CANADIANWHEATISGRANTED FREE ENTRY TO U.S. MARKETS

Order-in-Council Points Out Necessity of Opening Marts to Canadian Growers Who Suffer Thru Lack of Ocean Transportation-Prices of Lower Grades of Wheat Unduly Depressed.

Otta...a, April 16.—Canadian wheat now has free entry into the markets of the United States. Sir Thos. White today announced that under the War Measures Act the government had taken advantage of the clause in the Wilson-Underwood tariff and has placed wheat, wheat flour, semolina and wheat products on the free list. The order goes into effect at once. The question has been under consideration for some time, and prices were thoroly investigated by the minister of finance, assisted by Hon. Arthur Meighen. Sir Robert Borden was consulted by cable, and the full concurrence of himself and his colleagues obtained.

Obtained to the markets of the United States, for Canada's wheat:

Therefore his excellency the governor-general in council, under the authority of the War Measures Act, 1914, section 6, is pleased to order and it is hereby ordered that wheat, wheat flour and semolina be transferred to the list of goods which may be imported into Canada free of duty of customs.

In Effect Today

Up till today the duty upon wheat entering the United States was ten cents per bushel; upon wheat flour 45 cents per barrel; and upon semolina and other products of wheat ten per cent of value. The action has been under consideration for some time, and prices were thoroly investigated by the minister of finance, assisted by Hon. Arthur Meighen. The question has been under consideration for some time, and prices were through investigated by the minister of finance, assisted by Hon. Arthur Meighen. Sir Robert. Borden was consulted by cable, and the full concurrence of himself and his colleagues obtained.

The German submarine warfare, which has seriously affected Atlantic transportation, and the entrance of the United States into the war have completely altered the whole attuation in regard to the sale of wheat. In normal times there existed a large commercial export demand from Europe for wheat of all grades. Cwins to the scarcity of shipping, all available tonnage was required to transport grain of the higher grades and flour. Since the United States in the was required to transport grain of the higher grades and flour. Since the United States he onlined consumers, so that the British wheat commission was practically broaded for British and allied consumers, so that the British wheat commission was practically pooled for British and allied consumers, so that the British wheat for Canada's low grade wheat Investigation shows that prices are much lower in Canada than in the United States.

Concession to Fermers

The order-in-council sets forth that there are strong grounds for belief that advantage was being taken of the situation to maintain prices it. Canada's lower than warranted by general market conditions. In view of the extraordinary situation and 'he desirability that the Canadian farmer with the present appeal for increased production should feel that he was obtaining the best market price, it was decided to place these products on the free list.

at Regina tonight: When I hark back to November 16, 1910, the date of which the grain growers of the west besieged Ottawa, then on thru the years today and realize that our great aim—free wheat—has been attained, I can only say, as I have said time and again, it is right, it is just.

Worrying About Food Shortage.

Looking the picture of health, Major-General J. C. Macdougall is back in Canada on a month's leae, after two and a half years overseas. The general was born in Toronto, and for/a term of six years preceding 1899 was adjutant at Stanley Barracks, later going to Ottawa. The beginning of the war found him in Ottawa, and on twenty-four hours' notice he left for two and a half years overseas, going over with the minister of militia. Last February he returned to England, and was in charge of the training of reinforcements until he obtained a month's leave.

The general is in Toronto for a day or two on personal business, and was warmly welcomed by several old friends who happened to meet him in the hotel.

Last night, when seen by a reporter for The World in the Queen's Hotel, he showed the usual military reticence to saying anything about his own activities, but was unstinted in his praise of the Canadians.

Regarding the Hindenburg line, the leader in the new Canadian Defence in a building belonging to the but was unstinted in his praise of the Canadians.

Regarding the Hindenburg line, the general said that he knew nothing about it, and could not say as to what its topographical position or its defences were. He had a map showing Vimy, but the British were now past that point.

The district held opposite Vimy was part of the coal area, and from observation points in February could be seen the shafts of the nearby mining region, and he believed that these would now be taken, but whether or not the allies could operate them in the near future he did not know, as the machinery would probably be wrecked and the mines damaged as much as possible by the retreating enemy.

The people in England were taking things with their usual philosophic calm, and, while they appreciated the submarine menace and the necessity of increased production, no hardship was not ticcable. There was a shortage of sugar in private homes, but people were not worrying about food conditions.

General MacDeugall thought that the people of England would rather welcome the overseas dominions' interest in imperial relations, and their desire to share in the deciding of imperial questions.

The English people felt that the war was bringing desirable changes, and that class barriers were being removed by all classes fighting side by side in the common cause.

The general is in Toronto for a day or two on personal business, and was warm-

SCORE'S GREAT SALE.

"It gathers momentum as it goes." This little speech applies to many things in many times and in many ways, and of nothing could it be more truthfully spoken than the R. Score & Son $50,000 estate sale. The woolens are so high-class, so wide in variety, so great in assortment, and the discounts to granular the contract to the state of the discounts so genuine that the sale is bound to arrest the attention and have the practical support of men "in the know." The name "Score" is the hall mark for quality in the merchandise, and the tailoring and the special prices make the sale an opportunity of more than ordinary interest.

Making Your House to Bloom Anew With Flowers of Chintz

Only a peep you get of this dining-room, but you may depend upon it that it's a charming room. How could it be otherwise, with such a delightsome fabric for curtains? Imagine a heavy linen of a soft amethyst purple tint, patterned with big pink and white magnolis blossoms, green leaves and long-tailed birds, with blue and deep pink wings. Moreover, there is plenty of brown and tan in the branches to blend in well with the putty and sand color walls of popular wogue. It is 50 inches wide, and priced $5.50 a yard. The same design on an old blue ground is likewise a delight to be hold. It is the same price.

HAT SPRINGTIME LONGING to make a room look bright and fresh—how insistent it is these April days! And what more effective means to the end than gladsome, colorful chintz! Use it for curtains, coverings and cushions, and, lo, the whole aspect of living-room, drawing-room or bedroom is transformed! And, comparatively speaking, how trivial the cost. Here on the page below our artist presents a few of the charming patterns in the great display of these decorative fabrics now on view in the Drapery Department. There are multitudes of others, too, equally attractive—linens, "shadows" and tapestry effects.

The artistic fate of your living-room would be safe in the keeping of this superb hand-blocked linen, which is employed so effectively in the sketch above. The ground of it is Persian blue, and the pattern a fine old English design of deep pink peonics, purple clematis, clear green foliage, and the inevitable gay-plumed birds. Picture the charm of it in a room which has buff or coment color walls, and Oriental rugs in blue and rase tints on the floor. If preferred, it may be had with a Delft blue ground. The width is 50 inches, and the price $5.50 a yard,

Is it your fancy to have a purple color scheme in your drawing-room? The idea is very popular with artistic folk at the present time. And 'tis an amethyst chints you see in the curtains, lamp-shade and chair above—a delightfully decorative fabric, patterned in black and white with big conventionalised peonies, a chie mote of color contrast being supplied by the blue wings and red breasts of the birds perched here and there on the branches. The same design may be had too, with ground in the fashionable puty shade. The width is 50 inches, and the price $5.00 a yard.

for furniture is one of the important aspects of special-order work featured by the Drapery Department. If your chairs and sofas are in need of such covers, notify the department and a man will be sent to your house to make measurements and submit an estimate of cost.

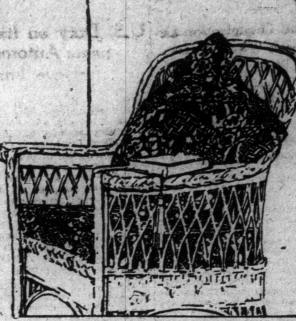

This chaise lounge in Adam design seems to demand a fabric with a Frenchy savor. Hence the choice of this delectable little shadow cloth of twory white, patterned with hasy blue and mauve flowers, soft green leaves, and demure little brown and mauve birds—a fabric that can be recommended for use with any dainty furniture of the French period type. The price is $2.00 a yard, and the width 50 inches.

She appears a bit wistful, this lady at the window. Watching for Spring, doubtless. But if she be disappointed that it comes so slowly, she will have this consolation, at least, that her room is gay and fresh as a Summer morning, with its ourtains and valances of orisp new chints. And such a fascinating chints as it is 1 is another strong feature of the Drapery Department's activities. And not only will chairs, sofas, and footstools be re-cushioned, but, if necessary, the frame-work thereof will be repaired and repolished.

Verandah days bring the willow chair, to the fore, and also the question, "What chints for the cushions!" Behold, then, one of the ideal patterns for the purpose—a clever, cheerful thing contrived out of bright pink dahlias, mauve hollyhocks, and deep blue baskets to hold them, all set forth on a yellow ground. "Gay, but not gaudy," it may well be described. The width is 86 inches, and the price 75 cents a yerd. It is featured, too, in combinations of verious other verandah shades—browne, greens, blues, etc.

Here is a chinis worth studying well, for its attractions are legion. To begin with, its background is a faint jaspe stripe of tan and ivory, that blends in particularly well with the popular buff and biscuit color wall papers. Secondly, it is most charmingly patterned with huge pink roses and rose and purple morning glories. Thirdly, thick brown branches run through it, making for complete harmony with dark oak or walnut furniture. Fourthly, it is 50 inches wide. And fifthly, it is priced at the moderate sum of $1.00 a yard. Furthermore, for a room with grey walls, the same pattern may be had on a grey ground.

If only this quaint little chints could be pictured for you in color! Fou would go into raptures over it. However, conjure up a vision of a deep cream linen-like fabria, howeved all over with deep pink roses and crisp green leaves, some of them reposing in odd little yellow baskets. For curtains and covers in a bedroom most delightful effects might be achieved with it. And then, too, the same design may be had on a black ground—with equally happy result. The width is 38 inches, and the price 40 cents per yard.

Such an exquisite shadow cloth, this one depicted above. The ground is ivery, the great ragged-edged flowers are deep rose and rich, hasy purple, with green foliage, brown branches and blue feathered birds all blending in softly to a very lovely whole. It is 50 inches wide and $2.00 a yerd.

Little Tack. on Mode. and Makers.

Considering the popularity of Willow china, the story of Li-chi, the mandarin's daughter, and Chang, the secretary of the Chinese grandee, should be as familiar as "Romeo and Juliet" or "Uncle Tom's Cabin." But is it? Do you know the room.

The Story mance of the old of the blue plate? Here it is if you care for a sentimental tale that is old as the proverbial hills:

as the proverbial hills;
Look at the illustration.
You will see a corner of the mandarin's house peeping out at the extreme right. Over the pagoda in front of it an orange tree spreads its branches, while to the right blooms a peach tree in full flower—symbol of matrimony and long life.

It was here in this bower of loveliness that Li-chi and Chang would meet. Here they plighted their troth and vowed vows of undying affection. Chang was poor. His home was the humble cottage on the island at the top of the plate. This mattered not a whit to Li-chi. But when her father learned of her love for the penniless secretary he was determined the marriage should not take place. He was relent-

Finally the lovers fied. They took refuge with the gardener, whose cottage is seen at the lower left. It is Chang, Lichi and the gardener you see crossing the bridge, where the thin-looking willow grows at the edge of the water.

Having escaped the mandarin, they were wed forthwith, and set out for Chang's cottage across the lake. Observe them making the journey in the queer sort of houseboat. That is the happy bride-lake. Observe them making the journey in the queer sort of houseboat. That is the happy bridegroom at the oar.

When the mandarin got news of the elopement he was beside himself with anger, and swore vengeance. The gardener was compelled to reveal the lovers' retreat. The irate father pursued them, and when he found them would have beaten them to death with a whip. But the gods, so the story runs, took pity upon Chang and Li-chi and changed them into the two turtle-doves that soar above the familiar scene.

It is called the Willow pattern because of the drooping tree by the bridge, which began to shed its leaves just about the time when the elopement took place.

Ald. Gibbons protested against the introduction of politics into the business of the council. They had five representatives in the Dominion parliament and nine in the provincial legislature and he thought they were overstepping their duty by telling those representatives what they should do. To him the introduction of the recommendation was a piece of the largest councils of Canada. It was taking away the right of citizenship from men who had become naturalized and were loyal. It was not a matter for the council. but the government, said Ald. Archi-bald, and it was not the business of the municipal authority to interfere. He thought the people who had been invited to Canada and who had helped to build up the country were deserving of some consideration.

Ald. Ramsden's amendment was lost, and the recommendation was carried. Previous to adjournment Ald. Maguire surprised the mayor with a motion to reopen the matter and have it referred back for further consideration. He declared that the men who had taken the oath of allegiance were had been struck out by the board of loyal citizens, and in fairness to the members of the council a proper understanding was desirable. By passing the recommendation, he said, a wrong interpretation might be set on taken from the adlied nations by the the action of the members who voted for it.

Cold Weather Stops Farmers From Starting Spring Work

Farmers are chafing under the delay in getting on the land, the soil for the most wart being in prime condition for starting work, the difficulty being the continued cold weather and hard frosts at night. The land is drier for seeding than last year when work was in full blast, but the continued cold is exceptional. Fall wheat is looking fairly well, little of it being winter killed, and a warm rain with fine weather would save the roots in good shape. Clover, too where it survived the drought of last summer, is looking splendid. Farm wages are higher than ever known in the history of York County, one farmer in the neighborhood of Unionville giving his hired man $500 with board and washing, but this is exceptional, the average run of wages by the year being around $350 and board.

Suspected Meningitis Case Causes Death at Newmarket

William J. Hughes, 34 years of age, foreman at the Office Specialty Works in Newmarket, died at his residence there on Prospect street on Saturday afternoon after an illness extending over seven days presumably from spinal meningitis. The local medical men are said to have diagnosed the case as such, and the medical authorities in the city are conducting an examination to determine definitely the nature of the disease. The remains of the late Mr. Hughes were interred in the local cemetery yesterday, the funeral being private. Pending further nstruction the house has been placarded. He leaves a widow and two children together with his father and two brothers, the two latter being employed at the Office Specialty Works.

YORK TOWNSHIP COUNCIL IS OUT FOR ECONOMY

Decide That Year's Expenditure Will Be Kept to Lowest Possible Level.

Reeve Griffith of York Township made it very plain at yesterday's meeting of the coincil that only works of the greatest urgency would be considered during the present year, and that, outside of an active prosecution of the waterworks system already entered upon, the expenditures would be kept to the lowest level. The other members of council were in accord with the reeve's attitude, the statement being brought about by demands for lighting and other improvements in different portions of the municipality. On motion of Messrs, Miller and Barker, they awarded contracts for 200 hydrants at $68.65 each, the award going to the Bawden Machine Company of Toronto, R. A. Nelle, for Wrights, Ltd., the owners of Kingsdale, on upper Yonge street, made application to have 50 acres of the estate at present classed as a subdivision revert to farm land, and this will be done on the completion of certain formalities by the company.

The trouble arising out of the failure of the trustees of Kingsdale to take the declaration of office, thereby rendering the positions vacant, has been remedied, and a new election will be held, nominations taking place at Kingsdale on Saturday.

The premier added that he hoped this plan would make impossible hitches and delays arising from the separation of efforts.

Not only will he get a better price for his wheet, if he has the markets of the United States, but he will be able to sell his wheat, and he has not been able to do this at many points in the west for some time now. Our railways were blocked from bringing wheat even to Port Arhas a free market in the United States, he will be able to ship into the States notwithstanding the embargo on wheat going to our lake ports.

The lesson of the change is this, that anadian railways will have to reduce their freight rates if the American roads can do better for the Canadian wheat-grower; and certainly the Canadian flour mills will have to pay more for the wheat if they wish to grind it in this country and ship it out of Canadian ports. They can well afford to do this, because they have been making immense fortunes out of the flour business for some years now, and they have not always given the farmer a square deal; not that the American miller will do any better unless he has to. business, and he wants to take our hard But the American miller is a great man for wheat and grind it in his mills, and send it to the markets of the world as American flour; and if the Canadian miller has not got the enterprise to compete with him by giving a better price to the Canadian farmer, then we will have to put up with this misuse of Canadian wheat to But we do not think that the Canadian miller is that kind of a man; that he will meet the competition as he ought to meet

In the meantime, The World's long and sometimes weary fight in connection with free wheat has come to a successful issue. And we leave our distinguished critics, who had so much ridicule for our propaganda and our policy, to take what crumbs of comfort they can out of the situation. And we also wish to say to the politicians and newspapers who have taken up so much time in telling the farmers of western Canada that they did not know what they wanted, and that they had to be mothered into the paths o wisdom, that they had better leave the farmer to find out for himself what is best for him.

Nickel Co. It will be said that the Canadian Copper Co. is a mere shell or shadow; that all its stock is owned by the International Nickel Co. of New Jersey. That is prob ably true, and it is the Internation Nickel Co. at whom we are striking, be cause we believe it to be a treach and dangerous foe to Canada.

The International Nickel Co. is a foreign corporation, but the natural re-sources it holds in Canada thru its dummy, the Canadian Copper Co., are subject to our jurisdiction.

But someone will tell us that we would still be helpless because we have not the facilities in Canada for refining the nickel matte; we would still have to send the refinery of the International Nickel now an ally and no longer a neutral. Our nickel matte can be consigned to the United States Government, which will have to take the responsibility for its refining and distribution. We have no doubt that if Canada takes over the nickel mines in the Sudbury district the United States will just as quickly take over the refining plant of the Inernational Nickel Co. in New Jersey. The Wilson administration must know a great deal about the German sympa thies and affiliations of the Nickel Trust, which have not been disclosed in Canada. We think Canada has a right to demand the information and to insist upon the Washington Government uncovering the International Nickel Co. and the men who control it. We have a right to know who is represented by that "Voting Trust" in the name of Dal amor Converse, Thompson, Monell, Wood, We have a right to know what interest the Krupp concern has in the company. We know now that the Krupp concern at a most critical time in the war was the Germans wherewith to slaughter the allies until the return of the Deutschland Co. The Deutschland knew just wher to go for nickel, and so did its subma rines. Germany had plenty of nickel in the United States, furnished to her by the International Nickel Co., and it all came from Canada. When the war broke out Wilhelm Merton, the trusted adviser the kalser, and the founder of the Metall gesellschaft, knew that he could rely upon his sons in England to serve Germany and the German Metal Trust, and he knew that he had financial and even olitical strings out which would guarantee a certain quantity of Canadian nickel leaking thru the sluices of the International Nickel Co. to the German arsenals

PIONEER ENGRAVER OF CANADA DIES

Had Been Leader of That Business in This Country.

WORKED FOR THE DEAF

His Own Infirmity Gave Him Great Sympathy for Others.

With the death of Frederick Brigden, president of Brigden's, Limited, engravers and printers of this city, which occurred at his home, 103 Rose avenue, yesterday, Canada loses one of the pioneers of the engraving business.

Mr. Brigden was born in Worthing, Sussex, England, in 1841, and at the age of 12 had a severe attack of scarlet fever, thru which he lost his hearing, and was educated at the Brighton School for the Deaf, and in his twentieth year was apprenticed to W. J. Linton, a well-known wood engraver at that time. During his spare time in the evenings he attended evening classes taught by John Ruskin at the Workingman's College, and has left some notes on the art criticals he appeared in those days.

In 1872 he came to Canada and in association with Henry Beale established the Toronto Engraving Co. In the year 1889 Mr. Beale retired to England, and Mr. Brigden took over the business, his sons, George, who is now general manager, and Frederick H., joining him, and the name of the firm was then changed to Brigden's, Limited, and a little later a printing plant was added under the managership of his brother. a little later a printing plant was added under the managership of his brother, Wm. H. Brigden. Altho retired from active work during the last ten years, the late Mr. Brigden retained his posttion as the president of the company, and was the leading spirit in all its important moves.

In religion, the nominally an Anglican, te was broad and undenominational, adhe was broad and undenominational, adhering to the strong ecangelical faith he had formed as a young man. He was always optimistic, which combined with a fine sense of humor, was especially appreciated by those who knew him. He was very fond of reading, and in this connection, 29 years ago he organized a literary club for a small circle of friends, which met at his home on Rose avenue. This club, known as the Saturday Club, has continued its meeting up to the present, and has been a helpful factor to many. His other interests were field geology, entomology and outdoor tor to many. His other interests were field geology, entomology and outdoor sketching, the latter giving him much pleasure in later years. Mr. Brigden was greatly interested in work for deaf mutes, for whom he had shown much practical sympathy.

A private service will be held at his late residence and a public service will be held at the Bible Training School on College street on April 18 at 3 o'clock. The interment will be at St. James' Cematery. Besides his brother and sons mentioned, he leaves two daughters—Mrs. T. G. Nicholson, and Miss Bertha Brigden, one brother and sister in the old home at Worthing, England.

Employment of Aliens in Munition Factories to Be Discussed in City Hall.

In order that a more satisfactory arrangement may be arrived at concerning the employment of returned men in munition plants a conference of representatives of the civil authorities, soldiers, Dominion Government and the munition board will be held at the city hall this morning. Returned men who are objecting to the employment of alien enemies in the plants promise to present concrete cases whore aliens have been given preference over them. The situation was discussed yes-terday by the mayor and Provost Marshal Alex. Sinclair, and the mayor was of the opinion that a proper survey had not been made with a view to finding places for the returned soldiers. He said that while there were many patriotic men in charge of the plants some had made no attempt to employ returned men. Legislation should be introduced to prevent the employment of alien enemies.

Osborne states that could do, and how they were em-ployed. Then they could get the cooperation of employers and when there were positions to be filled returned men could fill them where possible. To the returned man was due absolute justice, but they did not want them to act in a manner that would set the public against them.

VARIETY, FEATURE OF HIPPODROME PROGRAM

Variety in vaudeville replete with wit, music and entertainment of many kinds to suit the most fastidious taste of the theatregoer is offered to patrons of the Hippodrome Theatre this week. The bill in its entirety is one of the best of the present season, according to comments passed upon it by initial audiences yesterday. Two acts which make it an exceptionally interesting program, are "Minerva Courtney and Co.," and "White's Comedy Circus." The former is a comedy sketch of wild west life, involving a clever plot. The circus appeals to grown-ups, as well as children. Trained dogs, horses and ponies do various feats, and the antics of clowns keep the audience in constant laughter. WELL-BALANCED CAST

Characters Are Simple Types Presented in Singularly Able Manner.

Thurston, whose title as the successor of Herman and Kellar as the "world's greatest magician" is ac knowledged, opened a week's engagement in the Gread Theatre last night, prosenting, with a new company and an elaborate set of fixtures, devices and scenery, an extensive program of feats of magic. The size of the attendance, the hearty spirt of co-operation in which members of the spectators assisted the magician, the almost constant general laughter during comedy experiments, and the utter bewilderment of the audience after each of the most remarkable mysteric created by Thurston, all attested to the success of the performance. IN SPLENDID DRAMA

The Regent this week presents a powerful bill, headed by Clara Kimball Young, in "The Dark Silence."
The story is a love tale of more than usual interest-holding qualities, and it is remarkable no less for its splen-did scenic attraction than for the satisfactory portrayal given each of the characters appearing therein. Thruout the picture there is no weak spot in this connection. Mildred White Clara Kimball Young, is an art student, studying in Paris, who is saved from a burglar's attack by Dr. Merio Martinez, a Spanish eye specialist, who is greatly attracted by the pretty student. His friend, Derwent Ainsworth, is similarly attracted, and his love is returned by Mildred, who agrees to marry him. Ainsworth is suddenly called to London by the fatal illness of his father. Martinez makes the most of this opportunity, allows Mildred to suppose Ainsworth has deproved to be big laugh getters.

Zella Russell wears a number of pretty gowns and with her winning stage appearance was the big hit of the show. A splendid pianolog is Paris. Ainsworth returns to find Mildred gone. Hotel last night by a reporter for The World.

Newfoundland has sent 3500 soldiers and 2500 sailors overseas, and has suffered heavy casualties in the field. Asked whether she expected to supply full reinforcements to her three infantry battalions, Mr. Cliff said he was afraid that would not be possible, but the people were endeavoring to do so.

Trade conditions were, on the whole, prosperous, owing in no small measure to the high prices for foodstuffs, and a little greater activity in shipbuilding. The prosperity could not be compared, tho, with that found in many centres of the Dominion.

American Theologian Speaks To Ministerial Association

According to Rev. J. W. A. Stewart, dean of the faculty of theology, Rochester, N.Y., at the meeting of the Toronto General Ministerial Association yesterday, love is not a flabby thing; it is a thing of discipline and power. He said the family life of the nation must be protected by the sword. If necessary. The three reasons why the United States did not enter the war at the beginning were that, with 35 per cent. of the population foreign, the government had been endeavoring to find out the unity of the nation, the teaching of Washington to keep out of foreign entanglements, and the distance of the country from the scene of the conflict.

GERMANS ANGRY OVER REDUCED BREAD RATION

Copenhagen, via London, April 16.—The reduced bread ration in Germany has now gone into effect. Judging from the tone of the press and the news items in German newspapers, it appears that the reduction has caused great discontent among workmen, and even threats to retaliste by strikes.

A proposal which was strongly supported among the metal workers was to reduce correspondingly the hours of work by one-fourth. Social and army newspapers appealed to the workmen to accept the deprivations in the same spirit as the soldiers at the front, and not to imperit the soldiers by a reduction in the munition output. The metal workers' organization then threw its influence against any demonstration of the dissellingtaction. No open trouble has yet been reported.

The speaker, however, hinted very broadly that if the T.A.B.A. thought that this rule was too broad or too rigid, then they might put themselves on record and forward any resolution regarding the same to the registration committee, which would be given immediate consideration. The delegates, however, falled to take advantage of this opportunity, nor did anyone suggest that an amateur is entitled to expenses, while, in fact, scores of amateur athletes secure theirs yearly. A motion was passed to have all leagues declare a winner by Sept. 4 this year.

Austin is at the Fort ones in the same measure of comfort as was not so difficult before the cost Child welfare for some years has been a vital subject with those who have the interests of the community at heart, and all experts and thinkers Mr. and Mrs. Manning Doherty and are unanimous in the view that no in-their family, who have been spending stitution, no matter how advanced in method, can equal a home as a place in which to bring up a child. Nature meant that every little one should have the individual care and love that only a home can give, and the child who is not given these is cheated out of part of his birthright.

The conservation of child life, while always a moral duty, is added to at the present crisis in the world's history by the sad drain upon the manhood of the countries of the world. No one can do greater patriotic work than by preserving the life of a child, and statistics show that the chances for a child in a home are far greater than if he is an inmate of even the than if he is an inmate of even the best maintained institution.

Institutions Filled.

Just now the institutions are filled to their utmost capacity, and it is often a work of days or weeks before an additional child may find admittance. Two cases were heard of recently in which children to be placed had to be put out and paid for at the rate, one of seven and the other four dollars a week, simply because there was no suitable institution that could receive them.

Institutions, while they would in many cases be glad to be relieved in this connection, will not give their little charges to anyone who may volunteer to take one of their hands. Guarantee must be given that the child would regeive every care and that the home into which it would go would be desirable in regard to respectability and decency. WIDEN GAP IN LINE

Haig's Forces Refrain From Destructive Bombardment of Lens.

British Headquarters in France, April 16, via London.—The British continued today gradually to widen the second gap cut in the Hindenburg captured the position known as the Three Savages, east of Gricourt. St. Quentin continues to burn. Away to the north, Lens still holds out. The Germans have several strong positions about the city to which they still

The British apparently would like to take Lens without inflicting too great damage from an extensive bombardment. They have always been in a position to reduce the city to ruins, but the shells have been directed against spots known to be used for military purposes by the Germans. Nevertheless, the Germans continue their work of destroying the city by blowing up buildings.

Further details of the fighting yesterday show the desperate character of several German attacks on the new British positions. The attack which was essayed from both sides of Queant of several German attacks on the new British positions. The attack which was essayed from both sides of Queant and temporarily pierced the British line at Lagnicourt was exceptionally bitter. It began at 4.30 o'clock Sunday morning and continued for three hours without interruption. British advanced posts were driven in, but the support units joined the issue with the Germans.

Germans Fall in Clumps.

Many hand-to-hand encounters followed. There was also more actually aimed rifle shooting than for many months. During this fire the Germans fell in clumps. They attempted to seek cover behind bushes and in small thickets. The British fired into these with good results. When the reserves came up at last the Germans broke into, full flight.

There was fighting all day about Monchy le Preux, east of Arras, which already had witnessed some fierce encounters since the battle of Arras began. Monchy in its way is a little hilly ridge all by itself standing sentinel as the last high ground over miles upon miles of plains sweeping eastward. The Germans held out therefor two days after the Arras battle opened, and thave daunched half a source of counter attacks against it. without success. The place lends itself to counter-attacks because of outlying woods where troops ordinarily could assemble unobserved. There were morning and afternoon attacks yesterday. In both instances the intentions of the Germans were discovered and artillery played on the woods, scattering a large percentage of the Notable Air Fighting.

There has been notable air fighting over Monchy, and many machines have been brought down there in the last two days. Large German forma-tions have attacked the British scouts and the patter of machine guns overing the daylight hours. The Germans, as a rule, are careful air fighters and virtually never attack unless they out-number the British three or four to one. A single German machine is seldom sighted. They have come to their tactics of lying in wait high above the fleecy clouds and darting upon an isolated foe does not perturb the British fliers. The British continue to police the air, not only behind their own front, but far into German fer the same casualties as a police force would from encountering am-bushed attacks from outlaws. The in a despatch received here from Berlin that various villages in the Arras region which the British official statement of April 14 reported captured were villages and pieces of ground which the Germans had voluntarily evacuated several days previously. "The English press," says the despatch, "is circulating reports regard. ing the piercing of the Hindenburg line. The English attempt to break thru was directed, however, against old positions, held since 1915, and, despite local successes, it has completely and finally failed. It is not clear what the English press means by the Hindenburg line, for all fines are Hindenburg lines."

"As far as the feeding of the allied populations is concerned, our efforts must be concentrated on saving tonnage while bringing in the necessaries in order to minimize the effect of the submarine warfare. But they that to America the bringing of this cannot and the submarine menace by cannot and the submarine menace by merely keeping the U-boats beneath the water. We want to end the evil by destroying the boats and we mean to do it. The solution of this problem offers plenty of scope for the inventive genius of both navies. heat takes four times as much ton-age as the carrying of American heat to the allied powers. as desperate as the Germans want to believe it is, but on the other hand it is more serious than many of our own people realize. Our own shipping suffered very little more in March than during the first month of unrestricted submarine warfare, and other tonnage sunk during that period was in much the same position, and there is no very marked method of combatting the evil. What has been accomplished is the result of inventions and processes which take time to develop, and the government is well aware of the fact that immediate results should not be expected.

Zeebrugge forms another of our problems. It is difficult to deal with now, owing to German occupation and fortification of the Belgian coast. No naval officer, even before this war, ever believed that it was the business of a capital ship to stand up against a land fort, as land guns always have greater facilities for finding the range than a gun mounted on a ship.

"But the fortified Belgian coast is a fact which we have to face, and the destroyers maintained there have made our work of guarding the straits of our work of guarding the straits of sults should not be expected. Fear Armed Ships. "The increasing armament of our mercantile marine has made submarines far more cautious, and more submerged attacks are taking place. Of course, this has one advantage, inasmuch as the raiders must depend upon their torpedoes for such attacks, and being able to carry only a limited number, must return to port sooner than when they made their attacks from the surface. Your navy department knows just how many submarines we have sunk; but the exact number of U-boats which have actually never returned to port is known number of U-boats which have actually never returned to port is known only to the German admiralty, which, naturally, does not give us this information.

American Coast Safe.

Cessary to a connected the content of the conclusion I cannot do better than quote from your great author, than quote from your great author, Captain Mahan, in his volume, "The Interest of America in Sea Power, Present and Future.' He wrote:

"Against submerged attack a host of small craft forms the best protecdestroyers to tugs of any size. The danger of showing a periscope when the submarine may have a bomb dropped on it, or be rammed is one which our enemy does not like to face. But these craft must be used in the zone where submarines operate, and such a zone is hardly likely to be extended to the American coast. German submarines cannot operate over man submarines cannot operate over there effectively without a base, and I am sure that your navy will have no trouble in patrolling the Mexican sulf coast, on which a base might exist, while the entrance of Cuba into the war on the side of the allies deprives the Germans of the best place they might have secured for such

"I have already warned your navy department that submarine mine layers may visit you coast, dump their cargo and return. But the damage they do will not prove extensive, as each boat only carries about 30 mines. These mine layers have dropped their mines everywhere about our coast and if I had the exact figures at hand of the number we have swept up and destroyed, you would be astonished Naval Strategy Changed.

"It cannot be denied that naval strategy has undergone a vast change as the result of the illegal use by Germany of submarines. Of course it is also undeniable that their use legitimately has changed naval warfare. But the legitimate change is not so great nor so difficult to cope with as Amsterdam, via London, April 16.—The Vorwaerts, the German Socialist organ, announces that, as a result of a conference at Gotha, a new Socialist party has been formed by Socialists opposed to the Philip Scheidemann party. The new party will be known as the Independent Socialist Democratic party of Germany. The presidents of the central executive are Hugo Haase and Georg Ledebour.

The policy of the new party is described as fundamental opposition to the prevailing government system, its war policy and to the pro-government policy of the normal Socialist party. Socialists to the number of 148 participated at the conference at Gotha, including 15 members, of the reichstag.

Sir Stanley Maude announces a fresh success in Mesopotamia, where he has driven a Turkish force which took the offensive back to the Jebel Hamrin Hills, whence it had emerged. These hills lie between the Tigris and the Dela River, northeast of Bagdad. The hostile force consisted of the 13th Turkish army corps, and it has suffered very severe losses. As before Kut-el-Amara, the Turks did not retreat soon enough, and as a result their force became a disorganized mob, suffering a grave disaster.

The cut of one-quarter in the German bread rations went into effect yesterday, and the Berlin workmen received it with a bad grace, threat-ening a strike and then a reduction of one-quarter in their hours of work. Latest reports show that the German press and authorities induced them to forego their grievances and to continue working as usual. Riots occurred in certain districts. The most of the German workmen, however, still seem too docile to stand up for the rights of the proletariat. They

PROFIT SHARING PLAN AN ANNUAL EVENT

Distribution Idea Adopted by Successors to Mark Harris and Co.

with respect to the profit-sharing arrangement which has been announced as applying to stockholders of Newray and Boston Creek, it is learned that it is planned to make this an annual event in the history of the new nnual event in the history of the new firm, which is taking over the business of Mark Herris and Company. The profit-sharing idea has made great leadway on this continent during the past few years, and its introduction into the stock brokerage business is being highly commended in financial inches.

DIAMOND DRILLING

Trying to Locate Extension of Rich Hollinger Vein.

On the assumption that the spectac-nar number fifty-eight vein of the Hollinger, at first thought to be the ame as number five vein on the Mc-intyre Porcupine, is not number five, diamond drill hole is being sunk om the thousand-foot level of the centyre in an effort to locate it, says rthern Miner.

The new well, No. 8, is about 500 feet distant from the No. 1 well, and is located on the same vein. When the oil was first struck a pump was installed was first struck a pump was installed and a production of 50 barrels was made in 20 hours. The flow, however, in the No. 2 the flow, however, portance, and several well mineralized veins have been encountered. Up till the present no values of importance had been discovered, but the cutting of this new vein may be of some importance. made in 20 hours. The flow, however, portance. In the No. 1 well was reduced by the tapping of the new well, which proved conclusively that they were on the same system. Just at present it is difficult to say what the combined production of the two wells will be, but within a few days a fairly accurate blea will have been obtained.

The management is elated over the find. find, and active development work on this vein system will be pushed ahead

TRADING LACKED VIM

Heron and Co, report: Montreal, April 16.—The local market was extremely duil today. The whole list sold lower, but there was practically nothing doing at the lower level of prices. There seems to be nothing in sight at the moment to alleviate the dulness.

STOP GOLD MOVEMENT.

New York, April 16.—There will be no more gold imports from Canada, according to a statement made in responsible banking circles today. Imports last week amounted to $2,500,000 from Austraffa, restituted here by transfer thru the subfaces place last week. The sum of $2,171,000 was transferred to San Francisco for cluded small amounts to Spain, South America and Cultar, so othat the total gold restive is diminishing somewhat rapidly.

pelled within the course of a few days.

The clearing of the atmosphere will most certainly be welcomed, as it will allow for a fresh start.

When the crisis is past it will probably be found that stocks are on rock bottom at the present time.

Big Dome was subjected to pressure in New York, and local traders followed suit, with the result that a new low was reached at $15.25. McIntyre was also weaker, settling back points from the opening at 179. There was no great amount of selling, but buying power was lacking, naturally resulting in a decline. Newray, on the other hand, held firmly, at 145. Vipond advanced 12 point to 45, and the common common. on the other hand, held firmly, at 145. Vipond advarced ½ point to 45, and Thompson-Krist showed strength, rallying a point to 17, and closing with this figure bid. West Dome was heavily sold, but held fairly well, yielding only a fraction from the opening at 24%.

Hollinger was ex-dividend one per cent., and changed hands at $5.15. Brokers report big supporting buying orders in the market around present prices. Apex held steady at 8, and Boston Creek opened at 90, and sold up to 93.

Since resuming operations on the Jupiter, the shaft was sunk to a depth of 400 feet, and considerable development work has been done on that and upper levels.

Since the ore bodies on the west end of Pearl Lake have been found to improve both in width and values with depth, the thousand-foot level looking better than any upper level, it was considered the best policy instead of drifting from the 600-foot level to connect up the central shaft workings with those of the Jupiter, to continue the Jupiter shaft to a thousand feet and make the connection there, Drift-Vein fifty-eight on the Hollings connect up the central succession of the Jupiter, to continue with those of the Jupiter, to continue with those of the Jupiter, to continue with those of the Jupiter shaft to a thousand feet and make the connection there. LONDON STOCKS.

London, April 16.—The excellent war news at the end of the week caused the stock market to open confliciently today, fair buying improved allied bonds, while Argentine Rails continued to lead the advance in the foreign section. In the speculative issues rubber, oil and metal shares were active and firm. Americans moved narrowly and irregularly, with a small turnover in the low-priced issues. Money was in good demand in preparation for treasury bill payments and to meet the calls for the French and British loans this week. Discounts were firm and bills scarce.

of the fact that there are many people carrying stock in other names than their own, it was decided to extend the date sufficiently to allow for the many transfers that will be necessary if all bona fide shareholders are to participate.

The distribution will be made promate to the individual shareholders of the two mines, which Mark Harris and Compsny have endorsed, and while it has not been determined as yet what amount will accrue on each share held, it is assured that it will run into a substantial figure, which should considerably enhance the present market valuation of the two stocks represented.

This is undoubtedly the first profit-sharing distribution in the history of mining brokerage, and it is gratifying that a Toronto firm was the first to institute such a proceeding.

It will be inderstood, of course, that the profits that are to be shared are from the stock brokerage business of Mark Harris and Company, during the first profits of Mark Harris and Company, during the first profits of this company are reported to be very encouraging, a new oil well of much promise having been added a few days ago.

Kitchener, April 16.—Three lads, aged 12, were in juvenile court this morning charged with stealing $515 from the father of one of the boys. It appears that the man from whom the money was stolen is an alien eremy on registration. He was hoarding his money at home because he feared the government would confiscate it if he banked it. There are a great many alien enemies in this city who are following the same policy regarding their savings.

were scarce, despite some talk of increased country offerings.

Oats were stimulated somewhat by improved call from the seaboard.

Provisions took an upward swing with grain. Early gains, due to weakness in the hog market, were much more than wiped out.
