National Library of Canada

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol → (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ▽ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

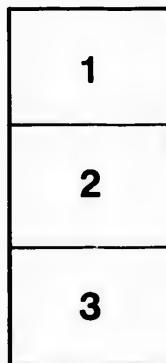

Bibliothèque nationale du Canada

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole → signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ▽ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. COLLECTANEA
GRÆCA ET LATINA:

SELECTIONS FROM THE

GREEK AND LATIN FATHERS;

WITH NOTES,

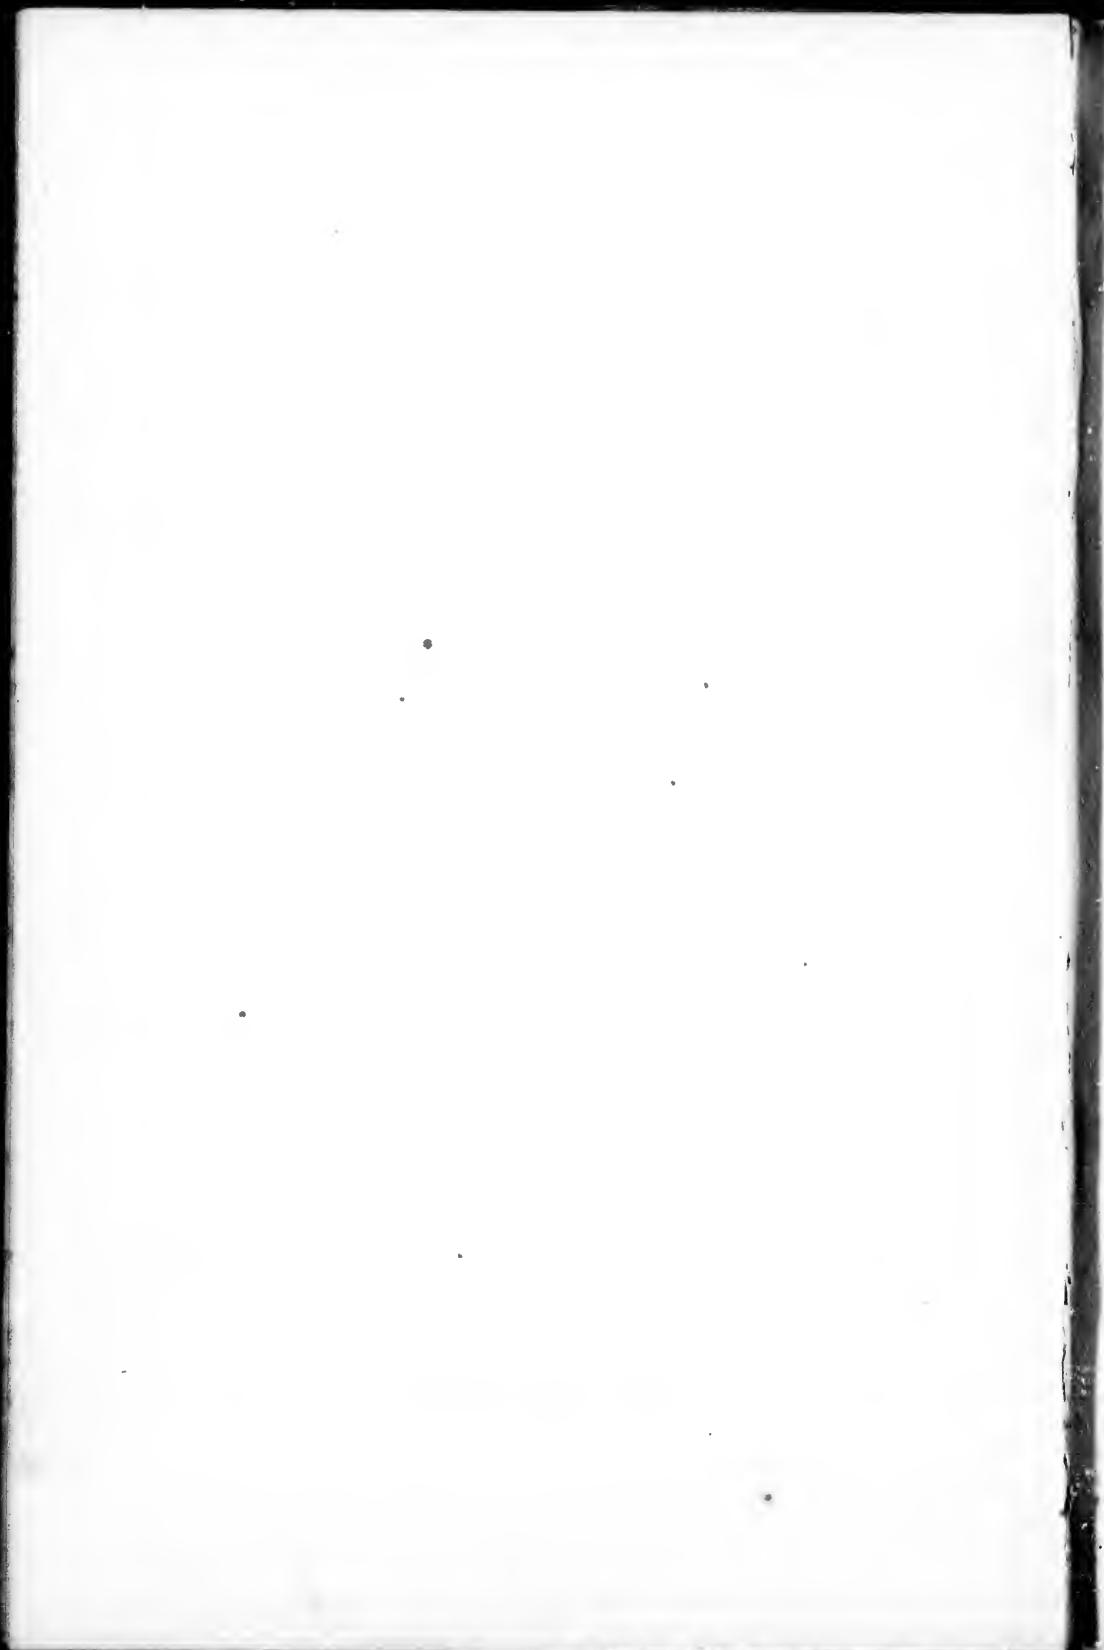

BIOGRAPHICAL AND ILLUSTRATIVE.

BY M. WILLIS, D.D., LL.D.

TORONTO :

HENRY ROWSELL, KING STREET EAST, PRINTER TO THE UNIVERSITY.

1865.

P R E F A C E.

Great diversity of opinion has prevailed as to the value of Patristic Theology. Extremes, as happens in many questions, have been run into alike by the admirers and depreciators of early ecclesiastical literature. At any rate, some acquaintance with those ancient writings becomes every student of theology, were it but to enable him to test the references so often made to the authority of the fathers, both in historic questions and questions of doctrine and interpretation. The fact that, in exposing error and in vindicating and illustrating truth, theologians of all ages—we may say also historians and philosophers—have sought to enrich their pages with citations from those ancient works, establishes a presumption that a certain degree of attention given to the study of them will repay the labour.

In a text book designed for occasional use in a Divinity class, it is not attempted to include specimens of all the fathers. The former collection prepared by the editor included only selections from the Latin writers and apologists—Tertullian, Minucius Felix, Cyprian, and Augustine. Having, after mature consideration, resolved to extend his plan, by inserting specimens of the Greek fathers in one common text-book with the Latin, the work of selection, with needful compression, has been no doubt one of difficulty. But if he has succeeded in placing within easy reach of the student the means of gaining some acquaintance with the sentiments and styles of those leading writers, whose names are more familiar to him than their works are accessible, he will feel that he has accomplished something not unprofitable to the expounder of the Holy Scriptures, who may be reasonably curious to know how men of other ages appreciated the word of God, and how (rightly or wrongly) they interpreted it.

In the former (Latin) collection, having regard to this end of the useful, rather than to what was strictly homogeneous, he had subjoined extracts from the institutes of Calvin, to the selections from the fathers. If these are dropped from this edition, it is because Calvin's work can so easily be obtained apart, or is so generally in students' hands. The necessary regard to condensation has also suggested a more abridged specimen of Tertullian. In withdrawing a portion of his hard, and to many readers somewhat impracticable Latin, it has still been the aim to preserve some of the most valuable, and withal eloquent portions—for they are eloquent—of the Apology. Cyprian and Augustine are abridged in a like proportion; Minucius Felix in a less—the argument is so connected, and the style so beautiful. This condensing process is more than compensated, it will be allowed, by the introducing of new names so well worthy of being associated with these, as those of Lactantius and Jerome, of the Latins; and of the Greeks, Clement, Justin Martyr, Athanasius, and others. Irenæus appears here also: he may be classed either with the Greeks or the Latins. Some would be astonished were the editor to say that he hesitated whether to give a place to Ignatius. Others will think even the stinted measure in which his epistles are recognised more than enough. "In medio tutissimus." The labours of Usher, Vossius, Cotelarius, and others, have convinced nearly all men that the greater part of the epistles attributed to the good martyr of Antioch, are spurious; and that most of those generally received have suffered interpolation. Still the question as to some of them is not decided. Not only Daillé and Pearson took opposite views; more recently, if Baur is strenuous in rejecting them, Rothe and Hefele earnestly contend for their authenticity. If Neander rejects, Gieseler is contented, having eliminated the spurious, to hold the rest. Cureton, after careful scrutiny, retains the brief edition as found in the Syriac. What is presented in the Collectanea is chiefly from the least doubted of these epistles, and the freest from high assertions of spiritual power: a small specimen of the more doubtful is given; that the reader may see both the excellencies and the faults of this celebrated father. It is hard to believe that those writings are a myth, which the most eminent men of many ages quoted and appealed to, for the stimulating of faith and piety—a Eusebius and Theodoret, an Athanasius and Chrysostom, a Jerome and Augustine.

As to the fathers at large, our rule of selection has been the importance of the subjects, with a reasonable regard to variety. The passages introduced have some of them a bearing on the question of the Canon; some contain reasonings on natural and revealed religion both. Others have reference to great and leading articles of Christianity; as the Divinity of the Son, and Spirit. Augustine, besides his valuable views on grace and free will, is drawn upon for wholesome suggestions to the student, as to the right spirit, which should characterise both the searcher,—the “indagator,”—and the expounder of divine truth. Other passages enumerate the general duties of life. Some give light on early practice, as respects the worship and government of the Church.

The present Collectanea differs from the former in the insertion now of some illustrative notes, and the enlargement considerably of the Biographical Sketches of the Fathers. To have multiplied the former much beyond what appears, would have been to cause the volume to swell inconveniently. Such as they are, they will facilitate the reader's work: and the latter, (in which multum in parvo has been the aim) will not be useless as suggestions or remembrancers to the student of Church History.

One thing has impressed the editor as he has been conversing with those minds of the ancient times. If in some respects our Theology and Biblical Literature have gained, in systematic precision, by the larger means and materials for critical study available in more recent times, it is impossible to despise the immense learning evinced by these great men; and scarcely possible to overlook the evidence of the Divine agency in raising them up to the great work for which they proved themselves so competent, of defending Christianity in the ages of its imminent peril. And the vanity of the men who would summarily dismiss those early leaders of the Church, and Christian heroes and martyrs, because of some errors in interpretation or doctrine, might be instructed by studying the example of their earnest and devoted application to the work of their day in building up the citadel of the faith. As to many of them, we have seen in the spirit of ardent Christian love burning in their breasts, much to rebuke the coldness, the selfishness, the littleness, of an age so defective, after all, in proportion to its advantages and privileges, in the primitive holiness, spirituality, love, and zeal. Those who sweepingly disparage these great names, should reflect on two things: how much our matured Theology owes to these early labourers; and how stumbling it must be to him who believes that Christ has ever had a Church, and that the Spirit was promised always to be with it,—to conclude that the most distinguished members of that Church, and those who mainly formed the minds of their generation, had but little or nothing of this Spirit, either in his gifts or his graces! Though in a very different temper from the scoffer, might not many be induced to ask, Where is the promise of His coming? or, if Christ has been true, as no doubt he has been, in giving his presence to his witnesses and saints, shall we ignore or despise those who were thus honoured?

The author of the celebrated Epistle (or Epistles?) that goes under the name of Clement, is, according to the general belief of the ancient Church, the same who is honourably made mention of by Paul, (Phil. iv. 3,) as having "his name in the book of life." Besides the testimony of Eusebius, this is affirmed by Origen, Jerome, and Epiphanius. Though several publications were early issued under the venerable name of this father, such as "The Apostolic Canons," and "The Recognitions of Clement," which were soon proved to be spurious, the christian world has received with cordial consent his first Epistle to the Corinthians; his second has not been so generally accepted. The occasion of the writing, as appears on the perusal of it, was the existence of a spirit of dissension among the members of the Church at Corinth, evincing itself by insubordination, and harsh treatment of their spiritual rulers. According to Irenæus, the letter was sent by Clement in the name of the whole Church at Rome to their brethren at Corinth. By those who reckon Peter to have been the first Bishop of Rome, Clement is represented to have been either the immediate successor in that see, or his successor by two removes, Linus and Cletus (or Anacletus) intervening. A corresponding difference of opinion has existed as to the date of the writing; some referring it to the end of the first century or the close of Domitian's reign: others preferring a much earlier date. Wake, Dodwell, Vossius, and Hefele, suppose it to have been written prior to the year 70. A chief argument on the side of the earlier date, is founded on some allusions in the body of the Epistle, to the temple service as still remaining: though it is perhaps possible to explain these expressions as figurative or analogical. Another interesting argument is taken from the name "Fortunatus," occurring among the messengers by whom Clement communicated with the Church at Corinth; the same name being mentioned by Paul in an inspired Epistle to that very Church. Being mentioned by him as among the mature disciples at Corinth during the Apostle's life, and still being in Clement's time an active messenger of the Church, it is natural to conclude, that no very long number of years had elapsed between those occasions of service.

The Epistle is called by Eusebius "great and wonderful." It certainly has the beauty of simplicity, and its spirit is apostolic. Were it only as demonstrating with what implicit faith the books of the prophets and apostles were received in that age, it is a valuable document. Eusebius relates that down to his day the reading of it was in use in many of the Churches. It is another token of the reverence paid to it, that the earliest copy of the work brought to Europe (for it had been long thought lost) was found included in the same volume with the famous Alexandrian manuscript of the New Testament, believed to have been written not long after the Council of Nice.

Ταῦτα, ἀγαπητοί, οὐ μόνον ὑμᾶς νουθετοῦντες ἐπιστέλλομεν, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἑαυτοὺς ὑπομιμήσκοντες ἐν γάρ τῷ αὐτῷ ἐσμεν σκάμματι, καὶ ὁ αὐτὸς ἡμῖν ἀγὼν ἐπίκειται. Διὸ ἀπολείπωμεν τὰς κενὰς καὶ ματαίας φροντίδας, καὶ ἐλθωμεν ἐπὶ τὸν εὐκλεῆ καὶ σεμνὸν τῆς ἄγιας κλήσεως ἡμῶν κανόνα. Βλέπωμεν, τί καλὸν, καὶ τί τερπνὸν καὶ προσδεκτὸν ἐνώπιον τοῦ ποιήσαντος ἡμᾶς. Ἀτενίσωμεν εἰς τὸ αἷμα τοῦ Χριστοῦ, καὶ ἴδωμεν, ως ἔστιν τίμιον τῷ Θεῷ αἷμα αὐτοῦ, ὅ τι διὰ τὴν ἡμετέραν σωτηρίαν ἐκχυθὲν παντὶ τῷ κόσμῳ μετανοίας χάριν ὑπῆμεγκεν. Ἀνέλθωμεν εἰς τὰς γενεὰς πάσας, καὶ καταμάθωμεν, ὅτι ἐν γενεᾷ καὶ γενεᾷ μετανοίας τόπον ἔδωκεν ὁ δεσπότης τοῖς βουλομένοις ἐπιστραφῆναι ἐπ' αὐτόν. Νῷε ἐκήρυξεν μετανοιαν, καὶ οἱ ὑπακούσαντες ἐσώθησαν. Ἰωνᾶς Νινευίτας καταστροφὴν ἐκήρυξεν· οἱ δὲ μετανοήσαντες ἐπὶ τοῖς ἀμαρτήμασιν αὐτῶν ἔξιλάσαντο τὸν Θεὸν ἵκετεύσαντες, καὶ ἔλαθον σωτηρίαν, καίπερ ἀλλότριοι τοῦ Θεοῦ ὅντες.

Ταπεινοφρονήσωμεν οὖν, ἀδελφοί, ἀποθέμενοι πᾶσαν ἀλαζονείαν καὶ τύφος¹ καὶ ἀφροσύνην καὶ ὄργας· καὶ ποιήσωμεν τὸ γεγραμμένον· λέγει γάρ τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ ἄγιον· “μὴ καυχάσθω ὁ σοφὸς ἐν τῇ σοφίᾳ αὐτοῦ, μηδὲ ὁ ἰσχυρὸς ἐν τῇ ἰσχύῃ αὐτοῦ, μηδὲ ὁ πλούσιος ἐν τῷ πλούτῳ αὐτοῦ· ἀλλ’ ἡ ὁ καυχώμενος ἐν κυρίῳ καυχάσθω, τοῦ ἐκκητείν αὐτὸν, καὶ ποιεῖν κρίμα καὶ δικαιοσύνην” μάλιστα μεμνημένοι τῶν λόγων τοῦ κυρίου Ἰησοῦ, οὓς ἐλάλησεν διδάσκων ἐπιείκειαν καὶ μακροθυμίαν. Οὕτως γάρ εἶπεν· “ἔλεεύτε, ἵνα ἐλεγθῆτε ἀφίετε, ἵνα ἀφεθῆ ὑμῖν· ώς ποιεῖτε, οὕτω ποιηθήσεται ὑμῖν ώς· δίδοτε, οὕτως δοθήσεται ὑμῖν· ώς κρίνετε, οὕτως κριθήσεται ὑμῖν· ώς χρηστεύεσθε, οὕτως χρηστευθήσεται ὑμῖν· ως μέτρῳ μετρεῖτε, ἐν αὐτῷ μετρηθήσεται ὑμῖν.” Ταῦτη τῇ ἐντολῇ καὶ τοῖς παραγγέλμασι τούτοις στερέζωμεν ἑαυτοὺς πρὸς τὸ πορεύεσθαι

Δίκαιον οὖν καὶ ὅσιον, ἀνδρες ἀδελφοί, ὑπηκόους ἡμᾶς μᾶλλον γενέσθαι τῷ Θεῷ, ἢ τοῖς ἐν ἀλαζονείᾳ καὶ ἀκαταστασίᾳ μυσταροῦ ὕγιους ἀρχηγοῦς ἔξακολουθεῖν. Βλάβην γὰρ οὐ τὴν τυχοῦσαν, μᾶλλον δὲ κίνδυνον ὑποίσομεν μέγαν, ἐὰν ψυχοινδύνως ἐπιδῶμεν ἑαυτοὺς τοῖς θελήμασιν τῶν ἀνθρώπων, οἵτινες ἔξακοντίζουσιν εἴς ἔριν καὶ στάσεις, εἰς τὸ ἀπαλλοτριῶσαι ἡμᾶς τοῦ καλῶς ἔχοντος. Χρηστεύσαμεθα αὐτοῦς κατὰ τὴν εὐσπλαγχνίαν καὶ γλυκύτητα τοῦ ποιήσαντος ἡμᾶς. Γέγραπται γάρ· “ χρηστοὶ ἔσονται οἰκήτορες γῆς, ἄκακοι δὲ ὑπολειφθῆσονται ἐπ’ αὐτῆς· οἱ δὲ παρανομοῦντες ἔξολεθρευθήσονται ἀπ’ αὐτῆς.” Καὶ πάλιν λέγει· “ εἶδον ἀσεβῆ ὑπερυψούμενον καὶ ἐπαιρόμενον ὡς τὰς κέδρους τοῦ Λιβάνου. καὶ παρῆλθον, καὶ ἴδον, οὐκ Ἰη, καὶ ἐξεζήτησα τὸν τόπον αὐτοῦ, καὶ οὐχ εὗρον. ¹ σεμνὸν, gravity.—WAKE translates the clause well: "And lessened the reputation of that brotherly love that was so eminent (so much spoken of) among you."

² The church at Corinth was not ancient absolutely, but comparatively; being older, or founded earlier, than that at Rome. So we find Mnason (Acts xxi, 16,) called ἀρχαῖφ μαθητῇ while the Apostles were yet living. Thus the defenders of the earlier date of the Epistle meet the argument for a later date, so far as founded on this word: WOTT., FREY, DODW., JACOBSON.

³ πρόσωπα—persons.—The word is so used occasionally by the early ecclesiastical writers—once in N. Test., 2 Cor. ii. 10. See WETSTEIN on that passage, or SUICER or SCHLEUSNER on πρόσωπον.

II. IGNATIUS.

This father and martyr—of fragrant memory in the annals of the Church—belongs to the time of Trajan. His surname, “Theophorus,” may have originated the tradition that Ignatius was that child which our Saviour took into his arms, and presented to the disciples as a picture of the lowliness of spirit He was inculcating. The tradition has no authentic source; and the good martyr himself explained the surname otherwise—as meaning not “Deo gestatus,” but “Deum gestans”—(θεοφόρος not θεόφορος)—for when interrogated by the Emperor, who Theophorus was, he replied, “He who has Christ in his heart,” (Acts of Ignatius). According to Irenaeus, he had been a companion and disciple of the Apostle John. He is believed to have been thrown to the wild beasts and the flames in the amphitheatre at Rome in the year 107; having been sent thither from Antioch, under a guard of soldiers, though not unaccompanied by attached friends. The Emperor Trajan had visited Antioch in regal pomp; and being determined to take rigorous account of the new religion, he had Ignatius brought before him. With great composure he made his confession of faith, and, anxious only for the safety of his flock, seemed indifferent to personal suffering. The holy man proving pertinacious after torture, Trajan adjudged him to a cruel death. It was while resting at intervals, in course of his journey to Rome, that he wrote the letters generally attributed to him. The Epistle from which we have taken the largest extract abounds with expressions of intense love to Christ, and of enthusiastic desire for martyrdom. As mentioned in our general preface, this Epistle is free from those extravagant laudations of the Hierarchy which have brought suspicion on the letters as a whole. The one to the Romans bears good evidences of authenticity, and has survived Cureton’s as well as Usher’s eliminating and curtailing processes.

² χριστώνυμος (vett. int. and Syriac) which Vossius calls “verissima iectio,” as if “Christi habens legem.” The present reading is favoured by JACOBSON, and by context—πατρώνυμος.

¹ This Epistle to the Church of Tralles is not extant in the Syriac version, edited by ÇYRETON.

² It is worthy of notice, that in Ignatius' Epistles, the Bishop is always represented as Christ's representative; the Presbyters as the representatives of the Apostles; whereas, according to the view which soon after prevailed in the Church, the Bishops are the successors and representatives of the Apostles. The Ignatian apprehension of this relation appears to have had its origin in Jerusalem, where James, the brother of Jesus, might be reckoned the representative of the latter; and, in like manner, the other relatives of Jesus who were subsequently chosen presidents by the churches in Palestine.—GIESELER'S Ecc. Hist. I.

³ Some read μυστήριον. The ancient Latin interpretation reads as in our text, "ministros existentes mysteriorum, Jes. Ch.: " Vossius explains this, "ministros mysteriorum Dei, seu sacramentorum." HEFELE supposes the allusion to be to 1 Tim., iii., 9, and 1 Cor., iv., 1.

² It has been satisfactorily ascertained that the extravagant passages of Ignatius on the Episcopate, which have hitherto presented to impartial readers the appearance of an awkward anachronism, were really interpolations.—GAUSSSEN on Canon, p. 256.

Ignatius recommends submission to the Episcopal authority as something new. He represents the first Presbyters of the churches as Bishops, and wishes to induce them to appropriate the idea of the episcopate.—GIESELER.

III. POLYCARP.

This distinguished martyr suffered under one of the Antonines—in the year 147 according to some, or 166 according to others. The persecution in the time of M. Aurelius raged with great violence in Asia minor. Polycarp had long and with much dignity presided as pastor of the Church at Smyrna; having been ordained to that charge, (so Irenæus tells us) by one of the Apostles. He had been a disciple of John. It was the opinion of Usher that Polycarp was “the angel of the Church at Smyrna,” addressed in the Apocalypse. He was venerated over all Asia as the father of the Christians. The affecting story of his martyrdom is told minutely in a letter written by the Church at Smyrna, addressed to the Church at Philadelphia, and preserved by Eusebius. That document appears to have been a circular sent by request to the sister Churches for their information, and was so prized by them as to have been read for instruction in many of their public assemblies. Scaliger and Lord Hailes have lauded it as among the most precious monuments of ecclesiastical antiquity. The Epistle of Polycarp himself to the Church at Philippi, though spoken of by Mosheim as not unanimously held authentic, has been very generally and cordially accepted as such. Irenæus styles it “epistola perfectissima,” and Jerome relates that it was read in the Churches of Asia down to his time. Pearson, Usher, Cave, and many more have held its authority to be beyond question. One of the latest testimonies to it is given by Gaußen (on the Canon) in these strong terms: “This admirable monument is at once of an antiquity so near the Apostles, of an authenticity so perfectly attested, and so abundantly rich in its quotations of Scripture, that itself alone would furnish satisfactory evidence of the universal use of the canon in the first years of the second century. The whole epistle, from one end to the other, reveals a piety which is immersed in the Sacred Word, and thinks in apostolic language.”

¹ Probably a loose quotation of, or reference to, 1 Pet., iv., 8. Dr. DAVIDSON (Treatise on Biblical Criticism) remarks, not without reason, that the early fathers, generally, seldom use literal citations. “Though phrases and expressions occur in them which coincide with the language of the New Testament, they are merely reminiscences of the latter.” From this cause, of course, they can less assist in nice questions as to the state of the text in their day: though still they do assist—sometimes citing long passages, in general agreement with our present reading. Their veneration for the spirit above the words, may have had to do with their apparent habit of contenting themselves with quoting from memory.

IV. THE EPISTLE TO DIOGENETUS.

This very ancient and beautiful document is anonymous. Nor is it known who Diognetus was—the party addressed—further than that he seems to have been a Pagan of distinction. Some have ascribed the work to Clement; others to Justin Martyr. Otto of Jena, in his late edition of the Epistle, has not hesitated to give it under Justin's name. Neander, Hefele, and Gaussen, think it older. From allusions in it to great contemporary persecutions, and the rapid increase of the Church, they assign it with probability to the end of Trajan's reign, or the beginning of Hadrian's. The piece is an admirable one, and it may be ranked with "the apologies." In a similar strain with Justin and Tertullian and Minucius Felix, the writer assails the idolatries of the Gentiles, and the superstition of the Jew; vindicates the morality of the Christians; and commends the Gospel to Diognetus, at once for its tendency to promote holiness and happiness. The work is interesting, like those other early documents, for the references made to our received Scriptures, and its decided recognition of some of the leading and most precious articles of our faith.

V. JUSTIN MARTYR.

Justin, surnamed the Philosopher and Martyr, flourished in the middle of the second century. His history is very interesting. A Grecian by birth, of the city of Neapolis, in Palestine, anciently called Sichem, he had applied himself to the study of philosophy, and run the round of the schools; first, a disciple of the Stoics, then of the Peripatetics, next a Pythagorean, and finally captivated with Platonism; but withal unsatisfied, his spirit still restlessly anxious on the first and greatest questions of a first cause, and of human destiny. Providentially, when in this state of mind, he was met by an aged stranger, who entered into conversation with him, and directed his attention to the inspired writings. The result was his embracing Christianity, and employing his well-disciplined powers in its defence; still wearing, as he did, the philosopher's garb. His best known and authenticated works are his two Apologies, and his conversation with one Trypho (or Tryphon), a Jew. He also wrote a work against Marcion. His views, somewhat Platonic, on the "Logos," are of interest to the Theological inquirer. All his writings shew much learning, though as an apologist, as might be expected, he is more powerful in his vindication of the Christian cause with the Greeks than with the Jews, to whose language and rites he was more a stranger. His first apology, containing an elaborate refutation of the charges brought against Christianity, was addressed to the Emperor Antoninus Pius, and the Roman Senate and people. It was not without success in obtaining a relaxation of the severities practised against the Christians. His second, addressed after an interval of many years to Marcus Aurelius, shews that all the philosophy and lauded virtues of the second of the Antonines, could not induce a full toleration of the religion of Jesus. Under his reign Justin fell a victim to the persecuting rage of the governors and the multitude, goaded on, it is said, by the Cynic philosopher Crescens. The martyr was beheaded in 167, or a year or two earlier. His courageous confession before the Roman prefect is more fully given than in Eusebius, in the "Acta sincera Martyrum," a work published by Ruinart, and commended by Jortin and Mosheim. The piece relating to Justin and his companions, who suffered with him, was finely translated by Lord Hailes.—(See Remains of Christian Antiquity : Edinburgh, 1778.)

From the views brought out especially in the Apologies, Neander regards Justin as the precursor of the Alexandrian Theology developed by Clement (A.I.) and Origen. Our first extract is from the dialogue with Trypho ; it begins where Justin is reciting to Trypho the conversation which he had held with the stranger—the παλαιός τις πρεσβύτης—whom he met in the course of his perambulations. There they discourse of the Platonic philosophy, and of what reason teaches of a first cause, the capacities of the soul, a future state of retribution, &c. Who this stranger was, is not known. Justin describes him as courteous and venerable ; ἰδέσθαι οὐκ εὐκαταφρόνητος, πρᾶπον καὶ σεμνὸν ἡθος εμφαίνων. He succeeded in modifying Justin's admiration of Plato and Pythagoras ; his interesting disciple having found now, as he tells us, "the true philosophy."

The Dialogue, though distinguished from the "Apologies" of Justin, is yet in effect an Apology also, and finely illustrates the position that Christianity came to man's relief, just after philosophy had done its most, and was proved inadequate. "The world by wisdom knew not God."

The doubts of the authenticity of this work, raised by Koch, Semler, and others, have been fully examined and refuted by Münscher, Rosenmüller, and Semisch. (See Gieseler I., p. 48, note.]

Τούτου χάριν καὶ ἀποθυνήσκουσιν αἱ ψυχαὶ καὶ κολάζονται· ἐπεὶ εἰ ἀγέννητοι ἦσαν, οὐτ' ἀν ἔξημάρτανον οὔτε ἀφροσύνης ἀνάπλεω ἦσαν οὐδὲ δειλαὶ καὶ θρασεῖαι πάλιν, ἀλλ' οὐδὲ ἕκοῦσαι ποτὲ εἰς σύνας ἔχώρουν καὶ ὄφεις καὶ κύνας, οὐδὲ μὴν ἀναγκάζεσθαι αὐτὰς θέμις, εἴπερ εἰσὶν ἀγέννητοι. Τὸ γὰρ ἀγέννητον τῷ ἀγεννήτῳ ὅμοιόν ἐστι καὶ ἵσον καὶ ταῦτον, καὶ οὔτε δυνάμει οὔτε τιμῇ προκριθείῃ ἀν θατέρουν τὸ ἔτερον, ὅθεν οὐδὲ πολλά ἐστι τὰ ἀγέννητα· εἰ γὰρ διαφορά τις ἦν ἐν αὐτοῖς, οὐκ ἀν εὗροις ἀναζητῶν τὸ αἴτιον τῆς διαφορᾶς, ἀλλ' ἐπ' ἄπειρον ἀεὶ τὴν διάνοιαν πέμπων ἐπὶ ἐνός ποτε στήση ἀγεννήτου καμών καὶ τοῦτο φήσεις ἀπάντων αἴτιον. Εἴτε ἔλαθε, φημὶ ἐγώ, Πλάτωνα καὶ Πυθαγόραν σοφοὺς ἄνδρας, οὐλόσπερ τεῖχος ἥμιν καὶ ἔρεισμα φιλοσοφίας ἔξεγένοντο;

6. Οὐδὲν ἐμοὶ, ἔφη, μέλει Πλάτωνος οὐδὲ Πυθαγόρου οὐδὲ ἀπλῶς οὐδενὸς ὅλως τοιαῦτα δοξάζοντος. Τὸ γὰρ ἀληθὲς οὕτως ἔχει· μάθοις δὲ ἀν ἐντεῦθεν. 'Η ψυχὴ ἡτοι ζωή ἐστιν ἡ ζωὴν ἔχει. Εἰ μὲν οὖν ζωή ἐστιν, ἄλλο τι δὲ ποιήσειε ζῆν, οὐχ ἔαυτήν, ὡς καὶ κίνησις ἄλλο τι κινήσειε μᾶλλον ἡ ἔαυτήν.

"Οτι δὲ ζῆ ψυχή, οὐδεὶς ἀντείποι. Εἰ δὲ ζῆ, οὐ ζωὴ οὐσα ζῆ, ἀλλὰ μεταλαμβάνουσα τῆς ζωῆς· ἔτερον δέ τι τὸ μετέχον τινὸς ἐκείνου οὐ μετέχει. Ζωῆς δὲ ψυχὴ μετέχει, ἐπεὶ ζῆν αὐτὴν ὁ θεὸς βούλεται. Οὕτως ἄρα καὶ οὐ μεθέξει ποτέ, ὅταν αὐτὴν μὴ θέλοι ζῆν· οὐ γὰρ δὶ αὐτῆς ἐστὶ τὸ ζῆν ὡς τοῦ θεοῦ, ἀλλὰ ὥσπερ ἀνθρωπος οὐ διαπαντός ἐστιν οὐδὲ σύνεστιν ἀεὶ τῇ ψυχῇ τὸ σῶμα, ἀλλ’ ὅτε ἀν δέη λυθῆναι τὴν ἀρμονίαν ταύτην, καταλείπει ή ψυχὴ τὸ σῶμα· εἰ τὸ ἀνθρωπος οὐκ ἐστιν, οὔτως καί, ὅταν δέη τὴν ψυχὴν μηκέτι εἴναι, ἀπέστη ἀπ’ αὐτῆς τὸ ζωτικὸν πνεῦμα, καὶ οὐκ ἐστιν ή ψυχὴ ἔτι, ἀλλὰ καὶ αὐτὴ οὗθεν ἐλήφθη ἐκεῖσε χωρεῖ πάλιν.

7. Τίνι οὖν, φημί, ἔτι τις χρήσαιτο διδασκάλῳ ἢ πάθεν ὠφεληθείη τις, εἰ μηδὲ ἐν τούτοις τὸ ἀληθές ἐστιν;

'Ἐγένοντό τινες πρὸ πολλοῦ χρόνου πάντων τούτων τῶν νομιζομένων φιλοσόφων παλαιότεροι, μακάριοι, καὶ δίκαιοι, καὶ θεοφιλεῖς, θειώ πνεύματι λαλήσαντες καὶ τὰ μέλλοντα θεοπίσαντες, ἀ δὴ νῦν γίνεται· προφήτας δὲ αὐτοὺς καλοῦσιν. Οὗτοι μόνοι τὸ ἀληθές καὶ εἶδον καὶ ἔξεπον ἀνθρώποις, μήτ' εὐλαβηθέντες μήτε δυσωπηθέντες τινά, μὴ ἡττημένοι δόξης, ἀλλὰ μόνα ταῦτα εἰπόντες ἀ ἡκουσαν καὶ ἀ εἶδον ἀγίῳ πληρωθέντες πνεύματι. Συγγράμματα δὲ αὐτῶν ἔτι καὶ νῦν διαμένει, καὶ ἐστιν ἐντυχόντα τούτοις πλεῖστον ὠφεληθῆναι καὶ περὶ ἀρχῶν, καὶ περὶ τέλους, καὶ ὡν χρὴ εἰδέναι τὸν φιλόσοφον, πιστεύσαντα ἐκείνοις. Οὐ γὰρ μετὰ ἀποδείξεως πεποίηνται τότε τοὺς λόγους, ὅτε ἀνωτέρω πάσης ἀποδείξεως ὅντες ἀξιόπιστοι μάρτυρες τῆς ἀληθείας· τὰ δὲ ἀποβάντα καὶ ἀποβαίνοντα ἐξαιναγκάζει συντίθεσθαι τοὺς λελαλημένοις δὶ αὐτῶν. Καίτοι γε καὶ διὰ τὰς δυνάμεις, ὃς ἐπετέλουν, πιστεύεσθαι δίκαιοι ἡσαν, ἐπειδὴ καὶ τὸν ποιητὴν τῶν δλων Θεὸν καὶ πατέρα ἐδόξαζον καὶ τὸν παρ’ αὐτοῦ Χριστὸν οὐδὲν αὐτοῦ κατίγγελλον, ὅπερ οἱ ἀπὸ τοῦ πλάνου καὶ ἀκαθάρτου πνεύματος ἐμπιπλάμενοι ψευδοπροφῆται οὔτε ἐποίησαν οὔτε ποιοῦσιν, ἀλλὰ δυνάμεις τινὰς ἐνεργεῖν εἰς κατάπληξιν τῶν ἀνθρώπων τολμῶσι καὶ τὰ τῆς πλάνης πνεύματα καὶ δαιμόνια δοξολογοῦσιν. Εἴχουν δέ σοι πρὸ πάντων φωτὸς ἀνοιχθῆναι πύλας· οὐ γὰρ συνοπτὰ οὐδὲ συνυνοιτὰ πᾶσιν ἐστιν, εἰ μή τῷ Θεῷ δῷ συνιέναι καὶ ὁ Χριστὸς αὐτοῦ.

¹ Few things are more interesting in the Dialogue, or in the Apologies of Justin, than his frequent acknowledgment of the inspiration of the Prophets, and his references to the ἄγιον προφητικὸν πνέuma. The writer on inspiration, in the work called "Aids to Faith," makes good use of this fact. After remarking that the reverence which the ancient Jews felt for the Jewish Scriptures must have sprung from the highest theory of verbal inspiration, he adds: "The earlier Christian fathers seem to have followed much the same course as their Jewish predecessors. Justin Martyr and his opponent seem fully agreed in their appreciation of the Old Testament. Clemens Romanus calls the Holy Scriptures 'the true words of the Holy Ghost.' No definite theory of inspiration would be likely to be propounded; but the general reverence for the words of Holy writ, and the deep significance believed to exist underneath the letter, prove the belief in inspiration to have been strong and universal."—Aids to Faith, Lond. 1861, p. 289.

γελίζονται, τυφλοὶ βλέπουσι, καὶ οὐ συνίετε. Δευτέρας ἡδη χρέα περιτομῆς, καὶ ὑμεῖς ἐπὶ τῇ σαρκὶ μέγα φρονέτε. σαββατίζειν ὑμᾶς ὁ καινὸς νόμος διαπαντὸς ἐθέλει, καὶ ὑμεῖς μίαν ἀργοῦντες ἡμέραν εύσεβεν δοκεῖτε, μὴ νοοῦντες, διὰ τί ὑμῶν προσετάγῃ· καὶ ἐὰν ἄξυμον ἄρτον φάγητε, πεπληρωκέναι τὸ θέλημα τοῦ θεοῦ φατέ. Οὐκ ἐν τούτοις εὐδοκεῖ κύριος ὁ θεὸς ἡμῶν. Εἴ τις ἔστιν ἐν ὑμῶν ἐπίορκος ἢ κλέπτης, παυσάσθω· εἴ τις μοιχός, μετανοησάτω, καὶ σεσαββάτικε τὰ τρυφερὰ καὶ ἀληθινὰ σάββατα τοῦ θεοῦ· εἴ τις καθαρὰς οὐκ ἔχει χεῖρας, λοινσάσθω, καὶ καθαρός ἔστω.

40. Τὸ μυστήριον οὖν τοῦ προβάτου, ὃ τὸ πάσχα θύειν ἐντέταλται ὁ θεός, τύπος ἦν τοῦ Χριστοῦ, οὐ τῷ αἷματι κατὰ τὸν λόγον τῆς εἰς αὐτὸν πίστεως χρόνται τοῦς οἴκους ἑαυτῶν, τουτέστιν ἑαυτούς, οἱ πιστεύοντες εἰς αὐτόν· ὅτι γὰρ τὸ πλάσμα, ὃ ἐπλασεν ὁ θεὸς τὸν Ἀδάμ, οἶκος ἐγένετο τοῦ ἐμφυσήματος τοῦ παρὰ τοῦ θεοῦ, καὶ πάντες νοεῖν δύνασθε. Καὶ ὅτι πρόσκαιρος ἦν καὶ αὕτη ἡ ἐντολή, οὕτως ἀποδείκνυμι. Οὐδαμοῦ θύεσθαι τὸ πρόβατον τὸ πάσχα ὁ θεὸς συγχωρεῖ, εἰ μὴ ἐπὶ τόπῳ φῶτικέλληται τὸ ὄνομα αὐτοῦ, εἰδὼς ὅτι ἐλεύσονται ἡμέραι μετὰ τὸ παθὲν τὸν Χριστόν, ὅτε καὶ ὁ τόπος τῆς Ἱερουσαλήμ τοῦς ἐχθροῖς ὑμῶν παραδοθήσεται καὶ παύσονται ἀπασαι ἀπλῶς προσφορὰ γινόμεναι. Καὶ τὸ κελευσθὲν πρόβατον ἐκεῖνο ὁπτὸν ὅλον γίνεσθαι τοῦ πάθους τοῦ σταυροῦ, δὶ οὐ πάσχειν ἔμελλεν ὁ Χριστός, σύμβολον ἦν. Τὸ γὰρ ὀπτώμενον πρόβατον σχηματιζόμενον ὅμοιως τῷ σχήματι τοῦ σταυροῦ ὀπτάται· εἰς γὰρ ὄρθιος ὀβελίσκος διαπερούνται ἀπὸ τῶν κατωτάτω μερῶν μέχρι τῆς κεφαλῆς, καὶ εἰς πάλιν κατὰ τὸ μετάφρενον, φῶ προσαρτῶνται καὶ αἱ χεῖρες τοῦ προβάτου. ¹ The meaning is; the “Apology” being read, and the true character of Christians understood, it would be seen by the treatment given to them whether their rulers really deserved the title Εὐσεβεῖς.

αὐτοῦ τιμὴν ταύτην παραλαβόντες, τὸ τὰ ὑπ’ ἐκείνου εἰς διατροφήν γενόμενα οὐ πυρὶ δαπανᾶν, ἀλλ’ ἔαυτοῖς καὶ τοῖς δεομένοις προσφέρειν, ἐκείνῳ δὲ εὐχαρίστους ὅντας διὰ λόγου πομπᾶς¹ καὶ ὑμνους πέμπειν ὑπέρ τε τοῦ γεγονέναι καὶ τῶν εἰς εὐρωστίαν πόρων πάντων, ποιοτήτων μὲν γενῶν καὶ μεταβολῶν ὡρῶν, καὶ τοῦ πάλιν ἐν ἀφθαρσίᾳ γενέσθαι διὰ πίστιν τὴν ἐν αὐτῷ αἰτήσεις πέμποντες, τίς σωφρονῶν οὐχ ὁμολογήσει; Τὸν διδύσκαλόν τε τούτων γενόμενον ἡμῖν καὶ εἰς τοῦτο γεννηθέντα Ἰησοῦν Χριστόν, τὸν σταυρωθέντα ἐπὶ Ποντίου Πιλάτου, τοῦ γενομένου ἐν Ἰουδαὶᾳ ἐπὶ χρόνοις Τιβερίου Καίσαρος ἐπιτρόπου, υἱὸν αὐτοῦ τοῦ ὄντος θεοῦ² μαθόντες καὶ ἐν δευτέρᾳ χώρᾳ ἔχοντες, πνεῦμά τε προφητικὸν ἐν τρίτῃ τάξει ὅτι μετὰ λόγου τιμῶμεν, ἀποδείξομεν. ¹ πομπᾶς, means here solemnly recited prayers; it used to denote a solemn ceremony in honour of the gods or men.

² Sometimes, in clear terms, Justin acknowledges the divinity of Christ, and of the Holy Ghost. Yet, no doubt, a like indistinctness attaches to some of his expressions as to those of the Alexandrian school, contrasting disadvantageously with the post-Nicene writers. His ascription of Almighty power and eternity to the Father, as if exclusively, may be accounted for from his having in view the Marcionites, Valentinians, and other Gnostics, who either denied the Father to be the supreme God, or refused the God of the Bible to be the Creator. But in his description of the "Logos" we may perceive his Platonic ideas. He attributes to the will of the Father the generation of the Son; though previously he was the Αὐγός ἐνδόθεος, inherent in the Father; yet correspondingly to the term Logos, as meaning, either reason or utterance, he became also Αὐγός πορφορίκος. His generation in this sense is not his beginning to be, but as distinct person beginning to exert his powers upon external objects; and to the agency of this person Justin ascribes the creation of the World, and all the Theophanies of the Old Testament, (see sections 23, 63; also 2nd Apol., 10.) Although Justin carefully distinguishes the origin of the Son from creation out of nothing, yet he scruples not to apply the term ἐκτισέ in Prov. 8, (LXX,) to the Logos: at that time no disputes having arisen respecting the difference of the idea of generation and creation. Arians and Sabellians have taken advantage of Justin's words; he speaks again and again, however, of Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, as objects of Divine worship. His ideas of the "Logos" may explain also his language respecting Socrates and Plato, and the Stoics. The Logos was regarded by Justin, besides being a hypostasis, as the diffused truth—the wisdom of God—the fountain of all truth to men. In the human soul is something allied to it—a seed of it implanted—the λόγος σπερματικός.—(See 2nd Apol., 18.) This was developed in all who, like Socrates or Plato, gave themselves up to the inspirations of heavenly wisdom; they were disciples of the Logos, Christians before Christianity. But, the hypostatical Logos "was the centre where all the scattered rays of the god-like in humanity converged. He makes use of this doctrine to vindicate against the heathen the lateness of Christ's advent, and to argue their responsibility."—Neander's Christian Dogmas, I.

Milner is pleased with Justin, as "in fundamentals unquestionably sound; though in asserting that the philosophers saw something of truth from the portion of the seed of the divine word, which he makes to φωτισμὸς ἡ μαθητεία κέκληται. The council of Laodicea appoints (Can. 46) ὅτι δεῖ τοὺς φοτιζόμενους, τὴν πίστιν ἐκμαθάνειν, on which Zonaras commenting says, "Καλεύει, τοὺς φωτιζόμενους, ἵνα τοὺς πρὸς τὸ φωτίσμα ἐτομαζόμενους καὶ κατηχουμένους, τὸ μυστήριον τῆς πίστεως ἐκμαθάνειν." Dionysius (Aegrop.) as quoted by SUICER, puts illumination before baptism: "Δεῖ φωτίζεσθαι τῷ γνώσει τῶν θεοτυεύστων γραφῶν τὰ περὶ Θεογνωσίας δόγματα, καὶ τότε τελειοῦσθαι τῷ τῆς παλιγγενεσίας λοντρῷ. Doubtless, we see very early the outward sign identified with the inward grace. So of regeneration in this same section.

¹ Λοῦσαι, i.e. after the baptism with water, in the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, as described in section 61.

² Baptism, called φωτισμός. See note at sect. 61.

⁴ προεστῶτι—the presiding pastor. The term is sometimes in early writings, as here, applied to the minister who dispenses the ordinances, sometimes to the bishop in distinction from the pastor. IRENÆUS, a little later, applies it sometimes in the general, sometimes in the specific sense. The word as occurring here came into the discussion between ARCHBISHOP WHITFIELD and CARTWRIGHT. The former explained the word of the bishop or chief presbyter, though admitting that the term is applied in Tim. v., 17, to the elders or presbyters in general. CARTWRIGHT's argument is, "If this place of JUSTIN make for an archbishop, then instead of an archbishop in every province, we shall have one in every congregation. For JUSTIN declareth there the liturgy or manner of serving God that was in every church used of the Christians. And I pray you, let it be considered what is the office of that προεστῶς * * he placeth his office to be in preaching, in conceiving prayers, in ministering of the sacraments: of any commandment which he had over the rest of the ministry he maketh not one word. It may be that the same might have the pre-eminence of calling the rest together, and propounding the matter to the rest of the company, as is before declared. * * If you had read the whole treatise, you should have found that he was προεστῶς of the people; for this is written in the same apology—“πείται προσφέρεται τῷ προεστῶτι τῶν ἀδελφῶν ἄρτος.” The able Puritan champion adds, “and albeit things were in great purity in the days JUSTIN lived, yet, as there was in other things which appear in his works, and even in the ministration of the sacraments spoken of in that place, corruption, in that they mingled water and wine together; so even in the ministry, there began to peep out something which went from the simplicity of the Gospel, as that the name of προεστῶς, which was common to the elders with the ministers of the word, was, as it seemeth, appropriated unto one.”

² ἀποφέρουσι.—Persons who from sickness or other causes were unable to attend had portions of the consecrated bread sent to them. It is also noticed in Ireneus and Eusebius that the Presbyters of one church sent to another, in token of fellowship. The practice was discouraged by the council of Laodicea, as also the having the agapæ in churches.

καὶ αἷμα ὑπὲρ σωτηρίας ἡμῶν ἔσχεν, οὕτως καὶ τὴν δύ' εὐχῆς λόγου τοῦ παρ' αὐτὸν εὐχαριστηθεῖσαν τροφήν, ἐξ ἣς αἷμα καὶ σάρκες κατὰ μεταβολὴν¹ τρέφονται ἡμῶν, ἐκείνου τοῦ σάρκοποιηθέντος Ἰησοῦ καὶ σάρκα καὶ αἷμα ἐδιδάχθημεν εἰναι. ¹ μεταβολὴν.—This word was early applied to the Lord's Supper, but in a figurative sense. It was also applied later in this figurative sense to the baptismal water.—GIESELER II., 47. The bread was changed from a common to a spiritual use. We see no adoration of the host. It is an ordinance of thanksgiving. No notice here of the agapæ as connected with the Lord's Supper. Though early found together, as at Corinth, they may now have been separated, owing to irregularities, or may never have been united in the churches Justin had in view.—NEANDER. For a description of the ἀγαπῇ, as observed afterwards, see Tertull. Apol., 39.

² In the former section JUSTIN states that the eucharist was connected with the baptism of converts; now he exhibits the mode of worship at their regular weekly assembling.

³ ἡλίου ἡμέρα.—An interesting proof of the first day, as Lord's day, being recognised in the second century: still more distinctly called Lord's day in a letter of DIONYSIUS of Corinth; see EUSEBIUS. The fathers generally called it Lord's day. The other name probably given in compliance with the usual mode of speech—though this also led to evil. TERTULLIAN had to defend the Christians against the aspersion that they worshipped the sun. JEROME says, the day was called Sunday because the Sun of Righteousness arose on that day. JUSTIN gives a like reason here for meeting on the first day of the week. The fathers were not without care to guard on such matters. It has been thought that their reason for calling Friday the day before Saturday (see next page) was to show how they detested the worship of Venus, to which Friday was dedicated.—GRABBE; RIDGELEY.

² ὁ προεστὼς εὐχὰς, &c.—“Vixi,” says Dr. OWEN, “is the pretence of some that in the primitive times they consecrated the elements by the repetition of the Lord’s Prayer only.” In proceeding to the eucharist, he observes, the presiding elder or bishop—for in this church JUSTIN mentions only two sorts of offices, president and deacon—prayed at large, giving thanks to God. The whole simple Sabbath service consisted of prayer first; then reading of the scriptures and exhortation; then the consecration of the eucharist; then prayer again and the people’s loud assent or acclaim. Notice is also taken of the kiss of charity, and of the collection for the poor widows, orphans, strangers, and captives. Praise, of course, as PLINY to TRAJAN describes—and see also sect. 18 of this Apology—αἴνοῦντες—ύμνους, &c.

³ ὅση δύναμις —This, as also a like expression in Tertullian, has not been overlooked in the argument against fixed liturgies.—OWEN on Churches; DICK’s Theology, Lect. 94. The adoption of Liturgies belongs to the fourth century.—GIESELER.

V I. I R E N A E U S.

Irenæus, by birth a Grecian, was in charge of the church at Lyons from about 170 till early in the third century. He had been an attached disciple of the sainted Polycarp of Smyrna, and is said to have been sent by him to preach the Gospel among the Gauls. After for a time assisting Pothinus, the venerable pastor at Lyons, who, while bending under years, had shared in the rigorous treatment of the church there, he succeeded him as presiding presbyter or bishop. The labours of Irenæus in Gaul were attended with great success ; Lyons became a city of Christian converts. It is said that he at length suffered death under the emperor Severus, though on this historians are not agreed. Milner believes it after Gregory of Tours ; Lardner and Cave conclude otherwise, from the omission of the fact by Eusebius. He at least endured much suffering, as well as rendered laborious service in Christ's cause.

Irenæus is best known by his writings against "the heresies." His works are for the most part only preserved in a Latin translation, through which, however, though somewhat barbarous, the eloquence of this father, as the translator of Mosheim remarks, still shines. His first book on the heresies remains in the Greek language, with other occasional pieces preserved by Eusebius and Epiphanius.

We extract a valuable document—a creed it may be termed, in which he embodies the orthodox faith, as received by the churches in those times ; also his short description of some of the Gnostics and Ebionites. These documents are valuable to the student—enabling him to meet the misrepresentations of such as Priestley or Bauer on the opinions of the early church, as having been Unitarian, or “Monarchian.”

Irenæus having also done good service by allaying undue heats in the controversy concerning the time of observing Easter, we insert a fragment of his letter to the imperious Victor, which is preserved in Greek. We extract also his letter to Florinus, one who had been, like himself, a pupil of Polycarp, but who had fallen away into the errors of Cerdo, Valentinus, and others, on the two principles, or the origin of evil. The fragment is interesting, were it but for its graphic reference to the venerated pastor of Smyrna, of whose instructions Irenæus retained so deep an impression.

Finally, as appeals have been made to this father on the subject of the Romish primacy, and apostolic descent, we have inserted some of the expressions cited on these questions, and have found room for an argument of the admirable Chillingworth, against the Romish interpretation of the “omnem convenire ecclesiam.”

The extracts on the faith or creed of the church and on the Gnostic errors are from Books I. and V. of the work “against Heresies.” That on the tradition and succession is from Book III. The fragments of letters are to be found in Eusebius’ Eccles. II., Book V.; and are appended to Irenæus’ works, fol. Oxford, 1702.

Et Cerinthus autem quidam in Asia, non à primo Deo factum esse mundum docuit, sed à virtute quadam valde separata, et distante ab ea principalitate quæ est super universa, et ignorantे eum qui est super omnia Deum. Jesum autem subjecit, non ex virginе natum (impossibile enim hoc ei visum est) fuisse autem cum Josephi et Mariæ filium similiter ut reliqui omnes homines, et plus potuisse justitia, et prudentia, et sapientia ab omnibus. Et post baptismum descendisse in eum, ab ea principalitate quæ est super omnia, Christum figurâ columbæ; et tunc annunciasse incognitam Patrem, et virtutes perfecisse; in fine autem revolasse iterum Christum de Jesu, et Jesum passum esse, et resurrexisse: Christum autem impassibilem perseverasse, existentem spiritualem.

CARNEM ASSUMPSIT: ADVERSUS VALENTINI ET EBIONIS
VANITATES.

Non enim aliter nos discere poteramus quæ sunt Dei, nisi magister noster, Verbum existens, homo factus fuisset. Neque enim alius poterat enarrare nobis quæ sunt Patris, nisi proprium ipsius Verbum. Quis enim aliis cognovit sensum Domini? aut quis aliis ejus consiliarius factus est? Neque rursus nos aliter discere poteramus, nisi magistrum nostrum videntes, et per auditum nostrum vocem ejus percipientes, uti imitatores quidem operum, factores autem sermonum ejus facti, communionem habeamus cum ipso, à perfecto, et eō qui est ante omnem conditionem, augmentum accipientes, qui nunc nuper facti sumus à solo optimo et bono. Et ab eo qui habet donationem incorruptibilitatis, in eam quæ est ad eum similitudinem, facti; prædestinati quidem ut essemus, qui nondum eramus, secundum præscientiam Patris, facti autem initium facturæ,³ accepimus in præcognitis temporibus secundem ministrationem Verbi, qui est perfectus in omnibus, quoniam Verbum potens, et homo verus, sanguine suo rationabiliter redimens nos, redemptionem semetipsum dedit pro his, qui in captivitatem ducti sunt. Et quoniam injustè dominabatur nobis apostasia¹ et cùm naturâ essemus Dei omnipotentis,

Suo igitur sanguine redimente nos Domino, et dante animam suam pro nostris carnis, et effundente Spiritum Patris in adunctionem et communionem Dei et hominum, ad homines quidem deponente Deum per Spiritum, ad Deum autem rursus imponente hominem per suam incarnationem, et firmè et verè in adventu suo donanto nobis incorruptelam, per communionem quae est ad Deum, perierunt omnes hæreticorum doctrinæ. Vani enim sunt qui putativè dicunt eum apparuisse:

Vani autem et Ebionæi, unionem Dei et hominis per fidem non recipientes in suam animam, sed in veteri generationis perseverantes fermento; neque intelligere volentes, quoniam Spiritus sanctus advenit in Mariam, et virtus Altissimi obumbravit eam: quapropter et quod generatum est, sanctum est, et filius Altissimi Dei Patris omnium: qui operatus est incarnationem ejus, et novam ostendit generationem; uti quemadmodum per priorem generationem mortem hæreditavimus, sic per generationem hanc hæreditaremus vitam. Reprobant itaque hi commixtionem vini cœlestis, et sola aqua secularis¹ volunt esse, non recipientes Deum ad commixtionem suam: perseverant autem in eo qui vicitus est, Adam, et projectus est de paradiſo, non contemplantes, quoniam quemadmodum ab initio plasmationis nostræ in Adam ea quæ fuit à Deo inspiratio vitæ, unita plasmati, animavit hominem, et animal rationabile ostendit; sic in fine Verbum Patris et Spiritus Dei, adunitus antiquæ substantiæ plasmationis Adæ, viventem et perfectum effecit hominem, capientem perfectum Patrem: ut quemadmodum in animali omnes mortui sumus, sic in spirituali omnes vivifemur. Non enim effugit aliquando Adam manus Dei, ad quas Pater loquens, dicit: Faciamus hominem ad imaginem et similitudinem nostram. Et propter hoc in fine non ex voluntate carnis, neque ex voluntate viri, sed ex placito Patris manus ejus vivum perfecerunt hominem, uti fiat Adam secundum imaginem et similitudinem Dei.²

DE APOSTOLORUM TRADITIONE, VEL AB

Traditionem itaque Apostolorum in toto mundo manifestatam, in omni Ecclesia adest perspicere omnibus qui vera velint videre, et habemus annumerare eos qui ab Apostolis instituti sunt Episcopi in Ecclesiis, et successores eorum usque ad nos, qui nihil talc docuerunt, ¹ neque cognoverunt, quale ab his deliratur. Etenim si recondita mysteria scissent Apostoli, quæ seorsim et latenter ab reliquis perfectos docebant, his vel maximè tradarent ea quibus etiam ipsas Ecclesiæ committebant. Valde enim perfectos et irreprehensibiles in omnibus eos volebant esse, quos et successores relinquabant, suum ipsorum locum magisterii tradentes; quibus emendatè agentibus fieret magna utilitas, lapsis autem summa calamitas. Sed quoniam valde longum est, in hoc tali volumine, omnium Ecclesiarum enumerare successiones, maximæ, et antiquissimæ, et omnibus cognitæ, à gloriosissimis duobus Apostolis Petro et Paulo Romæ fundatae et constitutæ Ecclesiæ, eam quam habet ab Apostolis Traditionem, et annunciatam hominibus fidem, per successiones Episcoporum pervenientem usque ad nos indicantes, confundimus omnes eos, qui quoque modo vel per sui placentiam malam, vel vanam gloriam, vel per cæcitatem et with much spirit and resolution that they would by no means depart, in this matter from the custom handed down to them by their ancestors. Victor, exasperated, broke communion with them. The fact of such protests, and the disregard paid to the threat of excommunication, prove that the supremacy or absolute authority of the Bishop of Rome was not generally conceded. A good practical writer contrasts the violent disputes between the Eastern and Western Churches as to the time of keeping Easter, with the absence of all controversy between them as to the obligation of the Lord's day—no mean proof of its recognised apostolic warrant. (Rev. R. Walker's Sermons.)

Whereas your great Achilles Cardinal Perron in French; as also his Noble Translatress, misled by him, in English, knowing that mens resorting to Rome would do his cause little service, bath made bold with the Latin Tongue, as he does very often with the Greek, and rendered *Ad hanc Ecclesiam necesse est omnem convenire Ecclesiam, To this Church it is necessary that every Church should agree, you have translated it as it should be, to this Church it is necessary that all Churches resort: wherein you have shewed more sincerity, and have had more regard to make the Author speak senso. For if he had said, By shewing the Tradition of the Roman Church we confound all Hereticks; for, to this Church, all Churches must agree; what had this been, but to give for a reason that which was more questionable than the thing in question: as being neither evident in itself, and plainly denied by his adversaries, and not at all proved nor offered to be proved here or elsewhere by Irenæus. To speak thus therefore had been weak and ridiculous. But on the other side, if we conceive him to say thus, You Hereticks, decline a trial of your Doctrine by Scripture, as being corrupted and imperfect, and not fit to determine Controversies without recourse to Tradition, and, instead hereof, you fly for a refuge to a secret Tradition, which you pretend that you received from your Ancestors, and they from the Apostles, certainly, your calumnies against Scripture are most unjust and unreasonable: but yet moreover, assure yourselves, that if you will be tried by Tradition, even by that also you will be overthrown. undique fideles, in qua semper ab his, qui sunt undique, conservata est ea quae est ab Apostolis Traditio. Fundantes igitur et instrumentes beati Apostoli Ecclesiam, Lino episcopatum administrande Ecclesiae tradiderunt. Hujus Lini Iaulus in his quae sunt ad Timotheum is far more famous, more constant, and in all respects more credible, than that which you present to. It were easie for me to muster up against you the uninterrupted successions of all the Churches founded by the Apostles, all conspiring in their Testimonies against you: But because it were too long to number up the Successions of all Churches, I will content myself with the Tradition of the most ancient and most glorious Church of Rome, which alone is sufficient for the confutation and confusion of your Doctrine, as being in credit and authority, as far beyond the Tradition you build upon, as the light of the Sun is beyond the light of a Glow-Worm. For to this Church, by reason it is placed in the Imperial City, whither all mens affiirs do necessarily draw them, or by reason of the powerful principality it hath over all the adjacent Churches, there is and always hath been, a necessity of a perpetual recourse of all the faithful round about: who, if there hath been any alteration in the Church of Rome could not in all probability but have observed it. But they to the contrary, have always observed in this Church the very Tradition which came from the Apostles, and no other. I say, if we conceive his meaning thus, his words will be intelligible and rational: which if instead of resort we put in agree will be quite lost. Herein therefore we have been beholding to your honesty, which makes me think you did not wittingly falsifie, but only twice in this sentence mistake Undique for Ubique, and translate it, every where and of what place soever, instead of round about. For that it was necessary for all the faithful of what place soever to resort to Rome, is not true. That the Apostolick Tradition hath always been conserved there from those who are every where, is not Sense. Now instead of conservata read observata, as in all probability it should be, and translate undique truly round about, and then the sense will be both plain and good: for then it must be rendered thus, For to this Church, by reason of a more powerful principality, there is a necessity that all the Churches, that is, all the faithful round about, should resort, in which the Apostolick Tradition hath been always observed by those who were around about. * * * * *

But whether you will have it Observata or Conservata, * * * * * possibly it may be something to Irenaeus, but to us, or our cause, it is no way material. For if the rest be rightly translated, neither will Conservata afford you any argument against us, nor Observata help us to any evasion. For though at the first hearing of the glorious attributes here given, (and that justly) to the Church of Rome, the confounding Hereticks with her Tradition, and saying it is necessary for all Churches to resort to her, may sound like Arguments for you; yet he that is attentive, I hope, will easily discover, that it might be good and rational in Irenaeus his Arg to do with Hereticks, who, somewhat like those, who would be the only Catholicks, declined a trial by Scripture, as not containing the Truth of Christ perfectly, and not fit to decide Controversies, without recourse to Tradition: I say, he will easily perceive that it might be rational in Irenaeus to urge them, with any Tradition of more credit than their own, especially a Tradition consonant to Scripture, and even contained in it; and yet that it may be irrational in you to urge us, who do not decline Scripture, but appeal to it as a perfect rule of faith, with a Tradition which we pretend is many ways repugnant to Scripture; and repugnant to a Tradition far more general than it self, which gives testimony to Scripture; and lastly, repugnant to itself, as giving attestation both to Scripture, and to Doctrines plainly contrary to Scripture. Secondly, that the Authority of the Roman Church was then a far greater Argument of the Truth of her Tradition when it was united with all other Apostolick Churches, than now when it is divided from them, according to that of Tertullian, Had the Churches erred they would have varied, but that which is the same in all, cannot be Error but Tradition; and therefore Irenæus his Argument may be very probable, yet yours may be worth nothing. Thirdly, that fourteen hundred years may have made a great deal of alteration in the Roman Church; as rivers, though near the fountain, they may retain their native and unmixed sincerity, yet in long progress cannot but take in much mixture that came not from the Fountain. And therefore the Roman Tradition, though then pure, may now be corrupted and impure: and so this Argument (being one of those things which are the worse for wearing) might in Irenæus his time be strong and vigorous, and after declining and decaying may long since have fallen to nothing. Especially, considering that Irenæus plays the Historian only, and not the Prophet, and says only, that the Apostolick Tradition had been always there as in other Apostolick Churches conserved or observed, chuse you whether, but that it should be always so, he says not, neither had he any warrant.—Chillingworth's works. (Religion of Protestants, a safe way to salvation); London, 1701.

The distinguished Richard Field, in his treatise of the church, also reclaims against Bellarmine's use of these words of Irenæus. Neander agrees substantially in Chillingworth's interpretation, while accepting conservata (not observata) as the true reading. He takes "convene" as a translation of συνερχέσθαι not συμβαλεῖν as Gieseler supposes: "on the ground of the rank which this church maintains as the ecclesia urbis, all churches, that is, believers from all countries must—the 'must' continues Neander lies in the nature of the case,—come together there; and since now from the beginning christians from all countries must come together there, it follows that the apostolic tradition has been preserved from generation to generation by the christians from all countries of the world, who are there united together."

He confirms this interpretation by a passage in Athenæus, in which the City of Rome is called an epitome of the whole world."

qui induxit cataclysmum, et advocaverit Abraham, qui eduxerit populum deterra Egypti, qui colloquutus sit Moysi, qui legem disposuerit, et Prophetas miserit, qui ignem præparaveret diabolo et Angelis ejus. Hunc Patrem Domini nostri Jesu Christi ab Ecclesiis annunciar, ex ipsa Scriptura, qui velint, discere possunt, et Apostolicam eam Ecclesiæ Traditionem intelligere, cum sit vetustior Epistola his qui nunc falso docent, et alterum Deum super Demiurgum et factorem horum omnium quæ sunt commen-tiuntur. Huic autem Clementi succedit Euaristus, et Euaristo Alexander, ac deinceps sextus ab Apostolis constitutus est Sixtus, et ab hoc Telesphorus, qui etiam glorioissime martyrium fecit: ac deinceps Hyginus, post Pius, post quem Anicetus. Cum autem successisset Aniceto Soter, nunc duodecimo loco Episcopatum ab Apostolis habet Eleutherius. Haec ordinatione et successione ea quæ est ab Apostolis in Ecclesia Traditio et veritatis præconiatio per-venit usque ad nos. Et est plenissima haec ostensio, unam et eandem vivificatricem fidem esse, quæ in Ecclesia ab Apostolis usque nunc sit conservata, et tradita in veritate.

Et Polycarpus autem non solum ab Apostolis edoctus, et conversatus cum multis ex eis qui Dominum nostrum viderunt; sed etiam ab Apostolis in Asia, in ea quæ est Smyrnis Ecclesia constitutus Episcopus, quem et nos vidimus in prima nostra ætate: (multum enim perseveravit, et valde senex glorioissime et nobilissimè martyrium faciens exivit de hac vita) haec docuit semper quæ ab Apostolis didicerat, quæ et Ecclesiæ tradidit, et sola sunt vera. Et testimonium his perhibent quæ sunt in Asia Ecclesiæ omnes, et qui usque adhuc successerunt Polycarpo: qui vir multo majoris autoritatis, et fidelior veritatis est testis, quam Valentinus et Marcion, et reliqui qui sunt perversæ sententiae.

VII. CLEMENT (ALEX.) VIII. ORIGEN.

We place these names together, as representatives of the Alexandrian Theology. They belong to the third century, and the reign of Severus and his immediate successors: Origen living on to the time of Decius, or year 254.

Clement succeeded to Pantænus as master of the Christian catechetical school or college at Alexandria: Origen followed Clement, whose pupil he had been.

Clement and Origen have this in common: they were both imbued with the spirit of the Neo-Platonic philosophy; each did good service against the Docetae and others. Both led in the system of allegorical interpretation of scripture, which was carried to so great an extent in that age. Dating indeed, before them, from Philo and the Jewish sects, Clement carried it to the extent of cabalistic mysticism. But, though it affects injuriously his interpretation of scripture, his works, as well as Origen's, are much admired. Olshausen has remarked his richness and depth of thought on a passage in the Gospels, from which we extract. The other piece is from his Pædagogia, an exposition of Christian morals.

Origen was the first great Biblical critic: we only need name his Polyglott. But otherwise he rendered eminent service to truth. Early advanced to the rank of Presbyter in the church at Alexandria, his labours were indefatigable. Besides his great work in vindication of Christianity against Celsus, an Epicurean philosopher, he opposed with eminent success the errors of Beryllus, respecting the person of Christ; Beryllus owning himself convinced. Unhappily, opinions of a dangerous tendency, propounded in certain of Origen's writings, have clouded his own name. But he is mentioned with great respect by Athanasius; and it is thought, that some of his works were falsified by the heretics. In his advanced years he suffered in the Decian persecutions, enduring (Eusebius tells us) imprisonment and torture for the gospel's sake. We give part of his argument with Celsus.

ΠΕΡΙ ΤΟΥ ΠΑΙΔΑΓΩΓΟΥ.

1. Ἐπεὶ τοίνυν ἀπεδείξαμεν παῖδας ἡμᾶς τοὺς πάντας ὑπὸ τῆς γραφῆς καλουμένους, οὐ μόνον ἀλλὰ καὶ τοὺς Χριστῷ κατηκολούθηκότας ἡμᾶς νηπίους ἀλληγορουμένους, μόνον δὲ εἶναι τέλειον τὸν Πατέρα τῶν ὅλων—ἐν αὐτῷ γὰρ ὁ Τίος καὶ ἐν τῷ Τίφῳ οὐ πατέρα, καὶ ὥρα ἡμῖν ἐπομένοις τῇ τάξει καὶ τὸν παιδαγωγὸν ἡμῶν εἰπεῖν, ὅστις ἐστί. Καλεῖται δὲ Ἰησοῦς. Ἔσθ’ ὅτε οὖν ποιμένα ἔαυτὸν καλεῖ καὶ λέγει, “ἐγώ εἰμι ὁ ποιμὴν ὁ καλός,” κατὰ μεταφορὰν ὑπὸ τῶν ποιμένων τῶν καθηγουμένων τοὺς προβάτους, ὁ καθηγούμενος τῶν παιδίων, παιδαγωγὸς νοούμενος, ὁ τῶν νηπίων κηδεμονικὸς ποιμήν· ἀπλοῦ γὰρ οἱ νηπίοι ώς πρόβατα ἀλληγορούμενοι· “καὶ γενήσονται,” φησὶν, “οἱ πάντες μία ποιμνὴ καὶ εἰς “ποιμήν.” Παιδαγωγὸς οὖν εἰκότως ὁ Λόγος ὁ τοὺς παῖδας ἡμᾶς εἰς σωτηρίαν ἄγων. Ἐναργέστατα γοῦν ὁ Λόγος περὶ ἔαυτοῦ διὰ Ὡσηὲ ἔιρηκεν· “ἐγὼ δὲ παιδευτὴς ὑμῶν εἰμί.”¹ Παιδαγωγία δὲ ἡ θεοσέβεια, μάθησις οὐσία Θεοῦ θεραπείας, καὶ παιδευσις εἰς ἐπίγνωσιν ἀληθείας, ἀγωγή τε ὀρθὴ, ἀνάγουσσα εἰς οὐρανόν.—Book I., cap. vii.

II. Παιδαγωγία δὲ καλεῖται πολλαχῶς· καὶ γὰρ ἡ τοῦ ἀγορένου καὶ μαινάντος, καὶ ἡ τοῦ ἄγοντος καὶ διδάσκοντος, καὶ αὐτὴ τρίτον ἡ ἀγωγὴ, καὶ τὰ διδασκόμενα τέταρτον, οἷον αἱ ἐντολαὶ. Ἔστι δὲ ἡ κατὰ Θεὸν παιδαγωγία κατευθυσμὸς ἀληθείας εἰς ἐποπτείαν Θεοῦ, καὶ πράξεων ἀγίων ὑποτύπωσις ἐν αἰωνίῳ διαμονῇ. Ὁσπερ οὖν κατευθύνει τὴν φάλαγγα ὁ στρατηγὸς τῆς σωτηρίας τῶν μισθοφόρων προμηθούμενος, καὶ ώς ὁ κυβερνήτης οἰακίζει τὸ σκύφος σώζειν προαιρούμενος τοὺς ἐμπλέοντας, οὕτως καὶ ὁ παιδαγωγὸς ἄγει τοὺς παῖδας ἐπὶ τὴν σωτήριον δίαιταν τῆς ἡμᾶν αὐτῶν ἐνεκεν κηδεμονίας· καὶ καθόλου ὑπόσα ἀν παρὰ τοῦ Θεοῦ εὐλύγως αἰτήσαιμεν ἡμῖν γενέσθαι, ταῦτα πειθομένοις τῷ παιδαγωγῷ περιέσται. “Οὐπερ οὖν τρόπον ὁ κυβερνήτης οὐκ αἰεὶ τοὺς ἀνέμοις ὑπείκει, ἀντίπρωρος δὲ ἔσθ’ ὅτε ὅλαις ἀνθίσταται καταιγίσιν, οὕτως ὁ παιδαγωγὸς οὐχὶ τοὺς ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ τῷδε καταπνέοντι

Ταύτη οὖν καὶ Σωτὴρ ὁ Λόγος κέκληται, ὁ τὰ λογικὰ ταῦτα ἔξευρὼν ἄνθρωποις εἰς εὐαισθησίαν καὶ σωτηρίαν φύρμακα, ἐπιτηρῶν μὲν τὴν εὐκαιρίαν ἐλέγχων δὲ τὴν βλάβην, καὶ τὰς αἰτίας τῶν παθῶν διηγούμενος καὶ τὰς ρίζας τῶν ἀλόγων ἐπικόπτων ἐπιθυμιῶν, παραγγέλλων μὲν ὡν ἀπέχεσθαι δεῖ τὰς ἀντιδότους δὲ ἀπάσας τῆς σωτηρίας τοῦς νοσοῦντι προσφέρων· τοῦτο γάρ τὸ μέγιστον καὶ βασιλικώτατον ἔργον τοῦ Θεοῦ σώζειν τὴν ἄνθρωπότητα. Τῷ μὲν οὖν ἰατρῷ οὐδὲ πρὸς ὑγέιαν συμβουλευούτι ἄχθονται οἱ κάμνοντες, τῷ δὲ παιδαγωγῷ τῷ θείῳ πῶς οὐκ ἀν ὁμολογήσαιμεν τὴν μεγίστην χάριν μὴ σιωπῶντι μηδὲ παρενθυμουμένῳ τὰς εἰς ἀπώλειαν φερούσας ἀπειλὰς, ἀλλὰ καὶ ταύτας διελέγχοντι καὶ τὰς ὄρμὰς τὰς εἰς αὐτὰς διατεινούσας ἀνακόπτοντι καὶ τὰς καθηκούσας πρὸς τὴν ὄρθην πολιτείαν ὑποθημοσύνας ἐκδιδάσκοντι; Πλειστην ἄρα ὁμολογητέον χάριν αὐτῷ. Τὸ γάρ τοι ζῶν τὸ λογικὸν, τὸν ἄνθρωπον λέγω, ἄλλο τι φαμεν ἢ θεάσασθαι τὸ θεῖον δεῖν; θεάσασθαι δὲ καὶ τὴν ἄνθρωπίνην φύσιν φημὶ χρῆναι, ξῆν τε ὡς ὑφῆγεῖται ἡ αλήθεια, ἀγαμένους ὑπερφυῶς τόν τε παιδαγωγὸν αὐτὸν καὶ τὰς ἐντολὰς αὐτοῦ, ὡς πρέποντα ἀλλήλοις ἐστὶ καὶ ὄρμόττοντα, καθ' ἣν εἰκόνα καὶ ἡμᾶς ἀρμοσαμένους χρὴ σφᾶς αὐτοὺς πρὸς τὸν παιδαγωγὸν σύμφωνον τὸν λόγον ποιησαμένους τοῦς ἐργοῦς τῷ ὅντι ζῆν.—Β. I., cap. xii.

Ἄγαπάτωσαν οὖν ἀλλήλους οἱ συνεζευγμένοι, “ώς τὰ ἕδια σώματα.” “Τὰ τέκνα ὑπακούετε τοῦς γονεῦσιν ὑμῶν, —οἱ πατέρες μὴ παροργίζετε τὰ τέκνα ὑμῶν, ἀλλ’ ἐκτρέφετε αὐτὰ ἐν παιδείᾳ καὶ νουθεσίᾳ Κυρίου. Οἱ δοῦλοι ὑπακούετε τοῦς κατὰ σάρκα κυρίοις μετὰ φόβου καὶ τρόμου, ἐν ἀπλότητι τῆς καρδίας ὑμῶν, ὡς τῷ Χριστῷ—ἐκ ψυχῆς μετ’ εὐνοίας δουλεύοντες.—Καὶ οἱ κύριοι εὐν ποιεῦτε τοὺς οἰκέτας ὑμῶν ἀνιέντες τὴν ἀπειλὴν, εἰδότες ὅτι καὶ αὐτῶν καὶ ὑμῶν ὁ Κύριος ἐστιν ἐν οὐρανοῖς, καὶ προσωποληψία οὐκ ἔστιν.” “Εἰ ζῶμεν πνεύματι, πνεύματι καὶ στοιχῶμεν. Μὴ γυνάμεθα κενοδόξοι, ἀλλήλους προκαλούμενοι, ἀλλήλοις φθονοῦντες·—ἀλλιγίλων τὰ βάρη βαστάζετε, καὶ ὄπτως ἀναπληρώσατε· τὸν νόμον τοῦ Χριστοῦ.—Μὴ πλανᾶσθε, Θεὸς οὐ μυκτηρίζετα·—Τὸ καλὸν ποιοῦντες μὴ ἐκκακῶμεν, καιρῷ γὰρ ἴδιῳ θερίσομεν, μὴ ἐκλύμενοι.” “Εἰρηνεύετε ἐν ἑαυτοῖς. Παρακαλοῦμεν δὲ ὑμᾶς, ἀδελφοί, νοοθετεῖτε τοὺς ἀτάκτους, παραμυθεῖσθε τοὺς ὅλιγοφύχους, ἀντέχεσθε τῶν ἀσθενῶν, μακροθυμεῖτε πρὸς πάντας, ὅρατε μή τις κακὸν ἀντὶ κακοῦ τινὶ ἀποδῷ.—Τὸ πνεῦμα μὴ σβέννυτε, προφητείας μὴ ἔξουθενεύετε. πάντα δὲ δοκιμάζετε, [καὶ τὸ καὶ λὸν κατέχετε, ἀπὸ παντὸς εἴδους πονηροῦ ἀπέχεσθε.]” “Τῇ προσευχῇ προσκαρτερεῖτε, γρηγοροῦντες ἐν αὐτῇ ἐν εὐχαριστίᾳ.—Ἐν σοφίᾳ περιπατεῖτε πρὸς τοὺς ἔξω τὸν καιρὸν ἐξαγοράζομενοι. ‘Ο λόγος ὑμῶν πάντοτε ἐν χάριτι, ἀλλίτι ἡρτυμένος, εἰδέναι πῶς δεῖ ὑμᾶς ἐν ἑκάστῳ ἀποκρίνεσθαι.’”—Book III., cap. xii.

ΤΙΣ Ο ΣΩΖΟΜΕΝΟΣ ΠΛΟΤΣΙΟΣ.

11. Τί τοίνυν ἦν τὸ προτρεφάμενον αὐτὸν εἰς φυγὴν, καὶ ποιῆσαν ἀπαυτομολῆσαι τοῦ διδασκάλου, τῆς ἵκεσείας, τῆς ἐλπίδος, τῆς ζωῆς, τῶν προπεπονημένων; πώλησον τὰ ὑπάρχοντα σου. Τί δὲ τοῦτο ἔστιν; οὐχ ἡ προχείρως δέχονται τινες, την ὑπάρχουσαν οὐσίαν ἀπορρίψαι προστάσσει καὶ ἀποστήναι ἀπὸ τῶν χρημάτων ἀλλὰ τὰ δόγματα περὶ χρημάτων ἔξορίσαι τῆς ψυχῆς, τὴν περὶ αὐτὰ πτοίαν καὶ νύσσον, τὰς μερίμνας, τὰς ἀκάνθας τοῦ βίου, αἱ τὸ σπέρμα τῆς ζωῆς συμπνίγουσιν. οὕτε γάρ μέγα καὶ ζηλωτὸν τὸ τηνάλλως ἀπορεῖν χρημάτων μὴ ἐπὶ λόγῳ ζωῆς· οὕτω μὲν γάρ ἀι. ήσαν οἱ μηδὲν ἔχοντες μηδαμῆ, ἀλλὰ ἔρημοι καὶ μεταίται τῶν ἐφ' ήμέραν, οἱ κατὰ τὰς ὁδοὺς ἐρρίμμενοι πτωχοὶ, ἀγνοῦντες δὲ Θεὸν καὶ δικαιοσύνην Θεούν, κατ' αὐτὸν μόνον τὸ ἄκρως ἀπορεῖν καὶ ἀμηχανεῖν βίου καὶ τῶν ἐλαχίστων σπανίζειν, μακαριώτατοι καὶ θεοφιλέστατοι, καὶ μόνοι ζωὴν ἔχοντες αἰώνιον. οὕτε καὶ νόν τὸ ἀπείπασθαι πλοῦτον καὶ χαρίσασθαι πτωχοῖς ἢ πένησιν, ὃ πολλοὶ πρὸ τῆς τοῦ σωτῆρος καθίδου πεποιήκασιν, οἱ μὲν τῆς εἰς λόγους σχολῆς καὶ νεκρᾶς σοφίας ἔνεκεν, οἱ δὲ φίμης κενῆς καὶ κενοδοξίας, Ἀναξαγόραι καὶ Δημόκριτοι καὶ Κράτητες.¹

12. Τί οὖν ὡς καὶ νόν, ἴδιον Θεοῦ παραγγέλλει καὶ μόνον ζωοποιὸν, ὃ τοὺς προτέρους οὐκ ἔσωσεν; τί δὲ ἔξαίρετόν τι ἡ καὶ νόν κτίσις, οἱ νιὸς θεοῦ μηνύει καὶ διδάσκει; οὐ τὸ φαινόμενον, ὅπερ ἄλλοι πεποιήκασι, παρεγγυᾶ, ἄλλ’ ἔτερόν τι διὰ τούτου σημανόμενον μεῖζον καὶ θειότερον καὶ τελειώτερον, τὸ τὴν ψυχὴν αὐτὴν καὶ τὴν διάθεσιν γυμνιώσαι τῶν ἀπὸ τῶν παθῶν καὶ πρόρριζα τὰ ἀλλότρια τῆς γνώμης ἐκτεμένην καὶ ἐκβαλεῖν. τοῦτο γάρ ἴδιον μὲν τοῦ πιστοῦ τὸ

Πῶς ἀν οὖν ὁ σωτὴρ παρήνει τοῖς ἀεὶ βιωσομένοις τὰ βλάφοντα καὶ λυμανούμενα πρὸς τὴν ζωὴν ἣν ἐπαγγέλλεται; καὶ γὰρ ἀν κάκεινό ἔστι, δύναται τις ἀποφορτισάμενος τὴν κτῆσιν, οὐδὲν ἥττον ἔτι τὴν ἐπιθυμίαν καὶ τὴν ὄρεξιν τῶν χρημάτων ἔχειν ἐντετηκυνάν καὶ συξώσαν^{*} καὶ τὴν μὲν χρῆσιν ἀποβεβληκέναι, ἀπορῶν δὲ ἄμα καὶ ποθῶν ἄπερ ἐσπάθησε, διπλῇ λυπεῖσθαι, καὶ τῇ τῆς ὑπηρεσίας ἀπουσίᾳ καὶ τῇ τῆς μετανοίας παρουσίᾳ. ἀνέφικτον γάρ καὶ ἀμίχανον, δεύμενον τῶν πρὸς τὸ βιοτεύειν ἀναγκαίων μὴ κατακλᾶσθαι τὴν γνώμην καὶ ἀσχολίαν ἄγειν ἀπὸ τῶν κρειττόνων, ὅπωσον καὶ ὁθενοῦν ταῦτα πειράμενον ἐκπορίζειν.

13. Καὶ πόσῳ χρησιμώτερον τὸ ἔναντίον, ἵκανὰ κεκτημένον αὐτόν τε περὶ τὴν κτῆσιν μὴ κακοπαθεῖν, καὶ οὓς καθῆκεν ἐπικουρεῖν; τίς γὰρ ἀν κοινωνίᾳ καταλίποιτο παρὰ ἀνθρώπους, εἰ μηδεὶς ἔχοι μηδέν; πῶς ἀν τοῦτο τὸ δόγμα πολλοῖς ἄλλοις καὶ καλοῖς τοῦ Κυρίου δόγμασιν οὐχὶ φανερῶς ἐναντιούμενον εὑρίσκοιτο καὶ μαχόμενον; ποιήσατε ἕαυτοῖς φίλους ἐκ τοῦ μαρμαρᾶ τῆς ἀδικίας, ἵνα, ὅταν ἐκλίπητε, δέξωνται ὑμᾶς εἰς τὰς αἰώνιους σκηνάς. κτήσασθε θησαυροὺς ἐν οὐρανῷ, ὅπου μήτε σῆς μήτε βρῶσις ἀφανίζουσι, μήτε κλέπται διορύσσουσι. πῶς ἀν τις πειρῶντα τρέφοι, καὶ διψῶντα ποτίζοι, καὶ γυμνὸν σκεπάζοι, καὶ ἀστεγον συννάγοι, ἢ τοῖς μὴ ποιήσασιν ἀπειλεῖ πῦρ καὶ σκότος τὸ ἔξωτερον, εἰ πάντων αὐτὸς ἔκαστος φθάνοι τούτων ὑστερῶν; ἀλλὰ μὴν αὐτός τε ἐπιξενοῦσθαι Ζακχαίῳ κελεύει καὶ Ματθαίῳ τοῖς πλουσίοις καὶ τελώναις. καὶ τὰ μὲν χρήματα αὐτοὺς οὐ κελεύει μεθεῖναι, τὴν δὲ δικαίαν κρίσιν¹ ἐπιθεῖς, καὶ τὴν ἀδικού ἀφελῶν, καταλέγει. σήμερον σωτῆρα τῷ οἴκῳ τούτῳ ἐγένετο, καθότι καὶ αὐτὸς νῦν Ἀβραάμ ἔστιν. οὕτως τὴν χρείαν αὐτῶν ἐπαινεῖ, ὥστε καὶ μετὰ τῆς προσθήκης ταύτης τὴν κοινωνίαν ἐπι-

¹ Seneca, Ep. 74, mentions this as a saying of Sextius: “Jovem plus non posse, quam bonum virum. Plura Jupiter habet, quae præstet hominibus: sed inter duos bonos non est melior, qui locupletior; non magis quam inter duos, quibus par scientia regendi gubernaculum est, meliorem dixeris, cui majus speciosiusque navigium est. Jupiter quo antecedit virum bonum? diutius bonus est. Sapiens nihilo se minoris vostimat, quod virtutes ejus spatio breviore clauduntur.”

See judicious remarks on the advantage taken by the fathers of the philosophy and mythology of the Gentiles, in Vaughan’s “Causes of the Corruption of Christianity”. “It remains to be seen that there was anything in the conduct of the early ecclesiastical writers, in appealing to the things existing in common between Christianity and Heathenism, that is not consistent with all our ideas of analogical reasoning. There should be no more to condemn in Justin Martyr or Origen, because they reason after this manner, than in Bishop Butler, because he so reasons in his ‘Analogy’.” Dr. V. adverts to the interesting fact that Butler in effect acknowledges his argument as having been suggested to him by Origen.

IX. ATHANASIUS.

X. GREGORY OF NAZIAZUM.

"To praise Athanasius," said Gregory in his funereal elogy, "is to praise virtue." He calls him the "pillar of the Church." Early ordained a deacon in his native city, Alexandria, he already at the Council of Nice drew attention by the power with which he confuted Arius. On the death of Alexander, he was called to succeed him in the Episcopate by general acclamation. Envy and malignity waited on his steps. Once and again, through the influence of the Arian party, exiled from his home, he once and again was recalled, and continued near fifty years the light of Alexandria and of Christendom. He died in the reign of Valens, in 373.

We associate with his name that of Gregory, who, with Athanasius, and after him, fought illustriously the battles of the faith, both against the Arians, and the Pneumatomachi or deniers of the divinity of the Holy Ghost. He was educated at Athens, and became eminent as a rhetorician. After exercising the pastorate for a time in his native town of Naziazum, he was translated to Constantinople, and long presided over the church there. He died in 389 or 391. His works consist of Orations, Poems, and Letters.

The student will feel interested in reading the exposition of the Arian errors in Athanasius' own words. We give also his testimony to the inspired Canon.

The selection from Gregory (on the Divinity of the Holy Ghost) naturally follows the Anti-Arian argument of Athanasius. It is from his thirty-seventh Oration.

¹ It has been remarked that Athanasius uses little argumentation in defence of the Divinity of the Spirit. But, though from circumstances, he threw his soul chiefly into the discussions with Arius and his sect, he earnestly and decidedly opposed the beginning of the Macedonian heresy. See his epistle to Serapion: “κατὰ τῶν λεγόντων, ὅτι τὸ Πνεῦμα τὸ ἄγιον κτίσμα ἐστίν.”

¹ The student will observe with interest the coincidence of Athanasius' list of acknowledged sacred books with our received canon. Indeed, the book of Baruch is here, "and the letter of Jeremiah." If these be not parts of the book by Jeremiah, they are apocryphal writings, but to which, beyond most of the books so called, the church was slow to refuse the claim to be accounted inspired Scripture. Origen, whose list remarkably agrees with that of Athanasius, includes with Jeremiah the same Baruch, and "the Epistle," so called, of that prophet. Jerome decidedly refuses to acknowledge either. He says, in his prologue to Jeremiah's prophecies, "Libellum autem Baruch qui vulgo editioni Septuaginta copulatur, nec habitur apud Hebreos," and he adds, "et ψευδόγραφον epistolam Jeremie nequaquam censi disseverandum."

Cyril puts Baruch among the canonical books; and it is the only one of the Deutero-canonical named in the catalogue of the Council of Laodicea. The epistle is not so properly a separate writing, as a chapter of Baruch. Jahn considers it a spurious imitation of the letter of the prophet mentioned in chap. 29 of our received "Jeremiah." For other details on Baruch and the Epistle, see Kitto's Bib. Cyclopaedia. "Esther," is ranked by Athanasius as it was by some others, among the antilegomena; probably on account of the spurious additions in the Sept. The Jews always received it as canonical. One happy coincidence between the catalogues of Origen and Athanasius is, that both acknowledge the Revelation of John, whose omission from some catalogues, though received from the beginning, is satisfactorily explained by Gaußen.

XI. JOHN, CHRYSOSTOM.

This was, of all the fathers, the greatest orator. He was acknowledged as indeed the golden mouthed, or χρυσορρήμων the golden speaker. Subsequent writers exhaust language in their tributes to his eloquence. Suidas likened the copious flow of his words to the cataracts of the Nile.

Chrysostom shines as a commentator also. Theologians of all times have drawn largely on his expositions of Scripture. Daillé and Isaac Taylor have noted expressions on repentance or good works, not quite reconcilable with evangelic truth. Too much sometimes there is of favour for monasticism and virginity; and on the sacraments, what is extravagant. These last passages have been claimed by advocates of transubstantiation, but apologised for as figurative by protestant writers. He doubtless gloried in the cross of Christ, and loved his Master. He was faithful to his cause as a public reprobator of sins in Christians, or negligence in those who serve the altar. We present some of his views on the responsibility of the sacred office; and some impressive touches—in his Attic style—on the character of St. Paul.

Chrysostom ministered first at Antioch, his native place; afterwards was Bishop of Constantinople. Like Athanasius, he encountered the envy of false brethren, and the tyranny of imperial power;—exiled for a time, but recalled. He died in 407.

γὰρ ἐκ πολλῶν τοῦτο ἡδη ἡμῖν γέγονε ἐῆλον·) ἀλλ' ὅσον αὐτὸς τὴν ἐκκλησίαν ἀγαπᾷ τὴν ἑαυτοῦ, καὶ Πέτρον καὶ πάντας ἡμᾶς μαθεῖν ἡθέλησεν, ἵνα καὶ ἡμεῖς πολλὴν περὶ αὐτὰ εἰσφέρωμεν τὴν σπουδήν. Διὰ τί γὰρ νίον καὶ μονογενοῦς οὐκ ἐφείσαι τὸ Θεός, ἀλλ' διν μόνον εἰχεν, ἐξέδωκεν; ἵνα τοὺς ἔχθρωδας πρὸς αὐτὸν διακειμένους ἑαυτῷ καταλλάξῃ καὶ ποιήσῃ λαὸν περιούσιον. διὰ τί καὶ τὸ αἷμα ἐξέχεεν; ἵνα τὰ πρόβατα κτίσηται ταῦτα, ἢ τῷ Πέτρῳ καὶ τοῖς μετ' ἐκεῖνον ἐνεχείριστεν.¹ Εἰκότως ἄρα ἔλεγεν ὁ Χριστός· Τίς ἄρα ὁ πιστὸς δοῦλος καὶ φρόνιμος, ὃν κατεστησεν ὁ κύριος αὐτὸν ἐπὶ τὴν οἰκίαν αὐτοῦ; πάλιν τὰ μὲν ρήματα ἀποροῦντος, ὃ δὲ φθεγγύμενος αὐτὰ οὐκ ἀπορῶν ἐφθέγγετο. ἀλλ' ὥσπερ τὸν Πέτρον ἐρωτῶν, εἰ φιλοῦτο, οὐ μαθεῖν δεόμενος τοῦ μαθητοῦ τὸν πόθον ἡρώτα, ἀλλὰ δεῖξαι βουλόμενος τῆς οἰκείας ἀγάπης τὴν ὑπερβολήν· οὐτω καὶ νῦν λέγων· Τίς ἄρα ὁ πιστὸς δοῦλος καὶ φρόνιμος; οὐ τὸν πιστὸν καὶ φρόνιμον ἀγνοῶν ἔλεγεν, ἀλλὰ παραστῆσαι θέλων τὸ τοῦ πράγματος σπάνιον, καὶ τῆς ἀρχῆς ταύτης τὸ μέγεθος. "Ορα γοῦν καὶ τὸ ἔπαθλον ὃσον· ἐπὶ πᾶσι τοῖς ὑπάρχουσιν αὐτὸν καταστήσει αὐτόν. "Ἐπι οὖν ἀμφισβητήσεις ἡμῖν τοῦ μὴ καλῶς ἡπατῆσθαι, πᾶσι μέλλων ἐπιστήσεσθαι τοῦ Θεοῦ τοῖς ὑπάρχουσι, καὶ ταῦτα πράττων, ἢ καὶ τὸν Πέτρον ποιοῦντα ἔφησε² δυνήσεσθαι καὶ τῶν ἀποστόλων ὑπερακοντίσαι τοὺς λοιπούς. ¹ Τῷ Πέτρῳ καὶ τοῖς μετ' ἐκεῖνον. It is in vain that Romanists lay hold of this expression. "The successors of Peter," as the context shows, a few lines before, (καὶ Πέτρ. καὶ πάντας ἡμᾶς) include his successors in all times and places, pastors of all Christ's sheep, and thus Basil himself. St. Ambrose on that passage says, "Claves illas quas in beato Petro Apostolo cuncti suscepimus sacerdotes." So Junius refutes Bellarmine's argument from this dialogue.—A. E. LEO's Chrysostom.

Μὴ γάρ μοι μόνον ὑπερωμίας ἐνταῦθι ζητείσθω μέτρον, ἀλλ’ ὅση πρὸς τὰ ἄλογα τῶν λογικῶν ἀνθρώπων ἡ διαφορὰ, τοσοῦτον τοῦ ποιμένος καὶ τῶν ποιμανομένων ἔστω τὸ μέσον, ἵνα μὴ καὶ πλέον τι εἴπω· καὶ γὰρ περὶ πολλῷ μειζύνων ὁ κίνδυνος. Ἔπειτα καὶ τὸν ἀγῶνα πολλῷ μειζόνα καὶ χαλεπώτερον ἔχει. οὐ γὰρ αὐτῷ πρὸς λύκους ἡ μάχη, οὐδὲ ὑπὲρ ληστῶν δέδουκεν, οὐδὲ ἵνα λοιμὸν ὑπελάσῃ τῆς ποίμνης φροντίζει· ἀλλὰ πρὸς τίνας ὁ πόλεμος; μετὰ τίνων ἡ μάχη; Ἅκουε τοῦ μακαρίου Παύλου λέγοντος. οὐκ ἔστιν ἡμῖν ἡ πάλη πρὸς αἷμα καὶ σάρκα, ἀλλὰ πρὸς τὰς ἀρχὰς, πρὸς τὰς ἔξουσίας, πρὸς τοὺς κοσμοκρύτορας τοῦ σκότους τοῦ αἰῶνος τούτου, πρὸς τὰ πνευματικὰ τῆς πονηρίας, ἐν τοῖς ἐπονετήσιοις. Εἶδες πολεμίων πλῆθος δεινὸν, καὶ φάλαγγας ἀγρίας, οὐ σιδήρῳ πεφραγμένας, ἀλλ’ ἀντὶ πάσης πανοπλίας ἀρκουμένας τῇ φύσει; Βούλει καὶ ἔτερον στρατόπεδον ἴδειν ἀπηνὲς καὶ ὡμὸν, ταύτη προσεδρεύον τῇ ποίμνῃ; καὶ τοῦτο ἀπὸ τῆς αὐγῆς ὅψει περιωπῆς. ὁ γὰρ περὶ ἐκείνων διαλεχθεὶς, οὗτος καὶ τούτους ἡμῖν ὑποδεικνύει τοὺς ἔχθροὺς, ὥδε πως λέγων· Φανερὰ δέ ἔστι τὰ τῆς σαρκὸς ἔργα, ἄτινά ἔστι, πορνεία, μοιχεία, ἀκαθαρσία, ἀσέλγεια, εἰδωλολατρεία, φαρμακεία, ἔχθραι, ἔρεις, ξῆλοι, θυμοὶ, ἔριθεῖαι, καταλαλιαὶ, ψιθυρισμοὶ, Καὶ ἐπὶ μὲν τοῦ ποιμένος τῶν ἀλόγων, οἱ βουλόμενοι διαφθεῖραι τὴν ἀγέλην, ὅταν ἴδωσι τὸν ἐφεστώτα φεύγοντα, τὴν πρὸς ἑκεῖνον μάχην ἀφέντες ἄρκοῦνται τῇ τῶν θρεμμάτων ἀρταγῇ· ἐνταῦθα δὲ, καὶ ἅπασαν λάβωσι τὴν ποίμνην, οὐδέ τύτω τοῦ ποιμαίνοντος ἀφίστανται, ἀλλὰ μᾶλλον ἐφεστήκασι, καὶ πλέον θρασύνονται, καὶ οὐ πρότερον παύονται, ἔως ἂν ἡ καταβάλωσιν ἑκεῖνον, ἡ νικηθῶσιν αὐτοί. Πρὸς δὲ τούτοις, τὰ μὲν τῶν θρεμμάτων νοσήματα καθέστηκε φανερὰ, κάνι λιμὸς ἢ, κάνι λοιμὸς, κάνι τραῦμα, κάνι ὅτι δηποτοῦν ἔτερον ἢ τὸ λυποῦν· οὐ μικρὸν δὲ τοῦτο δύναται ἀν πρὸς τὴν τῶν ἐνοχλούντων ἀπαλλαγήν. "Ενι δέ τι καὶ ἔτερον τούτου μεῖζον, τὸ ποιοῦν ταχεῖαν τῆς ἀρρωστίας ἑκείνης τὴν λύσιν. τί δὲ τοῦτο ἔστι; μετὰ πολλῆς τῆς ἔξουσίας καταναγκάζουσι τὰ πρόβατα οἱ ποιμένες δέχεσθαι τὴν ἰατρείαν, ὅτ' ἂν ἐκόντα μὴ ὑπομένῃ. καὶ γὰρ δῆσαι εὔκολον, ὅτ' ἂν καῦσαι δέῃ καὶ τεμέν. καὶ φυλάξαι ἔνδον ἐπὶ χρόνου πολὺν, ἡμίκα ἂν τοῦτο συμφέρῃ· καὶ ἔτέραν δὲ ἀνθ' ἔτέρας προσαγαγέν τροφὴν, καὶ ἀποκωλύσαι ναμάτων· καὶ τὰ ἄλλα δὲ πάντα, ὅσα περ ἂν δοκιμάσωσι πρὸς τὴν ἑκείνων ὑγίειαν συμβαλλέσθαι, μετὰ πολλῆς προσάγουσι τῆς εὔκολίας. Τὰς δὲ τῶν ἀνθρώπων ἀρρωστίας, πρῶτον μὲν οὐκ ἔστιν ἀνθρώπῳ φράδιον ἴδειν· οὐδεὶς γὰρ οἶδε τὰ τοῦ ἀνθρώπου, εἰ μὴ τὸ πνεῦμα τοῦ ἀνθρώπου τὸ ἐν αὐτῷ.

III. Πῶς οὖν τις προσαγάγοι τῆς νόσου τὸ φάρμακον, ἃς τὸν τρόπον οὐκ οἶδε, πολλάκις δὲ μηδὲ εἰ τυγχάνοι νοσῶν δυνάμενος συνιδέειν; Ἐπειδὰν δὲ καὶ καταφανῆς γένηται, τότε πλείον' αὐτῷ παρέχει τὴν δυσχέρειαν. Μάλιστα μὲν γὰρ ἵπαντων Χριστιανοῖς οὐκ Ἀλλ' οἱ μὲν ἔξωθεν δικασταὶ τοὺς κακούργους ὅταν ὑπὸ τοῖς νόμοις λάβωσι, πολλὴν ἐπιδείκνυνται τὴν ἔξουσίαν, καὶ ἄκοντας τοὺς τρόπους κωλύουσι χρῆσθαι τοῖς αὐτῶν· ἐνταῦθα δὲ οὐ βιαζόμενον, ἀλλὰ πείθοντα δεῖ ποιεῖν ἀμείνω τὸν τοιοῦτον. Οὔτε γάρ ίμῦν ἔξουσία τοσαύτη παρὰ τῶν νόμων δέδοται πρὸς τὸ κωλύειν τοὺς ἀμαρτάνοντας· οὔτε, εἰ καὶ ἔδωκαν, εἴχομεν ὅποι καὶ χρησώμεθα τῇ δυνάμει· οὐ τοὺς ἀνάγκη τῆς κακίας, ἀλλὰ τοὺς προαιρέσει ταύτης ἀπεχομένους στεφανοῦντος τοῦ Θεοῦ. Διὰ τοῦτο πολλῆς χρεία τῆς μηχανῆς, ἵνα πεισθῶσιν ἐκόντες ἑαυτοὺς ὑπέχειν ταῖς παρὰ τῶν ἱερέων θεραπείαις οἱ κάμνοντες· καὶ οὐ τοῦτο μόνον, ἀλλ' ἵνα καὶ χάριν εἰδῶσι τῆς ἴατρείας αὐτοῖς. "Αν τε γάρ τις σκυρτήσῃ δεθεὶς (κύριος γάρ ἐστι τούτου,) χείρον εἰργάσατο τὸ δεινόν· ἄν τε τοὺς σιδίρου τέμνοντα; δίκην παραπέμψηται λόγους, προσέθηκε διὰ τῆς καταφρονήσεως τραῦμα ἔτερον, καὶ γέγονεν· ή τῆς θεραπείας πρόφασις νόσου χαλεπωτέρας ὑπόθεσις. 'Ο γὰρ καταναγκάζων καὶ ἄκοντα θεραπεύσαι δυνάμενος οὐκ ἔστι.

Τί οὖν ἄν τις παιήσειε; καὶ γὰρ ἐὰν πραότερον προσενεχθῆς τῷ πολλῆς ἀποτομίας δεομένῳ, καὶ μὴ δῷς βαθεῖαν τὴν τομὴν τῷ τοιαύτης χρείαν ἔχοντι· τὸ μὲν περιέκοψας, τὸ δὲ ἀφῆκας τοῦ τραύματος. καὶν ἀφειδῶς τὴν ὀφειλομένην ἐπαγάγγης τομὴν, πολλάκις ἀπογυνοὺς πρὸς τὰς ἀλγηδόνας ἐκεῖνος, ἀθρόως πάντα ἀπορρίψας, καὶ τὸ φάρμακον καὶ τὸν ἐπίδεσμον, φέρων ἑαυτὸν κατεκρήμνισε, συντρίψας τὸν ζυγὸν, καὶ διαρρήξας τὸν δεσμὸν. καὶ πολλοὺς ἀν ἔχοιμι λέγειν, τοὺς εἰς ἔσχατα ἔξοκελλαντας κακὰ, διὰ τὸ δίκην ἀπαιτηθῆναι τῶν ἀμαρτημάτων ἀξίαν. Οὐ γὰρ ἀπλῶς πρὸς τὸ τῶν παραπτωμάτων μέτρον δέν καὶ τὴν ἐπιτιμίαν ἐπάγειν, ἀλλὰ καὶ τῆς τῶν ἀμαρτανόντων στοχάζεσθαι προαιρέσεως· μή ποτε ράψαι τὸ διερρώγὸς βουλόμενος, χείρον τὸ σχίσμα παιήσης, καὶ ἀνορθώσαι τὸ καταπεπτωκὸς σπουδάζων, μείζονα ἐργάσῃ τὴν πτῶσιν. Οἱ γὰρ ἀσθενεῖς καὶ διακεχυμένοι, καὶ τὸ πλέον τῇ τοῦ κόσμου προσδεδεμένοι τρυφῇ, ἔτι δὲ καὶ ἐπὶ γένει καὶ δυναστείᾳ μέγα φρονεῖν ἔχοντες, ἥρεμα μὲν καὶ κατὰ μικρὸν, ἐν οἷς ἀν ἀμαρτάνωσιν, ἐπιστρεφόμενοι, δύναιντ' ἀν, Οὐ γὰρ ἐλκῦσαι πρὸς βίᾳν ἐστὶν, οὐδὲ ἀναγκάσαι φίβρ· πείσαντα δὲ δεῖ πάλιν πρὸς τὴν ἀλήθειαν ἀγαγεῖν, ὅθεν ἐξέπεσε τὴν ἀρχήν. Γενναίας οὖν δεῖ ψυχῆς, ἵνα μὴ περικακῇ, ἵνα μὴ ἀπογινώσκῃ τὴν τῶν πεπλανημένων σωτηρίαν, ἵνα συνεχῶς ἐκεῖνο καὶ λογιζῆται καὶ λέγῃ· μήποτε δῷ αὐτοῖς ὁ Θεὸς ἐπίγυνωσιν ἀληθείας, καὶ ἀπαλλαγῶσι τῆς τοῦ διαβόλου παγίδος. ¹ ἴδιωτης——Chrysostom uses the word here somewhat ironically; having already in the preceding section explained Paul's application of the word to himself, and vindicated the Apostle's qualifications from those who appeal wrongly to the precedent:—thus, in effect, rescuing the precedent from such as would indolently excuse their neglect of the cultivation of learning, or legitimate eloquence.

The word occurs in Acts iv., 13, and also in 2 Cor., xi., 6; in which last passage Paul applies it to himself, in a limited sense only. The student may usefully consult SUICER'S Thesaurus on this word; or see BLOOMFIELD'S N. Test. on Acts iv., 13, or 1 Cor. ii., 1.

THE LATIN FATHERS.

I. TERTULLIAN.

This distinguished Apologist and Theologian belongs to the end of the second and beginning of the third century, or the times of Severus and Caracalla. His celebrated apology was drawn up on occasion of the persecution under the former Emperor, and was presented either to the Roman Senate, or, as some of the expressions indicate, to the African Pro-consuls. It is a masterly vindication of the Christian cause, defensive as regards calumnious charges, and boldly but calmly assertory of the vanity of heathen worship. Lactantius had reason for saying of Tertullian's Apology: "Causam plene peroraverit." The style of language is not Augustan certainly; yet, though having a Punic harshness, it is withal energetic, pregnantly concise, and sometimes eloquent. Besides the Apology, Tertullian wrote ably against Marcion and Praxeas; the former the latest but most formidable champion of the Gnostic opinions, the other a Sabellian, or a precursor in Africa of Sabellius, as Noctus was in Asia. Tertullian was greatly admired by Cyprian, who is said to have allowed no day to pass without reading his works: "Da mihi magistrum," he would often say of him. In his later years, he unhappily adopted the errors of the Montanists, recommended as these would be to his austere temperament by pretensions to extreme spirituality," asceticism rather. "Montanism (as Dean Milman expresses it,) harmonised with African christianity, in the simplicity of its creed,—which did not depart from the predominant form of christianity,—in the extreme rigour of its fasts, above all, in its resolving religion into inward emotion. Opinions first propagated on the shores of the Euxine found their most vigorous antagonist on the coast of Africa, while a new and fervid enthusiasm which arose in Phrygia captivated the kindred spirit of Tertullian." We give part of the Apology; also of the piece against Praxeas.

Q. SEPTIMII FLORENTIS TERTULLIANI,
APOLOGETICUS ADVERSUS GENTES

CAPUT PRIMUM.

DE IGNORANTIA.

Si non licet vobis, Romanii Imperii Antistites¹, in aperto, et aedito ipso fere vertice civitatis praesidentibus ad judicandum, palam describere, et coram examinare, quid sit liquido in causa Christianorum: si ad hanc solam speciem auctoritas vestra de justitiae diligentia in publico aut timet, aut erubescit inquirere: si denique, quod proxime accidit, domesticis judiciis² nimis operata sectae hujus infestatio obstruit viam defensioni, liceat veritati vel occulta via tacitarum literarum ad aures vestras pervenire. Nihil illa de causa sua deprecatur, quia nec de conditione miratur. Scit se peregrinam in terris agere, inter extraneos facile inimicos invenire. Cacterum genus, sedem, spem, gratiam, dignitatem in coelis habere: unum gestit interdum, ne ignorata damnetur. Quid hinc deperit legibus in suo regno dominantibus, si audiatur? An hoc magis gloriabitur potestas earum, quod etiam inauditam damnabunt veritatem? Cacterum inauditam si damnent, praeter invidiam iniquitatis, etiam suspicionem merebuntur alicujus conscientiae³, nolentes

¹ Antistites.—Some understand the Roman senate; and think “vertice,” alludes to the capitol. It perhaps rather denotes those who exercised in the province the proconsular authority. This is favoured by other expressions, “non licet,” “ferre,” &c.

² Domeeticis judiciis.—Violence already used in their own domestic circles to confessors of Christ; or, advantage taken of servants as informers.

³ Conscientiae.—Some degree of guilty privity.

audire, quod auditum damnare non possint. Hanc itaque primam causam apud vos collocamus, iniquitatis odium erga nomen Christianum. Quam iniquitatem idem titulus¹ et onerat, et revincit, qui videtur excusare, ignorantia scilicet. Quid enim iniquius, quam ut oderint homines quod ignorant, etiam si res mereretur odium? Tunc etenim meretur, cum cognoscitur an mereatur. Vacante autem meriti notitia, unde odii justitia defenditur, quae non de eventu, sed de conscientia probanda est? Cum ergo propterea oderint homines, quia ignorant quale sit quod oderunt, cur non licet ejusmodi illud esse, quod non debeant odisse? Ita utrumque ex alterutro redarguimus, et ignorare illos, dum oderunt, et injuste odisse, dum ignorant. Testimonium ignorantiae est, quo iniquitatem, dum excusat, condemnat: cum omnes qui retro oderant, quia ignorabant quale esset quod oderant, simul ut desinunt ignorare, cessent et odisse. Ex his fiunt Christiani, utique de comperto, et incipiunt odisse quod fuerant, et profiteri quod oderant: et sunt tanti, quanti et denotamur. Civitatem obsessam vociferantur: In agris, in castellis, in insulis Christianos: Omnem sexum, aetatem, conditionem, et dignitatem transgredi ad hoc Nomen quasi detimento moerent: Nec tamen hoc ipso modo ad aestimationem aliquius latentis boni promovent animos: Non licet rectius suspicari, non libet proprius experiri. Hic tantum urbana curiositas torpescit. Amant ignorare, cum alii gaudeant cognovisse. Quanto magis hos Anacharsis² denotasset imprudentes de prudentibus judicantes, quam non musicos de musicis? Malunt nescire, quia jam oderunt. Adeo quod nesciunt, praejudicant id esse, quod si sciunt, odisse non poterant; quando, si nullum odii debitum deprehendatur, optimum utique sit desinere injuste odisse: si vero de merito constet, non modo nihil odii detrahatur, sed amplius acqui-

¹ Titulus.—A charge or indictment. The word is used in John xix. 19, of the board on which was affixed the charge against Jesus. It is of like import with “elogii,” mentioned afterwards.

² Anacharsis.—A Phrygian philosopher, some of whose words were proverbial. He is said to have wondered, as to the Greeks, that ἀγωνίζονται μὲν οἱ τεχνῖται, κρίνουσι δὲ οἱ μὴ τεχνῖται.—Diog. Laert.

ratur. Ad perseverantium, etiam justitiae ipsius auctoritate abutuntur. Sed non ideo, inquiunt, bonum, quia multos convertit. Quanti enim ad malum praeformantur? quanti transfugae in perversum? Quis negat? Tamen quod vere malum est, ne ipsi quidem, quos rapit, defendere pro bono audent. Omne malum aut timore, aut pudore natura perfudit. Denique malefici gestiunt latere, devitant apparere, trepidant deprehensi, negant accusati: ne torti quidem, facile, aut semper confitentur; certe condemnati moerent: dinumerant¹ in semetipsos: mentis malae impetus, vel fato, vel astris imputant: nolunt enim suum esse, quia malum agnoscunt. Christianus vero quid simile? Neminem pudet, neminem poenitet, nisi plane retro non fuisse. Si denotatur², gloriatur: si accusatur, non defendit. Interrogatus, vel ultro confitetur: damnatus, gratias agit. Quid hoc mali est, quod naturam mali non habet, timorem, pudorem, tergiversationem, poenitentiam, deplorationem? Quid hoc mali est, cuius reus gaudet? cuius accusatio votum est; et poena felicitas? Non potes dementiam dicere, qui revinceris ignorare. Si certum est denique nos nocentissimos esse, cur a vobis ipsis aliter tractamur, quam pares nostri, id est, caeteri nocentes, cum ejusdem noxae eadem tractatio deberet provenire? Quodecumque dicimur, cum alii dicuntur, et proprio ore, et mercenaria advocatione utuntur ad innocentiae suaee commendationem: respondendi, altercandi facultas patet: quando nec liceat indefensos et inauditos omnino damnari. Sed Christianis solis nihil permittitur loqui, quod causam purget, quod veritatem defendat, quod judicem non faciat injustum. Sed illud solum expectatur, quod odio publico necessarium est, confessio nominis, non examinatio criminis: quando, si de aliquo nocente cognoscitis, non statim confessio eo nomine homicidae³, vel sacrilegi, vel incesti, vel publici hostis (ut de nostris elogii loquar) contenti sitis ad pronuntiandum, nisi et consequentia exiga-tis, qualitatem facti, numerum, locum, modum, tempus, conscos, socios.

II.—QUOD NOMEN IN CHRISTIANIS, DAMNETUR, NON CRIMEN.

De nobis nihil tale. Cum acque extorquere oporteret (cum falso jactatur) quot quisque jam infanticidia degustasset, quot incesta contenebrasset, qui coei, qui canes affuisserent? O quanta illius Praesidis gloria, si eruissit¹ aliquem, qui centum jam infantes comedisset! Atqui invenimus inquisitionem quoque in nos prohibitam. Plinius enim Secundus, cum Provinciam regeret, damnatis quibusdam Christianis, quibusdam gradu pulsis, ipsa tamen multitudine perturbatus, quid de caetero ageret, consuluit tunc Trajanum Imperatorem; allegans praeter obstinationem non sacrificandi, nihil aliud se de sacris eorum comperisse, quam coetus antelucanos ad eanendum Christo ut deo, et ad confoederandam disciplinam: homicidium, adulterium, fraudem, perfidiam, et eaetera scelera prohibentes. Tunc Trajanus rescripsit, hoc genus inquirendo quidem non esse, oblatos vero puniri oportere. O sententiam necessitate confusam! Negat inquirendos, ut innocentes: et mandat puniendo ut nocentes. Parcit, et saevit²: dissimulat, et animadvertisit. Quid temetipsum censurā circumvenis? Si damnas, cur non et inquiris? Si non inquiris, cur non et absolvis? Latronibus vestigandis per universas provincias militaris statio sortitur³. In reos majestatis,⁴ et publicos hostes, omnis homo miles est: ad socios, ad conscos inquisitio usque extenditur. Solum Christianum inquiri non licet, offerri licet: quasi aliud esset actura inquisitio, quam oblatio.⁵ Damnatis ergo oblatum, quem nemo voluit requisitum, qui, puto, jam non meruit ideo poenam, quia nocens est, sed quia non requirendus, inventus

est. Itaque nec in illo ex forma malorum judicandorum agitis erga nos, quod caeteris negantibus adhibetis tormenta ad confitendum, solis Christianis ad negandum: cum si malum esset, nos quidem negaremus, vos vero confiteri tormentis compelleretis. Neque enim ideo non putaretis requirenda quaestionibus scelera, quia certi essetis admitti ea ex Nominis confessionis, qui hodie de confessio homicida, scientes homicidium quid sit, nihilominus ordinem extorquentis admissi. Quo perversius, cum prae sumatis de sceleribus nostris ex nominis confessione, cogitis tormentis de confessione decedere, ut negantes nomen pariter utique negemus et scelera, de quibus ex confessione nominis praesumpseratis. Sed, opinor, non vultis nos perire, quos pessimos creditis. Sic enim soletis dicere homicidae, nega: laniari jubere sacrilegium, si confiteri perseveraverit. Si non ita agitis circa nos nocentes, ergo nos innocentissimos judicatis, cum quasi innocentissimos non vultis in ea confessione persevere, quam necessitate, non justitia damnandam a vobis sciatis. Vociferatur homo, Christianus sum. Quod est, dicit: tu vis audire quod non est. Veritatis extorquendae Praesides, de nobis solis mendacium elaboratis audire. Hoc sum, inquit, quod quaeris an sim. Quid me torques in perversum? confiteor, et torques. Quid faceres, si negarem? Plane aliis negantibus non facile fidem accommodatis: nobis, si negaverimus, statim creditis. Suspecta¹ sit vobis perversitas, ne qua vis lateat in occulto, quae nos adversus formam, adversus naturam judicandi, contra ipsas quoque leges ministret. Nisi enim fallor, leges malos erui² jubent, non abscondi: confessos damnari præscribunt, non absolvi. Hoc Senatusconsultum, hoc Principum mandata definiunt, hoc Imperium, cuius ministri estis. Civilis, non tyrannica dominatio vestra est. Apud tyrannos enim tormenta etiam pro poena adhibentur; apud vos soli quaestioni temperantur. Vestram illis servire legem usque ad confessionem necessarium, et si confessione praeveniantur, vacabunt. Sententia opus est. Debito poenae nocens expungendus est, non eximendus. Denique illum nemo gestit absolvere: nobis non licet hoc velle. Ideo nec cogitur quisquam negare. Christianum hominem omnium scelerum reum, Deorum, Imperatorum, legum, morum, naturae totius inimicum existimas: et cogis negare, ut absolvas, quem non poteris absolvere, nisi negaverit. Prevaricaris in leges. Vis ergo neget se nocentem, ut eum facias innocentem, et quidem invitum jam, nec de praeterito reum? Unde ista perversitas? ut etiam illud non recogitatis, sponte confessum magis credendum esse, quam per vim neganti: vel ne compulsus negare, non ex fide negarit? et absolutus, ibidem post tribunal de vestra rideat emulatione, iterum Christianus. Cum igitur in omnibus in nos aliter disponitis, quam in caeteros nocentes, id unum contenditis, ut de eo nomine excludamur (excludimur enim, si facimus, quae faciunt non Christiani) intelligere potestis, non scelus aliquod in causa esse, sed nomen, quod quaedam ratio emulae operationis insequitur, hoc primum agens, ut homines nolint seire pro certo, quod se nescire pro certo sciunt. Ideo et credunt de nobis quae non probantur: et nolunt inquiri, ne probentur non esse, quae malunt credisse: ut nomen illius emulationis inimicum, praesumptis non probatis criminibus, de sua sola confessione damnetur. Ideo torquemur confitentes, et punimur perseverantes, et absolvimur negantes, quia Nominis praelium est. Denique quid de tabella recitatis illum Christianum, cur non et homicidam? Sed homicida Christianus, cur non et incestus, vel quocunque aliud nos esse creditis? In nobis solis pudet aut piget ipsis nominibus scelerum pronunfiare. Christianus si nullius criminis reus est, nomen valde infestum, si solius Nominis crimen est.

III.—ODIOSISSIMUM SINE CAUSA CHRISTIANUM ESSE NOMEN.

Quid, quod ita plerique clausis oculis in odium eius impingunt, ut bonum alicui testimonium ferentes admisceant nominis exprobationem? Bonus vir Caius Seius,¹ sed malus tantum quod Christianus. Item alius: ego Lucium sapientem virum repente factum Christianum defeo. Nemo retractat:² non ideo bonus Caius, et prudens Lucius, quia Christianus? Aut ideo Christianus quia prudens et bonus? Laudant, quae sciunt: vituperant, quae ignorant: et id quod sciunt, eo quod ignorant, corrumpunt: cum sit justius occulta de manifestis praecjudicare, quam manifesta de occultis praedamnare. Alii, quos retro ante hoc Nomen vagos, viles, improbos noverant, ex ipso denotant quo laudant; caecitate odii in suffragium impingunt, quod mulier, quod lasciva, quod festiva, quod juvenis, quod amasius, facti sunt Christiani. Ita Nomen emendationi imputatur. Non nulli etiam de utilitatibus suis cum odio isto paciscuntur, contenti injuria, dum ne domi habeant quod oderunt. Uxorem jam pudicam maritus jam non zelotypus ejecit, filium subjectum pater retro patiens abdicavit: servum jam fidelem dominus olim mitis ab oculis relegavit. Ut quisque hoc Nomine emendatur, offendit. Tanti non est bonum esse, quanti odium Christianorum. Nunc igitur, si nominis odium est, quis nominis reatus? quae accusatio vocabulorum? nisi aut Barbarum sonat aliqua vox nominis, aut infaustum, aut maledicuum, aut impudicum? Christianus vero, quantum interpretatio est, de unctione deducitur. Sed et cum perperam Chrestianus³ pronuntiatur a vobis, nam nec nominis est certa notitia penes vos, de suavitate vel benignitate compositum est. Oditur ergo in hominibus innocuis, etiam Nomen innocuum. At enim secta oditur in nomine sui auctoris. Quid novi, si aliqua disciplina de magistro cognomentum sectatoribus suis inducit? Nonne Philosophi de auctoribus suis nuncupantur Platonici, Epi-

² Retractat.—Considers, turns over in his mind.

³ Chrestianus.—The word “Chrestos” occurs in Suetonius’ “Claudius.” Tertullian argues here, on their common mispronunciation of the name. Some consider it as a sort of play on words; Tertullian indulges in this occasionally.

curei, Pythagorici? etiam a locis conventiculorum et stationum suarum, Stoici, Academic? atque Medici ab Erasistrato, et Grammatici ab Aristarcho, Coci etiam ab Apicio? nec tamen quenquam offendit professio nominis cum institutione transmissa ab institutore. Plane si qui probat malam sectam, et ita malum et auctorem, is probavit et nomen dignum odio de reatu sectae et auctoris. Ideoque ante odium nominis competebat prius de auctore sectam recognoscere, vel auctorem de secta. At nunc utriusque inquisitione et agnitione neglecta, Nomen detinetur, Nomen expugnatur: et ignotam sectam, ignotum et autorem vox sola praedamnat, quia nominatur, non quia revincitur. Atque ideo quasi prefatus haec ad sugillandum odii erga nos publici iniquitatem, jam de causa innocentiae consistam: nec tantum refutabo, quae nobis objiciuntur: sed etiam in ipsos retorquebo, qui objiciunt: ut ex hoc quoque sciant omnes in Christianis non esse, quae in se nesciunt esse; simul ut erubescant accusantes, non dico pessimi optimos, sed jam, ut volunt, compares suos. Respondebimus ad singula, quae in occulto admittere dicimur, quae illos palam admittentes invenimus, in quibus scelesti, vani, in quibus damnandi, in quibus irridendi deputamur. Sed quoniam, cum ad omnia occurrit veritas nostra, postremo legum obstruitur auctoritas adversus eam: ut aut nihil dicatur retractandum esse post leges, aut ingratias necessitas obsequii praeferatur veritati: de legibus prius concurredit vobiscum, ut cum tutoribus legum.

IV.—DE LEGIBUS ROMANORUM, QUOD QUOTIDIE VETERES ABROGANTUR, ET NOVAE FERUNTUR.

Jam primum, quam dure definitis dicendo: Non licet esse vos! Hoc si sine ullo retractatu humaniore praescribitis, vim profitemini, et iniquam exercetis dominationem, si ideo negatis licere, quia vultis, non quia debuit non licere. Quod si quia non debet ideo non vultis licere: sine dubio id non debet licere, quod male fit: et utique hoc ipso praejudicatur licere, quod bene fit.

Si bonum invenero esse, quod lex tua prohibuit, nonne ex illo praejudicio prohibere me non potest: quod si malum esset, jure prohiberet? Si lex tua erravit, puto, ab homine concepta est, neque enim de coelo ruit. Miramini hominem aut errare potuisse in lege condenda, aut resipuisse in reprobanda? Non enim et ipsius Lycurgi leges a Lacaedaemoniis emendatae,¹ tantum auctori suo doloris incusserunt, ut in secessu inedia de semetipso judicarit? Nonne et vos quotidie experimentis illuminantibus tenebras antiquitatis, totam illam veterem et squalentem silvam legum novis Principalium rescriptorum et edictorum securibus truncatis et caeditis? Nonne vanissimas Papias leges, quae ante liberos suscipi cogunt, quamJuliae matrimonium contrahi, post tantae auctoritatis senectutem, heri² Severus constantissimus Principum exclusit? Sed et judicatos in partes secari a creditoribus leges erant: consensu tamen publico crudelitas postea erasa est; et in pudoris³ notam, capit is poena conversa est, bonorum adhibita proscriptione. Suffundere maluit hominis sanguinem, quam effundere. Quot adhuc vos repurgandae leges latent, quas neque annorum numerus, neque conditorum dignitas commendat, sed aequitas sola? Et ideo, cum iniquae recognoscuntur, merito damnantur, licet non damnentur cum iniquas dicimus, imo, si nomen puniunt, etiam stultas. Si vero facta, cur de solo nomine puniunt facta, quae in aliis de admisso, non de nomine probata defendant? Incestum cur non requirunt? Infanticidia cur non extorquent? In Deos, in Caesares aliquid committo: cur non audior? qui habeo quo purger? Nulla lex vetat discuti, quod prohibet admitti: quia neque judex juste ulciscitur, nisi cognoscat admissum esse, quod non licet: neque quis fideliter legi obsequitur, ignorans quale sit, quod ulciscitur lex. Nulla lex sibi soli conscientiam justitiae suae debet, sed eis, a quibus obsequium expectat. Caeterum suspecta lex est, quae probari se non vult. Improba autem, si non probata dominetur.

V.—QUOD ROMANI PRINCIPES CHRISTIANUM NOMEN PROBARINT, ET QUI ODERINT: ET TIBERII DECRETUM DE CHRISTO ADORANDO.

Ut de origine aliquid retractemus ejusmodi legum. Vetus erat decretum, ne qui deus ab Imperatore consecraretur, nisi a senatu probaretur: ut M. Æmilius deo suo Alburno. Facit et hoc ad causam nostram, quod apud vos de humano arbitratu divinitas pensitatur. Nisi homini deus placuerit, deus non erit. Homo jam deo propitius esse debet. Tiberius ergo, cuius tempore nomen Christianum in seculum introivit, annuntiatum sibi ex Syria Palaestina quod illuc veritatem ipsius divinitatis revelaverat, detulit ad senatum cum praerogativa suffragii sui. Senatus, quia non ipse probaverat, respuit. Caesar in sententia mansit, comminatus periculum accusatoribus Christianorum. Consulte commentarios vestros, illuc reperiens primum Neronem in hanc sectam tum maxime Romae orientem Caesariano gladio ferocisse. Sed tali dedicatore¹ damnationis nostrae etiam gloriemur. Qui enim scit illum, intelligere potest, non nisi aliquid bonum grande a Nerone damnum. Tentaverat et Domitianus, portio Neronis de crudelitate,² sed quia et homo, facile coeptum repressit, restitutis etiam quos relegaverat. Tales semper nobis insecutores, injusti, impii, turpes, quos et ipsi damnare consuestis, a quibus damnatos restituere soliti estis. Caeterum de tot exinde Principibus ad hodiernum, divinum humanumque sapientibus, edite aliquem debellatorem Christianorum. At nos e contrario edimus

² De crudelitate.—Tertullian uses the word “de” in the sense of “with respect to,” or “as regards.”

protectorem : Si literae Marci Aurelii gravissimi imperatoris requirantur, quibus illam Germanicam sitim,¹ Christianorum forte militum precationibus impetrato imbro discussam contestatur, sicut non palam ab ejusmodi hominibus poenam dimovit, ita alio modo palam dispersit, adjecta etiam accusatoribus damnatione, et quidem tetriore.

Quales ergo truces leges istae, quas adversus nos soli exercent impii, injusti, turpes, dementes, vani ? quas Trajanus ex parte frustratus est, vetando inquire Christianos : quas nullus Hadrianus, quanquam curiositatum omnium explorator : nullus Vespasianus, quanquam Judaeorum bellator, nullus Pius, nullus Verus impressit. Facilius utique pessimi ab optimis quibusque, ut ab aemulis, quam a suis sociis eradicandi judicarentur.

X.—DEOS, QUOS COLUNT, NON ESSE DEOS.

Deos, inquitis, non colitis, et pro Imperatoribus sacrificia non penditis. Sequitur, ut eadem ratione pro aliis non sacrificemus, quia nec pro nobis ipsis. Scimus deos non colendos. Itaque sacrilegii, et majestatis² rei convenimur.³ Sunnina haec causa, immo tota est, et utique digna cognosci, si non praesumptio, aut iniquitas judiceat : altera quae desperat, altera quae recusat veritatem. Deos vestros colere desinimus, ex quo illos non esse cognoscimus. Hoc igitur exigere debetis, uti probemus non esse illos deos, et idecirco non colendos, quia tunc demum coli debuissent, si dii fuisserent. Tunc et Christiani puniendi, si quos non colerent, quia putarent non esse, constaret illos deos esse. Sed nobis, inquitis, dii sunt. Appellamus et provocamus a vobis ad conscientiam vestram ; illa nos judicet, illa nos damnet, si poterit negare omnes istos deos vestros homines fuisse. Sed et ipsa inficias si ierit, de suis antiquitatum instrumentis revincetur, de quibus eos didicit, testimonium perhibentibus ad hodiernum, et civitatibus in quibus nati sunt, et regionibus in quibus aliquid operati vestigia reliquerunt, in quibus etiam sepulti demonstrantur. Num ergo per singulos decurram, tot ac tantos, novos, veteres, servos, Barbaros, Graecos, Romanos, peregrinos, captivos, adoptivos, proprios, communes, masculinos, foeminas, rusticos, urbanos, nauticos, militares? otiosum est etiam titulos persequi, colligam in compendium, et hoc non quo cognoscatis, sed recognizeatis; certe enim oblitos agitis.

XI.—QUOMODO VETERUM DII PLANE MORTALES FUERE, ET QUARE, CUM HOMINES ESSENT, FACTI SINT AB HOMINIBUS
DII.

Ante Saturnum Deus penes vos nemo est. Ab illo census totius vel potioris, vel notioris divinitatis. Itaque quod de origine constiterit, id et de posteritate conveniet. Saturnum itaque, quantum literae docent, neque Diodorus Graecus, aut Tallus, neque Cassius Severus, aut Cornelius Nepos, neque ullus commentator ejusmodi antiquitatum aliud quam hominem promulgaverunt. Si quaeras rerum argumenta, nusquam invenio fideliora, quam apud ipsam Italiam, in qua Saturnus post multas expeditiones, postque Attica hospitia, consedit, exceptus ab Jano, vel Jane, ut Salii volunt. Mons quem coluerat, Saturnius dictus: civitas, quam debellaverat, Saturnia usque nunc est: Tota denique Italia post Oenotriam, Saturnia cognominabatur. Ab ipso primum tabula, et imagine signatus nummus, et inde aerario praesidet. Tamen si homo Saturnus, utique ex homine: et quia ab homine non utique de coelo, et terra. Sed cuius parentes ignoti erant, facile fuit eorum filium dici, quorum et omnes possumus videri. Quis enim non coelum, et terram, matrem ac patrem venerationis et honoris gratia appellat, vel ex consuetudine humana, qua ignoti, vel ex inopinato apparentes, de coelo supervenisse dicuntur? Proinde Saturnum repen-

tino adventu ubique coelitem contigit dici. Nam et terrae filios vulgus vocat, quorum genus incertum est. Taceo quod ita rudes adhuc homines agebant, ut eujuslibet novi viri aspectu, quasi divino commoverentur: cum hodie jam politi, quos ante paucos dies lucto mortuos sint confessi, in deos consecrent. Satis jam de Saturne, licet paucis. Etiam Jovem ostendemus tam hominem quam ex homine, et deinceps totum generis examen tam mortale quam seminis sui par est: quoniam sicut illos homines fuisse non audetis quae hoc exegerint, retractemus. In primis quidem necesse est, concedatis esse aliquem sublimiorem deum, et mancipem quidem divinitatis, qui ex hominibus deos fecerit. Nam neque sibi illi potuissent sumere divinitatem, quam non habebant, nec alias praestare eam non habentibus, nisi qui proprie possidebat. Ceterum si nemo esset, qui deos faceret, frustra praesumitis deos factos auferendo factorem. Certe quidem si ipsi se facere potuissent, nunquam homines fuisserit, possidentes scilicet melioris conditionis potestatem. Igitur si est qui faciat deos, revertor ad causas examinandas faciendorum ex hominibus deorum: nec ullas invenio, nisi si ministeria et officiis divinis desideravit ille magnus deus. Primo indignum est, ut alicuius opera indigeret et quidem mortui, cum dignius ab initio deum aliquem fecisset, qui mortui erat operam desideraturus. Sed nec operae locum video. Totum enim hoc mundi corpus sive innatum et infactum secundum Pythagoram, sive natum et factum secundum Platonem, semel' utique in hac constructione dispositum, et instructum, et ordinatum, cum omni rationis gubernaculo inventum est. Imperfectum non potuit esse, quod perficit omnia. Nihil Saturnum, et Saturniam gentem expectabat. Vani erunt homines, nisi certi sint a primordio, et pluvias de coelo ruisse, et sidera radiasse, et lumina floruisse, et tonitrua mugisse, et ipsum Jovem, quae in manu ejus ponitis, fulmina timuisse. Item omnem frugem ante Liberum, et Cereum, et Minervam, imo ante illum aliquem principem hominem de terra exuberasse, quia nihil continendo et sustinendo homini prospectum post hominem potuit inferri. invenisse dicuntur necessaria ista vitae, non instituisse: quod autem invenitur, fuit: et quod fuit, non ejus deputabitur qui invenit, sed ejus qui instituit. Erat enim, ante quam inveniretur. Cacterum si propterea Liber Deus, quod vitem demonstravit, male cum Lucullo actum est, qui primus cerasa ex Ponto Italiae promulgavit, quod non est propterea consecratus, ut novae frugis auctor, quia inventor et ostensor. Quam ob rem si ab initio et instructa, et certis exercendorum officiorum suorum rationibus dispensata universitas constitit, vacat ex hac parte causa allegandae¹ humanitatis in divinitatem: quia quas illis stationes et potestates distribuistis, tam fuerunt ab initio, quam et fuissent, etiam si deos istos non creassetis. Sed convertimini ad causam aliam, respondentes collationem divinitatis meritorum remunerandorum fuisse rationem. Et hinc concedetis (opinor) illum deum decimum justitiae procellere, qui nec temere, nec indigne, nec prodige tantum praemium dispensarit. Volo igitur merita recensere, an ejusmodi sint, ut illos in coelum extulerint, et non potius in imum Tartarum merserint, quem carcerem poenarum infernarum, cum vultis, affirmatis. Illuc enim abstrudi solent impii quique in parentes, et in sorores incesti, et maritarum adulteri, et virginum raptore, et puerorum contaminatores, et qui saeviunt, et qui occidunt, et qui furantur, et qui decipiunt, et quicunque similes sunt aliquibus dei vestri: quem neminem a crimine aut probare poteris, nisi hominem negaveritis? Atqui ut illos homines fuisse non possitis negare, etiam istae notae accedunt, quae nec deos postea factos credi permittunt. Si enim talibus vos puniendis praesidetis, si commercium, colloquium, convictum malorum et turpium probi quique respuitis, horum autem pares deus ille majestatis suae consortio adstruit: quid ergo damnatis quorum collegas adoratis? Suggillatio est in coelum vestra justitia. Deos facitis criminosissimos quosque, ut placeatis diis vestris: illorum est honor, consecratio coaequalium. Sed, ut omittam hujus indignitatis retractatum: probi et integri et boni fuerint, quot tamen potiores viros apud inferos reliquistis, aliquem de sapientia Socratem, de justitia Aristidem, de militia Themistoclem, de sublimitate Alexandrum, de felicitate Polycratem, de copia Croesum, de eloquentia Demosthenem? Quis ex illis diis vestris gravior et sapientior Catone? Justior et militarior Scipione? Quis sublimior Pompeio? felicior Sylla? copiosior Crasso? eloquentior Tullio? Quanto dignius istos deus ille assumendos expectasset, praescius utique potiorum? Properavit, opinor, et coelum semel clausit, et nunc utique melioribus apud infernos mussitantibus crubescit.

XX.—QUOD ET VETUSTISSIMIS SCRIPTORIBUS, ET RERUM PRAEDICTARUM EVENTU VERITAS PROBETUR.

Haec quibus ordinibus probari possint, non tam difficile est nobis exponere, quam enorme, nec arduum, sed interim longum. Multis instrumentis, cum digitorum supputariis gesticulis assidendum est. Reseranda antiquissimarum etiam gentium archiva, Egyptiorum, Chaldaeorum, Phoenicum :

 advocandi etiam municipes eorum, per quos notitia subministrata est ; aliqui Manethon Egyptius, et Berosus Chaldaeus ;
 sed et Iromus Phoenix Tyri rex ; sectatores quoque eorum Mendesius Ptolemaeus, et Menander Ephesus, et Demetrius, Phaleraus, et rex Juba, et Appion, et Thallus, et qui istos aut probat, aut revincit, Judaeus Josephus antiquitatum Judaeorum vernaculus vindex. Graecorum c. i censuales conferendi, et quae quando sint gesta, ut concatenationes temporum aperiantur, per quae luceant annalium numeri. Peregrinandum est in historias et literas orbis. Et tamen quasi partem jam probationis intulimus, quum per quae probari possint, aspersimus. Verum differre praestat, ne vel minus persequamur festinando, vel diutius evagemur perseverando. Plus jam offerimus pro ista dilatatione ; majestatem scripturarum, si non vetustatem ; divinas probamus, si dubitatur antiquas. Nec hoc tardius aut aliunde discedendum ; coram sunt quae docebunt, mundus, et seculum, et exitus. Quicquid agitur, praeenuntiabatur ; quicquid videtur, audiebatur. Quod terrae vorant urbes, quod insulas maria fraudant, quod externa atque interna bella dilaniant, quod regnis regna compulsant ; quod fames, et lues, et locales quaeque clades, et frequentiae plerumque montium¹ vastant ; quod humiles sublimitate, sublimes humilitate mutantur ; quod justitia rarescit, iniquitas increbrescit, bonarum omnium disciplinarum cura torpescit ; quod etiam officia temporum, et elementorum munia exorbitant ; quod et monstros et portentis naturalium forma turbatur, providenter² scripta sunt. Dum patimur, leguntur ; dum recognoscimus, probantur. Idoneum, opinor, testimonium divinitatis veritas divinationis. Eadem voces sonant, eadem literae notant, eadem spiritus pulsat, unum tempus est divinationi futura praefanti apud homines, si forte distinguitur dum expungitur, dum ex futuro praesens, dehinc ex praesenti praeteritum deputatur. Quid delinquimus (oro vos) futura quoque credentes, qui jam didicimus illis per duos gradus credere?

XXI.—QUID CHRISTIANI DIFFERANT AB HEBRAEIS, ET QUISNAM CHRISTUS QUOMODOQUE PASSUS.

Sed quoniam edidimus antiquissimis Judaeorum instrumentis sectam istam esse suffultam, quam aliquando novellam, ut Tiberii temporibus plerique sciunt, profitentibus nobis quoque, fortasse, an hoc nomine de statu ejus retractetur, quasi sub umbraculo insignissimae religionis, certe licentiae aliquid, propriae praesumptionis abscondat, vel quia praeter eata tem, neque de victus exceptionibus, neque de solemnitatibus dierum, neque de ipso signaculo corporis, neque de consortio nominis cum Judaeis agimus, quod utique oporteret si eidem des manciparemur. Sed et vulgus jam scit Christum, utique aliquem hominum, qualem Judaei judicaverunt: quo facilius quis nos hominis cultores existimaverit. Verum neque de Christo erubescimus, cum sub nomine ejus deputari et damnari juvat: neque de Deo aliquid praesumimus aliter. Necesse est igitur pauca de Christo, ut de deo totum. Tantum Judaeis erat apud Deum gratia, ubi et insignis justitia, et fides originalium auctorum. Unde illis et generis magnitudo, et regni sublimitas floruit, et tanta felicitas, ut dei vocibus, quibus edocebantur, de promerendo deo, et non offendendo, praemonerentur. Sed quanta deliquerint, fiducia patrum inflati, ad declinandum derivantes a disciplina in profanum modum, et si ipsi non confiterentur, probaret exitus hodiernus ipsorum. Dispersi, palabundi, et coeli et soli sui extorres vagantur, per orbem, sine homine sine deo rege, quibus nec advenarum jure terram patriam saltem vestigio salutare conceditur. Cum haec illis sanctae voces praeminarentur, eadem fere semper omnes ingerebant fore, uti sub extimis curriculis seculi, ex omni jam gente et populo et loco cultores sibi allegeret Deus multo fideliores, in quos gratiam transferret, et pleniorum quidem ob disciplinae altioris capacitem. Venit igitur, qui ad reformandam, et illuminandam eam venturis a deo praenuntiabatur, Christus ille filius Dei.—Jam ediximus Deum universitatem hanc mundi verbo et ratione et virtute molitum. Apud vestros quoque sapientes λόγον, id est, sermonem, atque rationem constat artificem videri universitatis. Hunc enim Zeno determinat factitatem, qui cuncta in dispositione formaverit; eundem et fatum vocari, et Deum, et animum Jovis, et necessitatem omnium rerum. Haec Cleanthes in spiritum congerit, quem per meatorem universitatis affirmat. Et nos etiam Sermoni, atque rationi, itemque virtuti, per quae omnia molitum Deum ediximus, propriam substantiam spiritus inscribimus, cui et sermo insit pronuntianti, et ratio adsit disponenti, et virtus praesit perficieni. Hunc ex Deo prolatum didicimus, et prolatione generatum, et idecirco filium dei, et Deum dictum ex unitate substantiae. Nam et Deus spiritus. Etiam cum radius ex sole porrigitur, portio ex summa, sed sol erit in radio, quia solis est radius, nec separatur substantia, sed extenditur. Ita de spiritu spiritus, et de Deo Deus. Ut lumen de lumine accensum, manet integra et indefecta materiae matrix, et si plures inde traduces qualitatem mutueris; ita et quod de Deo profectum est, Deus est, et Dei filius, et unus ambo.¹ Ita de spiritu spiritus, et de deo deus modulo alternum numerum gradu non statu fecit, et a matrice non recessit, sed excessit. Iste igitur dei radius, ut retro semper praedicabatur, delapsus in Virginem quandam, et in utero ejus caro figuratus nascitur homo Deo mistus. Caro spiritu instructa nutritur, adolescit, affatur, docet, operatur, et Christus est.

XXXII.—QUARE PRO IMPERII RO. SALUTE CHRISTIANI ORENT.

Est et alia major necessitas nobis orandi pro Imperatoribus, etiam pro omni statu imperii, rebusque Romanis, quod vim maximam universo orbi imminentem, ipsamque clausulam seculi acerbitates horrendas comminantem, Romani imperii comineatu scimus retardari. Itaque nolumus experiri, et dum precamur differri, Romanae diuturnitati favemus. Sed et juramus sicut non per genios Cesaram, ita per salutem eorum quae est augustior omnibus geniis. Nescitis genios daemonas dici, et inde diminutiva voce daemonia? Nos judicium dei suspicimus in Imperatoribus, qui gentibus illos praefecit. Id in eis scimus esse, quod deus voluit, et pro magno adjuramento habemus. Caeterum daemonas, id est genios, adjurare consuevimus, ut illos de hominibus exigamus: non dejerare, ut illis honorem divinitatis conferamus.

XXXIII.—IMPERATOREM HOMINEM ESSE, NON DEUM.

Sed quid ego amplius de religione, atque pietate Christiana in Imperatorem? quem necesse est suspiciamus ut eum quem dominus noster elegerit: ut merito dixerim, noster est magis Caesar, ut a nostro deo constitutus. Itaque ut meo, plus ego illi operor in salutem¹; siquidem non solum ab eo postulo eam qui potest praestare, aut quod talis postulo, qui mercar impetrare, sed etiam quod temperans majestatem Caesaris infra deum, magis illum commendo deo, cui soli subjicio. Subjicio autem cui non adaequo. Non enim Deum imperatorem dicam: vel quia mentiri nescio, vel quia illum deridere non audeo, vel qui nec ipse se deum volet dici, si homo sit. Interest homini, Deus cedere. Satis habeat appellari Imperator. Grande et hoc nomen est, quod a deo traditur. Negat illum imperatorem, qui deum dicit: nisi homo sit, non est imperator. Hominem se esse etiam triumphans in illo sublimissimo curru admonetur. Suggeritur enim ei a tergo, Respice post te. Hominem memento te.

¹ Illi operor, &c.—Equivalent to “illi plus operor in salutem.”

Etiam utique hoc magis gaudet, tanta se gloria coruscare, ut illi admonitio conditionis suae sit necessaria. Minor erat, si tunc deus diceretur, quia non vere diceretur. Major est qui revocatur, no se deum existimet.

XXXVII.—NE MALUM CONTRA MALUM.

Si inimicos (ut supra diximus) jubemur diligere, quem habemus odisse? Item si laesi vicem referre prohibemur, ne de facto pares simus, quem possumus laedere? Nam de isto ipsi recognoscite. Quoties enim in Christians desaevitis, partim animis propriis, partim legibus obsequentes? Quoties etiam, praeteritis vobis, suo jure nos inimicum vulgus invadit lapidibus et incendiis? Ipsis Bachanalium furiis, nec mortuis parcunt Christianis, quin illos de requie sepulturae, de asylo quodam mortis, jam alios, jam nec totos avellant, dissecent, distrahanter:¹ quid tamen de tam conspiratis unquam denotatis, de tam animatis ad mortem usque pro injuria repensatis? quando vel una nox pauculis faculis largitatem ultiōnis posset operari, si malum malo dispungi penes nos licaret. Sed absit ut aut igni humano vindicetur divina secta, aut doleat pati, in quo probatur. Si enim et hostes exertos, non tantum vindices occultos agere vellemus, deesset nobis vis numerorum et copiarum? Plures nimirum Mauri et Marcomanni, ipsique Parthi, vel quantaecunque unius tamen loci, et suorum finium gentes, quam totius orbis? Hesterni sumus, et vestra omnia implevimus, urbes, insulas, castella, municipia, conciliabula, castra ipsa, tribus, decurias, palatum, senatum, forum. Sola vobis relinquimus tempa. Cui bello non idonei, non prompti fuissemus, etiam impares copiis, qui tam libenter trucidamur? si non apud istam disciplinam magis occidi liceret quam occidere. Potuimus et inermes nec rebelles, sed tantummodo discordes solius divortii invidia adversus vos dimicasse. Si enim tanta vis hominum in aliquem orbis remoti sinum abrupissemus a vobis, suffudisset utique dominationem vestram tot qualiumcunque amissio civium: imo etiam et ipsa destituzione punisset: proculdubio expavissetis ad solitudinem vestram, ad silentium rerum, et stuporem quendam quasi mortuae urbis; quaesissetis quibus in ea imperassetis. Plures hostes quam cives vobis remansissent: nunc enim pauciores hostes habetis prae multitudine Christianorum penè omnium civium, penè omnis cives Christianos habendo. Sed hostes maluistis vocare generis humani potius quam erroris humani. Quis autem vos ab illis occultis et usquequaqe vastantibus mentes et valetudines vestras hostibus raperet? a daemoniorum incursibus dico, quae de vobis sine praemio, sine mercede depellimus. Suffecisset hoc solum nostrae ultiōni, quod vacua exinde possessio immundis spiritibus pateret. Porro nec tanti praesidii compensationem cogitantes, non modo non molestum vobis genus, verum etiam necessarium, hostes judicare maluistis: qui sumus plane non generis humani tamen, sed potius erroris.

XXXIX.—DE DISCIPLINA CHRISTIANORUM.

Edam jam nunc ipsa negotia Christianae factionis, ut qui mala refutaverim, bona ostendam. Corpus sumus de conscientia religionis, et disciplinae veritate, et spei foedere. Coimus in coetum et aggregationem, ut ad deum quasi manu facta¹ precationibus ambiamus orantes. Haec vis deo grata est. Oramus etiam pro imperatoribus, pro ministris eorum ac potestatibus, pro statu seculi, pro rerum quiete, pro mora finis. Cogimur ad literarum divinarum commemorationem, siquid praesentium temporum qualitas aut praemonere cogit, aut recognoscere. Certe fidem sanctis vocibus pascimus, spem erigimus, fiduciam figimus, disciplinam praceptorum nihilominus inculcationibus densamus: Ibidem etiam exhortationis, castigationis, et censura divina. Nam et judicatur magno cum pondere, ut apud certos de dei conspectu:

summumque futuri judicij praejudicium est, si quis ita deliquerit, ut a communicatione orationis, et conventus, et omnis sancti commercii relegate. Praesident probati quique seniores, honorem istum non pretio sed testimonio adepti. Neque enim pretio ulla res dei constat, etiam si quod arcae genus est. Non de oneraria summa quasi redemptae religionis congregatur: modicam usquisque stipem menstrua die, vel quem velit, et si modo possit, apponit. Nam nemo compellitur, sed sponte confert. Haec quasi deposita pietatis sunt: nam inde non epulis, nec potaculis, nec ingratis voratrinis dispensantur, sed egenis alendis humandisque, et pueris ac pupillis re ac parentibus destitutis, aetateque domitis senibus, item naufragis, et si qui in metallis, et si qui in insulis, vel in custodiis, duntaxat ex causa dei sectae, alumni confessionis suae sunt. Sed ejusmodi vel maxime dilectionis operatio, notam nobis meruit penes quosdam. Vide, inquit, ut invicem se diligent. Ipsi enim invicem oderunt. Et ut pro alterutro mori sunt parati. Ipsi enim ad occidendum alterutrum paratores erunt. Sed et quod fratres nos vocamus, non alias (opinor) insaniant, quam quod apud ipsos omne sanguinis nomen de affectatione simulatum est. Fratres etiam vestri sumus jure naturae matris unius: etsi parum homines vos, quia mali fratres. At quanto dignius fratres et dicuntur, et habentur, qui unum patrem deum agnoverunt, qui unum spiritum biberunt sanetitatis, qui de uno utero ignorantiae ejusdem ad unam lucem expiraverunt veritatis: sed eo fortasse minus legitimi existimamur, quia nulla de nostra fraternitate tragedia exclamat, vel quia ex substantia familiari fratres sumus, quae penes vos fere dirimit fraternitatem. Itaque qui animo animaque miscemur, nihil de rei communicatione dubitamus: omnia indiscreta sunt apud nos, praeter uxores. In illo loco consortium solvimus, in quo solo caeteri homines consortium exercunt. Qui non amicorum solummodo matrimonia usurpant, sed et sua amicis quam mariti tam facile donaverant? O sapientiae Atticae, O Romanae gravitatis exemplum! Leno est philosophus, et

Nam et coenulas nostras, praeterquam sceleris infames, ut

disciplinae de causa aestimate, quid sit de religionis officio. Nihil vilitatis, nihil immodestiae admittit. Non prius discubbitur, que oratio ad deum praegustetur. Editur quantum esurientes capiunt. Bibitur quantum pudicis est utile. Ita saturantur, ut qui meminerint etiam per noctem adorandum deum sibi esse. Ita fabulantur, ut qui sciunt dominum audire. Post aquam manualem et lumina, ut quisque de scripturis sanctis, vel de proprio ingenio potest, provocatur in medium deo canere. Hinc probatur quomodo biberit. Aeque oratio convivium dirimit. Inde disceditur non in catervas caesonum, neque in classes discursationum, nec in eruptiones lasciviarum, sed ad eandem curam modestiae et pudicitiae, ut qui non tam coenam coenaverint quam disciplinam. Haec coitio Christianorum merito sane illicita, si illicitis par: merito damnanda, si quis de ea queritur, eo titulo quo de factionibus querela est. In cuius perniciem aliquando convenimus? Hoc sumus congregati, quod et dispersi. Hoc universi, quod et singuli, neminem laedentes, neminem contristantes. Cum probi, cum boni coeunt, cum pii, cum casti congregantur, non est factio dicenda, sed curia. At e contrario illis nomen factionum accommodandum est, qui in odium bonorum et proborum conspirant, qui adversum sanguinem innocentium conclamat, praetexentes sane ad odii defensionem illam quoque vanitatem, quod existiment omnis popularis incommodi Christianos esse causam. Si Tyberis ascendit in moenia, si Nilus non ascendit in arva: si coelum stetit, si terra movit: si fames, si lues: statim, CHRISTIANOS AD LEONES, acclamatur: tantos ad unum. Oro vos, ante Tiberium, id est ante Christi adventum, quantae clades orbem et urbem ceciderunt?¹ Legimus Hierapolim, et Delon et Rhodon et Coon insulas, multis cum millibus hominum pessum abiisse. Corinthium terraemotus ebibit, et vis undarum Lucaniam Italiae abscissam in Siciliae nomen relegavit. Haec utique non sine injuria incolentium accidere potuerunt. Ubi vero tunc, non dicam deorum vestrorum contemptores Christiani, sed ipsi dii vestri, cum totum orbem cataclysmus abolevit? Vel, ut Plato putavit, campestre solummodo? Posteriores enim illos clade diluvii contestantur ipsae urbes, in quibus nati mortique sunt, etiam quas condiderunt. Neque enim alias in hodiernum manerent, nisi et ipsae posthunc e cladis illius. Nondum Judaeum ab Ægypto examen Palæstina suscepérat, nec jam illic Christianae sectae origo consederat, cum regiones ac fines ejus Sodoma et Gomorra igneus imber exussit. Olet adhuc incendio terra, et si qua illic arborum poma orientur oculis tenuis, veterum contracta cinerescunt. Sed nec Tuscia jam tunc, atque Campania de Christianis querebantur, cum Vulsinios de coelo; Pompeios de suo monte, profudit ignis. Nemo adhuc Romae deum verum adorabat, cum Annibal apud Cannas per Romanos annulos caedes suas modio metiebatur. Omnes dii vestri ab omnibus colebantur, cum ipsum Capitolium Senones¹ occupaverunt.

XL.—DE ADVERSIS URBIUM.

Et bene quod si quid adversi accidit urbibus, eadem clades templorumque et moenium fuerunt: ut jam hoc re-vincam non a deis evenire, quia et ipsis evenit. Semper enim humana gens male deo meruit, primo quidem ut inofficiosa ejus, quem cum intelligeret ex parte, non requisi-tivit, sed et alios insuper sibi commentata est quos coleret. Dehinc quod non inquirendo innocentiae magistrum, et nocentiae judicem et exactorem, omnibus vitiis et criminibus inolevit. Caeterum si requisisset, sequebatur ut cognosceret requisitum, et recognitum observaret, et observatum magis propitium experiretur quam iratum. Eundem ergo nunc quoque scire debet iratum, quem et retro semper, prius que Christiani nominarentur: cuius bonis utebatur ante aeditis quam deos sibi fingeret, cur non ab eo etiam mala intelligat evenire, eius bona esse non sensit? Illius rea est, cuius et ingrata. Etiam tamen si pristinas clades comparemus, leviora nunc accidunt, ex quo Christianos a deo orbis accepit. Ex eo enim et innocentia seculi iniquitates temperavit, et deprecatores dei esse cooperunt. Denique cum ab imbris aestiva, hyberna suspendunt, et annus in cura est, vos quidem quotidie pasti, statimque pransuri, balneis et cauponis et lupanaribus operati, aquilicia Jovi immolatis, nudipedalia populo denunciatis, coelum apud Capitellum quaeritis, nubila de laquearibus expectatis, aversi ab ipso et deo et coelo. Nos vero jejuniis aridi, et omni continentia aspersi, ab omni vitae fruge dilati, in saeo et cinere volutantes, invidia coelum tundimus, deum talagimus: et cum misericordiam extorserimus, Jupiter honoratur, Deus negligitur.¹

XLII.—CONTRA EOS QUI INFRACTUOSOS DICEBANT
CHRISTIANOS.

Sed alio quoque injuriarum titulo postulamur, et infructuosi in negotiis dicimur.¹ Quo pacto, homines vobiscum degentes, ejusdem victus, habitus, instructus, ejusdem ad vitam necessitatis? Neque enim Brachmanae, aut Indorum Gymnosophistae sumus sylvicolae, et exules vitae. Meminimus gratiam nos debere domino deo creatori. Nullum fructum operum ejus repudiamus. Plane temperamus, ne ultra modum, aut perperam utamur. Itaque non sine foro, non sine macello, non sine balneis, tabernis, officinis, stabulis, nundinis vestris, caeterisque commerciis cohabitamus in hoc seculo. Navigamus et nos vobiscum, et militamus, et rusticamur, et mereamur: proinde miscemus artes, opera nostra publicamus usui vestro. Quomodo infructuosi videamur negotiis vestris, cum quibus et de quibus vivimus, non Non emo capiti coronam: Quid tua interest, emptis nihilo minus floribus quomodo utar? puto gratius esse liberis, et solutis, et undique vagis. Sed et si in coronam coactis, nos coronam naribus admovimus: Viderint qui per capillum odorantur. Spectaculis non convenimus. Quae tamen apud illos coetus venditantur, si desideravero, liberius de propriis locis sumo. Thura plane non emimus. Si Arabiae quaeruntur, sciant Sabaei pluris et carioris suas merces Christianis sepieliendis profligari, quam diis fumigandis. Certe, inquitis, templorum vectigalia quotidie decoquunt. Stipes quotusquisque jam jactat: Non sufficimus et hominibus, et diis vestris mendicantibus opem ferre: nec putamus aliis quam potentibus impertiendum. Denique porrigit manum Jupiter, et accipiat: cum interim plus nostra misericordia insumit vicatim, quam vestra religio templatim. Sed caetera vectigalia gratias Christianis agant ex fide dependentibus debitum, qua alieno fraudando abstinemus, ut si ineatur quantum vectigalibus pereat fraude et mendacio vestrarum professionum, facile ratio haberi possit, unius speciei querela compensata pro commodo caeterarum rationum.

Ergo, inquitis, cur querimini quod vos insequamur, si pati vultis, cum diligere debeatis per quos patimini quod vultis? Plane volumus pati, verum eo more, quo et bellum miles. Nemo quippe libens patitur, cum et trepidare, et periclitari sit necesse: tamen et praeliatur omnibus viribus, et vincens in paelio gaudet, qui de paelio querebatur, quia et gloriam consequitur, et praedam. Praelium est nobis, quod provocamus ad tribunalia, ut illic sub discrimine capitis pro veritate certemus. Victoria est autem pro quo certaveris, obtinere. Ea victoria habet et gloriam placendi deo, et praedam vivendi in aeternum. Sed obducimur certe, cum obtinuimus: ergo vincimus, cum occidimus: denique evadimus, cum obducimus. Licet nunc sarmenticos, et semissios appellatis, quia ad stipitem dimidii assis revincti sarmendorum ambitu exurimus. Hic est habitus victoriae nostrae. Haec palmata vestis. Tali curru triumphamus. O Philosophi magnanimitatem, qui tali de suo exitu etiam jocabatur! Omitto eos qui cum gladio proprio, aliove genere mortis mitiore, de laude pepigerunt. Ecce enim et tormentorum certamina coronantur a vobis. Attica mero-trix, carnifice jam fatigato, postremo linguam suam comedat in faciem tyranni saevientis expuit, ut expueret et vocem, ne conjuratos confiteri posset, si etiam victa voluisse. Zeno Eleates consultus a Dionysio, quidnam philosophia praestaret, cum respondisset, Contemptum mortis, impassibilibus flagellis tyranni objectus sententiam suam ad mortem usque signabat. Certe Laconum flagella, sub oculis etiam hortantium propinquorum acerbata, tantum honorem domui conferunt, quantum sanguinis fuderint. O gloriam licitam, quia humanam, cui nec praesumptio perdita, nec persuasio desperata reputatur. In contemptu mortis, et atrocitatis omnimodo animi tantum pro patria, pro imperio, pro amicitia pati permissum est, quantum pro deo non licet. Et tamen illis omnibus et statuas diffunditis, et imagines inscribitis, et titulos inciditis, in aeternitatem quantum de monumentis potestis: scilicet praestatis et ipsis quodammodo mortuis resurrectionem. Hanc qui veram a deo sperat, si pro deo patiatur, insanus est. Sed hoc agite, boni praesides, meliores multo apud populum, si illis Christianos immolaveritis: Cruciate, torquete, damnate, atterite nos. Probatio est enim innocentiae nostrae iniquitas vestra. Ideo nos haec pati deus patitur. Nam et proxime AD LENONEM clamando Christianam, potius quam ad leonem, confessi estis labem pudicitiae apud nos atrociorum omni poena et

Multi apud vos ad tolerantiam doloris, et mortis hortantur, ut Cicero in Tusculanis, ut Seneca in Fortuitis², ut Diogenes, ut Pyrrhon, ut Calinicus. Nec tamen tantos inveniunt verba discipulos, quantos Christiani factis docendo. Illa ipsa obstinatio, quam exprobratis, magistra est³. Quis enim non contemplatione ejus concutitur ad requirendum, quid intus in re sit? Quis non, ubi requiri-sivit, accedit? Ubi accessit, pati exoptat? ut totam dei gratiam redimat, ut omnem veniam ab eo compensatione sanguinis sui expediat? Omnia enim huic operi delicta donantur⁴. Inde est, quod ibidem sententiis vestris gratias agimus; ut est aemulatio divinae rei, et humanae: cum damnamur a vobis, a deo absolvimur⁵.

² Fortuitis.—A tract written by Seneca: “De Remedio Fortuitorum.”

³ Magistra est.—What you reproach in us as stubbornness has prevailed to bring conviction to others.

⁴ The idea appears here, which in those days of martyrdom became common, that the sufferings of the martyrs were as a baptism of blood, and cleaned from sin. So Cyprian, speaks of the “gloriosissimo sanguinis baptismo.”—Epi. 73. The idea claimed support from such scriptures as Matt. v. 10., John xii. 25.

TERTULLIANUS ADVERSUS PRAXEAM.¹

VIII. Quæcunque ergo substantia sermonis fuit, illam dico personam, et illi nomen filii vindico : et dum filium agnoseo, secundum a patre defendo. Hoc si qui putaverit me προβολὴν aliquam introducere, id est, prolationem rei alterius ex altera, quod fecit Valentinus, alium atque alium æonem de æone producens : primo quidem dicam tibi, non ideo non utatur et veritas vocabulo isto, et re ac censu ejus, quia et hæresis utitur : immo hæresis potius veritate accepit, quod ad mendacium suum strueret. Prolatus est sermo Dei an non ? Ille mecum gradum fige. Si prolatus est, cognosce probolen veritatis, et viderit hæresis, si quid de veritato imitata est. Jam nunc quaeritur, quis quomodo utatur aliqua re, et vocabulo ejus. Valentinus probolas suas discernit et separat ab auctore: et ita longe ab eo ponit, ut Άeon patrem nesciat. Denique desiderat nosse, nec potest: immo et pene devoratur, et dissolvitur in reliquam substantiam. Apud nos

autem solus filius patrem novit, et sinum patris ipsi exposuit, et omnia apud patrem audivit et vidit, et quæ mandatus est a patre, ea et loquitur. Nec suam, sed patris prefecit voluntatem: quam de proximo, immo de initio noverat. Quis enim scit quae sint in Deo, nisi Spiritus qui in ipso est? sermo autem spiritu structus est et, ut ita dixerim, sermonis corpus est spiritus. Sermo ergo et in patre semper sicut dicit: Ego in patre. Et apud Deum semper, sicut scriptum est: Et sermo erat apud Deum. Et nunquam separatus a patre, aut alius a patre: quia; ego et pater unum sumus. Haec erit probola veritatis, custos unitatis, qua prolatum dicimus filium a patre, sed non separatum. Protulit enim Deus sermonem, quemadmodum etiam ¹Paracletus docet: sicut radix fructicem, et fons fluvium, et sol radium. Nam et istæ species probolæ sunt earum substantiarum, ex quibus prodeunt. Nec dubitaverim filium dicere, et radicis fruticem, et fontis fluvium, et solis radium: quia omnis origo parens est: et omne quod ex origine prefertur, progenies est: multo magis sermo Dei, qui etiam proprio nomen filii accepit: nec frutex tamen a radice, nec fluvius a fonte, nec radius a sole discernitur, sicut nec a Deo sermo. Igitur secundum horum formam, profiteor me duos dicere, Deum et sermonem ejus, patrem et filium ipsius. Nam et radix et frutex duæ res sunt, sed conjunctæ. Et fons et flumen duæ species sunt, sed indivisæ. Et sol et radius duæ formæ sunt, sed cohaerentes. Omne quod prodit ex aliquo, secundum sit ejus necesse est de quo prodit, non ideo tamen est separatum. Secundus autem ubi est, duo sunt. Et tertius ubi est, tres sunt. Tertius enim est Spiritus a Deo and Filio, sicut tertius a radice fructus ex frutice. Et tertius a fonte, rarus ex fluamine. Et tertius a sole, apex ex radio. Nihil tamen a matrice alienatur, a qua proprietates suas dicit. Ita Trinitas per consertos et connexos gradus a patre decurrentes, et monarchiae nihil obstrepit, et oikonomias statum protegit.

IX. Hanc me regulam professum, qua inseparatos ab alterutro Patrem et Filium et Spiritum testor, tene ubique et ita quid quomodo dicatur agnosces. Ecce enim dico alium esse patrem, et alium filium, et alium spiritum. Male accepit idiotes quisque aut perversus hoc dictum, quasi diversitatem sonet, et ex diversitate separationem protendat, patris, filii, et spiritus. Necessitate autem hoc dico, cum eundem patrem et filium et spiritum contendunt, adversus oikonomias monarchiae adulantes, non tamen diversitate alium filium a patre, sed distributione: nec divisione alium sed distinctione: quia non sit idem pater et filius, vel modulo alias ab alio. Pater enim tota substantia est, filius vero derivatio totius et portio, sicut ipse proficitur: quia major me est. A quo et minoratus¹ canitur in Psalmo, modicum quid, citra angelos. Sic et pater alias a filio, dum filio major: dum alias qui generat, alias qui generatur: dum alias qui mittit, alias qui mittitur: dum alias facit, alias per quem fit. Bene quod et Dominus uetus hoc verbo in persona Paracleti, non divisionem significavit, sed dispositionem: Rogabo enim, inquit, patrem, et alium advocationem mittet vobis spiritum veritatis. Sic alium a se Paracletum, quomodo et nos a patre alium filium, ut tertium gradum ostenderet in Paracleto, sicut nos secundum in filio, propter oikonomias observationem. Ipsum quod pater et filius dicitur, nonne aliud ab alio est? Utique enim omnia quod vocantur, hoc erunt: et quod erunt, hoc vocabuntur: et permiscere se diversitas vocabulorum non potest omnino: quia nec rerum, quarum erunt vocabula. *Est, est; non, non: nam quod amplius est hoc a malo est.*² alter; quod vanissimi isti Monarchiani volunt; ipse se, inquiunt, filium sibi fecit. Atquin pater filium facit et patrem filius. Et qui ex alterutro fiunt, a semetipsis sibi fieri nullo modo possunt, si pater se sibi filium faciat, et filius se sibi patrem praestet. Quae instituit Deus, etiam ipse custodit. Habeat necesse est pater filium, ut pater sit: et filius patrem, ut filius sit.

XIX. Quia, *Sophia*¹ in Sermone adstante paratum est coelum: et omnia per Sermonem sunt facta, competit et filium solum extendisse cœlum, quia solus operationi patris ministravit. Idem erit dicens: *Ego primus, et in superventura ego sum.*² Primum scilicet omnium, sermo, in principio erat sermo: in quo principio prolatus a patre est. Ceterum pater non habens initium, ut a nullo prolatus, ut innatus, non potest videri. Qui solus fuit semper, ordinem habero non potuit. Igitur si propterea eundem et patrem et filium credendum putaverunt ut unum Deum vindicent, salva est unio ejus qui quum sit unus, habeat et filium, aequa et ipsum eisdem scripturis comprehensum. Si filium nolunt secundum a patre reputari, ne secundus duos faciat Deos dici, ostendimus etiam duos Deos in scriptura relatos et duos Dominos: et tamen ne de isto scandalizentur, rationem reddimus, quâ Dei non duo dicantur, nec Domini, sed quâ pater et filius duo: et hoc non ex separatione substantiae, sed ex dispositione, quum individuum et inseparabilem filium a patre pronuntiamus, nec statu, sed gradu alium, qui etsi Dens dicatur, quando nominatur singularis, non ideo duos Deus faciat, sed unum, hoc ipso quod et Deus ex unitate patris vocari habeat.

XX. Sed argumentationibus eorum adhuc retundendis, opera praebenda est, si quid de scripturis ad sententiam suam excerpent, cœtera nolentes intueri, quæ et ipsa regulam servant, et quidem salva unione divinitatis, et monarchiæ sonitu. Nam sicut in veteribus nihil aliud tenent, quam, Ego Deus, et alius praeter me non est: Ita in Evangelio responcionem Domini ad Philippum tuentur, ego et pater unum sumus, et qui me viderit, videt et patrem: Ego in patre, et Pater in me. His tribus capitulis totum instrumentum utriusque Testamenti volunt cedere, cum oporteat secundum plura intelligi pauciora. Sed proprium hoc est omnium haereticorum: nam quia pauca sunt quae in sylva inveniri possunt, pauca adversus plura defendant, et posteriora adversus priora suscipiunt. Regula autem omni rei semper ab initio constituta in prioribus, et in posteriora praescribit, utique et in paucioribus.

XXI. Aspice itaque quanta praescribant tibi, etiam in Evangelio ante Philippi consultationem, et ante omnem argumentationem tuam. Et in primis ipsa statim praefatio Joannis Evangelizatoris demonstrat, quod retro fuerit qui caro fieri habebat: In principio erat sermo, et sermo erat apud Deum, et Deus erat sermo. Hic erat in principio apud Deum. Omnia per ipsum facta sunt, et sine ipso factum est nihil. Nam si haec non aliter accipi licet, quam quomodo scripta sunt, indubitanter alius ostenditur, qui fuerit a principio, alius apud quem fuit: Alium sermonem Dei, alium Dominum: licet et Deus sermo, sed qua Dei filius, non qua pater. Alium per quem omnia, aliun a quo omnia. Alium autem quomodo prædicamus, saepe jam edidimus: quo alium dicamus necesse est, non eundem autem, non quasi separatum, dispositione alium, non divisione alium. Hic ergo factus est caro, non ipse cuius erat sermo. Hujus gloria visa est tanquam unici a patre, non tamquam patris. Hic unus sinum patris disseruit: non sinum suum pater. Præcedit enim: Deum nemo vidi unquam. Inde etsi agnus Dei a Joanne designatur, non ipse cuius est dilectus. Certe filius dei semper sed non ipse cuius est filius. Hoc enim Nathanael statim sensit, sicut et alibi Petrus: Tu es filius Dei. Hoc et ipse recte sensisse illos confirmat: Nathanaeli quidem respondens: Quia dixi, vidi te sub fieu, ideo credis?

Petrum vero beatum adfirmans, cui non caro, neque sanguis revelasset (quod et patrem senserat) sed pater qui in coelis est. Quo dieto utriusque personae constituit distinctionem, et filii in terris, quem Petrus agnoverat Dei filium, et patris qui in coelis, qui Petro revelaverat quod Petrus agnoverat Dei filium Christum. Cum in templum introiit, aedem patris appellat, ut filius. Cum ad Nicodemum dicit: Ita dilexit Deus mundum, ut filium suum unicum dederit, in quem omnis qui crederit, non pereat, sed habeat vitam sempiternam. Et rursus, Non enim misit Deus filium suum in mundum, ut judicet mundum, sed ut salvus sit mundus per eum. Qui crediderit in illum, non judicatur: qui non crediderit in illum jam judicatus est, quia non eredit in nomine unici filii Dei. Joannes¹ autem, cum interrogaretur quid de Jesu contingeret, Pater, inquit, diligit filium, et omnia tradidit in manu ejus². Qui credit in filium, habet vitam eternam: qui non credit in filium Dei, non videbit Deum, sed ira Dei manebit super eum.

II. MINUCIUS FELIX.

This admired writer was of the city of Rome, where he devoted himself to the practice of Law. Having become a convert to Christianity, he employed his fine talents in defence of the Gospel. The wisdom of Providence is to be recognised in the previous training, some as lawyers and philosophers, some as rhetoricians, of those who became pleaders for the faith.

M. Felix was nearly of the time—only a little later—of Tertullian, or Cyprian.

In the book “Octavius” we have a dialogue between one of that name, representing the Christians, and one Caecilius, an assailant of Christianity, on the part of the existing superstitious creeds: M. Felix is constituted arbiter between the disputants. The award of victory is given to Octavius—the other owning himself convinced.

In the construction of this dialogue—the colloquy may or may not have occurred—the author, having a thorough knowledge of Roman and general history, and of the opinions of the philosophers, powerfully vindicates both the faith and the morals of the Christians in comparison with theirs. The style is Ciceronian—the argument too sometimes coincides with that of Cicero for a God, though going further in the illustration of doctrines unknown to the Roman orator. We give nearly the whole of the dialogue. We do not wonder that the author of the History of Christianity, without even excepting Lactantius, says of this precious ancient composition: “Perhaps no late work, either Pagan or Christian, reminds us of the golden days of Latin prose, so much as the ‘Octavius’ of Minucius Felix.”—MILMAN, page 482.

dolescendumque est, audere quosdam, et hoc studiorum rudes, literarum profanos, expertes artium etiam sordidarum, certum aliquid de summa rerum, ac majestate decernere, de qua tot omnibus seculis sectarum plurimarum usque adhuc ipsa Philosophia deliberat. Nec immerito; cum tantum absit ab exploratione divina humana mediocritas, ut neque quae supra nos coela suspensa sublata sunt, neque quae infra terram profunda demersa sunt, aut scire sit datum, aut scrutari permissum, aut stuprare religiosum: et beati satis, satisque prudentes jure videamur, si secundum illud vetus Sapientis oraculum, nosmetipsos familiarius neverimus. Sed quatenus indulgentes insano, atque incepto labori, ultra humilitatis nostrae terminos evagamur, et in terram projecti, coelum ipsum, et ipsa sidera audaci cupiditate transcendimus, vel hunc errorem saltem, non vanis et formidolosis opinionibus implicemus. Sint principio omnium semina natura in se coeunta densata: quis hic auctor Deus? Sint fortuitis concursionibus totius mundi membra coalita, digesta, formata: quis Deus machinator? Sidera licet ignis accenderit, et coelum licet sua materia suspenderit: licet terram fundaverint pordera, et mare licet influxerit liquor: unde haec religio, unde formido, quae superstitione est? Homo et animal omne quod nascitur, inspiratur, attollitur, elementorum ut voluntaria concretio est: in quae rursum homo, et animal omne dividitur, solvit, dissipatur. Ita in fontem refluunt, et in semet omnia revolvuntur, nullo artifice, nec judice, nec auctore. Sic, congregatis ignium seminibus, soles alios atque alios semper splendere. Sic, exhalatis terrae vaporibus, nebulas semper adolescere; quibus densatis coactisque, nubes altius surgere; iisdem labentibus, pluvias fluere, flare ventos, grandines increpare, vel nimbis collidentibus, tonitrua mugire, rutilare fulgura, fulmina praemicare. Adeo passim cadunt, montes irruunt, arboribus incurront, sine delectu tangunt loca sacra et profana, homines noxios feriunt, et saepe religiosos. Quid tempestates loquar varias et incertas; quibus nullo ordine, vel examine, rerum omnium impetus volutatur? In naufragiis, bonorum malorumque fata mixta, merita confusa? In incendiis, interitum convenire insontium nocentiumque? Et cum tabe pestifera coeli tractus inficitur, sine discrimine omnes deperire? Et, cum belli ardore saevitur, meliores potius occumbere? In pace etiam, non tantum aquatur nequitia melioribus, sed et colitur: ut in pluribus nescias, utrum sit eorum detestanda pravitas, an optanda felicitas. Quod si mundus divina providentia, et alicujus numinis auctoritate regeretur, nunquam mereretur Phalaris et Dionysius regnum; nunquam Rutilius et Camillus exilium, nunquam Socrates venenum. Eece arbusta frugifera, ecce jam seges cana, jam temulenta vindemia, imbri corruptitur, grandine caeditur. Adeo aut incerta nobis veritas occultatur et premitur: aut, quod magis credendum est, variis et lubricis casibus, soluta legibus fortuna dominatur. Cum igitur aut fortuna certa, aut incerta natura sit; quanto venerabilius ac melius antistitem veritatis majorum excipere disciplinam? religiones traditas colere? deos, quos a parentibus ante imbutus es timebas, quam nosse familiarius, adorare? nec de numinibus ferre sententiam, sed prioribus credere, qui adhuc rudi seculo in ipsius mundi natalibus, meruerunt deos vel faciles habere, vel reges? Inde adeo per universa imperia, provincias, oppida, videmus singulos sacrorum ritus gentiles habere, et deos colere municipes, ut Eleusinios Cererem, Phrygas Matrem, Epidaurios Æsculapium, Chaldaeos Belum, Astartem Syros, Dianam Taurios, Gallos Mercurium, universa Romanos. Sic eorum potestas auctoritas, totius orbis ambitus occupavit: sic imperium suum ultra Solis vias, et ipsius Oceani limites propagavit, dum exerceant in armis virtutem religiosam, dum urbem muniunt sacrorum religionibus, castis virginibus, multis honoribus ac nominibus sacerdotum: dum obsessi, et citra solum Capitolium capti, colunt deos, quos alius jam sprevisset iratos; et per Gallorum acies mirantium superstitionis audaciam pergunt telis inermes, sed cultu religionis armati: dum captis hostilibus moenibus adhuc ferociente victoria numina victa venerantur: dum undique hospites Deos quaerunt, et suos faciunt: dum aras extruunt etiam ignotis Numinibus, et Manibus. Sic dum universarum gentium sacra suscipiunt, etiam regna meruerunt. Hinc perpetuus venerationis tenor mansit, qui longa aetate non infringitur. Quippe antiquitas ceremoniis atque fanis tantum sanctitatis tribuere consuevit, quantum adstruxerit vetustatis. Nec tamen temere, ausim enim interim et ipse concedere et sic melius errare, majores nostri aut observandis auguriis, aut extis consulendis, aut instituendis sacris, aut delubris dedicandis operam navaverunt. Specta de libris memorias, jam eos comprehendes initiasse ritus omnium religionum, vel ut remuneraretur divina indulgentia, vel ut averteretur imminens ira, aut ut jam tumens et saeviens placaretur. Testis mater Idaea¹, quae adventu suo et probavit matronae castitatem, et urbem metu hostili liberavit. Testes equestrium fratrum² in lacu, sicut ostenderant, statuae consecratae, qui anheli, spumantibus equis atque fumantibus de Perse victoriam, eadem die, qua fecerant, nuntiaverunt. Testis ludorum offensi Jovis de somno plebei hominis iteratio: et Deciorum devotio rata. Testis et Curtius, qui equitis sui vel molo vel honore hiatum profunda voragini coaequavit. ² Ilicitae ac desperatae factionis.—So Christianity was accounted of. Christians had not yet the full toleration of law; and their nocturnal meetings exposed them to all sorts of reproaches at the hand of the heathen, judging of these secret meetings by their own “mysteries.” “Ilicitae” may be explained by what Tertullian says (Apol. cap. 5): “non palam,” &c.; i.e., Aurelius did not go so far as distinctly to receive Christianity into the class of “lawful religions,” though he threatened wanton accusers of the Christians with severe penalties. It only became “religio licita,” in the time of Gallienus, so far that churches could possess property.

Proh! mira stultitia et incredibilis audacia! spernunt tormenta praesentia, dum incerta metuunt et futura: et dum mori post mortem timent, interim mori non timent. Ita illis pavor et fallax spes solatio redivivo blanditur. Ac jam ut fecundius nequiora proveniunt, serpentibus in dies perditis monibus, per orbem sacraria ista teterrima impiae coitionis addescunt. Eruenda prorsus haec, et excranda consensio. Ita eorum vana et demens superstitione sceleribus gloriatur.

Multa praetereo consulto: Nam et haec nimis multa sunt, quae aut omnia, aut pleraque omnium vera declarat ipsius pravae religionis obscuritas. Cur etenim occultare et abscondere quidquid illud colunt magnopere nituntur? cum honesta semper publico gaudeant, scelera secreta sint? cur nullas aras habent, templa nulla, nulla nota simulacula, nunquam palam loqui, nunquam libere congregari, nisi illud quod colunt et interprimunt, aut puniendum est, aut pudendum? Unde autem, vel quis ille, aut ubi Deus unicus, solitarius, destitutus; quem non gens libera, non regna, non saltem Romana superstitione noverunt? Judaeorum sola et misera gentilitas unum et ipsi Deum, sed palam, sed templis, aris, victimis, ceremoniisque coluerunt: cuius adeo nulla vis, nec potestas est, ut sit Romanis numinibus cum sua sibi natione captivus.

At etiam Christiani, quaenam monstra, quae portenta confingunt? Deum illum suum, quem nec ostendere possunt, nec videre, in omnium mores, actus omnium, verba denique, et occultas cogitationes, diligenter inquirere? discentem scilicet, atque ubique praesentem: molestum illum volunt, inquietum, impudenter etiam curiosum. Siquidem adstat factis omnibus, locis omnibus intererrat: cum nec singulis inservire possit per universa districtus, nec universis sufficere in singulis occupatus. Quid? quod toti orbi, et ipsi mundo cum sideribus suis minantur incendium, ruinam molliuntur? quasi aut naturae divinis legibus constitutus aeternus ordo turbetur; aut rupto elementorum omnium flvere, et coelesti compage divisa, moles ista, qua continetur, cingitur, subruatur. Nec hac furiosa opinione contenti aniles fabulas adstruunt et annexunt. Renasci se ferunt post mortem et cineres et favillas: et nescio qua fiducia mendaciis suis invicem credunt. Putes eos jam revixisse. Anceps malum, et gemina dementia! coelo et astris, quao sic relinquimus, ut invenimus, interitum denuntiare: sibi mortuis, extinctis, qui sicut nascimur, et interimus, aeternitatem repromittere. Inde videlicet et exerantur rogos, et damnant ignium sepulturas:¹ Quasi non omne corpus, etsi flammis substrahatur, annis tamen et aetatibus in terram resolvatur; nec intersit, utrum ferae diripiant, an maria consumant: an humus contegat, an flamma subducat: cum cadaveribus omnis sepultura, si sentiunt, poena sit: si non sentiunt, ipsa conficiendi celeritate medicina. Hoc errore decepti beatam sibi, ut bonis, et perpetem vitam mortuis pollicentur; ceteris, ut injustis, poenam sempiternam. Multa ad haec suspetunt, ni festinet oratio. Injustos ipsis, magis nec labore, jam docui; quanquam, etsi justos darem, culpam tamen, vel innocentiam fato tribui sententiis plurimorum et haec vestra consensio est. Nam quidquid

agimus, ut alii fato, ita vos Deo dicitis. Sic sectae vestrae non spontaneos cupere, sed electos. Igitur iniquum judicem singitis, qui sortem in hominibus puniat, non voluntatem. Velle tamen sciscitari, utrumne sine corpore, an cum corporibus? et corporibus quibus ipsisne? an innovatis resurgatur? Sine corpore? Hoc, quod sciām, neque mens, neque anima, nec vita est.¹ Ipso corpore? Sed jam ante dilapsum est. Alio corpore? Ergo homo novus nascitur, non prior ille reparatur. Et tamen tanta aetas abiit, secula innumera fluxerunt, quis unus ullus ab inferis vel Protesilai sorte remeavit, horarum saltem permisso comincatu, vel ut exemplo crederemus? Omnia ista figmenta malesanae opinionis, et inepta solatia a poetis fallacibus in dulcedino carminis lusa, a vobis nimium credulis in Deum vestrum turpiter reformata sunt. Nec saltem de praesentibus capitib[us] experimentum, quam vos irritae pollicitationis cassa vota decipient. Quid post mortem impendeat, miseri! dum adhuc vivitis, aestimate. Ecce pars vestrum et major, melior, ut dicitis, egetis, algetis, opere, fame, laboratis: et Deus patitur, dissimulat; non vult, aut non potest opitulari suis: Ita aut invalidus, aut iniquus est. Tu, qui immortalitatem postumam somnias, cum periculo quateris, cum febribus ureris, cum dolore laceraris, nondum conditionem tuam sentis? nondum agnoscis fragilitatem? invitus miser infirmitatis argueris, nec fateris? Sed omitto communia. Ecce vobis minae, suppicia, tormenta, etiam non adorandae, sed subundae cruces: ignes etiam, quos et praedicatis et timetis: ubi Deus ille, qui subvenire reviviscentibus potest, viventibus non potest? Nonne Romani sine vestro Deo imperant, regnant, fruuntur orbe toto, vestrique dominantur? vos vero suspensi interim atque solliciti, honestis voluptatibus abstinetis: non spectacula visitis, non pompis interestis; convivia publica absque vobis; sacra certamina, praeceptoris cibos, et delibatos altaribus potus abhorretis. Sic reformidatis deos, quos negatis; non floribus caput nectitis, non corpus odoribus honestatis; reservatis unguenta funeribus¹; coronas etiam sepulchris denegatis, pallidi, trepidi, misericordia digni, sed nostrorum deorum: Ita nec resurgentis miseri, nec interim vivitis.

Proinde si quid sapientiae vobis, aut verecundiae est, desinite coeli plagas, et mundi fata et secreta rimari. Satis est pro pedibus aspicere, maximo indoctis, impolitis, rudibus, agrestibus: quibus non est datum intelligere civilia, multo magis denegatum est disserere divina. Quanquam, si philosophandi libido est, Socratem sapientiae principem quisque vestrum tantus est, si poterit, imitetur. Ejus viri, quoties de coelestibus rogabatur, nota responsio est: QUOD SUPRA NOS, NIHIL AD NOS. Merito ergo de oraculo testimonium meruit prudentiae singularis; quod oraculum ipse praesensit, idcirco universis esse praeponitum, non quod omnia comperisset, sed quod nihil se scire didicisset. Ita confessae imperitiae summa prudentia est. Hoc fonte defluxit Arcesilae, et multo post Carneadis et Academicorum plurimorum in summis quaestionibus tuta dubitatio; quo genere philosophari et caute indocti possunt, et docti gloriose. Quid? Simonidis Melici nonne admiranda omnibus, et sectanda cunctatio? qui Simonides, cum de eo, quid, et quales arbitraretur deos ab Hierone tyranno quaereretur, primo deliberationi diem petiit, prostridie biddenum prorogavit, mox alterum tantum admonitus adjunxit; postremo enm causas tantae morae tyrannus inquireret, respondit ille, quod sibi, quanto inquisitio tardior pergeret, tanto veritas fieret obscurior. Mea quoque opinione, quae sunt, dubia, ut sunt, relinquenda sunt: nec tot ac tantis viris deliberantibus temere et audaciter in alteram partem ferenda sententia est; ne aut anilis inducatur supersticio, aut omnis religio destruatur. * * * Cum toto silentio liceat responsionem Januarii¹ nostri, jam gestientis, audire.

Et OCTAVIUS: Dicam equidem, ut potero, pro viribus, et admittendum tibi mecum est, ut conviciorum amarissimam labem verborum veracium flumine diluamus. Nec dissimulabo, principio ita Natalis mei errantem, vagam, lubricam nutasse sententiam, ut sit nobis ambigendum, utrum tua eruditio turbata sit, an vacillaverit per errorem. Nam interim deos credere, interim se deliberare variavit, ut propositionis incerto, incertior responsionis nostrao intentio fundaretur. Sed in Natali meo versutiam nolo, non credo, procul est ab ejus simplicitate subtilis uanitas. Quid igitur? ut qui rectam viam nescit, ubi, ut fit, in plures una diffunditur, quia viam nescit, haeret anxius, nec singulas audet eligere, nec universas probare: sic cui non est veri stabile judicium, prout infida suspicio spargitur, ita ejus dubia opinio dissipatur. Nullum itaque miraculum est, si Cæcilius identidem in contrariis ac repugnantibus jactetur, aestuet, fluctuet: quod ne fiat ulterius, convincam et redarguam, quamvis diversa sint quae dicta sunt, una veritate confirmata probataque. Nec dubitandum ei de cetero est, nec vagandum. Et quoniam meus frater erupit aegre so ferre, stomachari, indignari, dolere, illiteratos, pauperes, imperitos, de rebus coelestibus disputare: sciat omnes homines sine delectu aetatis, sexus, dignitatis, rationis et sensus capaces et habiles procreatos; nec fortuna nactos, sed natura insitos esse sapientiam: quin ipsos etiam philosophos, vel si qui alii artium repertores in memorias exierunt, priusquam sollertia mentis parerent nominis claritatem, habitos esse plebeios, indoctos, seminudos: at vero divites facultatibus suis illigatos, magis aurum suspicere consuēsse, quam coelum; nostrates pauperes, et commentos esse prudentiam, et tradidisse ceteris disciplinam. Unde apparet ingenium non dari facultatibus, nec studio parari, sed cum ipsa mentis formatione generari. Nihil itaque indignandum, vel dolendum, si quicunque de divinis quaerat, sentiat, proferat ; cum non disputantis auctoritas, sed disputationis ipsius veritas requiratur : atque etiam, quo imperitior sermo, hoc illustrior ratio est : quoniam non fucatur pompa facundiae et gratiae, sed, ut est, recti regula sustinetur. Nec recuso, quod Caeclius asserere inter praecipua connisus est, hominem nosse se, et circumspicere debere, quid sit, unde sit, quare sit ; utrum elementis concretus, an concinnatus atomis, an potius a Deo factus, formatus, animatus ? Quod ipsum explorare et eruere sine universitatis inquisitione non possumus, cum ita cohaerentia, connexa, concatenata sint, ut, nisi divinitatis rationem diligenter excusseris, nescias humanitatis ; nec possis pulchre gerero rem civilem, nisi cognoveris hanc communem omnium mundi civitatem : praecipue cum a feris belluis hoc differamus, quod illa prona, in terramque vergentia, nihil nata sint prospicere, nisi pabulum : nos quibus vultus erectus, quibus suspectus in coelum datus est, sermo, et ratio, per quae Deum agnoscimus, sentimus, imitamur, ignorare nec fas nec licet ingerentem sese oculis, et sensibus nostris coelestem claritatem, Sacrilegii enim vel maximi instar est, humi quererere, quod in sublimi debeas invenire. Quo magis mihi videntur, qui hunc mundi totius ornatum non divina ratione perfectum volunt, sed frustis quibusdam temere cohaerentibus congregatum, mentem, sensum, oculos denique ipsos non habere. Quid enim potest esse tam apertum, tam confessum, tamque perspicuum cum oculos in coelum sustuleris, et quae sunt infra circaque lustraveris, quam esse aliquod numen praestantissimae mentis, quo omnis natura inspiretur, moveatur, alatur, gubernetur ? Coelum ipsum vide, quam late tenditur, quam rapide volvit, vel quod in noctem astris distinguitur, vel quod in diem sole lustratur ; jam scies quam sit in eo summi moderatoris mira et divina libratio. Vide et annum, ut solis ambitus faciat, et mensem vide ut luna auctu, senio, labore circumagat. Quid tenebrarum et luminis dicam recursantes vices, ut sit nobis operis et quietis alterna reparatio ? Re-linquenda vero astrologis prolixior de sideribus oratio, vel quod regant cursum navigandi, vel quod arandi, metendique tempus inducant: quae singula non modo ut erarentur, fierent, disponerentur, summi opificis, et perfectae rationis eguerunt, verum etiam sentiri, perspici, intelligi, sine summa sollertia et ratione non possunt. Quid? cum ordo temporum ac frugum stabili varietate distinguitur, nonne auctorem suum, parentemque testatur? Ver aequum cum suis floribus, et aestas cum suis messibus, et autumni maturitas grata, et hiberna olivitas necessaria: qui ordo facile turbaretur, nisi maxima ratione consisteret. Jam providentiae quantae, ne hiems sola glacie ureret, aut sola aestas ardore torreret, autumni et veris inserere medium temperamentum, ut per vestigia sua anni revertentis occulti et innoxii transitus laberentur. Mari intende, lege litoris stringitur. Quidquid arborum est vide, quam e terrae visceribus animatur. Aspice Oceanum, refluit reciprocis aestibus: vide fontes, manant venis perennibus: fluvios intuere, eunt semper exercitis lapsibus. Quid loquar apte disposita recta montium, collium flexa, porrecta camporum? Quidve animantium loquar adversus sese tutelam multiformem? alias armatas cornibus, alias dentibus septas, et fundatas unguulis, et spicatas aculeis, aut pedum celeritate liberas, aut elatione pinnarum? Ipsa praeceps formae nostrae pulchritudo Deum fatetur artificem, status rigidus, vultus erectus, oculi in summo, velut in specula constituti, et omnes ceteri sensus velut in arce compositi. Longum est ire per singula. Nihil in homine membrorum est, quod non et necessitatis causa sit, et decoris: et, quod magis mirum est, eadem figura omnibus, sed quaedam unicuique lineamenta deflexa: Sic et similes universi videmur, et inter se singuli dissimiles invenimur. Quid nascendi ratio? quid cupidio generandi? nonne a Deo data est? et ut ubera partu matuscendo lactescant, et ut tener foetus ubertate lactei roris adolescat?

Nec universitati solummodo Deus, sed et partibus consultit. Britannia sole deficitur, sed circumfluentis maris tempore recreatur. Aegypti siccitatem temporat Nilus; colit Euphrates Mesopotamiam; Indus et serere Orientem dicitur, et rigare. Quod si ingressus aliquam domum, omnia exulta, disposita, ornata vidisses, utique præses ei crederes dominum, et illis bonis rebus multo esse meliorem: ita in hac mundi domo, cum coelum terramque perspicias, providentiam, ordinem, legem, crede esse universitatis dominum, parentemque, ipsis sideribus, et totius mundi partibus pulchriorem. Ni forte, quoniam de providentia nulla dubitatio est, inquirendum putas, utrum unius imperio, an arbitrio plurimorum coeleste regnum gubernetur? quod ipsum non est multi laboris aperire cogitanti imperia terrena, quibus exempla utique de coelo. Quando unquam regni societas aut cum fide coepit, aut sine cruro discessit? Omitto Persas de equorum hinnitu augurantes principatum, et Thebanorum par mortuum, fabulam, transeo. Ob pastorum et casae regnum de geminis memoria notissima est. Generi et socii bella toto orbe diffusa sunt, et tam magni imperii duos fortuna non cepit. Vide cetera. Rex unus apibus, dux unus in gregibus, in armentis rector unus: tu in coelo summam potestatem dividi credas, et scindi veri illius ac divini imperii totam potestatem? cum palam sit parentem omnium Deum nec principium habere, nec terminum; qui nativitatem omnibus praestet, sibi perpetuitatem: qui ante mundum fuerit sibi ipse pro mundo; qui universa quaecunque sunt, verbo jubet, ratione dispensat, virtute consummat. Hic nec videri potest, visu clarior est; nec comprehendi, tactu purior est; nec aestimari, sensibus major est, infinitus, immensus, et soli sibi, tantus quantus est, notus. Nobis vero ad intellectum pectus angustum est: et ideo sic eum digne aestimamus, dum inaestimabilem dicimus. Eloquar quemadmodum sentio; magnitudinem Dei, qui se putat nosse, minuit: qui non vult minuere, non novit. Nec nomen Deo quaeras, Deus nomen est: illic vocabulis opus est, cum per singulos propriis appellationum insignibus multitudine dirimenda est: Deo, qui solus est, Dei vocabulum totum est; quem si patrem dixeris, terrenum opineris; si regem, carnalem susperieris; si dominum, intelliges utique mortalem. Aufer additamenta nominum, et perspicies ejus claritatem. Quid i quod omnium de isto habeo consensum? Audio vulgus, cum ad coelum manus tendunt nihil aliud quam Deum dicunt, et, Deus magnus est, et, Deus verus est: et, si Deus dederit: vulgi iste naturalis sermo est, an Christiani confi-tentis oratio? Et qui Jovem principem volunt, falluntur in nomine, sed de una potestate consentiunt. Audio poetas quoque unum patrem divum atque hominum praedicantes, et talem esse mortalium mentem, qualem parens omnium diem duxerit. Quid Mantuanus Maro? nonne apertius, proxi-mius, verius? Principio, ait, coelum et terras, (et cetera mundi membra), spiritus intus alit, et infusa mens agitat: inde hominum pecudumque genus, et quidquid aliud anima-lium. Idem alio loco, mentem istam et spiritum Deum nominat. Haec enim ejus verba sunt. *Deum namque ire per omnes terrasque tractusque maris, coelumque profundum: unde homines et pecudes, unde imber et ignes.*¹ Quid aliud et a nobis Deus, quam mens, et ratio, et spiritus praed-icatur? Recensemus, si placet, disciplinam philosophorum; deprehendes eos, etsi sermonibus variis, ipsis tamen rebus in hanc unam coire et conspirare sententiam. Omitto illos rudes et veteres, qui de suis dictis sapientes esse me-ruerunt. Sit Thales Milesius omnium primus, qui primus omnium de coelestibus disputavit. Idem Milesius Thales rerum initium aquam dixit: Deum autem eam mentem, qua ex aqua cuneta formaverit; eo altior et sublimior aqueae et spiritus ratio, quam ut ab homine potuerit inveniri, a Deo tradita. Vides philosophi principalis nobiscum penitus opinionem consonare. Anaximenes deinceps, et post Apolloniates Diogenes aera Deum statuunt, infinitum, et immensum. Horum quoque similis de divinitate consensio

est. Anaxagorae vero, descriptio et motus infinitae mentis Deus dicitur. Et Pythagorae Deus est animus, per universam rerum naturam commens et intentus: ex quo etiam animalium omnium vita capiatur. Xenophanem notum est, omne infinitum cum mente, Deum tradere: et Antisthenem, populares deos multos, sed naturalem unum praecepit. Speusippum vim naturalem, arimalem, qua omnia regantur, Deum nosse. Quid Democritus? quamvis atomorum primus inventor, nonne plerumque naturam, quae imagines fundat, et intelligentiam, Deum loquitur? Straton quoque et ipse naturam. Etiam Epicurus ille, qui deos aut otiosos fingit, aut nullos, naturam tamen superponit. Aristoteles variat, et assignat tamen unam potestatem. Nam interim mentem, mundum interim Deum dicit, interim mundo Deum praeficit. Heraclides Ponticus quoque Deo divinam mentem, quamvis varie, adscribit, alias mundo, alias menti divinae tribuens principatum. Theophrastus, et Zenon, et Chrysippus, et Cleanthes, sunt et ipsi multiformes, sed ad unitatem providentiae omnes revolvuntur. Cleanthes enim mentem, modo animum, modo aethera, plerumque rationem deum disseruit. Zenon ejusdem magister naturalem legem atque divinam, et aethera interim, interdumque rationem vult omnium esse principium: Idem interpretando Junonem aera, Jovem coelum, Neptunum mare, ignem esse Vulcanum, et ceteros similiter vulgi deos elementa esse monstrando, publicum arguit graviter et revincit errorem. Eadem fere Chrysippus, vim divinam, rationalem naturam, et mundum interim, et fatalem necessitatem Deum credit; Zenonemque interpretatione physiologiae in Hesiodi, Homeri, Orpheique et minibus imitatur. Babylonio etiam Diogeni disciplina est exponendi et disserendi Jovis partum, et ortum Minervae, et hoc genus cetera, erum vocabula esse, non deorum. Nam Socratus Xenophon formam Dei veri negat videri posse, et ideo queri non oportere: Aristo Chius comprehendi omnino non posse. Uterque majestatem Dei, intelligendi desperatione senserunt. Platoni apertior de Deo, et rebus ipsis, et nominibus oratio est, et quae tota esset coelestis, nisi persuasionis civilis nonnumquam admixtione sordesceret. Platoni itaque in Timaeo Deus est ipso suo nomine mundi parens, artifex animae, coelestium terrorumque fabricator: quem et invenire difficile, prae nimia et incredibili potestate, et cum inveneris, in publicum dicere impossibile praefatur. Eadem fere et ista quae nostra sunt: Nam et Deum novimus, et parentem omnium dicimus; et nunquam publice nisi interrogati praedicamus.

Exposui opiniones omnium ferme philosophorum, quibus illustrior gloria est, Deum unum multis licet designasse nominibus: ut quivis arbitretur, aut nunc Christianos philosophos esse, aut philosophos fuisse jam tune Christianos. Quod si providentia mundus regitur, et unius Dei nutu gubernatur, non nos debet antiquitas imperitorum fabellis suis delectata, vel capta, ad errorem mutui rapere consensus: cum philosophorum suorum sententiis refellatur, quibus et rationis et vetustatis adsistit auctoritas. Majoribus enim nostris tam facilis in mendacis fides fuit, ut temere crediderint etiam alia monstruosa, mira miracula: Scyllam multiplicem, Chimaeram multiformem, et Hydram felicibus vulneribus renascentem, et Centauros equos suis hominibus implexos, et quidquid famae licet fingere, illis erat libenter audire. Quid illas aniles fabulas, de hominibus aves, et feras homines, et de hominibus arbores atque flores? quae si essent facti, fierent; quia fieri non possunt, ideo nec facta sunt. Similiter ac vero erga deos quoque, majores nostri improvidi, creduli, rudi simplicitate crediderunt: dum reges suos colunt religiose, dum defunctos eos desiderant in imaginibus videre, dum gestiunt eorum memorias in statuis detinere, sacra facta sunt quae fuerant adsumpta solatia. Denique antequam commerciis orbis pateret, et antequam gentes ritus suos moresque miscerent, unaquaeque natio conditorem suum, aut ducem inclytum, aut reginam pudicam sexu suo fortiorem, aut alicujus munericis vel artis repertorem venerabatur, ut civem bonae memoriae. Sic et defunctis praemium, et futuris dabatur exemplum. Lege Stoicorum scripta, vel scripta sapientium, eadem mecum recognoscet: ob merita virtutis aut munericis deos habitos. Euhemerus exsequitur, et eorum natales, patrias, sepulchra dinumerat, et per provincias monstrat: Dictaei Jovis, et Apollinis Delphici, Phariae Isidis, et Cereris Eleusinac. Prodicus assumptos in deos loquitur, qui errando inventis novis frugibus utilitati hominum profuere. In eandem sententiam et Perseus philosophatur, et aduectit inventas fringes et frugum ipsarum repertores iisdem nominibus, ut Comicus sermo est, Venerem sine Liberò et Cerere frigere. Alexander ille magnus Maceedo insigni volumine ad matrem suam scripsit, metu suae potestatis proditum sibi de diis hominibus a sacerdotę secretum. Illic Vulcanum facit omnium principem, et postea Jovis gentem; de spicis Isis ad hirundinem sistrum, et dispersis membris inanem tui Serapidis sive Osiridis tumulum. Considera denique sacra ipsa et ipsa mysteria, invenies exitus tristes, fata et funera, et luctus, atque planetus miserorum deorum. Isis perditum filium cum Cynocephalo suo et calvis sacerdotibus luget, plangit, inquirit: et Isiaci miseri caedunt pectora, et dolorem infelissimae matris imitantur: mox, invento parvulo, gaudet Isis, exultant sacerdotes, Cynocephalus inventor gloriatur: nec desinunt annis omnibus vel perdere quod inveniunt, vel invenire quod perdunt. Nonne ridiculum est, vel lugere quod colas, vel colere quod lugeas? Haec tamen Egyptia quondam, nunc et sacra Romana sunt. Ceres facibus aicensis, et serpente circumdata, errore subreptam et corruptam Liberam anxia et sollicita vestigat. Haec sunt Eleusinia. Et quae Jovis sacra sunt? nutrix capella est, et avido patri subtrahitur infans, ne voretur, et Corybantium cymbalis, ne pater audiat vagitus, tinnitus cliditur. Cybelae Dindyma pudet dicere, quae adulterum suum infeliciter placitum, quoniam et ipsa deformis et vetula, ut multorum deorum mater, ad stuprum illicere non poterat, exsecuit, ut deum scilicet faceret eunuchum. Propter hanc fabulam Galli eam et semiviri sui corporis suppicio colunt. Haec jam non sunt sacra, tormenta sunt. Quid formae ipsae et habitus? nonne arguunt ludibria et dedecora deorum vestrorum? Vulcanos claudus Deus, et debilis: Apollo tot aetatibus levis: Æsculapius bene barbatus, etsi semper adolescentis Apollinis filius: Neptunus glaucis oculis, Minerva caesiis, bubulis Juno: pedibus Mercurius alatis, Pan ungulatis, Saturnus compeditis: Janus vero frontes duas gestat, quasi ut aversus incedat: Diana interim est alte succincta venatrix: et Ephesia mammis multis, et uberibus extracta: et Trivia trinis capitibus, multis manibus horrifica. Quid ipse Jupiter vester? modo imberbis statuitur, modo barbatus locatur: et cum Hammon dicitur, habet cornua; et cum Capitolinus, tunc gerit fulmina; et cum Latiaris, cruento perfunditur; et cum Feretrius, non auditur. Et ne longius multos Jovis obeam, tot sunt Jovis monstra quot nomina. Erigone suspensa de laqueo est, ut virgo inter astra ignatis: Castores alternis moriuntur, ut vivant: Aesculapius ut in Deum surgat, fulminatur: Hercules, ut hominem exuat, Getaeis ignibus concrematnr. Ilas fabulas et errores et ab imperitis parentibus discimus, et, quod est gravius, ipsis studiis et disciplinis elaboramus, carminibus praecipue poetarum, qui plurimum quantum veritati ipsa sua auctoritate nocuere. Et Plato ideo praeclare Homerum¹ illum inclutum laudatum et coronatum, de civitate, quam in sermone instituebat, ejecit. Illic enim praecepsus bello Troico deos vestros, etsi lodos facit, tamen in hominum rebus et actibus miserit. * * * * *

Unde manifestum est, homines illes fuisse, quos et natos legimus, et mortuos scimus. Quis ergo dubitat horum imagines consecratas vulgus orare, et publice colere; dum opinio et mens imperitorum artis concinnitate decipitur, auri fulgore praestringitur, argenti nitore et candore eboris habebatur? Quod si in animum quis inducat, tormentis quibus, et quibus machinis simulaerum omne formetur, erubescet timere se materiem, ab artifice, ut deum faceret, illusam. Deus enim ligneus, rogi fortasse, vel infelicis stipitis portio, suspenditur, caeditur, dolatur, runcinatur: Et deus aereus vel argenteus de immundo vasculo, ut saepius factum Aegyptio regi, conflatur, tunditur malleis, et ineudibus figuratur: et lapideus caeditur, scalpitur, et ab impurato homine levigatur: nec sentit suae nativitatis injuriam. ita ut nec postea de vestrae veneratione culturam; nisi forte nondum deus saxum est, vel lignum, vel argentum. Quando igitur hic nascitur? ecce funditur, fabricatur, scalpitur. Nondum deus est. Ecce plumbatur, construitur, erigitur. Nec adhuc deus est. Ecce ornatur, consecratur, oratur. Tunc postremo deus est; cum homo illum voluit. et dedicavit. Quanta vero de diis vestris animalia muta naturaliter judicant? mures, hirundines, milvi, non sentire eos sciunt, rodunt, inculcant, incident, ac nisi abigatis, in ipso dei vestri ore nidificant. Araneae vero faciem ejus intexunt, et de ipso capite sua fila suspendunt. Vos tergitis, mundatis, eraditis, et illos, quos facitis, protegitis et timetis. Dum unusquisque vestrum non cogitat, prius se debere deum nosse, quam colere: dum inconsulte gestiunt parentibus obedire: dum fieri malunt alieni erroris accessio, quam sibi credere: dum nihil ex his quae timent, norunt; sic in auro et argento avaritia consecrata est; sic statuarum inanium consignata forma; sic nata Romana supersticio, quorum ritus, si percenseas, ridenda quammulta, multa etiam miseranda sunt.

Quid irreligiosius, quid audacius, quid ipsa sceleris confidentia tutius? Jam finitimos agro pellere, civitates proximas evrtere cum templis et altaribus: captos cogere: damnis alienis, et suis sceleribus adolescere, cum Romulo, regibus ceteris, et postremis ducibus disciplina communis est. Ita quidquid Romani tenent, colunt, possident, audaciae praeda est: templa omnia de manubiis, id est, de ruinis urbium, de spoliis deorum, de caedibus sacerdotum. Hoc insultare et illudere est, victis religionibus servire, captivas eas post victorias adorare. Nam adorare quae manu ceperis, sacrilegium est consecrare, non numina. Toties ergo Romanis impiatum est, quoties triumphatum: Tot de diis spolia, quot de gentibus et tropaea. Igitur Romani non ideo tanti quod religiosi, sed quod impune sacrilegi. Neque enim potuerunt in ipsis bellis deos adjutores habere, adversus quos arma rapuerunt, et quos post cladem detriumphatos colere coeprunt. Quid autem isti dii pro Romanis possunt, qui nihil pro suis adversus eorum arma valuerunt? Romanorum enim vernaculos deos novimus. Romulus, Picus, Tiberinus, et Consus, et Pilumnus ac Picumnus dii. Cloacinam Tatius et invenit et coluit: Pavorem Hostilius atque Pallorem. Mox a nescio quo Febris dedicata: haec alumna urbis istius superstitionis, morbi et malae valetudines. Sane et Acca Larentia, et Flora, meretrices propudosae, inter morbos Romanorum et deos computandae. Isti scilicet adversus ceteros, qui in gentibus colebantur, Romanorum imperium protulerunt. Nequo enim eos adversum suos homines vel Mars Thracius, vel Jupiter Creticus, vel Juno nunc Argiva, nunc Samia, nunc Poena, nunc Diana Taurica, vel mater Idaea, vel Aegyptia illa non numina, sed portenta juverunt. * * * Eos spiritus daemonas esse poetae sciunt, philosophi disserunt, Socrates novit, qui ad nutum et arbitrium assidentis sibi daemonis vel declinabat negotia, vel petebat. Magi quoque, non tantum sciunt demonas, sed etiam quidquid miraculi ludunt, per daemonas faciunt. Illis aspirantibus et infudentibus praestigias edunt: vel quae non sunt, videri, vel quae sunt, non videri. Eorum et Magorum eloquio et negotio primus Hostanes, et verum Deum merita majestate prosequitur; et angelos, id est, ministros et nuntios Dei, sed veri, ejusque venerationi novit assistere: ut et nutu ipso, et vultu domini territi contremiscant. Idem etiam daemonas prodidit terrenas, vagos, humanitatis inimicos. Quid Plato? qui invenire Deum negotium credidit, nonne et angelos sine negotio narrat et daemonas? et in Symposio etiam suo naturam daemonum exprimere connititur? vult enim esse substantiam inter mortalem immortalemque, id est, inter corpus et spiritum, medium, terreni ponderis at coelestis levitatis admixtione concretam, ex qua movet etiam in nos procupidinem amoris, et dicit informari et labi peccatoribus humanis, et sensum movere, et affectus fingere, et ardorem cupiditatis infundere. Isti igitur impuri spiritus, daemones, ut ostensum a Magis, a philosophis, et a Platone, sub statuis et imaginibus consecrati delitescant, et afflatus suo auctoritatem quasi praesentis numinis consequuntur, dum inspirantur interim vatibus, dum fanis immorantur, dum nonnumquam extorum fibras animant, avium volatus gubernant, sortes regunt, oracula efficiunt falsis pluribus involuta. Nam et falluntur, et fallunt, ut et nescientes sinceram veritatem, et quam sciunt, in perditionem sui non confitentes. * * * * *

Ipsis testibus esse eos daemons de se verum confitentibus credite. Adjurati enim per Deum verum et solum, inviti, miseri, corporibus inhorrescent; et vel exiliunt statim, vel evanescunt gradatim, prout fides patientis adjuvat, aut gratia curantis aspirat. Sic Christianos de proximo fugitant, quos longe in coetibus per vos lacescebant. Ideo inserti mentibus imperitorum, odium nostri serunt occulte per timorem. Naturale est enim et odisse, quem timeas, et quem metueris, infestare, si possis. Sic occupant animos, et obstruant pectora, ut ante nos incipient homines odisse, quam nosse: ne cognitos aut imitari, possint, aut damnare non possint. Quam autem iniquum sit, ineognitis et inexplicatis judicare, quod facitis, nobis ipsis poenitentibus credite; et nos enim idem fuimus, et eadem vobisecum quondam adhuc caeci et hebetes sentiebamus: quasi Christiani monstra colerent, infantes vorarent, convivia incesta miscerent: nec intelligebamus ab his fabulas istas semper ventilari, et nunquam vel investigari, vel probari, nec tanto tempore aliquem existere qui proderet, non tantum facti veniam, verum etiam indicii gratiam consecuturum. Malum autem adeo non esse, ut Christianus reus nec erubesceret, nec timeret, et unum solummodo, quod non ante fuerit, poeniteret. * * * * *

His enim et hujusmodi fabulis iidem daemons ad execrationis horrorem imperitorum aures adversus nos refererunt. Nec tamen mirum, cum omnium fama quae semper insparsis mendaciis alitur, ostensa veritate consumitur. Sic est negotium daemonum: Ab ipsis enim rumor falsus et soritur, et fovetur. Inde est quod audire te dicas caput asini rem nobis esse divinam. Quis tam stultus ut hoc colat? quis stultior ut hoc coli credat? nisi quod vos et tutos asinos in stabulis cum vestra Epona consecratis, et eosdem asinos cum Iside religiose devotatis: item boum capita, et capita vervecum, et immolatis, et colitis: de capro etiam et homine mixtos deos, et leonum et canum vultus deos dedieatis. Nonne et Apim bovem cum Aegyptiis adoratis et pascitis? nec eorum sacra damnatis instituta serpentibus, crocodilis, belluis ceteris, et avibus, et piscibus; quorum aliquem Deum si quis occiderit, etiam capite punitur. * * * *

Etiam principibus et regibus, non ut magnis et electis viris, sicut fas est, sed ut deis turpiter adulatio falsa blanditur, cum et praeclaro viro honor verius, et optimo amor dulcior praebatur. Sic eorum numen vocant, ad imagines supplicant, genium, id est, daemonem ejus, implorant, et est eis tutius per Jovis genium pejorare, quam regis.¹ Cruces etiam nec colimus, nec optamus. Vos plane qui ligneos deos consecratis, cruces ligneas, ut deorum vestrorum partes, forsitan adoratis. * * * *

Convivia non tantum pudica colimus, sed et sobria. Nec enim indulgemus epulis, aut convivium nero ducimus, sed gravitate hilaritatem temperamus. Casto sermone, corpore castiore, plerique inviolati corporis virginitate perpetua fruuntur potius quam gloriantur. Tantum denique abest incesti cupido, ut non nullis rubori sit etiam pudica conjunctio. Nec de ultima statim plebe consistimus, si honores vestros et purpuras recusamus: nec fastidiosi sumus, si omnes unum [bonum] sapimus eadem congregati quiete, qua singuli: nec in angulis garruli, si audire nos publice aut erubescitis, aut timetis. Et quod in dies nostri numerus augetur, non est crimen erroris, sed testimonium laudis. Nam in pulchro genere vivendi et perstat et perseveret suus, et accrescit alienus. Sic nos denique non notaculo corporis²,

² Notaculo corporis.—To reconcile this with the fact related by several historians, as to some Christians, we may understand Min. Felix to disown any imposed custom of this sort. Some (as Heraldus and Davies) suppose in this disclaimer a reference to the Carpocratians—a Gnostic sect. Ireneus, or his translator, mentions some badges—heathen, not Christian—as used by that sect, also their use of pictures and images. So Augustine, ut putatis, sed innocentia ac modestiae signo facile dignoscimus. Sic mutuo, quod doletis, amore diligimus, quoniam odisse non novimus: sic nos, quod invidetis, fratres vocamus, ut unius Dei parentis homines, ut consortes fidei, ut spei coheredes. Vos enim nec invicem agnoscitis, et in mutua odia saevitis: nec fratres vos, nisi sane ad parricidium recognoscitis. Putatis autem nos occultare quod colimus, si delubra et aras non habemus? Quod enim simulaerum Deo fingam, cum si recte existimes, sit Dei homo ipse simulacrum? templum quod ei extruam, cum totus hic mundus, ejus opere fabricatus, eum capere non possit? et cum homo latius maneam, intra unum aediculam vim tantae majestatis includam? Nonne melius in nostra dedicandus est mente? in nostro imo consecrandus est pectore¹? Hostias et victimas Domino offeram, quas in usum mei protulit, ut rejiciam ei suum munus? ingratum est: cum sit litabilis hostia, bonus animus, et pura mens, et sincera conscientia. Igitur qui innocentiam colit, Domino supplicat: qui justitiam, Deo libat: qui fraudibus abstinet, propitiat Deum: qui hominem periculo subripit, opimam victimam caedit. Haec nostra sacrificia, haec Dei sacra sunt. Sic apud nos religiosior est ille, qui justior. At enim quem colimus Deum, nec ostendimus, nec videmus. Immo ex hoc Deum credimus, quod eum sentire possumus, videre non possumus. In operibus enim ejus, et in mundi omnibus motibus virtutem ejus semper praesentem aspicimus, cum tonat, fulgurat, fulminat, cum serenat. Nec mireris si Deum non vides. Vento et flatibus omnia impelluntur, vibrantur, agitantur, et sub oculis tamen non venit ventus et flatus. In sole adeo, qui viden^{ti} omnibus causa est, videre non possumus: radiis acies submovetur, obtutus intuentis hebetatur: et si diutius inspicias, omnis visus extinguitur. Quid? ipsum artificem, illum luminis fontem poss's sustinere, cum te ab ejus fulgoribus avertas, a fulminibus abscondas? Deum oculis carnalibus vis videre, cum ipsam animam qua vificaris et loqueris, nec aspicere possis, nec tenere? Sed enim Deus actum hominis ignorat: et in coelo constitutus non potest aut omnes obire aut singulos nosse. Erras o homo, et falleris. Unde enim Deus longe est, cum omnia caelestia, terrenaque, et quae extra istam orbis provinciam sunt, Deo cognita, plena sint? ubique non tantum nobis proximus, sed infusus est. * * * * *

Sed Judaeis nihil profuit quod unum et ipsi Deum aris atque templis maxima superstitione, coluerunt. Ignorantia laberis, si priorum aut oblitus aut inscius, posterium recordoraris. Nam et ipsi, Deum nostrum, idem enim omnium Deus est, quandiu caste, innoxie, religioseque coluerunt, quandiu praecepitis salubribus obtemperaverunt, de paucis innumeri facti, de egentibus divites, de servientibus reges: modici multos, inermi armatos dum fugiunt insequentes, Dei jussu, et elementis admittentibus oberueunt. Scripta eorum relege, vel si Romanis magis gaudes, ut transeamus veteres, Flavii Josephi, vel Antonii Juliani, de Judaeis require; jam scies nequitia sua hanc eos meruisse fortunam: nec quidquam accidisse, quod non sit his, si in contumacia perseverarent, ante praedictum. Ita prius eos deseruisse comprehendes, quam esse desertos: nec, ut impie loqueris, cum Deo suo captos, sed a Deo, ut disciplinae transfugas, deditos.

Ceterum de incendio mundi, aut improvisum ignem cadere, aut difficile, non credere, vulgaris erroris est. Quis enim sapientium dubitat, quis ignorat, omnia quae orta sunt occidere? quae facta sunt interire? Caelum quoque cum omnibus, quae caelo continentur, ita ut coepisse, desinere? Fontium dulces aquas marisve nutriri in vim ignis abitum Stoicis constans opinio est: quod consumpto humore mundus hic omnis ignescat; et Epicuries de elementorum conflagratione et mundi ruina eadem ipsa sententia est. Loquitur Plato partes orbis nunc inundare, nunc alternis vicibus ardescere, et cum ipsum mundum perpetuum, et insolubilem diceret esse fabricatum, addit tamen, ipsi artifici, Deo soli, et solubilem, et esse mortalem. Ita nihil mirum est, si ista moles ab eo, quo extracta est, destruatur. * * *

Porro difficilius est id, quod non sit, ineipere, quam id quod fuerit iterare. Tu perire et Deo credis, si quid oculis nostris hebetibus subtrahitur? Corpus omne, sive arescit in pulverem, sive in humorem solvit, vel in cinerem compimitur, vel in nidorem tenuatur, sublucitur nobis; sed Deo elementorum custodi reservatur. Nec, ut creditis, ullum damnum sepulturae timemus, sed veterem, et meliorem consuetudinem humandi frequentamus. Vide adeo quam in solatium nostri resurrectionem futuram omnis natura meditetur. Sol demergit, et nascitur; astra labuntur, et redeunt; flores occidunt, et reviviscunt: post senium arbusta frondescunt; semina non nisi corrupta revirescunt. Ita corpus in seculo, ut arbores in hiberno, occultant virorem ariditate mentita. Quid festinas ut crux adhuc hieme reviviscat et redeat? expectandum nobis etiam corporis ver est. Nec ignoro plerosque conscientia meritorum nihil se esse post mortem magis optare, quam credere. Malunt enim extingui penitus, quam ad supplicia reparari. Quorum error augetur, et in seculo libertate remissa, et Dei patientia maxima, cuius quanto judicium tardum, tanto magis justum est. Et tamen admonentur homines doctissimorum libris, et carminibus poetarum; illius ignei fluminis, et de Stygia palude saepius ambientis ardoris, quae cruciatibus aeternis praeparata, et daemonum indicis, et de oraculis prophetarum cognita tradiderunt. Et ideo apud eos etiam ipse rex Jupiter per torrentes ripas, et atram voraginem jurat religiose.¹ Destinatam enim sibi cum suis cultoribus, paenam praescius perhorrescit. * * * * *

Et quamquam imperitia Dei sufficiat ad poenam, ita ut notitia prosit ad veniam ; tamen si vobiscum Christiani comparemur, quamvis in nonnullis disciplina nostra minor est, multo tamen vobis meliores deprehendemur. Vos enim adulteria prohibetis, et facitis ; nos uxoribus nostris solummodo viri nascimur. Vos scelera admissa punitis ; apud nos et cogitare peccare est : vos conscientia timetis ; nos etiam conscientiam solam, sine qua esse non possumus. Denique de vestro numero carcer exaestuat : Christianus ibi nullus, nisi aut reus suae religionis, aut profugus.¹ Nec de fato quisquam aut solarium captot aut excuset ; eventum sit sortis Fortunae, mens tamen libera est : et ideo actus hominis, non dignitas judicatur. * * * *

Ceterum, quod plerique pauperes dicimus, non est infamia nostra, sed gloria. Animus enim, ut luxu solvitur, ita frugalitate firmatur. Et tamen quis potest pauper esse, qui non eget ? qui non inhiat alieno ? qui Deo dives est ? magis pauper ille est, qui cum multa habeat, plura desiderat. Dicam tandem quemadmodum sentio : nemo tam pauper potest esse, quam natus est. Aves sine patrimonio vivunt, et in diem pecua pascuntur : et haec nobis tamen nata sunt : quae omnia, si non concupiscimus, possidemus. Igitur ut qui viam terit eo felicior, quo levior incedit : ita beatior in hoc itinere vivendi, qui paupertate se sublevat, non sub divitiarum onere suspirat. Et tamen facultates, si utiles putaremus, a Deo posceremus. Utique indulgere posset aliquantum, cuius est totum. Sed nos contemnere malum opes, quam contineare. Innocentiam magis cupimus, magis patientiam flagitamus : malum nos bonos esse, quam prodigos. Et quod corporis humana vitia sentimus et patimur, non est poena, militia est. Fortitudo enim infirmatibus roboratur, et calamitas saepius disciplina virtutis est : vires denique et mentis, et corporis sine laboris exercitatione torpescunt. Omnes adeo vestri viri fortes, quos in exemplum praedicatis, aerumnis suis incliti floruerunt. Itaque et nobis Deus nec non potest subvenire, nec despicit; cum sit et omnium rector, et amator suorum: sed in adversis unumquemque explorat et examinat; ingenium singulorum periculis pensitat; usque ad extremam mortem voluntatem hominis sciscitatur, nihil sibi posse perire securus. Itaque ut aurum ignibus, sic nos discriminibus arguimur. * * * * *

Nec intelligitis, ô miseri, neminem esse, qui aut sine ratione velit poenam subire, aut tormenta sine Deo possit sustinere. Nisi forte vos decipit, quod deum nescientes divitiis afluant, honoribus florent, polleant potestatis. Miseri! in hoc altius tolluntur, ut decidant altius. Huius enim ut victimae ad supplicium saginantur, ut hostiae ad poenam coronantur. In hoc adeo quidam imperiis ac dominationibus eriguntur, ut ingenium eorum perditae mentes licentia potestatis libere nundinentur. Absque enim notitia Dei quae potest esse solida felicitas? cum mors sit. Somnio similis: Antequam tenetur, elabitur. Rex es? tam times, quam timeris. Et quamlibet sis multo comitatu stipatus, ad periculum tamen solus es. Dives es? sed fortunae male creditur, et magno viatico breve vanus error hominis et inanus cultus dignitatis, fulgere purpura, mente sordescere. Nobilitate generosus es? parentes tuos laudas? omnes tamen pari sorte nascimur, sola virtute distinguimur. Nos igitur qui moribus et pudore censemur, merito malis voluptatibus et pompis vestris et spectaculis abstinemus, quorum et de sacris originem novimus, et noxia blandimenta damnamus. Nam in ludis Corulibus quis non horreat populi in se rixantis insaniam? In gladiatoriis, homicidii disciplinam? in scenicis etiam non minor furor; turpitudo prolixior. Nunc enim mimus vel exponit adulteria: vel monstrat. Nunc enervis histrio amorem, dum fingit, infligit. Idem deos vestros, induendo stupra, suspiria, odia, dedecorat. Idem, simulatis doloribus, lacrymas vestras vanis gestibus et mutibus provocat. Sic homicidium in vero flagitatis, in mendacio fletis. Quod vero sacrificiorum reliquias, et pocula delibata contemnimus: non confessio timoris est, sed verae libertatis assertio. Nam etsi omne quod nascitur, ut inviolabile Dei munus, nullo opere corruptitur;

abstinemus tamen, ne quis existimet aut daemoniis, quibus libatum est, edere, aut nostrae religionis pudere. Quis autem ille, qui dubitat vernis indulgere nos floribus, cum capiamus et rosam veris, et lilyum, et quidquid aliud in floribus blandi coloris et oloris est? his enim et sparsis utimur mollibus ac solutis, et sertis colla complectimur. Sane quod caput non coronamus, ignoscite. Auram boni floris naribus ducere, non occipitio capillisve solemus haurire. Nec mortuos coronamus. Ego vos in hoc magis miror, quemadmodum tribuatis aut sentienti facem, aut non sentienti coronam: cum et beatus non egeat, et miser non gaudeat floribus. At enim nos exequias odornamus eadem tranquillitate qua vivimus, nec adnectimus arescentem coronam, sed a Deo aeternis floribus vividam sustinemus, quieti, modesti Dei nostri liberalitate, securi spe futurae felicitatis, fide praesentis ejus majestatis animamur. Sic et beati resurgimus, et futuri contemplatione jam vivimus. * * * * * Caecilius sic erupit: Ego Octavio meo plurimum quantum, sed et mihi, gratulor; nec expecto sententiam. Vicius, et ita, ut improbus, usurpo victoriam: nam ut ille mei vitor est, ita ego triumphator erroris. Itaque quod pertineat ad summam quaestionis, et de providentia fateor, et Deo cedo, et de sectae jam nostrae sinceritate consentio.

III. CYPRIAN.

Cyprian, like Tertullian, was of North Africa, a Presbyter of Carthage, afterwards Bishop. He previously practised as a rhetorician; and his style is an easy and flowing Latinity. Augustine said of him “instar fontis purissimi levis incessit et placidus.”

It was somewhat late in life that he embraced Christianity; and like Basil and Chrysostom in the east, he needed, instead of courting offices, almost to be forced to accept them. His works consist chiefly of letters addressed to other Bishops, or Presbyters, and directing the churches on difficult questions of fellowship and discipline. Often the questions concerned the treatment of the lapsed, and the re-baptizing of heretics. On both questions, Cyprian, though not of the rigidity of Novatian, inclined to the stricter policy. The persecutions in the time of Severus and especially Decius, fell very severely on the churches in the African provinces, and while many beautiful instances of Christian fortitude occurred there, some failed in courage. Cyprian directs to caution in the readmission of such, though he acquiesced in the decision of a council of Carthage which treated them with forbearing consideration. Baptism by heretical hands he would not acknowledge.

In Cyprian's time the hierarchy is generally considered as fully developed. He acknowledges the “Cathedra Petri;” and the Bishop, whom Irenæus at times identifies with the Presbyter, now stands out a distinct functionary. Yet Cyprian is justly quoted in proof of the fact, that no absolute precedence, beyond that of order, was conceded even yet to Rome. His controversy with Stephen was like the protest of Irenæus against Victor. It is manifest also, from his letters, that his idea of the “Bishop,” was mainly that of primus inter pares; and no one asserts more distinctly the rights of the christian people.

Cyprian, though sometimes apparently yielding to the storm, and leaving his immediate charge, evinced, when the hour for facing danger came, the unshaking fortitude of a Christian confessor. He suffered martyrdom in the reign of Valerian.

EX CYPRIANI EPISTOLIS.

(EP. XXXIII.)—AD CLERUM ET PLEBEM DE AURELIO LECTORE
ORDINATO.

Cyprianus presbyteris et diaconibus et plebi universae salutem. In ordinationibus clericis, fratres carissimi, solemus vos ante consulere¹ et mores ac merita singulorum communi consilio ponderare. Sed expectanda non sunt testimonia humana cum praecedunt divina suffragia. Aurelius frater noster, illustris adolescens, a Domino iam probatus et Deo carus, in annis adhuc novellus, sed in virtutis ac fidei laude provectus, minor in aetatis suae indole, sed major in honore, gemino hic agone certavit, bis confessus, et bis confessionis suae victoria gloriosus, et quando vicit in cursu factus extorris, et cum denuo certamine fortiore pugnavit, triumphator et victor in praelio passionis. Quoties adversarius provocare servos Dei voluit, toties promptissimus ac fortissimus miles et pugnavit et vicit. Parum fuerat sub oculis ante paucorum, quando extorris fiebat, congressum fuisse; meruit et in foro congregri clariore virtute, ut post magistratus etiam proconsulem vinceret, et post exilium tormenta superaret. Nec invenio quid in eo praedicare plus debeam, gloriam vulnerum, an verecundiam morum, quod honore virtutis insignis est, an quod pudoris admiratione laudabilis? Ita et dignitate excelsus est et humilitate submissus ut appareat illum divinitus reservatum qui ad

ecclesiasticum disciplinam caeteris esset exemplo, quomodo servi Dei in confessione virtutibus vincerent, post confessionem moribus eminerent. * * * *

Vos orationibus frequenter insistite, et preces nostras vestris precibus adjuvate, ut Domini misericordia favens nobis cito plebi suae et sacerdotem reddat incolumem et martyrem cum sacerdote lectorem.¹ Opto vos, fratres carissimi, in Deo patre et Christo Jesu semper bene valero.

(LIII.)—AD FORTUNATUM ET ALIOS COLLEGAS DE IIS QUI PER TORMENTA SUPERANTUR.

Cyprianus Fortunato, Ahymmo, Optato, Privatiano, Donatulo, et Felici fratribus salutem. Scripsistis mihi, fratres carissimi, quod cum in Capsensi civitate propter ordinationem episcopi essetis, pertulerit ad vos Superius frater et collega noster Ninum, Clementianum, Florum fratres nostros, qui in persecutione apprehensi prius fuerant, et nomen Domini confessi violentiam magistratus et populi frementis impetum vicorant, postmodum cum apud proconsulem poenis gravibus excruciaarentur, vi tormentorum subactos esse et de gradu gloriae, ad quam plena fidei virtute tendebant, diutinis cruciatibus excidisse, nec tamen post hunc gravem lapsum non voluntate sed necessitate susceptum a poenitentia agenda per hoc triennium destitisse. De quibus consulendum putasti an eos ad communicationem jam fas esset admittere. Et quidem quod ad mei animi sententiam pertinet, puto his indulgentiam Domini non defutaram quos constat stetisse in acie, nomen Domini confessos esse, violentiam magistratum et populi furentis incursum immobilis fidei obstinatione viciisse, passos esse carcerem, diu interminas proconsulis et fremitum populi circumstantis tormentis laniantibus ac longa iteratione cruciantibus repugnasse ; ut quod in novissimo¹ infirmitate carnis subactum videtur, meritorum praecedentium defensione relevetur, et sit satis talibus gloriam perdidisse, non tamen debere nos eis et venia locum claudere, at quo eos a paterna pietate et a nostra communicazione privare; quibus existimamus ad deprecandam clementiam Domini posso sufficere quod triennio jugiter ac dolenter,² ut scribitis, cum summa poenitentiae lamentatione planixerunt. Certo non puto incaute et temere his pacem committi quos videamus militiae suae fortitudine nec prius pugno defuisse, et si acies etiam denuo venerit, gloriam suam posse reparare. Nam cum in concilio placuerit, poenitentiam agentibus in infirmitatis periculo subveniri et pacem dari,³ debent utique in accipienda pace⁴ praecedere quos videamus non animi vulneratos infirmitate cecidisse, sed in praetorio congressos et per imbecillitatem carnis confessionis suao coronam non potuisse porferre; maxime cum cupientibus mori non permetterentur occidi, sed tamdiu fessos tormenta laniarent quandiu non fidem, quae invicta est, vincerent, sed carnem, quae infirma est, fatigarent. * * * Opto vos, fratres carissimi, semper bene valere.

(LIX.)—AD FIDUM DE INFANTIBUS BAPTIZANDIS.

Cyprianus et caeteri collegae qui in concilio affuerunt numero LXVI:⁵ Fido fratri salutem. Legimus literas tuas, frater carissime, quibus significasti de Victore quondam presbytero, quod ei, antequam poenitentiam plenam egisset,

² During and after the Decian persecution, the lapsed, who had yielded from timidity and compromised their confession, were treated with no small rigour by some of the African churches. Not only were years of exclusion from communion appointed to them, but there was no re-admission till death even to penitents: some relaxed in favour of the dying. Montanus, and Tertullian, and Novatian, had very rigorous views on this. Cyprian in one letter indignantly expatiates on the harshness of Novatian.—See Mosheim, Milner, or Neander, for particulars as to the libellatici, and the respect paid to the recommendation of the martyrs in the readmission of the lapsed.

³ Dare pacem was the expression for receiving again into fellowship.

et Domino Deo, in quem deliquerat, satisfecisset, Therapius¹ collega noster immaturo tempore et praepropria festinatione pacem dederit. Quae res nos satis movit, recessum esse a decreti nostri auctoritate, ut ante legitimum et plenum tempus satisfactionis, et sine petitu et conscientia plebis, nulla infirmitato urgente ac necessitate cogente, pax ei concederetur. Sed librato apud nos diu consilio, satis fuit objurgare Therapium collegam nostrum quod temere hoc fecerit et instruxisse no quid talo de caetero faciat. Pacem tamen quomodocunque a sacerdote Dei semel datam non putavimus auferendam, ac per hoc Victori communicationem sibi concessam usurpare permisimus. Quantum vero ad causam infantium pertinet, quos dixisti intra secundum vel tertium diem quo nati sint constitutos baptizari non oportere, et considerandam esse legem circumcisionis antiquae, ut intra octavum diem cum qui natus est baptizandum et sanctificandum non putares, longe aliud in concilio nostro omnibus visum est. In hoc enim quod tu putabas esse faciendum nemo consensit, sed universi potius judicavimus nulli homini nato misericordiam Dei et gratiam denegandam. Nam cum Dominus in evangelio suo dicat, Filius hominis non venit animas hominum perdere, sed salvare, quantum in nobis est, si fieri potest, nulla anima perdenda est. Quid enim ei deest qui semel in utero Dei manibus formatus est? Nobis enim atque oculis nostris secundum dierum saecularium cursum accipere qui nati sunt incrementum videntur. Cacterum quaecunque a Deo fiunt, Dei factoris majestate et opere perfecta sunt. Esse denique apud omnes, sive infantes, sive maiores natu, unam² divini munera aequalitatem declarat nobis divinae scripturae fides.² * * * * *

² Divinae scripturae fides.—This epistle is often quoted in the discussions concerning baptism, and the practice of the early church. At same time, one can see in the language of Cyprian, as well as Augustine, that extravagant ideas prevailed of the absolute necessity of baptism to salvation. Hence, too, the giving the Lord's Supper to infants.

(LX.)—AD EPISCOPOS NUMIDAS DE REDEMPTIONE FRATRUM
EX CAPTIVITATE BARBARORUM.

Cyprianus Januario, Maximo, Proculo, Victori, Modiano, Nemesiano, Nampulo, et Honorato fratribus salutem. Cum maximo animi nostri gemitu et non sine lacrymis legimus litteras vestras, fratres carissimi, quas ad nos pro dilectionis vestrae sollicitudine de fratrum nostrum et sororum captivitate fecistis. Quis enim non doleat in ejusmodi casibus, aut quis non dolorem fratris sui suum proprium computet, cum loquatur apostolus Paulus et dicat: Si patitur unum membrum, compatiuntur et caetera membra: si laetatur membrum unum, collaetantur et cetera membra. Et alio loco: Quis infirmatur, inquit, et non ego infirmor? Quare nunc et nobis captivitas fratrum nostra captivitas computanda est, et periclitantium dolor pro nostro dolore numerandus est, cum sit scilicet adunationis nostrae corpus unum, et non tantum dilectio sed et religio instigare nos debeat et comfortare ad fratrum membra redimenda. Nam cum denuo apostolus Paulus dieat, Nescitis quia templum Dei estis, et spiritus Dei habitat in vobis, etiamsi caritas nos minus adigeret ad opem fratribus ferendam, considerandum tamen hoc in loco fuit Dei templa esse quae capta sunt, nec pati nos longa cessatione et neglecto dolore debere ut diu Dei templa captiva sint, sed quibus possumus viribus elaborare et velociter gerere ut Christum judicem et Dominum et Deum nostrum promereamur obsequiis nostris. Nam cum dicat Paulus apostolus, Quotquot in Christo baptizati estis, Christum induistis, in captivis fratribus nostris contemplandus est Christus et redimendus de periculo captivitatis, qui nos redemit de periculo mortis; ut qui nos de diaboli faucibus exuit, nunc ipse qui manet et habitat in nobis de barbarorum manibus exuatur, et redimatur nummaria quantitate qui nos cruce redemit et sanguine; qui idecirco haec fieri interim patitur ut fides nostra tentetur an faciat unusquisque pro altero quod pro se fieri vellet, si apud barbaros teneretur ipse captivus.

Nam cum Dominus in evangelio suo dicat, Infirmus fui, et visitasti me, quanto nunc quoque cum majore operis nostri mercede dicturus est: Captivus fui, et redemisti me. Et cum denuo dicat, In carcere fui, et venisti ad me, quanto plus est cum cooperit dicere, In carcere captivitatis fui, et clausus et vincitus apud barbaros jacui, et de carcere illo servitutis liberasti me, cum judicii dies venerit præmium de Domino recepturi? Denique maximas vobis gratias agimus quod nos vestrae sollicitudinis et tam bonae ac necessariae operationis participes esse voluntatis, ut offerretis nobis agros uberes, in quibus spei nostrae semina mitteremus, expectatur messem de amplissimis fructibus qui de hac caelesti et salutari operatione proveniunt. Misimus autem sestertia centum¹ millia nummorum, quae istic in ecclesia cui de Domini indulgentia praesumus cleri et plebis apud nos consistentis collatione collecta sunt, quae vos illuc pro vestra diligentia dispensabitis.²

(LXXI.)—AD QUINTUM DE HAERETICIS BAPTIZANDIS.

Cyprianus Quinto fratri salutem. Retulit ad me, frater carissime, Lucianus compresbyter noster te desiderasse ut significaremus tibi quid sentiamus de his qui apud haereticos et schismaticos baptizati videntur. De qua re quid nuper in concilio plurimi coepiscopi cum compresbyteris qui aderant censuerimus ut scires, ejusdem epistola exemplum tibi misi. Nescio etenim qua præsumptione ducuntur quidam de collegis nostris ut putent eos quid apud haereticos tincti sunt, quando ad nos venerint, baptizari non oportere, eo quod dicant unum baptismus esse: quod unum scilicet ideo est, quia ecclesia una est, et esse baptismus extra ecclesiam non potest.

initia, ut hi illic essent qui de ecclesia recedebant, et hic baptizati prius fuerant; quos tunc tamen ad ecclesiam revertentes et poenitentiam agentes necesse non erat baptizare. Quod nos quoque hodie observamus, ut quos constet hic baptizatos esse et a nobis ad haereticos transisse, si postmodum peccato suo cognito et errore digesto ad veritatem et matricem redeant, satis sit in poenitentiam manum imponere; ut quia ovis jam fuerat, hanc ovem abalienatam et errabundam in ovile suum pastor recipiat. Si autem qui ab haereticis venit baptizatus in ecclesia prius non fuit, sed alienus in totum et prophanus venit, baptizandus est ut ovis fiat, quia una est aqua in ecclesia sancta quae oves faciat. Et idecirco quia nihil potest esse commune mendacio et veritati, tenebris et luci, morti et immortalitati, antichristo et Christo, per omnia debemus ecclesiae catholicae unitatem tenere nec in aliquo fidei et veritatis hostibus cedere.¹ * * *

Quorum sententiam et religiosam et legitimam et salutarem, fidei et ecclesiae catholicae congruentem, nos etiam secuti sumus. Et quales super hac re litteras fecerimus ut scires, exemplum earum ad notitiam tam tuam quam coepiscoporum nostrorum qui illic sunt pro communi dilectione transmisi-
mus. Opto te, frater carissime, semper bene valere.

¹ This question was the subject of Cyprian's controversy with Stephen of Rome. Cyprian had extravagant ideas of the unity and of episcopal authority; yet he was a man of fine, tender, Christian feeling. Milner is large in his eulogy; and Augustine said, "Non me terret auctoritas Cypriani, quia reficit humilitas Cypriani."

Neither Jerome nor Augustine followed him on this question of rebaptizing.

IV. LACTANTIUS.

Lactantius, called Firmianus, after his native town Firmii, in Italy, obtained the surname Lactantius—it is said—“a lactea dicendi facultate.” Unless we are to except M. Felix, he was of all the Latin fathers the most eloquent. Lactantius had studied rhetoric under Arnobius, himself one of the apologists,—having written several works against the Gentile superstitions; and became famous as a rhetorician beyond his master. He became, like him, also a convert to Christianity, and a pleader of its cause. He wrote in the times of Dioclesian and of Constantine, an extensive work called Divine Institutions, addressing it to the latter Emperor. In this work he treats of the false religions and the true, under the names of the False and True Wisdom; also of true morality and the divine worship; reviews the various systems of philosophy, and exposes their defects as compared with divino revelation. In another small treatise he remarks the divine dispensation in the deaths of the persecutors. We give an impressive extract from his work on Wisdom. Lactantius held extravagant Millenarian opinions; and, as a Theologian, lacks the precision of the Nicene Divines: writing beautifully, though not very accurately, of the Logos. It was thought of him that he knew better how to destroy error than to build up the system of truth. Hence the saying: “Instruit ut Hieronymus, destruit ut Lactantius, adstruit ut Augustinus.”

LACTANTII, DE FALSA SAPIENTIA.

Lib. III. 25. Nunc pauca nobis de philosophia in commune dicenda sunt, ut confirmata causa peroremus. Summus ille noster Platonis imitator¹ existimavit philosophiam non esse vulgarem ; quod eam non nisi docti homines adsequi possint. Est, inquit, philosophia paucis contenta judicibus, multitudinem consultò ipsa fugiens.² Non est ergo sapientia, si ab hominum coetu abhorret, quoniam si sapientia homini data est, sine ullo discrimine omnibus data est, ut nemo sit prorsus, qui eam capere non possit. At illi virtutem humano generi datam sic amplexantur, ut soli omnium publica bono ai velle videantur, tam invidi, quam si velint deligare oculos, aut effodere ceteris, ne solem videant. Nam quid est aliud hominibus negare sapientiam, quam mentibus eorum verum ac divinum lumen auferre ? Quod si natura hominis sapientiae capax est; oportuit et opifices, et rusticos, et mulieres, et omnes denique, qui humanam formam gerunt, doceri, ut sapiant; populumque ex omni lingua, et conditione, et sexu, et aetate conflari. Maximum itaque argumentum est, philosophiam neque ad sapientiam tendere, neque ipsam esse sapientiam ; quod mysterium ejus barba tantum celebratur et pallio.³ Senserunt hoc adeo Stoici, qui et servis, et mulieribus philosophandum esse dixerunt : Epicurus quoque, qui rudes omnium litterarum ad philosophiam invitat : item Plato, qui civitatem de sapientibus voluit componere. Conati quidem illi sunt facere, quod veritas exigebat; sed non potuit ultra verba procedi ; primum, quia multis artibus opus est, ut ad philosophiam possit accedi : discendae istae communes litterae, propter usum legendi ; quia in tanta rerum varietate, nec disci audiendo possunt omnia, nec memoria contineri. Gram-maticis quoque non parum operae dandum est, ut rectam loquendi rationem scias: id multos annos auferat necesse est. Nec oratoria quidem ignoranda est, ut ea, quae didiceris, proferre atque eloqui possis. Geometria quoque, ac musica, et astrologia necessaria est; quod haec artes cum philosophia habent aliquam societatem; quae universa perdiscere neque feminae possunt, quibus intra puberes annos officia mox usibus domesticis profutura discenda sunt, neque servi, quibus per eos annos vel maxime serviendum est, quibus possent discere; neque pauperes, aut opifices, aut rustici, quibus in diem victus labore est quaerendus. Ob eam causam Tullius ait, abhorrire a multitudine philosophiam. At enim rudes Epicurus accipiet: quomodo ergo illa, quae de principiis rerum dicuntur, intelligent? quae perplexa, et involuta, vix etiam politi homines adsequuntur. In rebus igitur obscuritate implicatis, et ingeniorum varietate confusis, et eloquentium virorum exquisito sermone fucatis, quis imperito, ac rudi locus. est? Barbaris vero nullum, praeter vnum Anacharsim Scytham: qui philosophiam ne somniasset quidem, nisi et linguam, et (Græcas) literas ante didicisset.

26. Quod ergo illi poscente naturā faciendum esse senserunt; sed tamen neque ipsi facere potuerunt; neque a philesophis fieri posso viderunt: sola hoc efficit doctrina caelestis, quia sola sapientia est. Illi scilicet persuadere cuiquam potuerunt; qui nihil persuadent etiam sibi, aut eujusquam cupiditates oppriment, iram temperabunt, libidinem coercebunt: quum ipsi et cedant vitiis; et fateantur, plus valere naturam? Dei autem praecepta, quia et simplicia, et vera sunt, quantum valeant in animis hominum, quotidianā experimenta demonstrant. Da mihi virum, qui sit iracundus, maledicus, effrenatus: paucissimis Dei verbis tam placidum, quam oveū, reddam. Da cupidum, avarum, tenacem: jam tibi eum liberalem dabo, et pecuniam suam plenis manibus largientem. Da timidū doloris ac mortis: jam crueles, et ignes, et Phalaridis taurum contemnet. Da libidinosum, adulterum, ganeonem: jam sobrium, castum, continentem videbis. Da crudelem, et sanguinis adpetentem; jam in veram clementiam furor ille mutabitur. Da injustum, insipientem, peccatorem: continuo et aequus, et prudens, et innocens erit: uno enim lavacro malitia omnis abolebitur. Tanta divinae sapientiae vis est, ut, in hominis pectus infusa, matrem delictorum stultitiam uno semel impetu expellat: ad quod efficiendum, non mercede, non libris, non lucubrationibus opus est. Gratis ista fiunt, facile, cito; modo pateant aures, et pectus sapientiam sitiat. Nemo vereatur, nos aquam¹ non vendimus; nec solem mercede praestamus. Dei fons uberrimus atque plenissimus patet cunctis; et hoc caeleste lumen universis oritur, quicumque oculos habent. Num quis haec philosophorum aut umquam praestitit, aut praestare, si velit, potest? qui quum aetates suas in studio philosophiae conterant; neque alium quemquam, neque seipso, si natura paululum obstitit, possunt facere meliores. Itaque sapientia eorum, ut plurimum efficiat, non excedit vitia, sed abscondit. Pauca vero Dei praecelta sic totum hominem immutant, et, exposito vetere, novum reddunt, ut non cognoscas, eumdem esse.

27. Quid ergo? nihil ne illi simile praecipiunt? immo permulta, et ad verum frequenter accedunt: sed nihil ponderis habent illa praecelta, quia sunt humana, et auctoritate majori, id est divina illa, carent. Nemo igitur credit, quia tam se hominem putat esse, qui audit, quam est ille, qui praecepit. Praeterea nihil apud eos certi est, nihil quod a scientia veniat: sed quum omnia conjecturis agantur; multa etiam diversa et varia proferantur; stultissimi est hominis, praecelta eorum velle parere: quae utrum vera sint, an falsa, dubitatur; et ideo nemo paret, quia nemo vult ad incertum laborare. Virtutem esse, Stoici aiunt, quae sola efficiat vitam beatam. Nihil potest verius dici. Sed quid, si cruciabitur, aut dolore adficietur? poteritne quisquam inter carna-fices beatus esse? immo vero illatus corpori dolor materia virtutis est: itaque ne in tormentis quidem miser est. Epicurus multo fortius, Sapiens, inquit, semper beatus est; et vel inclusus in Phalaridis taurō hanc vocem emittet: Suave est, et nihil curo. Quis cum non irriserit, maxime, quod homo voluptarius personam sibi viri fortis imposuit, et quidem supra modum? non enim fieri potest, ut quisquam cruciatus corporis pro voluptatibus ducat; quum satis sit, ad officium virtutis implendum perferre ac sustinere. Quid dicitis Stoici? quid tu Epicure? Beatus est sapiens, etiam quum torquetur. Si propter gloriam, patientiae praemio non fruetur; in tormentis enim fortasse morietur: si propter memoriam; aut non sentiet, si occidunt animae; aut sentiet, nihil ex ea consequetur. Quis ergo alius fructus est in virtute? quae beatitudo vitae? ut aequo animo moriatur? Bonum mihi adfertis unius horae, aut fortasse momenti, propter quod non expediat in tota vita miseriis et laboribus confici. Quantum autem temporis mors occupat? quae quum veniat, utrum aequo an iniquo animo cam subieris, jam nihil refert. Ita fit, ut nihil aliud ex virtute captetur, nisi gloria. Sed haec aut supervacua, et brevis est, aut pravis hominum judiciis non sequetur. Nullus igitur ex virtute fructus est, ubi virtus mortalis est et caduca. Itaque qui haec locuti sunt, umbram quamdam virtutis viderunt, ipsam virtutem non viderunt: defixi enim fuerunt in terram; nec vultus suos in altum erigebant, vt eam possent intueri, quae sese a caeli regionibus ostendebat. Haec causa est, cur praexceptis eorum nullus obtemperet, quoniam aut ad vitia erudiunt, si voluptatem defendunt: aut si virtutem asserunt, neque peccato poenam minantur, nisi solius turpitudinis; neque virtuti ullum praemium pollicentur, nisi solius honestatis et laudis; quum dicant, non propter aliud, sed propter seipsam expetendam esse virtutem. Beatus est igitur sapiens in tormentis: sed quum torquetur pro fide, pro justitia, pro Deo; illa patientia doloris beatissimum faciet. Est enim Deus, qui solus potest honorare virtutem, cuius merces immortalitas sola est; quam qui non adpetunt, nec religionem tenent, cui aeterna subjacet vita, profecto neque virtutis vim sciunt, cuius praemium ignorant; neque in caelum spectant, quod psi se facere putant, quum res non investigabiles¹ quaerunt; iquia ratio in caelum spectandi nulla alia est, nisi aut religionem suspicere, aut animam suam immortalem esse credere. Quisquis enim aut Deum colendum esse intelligit, aut immortalitatis spem sibi propositam habet; mens ejus in caelo est: et licet id non adspiciat oculis; animae tamen lumine adspicit. Qui autem Religionem non suscipiunt, terreni sunt, quia religio de caelo est: et qui animam putant cum corpore interire, aequi in terram spectant, quia ultra corpus, quod est terra, nihil amplius vident, quod sit immortale. Nihil igitur prodest, hominem ita esse fictum, ut recto corpore spectet in caelum, nisi erecta mente Deum cernat, ut cogitatio ejus in spe vitae perpetuae tota versetur.

V. JEROME.

Hieronymus (or Jerome) was in learning among the Latins what Origen was among the Greeks. He was brought up at Rome, and flourished in the end of the fourth century, living on to the year 416. He began and closed his career as a monk of Palestine. Unambitious of preferment, he travelled in the West and East in search of knowledge, and gave himself finally to seclusion in his chosen home at Bethlehem. There he composed most of the works which have come down to us. His greatest labour was in the correction of the old Italic translation of the Holy Scriptures, issuing in the establishment of a recognised Latin version. He wrote numerous letters, which have been preserved, and also valuable commentaries on the sacred books. His prologues to these books are often referred to in questions concerning the Canon. With so much care did he distinguish between the inspired or canonical scriptures, and all apocryphal writings, that it became a sort of proverb, "Has it passed the file of Jerome?" The testimony of the same father is also very decided, and held to be of great authority, on questions of early church government; more especially on the identity of Presbyter and Bishop, or the history of the distinction.

¹ Evagrius is mentioned by Augustine as a member of the Council of Carthage. The immediate design of this letter was to refute the error of those who made the deacon equal to the presbyter. The letter is often referred to by later writers, on questions of church order. (Calvin, Whitgift and Cartwright, Hooker and Grotius.) A certain difference of power between the bishop and presbyter is recognised by Jerome, as having been reckoned necessary, to prevent dissensions. In his commentary on Titus, ch. i., he says: "Haec propterea, ut ostenderemus apud veteres eosdem fuisse Presbyteros quos et Episcopos; paulatim vero ut dissensionum plantaria evellentur, ad unum omnem sollicitudinem esse delatam. Sic ut ergo presbyteri sciunt se ex ecclesiae consuetudine ei qui sibi praepositus fuerit esse subjectos, ita episcopi noverint se magis consuetudine quam dispositionis dominicae veritate, presbyteris esse majores, et in commune debere ecclesiam regere, imitantes Moysen, qui cum haberet in potestate solus praesse populo Israel, septuaginta elegit cum quibus populum judicaret."

Et ad Timotheum: Noli negligere gratiam quae in te est, quae tibi data est prophetiae per impositionem manuum presbyterii. Sed et Petrus in prima epistola: Presbyteros, inquit, in vobis precor eompresbyter, et testis passionum Christi, et futurae gloriae, quae revelanda est, particeps, regere gregem Christi, et inspicere non ex necessitate, sed voluntarie juxta Deum. Quod autem postea unus electus est, qui caeteris praeponeretur, in schismatis remedium factum est: ne unusquisque ad se trahens Christi ecclesiam rumperet. Nam et Alexandriae à Marco Evangelista usque ad Heraclam et Dionysium Episcopos, praesbyteri semper unum ex se electum, in excelsiori gradu collocatum, Episcopum nominabant: quomodo si exercitus imperatorem faciat, aut diaconi eligant de se, quem industrium noverint, et archidiaconum vocent. Quid enim facit excepta ordinatione episcopus, quod presbyter non faciat? Nec altera Romanæ urbis Ecclesia, altera totius orbis existimanda est. Et Galliac et Britan-niae et Africa et Persis et Oriens et India et omnes barbaræ nationes unum Christum admirant, unam observant regulam veritatis. Si auctoritas quaeritur, orbis maior est urbe. Alia drachmae, quam mulier accenso lumine requisivit, et inventa ea, vicinas ad lactitiam convocavit, dicens, Congratulamini mihi, *quia inveni drachmam, quam perdidera*m. Tertia verò duorum filiorum, de qua, ut disputarem pauca, jussisti. Et de ove quidem ne drachma, licet ad unum pertineant intellectum, non est istius temporis disputatio: hoc tantum dixisse sufficiat: ob id has parabolas esse propositas, ut quomodo ibi in inventione pecoris et drachmae, laetitia est Angelorum et circa manentium vicinarum: Sic in publicanorum peccatorumque poenitentia omnium debere esse laetitiam, quibus non est necessaria poenitentia. Unde vehementer admiror, Tertullianum in eo libro, quem de pudicitia adversum poenitentiam scripsit, et sententiam veterem, nova opinione dissolvit, hoc voluisse sentire, quod publicani et peccatores, qui cum Domino raseabantur, Ethnici fuerint, dicente Scriptura: non erit vestigal pendens ex Israel: Quasi verò et Matthaeus non ex circumcisione fuerit publicanus: et ille, qui cum Pharisaeo in templo orans, oculos ad coelum non audebat erigere, non ex Israel fuerit publicanus: aut non Lucas memoret: Et omnis populus audiens et publicani justificaverunt Deum, baptizati baptismō Joannis. Aut cuiquam credibile possit videri, Ethnicum templum ingressum, aut Dominum cum Ethnici habuisse convivium, cum id maxime caveret, ne legem solvere videretur: et primum venit ad oves perditas domus Israel: Chananeas quoque deprecanti pro salute filiac responderit: Non oportet tollere panem filiorum, et dare eum canibus. Et alibi discipulis praeceperit: In viam gentium ne abieritis, et in civitates Samaritanorum ne intraveritis. Ex quibus omnibus edocemur, in publicanis, non tam gentilium, quam generaliter omnium peccatorum, id est, qui erant et de Gentibus, et de Judaeis, accipi posse personas. Ille autem, qui juxta insanias et blasphemias foeminas suas id dogmatis defendebat, quo Christianos nollet recipere poenitentes, frustra argumentatus est publicanos Judaeos non fuisse, ut in persona eorum gentilium tantum populus possit intelligi.¹

¹ We give this little specimen of Jerome as an expositor. It is interesting in its reference to Tertullian, and the exposure of his defective reasonings in support of Montanist and Novatian discipline.

VI. AUGUSTINE.

This great Divine, who impressed his sentiments so deeply on succeeding ages, was born in Numidia, and educated in Carthage. His parents were Christians ; but had to lament that their instructions failed to prevent their youthful son running into folly. He laments afterwards the extreme vanity of his early days, and recognises with gratitude the grace of God that arrested him in his course. He had embraced the errors of the Manicheans ; and had nearly fallen into Academic Scepticism or Pyrrhonism. He was much indebted, besides the prayers of a singularly pious mother, to the holy Ambrose of Milan, whither Augustine had gone, after visiting Roine, in the capacity of a teacher of rhetoric. He received baptism at Ambrose's hands ; and, prosecuting his study of sacred truth with singular success, became an honoured champion of the faith. He wrote largely against the various errors of the Manicheans, the Arians, and the Donatists ; but especially was the instrument chosen of God to counteract Pelagian error. His work called "The City of God," is an illustrious vindication of Christianity.

Augustine became a presbyter in 389, and died bishop of Hippo, in Africa, in 430. He writes in fine Roman language, and with almost classic purity. We give a portion of his work "De Gratia :" also some of his views on the sacred office, from the "Christiana Doctrina."

AUGUSTINI DE GRATIA CHRISTI, CONTRA PELAGIUM ET COELESIUM.

1. QUANTUM de vestra corporali et maxime spirituali salute gaudeamus, sincerissimi fratres, dilecti a Deo, Albina, Piniane,¹ et Melania, quia effari non possumus, vobis cogitandum credendumque committimus, ut ea de quibus nos consuliustis potius jam loquamur. Festinante etenim perlatore inter occupationes nostras, multo apud Carthaginem quam ubicumque alibi densiores, quantum Deus donare dignatus est, ut potuimus, ista dictavimus.

2. Scripsistis mihi, cum Pelagio² vos egisse, ut quaecumque aduersus eum dicerentur, scripto damnaret: eumque dixisse audientibus vobis, "Anathemo qui vel sentit vel dicit, gratiam Dei qua Christus venit in hunc mundum peccatores salvos facere, non solum per singulas horas, aut per singula momenta, sed etiam per singulos actus nostros non esse necessariam; et qui hanc conantur auferre, poenas sorbitantur aeternas." Quisquis haec audit, et sensum ejus

¹ Pinianus was a chosen friend of Augustine, and his associate in former years at Rome or Milan. He finally settled as pastor or bishop at Thagata, in Africa, after a residence in Sicily. Melania, daughter of Albina, was the wife of Pinianus. In another epistle, Augustine speaks of the "sanctae Albinae." For Albina here some read Albine; which would suit more literally to "fratres."

² The Pelagian doctrine had its origin in the east; it may in part be traced to Origen, or to Theodorus of Mopsuestia. Pelagius, a British monk, and Coelestius his disciple, became its chief abettors. Having tried to spread their opinions in Rome and Sicily, they thence went to Africa—the scene of Augustine's labours. Their doctrine was condemned by a council at Carthage, held in 412. Pelagius, favoured by John of Jerusalem, found it more easy to satisfy a small eastern council held at Diospolis in Palestine, before which he in words disclaimed opposition to the doctrine of grace, but was thought to prevaricate somewhat. He also, or Coelestius, in the first instance imposed on Zosimus of Rome; but the influence of Augustine and of the council of Carthage prevailed to check the progress of the heresy.

ignorat, quem in libris suis satis evidenter expressit, non illis quos dicit inemendatos sibi fuisse subreptos, aut omnino suos negat, sed in illis quos litteris suis quas Romam misit commemorat, omnino eum putat hoc sentire quod veritas habet. Quisquis autem quid in eis apertius dicat advertit, debet habere etiam ista verba suspecta. Quia et si gratiam Dei, qua Christus venit in mundum peccatores salvos facere, in solo remissione peccatorum constitutat, potest huic sensui verba isti coaptare dicens, ideo eam per singulas horas, per singula momenta, et per actus¹ singulos necessariam, ut semper in memoria retinentes et reminiscentes dimissa nobis esse peccata, non peccemus ulterius, adjuti non aliqua subministracione virtutis, sed viribus propriae voluntatis, quid sibi remissione peccatorum praestitum fuerit per actus singulos recordantis. Item quoniam solent dicere, nobis in eo Christum ad non peccandum praebuisse adjutorium, quia justus ipse vivendo justaque docendo reliquit exemplum: possunt etiam ad hoc ista verba coaptare, ut dicant, per singula momenta, per singulos actus necessariam nobis esse hujusmodi gratiam, id est, ut in omni conversatione nostra intuemur dominicae conversationis exemplum. Pervidet autem fides vestra, a confessione gratiae, de qua quaestio est, quam sit distinguenda ista confessio: et tamen obtegi potest istorum ambiguitate verborum.

3. Sed quid mirum? Quando quidem ipse Pelagius cum episcopalibus gestis¹ sine ulla recusatione damnaverit eos, qui dicunt gratiam Dei et adjutorium non ad singulos actus dari, sed in libero arbitrio esse, vel in lege atque doctrina; ubi putabamus ejus de hac re omnes tergiversationes esse consumtas; damnaverit etiam eos, qui docent gratiam Dei secundum merita nostra dari: tamen in libris quos edidit pro libero arbitrio, quorum mentionem facit in epistola quam Romam misit, nihil aliud sentire monstratur, quam id quod damnasse videbatur. Nam gratiam Dei et adjutorium, quo adjuvamur ad non peccandum, aut in natura et libero ponit arbitrio, aut in lege atque doctrina: ut videlicet, cum adjuvat Deus hominem, ut declinet a malo et faciat bonum, revelando et ostendendo quid fieri debeat, adjuvare credatur; non etiam co-operando et dilectionem inspirando, ut id quod faciendum esse cognoverit faciat.

4. Nam cum tria constitutat atque distinguat, quibus divina mandata dicit impleri, possibilitatem, voluntatem, actionem; possibilitatem scilicet, qua potest homo esse justus; voluntatem, qua vult esse justus; actionem, qua justus est; horum trium primum, id est, possibilitatem datam confitetur a creatore naturae, nec esse in nostra potestate, sed eam nos habere etiam si nolimus: duo vero reliqua, id est, voluntatem et actionem nostra esse asserit, atque ita nobis tribuit, ut non nisi a nobis esse contendat. Denique gratia Dei, non ista duo, quae nostra omnino vult esse, id est, voluntatem et actionem; illam quae sed in potestate nostra non est, et nobis ex Deo est, id est, possibilitatem, perhibet adjuvari: tamquam illa quae nostra sunt, hoc est, voluntas et actio, tam sint valentia ad declinandum a malo et faciendum bonum, ut divino adjutorio non indigeant; illud vero quod nobis ex Deo est, hoc sit invalidum, id est, possilitas, ut semper gratiae adjuvetur auxilio.

5. Sed ne quis forsitan dicat, nos vel non recte intelligere quae loquitur, vel malevolo animo in alium sensum quae non ita dicta sunt vertere, ipsa jam verba ejus accipite. "Nos inquit, sic tria ista distinguimus, et certum velut in ordinem digesta partimur. Primo loco posse statuimus, secundo velie, tertio esse. Posse in natura, velle in arbitrio, esse in effectu locamus. Primum illud, id est, posse, ad Deum propriae pertinet, qui illud creature suae contulit: duo vero reliqua, hoc est, velle et esse, ad hominem referenda sunt, quia de arbitrii fonte descendunt. Ergo in voluntate et opere bono laus hominis est: immo et hominis, et Dei, qui ipsius voluntatis et operis possibilitatem dedit, quique ipsam possibilitatem gratiae suae adjuvat semper auxilio. Quod vero potest homo velle bonum atque perficere, solius Dei est. Potest itaque illud unum esse, etiam si duo ista non fuerint: ista vero sine illo esse non possunt. Itaque liberum mihi est, nec voluntatem bonam habere, nec actionem: nullo autem modo possum non habere possibilitatem boni: inest mihi etiam si noluero, nec otium sui aliquando in hoc natura recipit. Quem nobis sensum exempla aliqua facient clarorem. Quod possumus videre oculis, nostrum non est: quod vero bene aut male videmus, hoc nostrum est. Et ut generaliter universa complectar, quod possumus omne bonum facere, dicere, cogitare, illius est qui hoc posse donavit, qui hoc posse adjuvat: quod vero bene vel agimus, vel loquimur, vel cogitamus, nostrum est; quia haec omnia vertere in malum etiam possumus. Unde, quod propter calumniam vestram saepe repetendum est, eum dicimus hominem posse esse sine peccato, et confessione possibilitatis acceptae laudamus Deum, qui nobis hoc posse largitus est, nec est ibi ulla laudandi hominis occasio, ubi solius Dei causa tractatur: non enim de velle, nec de esse, sed tantummodo de eo quod potest esse, disseritur."

6. Ecce est totum dogma Pelagii in libro ejus tertio pro libero arbitrio, his omnino verbis diligenter expressum, quo tria ista, unum quod est posse, alterum quod est velle, tertium quod est esse, id est possibilitatem, voluntatem, actionem, tanta curavit subtilitate distinguere, ut quandocumque legimus, vel audimus, divinae gratiac adjutorium confiteri, ut a malo declinemus bonumque faciamus, sive in lege atque doctrina, sive ubilibet constituat, sciamus quid loquitur; nec erremus, aliter eum intelligendo quam sentit. Scire quippe debemus, quod nec voluntatem nostram, nec actionem divino adjuvari credit auxilio, sed solam possibilitatem voluntatis atque operis, quam solam in his tribus nos habere affirmat ex Deo, tanquam hoc sit infirmum, quod Deus ipse posuit in natura; cetera vero duo quae nostra esse voluit, ita sint firma, et fortia, et sibi sufficientia, ut nullo indigeant ejus auxilio; et ideo non adjuvet ut velimus, non adjuvet ut agamus, sed tantummodo adjuvet ut velle et agere valeamus. Contra autem Apostolus, Cum timore, inquit, et tremore vestram ipsorum operamini salutem. Et ut scirent, quia non tantum in eo quod operari possint, (hoc enim in natura et in doctrina jam acceperant;) sed etiam in eo quod operantur divinitus adjuvantur, non ait, Deus est enim qui operatur in vobus posse, tamquam ipsi jam et velle et operari per se ipsos habeant, nec in his duobus adjutorio ejus indigeant; sed ait, Deus enim est qui operatur in vobis et velle et perficere; vel sicut in aliis et maxime Graccis codicibus legitur, et velle et operari. Videte si non Apostolus gratiae Dei futuros adversarios sancto Spiritu tanto ante praevidit, et hacc duo, id est, et velle et operari, quae iste ita nostra esse voluit, tamquam ipsa divinae gratiae non adjuventur auxilio, Deum in nobis dixit operari.

7. Neque hinc Pelagius incautos fallat et simplices, vel etiam se ipsum, quoniam cum dixisset, Ergo in voluntate et opere bono laus hominis est: velut correxit atque addidit, immo et hominis, et Dei. Non enim hoc propterea dixit, quia secundum sanam doctrinam intelligi voluit, quod et velle et operari Deus operetur in nobis: sed cur hoc dixerit, satis evidenter ostendit, continuò subjungendo, qui ipsius voluntatis et operis possibilitatem dedit. Hanc autem possibilitatem in natura eum ponere, de verbis ejus superioribus clarum est. Sed ne nihil de gratia dixisse videretur, adjunxit, quique ipsam possibilitatem gratiae sua adjuvat semper auxilio: non ait, ipsam voluntatem, vel ipsam operationem; quod si diceret, non abhorriere a doctrina apostolica videretur: sed ait; ipsam possibilitatem, illud videlicet ex tribus quod in natura locavit, gratiae sua adjuvat semper auxilio: ut scilicet in voluntate et actione non ideo laus sit et Dei et hominis quia sic vult homo, ut tamen Deus voluntati ejus ardorem dilectionis inspiret; et sic operatur homo, ut tamen Deus cooperetur, sine ejus adjutorio quid est homo? sed ideo ad hanc laudem adjunxit et Deum, quia nisi natura esset, in qua nos condidit, qua velle et agere possemus, nec vellemus, nec ageremus.

8. Hanc autem naturalem possilitatem quod adjuvari Dei gratis confitetur, non est hic apertum vel quam dicat gratiam vel quatenus cā naturam sentiat adjuvari: sed sicut aliis locis, in quibus evidentius loquitur, intelligi potest, non vult aliud accipi quam legem atqui doctrinam, qua naturalis possibilitas adjuvetur. Nam quodam loco ait, "Hic nos imperitissimi hominum putant injuriam divinae gratiae facere, quia dicimus eam sine voluntate nostra nequaquam in nobis perficere sanctitatem: quasi Deus gratiae suao aliquid imperaverit, et nou illis quibus inperavit, etiam gratiae suae auxilium subministret, ut quod per liberum hominis facere jubentur arbitrium, facilius possent implere per gratiam." Et tamquam explicaturus quam dicat gratiam, secutus adjunxit, dicens, "Quam nos non, ut tu putas, in lege tantummodo, sed et in Dei esse adjutorio confitemur." Quis non hic desideret, ut ostendat quam velit intelligi gratiam? Propter hoc enim maxime de illo exspectare debemus, ut dicat hoc quod dicit, non in lege tantummodo se gratiam confiteri. Sed nobis hac expectatione suspensis, quid addiderit intuemini: "Adjuvat enim nos Deus, inquit, per doctrinam et revelationem suam, dum cordis nostri oculos aperit; dum nobis, ne presentibus occupemur, futura demonstrat; dum diaboli pandit insidias; dum nos multiformi et ineffabili dono gratiae caelestis illuminat." Deinde sententiam suam quandam velut absolutione concludens, "Qui haec dicit, inquit, gratiam tibi videtur negare? An et liberum hominis arbitrium, et Dei gratiam confitetur?" In his omnibus non recessit a commendatione legis atque doctrinac, hanc esse adjuvantem gratiam diligenter inculcans, et hoc exsequens quod proposuerat, cum diceret, sed in Dei esse adjutorio confitemur. Denique Dei adjutorium multiplicitate insinuandum putavit, commemorando doctrinam et revelationem, et oculorum cordis adapertioem, et demonstrationem futurorum, et apertioem diabolicarum insidiarum, et multiformi atque ineffabili dono gratiae caelestis illuminationem: ad hoc utique ut divina praecepta et promissa discamus. Hoc est ergo gratiam Dei ponere in lege atque doctrina.

9. Hinc itaque apparet, hanc eum gratiam confiteri, qua

demonstrat et revelat Deus quid agere debeamus; non quia donat atque adjuvat ut agamus: cum ad hoc potius valeat legis agnitus, si gratiae desit opitulatio, ut fiat mandati prævaricatio. Ubi enim non est lex, ait Apostolus, nec prævaricatio. Et, Concupiscentiam nesciebam, nisi lex diceret, Non concupisebam. Ac per hoc, usque adeo aliud est lex, aliud est gratia, ut lex non solum nihil prospicit, verum etiam plurimum obicit, nisi adjuvet gratia; et haec ostendatur legis utilitas, quoniam quos facit prævaricationis reos, cogit confugere ad gratiam liberandos, et ut concupiscentias malas supererent adjuvandos. Jubet enim magis quam juvatur; docet morbum esse, non sanat; immo ab ea potius quod non sanatur augetur, ut adtentius et sollicitius gratiae medicina quaeratur. Quia littera occidit, spiritus autem vivificat. Si enim data esset lex quae posset vivificare, omnino ex lege esset justitia. In quantum tamen etiam lex adjuvet, adjungit et dicit, Sed conclusit Scriptura omnia sub peccato, ut promissio ex fide Iesu Christi daretur erudiantibus. Itaque lex, inquit, Paedagogus noster fuit in Christo Iesu. Hoc ipsum ergo superbis est utile, sub peccato artius manifestiusque concludi, ne ad faciendam justitiam de liberi arbitrii quasi propriis viribus præsumatur; sed omne os obstruatur, et reus fiat omnis mundus Deo, quia non justificabitur ex lege omnis caro coram illo. Per legem enim cognitio peccati: nunc autem sine lege justitia Dei manifestata est, testificata per legem et prophetas. Quomodo ergo sine lege manifestata, si per legem testificata? Non itaque sine lege manifestata, sed sine lege justitia, quia justitia Dei est, id est, quae nobis non ex lege sit, sed ex Deo: non quae illo imperante cognoscendo timeatur, sed quae illo donante diligendo teneatur, ut et qui gloriatur in Domino glorietur.

10. Quid ergo est, quod iste legem atque doctrinam depusat gratiam, qua juvamus ad operandam justitiam, quae ut multum adjuvet, ad hoc adjuvat ut gratia requiratur? Nemo enim potest legem implere per legem. Plenitudo enim legis caritas. Caritas autem Dei non per legem diffusa est in cordibus nostris, sed per Spiritum sanctum qui datus est nobis. Proinde per legem gratia domonstratur, ut lex per gratiam compleatur. Quid enim juvat Pelagium, quia diversis verbis eamdem rem dicit, ut non intelligatur in lege atque doctrina gratiam constituere, qua possibilitatem naturae asserit adjuvari? Quantum autem existimo, ideo veretur intelligi, quia damnavit eos, qui dicunt gratiam Dei et adjutorium non ad singulos actus dari, sed in libero arbitrio esse, vel in lege atque doctrina: et tamen latere se putat, cum aliis atque aliis locutionibus versat significationem legis atque doctrinae.

11. Et alio quippe loco, cum diu asservisset, non adjutorio Dei, sed ex nobis ipsis in nobis effici voluntatem bonam, opposuit sibi ex apostoli epistola quaestionem, atque ait, "Et quomodo inquit, stabit illud Apostoli, Deus est enim qui operatur in vobis et velle et perficere?" Deinde ut hanc oppositionem veluti solveret quam videbat dogmati suo vehementer esse contrariam, secutus adjunxit: "Operatur in nobis velle quod bonum est, velle quod sanctum est, dum nos terrenis cupiditatibus deditos, et mitorum more animalium tantummodo praesentia diligentes, futurae gloriae magnitudine et praemiorum pollicitatione succedit, dum revelatione sapientiae in desiderium Dei stupentem suscitat voluntatem, dum nobis (quod tu alibi negare non metuis) suadet omne quod bonum est." Quid manifestius, nihil aliud cum diecere gratiam, qua Deus in nobis operatur velle quod bonum est, quam legem atque doctrinam? In lege namque et doctrina sanctorum scripturarum futurae gloriae atque praemiorum promittitur magnitudo. Ad doctrinam pertinet etiam quod sapientia revelatur, ad doctrinam pertinet eum suadetur omne quod bonum est. Et si inter docere et suadere, vel potius exhortari, distare aliquid videtur; etiam hoc tamen doctrinae generalitate concluditur, quae quibusque sermonibus vel litteris continetur: nam et sanctae scripturae et docent et exhortantur, et potest esse in docendo et exhortando etiam hominis operatio. Sed nos eam gratiam volvamus iste aliquando fateatur, qua futurae gloriae magnitudo non solum promittitur, verum etiam creditur et speratur; nec solum revelatur sapientia, verum et amatur; nec solum suadetur omne quod bonum est, verum et persuadetur. Non enim omnium est fides, qui audiunt per Scripturas Dominum regnum caelorum pollicentem; aut omnibus persuadetur quibuscumque suadetur, ut veniant ad eum qui dicit, Venite ad me omnes qui laboratis. Quorum autem sit fides, et quibus persuadetur, ut ad eum veniant, satis ipse demonstravit, ubi ait, Nemo venit ad me, nisi Pater qui misit me, traxerit eum. Et paulo post, cum de non credentibus loqueretur, Dixi, inquit, vobis, quia nemo potest venire ad me, nisi fuerit ei datum a Patre meo.¹ Hanc debet Pelagius gratiam confiteri, si vult non solum vocari, verum etiam esse Christianus.

12. Quid autem dicam de revelatione sapientiae? Neque enim facile quisquam speraverit in hac vita posse pervenire ad magnitudinem revelationum apostoli Pauli: et utique in eis quid aliud credendum est ei revelari solere, nisi quod ad sapientiam pertineret? Et tamen dicit, In magnitudine revelationum mearum ne extollar, datus est mihi stimulus carnis mea, angelus Satanae qui me colaphizet. Propter quod ter Dominum rogavi, ut auferret eum a me: et dixit mihi, Sufficit tibi gratia mea, nam virtus in infirmitate perficitur. Procul dubio si jam summa, et cui nihil esset addendum, caritas in Apostolo tunc fuisset, quae omnino non posset inflari, numquid necessarius esset angelus Satanae, quo colaphizante reprimeretur elatio, quae in magnitudine revelationum posset existere? Quid est autem aliud elatio, quam inflatio? Et utique de caritate verissime dictum est, Caritas non aemulatur, non inflatur. Haec itaque caritas adhuc etiam in tanto Apostolo de die in diem profecto augebatur, quamdiu homo ejus interior de die in diem renovabatur, perficienda sine dubio ubi jam non posset inflari. Tunc autem mens ejus adhuc erat ubi inflaretur magnitudine revelationis, donec impleretur solido aedificio caritatis: nondum enim perveniendo apprehenderat, quo proficiendo currebat.

13. Ideoque nolenti perpeti molestiam, qua ejus cohibetur elatio, antequam esset in eo caritatis ultima et summa perfectio, rectissime dicitur, Sufficit tibi gratia mea, nam virtus in infirmitate perficitur: in infirmitate scilicet, non ut ille putat, carnis tantum; sed et carnis et animi: quia et animus erat in comparatione summae illius perfectionis infirmus, cui, ne extolleretur, proinde stimulus carnis angelus Satanae intelligebatur datus: quamvis esset in carnalium vel animalium, nondum percipientium quae sunt Spiritus Dei, comparatione, firmissimus. Quocirca si virtus in infirmitate perficitur, quisquis se non fatetur infirmum, non perficitur. Haec autem gratia qua virtus in infirmitate perficitur, praedestinatos et secundum propositum vocatos ad summam perfectionem glorificationemque perducit. Qua gratia agitur, non solum ut facienda noverimus, verum etiam ut cognita faciamus; nec solum ut diligenda credamus, verum etiam ut credita diligamus.

14. Haec gratia si doctrina dicenda est, certe sic dicatur, ut altius et interius eam Deus cum ineffabili suavitate credatur infundere, non solum per eos qui plantant et rigant extrinsecus, sed etiam per se ipsum qui incrementum suum ministrat occultus, ita ut non ostendat tantummodo veritatem, verum etium imperiat caritatem. Sic enim docet Deus eos qui secundum propositum vocati sunt, simul donans et quid agant scire, et quod sciunt agere. Unde ad Thessalonicenses sic Apostolus loquitur: De caritate autem fraternitatis non opus habetis vobis scribi; nam ipsi vos a Deo didicistis ut diligatis invicem. Atque ut probaret eos a Deo didicisse, subjunxit, Etenim facitis illud in omnes fratres, in universa Macedonia. Tamquam hoc sit certissimum indicium quod a Deo didiceris, si id quod didiceris feceris. Isto modo sunt omnes secundum propositum vocati, sicut scriptum est in Prophetis, docibiles Dei. Qui autem novit quidem quod fieri debeat, et non facit, nondum a Deo didicit secundum gratiam, sed secundum legem; non secundum spiritum, sed secundum litteram. Qumvis multi, quod imperat lex, facere videantur timore poenae, non amore justitiae: quam dicit

Apostolus justitiam suam quae ex lege est; tamquam sit imperata, non data. Si autem data est, non dicitur justitia nostra, sed Dei: qui sic fit nostra, ut sit nobis ex Deo. Dicit enim, Ut inveniar in illo non habens meam justitiam,¹ quae ex lege est, sed eam quae ex fide est Jesu, justitiam ex Deo. Tantum igitur inter legem distat et gratiam, ut cum lex esse non dubitet ex Deo, justitia tamen quae ex lege est, non sit ex Deo; sed justitia quae per gratiam consummatur, ex Deo. Quia ex lege justitia dicitur, quae fit propter legis maledictum: justitia ex Deo dicitur, quae datur per gratiae beneficium; ut non sit terribile, sed suave mandatum, sicut oratur in Psalmo,² Suavis es Domine, et in tua suavitate doce me justitiam tuam: id est, ut non formidine poenae serviliter cogar esse sub lege, sed libera caritate delecter esse cum lege. Praeceptum quippe liber facit, qui libens facit. Et hoc modo quisquis discit, agit omnino quidquid agendum didicerit.

15. De isto docendi modo etiam Dominus ait, Omnis qui audivit a Patre meo et didicit, venit ad me. Qui ergo non venerit, non de illo recte dicitur, Audivit quidem et didicit sibi esse veniendum, sed facere non vult quod didicit. Prorsus non recte dicitur de isto docendi modo, quo per gratiam docet Deus. Si enim, sicut Veritas loquitur, Omnis qui didicit, venit: quisquis non venit, profecto nec didicit. Quis autem non vidcat, et venire quemquam et non venire arbitrio voluntatis? Sed hoc arbitrium potest esse solum, si non venit: non autem potest nisi adjutum esse, si venit; et sic adjutum, ut non solum quid faciendum sit sciat, sed quod scierit etiam faciat. Ac per hoc, quando Deus docet, non per legis litteram, sed per Spiritus gratiam; ita docet, ut quod quisque didicerit, non tantum cognoscendo videat, sed etiam volendo appetat, agendoque perficiat. Et isto divino docendi modo etiam ipsa voluntas et ipsa operatio, non sola volendi et operandi naturalis possibilitas adjuvatur. Si enim solum posse nostrum hac gratia juvaretur, ita diceret

Dominus : Omnis qui audivit a patre et didicit, potest venire ad me. Non autem ita dixit : sed, Omnis qui audivit, inquit, a Patre et didicit, venit ad me. Venire posse in natura ponit Pelagius, vel etiam, ut modo dicere coepit, in gratia, qualemlibet eam sentiat, qua ipsa, ut dicit, possibilis adjuvatur : venire autem jam in voluntate et opere est. Non est autem consequens, ut qui potest venire, etiam veniat, nisi id voluerit atque fecerit. Sed omnis qui didicit a Patre, non solum potest venire, sed venit: ubi jam et possibilitatis profectus, et voluntatis affectus, et actionis effectus est.

EX LIB. EJUSDEM DE DOCTRINA CHRISTIANA.

LIB. II.

Philosophi autem qui vocantur, si qua forte vera et fidei nostrae accomodata dixerunt, maxime Platonici, non solum formidanda non sunt, sed ab eis etiam tamquam injustis possessoribus in usum nostrum vindicanda. Sicut enim Ægyptii non solum idola habebant et onera gravia quae populus Israel detestaretur et fugeret, sed etiam vasa atque ornamenta de auro et argento, et vestem, quae illo populus exiens de Ægypto, sibi potius tamquam ad usum meliorem claneulo vindicavit, non auctoritate propria, sed praecepto Dei, ipsis Ægyptiis nescienter commodantibus ea, quibus non bene utebantur: sic doctrinae omnes gentilium non solum simulata et superstitiosa figurae gravesque sarcinas supervacanei laboris habent, quae unusquisque nostrum duce Christo de societate gentilium exiens, debet abominari atque devitare; sed etiam liberales disciplinas usui veritatis aptiores, et quaedam morum praecepta utilissima continent, deque ipso uno Deo colendo non-nulla vera inveniuntur apud eos, quod eorum tamquam aurum et argentum, quod non ipsi instituerunt, sed de quibusdam quasi metallis divinae providentiae, quae ubique infusa est, eruerunt, et quo perverse atque injuriose ad obsequia daemonum abutuntur, cum ab eorum misera societate sese animo separat, debet ab eis auferre Christianus ad usum justum praedicandi Evangelii. Vestem quoque illorum, id est hominum quidem instituta, sed tamen accommodata humanae societati, qua in hac vita carere non possumus, accipere atque habere licuerit in usum convertenda Christianum.

Nam quid aliud fecerunt multi boni fideles nostri? Nonne adspicimus quanto auro et argento et veste sussareinatus exierit de Ægypto Cyprianus doctor suavissimus et martyr beatissimus? quanto Laetantius; quanto Victorinus, Optatus, Hilarius, ut de vivis taceam; quanto innumerabiles Graeci? Quod prior ipse fidelissimus Dei famulus Moises fecerat, de quo scriptum est, quod eruditus fuerit omni sapientia Ægyptiorum. Quibus omnibus viris superstitione gentium consuetudo, et maxime illis temporibus, cum Christi recutiens jugum Christianos persequebatur, disciplinas quas utiles habebat, numquam commodaret, si eas in usum colendi unius Dei, quo vanus idolorum cultus excinderetur, conversum iri suspicaretur: sed dederunt aurum et argentum et vestem suam exeundi populo Dei de Ægypto, nescientes quemadmodum illa quae dabant, in Christi obsequium cederent. Illud enim in Exodo factum, sine dubio figuratum est, ut hoc praesignaret: quod, sine praejudicio alterius, aut paris aut melioris intelligentiae, dixerim.

Sed hoc modo instructus divinarum Scripturarum studiosus, eum ad eas perscrutandas accedero cooperit, illud apostolicum cogitare non cessot, Scientia inflat, caritas aedificat. Ita enim sentiet, quamvis de Ægypto dives exeat, tamen nisi Pascha egerit, salvum se esse non posse. Pascha autem nostrum immolatus est Christus, nihilque magis immolatio Christi nos docet, quam illud quod ipso clamat, tamquam ad eos, quos in Ægypto sub Pharaone videt laborare: “Venite ad me qui laboratis et onerati estis, et ego reficiam vos. Tollite jugum meum super vos, et discite a me, quia mitis sum, et humilis corde; et invenietis requiem animabus vestris. Jugum enim meum lene est, et sarcina mea levis est:” quibus, nisi mitibus et humilibus corde, quos non inflat scientia, sed caritas aedificat?

LIB. IV.

Primo itaque expectationem legentium, qui forte me putant rhetorica daturum esse praecepta, quae in scholis secularibus et didici et docui, ista praelocutione cohibeo, atque ut a me non expectentur, admoneo: non quod nihil habeant utilitatis;

sed quod si quiā habent, scorsum discendum est, si cui fortassis bono viro etiam haec vacat discere, non autem a me vel in hoc opere, vel in aliquo alio requirendum.

Nam cum per artem rhetorican et vera suadeantur et falsa, quis audeat dicere, adversus mendacium in defensoribus suis inermem debere consistere veritatem, ut videlicet illi qui res falsas persuadere conantur, noverint auditorem vel benevolum, vel intentum, vel docilem proaemio facere; isti autem non noverint? Illi falsa breviter, aperte, verisimiliter; et isti vera sic narrent, ut audire taedeat, intelligere non pateat, credere postremo non libeat? Illi fallacibus argumentis veritatem oppugnant, asserant falsitatem; isti nec vera defendere, nec falsa valeant refutare? Illi animos audientium in errorem moventes impellentesque dicendo terreant, contristent, exhilarent, exhortentur ardenter; isti pro veritate, lenti frigidique dormitent? Quis ita desipiat, ut hoc sapiat? Cum ergo sit in medio posita facultas eloquii, quae ad persuadenda seu prava seu recta valet plurimum, cur non bonorum studio comparatur, ut militet veritati, si eam mali ad obtinendas perversas vanasque causas in usus iniquitatis et erroris usurpant? * * * * *

Debet igitur divinarum Scripturarum tractator et doctor, defensor rectae fidei ac debellator erroris, et bona docere, et mala dedocere: atque in hoc opere sermonis conciliare adversos, remissos erigere, nescientibus quid agatur, quid exspectare debeant intimare. Ubi autem benevolos, intentos, dociles aut invenerit, aut ipse fecerit, cetera peragenda sunt, sicut postulat causa. Si docendi sunt qui audiunt, narratione faciendum est, si tamen indigeat, ut res de qua agitur innotescat. Ut autem quae dubia sunt certa fiant, documentis adhibitis ratiocinandum est. Si vero qui audiunt movendi sunt potius quam docendi, ut in eo quod jam sciunt, agendo non torpeant, et rebus assensum, quas veras esse fatentur, accommodent, majoribus dicendi viribus opus est. Ibi obsecrationes et increpationes, concitationes et coercitiones, et quacumque alia valeant ad commovendos animos, sunt necessaria.

Et haec quidem cuneta quae dixi, omnes fere homines in iis quae eloquendo agunt, facere non quiescunt: sed cum alii faciant obtuse, deformiter, frigide; alii acute, ornate, vehementer; illum ad hoc opus unde agimus, jam oportet accedere, qui potest disputare vel dicere sapienter, etiamsi non potest eloquenter, ut prosit audientibus, etiamsi minus quam prodesset, si et eloquenter posset dicere. Qui vero affluit insipienti eloquentia, tanto magis cavendus est, quanto magis ab eo in iis quae audire inutile est, delectatur auditor, et eum quoniam diserte dicere audit, etiam vere dicere existimat. Haec autem sententia nec illos fugit, qui artem rhetoricae docendam putarunt: fassi sunt enim sapientiam sine eloquentia parum prodesse civitatibus; eloquentiam vero sine sapientia nimium obesse plerumque, prodesse numquam. Si ergo hoc illi, qui praecepta eloquentiae tradiderunt, in eisdem libris in quibus id egerunt, veritate instigante coacti sunt confiteri, veram, hoc est supernam quae a Patre luminum descendit, sapientiam nescientes, quanto magis nos non aliud sentire debemus, qui hujus sapientiae filii et ministri sumus? Sapienter autem dicet homo tanto magis vel minus, quanto in Scripturis sanctis magis minusve profecit. Non dico in eis multum legendis memoriaeque mandandis, sed bene intelligendis, et diligenter earum sensibus indagandis. Sunt enim qui eas legunt, et negligunt: legunt ut teneant, negligunt ne intelligent. Quibus longe sine dubio praefferendi sunt, qui verba earum minus tenent, et cor earum sui cordis oculis vident. Sed utrisque ille melior, qui et cum volet eas dicit, et sicut oportet intelligit.

Huic ergo qui sapienter debet dicere, etiam quod non potest eloquenter, verba Scripturarum tenere maxime necessarium est. Quanto enim se pauperiorem cernit in suis, tanto eum oportet in istis esse ditionem; ut quod dixerit suis verbis, probet ex illis; et qui propriis verbis minor erat, magnorum testimonio quodammodo crescat. Probando enim delectat, qui minus potest delectare dicendo. Porro qui non solum sapienter, verum etiam eloquenter vult dicere, quoniam profecto plus proderit, si utrumque potuerit; ad legendos vel audiendos et exercitatione imitandos eloquentes eum mitto libentius, quam magistris artis rhetoricae vacare praecepio: si tamen ii qui leguntur et audiuntur, non solum eloquenter, sed etiam sapienter dixisse vel dicere veraci praedicatione laudantur. * * * * *

Dixit ergo quidam eloquens,¹ et verum dixit, ita dicere debere eloquentem, ut doceat, ut delectet, ut flectat. Deinde addidit, Docere necessitas est, delectare suavitatis, flectere victoriae. Horum trium quod primo loco positum est, hoc est docendi necessitas, in rebus est constituta, quas dicimus; reliqua duo in modo, quo dicimus. Qui ergo dicit cum docere vult, quamdiu non intelligitur, nondum se existimet dixisse quod vult ei quem vult docere. Quia etsi dixit quod ipse intelligit, nondum illi dixisse putandus est, a quo intellectus non est: si vero intellectus est, quocumque modo dixerit, dixit. Quod si etiam delectare vult eum, cui dicit, aut flectere, non quocumque modo dixerit faciet, sed interest quomodo dicat ut faciat. Sicut est autem ut teneatur ad audiendum, delectandus auditor, ita flectendus, ut moveatur ad agendum. Et sicut delectatur si suaviter loquaris; ita fectitur si amet quod polliceris, timeat quod minaris, oderit quod arguis; quod commendas amplectatur, quod dolendum exaggeras doleat, cum quid lactandum praedicas gaudeat, misereatur eorum, quos miserandos ante oculos dicendo constituis, fugiat eos, quos cavendos terrendo proponis, et quidquid aliud grandi eloquentia fieri potest ad commovendos animos auditorum, non quid agendum sit ut sciant, sed ut agant quod agendum esse jam sciunt. * * *

Qui ergo nititur dicendo persuadere quod bonum est, nihil horum trium spernens, ut scilicet doceat, ut delectet, ut flectat, oret atque agat, ut quemadmodum supra diximus, intelligenter, libenter, obedienteque audiatur. Quod cum apte et convenienter facit, non immerito eloquens dici potest, etsi non eum sequatur auditoris assensus. Ad haec enim tria, id est ut doceat, ut delectet, ut flectat, etiam tria illa videtur pertinere voluisse idem ipse Romani auctor eloquii, cum itidem dixit: Is igitur erit eloquens, qui poterit parva submisce, modica temperate, magna granditer dicere: tamquam si adderet illa etiam tria, et sic explicaret unam eamdemque sententiam dicens, Is erit igitur eloquens, qui ut doceat, poterit parva submisce; ut delectet, modica temperate; ut flectat, magna granditer dicere.

Haec autem tria ille, sicut ab eo dicta sunt, in causis forensibus posset ostendere: non autem h̄ic, hoc est in ecclesiasticis quaestionibus, in quibus hujusmodi, quem volumus informare, sermo versatur. In illis enim ea parva dicuntur, ubi de rebus pecuniariorum judicandum est; ea magna, ubi de salute ac de capite hominum: ea vero ubi nihil horum judicandum est, nihilque agitur ut agat sive decernat, sed tantummodo ut delectetur auditor, inter utrumque quasi media, et ob hoc modica, hoc est moderata dixerunt. Modicis enim modus nomen imposuit: nam modica pro parvis abusive, non proprie dicimus. In istis autem nostris, quando quidem omnia, maxime quae de loco superiore¹ populis dicimus, ad

¹ Loco superiore.—The pulpit—in distinction from the place in which the reader of ecclesiastical books, not inspired, took his place. Augustine gives in this same book of his Doct. Christ., a list of the canonical writings, of which he enjoins it on the student to be “solertiaissimus indagator.” The list of the New Testament books agrees entirely with our acknowledged canon, including the Apocalypse; but with the Old Testament books he includes a few which the Council of Laodicea, affirmed by that of Chalcedon afterwards, rejected, and Jerome had separated and marked off as apocryphal. Augustine’s list is that of the Council of Carthage (397) at which he was present. They had not, it is thought, yet got possession of Jerome’s works. The defenders of the Council of Trent, in sanctioning the Apocryphal books, have sought in Augustine’s acknowledgment of Tobias and Judith, the Maccabees, &c., an apology for the procedure of that council. But it has been shewn by Protestant writers, that Augustine uses the word “canon” in a stricter and laxer sense; and that his frequent references in other parts of his writings to the Jewish canon as complete, and to certain Apocryphal books as having only a degree of authority, prove that, though he did not use the great care of Jerome, he was desirous that even the best of these Apocryphal books should not be elevated to the level of the Sacred Word. Speaking (in his city of God) of the books of Wisdom and Ecclesiasticus, he says it is chiefly in the west that they are received as having authority. Gaußen justly says, that “he would never speak thus of the true oracles of God.” The same writer makes good use of the admissions of leading Roman Catholic writers, previous to the Council of Trent; especially of Cardinal Cajetan’s frequent assertion in his writings of the Church's acceptance of Jerome's carefully scrutinised list. "Thus," concludes Gausser, "it is very evident that, even to the days of Luther and Cajetan (his opponent on behalf of the Pope) in 1533—that is to say, eleven or twelve years before the Council of Trent began—our entire doctrine on the Apocrypha was held at Rome as good and orthodox." See Gausser's Appendix on the Apocrypha for the small authority belonging to the alleged canon of the Council of Carthage. He also puts in good contrast the "fifty-three" ecclesiastics assembled at Trent, who ventured to raise the Apocryphal writings to the level of Holy Scripture, with the six hundred and thirty at Chalcedon, who affirmed the decree of the Council of Laodicea—absolutely excluding the Apocryphal books.

Augustine's familiarity with the Septuagint Bible used in his part of the world instead of the Hebrew, and his somewhat excessive veneration for that book, though not altogether blind to its defects, accounts for his acknowledgment so far of Deutero-canonical writings. We can scarcely close this volume without giving an interesting letter from Augustine to Jerome, shewing, amidst some diversity of judgment, the interest which these distinguished fathers took in questions of biblical criticism and interpretation. Jerome's appeal to the original Hebrew will of course be commended by every one. Not the least thing to be noticed by the reader of such ancient correspondence is the fine example of respectful deference to the gifts and graces of one servant of Christ by another. What a contrast to the envy and rudeness of lesser minds!

EX EPISTOLA AUGUSTINI HIERONYMO.

Domino venerabili, et desiderabili sancto fratri, et compresbytero Hieronymo, Augustinus in Domino salutem.

* * * * * Quia ergo duas jam epistolas misi, nullam autem tuam postea recepi, easdem ipsas rursus mittere volui, credens eas non pervenisse. Quae etsi pervenerunt, ac fortasse tuae potius ad me pervenire minime potuerunt, ea ipsa scripta, quae jam misisti, iterum mitte, si forte reservata sunt: sin minus, rursus dicta quod legam, dum tamen his respondere ne graveris, quod jam diu est ut expecto. Primas etiam quas ad te adhuc presbyter litteras praeparaveram mittendas per quemdam fratrem nostrum Profuturum, qui postea collega nobis factus, jam ex hac vita migravit, nec eas tunc ipse perferre potuit, quia continuo dum proficisci disponit, episcopatus sareina detentus, ac deinde in brevi defunctus est, etiam nunc mittere volui: ut scias in tua colloquitz quam olim inardescam, et quam vim patiar, quod a me tam longe absunt sensus corporis tui, per quos adire possit ad animum tuum animus meus, mi frater dulcissime, et in Domini membris honorande.

In hac autem epistola hoc addo, quod postea didicimus, Job ex Hebraco a te interpretatum, cum jam quamdam haberemus interpretationem tuam ejusdem Prophetae ex graeco eloquio versam in latinum; ubi tamen asteriscis notasti quae in hebraco sunt, et in graeco desunt; obeliscis autem quae in graeco inveniuntur, et in hebraeo non sunt, tam mirabili diligentia, ut quibusdam in locis ad verba singula; singulas stellas videamus, significantes eandem verba esse in hebraeo, in graeco autem non esse. Porro in hac posteriore interpretatione, quae versa est ex hebraeo, non eadem verborum fides occurrit, nec parum turbat cogitantem, vel cur in illa prima tanta diligentia figantur asterisci, ut minimas etiam particulas orationis indicent deesse codicibus graecis, quae sunt in hebraeis; vel cur in hac altera, quae ex hebraeis est, negligentius hoc curatum sit, ut hae eadem particulae locis suis invenirentur. Aliiquid inde, exempli gratia, volui ponere: sed mihi ad horam codex defuit, qui ex hebraeo est. Verumtamen quia praevolas ingenio, non solum quod dixerim, verum etiam quid dicere voluerim, satis, ut opinor, intelligis, ut causâ redditâ, quod movet edisseras.

Ego sane te mallem graecas potius canonicas nobis interpretari Scripturas, quae Septuaginta interpretum perhibentur. Perdurum erit enim, si tua interpretatio per multas ecclesias frequentius cooperit lectitari, quod a graecis ecclesiis latinae ecclesiae dissonabunt, maxime quia facile contradictor convincitur graeco prolato libro, id est linguae notissimae. Quisquis autem in eo, quod ex hebraco translatum est, aliquo insolito permotus fuerit, et falsi crimen intenderit; vix aut numquam ad hebraea testimonia pervenietur, quibus defendatur objectum. Quod si etiam per ventum fuerit, tot latinas et graecas auctoritates damnari quis ferat? Huc accedit, quia etiam consulti Hebrei possunt aliud respondere: ut tu solus necessarius videaris, qui etiam ipsos possis convincere; sed tamen quo judice mirum si potueris invenire.

Nam quidam frater noster episcopus, cum lectitari instituisset in ecclesia, cui praest, interpretationem tuam, movit quiddam longe aliter abs te positum apud Jonam prophetam, quam erat omnium sensibus memoriaeque inventeratum, et tot aetatum successionibus decantatum. Factus est tantus tumultus in plebe, maxime graecis arguentibus et inclamatibus calumniam falsitatis, ut cogeretur episcopus (ea quippe civitas erat) Judaeorum testimonium flagitare. Utrum autem illi imperitia an malitia, hoc esse in hebreis codicibus responderunt, quod et graeci et latini habebant atque dicebant. Quid plura? Coactus est homo velut mendositatem corrigere, volens, post magnum periculum, non remanere sine plebe. Unde etiam nobis videtur, aliquando te quoque in nonnullis falli potuisse. Et vide hoc quale sit, in eis litteris, quae non possunt collatis usitatissimis linguis testimoniis emendari.

Proinde non parvas Deo gratias agimus de opere tuo, quo Evangelium ex greco interpretatus es: quia pene in omnibus nulla offendio est, cum Scripturam graecam contulerimus. Unde, si quisquam veteri falsitati contentiosus faverit, prolatis collatisque codicibus, vel docetur facillime, vel refellitur. Et si quaedam rarissima merito movent; quis tam durus est, qui labori tam utili non facile ignoscatur, cui vicem laudis referre non sufficit? Quid tibi autem videatur, cur in multis aliter se habeat hebreorum codicum auctoritas, aliter graecorum quae dicitur Septuaginta, vellem dignareris aperire. Neque enim parvum pondus habet illa, quae sic meruit diffamari, et quae usos Apostolos, non solum res ipsa indicat, sed etiam te attestatum esse memini. Ac per hoc plurimum profueris, si eam graecam Scripturam, quam Septuaginta operati sunt, latinae veritati reddideris: quae in diversis codicibus ita varia est, ut tolerari vix possit; et ita suspecta, ne in graeco aliud inveniatur, ut inde aliquid proferri aut probari dubitetur. Brevem putabam futuram hanc epistolam: sed nescio quomodo ita mihi dulce factum est in ea progredi, ac si tecum loquerer. Sed obsecro te per Dominum, ne te pigeat ad omnia respondere, et praestare mihi, quantum potueris, praesentiam tuam.
