AU REVOLV, JOHN JOSEPH.

Mr. Mills Declared the Member for Bothwell by the Supreme Court.

OTTAWA, Feb. 25. - There was a flutter around the obscure little buildings known as the supreme court of Canada this morning when the hour had arrived for delivering judgment in the appeal in the Bothwell election case. Mr. Hawkins was absent, and it looked as if he expected his fate.

Chief Justice Ritchie agreed with the decisions of Judge Galt upon all points at issue. As to the ballots that had been numbered by the deputy returning officer at No. 1, Somers, and numbers afterwards obliterated, to which appellant's counsel had attached so much importance, it was evident that the returning officer had acted in good faith. Nobody was allowed to see the ballots, and nobody knew for which candidate any of the ballots had been numbered. The numbers had been obliterated with the concurrence of the agents of both parties, and even if the faces of the ballots had been seen by the returning officer, it would have been impossible to prove that the returning officer had acted in bad faith.

An Attempt to Discuss the Situation in Parliament Last Evening - The Black Troops in Line.

SUAKIM, Feb. 25. - Admiral Hewitt has sent an order for 300 black troops to go and bury the dead of Patha Baker's army lying on the field at Teb. Many hundred bodies are lying unburied, filling the air with a noxious taint. An outbreak of cholera is feared in the camp. The blacks who refused to proceed to Trinkitat yesterday left for that place to-day on being assured they were not wanted to fight.

His provision for the month of the month. A cavalry reconnaissance was made to-day toward Teb. Arabs were found in force between Teb and their earthworks were thrown up by Baker Pasha. Every sign indicates that Osman Digma means to contest the advance of the British troops. The report that El Mahdi was marching toward Khartoum is confirmed. His inaction after the victory at El Obeid is explained by the fact that the chiefs of the principal tribes wished to go home with their spoils in order to attend to harvest.

The Marquis of Hartington deprecated any discussion of the subject, which, he said, was untimely. He believed Osman Digma had accurate and complete knowledge of the situation at Suakim from London. As Osman Digma, he said, had declared his intention to sweep the English into the sea, it might be advisable to advance instead of awaiting an attack. Existing orders were to relieve Tokar and protect Suakim, but the orders might be enlarged, if it would implicate the marquis thought to say anything further.

bill, but there are a number of others of scarcely less importance which we have not space here to enumerate.

Between Two Stones.

When the Crooks act was made law, the licensed victuallers did not like it. They sent a deputation to Sir John Macdonald, and that astute gentleman, ever on the look-out for support, caught them nicely. He told them that Ontario had no right to make a license law that the dominion had the right, and would exercise it if the victuallers would vote for him.

Now what do the Ontario government do? They introduced a bill yesterday, the effect of which is to make the provincial law as stringent as the dominion law, using the very clauses of the latter. The effect of all which is that the victuallers are between two mill-stones, each one a government, and each one being its utmost to grind them into powder.

Let Sleeping Dogs Lie.

Let sleeping dogs lie is an old proverb; the victuallers, had they been wise, would never have questioned the validity of the Crooks act.

Get Expense, Not Estate Rates.

The fire insurance companies here and in the United States are complaining that their business is carried on at a loss, or an altogether discouraging rate of profit. They say risk is increasing while fire protection is diminishing.

But how is it to be realized?

The city council must first pass a bylaw embodying the declaration of yesterday's vote that the two businesses must be separated. That bylaw, furthermore, must be passed before March 1. To-day is the 26th of the month. They have less than four days to do it.

But who will be bound to carry out this bylaw?

The license commissioners appointed by the provincial government. But what will the license commissioners appointed by the dominion government do in the matter? They do not seem to have as yet considered the question.

How is this clause to be interpreted by the license commissioners of the dominion?

Does to separate the grocery from the liquor business mean to reduce the number of licenses? If it does not, then the dominion commissioners will license whatever grocers they see fit, and the conflict of authority will be brought to a head.

The Amendments to the Crooks Act.

The Ontario government's bill amending the Crooks act is a very peculiar one. Some of the most stringent provisions of the Crooks act have been appropriated bodily, and the framers of the bill has frankly intimated the source from which he obtained by indicating it in the bill itself.

A Bunting Boom.

The rumor is revived that Mr. Bunting of the Mail is to fill the vacancy in the senate caused by the resignation of Mr. Dickson of Niagara, and it appears that the idea finds little favor in the conservative ranks. It is asked what Mr. Bunting has done that he should be singled out for an honor to which neither his social nor commercial standing at all entitles him.

Competition, Not Gobble.

The fact is, it will be better for everybody that the Canadian Pacific should run through the business part of Ontario as it does at present, beginning at Owen Sound, and afford competition to the Grand Trunk, than that any exchange should be made whereby the former road should be run to the north, and the latter pushed to the northern part of it.

A Case for the Charitable.

The attention of the charitable is called to a case of distress. Two maiden ladies formerly in good circumstances, but in later years supported by the earnings of the younger one at dressmaking, are in distress. A few weeks ago the younger broke her wrist and since then they have been mainly dependent upon what charitable people have given them through the exertions of a lady who is no longer able to continue them.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

Montreal, Monday, Feb. 25. American cottons have been advanced from 2 1/2 to 3 per cent. The Montreal Gazette says: "The serious nature of the competition which Montreal (dry goods) travelers have had to contend against will be understood when it is known that certain Toronto houses have been selling goods at six months from May 1, some of said goods having been shipped during the latter part of December and the beginning of January, or equal to eleven months credit."

ONTARIO INDUSTRIAL LOAN AND INVESTMENT COMPANY (LTD.)

The annual general meeting of the shareholders of this company was held at its offices on Thursday last, 21st inst., at 1 p.m. A large number of shareholders were present, the President, Mr. D. Blain, in the chair.

THE DAVIES BREWING AND MALTING CO.

The business of the Davies Brewing and Malt Co. was commenced in 1849 by the father of the president of the new company, who succeeded to the business after the death of Mr. Davies, sr., in 1860.

Local Markets.

The Farmers' Market receipts of grain to-day were moderate, with few changes in quotations. About 700 bushels of wheat offered and sold at $1.02 to $1.10 for fall, $1.10 to $1.13 for spring, $1.16 for a load for steady, with sales of 60 bushels at 60c.

The authorities in Paris, France, are suppressing all the betting agencies in that city in consequence of complaints of swindling lodged against the concerns.

Professor Blat, the man-fish, is in New York. He remained under water in St. Louis 4 min. 11 1/2 sec., the longest time on record. He is the champion man-fish of the world.

During the coming season no gambling of any kind will be allowed on the grounds of the Narragansett driving association. If no pools are sold a small attendance must be expected.

University Confederation.
To the Editor of The World:
Six: An editorial in a recent issue of your paper dealing with the university question speaks of the federation scheme, and in that connection mentions that I had informed the meeting of graduates held in Toronto on Feb. 15 that negotiations between Victoria and Toronto universities, having in view some solution to the question, were now pending.

My remarks made at the meeting in question were not intended to convey such an idea, as I am not aware of any official communication of any kind having passed between these institutions. My opinion on the proposition was asked. Thereupon I called the attention of the meeting to the university federation scheme outlined by "Bystander" in the Week, to the somewhat favorable views thereon expressed by individual members of various universities, and added that no doubt the provincial university would feel it its duty to approach the consideration of such a scheme in the most liberal spirit and with an earnest desire to assist in arriving at conclusions just and fair toward all interests and at the same time such as would improve our educational system.

That such should and no doubt would be the attitude of the provincial university I have on many informal occasions mentioned to friends of our sister universities and I so informed the meeting and expressed the hope that Dr. Goldwin Smith's views as shadowed in the article in question would receive that consideration which, coming from such a source, they should receive. In the absence of full details of the scheme I could not venture to express any opinion thereon so that any informal communication on the subject could hardly be dignified by the term of negotiation. In view of the possibility however of the federation scheme assuming practical form I pointed out that legislation would be required in order to give representation to other institutions on the common governing body and in other ways to meet the requirements of any basis arrived at. Hence I suggested the advisability of a postponement of the contemplated application to the Legislature in the direction desired by the meeting, and which suggestion was approved.

In thus seeking to correct any erroneous impression that might otherwise be drawn from my editorial I would not desire to be understood as in the slightest degree, discouraging any movement designed to further the best interests of higher education in our province. On the contrary, I hope and believe that, with the assistance of one so eminently qualified as Dr. Goldwin Smith is, to deal with this question, will be found no insurmountable difficulties in the way of a settlement which will recognize the conflicting views of all parties on this most important question.

WILLIAM MULOCK,
House of Commons, Ottawa, Feb. 23, 1884.

Electricity Versus Gas.
To the Editor of The World:
Six: Within the past two or three months we have had thrust upon us (by parties in interest) a rebash of all the dangers of the new illumination, "Electricity." A most pathetic tale was told us of the loss of life and property, a beautifully worded and thrilling account of how several horses became entangled in the meshes of these dangerous electric light wires in New York city, and how they were instantaneously killed, was published to warn the public and admonish against giving concessions to companies who purposed inflicting upon us "the greatest danger of the age." All this we were told. Our chief of the fire department was, for the sake of humanity (of course), advised "to warn his men of the great danger of electric light wires."

After an investigation into this matter the board of aldermen of New York city ascertained (1st), that the loss by electric wires of property in three years was less than one hundred dollars; that not one fireman had been killed or injured, only one employee of the electric light company had been killed (and his death occurred through violation of orders) gross carelessness that the horses had neither been killed nor injured. So much for those truthful statements published at a time (and no doubt paid for by those who desired) to prejudice the public against a new light, which would naturally make inroads upon the receipts and returns of a corporation that has grown rich upon their monopoly.

As to the real dangers of gas, we need not go away from home for information, for we can readily recall the number of cases of suffocation that have occurred right in our city, and if we require a better exemplification "of the death-dealing article" that we have in our places of business and our homes when we retire at night, in supposed perfect safety, a visit to the works of the Bank of Commerce would convince even a gas company director. Under no circumstances could such an accident occur from electric light, and what guarantee have we that a repetition of this morning's explosion may not occur to-morrow morning with more dire results.

WHAT IS CATARRH?

Catarrh is a mucous discharge caused by the presence and development of the vegetable parasite amoeba in the internal lining membrane of the nose. This parasite is only developed under favorable circumstances, and these are: Morbid state of the blood, as the blighted corpuscle of tubercle, the germ poison of syphilis, mercury, toxemia, from the retention of the effete matter of the skin, suppressed perspiration, badly ventilated sleeping apartments, and other poisons that are germinated in the blood. These poisons keep the internal lining membrane of the nose in a constant state of irritation, ever ready for the deposit of the seeds of these germs, which spread up the nostrils and down the fauces, or back of the throat, causing ulceration of the throat; up the Eustachian tubes, causing deafness; burrowing in the vocal cords, causing hoarseness; usurping the proper structure of the bronchial tubes, ending in pulmonary consumption and death.

Many attempts have been made to discover a cure for this distressing disease by the use of inhalants and other ingenious devices, but none of these treatments can do a particle of good until the parasites are either destroyed or removed from the mucous tissue.

Some time since a well-known physician of forty years' standing, after much experimenting, succeeded in discovering the necessary combination of ingredients which never fails in absolutely and permanently eradicating this horrible disease, whether standing for one year or forty years. Those who may be suffering from the above disease should, without delay, communicate with the business managers, Messrs. A. H. DIXON & SON,

OAKLAND, ONTARIO, CANADA, March 17, 1883.
Dear Sir:—Yours of the 13th inst. to hand. It seems almost too good to be true that I am cured of Catarrh, but I know that I am. I have had no return of the disease and never felt better in my life. I have tried so many things for catarrh, suffered so much and for so many years, that it is hard for me to realize that I am really better.

I consider that mine was a very bad case. It was aggravated and chronic, involving the throat as well as the nasal passages, and I thought I would require three treatments, but feel fully cured by the two sent me, and I am thankful that I was ever induced to send to you.

You are at liberty to use this letter, stating that I have been cured at two treatments, and I shall gladly recommend your remedy to some of my friends who are sufferers.

Yours, with many thanks,
REV. E. B. STEVENSON.
