturday, May 17, at Victoria park. July 9 has been reserved for the International game, and arrangements have also been made to allocate a date for the Inter-City match against Edmonton.

THESE DAYS WHEN CLOSE PLAYS ARE PICTURED, THE "FANS" HAVE NO "RAW" DECISIONS TO ARGUE OVER

Here is a photograph showing that the camera sees more than the eyes of many of the "fans." The snapshot man pressed his button as Beals Becker made his slide for the plate after driving the ball to the centre field fence in a recent New York-Cincinnati game. The picture shows that a relay of Stuber from Snodgrass to the catcher enabled Meyers to keep the runner from touching the home base at all.

time it takes to go out and look over the big fellows. Luck McCarty is working out in a big hall out by the C.P.R. shops. He starts his training stunts at 3 p.m. and out by the Mission bridge, at the Albion hotel, to be exact, Art Pelkey under the tutelage of Tommy Brusso Burns, is going through a strenuous campaign.

Billy McCarty is a wise old fox all right. He is an ex-newspaper man which may account for it but anyway he knows how to advertise and how not to advertise. For instance, he was quite mad at the story in The Albertan which rather ridiculed the idea of Luther McCarty posing as a cowboy champion who learned his cowboy tricks "up in northwest Canada."

Just remember when you are doping things out that Tommy Burns is going to be in Pelkey's corner on the morning of Victoria Day; that Pelkey never had a boxing lesson in his life until Tommy Burns got hold of him and that Tommy Burns thinks so much of Pelkey that he has signed to manage him.

The twenty-five dyed-in-the-wool fans who went out to Victoria park last night in spite of the storm clouds, discovered that the ball club had erected bleachers close up to the race track, thus making it possible to see the plays on the diamond without the use of a telescope.

The manager of a boxer is not usually a very important person, that is he is not very important in the eyes of the public although to the boxer who intends to make good, the name of his manager is a very important individual.

McCarty has dark, curly hair and looks more like an actor than a prize fighter manager. He probably around the 40 mark in age, but could easily pass for 30 on the streets, and were he on the stage and fortified with an actor's make-up, he could look the part of 21.

For nearly twenty years McCarty has been identified with boxing in some role. Either it was manager of a preliminary fighter, or manager of a boxing club, but he was always in it and put up his last dollar to stay in it.

Just now he is in the zenith of his glory. He is boxing the fighter so he says that the world has been so eager to look for since the day Jim Jeffries gave his pledge that he was done with fighting—a promise that he didn't keep, much to the detriment of his pride, but not his pocketbook.

CALGARY IS BEHIND IN HIGHER BRANCHES OF EDUCATION

Superintendent Scott Says There Are Fewer Pupils in High School in Calgary Than in Any City of the Same Size in Either East or West

HALF MILLION SCHOOL NEEDED NEXT YEAR

Greater Diversity of Courses is Needed and More Practical Training; Various Trades and Industrial Organizations Will be Consulted

Calgary is far behind in high school education. According to the report of Dr. Scott, superintendent of education presented to the board last night, Calgary has fewer pupils in high school than any city of the same size in either east or west.

The reasons may be many according to the report which will be more fully amplified in a later report which Dr. Scott is preparing but there are more vital than the others and that is lack of accommodation which taken with the others such as need of technical and vocational instruction and greater appreciation for the public schools.

Will Build Next Year. The whole matter is to be threshed out fully by the board at a special meeting to be held on Tuesday, May 27. It was stated last evening at the meeting that the new high school would have to be built next year at the cost of about $500,000.

A previous report submitted by a delegation, which studied the problem of giving as his reason the revelations under oath that the agents of both the Liberal candidate, W. H. McKeeney, and the Conservative, W. H. McKeeney, had been "very coarse and left a trail anyone could see" and declared that he had not taken part in crooked elections for the past 20 years.

W. H. McKeeney, the Liberal candidate, stated today that he would not accept the seat even if declared elected and giving as his reason the revelations under oath that the agents of both the Liberal candidate, W. H. McKeeney, and the Conservative, W. H. McKeeney, had been "very coarse and left a trail anyone could see" and declared that he had not taken part in crooked elections for the past 20 years.

Since the last regular meeting of the board, it has been very busy in visiting the cities of Spokane, Portland, Tacoma, Seattle and Vancouver, for the purpose of seeing the schools, meeting school officials, and of getting some information as to the best method of assistance in the solution of educational problems in Calgary.

At present, I desire to call attention to the fact that our accommodation for high school pupils is very much less than in other places.

Further, it is to be expected that an increase in attendance will take place here in the next few years which will place Calgary's high school population more nearly on a par with that of other cities, and for this, adequate provision should be made.

Victoria is now building a half-million dollar high school to accommodate 1,000 to 1,200 pupils; Tacoma has about 1,800 pupils in one school and is building another of corresponding size; Medicine Hat is planning a $388,000 school with accommodation for probably 600 or more, and, in my judgment, the Calgary school board should expect and plan for an attendance of 1,000 pupils in the next two or three years, as compared with about 400 registered this school year.

The board should be prepared to widen the scope of the work done and to offer technical and applied courses to students desiring such training.

LAWYER INDICTED ON FOUR CHARGES; TO BE TRIED MAY 20

Indictments Follow His Appearance in Recount in Clear-water Constituency

(Special to The Albertan) Edmonton, May 13.—Indicted on four charges of corrupt election practices, W. A. Lawlor, of Edmonton, has been committed to stand his trial at the supreme court in Edmonton on May 20. He was indicted on four charges of corrupt election practices, W. A. Lawlor, of Edmonton, has been committed to stand his trial at the supreme court in Edmonton on May 20.

Witnesses against him included some of the men whose votes had been tied up and some others who stated that he had made open boasts of what he was in the riding for. In one case a man named Pike and his wife both testified that Lawlor, who is said to have used several aliases, gave Pike a $10 bill which the latter at once handed over to his wife, who marked it with blue ink and produced it in court.

Joseph A. Clarke, one of the three candidates in the election in Clear-water also gave evidence against Lawlor, stating that the latter had told him that he was sent clearwater to "count McKeeney in" and that Hon. John R. Boyle was instrumental in his appearance there for that purpose.

Mr. McCall, chief engineer of the city power station, who is in Montreal, will remain there for a few days longer to get the complete layout of the new plant, with plans and details of all the equipment, and excavation will be commenced immediately after his return.

BRITISH PAPER SAYS SWISS BANKERS HERE CALGARY IS A CITY OF 22,000

London Publication Hints Mysteriously at Duplicate Sale of Treasury Notes; Concludes Story With a Paragraph About Calgary's Importance

Looking for a tract of land on which to establish a co-operative colony of dairy farmers which they intend to bring out from the district surrounding Lucerne, Switzerland, P. Stutz and C. Thurnbeier are now in Calgary, having arrived here yesterday.

"We have only just arrived in Calgary," said Mr. Stutz last night, "and our intention is to look over the land between here and Edmonton. We have already had offers of tracts near Wetaskiwin, Lacombe and Red Deer, but intend to look over the whole province before we decide where to locate."

Both Mr. Stutz and Mr. Thurnbeier are men of education and means, being engaged in banking business in Switzerland. According to their statement they are making an extensive tour of the province in connection with a private venture, and intend to bring to this country a number of high-grade brown Swiss cattle.

"We have received every encouragement from the department of agriculture," said Mr. Thurnbeier, "and we believe that in starting a dairying industry in Alberta we are making an exceptionally good investment. We are not going to split up families, but are going to bring out whole families out here, and all the members of these families will be people who are used to dairying and farming. Ultimately we intend to have creameries of our own and to manufacture a high-grade dairy butter, and also to go in extensively for poultry raising and mixed farming."

Messrs. Stutz and Thurnbeier left for the north last night, and expect to be back at the King George Hotel in about two weeks.

The News of the World regards the story of the mayor's attempt to sell bonds in New York as a "startling disclosure," but the really startling part of the disclosure comes in the last paragraph, wherein Calgary is described as a hamlet of some little consequence, called into being by the magic of the C. P. R. and "owing its importance" to this railway.

International Arbitration Tribunal Begins Work of Settling Claims in Washington and Will Try to Adjust at Least One Case Every Day

IS CRESCENT HEIGHTS TO GET SCHOOL WITH FINE TOWER?

Board Cannot Decide as to Extra Expense for North End Tenders Called for Plain and also Ornate Styles; Playground Grounds Will be Put in Shape

Washington, May 13.—With Sir C. Spring-Rice, the British ambassador and John Bassett Moore, counselor of the state department, present to represent their respective governments, the international tribunal for the arbitration of outstanding pecuniary claims between nations, which is held in the day the members of the court, M. Fromageot, of France, president of the tribunal, made a brief address in which he spoke of the desirability of arbitration in settling questions of differences between nations.

Efforts will be made to settle one case a day, so that the large number of cases which are on the schedule may be disposed of. As there are more than 300 cases on what is known as the "first schedule," cases which both governments have agreed shall be submitted to this judicial arbitration it will take a year of working days to clear the slate of this first list. By the time that is done, a "second schedule" probably will be ready as negotiations are under way looking to having a large number of other claims settled in a similar way.

Several Appointments Made Meeting Last Night; Chairman of Board and Superintendent Will Attend Conference of School Hygiene

BRITISH PAPER SAYS SWISS BANKERS HERE CALGARY IS A CITY OF 22,000

London Publication Hints Mysteriously at Duplicate Sale of Treasury Notes; Concludes Story With a Paragraph About Calgary's Importance

Looking for a tract of land on which to establish a co-operative colony of dairy farmers which they intend to bring out from the district surrounding Lucerne, Switzerland, P. Stutz and C. Thurnbeier are now in Calgary, having arrived here yesterday.

"We have only just arrived in Calgary," said Mr. Stutz last night, "and our intention is to look over the land between here and Edmonton. We have already had offers of tracts near Wetaskiwin, Lacombe and Red Deer, but intend to look over the whole province before we decide where to locate."

Both Mr. Stutz and Mr. Thurnbeier are men of education and means, being engaged in banking business in Switzerland. According to their statement they are making an extensive tour of the province in connection with a private venture, and intend to bring to this country a number of high-grade brown Swiss cattle.

"We have received every encouragement from the department of agriculture," said Mr. Thurnbeier, "and we believe that in starting a dairying industry in Alberta we are making an exceptionally good investment. We are not going to split up families, but are going to bring out whole families out here, and all the members of these families will be people who are used to dairying and farming. Ultimately we intend to have creameries of our own and to manufacture a high-grade dairy butter, and also to go in extensively for poultry raising and mixed farming."

The News of the World regards the story of the mayor's attempt to sell bonds in New York as a "startling disclosure," but the really startling part of the disclosure comes in the last paragraph, wherein Calgary is described as a hamlet of some little consequence, called into being by the magic of the C. P. R. and "owing its importance" to this railway.

Board Cannot Decide as to Extra Expense for North End Tenders Called for Plain and also Ornate Styles; Playground Grounds Will be Put in Shape

Washington, May 13.—With Sir C. HOUSING PROBLEM IS ACUTE AT CARDSTON

(Special to The Albertan)

Cardston, May 13.—The outlook for this year's building season at Cardston is uncertain, and local architects and contractors now have plans in hand for many more houses than the town can accommodate. Real estate men state that the housing problem here is becoming more acute, and enquiries are accumulating for dwellings which are not available. It is also pointed out that Cardston's area of industrial expansion, now beginning, will meet a steady increase in population in the months ahead. It is estimated that provision will have to be made for the housing of both skilled and unskilled laborers in the very near future. Already the distributing centers of a dozen or more small towns, all within a radius of 20 miles, Cardston is set in a peculiarly favorable position to profit by the improved facilities that are assured to this section during the coming months, and a steady increase in population is anticipated.

BRACKMAN-KER HAS TAKEN OVER MILLS OF WESTERN CANADA CO.

S. A. McGraw, manager of the Western Canada Flour Mills, was in Calgary yesterday on his way from the West. It was announced that the purchase of the Brackman-Ker company mills had been completed and the mills would be taken over as soon as possible. Mr. McGraw said that many cities were anxious to secure the mills which the company intended building in Calgary in addition to those of the Brackman-Ker company. It was hoped however that an arrangement would be come to with the city to the supply of power at the 20 cent rate and immediately after it was made the company could take over the mills and start building on a much larger scale than was in use at present. Mr. McGraw who went east to Winnipeg last evening felt that this arrangement could be come to very soon.

DUNSMUIR FIGHTING MACKENZIE AND MANN OVER BIG COAL DEAL

Vancouver, B.C., May 13.—A case involving a sum of $850,000 is being heard by the court of appeal today in an action arising out of the sale to Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann in June 1910 of the whole of the Dunsmuir interests in the coal mining business of the Pacific coast for $11,000,000. Mr. Dunsmuir is counterclaiming for various sums which he alleges have been wrongly collected by Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann from debtors to the Dunsmuir companies. In outlining the case, Mr. Taylor, for Mackenzie and Mann, said today that the transfer of the Dunsmuir interests involved so great an array of assets that it was impossible at the time to make an inventory, so a general clause had been added to the agreement providing that everything owned by the Dunsmuir companies and by Mr. Dunsmuir himself connected with their coal business in British Columbia and in California were to be handed over to the purchasers. "The trouble arises," he said, "over the interpretation of that clause. We claim that it means every asset of Mr. Dunsmuir and his companies as they stood on the time of the sale. It was at the time of the sale given on January 2, 1910, was to be preserved intact, and handed over when the sale was consummated."

Lord Tennyson's Stirring Tributes to the Heroism of Montenegro. The situation in which little Montenegro finds itself in consequence of the action of the powers with regard to Scutari brings to mind the stirring tributes of Lord Tennyson of this heroic nation:

Before their dauntless hundreds, in prospect flight, By thousands down the crags and thro' the valleys, O smallest among peoples! rough rock-throwers Of freedom's warriors beating back the swarm Of Turkish Islam for five hundred years. Great Tchernogora! never since thine own Black ridges drew the cloud and trace the storm Has breathed a race of mightier mountaineers."

Ridden by a Girl, They Will Dive From Height Into a Tank of Water; Ninety-First Highlanders' Band Coming! Was in Calgary Some Years Ago

MANY ATTRACTIONS FOR THE BIG EXHIBITION

One Will be the Staging of a Tableau Significant of 100 Years of Peace Which Has Prevailed Among English-Speaking People of Continent

Calgary people have seen horses that could jump over hurdles raised to a surprising height, others that could make a record on the track, with the wonderful evolutions of the broncho in trying to unseat skilful riders are well known, but there will be two horses here for this year's fair that will show them something new.

Lionette and Serpentine are two beautiful animals that will be seen twice a day diving from a lofty platform into a tank of water. To add to the interest of this spectacular feature they will be ridden at each performance by Miss Mamie Francis.

The wonderful exhibition presented by these animals and their daring rider will be one of the main attractions at the fair. Each year there have been something new in the big horse shows presented at the fair, but this year it is expected that the diving horses will be the talk of the province. Nothing like it has ever been presented in Alberta before and in fact there are only a few horses in the world which have been trained to even approach the wonderful feat of these horses. It is acknowledged that it is easy to lead a horse to jump over a hurdle, but to make him drink, but when it is considered that these animals are taken up onto a high platform and then, carrying on their backs the fearless Miss Francis, dive into a tank filled with water, the wonderful intelligence shown by the animals and the care which has been taken in their training will be realized.

Many Other Attractions. This is only one of the special attractions which has been booked to appear in Calgary during the fair. Those who desire to join the crowds who will spend their summer vacation in Calgary during the exhibition, will have exceptionally large lists of acts to grow enthusiastic over.

One of these will be Ramona Orto, who represents a slack wire act, said to be the best in the world. This little lady's performance will run in very close competition with the diving horses for popularity. In addition there are a number of circus acts which are likely all the exhibition, be presented twice a day during the fair, which include, Walkie, a four foot act, the Upside-Down Zerkids, three flying Bickerts and Dynamite. Dynamite is a trained mule, owned by Mrs. Happy Harrison, who will provide a lot of amusement.

Splendid Band Coming. Music lovers will be pleased to hear that the Ninety-First Highlanders' band from Hamilton has been secured. They have a splendid reputation and will be remembered for their excellent performance here some years ago. The Titus Grand Opera quartette, whose appearance here was so highly appreciated a few years ago will be heard numbers.

From local sources there will also be a number of attractions secured. One will be staging of a tableau significant of the 100 years of peace which has prevailed between the English speaking nations of the continent. A military tattoo, which will be participated in by the two Calgary bands, one of the crack bands from another portion of the province and the Highlanders, will also be a feature of the evening performances. A Maypole dance, four girls and four boys mounted on horseback, and a turn out of the cadets to the number of about 1,200 will be other features. These with the fireworks display in the evenings, will provide simple amusement for the spectators.

CONAN DOYLE'S BOOKS

Famous Author Tells of Books That Helped Him Most — He Likes Macaulay's "Essays" Best.

Discussing the books on his library shelves, Sir Conan Doyle picks out certain of them, each one of which, bought in student days when he was not affluent, it had cost him a lunch to buy, and he selects Macaulay's "Essays" as the one that had given him "most pleasure and profit." Next to this he puts the work of Poe, "the world's supreme short-story writer," "the inventor of the detective story." He was fascinated, too, by Marjaret "Memoirs," and later has found hints in him and them toward the character of his darling, dare-devil exploits of his own Brigadier Gerard. He has a fine enthusiasm for the "glorious brotherhood of Scott's novels," and delights alike in the "Border Ballads" and Macaulay's "Lays," because of their swing and dash, their strength and simplicity, their love of all that is manly and noble and martial. These and a good story are the qualities that appeal to him, especially in a work of fiction. He will never write a problem novel. If he is roused to denounce some injustice, to attempt the righting of some wrong, he takes the most direct and downright way of doing it, attacks it in the straightest possible fashion, and will not wait to build fictions about it and undermine it with a tale.

Had a Haircut and Shave. Jefferson City, May 13.—John Oliver a Pike county farmer, was in Jefferson City the other day. Oliver was one of those intellectual giants who frequented barber shops when Bryan was defeated in 1896 and he has only recently come out of the brush. He had a beard 15 inches long and his hair had attained a growth of a foot and a half when Woodrow Wilson was inaugurated.

EARLY CLOSING BYLAW PREPARED FOR ADOPTION

Retailers of City Want All Stores Closed at 7 p.m. Except on Saturdays and Days Before Holidays; Half Holiday on Wednesday Proposed

COUNCIL WILL BE ASKED TO RATIFY THE SCHEME
Exception Will be Made in Case of Cigar Stores, Restaurants, Ice Cream Parlors, Hotels, Drug Stores; 60 Per Cent of Retailers Must Agree

An early closing bylaw has been prepared by the Retailers' Association and will be submitted to the city solicitor at an early date for approval. It will then go to the council and if signed by two-thirds of the merchants in Calgary it will become law.
The bylaw provides for the closing of all stores in the city at 7 o'clock every evening except Saturday, the day preceding a holiday, the exhibition week and the fortnight before Christmas. On these evenings the stores will be allowed to remain open till 10.30. There will also be a half holiday on Wednesday afternoon, the stores closing on that day at 1.30 in the afternoon. This half holiday will be in force all summer from April to October and will be binding on all stores in the city.
Will Be Exception.
There will of course be certain exceptions in the matter of early closing as for instance cigar stores, newspaper stands, restaurants, ice cream parlors, drug stores and other such places which will not be governed by the bylaw. Liquor stores and bars will also not come under the bylaw. An interesting point will also most likely be raised in the matter of drug stores as they sell goods which do not properly come under the head of drugs. In other cities there have been interesting legal cases as to the legality of drug stores selling such articles as cigars and stationery after closing hours.
It is confidently expected by the retailers that the bylaw will easily go through. At present the stores which remain open in the evening do not do enough business to warrant their remaining open, and it is the opinion of all that the public are able to do their shopping hours fixed by the closing. That two-thirds of the shopkeepers in Calgary will vote for the bylaw is confidently expected as the Retailers' Association, which is behind the movement, is growing stronger and stronger every day. During the past four weeks the membership of the association has increased sixty per cent, and the numbers are daily becoming greater.
